'Solution' hammered out in Canton treasurer flap

BY DAN BODENE

A temporary solution to personnel problems in the Canton Treasurer's Office may yet lead to a permanent answer.

Last Tuesday night Canton's Board of Trustees heard seven hours of testimony, charges, rebuttals, statements, positions and opinions on a long-standing dispute between Treasurer Maria Sterlini and her employees.

At 3 a.m. a temporary agreement was reached whereby Sterlini's employees would remain in the Treasurer's Department, but under the supervision of Finance Director Mike Gorman. Sterlini, who will move her office out of the department, will provide operational direction to Gorman.

The public meeting capped a series of closed hearings held in response to two grievances filed by the township employe's union on behalf of cashier Lorene Haack, tax clerk Darlene Owens and secretary Marcia Safron.

The trio contended, in part, that working conditions in the Treasurer's Office were causing a number of health problems stemming from stress and anxiety. They said also that Sterlini has refused to recognize there were problems in the department, which was why the disputes had gone on so long.

Bulletin:

A natural gas main break near Michigan Avenue and I-275 forced Canton police and other agencies to shut down intersections and evacuate nearby residents late Tuesday afternoon.

The traffic blockades snarled rush-hour traffic and the evacuation included Sherwood Mobile Home Park and other areas.

Residents were being housed at the Canton Senior Citizen's Center.

Further details were unavailable at press time.

Sterlini said the matter should not have been aired publicly, and that it should have been handled within the grievance procedure.

Supervisor James Poole said the board was hearing the matter publicly at the request of the employe's union.

After hours of testimony and debate, Sterlini said, "I absolutely recognize there are problems. To go forward in this matter shouldn't be difficult. On my part, I will make every effort to work with (the employes) and the union."

For traffic control

Canton passes on grant

BY MARK CONSTANTINE

Since the Livonia Police Department applied for and received a federal grant to help them with traffic control almost two years ago, tickets there are up 20 per cent.

But, more importantly, accidents have decreased by 30 per cent, according to Livonia Police Chief Robert Turner.

So what does the situation have to do with The Plymouth Canton Community, Plenty.

Canton could have applied for the same grant and, in fact, did send off a preliminary application. But that was at the end of Supervisor Noel Culbert's reign.

And when Jim Poole took over the hot seat in Canton, he and the new board decided it wouldn't be in the township's best interest to pursue the federal monies, according to Poole.

If Canton would have received the grant, Canton Police Chief Jerry Cox would have been able to hire 15 additional men and the equipment to go along with them to basically set up a traffic bureau in the township.

The first year of the three-year grant the feds would have come up with 75 per cent of the cash, Canton the other 25 per cent. By the final year of the grant, the figure would have been reversed, Canton grant coordinator Terry Carrol explained.

The money Canton laid out, though, would have been at least partly recouped because the revenues generated from all the tickets would have gone directly to the township.

However, Carrol added, after the grant expired, Canton would have been faced with the prospects of paying for all the men and equipment itself or scuttling the project entirely.

The biggest problem with the grant, however, as far as the Canton Board of Trustees was concerned was what would happen should the federal money dry up sometime during the three-year term of the grant, Carrol said.

"We really couldn't afford 15 extra men should the federal money stop," Poole explained. "And when you hire people and then have to lay them off, you are stuck with paying unemployment compensation.

"Or you can run into a problem like they are having in Detroit should you try to fire them. The unions fight you and tell you there's no way to can fire the men."

But the possibility of seeing the federal money vanish wasn't the only cloud that loomed on the grant's horizon, according to Carrol.

"There were two things, really, the board had a problem with," Carrol noted. "Besides the possibility of losing the money, they (Federal Highway Department) wanted to quantify the grant, in other words to tell Caught red-handed!

Escaped Jackson prisoner nabbed, suspected in at least 50 burglaries

BY REBECCA BEACH

Two Detroit men are in custody in connection with a rash of home burglaries in and around Plymouth since July. A third suspect is being sought.

John M. Hainer, 32, a Jackson Prison escapee, was arrested last Wednesday night. An accomplice, Jay Morris Coleman, 28, was arrested Friday afternoon when Livonia and Canton police intelligence observed the suspect beaking and entering a home on North Territorial Road.

Hainer has admitted to approximately 50 burglaries across Wayne, Washtenaw and Livingston counties. Police say the break-ins have occurred since Hainer walked away from a Jackson State trustee farm July 20.

Coleman is in Washtenaw County Jail awaiting interviews from several community law enforcement agencies.

Police estimate the trio stole between $250,000 and $500,000 worth of goods such as guns, silverware, cash, jewelry and television sets. Very little of the stolen property has been recovered.

Hainer led police to $700 worth of silver plate, dumped in a field because its value was less than sterling.

Halloween changed to Saturday

Those government folks are poking their noses into other people's habits again, but this time it's for the best.

The final item on Monday night's Plymouth City Commission meeting agenda was to change Halloween. Yes, change Halloween. Not really a holiday, but very important to little ones all over. This year Halloween falls on Sunday and the City Commissioners, along with the Plymouth Police Department have agreed that a Sunday night may not be the best time for trick-or-treaters to be out late.

Unanimously, the Commission voted to move trick-or-treating up to Saturday night, Oct. 30 in the interest of school night sanity.

"We've done this before," said Plymouth Police Chief Carl Berry. "There'll be some trick-or-treating Sunday night, but it'll be minimal."

Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen attended Monday night's meeting and agreed to present such a proposal to the Trustees at a later date.

Man gets shot, doesn't recall how it happened

Floyd Waskowski of Plymouth doesn't remember who shot him. He doesn't remember passing out very early Friday morning, face down, on the front porch of the Wilcox House across from Kellogg Park.

He does, however, remember waking up the next morning in a cell in City Hall, in the custody of the Plymouth Police Department.

According to police, Waskowski was found by police who answered a radio call at 12:40 a.m. to respond to Kellogg Park in reference to a man with a gunshot wound. Police said subjects in the park pointed across the street, to Waskowski's path and his prone figure.

Waskowski claimed he didn't remember assaulting the firefighter who was trying to render aid, which was why he ended up in police custody.

He was treated for a gunshot wound to the left elbow at St. Mary's Hospital and released to return to the Plymouth cell block. Waskowski posted a bond and was released the following morning.

Noted speakers coming

Plymouth-Canton women are invited to an evening with a group of internationally acclaimed speakers Oct. 8 at 8 p.m. at U of M's Rackham Auditorium.

Kate Millet, Gloria Steinem and Alice Walker will focus on the effects of changing conditions on women.

Each speaker will spend 20 to 30 minutes with the subject that concerns them most.

Kate Millet, a respected artist and prolific writer has been involved in fighting sexual discrimination on the national and international level. She wrote first-hand on her experiences in Iran during the first days of the Ayatollah Khomeini's take-over.

Gloria Steinem has been involved in the woman's movement from its inception. In 1972 she founded "Ms" magazine and has emerged as the leading strategist and spokeswoman of the movement today. An outstanding journalist, she continues to write on significant issues.

Alice Walker is an essayist, poet, short story writer, novelist and university lecturer. Her second novel, "Meridian" has often been cited as the best novel of the civil rights movement. Her recently published novel, "The Color is Purple" is already winning wide acclaim.

These three powerful women will speak to a broad spectrum of woman's concerns. This evening affords Michigan women a unique opportunity to listen, talk, question and grow.

Tickets for the event are $10, available at the Borders bookstore on State Street in Ann Arbor, the Michigan Union, the Little Professor bookstore in Birmingham and I Browse bookstore in Farmington.

Schools hit hard by executive cutback

BY MARK CONSTANTINE

When does a state school aid payment, originally due Aug. 1, become a liability instead of an asset?

Easy. When Michigan Governor William Milliken signs an executive order to reduce the state's deficit and, in the process, snatches $150 million in school aid away from the state's schools.

And so with a flick of a pen Sept. 15, Milliken insured the Plymouth-Canton School District will not receive an August state aid payment and, instead, will owe the state in the neighborhood of $400,000, according to Superintendent John Hoben.

Milliken didn't have Plymouth-Canton in particular in mind when he signed the executive order, but the action nonetheless will have a sobering effect on the district, Hoben said.

The reduction of the August state aid payment was not unforeseen by Hoben and the Board of Education. The budget adopted in June set aside $500,000 for just such a contingency.

