There's nothing like a Plymouth Fourth of July parade

FOURTH OF JULY festivities on Sunday ranged from the traditional to the newly-tried, and there seemed to be something for every community resident and visitor to do and see on Independence Day in Plymouth. Members of the Same Day

Fire Service livened up the parade, but there were many other things to liven up the rest of the day -- see pgs. 20 and 21 for more looks at Fourth of July events. (Crier photo by Robert Cameron)

After only one year in office

Decker resigns board seat

BY DAN BODENE

William Decker has resigned from the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education after serving just one year of a four-year term he was elected to last June.

Although for the past several months he repeatedly denied he would resign, Decker turned in his notice on June 30 in a letter which cited his inability to devote enough time to school board business.

According to Decker, "...in all fairness to the needs of the children in our district and to the public who supported me, I feel it would be in their best interest to have someone at this time who would be more readily available for the long hours needed and without the mental strains and concerns of their own business conditions to hamper them in their thinking."

Decker said because of the current economic slowdown he and his staff have been forced to work evenings and weekends to help keep his business open.

His resignation, coming just after the school election, leaves one seat to be

Art in Park Show scheduled

Artists and craftsmen throughout the area have been cordially invited to the second annual Art in the Park Festival, to be held July 10 and 11.

So far, more than 50 have said yes to Plymouth.

Sponsored by the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce, Art in the Park will feature original, handmade articles exhibited by artists throughout Kellogg Park in Plymouth. Organizers of the event say the artists are also being encouraged to demonstrate the production of their wares.

The show will run from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, July 10 and 11. Throughout both days, visitors to the park will also be able to enjoy the talents of guitarist-entertainer Marie Schepers.

This year, the event will have an added dimension -- it's being held in conjunction with the Mayflower Hot Air Balloon Festival.

For more information, contact the Chamber at 453-1540.

Balloon Fest to take over Plymouth sky

Plymouth skies will be filled with colorful hot air balloons Friday, Saturday and Sunday for the Mayflower Hot Air Balloon Festival. The event is expected to draw thousands of spectators to Plymouth where they will find lots to do all week end long.

Balloons will compete Friday night in the British Airways Hare and Hounds race with liftoff scheduled for 6 p.m. at Plymouth Township Park.

Saturday at 6 a.m. the balloons will take off from the same spot for the Board elects Tom Yack as president

Tom Yack became the newest president of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education last Thursday, by acclamation -- there were no other nominations.

In fact, the rest of the slate of officers for the school board were similarly elected by acclamation.

Elaine Kirchgatter, recently reelected to another four-year term on the board, was unanimously reelected vice-president.

The only debate on filling a post came when nominations for secretary were accepted. Although Flossie Tonda and Glenn Schroeder were both suggested for the position, an insufficient number of board members were present (Yack had not arrived and William Decker was absent -- see related story) to cast a vote. Schroeder was then unanimously reelected treasurer, and Tonda was named secretary. The board also includes trustees Sylvia Stetz and E.J. McClendon.

Runaway air compressor causes chain reaction pileup

A CANTON TOWNSHIP air compressor and its trailer are prepared for towing Thursday after the trailer became disconnected from a Canton Township dumptruck on Canton Center Road at Palmer. According to police, the trailer came away from the truck, slid along the road, hit the guardrail and flipped into oncoming traffic. Police said because of the overturned trailer in the road, rush-hour traffic backed up in oncoming lanes resulting in a 4-car accident. Canton Rescue personnel transported Lola Sykes, 55 and her passenger, Elaine Brown, 35, both of Detroit, to Oakwood Hospital Canton Center for emergency treatment. Both women were released after treatment for mild abrasions. (Crier photo by Robert Cameron)

In equalization factor challenge

Canton will take on state

BY DICK BROWN

Canton Township is going to take on the State of Michigan in a big battle July 7.

That's the date Canton officials will appear before the Michigan Tax Tribunal to make their arguments in the township appeal challenging the tax equalization factor.

Canton, through its attorney, Bert Bergoyne, will contend before the tax tribunal that the assigned equalization factor of 1.035 boosts property assessments in the township way above the 50 percent of true market value mandated by law.

The factor was assigned by the Wayne County Equalization Department and approved by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners. Canton officials protested every opportunity they had a chance.

According to Supervisor Jim Poole, Canton's Tax Board of Review was flooded with appeals from property owners protesting their individual assessments as assigned by the county.

The Board of Review members heard the protests, conducted their own sales studies of property in the township and consulted other outside sales studies and then adjusted downward the assessments on over 7,000 pieces of Canton property.

That's when the county negated those adjustments and zapped all taxpayers in Canton by assigning the 1.035 equalization factor.

In supporting the county's action, George McEachran, Wayne County Equalization Director, said, "Canton cut way more than they should have."

In a news conference announcing the reductions for the 7,000 property owners in April, John Blumenshine, Richard Palmer and Jerry Williams, members of the Canton Board of review, pointed out that every one of the reductions could be backed up by documentation.

So you think your taxes jumped out of sight?

You think you pay high taxes? Here's a rundown of the largest taxpayers in the school district, according to the business office of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

In Canton, the largest taxpayer is Kresge Co., with a tax bill for the 1981-'82 fiscal year of $9,784,973. Running a close second is Detroit Edison, with $9,535,939, third place goes to Michigan Consolidated with $7,856,100. Honeytree Apartments paid $6,499,976 and Practical Homes paid

In the City of Plymouth, Western Electric paid $6,039,995, Packaging Corporation of America paid $2,319,197, Hendry Properties paid $1,933,421 and Dunn Steel paid $1,757,761.

In Plymouth Township, the big taxpayer is Ford Motor Company at $9,273,882, second place goes to Burroughs at $5,460,941. Next is Spartan Foods at $3,996,246 and the Plymouth Hilton Inn with a tax bill of $2,182,801.

Cross burnings investigated

"It's some juvenile with a warped sense of pranks."

That's the way Canton Police Lt. Larry Stewart described two cross burning incidents in Canton Township subdivisions sometime Friday night.

Canton police are continuing the investigation in hopes of apprehending the culprit or culprits.

The first cross burning was reported by passing motorists and neighbors on the lawn of the Nathaniel Phelps home at 42715 Castle Drive at 10:40 p.m. Friday.

Then a report came in of another cross burning incident nearby at the William Parker home in Cherry Hills Orchards Subdivision. This burned cross was reported a 7 a.m. Saturday morning.

