Crinoline must be coming into fashion again, as Vassar college needs six new buildings.

Rice may be declared a contraband of war. Well, let's be glad it is neither beans nor prunes.

Schwab broke one of the banks at Monte Carlo the other day. They are probably drawing him on.

The name of the Emperor of Korea is Hi-Li. For the next few months his highness had better lie low.

Somebody at Port Arthur ought to be able to set up a fine business in scrap iron when the trouble is over.

"Panamans" is the official word. And it ought not to be objected to by those who call themselves "Americans."

The news comes from London that the Prince of Wales is not coming to the St. Louis exposition. Sorry for the prince.

The Japanese shell that discovered the Newsky works at Port Arthur confirmed the suspicion that there was such a place.

The New York Mail states that a professor of Greek has been arrested for begging. Got tired of digging for roots, perhaps.

Did Mr. Spreckels fancy Santos-Dumont was flying too high when he aspired for the hand of the sugar magnate's daughter?

Herr Corried says the proposed production of "Parsifal" in English would be a "desecration" for heaven's sake. Let it go at that!

Laureate Austin is said to be incubating a poem on the Japanese victories. Somebody should shoe Mr. Austin off the nest.

The crown prince of Germany may take comfort in the thought that he's not the only young fellow hopelessly ensnared by the American girl.

A bunch of celluloid roses was responsible for the latest Chicago theater fire. Here is one more argument against the celluloid collar style.

One of Ibsen's plays has been stopped in Chicago because of a fear of spontaneous combustion. Chicago is taking no chances on these things now.

New Jersey comes forward with a woman highwayman. No, she didn't go through her husband's pockets. She held up a woman who kept a restaurant.

It will be time enough for us to rejoice over the soaring price of wheat for export when we find out how it is to affect the price of bread for home consumption.

A Chicago caskef manufacturer drew $60,000 in a lottery. If he had remained steadily at work a more certain thing than a lottery would have paid him as well.

President Harper declares that students at the University of Chicago are affected with "mind-wandering." They have probably been taking their professors too seriously.

The quartermaster's clerk who was discharged for insisting on spelling "route" with an "e" is said to be a native of Chicago. It's absolutely certain he isn't from Boston.

The Korean army has been ordered to join the Japs in the field. In order to cause panic among the Korean soldiers it will only be necessary for the Russians to shoot their hats.

The popping of champagne corks gave an alarm of fire in a New York hotel. Might be a great anti-prohibition argument, if it were not for the fact that ginger ale would do the same thing.

A prisoner in a Brooklyn police station refuses to eat anything and has lost forty pounds since his arrest. If all prisoners would refuse to eat, the tax rate might be brought down to where it ought to be.

The German court which decided against the use of the red necktie seems to have taken the matter with an amusing seriousness, but there are lots of people in the United States who applaud the finding.

Peru and Ecuador have submitted their boundary dispute to the king of Spain for final decision. We shall content ourselves with commending the principle of arbitration without commenting upon the arbitrator.

Admiral Togo's plan of stepping in giving the enemy a few swift jabs and then making a quick getaway before receiving any damage must commend itself forcibly to the judgment of Mr. Corbett and other great American strategists.

Is it any wonder that the rooster crows? A Missouri farmer hauled a load of baled hay to town, and on that hay he carried a basket of eggs. Both the hay and the eggs were sold at market price, and the hay brought only two cents more than the eggs.

During the three months that the plant has been under municipal control its net earnings have been in the neighborhood of $2,000.

Alfred C. Georgesen, a religious fanatic, who was imbued with the idea that the Creator instructed him to fire the building of J. E. Bartlett, a prominent business man of Jackson, was sentenced to the Ionia reformatory for not more than five years, nor less than one year.

THE RUSSO-JAP WAR.

COMMANDERS OF RIVAL FLEETS.

Admiral Uru is, according to the best obtainable information, in command of the Japanese squadron which bombarded Vladivostok and is searching for the Russian squadron commanded by Capt. Reitzenstein. If it has not already met and destroyed it, as reported, Admiral Uru is a graduate of the United States naval academy and his wife was graduated from Vassar.