But instead of $500,000, the board is facing a cut of $855,971 because of the executive order. That money, in addition to a change in the state funding formula also adopted last week, means the Plymouth-Canton schools have lost a total of $1,369,200.

What makes all this even more devastating is the fact the board approved a $41-million budget in June, which included a $1.6 million reduction and, at the same time, used up most of the emergency fund balance to cover an impending deficit.

At that time, the schools were facing a deficit of $2.7 million. In order to cover the deficit, the emergency fund balance was reduced from $1.4 million to $268,000.

However, roughly $1 million of the state aid lost last week can be made up by the schools. The rest of the fund balance along with $200,000 found in an audit of the schools accounts for $468,000 of the $1 million.

PC schools stand to lose almost $1 million

Also, if the board accepts a new Blue Cross coverage plan Oct. 1, around $200,000 will be added to the fund balance from insurance credits, bringing the total up to $668,000.

The rest of the cash will come from the $500,000 the board budgeted in anticipated state aid losses.

"We could have handled the $1 million

Bids being accepted for school roof

The Board of Education of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools has announced the accepting of sealed bids on the partial re-roofing and repair of a middle school. Forms and details may be obtained from the Board of Education offices on Harvey Street in downtown Plymouth or from Roofing Consultants Inc. of Royal Oak.

Bids will be accepted until 2 p.m., Friday, Oct. 1. The Board refuses to identify the school to be re-roofed.

no problem," Hoben said. "But they caught us by surprise, it's as simple as that.

"For them up in Lansing it was a nice, simple cut, a way to cut the a out in time for recess. We've been fiscally responsible, but they just keep on coming down on us.

"But we'll wind up with a balanced budget, I can almost guarantee you that. We're not looking at the reduction of staff, though, at this time."

The legislative maneuvering that went on in Lansing last week to reduce the state budget by $150 million are almost too much for the average taxpayer to follow.

Suffice it to say, the necessary steps were taken to balance the state's budget at the expense of the schools.

However, the money taken away from the schools is supposed to be given back in June of 1983. Then the state will repeat the procedure taking place right now in September of 1983, taking money away, and once again give in back in June of 1984.

Simple, eh?

The only problem with all that, as Hoben sees it, is it's contingent upon the the new House and Senate that will convene in January not altering the process set in motion last week.

"And who is to say they might not decide to try something different," Hoben said, shrugging his shoulder.

On another front, negotiators for the teachers and administration met twice last week to discuss differences each saw in the June budget.

But all that may be academic, at this point, Hoben said, because whatever is left over in the budget will more than likely be eaten up by the deficit facing the schools.

Negotiations, however, are expected to resume sometime this week with the teachers claiming they are no closer to reaching a settlement than they were months ago, according to the teacher's chief negotiator Candi Reese.

Blood drive seeks warm-blooded donors

A few minutes of your time can help save a life.

Monday, Sept. 27, is the day of the Third Annual Community Blood Drive, held at Geneva United Presbyterian Church, 5835 Sheldon Road in Canton. That afternoon, from 3 to 9 p.m., the American Red Cross will accept donations from any qualified donor 17 to 65 years of age.

The Michigan American Red Cross' needs are to service approximately 75 hospitals in southeastern Michigan to fill blood needs of the sick or wounded.

According to statistics, over four and a half million people who live in this region will need blood this year and due to the lack of automotive plant blood drives, the Red Cross needs a 10 percent increase. We can help.

PLYMOUTH FIREFIGHTERS examine what's left of a door at Central Middle School early Saturday morning after responding to the volunteer siren at 1:23 a.m. According to Plymouth Fire Chief Roy Hall, a plexiglass insert in the door had been ignited, burning the top of the door and the ceiling of the first floor before the blaze was extinguished. Smoke damage was extensive to the first floor, but minimal on the second floor, some light fixtures were damaged. "This was definitely a set fire," said Chief Hall. "When someone does something like that, it's pretty difficult not to go and shout about it. Somebody knows who did it." A meeting Wednesday morning will determine a course of action for apprehending those responsible. No estimate of the damage has been made yet. (Crier photo by Rick Smith)

Locomotive engineers' strike has a local effect

BROTHERHOOD OF LOCOMOTIVE Engineers members walk a picket line at the Plymouth Railroad yard Monday afternoon. From left, Paul Giuchici, Ray Banskotan and Orlando Molinaro, all locomotive engineers for over 25 years, join engineers across the country, on strike since Saturday. The engineers have worked without a contract for the last 18 months. According to W.B. Vander Veen, Division Manager for the Chessie System Railroads, the strike is costing $80 million in lost revenues to American businesses and may cost 500,000 people their jobs. President Ronald Reagan is expected to ask Congress to enact a law bringing the strike to a halt. The engineers have the right to strike under the Railway Labor Act. (Crier photo by Rick Smith) you how money tickets needed to be written to justify you getting the money.

"The board rewrote a passage in the grant and then sent it on to be processed, but the deadline for applying for the grant had expired."

Poole particularly would not have been pleased with the resultant increase in tickets had the township received the grant.

"Now, as a citizen of Canton would you like Canton to go out to get federal money just to write more tickets," Poole said with a sigh.

"No, we went back and reworded the passage which said we were getting the money to increase tickets, and changed it to say we were getting the money to make the streets of Canton safer and to reduce accidents.

"But by that time we'd missed the application date."

Another problem with the grant had to do with the way it was originally pursued. The Canton cops approached then Supervisor Noel Culbert back in the fall of 1980, and informed them of their intentions, Culbert said.

He in turn gave them the go-ahead to prepare a preliminary application and get it off to Lansing where the grant would be processed. But since he was leaving office he left it to Poole to finish the process, Culbert added.

Poole made it clear, he said, when he took office that all grants were to go through Carrol because "we lost hundreds of thousands of dollars in grants because they were processed wrong."

And by the time the grant for the traffic control cars was rerouted to Carrol, brought to the board, evaluated, and rewrote the deadline had expired.

"The first I saw of it, it had Mr. Poole's name on it and it was on its way to Lansing," Carrol said. "So we stopped it and took a look at what was going to Lansing as something Canton had approved.

"And, of course, that's when the questions came up, and that's what caused the delays which eventually led to us missing the deadline."

Nuclear weapons freeze group to meet Thursdays in October

General meetings of the Committee For The Nuclear Weapons Freeze will be held Sept. 23 and every Thursday in October in an effort to inform the voters.

Area supporters of Proposition E, calling for a nuclear weapons freeze, are urged to attend. The meetings are scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at the Newburg United Methodist Church, 36500 Ann Arbor Trail.

The local chapter of the Detroit Area Nuclear Weapons Freeze campaign is Region 2, an outgrowth of the Northwest Suburban Committee. The group formed in March to promote the petition campaign which succeeded in getting the nuclear freeze issue on the ballot.

An informal meeting will be held Monday, Oct. 4 at the Geneva Presbyterian Church in Canton. A slide show will be presented, "The Anatomy of the Nuclear Arms Race" and is available for any organization or group of individuals wishing to become better informed on the topic.

Region 2 serves an area west from Redford and Dearborn north of Michigan Ave. into the southwest corner of Oakland County and south to Belleville.

City firmen upset

EDITOR:

We the City of Plymouth Firefighters Local 1811 would like to make the following statement concerning the recent proposal made to the City of Plymouth Commission by the Community Ambulance Service Company, pertaining to the placement of a commercial ambulance within the city limits.

The Plymouth Fire Fighters have always and will continue to give the residents of the City of Plymouth the highest level of service possible. We are all certified Emergency Medical Technicians and consider ourselves to be capable of dealing with the City of Plymouth's emergency needs including that of transporting patients to local hospitals, thus we do not believe there is a need for such a service. Furthermore, we feel that the residents of the City of Plymouth would not get the same quality of service that it has received in the past because, the Fire Department, a unit of City Government, is funded by the taxpayers and merchants of Plymouth, thus giving the community a strong voice in the type and quality of service that they want. We feel that the citizens would lose that voice if a commercial ambulance company were brought into the City of Plymouth.

We also feel that a commercial ambulance company should only be used for its intended purpose which is to transport non-emergency patients from hospital to home, invalid or handicapped patients from home to hospital and to provide emergency services in areas where trained fire personnel are not available.

The firefighters-EMTs in the City of Plymouth have been transporting emergency patients to local hospitals for approximately thirteen years on an average of 500 emergency runs per year and are experienced and trained to deal with life threatening emergencies.

