NEWBURG.

As our new pastor, Rev. Dutton, will not be with us next Sabbath, Dr. Caster will conduct the services, which the fair is sorry.

Reports says Harry Peters and Dors time. Sunday-school immediately af-

The L. A. S. was well attended Friday last, 45 partaking of a fine supper. Arrangements were made for their annual fair and home coming, which will be held in the hall Friday afternoon and evening, Oct. 25th. Every one is kindly solicited to furnish something for the various booths:

Visitors from away who attended the Gale of Lynn, Mass., Mrs. Sayles of Stockbridge and Mrs. Allen of Jackson, and Mrs. Cooper of Bellingham, Wash.
C. Mackender's sisters, Mesdames

Sales and Allen, have been visiting at his home recently. James Norris and family of Detroit spent Sunday at the parental home in Newburg.

Mrs. James LeVan has returned home from Higgins Lake. Miss Ada Youngs is visiting relatives in the northern part of the State.

Mrs. R. Barnes attended the W. C. T. U. meeting and tea at Mrs. Knapp's in Plymouth last Thursday.

Mrs. W. R. LeVan and daughter Margaret made a trip to Detroit Satur-

The implicit confidence that many people have in Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is founded on their experience in the use of that remedy and their knowledge in the many remarkable cures of colic, diarrhoea and dysentery that it has effected. For sale by all dealers.

PIKE'S PEAK.

Bertha Cady visited Myrtle Chambers

Chas. Wright last Friday.

Mrs. John Avery and family at Wayne Sunday.

STARK.

Mrs. Ike Gunsolly of Plymouth came down to Rose Lawn Saturday and with the rest of the family helped Mrs. Sara Hoisington celebrate her 78th birthday. A dainty supper was served and a beau-tiful birthday cake was the center piece on the table. We wish that she may ee many more birthdays.

Mrs. Ed. Egloff of Detroit spent a few days with her father and sister, C.

E. Maynard.

Mrs. Harlow has returned from a two weeks' visit at the home of her parents. Mr. Hubert tried to commit suicide by hanging himself one day last week, but was discovered by his granddaughter in time to cut him down and save his life.

Frank Seiting is driving a new auto these days. Good for you, Frank. Mrs. W. H. Coats spent Wednesday at Rose Lawn.

Alford Bell is putting a new roof on his house, which is a very pretay home

Robert Millard and wife of Detroit spent Sunday with his brother and wife

An article that has real merit should in time become popular. That such is the case with Chamberlain's Cough Ramedy has been attested by many dealers. Here is one of them. H. w. not blow down—we will supply you. The such cough Ramedy is the best for cough colde and or you, and is the best for coughs colde and or you, and is the best for coughs.

WEST PLYMOUTH.

Mrs. Paul Groth and buby dang of Plymouth are spending the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Holts. Mrs. P. L. Becker left Tuesday for an extended visit with her son Voyle and wife at Tyrone. J. J. Lucas of Vassar, Mich., spent the week at Emory Shook's. Mr. Lu-cas is helping his son Festus construct a small cottage on his lot in Detroit, to replace his house which was burned.

Mrs. Lucas has been visiting her rela tives in Onio since the fire. Several of Lyman O'Bryan's school-ates, pleasantly surprised him last riday afternoon on the occasion of his

Mary Brown of Plymouth sportage and Sunday with her leles Smith.

LIVONIA CENTER.

Reports says Harry Peters and Dora Helm were married some time ago and it has just leaked out. Congratulation: I Miss Bina Eckles and Paul Lee visited at H. C. Peck's in Canton Sunday.

Charles Wolf's people entertained friends from the city Sunday.

Ethan A. Lapham and Dr. Woodbridge of Detroit visited at ugh Peters' Thursday. Little Margaret Melow is on the sick

Miss Bertha Each visited her sister Mrs. Will Cort, from Sunday until Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Leach were up to the old farm Sunday.

W. C. T. U.

We had a delightful meeting at Mrs. Knapp's last week Thursday. There were about fifty present, including members and guests. The program as published was not carried out, but some current events were given and items upon the suffrage question, which is a a matter of great interest in our State at the present time. Mrs. James Handford gave us a cordial invitation to hold our next meeting, Sept. 26th, with her, which was accepted. The leaders are Mrs. Hodge and Miss Ursula Hartsough and the subject is "The Medicine Chest, what it Should and what it Should Not Contain," "Typhoid Mary" and gleanings from Frances E. Willard's life.

