Born, to Mrs. John Forschee, a daughter, on Saturday.

The friends and neighbors of Wellington Depew gave him a pleasant surprise last Saturday by coming and spending the day with him.

Sam Spicer has been having great luck of late. On three days last week while at work on the farm he captured a coon, a rabbit and a skunk.

Delancy Westfall, who lived on the Fairman farm, while doing his chores Sunday evening in the barn, was taken with an epileptic fit and fell on the lantern which set fire to the barn and before assistance could be had the barn was destroyed and the man so badly burned that he died Monday afternoon. The funeral was held at the house on Wednesday. Besides the loss of the barn, a cow and a horse were cremated.

READ IT THROUGH.

Would Spell This Story to Tell It in the Headlines.

To use an eighteenth century phrase, this is an "o'er true tale." Having happened in a small Virginia town in the winter of 1802, it is a story very much of the present. Up to a short time ago Mrs. John E. Barmon, of Meifa Station Va., had no personal knowledge of the rare curative properties of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. "Last January," she says, "my baby took a dreadful cold and at one time I feared she would have pneumonia, but one of my neighbors told me how this remedy had cured her little boy and I began giving it to my baby at once and it soon cured her. I heartily thank the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for placing so great a cure within my reach. I cannot recommend it to highly or say too much in its favor. I hope all who read this will try it and be convinced as I was." For sale by Hubbell's Pharmacy and Meilers Drug Store.

PERRINSVILLE.

James Bridge is on the sick list. The funeral service of George Draper's infant child was held at the M. E. church last Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial at Maple Grove cemetery.

The funeral of Mr. Dethloff, formerly of this place, but now of Beech, was held at Livonia Center last Tuesday.

There will no revival meetings at the church until the roads are better.

Arthur Hanchett took a business trip to Wayne last Monday.

Miss Mary Tait is a little better at this writing.

C. E. Kingsley has the logs about finished and will move his mill north and west of Stark.

T. P. Sherman has bought Tyriss' farm.

Mr. Wm. Robinson was born in Nankin township, Mich., April 26th, 1852 and died at his residence March 3, 1903.

February 7th, 1874 he was married to Miss Mary Proctor to whom he was a devoted husband. Five children were born to them four of whom are living.

Mrs. Della Sherwood, of Detroit, Mrs. Mae Fox, Harry and Vena Robinson. Mr. Robinson was a faithful friend, a good neighbor and will be missed by all who knew him. He was a member of the K. O. T. M. The funeral service was held Thursday afternoon at two o'clock at the M. E. church under the order of the K. O. T. M. Rev. Leith, of Plymouth, conducted the service. The body was laid to rest in Maple Grove cemetery.

Working Overtime.

W. C. T. U.

A "Gold Medal Contest," under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., will take place in the near future. The program will be varied and will include several dialect recitations, also good music, both instrumental and vocal.

The W. C. T. U. gave an informal tea at their hall last week. About thirty member and guests were present, and the affair was most enjoyable. Supt. Press.

You will never wish to take another dose of pills if you ever try Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They are easier to take and more pleasant in effect. They cleanse the stomach and regulate the liver and bowels. For sale by Meilers Drug Store and Hubbell's Pharmacy.

A Fifteen Cent Rate.

To the Public:—

We appreciate the kindness of the public in the past for patronizing our road and hope to be able to retain the good will and future patronage of the citizens in this village and along the line. We are going to place our road bed and our present equipment in the best possible shape, which will enable us to give our patrons the best service at our command. Mr. Wilson, our treasurer, has made the assertion that he will furnish the merchants of Plymouth with a ticket from Plymouth to King's corners and return for 15 cents in book form, each book to contain 10 tickets. This concession will help the Plymouth people and also the expenditures I have mentioned will indirectly revert to your profit. I hope we will be able to retain your friendship and cheerful co-operation in making your village and property, as well as our own, a success. Thanking you all, I am yours respectfully,
E. RICHMOND, Supt.

