Schools won't seek millage increase

BY HANK MEIJER

If school district voters approve millage requests on the June 9 ballot, their school tax rate will remain the same in the coming year.

The Plymouth School Board agreed Monday night to place two propositions on the ballot: one to renew a 5.15 mill general operating levy and the other to replace a one-year levy of .4 mills approved last year for safety needs and .06 mills in expiring debt retirement revenues.

Board members voted to set both millages as six-year levies which would expire concurrently with other district levies.

Supt. John Hoben said Plymouth and other local districts are unable to accurately set their new budget until the state has determined how its aid will be allocated.

He said school expenditures for 1975-76 are estimated at about $17.9 million, while anticipated revenues are about $17.3 million. The extent of state support for special education and the question of whether any support at all will be provided for the district's reading program have not yet been resolved.

"We're at a loss at the present time to project these figures," Hoben said. "We may have to produce dollars locally to meet (special education needs)."

The 5.15 mill levy is expected to produce about $2,214,500 in revenue, while the .46 mills would produce about $192,000, Hoben said.

Without the 5.15 mills, school officials agreed that the district would face a "crisis situation." The .06 mills and the .4 mills, which was approved last year for specific safety needs, would likely be earmarked this time around for other particular programs.

The .46 mill levy would cost the owner of a 40,000 house a little more than $9.

"It's much easier to go to people and ask for money if you're asking for something specific," Board Member Marcia Borowski said.

According to Hoben, the new budget includes $70,000 to maintain the district's reading support program, which had previously received that much state funding. No money has been allocated yet for the proposed 45-15 year-round school program at Miller School, which is scheduled to start this summer at an estimated cost of $62,000.

School budget planning is further complicated by an unanticipated slight drop in enrollment, which affects the amount of state aid the district receives.

School officials hope projected jump in the district's state equalized valuation (SEV) will take up some of the slack. They anticipate an SEV of $430 million.

Hoben noted that holding the line this year on millage might make an additional levy inevitable next year, when the district plans to open three new elementary schools and the third phase of Plymouth-Canton High.

He said the estimated operating costs in the first year are $50,000 to $75,000 per building, which would add from $150,000 to $225,000 to next year's operating costs.

Crier moves office

The Community Crier is moving its offices to 447 S. Harvey St. (directly across from the Plymouth School district offices) this week.

It is expected that the move to the new building (which offers additional space needed for the paper's new typesetting and composing department) will be completed Friday.

Editorial, advertising, circulation and accounting departments will all be based at the new location. The Crier's phone number (453 - 6900) will remain the same.

Post Office seeks new downtown site

BY W. EDWARD WENDOVER

The U.S. Post Office, once said to be considering moving its Plymouth facility to Canton Township, has now decided to stay downtown and either build a new office or enlarge its present one.

To that end, the post office has advertised for property in the central downtown area.

While post office officials say they are looking for a new site, they do not rule out the possibility of expanding the present office on Penniman.

In addition to advertising for property, federal officials are also sending out letters to specific property owners inquiring about some desirable sites.

No location has been chosen, but one possibility is the property now assembled by the Pilgrim Non-profit Housing Assoc. for senior citizen housing. The site, on Ann Arbor Trail by the C&O Railroad tracks, has been disqualified for state funding for elderly housing because it is too close to the train traffic.

Jim Houk, who has spearheaded the Pilgrim campaign for senior citizen housing, acknowledged that post office officials had contacted him about the property. A meeting between the post office and Pilgrim Tower officials has been scheduled for today.

Charles W. Maxson, a real estate specialist for the post office, and Plymouth Postmaster John Mulligan both told The Crier that if a site for a new post office cannot be found downtown, the federal government may try to acquire parcels adjacent to the existing site and enlarge and remodel the present building.

"We're not ruling out the possibility of expanding the present site," Maxson said. "We're not ruling out any site that may be offered."

He commented on the Pilgrim (con't. on page 8)

SWEDISH HOCKEY PLAYERS from the City of Osmo-Nynashamn visited Plymouth last week to challenge local youth teams at the cultural center. The Plymouth Bantams topped their Scandinavian opponents 6-2, but the Swedes came back to whallop the Bantams

State Police put heat on rising township crime

BY HANK MEIJER

State Police at the Plymouth Post are giving out fewer traffic tickets these days in order to concentrate on fighting more serious crimes.

A shift in police activity, not more cautious driving, has caused the number of traffic tickets issued by State Police in Plymouth and Canton to fall from 3,045 in 1973 to 2,844 in 1974 and to 415 in the first two months of this year.

If current projections hold up, local troopers will issue only 2,490 citations in 1975, or almost 600 less than were handed out two years ago.

Meanwhile, criminals face rougher going in the two townships. A rising population brings with it an increase in crime, according to Post Cmdr. Lt. William Tomczyk, State Police here have responded with more arrests than ever.

Criminal arrests are up from 544 in 1973 to 689 in 1974, and Tomczyk foresees 1,086 arrests this year judging by January and February figures.

Criminal complaints jumped 13 per cent from 1973 to 1974 and Tomczyk predicts a greater increase in 1975. Two years ago the post recorded 2,475 complaints, compared to 2,790 last year and about 3,270 if projections hold for 1975.

According to Tomczyk, that's not just from a rising crime rate. It also means that Plymouth troopers are picking up on more crimes.

Since the Plymouth post opened more than two years ago, the contingent here has risen from one sergeant, one detective and eight troopers to 18 men, including two sergeants. The post, which serves all of Plymouth and Northville townships and the populous northern half of Canton Township, is open from 8 a.m. to midnight every day now, rather than just 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. as it was two years ago.

Tomczyk envisions improved coverage of the area once troopers from Plymouth and from the Detroit area post in Redford Township join forces in a planned post on Seven Mile Road near Northville State Hospital.