Mrs. Ellen R. Richardson, president New Hampshire W. C. T. U., says: "The smallest Union is an important feature in the work of the W. C. T. U. As a traveler passes through Switzer-Monday.

Mr. Markey, who had a paralytic "Don't touch anything like that."; stroke Wednesday, is gaining slowly.

"Why?" "There is a pile of snow a "through fact high which flake upon land, the guide warns him to be careful Mrs. Adelaide Baehr visited Mrs. thousand feet high, which, flake upon flake, has been accumulating probably Chas. Wright last r riuay.

Mrs. Joseph Roach and Mrs. Henry for years. A touch, possibly a loud Klatt visited Mrs. Harwood last Thursword, may loosen it, and an avalanche will follow." And here we have it, pil-Mrs. Joseph Roach and family visited ing up flake after flake—a whole mass of Christian conditions, getting heavier and more powerful. In God's own time somebody will speak the word and the avalanche will come, and every saloon in the world will be destroyed."

Advertise Your Auction Sales

Four elements enter into the success of a public sale: You must have the property, the crowd, the auctioneer and good advertising. The advertising is the medium by which a crowd is obtained and it is a crowd that is needed to make the sale a success. A dollar or two or three extra spent in advertising may bring manifold returns in the way of a larger crowd and consequent more spirited bidding.

A well displayed advertisement in the Mail will tell the people of your sale. It is better than a bill posted on the barn or post or laid on the store counter. It will take your sale into the home and open the page at the reading table where every member of the family can pick out the articles needed. The advertisement will be read. The cold and rain and bad weather does not keep the Mail out of the home, thanks to the ru-end ne one any high than Frank J. Boyle of Salem. He is one of the best in the State and for the nest two meaning has conducted fourfifths of the sales in this locality.

An Indianapolie man has sued a ist of that city because the dentist made him a set of false tacth that prevented him from spitting. The authorities of Plymouth should get a line on this dentist with a view of having him equip with his non-spittable teeth some of those fellows who lost around Plymouth

Because they have stood the test and are known to be true. Dr. Harrick's Sugar Coased Pills have been used by more than three generations for relieving billoument disconlined.

And brimming full of woe;
But cease your blaint, old Frewning Face.

'Tis you that make it so.

Offended Sensitive Ear.

Offended Sahaitive Ear.

John Randolph, a past master of cutting invective, once, it is recalled, suppressed an opponent in congress by a similar comment on a slip in pronunciation. "Il pass by the gentleman's errors in chronology," he said, "his misquotations, his faulty logic, his ennoneous reading of history, but"—turning on his adversary—"for God's sake, sir, don't say har-assedi"

Cause of Leprosy Ascertained.
The long discussion over the bacilius of leprosy (it has been going on ever since Hensen claimed discovery of the specific germ forty years ago) appears to be ended. Work during the last year or two at the leper colonies of Guam and Hawaii seems to have proved that the lepra bacillus is the real cause of the disease.

Worth of Clothes.

Worth of Clothes.

The influence of clothes must continue to be, as it has been from the beginning of history, either "sacred or profane," a foremost factor in those forces by which man's destiny is guided. Flis health and comfort, aims and purposes, social standing and business prosperity; everything indeed that makes his life worth living may be affected by it in directions never dreamed of by the tailor whe, if he does not actually make the man, is largely instrumental in making him what he is.—Sartorial Art Journal.

High Prices for Old Furnitus People who dislike to part heir old furnituse may derive their old furniture may derive en-couragement as to the increasing value of such planessions from a re-cent auction sale in France, at which an old sofa and four chairs brought $50,000. The set, however, was bor-ered with Gobella tapestry of the pe-riod of the Regency, and probably cost a goodly sum even when saw. At the same sale a string of pearls brought $55,000.

Dramatic Form of Sciolds.

A variation of the suicide mania has just come to light in Moreous, newthera Italy, where a wealthy manufacturer the other day may a funiastic death. He bought a come, took in his room took his place in the come are setting five as some carbon in his room took his place in the come to a wait death. When the said went to call her master next day abe found a card on his door on which was written: Hring the undertaker to take away my corpse. The police were commenced, and entering the room, they found the coffin with the tid lying on it. In the coffin was the manufacturer, was the coffin with the tid lying on it. In the coffin was the manufacturer, was the decorations. ### Died at 100 Years of Age

In her 100th year and m perfec health up to this week, Mrs. Mary Ann Wheelock died Tuesday in the home of her son, Charles P. Wheelock, 3062 East Grand Boulevard. She was ill only two days, taking to her bed Sun-The wonderful vitality that en day. The wonderful vitality that en-abled her to do her own washing and sewing, to hear and see perfectly at her great age, ended suddenly. Mrs. Wheelock was born in Sullivan ounty, New York, July 25, 1813. In 1829 she came to Washtenaw county with her parents, and three years late married Royal A. Wheelock, settling with him at what is now known as Wheelock's Corners. The district at that time was but sparsely settled.