A Dash for Vladivostok. It is strangely believed in Tokio that the Russian fleet abandoned Port Arthur after the fourth attack was made upon it by the Japanese fleet and is endeavoring to reach Vladivostok.

Nothing Doing. There is no truth in the rumor that the Russians have abandoned Port Arthur. Admiral Mizu, secretary of the commission on far eastern affairs, authorizes the Associated Press to deny the story. He says the situation at Port Arthur is unchanged, and that nothing of importance has occurred there in the last 24 hours.

Two Bosts Sunk at Port Arthur. The Russian torpedo boat flotilla left Port Arthur at broad daylight Friday morning and attacked the Japanese fleet. One Japanese torpedo boat destroyer, the Bezposhchadny, was sunk, and one Russian torpedo boat was sunk. The fate of the latter's crew is not known.

Mormon Power. That Reed Smoot could not have been elected to the United States senate without having first been chosen as an apostle of the Mormon church and that after he was so chosen he could not have been defeated, was asserted by Judge Owen Hiles, assistant United States attorney from 1883 to 1894, and later a judge of the district court of Utah, who was a witness to day in the Smoot case before the committee on privileges and elections.

Making Good Money. The Examiner says that the San Francisco mint is making United States coin for the Japanese government, the gold being sent here for exchange into money, which will be used in the purchase of food and other supplies for the army and navy. The last two steamers from the Orient have each brought $2,000,000 worth of gold bullion from Japan.

Desperate Battle. The desperate character of the battle between the Russian and Japanese torpedo boat destroyers in the action of March 10 off Port Arthur is revealed in Admiral Togo's reports. The Japanese torpedo flotilla opened the action by boldly steaming in under the batteries and successfully placing a number of mechanical mines at the mouth of the harbor.

To Be Hanged. Hanging for all was the verdict of the jury in the first murder case against the so-called Chicago "bar bar" bandits, Harry Van Dine, Peter Nickelmeyer and Gustav Marx. They attacked yesterday by a desperate, bloody battle that started in a "bang-out" near Liverpool, Ind., where the trio had taken refuge after a series of remarkable crimes, including the murder of two employees of the Chicago City Railway at one of the company's barns in that city, the motive in each instance being robbery.

CONDENSED NEWS. The Japanese government has enlisted in Canada several volunteers for service in the Mikado's army. Milwaukee harbor is filled with ice to a depth of 40 feet, according to the weekly report of ice conditions by the weather bureau.

Over 20,000 worshippers and sight-seers crowded into the Church of St. Nicholas, Brooklyn, to witness the consecration of Raphael Hawaweeny as Bishop Raphael, the first ceremony of the kind in the Russian church in America.

Except as to a charge of neglect of duty, the navy department has completely exonerated Paymaster Harry Earl Biscoe, formerly of the Oregon, and recently tried by court martial and convicted of numerous charges, including a shortage in accounts. The trouble arose over a matter of criticism between the paymaster and Admiral Evans.

Two children and the wife of J. H. Goeke, a prominent attorney of Waukegan, Ill., were asphyxiated in the family home. The children were Gladys, aged 10 and Winifred, aged 5. Commodore Perry's old flagship, the Niagara, which was sunk in battle in 1812, and now lies off the peninsula of Presque Isle in Lake Erie, is to be raised and housed as a free national relic. It is a $10,000 appropriation now before the house goes through.

After three hours debate on the feasibility of an experimental torpedo boat, the senate passed the fortification appropriation bill. The $200,000 item for the purchase of sites for the defense of Hawaii, which had been cut out in committee, was reinstated, and raised to $226,000.

Over 30 years of intermittent work the great tunnel has been completed beneath the Hudson river, connecting New York and Jersey City. It is the first of a pair of tunnels for fast passenger traffic. Chief Engineer Jacob's plans carried out so perfectly that there was not the deviation of a hair's breadth when the ends of the tunnel met under midstream.

Robert Seaman, aged 80, who was renowned in 1835 by marrying "Nellie Bly," the authoress, is dead at his New York home from injuries following a runaway three years ago. He was president of the Iron Clad Manufacturing Co.

FRIDAY, MARCH 18, 1904.

Accident to an Old Gentleman.