We feel that a commercial ambulance would hinder us in performing our professional duties because, in most cases we may have to wait several minutes for a commercial ambulance to respond to the scene of an emergency, therefore, increasing the time it would take to transport a patient to the hospital to receive medical treatment.

In conclusion, if the City of Plymouth desires to study such a service, they should wait until another community (such as the neighboring communities to the North who are actively seeking this service) has had the opportunity to use this service, and then study the performance of that ambulance service in that community.

In the meantime, allow the City of Plymouth Firefighters to perform the duties that they have been trained for and do not use the residents of the City of Plymouth as test subjects.

TP'ed good, TP'ed bad

SALEM FOOTBALL player Jeff Arnold woke up Friday morning to find his house (above) had been decorated by one of the Rock booster clubs. The good-natured act was meant to fire up Arnold in anticipation of the first-ever confrontation in football between Salem and Canton. Chief player Ron Ricnas also had his home (below) worked on in the middle of the night, only the act was more malicious in nature. It seems, the Ricnas' surprise, a group of Salem students decided to let Ricnas know exactly how they felt about Canton and left an obscenity spelled out in toilet paper on the front lawn. However, that was almost the only unsportsmanlike conduct displayed by the fans, students or players themselves, before or after the milestone game in The Plymouth-Canton Community.

All connected with grid clash should take a bow

Football season is here and with it brings rivalries between schools. There is nothing wrong with a little rivalry and there is nothing wrong with getting out there and cheering for your team.

The players, students and parents involved with last Friday's game between Salem and Canton are to be congratulated. Pre-game and post-game activities, (with the exception of a few excesses in school spirit) as well as the game itself went on without any major problems.

School spirit is important. It took a lot of loyalty for the more-than-capacity crowd to sit through the game in the rain.

Good sportsmanship conduct is also important, especially considering many students attend both schools for some classes.

Way to go Chiefs and Rocks. It isn't always winning that counts, it's how you play the game.

Bodene bids Plymouth a fond final farewell

By the time you read this, I'll probably be writing about the dinosaur bones in Lapeer County, in the middle of the first week of a new job.

This is my last appearance on these pages. I'll try not to make this maudlin, honest. I've never been big on tearful goodbyes.

So I'm leaving. Remember me? I'm the guy who "moved" the 35th District courthouse to Plymouth and Sheldon Roads in a front page four-color picture caption. I'm the guy who left the date and volume number off the front page one week. I'm the guy who referred to Livonia Mayor Edward McNamara as "Eddie Mac" in print.

This was my first newspaper job, and I have to admit it's been a long road from my first assignment at interviewing the Easter Bunny at Smith Elementary School to this last week as editor. Along the way there have been some notable accomplishments.

For instance, Emory Daniels awarded me the first "Walk a Mile in Pat Bartold's Moccasins Award" when I succeeded Pat as managing editor of The Crier. Don't tell Pat this, but a couple of summers ago I used to play hooky on hot, sunny afternoons and go home to the pool at the apartment building I lived at. I was the only reporter who would come back after an hour from picking up the Canton Board of Trustees meeting agenda smelling like Hawaiian Tropic.

Last summer Phyllis Redfern and I won the "Polish Garden Award" for our efforts in the Marigold Decor contest at Fall Festival. At the awards ceremony I got the payback from a very special Crier tradition I helped start - on video tape in living color Phyllis plastered me in the face with a cream pie.

For years now I've been The Crier's resident gourmet. Cooking contest entries don't last too long around here, nor do donuts, sweet rolls, homemade coffee cakes or lunchtime doggie bags. In fact, a couple of wags around here refer to me as The Crier Diet because there's no such thing as seconds for anybody when I'm hungry. Funny how we got the Weight Watchers account.

Speaking of food, one year I got to launch The Crier's entry in the now-defunct Chicken Flying Contest. We were in the running until the bird made a beeline for the crowd and ended up nesting in a guy's shoulder about 20 feet from the stand. I understand KFC later flunked it, too.

Crier staff duties have always been, er, interesting. Judging the Jaycees Fourth of July Parade a couple of years ago was fun. Sitting in the review stand on a 90 degree day an hour after crossing the finish line from my first Fourth of July Run (the one I didn't practice for), I thought I'd pass out every five minutes. Mike Stankov of the Jaycees kept handing me glasses of soda so I'd sit up straight and not look like The Picture of Dorian Gray in front of thousands.

I helped with the paper's production, and along with former sports editor Ken Voyles I helped decorate a wall in The Crier's basement, with outtakes from weekly photos. Our corporate attorney advised us a long time ago we should put up a curtain in front of it to avoid possible litigation. The publisher says no more walls will be decorated that way.

I was Dan Landers.

Two years ago for the anniversary of my retirement from the military Bob Cameron and I brought in our group pictures of graduation from boot camp. Then we had a bottle of champagne and tried to pick each other out of the photos.

I managed to deposit my wallet, driver's license, three credit cards, insurance registration and $25 at the bottom of a pond when the staff went swimming after putting in a long, hot afternoon last summer. Hey, I made it to the Canton meeting anyway.

I took the only known photo of former Canton supervisors Bob Greenstein and Harold Stein standing together.

I was the first reviewer to come out against turkey dogs in school cafeterias.

Omnicom hated me first.

I said Bill Decker would never resign.

I have the loudest Hawaiian shirt of anyone.

Really, this place is hard to leave. I made a lot of friends in the community, and some I haven't even been able to say goodbye to. I hope this helps, but I still have a debt to pay to a lot of you who helped me over the years.

What do you say about a town you grow your first mustache in?

I'll be back.

Skingley will be missed

EDITOR:

With deep sadness I learned of the death of Mrs. Betty Skingley a week ago. During the years when it was my great privilege to work with Mrs. Skingley at the Farrand Elementary School I never ceased to marvel at her remarkable skill and patience at dealing with the small, handicapped children who so desperately needed help. Her kindness, understanding and unwavering faith that her students could and would make progress created what seemed like many miracles.

Mrs. Skingley was a great lady as well as a great teacher. She had the courage to match her convictions and her common sense, positive outlook on life and incredibly funny sense of humor relieved many tense moments and brightened up many a dull day.

She will always be missed. But if, indeed, there is another dimension somewhere, we whose lives she touched know that Betty is still hard at work bringing hope and happiness to others with a twinkle in her eye, that warm, humorous laugh and a comforting arm around some troubled child.

Owen, Moore praised

EDITOR:

I want to congratulate the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education and Dr. John Telford for allowing Central Middle School to have the two best middle school administrators in our school district, Gregory Owens and Patricia Moore. They are already a fantastic team. It was no easy task beginning this school year, with new staff, new kids, and our new pilot scheduling system.

In the nine years I have been at Central Middle School, this year it is the cleanest, quietest and has the best working atmosphere. Several people have said, "Central is on its way to becoming the showcase of our middle schools." I also believe this.

For years I've been praying for this type of administrative team, to make our building the kind of place we, the students, the parents, and the staff have wanted it to be.

Thank you for giving this superb administrative team.

Fire juggler disappointed

EDITOR:

Being a professional entertainer in the ancient art of street theater and being known from coast to coast as a fire juggler, I am disappointed and disgusted that I could not share my chosen art with the citizens of Plymouth at the Fall Festival in my home town. The reason I was given was that some little child might go home and try to juggle fire. I feel such concern for the children of Plymouth is unnecessary since most of us learn at a very early age a healthy respect for fire and other hazardous objects. Why deny the people of Plymouth a chance to see a unique form of entertainment that has no cover charge or dress code involved and is as old as civilization itself? Let the parents decide what their children should or should not see.

RICHARD E. BASSETT

It's a thought...

by Rebecca Beach

Advice is very hard to take. It's not terribly hard to take from an editorial, most people tch, tch or snort or ignore the editorial completely, the ones that don't carry the editorial folded up in a pocket, searching for the writer to give a good bashing.

Advice is tough to give to friends. No matter how smooth a friendship is, it can get a bit testy when there's a piece of somebody's mind involved.

Advice is difficult to give to someone you know is doing a very good job and working very hard at it. There are many people doing wonderful things for others, but they could be getting more done if they modernized, or got smaller, or bigger, or spent a little more, or moved across the street.

We all know organizations like that, we all have friends like that. What we don't know is how our friends or acquaintances will react to advice. Because we've all been jumped on by people "who just can't take criticism," we tend to hope these organizations or individuals can read minds or have telepathy. That way we won't have to tell somebody out loud.

