THE NEW YEAR

Here we are on the threshold of another year, with a heart firm in its conviction that there is still room for improvement in both ourselves and the conditions that surround us.

Possibly there will be made by Plymouth people the usual number of what we call "good resolutions." Others will be content to "let well enough alone." Some few will ignore entirely an opportunity to check up on their short-comings and will let slide by another chance to make life a little brighter both for themselves and those about them. Good resolutions are all right, and we believe in encouraging them. But always a good resolution should not be a selfish one—it should include our neighbors. Resolving to look more closely after the little things this year than you did last, will be a sensible resolution. Dropping in for a moment to inquire about the condition of a sick friend, or to ask if you can be of service—that is one of the little things that makes other lives as well as your own brighter. Speaking a kindly word to the young man or woman who is starting out on life's long road; a smile for the aged and a friendly pat on the back for the man who is passing through sorrow—you couldn't make a wiser resolution than to resolve that you will look more closely after these little things during the year 1923.

Maybe everything won't be just as you would like to have it. Maybe things won't turn out exactly as you would like. So resolve now that if you do encounter obstacles you will be fair and honest with yourself, and that you will not let discouragement sour you toward your neighbors or the world. Resolve to keep in mind that good old motto, "If at first you don't succeed"—and when something hits you a pretty hard jolt show your neighbor the kind of stuff you're made of by meeting it with a smile. Make but one resolution, if you wish, but make it good every day in the year. Make it a resolution that you'll try and send a little sunshine every day into the heart of someone near you. For it is in that way that sunshine will come into your own life.

CHRISTMAS BUSINESS

According to exchanges reaching this office, the Christmas shopping season in this state was the best merchants have enjoyed for many years. The volume of business was larger and the buying of serviceable gifts was on a larger scale than at any previous time. Which shows two things—that the people are again getting hold of money, and that they are learning how best to spend it. Farm prices, while still not what they should be, are partially offset by the fact that there is a ready market for everything. Production in the factories of the nation is on a good basis, and the problem of unemployment is nothing like as serious as it was at this time last year. The man who can't find work isn't hunting very hard for a job. All over the land newspapers point to an increased advertising business, which accounts for the heavy advertising buying.

THIS COUNTRY'S NEEDS

One of our subscribers, a resident of Plymouth, sends us a lengthy communication headed, "What This Country Needs." We can't devote space to all of it, though it is all good. But we can give you the salient points in it. He says: "What this nation needs is a return to the good old Golden Rule, both in business and everyday life. There's too much selfishness now. Two autos collide. The occupants rush together.

To help injured persons? No. To try and avoid damages by putting the blame on the other fellow. A man or woman crosses the street as an auto approaches. The autoist expects them to hop out of the way, and the pedestrian expects the auto to stop for him. The result is hard looks and angry words. This country needs a little more of the 'love your neighbor' spirit; a revival of the old-time American spirit—a return to the days when men lived a little closer to the Golden Rule."

LOCAL NEWS

Mr. Carlson is seriously ill at his home on Mill street.

Mr. and Mrs. William Petz and family spent Christmas with the former's parents in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Lee were dinner guests, Sunday evening, and also Christmas day guests of Detroit friends.

Mrs. Estep entertained at dinner, Christmas day, a company of fifteen relatives from Detroit, at her home on Liberty street.

Mrs. Marie Gust and children, Margaret, Marian and Kenneth, spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Gust at Wayne.

Miss Vera Hengsterfer, who is teaching at Benton Harbor, Mich., this year, is the guest of her mother, Mrs. Carl Heide, during the holiday vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Heide entertained at Christmas dinner, the latter's parents and other relatives from An Arbor; also Miss Vera Hengsterfer of Benton Harbor.