While James Johnson was walking in the vicinity of the P. M. railroad track on Ann Arbor street, Friday forenoon, he slipped and fell on the icy sidewalk breaking his right hip. Albert Stever, driver of Gayde's meat wagon found him lying on the walk and placing him in the wagon took him to his home on Bowery street. Dr. Tillapaugh was called and made the patient as comfortable as possible, but owing to his advanced age, being over 80 years old, it is not thought that he will recover from the shock.

Woman's Literary Club.

On March 11th, the Woman's Literary Club held its 12th regular meeting. In the absence of Miss Hanford, Mrs. E. W. Chaffee took charge of the Shakespeare lesson. The program was given by the 4th division. Mrs. H. M. Jackson gave a paper on Classicism, and Mrs. S. H. Root, chairman, gave an interesting talk on the painters and their work of the classical period of French painting, also the picture study—"Rape of the Sabine"—David. The timely topic—Forestry—was ably given by Mrs. Holbrook. Adjourned to meet Mar. 25th.—Sec.

Wool Market Steady.

Boston, March 15.—The wool market holds in a steady position with a fair demand in evidence. There is, however, a decided lack of snap in the trading. Dealers are inclined to sell as much as possible of the old wool in anticipation of the new clip and because higher values are not looked for. Fleece wools are steady. The price for Ohio washed delaines holds firm at 35c, while for unwashed and unmerchantable Ohio delaines about 26@26½c is the price with unwashed clothing grades at 24c. Michigan delaine is quotable at about 32@33½c. For one-quarter and three-eighths blood unwashed wools the price is firm at 25½@26c for Ohio and 24c for others. Half-blood unwashed fleeces continue scarce and firm with Ohio at 25½@26c and Michigan at 24@24½c.

Brakeman Killed at Northville.

Brakeman Rodney Vaughn, of the Pere Marquette lost his life early Friday morning last, the accident happening at Northville. The train was passing that village when Vaughn stepped out of the cupola of the caboose onto the roof, not noticing that it was covered with a thin coating of ice. No sooner had he stepped out when his feet flew from under him and he slid from the roof of the car, striking on the bridge of the Yerkes mill-pond and from there to the ice below. The train continued on to Plymouth where he was missed by the train crew. The engine and caboose went back, the train men looking carefully in the darkness for the missing brakeman, but he was not discovered until the mill-pond was reached, when the engineer noticed a "bundle" of something lying on the ice. Vaughn was yet alive and he begged to be taken to Saginaw where he might see his wife and child before he died. Dr. Henry of Northville, attended the sufferer and the train was run back to Plymouth where permission from proper officers was obtained, the freight engine given right of way and with all the speed possible, the journey to Saginaw was made. His wife had been notified of the accident and when the ambulance bearing the injured man arrived at the hospital, she was there to meet it. Vaughn lived but half an hour after his arrival at the hospital. He was well-known among the railroad men at this station and they expressed regret at his untimely death.

Auction Sales.

On account of the severe snow storm Monday last, the auction sale of Wm T. Rattenbury, Jr., has been postponed until Monday, March 22nd, at 9 o'clock. Having sold his farm, Thomas Fox will sell at public auction on the premises, one mile east of Perrinville and two miles south of Elm station, on the old Ann Arbor road, on Wednesday, March 23, at 9 o'clock, all the farm stock and implements, including four head of horses and 18 head of cattle. Lunch at noon. John Bennett, auctioneer. Chas. Hawkins will sell at public auction ¼ mile north and ¼ mile east of Perrinville, on Saturday, March 26, at one o'clock P. M., one pair horses, four cows and farming implements of all kinds. John Bennett, auctioneer.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

By Robert Jolliffe, Clifton Jackson, Louise Gents and Florence Durfee.

Some of the students of the high school and the seventh and eighth grades are working hard on parts they are to render at a Beethoven concert which is to be given in the near future. With the help of outside musicians a pleasant programme is looked forward to. The exact date set will be given as soon as possible.

Several of the students of the high school are enjoying the novelty of "Ben Hur" this week.

Eight students of the high school are preparing for an oratorical contest at the high school room the second Friday of April. Don't forget the date. There will be something to interest all thinkers.

