HAD A GOOD FIRST YEAR

PLYMOUTH HOME BUILDING ASSOCIATION DECLARE FIVE PER CENT DIVIDEND THE FIRST YEAR.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Plymouth Home Building Association, a dividend of five per cent was declared on savings accounts, advanced payment stock and also on loan stock. This is a mighty fine showing for the first year of the association, and in view of the fact that they did not make any loans until last April. The association has financed the building of thirteen homes in Plymouth since last April, which was no small factor in providing more homes in the village during the past summer, and which were badly needed. There is every indication that the coming year will see a marked growth in the business of the Plymouth Home Building Association. It is a local concern, organized to build homes in Plymouth, whose officers are well known citizens, and is deserving of the best support and encouragement by every citizen who wants to see Plymouth grow and prosper.

WOMAN'S CLUB ENTERTAINED

The Woman's Club of this place, pleasantly entertained about sixty members of the Wayne and Northville clubs, the members of the Plymouth High school and other guests in the Presbyterian church, last Friday afternoon, the occasion being a presentation of Julius Caesar by J. Harold Hathaway, instructor of oratory at the University of Michigan. Mr. Hathaway presented the entire play without book or notes, and although of a very quiet and retiring manner, he possesses a strong personality, which held his hearers during his entire reading. During the afternoon, the ladies' orchestra played two selections, "Humoresque" and "Feast of Flowers," which were greatly enjoyed, and Miss Lucile Lincoln of Detroit, delighted the company with a group of songs, "I Can't Help Loving You," "My Lady," and "Break of Day," Miss Evelyn Thomas accompanying on the piano. At the close of the program, the company was invited into the church house, where coffee and doughnuts were served, Mesdames Wilcox and Cooper presiding at the coffee urns. The decorations of the table and church were very attractive, the color scheme of red and green being used, which was beautifully carried out with pine, privet branches and everlasting flowers. Candelabras with red candles added to the attractiveness of the scene.

The club is indebted to Mrs. George Smith of the outside talent committee, Mrs. Raymond Hill of the social committee, and Mrs. C. H. Bennett, chairman of the decorating committee for the success of the afternoon.

A Christmas bazaar will be held in the lunch room at the school building this (Friday) afternoon.

Miss Esther Strasen, of Detroit, visited her parents here, Sunday.

H. W. Brown, of Greenville, has been visiting relatives here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gents and Mr. and Mrs. Faye Welch of Detroit, visited relatives here, over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Stewart and the family of Detroit, visited Mrs. Bennett, mother, Mrs. Conrad Bennett, last Sunday.

BOWLING ALLEYS FOR PLYMOUTH

FOUR UP-TO-DATE ALLEYS WILL BE INSTALLED IN BASEMENT OF PENNIMAN ALLEN AUDITORIUM.

Plymouth is soon to have an up-to-date bowling alley. The management of the Penniman Allen theatre and auditorium will install four of the best Brunswick alleys in the basement of the auditorium. This makes an ideal place for a bowling alley; there is plenty of room, and good ventilation will be provided by means of a fan system. The bowling alleys will be under the management of Harry Lush, who manages the auditorium, and it will be conducted in the same clean and orderly manner that characterizes both the theatre and dance hall, and which has made them decidedly popular places of amusement; where it is a pleasure and satisfaction to go. Bowling has become a popular amusement, and Plymouth people will welcome an opportunity to enjoy the sport here.

MRS. A. L. DART PASSES AWAY

Capitola B. Nicholson, daughter of Henry and Samantha Nicholson, was born August 25, 1858, in Milford. Her early life was spent in and around Milford until her marriage to Frank L. Curdy in 1876, when Highland became her home. Mr. Curdy died in 1879, leaving her a widow with two daughters, Mabel C. and Florence C. On March 28, 1888, she was united in marriage to Albert L. Dart of Farmington, where they lived until 1892, when they moved to their present home. In the year 1890, she united with the Highland Baptist church, later taking her membership of the Baptist church of Milford, of which she was a sincere and loyal worker. Mrs. Dart's cheery disposition and unselfish loyalty to others made her loved by everyone, and by her own immediate family she was sadly missed as a mother and companion. Although the last year has been one of intense suffering to her, she has maintained a courage of hopefulness that was beyond many. On December 12, 1920, she was called home, where there is no more suffering or sorrow. Mrs. Dart leaves to mourn their loss, besides her husband, two daughters, Mrs. Winfield Scott of Plymouth, and Mrs. Edward Baum of Flint; also two grandchildren, Mr. Gerald D. Scott of Detroit, and Miss Fern Baum of Flint; two sisters, Mrs. Maryette Abbott of Flint, and Mrs. John Osborn, Sr., of Whitmore Lake, Mich.

The funeral services were held from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Winfield Scott, Wednesday afternoon at one o'clock, Rev. Randall, pastor of the Baptist church at Flint, officiating. Burial at Milford.

Mrs. Fred Fisher, of Detroit, is visiting at Harry Fisher's.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hills were Pontiac visitors, Sunday.

Dance at the Penniman Allen auditorium tonight, Friday, December 17.

Last Sunday afternoon, five people put in the home of Charles Boyce on Mill street. The fire department quickly responded to the alarm, but were held up at the Ann Arbor street crossing by a train, and Mr. Boyce had extinguished the flames before their arrival. It is believed the fire started from the chimney, a leak being burned in the roof, but exact damage was slight.

PLYMOUTH HIGH DEBATES HAMTRAMCK TONIGHT

The Plymouth High school debating team will debate with the team from Hamtramck High school, at the local school auditorium, this (Friday) evening, December 17th, at 7:30 o'clock. The Plymouth team is composed of Charles Chappel, Etha Wisely and Lyman Judson. The question for this year is: "Resolved, that the adjustment of disputes between employer and employees should be a part of the administration of justice." Plymouth will have the affirmative side, and Hamtramck the negative. Everybody should attend the debate, and thereby help boost the home team. Admission, 10 cents for school students, and 20 cents for adults.