Physical evidence in the cases points to juveniles, according to Canton police. They are checking out the cloth wrapping, paint smears and a coffee can of gasoline, along with other evidence.

Police Departments promise crackdown on moped violators

BY REBECCA ROWAND

Although the moped has become a major mode of inexpensive transportation in the Plymouth-Canton Community it may also be a big fat headache for drivers:

"It's the lack of training, lack of knowledge of the rules of the road," said Canton Police Chief Jerry Cox, citing moped riders' tendency to dart in and out of traffic. "The kids just don't have any experience obeying the rules, we've had a couple of close calls. They're a tremendous hazard to themselves and the driving public."

Chief Cox expects the Canton Police to start a ticketing and towing campaign soon to impress on parents the need for supervision of young riders. "We think that by ticketing and towing we'll get the attention of the parents. The riders have to have proof of ownership and a driver's license." Towing and storage fees for an impounded moped can run upwards of $35.

Plymouth Police Chief Carl Berry feels a similar crack-down is necessary in Plymouth. "They're motor vehicles and they're going to have to start obeying the law," he said.

In order that local police officers may be more informed, the Traffic Services Division of the Michigan State Police have published a list of regulations governing them.

According to the Michigan Motor Vehicle Code, a moped has "2 or 3 wheels, operable pedals, 50 cc or less (engine size), 1.5 brake horsepower, 25 miles or less (top speed)."

As a motor vehicle, a moped is "granted all rights and subject to all duties applicable to driver of vehicle." The duties ensure the safety of the rider as well as peaceful co-existence with the traffic that shares the road.

Other regulations require a valid driver's license, registration, a single rider, no riding on sidewalks or bike paths, riding to the right, lights front and rear, muffler and resonator, horn, handlebars 15 inches from top of the seat, both hands on the handlebars and no passing between lanes of traffic. Insurance is not required, nor is a title.

The list is published by the Traffic Services Division of the Michigan State Police, 7150 Harris Drive in Lansing.

Community Clothing Bank available for emergency use

Needy families in the community may not even know it, but there's a special place where they can shop for good, used clothing of all sizes.

The Clothing Bank, located in a portable classroom behind Central Middle School, is open Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9:30 a.m. to noon.

According to Flossie Tonda, who helps run the service, the Clothing Bank is currently stocked with a large selection of summer clothes including sundresses, shorts, light jackets, swim suits and even tennis shoes.

There's lots to choose from, she says, and it has to go before the end of the summer. "We can't keep it any longer than that. There's just no room."

Plymouth women attend 1982 Women's Assembly

Mary Uhl and Deanna Huff represented the Plymouth Branch of the American Association of University Women as participants at the 1982 Women's Assembly III.

Aug. 10 primary voter registration deadline July 12

The candidates might be just getting untracked in the political races for party nominations in the Aug. 10 primary election, but time is a lot shorter for the voters.

The final date for voter registration at offices of Plymouth City Clerk and Canton and Plymouth Township Clerks is Monday, July 12. Offices will remain open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. on that day to accept registrations.

The last day to apply to vote by absentee ballot by mail is Saturday, August 7.

Purpose of the assembly was to have representatives of major women's organizations develop a unified platform to express views of Major issues confronting women in Michigan and the nation.

On the issue of defense spending the assembly went on record as favoring the re-establishment of the country's budget priorities of "butter over guns, life over death and the welfare of the nation's people over the support of the multi-billion dollar corporate defense industry."

Women attending the assembly also passed a resolution urging congress to recognize that the "wealth and strength of a nation is measured by the decency with which that nation treats all of its citizens, and to reject the insanity represented by the federal administration's destruction of the few economic gains made by women in the past few decades."

Other policy issues debated included employment and economy, education, power and image, community concerns, family relations, health care and international relations.

With Malice Toward None

By W. Edward
WENDOVER

'Tis the season for manure spreaders.

With county, state and Congressional primary elections scheduled for Aug. 10, the politicians are out in force.

And with them comes the fertilizer.

Not that all of politics is better for the garden than for mankind, it's just a vast portion of the goings-on should be sold in bags to improve lawns or produce methane.

The July 4th parade, as usual, serves as barometer of the political climate. This year, there were more politicians than usual— a tribute to new political districts and the resulting upheaval as well as to the effect of economics on the state political scene.

Why did the parade marshals make the horses follow behind the politicians instead of having made the hopefuls labor under the same wary eye the parade-watchers have to keep on the politicians?

Before the next month is over, it'll get deeper too. So bring out the waders and get ready.

Cross burning idiots need to be punished

Last week one of those nasty episodes unfolded in Canton Township which makes no sense and does nothing but point to the ignorance and boorishness of a small group of people.

Cross burning in Canton is despicable just as it's despicable anywhere.

Whether as a juvenile prank or as a callous act of adults with pabulum for brains, there is no place in any community for such an abusive attack.

Canton Township officials and Canton Police are trying hard to determine the idiots who placed the burning crosses in the yards of two Canton Township families.

Canton is community of people with many nationalities, religious beliefs and ethnic backgrounds. An assault against one is an assault against all.

The sooner those responsible for last week's display of moral decay are apprehended and punished, the better it will be.

A special thank you to Riverside for continuing to sponsor this wonderful event. In the past nine years over $83,000 has been collected at Riverside Arena Muscular Dystrophy Skate-a-Thon.

I feel that is quite an accomplishment.

School cut decisions aren't always equal

EDITOR:

The School Board needs a motto that would reflect its current decision-making process. Something classy, perhaps in bronze, to hang over the entrance so that everyone in the district will know, up front, what to expect for their children by way of an education.

Perhaps the quote should read, "While all things are fair, some things are more fair for some than for others." A footnote on a placard below might read, "depending of course, upon where you reside in the district."

I refer to the decision to eliminate German as a foreign language offering for 1982-83 at Lowell and East due to an enrollment of less than 25.

Based on declining monies, that might seem like a fair decision at first. Further study shows, however, that there are many classes being offered at East, Lowell and Central that do not meet the 25 enrollment criteria. West's data was unavailable and Pioneer's scheduling is in abeyance until the new principal, Carl Taylor, has a chance to review the proposed scheduling.

Already we have exceptions to the Board criteria of a minimum enrollment of 25 per class.