After a brief illness, W. A. Robinson died at his home a week ago last Tuesday morning. The funeral was held in the M. E. church there Thursday, Rev. T. B. Leith officiating. The K. O. T. M. took charge of the burial service at Maple Grove cemetery. Mr. Robinson was born in Perrinsville 51 years ago and has made his home there ever since. He leaves a wife, two daughters, a son, a father, mother and brother, together with a wide circle of friends to mourn his death.

Tragedy Averted.

"Just in the nick of time our little boy was saved" writes Mrs. W. Watkins of Pleasant City, Ohio. "Pneumonia had played sad havoc with him and a terrible cough set in besides. Doctors treated him, but he grew worse every day. At length we tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and our darling was saved. He's now sound and well." Everybody ought to know, it's the only cure for coughs, colds and all Lung diseases. Price 50c. and 1.00 Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Hubbell's Pharmacy.

That famous billionaire, Mr. Keyworth Joyues, president of the Cake Trust, was preparing to leave his office at Fifth Avenue and Sixty-sixth Street, the financial center of the city, for his residence in Chicago, now extending all around the shores of the Great Lakes, and the favorite dwelling place for people of fashion.

Billionaire's Busy Night

That famous billionaire, Mr. Keyworth Joyues, president of the Cake Trust, was preparing to leave his office at Fifth Avenue and Sixty-sixth Street, the financial center of the city, for his residence in Chicago, now extending all around the shores of the Great Lakes, and the favorite dwelling place for people of fashion.

didn't bring either coat or hat." Before five minutes had passed the young billionaire was speeding in a mile-a-minute motor car through the most historic part of Germany on his way to Castle Ochsenreiter.

As the bell in the castle tower struck the hour of nine, Joyues' eager ring at the gate sounded through the ancient halls of Ochsenreiter. After a space, which seemed an eternity to the impatient man listening to the echoes repeating themselves through

"I know that, too," replied the Baroness with some severity. The second answer was still more disconcerting to the enamoured billionaire—but he was, after all, a man of nerve and action.

"Ob, Keyworth, dear," murmured the Baroness von Ochsenreiter—and her head of glorious carmine hair declined upon his shoulder, while her lips of the most brilliant crimson sought the blonde mustache bent down to meet them.

"Ah, Arethusa, Arethusa—Beauty of the World!" cried the enraptured Joyues as he strained her to his heart—"what do I care for colds now. This is a good night's work."—H. I. Brock in New York Times.

"Suspend my admiration," said the billionaire, briefly, "and tube me direct to my house."

Without a word the chemist applied an electrode to Joyues' mouth, and another to his nose. In two seconds he ceased to breathe. In two seconds more, as the attendant touched a button, the couch shut up in a cylindrical shape, and vanished with a great rushing sound through a hole in the wall, which opened suddenly at its foot.

"The Midas Club," said the billionaire, and a couple of seconds sufficed to start him whizzing through the earth toward that famous gathering place of the arbiters of finance and fashion in the heart of the city of London.

"I beg your Excellency's pardon, sir," the funkier reported, "but madame the Baroness has no tube."

"How people without the simplest modern conveniences expect a man to get at them I don't know," he grumbled, as he finished his whisky.

"I know that, too," replied the Baroness with some severity. The second answer was still more disconcerting to the enamoured billionaire—but he was, after all, a man of nerve and action.

After the opera the whole party was duly tubed to Paris direct. The supper at the private cafe of the Baroness in Paris was the most brilliant affair imaginable. Joyues lingered till all the guests had gone.

"I know that, too," replied the Baroness with some severity. The second answer was still more disconcerting to the enamoured billionaire—but he was, after all, a man of nerve and action.

"Ob, Keyworth, dear," murmured the Baroness von Ochsenreiter—and her head of glorious carmine hair declined upon his shoulder, while her lips of the most brilliant crimson sought the blonde mustache bent down to meet them.

"Ah, Arethusa, Arethusa—Beauty of the World!" cried the enraptured Joyues as he strained her to his heart—"what do I care for colds now. This is a good night's work."—H. I. Brock in New York Times.

NOT ON THE PROGRAM.

Unrehearsed Tableau Caused Stampedede from Paris Studio.

