2 will challenge Poole

BY KEN VOYLES

Robert M. Padget and Thomas J. Yack will both challenge James E. Poole, Canton's current supervisor, for that job in the township this year.

All three had filed as Republicans by yesterday's candidate election filing deadline. The Republican primary is set for Aug. 2.

Padget is currently a trustee on the board in Canton, while Yack is a former president of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education.

In the township treasurer's race Republican Ruth M. Allegrina and Democrat Carol A. Bodenmiller will challenge current treasurer Gerald Brown, a Republican.

Linda Chuhran, a Republican and current township clerk, will face a challenge from Democrat Cynthia S. Burgess and Republican Loren Bennett. Bennett is currently a trustee on the Canton board.

In the race for the four trustee's spots, eight Republicans and two Democrats filed yesterday, including incumbents John E. Preniczky and Elaine Kirchgatter (Republicans). Kirchgatter was selected to fill Stephen

Twp. race features supervisor fight

BY PAUL GARGARO

Although Bill Joyner did not file as expected, the Plymouth Township Supervisor's race still promises to be a busy election.

All three candidates for supervisor, incumbent Maurice Breen, former Township Trustee James Irvine, and Jerry Raymor, filed as Republicans.

An attorney, Breen has held the supervisor's seat since 1980. He also served as Plymouth Township Supervisor from 1970 to 1972. From 1968 to 1970 and again from 1976 to 1980, Breen served as a township trustee.

Also an attorney, Irvine has sat on the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees since 1984.

Raymor is a project manager for Ford Motor Company and has never before held public office.

Republican candidate Patricia Pashukewich has officially filed to oppose the Republican incumbent Township Treasurer Mary Brooks.

Brooks has worked in the treasurer's office since 1972 as deputy treasurer under both Elizabeth Holmes and Joseph West. She has been Township Treasurer since 1984.

Pashukewich is the president of Pamar Management Company which purchases and manages rental property in Michigan and Florida.

Community center vote put on hold

BY KEN VOYLES

Voters in Canton will get a longer chance to mull over whether or not they want a community center following a move last week by the Board of Trustees to push the ballot proposal back to the November general election.

The board had originally planned for a one-mill ballot proposal during the August primary, but voted 6-0 to put the ballot question before voters in November instead. Clerk Linda Chuhran was absent and did not vote.

The board also considered requesting more than one mill from voters to help cover operating costs as well as the original construction expenses of the proposed community center.

Gerald Brown, the township's treasurer, suggested requesting 1.35 mills from the voters, possibly splitting up the millage to cover construction (one mill) and operating expenses (.35 mill).

"I've had concerns about this project," Brown said. "If we ask the voters for the money we should put estimates for operating in there."

"I think it might be good to delay this until the general election in November," he continued. "I want to be up front with the public on this."

Brown made it clear, though, that he did not want to "torpedo" the entire project.

Operating costs have been estimated at approximately $350,000 yearly.

The design includes a 25-meter indoor pool, which would be a "significant" portion of the operating costs, according to Michael Gouin, superintendent of parks and recreation in the township.

Supervisor James Poole said that if the center were constructed he would want it "sustained" and not left to "collect dust and spiders."

"If we really want to build the community center let's come up with a figure," Poole said.

"I share some of Jerry's concerns," said Trustee Robert Padget. "There are substantial operating costs involved, but I don't feel it is necessary to add the operating costs to the millage."

Trustee Elaine Kirchgatter said residents should be willing to help cover operating costs as well if they really wanted the facility. "I don't want to subsidize this from our general fund," she said.

Between now and the election township officials will take a closer look at operating costs as well as possible revenues generated from the facility. (There would be some user's fees for the center, said Gouin.)

Gouin added that he didn't want to build a "quality facility" that residents were unsatisfied with or one that would take large fees to operate successfully.

The proposed multi-use center would be approximately 78,000 square feet in size and cost $7.9 million to construct and furnish.

Canton youth faces trial in fatal accident

BY W. EDWARD WENDOVER

A 16-year-old Canton youth has been charged with negligent homicide in connection with a fatal accident that occurred May 3 at Canton Center and Ann Arbor roads.

According to the Wayne County Prosecutor's office, the youth will face a pre-trial in Wayne County Juvenile Court at a date to be assigned.

The accident claimed the life of Julie Ann Monte, 18, of Canton, a popular Salem High School senior and member of the gymnastics team. She was a passenger in the car with the youth who has been charged, according to Plymouth Township Police reports.

That car turned directly in the path of a vehicle driven by Elizabeth Campbell, a teacher at Lowell Middle School who was injured in the crash, police said.

Twp. trustees approve largest tax abatement

BY PAUL GARGARO

A.W. Transmission Engineering U.S.A., Inc. will be the recipient of the largest tax abatement in Plymouth Township history.

Five members of the board of trustees consented to grant a 12-year tax abatement for the Japanese-owned company which plans to build a $8.4 million, 45-47,000 square foot plant/office in Plymouth Township's Metro West Industrial Park. According to AWTEC attorney, the plant would provide an estimated 35 jobs.

The only dissenting vote was trustee Jim Irvine.

Under Michigan State Act 198, industrial firms can be granted abatements, which allow a 50 per cent tax break, to renovate old facilities or build new plants.

Last year, Plymouth Township granted 20 abatements. Thus far, 17 have been approved by the state.

Discussion of establishing a township policy on granting abatements and the effect they have on the community met with a variety of responses.

"We made a policy when Ford Motor Company came to us in 1982," said Plymouth Township Supervisor

Maurice Breen. "But you can't come to a conclusion about it. There's no way of knowing how it affects each community."

Township Treasurer Mary Brooks voted for the abatement reluctantly.

"It was difficult decision, but we had been given out abatements in the past so we could just pick them (AWTEC) out," said Brooks. "If we're going to grant abatements to new companies, we should take a look and form a new policy regarding abatements."

"It's a known fact that Michigan wants to attract companies, but is it true that half a loaf is better than none?" asked Brooks, referring to an analogy used by Tom Martin of the Michigan Department of Commerce, during Tuesday's trustee meeting. "I just don't know if Plymouth Township is that hungry."

Because a percentage of the township's tax levy goes to the state, the question of how abatements might affect state's school aid was addressed by Martin.

"It has been argued that there is an indirect impact on the schools," said

Bare bones budget passed by schools

BY JIM RINK

A bare bones budget was officially adopted by Plymouth-Canton Community Schools last night for the 1988-89 school year.

Containing more than $4 million in cuts mandated by an impending Headlee Amendment rollback of 2.83 mills, the revised budget represents a "conscientious effort" on the part of the school board and staff to "maintain" a quality education.

In his 1988-89 budget message published May 23, Superintendent John Hoben said maintaining a quality education in spite of the budget cuts will not be easy.

"Providing a quality education, adequate classrooms, transportation, replacement of equipment and furniture, adequate textbooks and teaching supplies and proper building maintenance has become an increasingly difficult task in light of a $5 million loss in state aid, in addition to a Headlee rollback of 2.83 mills," said Hoben.