I hope the Firefighters union members realize that their firefighters-EMTs in Plymouth and Plymouth Township represent the "state of the art," the best. To watch a firefighter tend an injured person, speak soothing words and render rapid emergency treatment is to see a tender scene of people who really care.

I hope the firefighters in Plymouth City and Township can look beyond hurt feelings and see that any commercial emergency medical service that may be allowed to operate here will be better than none. One more ambulance is one more ambulance, any way you look at it, in some cases, this means a lifesaving back-up system.

The need for firefighter-EMTs is growing as Plymouth grows. A commercial ambulance service, particularly one, with advanced life support systems, could mean a few more lives saved.

The look you love at the price you'll adore...

and Dave Richard. The Guard posed for this picture after winning first place in the VFW Class at the Michigan State Fair Color Guard Competition.

"You get this tremendous patriotic feeling"

VFW Color Guard-reborn as prize-winning unit

BY REBECCA BEACH

Hal Young has some unfinished business to tie up.

"We were state champs for 10 years," he said, "until 1968. We were second four times in the nationals. We have unfinished business from 1968 ... the national championship."

Young is the senior member of a reactivated Plymouth institution, the Mayflower VFW Post No. 6695 Color Guard. Established with the opening of the post in 1946, the Color Guard was an award-winning show-stopper until its members disbanded in 1968. Fourteen years later, Hal Young, one of the original members from 1946 reorganized the Color Guard and dared to enter competition. This summer, the group came in second in the state VFW competition in Brighton and took first place at the Michigan State Fair Color Guard Competition, VFW Class.

"We were going to go to the national competition in Los Angeles when the Post burned (last spring)," Young said ruefully.

The members are a diverse lot. Young dates back to the first year the Post was in operation, the most recent Color Guard member, Chuck Adams, joined the Post in 1981.

"You really get something more out of life when you get involved in a competition, a tremendous patriotic feeling," Young said. "That's why we do it."

But Young is a little perturbed by the modern conception of a color guard. "The technology has changed, the established routines have changed, it used to be that the flag was always in the front, you never separated the flags. Now, the American flag is off on the side in favor of flashy maneuvers. Mayflower is trying to stay a good, functional Color Guard."

But he has the tack almost figured for next year, June's state competition and the National VFW Color Guard Competition in New Orleans in August. "It's marching and maneuvering and use of flags and rifles," he explained. "We can win next year, no problem."

The urge to clean house finally hit me last weekend. With the kids gone for the evening, there was no one to bother me or get in the way.

If you have ever tried to run a vacuum cleaner at night, you know you have to have lights on to see what you're doing. There I was working along, when suddenly the room went dark and the vacuum cleaner was silent. It didn't take much to figure out I had blown a fuse.

No big deal I thought as I trotted down to the basement. I even surprised myself in knowing where the fuse box was. A slight panic started to set in when I wondered where I could buy a fuse at 10 o'clock on a Saturday night. But alas, back on a shelf there was a box with one fuse left in it.

Standing on a chair, I tried to figure out which fuse went to what part of the house. When all else failed, I started at the top and checked each fuse. Finally I heard the vacuum cleaner go on and knew I had hit the right fuse.

As I was stepping down off the chair, the stupid thing collapsed and there I was sitting on the floor. I thought we had thrown that chair with the broken leg out months ago.

With all the hassles taken care of, I finished cleaning the house. Once the tables were shining and things put in their place, I started upstairs, more than ready to hit the bed.

For some reason the light over the stairs wouldn't come on. When I got to the top of the stairs, the other light didn't turn on either. Oh no, I couldn't have blown another fuse.

I went back down two flights of stairs to get reacquainted with the fuse box. After changing some fuses around and making a couple of trips up and down stairs, the lights finally went on. I came to the conclusion that I must not have screwed the fuse in tight earlier in the evening when I was searching for the one that had burnt out.

So much for playing Suzy Homemaker. Maybe someday I'll be rich and can afford to have someone come in and clean for me, preferably someone who knows how to change a fuse.

Outlet returns to Old Village

A sister act returns to Old Village. Phyllis Dennis and Monette Bell are sisters who happen to be partners in Village Square Outlet, a discount clothes store.

As a factory outlet, the two feel their prices are very reasonable because they eliminate the middle man. They are located in Old Village next to Heidi's Flowers and are open from 10 to 5 Monday through Saturday.

"We opened our business in February of 1979 behind the candy store on Mill Street. In August of 1981 we decided to expand, so we needed a larger store. Nothing was available in Old Village, so we moved onto Main Street. We missed Old Village and things didn't work out like we planned, so we're back home in Old Village and we're very pleased," they said.

This watermelon is 'wattamelon'

BY DAN BODENE

Paqst - Friendly Restaurant has watermelon with seeds you can eat!

It doesn't come from a garden, doesn't last too long in the sun and is really tough to pick up in your hands for any length of time.

On the other hand, there's no messy rind to throw out and you never have to weed it.

It's the "Wattamelon Roll," and it not only comes close to the garden variety watermelon in taste, but it looks like the real McCoy, too. Made of a lemon sherbet rind, chocolate chip seeds and a watermelon sherbet center, the concoction tastes remarkably like Mother Nature's own creation but is infinitely more appealing to sweet-toothed persons looking for a different way to enjoy one of summer's favorite treats.

The Roll serves six, with lovely gooey slices all around, or 12 if you'd like to be a little more dainty.

OK, OK, so it's a little more expensive than the garden variety. But not much more expensive, and you don't have to wait four months for it to sit in the dirt and ripen. It's only as far away as the Friendly Restaurant at 42370 Ann Arbor Road.

Not only that, but the Wattamelon Roll sits right along side a number of other ice cream pies in a variety of flavors that Friendly is offering.

Summer may be almost over, but why give up a hot-weather treat? Watta idea.

Relentless Punishing Salem ground game key to Rock 18-6 triumph over Canton

BY MARK CONSTANTINE

A relentless rushing attack combined with a hard-hitting, stingy defense were two of the ingredients Salem used to topple Canton, 18-6, Friday night in the first-ever meeting between the two local football units.

And despite the fact emotions ran high on both sides as they battled for the bragging rights at CEP for a year, the action was clean. Even an on again off again downpour couldn't put out the fire that burned within each squad.

The popping of the pads could be heard up in the stands, but once the play was finished, the teams headed back to their respective huddles without any extra hitting or verbal taunts.

The disciplined behavior exhibited by both units was clearly a testament to the respect they had for one another and the other's coaching staff.

That doesn't mean each squad wasn't looking for some kind of advantage right from the start.

Salem coach Tom Moshimer figured his Rocks might get a psychological edge when they came out in their home blue uniforms instead of the away white they were supposed to wear.

The move brought a chorus of boos from the Canton partisan, but it was not totally unexpected by the Chiefs, according to Canton top man Ricard Barr.

What was anticipated by both head

MHSAA grid playoffs unfair to some

Well, it's that time of the year again.

If you love to watch a football spiral through the crisp, clear autumn air into the arms of a waiting receiver, then you know what time of year it is.

And with the start of the prep football season in Michigan, the chase for a berth in the Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSAA) playoffs also begins.

The format used by the MHSAA has been around seven years now and, although not everyone has always been happy with the way the computer has ranked them, the system has run fairly smoothly.

But I wonder how many people out there, besides coaches, administrators and avid followers of prep football, are aware of the procedure used to rank the various teams.

For example, if Salem or Canton were to finish the fall campaign undefeated, would they qualify for the playoffs?

Not necessarily is the best answer I can give.

So, let's look at the guidelines the MHSAA uses in determining the playoff participants. The scoring system is quite simple, really.

A team gets 80 points for beating a Class A unit, 64 for downing a Class B opponent, 48 for C and 32 for D.

Also, squads pick up 40 points for tying a Class A foe, 32 for B, 24 for C and 16 for D.

Then the points are divided by the number of games played. But that's not all.

Offsides

with Mark Constantine

Bonus points also figure into the number the computer eventually gives you.

To start with, teams garner eight points for each game one of the groups they beat wins, four for each one they tie, four for each of one of the games a team they tied wins.

Finally, a team gets one point for each game one of the opponents they tied ties, and one point when an opponent who defeated them wins.

After the bonus points have been totaled, that number is divided by nine and added to the first figure. A typical number for a region-leading Class A team might be up around 100.

A computer firm engaged by the MHSAA will release the standing for each Class A, B, C and D region after the fourth week of the season.

