A PRAYER

"We thank thee for the promise which by thy over-ruling grace this war has brought us, of the time at hand when war shall be no more. We thank thee for the great brotherhood of peoples whose leagued might has overthrown the champions of war. We thank thee for the prospects of yet wider brotherhood, including all nations, which shall make peace perpetual. We bless thee for thy servant, Woodrow Wilson, whom thou hast raised up to be a leader and commander of the peoples. We pray that full soon we may see established the United States of the world, when law will banish war, and justice suppress violence forever. Enable us to conquer national pride and jealousy and self-will; help us to submit our nation and empire to the great society of nations. So make us fit to establish this phase of thy kingdom upon earth. For the sake of Him who taught us to say, "Our Father," let us remember who it is that "maketh wars to cease unto the end of the earth." Amen.

HOME COMING EVENT A GREAT SUCCESS

OVER FIVE HUNDRED PEOPLE ATTEND HOME COMING AND AUCTION SALE AT A. H. VAN VOORIES.

One of the pleasantest occasions of the season occurred Thursday, August 14th, at the home of A. H. Van Voories. Mr Van Voories will not work his farm in the future, and so decided to make the day of his auction one to be long remembered. His cordial invitation to neighbors and friends to come and renew old acquaintances and enjoy the day at his pleasant home was accepted by over five hundred people, who came from Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Plymouth, Jackson, Hillsdale, Howell, Pittsford, Salem and Detroit. Many of these visitors had received their early education at the Miller school house close by. Exclamations of surprise and pleasure were heard throughout the day as these old pupils renewed acquaintances.

Students of the excellent, Frank J. Boyle, with his never-failing wit and capability very readily disposed of the farming implements and stock. Then at high noon the members of the Ladies Aid society of the Free church, spread their tables under the maples, and all were served a bountiful dinner. The diners enjoyed splendid music on the Victrola and player-piano by the courtesy of the Allmendinger Music Co., of Ann Arbor, throughout the dinner hour. A splendid program was given, consisting of recitations by Mrs. C. F. Smith and Donald King; and music by the Quackenbush orchestra. Mrs. Ed. Lyke, the Misses Irene and Hazel Quackenbush, Harmon's orchestra, June Pooler, Mr. Allmendinger and the Darktown Quintet. This was the first appearance of this quintet, but the mastery with which they "delivered the goods" won great applause. Their wonderful music and beautiful costumes showed time and money had been unsparsingly used in their preparation. The program closed with a fine address by the Rev. Mr. Elwoods, who spoke upon our part in the great world war and the opportunities to "carry on" in our own neighborhood. The crowd dispersed pronouncing Mr. Van Voories a very royal entertainer.

PATCHIN SCHOOL ANNUAL REUNION

THIRTEENTH ANNUAL REUNION AND PICNIC WAS HELD ON SCHOOL GROUNDS, LAST SATURDAY.

The thirteenth reunion of the Patchin school, which was held last Saturday, was unlucky in one respect, that it fell upon a rainy day. There was not the usual large attendance of teachers, pupils and old residents of the district, but those who were present seemed to enjoy themselves very well.

The oldest pupil present and also the one who came the farthest, was Mrs. M. E. Harris of Caro, Mich. She was accompanied by Mrs. Elizabeth Brown of St. Johns, Mich. The oldest teacher present was Orlow Brown of Detroit. Of the old families of the district, the David Brown family was best represented.

At the noon hour lunch baskets were brought, and with desks for tables, gave the pupils an opportunity to sit at their desks as in days of yore. More than in the afternoon, so that about eighty were present to hear the program, which was in charge of Miss Gladys Smith.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: President—Nancy Brown; Secretary—Bessie Nason; Treasurer—Anna Brown. The program committee for next year consists of Miss Wm. Giverson, Mrs. Fred Robinson and Herbert Brown.

CHAUTAQUA STARTS TODAY

SIX DAYS OF ENTERTAINMENT BEGINS TODAY.

The big Chautauqua tent arrived early in the week from Amherst, Ohio, where it was last used, and under the direction of tent-manager Stevenson, was soon put up in the park back of the Presbyterian church. The second tent man of the crew arrived on Wednesday and everything is now in readiness for the opening of the six days of entertainment at 2:30 this afternoon.

The Junior Supervisor is to meet the boys and girls for the first time at 1:30 this afternoon in Central Park and each afternoon after today she will conduct the athletics and games for the children, beginning at 10 o'clock each morning. The Junior Supervisor will also coach the participants in the big home talent pageant, "Columbia in Fairland," to be given next Wednesday evening. It is said that an unusually high type of superintendents are in the field with the Lincoln Chautauquas this year and that Prof. A. C. Tibbets of Minnesota, who will be at Plymouth as platform superintendent, is one of the best. Prof. Tibbets is superintendent of schools at Pipestone, Minn., and is one of the leading educators and public men of his state. Prof. Tibbets is the speaker for the opening evening performance tonight, his subject being "Testing America's Democracy."

The sale of tickets and the redeeming of the pledges made a year ago have gone forward splendidly this week and every indication points to a larger attendance of the Chautauqua than at any previous year. It has been noticed that the prices charged for the outstanding single numbers is higher than those of previous years, 75c being the admission for the evening of Grand Opera and also for the lecture on "World Problems" by the Russian Major General Argapitan, thus making it the greater economy to buy a season ticket, which remains at the same extremely low price as formerly, $2.00, plus the ten per cent war tax. It should be remembered also by loyal citizens that only half of the gate receipts go to the local committee, while they receive all of the proceeds from the sale of the season tickets until the guarantee price of $950 has been secured. Single admissions for the whole course would amount to more than six dollars. It is interesting to note that Plymouth people will pay the same price, $2.20 for twelve entertainments, that many other communities are paying for ten numbers where the five-day chautauquas are given.

Last year more than forty public spirited men went down in their pockets about ten dollars apiece to make the chautauqua possible here, but that will not be necessary this year if everybody will just be a loyal Plymouth booster and buy a season ticket.

The Loutian Serenaders, a versatile quartet of fair artists, are the big attraction for the opening day. They not only sing and play, featuring the accordion in addition to piano, violin, cello, but present attractive readings and give a little play, entitled, "Beyond Childhood," which has proved a well merited hit.

The Warwick Male Quartet will give the musical programs on Saturday and John Howard Dickason, "the man with a smile and a nose," will give his new lecture on "Sixty Minutes in a Flying Machine" and the "Young Man in Demand."

The many delighted hearers who so thoroughly enjoyed the work of the Smith-Spring-Bishop Quintet last season will be delighted to know that they also will give their lecture on "Sixty Minutes in a Flying Machine" and the "Young Man in Demand" on Sunday. This company has held together at its present personnel for many years, and so large is their range of programs that they claim never to have repeated a single number in any town where they have played as high as five and six times. The Smith-Spring-Bishop Quintet will give their lecture on "The Grand as Pyramid" is especially appropriate for the day.

Monday and Tuesday are the entertainment days with the new and interesting programs.

BALL GAME FOR TWO HUNDRED DOLLARS

WILL BE PLAYED AT NORTHVILLE, SATURDAY, AT 3:30.

The much talked of ball game for $200 between the Northville Independents and Howell Tigers was postponed last Saturday, and will be played this week Saturday at 3:30. The rain last week left the grounds wet, and a record breaking crowd of about 1000 fans were disappointed. Two hundred "rooters" were ready to come with the Howell team, when at two o'clock the game had to be called off and the day set for Saturday this week.

The Howell manager wanted to raise the purse to $400, and play at Milford, but Manager Harry German of Northville, said that this game must be played according to agreement, and then if both teams were not satisfied can arrange for another later. Northville defeated the team at Howell by a score of 5 to 2, but the Howell club seems to have something more up their sleeves, which will be thrashed out at Northville, Saturday. Ed. Smith and Carl Stimpson of Plymouth, play with the Northville team.