NEWBURG

The young people's choir, under the direction of Miss Anna Youngs, did fine last Sabbath. They will sing again this coming Sunday. Margaret and Viola Mitchell sang, "Silent Night," very sweetly. Everyone cordially invited to attend church and Sunday-school, and commence the New Year right.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bassett and Mrs. Ella Wight of Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Smith and daughter, Vivian, and son, Clifford; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ryder and Miss Beulah Ryder were dinner guests at the Smith homestead, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Joy and family spent Christmas day with Mr. and Mrs. James of New Hudson.

Last Friday evening quite a crowd gathered at the school house to hear the Christmas exercises by the pupils, all taking part in a fine manner and doing credit to their teachers. A beautiful Christmas tree, decorated and lighted with colored bulbs, was laden with many nice gifts from teachers and parents. The exercises were held in Mr. Allenbaugh's room, which was filled to capacity. There was not room for the children, who stood in the corridor, and also did the most of the singing there. The children were delighted with old Santa, all crowding around him, laughing and happy. Both Mr. Allenbaugh and Miss Redeman were presented with nice gifts by the pupils.

Saturday evening, the Christmas tree and cantata, "Santa's Christmas Bargain," was given by the Sunday-school, under the direction of Mesdames Thomas, Gunsolly and Joy, Miss Marian Carson presiding at the piano. Considering the short time they had for rehearsal, the young people did remarkably well. The singing was very good, and there were some extremely funny situations. Miss Gladys Horton deserves special mention in singing, "Star of the East." Sixty bags of candy were given away to the children. All of the Sunday-school scholars received nice gifts from the Sunday-school. The children were all excited when Old Santa made his appearance, giving all the good boys and girls a present. Rev. Wise was presented with a pair of silk socks that contained a miniature Ford and a flying machine, also a nice little sum to purchase gas for the Ford.

Mrs. Emily LeVan spent over Christmas with her daughter, Mrs. Hilliker, and grandson, Francis Ross, in Ann Arbor. Mr. and Mrs. W. R. LeVan and Mrs. Ryder going after her, Tuesday evening. Mrs. LeVan and Mrs. Ryder called on Miss Edith Pickett at the hospital. She was happy over the remembrance of the L. A. S. and many other kind friends.

Several from here attended the Christmas tree and cantata at Beech last week Thursday evening. It was surely fine.

Rev. Wise and a bunch of the young people went to a number of homes, Sunday evening, and sang Christmas carols, especially to those who were sick or shut-in. Several placed candles in their windows to show they would be welcome.

The L. A. S. sent twelve cans of fruit and a package of clothing to the Esther Home in Detroit, recently. Mr. and Mrs. James Norris kindly took it to the Home.

Mrs. C. E. Ryder, and daughter, Beulah, and Mrs. W. R. LeVan took the White Gift offering of canned fruit, dolls and a number of other packages, to the Children's M. E. Home at Farmington, Tuesday. It is worth while to go there and see what a beautiful place it is at this Christmas season. It is very pretty with its Christmas tree and other decorations. They were loaded down with toys, candy, etc. The matron told the visitors that wearing apparel and things to eat would be more acceptable than so much candy and toys. They were accompanied by Mrs. Day Dickerson of Farmington.

The Marrow family have moved into the Messer house, next to the hall.

Mr. Tucker and family have moved to their farm near Romeo.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Mackinder entertained their children, Mr. and Mrs. J. Norris and family of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. Vern Mackinder and children, for Christmas dinner, Monday.

A family gathering of the Bassett's, to the number of forty, met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Geer, on Christmas day. A fine dinner, Christmas tree and the meeting together made an enjoyable occasion, all being there with the exception of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Bassett and family of South Bend, Indiana.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bassett entertained twenty-two at dinner, Sunday.

Mrs. Mary Paddock and daughter, Florence, Burt Paddock and sons, Charles and Dwight, of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ryder, Mr. and

Miss Joy McNabb of Detroit, is spending her Christmas vacation at the home of her uncle, Mark Joy.