Salem and Canton are Class A squads, competing with other units in Region II for one of the top two spots in the region which, in turn, will earn both groups a ticket into the playoffs.

So all that's important is wins and losses and how the people you play fare as the year wears on.

That's not to say it isn't beneficial for Class A teams to play Class A teams and, if a Class B unit takes on a Class A group and wins, the Class B squad can feather its own playoff nest in the process.

But the number of points a team scores against an opponent has no bearing on the play-off point system. A one-point victory is the same as a 35-point blowout.

But what about ties?

Not to worry, a long complicated formula has been established by the MHSAA to determine who moves on in the case of ties.

Most are fairly standard procedures. Say, perhaps, the tied teams played each other during the year, the one who won the contest advances.

But, down the line, some of the criteria used to break ties make me wonder. For example, one of the tiebreakers is the team who was leading at the end of the third quarter the greater number of times during the season gets the nod.

I pity the poor fourth quarter team that comes on strong late in all their games to snatch victory from defeat only to see that held against them later as they try to get into the playoffs.

And don't think something like that couldn't actually occur. It can.

Absolute ties have even wound up in the courts. Just last year Saginaw Douglas MacArthur and Flint Powers tied, and the MacArthur people were miffed when Powers advanced under one of the MHSAA's tie-breaking criteria.

A judge eventually ruled the MHSAA was correct in establishing some sort of criteria for making it into its playoffs, and MacArthur couldn't change the rules of the game after it had started, according to MHSAA assistant director Fred Sible.

So just because the regular season will draw to a close the first of November, that doesn't mean an undefeated team will earn an automatic berth in the playoffs.

All you can do is play your hardest and hope everything turns out your way. Personally, I don't like the MHSAA formula for determining those who'll take part in the playoffs, but then I'm not running the show.

Salem hosts Relays

BY JOE SLEZAK

The Western Lakes Relays relays held Saturday in the Salem pool provided the league coaches with a preview of the upcoming season.

The relays were sponsored by the Rotary clubs from both Canton and Plymouth.

Livonia Stevenson captured the championship with 88 points. Northville was second with 76 points, followed by Salem and Livonia Bentley tied for third with 73 points.

Canton trailed in fifth place with 61 points, while Farmington picked up 18 points, and Livonia Churchill brought up the rear with 8 points.

Canton and Salem each scored one first in the all-relay event.

For the Chiefs, divers Cindy Sherwood and Shawn Neville took first with a combined 12 dive total of 319.95.

Meanwhile, the Rocks 200-yard breaststroke team of Kim Nelson, Cheryl Truskowski, Lindsay Olson and Corinne Cabadas bested the field with a time of 2:26.2.

Second for Salem was the 400-yard medley squad of Sallie Weimer, Nelson, B.J. Bing and Amy Dunn. Also second for Salem was the diving duo of Cindy McSurely and Carolyn Constantine.

Second for Canton was the 400-yard Individual Medley quartet of Margaret Gilligan, Kelly Kirk, Kim Elliott, and Ginie Johnson.

Salem had two third place finishers. The 400 freestyle relay team of Shelly Mullen, Kris Graham, Renee Rudin, and Theresa Schaffer was third along with the 200-yard medley relay unit. Swimming the relay was Carol Lindsay, Truskowski, Kim Vesnaugh and Krystal Taylor.

The Chiefs, meanwhile, had three third places.

Competing in the 200-yard freestyle relay for Canton were Kris Burns, Elliott, Kathy Stern and Lynn Massey. Also third was the 200-backstroke relay, including Kirk, Noelle Murphy, Juli Silber and Burns.

In addition, the 200-yard breaststroke relay took a third. Sue Sawyer, Bridget Dailey, Dawn Mullen and Silber swam for the Chiefs.

Salem coach Chuck Olson was pleased with the meet. "The meet was a great way to start out the league," Olson said. "It did a world of good for my team."

Harriers get into action

BY MARK CONSTANTINE

Long distance running is sometimes a lonely sport, but not if athlete runs for either Canton or Salem.

It seems being a member of the boy's and girl's cross country teams at each school has become a popular thing to do, and both coaches couldn't be happier.

Canton and Salem both traveled to Ypsilanti last Tuesday to open the 1982 cross country campaign. The host school ran off with the first place hardware in the boy's competition, followed by the Chiefs and then the Rocks.

The Salem girls, on the other hand, bested the other two to begin the season on a high note.

The first five across the finish line for the Canton boys included Ralph Dicosty, Tim Collins, Todd Gattoni, Mike Hall and Mike Brylinsky.

The runners for the Salem boys were Brad Haertel, Frank Bronsan, Skip Whittaker, Tony Atwell and Rob Schoenberger.

Canton sophomore flash Kelly Murphy beat out the field in the girl's race, but she didn't get enough support from her teammates to overtake the Rocks.

Trish Donnelly followed Murphy across the finish line in second place to lead the Rocks to victory. The freshman has looked strong in practice, and Williams is looking for good things from her.

The rest of the Rocks included Michelle Donnelly, Tanny Cundari, Pam Hodge and Kim Lybarger. Ida Williams, Maureen Brophy Carolyn Scharski and April Richey ran for the Chiefs.

Cass Benton was the site of a triangular meet Thursday between the boy's and girl's units from Canton, Salem and Thurston.

The Salem boys regrouped from the setback Tuesday to finish ahead of the field, while the distaff Rock harriers continued their winning ways.

Leading the way for the Salem boys was Bronsan, followed by Haertel, Whittaker, Scott Steiner and Atwell. Shelly Simons paced the triumphant Rock girls, then it was Trish Donnelly, Julia Tortor, Michelle Donnelly and Cundari.

Collins, Gattoni, Hall, Brylinski and Keith Biddinger ran Thursday for the Canton boys, while Murphy, Williams, Brophy, Scharski and Richey crossed the finish line for the Chief girls.

FOLLOWING THROUGH for the Salem golf team is Jim Bennethun. The Rocks dumped Canton last Wednesday. Bennethun shot a 45. (Crier photo by Rick Smith)

Sixteen teams from around the area, including Canton and Salem, converged on Schoolcraft, Community College Saturday for the Schoolcraft Invitational.

Livonia Churchill walked off with the team trophy in the boy's and girl's races, while the Salem boys tied with Northville for sixth and the Canton boys were 11th.

In the girl's category, there were only 11 full teams and three partial units participating in the meet. Salem finished in eighth, while Canton did not have a full squad due to illness.

Salem's Bronsan turned in a fine showing in taking 18th. Haertel was next in 33rd, then it was Whittaker in 37th, Steiner in 58th and Mike Gannon in 60th.

The top five Canton runners included Collins (35th), Gattoni, Hall, Brylinski and Brian Zubacht.

Murphy came in 16th for the Canton girls, followed by Scharski, Brophy and Williams. For the Salem squad, Trish Donnelly in 20th led the way, followed by Cundari (44th), Michelle Donnelly (46th), Lybarger (62nd) and Hodge (64th).

3 Westland teams wasted

Steeler triple triumph first-ever

There were smiles all around Sunday evening in the Plymouth-Canton Junior Football team camp because all three black and gold units won.

The triple triumph marked the first time in the six-year history of the Steelers all three units were victorious on the same Sunday.

The Varsity, coached by George Genyk, downed the Westland Meteors, 18-6.

Kirk Rentz was the hero of the day for the Varsity. He scored a pair of touchdowns, the second coming off a pass from Steve Genyk to Joe Jouppi who lateraled the ball to Rentz for the TD. The play covered 30 yards.

Also getting into the scoring act for the Varsity was Doug Batsel. He touchdown capped a 60-yard Varsity drive.

Jim Johnston directs the Junior Varsity and his troops edged the Meteors, 7-0.

The JV squad drove 50 yards for its touchdown with Chris Johnston getting credit for the six points. The extra point came via a Tim Ott to Ed Bardell pass.

Finally, coach Dave Bryant watched his Freshmen club squeeze past Westland, 12-6.

Bryant's hunch opened the scoring early in the game. The TD was set up by a 30-yard Chris Decker to Brian Burlison pass completion.

Rudy Cervantes finished the Freshmen march to payday by powering his way across the Meteor goal line from eight yards out.

Cervantes also accounted for the other Freshmen score, giving his team the victory.

This Sunday the Steelers will host the Westland Northstars at Central Middle School beginning at 1 p.m.

Rock golf team takes two matches

BY JOE SLEZAK

The Salem golf team beat Northville on Monday, 205-208.