DEATH OF JOHN MILLER, SR.

John Miller passed away December 12, 1920, in Plymouth, at the home of his son, J. C. Miller, with whom he has lived the past two months. He was born in New Jersey, February 15, 1842, and was married to Ruth Ann Dunham, August 24, 1862, they moving to Ypsilanti shortly after marriage. To this union were born seven children, Joseph, Martin, William, Alta, John, Mary, and Blanch, all of whom are living, except Blanch, who passed away August 27, 1917. After fifty-four years of married life, his wife passed away October 16, 1916, at the age of 72 years. He was loved by all who knew him. He leaves to mourn his death, six children, thirteen grandchildren, three great grandchildren and many friends.

The funeral services were held Tuesday, December 14th, from the home of his son, J. C. Miller. Burial at Ypsilanti.

Mrs. Charles Liverance of Livonia, visited relatives here a few days the latter part of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank King of Ypsilanti, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Murray over Sunday.

Mrs. Peter Gayde and Mrs. Fred Gertz received word the first of the week of the death of their brother, Leonard Born, who died at his home in Plattsburg, Neb., Monday, December 13th. Their brother, Phillip Born of Bay City, left Monday to attend the funeral.

THE GOSPEL OF GOOD SENSE

We contend that preaching the truth, the kind that benefits the whole public, cannot be overdone. And this is especially true at a time when we are entering upon a new year.

From all indications there are going to be more men out of employment in this country in 1921 than at any time since the armistice was signed. Jobs will be scarcer, and there will be a greater number of applications for each one. Money is not going to be as easy to get as it has been for the past two years, and a dollar is going to look bigger than it has for a long time. For that reason we want to again preach the gospel of good sense—and that is, if you've a steady position, stick to it. If you have a dollar you can spare, put it in the bank. Don't be tempted to pack up and move elsewhere. If the job which tempts you is such a fine one, someone in that locality would have it already. If you haven't acquired the habit of saving, start the first week in January and put aside something each week. If it is only a dollar. If you never do more than this you'll find at the close of 1921, that you've formed the best habit you ever formed—the habit of saving. There's nothing hard about saving. The secret is in making the start. There are more men with bank accounts today who started on a dollar than there are men who started with a hundred or a thousand dollars. No sum is too small to start with. Listen to the gospel of good sense, all you Plymouth people. And the chances are that before another year is closed you'll have reason to be glad you did.

BASKET BALL

In the girls' game, Wednesday night between seniors and sophomores, the unusual occurred in that the stronger team lost to the superior work of a single player. The seniors' defense was almost air-tight, and their work in the center startlingly good, but with the ball in their possession most of the time they could score only with difficulty, while Marion Kelly shot almost impossible baskets at almost every opportunity, for the Sophs. Bonnie Mueller's guarding was good, also, but the other sophomores showed their inexperience at every stage. The Sophs. led at every stage of the game, and the final score was 19 to 12 in their favor. The line-up:

Seniors—
Forward—Illa Roe
Forward—E. Pierce, M. Roe
Jumping Center—H. Strasen, E. Pierce

Running Center—M. Roe, H. Hill
Guard—L. Sly
Guard—H. Hill, H. Strasen

Sophomores—
Forward—M. Kelly
Forward—D. Hinnau
Jumping Center—R. Mecklenburg
Running Center—M. Bennett
Guard—V. Mueller
Guard—C. Darby

The senior-sophomore boys' game was almost an exact reversal of the girls'. In floor work the teams were nearly equal, but on the defense the seniors had the advantage, and in basket shooting they were almost a negative quantity. Harris completed their scoring with his two baskets from the foul line, while the seniors managed to take in eleven points. In spite of this wide difference in final score of 11 to 2, the play was at all times close enough to be exciting. The line-up:

Seniors—Forward—Walker, Judson

Center—Miller, Wisely

Guard—Wilcox, Miller

PLYMOUTH FOLKS AT NORTHVILLE

In its account of the recent election of officers of Union Chapter, R. A. M., of Northville, last week Wednesday night, which was preceded by a dinner, the Record has the following to say about Plymouth folks:

"A ladies' orchestra from Plymouth rendered a pleasing program during the serving of the evening meal, the organization being composed of Mesdames Giles and Hillmer and Misses Baker and Thomas. As an appreciation of the faithful services rendered by Karl W. Hillmer, as High Priest of the Chapter, the members voted to present their retiring officer with a handsome past high priest's apron."

Two Plymouth brethren were elected as officers of the Chapter, W. D. McCullough, K., and Daniel F. Murray, R. A. C.

Children at the Bread Kitchens

Three and a half million children in eastern and central Europe wait, gaunt and pinched like these, at the American kitchens for the hot soup and bread that mean life to them. In the winters since the Armistice, America has been the one friend that had food to give them. It is a common sight in Europe today to see a child five or six years old whose head has not beated. With a healthy well fed baby the skull should close before two years. America must see these children through the rigors of another winter, and to that end eight great relief organizations have combined into the European Relief Council. They seek to raise $20,000,000 to save this generation of Europe from death by starvation and the diseases that come with under-feeding.

BASKET BALL SEASON OPENS

THE CLASS GAMES TUESDAY AFTERNOON MARK THE OPENING OF THE SEASON AT THE PLYMOUTH HIGH SCHOOL.