FIREMEN ON THEIR ANNUAL PICNIC

The Plymouth Fire Department went on their annual picnic, last Sunday. The fire laddies to the number of twenty-two and the editor of the Mail as an invited guest, motored to Detroit and there took the steamer Tashmoor for Port Huron. The boys carried with them a large box, which contained the picnic dinners for the crowd, and when the steamer arrived at Tashmoor Park, the desire to explore the contents of this box proved too much for the boys, and they decided to leave the boat at Tashmoor. When the big box was opened it was found to contain a splendid dinner for each man, with delicious fried chicken as the piece de resistance. There were plenty of other good things to go with it too. The dinner was put up by George Taylor, and George Moore some artist when it comes to putting up good things to eat. It was a dandy feed, and the hungry firemen enjoyed it immensely. The afternoon was passed with a boat ride to Algonac and socially. It was a most pleasant occasion, and the boys enjoyed it thoroughly.

The following out of town friends attended the funeral of Mrs. O. A. Fraser, Sunday afternoon: Elmer Brown, wife and daughter of Leinburg, Mich.; Mrs. Back of Ovid; Mr. and Mrs. Scanlan of Coopersville; Ralph Brown of Flint; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Anderson and Mrs. Ellen Woodward of Detroit.

MOLINE UNIVERSAL TRACTOR

Solves The Farm Help Problem

Harvesting is quickly over with a Moline-Universal Tractor, Model D, one man with an 8-foot grain binder harvesting 25 acres a day, or with a corn binder, 10 acres a day.

The Moline-Universal attaches direct to the binder, and forms a single, compact unit with it that is controlled by the operator from the seat of the binder, where he must sit in order to do good work. The outfit is as easily handled as with horses, stopping, backing, going into corners and turning with ease. With the Moline-Universal one man does cleaner, faster, and better work than other outfits do with two men.

For threshing, the Moline-Universal develops 18-horsepower, enough to pull a 24-inch grain separator or a 16-inch ensilage cutter. This belt power is also available for any other work, such as running a corn sheller, feed grinder, wood saw, clover huller, water pump or electric lighting plant.

Harvesting and belt work, however, are not the only things the Moline-Universal Tractor can do. With it one man plows 9 acres a day, discs 27 to 33 acres, harrows 76 acres,

A THOUGHT OF YOUR FUTURE

The season of the year has now arrived when boys and girls are considering the joy or sorrow of laying aside their summer employment or employment, to enter some High school. The writer is fully aware of the real judgments which boys and girls must form in coming to a decision which in years to come will be most beneficial to them individually and to the community in which they will live. It certainly requires a deal of foresight for you to leave the position you now hold at a salary possibly as high as you will be able to command after two, three or four years of High school training, but every boy or girl who is really living in this present age must consider not alone the salary for today, but the limit of his possibility for promotion. Consult any employment agency for industry, and you'll find those who get the best jobs are the ones who have sacrificed to attend school. Young men, or young women, it is immaterial what school you attend, but that you enroll in some school, which will enable you in years to come, not alone to earn a better living, but also to live a better life morally, politically and socially.

To those living in the vicinity of Plymouth, I wish to commend our High school, September 2nd will find our school in its completely equipped new building, with its teaching force increased, and its course of study broadened. With our new agriculture course added to complete its list of courses, it should be no longer a question of whether the farmer can afford to send his boy or girl, but rather whether he can afford not to send him. A careful examination of the commercial course will quickly show that we have not lost sight of the great fact that commercial graduates should also be trained as the boy or girl who will pursue higher education.

The regular academic work will be up to the high standard which has marked the school for many years, a fact which is recognized in it being accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. If you decide to come to Plymouth, come determined to do your best, and I am positive that your years will abundantly reward you for your sacrifice and effort.

GEORGE A. SMITH, Supt. of Schools.

"He told me in detail what it had done for his family, but more especially his daughter, who was lying at the point of death with a violent attack of dysentery, and had been given up by the family physician. Some of his neighbors advised him to give Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy, which he did, and fully believes that by doing so saved the life of his child. He stated that he had also used this remedy himself with equally gratifying results."—Adv't.

LEAGUE FULFILLS AMERICAN IDEAL

Herbert Hoover Says Democracies Replaced Autocracies at Our Bidding.

FOOD ADMINISTRATION CHIEF Urges Ratification on Ground That Peace Treaty Will Collapse Without League of Nations.

Herbert Hoover is so deeply concerned over the opposition to the League of Nations in the United States that he has let himself be interviewed at length on the League situation. In a talk with the New York Times correspondent in Paris, the Food Administration Chief asserts that having caused the League idea to prevail America cannot abandon it. We cannot withdraw, he says, and leave Europe to chaos. "To abandon the League Covenant now means that the treaty itself will collapse."

"It would take the exposure of but a few documents at my hand to prove that I had been the most reluctant of Americans to become involved in this situation in Europe. But having gone in with our eyes open and with a determination to free ourselves and the rest of the world from the dangers that surrounded us, we cannot now pull back from the job. It is no use to hold a great revival and then go away leaving a church for continued services laid down."

"We have succeeded in a most extraordinary degree in imposing upon Europe the complete conviction that we are absolutely disinterested. The consequence is that there is scarcely a man, woman or child who can read in Europe that does not look to the United States as the ultimate source from which they must receive assurance and guardianship in the liberties which they have now secured after so many generations of struggle. "This is not a problem of protecting the big nations, for the few that remain can well look after themselves. What we have done is to set up a score of little democracies, and if the American people could visualize their and work they would insist with the same determination that they did in 1917 that our government proceed."

entire construction of this treaty and every word and line in it to bend to this idea.

"Outside of the League of Nations the treaty itself has many deficiencies. It represents compromises between many men and between many selfish interests, and these very compromises and deficiencies are multiplied by the many new nations that have entered upon its signature, and the very safety of the treaty itself lies in a court of appeal for the remedy of wrongs in the treaty.

Benefits of the League.
"One thing is certain. There is no body of human beings so wise that a treaty could be made that would not develop injustice and prove to have been wrong in some particular. As the covenant stands today there is a place at which redress can be found and through which the good-will of the world can be enforced. The very machinery by which the treaty is to be executed, and scores of points yet to be solved, which have been referred to the League of Nations as a method of securing more mature judgment in a less heated atmosphere, justifies the creation of the League.

"To abandon the covenant now means that the treaty itself will collapse.

"It would take the exposure of but a few documents at my hand to prove that I had been the most reluctant of Americans to become involved in this situation in Europe. But having gone in with our eyes open and with a determination to free ourselves and the rest of the world from the dangers that surrounded us, we cannot now pull back from the job. ## Today's Reflections

When you go to buy goods at the present high prices you have to agree that the cows around Plymouth are not the only things that are being milked.

An Indiana man says an eagle swooped down and carried off one of his pigs. That must be a mistake, for pigs are now soaring higher than eagles ever did.

What has become of the old-fashioned Plymouth man we used to refer to as a spend-thrift?

It's hard to tell which is most interested in the approach of the year 1920—the young lady who has been keeping company with a handsome young man or the candidate who is hunting an office.

And if you would have a peaceful home all you have to do is to pay the freight and let your wife run it.

You never see a Plymouth child any more whose mother is so extravagant as to let it run around with blackberry jam all over its face.

This is indeed a dirty looking old world to the man who is too lazy to clean his own spectacles.

The bigger the production in America the more things cost. It looks like the only way for prices to come down is for us to have a famine.

Maybe one reason why it is dangerous for some Plymouth girls to get married is because most men are not as agreeable at home as they are on the streets.

Old Mother Goose could have taken her place among the prophets, if she had made the goose that laid the golden egg a hen.