"This means that the district's revenues will be approximately $1 million less than in the 1987-88 school year," he said.

On April 25, the school board voted to place the Headlee Amendment issue back on the ballot June 13, giving voters a third opportunity to waive the rollback. The rollback waiver request was denied by voters on two separate occasions.

If voters approve the Headlee waiver in June, the board will "buy back" a majority of positions and programs cut in the original budget.

Cuts faced by the district include a "pay as you play" participation fee for high school and middle school athletics and after-school activities, extensive cutbacks in the alternative education program, a moratorium on all textbook purchases, elimination of the attendance office, increases in class sizes for Kindergartens and the TAG (Talented and Gifted) program, increase in lunch prices and layoffs of 49 teachers.

Canton will seek opinion on pension plan questions

BY KEN VOYLES

Canton will spend $3,000 for a legal opinion on whether or not elected trustees should be vested in the township's pension plan.

Last week the Board of Trustees voted 6-0 to get an opinion from a local law firm. The firm will review the township's entire 50-page plan and return an opinion in about 30 days.

The township had gone to the Michigan Townships Association (MTA) for advice but that group said it was beyond its "scope," according to Dan Durack, Canton's personnel director.

Durack asked the board if they wanted to proceed with a legal opinion, but added that he did not have any particular recommendation at this time.

The board originally voted to exclude the trustees from the plan back in April, but Supervisor James Poole said that move may pose a problem and put the township's entire plan in "jeopardy."

'Rock' in limbo

BY PAUL GARGARO

A decision on whether the Plymouthrock's liquor license will be renewed was delayed last Wednesday during a show-cause hearing on the matter in Ingham County Circuit Court.

Not to be confused with last Thursday's revocation hearing before the Michigan Liquor Control Commission (LCC), Wednesday's hearing dealt only with Plymouth's Township's recommendation that the bar/saloon's Class C liquor license not be renewed.

Plymouthrock attorney Norman Farhat said that the presiding judge asked that briefs be filed by the defendant on June 22 to make a determination.

"Judge Brown put the argument under advisement," said Plymouth Township attorney John Stewart.

According to Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen, the attorney general's office filed a motion to dismiss the complaint against the Plymouthrock on the premise that meritorious cause was not shown.

Breen also said that Stewart filed a motion for June 15 to try to remove the restraining order which has allowed the Rock to keep its license and its doors open until a court decision is reached.

Tomorrow (June 2) the LCC will hold the rescheduled revocation hearing at 9 a.m. in Lincoln Park.

The original hearing was postponed last Thursday because the LCC could not reach the necessary quorum of two.

Asked whether tomorrow's hearing will result in another postponement Stewart said, "You're guess is as good as mine. I'm saying, 'please give us a hearing...do something'."

Schools, parents, police get ready for grad season

BY JIM RINK

In an effort to make the high school graduation season a little safer, police, parents and the schools are getting tough.

One phenomenon which has local authorities especially worried is the underage drinking, destruction of property, disorderly behavior and noise which accompanies teen-aged party-goers who rent out rooms in the local hotels and motels.

For the first time ever, the Canton Police Department and the Plymouth Township Police Department have joined forces in a cooperative effort with the schools and several area hotels to "vigorously enforce" all violations of local and state laws which occur on hotel property.

"In Canton we have recently incurred some problems which we have not had in recent years," said John Santomauro, director of public safety for the Canton Police Department. "Seniors are coming in, renting the room, partying - some parents have rented the room for the seniors. There are some dangers in doing that."

"We're trying to be proactive and head off some of these problems," he added.

The attitude of a lot of parents, said Santomauro, is "out of sight - out of mind." Parents cannot assume that their sons or daughters are safe just because they rented them a room. Santomauro said he is trying to educate parents that there is no assurance in renting a room.

"They destroy the rooms," said Marge Grzena, co-manager with her husband Jack of the Budgetel Inn in Canton. "They take beds apart, knock on doors, jump out windows, pour coffee on the floor. It's amazing what they do. Jack is up all night. There might be 20 kids to a room. They think it's funny."

Grzena said troublemakers will be prosecuted.

Santomauro said troublemakers will be issued violations or arrested.

For excessive noise, violators can spend 90 days in jail or receive a $100 fine, said Santomauro. For destruction of property or disorderly conduct, violators can be placed under custodial arrest.

"If you call, you can expect us to do something," he said.

Another way in which school officials and parents hope to make graduation a healthy experience for their students and offspring is through the Centennial Educational Park (CEP) Registry, a list of parent's names and phone numbers designed to "promote positive and substance-free parties" for teenagers.

"We compile a listing," said Michelle Chisholm of Canton High School. "The parents call each other if they have a party hosted in their home."

The directory is published two months into each new school year, said Chisholm. There are four basic guidelines which parents adhere to:

- They will not permit drugs or alcohol to be consumed.

- There will be proper adult supervision.

- They will welcome other parent inquiries.

- If there is an unauthorized party, they may be contacted immediately.

"It's a good idea," said participating parent Nancy Swartzwelter. "It shows that parents are willing to take a stand with their values. Kids need to know that parents are in charge and that we care about them."

"I wish more people would get involved," said another parent, Dave Rodwell. "I think the parents feel anxiety when their kids go off to a party. The parents set the tone. If the parent doesn't have control, it's confusing for the kids."

The other Republican trustee candidates include Ralph H. Shufeldt, Jr., Henry C. Whalen, Delmar E. Myers, Robert Shefferly, Honorio V. Orenca and Robert Greenstein. Greenstein has been both a trustee and township supervisor as a Democrat.

The Democrats seeking trustee slots are Matie L. Ostrum and Edwin N. Rasmussen.

The primary battle will be held on Aug. 2 with the general election slated for Nov. 8.

In the non-partisan Library Board race, six residents have filed, including Katherin A. Baldrice, John O. Schwartz III, James Gillig, Mary D. Gyorke, Beverly Polcyn and William T. Simmerer.

Residents in Canton will also vote on a proposal to change the Merit Ordinance No. 85 in August, which, if approved, would allow the township to hire a superintendent to take over the day to day operations.

In November, voters will go to the polls to approve a millage request to construct a $7.9 million multi-use community center behind the current Administration Building and police station. Recently, the board opted to put the ballot on the general election in November instead of the August primary as originally planned.

William D. Ford, the Democratic incumbent in the 15th Congressional District, which includes Canton, will face challenges from Republicans Glen Kassel, Peter Bundarin, and Burl Adkins.

Ford, from Wayne, and all three Republicans filed by yesterday's candidates deadline. No other Democrats had filed by yesterday.

Kassel is from Westland, while Bundarin is a Canton resident. Adkins is a Southgate resident.

Bundarian has run in the 15th District primary before and challenged for the Canton Supervisor post.

The 15th District seat is for two years.

Ford is seeking reelection to a 13th term this year.

The primary will be held on Aug. 2 with the general election set for Nov. 8.

Pursell challenged by Jensen, Pollack, Baker

BY PAUL GARGARO

Four candidates have officially filed for election to the United States House of Representatives from Michigan's 2nd Congressional District.