Basket ball began in earnest with the opening of the class games series, last Tuesday afternoon, when the junior boys and girls played a double-header with the freshmen. The girls game was played first, and the beginning looked like a walk-away for the freshmen, as Sarah Wilson, post graduate, who was playing with their team, made the first three baskets without a junior touching the ball. The freshmen guarding were weak, however, and Lenore Wright for the juniors soon tied the score. From that point the teams kept close together; the half ended 18 to 19 for the juniors. The freshmen had the best of the game in the center, especially in the third quarter, where the freshmen forwards made 14 points to the juniors 7. The fourth quarter, however, was all the juniors way. Margaret Streng got her eye on the basket, and the game ended with a score of 37 for the juniors and the freshmen a single point behind. Some of the material looked equal to that on the H. S. team, particularly Arlean Newell and Margaret Streng. This was the closest girls' game that has been seen on the Plymouth floor. The line-up follows:

Juniors—
Forwards—Margaret Streng, Lenore Wright
Jumping Center—Wanda Shutt, Winifred Willett
Running Center—Margaret Clemens
Guard—Fay Herrick, Winifred Willett
Freshmen—
Forward—Sarah Wilson, Ione Bird
Jumping Center—Dorothy Freydl
Running Center—Arlean Newell
Guard—Mena Bolton, Catherine Learned

The boys game that followed the freshmen had the better of it from the start. In spite of the fact that Lester Cook for the juniors easily had the tip off from Ted Strasen. The juniors seemed unable to locate the basket, and although their floor was good, their guarding was loose enough to let Hickey get away repeatedly for unguarded shots at the basket, most of which he dropped through the ring. The half ended 22 to 5 for the freshmen. In the second half, however, with McHale in the line-up, things looked better for the juniors, but they could not overcome all of the freshmen's lead, and the game ended 15 to 13 for the freshmen.

Due to poor basket shooting, the game was not as exciting as was the girls' game, but the passing and team work were good, and showed that Plymouth will have players for at least the next four years. The line-up follows:

Juniors—
Forward—Chappell
Forward—Reddeman, McHale
Center—Cook
Guard—Lawrence Miller
Guard—Doudt

Freshmen—
Forward—Hickey, Palmer, Sayles
Forward—Stevens
Center—Ted Strasen
Guard—Amrhein
Guard—Sayles, Stacey
This Friday afternoon, the juniors play the sophomores at 3:00 o'clock, the third game in the series. This game promises to be as exciting as the others. Admission, 10c. The three games for next week are as follows:

Monday, 7:15 p. m.—Freshmen vs. Seniors.
Wednesday, 3:50 p. m.—Freshmen vs. Sophomores
Thursday, 3:50 p. m.—Juniors vs. Seniors.
Season tickets are now on sale at 75c each—the same price as last year. These admit the holder to all school basket ball games throughout the season.

Presbyterian Notes

Every member of the congregation is to be visited next Sunday afternoon between two o'clock and five. Twenty-five men have been selected for this work to which they will be especially commissioned next Sunday morning. Pledges will be secured to cover the church budget for the ensuing year.

Miss Lucile Lincoln of Detroit, sang at the morning and evening services, last Sunday, delighting her hearers in her usual skillful and charming way. Those who were present at the young people's services were favored with an original composition.

A Christmas supper for the members of the Sunday-school will be served at the church, Thursday, Dec. 23, at six o'clock. The seating at the tables will be according to classes. There will be a Christmas tree, and Santa Claus has been invited.

A high interest is being maintained in the young people's meetings. The average attendance for a five week period has gone up from 96 to 214. Next Sunday night there will be a Christmas topic, and Miss Auda Gill will lead. Topic cards have been ordered for the new year. One of the present unusual features is that instead of asking the boys and girls to lead the meetings, the prayer meeting committee is being overrun with volunteers, who are obliged to wait their turn. Mirabile dictu!

The pastor's teachers' training class will meet for its monthly business session an hour before the Christmas supper—at five o'clock, Thursday, December 23rd.

Rev. S. Conger Hathaway and family are planning to spend Christmas in Battle Creek. If the weather permits, they will drive as far as Jackson, that is, if Henry F. Sedan is willing.

The new letters for the bulletin board have arrived.

The Busy Woman's Bible class held its monthly social session, Tuesday, at the home of Mrs. George Cramer on Harvey street. A chicken dinner was served, and the afternoon was spent in tying quilts.

Baptist Notes

The Sunday-school is meeting for rehearsal several times this week. They are to give the pageant, "White Gifts for the King." This is announced for Wednesday evening, Dec. 22. Following is the cast of characters:

Spirit of Christmas—Fannie Grainger.
Conscience—Olivia Williams
Pilgrim—Alta Hamill
Wisdom—Beatrice Howard
Pleasure—Florence Grainger
Wealth—Esther Estep
Fame—Ruth McCoy
Love—Dorothy Hinnau

The school will observe what is known as "white Christmas."

The primary part of the school gave us a special song, last Sunday, and was enjoyed by all.

Miss Scott reads to us a short story each Sunday just before the close of the school, touching on missions.

Plans are partly made to observe the closing night of the year at the church in a watch meeting service.

A ministers' conference of the Wayne and Washtenaw Baptist associations is to be held at the Plymouth church, January 11, 1921.

A CARD—We wish to thank those who sent flowers, and were so kind during our recent bereavement, and special thanks to Mr. Field for his comforting words, also Mrs. Baker for the beautiful singing, and Mr. and Mrs. Ward and Mr. and Mrs. Hilde for their school children. George Hilde, Mrs. George Howell, Mrs. Olin Withey.

DEATH OF PROMINENT NORTHVILLE CITIZEN

In the death of W. J. Lanning of Northville, which occurred last week Thursday morning, that village loses one of its most prominent and best known citizens. Mr. Lanning had not been feeling well for some weeks, but his friends thought his condition was somewhat improved since his return from the hospital two weeks ago last Saturday. Death came peacefully and without warning, while sitting in his chair.

Mr. Lanning was serving the people of that community in a dual capacity, both as supervisor of the township and president of the village, and expressions of deep regret were universal among his friends and acquaintances. He was a faithful public official, a true friend and neighbor, and his passing a distinct loss to that community. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at two o'clock at the house.

Mr. Lanning had many friends in Plymouth, who were shocked to hear of his sudden death.

Methodist Matters

For the next six weeks the Sunday evening sermons from the Methodist pulpit will be illustrated with beautifully colored stereoscopic views covering the life of Christ. This coming Sunday evening, the old, yet ever new, Christmas story of the birth and boyhood of Jesus will be told by the pastor, as forty of the best Christmas views obtainable are thrown on the screen. We are indeed fortunate to secure this set for Christmas Sunday. The other sets will follow in the following order:

Jan. 2.—In Conflict with Religious Customs.

Jan. 9.—Jesus and the Common People.

Jan. 16.—In Wanderings with the Twelve.

Jan. 23.—Facing the Cross.

Jan. 30.—Greatest Question in the World.

Something different in the way of an Epworth League meeting has been arranged by the young people for next Sunday evening. Fifteen young people will tell an interesting Christmas story, "Joel, a Boy of Bethlehem," about a boy who saw the star and with the shepherds went to see the baby Jesus. The story will be illustrated by pictures thrown on the screen while the story is being told. The meeting will be held in the auditorium so that the picture screen may be used.

The boys and girls of the Sunday-school are working hard this week in preparation for the Christmas program, which will be presented at the church, next Wednesday evening, under the direction of Mrs. Bertha Cook, Mrs. Frank Dicks and Mrs. Frederick Thomas. The main part of the program, which begins at 7:30, will be a Christmas cantata, entitled, "Gifts for the King's Birthday." In the first half of the play, a king, sitting on his throne, supposed to be Kubla Khan, a Persian king of the middle ages, is visited by some of his loyal subjects on his birthday. This is a dramatization of the old "Legend of Cathay." But the second half of the play makes Christ the King to be accorded similar honor at Christmas time. The bringing of gifts by the different classes will be worked out in connection with the play. Besides this a miscellaneous program of songs and exercises will be given.

There was a splendid delegation of Dway employees at church, last Sunday evening, in response to the invitation extended to them by the pastor, and it was an inspiration to have them and their families present. Rev. Field spoke on, "The Yoke that Lightens the Load," and Mr. Tracy sang, "The Holy City." There were 228 people at the service.

The home talent play, "Jedediah Judkins, J. P.," given by the young people of the Epworth League, last week, and repeated on Monday evening of this week, proved a greater success than any had dared hope for. The proceeds of the first night were $196, from perhaps as large a crowd as ever heard an entertainment in Plymouth, and $46 on Monday evening, which is considered mighty good considering the rainy night and reduced prices. The proceeds from the second presentation take care of the total expenses, about $45, leaving a net profit to the Epworth League of $196. The money will all be devoted to good causes, it being proposed to apply $100 to the pipe organ fund, $60 for Christmas gifts to our student volunteers for Christian work and the remainder to the general fund of the local Epworth League for financing the year's program. Much credit is due Mrs. Clifford Jones, who worked faithfully with the young people for five weeks, with several rehearsals each week. As Charlie, our genial first department head, says, "Now for the same kind of spizerinctum in our devotional meetings every Sunday night."

The men of the Brotherhood Bible Class are not going to let the youngsters run away with all the fun. They had a Christmas party at the church last Tuesday evening, which was a winner. The men who didn't get there missed a big time. Robert Jolliffe and Frank Barrows had planned a lively time, decorated the Christmas tree and provided the eats.

Novel stunts and contests kept everything lively for a while and it wasn't much quieter when the men got started on a basketball game. Every man present got a present off the Christmas tree.

The December social and business meeting of the Epworth League was held at the church Wednesday evening of this week. There was some important business to be transacted, deciding how to spend the small fortune netted by the recent home talent play, and how to make the whole League program go in a manner which would be creditable to those who could put over such a big success. After the business meeting games were played and refreshments served.

The Plymouth Methodist Sunday-school is a thriving organization these days and the perpetual question is where to put all the folks who attend. The attendance has not dropped below the two hundred mark since rally day and last Sunday was reported at 231, in comparison with 158 a year ago. But nothing succeeds like success, and we have just got nicely started.

Thomas E. Johns, one of Lyon's most prosperous farmers, died last week at his farm home near South Lyon, at the age of 77 years. In addition to his farming interests, he was with his brother, Horace Johns, extensively engaged in the seed and nursery business at Sioux City, Iowa.

Work on the Warren avenue pavement, intended primarily to relieve the congestion on Michigan avenue, has been pushed rapidly this year, with the result that actual paving of this thoroughfare has been completed to approximately the Dearborn-Nankin town line, while the grading and culvert work has been finished as far as the Canton Center road. This road will eventually be continued through Cherry Hill to the Wayne county line with the possibility that Waukegan county will continue it through to Ann Arbor.

STATE FARM CONGRESS SET FOR MID-WINTER

ELABORATE PLANS MADE FOR ANNUAL FARMERS' WEEK AT M. A. C. FROM JANUARY 31 TO FEBRUARY 4.

Farmers' Week at the Michigan Agricultural College, an annual event which has grown to be the greatest congress of agricultural people held in the state, will be held this year from January 31 to February 4, according to definite announcement made recently from the college.

More than a dozen of the largest agricultural associations in the state will hold their annual meetings at East Lansing during the week. The State Farm Bureau, the Michigan Crop Improvement Association, the Potato Producers' Association and the State Horticultural Society are among the long list of organizations convening at the college during Farmers' Week.

Speakers of international reputation are included in the list of headliners lined up for the general meetings. S. S. McClure, famous journalist and publisher; A. F. Lever, member of the Farm Loan Board and father of much of the country's most notable agricultural legislation; Gov. W. L. Harding of Iowa, and President Burton of the U. of M., are a few of the better known men who are signed up already.

The Michigan State Crops exhibit, which proved such a sensation at the recent International Hay and Grain Show, will feature the exhibits, which are planned to cover every phase of agriculture. Detailed information regarding Farmers' Week may be had by writing to A. M. Berridge, Chairman Farmers' Week Committee, M. A. C., East Lansing.

Let each Christmas letter and package carry one of the Christmas seals sold by the National Tuberculosis Association. One cent buys one and every sale helps win the fight against tuberculosis. The seal pictures an old-fashioned Santa Claus bearing on his shoulders an apostle of good health, who carries the double cross of the National Tuberculosis Association and bears the greeting, "A Merry Christmas and a Healthy New Year."

GIFT SELECTIONS

"Shop early and avoid the rush." We hear this same quotation every year. It is just as appropriate this year as it was last year. Most of us would obey this most excellent advice if we could just make up our minds what to buy.

The purpose of this advertisement is to make just a few suggestions about Christmas gifts. Below you will find listed a few articles suitable for this purpose. You may feel assured that as usual our prices are considerably below the average. "It pays to Shop in Elm."

Our Candy Department will carry the most complete stock of Christmas candy and nuts we have ever attempted. New goods are arriving almost daily for this most important of Christmas Departments.

Be sure you have a sufficient supply of "Sweets" on hand for the Great Day.

Candy and Nuts are of course very important, but most important of all are the gifts to be selected for the little folks. If the youngsters are perfectly satisfied and happy with the articles "Santa Claus" brings them, you folks who have long lost faith in "Santa Claus" cannot help but enjoy your Christmas.

For the little folks we have many interesting Toys, Sleds, Dolls, Blocks, Mechanical Toys, Children's Books, Cut-outs, etc.

For the men folks we have a complete line of such appropriate gifts, as Neckties, Suspenders, Garters, Shirts, Handkerchiefs, Gloves, Warm Coats, Flashlights, Cigars by the box and Cigarettes by the carton.

What to buy for the ladies is always a big question, at least most men find it so. We will be more than pleased to assist any man with this ticklish problem. Our stock for the ladies includes such acceptable gifts as Fancy Dishes, Aluminum Ware, Aladdin White Ware, Pyrex Glass Oven Ware, Gloves, Handkerchiefs, Perfumes, Hair Nets (six nets in a pretty box).

Christmas stocks are coming in every day. We feel perfectly safe in saying that we can supply the wants of any member of the family.

Heart-Breaking Smiles

There are thousands of kinds of smiles, but it would be mighty hard to picture even in the mind's eye smiles more poignantly tragic than those here seen. Two years of life have held little save misery for these Vienna youngsters, yet, even though the result is painful, they smile. They are victims of rickets, the offspring of near-starvation, and that countless others in stricken Europe may not have to share their fate eight American relief organizations, under the name of the European Relief Council, are making a joint appeal for the conscience of America to complete relief work which this winter faces its crisis. These agencies are the American Relief Administration, the American Red Cross, the American Friends' Service Committee (Quakers), the Jewish Joint Distribution Committee, the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, the Knights of Columbus, the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.

AN ENTANGLEMENT

By EDITH LOWELL

(© 1920, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Yes, I love you, more than anyone in this world," and Hilda smiled at the questioner. "I love you, but I won't marry you—yet."

"Now, Hilda, be sensible. That's a good girl. There's absolutely no reason why you should put me off so, your only reason is—"

"That I'm not ready. I'm not, and since you're so angry, I'll finish reading this story. You are angry, aren't you? Please be cross, for I'm nearly bored to death with your everlasting good nature."

Bob glanced at her quickly. Although her eyes were mocking, there was a hint of earnestness in her words that made him uneasy.

"Why, Hilda, little girl, what is it? Are you tired of me?"

"No, Bob, not tired. It's just because everything is too good to be true. I want romance! adventure! Listen, Bob, when I was a little tot it was you who hauled me in your cart. I rode on your velocipede, you pulled me out of the duck pond. You've danced with me, studied with me, and loved me. It has always been you—nothing has ever come between us—and now you want me to marry you!"

It was astonishing, but it was true—Hilda was crying. With a burst of tears she continued: "You enlisted and went to camp, but you never—ever—got across! It's the most commonplace and unromantic love I ever heard of. There!"

"Why, Hilda, little girl, I don't know what you mean—or what to do—but isn't love enough?" His arm stole around her.

"Bob, I want to be rescued—I want you to be a hero. I want you to snatch me from the jaws of a horrible death, to carry me from a burning building! Anything—anything! Bob, dear, only let's not just be married and live happily ever after. I want an adventure, something different, something to remember and thrill at, even after ten years!"

That night when Bob was alone in his room he pondered the question deeply. What could he do—what could a man in such a position do?

But fate often steps in and settles our difficult problems when we least expect it.

The next morning Hilda's six-year-old neighbor, Stanley Mason, found her in her garden. "Oh, Miss Hilda, won't you please have a picnic with me this afternoon? Mother's going away, and I just hate to stay with Katie."

"Why, Stan, I'd love to. What shall we do, and where shall we have our picnic?"

"I tell you what, I'll get my fish lines and you can take us in your car and we'll fish in Shady Brook."

"That will be lovely, dear. If mother says you may we will start at three o'clock. I'm so glad you invited me. I'll put up the luncheon. You run and ask your mother."

It was only four miles to the sluggish little brook, and in a short time they stopped by the side of the seldom-used road. After Stanley had actually landed a fish, Hilda thought she would try her fisherman's luck. Stan seemed to enjoy halting her look with a wriggling worm, though Hilda had to turn away.

After losing her bait several times she felt a heavy jerking on her line. She pulled it in, exclaiming: "Oh, I must have the grandfather of all fishes!" She gave a tremendous pull—and there on the bank beside her lay a horrible, great, wriggling eel! At Hilda's cry of alarm Stanley ran toward her, but he was just a little boy, and Hilda's terror frightened him. He began to walk. Hilda's panic increased as she scrambled up the steep bank. The line somehow became entangled about her ankle, with the eel pulling and writhing at the end of the line. Hilda screamed and struggled but could not release her foot. She suddenly realized Stan's fright and calmed herself.

"There, Stan, dear, we'll get the old eel out somehow. Mary must have put a knife in the luncheon basket—will you look and see?"

Stanley ran in the car and opened the basket. "No, there isn't, the bread's all son-wishes, so we didn't need any."

Hilda tried to loosen the fishing line so that she could slip her foot from the noose, but the night rugging caused the eel to flop and twist. Hilda jumped again and the cord tightened. After several trials, each seeming to stir the eel into greater activity, Hilda asked Stanley to go to the farmhouse across the field for assistance.

A moment later a car rumbled over the wooden bridge.

"By all the saints! That's Hilda! What can she be doing there?" And Bob sprang from the runabout and approached the knoll.

"Oh, Bob! I'm so glad to see you! Do hurry and cut me loose from this dreadful eel!"

Bob took in the situation at a glance. He was cruel enough to laugh.

"So you want to be rescued, my fair lady? There are no burning buildings, no jaws of death, but I trust I'm as welcome as if there were. Am I?"

Hilda moved her foot slightly, the eel turned a twisting somersault. Hilda screamed.

"Oh, Bob, cut me loose from this terrible creature, but be me to yourself. I want you to be near me all ways. I'm rescued—I've had my adventure—and I'm yours forever and ever."

DAN MEETS COUNT

By BARBARA SANDS

(© 1920, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Daniel Allenby Fenton leaned back comfortably in one of the heavily upholstered chairs of his favorite barber shop.

"Do your best by me, Tony," he said to the barber. "I've an important engagement tonight, and it is imperative that I look my best."

"All right," returned Tony. "I'll give you a haircut fit for a king."

"I thought that kings, like poets and bolsheviks, always wore long, wavy locks," remarked Dan. "As long as I get one fit for a count I'll be satisfied. I'm going to meet a count tonight—my sister's fiancé. He is a countryman of yours, by the way, an Italian. I don't much like the idea of having a brother-in-law with a title, though. His kind doesn't amount to much as a rule, and usually marries for money. I wish I knew if he was after Helen's."

"Oh, not all our aristocracy are degenerate," defended Tony. "May I ask the gentleman's name?"

"He is the Count Vitelli."

"I have heard of him. He is reputed to be very wealthy in his own right, so it is unlikely that he would marry for money."

"I wish I was sure of that," said Dan thoughtfully.

Meanwhile, at Miss Celeste's exclusive beauty parlors, in another part of the city Dan's sister, Helen, was preparing to make a favorable impression upon her brother's bride-to-be.

"I must look my best tonight, Mary," she confided to the pretty and intelligent looking manicure girl, whom she had come to regard more as a friend than a servant. "Dan is going to bring his fiancée to meet me and the count."

"He must be a fine man," agreed Mary, "but do you think you will like the girl who is going to marry your brother?"

Helen looked dubious. "I'm not sure," she answered.

At eight o'clock that evening the count stopped his roadster at the curb in front of the Fenton home. At the door he was greeted eagerly by Helen, for theirs was a love match, pure and simple.

Meanwhile, Dan and his fiancée were speeding toward the Fenton home in the former's runabout.

As the two entered the living room, Helen and the count stood up and turned to greet them. As the nolan-faced Dan, the latter stopped in his tracks, his face assuming an expression of incredulity, which, however, soon changed to one of anger.

If he had noticed, he would have seen precisely the same emotions reflected upon the pretty face of his sister as she gazed at his fiancée. For a long instant the four stood as though made of stone. Helen was the first to speak. "Why, Dan," she cried, "what—"

But her sentence remained unfinished, as Dan gave vent to his anger with explosive speech.

"So this is your count!" he cried. "This is the adventurer who inveigled you into accepting him with his lies about money and a title! A count! Why, he's no more a count than I am the king of Siam! He's nothing but a common, ordinary barber, and he has shaved me every day for the last six months! You unprincipled scoundrel!" he yelled, turning to the impostor. "Till—"

But his threat was halted in the middle by his sister, who had placed her arm about her lover as though to shield him from the wrath of her brother.

"Dan!" she cried, her voice choked with anger, "will you stop abusing poor Tony long enough to tell me what you mean by getting engaged to this common manicure girl and leading me to believe that she was an authoress? Why, she has been manicuring my nails at Celeste's for the last three months. Haven't you any regard for the family name?"

Dan reached out and drew Mary into his arms.

"Common manicure girl!" he cried so angry that he could hardly see. "Mary isn't a manicure girl. She has just been working at Celeste's to get first hand information for a new novel she is going to write in which a manicurist is the heroine. Her father is James P. McNary, the copper mag date. As for you," he continued, releasing Mary and taking another step toward the Italian, "the quicker you—"

He was again interrupted by his sister.

"Stop!" she cried. "I won't stand here and listen to you insult Tony. He is a count, and he was only working in a barber shop because I told him that I wouldn't marry him until he had proved that he could earn his own living for six months. And the six months was up today. So there!" And she stamped her little foot and regarded her brother defiantly.

Dan returned her look blankly, only half comprehending. Then Mary and the count, who had taken no part in the conversation, caught each other's eye and began to smile. Gradually the smile turned into a chuckle, and then to a laugh. Dan and Helen surveyed each other comically. In a moment the corners of their mouths began to twitch, and in a short time the laughter was unanimous.

A moment later Helen and Mary were embracing each other, while Dan and the count were shaking hands with a man's grip.

Mrs. Bullock Recommends Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"It relieved them at once, and under its treatment all symptoms of the cold promptly disappeared. My experience with this medicine warrants my recommending it to others."—Adv.

SCHOOL NOTES

Jeanet Bickenstaff was ill last week.

John Musgrove has gone to Dakota.

The domestic science girls will give a Christmas candy sale next week, December 21st.

A new picture, "The Signing of the Declaration of Independence," has been hung in the American history class room. It was bought by the pupils of the seventh and eighth grades. The people of these same grades bought an American flag for the room last year. In doing these things to make the class room more cheerful, the pupils also become more interested in their work.

Our High school orchestra of fourteen pieces consists of the following pupils: Gladys Schrader, piano; Daniel Patterson, saxophone; Philip Millard, trombone; Harvard Norgrove, clarinet; Lloyd Lundy, Pierce Kenyon, Perry Richwine, cornet; Marion Beyer, Catherine Learned, Theima Peck, Stanley McHale, Russell VanGilder, Wilbert Petz, Douglas Carruthers, violin. They have done splendid work from the beginning, but we anticipate something still better before the year closes.

Miss Allen attended a meeting of the Michigan High School Principals' Association, held in Lansing, Friday, December 17th. There were nearly 100 in attendance, seven coming from the upper peninsula. President Burton of the University of Michigan, opened the program with an inspiring address on, "The Aim of American Institutions." The whole program was unusually rich in the material presented.

With the shortening of the hours of daylight, there has been a rapid rise in the number of pupils tardy, at least in the High school. If the American school is worth anything, it ought to teach that promptness has some value in life. If one wishes to catch a train, he does not depend on a time-piece that has proved untrustworthy, he verifies what it tells him by some other time-piece. Now just what happens in a store or factory if everyone comes when he pleases? He gets paid for the time he puts in, he is penalized in his pay envelope for what he misses. Half or two-thirds of the excuses parents send for tardiness read, "Clock was slow." Will parents not try to co-operate with the school and share the responsibility of attempting to teach the value of promptness?

Some Rules That Campers Will Do Well to Remember.

Airplanes are helping fight forest fires in some parts of the country, says the American Forestry association, but that is no reason the public should relax its vigilance and do a great part of the forest fire fighting by not having any fires. With the annual forest fire loss reaching about thirty millions of dollars every year and with the cost of lumber mounting higher and higher the American Forestry association says it is up to the public to join in the fight with a will. Campers are blamed for many of the fires and now that the tourists are getting out into the open the association calls on them to remember:
No to throw your match away until you are sure it is out.
Not to drop cigarette or cigar butts until the glow is extinguished.
Not to knock out your pipe ashes while hot or where they fall into dry leaves or other inflammable material.
Not to build a camp fire any larger than is absolutely necessary.
Not to leave a fire until you are sure it is out; smother it with earth or water.
Not to burn brush or refuse in or near the woods.
Not to be idle when you discover a fire in the woods. If you cannot put it out yourself, get help. Where a forest guard, ranger or state fire warden can be reached call him up on the nearest telephone you can find.
Not to forget that human thoughtlessness and negligence are the cause of more than half of the forest fires in this country, and that the smallest spark may result in a conflagration that will result in loss of life and destruction of timber and young growth, valuable not only for lumber but for their influence in helping to prevent flood, erosion and drought.

Voice of Experience.
Day before wedding young bride complains to mother that prospective husband will not engage cook for the new household.
Mother—Don't you worry about that, my dear; he will certainly change his mind after two or three days of your cooking.
Best Advice: "Don't."
Mr. Winch—It is my second matrimonial venture. The first time I married for love and this time for money.
Mr. Young—Well, what advice are you prepared to give to your friends?
"Don't marry—for love or money."

Just notice closely and you'll quickly discover exactly what his clothes hobby is. Then make your choice at the Christmas Store for Men and Boys, and you may be certain of a whole-hearted "Thank you," on Christmas morning.

Today's Reflections

Considering the price, coal mine operators must think the average man has money to burn.

If there is a man in Plymouth with an eye out for a government job, our advice is to save the other eye for a real job when he fails to get what he's hunting for.

Another way to reduce hunting accidents is to abolish all fences, so the hunters won't have anything to climb over.

When a Plymouth man tells his wife she looks just as well in cotton stockings as silk, you can bet the honeymoon is over.

When you figure the difference between the cost of coal at the mines and in the bin, you can bet the railroads are not losing much.

It is almost impossible for the average Plymouth citizen to keep his temper, when he knows he's in the wrong.

And here we are right around to the time when most men decide to swear off smoking, and stick to it for almost a week.

It isn't always the Plymouth man who talks the loudest that does the most good. The copper cent makes more noise when it hits the contribution box than does a dollar bill.

There are resolutions and resolutions, but you can't make a better one than to resolve to read your home paper regularly each week during 1921.

If Noah had let the building of the ark out to a government contractor, it wouldn't have been finished yet.

Some Plymouth women may not know it, but there's nothing that spreads faster than gossip, unless it's the itch.

One difference between a highwayman and a profiteer is the highwayman never stops to die about his margin of profit.

We find quite a lot of people these days arguing that it's easier to save for a rainy day, when you live in a "dry" country.

We often feel we could become the richest man in Plymouth, if we could invent a hair restorer for shaving brushes.

"Speaking of spark plugs," said a Plymouth man, yesterday, "nothing beats the old-fashioned kind that could be driven with one hand."

THE UNITED GUN CLUB

THE UNITED GUN CLUB WILL CELEBRATE LANDING OF PILGRIMS AT PLYMOUTH ROCK, 300 YEARS AGO, DEC. 22.

120 TARGET PROGRAM OFFERED IN COMMEMORATION OF LANDING OF THE 102 PILGRIMS.

The United Gun Club will hold a poultry shoot at Northville, Mich., December 22, the occasion being the 300th anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers at Plymouth, Mass., December 22, 1620. If the 102 members of this band of refugees from religious oppression had not possessed the ability to defend themselves from their enemy, human or otherwise, who knows but that we might never have possessed the freedom that is now ours. Then, as now, the ability to shoot well was highly prized by all, and there were few in those days who were not well acquainted with the use of fire-arms.

It is as important that we keep up this practice at the present time, as it was then. The old-time settlers held shooting contests that would put our present contests to shame. Why can't we revive some of the old-time spirit, the love of games of skill, instead of letting ourselves be carried away by the love of pursuit of pleasures that do not satisfy.

The United Gun Club offers a program for the 22nd that will give all a chance to win a prize, and only through their skill can win. The twelve ten-target events make it possible for anyone to win. The contestants will be limited to one first, one second, one third, and, of course, one grand prize. You don't have to be a 90 per cent shooter to score a win.

The trap ground is located at the Deep Springs, rear of the Pere Marquette depot, Northville. Program open alike to amateurs and professionals. Shooting starts at 10:30 a. m. Shells for sale on grounds. Come as early as possible. Don't forget, Wednesday, the 22nd, 1920. All poultry (thirteen turkeys, thirteen ducks, thirteen chickens) will be dressed and on exhibit at the shoot. SECRETARY.

ONE WOMAN TOLD US

"Five minutes in the morning with an electric iron makes wash day so much lighter."

This woman realized how often blouses, frocks and even lingerie found their way into the laundry bag ahead of time, just slightly mussed.

Even a hint of untidiness made dainty things unwearable and added to the weekly washing.

Now she uses an electric iron: With just a twitch of the switch and a few moments of gentle ironing, crumpled garments become smooth and lovely—together wearable.

1,800,000 POLISH CHILDREN SICK.

One million five hundred thousand children in Poland today need medical attention. Their condition has been caused by hunger and want. To save them the European Relief Council is appealing to the people of the United States for $25,000,000 to carry on relief work in stricken Europe.

HOOVER APPEAL TOUCHES HEARTS OF MICHIGAN FOLK

MONEY ALREADY COMING IN FOR CHILDREN'S RELIEF CAMPAIGN OPENING DEC. 19.

LEFT-OVER WAR FUNDS PLEDGED TO THE INNOCENTS

Organization of Counties for Great Mercy Drive is Progressing Rapidly.

Detroit, Mich.—That Michigan will respond wholeheartedly this Christmas-tide to the appeal of the 3,600,000 children in Europe who face starvation unless America comes to the rescue, is already indicated by telegrams pouring into state headquarters of the Hoover Relief Fund from every county in the state.

To save the lives of these children the people of the United States are asked to give $25,000,000. It is the greatest emergency campaign since the World War. It will begin December 19 and continue to the end of the year, under the general direction of Herbert Hoover, former U. S. food administrator, now president of the European Relief Council.

Cousins Heads Committee.

A state committee has been appointed by Mr. Hoover to conduct the campaign in Michigan. James Cousins, mayor of Detroit, is state chairman, and David A. Brown, Detroit, is general director. The other members of the committee are:

Mrs. Caroline Bartlett Crane, Kalamazoo; James Inglis, Detroit; Mrs. Marion LeRoy Burton, Ann Arbor; Mrs. C. R. Wilson, Detroit; Sidney T. Miller, Detroit; Meyer S. May, Grand Rapids; Mrs. W. R. Alvord, Detroit; Gustavus D. Pope, Detroit; Mrs. G. Edgar Allen, Detroit; E. A. McDonald, Marquette; Ernest A. O'Brien, Detroit; William J. Norton, Detroit; Herman Gessner, Escanaba; J. F. Hartz, John R. Russell and S. S. Kresge, Detroit.

The state is being hastily organized in county units, as for the war-time drives. The response from every quarter has been immediate, and in many instances it has been voted to turn over balances from war funds to the cause of the destitute children.

Herbert Hoover, national chairman of the Council, in his stirring speeches delivered in Detroit, declared:

"If America turns these children of Europe into the streets to shift for themselves, hundreds of thousands of them will die and the survivors will fill the jails of Europe and the United States 20 years hence."

"These children have priority on all European relief. To save them is a true obligation on every man and woman in the United States after their own children are cared for."

Ten Dollars Will Save a Life.

The campaign has been planned for Christmas holidays because this seems to be the children's season and for each family to open its doors to a little invisible guest will mean that another child is saved to the world. Ten dollars will save a life.

In Poland there are 1,250,000 children dependent upon American bounty; in Austria, 300,000; in Germany, 1,250,000; Czechoslovakia, 100,000; in the Baltic States, 100,000; and an additional 200,000 in other smaller Central European countries.

"We can save these children—or let them die" is the slogan the Michigan Committee is using to bring home to humbly blessed Americans the charge which Christianity and civilization lays upon them.

The Federal Council of the Churches of Christ of America is one of the eight organizations affiliated in the European Relief Council and an urgent appeal to all denominations has been issued to make Sunday, December 19, the initial day of the drive, European Children's Day. Sermons will be preached on the subject, and collections taken in many churches to contribute to the funds.

The most influential clubs of men and women and all civic and welfare organizations have come forward to work in the campaign, and women will play a prominent part in making the collections. Every dollar contributed will go in its entirety to feeding or caring for a child. No expense in the campaign will need to be subtracted from the money raised.

Funds Are Not Wasted.

Fear expressed in some quarters that such help from America is peopling the European beneficiaries is proved baseless, since for every dollar given by the United States, the countries helped are giving two in labor, transportation, clerical help, storage, etc.

Of the $25,000,000 sought, $23,000,000 are required to give one scant meal a day to these children, and $10,000,000 for the medical care made necessary by the ravages of epidemic diseases which follow in the wake of famine.

Seventeen thousand asylums, clinics, hospitals and feeding stations dependent upon American support must close and turn these children away in January unless the fathers and mothers of the United States accept the charge. Ten dollars will keep a child through the winter until the next harvest.