Mr. and Mrs. Vern Mackinder and family of Grand Rapids; Mr. and Mrs. James Norris and two sons spent Christmas at the parental home.

BAPTIST NOTES

The Sunday-school held their Christmas exercises Sunday evening, and a very nice program was carried out. During the evening several tableaux were shown, the lights were out, and the stereopticon was turned on the groups, making it impressive and pretty.

The members of the Sunday-school were given candy and the real Christmas cheer. The pastor made a few remarks at the close of the program, after which Mr. Hamill, with well chosen words, presented Mr. and Mrs. Granger with a nice leather upholstered rocking chair. Mr. Granger has acted as treasurer of the church for twelve years, and the church took this way of showing their appreciation for his faithfulness. Mrs. Granger has led the choir for many years, and has been at her post night and day. The church wish them God speed, and his blessing.

Too much praise cannot be given the committee, who, in a few short days, planned and executed the Sunday evening program. The decorations were very pretty, and in keeping with the day.

Taking Desperate Chances

It is true that many contract severe colds and recover from them without taking any precaution or treatment, and a knowledge of this fact leads others to take their chances instead of giving their colds the needed attention. It should be borne in mind that every cold weakens the lungs, lowers the vitality, makes the system less able to withstand each succeeding attack and paves the way for the more serious diseases. Can you afford to take such desperate chances when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, famous for its cures of bad colds may be had for a trifle?—Advertisement.

"GOOD QUEEN LIL"

Recalling Occasion of Royalty's Visit to Washington.

Last of Hawaiian Dynasty Came to the Capital to Seek Restitution of Her Prerogatives.

Official Washington had put on her very best clothes and made ready to give royal welcome to a royal guest. True, this visitor no longer occupied a throne, nor was she ever likely to. She did not even move in the court circle, she was the court circle, and although that august body had moved around until it had reached its last lap, still, by nature of its former status, it was deserving of attention.

This visitor was the last of the Hawaiian dynasty, Queen Liliuokalani, popularly known in this country as Queen Lil, writes Margaret Bell in the Boston Globe. She was an imposing looking woman, not exactly handsome, as we understand the term, but of such obvious strength of character as to rally respect to her standard wherever she went. This particular visit to Washington was for the purpose of interesting congress in her affairs. Being no longer a queen with royal rights, she looked to this country to reimburse her for her sacrifices.

Queen Lil's story is unique. When an infant she was given by her parents to another chieftain, a custom long fostered among Hawaiian royalty, because this exchange of children was supposed to promote good fellowship among the different tribes and harmony throughout the islands.

At the age of four she was sent to boarding school, where she learned to speak English and think Christian. She spent all of her childhood and some of her young womanhood in school, and when she was twenty-four married an American, John Dominis, the son of a sea captain.

She had twenty-nine years' comparative freedom; then her real troubles began. Her brother, the king, dying, Liliuokalani became queen, but without the pomp and grandeur which usually accompany such social elevation.

"Before I had time to collect myself," she said, "a trap was sprung on me by the wild hosts with whom I was surrounded." A document was thrust before her by the cabinet, greatly restricting her power. To this she objected, and the storm broke.

Queen Lil managed to keep her throne for two years. During that time her husband died and she found herself deprived of a very vital moral prop. The organization of a provisional government in 1893, under Sanford E. Dole, brought about her abdication and gave the islands one of the best administrations in their whole history.

Ambitions began to stir within Liliuokalani, however, and urged her to plot to regain her throne. But there were enemies around her, and her ambitions were learned, with the result that Queen Lil was thrown into prison.

That settled it. In eight days she renounced forever all claims to the throne. The government evidently did not place implicit trust in her, for although she was released from prison she was kept under close surveillance in her own palace for practically a year. Then on New Year's day, 1898, she was allowed full freedom, after signing a paper in which she declared her intention henceforth to live in absolute privacy and to avoid even the appearance of being concerned in public affairs.