Mr. Wheelock died in 1876, and since that time his widow had lived, considerable of the time in Plymouth with her on, only survivor of a family of four girls and one boy.

Funeral services were held Thursday at 10 o'clock in the Wheelock home in Detroit, conducted by Rev. E. E. Caster, following which the body was taken to Lapham's cemetery for burial in the

Law Applying to Children in Workshops

Supt. Isbell is in receipt of a letter from Labor Commissioner Powers in which attention is called to the law regulating child labor. Supt. Isbell says the law is being enforced in this village as far as cases have come under his jurisdiction, but that every one may know just what the law is, we print section 10 of Act 285, of the Public Acts of 1909, as follows:

action 10 of Act 285, of the Public Acts of 1909, as follows:

"No child under fourteen years of age shall be employed, permitted or suffered to work in or in connect on with any mercantile institution, store, office, hotel, laundry, manufacturing establishment, mine, bowling alley, theater, passenger or freight elevator, factory or workshop, telegraph or messenger service within this state. It shall be unlawful for any such establement or person to hire or employ, or permit to be hired o employed or suffered to work, any child under the age of sixteen years without there is first provided and placed on file in the business office thereof a permit issued by the superintendent of schools of the school district in which such child resides, or some one duly authorized by him in writing, or where there is no superintendent of schools, or some one duly authorized by him in writing, any one of whom shall have the power to administer oaths in relation thereto or by the judge of probate of the county wherein such child resides."

THE NATIONAL DAIRY SHOW.

As shows and expositions are sur As shows and expositions are sup-posed to emphasize progress, to bring out by comparison new and better methods of operation, and as this is an era of close margin in business, the best minds of the country are con-stantly engaged in evolving low cost of production, and marketing methods. It is reasonable to expect that an industry involving a billion of dollars annually, as does the dairy industry in America, must have the best brains of the day working out improvement in the vast populems that are attached to its many branches. That this stuits many branches. That this stu-pendous industry might receive its proper recognition among the world's activities, a few patriotic men organ-ized this association for the purpose of holding an annual dairy show that-would be a short course in dairy hus-handry unequaled anywhere else, map-ping out a line of work to preduce an adventional event that would supplie. educational event that would supple ment the work of our agricultural col-leges, which was much to be desired in the dairy world, and each recurring show taking advantage of experience gained in the previous shows has im-proved until it is today somewhere near what its founders intend it shall Twelve hundred to fourteen hundred head of the best breeds of dairy cat-tle are promised for exhibition this year, being judged by competent trained experts on type and perfor-mance, with all records of perfor-mance and cost of production avail-able, with what is best in the arts of breeding and feeding developed by masters in the industry placed at the disposal of the visitor, and with the highest achievement of the genius of nan on lines of caring for and mar seting dairy products before you, the '912 show promises to surpass all its predecessors, and it would indeed be laggard who would not justify time and expense of attendance upon this great show. Within its portals the old-timer can gain most useful knowl-edge for his daily farm activities, and edge for his daily tarm activities, and a beginner can equip himself with the groundwork for embarking upon a successful dairy enterprise. The handful of men who commenced this show have been supplemented by several hundred others from all over the country who from contact were con-vinced of the integrity of purpose of its founders and desired to become identified with the work undertaken. As success each year crowns the efforts of the management, the feeling takes root with the dairy people that this show should be the mecca to progress should make an annual pi grimage and bring their fellows with grimage and bring their fellows with them in goodly numbers.

