Stations to close, layoffs likely

Twp. proposal calls for dismantling City fire dept.

BY ANNA MURRAY

A new joint services proposal from Plymouth Township sets some high hurdles over which the city administration and fire union must vault to make a joint fire department a reality.

The township gave the City of Plymouth a written proposal last week which outlined the issues that must be resolved to make shared services between the two municipalities feasible. The city will review the township's proposal and respond to it.

The city and township have been discussing combining services for more than a year. Recently, the city wrote the township administration saying it was no longer interested in combining 911 dispatching services, leaving fire the only area of possible combination.

Under the township's proposal the township would hire all of the city fire personnel and "acquire and own all city owned fire apparatus."

The two city fire stations would close and the city would pay 25 per cent of the operating cost of the joint department. The city's financial responsibilities would include sharing the cost of the bonds that built the new township fire station (number three).

'Zombie' Canton bank heist 2nd in P-C

BY KEN VOYLES

The "Zombie bandit" bank robber has struck in The Plymouth-Canton Community, not once, but two times, according to the FBI.

The most recent heist came last Tuesday (March 3) in Canton, just one day before the Zombie apparently struck a Sterling Heights Comerica bank.

The man has been connected with a string of 14 such robberies in Michigan, Indiana and Illinois since the start of the new year, including a robbery in the City of Plymouth.

The Canton robbery occurred at 2:10 p.m., said Canton Police, at the Mutual Savings Bank, 5844 Sheldon Rd.

Police said he struck again Monday just outside of Lansing.

Police said the suspect approached a teller at the bank with a paper bag and a note. He then told the teller, said police, that she had 10 seconds to do what he wanted or "I'll start shooting."

Police said the man then opened his coat and displayed a dark colored handgun in his waistband.

He then left the bank and the area by "unknown means," said police.

"We are considering that he is the Zombie bandit," said Tammy Colling, of Canton Police. "Partially because of the large, bulging eyes."

Canton Police said the Zombie got away with more than $4,000 from the Schools grapple with cuts

BY JILLIAN BOGATER

Administrators and members of the Plymouth Canton Community Schools Board of Education met Saturday to review "worst case scenario" budget cuts for the 1992-93 school year.

If severe cuts are necessary areas likely to be hardest hit include school athletics, transportation, music, textbook and material resources, staff development and maintenance.

A current $4.3 million budget deficit has the board caught in a no-win situation, school board members said.

The deficit is composed of a property tax freeze, tax base sharing, a FICA cap and retirement that may soon grow an additional $3.5 million if Gov. John Engler can pass legislation requiring out-of-formula districts to absorb FICA payments for in-formula schools.

Board President David Arley presented to the school board members a copy of a letter he sent to Engler regarding the Supreme Court will likely redraw lines Redistricting plan faces challenges

BY ANNA MURRAY

Nearly as soon as the three appointed judges drew the new state congressional district lines, critics were reaching for erasers to rub them out.

According to the Michigan Election Watch, which reviews the effects of reapportionment, the plan, known as the special masters' plan, emphasized county boundaries at the expense of even population distribution and the creation of minority districts.

The Michigan Supreme Court must now review the special masters' plan, decide if it's fair and, if not, come up with a alternate plan, taking into consideration comments from all sides, State Representative Georgina Goss said.

The Supreme Court is expected to accept the current plan or to modify it by mid March.

Local legislators affected by the changes are Goss and James Kosteva.

Under the plan Goss' district would be the 20th. It is now the 36th. It would comprise Northville city and township, Plymouth city and township and part of Livonia. Currently Goss' district includes only part of Northville city and part of Canton.

Goss participated in a group of women legislators who appealed to the three-judge panel not to pit female incumbents against each other, thus reducing the number of women legislators.

Goss said by and large women weren't placed in multi-female incumbent districts. Ironically, however, in the proposed plan, Goss herself is facing a race against current representative Lynn Banks.

Goss said should the current plan stand either she or Banks will move out of the district boundaries.

Kosteva's 37th district will now be the 21st. It will include Belleville, Sumpter

Munfakh denies conflict of interest Trustee backs record

BY KEN VOYLES

Plymouth Township Trustee Abe Munfakh defended his record Monday in the face of concerns over his voting for a project in which his firm was hired to do the engineering work.

Munfakh is vice president and a part owner of Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May, an Ann Arbor firm considered one of the top engineering companies for water and wastewater projects in Michigan.

But Munfakh's 1990 vote on a rezoning request for a project in which his firm stood to gain has raised concerns over potential conflicts of interest. Munfakh's firm also does work for the controversial WTUA sewer project.

At the time of the vote, Munfakh said he was in his rotation as president of the firm.

"Not knowing our firm had anything to do with it I voted yes," said Munfakh. "I should have been more careful and checked with my office. I didn't expect the board to even see it."

Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May have been in business since 1923 and employ more than 100. Munfakh joined the firm in 1970 and is one of 11 owners.

Munfakh said he would be skirting his responsibility to the voters if he stepped down from the board.

"I'm not prepared to do that. I don't think it's fair," he said, adding that the voters will decide for themselves whether or not he has done anything wrong.

"I can't veto the firm's decision whether to seek a project," Munfakh continued. "But I'm willing to go back and sit down with our company and say we're not doing anything in Plymouth Township anymore."

Munfakh said he planned to "continue" informing the board and abstain from voting when future township projects may involve his firm.

"I will continue not to involve myself with anything that comes up with the firm," he said.

Plan to eliminate school boundaries Schools define choice plan

BY JILLIAN BOGATER

After months of meetings and deliberation, the Schools of Choice Committee in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools has finally voted in a definition for the state mandated program.

The committee still has until April 1 to complete committee work on phasing of the program and its capacity, said chairperson Carey Peters, a Canton resident.

Defining the Schools of Choice program is a required part of Gov. John Engler's controversial legislation, which would in essence eliminate school boundaries within the district.

The newly approved definition describes the Schools of Choice concept as "a process which allows parents/guardians the opportunity to request a different school for their child other than the one selected by the district attendance area. It is the intent that this process is applied intra-district only."

If implemented, the district would begin Phase I -- of four phases -- during the 1992-93 school year. This would act as the informational and positioning phase, according to a draft of the Phased-In Plan from the Feb. 11 Schools of Choice meeting.