A few years ago a Boston woman was staying in Paris, and with her was a New York widow of the primrose type. Among their acquaintances by letters of introduction was a Frenchman who knew his Paris like a book, and a very agreeable and delightful gentleman in every sense of the word.

Ascending the stairs, the gentleman went first, the three ladies following, with the young daughters in the rear. A rap on the door was answered by "Entrez!" and enter they did to behold three or four men smoking, while a fair model posed under the bright light in the altogether.

There was a shriek in the vernacular, the young girls were shooed down stairs as the door banged to, and the prim Boston and New York ladies retired with much dignity to their carriage below, while their escorts saw Bougereau about it.

A Persian Solomon. Of the distinguished authors of Persia none, perhaps, has enjoyed a wider popularity than Sadi, who lived in the thirteenth century. He was a traveler and a close observer, and his anecdotes and short stories are described as being founded on his own experiences and observations.

"Dear Keyworth—So sorry. Meet me at the Grand Opera house in Johannesburg at eleven to-night—Hastily.

"ARETHUSA VON O." Joyues rushed out and climbed once more into his hired motor car. Another wild dash through the night and he was back at Hofbrau. From Hofbrau he was tubed to Rome—from Rome to Cairo—from Cairo direct to Johannesburg. It was not much after ten when he shot from the Grand Opera House tube into his private box—where his box chemist was in attendance during the entire opera season against just such an unexpected arrival. Joyues seated himself and gazed across at the Baroness seated in the box opposite, resplendent in all the jewels of her illustrious house and surrounded by some of the richest men of the age.

When the curtain fell on the second act the president of the Cake Trust made his way to the Baroness's box. She had already smiled at him across the pit—now she extended her captilly gloved hand.

"So glad to see you," she said in her softest tones, "I knew you would come. I just had to have one more man for the little supper I'm giving in Paris to-night, after the opera—and I thought, after it occurred to me that you couldn't get to Ochsenreiter in time to join me there—that I'd have you meet the party here, so we could all return to Paris together in a six-barreled cartridge." And the Baroness von Ochsenreiter turned to another of her guests and chattered away till the curtain rose again.

Joyues sat in the background and looked rather solemn for one so highly honored. "Really," he said to himself, "I can't see why she made me ride in that confounded motor car to that desolate Ochsenreiter hole." Then he watched the Baroness for awhile. "On the other hand," he admitted, "I never saw the divine Arethusa look so stunning as she does to-night. My mind is made up. She is the woman for me. I'll ask her to be my wife before the sun rises in Paris—or I am not the President of the Cake Trust, and one of the richest men of all times."

"Will they lay there, Miss Julia?" he asked, with never a thought of his grammar since he left school. "Oh, no," she replied, half blushing and half reproving; "they are all roosters."

FARM

Skim Milk for Pigs. Too often the value of the so-called by-products of the farm is not fully realized by the farmer. The dairyman, for instance, whose first object is to produce as much milk as possible that he may sell the butterfat, may overlook the value still remaining in the skim milk and buttermilk after the fat has been taken from them.

An examination of this table shows that skim milk contains more than 75 per cent of its original solids, an amount of solid matter equal to that in pumpkins and some of the root crops, and more valuable in its composition. While butterfat has a much higher commercial value than the other solids in milk, it is less essential as a food for young animals than what remains and may easily be replaced by a cheaper feed.—Arizona Station Bulletin.

Girl and Grammar. "Out in my town," said a Kentucky editor, "everybody doesn't use as correct English as they do in Boston, just as in Boston everybody doesn't drink as good liquor as we do in Kentucky."

The moon seems to be a very dangerous planet for writers to trifle with. In "King Solomon's Mines" Rider Haggard makes an eclipse of this satellite take place at the new instead of the full moon—an astronomical impossibility.

Not long ago a young woman from the Hub came out our way to spend some time on a farm a mile or two out of town. She had met the farmer's folks somewhere and came out to try her hand at chicken raising, being an enterprising young lady.

"One day she came into the store of one of our merchants with half a dozen chickens tied together by the feet and laid them down on a sack while she negotiated a sale. The merchant observed that they were in rather an insecure position.

"Will they lay there, Miss Julia?" he asked, with never a thought of his grammar since he left school. "Oh, no," she replied, half blushing and half reproving; "they are all roosters."