Republican incumbent Carl Pursell, of Plymouth, will seek a seventh term as congressman. Pursell will square off in the Aug. 2 Republican primary against Ann Arbor resident Paul Jensen.

Democratic Ann Arbor residents Lana Pollack and Dean Baker had also both filed by yesterday's deadline date.

Baker and Pollack will oppose each other in the Aug. 2 primary. The winner will then go on to face the Republican candidate in the Nov. 8 election.

A former Ann Arbor Schools Board member, Pollack has been a state senator since January of 1983. This is her first challenge in the 2nd District.

Baker (not to be confused University of Michigan Regent Deanne Baker) is currently a faculty member at the U of M. Baker sought the seat two years ago.

Jensen could not be reached for comment.

Law, Kosteva face a total of 3 challengers

BY JIM RINK

State Rep. Gerald H. Law (R-Plymouth) and state Rep. James A. Kosteva (D-Canton) will face a total of three challengers in the upcoming 36th and 37th House district race.

Both men will seek an additional two-year term, which expires in November.

Law will seek a fourth term in the 36th House District. Dwight L. Douglass, 72, of Livonia, has also filed for Law's seat. Douglass has been registered to vote in Livonia since 1960 according to city records. He was not available for comment.

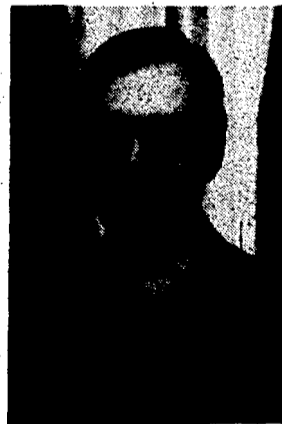

Also challenging Law is Democrat Jean Stempian, a Northville attorney currently serving on the board of trustees at Schoolcraft College.

Challenging Kosteva is David Dossette, a senior at Wayne State University majoring in political science. Dossette, who lives in Romulus, will run on the Republican ticket.

A Plymouth Township resident, Law worked for Ford Motor Company before entering public office. He was a four-year Plymouth Township trustee prior to his election to the state legislature.

He is currently vice-chair of the House Committee on State Affairs and

Law is a member of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis, Trailwood Homeowner's Association, Historical Society, Knights of

The 36th district includes the City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Northville Township and portions of the City of Northville and Canton.

Kosteva is seeking his third term in the 37th district, which includes the City of Wayne, Romulus, Belleville and portions of VanBuren and Canton townships.

He is a graduate of North Central College and holds a bachelor's degree in metropolitan studies. He attended the Washington Urban Semester at American University.

He is also a member of an ad hoc special committee on Property Tax/School Finance, an 18-member committee to evaluate the property tax system and education finance. He is Majority Whip for the state House of Representatives.

Heintz, Mack run unopposed in county

BY PAUL GARGARO AND KEN VOYLES

Both Susan Heintz and Milton Mack will run unopposed this year to retain seats on the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

Heintz, of Northville, will seek re-election in the 10th District, while Mack, of Wayne, will seek re-election in the 11th District.

Both candidates filed for election before yesterday's candidate's filing deadline. No challengers had appeared by yesterday evening.

Commissioner seats run for two years.

Mack, an attorney in private practice, is a Democrat, and Heintz, chairperson of the Wayne County Economic Development Committee, is a Republican.

Mack currently chairs the county's Solid Waste Disposal Committee which is putting together a plan for future disposal of wastes in the county.

Heintz is the only Republican on the 15-member County Commission. She is a former Northville Township Supervisor and Northville Township Clerk.

The primary race is set for Aug. 2 and the general election will be held on Nov. 8.

35th District Court Judge James Garber will run unopposed in his bid remain on the bench this year.

Garber was the only candidate to have filed for the six-year term by yesterday's deadline date. The office of 35th District judge is a non-partisan position.

A resident of Plymouth Township, the 54-year-old judge has sat on the bench of the 35th District Court since 1979.

Prior to becoming a judge, Garber was a practicing attorney, a prosecutor in the Wayne County Criminal Division, and the head of the Detroit Police Academy for three years.

Running for park commissioner on the Republican ticket is John Hudson, 8621 Heather Dr.

Running for supervisor is William Young (R), 9565 Cherry Hill; for clerk, Ellen Kurath (R), 2203 Hickman; for treasurer, Avery Heningburg (R), 1867 Ashley.

Too many prisons here

Burden should be shared

Recent overcrowding at local prisons -- Western Wayne Correctional Facility, Phoenix Correctional Facility, and Scott Regional Facility -- has crept to the forefront as an issue which needs to be dealt with in Plymouth and Northville townships.

As the population level of inmates increases, the available slots in our prisons are filling to capacity.

The Michigan Department of Corrections uses this as its reason for violating the legislative population caps which were established for Scott, Phoenix, and Western Wayne.

While there is no denying that the problem is valid, Plymouth and Northville Townships should not have to bear the brunt of the problem. The two communities have done more than enough to serve the state by allowing the prisons to be built here in the first place.

Perhaps communities like Bloomfield Township and Grosse Pointe could share in the burden. Indeed, there are a number of communities in the metropolitan Detroit area which would be prime locations for prisons.

Michigan Department of Corrections: stop abusing our good nature and sense of cooperation.

And the City of Detroit should be added to the guilty list since no one down there can make up their mind where and when to build a much needed facility closer to home instead of dumping their prisoners out here.

Parish policy raises questions

EDITOR

I've been following with mounting interest your numerous articles concerning Our Lady of Good Counsel parish.

Their latest escapade of having a parishioner arrested because she wanted to attend her parish commission and council meetings goes beyond all understanding let alone Christian charity. How can it be that a family member of a parish can be arrested for "trespassing" on their own property? Mrs. Jean wasn't the only one denied access and threatened with police action that night concerning those meetings.

Are parishioners aware that those meetings are only held every two months, that the Education Commission meeting two months ago was closed to the public, and for them to close this one also, would make it two consecutive meetings closed to the public? This in actuality means that the public (parishioners) have been denied access to that meeting for six months. And if you add the three months of summer coming up to the six, you get nine-months. Why even bother having those meetings? Is this not just a scam?

Better still, what might have been going on at those meetings that night that they wanted to keep secret? Was there another deceitful Arthur Street house purchase in the works? Perhaps another new "parish policy" was instigated effective immediately and overriding any by-laws? Perhaps another new plot as yet unfathomable by unsuspecting parishioners? What ever it was it must have been sizeable to warrant such severe action. Only time and a perceptive mind will tell.

It is obvious that those who wallow in satan's mire are so blinded and crippled that they are helpless to help themselves. It's a tragedy to see a parish undergo such scandalous behavior for it effects the whole Christian community.

Questions we Christians want answered are: Who is devisive in breaking up the church community? And who is persecuting whom?