Phase II involves the Centennial Educational Park. This phase allows students to continue participating in the "greater choice option" -- which lets students at the two high schools select classes from a single curriculum that utilizes all buildings on campus. This also ensures the random selection school assignment to achieve enrollment balance.

Phase III would allow middle school students to choose a school to attend, and would be implemented during the 1993-94 school year.

Phase IV, the final phase, would involve the elementary schools, starting during the 1994-95 school year.

The fast-paced progress of the committee pleased Peters.

"We got a real good start on it," she explained. "We've come a long way since it started. The sub-committees have been great."

There are five sub-committees within the Schools of Choice committee: capacity, definition, community and public relations, transportation and phasing.

The Schools of Choice committee meets at the district's administrative offices at 454 S. Harvey, every Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Canton auto crashes take lives of 2

BY KEN VOYLES

A pair of fatal car accidents in Canton, which claimed the lives of a Whitmore Lake and a Westland man, came less than four days apart last week.

They were also the first road fatalities recorded in Canton this year, said police.

Leonard Slesiewicz, 56, of Whitmore Lake, died Friday afternoon after the car he was driving slammed into a fire hydrant. He was declared dead at Oakwood Hospital, said Canton Police.

Company to build Twp. plant by '93 Adistra to add 150 jobs

BY ANNA MURRAY

The expected expansion of the City of Plymouth-based Adistra Corporation will involve the creation of as many as 150 new jobs, the consolidation of warehouse and production facilities into one giant site, and the conversion of the old Daisy Air Rifle building into pure office space.

The expansion plans were outlined by company president Chris Boyle following last week's announcement that Adistra will play a key role in the Gage Marketing Group.

Gage Marketing Group, Adistra's new parent company, held a press conference Thursday in Detroit to explain Adistra's position in the newly-formed marketing network.

According to Boyle, Adistra's association with Minneapolis-based Gage Marketing Group, and its former link with Carlson Companies, of which Gage is a spin-off, has brought the once small company so much business it needs to expand.

"Adistra has five buildings" for warehouse and production, Boyle said. Two are in Plymouth, one is in Southfield and the last is in Northville.

Boyle said he plans to buy property, probably in one of Plymouth Township's industrial parks, to accommodate 500,000 square feet of warehouse and production space.

Adistra will move from the more spread-out buildings to the one site and use the Plymouth building on Union Street for offices, Boyle said. Adistra's current building capacity is about 200,000 square feet.

Currently office workers, boxes of promotional material and line workers busy folding, sorting and packaging promotional material share the space in the old Daisy Air Rifle building.

The current Union Street warehouse space will be converted into additional offices, Boyle said.

On a tour through the landmark building Boyle called the old structure, "a slice of American social history."

Police said Gabler was westbound on Michigan Avenue at about 6:24 a.m. when his vehicle left the roadway and struck a tree head on. He was not wearing a seat belt at the time of the accident, said police.

Police are continuing the investigation and have not ruled out the use of alcohol in either accident.

Slesiewicz, said police, was southbound on Sheldon Road south of Westminster Way at about 1:30 p.m. when his vehicle crossed over the northbound lane and struck the fire hydrant head on. He was not wearing a seat belt, said police.

Police said they were currently investigating whether or not Slesiewicz's accident may have been caused by medical reasons.

Hear No Evil!!
Plymouth Township's new Public Comment Policy!

Law turns deaf ear to people

During the noise of the WTUA broshaha, one ominous sound has been largely overlooked - the sound of silence.

Not a lazy, apathetic silence, but the mute resentment of citizens whose elected officials won't allow them to talk.

At the last Plymouth Township board meeting, an angry group of residents lined up, fairly making the room vibrate in their impatience to hear Township Supervisor Gerry Law explain the various charges leveled at the Western Townships Utilities Authority (WTUA).

The serious charges raised have included overspending, conflicts of interest and nepotism.

Law, however, informed the residents, clearly and succinctly that, in the interest of time, the "public comment" section of the agenda had been eliminated.

The message was restrained, but everyone in the room heard Law's tone, which said, "I am angry about being criticized. I don't want to be criticized any more. And, dear voters, I don't want to hear from YOU."

By doing this Law committed an irresponsible act far greater than anything

Word processes
By Anna Murray

that has been wrought thus far in WTUA. Most of the actions taken by WTUA and so severely criticized by the press were all matters of public knowledge, openly discussed at public meetings.

Any citizen with any concern over any of the firms involving Trustee Abe Mandak, or the brothers of Plymouth Township Supervisors Maurice Brown and Law could have questioned, could have asked.

In our system, open discussion is the principal and best safeguard against governmental abuses of power.

In a few short phrases, Law violated not only the Township Board's stated policy on public comment but also the philosophy underlying several more famous documents, including one that begins, "We the people..."

The most inexcusable thing about silence is that it appears to be catching. The township trustees sat idly by - without protest. Any one of the other board members should have remembered, even if Law couldn't, the responsibility of being a representative elected by the people.

Law's senseless act of clapping his hands over his ears does a disservice not only to his constituents, but to WTUA, the very organization he is trying to defend.

Despite the beating WTUA has taken, it is still a very defensible project. But if Law is turning a deaf ear to voters, he can't reasonably expect them to listen attentively to all the good things about WTUA.

Luckily, administrative earplugs only go so far. Citizens who can't be heard at Plymouth Township Hall can produce bigger noise at the ballot box this August.

It is not the sound we should have heard in the first place -- the healthy debate of citizens and leaders exchanging views. But it is an effective against enforced silence as shouting at the top of your lungs.

Unique character helps City raves encouraging

Suddenly, despite earlier negative media portrayals, downtown Plymouth got two rave notices as the "All American" setting.

First, the Plymouth DDA-commissioned Hyett Palma study, urged downtown retailers to capitalize on the unique downtown setting.

Then, Mayflower Hotel general manager Creon Smith wrote a letter to USA Today in response to a letter from a fellow who earlier wrote the paper seeking "Small Town, USA." The Smith letter ran at the top of the opinion page along with other responses and a map showing Plymouth and the quote, "Loving, caring and friendly people."

(Of course, even the "good" media mention can bring its own spin. The Detroit Free Press "Inside Information" ridiculed Smith's letter because it didn't mention Plymouth's proximity to Detroit's drive-by shootings or the "wave of business closings and bankruptcies in Plymouth, including the Chapter 11 filing of his own hotel." Nor did Smith's letter discuss the business failure of Detroit's two daily newspapers that led them to snivel for a JOA.)