Louis XIV used to begin his speeches with, "after me comes the deluge." Well it seems that his ghost was talking in the hall last Wednesday afternoon, because someone accidentally broke a two quart jar of acid and found out the results, especially the boys down stairs who received some of the acid tears on their face.

The Botany class are dissecting flowers this week.

The Physical laboratory has recently received some electrical supplies valued at $180.

The General History class is being pestered with those mean old things, tests, now a days. It is just as well the public does not know the outcome of some of them.

The Physics class is studying the interesting subject of electricity now. The boys take great delight in receiving the sparks—from the wheel though.

To save a few of the feminine souls of the high school from dying of fright one of the teachers of this school proved herself a genuine heroine. A poor little innocent mouse was lying on a coat in the hall, when the owner picked up the coat to put it on. The mouse jumped to the floor and started on the run with the teacher after it. The fleetness of the tutor proved too much for the little creature, and in a short time the foot of the pursuer came down with a tremendous thump on the little animal, and then, poor mouse.

Wanted—A free mail carrier to convey notes about the school rooms. Good salary. Send applications to Prof. J. E. Mealley.

Frank Fitzgerald, a former student of this school, but now of Kalamazoo, visited old friends in the school yesterday.

Miss Bessie Hood of the eighth grade entertained several of her school friends to a leap year party last Friday night. Progressive pit was indulged in, after which, Clifton Jackson and Ina Dunn were presented the first prizes and Howard Killian and Edith Robinson the booty prizes. All report a good time.

A. C. sincerely hopes that the party who speculated the orange from the hall tree, Monday night after school, enjoyed it more than the rightful owner would have.

One of the Sophomore boys seems to have a fascination for a back seat as near as possible to the Senior girls. All manner of treatment has failed to remind him that he is out of place. Even tacks won't keep him away. Everybody is wondering what the attraction is.

The class in Physical Geography are enjoying sketches from Mark Twain's, "Innocents Abroad," quite applicable you see.

We can't play base ball, the ground won't allow us to play foot ball, the girls can't play basket ball so they are all depending upon snow ball for their exercise.

The water pipes at the school house have thawed out and the students are again able to refresh themselves with a drink.

A change has taken place, and now we have chapel three times each week. The snowy weather cuts off the attendance of the children are so small they are unable to come.

Miss Smith was welcomed back by her pupils, Monday, after a week's illness.

The scholars of Miss Entrican's room are enjoying their monthly tests.

It is time for report cards again and Oh! how some of us do hate to receive them.

The fifth grade have two new pupils, Charles Gale and Hazel Reed.

The Algebra class have decided to let the girls have the honors as Carrie Baker is now the swiftest worker.

Miss Hawthorne and Miss McKinnon visited Ann Arbor to hear Bryan lecture on "The Value of Ideas."

More Notes.

Disturbances of strikers are not nearly as grave as an individual disorder of the system. Overwork, loss of sleep, nervous tension will be followed by utter collapse, unless a reliable remedy is immediately employed. There's nothing so efficient to cure disorders of the liver or kidneys as Electric Bitters. It's a wonderful tonic and effective nerve and the greatest all round medicine for run down systems. It dispels nervousness, rheumatism and neuralgia and expels malaria germs. Only 50c and satisfaction guaranteed by J. L. Gale and The Wolverine Drug Co.

W. C. T. U.

The question is often asked, What are those W. C. T. U. women doing anyhow? It may not be out of place to mention some of the National laws which the National W. C. T. U. has helped to secure. Temperance teaching in all schools supported by public money in the territories, District of Columbia, Indian schools and naval academies; the law for the better protection of girls in the District of Columbia; the bill which requires the closing of the gates to visitors on Sunday during the St. Louis Fair; the anti-canteen law; the bill forbidding the sale of liquors at immigrant stations; the provision for inspectors or matrons to meet and look after unprotected girl and women immigrants; the bill to protect the Pacific Islands from rum, opium and firearms, and the act which resulted in retiring Brigham Roberts from the United States Congress. The W. C. T. U., true to its "do everything" policy, founded on purity total abstinence and prohibition, is working unceasingly for other reform measures.—Supt. Press.

Two Terms Enough.