"Since then the merchant has been trying to coax Miss Julia to quit chicken raising and go to school teaching, and the rest of us are becoming more particular in our language when the young lady is around."—New York Herald.

Not in Michigan. Thomas Payne, an Englishman from Three Oaks, was before Judge Coolidge, in St. Joseph, Saturday, on the charge of thrashing his wife. Payne insisted in his own country he had the right to thrash his wife whenever he chose. His wife, who brought the charge against him, pleaded in his behalf before the judge in the Circuit Court. In order to right himself with his family and the court, Judge Coolidge held the prisoner under the court's jurisdiction until he fulfilled his promise to deed his wife one of their farms.

Nashville is Flooded. Nashville is nearly surrounded by water, and some of the main roads to the country districts are submerged four feet. The Thornapple river is six feet higher than usual, and still rising. The dam at this place has the appearance of a small Niagara falls. If the floods continue it may be washed away and the entire town flooded. There are already thousands of acres of land under water, and the flood is only a few feet from the main business street.

Confessed the Crime. Fred Magel and Will Jones, of Telford, are in jail on a charge of burning Mrs. Mary Stockdale's barn. Jones confessed, saying Magel fired the barn at the suggestion of his father, Balsar Magel, who had tried to buy some hay a man named Bradley had stored in the barn. He claims the old man said that if the barn was burned Bradley couldn't get the hay. Balsar Magel came to Flint to go bail for the boys, but was himself arrested as a result of the confession.

"If women would pay more attention to their health we would have more happy wives, mothers and daughters, and if they would observe results they would find that the doctors' prescriptions do not perform the many cures they are given credit for."

Wine of Cardui is a regulator of the menstrual functions and is a most astonishing tonic for women. It cures scanty, suppressed, too frequent, irregular and painful menstruation, falling of the womb, white and flooding. It is helpful when approaching womanhood, during pregnancy, after childbirth and in change of life. It frequently brings a dear baby to homes that have been barren for years. All druggists have $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

WITH THE SAGES.

Wisdom teaches us to do, as well as talk, and to make our words and actions all of a color.—Seneca.

He who learns the rules of wisdom without conforming to them in his life is like a man who plows his field but does not sow.—Saadi.

The reason why so few marriages are happy is because young ladies spend their time in making nets, not in making cages.—Jonathan Swift.

Excessive grief, like excessive joy, being violent in nature, is of short duration. The human heart is incapable of remaining long in an extreme.—Victor Hugo.

It has been well said that no man ever sank under the burden of the day. It is when to-morrow's burden is added to the burden of to-day that the weight is more than a man can bear.—George MacDonald.

It is while you are patiently toiling at the little tasks of life the meaning and shape of the great whole of life dawns upon you. It is while you are resisting little temptations that you are growing stronger.—Phillips Brooks.

The law of nature is, that a certain quantity of work is necessary to produce a certain quantity of good of any kind whatever. If you want knowledge, you must toil for it; if you want pleasure, you must toil for it; if you want health, you must toil for it.—Ruskin.

Sad, indeed, is the spectacle of the youth idling away the spring-time of his existence, and not only losing the sweet benefit of time, but wasting in the formation of evil habits, those hours in which he might clothe himself with angel-like perfection.—William Wilberforce.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discolors and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, at the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Burned to Death.

A barn belonging to Mrs. F. W. Fairman, three miles west of Plymouth, on the Ann Arbor road, burned about seven o'clock Sunday evening, resulting in the death of Delancy Westfall. The barn and contents were entirely destroyed, two cows and a horse being also burned. Through the heroic efforts of the neighbors the large barn was saved.

Mr. Westfall occupied Mrs. Fairman's house this winter while she was in California. He had been subject to epileptic fits for a number of years and while out to the barn with a lantern to do his chores had an attack and fell on the lantern, setting fire to the barn and burning his body in a horrible manner. He crawled out with his clothes all on fire and Mr. Watkins and Lee Jewell, who happened along at that moment, tore off the burning clothes and wrapping him in a blanket carried him to the house. Dr. Patterson was summoned at once and did all he could to relieve the sufferer, but the flesh was so thoroughly cooked over the heart that after being a terrible sufferer for nearly twenty-four hours he died. Mr. Westfall was a good, trusty man. He leaves a wife and three children to mourn their loss, and who have the sympathy of the whole community. The funeral was held from the house Wednesday at ten a. m., Rev. W. O. Stovall officiating. Interment in Kinyon cemetery.—B.