When petitioned about the inequities, Mr. Schroeder stated, "There are inequities in the world, there are inequities in the school district. Unfortunately we don't have enough money to solve those inequities."

I can accept inequities in school buildings, in abilities of administrators, between teaching staffs, and even inequities regarding the definition of the school year. What I am unwilling to accept is the concept that educational opportunities should vary from school to school within the district.

Does the board define curriculum or is curriculum to be determined on the basis of enrollment? What about the college-bound student who is denied a chance to have German at Lowell, or East, while the same is not true about those at West, Central and Pioneer?

I believe the board needs to rethink this issue. Because inequities exist is no reason to encourage them in the area of educational opportunity.

The motto I mentioned at the beginning of this letter probably ought to be written in Latin to be really classy. Unfortunately, the board abolished Latin in the middle schools two years ago. Perhaps it would look nice in Spanish? or French?

MARILYN RICKARD

In filling vacancy

School Board should listen to voters

William Decker's resignation from the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education has put remaining board members in a tough spot -- they have a vacancy to fill and a delicate situation to handle at the same time.

The timing of Decker's announcement has already sparked rumors of a board-engineered succession, rumors which are being staunchly denied. Newly elected President Tom Yack is right when he says, "Quite frankly, the timing is terrible for us."

So it makes sense that the method of selecting a replacement for Decker will have as much impact on the board's public relations as it will on the administration of the district.

Unfortunately, the law is not very specific when it comes to naming the method of filling a vacancy on a school board. The only real stipulation is that if a vacancy isn't filled within 20 days of a resignation, the matter goes to the intermediate school district (and in this case, there would be two such organizations to deal with).

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education has several options. Board members have already suggested filling the post by consensus, by soliciting letters of interest and interviewing candidates, or by choosing the first runner-up in the recent school election.

We feel the last option is the best one. The results of the June 14 school election provide not only a timely indication of community support for a potential replacement for Decker, but they also give residents of the district a fairer involvement in choosing that replacement.

On June 14 voters showed their support for Roland Thomas, Jr., who came within only 154 votes of being elected. The board ought to acknowledge that support now, and in doing so give members of the community the final say on who will replace them.

Decker's resignation sure left a lot to be desired

It was just a bad situation all around.

Bill Decker turned in his resignation from the Plymouth-Canton school board the day I printed in this column that he had stated no intention of doing so. That made me mad.

Residents who heard the news began to believe Decker had deliberately waited to announce his resignation, and that made them mad.

The school board now has to choose a replacement, and they know the job had better be done fairly enough to satisfy everybody. That makes them a little anxious.

In addition

by Dan Bodenc

For myself, I was disappointed to feel like the last to know about the whole thing. Decker says he felt no obligation to alert newspapers on his decision before talking to the board and administration, and I almost respect that. But let's face it, the cat was apparently out of the bag months ago, and in checking up on it I took Decker's word. And he misled me.

But Decker has a point when he explains that to announce his resignation early, a candidate or candidates might have adjusted their campaigns. He also makes a good point when he says that in holding off, the board now has excellent information stemming from the school election on who the community feels might be a good replacement. I hope the board uses that information.

On one hand I sympathize with Decker, because he's a victim of things beyond his control. We all know the real estate business isn't exactly a blue chip venture right now, and on top of that Decker has an obligation to his family as well. He had a tough choice.

And he recognizes that he's got to live with it. I wouldn't want to trade places with him.

But on the other hand I'm biting my lip to avoid crying about how members of the school board may be asking for more credibility and dodging the press at the same time.

It is a bad situation all around.

Coloring it Brown

By Dick Brown

There's nothing like a Fourth of July celebration in a close-knit community like Plymouth--particularly when Mother Nature cooperates.

Those thousands of people who lined the streets for the Jaycee Run and the afternoon parade and milled around every available open spot for the evening fireworks display were obviously having more fun than the thousands who were parading up and down I-75 and the other freeways of the state trying to survive while getting from Point A to Point B.

There's something about a parade that makes a normal person's blood race a little faster, even when and in spite of the invasion of politicians who made up one of the larger contingents of the 1982 Plymouth Fourth of July parade.

One wonders how many votes politicians pick up marching down Main Street dodging the horse droppings.

There is one thing that the Plymouth parade seems to be missing. That's more marching bands.

The highlight of the evening, though, was the fireworks display, not so much for the fireworks themselves but from the vantage point from where we watched it. For the last two years I have avoided Hines Park after dark like the plague thanks to all the stories and publicity the park has picked up over the years.

Sunday night I took my wife, my 60-year-old bones and a blanket to Hines Park for the fireworks and rolled on the grass with the rest of the world.

It was more fun watching people than it was watching fireworks.

I wasn't assaulted once, although I did lay my hand on a recently-discarded hot sparkler wire and a stray dog added to the excitement by proving that while he wasn't paper trained, he was blanket trained.

After the big Plymouth July Fourth party, though, a tip of the hat should again go to the Jaycees, the merchants, the participants in the various events and those who turned out in such big numbers to just watch.

It was fun and American all the way.

It's a thought...

by Rebecca Rowand

Perhaps, there really is something worse than taking wallpaper down. Hard to believe, but I think house-hunting is up there on the list of tiring, frustrating jobs.

Plymouth-Canton is a lovely community, and, like so many people, my fiance and I have decided to try to make our home here. As newlyweds, we'll be a little shaky financially, so we'll rent until we get our fiscal feet on the ground and jump feet-first into a home of our own.

The whole community is just chock-full of architectural wonders, white-collar workers and happy children, a renter's paradise. But the average rent seems to be just under a month's salary! We've looked at inexpensive third-floor flats and expensive old farmhouses. I dragged my fiance and his two young daughters out in the pouring rain to look at a house that turned out to be the size of a two-car garage, and he sent me out to look at a lovely farm with barns and fenced yard before I discovered that the barely-reasonable price in the paper was a misprint.

We've looked at city houses and country houses. We've looked in the school district, out of the school district, around the school district, north and south, one bedroom to three-bedrooms.

The indecision is difficult to deal with too, like which arm or which leg is this place worth, how important is it for us to eat regularly after we move in, how much can I get if I sell my hair, stuff like that.

I have a friend who works for People magazine in New York City. She has a beautiful apartment with wood floors and high ceilings that almost overlooks the Hudson River. The last I heard, she was still engaged after several years, but they've been putting it off because he lives and works elsewhere and she doesn't want to give up her incredible apartment. I think I know how she feels.