The Plymouth Post shares its present building on Mill Street with the State Police Crime Lab. Both units are cramped.

Both the Plymouth and Redford posts serve only the Plymouth-Canton-Northville area. That means many local patrols must originate at the 18-man Redford office.

The posts had planned to move into temporary quarters on the Northville State Hospital grounds within the next two months. A hospital wing was to have been renovated to house all 36 Detroit area State Police.

Although the cost of remodeling a hospital wing to permit the move had been estimated at less than $10,000, a moratorium by the governor on planned state building and remodeling has shelved the move indefinitely.

At the Plymouth Post, the locker room is beyond capacity and the State Lab investigators, who originally had the building to themselves, say they need more space and want it back, according to Tomczyk.

"If there was room available I'd place more men here," he said.

Once a Northville Post is opened and the full contingent is housed there, Tomczyk plans to add the southern portion of Canton to the post's patrol area. Right now that half of the township is protected only by the Sheriff's Road Patrol - which the county board of commissioners has been threatening to withdraw - and an occasional patrol from the Ypsilanti State Police Post.

"We're unique," Tomczyk said. "Almost every other post in the state has got whole counties to take care of. We're only responsible for two and a half townships - we're one of the smallest regions in the state to have our own post."

Plymouth and Canton residents who fear that the move to Northville will put State Police farther away when they need them can rest easy, Tomczyk said. The location of the building doesn't determine response time, it's where a patrol car happens to be when you need one.

An enlarged post in Northville means more troopers on the road in Plymouth and Canton.

"We want to concentrate our people in these areas for maximum exposure," he said. "A patrol that originates in Redford may not get to its assigned area - Plymouth, Canton, Northville - for half an hour. At Northville, the minute he leaves the post he'll be in his assigned area.

"Hopefully we'll soon be under one roof to better serve the community."

Scoggins -- scourge of parkers

Your chances of getting a parking ticket in the City of Plymouth because of an expired meter have increased 1,000 per cent in the last month.

With the city's hiring of a new ordinance enforcement officer under the federal Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA), there are now 10 times as many parking tickets being issued in the city.

Since Bob Scoggins, the new ordinance officer, began issuing tickets in mid-February, the city has logged an average of 200 parking tickets a week.

In January, before Scoggins was on the job, the city issued 98 parking tickets. In February, (Scoggins started in the middle of that month), 397 parking tickets were issued, according to Police Chief Tim Ford.

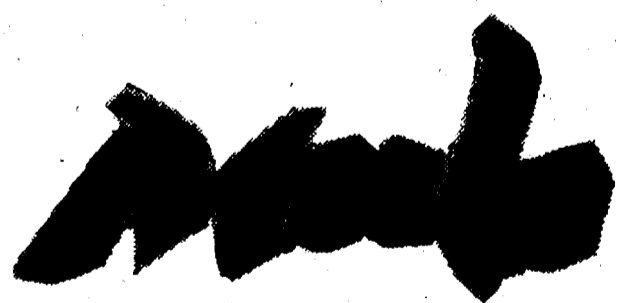

At that rate, the city may well increase its annual parking ticket rate of about 1,000 ten-fold. (Police records show 1,023 tickets were issued in 1974, 1,017 in 1973 and 1,038 were issued in 1972.)

The police chief theorized that with the increased ticketing, drivers are beginning to remember to put a nickel in their parking meter.

"It took them about three weeks to learn we are out in earnest (to enforce metered parking)," Ford chuckled.

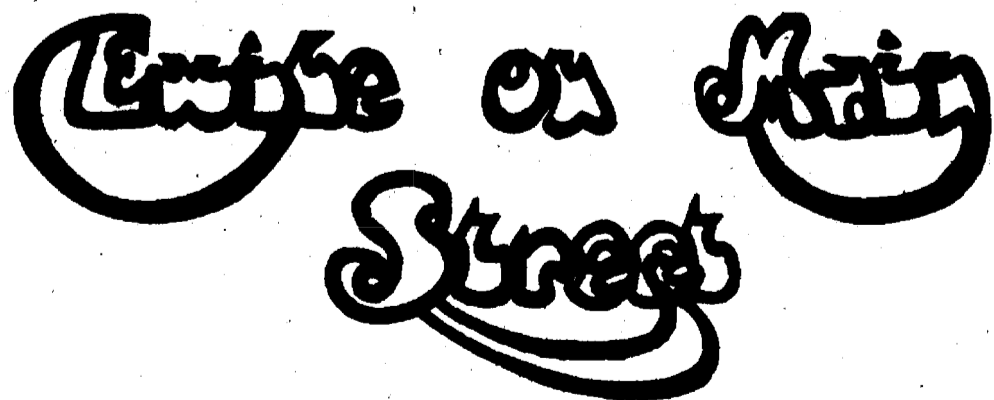

Thus far, police records show, about 20 to 25 percent of the tickets issued have gone to city residents - including at least three city commissioners and several prominent local business people.

Townships to discuss appeal of road patrol ruling

Supervisors of Canton, Plymouth and five other Wayne County Townships who were told last week that the Sheriff has no obligation to provide road patrol service in the townships will meet tomorrow to consider appealing Circuit Court Judge Thomas Foley's ruling.

Judge Foley dismissed a suit brought by the seven townships which charged that law enforcement in the townships was the legal responsibility of the county.

Both Canton and Plymouth townships defeated safety millages last year which would have given them the revenue needed to start their own police departments.

Plymouth Township Supervisor J. D. McLaren and Canton Clerk John Flodin agreed that the decision could create more pressure for another millage try.

Judge Foley's decision that "no mandatory requirement is anywhere to be found requiring the Sheriff as the chief conservator of the peace to patrol the county roads" could be a matter of importance to townships throughout Michigan, Flodin said.

The county commission has threatened to end road patrol services since 1963. The 28-man road patrol is funded at its present level only through April 30.