The remaining years of her life were marred by not the slightest deviation from this promise. She allied herself with no party and kept her political opinions to herself. She devoted herself to the writing of songs in her native tongue and traveling extensively in this country.

On November 11, 1917, while other thrones were breaking, she passed away at the age of seventy-nine.

Interrupted.

My employer is a golf enthusiast, and when he has played a good game he never fails to give the office full particulars, with demonstrations, as he keeps his clubs downtown.

One afternoon he left about four o'clock. Directly after I dragged out his clubs. Swinging the bag to my shoulder, advanced to the center of the large room. The force ceased working and watched me. I pulled out a stick, dropped a ball to the floor, and swung at it.

"Gaze," I commanded, "on the greatest golf performer who ever missed a ball. Last week at Hillsdale I went around in 150, and I will now—"

The door slammed behind me. He had returned.—Chicago Tribune.

Steeplejacks Defy Death.

A wager of $5 has inspired four steeplejacks, who have been repairing one of the tallest chimney stacks in the Mendenhall district of York-shire to extraordinary feats, according to the London Westminister Gazette.

They hoisted a bicycle to the top, and on a wooden platform one of their number balanced himself on the saddle, while a second, straddle-legged on his shoulders with outstretched arms. Two other thrilling feats were performed. One of the steeplejacks stood erect on a narrow iron spike on the top of the chimney. Then he seized the topmost stave of a ladder, raised his legs to the sky and balanced himself for a few seconds on his hands as calmly as if he were on parallel bars on the ground. Thousands of spectators were thrilled by these extraordinary feats.

EPISCOPAL NOTES

Christmas this year was a specially happy one among the members of St. John's. On Sunday, our Christmas service was held, and the holy communion was administered. The Ven. J. C. Widdifield, archdeacon of Detroit, had charge of the service, and preached a very appropriate Christmas sermon, taking his text from Luke 2:14, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men," especially emphasizing the original translation from the Greek, "Peace to men of good will." There was a very good congregation present who joined heartily in the Christmas hymns, "Hark! the Herald Angels Sing;" "O Little Town of Bethlehem;" "O Come All Ye Faithful."

During the week, Thursday evening, the Christmas tree party was given for the church-school, and the members of the congregation. There was a large gathering and a very happy time was spent; indeed, several expressed the opinion that it was the happiest and most successful that the mission has had. The spirit of Christmas prevailed in the general exchange of gifts among the children themselves, and also among the members of the mission. Everybody had a gift, even those who were absent through sickness were not forgotten. George Merryweather made a very good Santa Claus, and Wilbur Murphy made an excellent jester in his jester's suit, springing some very witty jokes. Santa Claus was assisted in the distribution of gifts by Mrs. Murphy and Wilbur Murphy, and during the distribution of these gifts the organist played soft appropriate music. At intervals there were songs and Christmas poems by the children of the school. Many thanks are expressed to those ladies who made this evening so successful, and especially to Mrs. Murphy, who superintended and who took such pains in planning out the evening's program.

Next Sunday morning the special preacher will be Rev. Resiner of New York City. We want a large congregation, and Plymouth friends are invited to hear Mr. Resiner.

Mr. Gibson wishes a special announcement to be made to express his appreciation to the congregation for their kind thought and the expres-

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Interesting Facts

106,327 Ford Cars and Trucks Retailed in November

Approximately the same number scheduled for delivery this month

What Does This Mean?

This volume of deliveries to actual owners is entirely unprecedented for this time of the year—

It has taxed the manufacturing ability of the Ford plants working at full capacity—

It indicates a volume of business during the rapidly approaching months of "heavy demand" which will be far beyond the maximum production schedule which the Ford Motor Company has set—

And that means a Ford shortage even more acute than the one which existed last Spring and Summer.

Dealers' stocks all over the country are low—there are no reserves to draw upon to meet the demands for delivery—

There is no way in which dealer reserves can be built up, as deliveries have been made to customers as fast as Cars could be manufactured since last April.