City should play active role

EDITOR:

On May 1, a letter was sent to Archbishop Szoka informing him about the developing controversy between the administration of OLGC and citizens concerned about OLGC's plans to expand. The letter discussed the negative effects that additional parking as one of the most likely projects would have on the Plymouth community. Alternatives to additional parking space were offered. The letter was endorsed by 99 homeowners in the immediate neighborhood of OLGC (representing 68 homes on Arthur, Blunck, Church, Irvin, Pacific, Penniman, and Williams). Their signatures were attached to the letter. Copies of the materials were sent to Bishop Anderson and Father Perfetto (OLGC).

In the letter dated May 24, 1988 the Archbishop's secretary responded to the letter by assuring the concerned citizens that the Archbishop would give their suggestions "his appropriate consideration." We hope that this will mean a productive dialogue between OLGC and the concerned citizens and serious considerations of alternatives to additional blacktop.

The 99 signatures (which can be increased by an additional signature drive) should also send a message to our fellow-citizens on the City Commission, the Planning Commission, and the Zoning Board. It seems that concerned citizens expect the City Commission to play a more active role in this matter. At least, the Commission could acknowledge in a more public way (letters to The Crier?) that the problem exists, and that Commission members have an opinion on it. The Plymouth public at large deserves more expert information and education on this matter by the administrative bodies that are in the best position to do so.

'Ace' Hendry sells winning thoughts

I have been a journalist and half my lifetime I have earned my living by selling words and, I hope, thoughts.
— Winston Churchill

Aaron "Ace" Hendry may not be a journalist, but he sells thoughts.

His latest thoughts, taking the form of a speech, won him a $1,500 scholarship from the Optimist Club, which sponsored a state-wide oratorical contest with the theme "Destiny -- Choice not Chance."

Hendry came in first.

The contest, held at Schuss Mountain on May 21, was the culmination of a series of contests starting at various Optimist clubs in approximately 70 communities statewide.

Hendry, 14, is a student in the TAG (Talented and Gifted) program located in Central Middle School. He was one of the younger contestants at Schuss Mountain.

"It's very exciting," said Hendry about winning the contest. Although he doesn't know yet where he wants to apply his scholarship money, he does know it will be somewhere in California.

Hendry is optimistic about what life holds for him in the future. The point which Hendry stressed in his award-winning speech is that we can each make of our life what we want to.

"Life is totally up to us," he said. "We are born with certain fortunes or misfortunes, but the choice is up to us. If you really want something, you can get it."

Hendry is inspired by the likes of Ghandi ("he chose to go to India and solve the problems there instead of waiting for someone else") and Edward "the Eagle" Edwards, the first British Olympic ski jumper.

"He was not a real great ski jumper," said Hendry. "He plastered walls for a living and wore huge glasses. But that didn't bother him or stop him from trying."

Hendry thinks he'd like to become an actor someday. He enjoys "seeing how different people think about different things." This summer, when he goes to visit his mom in California, he's going to take a screen test to start the cameras and his career rolling.

Last year, Ace appeared as the Artful Dodger in an Alaskan production of "Oliver Twist." This year at Central, he has appeared as Albert Peterson in "Bye Bye Birdie" and he co-directed "Cinderella."

Advice from Ace for speakers: "Try to make whoever you're speaking to feel what you feel -- never say something you don't believe."

Thanks for selling us those thoughts Ace, and for free too.

Name game gets silly, silly in Canton

In the margin

By Ken Voyless

"Sheldon, Sheldon bo-beldon, me-my-mo meldon, Sheldon. Oh, and, Bud Melman."

The name game. It's here. It's old. It's not new. But what the heck. Here it is:

Last week it was revealed at the regular meeting of the Canton Board of Trustees that Wayne County wants to change the names of Sheldon Center Road and the Sheldon Center Connector.

"We've got three Sheldon roads," said Supervisor James Poole, who added that the county officials he spoke to do not like the current names Sheldon Center and Sheldon Center Connector. Those are the roads, by that way which connect Sheldon and Canton Center just south of Joy Road.

"The county will consider whatever names we recommend," Poole said. "We're looking for some input from citizens on new names."

I kind of like the name Sheldon Center, and I'm not really troubled by three Sheldon roads. Take a look at good old Plymouth where you've got Ann Arbor Road, Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth Road and Plymouth-Ann Arbor Road (out along old M-14).

Sound confusing?

Well, it is at first but after a while you learn to remember each road by distinguishing them from each other.

Ann Arbor Road, for example, is fast food alley, and Ann Arbor Trail, well that's just the Trail. Along one, it's commercial-ville, while the other is kind of scenic (and I use that word loosely).

Anyway, renaming the "other" Sheldon roads is probably a good idea in that so far there is little to distinguish them from each other. So, let's not forget the name game.

In a related note, the board also talked about naming the new senior citizens housing project which is being developed in Canton.

Poole has suggested naming the facility, currently dubbed Canton Manor, after Terry Carroll or Frank Darcy. Carroll and Darcy have suggested John W. Flodin, or a "prominent individual who has passed away." Robert Padgett has suggested turning over the naming to the Canton Historical Society or a seniors committee.

The facility is being built by the National Church Residencies (NCR) with funding from HUD. The NCR typically appoints a local board of directors to decide how a name should be selected, says Poole.

"We'll have some input," he says. By advancing some names already, the township has placed itself in a tactical position to get a name it wants or at least have input in the NCR's decision.

Well, there it is. Too many words, too many notes.

How about another verse?

Dundadunda, dundadadadunda, dunda....

The last detail

by Paul Gargaro

From my first weeks with The Crier, any comments made about the busyness of a given newswave have been checked by the higher-ups with ominous forecasts about the level of activity to be expected in the summer of an election year.

But as a leader in the procrastination business for over 23 years, I wasn't about to consider the anxiety of covering an election summer until I was actually saddled with the task.

As of last week, I can now say that I've been not only saddled, but also bridled with election hoo-ha.

For days, I've been calling (pestering) the patient ladies in the Plymouth Township Clerk's office asking to find out who has filed election petitions. And the people in Lansing have been the recipient of similar inquiries regarding elections on the state and national level.

Last evening the calling reached a fevered pitch as the entire editorial staff scrambled to find out who had filed before the deadline.

Aside from phone calls, the office has been graced with the presence of an assortment of political hopefuls.

Some have come in at our request so that photos could be taken for our files. Others have dropped off campaign literature. And a few have stopped in just to keep in touch.

Pretty darned considerate, eh?

With the candidates all filed and poised at the starting gate, one might be fooled into thinking that there might be a lull in the action.

No such luck, I am told.

It seems the action only heats up from this point forward. Candidate forums to determine The Crier's endorsements will round out the next few weeks. Chance encounters and unrelated interviews, however, will probably prove to be a more credible means of assessing their qualifications.

Already, I've heard a couple candidates end a telling statement with, "This is off the record isn't it?"

Most likely the answer is 'yes', but it would be interesting to say 'no' just once, hop into my car and speed like a man possessed toward the nearest typewriter.

This is, however, pure fantasy. In the next few months I'm prepared for the worst (and best) of election summer reality.

To be expected are pats on the back, a lot of handshaking, and visits from the politically active, both in the race and out.