Although the road patrol's budget has been reduced this year, the county board of commissioners has twice allocated additional sums to maintain patrols at present strength while negotiations asking the townships to share the cost have been continuing.

The board of commissioners "has the power to designate the number of employes the Sheriff may appoint, including deputy sheriffs, and the discretion and authority to limit or expand the funds appropriated," Foley ruled.

Asked whether the townships planned to appeal the ruling, Canton Supervisor Robert Greenstein had no comment.

Vandals strike schools, cars, home

Window breaking vandals shattered glass all over the Plymouth community last weekend.

Plymouth-Canton High School principal Kent Buikema told State Police that when he came into his office Sunday morning to catch up on his paperwork he discovered several windows and glass door panels smashed out at the rear of the building.

Damage was estimated at $300 to $300.

Miller School janitors reported that nine large windows valued at more than $100 each were broken late Saturday or early Sunday.

Rear windows were smashed late Saturday night or early Sunday on autos parked on Ivywood and Tavistock in Plymouth Township and Carlisle in Canton Township, State Police said.

According to Plymouth Police, vandals early Saturday morning threw a pop bottle through a plate glass window on the west side of Saxton's Garden Supply, 587 W. Ann Arbor Trail.

Damage was estimated at $125.

A ratchet was thrown through a storm window at the Alonzo Brocklehurst residence, 657 Wing, causing $20 damage.

Twp. attacks county plan to build big airport here

BY DIDIER GUERIN

Guerin is a French journalist working and studying in the United States. A former reporter for "Le Monde," he has been visiting with the Robert Gotshall family of 1116 Harding, Plymouth.

Reacting to the controversial proposal to build a major airport in the area, the Plymouth Township Board last week adopted unaminously a notion strongly opposed to the project.

The motion, questioning the need for a general transport airport here, was sent to the Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation as well as to county and federal agencies involved in the project.

According to the proposal the 1,000 acre facility would have a 5,500-foot runway similar in length to that at Pontiac airport and would serve medium twin engine planes and small business jets.

The Plymouth Township Board said the present facility at Willow Run Airport—15 miles from here—is used only at a fraction of its capacity and that duplication of that facility is not essential to the needs of the area.

Listing the problems that would be raised by such a project, the board emphasized its cost. Although the projected cost of the project remains unclear, one third of the money would be provided by the citizens locally and "the effect would be to increase the pressures on the already overburdened taxpayers."

Criticizing the Wayne County Road Commission for its failure to provide hard surface roads in the area, the board considers this goal as a high priority "for the benefit of all residents, as opposed to funding a few

Schools attendance area report

A random selection attendance plan for the high schools encouragement of school attendance transfers at the elementary and middle school levels and implementation of year round school have been recommended by the Plymouth Schools' citizens' study committee on attendance areas.

In its report to the school board Monday night, the committee analyzed existing building capacities compared to projected enrollment figures. The building needs for the next five years and the school districts' current transportation policies and system.

The committee's report questions the formula used to estimate the student enrollments growth in the WADE-TRIM report. (That report is the latest of a series of reports commissioned by the Plymouth School district).

According to the attendance committee report, "most members of the committee feel the percentage factors used by Wade Trim to determine the elementary growth are too low."

The attendance area committee, which was appointed by the school board on Nov. 25, did not make specific recommendations about changing existing attendance areas.

Its report investigated the impact of safety, building capacities, projected growth and citizens' concerns on the attendance area system for the school district.

The recommendation to facilitate attendance area transfers at the elementary and middle schools level was patterned after a similar policy in the East Lansing School District.

Under the proposal, school administrators would be directed to encourage student transfer students would be the responsibility of the parents, the reports advised.

Random selection of high schools students should be implemented with the first class to enter the third high school (assuming the present plans for Centennial Educational Park are continued), the report recommended.

A family-style random selection process, based either on a lottery drawing or a computer sampling was recommended by the committee for the high schools.

Canton to stay with block grant program

BY KATHY KUENZER

The Federal Block Grant Program may have won a participant and lost one.

The Canton Township Board of Trustees has voted to adopt a resolution that would keep Canton in the program that would net them some $32,000 of federal funds.

Plymouth Township, on the other hand, has voted to empower Supervisor J. D. McLaren to withdraw from the program whenever he sees the "administrative costs would be more than what the township would receive in return."

According to Township Clerk Helen Richardson, this decision could come as early as the April 14th meeting of the Advisory Council for the Block Grant Program.

Plymouth Township is also eligible for approximately $32,000.

The total grant for the program would come in a $700,000 package to Wayne County, who would split the funds among 19 communities and administer the program. The county would take out $40,000 for administration, $80,000 for rehabilitation of undergrade housing, senior citizens housing programs, and code enforcement, and distribute the remaining $500,000 among the participating communities.

The Block Grant Program Advisory Council, composed of mayors and supervisors from participating programs, has been

Twp. firemen honored

The Muscular Dystrophy Association and the Jerry Lewis Telethon have cited Plymouth Township's firefighters as one of four departments in the state worthy of its plaque of appreciation for "outstanding service and dedication."

The township's 13 full-time and 25 volunteer firefighters were among the leaders in the per capita collections they raised. They also adopted a local muscular dystrophy girl, offering her companionship and aid. The firemen gave their off-duty time to spearhead the muscular dystrophy campaign here.

studying the grant program, "wanting to be sure accepting the funds wouldn't mean we must accept the burdens of the federal government, for instance public housing," according to Canton Supervisor Bob Greenstein. "I am satisfied with it."

To intensify the study of the program, Greenstein, Mayor Bev MaAninch of Plymouth, the mayor from Allen Park, and Grosse Isle Township's supervisor plan a one-day trip to Washington to talk with officials at HUD, who administer the funds at the federal level.