Make Plymouth's July 4th run smoothly
New Auxiliary Police unit helps

BY REBECCA ROWAND
 The July 4 holiday went smoothly in Plymouth with the help of a new division of the police department.
 A five-man community auxiliary has been instituted to assist the regular police force in foot patrols during special events, civil defense situations and emergencies. Under the supervision of Mike Richardson, a sergeant in the auxiliary, the volunteers will also aid in regular police operations whenever necessary. Richardson worked with the Plymouth police to establish and coordinate the program.

 Sunday, the auxiliary worked crowd control at the parade through downtown Plymouth and traffic flow at the fireworks display that evening at Massey Field.
 Before being issued a uniform, auxiliary personnel are trained in radio procedures, first aid, CPR, ordinance enforcement and crowd and traffic control. Also issued are a portable radio and haton.

 Applicants are screened for criminal and traffic records and must pass a police department physical. Requirements as to height, weight and age must also be fulfilled.
 The letter of understanding between the City of Plymouth and The Police Officers Association of Michigan permits the auxiliary to operate only if the work has been offered to members of the police force. The letter prohibits the auxiliary from carrying firearms, driving or riding in police cars or making arrests. The auxiliary will be allowed to enforce ordinances only when on duty.
 Plymouth's program is a six month experiment. After six months, if the program has been successful, the City of Plymouth will meet with the police officer's union and work out permanent status.

Finnish exchange student coming

Juha Halminen seeks home

Juha Kauko Halminen is looking for a home.

He's a 17 year old student from Helsinki, Finland who wants to spend a year in The Plymouth-Canton Community under the auspices of Youth For Understanding (YFU) International Student Exchange. Halminen will be arriving in the U.S. in mid-August, and according to YFU coordinator Henriette McDonald of Canton, a host family is needed to sponsor him.

Halminen describes himself as a serious student (he says his hockey playing has taken a back seat to studies) who enjoys reading, listening to country music, downhill slalom skiing and windsurfing. Not only that, but he's a champion twist-dancer. He admits he doesn't smile too often, but says nonetheless that he has quite a good sense of humor.

His future plans include either a career as a commercial pilot or further study in a university, as his father (who is head of a legal division) did.

JUHA HALMINEN

In the U.S., he hopes to improve his command of English, and to get to know people here.

Anyone wishing to sponsor him can obtain details from Henriette McDonald, at 981-2680.

A way to bring a little of the world abroad into your home is by being a host family for the Educational Foundation for Foreign Study, says John Hopkins of Plymouth.

Hopkins, area representative for the foundation, is looking for families who wish to host a boy or girl, 15 to 18 years old, who come from the Scandinavian countries, Holland, Belgium, Italy, France, Spain, Germany or Mexico. All exchange students have above average academic records and speak good English.

Students arrive in the U.S. towards the end of August, and stay with their American families until June, when school ends. Each participates in an extensive orientation program before leaving their home country, and host families in The Plymouth-Canton Community will also participate in an orientation conducted by Hopkins.

Hopkins says host families do not have to be wealthy to host a student, but should be willing to consider the expenses of feeding a teenager (the Internal Revenue Service permits a $50 per month deduction). All students are covered by comprehensive medical and property insurance.

The foundation also offers opportunities for local students to live and study overseas.

For more information on the Educational Foundation for Foreign Study program, contact John Hopkins at 459-8645.

Janette DeVenny is Hough Family Scholarship winner

Janette L. DeVenny of Canton has received the Hough Family Scholarship awarded to a graduate of Canton High School.

The $2,000 a year award from the Michigan Colleges Foundation will be applied to her studies at Madonna College beginning in the fall.

Ranked 30th in her Canton class of 632 with a 3.7 grade point average, she will pursue a nursing degree at Madonna. She is also receiving a Modern Merit Scholarship to Madonna.

WSDP summer program presents radio theatre

On July 12 from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m. WSDP and the National Radio Theatre will present "The Dark Tower" for the listening pleasure of Plymouth-Canton residents.

"The Dark Tower" is a saga of heroic deeds and failings and is about a quest of courage.

The play, starring Michael York, was written during World War II to help inspire England in the last dark days of war. Although this is the first American radio production of "The Dark Tower," it was also produced for the British Broadcasting System in 1945. The musical score was composed by Benjamin Britten and performed by 30 Chicago Symphony musicians.

Every Monday on WSDP a different National Radio Theatre play will be featured from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m.

"LaRonde," a comedy about the Viennese middle class in which one member of each couple continuously moves to a different partner, will be aired on July 19. On July 26 "Who'll Save the Plowboy," a play focusing on the reunion of two army buddies, will be broadcast.

Kim Schmidt to tour Europe with youth musical group

Kim Schmidt, Canton High School junior, will have a busy July.

She is a member of Musical Youth International, the Michigan People-to-People Youth Chapter made up of high school musicians from 40 high schools. The group, in its 18th season, will spend July presenting concerts in European concert halls, churches, schools and civic recreation centers and taking part in festivals, including the 200th Netherlands-American Anniversary in Rotterdam and the Haydn 250th Anniversary in Vienna, Austria.

The touring musicians will live in People to People member homes in Holland, Belgium and Austria.

The group left June 29 and will return July 28 in time for a concert at Hill Auditorium in Ann Arbor.

Fourth of July agenda leaves 'em entertained

...And asking for more

Independence Day was celebrated in Plymouth with a mixture of the old and new, and apparently community residents and visitors had no trouble enjoying the whole slate of activities.

The day's events were kicked off with the 5-Mile Run, staged this year mainly through the streets of Plymouth (previous runs began in Northville), followed by a bicycle decorating contest. At 12:30 p.m. local officials and guests dedicated the Plymouth Rock, while spectators gathered for the afternoon's main event - the Fourth of July Parade.

Parade watchers were treated to more than two hours of floats, marchers, vehicles and walkers. Judges picked the Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps as best band entry, the Plymouth Rockettes as best marching unit, and the Ford Retractable Club as best group of classic cars. The Plymouth Community Fund entry took top adult float honors.

Finally, the main event of the day was staged over Massey Field, courtesy of Budweiser Beer and Central Distributors of Taylor. A spectacular fireworks display not only attracted a record crowd, but provided a perfect end to a perfect day.