Thanks

Vandalism at Eriksson costs $1,500

BY JIM RINK

The Canton Township Police Department is still searching for leads in connection with recent vandalism at Eriksson Elementary School resulting in $1,500 in damage.

According to Principal Judith Ireson, during the evening of May 18, "somebody got into the building," took squeeze bottles of paint and spread paint on the carpet in one of the school's kindergarten rooms.

In addition, said Ireson, another kindergarten room, two second grade rooms and a first grade room were found with glue squeezed on the walls, blackboards and desks.

Purple paint was found on playground equipment and some of the brickwork on the school.

Ireson said police have "a couple" of leads in the case. During the evening of the vandalism, there was a group of people in the gymnasium and the front door was open, said Ireson.

Proposed residency requirement brings opposition

BY KEN VOYLES

James Poole, Canton's supervisor, wants a residency requirement for future employees in certain positions but members of the township Board of Trustees indicated last week that they opposed the idea.

In a memo to the board, Poole said "It is against the law to require applicants for jobs to be a resident. It is legal to require certain people to be a resident after they are hired."

"There is a certain commitment to live in the community that pays them," Poole told the board last week. "It's not unreasonable at all."

Poole's recommendation would cover all salary personnel, unless already covered by a union contract. His plan would be to also "grandfather" current non-resident employees

Martin. "But, it's indirect and it's really hard to pin down. There are over 400 school districts state that receive aid, so the effect would be diffused."

Martin added that as long as schools are operating in formula they neither gain nor lose.

Trustee Jim Irvine questioned the decision.

"There's something happening that I don't quite understand," said Irvine. "It seems the real winner is the state of Michigan."

"We don't have the slightest idea of what a company takes into consideration when they move. They look at location, shipping costs, labor market, etc.," said Irvine addressing the the purpose of abatements in Plymouth Township.

so that they would not be forced to move to the township.

"Politically it's very popular," Poole said. "The residents like it."

But board members voiced their opposition at last week's regular

Cruising down, says City

BY PAUL GARGARO

With Memorial Day come and gone and temperatures soaring near the 90 degree mark, it's safe to say that summer is here.

Cruising, however, has not yet become a factor in Plymouth's summertime and city officials say that cruising-related violations are below last year's tally.

"We've written a significantly less amount of tickets than we did a year ago to date," said Assistant City Manager Paul Sincock. "On a scale of one to 10, I'd rather rate things at about a five."

Plymouth Police Chief Richard Myers said that 54 cruise-related tickets were issued this weekend between 7 p.m. on Friday and 7 a.m. Tuesday morning.

Twenty-five tickets were issued for traffic civil infractions. Fourteen were issued for city ordinance violations, including 11 for trespassing, two for minors in possession of alcohol, and one for urinating in public. Fifteen traffic misdemeanors were also issued, said Myers.

"I would view this as a typical holiday weekend rather than a typical cruising weekend," said Myers. "I think its safe to assume that the (incident) figures are down from last year."

meeting, nixing the idea. No formal resolution was voted upon, however.

"I am opposed to a residency requirement" said Trustee Loren Bennett. "I see no logical reason for it."

Trustee Elaine Kirchgatter said she would "hate" to lose any employees because of a requirement.

Trustee Robert Padget said such requirements "tend to be self defeating."

Red schoolhouse closes

An Ice Cream Social on Sunday, June 5 marks a nostalgic farewell to the "little red schoolhouse" home of the Plymouth Children's Nursery (PCN).

After more than 150 years, the doors of the old one-room school building, located at Warren and Haggerty roads in Canton, will close.

The Plymouth Children's Nursery will continue to function, though, but at a new location on Sheldon Road in Canton. The site is next to the Geneva Presbyterian Church.

The historic old schoolhouse was first registered as a school in 1838 and came to be known as Hough School, according to historical records. Since that time it has continuously served to educate children. The PCN moved in in 1963.

The annual Ice Cream Social will be the final official function in the old schoolhouse. The public is invited and tickets are available at the gate.

Activities include ice cream, hot dogs, games and prizes and a used toy sale. It will be held from 1-4 p.m.

Burdziak appointed to commission

John Burdziak, 52, was appointed to the Canton Planning Commission last week by the Board of Trustees to fill the seat of resigning Martin E. LaForte.

Burdziak is a former member of the commission. He served with it from 1980-86. Since then he has been serving with the Zoning Board of Appeals.

An engineer for Michigan Bell, Burdziak moved to Canton more than 15 years ago. He has three children.

Burdziak will fill LaForte's seat through 1989.

"There's just a lot of things I'm interested in and would like to see implemented," he said.

Do women have a role in local organizations?

BY LAUREN SMITH

There are many service clubs and organizations in The Plymouth-Canton Community that serve their area and many worthwhile charities. Most of the organizations originated as men's groups.

Some clubs have been swayed by court rulings in other states to admit women into their local chapter. Recently, others have decided to follow this course and officially allow women. About half of the local groups contacted now have women members, but some have very few and many still have none at all.

What discourages women from joining some of the charitable organizations now open to them?

It takes a special person to walk into a meeting of over 100 men and ask to become a member. Who wants to be the first woman anyway?

The stereotypes of "men's clubs" cloud the vision of many people and could understandably be undesirable to women who are looking simply for a charitable organization and not a feminist statement.

The Kiwanis Evening Club in Plymouth has a small percentage of women, but these women have become vital members and are very involved with this club and its activities.

George Thompson, a prominent member of the club of 49 men and two women, said that it does not matter if the member is male or female, it just takes individual dedication and hard work. He said that the women in the group have been involved in a lot of projects.

Thompson said the only important quality is dedication to the group, which he described as "community-oriented."

The Kiwanis Evening Club only began admitting women last year. Stephen Nyquist, of Canton and George Thompson both said that they have had very little or no interest from women since they were allowed last year.

The Lions club in Canton has 28 men and no women. Nick Caputo, a member of the club, said that women have not expressed an interest, perhaps because women had not been allowed for 50 years.

However, this has recently changed.

Caputo said that if any woman is interested in the club, they should call because the Lions are interested in the individual, male or female, with the "proper attitude."

He was more than willing to make arrangements for any woman interested so they could attend a meeting. Caputo said there would have to be a "damn good reason not to have a woman."

The Lions Club in Plymouth also does not have any women, but none have expressed an interest, said member Bill Baxter. Most clubs without women issued a similar sentiment regarding the lack of female membership.

The Plymouth and the Canton Jaycees have the largest percentage of women, 44 and 50 per cent respectively.

Tonya Smith, the first woman president of the Plymouth Jaycees, said that as a group with many young members, the Jaycees are "open to young women."

Charles Lowe Jr., her predecessor, said that the Jaycees encourage and want the women in the community to choose their organization.

The Jaycees in Plymouth have four women on their board of directors, as well as a female president. The Canton Jaycees currently have a female officer and have had a woman as president.

The Plymouth Goodfellows have had two women presidents in their 50-year history.

The Goodfellows have always included women, though the format for the two local chapters differ.

The Canton Goodfellows have seven people who organize and the volunteers form around Christmas when they do most of their charity work (though they do sponsor "mid-year crisis" work in the community).