The only way you can protect your desire to obtain prompt delivery of a Ford even at this time is to place your order immediately.

This emphasizes more strongly than anything we could possibly say the necessity of your making prompt arrangements with a Ford Dealer for the listing of your order, particularly if you are contemplating the purchase of a Ford Car or Truck for use this Spring or Summer.

We believe you are entitled to know these facts as they actually exist.

Today's Reflections

One consolation about getting beaten for office is nobody ever wonders how much you spent.

If there is a man in Plymouth who isn't capable of governing himself, it's up to him to get married.

And another thing, if all of us got everything we wanted for Christmas, we'd never find room to put it away.

A good way to worry a Plymouth man is to keep him waiting, and a good way to worry a Plymouth woman is to keep her guessing.

Another thing we've never been able to understand is why it is that when a man sows wild oats he raises a crop of Cain.

We're getting so many autos around Plymouth that it won't be long before the fellow who walks will need to carry a horn.

One thing about the present styles in women's clothes. It has relieved the strain on the clothes line.

A steering wheel in the hands of a fool and a gun in the hands of a woman make life about as valuable as a German mark.

Our idea of the most fortunate man in Plymouth, is the one whose wife's private opinion of him is as good as the opinion she expresses in public.

Some fellows look far ahead. When the boss won't give them a raise in salary they go out and marry a girl who has a good job.

Cleanliness is next to Godliness. And when it's a Plymouth boy's ears it's next to impossible.

Why is it that everybody knows how to cure a cold except the fellow who has got one?

Stoves and furnaces are like some husbands—if you don't watch them closely they'll go out.

One thing about the Plymouth man who used to drive a horse. Nobody ever got a chance to sell him a lot of accessories.

If you know of an item of news, send or phone it to the Mail office.

AROUND ABOUT US

L. S. Allen, for many years a prominent resident of South Lyon, died at his home there last week Tuesday.

The five-year-old son of Fred Geigler, of Walled Lake, had the misfortune recently to run the point of a pair of scissors into the white of his right eye. A specialist in Detroit thinks he can save the eye.

A concealed box containing thirty sticks of dynamite was found in a piece of woods south of Fenton by boys recently. It is supposed the explosives belonged to a gang of safe blowers. A green flag in a nearby tree is supposed to locate the box.

Messrs. Gerbstadt and Secord of Wayne, have rented the Filkins building on North Center street, recently vacated by F. C. Ureel, and will open a bakery within a few weeks. The equipment is now being installed. Fred Secord will have charge of the business and will become a resident of the village.—Northville Record.

Denton had a most destructive fire one day last week. The general store of Asa Burrell, with nearly all of the contents, together with his garage, also the M. E. Ladies' Aid Hall and an ice house were burned to the ground. The loss is estimated at between $10,000 and $20,000, and is only partially covered by insurance.

Bernard Kirk of Ypsilanti, and U. M. football star, died at Beyer hospital, in that city, last Saturday morning. Mr. Kirk was injured in an automobile accident at the Plymouth and Belleville road, the Sunday morning previous, and it was at first thought that he would recover, but he suffered a relapse, from which he was unable to rally.

James F. Balentine of Muskegon, who is well known to the members of the Northville and Plymouth Gun club, died at his home in that city last Friday, after suffering two apoplectic strokes. He was a prominent furniture dealer and undertaker for years, succeeding his father in the business, and was nationally known as a trap shooter.—Northville Record.

At a meeting of the Greater Dearborn development association held in Detroit last week, the suggestion of a county park six miles in length, to follow the course of the Rouge between Wayne and Dearborn was given enthusiastic endorsement. The plan includes the building of a paved road on each bank of the river and if developed as outlined would become one of the beauty spots in Wayne county. The matter is to be placed before the Wayne County Road Commission at an early date.—Wayne Weekly.

