PLYMOUTH WINS

FROM REDFORD

Plymouth high school played its second game at home, Friday, April 28, with Redford, which resulted in 14 to 5 victory for the "Rocks."

Plymouth scored three runs in the opening inning, but could not score again until the fourth. Redford evened the count in the third and fourth innings. The "Rocks" were held scoreless until the seventh inning when they put four runs across and in the eighth, when they surely cinched the game, getting six more. Stevens started the game for Plymouth, but was relieved by Sayles in the fourth. Sayles was somewhat wild and the team representing Redford high school had little trouble in getting two runs on wild pitches. The next inning, D. Trimble went in the box for the "Rocks" and the game was different.

Plymouth got 12 hits off Dennis, the Redford pitcher, while the Plymouth pitchers held Redford to eight.

SPECIAL ELECTION

TUESDAY, MAY 9TH

The citizens of Plymouth will vote at a special election to be held on Tuesday, May 9th, on the proposition of borrowing the sum of ten thousand dollars and issuing bonds therefor, for the purpose of paying the cost of that part of the expense to be borne by the village at large for the paving of Starkweather avenue.

The cost of the pavement to the village is $30,000. Of this sum, between $17,000 and $18,000 is paid by abutting property owners, and between $12,000 and $13,000 is paid by the village at large. The county of Wayne pays the balance of the cost of the improvement. The village proposes to pay back the $10,000 they wish to borrow, the same as a special assessment bond, at the rate of $2,000 each year.

The pavement of Starkweather avenue has become an absolute necessity. There is perhaps not a street in the village that carries more traffic than does this thoroughfare. With the county co-operating in the cost of the paving, it is a most opportune time for the village to get this street paved and thereby make a permanent and lasting improvement that will be economy in the end.

Every citizen who has at heart the best interests of the village, should go to the polls and cast their vote in favor of issuing bonds for the small sum asked for to make this improvement. Remember the day, Tuesday, May 9th.

PERMANENT CARE OF LOTS AT RIVERSIDE CEMETERY

The new proposition for the permanent care of cemetery lots at Riverside cemetery seems to be meeting with general satisfaction among lot owners who desire to have their lots cared for permanently. The new plan provides that persons owning or controlling lots in Riverside cemetery may, upon the payment of the sum of ninety dollars for each lot so owned or controlled, exchange their deed for a new one which will insure permanent care of their lot.

This arrangement is proposed for the purpose of securing greater uniformity and harmony in the care of our cemetery, and also greater economy. It is expected that many of the lot owners will take advantage of the new plan.

For those who may not find it convenient to pay this sum at once, it is provided that on payment of 20 per cent with the application and 20 per cent yearly for four years, with interest at 5 per cent on deferred payments, such an exchange of deeds may be made.

Persons not caring to take advantage of this proposition at present, the assessment for the care of lots for the season of 1922 will be $5.00 per lot. A charge of $1.00 is made for the use of water for the season to those who wish to care for their own lots.

HAVE INSTALLED NEW REFRIGERATOR PLANT

S. H. Hills & Son have just completed the installation of a new refrigeration plant in their dairy on Blunk avenue. The plant, which is of three-ton capacity, was installed by the Westernlin & Campbell Co. of Chicago and Detroit, and is right up to the minute in every particular as to construction and sanitary methods. The ammonia cooling system is employed, and the equivalent of melting three tons of ice every twenty-four hours is obtained. It is an enclosed type of machine, and power is furnished by a 5 h. p. motor. With the new cooling system it will be possible to keep the milk in the refrigerator room at a temperature of 38 degrees at all times. The Messrs. Hills now have a very complete and sanitary dairy plant, and they will be pleased to have their patrons and friends call and inspect the same at any time.

Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Champs, son, Robert, and mother, Mrs. J. C. Wallmar, visited relatives at Ecorse, last Sunday.

NORMA TALMADGE

IN "SMILIN' THROUGH"

GREAT PICTURE FILM COMES TO THE PENNIMAN ALLEN THEATRE NEXT SUNDAY EVENING.

There's an extraordinary treat coming for the patrons of the Penniman Allen theatre next Sunday evening, May 7th.

It's Norma Talmadge's "Smilin' Through!" The production has long been hailed as the biggest achievement of Norma to date, and lovers of the silent drama will not be disappointed when it shows here next Sunday. Norma has a dual role, in which her emotional powers rise to new and greater heights. You see her in the big dramatic story of a beautiful young girl who falls in love with the son of the man who killed the woman her guardian was to marry. The story reaches a powerful denouement when John Carteret, who had been deprived of his bride at the altar by his jealous rival, interferes with the romance of the young couple. In addition to playing a dual role in the production, Norma has two leading men, Wyndham Standing and Harrison Ford. Other prominent artists of the silent drama appear in the cast, including Alec E. Francis, Glenn Hunter, Grace Griswold, Miriam Bastista and Eugene Lockhart.