With the new openings -- a men's clothing store, the new record-CD shop, the country store, an outside deli deck, a cappuccino bar -- and with others looking, the downtown seems to be making some changes with the times. The recognition of its unique character certainly helps.

And coupled with increased awareness of the Ann Arbor Road corridor, developments in the Canton DDA, and a renewed spirit in the Old Village Association, there's much to be encouraged about in The Plymouth-Canton Community.

Library not quasi-public

EDITOR:

Regarding the editorial of March 4 entitled "Quasi-public agencies need strict policies, procedures," I think The Crier's editorial staff needs some additional background information on the Plymouth Library.

The Plymouth District Library is not an example of a quasi-public agency or authority. It is defined by the State of Michigan as a unit of local government established under PA 24 of 1989, the "District Library Establishment Act."

Although the district is comprised of the area of other governmental units (in our case the city and township of Plymouth), the district library is completely independent of those units in the same way that a school district is independent of the municipalities that make up its territory.

A district library also constitutes a taxing authority under the state constitution and may place millage questions on the ballot without the approval of participating municipalities.

It is governed by an independent, elected board of seven trustees, who are subject to all the requirements imposed on other elected officials.

Finally, like other units of local government, the district library is subject to the Open Meetings Act, the Freedom of Information Act, and the Uniform Budgeting and Accounting Act, as well as specific state oversight by the Library of Michigan.

Twp. forward thinking

EDITOR:

On Monday, March 2 the Detroit Water Board, which governs the sewer rates of "Super Sewer" was granted a better than 10 per cent increase in sewer rates effective August, 1992.

Reported the same day was the death of Bald Eagle hatchlings due to toxic poisoning of the Detroit River. The major contributing factor of this poisoning being the Detroit waste water treatment plant.

This is exactly why the officials of Plymouth Township, Canton and Northville Township developed the Western Township Utilities Authority (WTUA) to build their own sewer system.

We will not be subject to the ever increasing rates and the upgrade costs that

Story inaccurate and misguided

EDITOR:

It is with interest that I read your article containing hints of a conflict of interest on my part relating to my employer working for private enterprise within Plymouth Township.

The facts of the matter are as follows:

1. When I voted to allow rezoning of the property in question, I was unaware of any involvement, or even consideration, of my employer working on this project.

2. When I voted on the rezoning issue, I voted to accept the recommendation of the planning commission for rezoning. The planning commission had reviewed this request and unanimously recommended that this parcel be rezoned from agricultural to multiple residential use.

3. If I had abstained, or even if I had voted against the rezoning, the property would have been rezoned on a 5-2 vote. My vote had no bearing on the outcome.

4. It was the planning commission who decided on the mobile home park use within the residential zoning.

5. The master plan for Plymouth Township shows that property to be zoned "residential, multi-use property." Consequently, the vote to rezone was in conformance with the master plan of the township.

6. Approval of the mobile home park never appeared before the board of trustees. The development of the mobile home park was reviewed and approved by the planning commission and submitted to the State Mobile Home Commission for final approval. Neither myself, nor our board of trustees, had the opportunity to approve or deny the mobile home park.

Your article also implied that I voted for WTUA issues to further my employer's benefits.

The record proves that as soon as my employer was selected by the Western Townships Utilities Authority, I declared that relationship in public, and I requested permission from the board of trustees to abstain from all votes concerning WTUA.

The minutes verify that fact, and that I have abstained from voting on every issue concerning WTUA.

I believe that the story presented in The Crier was not accurate, and that it contained misguided information which requires correction.

ABE A. MUNFAKH

With malice toward none

W. EDWARD WENDOVER

Who will be the first victim of "SEWERGATE"?

It's likely to be Plymouth Township Trustee Abe Munfakh.

Are his dual roles as a professional consulting engineer-corporate officer for the WTUA project's engineers and his elected township position at arms' length enough? Voters may get to decide.

Abe vehemently denies any conflict -- citing his abstentions from WTUA matters.

But in politics, appearances are more dangerous than realities.

Another matter, where Abe voted for a project engineered by his company, is probably a minor political mishap (although technically more serious than anything revealed by Sewergate thus far).

With everybody and their brothers trying to crawl out of the sewers, Abe is the only elected official with personal ties on both sides of the table. Despite his caution and professional reputation, voters may well zero in on him.

He's not resigning, he says, and may let the ballot box give the answer.

In the meantime, he will be a lightning rod that can only get worse when his firm bids on operating the WTUA project.

will be necessary to bring the old Wayne County system into conformity with new water quality standards.

The fact that Plymouth Township is a desirable and pleasant place to live is because of the fiscal responsibility and forward thinking of the people that have been representing the township for most of the last 20 years. An example of this is that Plymouth Township has one of the lowest tax rates in western Wayne County.

Prospective candidates are doing a great disservice to the people of Plymouth Township by using the sewer issue to further their own personal causes instead of looking at what is the best fiscal and environmental policy for the people of the Township of Plymouth.

Family of girl sues neighbor Suit filed in hit-and-run

BY KEN VOYLES

The family of the Canton girl killed in a hit-and-run accident in 1990 is taking a former neighbor to court in a civil lawsuit filed in Wayne County Circuit Court last Wednesday.

The suit was filed on behalf of Deborah Chisholm and her late husband Joseph Chisholm, who died last week of a heart attack.

The neighbor, Joseph Ryan is named in the suit along with his wife Mary Ryan.

Last fall Joseph Ryan pleaded guilty to leaving the scene of the May 1990 accident in which Melissa Chisholm was killed while trying to cross Ford Road. He received a sentence of six months probation.

Melissa Chisholm, 14, was struck by a car at 9:45 p.m. on May 14. She was crossing the road with her sister Army to buy school supplies at Richardson's Drugs.

John Vos III, a Plymouth attorney for the Chisholm family, said the family feels the death of Joseph Chisholm is "related in part to his being upset" over Ryan's sentencing.

Canton man held in murder of Wayne store owner

BY ANNA MURRAY

A Canton man, who once was employed at a Wayne store that services motorcycles, has been charged with allegedly murdering his former boss.

Police say the motive may have been to eliminate competition, as the suspect allegedly wanted to open a service shop of his own.