Nunzio Marino and Jim Bennethum both led the Rock's attack with scores of 39 apiece. Mike Laffey and Todd Reidel each shot 42's and senior captain Greg Trim carded a 43.

Gary Metz paced Northville with a score of 39. Right behind him was Ray Nuttec and Bob Pegrum, who each shot a 40. Dave Pohlok shot a 44 and the Mustang's scoring was rounded out by Eric Morfe, who shot a 45.

"The win makes us 2-1 in the league", said coach Bob Waters. "We are excited about winning the duel meets."

Salem beat cross campus rival Canton 204-211 on Wednesday.

Nunzio Marino paced the Rocks with a 37. One stroke off of the pace was Greg Trim, who shot a 38. Mike Laffey finished the nine-hole course one stroke behind Trim.

Mike Moon and Jim Bennethum shot 45's in a winning cause.

Carl Mitroff led the Chiefs with a total of 40 strokes. Dave Musch carded a 41, while Pat Ruoff and Justin Lauer shot 43 apiece. Eric Popp shot 44 for Canton.

Chief swim team downs Belleville

BY JOE SLEZAK

The Canton girls swimmers opened their season on Thursday by beating Belleville, 74-51, and setting three record performances in the process.

Sophomore Ginnie Johnson qualified for the state meet and set the school record in the 100-yard butterfly. Johnson also shattered the school mark in the 100-yard breaststroke, taking first in both events.

Margaret Gilligan, also a sophomore in her first varsity meet, set the school record in the 200-yard individual medley. She also won the 500-yard freestyle.

Other firsts were chalked up by Shawn Neville in diving and Kelly Kirk in the 100-yard backstroke. Kirk, Johnson, Kathy Stern and Lynn Massey also won the 200-yard medley relay.

Kim Elliott recorded two second places for the Chiefs. She was runner-up in the 200-yard freestyle and the 100-yard breaststroke. Kris Burns was second in the 100-yard backstroke and Stern was also second in butterfly.

Stern, Burns, Elliott, and Gilligan were second in the 400-yard freestyle relay.

Third was Burns in the 50-yard freestyle. Cindy Sherwood in diving, Karyn Stetz in the 100-yard freestyle and Kelly Salyer in the 500-yard freestyle.

Canton also placed third in the 400-yard freestyle relay: Swimming was Noelle Murphy, Stetz, Juli Silber and Denise DeBell.

Burns, DeBell, and Salyer, all seniors, have been selected as captains for this year's squad.

"I was real pleased about Ginnie and Margaret," said coach Art "Hooker" Wellmann. "Canton is in fine shape."

ROCK CAGER Eileen Moore concentrates on sinking a free throw in Salem's victory over Walled Lake Western last Thursday. A tight, aggressive Rock defense was the difference in the contest, according to Salem coach Robert Blohm. (Crier photo by Rick Smith)

Big 'D'

Defense key to Salem unbeaten mark

BY MARK CONSTANTINE

Defense was the name of the game as far as the Salem girl's basketball team was concerned the past week.

Coach Robert Blohm's roundballers hit the road to dump non-league rival, Redford Union, 50-39, last Tuesday, and then clobbered Wester-Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) foe, Walled Lake Western, 54-43, on the Rocks' floor Thursday.

Blohm credited his team's tenacious defense as the key factors in both triumphs.

"We've played good defense, aggressive defense as a team," Blohm explained. "We've also been putting good pressure on the ball. For our size we've been playing very good defense."

The pair of victories raised the Rocks' season record to 4-0.

Walled Lake Western competes in the Western Division of the WLAA, while the Rocks are in the Lakes Division. And while the victory didn't help Salem's drive towards a divisional crown, it did give Blohm a good opportunity to see how his club stacks up against the Western Division units, he said.

"They are a good team who will get better as the season wears on," Blohm explained.

Pam McBride had the hot hand in the victory over Walled Lake Western. She burned the nets for 18 points, and did a good job of containing the Warriors 6-3 sophomore center, Val Hall, according to Blohm.

Also contributing in the Rock win were Dawn Johnson and Glomski, with nine points apiece.

Salem opened the game with 13 points in the first quarter, while holding Walled Lake

Western to eight. By halftime the Rocks upped their lead to eight, 24-16.

The second half the Warriors stayed close to the Rocks, but the damage had already been done.

"They only had six field goals in the first half," Blohm noted. "But we had trouble with fouls, but they didn't shoot to well from the line."

"The first three quarters we played the best defense we've played all year. We supported well, blocked out well, did everything right."

Redford Union took advantage of early Salem foul trouble last Tuesday to go out in front, 11-10, after the first quarter.

But once the Rocks got untracked, it was all over for the home side. Salem went ahead, 24-18, at the intermission, and by the start of the fourth quarter the Rocks led, 41-20.

"The second and third quarters we really opened up the game," Blohm explained. "They also started getting fatigued, which helped. We got some turnovers and converted the shots and that was that."

Jacque Marrisfield topped the Rock scoring attack with 13 points. Also finishing in double figures were McBride with 12 and Ann Glomski with 10 points and nine rebounds.

"Those two wins were good ones for us," Blohm said. "But we've got to improve on recognition. We've got to recognize the opportunities and make the passes when we get them."

The Rocks battled Livonia Stevenson in the Rock gym last night, and move on to Farmington tomorrow (Thursday) night.

Chief booters can't hold off Falcons

BY MARK CONSTANTINE
Sometimes too much prosperity can do more harm than good.
Just ask the Canton boy's soccer team.

The Chiefs journeyed to Farmington Thursday sporting an unblemished 2-0 record, and even tallied twice in the first six minutes, seemingly setting the stage for another triumph.

Wrong.
Farmington fought back with a pair of goals before the half, added two more for insurance in the second stanza and then fought off a late Canton charge to win, 4-3.

"We were missing two players and it hurt," Chief coach Tony Lonigro pointed out afterwards. "There was nobody in mid-field with Tim McFarland out. And Eddie Hintz hurt his ankle earlier in the week, and we missed him up front."

Hintz injured his ankle during the Chiefs' 3-2 victory over Northville Monday evening on the Mustangs' home turf.

Chief center forward Tom Wright was the hero in the Northville win. Wright found the back of the Mustang goal three times, accounting for all his team's scoring.

Early in the game Monday night Wright converted a penalty kick opportunity to put the Chiefs in front, 1-0.

Northville, however, battled back to take a 2-1 lead as the two sides retired to their respective locker rooms for the intermission.

Wright finally knotted the score 20 minutes into the second half, taking a pass from Hintz and slipping the ball past the Mustang netminder.

The contest remained deadlocked until the 87th minute when Wright put the Chiefs

Canton edges Northville, 2-1 earlier in week ahead to stay.

Dave Liuzzo started the winning play with a quick pass to Mike Minton who in turn sent a sharp pass to Hintz who didn't waste any time putting the ball onto the talented foot of Wright. And Wright made no mistake about it, burying the shot in the back of the Northville net.

Then Thursday afternoon Wright took up right where he left Monday. Two minutes into the clash against Farmington, Wright set up Swedish foreign exchange student Jonas Palm who quickly put the Chiefs in front, 1-0.

Wright padded the Canton lead a couple of minutes later when he dribbled through the Falcon defense to score an unassisted goal.

That's when the trouble started, though, according to Lonigro.

The 1982 version of the Chief soccer team had been passing the ball well in the first two games, but the passing stopped as the Farmington game progressed. And that put a crimp in the Canton attack, Lonigro fumed without signaling out anyone for blame.

Farmington took advantage of the situation to score twice in the second half to break a 2-2 halftime deadlock, and then hold on to win.

Wright added another goal on a penalty kick, but it wasn't enough to propel the Chiefs past the Falcons.

The next week Lonigro will have an opportunity to see if his troops are as good as he thinks they are. How? Canton squares off against perennial soccer powerhouses Livonia Churchill (Thursday) and Livonia Stevenson (Monday). Both matches will be at home.

"We are hoping to take at least one," Lonigro admitted. "If we can beat Churchill, our confidence will be up and maybe that's just what we need to beat Stevenson."

Dumps tenacious Franklin, 2-1

Salem soccer squad finally gets win

BY MARK CONSTANTINE
Never underestimate an opponent.

From now on that will be the motto of the Salem boy's soccer team after the Rocks at home Thursday had to claw their way to a hard-fought 2-1 victory over Livonia Franklin.