This show is the mart for exchange of experiences and ideas that have made or broke those following the lines disclosed. It is the mart where all that is best in dairying, be it breeding, feeding, fitting for show yard, or developing to the highest standard of production for market purposes is discussed; where all that is unodern in farm and dairy machinery is displayed in practical manner. Here is displayed in practical manner. Here the east meets the west; the young-ster rubs elbows with the veteran. In fact, no fair or exposition can hope to attain the value and importance that this exposition has attained. It stands today honestly administered for the dairy industry as a whole; it knows no breed or interest above another and is the highest exponent of all that is best in dairying. The seventh annual show, better equipped. with all features of merit amplified, new and instructive features added in the government educational exhibit, no matter what character of stock raising he is engaged in a day or two spent at the show must be helpful to the man who wants to advance in his methods and make more money from his farm. It is a farmer's show, the less pretentious scale you farm on the more need you have of its teachings. The railroads are doing a great work along their respective lines and they, together with the agricultural and dairy press, are rendering valuable support to this show. This show is held in Chicago every year. This year October 24 to November 2. Adv.

The Train Wrecker.
The train-butcher, eatering the Observation Room, found only a loving servation Room, found only a loving couple. He took in at a glance their desire for solitude. A large part of his business was the forcing of wares on people who did not want them.

His voice and his method suggested the mosquito. Seeing Mailory and Marjorie mutually absorbed in read-ing each other's eyes, and evidently in need of nothing on earth less than something else to read, the train-butcher decided that his best plan of butcher decided that his best plan of attack was to make himself a nuisance. It is a plan successfully adopted by organ-grinders, street planists and other blackmailers under the guise of art, who have nothing so welcome to sell as their absence. Mallory and Marjorie heard the train-boy's hum, but they tried to ignore it.

"Papers, gents and ladies? Yes?
o? Paris fashions, lady?"

No? Paris fashions, lady?"

He shoved a large periodical between their very noses, but Marjorie threw it on the floor, with a bitter glance at her own borrowed plumage:

"Don't show me any Paris fash-ions!" Then she gave the boy his conge by resuming her chat with Mal-lory: "How long do we stop at Og-den?"

The train-boy went right on and tioning his papers and magazines, and poking them into the laps of his prey. And they went right on talking to one another and pushing his paper and magazines to the floor

"I think I'd better get off at Og-den, and take the next train back. That's just what I'll do. Nothing, thank you!" this last to the train-

"But you can't leave me the ma, Mallory urged excitedly, with a side glance of "No, no!" to the train-boy. "I can, and I must, and I will," Mar-jorie insisted. "I'll go pack my things

"Merjorie, if you talk that way—1'll throw you off the train!"

She gasped. He explained: "I wasn't talking to you; I was trying to stop this phonograph." Then he rose, and laid violent hands on the rose, and laid violent hands on the annoyer, showed him to the corridor, seized his bundle of papers from his arm, and hursed them at his head. They fell in a shower about the trainbuebler, who could only feel a certain respect for the one man who had ever treated him as he knew he deserved. He bent to yiek up his scattered merchandise, and when he had gathered his stock together, put his bend his, and sung out a sincere:

thing?" she retorted, in equal desperation. "If I were a man, and I had the girl I loved on a train. I'd get her married if I had to wreck the—" she caught her breath, paused a second in intense thought, and a second in intense thought, and then, with sudden radiance, cried:
"Harry, dear!"
"Yes, love!"
"Yes, love!"
"Yes, love!"
"Yes, love!"

"Yes, love!"
"I have an idea—an inspiration!,"
"Yes, pet," rather dubiously from him, but with absolute emitation from ter: "Let's wreck the train!"

"I don't follow you, sweetheart."
"Don't you see?" she began excitediy. "When there are train wrecks a lot of people get killed, and things.
A minister always turns up to adminster the last something or other—well—"

"Well?"
"Well, stupid, don't you see? We wreck a train, a minister comes, we hab him, he marries us, and—there we are! Everything's lovely!"

He gave her one of those looks with which a man usually greets what a woman calls an inspiration. He did not honor her invention with analysis. He simply put forward an objection to it, and, man-like, chose the most hateful of all objections:

"It's a lovely idea, but the wreck would delay us for hours and hours, and I'd miss my transport—"
"Harry Mallory, if you mention that dious transport to me again, I know I'll have hydrophobia. I'm going

"But, darling," he pleaded, can't desert me now, and leave me to go on alone?" She had her answer

"If you really loved me, you'd-"Oh, I know," he cut in. "You've said that before. But I'd be court-martialed. I'd lose my career."
"What's a career to a man who truly loves?"

"It's just as much as it is to anybody else-and more.' She could hardly controvert this

She could hardly controvert this gracefully, so she sank back with grim resignation. "Well, I've proposed my plan, and you don't like it. Now, suppose you propose something." The slence was oppressive. They sat like stoughton bottles. There the conductor found them some time later. He gave them a careless look, selected a chair at the end of the car, and began to sort his tickets, spreading them out on another chair, making notes with the pencil he took from atop his ear, and shoved back from time to time.