"Smilin' Through" was directed by Sidney Franklin from the successful play by Allen Langdon Martin, in which Jane Cowl had the leading role. Remember, this is the finest motion picture Norma Talmadge has yet made. You simply can't afford to miss it.

Mrs. Maxwell Moon will sing "Smilin' Through," and Finzel's orchestra will furnish the music for the evening. This is one of the best pictures that has ever been brought to Plymouth, and there will no doubt be a record breaking crowd to see it.

WILL GIVE CONCERT

The Plymouth Choral Society has invited the Men's Glee Club of the Michigan State Normal, to give a musical program in the High school auditorium, Monday evening, May 15th, at 8 o'clock. Tickets will be 25c, no tax. You will enjoy hearing these boys sing and play. Mr. Alexander, director of the Conservatory, will be with them. Come and give your support to the Choral Society of Plymouth, and so help to have a larger and permanent society in our progressive town.

NOTICE, BASE BALL FANS!

There will be a meeting held at the Chamber of Commerce rooms over Gale's store, next Monday evening at 7:30, for the purpose of organizing teams for twilight base ball games during the summer months. If you like base ball, come to the meeting.

STILL THEY DO IT

Isn't it funny that people who know that spitting on the sidewalks tends to breed disease, keep right on doing so with no apparent effort to break themselves of the habit. If Plymouth had a dozen ordinances against this filthy practice we suppose it would still go on because there are some people who consider such rules or ordinances as foolish. They won't argue, however, that the practice is a spreader. No—they know it is wrong but they want to assert their independence of ordinance and rule by doing that which they realize is a violation of decency and good health. We know many men who use tobacco who walk to the curbstone when they want to expel. We know others who blaze away promiscuously, spitting on the sidewalk when the gutter or street is handy. You know them, too, and for that reason you are in position to agree with us that it's a pretty good way to pick the good citizen from the careless, don't care type.

THE RADIO CRAZE

Possibly never before has anything spread over this country as rapidly as the "radio" craze, with which papers and magazines, big and little, are now filled. At first glance Plymouth people are apt to mistake this talk as merely a passing fad. But our advice to them is not to do so. If the boy is interested and wants to learn more about radio, give him the opportunity. Too many successful experiments have already been made with the wireless system of telegraphy and the wireless telephony to put it in the wireless class. Today messages are being broadcasted into every section of this land without the use of wires, just as they have for several years been sent for hundreds of miles across the water from one ship to another, and from ships to stations on the land. Of course, radio telephones have not been perfected. It took years to perfect the steam engine, the auto and the airplane, and place them beyond the experimental stage. But today they are practical, and we'd find it mighty dull living in this land if we didn't have them. We freely predict that the time will come when radio telephones will be in the farm houses of this country, when daily weather and crop reports and news events will be filling the air and bringing the people of rural sections into closer touch with the outside world than any other agency. It may be in the far stage now, but radio is going to be one of the biggest things this world has ever stumbled upon before the experiments proceed much farther.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Stewart have returned home from Florida where they have been staying during the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Eli Nowland, former residents of this place, who have been living in Detroit for several years, have moved back to Plymouth and are now occupying their house on Harvey street.

A delightful affair for a number of the younger boys and girls was the birthday party given in honor of Harold Stevens by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Stevens on Main street, Saturday afternoon. Numerous games were played during the afternoon, after which a fine luncheon was served, and it is needless to say that all did justice to it. Harold received several remembrances in honor of the occasion.

WITHOUT STREET ADDRESS YOUR MAIL IS DELAYED AT OFFICE OF DELIVERY

The Dead Letter Office has been in existence ever since Ben Franklin started our postal service. Even then people addressed mail to Mr. Ezekiel Smithers, "Atlantic Coast," and expected Ben to know just where Zeke lived. Perhaps they had Zeke's address in letters up in the garret, maybe a chest full of 'em, but then it was easier to let Ben hunt Zeke. Today people are addressing letters to John Smith, New York, N. Y., or Chicago, Ill., thinking Uncle Sam can locate him, which is just as incomplete as was Zeke's address of yore. The Postoffice Department asks you to put the number and street in the address. It helps you.

GREAT BARGAINS TO BE HAD IN ODESSA SHOPS

Odessa is, and will be for a few months, the paradise of the bargain hunter. A leather valise sold in Paris or London for $50 may be had here for $6.

Persian rugs go begging at $15 to $20, rugs that in Persia would sell for $50, while the seller swore by his father's memory that he was robbing his family of daily bread.

Paintings by good artists sell for $2 or $3, with a frame thrown in worth $10 or $20. Silver tableware sells for 5 to 10 cents per ounce.