Detroit Journal:—That old-fashioned political rule, two terms and out, does not govern the activities of the present incumbents of county offices this year. With the exception of Sheriff Dickson and some of the minor county officials, the "ins" are more than willing to remain in the marble palace, while the "outs" are not unusually clamorous. Prosecutor Hunt has served two terms but wants another. County Clerk W. H. McGregor has been in his office three terms and is making a stiff fight for another, although Under Sheriff Lou Himes expects to contest the nomination with him. Auditor Hawley Christian is another two-term man who has a strong following, backing him for a third race. There is an eager field of a dozen or so aspirants lined up against him. Ex County Treasurer Buhner is said to be a candidate again for the place which is now held by a Democrat, Fred F. Snow. The two circuit court commissioners, Sam May and George Corlette, are candidates for re-nomination, and up to this time D. A. Straker and Geo. Carlyle are the only ones who have shied their castors into that ring.

RUTS

The walking sick, what a crowd of them there are! Persons who are thin and weak but not sick enough to go to bed.

"Chronic cases" that's what the doctors call them, which in common English means—long sickness.

To stop the continued loss of flesh they need Scott's Emulsion. For the feeling of weakness they need Scott's Emulsion.

It makes new flesh and gives new life to the weak system.

Scott's Emulsion gets thin and weak persons out of the rut. It makes new, rich blood, strengthens the nerves and gives appetite for ordinary food.

Scott's Emulsion can be taken as long as sickness lasts and do good all the time.

There's new strength and flesh in every dose.

We will be glad to send you a few doses free. Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy. SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 409 Pearl St., N. Y. 30c. and $1. all druggists.

E. L. RIGGS

Two severe cases of Ovarian Trouble and two terrible operations avoided. Mrs. Emmons and Mrs. Coleman each tell how they were saved by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am so pleased with the results obtained from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I feel it a duty and a privilege to write you about it.

"I suffered for more than five years with ovarian troubles, causing an unpleasant discharge, a great weakness, and at times a faintness would come over me which no amount of medicine, diet, or exercise seemed to correct. Your Vegetable Compound found the weak spot, however, within a few weeks—and saved me from an operation—all my troubles had disappeared, and I found myself once more healthy and well. Words fail to describe the real, true, grateful feeling that is in my heart, and I want to tell every sick and suffering sister. Don't dally with medicines you know nothing about, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and take my word for it, you will be a different woman in a short time."—Mrs. LAURA EMMONS, Walkerville, Ont.

Another Case of Ovarian Trouble Cured Without an Operation.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—For several years I was troubled with ovarian trouble and a painful and inflamed condition, which kept me in bed part of the time. I did so dread a surgical operation. "I tried different remedies hoping to get better, but nothing seemed to bring relief until a friend who had been cured of ovarian trouble, through the use of your compound, induced me to try it. I took it faithfully for three months, and at the end of that time was glad to find that I was a well woman. Health is nature's best gift to woman, and if you lose it and can have it restored through Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I feel that all suffering women should know of this."—Mrs. LAURA BELLE COLEMAN, Commercial Hotel, Nashville, Tenn.

It is well to remember such letters as above when some druggist tries to get you to buy something which he says is "just as good." That is impossible, as no other medicine has such a record of cures as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; accept no other and you will be glad.

Don't hesitate to write to Mrs. Pinkham if there is anything about your sickness you do not understand. She will treat you with kindness and her advice is free. No woman ever regretted writing her and she has helped thousands. Address Lynn, Mass.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

BLUE IS WOMEN'S FAVORITE.

Care More for It Than Any Other Color.

"Colors in dress often reveal the heart secrets of women, though they know it not," remarks a woman writer. "Men would unconsciously do the same thing, if custom permitted them to wear colors as it does women, but if they are barred out in a general way, specifically their neckties frequently tell things about them. Yellow is the color of light cheerfulness, and the girl who is fond of wearing it is usually of a light, cheery nature. Pink is the color of love, and it is really remarkable to see how an engaged girl, deeply enamored of her fiance, will, without knowing just why, take to wearing pink ribbons and begin to speak of gowns either wholly or partly pink as 'such loves of things' that she wished she owned.