Village Election.

There was a comparatively light vote cast at the village election Monday, considering the interest manifested for the proposition to bond the village for $12,500 for an electric light plant. There were 310 votes polled, the Workingmen's ticket receiving 100 straight and the Laboringmen's 26. The proposition to bond the village was carried by more than the necessary two-thirds vote, surpassing the expectations of many persons who had believed the measure would fail. The total vote on the question was 306, of which 210 were "Yes" and 93 "No." Five ballots were thrown out, leaving a majority of 8 more than the required two-thirds.
President Robinson was re-elected by a vote of 255. There was no opposition to E. C. Laufer for clerk and his vote was 244. Treasurer Frisbee was re-elected by a vote of 205 to 86 for Chas. Butterfield. Assessor Joy was again elected by a vote of 236 to 53 for Geo. Shafer. The following were the votes cast for trustees: W. J. Burrows 216, Coella Hamilton 210, Harry Jolliffe 159, A. J. Lapham 120, Geo. W. Hunter 104, Sam. Ableson 61.

Fifteenth Anniversary.

Last Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Loomis celebrated the fifteenth anniversary of their marriage, and in spite of the inclement weather, a large number of their friends, assembled at their home. Dinner was served at high noon, after which Mrs. Loomis was presented with a cut glass water bottle and glasses as a souvenir of the occasion, the presentation being made by Rev. T. B. Leith. Every one had a most enjoyable time and late in the afternoon the guests departed, all wishing their jovial host and hostess many more happy years together. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stevens and Rev. and Mrs. T. B. Leith, of Plymouth, Mr. and Mrs. B. O. DePue of Ypsilanti, Henry Root and the families of B. D. Geer, A. C. Root, Walter Voorhies, Carmen Root, Ammon Root, John Root, Hopkin Williams, Lewis Root, Warren Garton and Sebe Root.

PRESIDENT FULLER OF THE JEWELERS' ASSOCIATION

Threatened With Loss of Hearing, Smell and Sight From the Ravages of Catarrh.

Pe-ru-na Cured Him.

"I Feel Like a Young Man Again."

Mr. J. W. Fuller.

A GREAT many remedies to temporarily relieve catarrh have been devised from time to time, such as sprays, snuffs, creams and other local applications, but, as a rule, the medical profession has little or no enthusiasm in the treatment of catarrh.

It is generally pronounced by them to be incurable.

It therefore created a great sensation in medical circles when Dr. Hartman announced that he had devised a compound which would cure catarrh permanently.

The remedy was named Peruna and in a short time became known to thousands of catarrh sufferers north, south, east and west. Letters testifying to the fact that Peruna is a radical cure for catarrh began to pour in from all directions.

Thousands of such letters are on file in the office of The Peruna Medicine Co. Rev. E. Stubbenvoll, Pella, Wis., writes: "I feel obliged to extend you my personal thanks for my complete restoration. All through the winter I suffered from throat and lung trouble, but recovered my entire health by the use of your excellent remedy, Peruna."

The following letter from a prominent gentleman of Los Angeles, is a case in point: Mr. J. W. Fuller, President of the Jewelers' Association of Los Angeles, Cal., has been in business in that city for seventeen years out of the forty-five that he has been engaged in business. Concerning his experience with Peruna he says:

"I was troubled with catarrh of the head for many years. It affected my sense of smell, hearing and sight. I spent lots of money with doctors and the use of local applications to relieve me but to no purpose, until my attention was called to the wonderful effects of Peruna."

"I must say that I met with most surprising and satisfactory results. Peruna took hold of the complaint and drove it entirely out of my system. Although well along toward the allotted span of man's life I am pleased as a child over the results, and feel like a young man again."—J. W. Fuller.