Salem mentor Ken Johnson admitted his club wasn't expecting much from the visitors. After all, they'd been walloped in their last two matches, and Johnson expected his Rocks to run roughshod over them.

"It only goes to show you," Johnson noted, "if you're going to take an opponent lightly, at least in soccer, you better score some early goals. If you don't, things can get tougher as the game goes on."

Salem did dominate the action early in the match, but the Rocks couldn't seem to slip one past the Franklin goalie.

But finally the Franklin netminder made a mistake that cost his team a goal. He inadvertently handled the ball just outside of the penalty area, giving the Rocks a free kick from that spot.

Salem's Mark Flowers put the ball down immediately and, as the Franklin keeper was racing back to his line, Flowers chipped the ball to Randy Johnson who nodded it in to an open Franklin goal.

The first 45 minutes of play ended with the Rocks blasting 11 shots on goal to just two for Franklin, but Johnson's troops only led, 1-0.

Three minutes into the second half Franklin knotted the score. Salem goalie Todd Chatman could only watch as a perfect shot sailed into the top righthand corner of the net.

The goal post then became an ally of the visitors. The Rocks put the ball past the Franklin keeper twice only to see the ball ricochet off the woodwork behind the sprawled goalie.

But Salem was not to be denied. Matt Crooks finally teamed up with Johnson to put the Rocks in front to stay. Crooks gave a sprinting Johnson a nice through ball which Johnson ran onto and put past the Franklin netminder.

"I wouldn't really want to signal anyone out for praise, except the goal scorer, of course," Johnson admitted. "We had to work hard for the win, and I guess in the long run that will help us."

"The defense had to play a solid game as the game went on and they did the job."

Johnson and company got their first real test of the season last night (Tuesday) when they hosted perennial power Livonia Stevenson.

Tomorrow (Thursday) the Rocks take to the road to square off against Farmington in what Johnson said "should be a decent game."

Listen up all you aspiring "Magic" Johnsons out there, the Plymouth-Canton Junior Basketball Association is looking for you.

Registration for the Junior roundball league will take place Oct. 2 and 9 from 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Canton High School in the Phase III building.

Youths from grade three through 12 are eligible to participate. Registration fee for C League is $20, B, A and AA is $23 and AAA is $28.

And everyone who registers is placed on a team. Tryouts will be held before the teams are organized to help equalize the squads.

All players must play one-quarter of each game and not more than three-quarters.

coaches, though, was the Rocks ability to run the ball.

However, Barr hoped his troops could plug the gaps and stymie the Rock wishbone offense. But, as it turned out, the Salem ground game proved to be the difference in the contest.

"I thought our offensive line did one heckuva job," Moshimer said. "Up front we had Dave Slavin, Keith Urban, Chris Hymes, Ron Calhoun, Mike Moshimer and tight end Dave Houle.

"We felt we had to dominate up front to win, and that's exactly what we did. Our defense wasn't on the field too long, which we were happy to see."

Moshimer's men in the trenches were opening up holes for fullbacks Scott Jurek and Jim Sinclair, and both backs knew what to do with the ball once they got past the line of scrimmage, too.

Jurek lugged the ball 27 times for a total of 192 yards and one touchdown, while Sinclair tucked the pigskin under his arm 15 times, gaining 112 yards and scoring a pair of six-pointers.

In all, the Rocks accumulated 346 yards on the ground and 17 through the air for a total of 363 yards.

Barr had no excuses afterwards. He knew his team had been "ripped" in the first half by an explosive Rock offense. But some of the blame he shouldered himself.

"We made a couple mistakes, one with the way we were playing and the other on the way we were executing," Barr explained. "It wasn't so much what they did, don't get me wrong, they are a good team, it's just we didn't help our own cause too much.

"As coaches, though, I wasn't too happy. I thought we got out-coached in places. We went in at halftime and made some adjustments, which we should have made earlier, and it helped us stop them when we had to in the second half."

Just as Canton kicker Matt Santilli prepared to boot the opening kick-off to Salem, the skies, which had looked threatening for several hours prior to the start of the game, finally opened up.

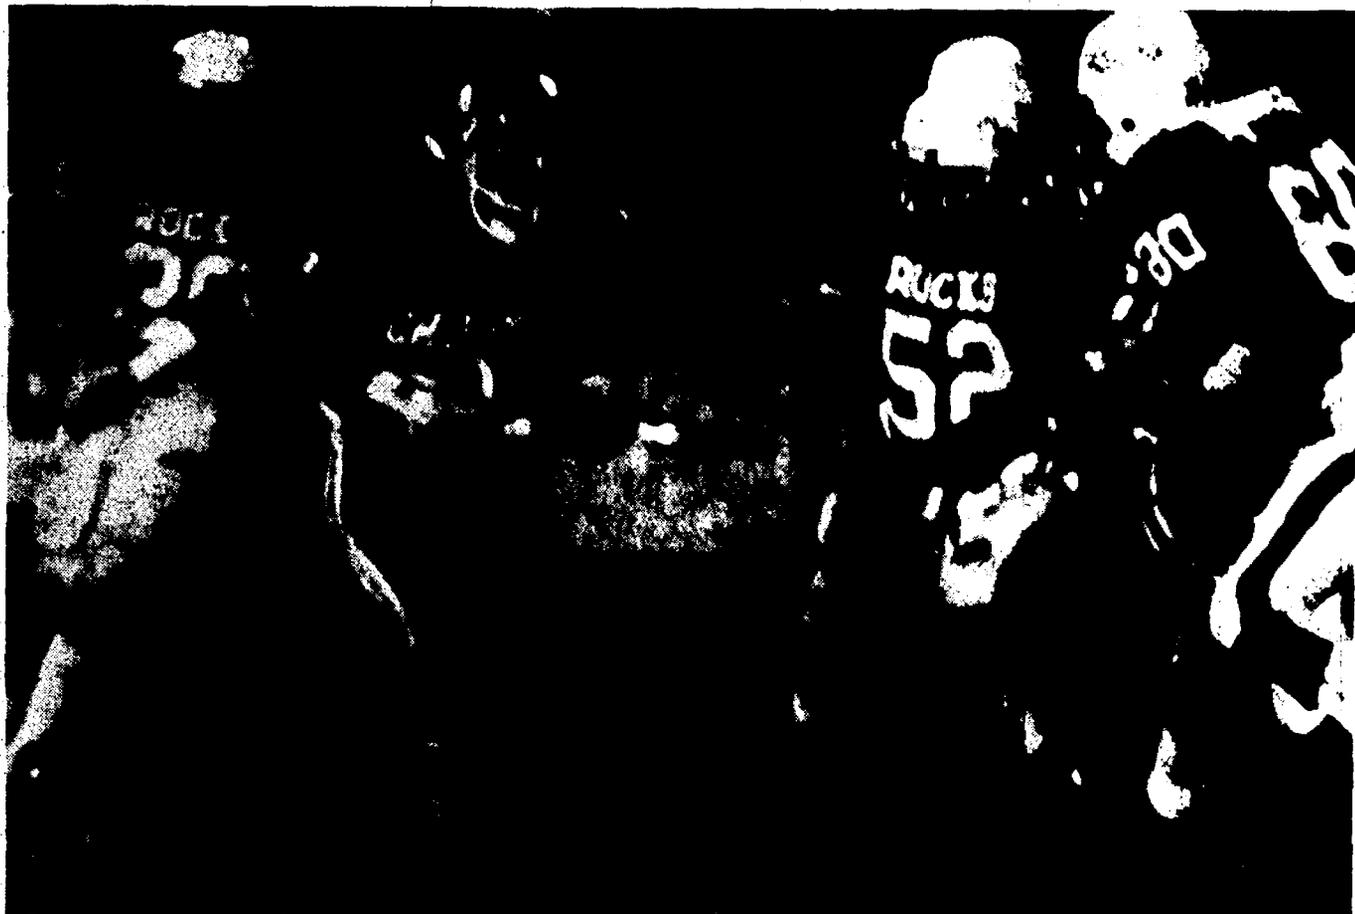

The rain didn't seem to bother the Rocks. Moshimer's troops gathered in the opening kick-off and marched 70-plus yards for a touchdown.

Sinclair capped the long drive by powering his way over from the three-yard-line. The PAT sailed wide, but just like that Canton trailed, 6-0.

If Rock fans thought the Chiefs would fold up their tent at that point and go home, they got a rude awakening when Barr's battlers came right back with a score of their own on their first possession.