The old-fashioned Plymouth woman who wanted to lead a sheltered life, now has a daughter whose clothes afford her hardly any protection from the weather.

It's a good deal easier for a Plymouth girl to believe a man when he tells her she is prettier than it is for him to tell her.

We read that labor in Japan is getting 10c an hour. And that is the same kind of labor that some of the agitators in this country are trying to fill America up with.

WARWICK MALE QUARTETTE

It is doubtful if any combination in music so nearly meets with popular approval as a male chorus of well-tuned voices. In syncopated songs, popular ballads, or divine sacred harmonies, the appeal of such music is irresistible. Churches offering competent male quartettes experience no difficulty in filling their pews, while no popular musical festival is complete without it. In the Warwick quartette the National Lincoln Chautauqua offers its patrons a highly competent group of young men with voices of rare beauty and volume. This company comes directly from the coast to fill its engagement with the Lincoln. They will be heard in a versatile program afternoon and evening of the second day.

COAST OVER COBBLE STONES

Sport in Madeira Has Many Advantages Over That to Which North-erners Are Accustomed. Cobble stones may not appeal to the uninitiated as ideal for coasting purposes, but they admirably serve the purpose. It all depends on how steep is the hill the cobbles pave. In other words, it isn't the material that makes the "slide," but the pitch of the slope. Those of us who are accustomed to sliding down snow-clad hills, or racy ascents made slippery by ice know little of the thrill a slide may possess. For some measure of the delight in the sport is frequently minimized by the fright air that rushes past our tingling ears; and some measure of the enjoyment is entirely lost by the chills that grip our shivering bodies. Imagine—if you can—the thrill of coasting down a hill so steep that your "sled" flies over the cobbles much as it would speed over crusted snow or an ice glaze. Instead of icy air that almost chills you to the marrow at the thought, picture yourself in springtime garments and fanned by summer breezes. If you can imagine such a picture you will have enjoyed at least some part of the sport of coasting in an island where there is no snow or ice. Down the cobble-paved road the "sled" flies. For ten minutes you dash along in breath-taking rush, then you begin to grow accustomed to the speed and the novelty of the sport and you take time to look about you. But—like most other enjoyments—just as you're beginning really to enjoy it to the utmost your coasting ends. Where is this extraordinary slide? On the island of Madeira, which belongs to Portugal, and lies in the Atlantic ocean, off the coast of Morocco.

How a Hero Died.

A dramatic incident in which a heroic young officer faced death in soldierly manner is the climax of a true story that recently appeared in Stars and Stripes, the official newspaper of the American expeditionary forces. He was Francis M. Leahy of Lawrence, Massachusetts, and he had served in the ranks before he won his commission. He used to tell of the days when he was orderly to Captain Pershing in the Philippines. One day while he was resting with his men by the wayside a German shell came whizzing out of space just as the order arrived that the regiment fall in and move on.

The shell plowed up the earth and stretched on the ground several men who were just getting to their feet. It hit the tree against which Captain Leahy was leaning and snipped it off like a stalk of asparagus. A piece of shell struck him in the back and tore its way through his chest. "Good-by, boys!" he said, and his head sagged forward.

Then it was as if, somewhere in the universe, an invisible commander had called, "Attention!" Captain Leahy raised his head. With clearing voice he called the name of the officer next in command. "Lieutenant Hansen," he said, "the command is 'Forward!' See the boys through!" Then he died.

Recipient of Old Honor. Prince Ferdinand Radziwill, who recently presided at the opening of the new Polish parliament, is a distant relative of the Hohenzollerns and one of the pillars of the old Polish nobility. The honor accorded Prince Radziwill was declared to be absolutely without political significance, but entirely a matter of custom. The prince came into the temporary presidency by reason of seniority only. He is eighty-five years old and is the oldest member on the floor of parliament. By virtue of a similar custom the youngest two members of the house, a socialist and a Catholic priest, neither of them more than twenty-five years old, acted as vice-presidents and sat to left and right of the old nobleman all through the first session, assisting him in the carrying on of his duties.

Ships and Their Names. Peace has brought with it the incidental discussion in a section of the English press of the meaning of and reason for the names of certain ships in the British navy. Truly my lords of the admiralty, acting as sponsors, have gone to some strange sources for the nomenclature. Not merely countries and cities have been drawn upon, but many of the creatures figuring in a menagerie have been freely utilized. Then there are the vessels named after the public schools and institutions of England, such as Uppingham, Tonbridge, Westminster, Rugby, Cheltenham, Epsom and so on. If Epsom should feel jealous over the matter of its neglect it can take a kind of reflected comfort in the fact that there is a destroyer called Windsor.

Weights a Locomotive Hauls. "How much more weight does the average passenger locomotive have to haul than in the days before the advent of the 'steel car'?" I asked an expert Philadelphia locomotive builder. "The old wooden passenger car weighed 40,000 to 60,000 pounds," he answered. "The steel suburban car weighs 90,000 pounds. "The larger steel car weighs 110,000 pounds. "A parlor car weighs 115,000 pounds and the sleeping car 140,000. "As for the locomotive itself, the heavy Pacific type for passenger traffic weighs 280,000 to 300,000 pounds. The freight locomotives, of course, go far beyond this figure, to more than 600,000 pounds."—Philadelphia Ledger.

PURPLE AND GOLD

Adorned Armies Which Persian Kings Led to War.

Spectacular indeed must have been the March of Mighty Hosts Before the Days of Business-like Fighting.

Warfare was a spectacular, as well as a bloody enterprise, in the days of antiquity. Plain khaki and simple businesslike accoutrements would never have suited the ancient Persian soldiers. Silver altars, surrounded by priests, chanting sacred songs, were first in line of march. They were followed by 865 youths dressed in purple garments. A chariot dedicated to the sun was drawn by snow-white horses, led by grooms wearing white garments and carrying golden wands.

Ten chariots embossed with gold and silver preceded the cavalry of 12 nations, dressed in their various costumes and carrying their peculiar arms.

Then came the Persian immortals, 10,000 in number, wearing golden chains and robes embroidered with gold and glittering with precious stones. Following at a short distance came 15,000 nobles, relatives of the king, dressed in garments wonderfully wrought.

A company of spearmen preceded the king. He rode in an imposing chariot, and wore robes of surpassing magnificence, and a costly utter on his head. By his side walked 200 of his most noble kinsmen. Ten thousand warriors, bearing spears with shafts of silver tipped by heads of gold, followed the royal chariot of Xerxes. The king's horses, 40 in number, with 30,000 footmen, ended the procession.

At some distance followed the mother and wife of the king in chariots, accompanied by their ladies on horseback. Fifteen cars carried the king's children, their tutors and nurses, and 600 camels, guarded by archers, bore the royal treasury. The friends and relatives of the ladies followed with the cooks and servants. Eight-armed troops brought up the rear. When a king in those days looked upon his troops and saw their strength and splendor, it is no wonder he felt proud and wished to lead them to battle. Such an army was not meant to stay at home, where only their countenances could see them. Other nations would know how powerful a king he was. So he and his followers marched away, and wars for conquest began.

Peoples were forced to give themselves up to a life of war, either for conquest or defense, and the great highways, which peace would have dedicated to commerce and prosperity, became military roads over which war took its cruel way.

Details Carried to Absurdity. Trivial details not infrequently become the pivot of momentous decisions, in which cases an element of absurdity is supplied by the breadth of the contrast. A case in point arises in the discussion among English literateurs concerning Shakespeare's alleged "hand" in the play of "Sir Thomas More," in which one expert occupies almost a column of small type in the literary supplement of the Times of London in describing the construction of the letter E as found in one of Shakespeare's autographic documents. The imposing array of varlike and nautical terms in the modest letter, such as keel, baseline, ram, forelimb and boundary line, may astonish many who have been accustomed to form it with comparative ease, while the division of the letter into sections and subsections by this savant for purposes of discussion endows the old scrivener's art with unexpected dignity.