A foreigner settling here for business reasons may rent a house for $30 a year, and possibly buy an indefinite lease on it for $200. The furniture, excepting the table dishes, may be had for another $200; but, if there are any equities he must pay western European wages for labor.

The reasons for these low prices of articles are that many of them were stolen, that there isn't much trade, and the original owners are selling off all their home treasures for food.

To keep alive a family of five it takes 1,000,000 rubles, or $2 a day, and the prices of food jump as the ruble drops in value.

Trade has not been so brisk here as in Moscow, as there are fewer strangers to buy. Fewer Russians can get into the city because the trains run only a few times a month, owing to lack of fuel.

At that, shops are opening daily, as the new economic policy of the Moscow government is applied. Diamonds and objects of value are covertly shown to prospective purchasers in these shops, the dealers still being in fear of the old law against speculation and free trade.

The city is full of thousands of young men and old who speak and write English, French and German, men, who in the old days of commerce, were employed about the port or with American and other foreign firms dealing with the interior. These men are glad to get work insuring $20 worth of food a month.

"DEADWOOD DICK" ALIVE

Man Whose Exploits Formed Basis for Many Novels Is Not Talkative. "Dick" Clark, the only and original "Deadwood Dick," whose supposed deeds of daring in the early and exciting days of the Black Hills formed the basis for many novels, was one of the speakers at the annual meeting of the Society of Black Hills Pioneers, at Sioux Falls, S. D.

Like the hero of the various novels, the living "Deadwood Dick" is a man of few words. When called upon to make an address he arose and gave utterance to the following brief comment:

"The rascal who has never seen action was always willing to tell of his experiences, but the veteran who has been through it all could not talk of it; it cuts too deep."

Mrs. Floyd Nelson, who has been seriously ill is improving. Little Frank Vanatta, Jr., of South Lyon, visited his sister, Mrs. Ernest Smith, Saturday and Sunday.

STARKWEATHER AVENUE SEWER ASSESSMENT

There seems to be some misunderstanding about the way in which the new sanitary sewer on Starkweather avenue is being assessed. Many think that a sewer is assessed on the basis of the frontage of the lots affected. This is practically never so with a sewer. The assessment is made according to the number of connections or benefits. A lot with one house needs only one connection and is assessed for one benefit. A vacant lot is assessed once for the house which may be built on it. A lot with two houses or a lot extra large which probably might hold two houses, is assessed for two benefits.

The total amount to be assessed, that is, two-thirds of the cost of the sewer is divided by the number of benefits, which in this case is 65. This gives the amount to be assessed for each benefit. In this way the assessment is divided in proportion to the service which each property owner is to get from the sewer. A payment is properly assessed according to frontage, but not a sewer.

If the interested property owners had taken advantage of the opportunity to meet the board of review, when it met last month, this misunderstanding would have been cleared up. As it was, only half a dozen or so appeared to talk the matter over. The rest have no excuse for not knowing all about the sewer. As to the fact that the sewer as it is being constructed will not be of service for a few years, until the disposal plant is built, this was carefully explained at the public meeting at Beyer's hall, last fall. The property owners at that meeting professed to understand this part of the proposition, and they unanimously voted that the village commission should go ahead on that basis. Sidney D. Strong, Village Manager.

LOCAL NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Livrance were pleasantly surprised Monday evening, when a number of neighbors came in to spend an evening with them before leaving on their trip for the northwest, which they are planning to take the middle or latter part of next month. The guests brought with them ice cream and cake, and refreshments were served at a late hour, and a social time was enjoyed by all.

Last Wednesday eight ladies spent a pleasant afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. G. Kehrl on Starkweather avenue. One remarkable feature of the occasion was that they were all past three score years and ten, their combined ages being 600 years and five months. The guests were Mrs. Brado, Mrs. Ash, Mrs. H. Wolgast, Mrs. C. Wollgast, Mrs. Eichler, Mrs. Beyer, Mrs. Lucht and Mrs. Garchow.

WHAT WAR DID TO VLADIVOSTOK

CITY OF EXTREME CONTRASTS

Terminal City of Longest Railroad in the World, Place Where East Literally Meets West—Was on the Way to Rival San Francisco in Population and Beauty—Living Is Extremely Dear and Human Life Is Held Very Cheap.

"On the eight-day trip from Moscow she had told fellow passengers on the trans-Siberian railway, of an Englishman who was disappointed because he spent ten days in New York and had not seen an Indian.

"Not only is there about as much danger of meeting a wolf in Vladivostok as there would be of encountering a mountain lion in San Francisco, but there are other likenesses between these port cities, especially if the Vladivostok of just before the war be compared with the San Francisco of its earlier, 'glorious' days," according to a pamphlet from Washington (D. C.) headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Compared to San Francisco. "The city of the Golden Horn is younger than our city of the Golden Gate, having been founded in 1860. Had its normal development not been interrupted by the war, its hinterland beset by soviet forces, unsettled by rapid changes of government and now reported to be left without any because of the attacking China troops, Vladivostok might soon have rivaled our own coast city in population and beauty.