Sgt. Mel Drews of the Wayne Police, said Frederick Morris, 33, of Canton has been charged with the Jan. 5 murder of Charles W. Piper owner of Chucks Cycle Service at 39305 East Michigan Ave. in Wayne.

According to Drews, the suspect allegedly killed Piper by firing two shots to the head from a large caliber gun.

Drews said Morris has several possible motives for the murder. Drews said Morris wanted to open a motorcycle service shop of his own and didn't want any competition.

He also said Morris' girlfriend was suing Piper because her son was allegedly injured in Piper's shop.

Drews speculated Morris might have wanted to "get rid of one of the key witnesses" hindering the success of the suit.

Finally, Drews said Morris might just have wanted to rob his former boss.

Morris was arraigned in 29th District Court and is being held in Wayne County jail without bail pending the results of a pretrial examination.

Court expansion faces City planning review

BY KEN VOYLES

Plans for the expansion of 35th District Court will be presented to the City of Plymouth Planning Commission tonight (March 11) for preliminary site plan approval.

The court is planning the expansion of a third court room now that a third judge has been okayed by the state and will be on the ballot this year.

A review by the city's consultant Carlisle Associates, Inc., found several items which need to be addressed further, according to documents filed with the planning commission.

The outstanding items include: widening the maneuvering lane to 24 feet, re-aligning the south parking lot and maneuvering lane, adding trees and shrubs to the parking lot island, and providing easement for parking lot encroachment along the ball field.

A review by city departments found several other items that also need attention, according to a memo from city

Engineer Ken West.

They include the turning radius for fire trucks, fire lane no parking signs, information to ensure a "positive drainage system," a legal agreement to develop property outside the existing legal description, and dedication of 60 feet of right-of-way to Wayne County along Plymouth Road.

West said the current plan does not address what arrangements were being made with the city to provide the parking outside of the areas of the legal description of the site.

Marion Belding, the court administrator, said the plans were still being modified to address those concerns and others already raised during discussions by the 35th District Court Building Authority.

The court addition is expected to cost approximately $500,000, said Belding.

The expansion calls for adding a third court room to the southside of the current building along Plymouth Road.

With local legislators School Council sets meeting

BY JILLIAN BOGATER

The Plymouth-Canton Community School Council has arranged a meeting for area parents to interact with three local legislators on current educational issues.

U.S. Sen. Robert Geake (R-Northville), State Rep. Georgina Goss (R-Northville) and State Rep. James Kosteva (D-Canton) are scheduled to speak March 23 from 9:30 a.m. to noon in the Canton Little Theater in Canton High School.

"This will start as a forum for discussion of issues relative to education," said council President Dennis Williams. "Then we will open it up as a time specifically for parents to respond to certain trends in education."

The legislators will address a list of 10 concerns the council sent to them, including funding, current education proposals and the existing relationship between the local district and the Michigan Board of Education, Williams said.

"If the proposals that the governor is putting forth pass, Plymouth-Canton will be on the bottom of the state funding per pupil," he said. "We want to see how we cannot hurt the out-of-formula districts."

The Plymouth-Canton Community School Council was formed 10 years ago by the school board to act as an advocate for all parents/teacher groups. The council meets monthly with representatives of each of the district's 20 school facilities.

For more information about the council call Williams at 459-4534.

664 P-C students to retake MEAP

BY JILLIAN BOGATER

Hundreds of parents in the Plymouth Canton Community Schools district will receive letters this week regarding MEAP retesting.

A meeting for parents of 10th grade students who did not meet the Michigan Educational Assessment Program's criteria for an endorsed diploma is scheduled for Wednesday, March 18 in the Canton and Salem High School cafeterias at 7 p.m.

At the next retest date -- planned for April -- 664 students will retake either the math, reading or both portions of the MEAP test in hopes of achieving a passing grade.

Help sessions prior to the retesting will be offered for both the math and reading portions of the exam, said Thomas Tattan, executive director of secondary education. He is currently seeking teachers willing to volunteer time to help prepare students for the retesting date.

"If you don't meet the standards, you will get a diploma, but you won't get a seal saying you passed the MEAP test," Tattan said.

But this will soon change: students graduating in 1997 will have to pass the MEAP test in order to receive a diploma.

"MEAP used to be a minimal skills test that students didn't have to take seriously," he said. "But the entire scenario of MEAP has changed."

Fatal suit

shortly after Ryan was sentenced, said Vos, and was diagnosed with severe angina pectoris.

Ryan, 39, pleaded guilty in as part of an agreement with the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office. The county prosecutor said at the time that there was not enough evidence to charge Ryan.

The lawsuit charges Ryan with negligence in operating a motor vehicle, failing to exercise care in avoiding the accident, operating the vehicle while intoxicated, excessive speed and leaving the scene of the accident.

The suit charges Mary Ryan with negligence in entrusting the vehicle to her husband as well as conspiring to conceal her husband's identity.

The Chisholm family is seeking compensatory, punitive and/or exemplary damages. They have requested a jury trial.

DARE rap hit with Schools, Twp. board

BY ANNA MURRAY

While it may not go platinum any time soon, it has become an overnight hit in the local school system.

A rap song exhorting kids to stay off drugs drew applause at a recent Plymouth Township Board meeting and, according to its composer, Bird School fifth grade teacher Sandra Wilcox, many teachers and parents are requesting copies of it.

"We've had a lot of demand for the rap," said Wilcox.

The rap sprang from a Drug Resistance Awareness Education (DARE) program, a 15-week session sponsored by the Plymouth Township police department and taught in all local middle schools.

Wilcox said she has a talent for composing rap songs and has done it for other school functions. So when her fifth grade class completed the DARE program, she composed one for their graduation ceremony at the request of DARE program teacher, Officer Jamie Senkbeil.

"Jamie said she wanted me to define the word the kids learned about in DARE," said Wilcox.

A Bird School fifth grade class poses with their DARE instructor Jamie Senkbeil (far right). Their teacher, Sandra Wilcox, composed a rap song performed by the class at DARE graduation.

"I thought it would be boring just to hold up signs," she said. Despite her silvery hair, Wilcox does not think her connection with an MTV generation is that unusual. "It's just something I do," she said.

According to Wilcox, the popular rap beat helped drum the message of drug awareness into the minds of her fifth graders. "They were able to memorize the rap in a very short time," she said.