Such letters as the above are not used for publication except by the written permission of the writer.

A pamphlet filled with such letters will be sent to any address free. This book should be read by all who doubt the curability of catarrh.

If you do not receive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis. Address Dr. Hartman, President of the Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

OUR LIVES TOO STRENUOUS. VERY LARGE BANK CHECKS.

Writer Urges Greater Simplicity and More Leisure.

Tell your friend you mean to spend your life fighting for money and power, and he will, if he be an average man, applaud your decision; tell him you mean to dwell in the country, gaining a simple livelihood from your labor, and he will either not believe you mean it, or he will conclude you are a beaten competitor in the city's race. Most people do not know they are slaves of their modern improvements, so called. They build houses larger than they can occupy—for show; they pinch and scrape year after year to pay for them, and after that continue pinching to pay taxes, repairs and other maintenance charges. A large house demands expensive furniture.

Then fine dress. And the demands increase. The man keeps his nose on the grindstone, the woman wears herself out taking care of fine feathers. No time to just live and enjoy it; got to make a show first—going to take a real rest and cut off all the little vanities next winter—next summer—some other time, when matters are not quite so pressing. I am not exactly a loafer, but I like Walt Whitman best of all our American writers, because he had sense enough to "loaf and invite his soul" once in a while. I am tired of hearing the everlasting preachers of the "strenuous" life. Go slower, and you'll go farther and enjoy it better. Don't live to work; work to live. Bread and butter work, I mean. Leave a little time for the sort of work you find your chief pleasure in.—National Magazine.

LARGE LOANS QUICKLY MADE.

Great Sums Often Raised by Wall Street Banks at Hour's Notice.

An interesting question often asked in Wall street concerns the amount of capital that a large bank could raise at an hour's notice. That is, how much accommodation could a bank extend a customer unexpectedly confronted with pressing need, or for the purpose of financing a great deal. A banker of international experience is authority for the statement that Wall street's facilities in this regard are superior to London's. In that a large undertaking could be financed here with much greater dispatch than on the other side.

Said an officer of one of Wall street's most important banks: "It is no trouble at all; nowadays to raise $5,000,000 or $6,000,000 within an hour. I have seen it done too often to think for a moment that it would tax seriously a large bank's resources. Five times that sum, say $25,000,000, can be raised at twenty-four hours' notice. It has been done. Of course, no one bank could do it, but the great Wall street institutions are linked together in such a way as to provide almost unlimited resources for the financing of any safe deal. The large banks think little of $1,000,000 or $2,000,000 loans these days, whereas in former years they attracted general attention, for such large amounts were released only after considerable negotiations. But that has all changed now."—New York Evening Post.

Red-headed Boys and Girls.

English scientists have been collecting statistics regarding the aptitude of school children. Among the interesting results of their observations are facts which show a relation between color of the skin and hair and mental proficiency. They say that the auburn-haired boys are generally at the head of their recitation classes, and that blond girls are the best at learning.

The auburn and blond girls come out best in arithmetic, but are not good at composition. Dark-haired children of both sexes seem to have better imaginative qualities than the fair ones, and have much better style in composition. The dark boys behave better than the fair, and are more sensitive to praise or blame. Probably the reason is that the auburn and blond children, being of Flemish origin, are more phlegmatic than the dark ones.

Not Entitled to Rebate.

A Mount Vernon clergyman told his flock the following story recently to illustrate his opposition to the granting of cut rates or special privileges to men of the cloth.

"I once knew a clergyman," he said, "who found himself out on a lark with a party of men about town. He played billiards, and ate and drank with the others and held his end up in all respects until it came time to settle. Then he leaned over the bar and whispered to the bartender: 'Say, I'm a minister, and if there is any reduction in my case, why I'd be glad to have it, you know.'"

"Say, youse," replied the bartender, "you played billiards like a heathen an' ate like a heathen an' drank like a heathen. Now, I wants you to pay like a heathen."—New York Sun.

One for the Pickpocket.

When Mrs. Isabella Bishop, the well-known traveler, was in the United States she had at least one funny experience. She was riding in a car in Chicago and felt her pocket being picked, but said nothing at the moment. Presently along came the conductor to collect his fares. When he reached Mrs. Bishop she quietly remarked: "This gentleman," pointing to the thief, "will pay. He has my purse."