Plaything for Pussy.
 A plaything for cats has been patented by Edith F. Kettle of Medford, Mass. It is a small, short metal cylinder with perforated ends and is meant to contain catnip. The end pieces are merely paper discs easily inserted in ring-shaped openings provided for them. The toy rolls about and for that reason is attractive. The catnip invites by its smell, and pussy manages, after a while, to claw through one of the paper ends and get at the contents.

Crushing Retort.
 "Hello, dearie," said the fresh young man with a "toothbrush" mustache and dressed to the minute, "a glass of sweet milk and a piece of lemon pie."
 "Anything else?" asked the fair but haughty waitress.
 "You've got all the speed you need and as for a smile, look at yourself in one of them mirrors along the wall. If that don't give you a laugh, you ain't got no sense of humor."

Not a Dust Collector.
 Will Vavter was painting a Brown county scene when one of those outstrip flirts whose words outstrip knowledge approached him. It must have resembled a bad swear or daub to the artist. He watched the artist a few moments, and then inquired: "Do you just leave it rough like that or how do you smooth it down?" "Oh," replied Mr. Vavter, "I sandpaper it when I get back to the studio. If I'd leave it that way you see, it would catch dust."—Indianapolis News.

RESTORE OLD ART

Workmen Bring to Light Glories of Westminster Abbey.

Removal of Varnish From Ancient Shields Reveals Beauty of Work Done Seven Centuries Ago.

After having been hidden for generations a new wealth of beauty has been brought to light during the restoration work in Westminster abbey, says a London correspondent in the New York World. The stone shields that decorate the walls on the north and south choir aisles are now shining in all their medieval splendor, after having been smothered for 200 years in varnish.

These shields, which are believed to be the oldest specimens of architectural heraldry in the world, were placed there by Henry III, when the building was new. They include the coats-of-arms of Simon de Montfort, Louis IX of France and King Henry himself. The device of Eleanor of Provence now hangs from a colored festoon, in reality of stone, that disappears behind two tiny heads. Another festoon is decorated with a bobbed-hair young woman that might quite well have stepped out of a canvas by Augustus John.

The biggest "find" has been the gorgeous decoration on the tomb of Edmund Crouchback and two others on the north side of the high altar. Here it was that the first experiments were made on the dimming varnish that had been used so lavishly, perhaps under the direction of Sir Christopher Wren, with the mistaken idea of preserving the color. Instead of the almost black surface that they bore only a year ago, these tombs now appear a mass of brilliant coloring that pays a high tribute to the craftsmanship of the men who decorated them seven centuries ago.

One of the renovators was found busy at work on the back of the sedilia. Here the other day a magnificent painting was exhumed from the grime of centuries. It represents Edward the Confessor holding out his finger for the ring to be slipped on by St. John. "This is the finest piece of green I have discovered in the abbey," exclaimed the craftsman as he pointed to the sister panel on which he was busy. All that can be seen at present is a hand of lily white against an emerald background. The work of renovation is being carried on under the direction of Mrs. Tristram of the Royal Society of Arts.

It is less than a year since the work began, and there are more artistic and quaint treasures waiting to be brought to light. "There is absolutely no fear of damage being done," remarked the surveyor to the chapter. "The process is the same as when old masters are cleaned. The mural decorations in the abbey are undoubtedly fine, but the best specimens are in the chapter house. Unfortunately, these do not come under the scheme of restoration, as the chapter house is under a different jurisdiction. Some of the panels contain remarkable coloring, and even in their present state the eye can discern a wealth of detail under the deposits of grime and dust."

Like Father, Like Son.
 "When I went to college 25 years ago I played the mandolin and spent $300 a year; now I have a son who spends $3,000 and only plays the ukulele. When I took a girl to a dance I hired a hack for 50 cents; now my boy writes that he thinks he will leave school because he can't find a garage for his car near enough to the fraternity house."

"We used to carry a keg seven miles into the country to have a party; Jim says one of the fellows can carry enough for the whole crowd without wrinkling the tail of his coat."

