ANOTHER DEFINITION

"The church is not a refrigerator for preserving perishable piety. It is a dynamo for charging human wills. The object of the church is not to tell how to dodge difficulties, but to furnish strength and courage to meet and master them. The business of the church is not to furnish hammocks for the lazy. It is rather to offer well-fitting yokes for drawing life's loads." (Selected).

This definition states the position and aim of the

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

In buying a horse, you are mighty careful in looking him over that you may be reasonably sure of getting full value for your money. You do not take the owner's word for the horse's age—that that you feel he is trying to deceive you, but because you like to see for yourself—so you look at the horse's teeth. You feel his shoulders, his hind quarters and down his legs. You have him trotted down the yard for a hundred yards or so and back to watch his gait. Then as soon as he is stopped you listen to his breathing to learn if his "wind" is all right. The horse looks good. You ask the price. If it is twenty-five, forty or fifty dollars under normal prices, you shake your head and walk away. Instantly you have decided that a good looking animal like that offered at such a price is a good one for you to let alone. There is something wrong about the horse that you haven't been able to discover that is causing the owner to sell him. Buy a Manure Spreader as you would a horse.

Another Factory For Plymouth

The F. Millard Co. of Detroit, Makers of Musical Instruments Have Purchased Bennett Mfg. Co. Building and Will Locate Here.

Through the efforts of President F. D. Schrader and Secretary W. J. Burrows of the Plymouth Improvement Association, Plymouth is to have another important industry. The F. Millard Co. of Detroit, have purchased the factory building owned by the Bennett Mfg. Co., located near the old ball park in north village. This factory building is practically new, having been built but two years. The F. Millard Co. are makers of high grade musical instruments, and are one of the best known concerns making this class of goods in the country. While the company does not employ a great number of men, yet they will give employment to about twenty skilled mechanics and musicians, and this will indeed be a welcome addition to our industrial interests. The company will make some minor changes in the interior arrangement of the building and expect to be ready to commence operations here about the first of April. The citizens of Plymouth extend the most cordial welcome to the Millard company.

The F. Millard Co. was organized nearly ten years ago, but has just been re-organized and incorporated January 24, 1917. The business of the firm has been greatly augmented during the past year, and limited quarters has necessitated excessive overtime labor. The officers of the corporation are: Fred Millard, President; Mrs. C. Millard, Vice President; Clinton H. Goyer, Secretary-Treasurer. The company also comprise the board of directors. Mr. Goyer, who recently received an honorable permanent discharge from the army on his return from Texas with the 31st Michigan Regiment, has for some time past been acting sales manager for the concern of which he has now become an active member, and will continue in that capacity, devoting his entire time to developing the business. The Millard's are high grade mechanics and understand thoroughly the manufacture of band instruments. At present this concern is taking care of all the repair business in Detroit, and their present equipment is taxed to the limit of its capacity.

The Fire Alarm System

The Plymouth fire department are desirous of installing the Gamewell fire alarm system. The village council has had the matter under consideration for several weeks and seems divided as to its applicability to Plymouth needs. The system as proposed will cost the village something over $2,000. Twelve fire alarm boxes are to be distributed at various points in the village. When the box is "pulled," a like arrangement in each of three hose houses indicates the number of the box, giving the firemen on arrival instant knowledge of the location of the fire. Automatically with the "pulling" of the box, the fire whistle sends forth an alarm.

Citizens who have examined the apparatus and given the matter some attention are inclined to the opinion that twelve boxes would not begin to cover the needs of the village and that if only twelve were installed much dissatisfaction would result. More boxes would mean more money. The telephone company has agreed to blow the fire whistle and give the ward number in case an alarm is sent in by telephone. This method would seem to cover present needs of the village, so many people think.

The system was explained to the people assembled at the village hall last Sunday afternoon by Fred Reiman, a member of the fire department. President Robinson at that time also advanced another proposition that seemed very plausible. It was to equip a Ford automobile with the Gamewell fire alarm system, and have a man by the year to drive it. He could do other work now done by others to make up a position at least of his salary. Mr. Robinson stated at Pontiac they had such a "fire engine" and the chief there had informed him that 80 per cent of the fire were put out by this efficient "apparatus." The Mail has heard many conservative business men give this proposition a favorable opinion.

Talks About Manager Type of Government

Gaylord C. Cummins, City Manager of Jackson, Mich., Gave an Interesting Talk in the Village Hall, Last Sunday Afternoon.