Canton Township plans to use $10,000 of the anticipated money for rehabilitation of the newly acquired senior citizens building at Sheldon Road and Michigan Avenue. Some money would be spent for study of the recreation site at Cherry Hill and Canton Center Roads. The balance would be used for recreation.

Should Plymouth Township decide to remain in the program, its money would be divided among playground development, the new golf course and recreation development, a township recreation program, and safety.

The requirements, which the federal monies hinge upon, include the support and cooperation of more than 200,000 people in communities of less than 50,000 population. Should enough communities drop out so that the 200,000 figure is not met, the program would be dropped by HUD in Wayne County.

The City of Plymouth has not made a final decision on whether they will remain in the funding program. They are also in line to receive some $32,000, but according to Mayor MaAninch, it is "hard to guess" what the city commission might eventually decide to do. "We have until May 15 to decide," she said.

Canton consumer protection ordinance needs changes

With Malice Toward None

Children shouldn't play with matches

Bob Greenstein likes to be the center of attention — that must be why he wears his blue track suit to meetings on occasion.

But never has his showing off reached the proportions it did at last week's intergovernmental meeting. Admittedly, the meeting was VERY informal.

However that is no excuse for Greenstein's pyromania — perhaps a manifestation of his true feelings about the press. At the meeting, the Canton Supervisor grabbed the notebook of a reporter who had left the room and set it on fire.

It was done as a joke (giving Greenstein benefit of the doubt) but it really wasn't very funny. When he saw that someone managed to grab a camera and shoot his picture, he quickly poured his soft drink on the notebook to put it out.

None of the reporter's notes were destroyed — the picture didn't come out.

Perhaps the intergovernmental committee members should take up the new practice of the Canton Board members who, on occasion, pass notes to their leader reminding him to "be nice." Or maybe they should hire a baby sitter to make sure children don't play with matches.

Consumer protection is, perhaps, the watch word of the 1970's economic climate.

Now Canton Township, and specifically, Trustee Robert Myers, is proposing the development of a locally - controlled consumer protection agency and ordinances which give that agency a lot of teeth.

The major strength of the proposal, according to Myers, will come from the agency's power to "license all merchants functioning or providing services in the township of Canton."

He said the business licensing is similar to that done in Detroit by the city's consumer affairs department.

But when The Community Crier checked with Detroit, officials in their consumer and licensing departments said they only license in the traditionally regulated areas pertaining to: health, ( restaurants, bakeries, food stores), fire regulations, (theaters and large halls); police regulations, (pool halls); and those businesses which take consumer goods into their possession (dry cleaners, movers.)

There are many justifiable reasons, (perhaps not ideally, but at least practically) behind licensing certain activities for the protection of the people.

Opinions

THE COMMUNITY CRIER

April 3, 1975

The capacities of public buildings is the most often cited example. Were the capacities not regulated, there could be serious dangers to the occupants in case of fire.

But these reasons pertaining to health, fire, police and consumer goods protection are areas which need to be regulated for the people's protection against safety hazards or for the protection of their goods left in someone else's care.

It is not a valid reason to license businesses "so as to develop the necessary revenues"

There is no question that Canton, like other communities, would benefit from strong consumer protection.

But the proposal in Canton lacks the explanation of how this is to be accomplished. The proposal, for example, does not stipulate the specific reasons for which a business license may be revoked by the township.

Given the political wheeling-dealing which Canton has seen under the Greenstein Administration, it is entirely possible this broad licensing power could be abused.

Myers admits that the consumer protection agency could be abused but says he can counter that threat by getting the right people appointed to the agency. That could turn out to be a naive hope.

Who know who will serve on this agency in future years and what they will do?

Some of the areas in the "unlawful practices" sections - particularly that relating to truth in sales; fraud; and rating protection - are certainly areas of consumer protection which need the kind of strict regulation Myers is calling for.

But other areas of Canton consumer agency proposal are more judgmental, and thus open to abuse.

Clearly, there needs to be a more specific detailing of the consumer protection agency's powers and responsibilities.

Even though the proposal purports to be totally behind the consumer, it may not be so if that consumer has a complaint about dealing with the township government.

According to the proposal, the agency's power "shall not be extended to governmental units or to their adjuncts without prior approval of the board." That means that if you've got a complaint against the township - say on sewer tap in fees - rotsa ruck.

In theory, Myers' proposal is a good one. But before the Canton consumer agency can be a strong, apolitical watchdog, its powers and responsibilities must be specifically set forth.

It may also be argued that a local agency of the type being proposed could not be very effective since most Canton residents do the majority of their business outside the township. But the agency's effectiveness in dealing with that problem can only be measured after its implementation.

Rather than establishing a whole new investigatory and enforcement basis for consumer complaints with safeguards for "due process," it might be better for the consumer protection agency to deal through established channels such as small claims court.

The Canton agency could assist residents in filing complaints through the courts. A step in the right direction would be for Canton to encourage the 35th District Court to open a branch office at township hall (as it has in Plymouth Township).

There is no question that the idea of a local consumer protection agency would be a help to township residents, but it is necessary to spell out everyone's rights in regards to the broad powers such an agency needs. That could be a herculean task which if not done properly might produce a monster.

Where's Mirto's compassion ?

To Gary Mirto:

During the School Board meeting of March 24, 1975, I listened to you lend your support to a High School Hockey Program.

Others lent their support too, but you were the most vocal

Editor:

In our times of questionable adolescent conduct there emerges a few upstanding young men and women. Plymouth - Salem is apparently doing things right.

Their actions have left us open minded with regard to other giveaway promotions in the future. Thank you for preparing leaders for our future and sincerest congratulations to your outstanding basketball team.

and I may add, the most colorful. Your verbal antics began with an attempt to put down another board member; you then proceeded to label those with other priorities on "both sides of the table" as sports haters and concluded with semantically inferior protestations.