"Living is extremely dear," said the Baeleker of 1912; and of the Vladivostok of 1922 it might be said with equal truth that human life is very cheap. The city warranted a Breer Harter's attention for its bizarre and colorful atmosphere during war times, but for the variety of peoples who made up its transitory population it outdid any earlier experiences of our own frontier towns. Normally it has fewer than 50,000 people; by 1918 its residents numbered nearly 200,000. The influx was made up of human gradations between typhus victims and American millionaires.

"Even in ordinary times Vladivostok is a city of extreme contrasts, as might be expected of a place where Chinaman and Russian compete, where East literally meets West. Alighting at the European-looking station, from one of the most luxurious trains of any continent (1918 was the last year you could have done that) you saw trailers, automobiles, drabsties, carriages and jirikistias. Russians, Japanese, Chinese and Koreans predominated, with many Europeans, occasional Americans and Africans.

"A tongue of hilly land thrust out into a lull-backed bay constitutes the site of 'The Mistress of the East.' The architecture maintains the European note struck by the station; which unites the presence of Oriental people, conveniences and customs all the more exotic. You no sooner accustomed yourself to the dreary routine of bazaz buying, flourishing lotteries, and faded of revenues than you encountered the more familiar telegraph office, motion picture theater, museum, club and university. You may dodge a European racing car, under an American electric light, and run plump into a coolie burden bearer despite the warning cries of a Russian policeman.

Breaks All Civic Rules. "Small wonder living was extremely dear in the old days and is an acute problem now, since the city subsisted formerly on supplies from China and Japan, Europe and even America. Its growth seems due to some inexplicable exception that proves the rule that a city, to succeed, should be self-sustaining, interchangeable products with the country around it, be thrifty, cultivate civic consciousness, be well governed, and possess some racial, cultural, or patriotic unity. It owed its commerce to the fact that it was the most nearly ice-free port of Russia, by which via the trans-Siberian railway and to the military and naval establishments maintained by the government of the czar.

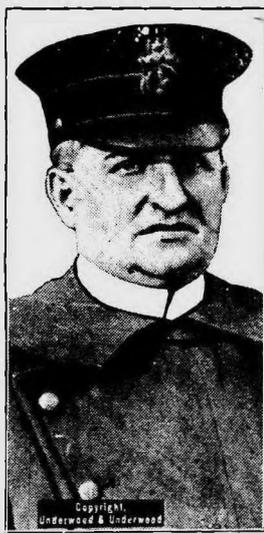

"Now its patron government has disappeared, its railway has been cut in to units by the national entities along its course and Bolshevism looms as an economic as well as a passenger barrier along the far-flung rail ribbon that once extended some 7,000 miles to Catala.

"In the way of exports, in its palmiest days, it had nothing more important to give the world than sea-cabbage, trepan and a fungus gathered from decayed wood, for all of which China was its principal customer. Trepan is the dried body of the hemichurian, more commonly known as the sea slug, more appealing to the curiosity than to the palate of the occidental. For this snail-like creature can throw off, when frightened, its vital organs—digestive, respiratory and reproductive—and replace them all within a few weeks. Nature here seems to hold that two can live more easily, if not more cheaply, than one. When the sea slug becomes too hungry for comfort it divides in two parts and each, developing rapidly into complete units, goes on a search for food."

Whooping Cough

This is a very dangerous disease, particularly to children under five years of age, but when no pepercoid, codeine or other opiate is given, is easily cured by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Most people believe that it must run its course, not knowing that the time is very much shortened, and that there is little danger from the disease when this remedy is given. It has been used in many epidemics of whooping cough, with pronounced success. It is safe and pleasant to take.—Advertisement.

THRIFT BRINGS "COP" FORTUNE OF $200,000

J. Willard Greene, sergeant in the police force of the capital for 23 years, tells a thrift story that rivals stories of the country's foremost financiers. He tells how, earning about $180 a month, he saved his first thousand dollars, his wife started a boarding house and by investing carefully, they have now accumulated a fortune of $200,000, and own a number of valuable pieces of real estate.

YANK ARMENIAN PATRON SAINT

Conventionalized Figure Adopted by That Nation to "Annex" Itself. A conventionalized figure of a young American has been proposed for adoption as a sort of patron saint for the new Armenian nation. The original suggestion to this effect was made in a prose-poem written by the celebrated Armenian writer, Sebuh Stepanian, and published in the Armenian weekly, Shavgh.