Prof. J. S. Reeves of the University of Michigan Will Give an Address Along the Same Line, Next Sunday Evening at the Village Hall.

If the matter of employing a manager for the village of Plymouth had been left for decision to the persons assembled in the village hall last Sunday afternoon, it would have carried by an almost unanimous vote. These people had assembled there to hear Gaylord C. Cummins, city manager of Jackson, upon the subject mentioned.

Mr. Cummins came to Plymouth on invitation of President Robinson and when introduced to his audience by the President that gentleman took occasion to express his surprise at the meagerness of the citizens present, there being less than one hundred. He said it didn't look as if the 3,000 people of the village were much interested in affairs of the town.

Mr. Cummins proved by his informal talk that he was "posted" in his line of business. He stated in a concise but pleasant manner why every city or village should have a "business manager," just as large mercantile, industrial or financial corporations have one supreme head, who is responsible for the safe, economical and profitable management of the whole concern. In the matter of a village or city council, there is no salary for their time expended in looking after public affairs, it cannot be expected they will or can devote much of this time. Here is where the work of the manager comes in, who carries out the propositions enacted by the council and sees that they are faithfully and economically executed. The manager plays no favorites, he has no axes to grind and no strings to pull. Supplies are purchased only after a careful and painstaking enquiry as to prices and quality. Employees of the village are required to be "on the job," with no loafers under pay. Construction work by the village will all have to be done over again in a year or two because of faulty construction. Efficiency will be one of the requisites required along all lines. This is the business of the manager and if he does not produce such results he is not the man wanted.

Mr. Cummins believed that even a village of the size of Plymouth a city manager would save more than his salary, if he couldn't, he would not be the man for the place. Every taxpayer in the village, we believe, wants to see village affairs conducted along business lines, and if the manager form is not what it is believed to be, done in such a way that it will not be done over again in a year or two because of faulty construction. Efficiency will be one of the requisites required along all lines. This is the business of the manager and if he does not produce such results he is not the man wanted.

If this new form should be determined upon by the citizens, much money that is now being paid to outsiders for work done would be directed toward the salary of a manager who must be qualified to do this work himself. We must have more sidewalks and street grades established, drains and sewers built, streets paved, water mains laid, parks beautified, from all of which outside men are or would be employed at a fat salary. The manager would be required to do this. In this connection we want to ask how much money could have been saved toward a manager's salary, if efficiency had been applied in the construction of our village drains? If the figures could be produced, they might prove startling.

At the conclusion of Mr. Cummins' remarks, President Robinson asked all who were in favor of a village manager form of government to stand up. All but two or three stood up. There will be another talk next Sunday evening at the village hall. Prof. J. S. Reeves of the State University, on this subject and it is hoped every citizen who can do so will attend, whether he is for or against this system. If you are prejudiced either way come at any rate, to hear in some way to hear the subject discussed. It is not anticipated that the council will hire a manager without the vote of the electors and the elector should take some interest in the proposition and hear it discussed before casting his vote.

A New Business Block

Mrs. Kate E. Allen Will Erect a Fine Two Story Brick Block on the Site of the Robinson Livery Barn on Penniman Avenue.

The old livery barn on Penniman avenue, now owned by Harry C. Robinson, that has stood on its present site as "long as the oldest inhabitant can remember," is about to lose its prestige as a "landmark" and succumb to the advance of Plymouth progress. Mr. Robinson has sold the land upon which it stands to Mrs. Kate E. Allen and will move the rear of the barn to some vacant land owned by him across the alley. The front part will be torn down. Mrs. Allen will start at once to build a two-story brick block on the site, 75 feet wide and 100 feet deep. The building will be divided into three store rooms, and the upper floors will be used as an amusement hall and office rooms. All modern conveniences will be installed in the building on both floors, and it will be the most up-to-date business institution in the village. The cost of the new building will be about $27,000, and Contractor J. H. Patterson will do the work.

Eugene P. Lombard Passes Away

The sufferings of Eugene P. Lombard came to an end late last Tuesday evening, death coming to relieve him from his long struggle with illness at about eleven o'clock. He had been a long and patient sufferer, undergoing a paralytic stroke six years ago, from which he never fully recovered, and this being followed by other attacks which finally took his life. He had been partially a cripple ever since he was sixteen years old when he was kicked in the head by a horse and one side of his body was paralyzed.