Perhaps best of all, the holiday passed without serious incident: Plymouth Police reported no serious injuries or accidents.

A good time was had by all.

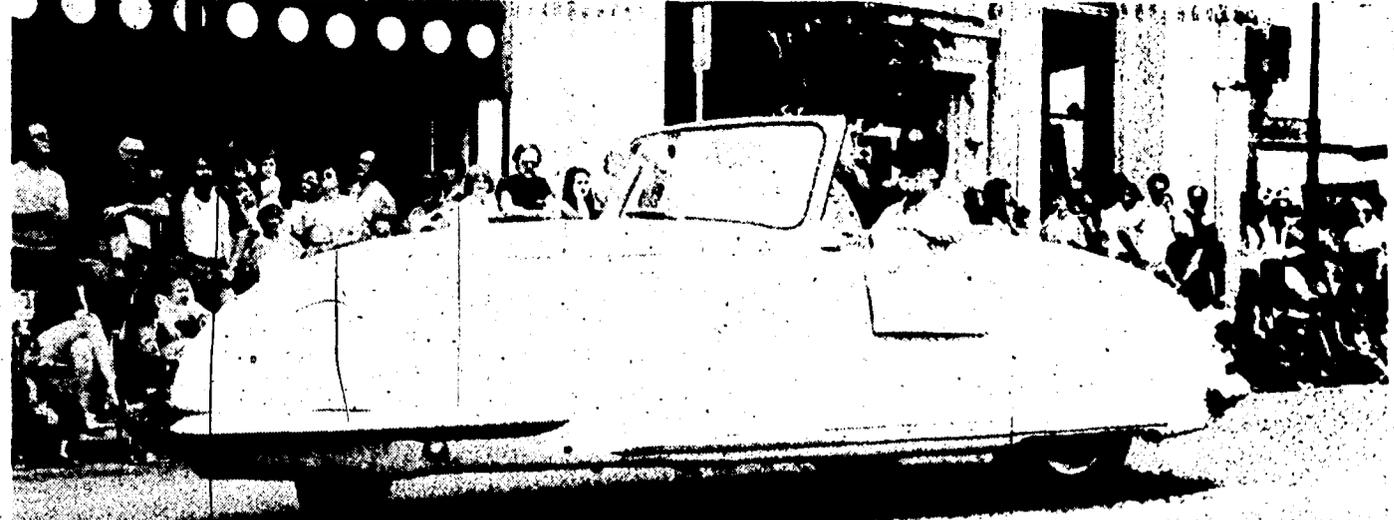

PLYMOUTH PAW PRINTS comprised the parade entry with the most feet on the ground.

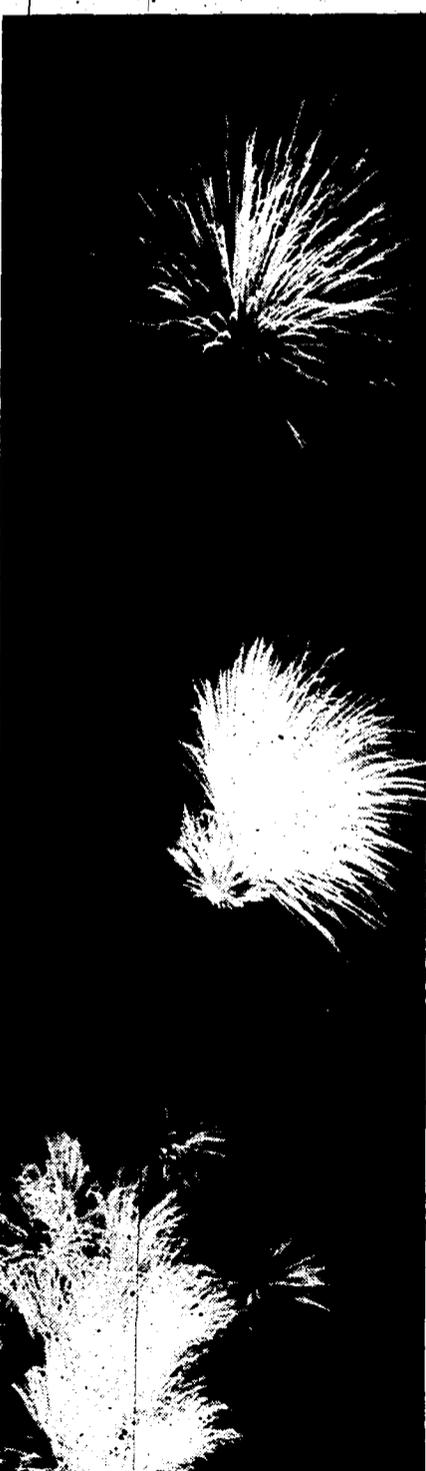

NICOLE RUSSELL seemed to be the leading cheerleader in this group of spectators. This year's parade, which started out under the threat of rain, nonetheless was blessed with a few moments of sunshine by the end of the afternoon.