Her class was also quick to tell what they had learned in DARE.

"We learned drugs are dangerous and can ruin your life," said Kevin Bailey.

Kasey Gibson added, "But we also learned some drugs are good for you."

Many of the children nodded gravely when asked if they knew anyone who abused drugs. Some mentioned older adults or friends who abused alcohol.

"Has anyone tried to convince their parents to stop smoking," Senkbeil asked the class and two thirds of the 29 students raised their hands.

Senkbeil said she enjoys working with the middle school age group because they are forthright and open to her message about the dangers of drugs.

Tell it to Phyllis

By Phyllis Redfern

The term sandwich generation has real meaning to me for the first time. Sure I've had to deal with my mom and my kids through different situations over the years, but that's just part of life. No one ever told me there would come a time when you felt like chopped liver (not enough of you to spread between the stale crusts of an onion roll).

Running back and forth to Lansing to check on mom can be tiring, but she's out of the hospital and showing signs of improvement. Last week she was mad at me for forgetting a cousin's birthday. It was great! She has never needed an excuse to get upset with me, but the fact that she remembered something and I didn't was supposed to be good news -- I think.

Having my 24-year-old daughter living back home with me has worked out quite well. There's no doubt about it, we definitely have our moments, but for the most part we have reached an agreeable living arrangement. Since we are very seldom home at the same time, we don't get in each others way. Our understanding includes the basic communication of when we'll be home and little things like wet towels on the floor in the bathroom and dirty dishes in the kitchen sink.

However, no where in our agreement does it say anything about a daughter getting chicken pox. For two weeks I've had to deal with something that should have been taken care of 20 years ago. She was so sick the first week and her face was an ugly mess of pox. I've never seen anyone so covered with chicken pox, she even had them in her mouth, ears and hair. After staying up with her at night while she ran a high temperature I knew why kids have these diseases when they're young -- because moms don't handle them as well when they're older.

There was a time last week when I thought it would have been nice to have my mom and daughter in the same area. Actually I thought the two of them should have shared each others company and by the end of the week I think they probably deserved each other. In other words I think it means they are both feeling better.

In Twp. brochure WTUA costs defended

In defense of the Western Townships Utilities Authority (WTUA) in which it participates, Plymouth Township last night presented to residents a comparison of WTUA and Detroit Sewer System costs.

The figures prepared by the township's accounting firm Plante & Moran estimate the cost of remaining on the Detroit Sewer System as $234 million more than the cost of the WTUA system over 30 years.

The figures also project quarterly surcharges on the Detroit system of $184.61 as compared to a $15.69 WTUA surcharge to township residents.

Last week the township voted not to pass on a proposed Detroit Sewer System increase to residents.

For elected officials Canton mulls raise

Compensation for elected officials in Canton was expected to be increased at last night's Canton Board of Trustees meeting.

The board was to have considered the proposed increases as recommended by the townships's own compensation committee.

The increases in base salary would become effective Nov. 20 this year.

The proposed salary hikes are as follows: township supervisor from $56,300 to $59,200 per year; township clerk and treasurer from $46,700 to $49,100 per year; and township trustees from $7,000 to $7,500 per year.

Members of the township compensation committee said they made the recommendations after "lengthy study and deliberation" and feel they are "reasonable and equitable."

The committee included Dan Durack, and current members of the township board Loren Bennett, Phil LaJoy and Bob Shefferly.

Artley: cuts would devastate morale financial plight of the district.

"My fellow board members care -- that's why we serve," the Feb. 27 letter states. "And yet, we are being forced into considering not the lesser of two evils, but rather two very painful 'deaths.'"

"Our citizens are mad!" the letter later states. "No one minds helping their neighbors, but why are you 'taking from the districts on top and sharing with those with lower spending per pupil?'"

Also in the letter, Artley invites Engler and several of his administrators to attend a workshop or meeting for open dialogue with the board and possibly area citizens.

Artley has not received a response from Engler or anyone else contacted yet.

Twenty-four budgets were reviewed during the four-hour session, each offering a four level scale of possible budget cuts -- ranging from "level one" indicating small or no cuts to "level four," indicating the worst case scenario consisting of severe cuts.

Athletics, both high school and middle school, will suffer -- depending on which level is chosen by the board -- losing from five per cent of the budget in level one to possibly 50 per cent of its current $699,231 budget in level four; a proposed participation fee for levels three and four were also considered.

"Level four is going to be devastating," said Paul Cummings, director of athletics, health and physical education. "I see this as killing a program and taking five or six years to bring it back."

"I'm not for pay-to-play, but if it means to prevent cutting a program, I think our community has to stand behind it."

Wages and staff ratio also are threatened by possible cuts. The certified teaching staff would suffer a $2,709,000 decrease in funding from its $34,665,888 budget in level four and 90.3 positions eliminated.

Approximately 100 layoff notices will be sent out in April, Artley said.

"That's going to be devastating to morale," he said. "How would you feel if you got a pink slip and didn't know if you would actually be laid off?"

Other severe level four cuts included a 50 per cent reduction in music, staff development and textbook and material resources budgets.

As he surveyed the possible cuts and layoffs, board Treasurer Dean Swartzwelter commented on the disillusionment of the balancing process.

"First you're sorry, then you're frustrated and at the end of it all you're just plain angry," he said. "When we go into staff areas, it's hard to find things (to cut). It's so small to begin with."

Other board members agreed, saying it was important to realize there was a human price to pay for the endless amount of numbers needing to be balanced.

"We're talking a lot of numbers, but we realize we're talking about people," said Errol Goldman, executive director of employe relations and personnel. "And the budget steering committee realizes that as well. Our primary goal is to save jobs."

"Someone who sits in on this meeting for the first time may think we're casual," Artley added. "But we are because we're in the people business."

The transportation budget, currently standing at $2,521,786, would suffer funding reductions ranging from $25,217 in level one to $217,173 in level four.

If a level four reduction was chosen, it would cause the elimination of high school transportation, staggering of school hours at middle and elementary school levels to minimize bus usage, eliminate center based Talented and Gifted transportation services for middle and elementary school levels, and eliminate field trips.

"It's grim when we look at busing and consider reducing at any time," Artley said.

At least one board member directed her frustration and anger with the budget toward the state.