"I expected to go to work after I was through and pay back the money my father had lent me. My boy says he's going to look around for a year or two. He doesn't want to be rushed into anything not worthy of his talents."

"But when the ball's on the five-yard line with one minute to play, I guess Jim and I up there in the grandstand are pretty much the same."—Life.

Sir William Orpen.
 It is said of Sir William Orpen, the English portrait painter, that only servants succeed in calling him Sir William. All men call him Bill and all women Orps. As an R. A., he was duly elected to the Athenaeum club, but it is said that he has never had the courage to enter that haunt of bishops and other staid persons. Orpen is by common consent a great painter and a great success. He has literally queues of distinguished persons waiting their turn to sit to him for their portraits.—The Argonaut.

No Altitude for Him.
 A friend just returned from teaching in Kentucky tells this story of a backwoodsman who had been elected to serve in the state legislature. Arrived at the capitol, he handed his card to the doorkeeper. That individual glanced at the name and said: "You go upstairs."

"Like hell I go upstairs!" quoth the embryo maker of laws. "I was elected to the lower house, and that's where I stay!"—Judge.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jubenville entertained for Christmas: Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Jubenville and two sons, Charles and Richard, of Royal Oak; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Roediger and daughters of Southfield; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnston of Farmington, and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Lockhart and son, Kenneth, of this place.

David McCracken is able to be around, but his health is not very good.

The Helping Hand society will meet on New Year's day at the home of Mrs. Mary Hix. Members of the society and their families are invited. Dinner will be served at noon, after which they will hold their usual business meeting. The word for roll call will be "Seek."

Mr. and Mrs. McCracken entertained the latter's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Everett of Flint, over Christmas.

Mrs. Mary Hix and family spent Christmas at the home of her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schiffe, in Plymouth.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Parrish and children were visitors Christmas day, at the parental home here.

Frank, son of Ernest Hix, who had his leg broken in two places, over three months ago, is still in the hospital at Eloise, where he was taken as soon as the accident happened. He does not get along as fast as his friends wish. It is feared that his leg will have to be amputated at the knee. The accident occurred while he was riding his bicycle on the good road, north of Wayne.

Nankin, held a very nice entertainment and Christmas tree, Friday night, after which school closed for two weeks.

The cold weather has been putting back the work on the new school house.

WATERFORD ROAD

Last Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. William Bell pleasantly entertained at a family dinner, and in the afternoon Santa came and presented each child with a dollar bill. Guests were present from Saline, Commerce, Southfield, Birmingham and Plymouth.

The Honest Eight Club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pinnow on the Seven-mile drive, last Friday evening. First honors went to Mrs. Riley Wolfstrom and Clarence Wolfstrom, and congratulations to Hazel Van Bonn and Mr. Monroe. Refreshments were served.

Briggs school had a very fine program and Christmas tree entertainment Friday evening, and much credit is due their teacher, Mrs. Dimond.

The Plymouth Poultry Show takes place at Penniman hall, January 10, 11, 12, 13, 1923. Don't miss it.