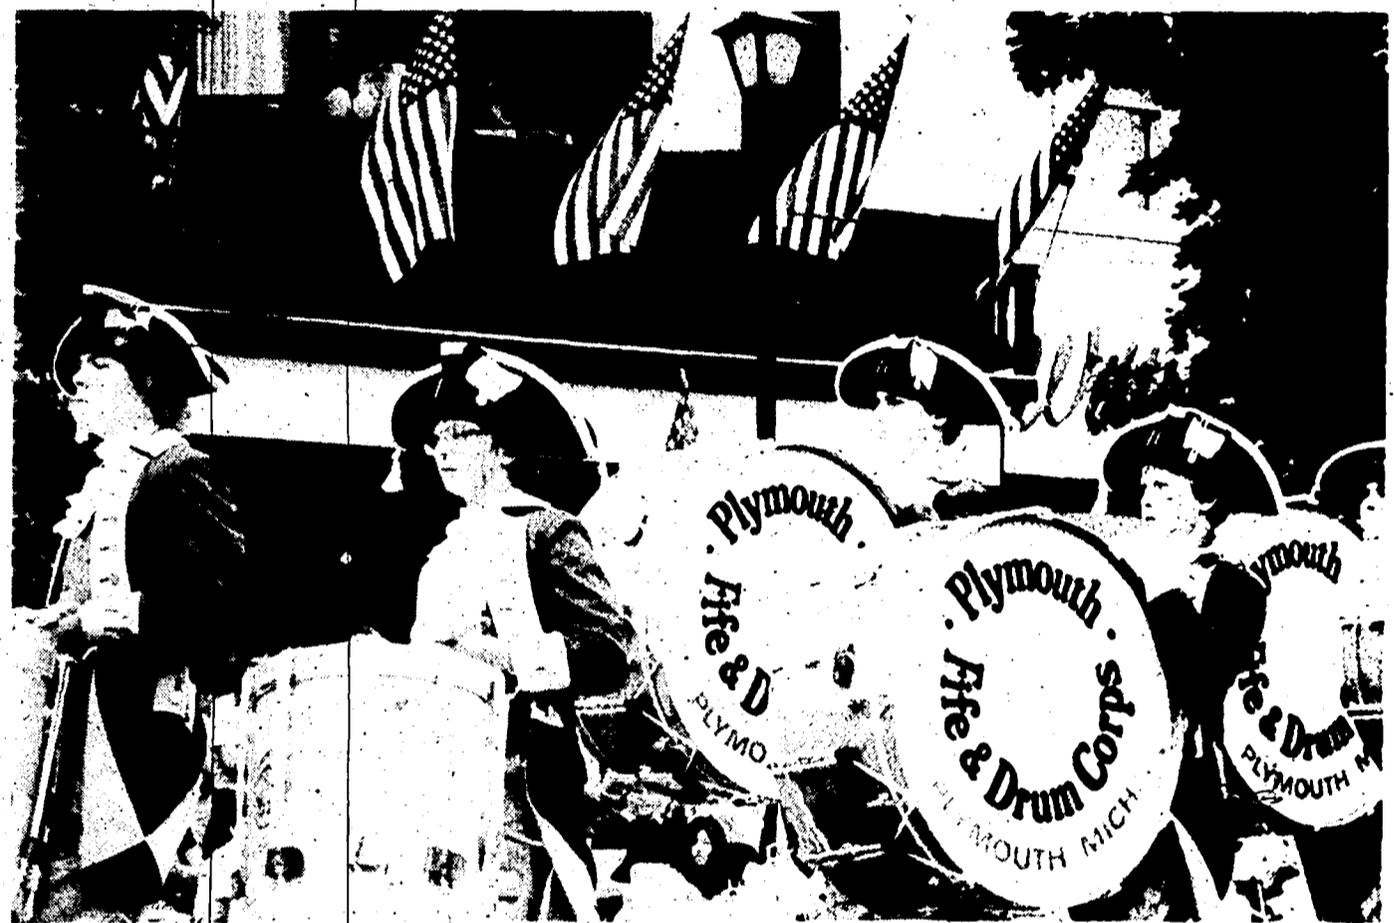

'UNCLE CHUCK' Guideau, who has appeared in more than 30 Plymouth Fourth of July parades.

ONE OF THE MOST UNUSUAL entries among autos in the parade was this 1948 "Davis Divan" three-wheel car.

A PERFECT END to a perfect day.

DRUMMING UP a rousing applause from the crowd, the Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps made a spectacular appearance in the parade. Always a group to look forward to, the Corps delighted yet another gathering of parade-watchers this year.

A TRADITIONAL TRAFFIC JAM followed the traditional fireworks display on Sunday night. Pedestrians and autos jammed westbound Plymouth Road leaving the Burroughs parking lot after the pyrotechnic show.

tell it to Phyllis

Geraldine Has-Been was laid to rest a couple of weeks ago, after a year and a half of fun and frolic. Born in March, 1981, she will be remembered for her craziness and the laughter she brought to The Plymouth-Canton Community.

From her birth in the Plymouth Community Arts Council Follies until her death, Geraldine knew how to do everything in style. No matter what the occasion, she always dressed to a T, coordinating her wardrobe with all the latest fashions.

With 15 separate personalities, she sometimes confused people in the community who weren't quite sure how to take her. However, once people got to know her and what she represented, she was accepted in most social circles.

One of the things Geraldine was best known for was her ability to charm men of all ages. Heads turned whenever she walked through a room. Her last fling was at the Plymouth Hilton where she dined and danced with Dr. Ed Page. Following the evening she was quoted as saying, "Ed's a good sport. He's my number one man."

For those of you who missed the Follies and never had the pleasure of meeting Geraldine Has-Been, perhaps an explanation is in order.

It all started when 15 of the finest ex-show girls of Plymouth and Canton performed in the Follies. It didn't take long for them to become good friends and realize they all had something in common—not only were they crazy, but they liked to have a good time.

I'm sure that Ed Horner, director of the Follies, didn't realize the monster he was creating when he picked these women for the act.

Once the show was over, the Has-Beens remained friends and got together on several occasions. When opportunities arose, they wiggled into their costumes and presented themselves to the community.

So you see, the only thing that was actually laid to rest was the act; "If you don't see what you want up here, lay down, brother, you're dead."

For those who believe in reincarnation, keep the faith and watch for next year's Follies.

Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti recently announced the names of honor students. Students included on the list from Canton are: Douglas Barclay of Woodbrook Dr.; Linda Berger of Geddes Rd.; Sharen Bill of Keystone; Kathryn Borovshy of Bedford Dr.; Crystal Boyd of Kingbridge; Jeanne Bushey of Boston Hill; Caroline Chen of Ashbury; Barbara Clough of Kingsway; Rebecca Cooper of Simsbury; Rawa Dahr of Bartlette Dr.; Kenneth Daley of Sheldon; Kenneth Dargis of Lancaster Ct.; Deborah DeLong of Honeytree; Lalonna Edwards of Franklin Dr.; Patricia Elliott of Tamarack; Arlene Erickson of Quacker Hill; Jay Finch of Murray Hill; Sherry Finch of Honeycomb; Catherine Finlayson of Northwind; Julie Galvan of Holmes Ct.; Margaret Godfrey of Franklin; Keith Goodchild of Newbury Port; Gerald Grady of Jennings Ct.; Sandra Grahl of Ridge Rd.; Catherine Graves of Leslie Ln.; Carol Harris of Honeytree Blvd.; Kenneth Higby of Whittier Dr.; Diane Hudson of Runnymead Dr.; Cleste Ivon of Addison; Sandra Kilgour of Willow Creek Dr.; Lynn Kocan of Cranberry; Kimberly Kowalski of Heritage; Alain Krug of Hillary; Joyce Kulongowski of Antietam; Janice Kushiner of Westminister; James Loughran of Glen Arbor; Lisa Lozano of Worthington Ct.; Gina Massaro of Napier Rd.; Sharon Mathison of Gainsborough; Diane Miller of Columbus; Vickie Mitchell of Honey Tree; Suzanne Nader of Canton Ct.; Patrick Olson of Porteridge; Cherly Orander of Addison; Monica Owen of Reagency; Scott Powers of Denton Rd.; Andrea Purpura of Gainsborough; Cheryl Quinn of Hanford; Ratna Rao of Longwood; James Razmus of Durham; Kenneth Reinke of Lotz; Lorraine Ryan of Courtland; Michael Sak of Old Michigan; Dawn Schafer of Franciscan Ct.; Beth Scheffler of Fordham Cir.; Ina Schoch of Saltz; Larry Schroeder of Edinburgh; Lori Shannon of Claremont; Patricia Shulter of Castle Ct.; Mary Sineveck of Lilley; Ronald Smith of Coronation; Karen Starke of New Providence; Christaila Stylianou of Burgundy; Robert Suess of North Spring; Richard Summers of Bannockburn; Donna Sutherland of New England; Terry Sweeney of Windsor Woods; Dori Tamagne of Eaton; Paul Tarr of Holly; Timothy Toms of Honeytree; Maria Trapani of Corbin; Christine Trombley of Edmunton; George Turner of Sheldon; Janis Turner of Sheldon; Joanne Vanhose of Fieldstone; Catherine Vargo of Bunker Hill; Sharon Wallgora of Round Table; Dennis Wetterstorm of Arlington; Eddie Wigley of Koppemick; Joan Wirth of Twyckingham; Marsha Woods of Royal Ct.; Charles Youngquest of Orchard; Gary Zerndt of Orchard.

Runners course through downtown

THE FIRST WOMAN to finish in Sunday's race was Kelly Champagne of Canton. She was one of only 45 women registered for the five-mile course. (Crier photo by Robert Cameron)

Though rain threatened for awhile, the course was unmarred and the annual Plymouth Road Race was a success.

Sunday's event became a little hectic for officials as late entrants and chaotic T-shirt and award distribution gave organizers some headaches, but the run went off without a hitch. First-time run chairman Tom Truesdale, a runner himself and his crew of assistants, came through with flying colors in spite of the newness of the whole system.

The winner, Ken Dubois of Livonia, set the course record with a time of 26 minutes, 17 seconds, second-place finisher Tom Yates followed ten seconds behind with 26:27. Third place went to John Coram with a time of 26:48.

The first woman to cross the finish line was Kelly Champagne of Canton in the 15 to 19 year-old category, one of only five entrants in her age group. Cont. on pg. 25

WOLVERINE III SOCCER Tournament entrants struggle with wet playing fields and pouring rain, at the beginning of the competition on Saturday. Winners were the Kilmarnock Colts from Scotland and Troy Tornado in the under-14 boys division, Poppa's Pizza from London, Ontario in the under-16 division and the Bonanza Express' Knights in the under-19 division. (Crierphoto by Robert Cameron)

Schoolcraft plays host to Wolverine III

Schoolcraft College was the scene this weekend of one of the biggest soccer tournaments ever to come to the area, as the college played host to the Wolverine III soccer tournament, held Saturday, Sunday, and Monday.

The tournament included 166 teams playing in five different age divisions, with both boys and girls divisions for each age.

The 166 teams represented Minnesota, Missouri, Florida, Ohio, Illinois, New York,

Maryland, Virginia and Canada, as well as Michigan. In addition, a 14 and under boys team made the trip from Kilmarnock, Scotland, and a 16 and under team traveled from Vaxjo, Sweden to participate.

Two teams comprised partially of community kickers were also represented. The Canton Football Club, a 19 and under boys team, and the Flip Rowdies, a 16 and under girls team, both participated in the tourney.

The Canton Football Club, coached by Ken Johnson, who handled both the men's and women's teams at Salem High this year, made the tournament primarily for the experience, and bowed out after losing their first three games.

The football club lost to Troy United in its opening contest 3-0. Troy eventually made it to the finals.

In their second contest, the team lost to the Diplomats, made up mostly of Livonia Stevenson and Churchill High players, 3-0.

Finally, the team was knocked out by the Arsenal, which later advanced to the semi-finals.

"It was great experience for my team," said Johnson, whose team played mostly teams from the Bonanza Express League, a very competitive division.

"We play in a club league," said Johnson. "So the Bonanza league is sort of a step up."

The Flip Rowdies, eight of whom hail from the community area, made it to the finals of the 14 and under girls division by beating the Warren Rowdies 7-2 in the team's semi-final contest. The Rowdies advanced to the semis by beating the Warren Chargers 9-0 in their opening contest, beating a Dayton, Ohio team 6-1 in the second game, and beating a club from Wallaceburg, Ontario, 3-0, in their final preliminary match.

Rowdies coach Dave Lussier said that his team had been losing games of late due to a lack of goal production, but added that his club is "a real good defensive team."

There will be two divisions—the Golden Masters for males and females 16-18 and the Masters Division for males and females 13-15.

Johnson wins varsity letter from Albion

DARIN JOHNSON of Canton has received a varsity letter award for his participation in men's baseball this spring at Albion College. Johnson is an outfielder for the Albion "Britons" and a first year varsity player. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin C. Johnson of Canton.

Plymouth-Canton girls earn scouting honors

Several hard working Girl Scouts from the Plymouth-Canton area have earned the highest award in Girl Scouting, the Girl Scout Gold Award.

This highest award is only for senior Girl Scouts.

The awards are recommended by the Girl Scout Review Panel after judging individual accomplishments and following individual interviews.

"Girl Scouting has been truly a rewarding experience for the past 11 years. I'm so glad I have been active and hope to continue to continue for many years to come," said Kelly Tucker of Plymouth.

Kelly, a 1982 graduate of Salem High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tucker. Kelly's favorite projects completed toward the Gold Award were the Plymouth Community Reading Conference and conducting a babysitting clinic for younger Girl Scouts.

She will be a freshman at Oakland University in the fall.

Lisa Kiel of Plymouth commented that "Girl Scouting has provided me with great opportunities and has been totally rewarding."

Lisa is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Kiel. She also graduated this year from Salem High School and will be attending Michigan State University this fall.