Canton's Lt. Larry Stewart said that it is appealing to many people because it is "predictable". The volunteers know when they are needed and they are active primarily once a year.

The Rotary Club in Plymouth has a male membership of 124. Although Rotary President Charles Olson said that women have shown "a little" interest, he attributed the absence of women members to the fact that it has "always been a men's club."

He said that they are probably taking applications.

The Canton Rotary Club has two female members and Dr. Evans Farres was enthusiastic about a female membership.

Lana Olson, a member of the Canton Jaycees, said that the women in the Canton chapter are primarily the wives of men in the organization, though this is not the rule.

The Plymouth Jaycees have both wives and independent members in the group. The Canton Goodfellows said that the women are generally independent volunteers, not the wives of the male members, while the Plymouth Goodfellows have a large number of wives and family members, though they also have independent women members.

The Elks have a different, but somewhat prevalent answer to the question of female membership.

Women associated with the Elks have their own organization called the Vivians. The organization specifies that the women must be the wives or the unmarried daughters of the Elks. Men are the only true members of the Elks.

The Elks and the Vivians plan mutual activities but they also hold separate functions. The Vivians have their own officers and their own meetings.

Studying information concerning the age of the members, their activities and goals for the community, and other characteristics about the individual clubs, there is no clear reason why women tend to join one organization over another. The option to join a club is now the woman's since a Supreme Court Ruling in 1985 for a distant chapter of the Jaycees and various individual choices by the other organizations recently to include women.

If you are a woman who has been looking for a charitable organization, the ones in the community hold many functions and serve the community in many different ways.

Sit in on some of the meetings and discover each club's true character. Most are open to women now, so it is woman's choice, and she has yet to reveal the reasons for her preference.

Women in groups:

Here are the approximate membership figures for some of the prominent local chapters.

	Total Membership	Women
Canton Goodfellows	70	14
Plymouth Goodfellows	36	12
Plymouth Jaycees	81	36
Canton Jaycees	20	10
Plymouth Kiwanis (noon)	60	0
Plymouth Kiwanis (evening)	49	2
Canton Kiwanis (evening)	13	0
Plymouth Lions Club	69	0
Canton Lions Club	28	0

TRAVEL, LTD.

Emily Guettler

PARIS -- CITY OF LIGHT

Incomparable, magnetic Paris! — Europe's most elegant capital. Her famous landmarks are known to all but discover Paris for yourself.

Of course you'll want to see Notre Dame Cathedral with its two 13th century rose windows, and the Louvre, one of the great museums of the world. Take a ride to the top of the 900 foot Eiffel Tower. Visit Montmartre, the artist's quarter, high on a Mount above the city, with all of Paris at your feet. Pause at a cafe on the Champs Elysees and experience la vie Parisienne. Don't forget the Place de la Concorde, with its beautiful fountains and Egyptian obelisk. An evening cruise on a Bateau Mouche, is particularly beautiful at night when all the monuments are illuminated. Then there are the bistros, the romantic squares, the haute couture and the haute cuisine.

Before you leave, throw a coin over your left shoulder, into the Seine, while making a wish to return to Paris someday. You probably will!

Fundraiser planned for student radio station

BY JIM RINK

Radio listeners who tune in to 88.1 on the FM dial will soon have a chance to lend some support to their favorite station.

The number belongs to all 200 watts of WSDP, the award-winning student radio venture wedged between narrow passageways deep within Centennial Educational Park (CEP). The SDP stands for "School District of Plymouth."

On June 4 and 5, Quicksilver Photo, 1313 W. Ann Arbor Rd., will donate half of its proceeds to WSDP to raise money for a badly-needed replacement transmitter.

Of course, the more people who patronize Quicksilver on June 4 and 5, (9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday and 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday), the more money WSDP will receive.

Organizers of the special fundraiser are saying that $1,000 is a "reasonable goal."

"What we hope to do is put the money into a new fund for a transmitter," said WSDP Station Manager

PROGRESSIVE DENTAL ASSOCIATES

Cosmetic Dentistry:

Creating A Beautiful Smile

Cosmetic Dentistry has made rapid advances in recent years due to the increased demand among adults for a more perfect smile and the decreased risk to healthy teeth. At the same time the costs to achieve a beautiful smile have gotten lower.

Two techniques for smile repair are porcelain veneers and bonding.

Bonding has grown in popularity, but it is at best a provisional solution lasting from 3-7 years. The best uses for bonding are to provide a satisfactory appearance till more permanent fixes can be applied and to repair chipped teeth in children.

If the way you look is important to you, you might be more interested in a quiet revolution that is taking place in dentistry - Veneering.

Veneers are porcelain and are individually crafted to match the color and translucency of your teeth. Like bonding, veneers are attached directly to existing tooth structure, but are stronger, longer lasting, and less likely to stain than bonding. The procedure requires little drilling and is virtually painless. Among the types of dental problems solved by veneers are:

- Eroded teeth
- Chipped or fractured teeth
- Worn down teeth • Gum recession
- Missing teeth • Unsightly fillings
- Spaces between teeth
- Stained or discolored teeth

All in all, Veneering offers people of all ages a change to have that picture perfect smile painlessly and inexpensively.

Chiefs kickers edge Rocks, 3-2

BY MARTY TUNGATE

It was hot, and it was close.

Canton and Salem's girls soccer teams got together for the the second year in a row for the district championship, and for the second year the score was 3-2, but this year it was the Chiefs who were victorious.

Canton and Salem squared off for the district championship on Saturday at Concordia College for the right to advance to the regionals.

Canton started out the scoring on a controversial goal, according to Salem head coach Ken Johnson.

Canton centered the ball in front of Salem's net. As Salem's goalie Ellen Schnackel pounced on the ball, Canton's Jenny Steinhel kicked the ball, which appeared to be in the possession of the goalie.

However, the referee counted the goal and Canton went up 1-0.

Salem then came roaring back as freshman Erin Harvey tied the game up for Salem at the 13 minute mark of the first half.

Then the Rocks took the lead, as Harvey took a throw-in from junior Teri King and knocked the ball by Canton's goaltender to give Salem a 2-1 advantage.

But Canton came out firing after the goal by Harvey and Jenny Russell scored on a break away for the Chiefs to knot the game at two.

Then Canton's Shanon Meath broke through Salem's defense and scored to put the Chiefs up 3-2 to stay.

"Canton was hungry, they played a great game," Salem's Ken Johnson said. "They really deserved to win it, they're a good team."

Salem wrapped up their season at 10-3-4 and the Chiefs improved their record to 13-2-1.

"It just wasn't our year," Johnson said. "Everything was down."

Salem, who won the 1987 State Championship was confident that it would repeat, but according to Johnson repeating as champions is tough.

"It's real hard to repeat. Everyone is out for you, and maybe we weren't up for the challenge," Johnson added.

"I guess it wasn't our turn," Johnson continued. "This could be the year of the Chiefs."

It very well could be as Canton will now move on to regional action and perhaps bring a second state championship to Centennial Educational Park (CEP) in two years.