"I don't have a comment, I have a resentment," said Trustee Barbara Graham at the end of the session. "I resent what the state is doing to us. I resent (other districts) having more money than we do. I think we should be able to make them accountable for their spending since it is our money they are spending."

Board Trustee Carl Battishill agreed. "Our community needs to know how badly off we are," he said. "I don't see this trend from the state reversing. The only way we'll get the money we need is from our own backyard."

A Monday, March 16 meeting is scheduled for the board to discuss budget strategies. It will take place at 7:30 p.m. in the district's administrative offices at 454 S. Harvey.

A Saturday workshop is scheduled for March 21. It will include open dialogue from U.S. Sen. Robert Geake (R-Northville), State Rep. Georgina Goss (R-Northville) and State Rep. James Kosteva (D-Canton).

Fire proposal 'in flux,' says Walters

The Plymouth Township Board of Trustees would have final approval over the fire department's budget.

Should either party want to end the contract, the township would get to keep all of the city's equipment.

Under the township's proposed plan, 16 of the 20 volunteer city firefighters would lose their positions. The proposal reads, "Please note that Plymouth Township currently employs 26 of the required 30 volunteer personnel."

The proposal creates a new position, that of assistant fire chief, to accommodate the incoming Plymouth City fire chief, and allows for six captains. The township already has three and the city would bring three. As the city captains left or retired, they would not be replaced by the township.

As to pay, "The contract currently paying the highest wage would determine wages of all firefighters and captains," the proposal reads.

The township's proposal places city firefighters on a one-year "probationary period" according to the guidelines in the township firefighters' union contract. City firefighters would have to pass a township physical.

The issue of union contracts and seniority has been the toughest negotiating issue, according to the administrations of both city and township. In a separate section of the proposal entitled "Plymouth Township Union's Position," the township union asks for substantial concessions from the city union.

"City of Plymouth firefighters would maintain their seniority for retirement and vacation only," reads the township union's proposal to the city union. For all other issues relating to seniority -- such as hiring and firing -- the city firefighters' seniority would start the day they were hired by the township.

The union places the three township captains above the three city captains in authority and asks for three more captains for a total of nine. The three additional captainships would be filled with township personnel, according to the township union's proposal.

The city firefighters would not be eligible to take a promotional exam until they had served for five years with the township.

The township union is also asking for guaranteed jobs for all employees of the combined departments.

Township Supervisor Gerry Law has previously said he would oppose such a provision.

Fire cause investigated

The cause of a fire that swept through a township home under construction and destroyed it in under 10 minutes has not yet been determined, according to Plymouth Township Fire Chief Larry Groth.

Last Tuesday at 2:26 the fire department received a call to 911, shortly followed by another call, reporting a fire at a construction site on Ridge Road, Groth said.

The fire department responded to the call within three minutes, but arrived only in time to wet down burning timbers that were falling to the ground, Groth said.

The entire structure burned down to the foundation within nine minutes, Groth said.

The fire was hastened by a 12 mph wind, Groth said.

Groth said while a plumbers' torch had been eliminated as the cause of the blaze, construction workers admitted they had been smoking.

"We wrote down all of the points we thought would be required by Plymouth Township," said Law. "Now it's up to the city to review it and come back with a response."

Law said up until this proposal, the city fire union had very little idea what had been discussed between the city and township administrations.

Steve Walters, manger for the City of Plymouth, said the proposal was "in flux" and that the city was "negotiating with the unions."

"The proposal will change when we get different responses," Walters said. He said the city equipment and personnel would be dispersed throughout the three township fire stations.

Jim Haar, president of the township fire union, would not comment on the specific proposal items but said both unions met Monday and were expected to issue a formal statement to the city and township administrations today.

None of the 12 to 15 workers was injured, Groth said, but the fire caused between $70,000 and $75,000 in damages.

The house was approximately 60 per cent finished, he said.

Land sale

The Canton Board of Trustees last night was expected to proceed with efforts to purchase a parcel of property from the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

The property covers 15.52 acres on the south side of Proctor Road between Canton Center and Beck roads. Canton will pay approximately $140,000 for the land.

The parcel is expected to be incorporated into the current plan for the Pleasant Run Golf Course project.

According to Canton officials, the land will serve as "link" between the golf holes on the north and south sides of Proctor.

All school performances

Sixth, seventh and eighth graders at Central Middle School will present two one-act plays this Friday.

"Willy Velder, Homicide Detective" and "Uninvited Ghost" will be performed March 13 in the Central Middle School cafeteria, 650 Church St., Plymouth.

Tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for students and are available in the school office or the night of the performance.

Adistra expansion

 have been transformed into state-of-the-art office space, brightly lit and plushly carpeted, filled with computer terminals.

Boyle called Adistra "Plymouth's best-kept secret." Set back on a side street, Adistra hides what appears to be acres of immaculately kept offices, line workers and telecommunications operators.

Boyle, who was named president of Adistra in 1986, also calls Adistra's product "transparent."

Much of what the company does cannot be seen or touched. The firm performs "fulfillment tasks" such as sending out rebate checks, packaging and mailing promotional materials and taking information over the telephone.

The association with Carlson and Gage, Boyle said brought $5 million in extra business last year. And despite the recession Adistra boasted record sales.

Boyle said Carlson and Gage have expanded Adistra's reach. Now Adistra no longer has purely automotive clients.

Within Gage Marketing Group, Adistra will be one of several marketing divisions including printing, mailing services, and promotional management divisions. At the press conference Gage officials said Adistra was a "key subsidiary" of the newly formed marketing concern.

Boyle said he plans to move into the new factory by 1993 and to hire between 100 and 150 new workers.

Given the low interests rates he said, "The time for doing this is now."

Adistra was founded in 1958. There are 350 Adistra employees and 1992 revenue is expected to reach $33 million.

Ford Motor Company recently awarded Adistra its 1991 Marketing Excellence Award given to Ford suppliers. Adistra was one of only 16 companies given the honor last year.

Expected 1992 revenue for the Gage Marketing Group is projected at $120 million. The firm has facilities in Minnesota, Texas, Mexico and Michigan.

Among the firm's clients are Coca-Cola, Ford, General Motors, Shell Oil, Holiday Inn, Northwest Airlines, General Mills, Hilton Hotels, Reader's Digest,

3 held in Canton auto theft

Three Detroit men were arraigned in 35th District Court March 2 on charges of unlawfully driving away a motor vehicle after being apprehended in Canton and Livonia.