Canton quarterback Pat Murphy got his team on the scoreboard. On a third and four from the Chief 41-yard line he fired a strike to tight end Bob Wasczenski who gathered it in at the Rock 30 and then sprinted unmolested the rest of the way into the Salem end zone.

The PAT attempt by the Chiefs, like Salem's moments earlier at the opposite end of the field, sailed wide, but the score was knotted at 6-6.

LOOKING FOR SOMEWHERE to go is Canton fullback Brian Callahan. But the Salem defense led by Mark Stanton (52) and Dave Houle (80) have their sights on collaring Callahan in the backfield. Salem went on to win the game 18-6, in a game played in an almost steady drizzle. (Crier photo by Rick Smith)

The fans in both stands were buzzing after the Canton score.

The Rock fans because many of them couldn't believe the Chiefs could score against the Rocks just like that, and the Chief faithful knew the Rocks better not have taken their side too lightly or they'd find themselves way behind quickly.

However, neither side underestimated the other. The rest of the first quarter the squads traded punts. Both were looking for a mistake to capitalize on which never came.

The Rocks, however, were continuing to move the ball on the ground. And it seemed like it would only be a matter of time before they dented the Chief goal line again.

Early in the second stanza Jurek and company were driving for the go-ahead touchdown when Jurek fumbled the ball at the two-yard line.

Moshimer said afterwards a Canton defender simply gave Jurek a good hit and the ball popped loose. The Chiefs had dodged a bullet, but only for the time being.

Murphy couldn't move his team out from under the shadow of their own goal posts and the Chiefs were forced to punt the ball.

The Rocks gathered in the punt near the Chief 40-yard-line and proceeded to move it right into the Canton end zone. Sinclair negotiated the final few yards to put the Rocks in front.

Moshimer opted to have his troops try for a two-point conversion, but an attempted pass was batted out of the air by an alert Chief lineman, keeping the score, 12-6, in favor of Salem.

Jurek upped the Rock lead to 18-6 as the first half drew to a close, capping another long Salem drive. And again the Rock two-point conversion try was thwarted by the opportunistic Chief defense.

The entire second half both sides traded turnovers and punts. The only real chance for either team to score was stymied by a fumble and a penalty, both on the same play.

Early in the final period it appeared the Rocks would widen their lead, but a fumble at the five-yard-line stopped the Salem surge. And as the ball flew into the air, Wasczenski picked it out of midair and raced 95 yards for six points which seemingly put the Chiefs right back in the game.

But as Wasczenski was crossing the Rock goal line, one of his teammates was holding a Salem player back up field. The resulting penalty nullified the score, and took the wind out of the Chief sails.

The Chiefs continued to battle, but the Rocks just had too much firepower.

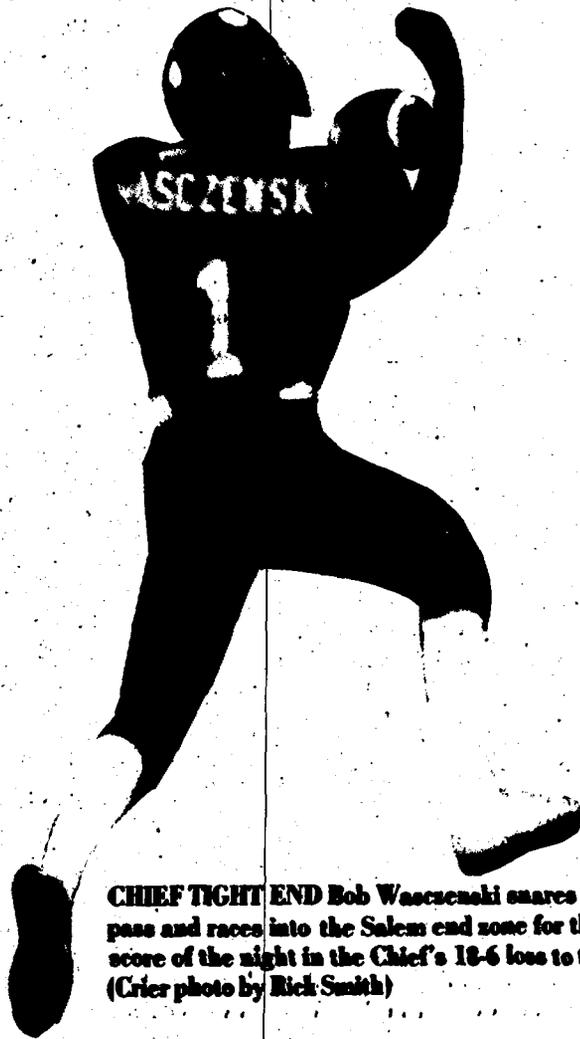

"I thought Slavin had to be the best player on the field, both offensively and defensively," Moshimer noted. "And I'll tell you, if they would have scored on that fumble recovery it would have made things interesting.

"But when we got the ball back, all we were trying to do was maintain the ball, and the kids did a fine job of doing just that."

Salem now moves on to Livonia Stevenson to play a team Moshimer said "we have to beat." The Spartans are coming off a loss to Franklin, and will be looking to stick it to the Rocks, according to Moshimer.

Canton, meanwhile, hosts Livonia Churchill for homecoming. The Chargers are 0-2, but are a much better team than their record, Barr said.

"We will not be taking them lightly, you can count on that," Barr admitted. "I was pleased overall the way we played against Salem and, if we can play as well against Churchill, I'll be happy."

Canton cagers outlook brightening

BY MARK CONSTANTINE

There's nothing like winning to change a team's outlook.

The Canton girls' basketball team, under the direction of first-year coach Phyllis Cunningham, suffered through two tough losses the first week of the season.

And a few heads were hanging low.

But all that was forgotten last week when the Chiefs pummeled a pair of opponents.

First, Western-Lakes Activities Association Lakes' Division foe, Farmington, fell to the Chiefs last Thursday, 58-33, then on Tuesday Cunningham's charges clobbered Northville, 59-20.

And Cunningham couldn't have been happier for her "hard working" group of girls.

Chiefs bounce back from pair of losses

by walloping 2 opponents to even record

Leading the way for the Chiefs in the triumph over Farmington was Missy Aiken. The powerful center dominated the action underneath the boards, scoring 23 points and hauling down 18 rebounds.

"Missy just had a super game," Cunningham said, stating the obvious. "The have a center who is not a bad ballplayer, and Missy simply out-played her."

"As a team, we moved the ball around well, looking for the open man. And they finally started playing together like I knew they could."

Canton jumped out into a 14-9 lead after the first eight minutes of action. By halftime, the Chiefs were in control, 30-17.

Sue Gerke contributed to the winning Chief effort with eight points, while LeAnn Hamblin chipped in with seven.

It was no contest almost from the opening tip-off in Canton's shellacking of Northville. Aiken and company led, 11-4, at the end of the first quarter, and upped the advantage to 21 points, 29-8, at the intermission.

Cunningham began substituting freely in the early going and, even with a combination of her starters and the second string players in the line-up in the third period, the Chiefs out-scored the Mustangs, 16-0.

"The key to the game was our tight defense," Cunningham noted. "Our girls were all over the ball. And we have no main six, all 11 on the team contribute, and that's what happened the last two games."

Gerke paced the Chief attack against Northville with 19 points, also scoring in double figures was Hamblin with 12. Aiken, meanwhile, tossed in nine points and grabbed 13 rebounds.

Cunningham's troops were in action last night (Tuesday) at Redford Union. Tomorrow (Thursday) the Chiefs entertain Livonia Churchill in what the Chief mentor

Salem neeters pick up win

BY JOE SLEZAK

The Salem girls tennis team, coached by Judy Braun, shut out Livonia Stevenson, 7-0, last week.

Sisters Chris and Wendy Gilles began the rout last Wednesday by scoring 6-0, 6-0 wins at first and second singles, respectively.

Carol Gillespie and Carol Hathaway also contributed to the winning Rock effort by capturing their singles matches.

The Rocks had just as much good fortune in doubles, sweeping all three matches. Lisa Maggio and Kristy Brandenburg were winners at first doubles, while Michelle Howell and Cathy Graham won at second doubles.

Completing the sweep was the third doubles duo of Barb Hanooh and Chris Cordick.

Salem's record is now 3-0. Braun in talking about the team she fielded that whipped Stevenson said, "This looks like my lineup unless something unforeseen comes up in the future."