Ownership of Millions Transferred by a Narrow Slip of Paper.

Wall street banking these days involves the use of some very large checks. Single items for $5,000,000 or $10,000,000 are frequently seen, and much greater amounts are sometimes transferred through the interchange of a narrow slip of paper. Most of these items are collected through the clearing-house, except in cases where they are deposited in the bank of which they are drawn.

At the time that the Third Avenue railroad property changed hands, two checks, aggregating $34,500,000 were given out. One of the checks for $17,000,000, passed through the clearing-house May 26, 1900. It was drawn by Kuhn, Loeb & Co. on the National City bank, and was collected by the Bank of Commerce for the Morton Trust company. Another check, drawn by the same firm for $17,500,000 on the Bank of Commerce did not pass through the clearing-house, it being collected by the Mortgage Trust company from the bank direct. Previous to that, on Feb. 1, 1901, a check for $23,127,000 was drawn by J. P. Morgan & Co. on the First National bank. That was also collected without passing through the clearing-house. In connection with the purchase of Southern Pacific stock by the Union Pacific company a check for $14,850,000 was drawn on the Mercantile Trust company March 5, 1901. The check given a fortnight ago in payment of Lake Shore's holdings of Reading stock was for $21,500,000, and ranks, so far as known as the second largest check ever used in local banking.—New York Evening Post.

He Went West and Prospered.

Fresland, Kan., March 9th.—One of the most prosperous farmers in Harper County is Mr. N. H. Mead. Some thirty-four years ago he left his home near Clarence, N. Y., and came to Kansas. Here he has thrived splendidly and last year harvested over one hundred and forty acres of wheat alone.

But everything has not gone well with Mr. Mead, for his health has not been good for the last few years. He has suffered a great deal with Kidney and Bladder Trouble and could get nothing to stop it. Lately, however, he has improved a great deal, and he says that he has none of the old symptoms left and is feeling splendid again. He used Dodd's Kidney Pills and this remedy seemed to work wonders in his case. He says himself: "Dodd's Kidney Pills have made me well. They are all right and a reliable remedy for Kidney Trouble. They helped me right from the start, giving me great relief, and finally cured me."

Another Tale of Mary's Lamb.

The literary inquest over Mary and her little lamb recalls the vivid poem, or rather variant of it, said to have been given to Manager Fred Comee of Boston, by Andrew Carnegie. Whether the verse was thrown off in the interval of donating acres of books devoted to the acquisition of wealth we cannot say: The lines are stirring and to a native of the smoky city are fraught with tender, nay sooty, memories. Here they are:

Mary had a little lamb,
Its fleece was white as snow;
It followed her to Pittsburgh—
And now look at the d—d thing!

WEAK WOMEN.
CONSTIPATION STARTED YOUR SUFFERING, CURE IT AND YOUR AFFLICTION WILL VANISH.
Mull's Grape Tonic Cures Constipation.
When the bowels move irregularly the entire bodily system must suffer. Constipation more frequently occurs among women and it manifests itself in provoking profuse leucorrhoea and other serious female diseases. Regular bowels will result in a complete cure when you use Mull's Grape Tonic. Unlike pills and ordinary cathartics, this remedy is a mild, gentle laxative in addition to being a greater flesh-builder, blood-maker and strength-giver than cod liver oil or any other preparation recommended for that purpose. Mull's Grape Tonic will permanently cure the most obstinate case of constipation, and the numerous afflictions that invariably follow in its wake. No matter if it is piles, liver complaint, kidney disorder, vertigo, palpitation of the heart, diarrhoea or the self-poisoning which follows when the undigested food remains in the bowels where it putrefies and empties highly diseased germs into the blood, such as typhoid and malaria, Mull's Grape Tonic will positively cure. Large sample bottle will be sent free to any address on receipt of 10 cents to cover postage, by the Lightning Medicine Co., Rock Island, Ill. Send name of your druggist. All druggists sell Mull's Grape Tonic at 50 cents a bottle.