Christopher Hughes, David Hughes and Aaron Petty face preliminary examination in 35th Court Friday (March 13). The felony charge carries a maximum five year sentence.

The three were caught after being observed by Canton Police officer Brian Darrow.

Darrow was on routine patrol Feb. 29 when he spotted the three in a Ford Lincoln driving up and down the aisles of parking lots along Ford Road, said police.

Darrow watched as the vehicle pulled into the new Builder's Square lot and stop by a red Blazer, said police.

One of the suspects entered the Blazer and both vehicles drove off, said police. But Darrow stopped the Blazer on the freeway ramp at Ford Road.

The other vehicle, said police, kept going and was later stopped by Wayne County Sheriffs and Livonia Police along I-96.

City DDA hearing

BY ANNA MURRAY

The City of Plymouth is holding a public hearing on the proposed changes to the boundaries of the Downtown Development Authority (DDA) Monday (March 16).

The most significant change proposed is eliminating the DDA area south of Wing Street.

The DDA was formed in 1983XXX with the mission to facilitate the development and economic health of downtown Plymouth. It was empowered to capture taxes from within that downtown area.

The DDA district includes an area south of Wing Street where the Meadows Condominiums are located.

"The condos are probably not a proper territory," said Plymouth City Manager Steve Walters.

Walters said there was little disagreement between the city commission and the DDA that the area south of Wing be eliminated from the DDA district, even though it will result in a lesser tax base for the DDA.

"The DDA felt its boundary logically stops at Wing Street," Walters said.

Walters added, "There isn't even enough money to do what's needed in the existing district."

The public hearing is planned for 7 p.m. in Plymouth City Hall.

Gymnastics finals this weekend

Rocks 1st, Chiefs 2nd at regionals

BY ANNE SULLIVAN

The story could have perhaps been written last week regarding the Class A regional gymnastics competition held Saturday at Canton. The specifics weren't known, but both Canton and Salem coaches predicted the outcome and they were on target.

At that time, neither coach knew one of Salem's top gymnasts, Alysia Sofios, would end her season after the conference competition.

Sofios learned between the conference meet and the regionals she had mononucleosis, and was unable to compete in the regionals. She most likely will not be competing in the state finals.

Even with one top performing gymnast missing, the Salem squad still captured first place in the regional competition, demonstrating the depth of the team.

The real challenge to the Rocks's depth faces them next week as they head into state competition against Muskegon Mona Shores. The state meet will be held Friday and Saturday at Trenton High School.

As was expected, the Salem and Canton gymnasts led the pack Saturday. The Rocks captured first place, and remain undefeated this season, earning 145.20 points.

Canton was close behind, in second, with 142.10.

The regional competition was divided into two competition levels. Division 1 consists of gymnasts who also compete in club gymnastics, and Division 2 was for school gymnasts who do not compete in club gymnastics.

The top eight finishers in both divisions of the four individual routines each received a medal and will advance to the state finals next week. The top six finishers of the divisions combined in the all around received medals and advanced to the state.

On the vault in division 1, Courtney Gonyea finished first for Salem with 9.4. Kim Rennolds from Canton came in second with 9.3. Salem's Melissa Hopson was fourth with 9.1. Teammate Stephanie Skeppstrom earned 9.0 and took fifth.

Canton's Kim Lewke finished in sixth place with 8.9. Sarah Makins was in seventh for Salem with 8.85, and teammate Autumn Bunch finished in 13th with 8.5.

In division 2 on the vault, Canton's Dawn Clifford took second with 9.1. Teammate Jenny Tedesco was in sixth with 8.65.

Salem's Kristen Atkinson was in seventh with 8.55. The Rocks Cara Stillings took 10th place with 8.45, and Canton's Adrienne Brenner finished in 15th place with 8.35.

Canton's Rennolds and Salem's Hopson tied for first place on the bars, scoring 9.2 in division 1 competition. Salem's Gonyea took third with 9.05. For the Rocks Makins earned 8.95. Skeppstrom scored 8.75 and Bunch scored 8.65 to capture fifth through seventh respectively.

Also for Canton on the bars, in division 1, Kim Lewke scored 8.2 to take 14th place.

In division 2 competition on the bars, Canton's Tedesco took first place with 9.0. Teammates Laura Anderson and Clifford tied for fifth with 8.65. Salem's Aimee Wong took 13th place with 7.85.

It was 1,2,3 for Salem on the beam in division one competition. Gonyea took first earning 9.3. Hopson was in second with 9.2, and Makins took third with 8.9.

Canton's Lewke was in eighth with 8.6. Salem's Bunch took ninth place with 8.45, and Skeppstrom took 10th with 8.3.

Rennolds came in 11th for Canton with 8.05.

Canton captured first and second on the beam in division 2 competition. Clifford scored 8.75 to take first place, and Tedesco scored 8.7 for second.

Salem's Kristen Atkinson was in sixth place with 8.55, teammate Leanne Sovola finished in eighth place with 8.35, and Stephanie Angulio took 10th with 8.3.

Canton's Brenner finished in 13th with 8.0.

On the floor in division 1, Salem's Gonyea took first place with 9.5.

Canton's Rennolds was close behind her with a 9.45, where she set a new school record

Third place went to Salem's Hopson, who earned 9.3. Skeppstrom took sixth place for the Rocks with 9.15.

Canton's Lewke finished in seventh with 9.05. Makins was the last to receive a medal in this competition, taking eighth place with 9.0. Bunch took ninth place for the Rocks with 8.95.

In division 2 competition on the floor, Clifford took second place with 9.05. Tedesco took third for the Chiefs scoring 8.95.

CEP swimmers in leagues

BY ANNE SULLIVAN

There were some surprises at the Western Lakes Activities Associations boys swimming conference meet held last Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at the Salem pool.

The host team pulled off a few surprises, finishing in an unexpected third place, ahead of Canton, Northville and Farmington, teams which handily beat them in the dual meet season.

"We swam a lot better (in the conference meet) than we did in the dual meet season," said Chuck Olson, Salem coach.

Livonia Stevenson won the meet with 561 points. North Farmington came in second with 422 points. Salem was third with 400 and Canton was fourth with 397, followed by Northville with 324.

The only first place taken by either Centennial Educational Park (CEP) team was captured by Salem's Steve Salhaney in diving. He earned 435.35 points on 11 dives. Canton's Nick Atwell came in second scoring 398.12 points.