Matter of Priority. While the people of Denmark are glorying in the antiquity of their national flag, the "Dannebrog," which claims the honor of seniority among all the national flags, and are commemorating its origin in the thirteenth century, Belgian and German patriots are scouring the Middle Ages on a mission of vital import to their respective flags. The new German state has given indications of adopting for its colors black, yellow and red, disposed horizontally. This has aroused protests in Belgium, which claims priority in precisely the same colors, similarly disposed, and patriotic societies are said to be forming to take action to prevent Germany's adoption of them. The Belgian claims are based on the colors of the princes of Flanders and Brabant in the thirteenth century, while the German case is said to rest on the use of the colors in question by the ancient Germanic empire.

What's in a Name. Naming a plant or flower after a celebrity is a delicate compliment, and one that no doubt at times adds something to the market value. But there are exceptions. That beautiful variety of the lobelia, for instance known as "Emperor William," would perhaps hold up its imperial head a little more proudly just now if it had had a more fortunate christening.

Stray thoughts on these lines may have been flickering in the mind of a vendor in a London market-place as a likely looking buyer, while examining a box of the old favorite, asked what variety it was. Without deranging the muscle of an eyelid the coster (and she was a "lady," too) replied: "Doughs 'Alg' Four-and-a-tanner a box."

NICKEL BY NICKEL

Newspaper Man Dribbled His Profit to Beggar.

Little Transaction by Which Scribe Thought He Was to Make $2.65 Didn't End in Just That Desired Way.

"A newspaper friend of mine," said Mr. Gouglington, "tells me of an unusual experience he has had, in fact is still having with a beggar. "He met this beggar first about a year ago. The circumstances attending this first meeting were novel and interesting and my friend wrote a little piece about it which was printed in his newspaper and for which he received $3. As he had given the beggar a nickel he figured that his net profit on this was $2.95. But: "A couple of weeks later he again met this beggar, who again asked for a nickel, a request that my friend did not feel warranted in refusing. I don't think he would have refused anyway, my friend being an easy mark for beggars; but having profited by his original transaction with this beggar, he felt impelled to hand over this second nickel promptly, thus reducing his net on this little piece to $2.90.

"It wasn't long before my friend discovered that this beggar lived somewhere in his neighborhood and made that part of the town his quarry; for he had to meet him here and there by intervals. Not always, by any means, when they met did the beggar approach him; commonly they passed each other as any other two might do, with no sign of recognition; but once in a while the beggar would ask for a nickel, which always my friend gave. In this way in the course of three months he gave up 35 cents, thus reducing the net of that $3 to $2.65. Then my friend had an idea. "He foresaw that if this went on indefinitely, as there seemed every indication it would do, the beggar would get all of the $3, which to my friend seemed scarcely reasonable. But he did think that an even division would be no more than right to the beggar, and so when the $3 got down to $2.65 he set aside, in his mind, $1.15 as a drawing account to the beggar's credit, and he said to himself that when thus the original fund had been evenly divided he would stop giving and consider that he had done the square thing.

"Well, my friend tells me that, counting a nickel that the beggar drew yesterday, he has now drawn $1.40, so that now it is a question of a very few weeks only, three or four at the utmost, when the beggar will have drawn his full share. "Then, my friend says, he is going to shut down and keep the rest himself; but what I think he will do will be to keep on paying till the whole three dollars is gone, his original profit being thus wiped out completely. I don't know what he can do then, unless he should write, covering all his experiences with this unusual beggar, another and longer story; moving then to another part of the city."

THEIR GLORY GONE

Helgoland to Join Louisbourg as a Memory.

Famous French Fortress in Canada Has Long Been Demolished and Soon the German Stronghold Is to Be Razed.

Announcement that the German forts on the island of Helgoland are to be demolished recalls the similar fate of a glorious landmark on Canadian soil. This is Louisbourg, Nova Scotia, once the pride of New France, and now a pile of ruins, with but a faint echo of its original splendor.

Louisbourg was the remnant of French power on the Atlantic coast when the treaty of Utrecht was signed in 1713, reducing the fortunes of Louis XIV to a low ebb. From 1720 to 1760 it led a precarious but spectacular existence, its magnificence as a defense guaranteed by the expenditure of millions of dollars by the French government, though millions were stolen and wasted by dishonest officials and unhappy officers, whose only ambition was to get rich and go home.

The fortress was imposing, despite the thievery and mismanagement, and it required a seven weeks' siege by Colonel Pepperell and his New Englanders in 1745 to take it from the French.

By one of those diplomatic incidents too plentiful in the history of the new world, Louisbourg was handed back to France in 1748 by the treaty of Aix-la-Chapelle. The New Englanders were furious, but ten years later the British army and navy, with such rising strategists as Amherst and Wolfe taking part, again laid siege by land and sea, and in another campaign of seven weeks recaptured the stronghold.

The days of the great fortress were now numbered. The home of discontent, the abode of smugglers, the den of thieving officialdom received its death warrant in 1760 at the hand of George II and Pitt in London. So well was the warrant executed that for months sailors, sappers and miners worked until they laid Louisbourg level with the dust.

And there it remains. Memorials recording its history raise their modest heads above the chaos of stones and mortar. The site on a point three miles from the railway and the town of the same name is remote and forbidding. Should the visitor follow the shore road by the lonely Atlantic in summer he will hear tinkling sheep bells from the pasture where once stood the French town, now completely obliterated. The great area of the ruins of the fort gives some hint of the vain preparation to hold a last grip against the advancing British and Colonialists.

What will be the thoughts of the tourist as he drops by airplane on Helgoland a century hence, witnesses its ruined forts, and contemplates the futile ambitions of a race that drew the sword and fought a losing battle for world domination?

Married by Order.

A document suggesting that the holders of certain lands in Scotland are bound under heavy monetary penalties to marry at the royal pleasure has been brought to light during a Scottish appeal case in the house of lords. The document is said to have been prepared by the king and queen of Scotland in 1558, and it refers to a tenure known as a "ward." The heirs or possessors of land held in this manner cannot obtain possession until they are twenty-one years of age if males and fourteen years of age if females. If such heirs on taking possession are not married they are bound to marry at the pleasure and will of the king with persons of good reputation and similar rank. The penalty payable to the king for refusing such a proposed marriage is double the pecuniary benefit of the marriage. "Which marriage," adds the order, "is esteemed much too dear in this country and almost at the value of the lands."

Historic Tree Now Only a Memory.

The "tree in the road" a mile and a half west of Hartford, Mich., has been cut down to clear the way for a new concrete road. This maple tree, supposed to be more than a hundred years old, was the most famous and most cherished landmark of the region. Standing in the middle of the road on the crest of a hill, it had from the time of the oldest inhabitant been used as a point from which all distances were measured.

In giving directions a place was always said to be a certain distance "this side of the tree in the road" or a certain distance "beyond the tree in the road." With the advance of civilization, however, the natives have reluctantly concluded that the tree can be dispensed with, since the only distance people ask about now is the distance between gasoline tanks.—Exchange.

Education in China.

China is still in the transition period in education. The modern school has not entirely replaced the ancient methods, with large emphasis on the classics, verbal memorizing and the writing of the essay. The conception of the need of practical education is on the increase. The minister of agriculture in Peking said when calling men for the forestry division, "I want men who can grow trees, not essays."

State Constabulary to Drill and Police Detroit Exposition Grounds During the Michigan State Fair

Detroit (Special).—Fifty troops of the Michigan State Constabulary, headed by Colonel Roy C. Vandercrook, will camp on the Michigan State Fair grounds during the ten days of the exposition, August 29 to September 7. The troops will put on daily drills and will police the grounds. The Michigan State Troops have demonstrated, during the past year, the benefit to the state of such an organization. During the liquor running epidemic their services at the state line near Monroe were invaluable. They have shown their ability in fighting the forest fires of the northern part of the state and have been the means of saving millions of dollars worth of Michigan's natural resources. Col. Vandercrook has built up the organization until it has a national reputation for efficiency and is the pattern after which many states are establishing similar organizations. The upper picture shows an officer receiving orders from his superior and the lower is Colonel Vandercrook, head of the constabulary.