"Blue is the color of the good and true, and I am glad to know that most women are fond of it, and usually have at least one blue gown in their wardrobe. The average person has never noticed it, but the woman without honesty in her nature cares little for blue. If there is a fad for the color, she will wear it under protest, but the woman who is good and true loves it, and confesses openly to it. Even if she doesn't do this the unconscious affinity of her nature for that color expresses itself in the touch of blue she will give her costumes, or in the blue ribbons with which she will adorn her lingerie. Did you ever hear of a bride's trousseau having red ribbons among its adornments? It is usually found that blue and pink predominate, nay, they are generally the exclusive ornaments of the lingerie especially.

Won His Gift Back.

The fact that cats always instinctively find their way home is rather remarkably illustrated by a story told by a young man who lives in Germantown, says the Philadelphia Record. He is an expert in the art of pyrography, and about a year ago he presented a girl of his acquaintance with a burnt-wood box, which seemed to be highly appreciated as a specimen of his own handiwork. One evening last week the young pyrographer attended a raffle where the ladies had presented the prizes for the contest. The young gallant, taking a hand, won the identical box he had presented to the young lady. On recognizing his own handiwork, and being somewhat of a wag, he took the box home, and on the under side burned a grotesque figure of a cat, with the inscription over the head, "The cat came back," and at the feet, "You can't lose me." With this addition to the already much ornamented box was returned to the girl who had so kindly donated it to help make the eucyre a success.

Her Aim.

Mrs. Fraughton was downcast and trembling now, and it seemed hardly possible to realize that only a few hours before she had, single-handed, faced a couple of desperate burglars and vanquished them. Such, however, was the case, and a detective was questioning her as to the circumstances.

"And I understand that after you had warned the man not to attempt to break into your house, and he had disregarded the warning, you, without more ado, raised your pistol and fired?"

"Yes," she answered. "It was awfully wicked of me, but I did."

"What became of the man you shot?"

"The other burglar carried him away."

"Which other burglar?"

"Why, the one I aimed at," she said, simply.

Live Nobly.

I will make use of life.
Full use, best use. Let come what will.
"This life, and life my cup shall fill,
Or sweet, or bitter be the draught,
Roots not, but how cup is drained,
What but of aches or sweet wine
Dish or of life, becometh mine.
From life, my God-appointed fate,
What good shall I appropriate?
Be such my spirit's quarry;
God fixed my lot—but left me free!

Out of all stress and strife,
Out of all disappointments, pain,
"What deathless profit shall I gain?
If sorrow cometh, shall it slay?
Or shall I bear a song away?
When wave and tide against me lift,
Shall I still steer my course of drift?
Soul, nerve thyself to such as these
Deep problems, sacred destinies;
It matters not what fate may give;
The best is thine—nobly live!"
—John Buckham.

King Has Good Memory.

King Edward's memory for faces is (as generally known) extraordinarily good, but equally so is his power of promptly recalling the names and where and when he has met persons he is suddenly confronted with—gifts which do not always go together. An evidence of the king's accuracy in both respects once occurred at Newcastle, where his majesty (then prince of Wales) was attending a show. Stopping on his progress through the crowd he accosted a gentleman by name, reminding him that they had been introduced at a certain public function in another provincial town some years previously.

One More Mistake.

Not long ago I was passing along a by-road just outside the city, and looking to one side, could just see the outline of a buggy. Suddenly, and with no apparent propelling force, the vehicle moved rapidly around the corner and disappeared into the darkness.

Fearing that the possible occupant of the buggy might figure in a runaway, and wishing to prevent an accident, I called very loudly four or five times "Whoa!" at the top of my lungs. The carriage stopped slowly, and a hoarse voice replied, "Shut up, you fool; can't I run my buggy into my own shed."—Providence Telegram.

"During one of my visits through the country districts," said the professor, "I happened to reach a small village where they were to have a flag-raising at the schoolhouse. After the banner had been 'flung to the breeze' there was an exhibition of drawings which the pupils had made and of the work they had done during the year.

"The teacher recited to them the 'Landings of the Pilgrims,' and after she had finished, she requested each pupil to try and draw from his or her imagination a picture of Plymouth Rock.

"Most of them went to work at once, but one little fellow hesitated and at length raised his hand.