Ages seemed to pass, and Mallory

Ages seemed to pass, and Mallory had not even a suggestion. By this time Marjorle's temper had evaporated, and when he said: "If we could not approximate the said of the said only stop at some town for half an hour," she said: "Maybe the conductor would hold the train for us."

"I hardly think he would."
"He looks like an awfully nice man.

You ask him."
"Oh, what's the use?"

Marjorie was getting tired of de-pending on this charming young man with the very bad luck. She decided to assume command herself. She took recourse naturally to the original feminine methods: "I'll take care of him," she said, with resolution. "A woman can get a man to do almost anything if she fiirts a little with

"Marjorie!"

"Now, don't you mind anything it. Remember, it's all for love of ou—even if I have to kiss him."

"Marjorie, I won't permit—"
"You have no right to boss me—yet. You subside." She gave him the merest touch, but he fell backward into a chair, utterly aghast at the shameless siren into which despera-tion had altered the timid little thing he thought he had chosen to love. He was being rapidly initiated into the complex and versatile and fearfully wonderful thing a woman really is, and he was saying to himself, "What have I married?" forgetting, for the moment, that he had not married her yet, and that therein lay the whole trouble.

CHAPTER XXVI.

Delilah and the Conductor.
Like the best of women and the worst of men, Marjorie was perfectly willing to do evil, that good might come of it. She advanced on the innocent conductor, as the lady from Sorek must have sided up to Sam-son, coquetting with one arch hand other.

and anipping the shears with the The stupelled Mailory saw Marjorie in a startling initiation of herself at her sweetest; only now it was brasen mimicry, yet how like! She went forward as the shyest young thing in the world, pursed her hips into an ecstatic simper, and began on the unsuspecting official:

"lant the country perfectly—"

"Yes, but I'm getting used to it."
the conductor growled, without lookling up. and anipping the shears with the the conductor growled, without looking up.

His curt indifference joited Marjorie a triffe, but she rallied her forces, and came back with: "How long do we stop at Ogden?"

"Five minutes," very bluntly.

Marjorie poured maple syrup on her tone, as she purred: "This train of yours is an awfully rast train, isn't it?"

"Fort of," said the conductor, with just a trace of thaw. What followed made him hold his breath, for the outrageoup little lamy was actually saying: "The company must have a great deal-of opalidants in you to entrust the lives and welfars of so many people to your presence of mind and course."

Well, of course, I can't say as to that." Even Mallory could see that "Responsible! I should say it is, Mr. Mallory is a soldier, but soldiers are such ferocious, destructive people, while conductors save lives, and — I were only a man I think it would be my greatest ambition to be a conductor—especially on an over-land express."

The conductor told the truth when

The conductor told the truth when he confessed: "Well, I never heard it put just that way." Then he spoke with a little more pride, hoping to increase the impression he felt he was making: "The main thing, of course, is to get my train through On Time!"

This was a facer. He was going to get his train through On Time just to oblige Marjorie. She stammered: "I don't suppose the train, by any accident, would be delayed in leaving

"Not if I can help it," the hero averred, to reassure her.
"I wish it would," Marjorle murmured.

The conductor looked at her in sur-prise: "Why, what's it to you?" She turned her eyes on him at full candle power, and smiled:

"Oh, I just wanted to do a little abopping there."

"Shopping! While the train waits:

"You see," Marjorie fluttered, "by a sad mistake, my baggage isn't on the train. And I haven't any—any—i really need to buy some—some things very badly. It's awfully embarrassing to be without them."

"I can imagine," the conductor mumbled. "Why don't you and your husband drop off and take the next train?"

"My husb-Mr. Mallory has to be in San Francisco by tomorrow night He just bas to!"

"So have I." "But to oblige me? To save the from distress—don't you think you could?" Like a sweet little child she twisted one of the brase buttons on twisted one of the orass buttons on his coat bleeve, and wheedled: "Don't you think you might hold the train just a little tiny half hour?" He was sorry, but he didn't see how he could. Then she took his breath away again, by asking, out of a clear sky: "Are you married?"

