K. LeMoyne, a queer stranger with gentle manners, becomes a roomer at the Page home, presided over by Sidney, her invalid mother Anna, and her Aunt Harriet, an old maid dressmaker. Sidney becomes a hospital purse through the inducance of Dr. Max Wilson, a brilliant young surgeon smitten with her charm. K. loves her from a distance; so does Joe Drummond, an old high-school chum. At the hospital Sidney learns the world's sorrows. She becomes acquainted with Carlotta Harrison, who has been intimate with Wilson aad who is jealous of unoffending Sidney. Sidney's chum, Christine Lorenz, marries Palmer Howe, a young society rake, and they take rooms at the Page home. Deeptle K's efforts to avoid strangers, Dr. Max meets him one night and findshe is an old friend, a famous Doctor Edwardes, supposedly dead. Max keeps the secret. Sidney's wother dies and the shock puts the girl to bed with a low fever. Falmer Howe becomes untrue to his bride.

He had put her aside without a quaim; and now he met her announcement with approval. He meant to let her alone. They would have a holiday together, and then they would say good-by. And she had not fooled him. She still, cared. He was getting off wall, all things considered. She might have railsed a row.

"Good work!" he said. "You'll be a lot happier. But that isn't any reason why we shouldn't be friends, is it? Just friends; I mean that. I would like to feel that I can stop in now and then and say how do you do."

"I promised Miss Page."

"Never mind Miss Page."
The mention of Sidney's name brought up in his mind Christine as he had left her that morning. He scowled. Things were not going well at home. There was something wrong with Christine. She used to be a good sport, but she had never been the same since the day of the wedding. He thought her attitude toward him was one of suspicion. It made him uncomortable. But any attempt on his part to fathom it only met with cold silence. That had been her attitude that morning.

discreet back and alert ears.

The adventure had all the thrill of a new conquest in it. He treated the girl with deference, did not insist when she refused a cigarette, felt glowingly virtuous and exultant at the same time.

When the car drew up before the Schwitter place, he slipped a five-dollar bill into Johnny Rosenfeld's not over-lean head.

"I don't mind the ears," he said,
"Just watch your tongue, ind." And Johnny stalled his engine a sheer sur-

"There's just enough of the Jew in me," said Johnny, "to know how to talk a lot and say nothing, Mr. Howe."

Johnny Rosenfeld at eighteen had developed a philosophy of four words. It took the place of the Golden Rule, the Ten Commandments, and the Cate-chism. It was: "Mind your own basi-ness."

Harriet, sitting with her, made sketches under the lamp to the accompaniment of a steady hum of masculine. voices from across the hall. Not that she was ignored, of course. Max came in always, before he went, and, leaning over the back of a chair, would inform her of the absolute blankness of life in the hospital without her.

So K. sat by the dining-room table and listened to her talk of Max that set evaling together. When the bells announced midnight, Sidney roused with a start. Grace was fung clear of the wreckage. Howe freed himself and stood

There was no sound at all from the

The big car had stopped. Down the Under all his gayety he was curiously diffident with her. All the pretty speeches he would have made to Carlotta under the circumstances died before her frank glance.

"She likes you, K. She depends on you, too, sepecially since that night when you took care of Palmer's arms before we got Doctor Max. I often think, K., what a good doctor you would have been. You knew so well what to do for, mother."

She broke off. She still could not trust her yoice about her mother. "Palmer's arm is going to be quite straight. Dr. Ed is so proud of Max over it. It was being fracture."

Sidney surveyed the ward, full to overflowing. At the far end two cots had been placed. and been placed.

"The ward is beavy, isn't it?"

"Very. I've been almost mad, at dressing hour. There are three of us—you, myself and a probationer."

The first light of the Christmas morning was coming through the windows: Cariotta put out the lights and turned in a businessilke way to her records.

of declaring for strict neutrality, as urged by Carranza, the Mexican congress showed an overwhelming majority in favor of entering the war as an ally of Germany, the message said.

Delegates who heretofore have been regarded as strong Carranza's supporters, went upon record in the debate as strongly pro-German and Carranza's neutrality declaration to the congress was openly and bitterly denounced as un-Mexican and favoring the Yankees.

Reports which have been received through secret but authoritative sources by United States agents and by Americans with large interests in Southern Mexico, have said German representatives, using large sums of money, have gained control of the Mexican congress and that even the inauguration of Carranza as president is not assured, unless he changes his neutrality ideas for a program more favorable to the German side.

The attitude of the defegates shows Carranza standing almost alone in his effort to keep Mexico neutral and according to advices the Mexican congress will declare itself an filly of Germany and make war upon the United States in hope of reclaiming Texas, Arizona and New Mexico with German aid.

7 BILLION WAR LOAN PASSED

Senate Without Dissenting Vote Approves Measure.

Washington—The war finance bill, providing for issuance of $7,000,000,000 in securities—the largest single war budget in any nation's history—was passed unanimously by the senate. After seven hours of discussion, the measure, which passed the house by a vote of 389 to 0 and which provides for a loan to the Allies of $3,000,000,000, was approved by the senate with few changes.

Of the $4 senators present every one, including all who voted against war except Senator Lane, of Oregon, who was absent because of illness, recorded themselves in favor of providing funds to prosecute hostilities. Nearly all of the 12 absentees were ill. Few senators participated in the discussion, which was totally devoid of partisian expression. Those speaking announced stanch intention to aid the government in prosecuting the war to speedy conclusion. Only two, Senators Borah and Cummins, declared opposition to the proposed Allies loan. A few favored raising a larger proportion by taxation of the present general ton and less upon bonds.

Died of Premature Old Age! A Cleveland Woman Speaks

How many times we hear of com-paratively young persons passing away when they should have lived to be 70 or 80 years of age. This fatal work is usually attributed to the kidneys, as, when the kidneys degenerate, it causes auto-intoxication. The more injuri-ous the poisons passing thru the kid-neys the quicker will those noble or-gans, be degenerated, and the sooner they decay.

they decay.

It is thus the wisest policy, to prevent premature old age and promote long life, to lighten the work of the kidneys. This can be done by drinking plenty of pure water all day long, and occasionally taking Anuric, double strength, before meals. This can be done by drinking and cocasionally taking Anuric double strength, before meals. This can be obtained at almost any drug store. You will find Anuric more potent than lithing for it dissolves uric acid as water does sugar.

PETUNIA

PELIUNIA

Because of the ense and facility with which all of the single-flowered varieties of the petunia can be grown from seed this plant commands attention as a worthy candidate for the summer flower garden. The young plants grow rapidly and come into bloom early, and in addition to this they furnish a continuous, wealth of blossoms until destroyed by frost. The large-flowered strains are very lination of the flowers, which is in it-self an expensive operation, or from cuttings, of which an individual plant can supply but a limited number

The seed of the double varieties is less vigorous than that of the single sorts and therethan that of the single sorts and therefore requires more attention to prevent extremes of temperature and of moisture to insure good germination.
If the seeds are sown in boxes in the living room, a pane of glass may with advantage be kept over the top to

IPUMULA (Morning Glory, Moonflower and Cypress Vine)
The plants included under the names morning-glory, moonflower, and cypress vine, while all classed together hotanically, are quite varied in form of flower and foliage. Their chief merit rests in the fact of their rapid growth and ability to cover large spaces in a short time. The shoots grow long and are well provided with follage, two factors which adapt them well for temporary uses, such as covering structures and summerhouses, and for immediate effect upon new buildings. All three of the abovenamed types grow readily from seed, the morning-glory and cypress vine both giving good returns from seeds sown in rich borders about corn-plant-ing time. The moonflower can be propagated either from seeds sown in a bothed about the first of March in the climate of Washington, or from cuttings carried over winter in a green-house. For best success with the Im-perial Japanese morning-glories and the moonhowers the seeds should be filed to make a slight aperture in the the result. Both these groups profit by being started in a botteed.

Mbrning-glory.—The imperial morning-glory is the most varied and most beautiful of the group. One of its interesting features is the variety of its flowers and leaves. The latter differ greatly in shape, as well as in size; some are pilals green, while others are oddly marbled and blotched with white or yellow. The colors and markings of the flowers vary from pure white to rose, crimson, and carmine through blues and purples of every shade to almost black. There are velvety single self-colors, a few doubles and semi-doubles, others with quilled or feathered petals, many fancifully bordered, blotched, striped, penciled, and marbled—hardly any two plants from a seed packet seeming alike. The vines are vigorous, growing rapidly to a height of 30 or 40 feet. In sowing or planting they should be allowed about twice as much space as the ordinary morning-glory, and in the open should not be sown quite as early in the year.

Moonflower.—The moonflowers (pomoeo bona-nox) are the most vigorous of the color of

Unique Memorial Completed

Mary Baker Eddy Memorial, Mt. Auburn Cemetery, Cambridge, Mass.

The beautiful memorial to Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, has been turned over to The Christian Science. Board of Directors by Eibert S. Barlow of New York City who held the contract for its construction.

The memorial, which is at Mt. Auburn cemetery, Cambridge, Mass., has required over a year and a half to complete. The fund for its construction, amounting to over 3150,000, was first announced by the directors in June, 1911, and was some time ago fully subscribed. These contributions have been made as expressions of sentiment by Christian Scientists throughout the world.

The site on which the memorial is located is not only one of great natural beauty, but on account of its grade has rendered possible a more pictureaque and interesting treatment architecturally than would be possible on a perfect level lot. The pilot, which is approximately 80 feet square, slopes gradually from the level of the roadway to the lake with a drop of shout ten feet. The memorial consists of a circular open colonade of eight columns, resting upon a stylobate of three steps, surrounded on the front by a circular platform slightly showe the natural crade, fram which stform a double flight of steps leads.

New Zealand we see the harmless vegetable-enting bird transformed into a vicings bird of prey within the space of a few decades. Having got a taste of sheep fat from the dozen carcasses hanging on the meat gullows at the ranch houses during the cold winters, they soon learned to attack the live sheep. These attacks became so frequent that a bounty had to be placed upon the head of every ken.—National Geographic Magazine.

Nature Cures, the Doctor Takes the Fee Nature Cures, the Doctor Takes the Fee
There is an old saying that "Nature cures, the doctor takes the fee," but as everyone knows you can belp nature very much and thereby enable it to effect a cure in much less time than in usually required. This is particularly true of colds. Chamberlan's Couple Remedy relieves the lungs, liquifies the ungh mucus and aids in the expective tion, allays the cough and aids nature in 'restoring,' the system to a healthy condition.—Advt.

PRESIDENT WILSON ASSUES AN APPEAL TO THE COUNTRY

Executive in Personal Message Urges United Action in War for Liberty.

FARMERS HOLD NATION'S FATE

Effort to Supply. Abundant Food for Ourselves, Our Army and Navy and for the Nationa Whom We Are Now-'Allied With.

Washington, April 17.—President Wilson on Sunday night addressed a personal appeal to his fellow countrymen and called upon every American citizen-man, woman and child—to join together to make the nation a unit for the preservation of its ideals and for triumph of democracy in the world.

war.

"The supreme test of the nation has come," says the address. "We must all spenk, act and serve together."

Text of Address.

The address follows:
"My fellow countrymen:
"The entrance of our own beloved country into the grim and terrible war for democracy and hyman rights which has shaken the world creates so many problems of national life and action which call for immediate consideration and aettlement that I hope you will permit me to address to you a few words of earnest counsel and appeal with regard to them. "We are rapidly putting our navy about to create and equip a great army, but these are the simplest parts of the great task to which we have addressed great task to which we have addressed ourselves.

"There is not a single selfsh element, so far as I can see, in the cause we are fighting for. We are fighting for what we believe and wish to be the rights of mankind and for the future peace and security of the world.

"These, then, are the things we must do and do well, besides fighting—the things without which mere fighting would be fruitless:

"We must supply abundant food for ourselves and for our armies and our seamen not only, but also for a large part of the nations with whom we have now made common cause, in whose support and by whose sides we shall be fighting.

Food Paising is Still Big issue.
Food preparedness continues to be a big issue with the governor and other state officers who are preparing Michigan for a period of war. The Connaught tunnel, driven through the Selkirk mountains in British Columbia, was opened for traffic on December 9, and is the longest ruiway tunnel on the North American continent. It is exactly 22,400 feet, or five miles, long, and carrier a double-track line. It shortens the rail route by 4.3 miles, reduces the elevation of the track through the mountain pass by 552 feet, eliminates 4½ miles of snowsheds, and cuts out curves to the extent of seven complete circles. The cost was $5,500,000, ipcluding a ventilating system. Work was started on the main bore January 15, 1914, from both ends. The headings met and passage through the tunnel was effected December 10, 1915, making a new North American record for rapid work of this character. Pursuits by Higher Wages.

What is really the matter with the railroads? is a question that is puzzing a good many people nowadays. Is it shortsge of rolling stock, or men, or both; or is it general inefficiency that is responsible for the deplorable conditions existing today?

Of course the railroads could use a great many more cars if they had efficiency of many employees has deteriorated at least to the extent of the advance in wages and many of the most desirable employees have been attracted to other pursuits by higher wages than the railroads are paying, says Iron Trade Review. There seems also to be physical exhaustion and a breaking down of spirit due to the long and unpracedentedly severe strain to which religious peoples here been here.

preasing down of spirit due to the long and unpracedentedly severe strain to which railroad employees have been ambjected. After all, questions relat-ing to men are fully as important as those relating to equipment in the railroad situation.

What is the remedy? Cars and equipment will, of course, be available in sufficient numbers in the course of time, but the human factor is more uncertain. No one can tell what the supply of labor will be after the war has ended, but employees should remember one thing: A day of reckoning is coming. The laggards of today will be remembered in coming years, when the demand for men will not be such as it is today. So will the faithsuch as it is today. So will the faithful workers be remembered. UNSURPASSED STYLE IN COVERT COATS.

For general excellence and all-around wearableness nothing ever surpassed the coat of covert cloth. It is a sturdy aristocrat among coats, and therefore returns to us each year along with the robins and other early promises of springtime. Its color and texture and stability give it an assured class and all that is needed to make its success each year is good style in designing. Contimakers understand that designs must harmonize with fabrics. Coats of covert cloth are cut on smart lines and depend on them, and on the highest standard in workmanship, rather than on novelty or the use of adornments, to bring them recognition. Machine stitching, buttons, straps of the material are the recognized tailored means of embellishment.

The covert-cloth coat shown in the picture is long, failing within eight inches of the bottom edge of the dress skirt. A narrow belt of the cloth is looped over at the front and extended in long sash ends, as a concession to a prevalent mode, both in coats and dresses, which further recognized in wide revers at the front and a cape cellar. Means to Master All Details of Hotel Business

Means to Master All Details of Hotel Business

New York.—Scraping dishes and polishing silverware in the kitchen of a big hotel probably would not appeal to the average man as an ideal way of spending a honeymoon, but it is the choice of Walter Welton, twenty-three, son of F. J. Welton, who owns the fashionable Mohican inn at Mohican Lake, N. Y.
Young Mr. Welton, his friends say, has for a long time had two ambitions.
The foremost ambition was to marry Miss Trilby Grenet. The second was to take a practical course in running a hotel as it is done in New York in order that when he takes over his father's big summer resort up state, as he expects to do later on, he will have all the details of the business at his finger tips from actual experience. The first of the two ambitions was arranged some time ago, but for various reasons the proposed date for the marriage was rather indefinite. Last week, however, everything was settled.
"Let's get married right away," suggested the young hotel man. And they did. The Louis XVI suite at the Hotel Majestic was engaged and the wedding was solemnized there with only a few relatives present.

At this juncture Mr. Welton had a bright idea. Neither he nor his bride wanted to leave New York right away. Why not stay in the city and incidentaily carry out his other ambition of inspecting the hotel game as it is played here?

Mr. Welton went to George C. Brown, manager of the Park Avenue hotef, dentaily carry out his ciner ambition to the park Avenue hotef, Mr. Welton went to George C. Brown, manager of the Park Avenue hotef, with a letter from a mutual friend, and stated his desires. He was hired on the spot. The salary, it was rumored, is $5 a week, but as Mr. Welton has independent means this does not matter.

He goes to work at six o'clock every morning and spends the day rubbing dishes and other things, including shoulders, with Greek pantry boys and French cooks in the hotel kitchen.

At six o'clock in the evening he rings out on the time clock and goes home.

Youth's Brief Career as a "Millionaire Kid"

B OSTON.—A "millionaire kid" for over a week, John J. McDonough, alias John J. Kenny, twenty-three years old, of Perth Amboy, N. J., came to the end of a glorious spendthrift career when arrested, charged with being a fugitive from justice, accused of steal-

m the American Express

Ingilive from justice, accused of stealing $8,000 from the American Express company at Perth Amboy.