"Well, Willie, what is it?" asked the teacher.

"Please, ma'am, do you want us to draw a hen or a rooster?"—Philadelphia Press.

THE MAN OF BEAUTY

NOT DESIRABLE AS EITHER HUSBAND OR BROTHER.

Woman Writer Points Out His Numerous Shortcomings—At That, He Compares Very Favorably With the Beauty of Fifty Years Ago.

The handsome man is a mistake, according to an aggrieved person who feels herself qualified to speak on the subject. She has been investigating him in various roles and declares that as a lover he is unsatisfactory, as a husband a failure and as a brother a nuisance. His fiancée of a good-looking man has to pay dearly for her capture of an Adonis. She lives in a state of perpetual siege against a host of her rivals, and has to run the gauntlet of such remarks as: "I wonder what that handsome Mr. Jones can see in that Enid Smith," and "Isn't it funny how good looking men always marry such plain wives?"

Her troubles are all augmented when she becomes a young mother. She has to stoically endure her husband's flirtations with other women—who will flatter him if she will not—and to smile amiably when Mrs. Robinson praises Jack and Muriel; "such pretty children; so like their father!" Last, but not least, she must skip her wardrobe, while her attractive husband spends on his ties and socks what the ugly man would have concentrated cheerfully on his wife's fur coat, says the Philadelphia Inquirer.

As a brother the handsome man is certainly not an unmixed blessing. From the first moment he opens his "beautiful" eyes he is the idol of an adoring mother, who displays to his moral shortcomings a more than beetle-like obtuseness. As he grows older she palliates his love for pleasure and his disinclination for work by the excuse: "Jack is so good-looking he is sure to marry an heiress if he goes into society."

The sister of the handsome man is only asked to parties where the hostess dare not ask him without her, and she is ordered to be civil to all sorts of people, who detest her, but admire "Jack." Then the handsome brother is generally a woman's man, which means that Jack will not bring men friends home to smoke and play ping-pong and fall in love with his sister. If the modern girl could have her choice in such a matter she would plump unreservedly for a plain, good-natured, ordinary brother, who would contentedly accept the back seat allotted by the twentieth century women to the "mere man."

Troublesome though the handsome brother undoubtedly is, it is probable that, in spite of all her protestations, her royal highness, woman, will continue to admire and marry him. The handsome man of to-day certainly compares favorably with the "pretty" man of fifty years ago. That popular hero was narrow-chested, puny and pink-and-white, while black whiskers inevitably "adorned" his thin cheeks. To-day the handsome man is sturdier, well set up, and muscular, for mere beauty of feature will count for very little. He may not be industrious, but he is wise enough to play football and golf, and is, by the way, almost as conceited of his prowess in these directions as of his classic nose and chin and "beautiful" eyes.

Why He Wanted a Bible.
On McKinley's birthday President Roosevelt, the cabinet officers, and all the Washington officials wore pink carnations. The memory of McKinley was in many minds, and many were the McKinley anecdotes that were pensively told.
Congressman Dick of Akron said: "McKinley was always good to the poor. When he lived in Canton he had each winter a great stock of blankets, shoes, potatoes, Bibles, and so forth that he would distribute where they were needed most.

"One day he gave a Bible to a newsboy. He would not have ventured upon such a gift as this had not the newsboy asked for the book."
"I am glad," Mr. McKinley said to the lad, "that you want a Bible. Are you not happy now that you have gotten one?"
"Yes, sir," said the boy. "I know a place where I can trade it off for a fiddle."—Buffalo Enquirer.

Old Blackjacks.
Leather bottles, or blackjacks, were common in Europe two centuries ago. The bottles were often made of one skin doubled up and closely stitched together, leaving an aperture for the neck. The thick piece between was inserted for the stop; it was meant to be slung at the back, a leather thong passed through two loops placed on either side of the neck, and it was sufficiently flat at the base to stand when put down. The stopper was made of wood, horn or old leather. A good deal of care was required in the preparation of the leather, which had to be oiled and worked with hammers to make it supple and then washed with a lye, so that all the impurity was entirely removed, leaving the leather clean and dry. No moisture or air had any effect on it. Blackjacks were in various sizes. They were sometimes pitched inside.