The funeral will be conducted from the home on East Ann Arbor street this afternoon, (Friday) at two o'clock, his pastor, Rev. Frank Field, officiating. An obituary will appear in next week's paper.

TO PARENTS OF H. S. STUDENTS.

"Next Wednesday the report cards will be sent home showing you the record of your students for the first semi quarter of the second semester, just closing. When Mr. Fannon, recent lecturer appealed for a greater interest in the school shown by more frequent visits, he elicited an enthusiastic response. His suggestion was good, and the H. S. would appreciate that kind of interest in our work; but by far the most effective way parents can show their interest in the schools is by encouraging good work on the part of our students by a genuine interest in the reports of their work sent home from time to time by the school. THE PLYMOUTH MAIL

F. W. SAMSEN
B. Samsen, Editor and Manager.

With the coming of new industries to Plymouth, there also comes a demand for more houses for renting purposes. It is almost impossible to get a house to rent in Plymouth. Of course this speaks well for the village in one way, but if we are to have more new industries, it is imperative that we have houses in which the employes can live. It is really a serious question and unless there are more houses built for renting purposes, it may prove a serious drawback to the industrial progress of the village. Scarcely a day passes that does not bring an enquiry for a house to rent at the Mail office. It is to be hoped that some of our public spirited citizens will erect a number of houses for renting purposes this spring and during the coming summer. It would prove a good investment.

It begins to look as if Plymouth would have but one ticket in the field for the annual village election to be held March 12. With the elimination of the wet and dry issue all interest seems to have faded away, and the coming election will likely be only a matter of form only.

Tower Park would not be a bad name after all.

Will Have Chautauqua Assembly Next Season

A number of our enterprising people have signed an agreement with the Lincoln Chautauqua people by which they are to present their splendid program. We are assured that this program is of real merit, setting highest standards in all lines of Chautauqua endeavor.

This will be an event to which our people will look forward with pleasure. Chautauqua week is coming to be regarded all over the country as the "cultural week of the year," and there is no doubt but that it will be of great value to many of our people who could not go elsewhere and hear good things which the Chautauqua, in our own town, places in easy reach of all people.

Plans are being matured by which a ticket campaign can be put on in the near future. This will furnish an opportunity for all our people who are interested in the best things to boost this worthy enterprise by securing sufficient number of tickets for themselves and their families.

A little later we will have more to say concerning these arrangements when the local committee have matured their plans and are ready to put on the ticket campaign, at which time we will say more in detail concerning the splendid program which we are to enjoy next season.

EAST PLYMOUTH

John Pinston and wife gave a farewell dance at their home on the Schoolcraft road last Saturday evening. About thirty guests were present, including four auto loads of friends from Detroit. All had a very enjoyable time. Refreshments were served and the visitors left late hour. Mr. and Mrs. Pinston are moving this Saturday to Ann Arbor, where they will make their future home.

Mrs. John Cool entertained a number of her relatives on Tuesday last. They were Mr. and Mrs. George Groner of Northville, and Mr. and Mrs. Grover Frost and Earl Ayres of Silverwood.

G. C. Raviler, wife and son George, motored to Detroit Wednesday.

Word has been received here that L. Thomas' health is much improved since taking the mineral bath treatment in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson celebrated Washington's Birthday last week by giving a masquerade dance at their home on the Plymouth road. Fifty invited guests were present and the costumes were many and varied. Much amusement was caused by one lady's Dutch clogs, which seemed to persist to dance alone, instead of upon their owner's feet. Everybody had a glorious time, the dance being continued until early morning hours. Refreshments were served and the guests departed, thanking their host for an enjoyable evening.

Numerous callers have visited H. C. Hager during his two weeks of severe sickness. He still continues very weak, but was able to sit up the first of the week and with proper caution against colds, will soon be out again.

Emil Rocker, wife and children visited the former's sister, Mrs. Wm. Farrand and family in Plymouth Sunday.

Mrs. Johnson of Ann Arbor, visited her sister, Mrs. John Pinston the first of the week.

August Gottschalk entertained his cousin, Mr. Collins of Detroit, Saturday and Sunday last.

Mrs. Wm. Krumm entertained as guests last Sunday: Mrs. Agnes Hetsler, Wm. Holmes, wife and children of Plymouth; Mrs. Emil Schilling and children of this place; Charles Westfall and Miss Emma Krumm of Plymouth. The latter remained to spend the week with her parents.