I can think of no one who hates sports. We all know the value of physical fitness and that is why we have a physical education program in every school. But the value of mental fitness is only beginning to make itself heard in our public school systems.

Plymouth schools are appallingly short of counsellors, our reading programs cannot take care of all our reading problems and our school psychologists are reduced to paper shufflers in attempting to handle an overload of cases.

You probably have no idea of what it is like to have poor self image, Mr. Mirto. An ego doesn't flourish when a child is pegged dummy, often because he needed intensive care at the elementary level that the school district couldn't give him. You couldn't walk in the shoes of a learning-disabled child for a day Mr. Mirto, without making short shrift of your ego. But these kids struggle every day to maintain a fragile self-respect.

Our nations' greatness is determined not only by its physical strength but by its compassion for the poor, the sick and the weak and I hope you realize this, Mr. Mirto.

No hockey on Sunday

Editor:

The time has come for me to express my feelings against Sunday morning hockey in Plymouth. I'm speaking of the hours from 9 to 12:30.

The decision to play House League championship games on Palm Sunday morning is inexcusable. I don't believe we've the only family that would like to have hockey scheduling omitted during the hours I mentioned. It isn't right that a child or his parents should have to make a choice between church and the hockey team.

No othersport demands this of families and it's time that those who are unhappy with this situation speak up.

The mayor of Trenton, Isadore Mullias, told me that he requested and was granted a decision not to open their rink for hockey until noon on Sundays. He felt very strongly that families should not be faced with this kind of problem.

There are 168 hours in a week and it seems to me it's not asking too much to have three and a half hours set aside or blocked out of hockey scheduling - let them use the rink for open skating for added revenue at that time.

If there are others equally concerned, then it's time to let the hockey association and the scheduling coordinator know our concerns.

Analysis: Commissioners flex loop, annexation muscle

BY HANK MEIJER

The drawing of the Plymouth City Commission was made by Deborah Meijer. A city resident, she is an art student at the University of Michigan and wife of Crier editor Hank Meijer.

Norb Battermann tamps his pipe and lights it. On his right Joe Bida fills a glass with water. At the other end of the stage Harold Guenther leans back in his swivel chair.

With those and other customary motions, members of the Plymouth City Commission meet the first and third Monday night of every month in their City Hall chambers.

The current commission has tackled two issues which overshadow its other actions: the loop road and proposed annexation of Plymouth Township into the city.

While the loop road has touched off debate among the commissioners, the proposed annexation has stirred the emotions of township residents.

The loop road question has divided the seven-member body in recent months as nothing else has. More than any other issue, it reveals the differing views of individual commissioners.

Construction of a loop route its supporters say that would define the downtown business district, make parking more accessible and spur commercial development — has been considered by city officials since 1957.

The issue cropped up again last fall. Members of the planning commission and the city's planner went before the commission to ask its support for the loop. After extended debate, the commission voted 4-3 to endorse it in concept. Commissioners Battermann, Guenther, Bob Sincock and John Cummings supported the resolution. Mayor Beverly McAninch and Commissioners Bida and John Moehle opposed it.

Although backers of the loop had the votes to endorse the concept, they and other observers agreed that without some sort of consensus, no project as ambitious as the loop road would be wisely undertaken.

The mayor appears to differ philosophically with loop proponents Guenther, Sincock, Battermann and, lately, Cummings.

While they would have the city shoulder the challenge of getting the loop and other downtown developments underway, Mrs. McAninch insists that the business community, not the city, should take the lead in improving the city's core.

She has opposed the city's contractual agreements with a cable TV firm and the Pilgrim Towers Non-Profit Housing Corporation.

When Pilgrim Towers asked the city last summer to assume its $42,000 land contract on a parcel of property at Ann Arbor Trail and the C & O tracks which had been proposed as the site of a senior citizens complex, only the Mayor and Moehle opposed the request. When the commission was asked late last year to extend its land contract agreement six more months, only the Mayor voted no, citing her belief that the city didn't belong in the real estate business.

A test loop road will be created within a few weeks on sections of Wing, Deer, Union, Church and Harvey streets with the installation of a few signs and signals. Proponents are waiting to see how the experiment will turn out before forcing the issue again.

The commission's other significant action which has aroused feelings in the community was its quiet decision on the eve of the consolidation defeat last May to see the annexation of Plymouth Township to the city.

Without fanfare the commission voted unanimously to submit annexation petitions to the state boundary commission.

On the loop road and a few other issues, Commissioners Bida and Moehle have tended to join the Mayor in taking a more cautious view of the commission's role. Sincock, Guenther and Battermann have consistently sought more vigorous city participation in affairs which are not necessarily in the province of the commission.

Cummings, whose vote in support of Battermann's loop road resolution surprised even of his fellow commissioners, seems more inclined lately to have the city assume a leadership role in downtown development.

Sincock is not eligible to seek another term this fall according to City Attorney Charles Lowe, and Guenther has indicated that he will not run. Guenther has frequently acted as senior advisor to the commission, pointing out aspects of its decisions which his colleagues might have overlooked in their deliberations.

In addition to these two seats, those held by the mayor and Cummings will also be contested this fall.

Merchant Al "Tex" Thoman and former Mayor Jim McKeon have both said they may seek commission seats and former school board member Tom Turner has also been mentioned as a possible candidate. Paul Mueller, an unsuccessful candidate in the last two races is eligible to try again. Mahlon Green, a perpetual candidate of the past has moved from the city.

Should the new commission choose a new mayor, incumbents Moehle, Bida and Battermann would be the likely choices.