Copied and embossed and framed in scores of Armenian communities throughout the near east, his picture—expressly phrased composition reads in part: "The patron saint of Armenia today is an energetic, active, athletic young person. He is rich, not only in purse, but in heart. He is our American uncle, his star is the emblem of his generous gifts. Thus there has been another star added to the starry flag of our American uncle, the star of Armenia. We have bound ourselves as a nation to America, we have become in spirit an Asiatic state of the great United States of America."

CALF ENDURES PRIVATION

Was Buried Under a Haystack Many Days Without Water.

A calf buried under a haystack for 10 days without water, not only alive when discovered, but able to get up and gambol away, is reported by H. C. Quackenbush on the Riggs and Quackenbush ranch near Pierre, S. D.

Over half a month ago a haystack surrounded by a large number of cattle, mostly calves, tumbled over, burying several of the smaller animals.

The accident was discovered and the animals were all dug out shortly after but the workmen overlooked one small calf, evidently for hauling the hay for feed 10 days later they uncovered the calf, which got up and scampered away when released from its prison.

WELL-TRAINED DOG

Would Not Give Up Postal Missive on Which 10 Cents Was Due.

A story offered by Charles W. Jetter, postmaster of Heber Springs, Va., is vouched for by Sewell Noble, an avowed admirer of the former's pet terrier Rex.

Jefferson has trained the animal so that if some one across the street from the postoffice calls for his mail he places it in the dog's mouth, points to the recipient and the dog trots over to deliver it.

Not long ago Noble availed himself of the "free" delivery being across the street, and Rex ambled over with one letter in his teeth, but instead of giving it to the owner as usual he backed off and growled when Noble tried to take the missive.

Puzzled, the postmaster went across to the recalcitrant dog, only to find that, without noticing it, he had given the terrier a special delivery letter on which was due 10 cents. On Noble's throwing a dime on the sidewalk, Rex promptly yielded the letter as his master retrieved the fee.

The sermon for next Sunday night at 7:30 is on the topic, "Is There Another Chance after Death." If you think there is or isn't, come and hear the discussion. What is the answer of christianity to spiritualism? Is there or is there not a future punishment? A clear, logical, unbiased, scriptural explanation of this important subject will be given. Moving picture program, next Monday night, with a comedy. Come. If you are going to have an auction, advertise it in the Mail.

The Body a Working Machine

In considering the part which food plays in human life, the best idea of the workings of the body can be obtained through comparison with a machine. The workings of this human machine can be measured as accurately as that of any other machine. Just as the burning coal under the boiler of an engine turns water into steam that furnishes power to run the engine, so the food is transformed in our bodies into heat and energy which gives us strength to do our work.

However, there are some vital differences between the workings of these different types of machines. In the first place when no part of the machine is needed for work, no more coal is used and the machine becomes lifeless, but from birth until death such parts of the human machine as the heart and the organs of respiration, dare never stop. In other words the human machine must work to live and this requires fuel. Then, too, no engineer or driver would ever think of starting their machines without coal or gasoline, but how often do we expect the human machine to function properly when we purposely eat no breakfast or go without any meal? Again suppose some part of the other machine is broken what happens? A corresponding part is brought from the repair shop and replaces that which is broken. Is this true of the human machine? Suppose an arm is broken what happens? The broken ends are placed together, the arm is put in splints, bandaged and carried in a sling—and you wait—you wait for what? For the body to build new bone tissue and knit together these two ends. Or another example, what happens when you accidentally cut off a portion of flesh from your finger? Does the finger heal in the same shape as the cut, or does it build up to its original shape? So the body repairs and replaces by building. But the bone tissue is built from a different kind of fuel than that of the flesh tissue. Finally every engineer or driver "dopes and oils" his machine. Who does this for the human machine? Again this is part of the work which the human machine accomplishes through its transformation of food.

These, then, are the workings of the human machine with its different fuels:

1. Furnishes heat and energy.
2. Builds and repairs bone and muscular tissue.
3. Regulates the running order of the machinery.

EPISCOPAL NOTES

There will be two services in St. John's church next Sunday: The usual morning service, with Franklin L. Gibson as the preacher, and a special community service in the evening. The Ven. E. B. Jermin, archdeacon of the northern peninsula, will be in Detroit, next Sunday, and he has reminded us of our promise to let him come to Plymouth, so he will be with us next Sunday evening at 7:30, when we hope to have our little mission church as crowded as it was at Easter and as on previous occasions.

There will be a vestry meeting this week at the office of Sidney Strong, the secretary, in the village hall. This will be a general monthly meeting and the general business of the mission will be discussed. J. H. Prescott of the Union Trust Co., has asked the treasurer to have the usual annual audit of the church books and accounts for presenting at the annual convention, and Sidney Strong has consented to audit these books and accounts.