Her favorite project in working toward the Gold Award

"I am glad I joined Girl Scouts. I believe every girl should have a chance to join Girl Scouts. It's a great way to learn about yourself and other people," added Jennifer Courter, formerly of Senior Troop 501 in Plymouth.

Jennifer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Courter of Farmington Hills. She completed her work toward the Gold Award in 1981 and was approved during the 1982 process. She is a freshman at Muskingum College in Ohio.

Her favorite project toward the Gold Award was planning and carrying out a Babysitting Clinic for Junior Girl Scouts in Plymouth.

Karem Mosti, a 1982 Salem graduate, commented, "I am really glad that I joined the Girl Scouts way back in the second grade and I hope I will actively continue next year." Karen's favorite project was teaching dancing to younger girls.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Mosti of Canton.

In recognition of these girls' accomplishments, the Ann Arbor Chapter of the American Business Women's Association recognized the Gold Award recipients on June 16 at a banquet.

Former Canton trucker hauls in trophies, cash

Steve LaFave of Livonia (a former Canton resident) hauls more than gravel in his 1978 modified G.M.C. tractor - he hauled in two trophies and $1,000 at the Milan Truck Race on June 26.

LaFave, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl A. LaFave of Canton, co-owns Metro Transport of Wixom along with his brother Earl. And although their G.M.C. tractor is regularly used in the trucking business, apparently it works pretty well on the track, too.

At the race, LaFave entered the machine in Class A competition. After the smoke cleared on the quarter-mile track at Milan Speedway, not only had he copped a trophy for first place in the modified division, but another for first overall. The performance was also good enough for $1,000 donated by race sponsors WCXI radio, International Trucks and Ashton Towing.

Not many race-winners can haul gravel, too.

Lindsay Lowe

A daughter, Lindsay Claire, was born June 24 to Shelley and Arthur Lowe of Plymouth. She weighed seven pounds, 10 ounces at birth.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John E. Wilson of Plymouth and David Lowe and Claire Lowe of Connecticut.

Great-grandparents are Samuel Robinson of Wyandotte and Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Wilson of Wayne.

Great-great-grandmother is Mrs. Samuel Robinson of Grand Blanc.

Laurie Campbell

Timothy and Jill Campbell of Lynn Street in Canton announce the birth of their daughter, Laurie Ann. She was born June 19 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and weighed seven pounds, seven and a half ounces.

She has a brother, Bryan, 20 months.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Noel Litsenberger and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Campbell, of Plymouth.

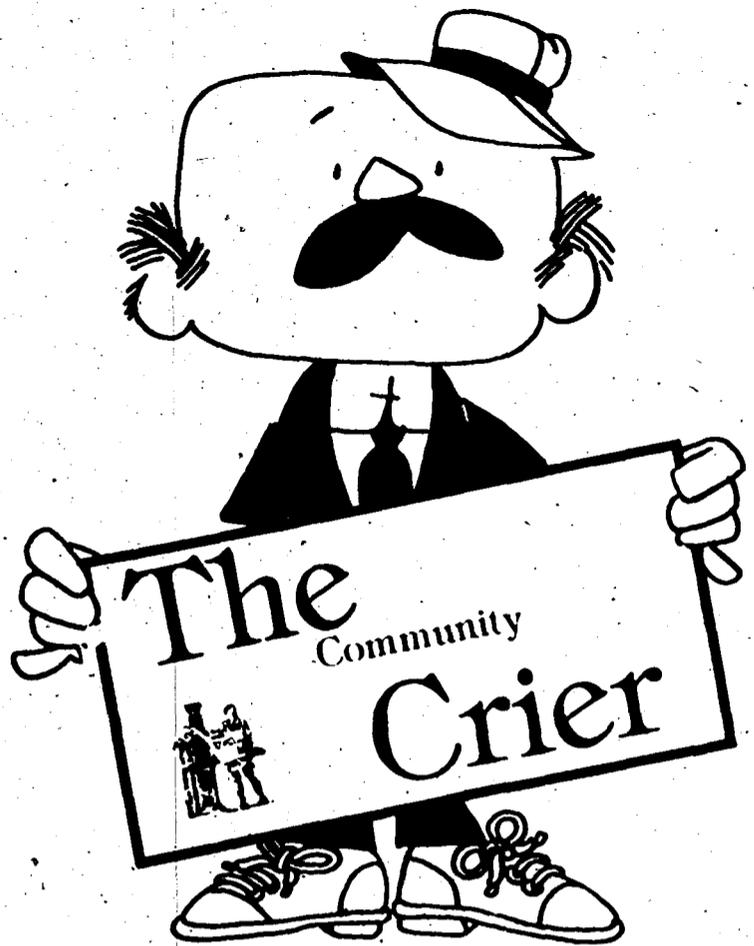

Steven Fisher

Steven Thomas Fisher was born June 9 at St. Joseph Hospital. He is the son of Allen and Marion Fisher, of Northern St., Plymouth Township.

He weighed eight pounds, 12 ounces at birth.

Steven has two sisters, Kim, 12, and Krista, 11, and a brother, James, 2.

Grandparents are Oren Fisher of Plymouth and Alice Fisher and Janie Avery, both of Howell. Great-grandparents are Bertha Manning of Plymouth, Crara Richardson of Novi and G. R. VanPelt of Anniston, Ala.

A man who chose not to subscribe to The Plymouth-Canton Community Crier sent his little boy to borrow his neighbor's copy. In his haste, the boy ran over an $80 hive of bees and in ten minutes he looked like a warty squash.

His father ran to his assistance, and failing to notice the barbed wire fence, ran into that, cutting a hole in his anatomy as well as ruining a pair of $40 trousers.

The old cow took advantage of the gap in the fence and killed herself eating green corn.

Hearing the racket, the wife ran out, upset a four-gallon churn of cream into a basket of chicks, drowning the entire batch. In her haste she dropped a $135 set of false teeth, which the family dog buried thinking it was a new type of bone.

The baby, having been left alone, crawled through the spilled cream and into the parlor ruining a $500 carpet. During the excitement, the oldest daughter ran away with the hired man, a stray dog broke up eleven setting hens, the calves got out and chewed the tails off four fine shirts on the clothes line and the cat had a batch of kittens.

All this just to save 25 cents.

And in this case, the poor guy never did get to read that week's edition.

So, don't let this happen to you!