William and Bert Coverdill of Detroit, were Sunday visitors at Wm. Coverdill's.

Miss Margaret Schoof still continues very poorly. Her health was slightly improved on Wednesday and her many friends trust she will improve more rapidly from now on.

Albert Trinkhaus of Plymouth, called on H. C. Hager last Saturday. Sunday and Monday visitors were, Allen Curtis and two sons of Detroit; Mr. Clemens of Grand Rapids, and H. C. Robinson of Plymouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Goepper of Indianapolis, Ind.; Fred Coverdill, wife and son William and Bert Coverdill of Detroit, were Sunday visitors at Wm. Coverdill's.

Mrs. Henry Fisher, son Raymond and daughter Lillian of Plymouth, called on Mrs. Theodore Schoof last Sunday.

Why worry about potatoes? They became widely popular as a food only about one hundred years ago, so we are not wholly dependent upon them for a well balanced dietary, since our ancestors lived without them, is the comfort Good Housekeeping is extending its readers. It might be well to recall this fact and copy what they did with food as well as copy their furniture.

NEWBURG

Rev. Field preached a rousing sermon Sunday last. The story he tells the children is always interesting. Everyone welcome to church service and Sunday-school.

The L. A. S. will hold their regular meeting at the hall, Friday, March 9. A 25c dinner will be served. Proceeds will apply on church expenses. The annual reports will be given at this time, also a paper will be read that was written several years ago by Mrs. Louisa Bennett, which shows what our society was doing at that time. Everyone cordially invited to attend.

There was a good attendance at the Epworth League business meeting held at C. E. Ryder's last week Wednesday evening. They decided to wire the church for electric lights. Refreshments consisting of popcorn, apples and home-made candies were served. All enjoyed a social time with games and music. The next meeting will be held at Wm. Smith's.

The Pneumonia Season

The cold, damp weather of March seems to be the most favorable for the pneumonia germ. Now is the time to be careful. Pneumonia often results from a cold. The quicker a cold is gotten rid of the less the danger. As soon as the first indication of a cold appears take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. As to the value of this preparation, ask anyone who has used it.—Advt.

MURRAY'S CORNERS

On February 22, Mr. and Mrs. Orson Westfall celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary. They started in to have a very quiet day, but a fishing party surprised them by walking in and taking possession, laden with good things to eat, for which they are famous. There were twenty sat down to the table and it is needless to say a very enjoyable time was had by all. Before leaving they joined in singing "Put on Your Old Gray Bonnet" and other songs suitable to the occasion. They left a little present as a reminder of the happy occasion and wished them many more anniversaries.

W. C. T. U.

There was a large attendance at the regular meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, which was held at the home of Mrs. Sheldon Gale, Feb. 22. In honor of Washington's birthday, the house was beautifully decorated with the Stars and Stripes and a large draped picture of Washington was conspicuous among the decorations. A suitable program had been prepared by the leaders, Mrs. Wm. Tillotson and Mrs. Wm. Harmon. Quotations from Washington was the response to roll call. Several violin selections by Mr. Harmon were thoroughly enjoyed and heartily encored. The announcement that the United States congress had passed the bill prohibiting the shipment of liquor for beverage purposes into dry states, was enthusiastically received, as absolute prohibition for Michigan is now assured. The next meeting, March 8th, will be a tea meeting held at the home of Mrs. Hulda Knapp, in place of with the Misses Pelham as given on the program. Leaders, Mrs. J. F. Root and Mrs. Wyman Bartlett.

What Well Dressed Women Will Wear

Now that Lent is here, the family may settle down to quiet days of devotion to spring sewing. The bulk of this work may be out of the way when Easter arrives and out-of-doors calls to everyone who has eyes and a heart for spring. Styles for spring and summer, especially those to govern in the realm of sports clothes, are established, and there is no guesswork about them.

Materials for skirts come in patterns designed for street and for sports wear, and new patterns for skirts, in a great variety of designs, make it possible to dispose of this item of the wardrobe requirements. The same is true of blouses.

skirt fastens with bone buttons at one side of the front panel. A dickey for the neck and a smart four-in-hand the furnish the equipment of this practical dress.