The treasurer has received a letter from the foreign secretary of the church missionary society in New York, acknowledging receipt of the remittances through our linden mite boxes. The foreign secretary, in thanking us in behalf of the board of missions, says: "If every parish responded as generously as have the few families of your mission church, there would be no difficulty about the world's enterprise." In a message to the children he says: "Tell them we are having great success, which is shown in several ways; for one thing, this year we have just secured over the one hundred workers for our mission fields, in response to our appeal for this number, to celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of organized work. This is the greatest band of missionaries that our church has ever sent out at one time." And all this is made possible through our mite boxes and other donations.

Lumbago.

This is a rheumatism of the muscles of the back. It comes on suddenly and is quite painful. Every movement aggravates the disease. Go to bed, keep quiet and have Chamberlain's Liniment applied and a quick recovery may be expected. Mrs. F. J. Dann, Brockport, N. Y., writes: "I can honestly say that Chamberlain's Liniment cured me of lumbago a year ago last summer. When I began using it, I was flat on my back in bed and could not turn to the left or right. I had a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment in the house and this was applied to my back. It promptly drove away the pains and aches."—Advertisement.

SCHOOL NOTES

Mrs. Dietrick visited the third grade Friday.

The program last Thursday, in honor of Grant, was enjoyed by all who attended.

The seventh chorus have some splendid material for two-part work and promise something good in the future.

Blanche Curtis of the second grade has returned from Harper Hospital and is slowly regaining her strength.

Get in your orders for 1922 Plymouths, members of the Alumni Association. We cannot afford to buy more than we know we can sell. Telephone Ruth Shattuck or the high school.

Mr. Campbell, in charge of all army reconstruction work for the blind, talked before the senior assembly last Friday. He emphasized some of the common ways in which we all abuse our eyes.

The need of more and cheaper books in the Braille system of reading for the blind was brought out; as an illustration, he told us that "Little Women" costs $37.50 in a blind man's library. A class in Braille book-making is to be organized in Plymouth during the coming summer.

The Physical training department of the school made its bow to the public last Thursday night, in an exhibition which was a delight to the audience. The formal work was exceedingly well done even though the classes were new at this type of training. The club swinging was especially pretty to watch and development in this activity promises well as we get more and more equipment. Most of the boys' work was informal, but, nevertheless, an eye-opener as to what real physical training means, and the audience watched the work on the horse and the bars with a real appreciation of its difficulty.

The physics class has completed the installation of the radio set given them by Mr. Wingard. The class attended the radio show in Detroit, and came back ardent fans of the new invention.

Prof. W. H. French, head of the Education department of the Michigan Agricultural College, was entertained by the Plymouth Aggie Club at luncheon, Wednesday noon. In the assembly following, he presented the trophy cup bearing his name, which was won by the high school judging team in the state judging contest last winter. You should have seen Herbert and Lawrence Miller and Carl Ash, when he got through.

BAPTIST NOTES

The event of last week was the annual meeting of the church, Thursday evening, April 27. About 75 sat down to supper, and a real banquet it was, and enjoyed by all, after which the people gathered upstairs and listened to the program, which opened by singing, "My Jesus I Love Thee." Prayer was offered by the pastor, Fletcher Campbell gave us three readings, the ninety-first Psalm was first—this was his army psalm, and his mother's favorite. The choir gave a splendid selection, after which the pastor gave his report: Sermons and addresses, 140; prayer meetings attended, 75; funerals, 15; weddings, 5; taught Sunday-school class, 50 times.

The clerk gave a good report, stating the present number of members to be 132. Twenty-seven have been received this year—twenty-four by baptism, two by letter, one by experience. Several have been granted letters to join other churches. Some have been called to their heavenly home, and we miss their going away very much.

The treasurer gave a good report of monies received and paid out during the year. While this has been a hard year, the pastor is paid in full at this date, and the promise for the new year, after the every member canvass is very hopeful, for the budget was over subscribed by $200. The men's quartet gave to the audience two splendid numbers, and the audience gave them a hearty cheer. The men were: Messrs. Hamill, Allenbaugh, Sayles, Bennett.

The Sunday-school reports a good attendance this year—125 on the roll; all bills paid and about $25.00 in the treasury.
The E. Y. P. U. reported a very good year for the first one, and meetings every Sunday evening.
The Ladies' Aid have done wonders this year in aiding the finances of the church. By suppers, bazaars, bake sales, etc., receiving over $400, and paid out over $500, and still have a good balance in the treasury.

The Woman's Missionary Circle has been active in its work, and the church this year gave $295 for missions.

Fletcher Campbell gave three readings to close the program, after which Rev. George Lawrence of Lansing, gave to the church an earnest address urging the church to do the supreme thing—to win souls to Christ, and in everything stand for truth, conviction and real salvation. He gave to the church many compliments for the past year's work, and bid them Godspeed for the future. The final song was, "Blest be the tie that binds." Rev. Lawrence closed with prayer, and thus ended a good year, and we return thanks to our Heavenly Father for every blessing.