BY MARTY TUNGATE

She's a junior varsity basketball player for Farmington Mercy.

She went out for the track team in the spring to stay in shape for basketball.

Big deal, right?

Right!

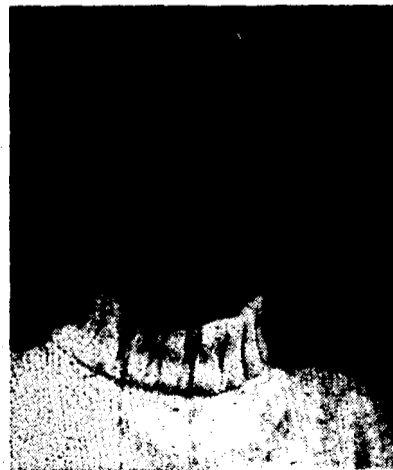

Her name is Kathleen Gerigk. She is in her freshman year at Mercy High School and she's a long time Plymouth resident.

She has played basketball for six years, and now that she is a freshman and it's the off season for the girls cage squad at Mercy, she decided to run track just to stay in shape for basketball.

"My dad wanted me to play soccer, but I wanted to run track," Gerigk said. "I just wanted to run to stay in shape for basketball."

According to Gerigk she has never been a runner or a weekend jogger before, but now she's become the Jim Thorpe of the Mercy track team, said her coach Gary Servais.

Gerigk has already won nine medals in her first year of track. She was part of a 3200 relay team that shattered the school's record with a time 9:58. Her time in the relay bettered those of her teammates 2:27. She has been named to the All-Catholic and All Regional teams and on top of it all, she has qualified to compete in the state track meet, with recent victories at the regional meet.

Her speciality is long distance running. She takes part in the 3200 meter relay team and the 1600 meter run, where her personal best time is 5:27.

But how does this basketball player, turned runner with no training, do so well?

"I don't know," Gerigk said.

According to her mother she's always been athletic, but can you imagine if this girl had any formal track training just how good she would be?

But now, what's next for this fiery little 15-year-old, a state title?

"Well I'm not really going to go after the state title," Gerigk said. "There is a girl I haven't been able to beat all year and I'm just going to try and beat her. If I do that I should do pretty well."

Now that Gerigk has become the new speedster at Mercy, all of the coaches at the school want her on their teams.

"The cross country coach really wants me to come out for cross country in the fall," Gerigk said.

But relax Larry Baker (girls basketball coach), her love is still basketball.

"Basketball is still my favorite sport," Gerigk said. "But I'll be back on the track come next spring."

The Chiefs clinch 4th WLAA title

BY MARTY TUNGATE

Canton's girls track team has clinched the Western Division title of the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) for the fourth straight year.

The Chiefs clinched the title on Thursday by downing Northville 82-46. The victory improved their dual meet record to 6-0.

Susan Ferko took two first place finishes for the Chiefs. She won the shot-put with a toss of 29 feet, 7 inches and the discus with a throw of 98 feet 3 inches.

Angie Miller continued her dominance in the high jump by capturing yet another first place finish with a leap of 5 feet, 6 inches.

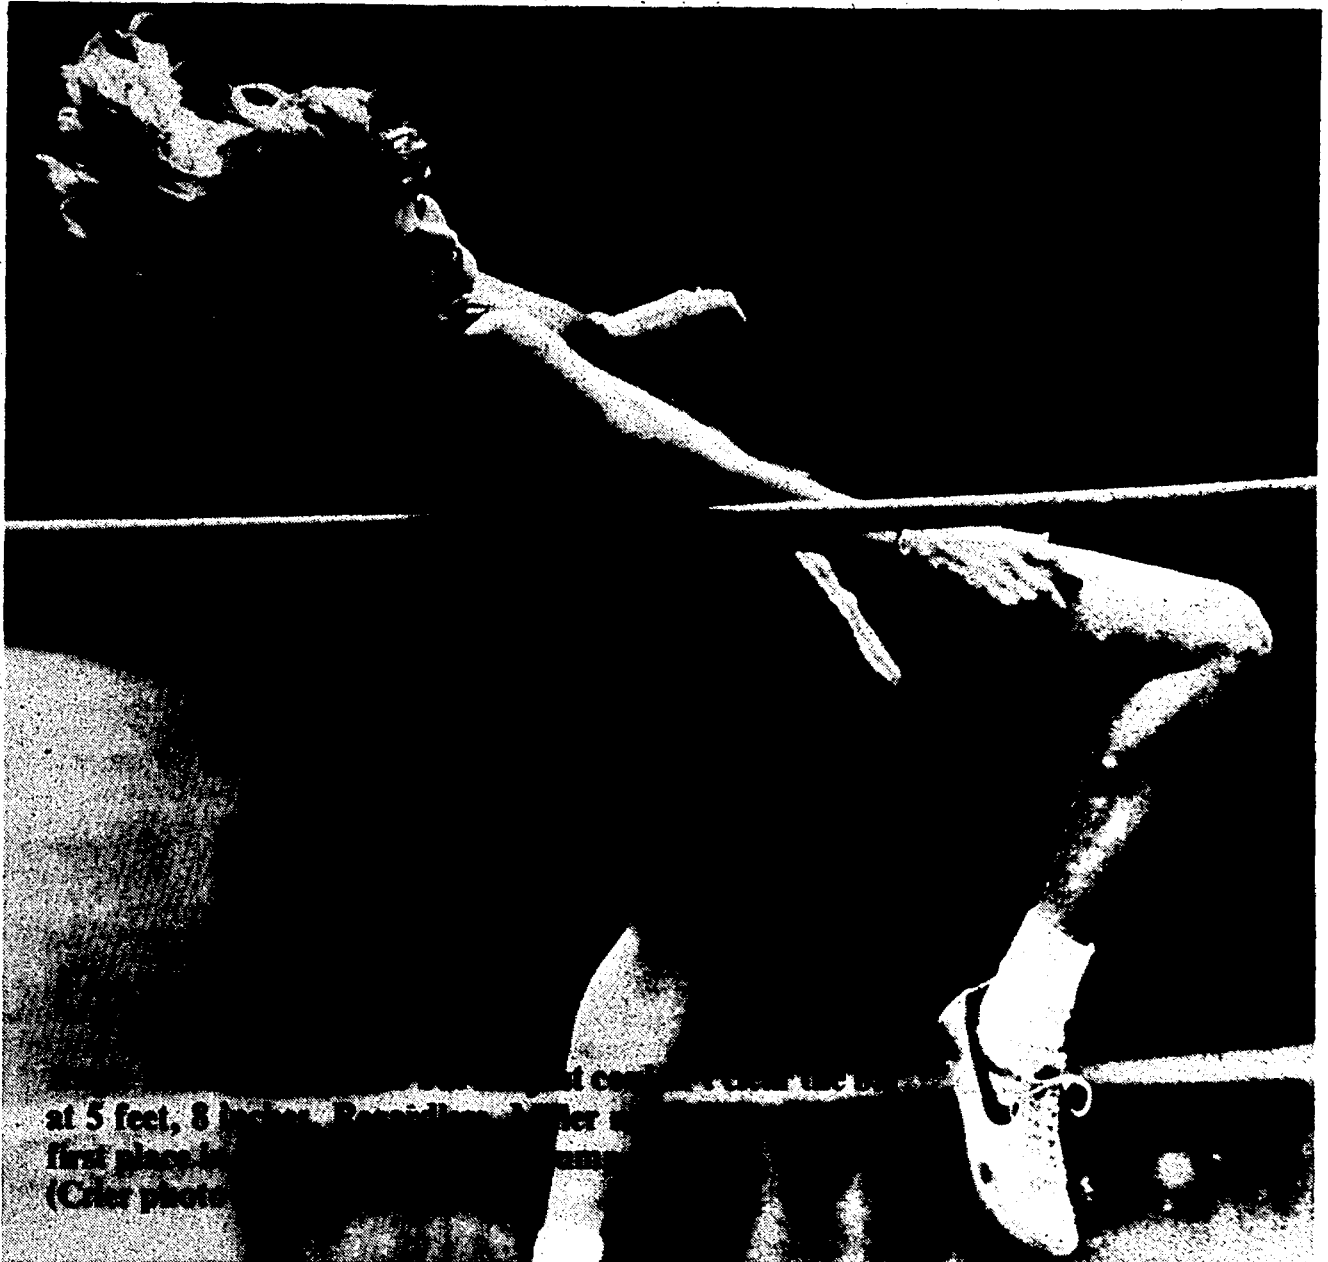

In the 100 meter hurdles Tonya Walaskay took first with a time of 17.3. She also capturing first in the 300 meter hurdles in 52 seconds flat.

It was Angie Miller again taking a first in the 200 meter sprint with a time of 27.7, while teammate Tricia Carney finished first in the 400 meter run with a new school record of 1:00.2.

Lori Pennland took a first place finish in the 1600 meter run with a time of 5:37. And Missy Jasnowski rounded out the first place finishes for the Chiefs with a first in the 3200 meter run with a time of 12:35.5.

On Friday the Chiefs rolled into the Ypsilanti Relays and took a third place finish overall with 74 points behind first place finisher Ypsi with 107 points and Detroit Henry Ford with 82 points.

Canton, who will be going into the May 31st WLAA Conference meet as the favorite to win the conference title will also be looking forward to the up coming state meet. The Chiefs qualified four team members to the state meet.

Angie Miller will defend her state championship high jump title at the state meet, and according to coach

Geroge Przygodski someone will have to make a really good jump to beat her.

The 800 meter relay team of Kristy Brugar, Heather Miller, Carney and Angie Miller will also represent the Chiefs at the state meet.

"We've had a great season," Przygodski said. "This is probably the best girls track team ever to come out of Canton."

The Chiefs competed at the WLAA Conference meet on Tuesday the 31st.

Support the "Blazers"

The Plymouth-Canton Communities newest girls softball squad is getting ready to take the field.

The "Blazers" was formed this year and featured the skill of area girls aged 12 - 14. A travel team, the Blazers will play in six local tournaments and plan to attend two out-of-state tourneys in Cincinnati and Ft. Worth, TX.

While the team's future looks bright they are still busy selling pop and candy to help finance uniforms, equipment and tournament fees. In addition, the club will be holding a car wash at the Shell Gas Station at the corner of Ford and Haggerty roads in Canton.

The Blazers look forward to community support.

Oakwood Vs. Cancer

Don't play dumb with breast cancer.
The odds are 90% in your favor.

It's obvious: if you don't look for breast cancer, you won't find it. But that doesn't mean you don't have it. So don't play dumb. Be smart. Let Oakwood send you information on the correct procedure to follow when performing self breast exams. Perform the self-exam monthly. And consult your physician for regular checkups and mammograms.

You see, the earlier you detect breast cancer, the better. With early detection, there's a 90% cure rate. Ninety percent. With such fantastic odds, it makes no sense to gamble.

At Oakwood, we have modern breast cancer detection and treatment facilities. Oakwood's oncology capabilities include state-of-the-art diagnostic tools—mammography, ultrasound, laboratory tests, chemical analysis and microscopic exams. If treatment is required, we offer advanced surgery, radiation therapy and chemotherapy. And Oakwood is the only hospital in western Wayne County able to treat cancer with radiation therapy.

But you can't fight breast cancer alone. If you don't already have a physician with whom you can consult, call us at 1-800-543-WELL for the name of a physician on the staff of Oakwood Hospital, and for free information about self breast exams.

Station one-third of way toward $10,000 goal

Dave Snyder. "We're approximately one-third of the way toward our three-year goal of $10,000."

Snyder said he hopes to have the new transmitter installed by 1990. Until then, said Snyder, the listening quality will diminish slightly as the old transmitter wears down.

In terms of production quality, WSDP has done anything but diminish. In the last four to five years, the station has obtained state-of-the-art equipment and will soon be renovating a new studio/newsroom for use by the station's 33-35 student staff members.

Last month, WSDP won first place in three out of five categories judged by the Michigan Association of Broadcasters in high school competition.

Best newscast went to WSDP staffer Jeff Umbaugh. Best air check went to Patty Williamson and Best promo was received by Toby Worscheck.

"Our goals are to continue the professional atmosphere created during Andy Mellon's tenure," said Snyder. "Where we are today is due to his driving force. We are also striving for a broadened community interest. Polls show that 17,000 people listen to WSDP at least once a week, but a large number still don't know about us, still don't know we exist."

During the day, WSDP plays Top 40 hits. At night is the '88 Escape — a mixture of non-mainstream rock, alternative music, which Snyder says is "extraordinarily popular."

"We get 20 requests per hour at times," he said. "We have a broad age group. We're aiming for an older audience in the daytime and evenings, the school-age."

The station broadcasts until 10 p.m., Monday through Wednesday and until 11 p.m. Thursday and Friday.

Last Thursday, Snyder and crew were auditioning 35 students to fill the eight to 10 openings on the staff expected for next fall. Competition is cut throat, but that's how it is in the real world, said Snyder. "If you goof up, there's always somebody who'll do it for less pay."

Veterans of the WSDP experience often go on to achieve success in the real radio world. Some of Snyder's students have gone on to become newscasters in Phoenix and St. Louis.

Snyder considers himself to be in a unique position as one of the few full-time station managers at the high school level in the state. He's hoping June 4 and 5 at Quicksilver will be profitable for the station, besieged by $5,220 in budget cuts for the 1988-89 school year. He would like to provide The Plymouth-Canton Community with more local programming.

"Who else is interested in what's going on in Plymouth-Canton except a radio station that broadcasts in Plymouth-Canton," Snyder said.

Extra Miler honored

Lynne Fountain-Gronvall, a first grade teacher at Isbister Elementary School, was recently named an "Extra Miler" in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools district.

Fountain-Gronvall began her career with the school district three years ago as a kindergarten teacher assigned to Tanger and Fiegel elementary schools. The following year, she transferred to Isbister.