LOCAL NEWS

Dr. R. E. Cooper is driving a handsome new Studebaker coupe.
George A. Shafer of Detroit, was a Plymouth visitor last Friday.
The Mail wishes its readers a Happy and Prosperous New Year.
Mrs. G. Gates and son, Elwood, are spending the week with relatives in Detroit.
Several of our business houses have been passing out some handsome calendars for 1923.
Mrs. Winnie Coleman and daughter, Doris, spent Christmas Day with the former's sister at Northville.
W. S. Keefer of Lyons, Mich., was a caller at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hillman, last Wednesday.
Mrs. P. Tanner of Royal Oak, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Frank Strickland and family, this week.
Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Sherman and son, Louis, spent Sunday and Christmas day, with relatives in Detroit.
Miss Merle Greenman of Owosso, is spending the week with her sister, Mrs. Lewis Westfall, Jr., on Harvey street.
Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Campbell and Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson and children were Christmas guests of relatives in Detroit.
Mrs. C. J. Teufel of Toledo, Ohio, is spending the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Willett, on Holbrook avenue.
Miss Mabel Spicer came home from Indianapolis, Indiana, to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Spicer.
N. W. Ayers, Jr., is spending the holiday vacation with his grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Spicer, on Ann Arbor street.
J. C. Dunham and Mr. and Mrs. David Corkins were Christmas Day guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Renton, of Belleville.
Mr. and Mrs. Gus Gates entertained on Christmas day: M. C. Bryan and family of East Branch, and James Gottschalk.
Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lancaster and small daughter, Jane, of Detroit, were Christmas guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tiltonson.
Mrs. George Jackson of South Main street, is spending the holidays with her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jackson, at their home in Chicago, Illinois.
Mr. and Mrs. Claude Rorabacher and daughter, Dorothy, of Detroit, were Christmas Day guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Rorabacher, on South Main street.
Callers at Mrs. Forshee's on Christmas day were: Elmer Smith of Highland Park; Miss Minna Brems and lady friend of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bogart and family of Ann Arbor.
Hillman & Rathburn report the sale of the following cars: Larchmont 66 Paige to Frank Rambo; Jewett coupe to Mat. Powell, and a Jewett sedan to George and Archie Meddaugh.
Paul Allan Strickland, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Strickland, who underwent an operation for the removal of tonsils and adenoids, at their home last Tuesday, is rapidly convalescing.
John Wilcox of this place has been appointed by Sheriff-elect Walters as a deputy sheriff. Mr. Wilcox will be assigned to either a place on the court or jail staff of the new sheriff, who takes office January 1st.
Mr. and Mrs. George F. McPhee of Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, are spending the winter with Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Edmonds, on Sheridan avenue, and are building a new home next to Mr. Edmonds' residence.
Mrs. Kate E. Allen entertained a party of 28 relatives and friends at a Christmas day dinner at Streng's restaurant. After the dinner hour the guests were entertained at Mrs. Allen's home, and in the evening at a theatre party at the Penniman Allen theatre.
There is every indication that the coming poultry show in Penniman hall, is going to eclipse any of the shows previously held, and there have been some goods ones, too. A large number of chicken fanciers have already signified their intention of exhibiting their birds at the coming show here January 10-13, inclusive, and the officers of the local association are making plans for a large number of entries.
Lee McDonald, who conducts a pool-room and soft drink store, in north village, was held for trial, after an examination, Tuesday, before Justice Gordon of Detroit, on a charge of violating the prohibition law. His bond was fixed at $1,000, which he furnished. McDonald's place was recently visited by the state police, and some liquor is alleged to have been found in the dwelling. The dwelling adjoins the pool-room on the north.
Roy McCourtney of this village, was taken into custody, Christmas night, by local officers, on request of the Lansing police department, and held here until Wednesday afternoon, when an officer from that city was sent here for him. It seems that McCourtney had appealed a case to the supreme court some time ago, and pending the appeal had been released on bond. The supreme court just recently affirmed the decision of the lower court, we understand.
A large audience witnessed the Christmas exercises at the Methodist church, last Sunday evening, when the members of the Sunday school, under the leadership of Mrs. O. B. Borch and Mrs. W. Newell, and committee, presented the beautiful pageant, "The White Gifts for the King," in song and story. The church was handsomely decorated with white and silver, with red candles, adding a bit of color here and there. Each class brought gifts of money or toys, which were taken to the Methodist Children's Home at Farmington, Christmas morning.

When You Are Constipated To insure a healthy action of the bowels and correct disorders of the liver, take two of Chamberlain's Tablets immediately after supper. They will not only cause a gentle movement of the bowels, without unpleasant effects, but banish that dull, stupid feeling that often accompanies constipation. Advertisement.