Senator Set Altogether Too Fast a Pace for Even Veteran Bore to Follow.

A senator was entertaining some friends with stories about the Arizona desert, when a bore joined the party.

This bore was the kind of a chap that always laughs in the wrong place and spoils a story by trying to guess its climax. The senator undertook to silence him.

"Poor Ferguson!" he said. "That was a close shave he had in the desert last August."

"Sunstroke, of course," said the bore. "No, not exactly," said the senator.

"You see, Ferguson stumbled accidentally on the Cauldron—our famous spring, you know, that gushes out of the rock at freezing point and immediately begins to boil from the fierce heat of the sun."

"Of course, of course," said the bore. "And what happened to Ferguson? Did he fall in the cauldron and boil to death? Get on with your story, man."

"Ferguson fell in," said the senator, "but he managed to scramble out again. The peril, however, was not yet over for him. Our Arizona air, you see, is so dry that it absorbs moisture with astonishing rapidity. Well, the boiling water in Ferguson's clothes evaporated so fast that the poor fellow instantly froze stiff."

"I see," said the bore. "He died of cold. Well, that reminds me—"

"No, he didn't die," said the senator. "He almost died, but he had a miraculous escape. In his stiff-frozen state, you understand, he began to shiver with chill, and he shivered so hard that in a few moments he became overheated and would have succumbed to sunstroke if he hadn't providentially broken into a cold sweat."

"Hiding a King's Statue.

The fine equestrian statue of King Charles I, which was hidden in London for protection during the war, has been brought to light again. The statue, which was cast during the reign of the monarch, according to reports has not enjoyed the uneventful career permitted to most works of its kind. It was executed for Sir Richard Weston, afterward earl of Portland, who intended to place it as an ornament in his garden at Rochampton. But this function it never fulfilled, for it was seized by parliament during the Civil war and sold to one John Rivett, a brazier, to be broken up. John, however, being a royalist, hid the statue, and, by selling hundreds of bronze knife handles purporting to be made from it, disarmed any parliamentary suspicions in the matter. On the restoration of Charles II in 1660 Rivett produced the statue, which was claimed by Sir Richard's son. The brazier refused to yield it, and after years of dispute it was eventually presented to King Charles II and erected on the spot formerly covered by the original Charing cross.

Antarctic "Shelf Ice."

From the work of recent explorations, Sir Douglas Mawson concludes that the rock foundation on which the Antarctic ice cap rests is very irregular, partly above sea level and partly below, and that its thickness, which is very variable, may reach a maximum of several thousand feet. Under the thickest portions the static pressure at the base may be as great as one ton per square inch. Under such a covering there may be a considerable accumulation of ground heat, and it is assumed that the under portion of the ice cap is undoubtedly soft and plastic. Where the sea breaks up the ice at a rate faster than the flow, the sea front is substantially the coast line. But elsewhere, as in the Great Ross barrier and the Shackleton shelf, the supply of ice exceeds the rate of erosion at the sea front, and the overflow from the land maintains a thick sheet of "shelf ice" extending far out to sea. The sea front of the ice cap, at the present rate of advance or flowing out, is estimated to have left the coast in Fireproofing Concrete Columns. We have been wont to look upon concrete as capable of resisting a great deal of heat, and it may seem strange to think of coating it with a fireproof material. However, there are conditions under which this is necessary. The bureau of standards has been investigating the condition of concrete which has passed through conflagrations, and has found that if the concrete is made with gravel, particularly siliceous gravel, there is a tendency for the stones to burst in extreme heat, which disintegrates the concrete. Accordingly it is recommended that gravel be avoided wherever possible, but if impossible the gravel concrete may be protected from extreme heat by coating it with an inch of cement held in place by a wire mesh. Plasters may also be used in which asbestos is the principal constituent.—Scientific American.

Closed Chapter of History. The French newspaper L'Eclair, which, in one of its recent issues, published a note on the seal used by Jules Favre at Versailles in 1871, has received a letter bearing the signature "Louis, prince de Bourbon." The writer protests against the expression, used by L'Eclair, "Louis XVII," as applied to his father, Naudorff; and the writer incloses a certificate in which Naudorff is described as duke of Normandy, Louis XVII. It has not sufficed of over 100 years completely to silence that particular chapter of French history. As L'Eclair remarks, "Ever since the 8th of June, 1795, the cause was settled for us."

Ford THE UNIVERSAL CAR

There are more than 3,000,000 Ford Cars in daily operation in America. This is a little better than half of all the motor cars in use in the country. There is a very potent and profitable reason in this why you should buy Ford cars for your business and for your personal use. It is a demonstrated fact that Ford cars have, in every line of human desire so far as motor cars are concerned, best satisfied their owners with the service given. They must be safe; they must be comfortable; they must be always reliable; they must be convenient and they must be economical, or they wouldn't be so tremendously popular with all classes of people. The big Ford Factory has not yet reached normal production, but the war is over, and it is getting back as fast as possible. We are getting a few cars in right along, and we will do the best possible to give you early delivery.

THE A. B. C. OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

1. What is the League of Nations?
A. A union of the strongest civilized nations formed at the conclusion of the great war.
2. What is its object?
A. First, to promote the Peace of the World by agreeing not to resort to war. Second, to deal openly with each other, not by secret treaties. Third, to improve international law. Fourth, to co-operate in all matters of common concern.
3. Does it presume to end war?
A. No more than any government can end crime. It claims to reduce the liability of war.
4. What will be done to any nation that makes war?
A. It will be boycotted and otherwise penalized.
5. How else will the probability of war be lessened?
A. By voluntary, mutual and proportionate disarmament; by exchanging military information; by providing for arbitration; by protecting each nation's territorial integrity and by educating public opinion to see the folly of war.
6. What else does the League propose to do for Mankind?
A. (1) Secure fair treatment for labor.
(2) suppress the White Slave Traffic, the sale of dangerous Drugs, and the traffic in War Munitions.
(3) control and prevent Disease.
(4) promote the work of the Red Cross, and
(5) establish International Bureaus for other Causes that concern the human race.
7. Who are to be Charter Members of the League?
A. The United States of America, Belgium, Bolivia, Brazil, British Empire, Canada, Australia, South Africa, New Zealand, India, China, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, Ecuador, France, Greece, Guatemala, Haiti, Hedjaz, Honduras, Italy, Japan, Liberia, Nicaragua, Panama, Peru, Poland, Portugal, Rumania, Serbia, Slam, Uruguay and the following states which are invited to accede to the covenant: Argentine Republic, Chile, Colombia, Denmark, Netherlands, Norway, Paraguay, Persia, Salvador, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Venezuela.
8. What other nations may join?
A. Any self-governing State which will agree to the rules of the League, provided the League accepts it.
9. What Agencies will the League have?
A. (1) An Assembly, composed of representatives of all the member Nations.
(2) a Council of Nine.
(3) a Secretary-General.
(4) a Mandatary Commission, to look after colonies, etc.
(5) a Permanent Commission, for military questions.
(6) various International Bureaus; such as the Postal Union, etc.
(7) Mandatories.
10. What is a Mandatary?
A. Some one nation designated by the League to attend to the welfare of "backward peoples residing in colonies of the Central Empire, or in territories taken from them." This is to be a "sacred trust," and in selecting a mandatary the wishes of the people of the area in question shall be the principal consideration.
11. Does the League mean a Super-nation?
A. No. It interferes in no way with any Nation's Sovereignty, except to limit its power to attack other nations.
12. Can any Nation withdraw when it wishes?
A. Yes. The League is Advisory and Co-operative, not coercive.
13. Does the League put Peace above Justice and National Honor?
A. No. It puts Reason before Violence.
14. Does not the League take away the Constitutional right of Congress to declare war?
A. No. The League can advise war; Congress alone can Declare war.
15. Does it destroy the Monroe Doctrine?
A. Exactly the contrary. For the first time in history the other nations recognize the Monroe Doctrine; and extend it to all the world.
16. Does it not interfere with Treaty Making Powers of the United States?
A. No. It is a Treaty. We can make any Treaty we please.
17. Would we have had the Great War if we had had this League?
A. No. That War cost the world over 7,000,000 lives and 200,000,000,000 dollars.
18. Of what importance is the League?
A. It is the greatest deed of mankind in the history of the world.
19. Has not anyone a right to object to the League?
A. Yes. This is a free country. Any one has a right to any opinion he chooses.
20. Why is the League so bitterly opposed by a few?
A. Because, unfortunately, any Treaty or League must be made by the President, and a President is chosen by a political party and many members of the opposite Party think they must fight whatever he does.