Spike teams end year

BY ANNE SULLIVAN

It was an early day for both the Salem and Canton volleyball teams, Saturday, as both squads were knocked out of the district competition in their first round of the day.

Salem was the only team not to draw a bye in the first round.

The Rocks played Livonia Stevenson, and lost in two games 15-6, 15-13.

"It's sad when it ends," said Allie Suffery, Salem coach. "It's like any sport in the state playoff, your latest loss is your last match, once you lose, you're done."

Salem was the first to lose to Stevenson, and Stevenson went on to win Saturday.

The Rocks end their season with a 32-12-7 record, the best volleyball record in the history of the school.

In the second game, Salem was ahead 10-6, and Stevenson made a come back and tied the game 13-13, then went on to win the second game and knock Salem out of the competition.

Setter Caryn Tatterton was 50 percent on her sets, she was 17-34 with assists, and executed nine kills. Shelby Carey had eight kills, and five blocks. Julianna De La Rocque had six kills, and five serving aces. Julie Thomas had three blocks.

"This was a great bunch of kids," said Suffery. "They played hard for us and did a great job. Both Brian (Gilles, co-coach) and I are proud of them. This was a great year."

The Canton spikers also had a disappointing day Saturday.

The squad lost to Novi in their first match of the day. The Chiefs won the first game, but Novi came back to take the second and third games.

"All around we didn't have a good day," said Jackie Getz, Canton coach. "We just didn't get into our rhythm."

gymnasts took eighth place with 35.30. Salem's Skeppstrom took ninth with 35.20. Lewke took 13th for Canton with 34.75, and Bunch placed 14th for Salem with 34.55.

Canton will be competing in the state meet this weekend with four gymnasts in each event, Salem will have five.

"I'm really looking forward to the state championships," said John Cunningham, Canton coach. "I'm confident they'll do well. In the past I've prayed they'd do something. This year I have a competent team. They know how good they are. I found that this teams performs better under pressure than any other team I've had."

Central charged onto the floor and played a very dominating game, especially in the first half. They scored 23 points in the first quarter, Salem scored 14.

The Vikings led throughout the first half, adding 12 points in the second quarter, and Salem tossed in 14, to end the half 35-28.

The Rocks came back from halftime, and played a very aggressive third quarter. Twice they brought the score to within one point. With 1:20 left in the third, Salem tied the score on a free throw. And with 45 seconds left, Salem took the lead for the first time.

The Rocks had their highest scoring quarter in the third, tossing in 20 points. Central added 15 to its score, to end the third with Central leading by one, 49-48.

Mike Abraham led the team in scoring with 24 points. He grabbed eight rebounds and had six assists.

Mike Sloane added 12 points, snatched seven rebounds, and had four assists.

James Head led the team in rebounds with 16.

"It was a tough one," said Salem coach Bob Brodie after the game Saturday.

"They were on fire. They're a good shooting team. What hurt us was they got second and third opportunities inside, especially in the first half."

The boys basketball district playoffs are being held at Novi High School. The school is located on 10 Mile and Taft Roads, in Novi.

The district winners will advance to regional play at Ypsilanti High School next Wednesday at 7 p.m.

Salem beats Canton, but loses in hoop final

BY ANNE SULLIVAN

The Salem boys basketball team managed to pull off one upset last week, but the Rocks couldn't get two.

Last Tuesday, the Rocks defeated Canton in the semi finals of the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA), but they were unable to pull off a second upset Saturday, in the battle for the conference championship.

It was a 10-point curse for the Rocks each time they faced Walled Lake Central this year. Salem was defeated by Central, Saturday, 74-64. (When the Central and Salem hoopers battled in regular season play on Jan. 31, the Rocks were defeated 73-63.)

The Rocks ended their season as Lakes Division co-champs, runners-up in the conference, with a 13-7 record.

Central charged onto the floor and played a very dominating game, especially in the first half. They scored 23 points in the first quarter, Salem scored 14.

The Vikings led throughout the first half, adding 12 points in the second quarter, and Salem tossed in 14, to end the half 35-28.

The Rocks came back from halftime, and played a very aggressive third quarter. Twice they brought the score to within one point. With 1:20 left in the third, Salem tied the score on a free throw. And ALEXANDER ROBERT BRUCE is my name and I was born in Kentucky. With the help of my mother & father Marie & Robert. I was brought to Plymouth March 8 to be baptized by Rev. Paul McGee. You wouldn't believe how many people were there. Every relative ever known. My cousins Lane & Conlin, my aunt & uncle, Denise & Mike, my dad's mother Marian, great grandmas Florence and Leana, grandpa Lee and finally my grandma Genny - who thinks she's Minnie Mouse. It was fun, though except for the water.

Curiosities

NON-RESISTANCE - When you fight a thing you antagonize it and it hits back. The harder you fight it, the harder it hits. - What you neglect, or, still better, ignore, begins to fade away or die by starvation. - When you give your attention to anything, you are building that thing into your consciousness, for good or evil. - When you are faced with some negative condition in your own life, the scientific way to handle it is to withdraw your attention from it by building the opposite into your subconscious, and when you have done this the undesirable thing falls away like an over-ripe fruit. - A wonderful story is told about William Penn. He had been accustomed from boyhood to carrying a sword at all times, because it was part of the dress of a gentleman at that period. One day it occurred to him that this was incongruous with his Quakerism; but on the other hand he knew that he would feel extremely embarrassed in going without it. - He consulted George Fox, never doubting that his leader would say, "It is a bad thing. You must stop wearing it." - George Fox, however, did nothing of the kind. He was silent for a few moments, and then said, carry thy sword until thou canst no longer carry it." - A year or so later Penn felt that carrying it would be more embarrassing than going without it, and he discontinued the practice quite easily. - Do not tear away people's crutches (or your own). When they are no longer needed they will fall away. Discolve the need. - Do not fight your rheumatism, or your debt, or your un congenial job, or even your critical tongue (if you have one), but build health, prosperity, harmony, good humor, into your consciousness, and the unwanted things will disappear.

Of course, when you get his/her bill you hate them, but who else is there to interpret the crummy laws, the poorly written statutes, agency and commission policy statements, which are put together by rather incompetent groups, who always find a loophole interwoven in the fabric for possible personal use.