STARK

Mrs. Ralph VanTassel was called to Saginaw, Saturday morning, by the sudden death of her mother, Mrs. Baker.

Mr. and Mrs. John Turner and two children of Farmington, visited at George Kuhn's, Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Flaherty were Plymouth shoppers, Monday afternoon.

Today's Reflections

They say a wide mouth indicates wisdom. So does a closed mouth.

This talk of uplift is all right, but the Plymouth man who recalls how his father did a little uplifting with a barrel stave knows what it really means.

What we need in this country is people who will call fewer strikes and more bluffs.

Every Plymouth married woman wonders how the other women find so much time to gad about.

A man in New York thinks he is going to make a fortune in a few months. We suppose he is designing a suit case with a false bottom that won't leak.

Sending moving pictures by radio is now predicted, and we have seen so many impossible things done in the past few years that we are not going to dispute it.

The quickest and surest way to make an enemy of some Plymouth men is to outdo them in anything.

We haven't heard of any little boy in this neighborhood getting his picture in the papers for saying: "No father, I don't want a radio set."

The Plymouth man who argues that talk is cheap never had to pay for a lost law suit.

Deflation in price has hit a lot of things, but the price of folly still remains the same.

We've always noticed that there's no contempt worse than the contempt of a middle-aged man for the youngster who thinks he understands women.

Reading the daily papers we are inclined to believe that society is divided into two classes—those who break all of the laws part of the time, and those who break part of the laws all the time.

The fellow who smokes a Turkish cigarette in a long holder is probably trying to get as far away from the smell as possible.

It is the season when it is hard for the average Plymouth man to tell whether he has liver trouble or a case of old-fashioned laziness.

Evils of Constipation
Perhaps the most serious of the diseases caused by constipation is appendicitis. If you would avoid this dangerous disease, keep your bowels regular. For this purpose Chamberlain's Tablets are excellent, easy to take and mild and gentle in effect.—Advertisement.

Buick "Four" Also Drives Through the Third Member

Whether it is a Four or a Six, every Buick measures up to the same rigid Buick standards of design and construction. Whatever is Buick, is Buick throughout.

The Buick Four, like the Buick Six, drives through the torque tube third member on the axle. Buick springs only support the body and ensure easy riding. A Buick rear spring, accidentally broken, cannot mis-align the axle and tie you up on the road. This design is generally found only on high-priced cars.

BANDIT STREAMS MUST BE GOOD

NEBRASKA GENIUS SHOWS WAY

His Retard System of Deeply-Sunk Piles and Tree Buffers Has Convinced the Experts—Loot Along One Branch of the Missouri River Amounted to 10,940 Acres in Three Years—Mr. Woods Explains System to Committee of Congress.

Uncle Sam has decided to use moral suasion on his land-stealing rivers. He believes that, given an opportunity, they can be made to conduct themselves in an orderly manner. His plan for taming them was brought to Washington by Mark W. Woods of Lincoln, Neb., the man who decided that the way to reform the Missouri, most lawless of rivers, was to cooperate with it instead of fighting it.

Army engineers were impressed by Mr. Wood's method and persuaded him to present the matter to the house rivers and harbors committee and the senate commerce committee—the two committees having direct supervision of river improvements. Mr. Woods admits that he isn't much of a speaker, so he expected to "say it with pictures."

A movie firm made snapshot pictures of the work being done along the Missouri and Mr. Woods brought them to Washington to show the committees what the farmers of Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri and South Dakota are doing to control the Missouri. They have not asked for a cent of federal money, but are doing the work themselves and intend to continue doing it.

Experts Convinced.

Mr. Woods told the committees that it could be done elsewhere. In fact, railroads are using it to protect their bridges in the Miami valley of Ohio; it is also to be used in the harbor improvements at Jamaica bay.

Senator Wesley L. Jones (Rep., Wash.), chairman of the senate commerce committee says the Woods plan will solve a problem that has been costing the nation millions of dollars annually. Senator Randall (Dem., Louisiana), also was enthusiastic over it. Gov. John J. Pershing recently spent an entire day watching the installation of the new type of protection works on the Missouri and he said he knew of no greater piece of reconstruction along the Missouri.

The plan is now being used on the Sacramento river in California, and soon will be extended to the Brazos and Rio Grande rivers in Texas and to the Black river and to the Red river of the North.

The Missouri river long has been a vexing problem. The government sent an engineer out to look it over. For three years he camped along the stream and watched its actions. In those three years, he reported, it ate away between Sioux City and St. Louis 10,940 acres of the richest land in that fertile valley and has taken additional property tolls of millions from towns, cities and railroads along its banks.