Presbyterian Notes

Rev. Bicknell attended the State Sunday-school convention in Flint, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week. He plans an echo meeting next Sunday in the Sunday-school. The pastor and officers of the Sunday-school are planning the work for the new year, and will have a meeting next week to discuss the plans. It is hoped that all the teachers and members of the Sunday-school will plan to co-operate in this very important work.
The communion service of the fall will be held on the first Sunday in September. Let all who are planning on joining the church make their plans accordingly and inform the pastor or session.
The church has sustained a great loss in the death of Mrs. Fraser. A large attendance of the members of the church and congregation testified to their devotion and love for Mrs. Fraser by their attendance at the funeral held last Sunday in her late home. Mrs. Fraser was a most familiar figure in the activities of the church, always being present at the various services of the church and thoroughly dependable in her service, which she always rendered so willingly and helpfully. She was deeply interested in all of the activities of the church, but none so much as the musical service. The pastor had planned a special service of tribute to her in the prayer meeting service this fall, but these plans will be turned later into a memorial service at a fitting time. Her love and devotion to the church was manifest in her thought for it when she made her will. At the reading of her will it was disclosed that she left two thousand dollars to the church to be used for its development. The church will miss her presence, but the memory of her loyal, patient and loving service will make it easier for many to be true and faithful to their tasks and duties.

BRIGGS SCHOOL RE-UNION AND PICNIC

LARGE NUMBER OF FORMER TEACHERS AND PUPILS GATHERED ON SCHOOL GROUNDS TO ENJOY THIRD ANNUAL RE-UNION, SATURDAY, AUGUST 9.

The third annual reunion of teachers, pupils and patrons of the Briggs school of Livonia, was held as usual on the second Saturday in August, on the grounds of the school in District Number Three. A beautiful day, a large attendance, genuine sociability and a bounteous picnic dinner—all helped to make the occasion one that will remain in the memory of the participants for many years.
The program as pre-arranged by the committee appointed for that purpose was carried out in full. W. R. Shaw, the president, being at his summer cottage in the north part of the state, was necessarily absent, and Charles Ely of Farmington, was elected president pro tem, and conducted the proceedings very efficiently. The old officers were re-elected, and one new one, Miss Lina Duffee, was elected vice president of the association. After the sandwiches, beans, pies, cake and coffee had been disposed of, the crowd was assembled in proper form, and a large photograph was taken by Mr. Fisher of Plymouth, from whom anyone who wishes can secure copies. A very fine address of welcome was then given by Mr. Ely, after which "America" was sung by all who could or would sing. Very interesting addresses were given by Orlo Brown, Mr. McBride, Miss Lina Duffee, Mrs. Minnie Wilber, Miss Lund, Mrs. John Melow, Miss Carrie Eiddle, Mrs. John Stewart and others, all former teachers of this school. An exceptionally nice recitation was given by little Miss June Johnson, which received the hearty applause of the entire audience.
Among the former teachers present was Miss Sarah Courter of Farmington, who taught a term of school here at the time of the Civil war, more than fifty years ago. We noted with pleasure that several of her former pupils—all gray-haired men and women—were there to greet her. Many from a long distance were on the grounds, renewing old friendships and acquaintance, and recounting former school day memories and scrapes. Ionia, Detroit, Toledo, Farmington, Northville, Plymouth, Wayne and other places far and near were represented by former teachers and pupils.
A letter from Mrs. Alice Spaulding of Ionia, a former pupil, sending love and greetings to all and expressing regret at inability to attend, was received. Also messages from others whose business affairs prevented attendance, nearly all, however, promising to be here at the next reunion. The thanks of the association are

GUN CLUB HOLD FIRST WEEKLY SHOOT

UP SOME SPLENDID SCORES.
The Plymouth Gun Club held their first weekly shoot on Sunday, August 17th, on the large tract owned by the village, and located south of the Plymouth road and west of Riverside cemetery. In spite of rain earlier in the day, the shoot was well attended, and some very fine scores were made. "Woodie" Murray says that he can't shoot with a single barreled gun, and Merle simply couldn't hit a flock of barns with an automatic. But pawaw, they were only trying to kid the spectators. Look at their scores.
Several new guns were in evidence, as follows: Frank Hill, Northville, No. 1000; Special Trap, George Cook, Plymouth, 1912 Winchester Pump; H. W. Passage, Plymouth, Remington Autoloading.

Scores as follows:

Player	Score
M. Powell, Plymouth,	100
F. Hill, Northville,	92
George Cook, Plymouth,	75
T. V. Passage, Plymouth,	65
H. W. Passage, Plymouth,	50
A. Hall, Plymouth,	50
W. Murray, Plymouth,	34
M. Murray, Plymouth,	25
W. Hill, Northville,	25

 Everyone turn out next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p. m., and help make this club a real one. Shells for sale at cost on grounds.

Andrew Carnegie, the steel magnate, died at his Lenox, Mass., summer home, "Shadow Brook," at 7:10 Monday morning after an illness of less than three days with bronchial pneumonia. So sudden was his death that his daughter, Mrs. Roswell Miller, was unable to get to her father's bedside before he died. His wife and private secretary were with him at the end.

Washington

Material aid for Admiral Kolchak's retreating army in Siberia is being pushed to Vladivostok by the American government. It was said officially at Washington that 45,000 rifles and several million rounds of ammunition already had been sent from San Francisco and that additional equipment would go forward this week on an army transport.

The first federal conviction for profiteering was reported to the department of justice at Washington. District Attorney Lucy telegraphed Attorney General Palmer from Birmingham, N. Y., that a retail grocer had been fined $500 in the federal court for selling sugar at 15 cents a pound.

Attorney General Palmer announced at Washington that he had asked congress for an appropriation of $1,200,000 to be used in the H. C. L. campaign.

Representative Hedin (Dem.) of Alabama charged in the house at Washington that "German money and munition money and manufacturers' money is back of the propaganda to defeat the League of Nations."

Another group of railroad workers—the conductors, have asked the railroad administration at Washington for increases in wages.

The plan for a League of Nations used as a basis of discussion at Versailles was not any of the drafts submitted by the United States, Great Britain, France or Italy, but was a combination of all of them, the senate foreign relations committee at Washington was told by David Hunter Miller, legal adviser to the League of Nations commission in France.

Final casualty reports from the A. E. F. central records office made public by the war department at Washington, gave the total battle deaths as 49,498, total wounded 206,600, and prisoners, 4,480.

First heroes of the world war to be reviewed in America by President Wilson—the marines brigade of the Second division—marched up Pennsylvania avenue from the capitol to the White House at Washington.