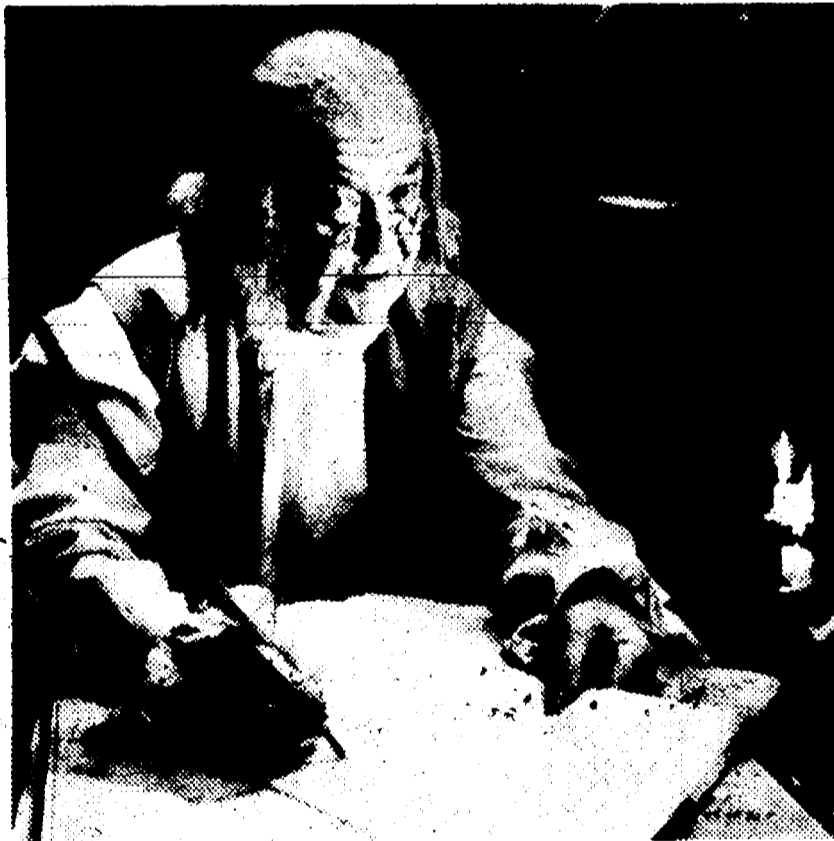

All the commissioners have compiled good attendance records. Their meetings have been marked by few late-night sessions. Most begin promptly at 7:30 p.m. and the vast majority are adjourned between 8:30 and 9:30.

The departure of Guenther and Sincock could cost the commission much of what enthusiasm it has for the loop road and other projects. But Mrs. McAninch, who was elected with liberal support, has opposed greater city involvement in such undertakings and will face a re-election test.

Right now, what the future holds is anybody's guess.

Post Office eyes expansion

Towers property only to say that as it existed it was too small. "We'd probably have to acquire some adjoining properties (if that site were picked)."

Another site rumored to be under consideration by the post office is that owned by Jack Wilcox on the east side of Union at Penniman. Wilcox told The Crier that he had not been officially contacted by postal officials as of Monday. "I would be interested," he added.

The Wilcox site was considered as a post office location in 1935, but the facility was build instead at its current location.

Asked whether the post office had definitely ruled out establishing a branch or a new facility in Canton, Maxson said, "It's going to be determined by what we're able to do on a site in Plymouth."

The advertisement for land for the new postal facility said the site desired is approximately 340 feet by 400 feet or approximately 136,000 sq. ft. (3.12 acres); Maxson said a smaller site could be used if public parking were available nearby.

Offers of property may be made to Maxson care of Mulligan at the post office before 4 p.m. April 25.

Varsity thinclads set to roll

BY DENNIS O'CONNOR

As the snow begins to melt and the green grass starts to appear, the spring track season at Plymouth Centennial Park is just around the corner and both Plymouth-Canton and Plymouth-Salem thinclads prepare for upcoming competition.

A combination of youth and experience and the added spice of a new coach is what to look for in this year's Plymouth-Salem track team.

First year varsity coach Gary Balconi and returning seniors Mark DeMerrit, Dave Williams, Kim Woody, Ted Burton, Mark Manthey, Eric Agardy and Jim Anderson are looking toward the regular outdoor Suburban Eight League dual season and the all-important league meet May 28 at Redford Union.

DeMerrit, Anderson and Williams are all middle distance runners and sprinters. DeMerrit was a member of last season's record breaking mile relay squad.

Burton and Manthey will handle shotput duties, while the giant 6-9 Agardy is the team's long jumper. Woody is an excellent pole vaulter and also participates on relay teams.

Underclassmen Walt White, Curt Judd and Scott Kleam head the list of distance runners.

Plymouth-Canton starts its season with seniors for the first time in the school's history.

Leading the crew of returning seniors is Mike Potter, who was the only Chief of quality for the state meet last season.

The Chiefs of the Western Six League are coached by Brian Schwall. This is Schwall's third year with the Canton trackmen, as he continues to build the new school's program. He also handles the cross-country runners in the fall.

Schwall came to Plymouth after coaching at Detroit Catholic Central and Bishop Borgess. He began the Borgess program when the school opened. He is an English teacher at Canton High School.

Chiefs batter 'spring training' foes on tour

BY DENNIS O'CONNOR

For the first time ever in Plymouth-Canton's short sports history, a varsity ballclub took a pre-season trip in preparation for its regular schedule.

The Chief baseball team, under the direction of coach Fred Crissey, traveled south to Cincinnati last week, where the batsmen were scheduled to compete in five different ballgames against teams in and around the Cincinnati area.

Canton played only three of these contests before a doubleheader slated for last Friday was rained out. But in those three games the Chiefs left a lot of Ohioans impressed with the quality of baseball Plymouth had to offer - they swept all three contests.

The first game was scheduled for a week ago Saturday against

New Richmond, a community about 50 miles east of Cincinnati. That contest was switched to the following Sunday after an early morning shower left things soggy. Sunday's weather was a Northerner's dream as a warm, sunny sky moved the thermometer up into the high 60's.

Canton responded in kind to the great weather, scoring two opening inning runs enroute to a 4-1 victory over the Ohio squad.

Tom Close, the hard-hitting junior catcher and clean-up hitter, provided the hardest hit of the game with a 320-foot home run in the sixth inning. Returning starters Bill Parson and Chris Martucci worked the mound, giving up only one unearned run and combining to strike out 12 New Richmond batters. Martucci was credited with the win.

Last Tuesday the Chiefs felt like they were hitting in Hudson Bay, not Cincinnati, as a chilly north wind dropped temperatures down to the mid 30's and brought scattered snow flurries.

The cold conditions didn't seem to bother Canton. A trio of sophomore pitchers went against the best from Finneytown High school (Class AAA) and won 3-1. Two senenth-inning runs did the trick, as Bob Ayotte and Scott Dunagan scored on a two-run single by Martucci.

Sophomore Mark Perkins went the first four innings for the Chiefs, facing the minimum 12 batters and allowing no hits while throwing only 35 pitches. Lefthanded Steve Morman was the second pitcher and John Young finished up.

The following day the weather moved back up to the 50's as the Chiefs invaded Lockland High School. And invade they did, as the Plymouth squad wwon a 27-2 laughter in a contest which saw Canton bat around three times.

The Chiefs scored in all but the third inning, tallying hits in every stanza. Everyone got into the act: all but one of the 17 Canton players crossed the plate at least once. The only Chief not to score was Young, who came up with a bases-loaded double in the final inning and was left stranded at third.

Morman was a pleasant surprise with the bat. The lefthanded sophomore stroked a three-run homer over the right field fence and an RBI single in two times at bat. Mike Verduce also accounted for four RBIs on a two-run double and a two-run single. Other Chiefs that came up with two hits were Paul Major and Keith Randazzo as Canton put together a 14-hit attack.

The trip wasn't all baseball, however. The team visited the Cincinnati Zoo, the famed Riverfront Stadium, the University of Cincinnati campus, and Wright Patterson Air Force Base on free days.

Hurlers key Salem baseball hopes

"The potential is there to have a winning season if we play together as a team," said coach Wayne Sparkman of his 1975 Plymouth-Salem baseball squad.

The Rocks have a solid nucleus of returning players who saw action last year.

Salem's biggest plus going into the season is the return of its entire pitching staff. That staff is headed by senior Tom Willette, a two-year letterman. He is a southpaw with a quick fast ball that earned him all-area honors last season. The other returning hurler is Bill DenHouter, a lanky righthander who started several games for the 1974 Rocks.

Returning infielders include Kirk Brannock, Brian Wolcott, Chuck Thomas and Tim Dillon. Other help for the infield will come from juniors Dave Pierce and Howard Inch, who played summer ball last season for Plymouth. Thomas is a lefthander who can pitch as well as play first base.

Outfield duties belong to veterans Doug Tripp and Dan Moore, with aid from John DenHouter, Tom Davis and Charley Johnson all from last year's junior varsity team. DenHouter and Johnson are also likely to see action on the mound.

Senior Vern Nagel and Moore will be catching.

The two areas where the Rocks have to improve are fielding and hitting. Last year's team hit a lowly .217 and gave up 35 unearned runs out of a total 99.

More than 100 prospects signed up for the varsity, JV and freshman programs this year at Salem. Brian Gilles and Gary Temple will help Coach Sparkman, handling JV and freshman duties respectively.

Sparkman is in his sixth year of coaching the Plymouth Varsity. In 1972 he led the Rocks to a district championship and a runner-up spot in the regionals.

Plymouth Board of Education Minutes

Following is a synopsis of the minutes of the regular meeting of the Plymouth Board of Education held on March 10, 1975 at Canton High School. All Board members attended, as well as administrators and about 80 guests. The meeting was called to order following a report given by the Wakely-Kushner Architects firm regarding Phase III Construction for Canton High School.

Minutes of special meeting of February 22 and March 3 and of the regular meeting on February 24 were approved.

Suggestions from Citizens: Mrs. I. Rybka, a special education bus driver, rose to ask for information from the Board which had not been available to her through the Transportation office and several citizens requested permission to speak on matters on the agenda as the items arose.

Administrative Action Items: Mrs. J. Wolkens, representing residents of Arlington Road in Windsor Park Subdivision read a statement with regard to new elementary school access road and suggested alternate routes. Mr. G. Feierfeil also expressed his concern with safety in that area and Robert Greenstein, Canton Township Supervisor, reported on a meeting held in Windsor Park. The matter of the temporary road into that area, was discussed as well as proposed construction requirements from the Wayne County Road Commissioner, Drain Commissioner and Board of Commissioners, and asked that cooperation might be forthcoming between these bodies as well as the School Board. William LaGosh, Wayne County Road Commission, said the Road Commission might forbid use of Arlington and Fleet Streets for construction traffic but did indicate that drain requirements and paving apron into the area would probably be reduced. Another citizen, of Irongate Street in Windsor Park, asked that another survey of the area be taken which would include more of the population. Mr. La Gosh and Board Member Yack engaged in conversation regarding previous commitments made by the Road Commission.

Members of the Board questioned Mr. LaGosh on several points with regard to the access road and construction site. Mr. Greenstein raised other issues for discussion, expressing the hope that the Canton Township Board, Architects and Board of Education could work cooperatively on these issues.

A motion was passed to direct administration and Board representatives to meet with architects and governmental units to determine revised cost estimates for a temporary road; and that concerned citizens be invited to a public study session to be held before March 24, regarding the temporary road at the Windsor Park site.

A motion to approve the working drawings for Elementary Schools numbers 11, 12, and thirteen, and an amendment to state that those drawings be those as presented on March 3 with changes and additions made at the suggestions of the Board, were unanimously passed. The architectural firm was commended for their patience and understanding in preparation of the drawings for the elementary school.

A motion was passed to study all alternatives to the Windsor Park site, along with the option to relocate the school on Bartlett property. Members Mirto and Yack voted nay. Senator Carl Pursell presented a proposal to the Board on interscholastic hockey and all aspects of the proposal were discussed up to this time. A first motion to direct administration to prepare a report for the Board was withdrawn and a motion that the Board approve an interscholastic hockey program in the District was proposed. This was amended to request that the hockey program be carved out of existing athletic budget. The amendment and motion were defeated. A motion was passed that requested administration report back to the Board at the March 24 meeting with a specific recommendation on a hockey program. Member Benson voted nay.

A summer school Special Education program at the Rural life Farm as proposed by the Wayne County Intermediate School District was returned to administration for more information.

Bi

Business Administration Action Items: Bills in the Amount of $1,260,783.54 were approved for payment, with the exception of Invoice 009391 which was held for more information from the School attorney. The Graham Cullotta architects of Plymouth were granted a contract for professional services for the "renovation design" of the second floor of the District Offices at 454 S. Harvey Street, for a total of 10% construction costs. The Business Decision presented a proposal re: purchase of school buses for the coming year. After discussion it was moved and passed that thirteen 66 passenger buses at a cost of $197,183.40 and 23 passenger vans for $35,154.00 and one 23 passenger van with wheelchair lift for $10,759.00, to be purchased, all from the Firm of Classrooms, Inc.

Superintendent Hoben pointed out that this purchase as well as several other commitments made by the Board for the coming year, would have to influence any recommendation administration might have on the hockey program. Carpeting in the amount of $36,079.45, for installation in 5 schools in the District, was approved for purchase. Member Berry voted nay.

Personnel Administration Action Items: New contracts for the remainder of the school year were issued to Mary Banta and Jean Calderon. Retirements, resignations, and leaves were accepted for Frances Forsyth, Darlene Huyck, Phyllis Irish and Lynn Smith. A new contract, effective March 10, was approved for David H. Ode for the position of Data Processing coordinator.

A proposal by the Personnel Division regarding a contract to a consultant on unemployment tax procedures was referred back to administration until they could determine whether that work could be handled through the school auditor and in the administrative offices. Member Benson was appointed to a screening committee as Board representative to select a Supervisor of New Committee.

The Secretarial Negotiations Committee was designated as Stickney and Thomas Workman as members. Cafeteria Committee contract negotiators were appointed with Norman Kee, Chairman, and members Raymond Hoedal and William Lutz.

New Business: Dr. McClendon was appointed to represent the school Board on an intergovernmental committee for Bicentennial plans within the School District area.

The matter of the proposed airport location within the district was discussed at the request of the Intergovernmental Committee. A motion which would refrain from entering into such recommendation was defeated. Member Benson was then requested to work with the Committee to draft correspondence to the Wayne County Road Commission, the EPA, FCC, etc., expressing opposition and reasons therefor for any airport located within the School District. Member Lawton voted nay.

Policies: Procedures number 62225, 1. Petty Cash Fund and procedure number 1702.3, forms for personnel recommendations, were approved.

THIS IS A REVIEW OF MINUTES APPROVED FOR MARCH 10, 1975; COMPLETE MINUTES AND TAPE RECORDINGS ARE AVAILABLE FOR PUBLIC USE IN THE BOARD OF EDUCATION OFFICES 454 S. HARVEY

Doc's Corner

BY DENNIS O'CONNOR

For the past week, I've been in Cincinnati, Ohio with the Plymouth Canton baseball team, covering the Chiefs games and watching their progress.

One of the main goals of this spring trip was to bring the team's sense of unity to a peak for the start of spring season. A little physical workout didn't hurt either.

The team arrived in four cars late Friday night, March 28. During this week's time, both the team, Coach Fred Crissey slept on air mattresses in a big classroom provided by the United States Army Reserve Center in Cincinnati. While the conditions were on the rough side there may not be a better way to unify a group of individuals as a single. Living with each other and driving there and back with the same people helped each and every player better understand the special qualities of his teammates.

Playing under game conditions in Cincinnati was the first time the Chiefs were tested in competion this season. I thought Canton might have trouble winning any of its games because the warmer weather down south had allowed the Cincinnati ballclubs an additional four weeks of practice. But to my surprise Canton came up with three victories in as many tries against some talented opposition.

The overall pitching performance was superb. The Chiefs yielded only one earned run in the three games. The work of three sophomore hurlers in the Finneytown game eas good to see.

Individually, second baseman Keith Randazzo accounted for the most base hits (four). He hit for a .400 average during the three games. Centerfielder Paul Major led all hitters with a .600 average.

Besides these two players, I was impressed with the clutch hitting performances of Tom Close, Mike Verduce, Steve Mormon and Chris Martucci. These six players were Canton's most potent offensive threats

With the performance I saw in Cincinnati, it looks like the Plymouth team is on its way to a very successful season.

*The FACTS
On Today's
Real Estate Market*

B. F. "Bud" Chamberlain

These are CONFUSING TIMES for many folks! Very briefly I would like to clear up some MISCONCEPTIONS:

FACT: There IS mortgage money available. We have a plentiful supply.

FACT: Interest rates have come DOWN in recent months, from a high of 11% a few months ago to 9% today!

FACT: Inflation is a fact of life which will keep construction costs high. Therefore, the cost of homes, new and old, will continue to increase for the foreseeable future.

FACT: Available housing units will remain below demand levels, which will also keep prices on the rise.

FACT: Your present home is worth more on today's market which means a new home may be well within your reach.

CONCLUSION: There has never been a better time to buy or sell! Our professional sales associates are ready to counsel you on your real estate needs, and prove to you why it's best. NOT TO DELAY your home purchase. So, call TODAY!