The government has spent some money in the old style work reverts, which have proved unsatisfactory, for that system was very costly and was by no means permanent.

The Hydraulic Pile.

Two or three years ago Mr. Woods bought a farm of 6,000 acres in Nebraska. When he went out to look it over he found the Missouri river muddling it off at about the rate of eight rods a day. He thought he needed the land worse than the Missouri river needed it, he told the senate commerce committee, and so he began to figure out a way to keep it. He heard of a man who had invented a hydraulic pile, which, it was claimed, could be driven to bedrock. The rock reverts had been quickly washed out and obviously the thing to do was to find something that could be sunk below any possible danger of a scour. Mr. Woods hunted up the man, investigated his invention and made arrangements to give it a trial.

Woods then purchased the necessary equipment and hydraulically sunk the piles to bedrock. To each pile was attached six cables, each an inch in diameter, and to these cables were attached forest trees. In the ordinary retard, 100 feet long, four piles are used, and from 500 to 700 trees of the unmercantable type found along many streams in the country. These trees were made to form a brushpile lying at right angles to the bank from the bottom of the river to the top, and securely held in place by the piles.

Doesn't Deflect the Current.

This method does not deflect the current, but simply retards it, causing it to unload the sand and silt that the water is carrying. In a short time the retard forms a sand-bar along the cutting bank; as the trees do not rot under water the river can never cut at this particular place again. On the Missouri it has been shown that a series of these reverts will protect any bend in the river from further erosion.

Twenty-four hours after Mr. Woods had put in his retard the cutting along his land was filling back. Day by day the Missouri poured its silt on the retard, building the land up again, and it is now being farmed. This triumph over the Missouri attracted attention and it began to be generally followed along the river. The board of army engineers dispatched Brigadier General Padgett to observe its workings. General Padgett's report to Maj. Gen. Lansing H. Beach, chief of engineers, U. S. A., and Brig. Gen. Harry Taylor, board of engineers for rivers and harbors, impressed them, and General Taylor suggested that the drainage district laws of Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri and South Dakota be amended so as to permit of this kind of improvement. The legislatures took action at their first sessions. A number of other states are contemplating changes in their drainage laws.

The interest of General Beach in the matter was aroused by the fact that each year millions from the banks of the Missouri have put down a cube of earth a mile square at the mouth of the Mississippi, which had to be dredged out to continue navigation, but he had no money with which to aid the work.

Plans an Immense Saving.

Government officials here now believe that approximately 800,000 acres of bar land lying up against cities like Omaha, Kansas City, Sioux City, St. Joseph and St. Louis can be reclaimed by the retard system.

Any stream that erodes its bank or carries silt can be successfully dealt with by the retard system in use on the Missouri river. Representative Ben G. Humphries of Mississippi, member of the committee on rivers and harbors, believes.

In Omaha these piles, driven to bedrock, halted the menace of the Missouri to an industrial district and saved more than $15,000,000 worth of property. At St. Louis the water has been swelled around by this same retard system. Altogether 178,075 acres of land along the Missouri has now been protected. Farmers of the West have been doing the work of reclamation themselves and have not called on the federal government for aid. More than $700,000 is being spent in Missouri alone.

Representative Bill (Rep., Mo.) said that the plan not only stopped erosions, but by confining the current to a narrower channel caused it to deepen its own channel.

"Have you ever had any trouble with the retard system?" Representative White of Kansas asked Mr. Woods.

Followed a Natural Law.

"We have never lost a single retard," Woods answered. "The piles, which ordinarily are 20 feet long and 14 inches square and weigh 5,000 pounds, are sunk by hydraulic pressure in depths as great as 111 feet. To the steel cables are attached trees. We are simply following the law of nature. Every island in the Missouri river was formed by some tree snagging and lodging. If it stayed a year it created a sand bar. If it stayed two years it created an island. We are now having it build up useful land instead of cutting away good land and building up islands that are an impediment to navigation."

The board of army engineers has begun to use reverts on the upper Mississippi to narrow its channel to a width of 1,200 feet, thus making it current cut a deeper channel. The work costs about one-third as much as the old style reversion system and is permanent, which the reverts are not.

Several railroads in Texas and Oklahoma running near or across shallow rivers with wide valleys are preparing to put in the new system, committees of congress have been formed. One of these rivers, the Canadian running across the Texas Panhandle and into Oklahoma, has a habit of routing down bridges and stopping railroad transportation at intervals.

The Unruly Brazos.

The Brazos, in Texas, where the system is to be tried out at once, is another bandit river, robbing farmers. Now the reverts are to be installed along its banks.

The government has no faith in levees for such rivers as the Brazos, which flows directly into the Gulf and is subject to freshets. Many farmers have had their life savings washed away in Brazos freshets. It is estimated that this river does damage amounting to $1,000,000 yearly.