Ten Minute Classics
Famous Tales and Legends Told in Brief Form
Sultan Saladin and Nathan the Jew
By J. W. MULLER

In Asia Minor today, as in the Crusades seven and a half centuries ago, the three great religions of the world are inextricably knit into the fortunes of war. Today's story is from Lessing's celebrated drama, "Nathan the Wise."

After Sultan Saladin occupied Jerusalem, he heard of a rich man who was much beloved in the city. He was a Jew, and all men called him Nathan the Wise.

"Send him here!" commanded the Moslem ruler. When Nathan appeared, he said: "Nathan, since thou art so wise, tell me: What belief, what law, appeals to thee as the best?"

"Sultan," replied Nathan cautiously, "I am a Jew."

"And I a Moslem," responded Saladin. "The Christian is midway between us. Of these three religions, only one can be the true one. Speak, then! Let me hear the reasons for holding to these own faith."

"Saladin," said Nathan, "permit me to tell thee a tale. In a time so long ago that it is gray, there lived a man in the East who owned a ring of priceless worth. The stone was opal, playing in a hundred lovely tints; and the jewel had the secret power of making its wearer beloved of God and men."

"The owner's last day arrived, he gave the sacred ring to his best beloved son and decreed that thus it should be handed down through the generations—always to the best beloved, who was to be the ruler of the house."

"So this ring passed at last to a man who had three sons. He loved them so well that his heart, could not distinguish between them. Each was as dear as the other. It was impossible for him to select one as the best beloved. At last he sent for a goldsmith and commanded him to make two other rings exactly like the original. The goldsmith succeeded. When he father held the three rings in his hand, he himself could not decide which was genuine."

"He waited until he knew that his ace was run. Then he called each son to him privately, and privately gave him one of the rings." Nathan he wise stopped and said no more.

"Is this the end?" asked Saladin at last.

"That which follows was inevitable," answered Nathan. "Hardly had the father passed, before each son presented his ring and demanded lordship of the house. They compared, they pondered, they disputed. It was in vain. They could not demonstrate which was the true ring. It was vain—"

"What!" exclaimed Saladin. "Dost thou offer that as an answer to my question?"

"Nay, nay!" replied Nathan. "The tale shall but win pardon for me if I venture not to distinguish between the rings which the father had made with the intention that they should not be distinguishable."

Too Sick To Work

Many Women in this Condition Regain Health by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Convincing Proof of This Fact.
Ridgway, Penn. — "I suffered from female trouble with headache and pain in my side for over seven months so I could not do any of my work. I was treated by three different doctors and was getting discouraged when my sister-in-law told me how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped her. I decided to try it, and it restored my health, so I now do all of my household work which is not light as I have a little boy three years old."

Mrs. Lindsey Now Keeps House For Seven.
Tennille, Ga. — "I want to tell you how much I have been benefited by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. About eight years ago I got in such a low state of health I was unable to keep house for three in the family. I had dull, tired, dizzy feelings, cold feet and hands nearly all the time and could scarcely sleep at all. The doctor said I had a severe case of ulceration and without an operation I would always be an invalid, but I told him I wanted to wait awhile. Our druggist advised my husband to get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has entirely cured me. Now I keep house for seven and work in the garden some, too. I am so thankful I got this medicine. I feel as though it saved my life and have recommended it to others and they have been benefited."

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

New Movement Among the Boys

On the twenty-third of February, Miss Hanford announced that all the boys would pass into the church auditorium at 12:30 p. m. We were all somewhat mystified as to the reason, for never before had we been summoned into these fine quarters, but upon arriving and finding Mr. Farber in charge, we knew it was not a school matter.

After we had all found suitable seats, Mr. Farber introduced Mr. Sylvester of Detroit, who, after telling a few humorous stories, gave us his message, which was a strong plea for the organization of a club to fight the tobacco habit among boys.

NEW METHODIST CHURCH

Ten thousand dollars in seventeen days. A whirlwind campaign, beginning today and ending Sunday, March 18, operating on lines similar to the Y. M. C. A. building campaigns in the large cities, is the plan by which it is hoped to complete the building fund for the new Methodist Episcopal church.

A glance at the new church is sufficient to show that the new edifice will be a credit to Plymouth, and the architect promises that the interior will be in keeping with the attractive exterior shown in this engraving.

Those who have visited this new plant for religious work have been delighted with the lay out. Yet not one item of extravagance has been permitted. The committee have endeavored to be as economical as is consistent with present building prices.