He was as awkward as it she had proposed to him, she answered for him: "Oh, but of course you are. The women wouldn't let a big, handsome noble brave glant like you escape long." He mopped his brow in agony as she went on: "I'm sure you're a very chivalrous man. I'm sure you would give your life to rescue a maiden in distress. Well, here's your chance. Won't you please hold the train?' She actually had her cheek almost she actually had ner cheek amost against his shoulder, though she had to poise atiptoe to reach him. Mailory's dismay was changing to a boling rage, and the conductor was a pitiable combination of Saint Anthony phrable combination or saint Annuary and Tantalus. "I—I'd love to oblige you," he mumbled, "but it would be as much as my job's worth."

"How much is that?" Marjorie asked, and added reassuringly, "If you lost your job I'm sure thy father would get you a better one." "Maybe," said the conductor, "but—I got this one."

Then his rolling eyes caught sight of the supposed husband gesticulating wildly and evidently clearing for action. He warned Marjorie: "Say, your tion. He warned Marjorle: "Bay, your husband is motioning at you."

"Don't mind lim," Marjorie urged, "just listen to me. I implore you. I.—" Seeing that he was still resisting, she played her last card, and, crying, "Oh, you can't resist my prayers so cruelly," she threw her arms around his neck, sobbing, "Do you want to break my heart?" want to break my heart?

Mailory rushed into the scene and the conductor, tearing Marjorie's arms loose, retreated, gasping, "No! and I don't want your husband to break my

"Twe got to," the conductor abject-ly insisted.

To think of being refused a simple little favor by a meere conductor! of a stupid old emigrant train!! of all things!!"

Then she hurled herself into a chair and pounded her heels on the floor in a tantrum that paralyzed Mailory. Even the conductor tapped him on the shoulder and said: "You have my sym-

"I might even go as far as that," assented the artist. "Did I ever tell you how I got my start?" he continued. "Well, I'll tell you; it was in triplicate portrait work."

"Portraits of triplets?" inquired the studio loafer. "Dobber told me he did dime museum posters, too, at one

'He ought to have stuck to that branch of art," remarked the artist. "No, you misunderstand me. I'll tell you how it was. There was one win-ter I was pretty well on my uppers. At that time I got acquainted with Glotto Parkinson, and I tall you he was a godsend. He had a studie in the Greevenor and he didn't use it nights, be venor and no count use it night, se-sides having a samovar that he got in the Ghetto and plenty of alcohol. Members of Catholic Brotherhood All Unwittingly Entertained the Famous Pere Hyacinthe.

Monsieur Nathan, the Jewish mayo of Rome, has just placed in the capitol the bronze mask of Pere Hyacinthe Loyson, offered to the Eternal City by the son of the great preacher. Sev eral times following his rupture with eral times following his rapture with the church Pere Hyacinthe returned to spend the winter at Rome in com-pany with his American wife. Dur-ing one of his latest sojoarns there he yielded to a sweet mystification which made some stir in the Catho-lic brotherhoods. It was in a warm autumn morn

It was in a warm autumn morning and the former friar, who was a great walker, with others took as the end of his excursion the little hut of the "Three Fountains," hidden in the eucalyptus of which the monks make an elixir as delightful as chartreuse. The visit ended and the tourists departed for Rome. Our pilgrim noticed that the houte noticed that the hour was late.

Pressed by hunger he saked to dine at the convent. His smooth face, his Roman facial expression, his ecclesiastical dress, his bishoplike air, provoked the brothers to a resi tention. For this mysterious unknown, whose incognito doubtless hid some high dignitary of the church, they se lected a private dining room and "pu the little dishes in the big ones." Sev eral Trappists, dedicated to their yows to seclusion, begged the honor of serving him at table, and after the priest had pronounced the bless-ing the father of the convent himself wished to share the love feast.

While knife and fork were at work, there was some conversation: "Of what dioses are you, my parts), says Pere Hyacinthe.

The hosts then allowed themselves to let slip some confidences. They even criticised the state of the holy mother church and spoke of "Pere Hyacinthe" not without blame, but with some sympathy. After a little glass of eucalyptine the guest made a sign to the father of the convent that he desired to speak to him alone. After the brothers had withdrawn from the room, he said: "I am indebted to you for an excellent colla-tion and an hour of reminiscence. Ac-cept this for your charity box. I am Pere 'Hyacinthe." The good father jumped back, hiding his face in his hands. Then, spontaneously, he pressed the hands of the heretic.

And now Pere Hyacinthe has re-turned to Rome. Only according to his former co-religionists he has mistaken the route. In place of taking the road to the vatican he has taken that to the capitol.—Le Cri de Paris.

Probably no non-royal personage recently living is so well assured of this form of immortal-ity as the late Cecil Rhodes.