President Wilson at Washington in a message of condolence sent to Mrs. Andrew Carnegie said the death of the philanthropist constituted a serious loss to the forces of humanity.

Hoarded food stocks will be taken over by the government and placed upon the market to help re-establish the operation of the law of supply and demand, the department of justice made known at Washington.

Complete collapse of the Kolchak movement in Siberia was forecast in reports reaching Washington. Kolchak forces have fallen back almost 200 miles from their former advanced lines and Omak was said to be threatened with evacuation.

Foreign

The house of commons at London, after heated debate, adopted an amendment to the profiteering bill empowering the board of trade, after an investigation, to fix wholesale and retail prices. The vote was 132 to 95.

The body was not identified. The victim was about 30 years old, and an empty vial labeled carbolic acid found nearby is believed to indicate suicide.

Bay City—Bay City council Monday night declined to recede from its position in refusing to allow the street railway company to raise fares to 5 cents, a demand which has caused the lines to be tied up with a strike since last Wednesday. Major L. G. Beckwith, on behalf of a citizens' committee, presented an amendment to the franchise similar to that granted in Baginaw, but the council ignored it.

Lansing—With paid in capital of $100,000, furnished by Columbus, O., and Grand Rapids men and the original purchase of land for their enterprise made, Attorney Roy E. Detroit—Although Andrew Carnegie offered Detroit $750,000 for library buildings in 1901, it was not until 1916 that the city council finally accepted the proffered gift. Opposition to the acceptance of the gift came chiefly from labor circles. Half of the gift which remains to be spent, is represented by eight of the city's 13 branch library buildings, completely erected and furnished at an approximate cost of $60,000 each. The remaining $675,000 is in the hands of the city contractor, who will be paid by the city in the fall term of this year.

Lansing—The Michigan Railway company has offered to tear up its line between Pontiac and Oshtemo and abandon the service, to permit Owasco to have the street. The company says it is not of the opinion that it is worth the cost of the tearing out, which would be $25,000, on the line in question. The post-office is behind about 80,000 licenses, the total number mailed being 165,000.

Lansing—Despite the pronouncements of action against "profiteers" emblazoned in many public prints, there is no way of proceeding against profiteers as such, according to the prosecuting officials but only when they have gone into agreements to control prices or supplies, can action be taken. Naturally, these agreements are usually made for no other purpose than "profiteering" and undoubtedly most of the profiteers can be reached through the state's anti-trust laws, the prosecutors declare.

Detroit—Henry Ford's gasoline-driven street car is rapidly nearing completion in the Dearborn shops and is expected to make its trial run within the next 60 days. Two hundred and fifty men are at work in the tractor plant on various parts, while hundreds more are busy in Cleveland building the special body. It also says that it would be willing to tear up the line if the city would guarantee the cost of the tearing out, which would be $25,000.

St. Ignace—The St. Ignace Railway company has offered to tear up its line between Pontiac and Oshtemo and abandon the service, to permit Owasco to have the street. It also says that it would be willing to tear up the line if the city would guarantee the cost of the tearing out, which would be $25,000.

MEXICO WARNED OF CHANGE IN POLICY

CARRANZA TOLD THAT UNLESS AMERICANS ARE PROTECTED U. S. MAY TAKE HAND.

MURDERS MUST BE STOPPED

Mexican Government in Reply States That Everything Possible is Done to Protect Foreigners.

Washington—Warning that there would be a radical change in the policy of the American government regarding Mexico if the Carranza government continued to fail to protect Americans in that country was contained in a note sent to the Mexican foreign office.

That the note had been dispatched was disclosed last week by the state department, together with the information that, in its reply, the Mexican government had said that everything possible already was being done to protect foreigners. There was a suggestion that unless foreigners concentrated in populous places it would be impossible to afford them the protection demanded.

Notification of a possible change of policy was made by the American embassy at Mexico City on instructions from the state department, which determined upon this course as a result of the long series of murders and outrages of Americans in Mexico, culminating in the murder of Peter Catron in San Luis Potosi last month.

In connection with the death of Catron the usual representations regarding the capture and punishment of those responsible were made.

Surprise was displayed in the reply of the Mexican government at what is styled the "menace" contained in the American note. It was suggested that it appeared strange that such a demand for protection should be made for foreigners in sparsely settled districts, when crimes often go undetected in the "most populous cities of the most cultured countries" and "where acts of violence are often committed without respective governments thereby becoming the object of severe observations."

RAIL SHOPMEN'S STRIKE IS OFF

Men Return to Work After Holding Out For Two Weeks.

Chicago—The railway shopmen's strike is off, the men returned to work last Saturday.

This decision was reached at a meeting of representatives of the strikers from widely scattered points throughout the country.

While the shopmen's representatives were in session, a mass meeting of car repairers, representing about 27,000 strikers, also decided to return to work.

The shopmen's meeting was called by the Chicago district council, which called the strike Aug. 1 in defiance of the international officers of the shopcrafts who were in session in Washington negotiating with Director General Hines of the railroad administration.

A resolution adopted asked that the president invite a committee of three from the district council to go to Washington and sit in the negotiations with the director general.

RETA L SUGAR PRICE 11 CENTS

Department of Justice Sets This As "Fair" Price to Consumer.

Washington—Eleven cents a pound has been adjudged a "fair" retail price for sugar by the department of justice, C. W. Ames, assistant attorney general, announced. "Dealers charging more will be investigated," he said. "Ten cents a pound is a fair wholesale price. The additional penny should be enough profit for the retail dealer."

Mr. Ames asked consumers who are charged more to write, either to him at the department of justice, Washington, or to the nearest United States district attorney.

All sugar now being sold in the United States is controlled by the Government, through the United States Sugar Equalization Board, with headquarters in New York. This board buys all raw sugar produced and imported. It then sells the raw sugar to the refining companies.

The board stipulates the price at which the refining concerns shall sell to wholesalers. Wholesalers are under license, but their selling price is not fixed by the board.

THIES TO RE-ENACT WILD WEST PLAY

Boy, Fascinated by Moving Pictures, Accidentally Hangs Himself.

New York—Fascination, which the adventure and romance of wild west stories and moving pictures exerted over John Shubert, 13, is believed to be responsible for his death.

He was found hanging, strangled by a rope around his neck, from a stoupe-pipe which hung along the ceiling of the bathroom in his father's apartment at 675 East 170th street.

When the body was discovered there was also found a novel of western life.

He Was Found Hanging

which lay beneath the boy's feet, and was opened at a particularly lurid scene, which the police think the boy was trying to re-enact.

The title of the book was "The Young Wild West Holding the Bill; or the Fight for the Cave of Gold." In the picture, which had evidently struck the boy's fancy, a boy dressed in a scout's costume was being lowered into an open grave by a hand of cowboys. The boy in the picture was trussed up with ropes and was being buried alive.

Beneath the picture was printed: "Let him go, boys!" shouted the leader of the band. "If the end of the plank sticks out a little, it will mark the spot where the champion death shot was buried alive. Down with him!"

The accepted theory of the cause of the hanging is that young Shubert was thrilled by the picture and by similar scenes he had read about or seen in the movies, and was trying to stage a "make-believe" hanging. It is thought that after "hanging" himself he intended to take the rope off his neck and tie it around his arms and legs in the same way "the champion death shot" was tied in the picture, and then imagine himself being buried alive. If he had carried out his plan, the grave of the picture would probably have been represented by the bathtub over which the boy hanged himself.

Wind Yanks Celuloid Collar From Man's Neck

Connelleville, Pa.—The freak action of the wind was demonstrated here recently. A stranger, wearing a celluloid collar and a "slip-in" bow tie, was seated by an open window in a street car. As the car swung around its broad side to a sudden gust the tie was whisked from the collar, the collar was unbuttoned and whipped from the man's neck and all went flying out of the window on the opposite side of the car.