He remained a "millionaire kid" to the last. While waiting at headquarters, where he was grilled, he sent out for a $4 incheon. Dressed like a fashion plate, in $12.50 slik shirts, $3 socks and $3.50 neckties, the young man inside of a week accumulated a wide acquaintance and a big reputation in Boston hotels and cafes. He gave $5 tips to taxt drivers and waiters, and was a favorite among women of the cafe district. McDonough said his father was a gambler, who left him $75,000 when he died. He agreed that he was doing his best to spend his inheritance. Superintendent Crowley wired a description to New York, where the police reported a man from Perth Amboy was wanted for stealing a pay roll. The prisoner insisted he was John J. Kenney, son of a gambler.

A young woman was found who met the "millionaire kid" in Boston and the police say they learned enough to convince them that the prisoner was the missing McDonough, to which he finally confessed, it is said.

It is reported that he told the police that he took the pay roll and left by boat for Vineyard Haven. He found that too small a place and went via New Bedford and Providence to Boston, where he struck his stride. The police recovered $2,000 of the missing $9,000 and found 60 cents in his room.

Wedding Will Follow the Frustrated Elopement

BROOKLYN.—Mary Cerulli, twenty-two and pretty, couldn't induce her parents to permit her to wed James Chickerella, so they decided to elope. At seven o'clock one night last week Chickerella, so they decided to elope. At seven o'clock one night last week Chickerella met her with an automobile. With him was Samuel Marzo of Long Island City, who volunteered as best inan, and three other friends.

As the young woman settled herself in the auto she uttered a squeal of supreme satisfaction. It was heard by Philip Goldstein, manager of a garage, and three auto owners. But they didn't know the cause of it.

"A kidnaping!" shouted Goldstein, "To the rescue, men!"

Marzo was yanked from the running board of the car as the machine swould not. It was his first experience with an elopement and he was bound to see it through.

Next a general slarm was sent out, detectives sped hither and thither and a watch was put on all ferries and bridges. Someone had caught the number of the car and the police moved so fast that they came up with the machine just as Chickerella was handing his sweetheart from the car in front of his home. They had intended to hide there until the excitement passed.

Instead, he and Miss Cerulli were taken to the police station. Here there were many explanations, the parents of the couple were sent for, and after Lieutenant Brady had interceded the fathers and mothers bestowed their blessings and said the wedding might take place later.

Unbeliever in Divorce Causes Much Trouble

Unbeliever in Divorce Causes Much Trouble

K ANSAS CITY.—"The divorced shall not remarry." This is the cardinal principle of the creed of Christian Schaefer, who divides his time between a cotton oil business and a mission. Capt. C. S. Borden is divorced. Also he is remarried. Schaefer lives almost across the street from the captain and the present Mrs. Borden.

This combination of circumstances landed Captain Borden and Schaefer in the office of Capt. Thomas P. Flahlve, at police headquarters.

Captain Borden was the complaining party. "This man," he said, "came over to any home the other night and fold my wife, right in front of me, that it was a crime for her to live with me. He's got her believing it, too.

"Schaefer spoke up: "I haven't tried to interfere in Captain Borden's home," he said. "Tre only told Mrs. Borden the truth—that it's a crime before God for her to live with a man who has another wife living."

"It haven't any wife living," protested Captain Borden. "I'm divorced." "It doesn't make any difference," declared Schaefer solemnly. "You're married in the eyes of God, and both you and Mrs. Borden are committing a sin by living together."

"You see?" Spokened Captain Borden. "That's the way he goes on all the time. As for my wife, she's crary about him. She even goes over to his house and heats his hath water."

Schaefer legan to protest, He said he was not responsible for Mrs. Borden me.

WHY THE EYES FOLLOW YOU

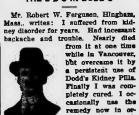

Face In Pictures Seems Always to Be Gazing at You If Person Photo-graphed Was Looking at Comera.

You probably have noticed that some

You probably have noticed that some faces in pictures seem to follow you, also that in other pictures there are faces which are not looking at you into matter where you walk, even though it be in the direction in which they seem to be looking, you will never find the face looking at you. Indeed, faces in pictures are either looking at us from wherever we look at them, or else they never look at us from wherever we look at them. The same is true of photographs.

The rule is very simple. If the person who is being painted or photographed was looking at the painter or the camera, then wherever you stand he will seem to be looking at you. If he was looking on one side, them where you stand he will seem to be looking or that side of you. This works very queerly if you have a group of people who are looking at the camera when they were photographed. If you look at the photograph from one side they all seem to turn back if you look at it from the other side. But if they were not looking at the camera you can never get them to look at you.