DISGUISES TO GET WIFE

Englishman Put on Elaborate Make-Up to Win His Second Spouse.

London.—A strange story of a married man's disguise was related at Sheffield when Stanley Neville was committed to the Assizes charged with bigamy, and Sophia Redford with aiding and abetting.

Neville, it was stated, was known to Redford's relations as a married man with three children, but when he introduced himself by the name of Maynard nobody recognized him.

He had shaved off his mustache, darkened his hair, discarded his spectacles, walked with a limp and looked smaller.

"I have come to claim your sister's hand," he told Redford's brother. "We are well paired, and I am a suitable chap."

Redford's brother and sister accompanied the couple to the registry office as witnesses of the marriage.

Charles Strasen, pastor of the local Lutheran church, has been granted a vacation by the members of his congregation, and left Wednesday for Ederton and Milwaukee, Wisconsin, for a visit with his brothers and sisters. # Counterfeit Farms

When is a farm not a farm? A good many folks already know the answer—they are sadder and wiser—and their money is gone. But those who have not yet been "stung" will do mighty well to read a series of articles starting next week in

The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN

Herbert Quick, one of the original members of the Federal Farm Loan Board, and a man of wide experience in farming, is the author. The subject—"Counterfeit Farms."

The fake orange grove, the bunk peach orchard, the drought smitten desert, the water-logged swamps, the sage-brush prairie—all the varieties of good-for-nothing "development" land that are offered to the public, are included in Mr. Quick's series of warnings. These articles are addressed to the farmer who has the moving bee and visions of easier money than he makes at home; to the struggling clerk, the poor school-teacher, the sick stenographer, and all the other city folks who dream of life on a farm—and bite at the land shark's lure. Read this series. ONE DOLLAR may preserve your lifetime's savings.

LIVONIA PIONEER BIG SUCCESS

LIVONIA TOWNSHIP HONORED FOR THE WORLD WAR IN A MOST FITTING MANNER LAST WEEK THURSDAY.

IT WAS ESTIMATED THAT OVER 5,000 PEOPLE WERE ON THE GROUNDS DURING THE DAY AND EVENING.

Thursday, August 14th, dawned bright and clear, an ideal day for a picnic, and as early as 6:30 a. m. automobiles were on their way to Rank's grove to complete the final arrangements. By 9:00 o'clock all was in readiness, every piece of bunting was tacked up, each chair in its owner and the crowds began to gather. The Millard band of Plymouth, was on hand and entertained with an unusually fine selection of music.

In the morning the Elm and Farmington teams met on the ball grounds, Elm scoring four runs and Farmington three.

At 12:30, summoned by the sweet clear notes of the bugle, Livonia's soldier boys marched to the tables, where a bounteous dinner was served them by the Elm Red Cross, while admiring relatives lunched under the spreading branches of the tall, majestic elms with neighbors and city cousins.

After dinner the slow automobile race was called, in which fourteen cars entered, all Fords with the exception of three. Charles Barnes, with his Ford, carried off first honors, Russell Millard, driving a Buick, claiming second prize.

At 2:30, Supervisor, McKinney in behalf of the people of Livonia township, gave an address of hearty welcome to all, and hoped that it would be possible to meet again in old Livonia, another year, and in appreciation of the faithfulness of the soldier and sailor boys to their township, country and nation, presented each with a pair of solid gold cuff links, with the engraving on each, "Livonia Township 1919."

Reading the thirty-four names from a hand-engraved Honor Roll, which had been prepared for the occasion, and later to be placed in the township hall as a memorial of the boys who served us so well. The following names are enrolled.

Three gold stars appear on the roll before the names of Edward Burger, Harry Rattenbury and Edward Middlewood.

Lieut. Irving M. Trupper of Bedford, gave an interesting talk on his overseas experiences. Lieut. Spencer of Ypsilanti, of the famous "Red Arrow" division, gave a thrilling account of life in the "Land of the Infantry."

Fon. Maurice Fitzgerald, a touching tribute to America's sons, who gave up their lives that we might enjoy liberty.

During the afternoon two ball games were played, Plymouth defeating Detroit, 8 to 5. Later Northville and Plymouth crossed bats, Northville scoring 9 and Plymouth 7.

About 3:30 Stone's orchestra of Detroit, arrived, followed shortly by a piano, while the younger set impatiently waited near the dance floor for the opening strains of "Eubias."

The supper hour found Len Clement a busy man at his refreshment counter, while the soft drink stand dispensed ice cream, watermelon and fruit as fast as it could be served, one hundred gallons of ice cream being sold. The Red Cross ladies served supper at their tables to several.

Electric lights illuminated the entire grounds, making a beautiful scene. The Ford moving pictures were enjoyed by both old and young.

After a long and delightful evening, the dance ended at 1:00 a. m. and the last of the picnickers departed.

PICNIC CRUMBS

Nearly everybody in Plymouth was there. Livonia people know how to do things.

It is estimated that about 5,000 people were on the grounds.

The weather man was very kind. It could not have been a better day.

Sheriff Collin's quartette was heard all day, and furnished much amusement.

Supervisor Daniel McKinney, the Livonia township board, and the various committees, are entitled to a lot of credit for the success of the big day.

One of the features of the evening was the brilliantly lighted grove. This was made possible through the courtesy of Harold Carpenter, agent for the Elco Lighting system. Many comments were heard for this DeLoe system.

Supervisor Daniel McKinney in behalf of the people of Livonia township, wishes to thank all of those who took part in the work of making the soldiers and sailors home coming a success. And especially are the Red Cross ladies deserving of much credit for the kind of meals and the manner in which they were served. Mr. Carpenter, the agent for the DeLoe light system, who so kindly furnished us with lights; Mr. Clyde Ford for the Ford moving pictures in the evening; Sheriff Coffin for his quartette; Charles Rank for his beautiful grove, and the speakers of the day, Dr. Lewis N. Tupper, James Spencer and Attorney Maurice J. Fitzgerald for their interesting talks.

NEEDED IN BUSINESS WORLD

Urgent Reasons for Transplanting Returned Soldiers From Army to Civil Life Without Delay.

Your cosmopolitan doughboy who has shaken hands with the king of England, danced with the princess of Roumania, learned the slang of a dozen nations and cocked a knowing eye at all the choicest sights of the Continent, may sound extremely sophisticated by cable, but wait until he strikes the United States and see what furria travel has done for him! It has made him love, not Europe less, but home more, and he hardly tries to conceal his grand passion under a poker face, either. For he has been homesick and weary for months, and the Goddess of Liberty looks like an angel, and New York harbor like heaven, to his fond eyes.

As a national asset, then, the soldier is perhaps our best citizen, and because the A. E. F. as a whole is rampantly enthusiastic about its homeland and her interests, America may look to her soldiers for real inspiration in citizenship. These are the men to put into our business life as rapidly as they can be transplanted from army to civil jobs.

To make the transposition more simple and effective, the war department through Col. Arthur Woods, assistant to the secretary of war, has set up the wheels of a giant machine, which is working night and day to co-operate with all employment agencies for the sake of the returned soldier who has no job. But more than that, this great employment system operates for the good of America. Colonel Woods and his thousands of assisting committees believe in the doughboy and in his power of real achievement in the future national life of the United States.

INTERURBAN FARES 60-UP 10 TO 45 PCT.

With the exception of the Pontiac and Wyandotte divisions and a few isolated cases, interurban fares were increased between 10 and 45 per cent on all lines extending from Detroit, last week Thursday morning. Increases ranging up to and beyond 100 per cent between certain points in the state are being contested by municipalities, appeals being taken to the state utilities commission.

The new rates are permitted by a legislative measure, enacted the previous session, allowing interurbans to set their fares on a straight two-cent-a-mile basis.

Following are the new and old rates from Detroit, the former being given first in each instance, that will particularly interest Plymouth citizens:
