WE CAN'T FORGET

Even with politics, harvest, preparations for winter and a score of minor matters to think of and attend to, the average Plymouth citizen is not going to forget that we are back again to the month that means so much to the world in the year 1918. We have much to occupy our attention, but never so much but we can push some of it aside for memories of that Eleventh of November six years ago when a new grip on civilization was assured the entire world, and when the American forces laid down their arms on the greatest field of battle mankind has ever known.

We have many here in our midst who helped to make that victory possible. They never ask for a grand celebration, with red fire and all that. In fact, the average World War veteran asks nothing more than the recognition due him from the nation he offered his life for, and for a chance to earn the living to which he is entitled. They will always have in their hearts a better understanding of what the Eleventh of November means. But "the folks back home" were the ones to profit most, and we are the ones who cannot forget that it was American boys who made the armistice possible, and that our boys had as much hand in it as those from any other section of the country.

Just a little pat on the back now and then cheers these World War boys on. They know what it means, and they appreciate it. They do not ask you to go into your own pocket and reward them individually. All they want to know is that you are not forgetting this month six years ago—the month in which they did more for you than you can ever hope to repay.

DON'T GET EXCITED

We've recently read several articles to the effect that the country is about to enter a boom period, though none of the writers give any specific reason for such belief. We hope it is true, so long as it is not the kind of boom that gives us great prosperity for a few months and then leaves the country in worse shape than it was before. Too many people, and we have some of them in Plymouth, cannot realize that all boom periods are of short duration. They commence to find money coming in more plentifully, and they take it for granted that it is always going to come easy. As a result the boom eases off and they haven't anything, except possibly a lot of debts, to show for it. This is a good time to work hard and get your share of whatever prosperity is going around, but while you are at it, it is also a good idea to salt a little of it away, and remember that this country never struck a prosperous or a boom season but that it also saw a tightening up a little later on.

AS TO DAD

We happened into a Plymouth home the other day, and saw a motto that read: "What is Home Without Mother." And we wondered what is the matter with dear old Dad. He gets up early, lights the fire, hurries to work, and keeps working all week. Saturday comes and Dad settles with the butcher and the grocer and kicks the wolf from the door for another week. If there is a noise at night, it's Dad who has to get up and hunt for the burglar or chase the chicken thief. If there is company and a little extra feed, Dad is the one who draws the neck for his part of the chicken and never grumbles or complains. And when skies get dark and rents and taxes fall due the whole family turns to Dad, knowing he will find a way out. There are no mottoes for Dad, Lord bless him, but he doesn't need them. He knows that mottoes won't keep the family from getting hungry nor lift the mortgage from the roof. He knows he will get his reward in the future, and that's why the world is strong for him. That's why the world chisels his virtues on a tombstone instead of framing them and hanging them in the sitting room.

BETTER GET BUSY

We don't intend this as a threat, but the Plymouth merchant who wants to get all that is coming to him ought to drop around to the post office and get a glimpse of the mail, the kind of mail, that is now coming in. He'll find that a large part of it consists of catalogues and circular appeals, offering everything for Christmas and the holiday season that the buying public is going to want. Right now the mail order houses are laying their lines for capturing the greatest holiday trade they've ever known. They haven't anything better, nor any cheaper than home merchants can offer—but it's up to the home merchant to make the buying public realize that fact. And he isn't going to do it by word of mouth. The mail-order people know how they've learned the secret of selling goods—and you only have to go to the post office and see the class of mail coming through to realize it. Their secret is no longer a secret to the wise merchant. It is nothing more than "Use Printer's Ink." And if he doesn't get his share of the business this season it's because he isn't as wise as the mail-order men.

NEWBURG SCHOOL WILL HOLD RAG CARPET SOCIAL

Come one and all to the Rag Carpet Social, tonight, (Friday, November 14), at Ladies' Aid hall at Newburg, given for the benefit of our school. We especially invite the young people of Plymouth and surrounding communities. Now, girls, along with your best beaux; bring a ball made of rags (for carpet) with your name written on a piece of paper and placed on the inside of it. Hand them to the one in charge at the door. The committee have worked hard to make this affair attractive, so all we need now is your presence. We will do the rest. A program will be furnished which promises to be a novelty. There will also be a fortune teller, candy booth, fish pond, etc. As this is given for the benefit of the children, come and help us make them happy. Any donation of cake, sandwiches and ten-cent articles for fish pond will be graciously received. Those in charge of the social are the following:

General Chairman—Mrs. Harmon Gates.
Chairmen Refreshment Committee—Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Bassett.
Chairmen Entertainment Committee—Mrs. Bakewell, Miss Reddeman, Miss Hall.
Publicity and Fish Pond—Mrs. J. F. Rousseau.
Candy Committee—Dorothy Dunn, Clara Yester.
Admission Free.

BAZAAR AND SUPPER

The Baptist Ladies' Aid Bazaar and Supper will be held Thursday afternoon and evening November 20th, in the basement of the church. There will be booths for the sale of fancy articles, home-made candies, etc. The public is cordially invited. Supper—Adults, 50c; children under 10 years, 35c.

MORE HELP AND SUPERVISION OF RURAL SCHOOLS FOR WAYNE COUNTY.

Beginning with December, Wayne County will add two more Supervising of Helping teachers to the School Commissioner's staff. At the October session of the Board of Supervisors, it was voted to provide this help.

Rural schools can now expect more co-operation and help in detail than ever before. The helping teacher is what the name implies. She does not come to the school to find fault or to look for teaching defects, but rather to find the good that is there that it may be passed on to the others, and to help the teacher with particularly perplexing problems.

It will take some time for the County to be well organized for the new work, but teachers can look forward to a new day in their teaching experience in Wayne County and will welcome this assistance which is coming to the rural school and the rural community.

THE THEATRE

"THE STORY WITHOUT A NAME"

Have you ever seen the radio as a motion picture? Of course not. That's why the Paramount picture, "The Story Without a Name," coming to the Penniman Allen theatre, next Saturday, November 15th, is going to prove real novelty as screen entertainment goes. For this picture, made from Arthur Stringer's magazine serial for which $5,000 and several big radio receiving sets were offered as prizes for a suitable title to be used on the screen version of the story, not only features the radio but the much-talked-of "death ray" as well.

Agnes Ayers and Antonio Moreno are featured in the leading roles of the production, directed by Irvin Willat, who made the all-color picture, "Wanderer of the Wasteland." Others in the cast include Tyrone Power, Dagmar Godowsky, Maurice Costello and Jack Bohn.

The story is a real old-time knock-'em-down-and-drag-'em-out adventure tale with modern refinements. And what a rip-snorting, pell-mell action-story it is!

Remember "Behind the Door" and "The Heritage of the Desert"? Who doesn't? Irvin Willat made both of those. But "The Story Without a Name" is said to have both of them trimmed seven different ways. And that's saying something!

How many times have you secretly longed to get away from the usual dyed-in-the-wool type of picture—the same idea told in but a slightly different way time after time and with the most uninteresting? Well, here's your chance. Hop onto it!

"MERTON OF THE MOVIES"

Another picture which bids fair to attain screen immortality, comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, Sunday and Monday, November 16 and 17. It is James Cruze's latest Paramount production, "Merton of the Movies," starring Glenn Hunter. Cruze's knowledge of human nature, his understanding of comedy values, and his genius for mixing humor and pathos have never before been better illustrated. It is a sure thing "Merton" is a fitting successor to "The Covered Wagon" and Cruze's other big hits.

Walter Woods wrote the screen play from the famous novel by Harry Leon Wilson and the popular stage success by George S. Kaufman and Marc Connelly.

The story of "Merton" is the story of what happens to thousands of boys and girls who go to Hollywood without knowing what is ahead of them. Merton is a movie-struck youth in a tiny village of Illinois. Eventually he comes to Hollywood to seek fame and fortune as an emotional actor. The sights he sees, the rude awakening to realities and his myriad of strange experiences constitute a story replete with comedy situations built upon a thin layer of tragedy—the tragedy of a boyish ambition that seems doomed to disappointment.

Glenn Hunter has been identified with the character of Merton so long on the stage that it was natural to expect he would create the title role in the screen version. He plays Merton with such sincerity and feeling that for the time being you forget that he is acting. Mr. Hunter is surrounded with a superlative supporting cast, headed by Viola Dana, featured as "Flips" Montague, the girl whose machinations are responsible for Merton's final triumph.

"THE CODE OF THE WILDERNESS"

Director David Smith found himself up against great difficulties in making "The Code of the Wilderness," which will be shown at the Penniman Allen theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, November 19 and 20.

The picture had been cast with Alice Cahoon, John Bowers, Alan Hale, Otis Harlan, Charlotte Merriman and Kitty Bradbury; locations selected and a large amount of live stock for the big sequences on the cattle ranges rented when an epidemic of hoof and mouth disease put a quarantine on the movement of live stock in California and forced many producers to abandon Western productions until the ban was lifted.

When Director Smith starts a thing he usually sees it through and in this case his grit, tact, strategy and knowledge of the quarantine laws made it possible for him to complete the picture, although he had to duplicate a ranch in the studio lot and go to much other trouble and expense, which in normal times would have been unnecessary.

As soon as the cowboys, who were engaged in making pictures, but were tied up by the quarantine, heard that David Smith was at work on a story of the cattle ranges at the Vitagraph studio, they besieged the lot in droves. It seemed that daily several thousand were seeking a chance for a few days' work in pictures. But in keeping with the quarantine laws, Director Smith was unable to stage a round-up as he had planned.

Instead he gave the story a novel twist and introduced some clever animal antics that proved far more effective than a round-up. Many of the animal sequences were taken before the quarantine, however, so none of the vital parts of Charles Alden Seltzer's famous story were eliminated in the making of "The Code of the Wilderness."

WAS DEATH TO TURN FACE FROM ENEMY

Man Forced to Walk Backward for Two Miles.

Soon after the close of the Civil War many of the discharged Union soldiers took advantage of the offer of free lands in the West and migrated thither. Among them was W. H. H. Case of Ohio, who settled in Colorado near the new little town of Golden City, now called Golden. In a short time he had several enterprises under way, including large limekilns and stone quarries on Ralston creek.

On one occasion business had kept him in Golden City until after night-fall. Since it was brilliant moonlight, he started to walk home. About two miles out, as he rounded the shoulder of a hill, he came upon a mountain lion devouring a calf. As he stopped the animal looked up. In telling the story Mr. Case used to say: "I had often read about the wonderful effect of the human eye upon a wild animal, and the first thought that flashed through my mind was 'Here's your chance to try that.'"

While he looked steadily into the creature's eyes, one plan of escape after another raced through his mind. He had no weapon except a pocket knife; there was no chance of escape either up or down the mountain side; his only hope was to go back. But he was sure that if he turned his back the animal would spring upon him. He took a step backward and the lion rose to his feet; another, and it advanced toward him. He stopped, and it stopped also.

While the creature continued to gaze at him he cautiously slipped off his blue army overcoat and then, grasping it by the collar, suddenly swept it in a wide semicircle in front of him and retreated two or three steps. But instead of frightening the creature the movement seemed to rouse some sense of curiosity, and it stepped forward as if to investigate. Immediately he swung the coat again and took a few steps backward. The animal stopped, but when he moved it came on.

Thus he reached and rounded the shoulder of the hill. But when he would have turned to run he saw the big cat rounding the hill also. Thus they went, the man waving the overcoat and taking two or three steps backward, the lion stopping when the coat waved and starting on when it ceased.

After seeming ages had passed Case became aware of lights on each side and realized that he was in Golden City. He let forth a yell that brought people to their doors; only then did the animal turn and bound away in the direction from which he had come. Case had walked the two miles backwards without stumbling and without once taking his eyes off the lion!

At first friends would not credit his story, but after they had pried his hands loose from the overcoat and several had ridden out the two miles and found the carcass of the calf and traced the footprints of man and beast, with an occasional mark where the coat had swept the dust, they were forced to believe.—Youth's Companion.

Times Have Changed

The street car rider with a service button in the lapel of his coat looked up, pop-eyed, from his newspaper. His wild glance caught that of a similarly decorated man across the aisle. "Say, Buddy," he whispered, huskily, "have you read this?" And he read aloud from the account of the reception of the O. M. T. C. recruits at Camp Custer: "About the mess tent where all newcomers are taken first for a cup of iced tea and a sandwich . . . 'D'ja get that, Buddy—iced tea and a sandwich? Why, I can remember going four days in the Argonne without a dog biscuit, and . . . 'And I,' interrupted the other, 'can remember a great big black corporal I met in the same woods. He gave me a big spoonful of cold beans onto the mess table and hadn't had time to clean for a week. And, say, maybe they didn't taste good and maybe I wasn't grateful, and . . . 'Yeah,' said the first, 'but iced tea and sandwiches, say . . . 'Yeah, ain't war hell, though.'—Detroit News.

Nothing Really Serious

In his well-named autobiography, "Ego," Lord Castleton tells a story of the west of Ireland in the old days: "It was open house and there were many guests. On coming down to dinner he heard loud shrieks and oaths, but could not make out what was happening. He and the other guests consulted, and eventually rang for the butler. My father expressed anxiety. 'I have no one in ill,' he said. 'We heard loud cries—perhaps we ought to go or send for the doctor.' 'Tis nothing, your honor,' answered the old butler at once. 'They're putting a clean shirt on the master, and he hates the cold of it and lets a roar or two out of him.'"

Lessons for Boy Scouts

Every Saturday afternoon a group of boy scouts troops up to the American Museum of Natural History in New York city for a free lesson in the science of stuffing and preserving animals. The course is given to encourage the study of outdoor life. A taxidermy merit badge is awarded for superior work. Each boy is given personal instruction in preserving and mounting animals so that he may prepare specimens in a realistic manner and also become familiar with the habits and haunts of various creatures.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

PLYMOUTH PHONE 92

MICHIGAN BELL TELEPHONE CO. TO MAKE IMPROVEMENTS

PLYMOUTH WILL BENEFIT IN THE BIG PROGRAM OF IMPROVEMENTS.

President Franz C. Kuhn of the Michigan Bell Co. announces that his company will expend more than $85,000,000, between now and the end of 1929, for additions to Michigan's telephone plant. That program of expansion will bring the property worth of the plant with which the company serves Michigan up to more than one hundred and fifty million dollars.

President Kuhn, briefly outlining the Telephone company's plans for the next five years, indicates that additions to plant serving most of Michigan's larger cities are contemplated.

During the year 1925, alone, the Michigan Bell company will expand its plant to the extent of $16,782,000. Judge Kuhn says. It is planned to invest $7,568,000 in Detroit next year, $4,500,000 in the Southern Michigan division, of which Lansing is the company's divisional headquarters; $1,713,000 in central Michigan, with divisional headquarters at Saginaw, and $359,000 north of the Straits of Mackinac. The company's northern divisional headquarters are at Menominee. Telephone plant and service expansion and consolidation in Western Michigan alone next year will cost about $2,400,000, of which $1,700,000 will be spent in the city of Grand Rapids.

There is expected to be a net gain of 162,000 telephones in Michigan the next five years, Judge Kuhn says. That will mean connecting 591,000 telephones, the difference being accounted for by disconnects. A net gain of 34,000 telephones is anticipated in 1925 alone.

Judge Kuhn, emphasizing the Telephone company's problem in this regard, stated that it is necessary to move an average of 42,000 telephones a year. Each move means a disconnect, as well as an installation. Including those concerned in the moves there will be a total number of disconnects in only four years, more than equal to the number of telephones now in service.

These enormous expenditures are proposed, President Kuhn says, because of the growth of Michigan, its cities and its industries, the increasing use of the telephone, both in local and in long distance service, and a sincere desire to aid the state in its expansion.

The Telephone Company's program calls for the yearly addition of approximately nine hundred million feet of wire in cables throughout Michigan, about half of which will be required in rapidly growing Detroit.

The principal projects included in the Bell company's five-year program include completion of the installation of the new automatic equipment at Ann Arbor, completion of the consolidation of services at Grand Rapids and Lansing, equipping of the new automatic central office now building at Grand Rapids and additions to other central offices in that city, and large additions of central office equipment at Detroit, Kalamazoo, Saginaw, Flint, Battle Creek, Wyandotte, Royal Oak, Jackson, St. Joseph and Benton Harbor and other important Michigan cities.

The telephone company's toll and long distance plant expansion plans call for the expenditure of $1,404,000 in 1925 for the provision of additional facilities for inter-city communication. Many thousands of miles of new long distance circuits will be added to the plant, a considerable mileage of the new wire to be placed in cable form.

There has been steadily increasing growth of toll cable plant in the state, according to Judge Kuhn. The Telephone company's toll cable program indicates that, at the end of 1924, there will be 48,000 miles of Michigan toll wire in cable, or 43 per cent of the company's total toll wire mileage. At the end of the five-year period, December, 1929, there will be 159,000 miles of toll wire in cable, or 71 per cent of the state's total miles of toll wire.

The large growth in toll business over main routes makes this toll cable program necessary. Placing the toll circuits in cable will result in fewer interruptions in the toll service because the sheathed circuits are less liable to get in trouble from storm or other agencies than are the open wire circuits. The toll cables, however, require greater watchfulness and efficiency on the part of the maintenance men because of the fact that a large number of circuits are concentrated inside a single cable sheath.

The big toll cable projects to be undertaken by the Telephone company will total $4,000,000 the next five years. They will include placing an additional cable underground between Detroit and Royal Oak; extension of the Detroit-Dearborn cable to Plymouth and to Ann Arbor; addition of a second cable on the Detroit-Dearborn toll line; extension of toll cable from Connors creek, Detroit, to Port Huron, reaching the latter city in 1928; placing a second Detroit-Birmingham cable; placing a second cable from Birmingham to Pontiac; extension of the Detroit-Bay City cable from Flint to Bay City, reaching the latter city in the middle of 1927; completion of the Detroit-Lansing cable as far as Howell, from Detroit, by the middle of 1929; placing a new Wyandotte-Trenton cable; building a cable from Niles to Benton Harbor; placing a cable from Grand Rapids to Kalamazoo; construction of cable entrances to Lansing, Ann Arbor and other points and placing a new submarine cable between St. Ignace and Mackinac Island.

and thus to aid their expansion. The present cable to Royal Oak and its extension to Birmingham contain 8,815 miles of wire.

Telephone operating and maintenance costs are expected to show a decrease during the coming five years, according to Judge Kuhn. However, taxation is increasing, as evidenced by the increase from $2.19 per telephone in 1920 to $4.19 per telephone in 1923. Depreciation and interest charges will increase rather than decrease, because costs of new telephone plant per unit are higher than the average cost per unit of plant now in service. The present Michigan telephone plant was built during the past 20 years, over which period labor and material costs were lower, on the average, than present costs or the costs expected the next five years. The average capital required per telephone, therefore, is increasing.

LIBRARY NOTES

Children's Book Week.—November 9 to 15 is Children's Book Week. Several attractive volumes have been added to the collection for this event, and are being reserved for this week so that as many parents as possible may have an opportunity of looking them over. Books are, invariably, suitable Christmas gifts, and this is a good time to look over some of the best for children. We can give you information as to publisher and price, and would be pleased to help in any other way if possible.

Adult Books
 Adams—Log of a Cowboy.
 Black—Great Desire.
 Ferber—Dawn O'Hara
 Miller—Come Out of the Kitchen.
 Norris—Poor Dear Margaret Kirby.
 Reine—Man Four-Square
 Dyer—Lure of the Antique.
 Farris—Seeing the Eastern States.
 O'Brien—White Shadows in the South Seas.
 Cuywood—Gentlemen of Courage.
 Lummis—Tramp Across the Continent.

Austin—Land of Little Rain.
 We also have Merton of the Movies, by Wilson. This is being shown at the local theatre this week.

Today's Reflections

With bootleggers reported making elaborate preparations for the Christmas trade the coroners ought to prepare for a rushing business.

What has become of the old-fashioned Plymouth man who used to refer to his wife as "the old lady?"

A free country is one in which everybody feels qualified to tell the president how it ought to be run.

How does it come that officials of the law can't discover fake stocks when the suckers can find them so easily.

Powder on the face has become too common to attract attention, but powder on a man's shoulder still has to be explained.

Some Plymouth people are certainly queer. When they get married or put an ad in the paper they get sore if you don't give them a big write-up. But when they get arrested, they get sore if you do.

Why is it that when you have an umbrella that isn't broken and that can be used, it's always at the other end of the line when it rains.

Nature made one grand mistake when she didn't fix it so a swelled head would be as painful as a sore thumb.

Dancing styles change so rapidly nowadays that any Plymouth man with two feet can step out on the floor and claim that he is doing something new.

How much longer will a lot of our people continue to believe that a diploma from a school will make a smart man out of a fool?

The man who feels he's too big to have his neighbors call him by his first name, it too big to be of any use to his community.

After looking over the country for awhile, a man gets the impression that most of the single women are trying to get married and most of the married women are trying to get single.

A lot of people around Plymouth are willing to give Rockefeller's money to the poor, but it makes them mad when they're asked to give a little of their own.

All the old customs are fast disappearing. You seldom see a Plymouth merchant stick a potato on the spout of a coal oil can.

According to reports, all a married couple has to do in Russia to get a divorce is to agree. All an American couple has to do is to disagree, and that's easier.

INDUSTRY'S GREATEST NEED

Some time ago questionnaires were sent out to a large number of employers and executive heads of successful concerns, asking what, in their opinion, was the most important element in the success, development and education of young men.

What Do You Suppose These Men Regarded as the Most Important? Did They Think It Was—

Pull Persuasiveness Relatives Personality Money Front Education?

NOT A BIT OF IT—

CHARACTER!

In other words, the young fellow with a moral sense, a conscience, a sense of justice, responsibility, common decency and honesty was already ninety per cent on the road to success.

THE CHURCH STANDS FOR THAT—AND MORE

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES

The morning congregation is still increasing in size. Jimmie Stephens led the singing at Sunday-school, last Sunday, with splendid response. Come again. A bible alphabet contest was enjoyed again last Sunday night at Christian Endeavor. Interesting and profitable. Christmas music is on the way. Have the babies baptised, and see that Mrs. George Smith gets their names and birthdays for the cradle roll. Plan to attend the conference at Northville, November 25th. Supper at 6:30. Fifty cents per plate. Be neighborly. The Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church will hold its postponed meeting at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday, November 19th, in the lecture room of the church. Be present to hear the reports of the bazaar.

BAPTIST NOTES

The gathering at the church, last Friday evening, was a very joyful occasion. After the supper, Roland Allenbaugh gave a description of his soldier life in the northwest, getting out timber for the government for aeroplanes. His experience was novel many times, and everyone cheered him heartily. The treasurer reported the good condition of the finances. Some discussion of special meetings was taken up, and it seems we ought to hold revival meetings this winter. Repairs on the roof of the parsonage was arranged for. It is the plan that all the church and congregation come together each quarter in meetings like this. The orchestra will have some new books of orchestrations next Sunday. That will be great. Arrangements were made, Sunday, for many of the young people to attend the fall rally of the B. Y. P. U. at Pontiac, tonight. They leave the church at 4:45 o'clock. The pastor has given the right hand of fellowship to several young people during the past month. Remember the Ladies Aid bazaar and chicken supper, November 20th. Keep this date in mind. The prayer meeting this week was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Bennett on Starkweather avenue. The regular monthly meeting of the Aid society was held at Mrs. H. H. Daly's, last Wednesday afternoon. The pastor went to Lansing, last Tuesday, to attend the four days' ministers' conference, held in the First Baptist church of that city. About 200 Baptist pastors are expected to register.

There will be regular services at the Lutheran church of Livonia Center on Sunday, November 16th, in the German language. Holy Communion will also be celebrated in this service. Sunday-school at 1:45.

Printer Surely Worthy of His High Position

Skilled workmen are today receiving higher daily pay than ten years ago, says the national industrial conference board. No news or novelty is in that statement. But it may be worth knowing that at the time of making the report printers held first place in the magnitude of their weekly earnings, writes Merle Thorpe in the Nation's Business. Newspaper and magazine printers received an average weekly pay of $38.14. Rated second were the iron and steel workers with an average pay of $33.57 a week. And in third place stood the automobile factory workers with $31.12 a week. Next in amount of their pay checks were the book and job printers, foundry and machine shop workers, agricultural implement workers, chemical factory employees and workers in electrical and rubber factories.

Well, who would begrudge the printer his high place in American industry? He makes known the sayings, writings and doings of other men, and for that service the world is much beholden to him. Much ink has gone over the rollers since the times of Gutenberg and Caxton, and now the craft of the printer's hand is supplemented with machinery of artful capabilities. But manuscripts continue to reflect human frailties and fallibilities, and printers must still grope for the meaning of absent minds. Printers are much with the world and in close touch with its sham and artifice. Small wonder that they should become dour and gray with brooding on the injustice of "typographical errors."

But the great peace will come when the last line is set at last and rule and stick put by and type and setter both alike in proper makeup lie. Others will then do for the printer the mortuary honors to print his name in "caps," and perhaps accord him the dignity of the four-stroke dash. And, like as not, his soul would remain in character with his life, and would relax no standard of his craft—probably the Milky Way would seem only "wrong font."

Made His Point Clear

Sir John Simon, K. C., the eminent advocate, was once addressing a group of young legal students, and among other things he warned them always to sift carefully all evidence, and never on any account to allow themselves to jump to conclusions. "Now," he continued, "a friend of mine who has just returned from a hunting expedition in central Africa told me of a most remarkable occurrence. He and his party were trekking through a heavily wooded region when the cries of a number of birds attracted him to a bit of overgrown jungle. Peering within he beheld a truckless body." "But, Sir John," interrupted one of his hearers, "surely you mean a headless body." "My dear fellow," retorted the smiling K. C., "didn't I warn you not to jump to conclusions? The body was that of an elephant."—San Francisco Argonaut.

GRANGE NOTES

Plymouth Grange held their regular meeting, Friday evening, November 7th, with a good attendance. It was decided to hold a bazaar and chicken-pie supper on Friday, November 21st, and in the evening there will be good music and dancing. There will be the usual number of booths, aprons and fancy-work, fruit and vegetables, baked goods and a fish pond. After the program, a social time was enjoyed and light refreshments were served. The next regular meeting will be on November 20th. A pot-luck dinner will be served at noon, and the meeting will be in the afternoon. Tuesday evening, November 18th, Mrs. Mollie Rodman entertains the Lily Club at the Grange hall.

LAPHAM'S CORNERS SCHOOL NOTES

The pupils are proud owners of a new foot ball, basket ball, base ball, clock, pencil sharpener and victrola records. They have also ordered sixty new library books. There will be a program at the Salem Town hall for the Parent-Teacher Association on November 14th. Let's have every member in this district present. It will help the school and better the community by going. Be on hand at the hall at 8:00 o'clock. The pupils enjoyed a Halloween party. Each member received a souvenir from one of his classmates, and popcorn, apples and fudge were served. All enjoyed a pleasant afternoon. The seventh grade have been making product maps of South America. Clean-up day was held on Thursday of last week. The Misses Irene King and Frances Hoban visited school last Thursday, and attended a weenie roast after school. The pupils are studying for examinations to be held next week. The seventh grade have completed the study of "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow." The members of the honor roll are: Ida St. Louis, Orlyn Whittaker, Howard Truesdell, Alvin VanBonn, Rosaland Heike, Jimmie Shomberger, Johnnie Reed and Vincent St. Louis. The following people were neither absent nor tardy last month: Rosalind Heike, Fred Rich, Ida St. Louis, Vincent St. Louis, Jimmie Shomberger, Mable VanBonn, Orlyn Whittaker. Please respect the school property, and do not drive across the school yard.

Rev. Havens read the proclamation by Governor Grosbeck on "Armistice Day," Sunday, and took for his subject, "What America Needs Today." He had the attention of all from the beginning to the end. There was a full choir, and in addition, Mr. and Mrs. Havens sang a beautiful duet. Mr. and Mrs. Cutler and three children and Mrs. Greer and daughter, Dorothy, were taken into the church by letter, having come from Detroit churches. There were fifty-two in Sunday-school. A new member counts twenty-five in the contest. Be sure and bring one or more next Sunday.

There were twenty-five in attendance at the Patriotic dinner and meeting, last week Thursday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Clemens. After partaking of a nice dinner, the meeting was called to order by the president, Miss Hattie Hoisington, with the program in charge of Mrs. C. E. Ryder. "Onward, Christian Soldiers" was sung, with Mrs. Havens at the piano. David Gage of Northville, gave an interesting and instructive talk on "Patriotism and Education," he having been a teacher for fifty years. Mrs. Paul Havens sang a solo, entitled, "Little Sunbeam." William Smith gave a reading, "True Faith." Mrs. M. Eva Smith read one of Edgar Guest's poems on, "Friendship." Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Havens sang a duet, entitled, "In the Garden." Mrs. Lizzie Crane of Detroit, presented the subject of planting a tree and placing a boulder at the foot, inscribed in memory of Civil war veterans, to be placed in some conspicuous place. It was placed on the table until the next meeting. Comrades Charles Westfall and James King, Civil war veterans, and Charles Donald Ryder of the World war, were present. The next meeting will be held in February at the parsonage, with Rev. and Mrs. Havens.

Allan Geer is putting up another greenhouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur LeVan called at C. E. Ryder's, Tuesday evening. They are now living in Plymouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grimm, Jr., are moving into their new home on the Wayne road.

What might have been a serious accident occurred Sunday afternoon, when Mrs. Rosby McKinney, who was driving the car, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Amiel Larden, and the latter's baby granddaughter and little nephew, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cook. Just as they reached Biesak's garage on Plymouth road, a machine cut out in front of them, hitting Mrs. McKinney's sedan, throwing it on the side and completely demolishing the front of it. How the occupants of the car escaped being killed is a wonder. Mrs. McKinney was quite badly bruised, and the little boy's head cut open. Mrs. Larden and the baby escaped without injury.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ryder and Mr. and Mrs. William Smith motored to South Lyon, Sunday, calling on Mrs. Reuben Barnes, finding her in good health.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Ryder called on Mr. and Mrs. Roy Amrhein in their new home near Worden, on the Henry Waldron farm. It's a beautiful place and well worth seeing.

Mrs. Manna Blank and son visited Mrs. Edgar Stevens Sunday, and also attended church service.

Mrs. Clyde Smith, Mrs. M. Eva Smith and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Ryder witnessed the parade in Detroit, Armistice Day.

Guy Taylor, son, Robert, and daughter, Mariah, visited Mr. and Mrs. Roy Amrhein, Sunday.

Extra Special—Rag Carpet social, tonight at Ladies Aid Hall, Newburg. Come and bring the family. Novelty pictures, etc. Good time assured, but don't forget, girls, bring a rag ball with your name placed inside of it—and, of course, "young man wanted." This is given for the benefit of our school. Admission free.

Mrs. Leona Joyce and little daughter, Mary, of Pittsburg, visited her father Elles Albitrus and her sister, Mrs. Frank Mattick of Newburg, last week.

Ernest Heinz of Algonac, visited at Mrs. C. A. Lahr's, last week-end.

Mrs. Mary Hudson and two children have returned to the home of her mother, Mrs. C. A. Lahr, from Algonac, where they have been spending the summer.

NEWBURG SCHOOL NOTES

Harold Hudson from Algonac, entered the primary class, Monday, making eighteen in that class.

The fifth grade made booklets about King Philip. Avis Perkins won first prize, but both Mary Bennett's and Mary Tonkovich's were exceptionally good.

Candy is being sold at the school for the purpose of getting Christmas trimming.

The average attendance for October was 94 per cent, instead of 91 per cent.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hanchett were dinner guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parrish. In the afternoon, they took a trip to Ypsilanti, and visited Charles Parrish, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kaiser and two sons of Golden road, were Sunday guests of J. Frank Parrish and family.

Miss Wright of the lower grade, was absent from school Thursday and Friday on account of sickness. She was able to resume work again Monday.

M. Pizarek, who has been visiting friends in Wisconsin and Chicago the past two weeks, returned home last week-end.

The Helping Hand Society met with Mrs. Archie Collins, and held their monthly meeting. There was talk of a chicken supper to be held at the home of Mrs. A. L. Hanchett, in the near future. After all business was over, came election of officers which resulted as follows: President, Mrs. A. L. Hanchett; vice-president, Mrs. Emma Reiman; secretary, Mrs. Blanche Collins; treasurer, Miss Mildred Reiman; chaplain, Mrs. Josephine Hix. They then adjourned to meet the first Wednesday in December at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schaufele in the Robinson subdivision, Plymouth, for dinner. All welcome.

ELM

Please don't forget to come to Parent-Teachers' meeting next Tuesday evening, at the school house. Mr. Smith, superintendent of Plymouth schools will speak. Everyone is especially invited.

There will be Sunday-school in the school house, next Sunday at 11:00 a. m., the usual time. Many of the children of the Sunday-school have won Bibles for learning the ten commandments correctly. The superintendent has received the books, and they will be awarded next Sunday.

The children of the intermediate room who were neither absent nor tardy during the month of October, were: William Cort, George Stinert, Richard Smith, Philip Reiger, Donald Burke, Ruth Michelin, Mary Mauk, Dorothy Bentley and Helen Wolfgram.

The intermediate room are giving a series of school entertainments on Friday afternoons. Each grade takes its turn entertaining, and they must supervise and plan it themselves. The fourth grade had charge this week, and they did exceptionally well. The eighth graders will entertain, next Friday.

There are forty-seven children enrolled in the intermediate room this year.

Several of our children accompanied the Red Cross nurse to the dentist at Redford, last week.

Tuesday, November 11, being Armistice Day, the children of the Booth Home gave a very interesting patriotic program.

Mrs. Barrows, the matron of Booth Home for Children, spent Wednesday in going through the Detroit hospitals.

Mrs. George Bentley returned home from Harper hospital, Saturday, with her small daughter, Margaret, who was operated on a week ago by Dr. Brooks. The child made a rapid improvement, and is well on the road to recovery.

Janie Wilson is home from Ann Arbor, where she underwent an operation three weeks ago, and is able to be out again.

Several of the community ladies met at Mrs. Fred Wolfgram's home on Elm road, recently, to take a course of instructions in home sewing, under Miss Lois Corbett, the home demonstration agent of Wayne county. Miss Corbett will give a series of four demonstrations, one to be given each month. The lessons are very interesting and instructive.

Mrs. George Michelin, with the aid of the county agent, will organize a girl's club in this community for girls between the ages of 10 and 20. Any girl wishing to join, will see one of the girls in school or Mrs. Michelin, or call Redford 7021-R4. You do not have to attend school in order to be a club member, and we hope every girl will take this opportunity to learn many useful things and have a jolly time this winter. Come and find out about it anyway, you may be sorry if you don't. A club for the boys will be organized as soon as possible, and will be announced later. Both these clubs are being organized by the Parent-Teachers' Association, and will work under their personal supervision, and it is hoped that every parent will try to interest their boys and girls to take part.

Harold Douglass has joined the army of deer hunters in the north.

Mrs. Rosby McKinney, her mother, Mrs. Larden, and a small baby narrowly escaped death one day last week, when another driver turned directly in their path, hitting their car with such force that it turned over on its side, beaking all the glass and damaging the whole car. The occupants escaped with a few severe cuts on the head.

The Wayne County Road Commission are rapidly completing the shouldering of the Plymouth road, where they laid the large tile. There was a drop of about a foot right at the edge of the pavement, making it extremely dangerous. A car was driven off there a few days ago, smashing it all to pieces.

Please send any news items you have to 7021-R4, and help boost our community. Let's show them Elm's on the map if we can.

The Small Depositor

Is Welcome Here

Sometimes a new depositor in our Savings Department tells us he would have opened his account sooner, but waited until he had a large sum for his first deposit.

That's nonsense!

The Plymouth United Savings Bank welcomes the small depositor. It's our business to do so. Some of our biggest accounts today were at one time small. Indeed, a large part of the pleasure of banking comes from watching these small accounts grow.

As a Banking Institution it's our duty to help people get ahead, and it's a pleasant duty. Let us help you.

Account Book of Long Ago Is Interesting

Some interesting sidelights on the dealings of the Hudson's Bay company's agents with the Indians of northern Ontario nearly a century ago are shown by the entries in a book of records just recovered from an old desk found floating on the Ontario side of Lake Timiskaming.

Part of the volume is missing, but apparently the records are those of the agent and his assistants established at a trading post on Lake Timiskaming. The records cover parts of the years 1830-35.

Most of the entries have reference to payments made in goods to Indians for the long trip to Moose Factory, on James Bay, perhaps in the terminus of the Timiskaming & Northern Ontario railway. The journey appears to have occupied from two to three months, and the redskins received 5 pounds ($25)—goods to that value, at least—for the voyage. The custom appears to have been to advance a certain quantity of supplies at the Timiskaming post, while the balance was paid to the Indians at Moose Factory.

Powder and shot, ribbons, blankets, tobacco, knives, wearing apparel, corn, flour and an occasional purchase of rum are the principal entries, and the values in those far-off days make interesting reading in the light of present-day prices.

Three pounds of flour cost 25 cents, which was also the price of a quart of rum, a pair of mooseskin shoes or five plugs of tobacco. A supply of ammunition for the chase meant an outlay of $2.50. Green and red colored cloth came high, costing $1.25 a yard, while the price of 10 cents a pound for sugar will bring back memories of the war period to the present generation.

The braves could deck themselves out in corduroy trousers for $2 and could add a vest for a similar outlay. If they bought ribbon for the squaws at home they were called upon to expend 12 cents a yard for this article of adornment. Three point blankets cost $2.50. A man's calico shirt was valued at $1.50, and a scalping knife could be secured for 12 cents. Soap cost 50 cents a pound. One ivory comb was priced at 25 cents, and the price for fine blue cloth was $2 a yard. A bag of corn was entered at about $4. For two days' labor a youth was credited with 75 cents.—Toronto Globe.

Famous "Devil's" Bible

One of the most remarkable books in the world, called "the Devil's Bible," and also the "glint of books," has been brought out of its hiding place in the royal library of Stockholm, following a request for a photograph copy from the city of Prague, where it was captured at the Swedish conquest in 1648. It was written 800 years ago, and legend says that it was completed during a single night by a monk who was doomed to die. He had to have assistance from the devil, however, and in gratitude made a full-page portrait of him, horns, cloven hoof and all, which has ever since remained in the Bible, according to the Detroit News.

The book is probably the largest Bible in the world, the pages being a yard high by a foot and a half wide. It is written on 309 parchment sheets, for which, according to tradition, 100 donkey hides were required. The lettering is beautifully illuminated in gold and bright colors.

Training Women Doctors

The jubilee of the London (Royal Free hospital) School of Medicine for Women, part of the University of London, will be celebrated in October, says London Tit-Bits.

At the present time there are nearly 400 women students who pass on for their hospital training to the Royal Free hospital, the governors of which institution made possible from the first the training necessary for fully qualified woman doctors.

This is the only center of medical training exclusively for women in the British empire, and today its medical students include women from eighteen countries.

A thousand graduates of the London School of Medicine for Women are now practicing in various parts of the world.

Friendship Strained

An amateur in Professor Karr's play-acting class at the summer session at Indiana university did not have a dress that she thought suitable for the part of the extravagant wife she was to play. Going to one of the girls in the house where she roomed, she asked, "May I borrow your tan and red dress? I want to wear it in the play tonight."

The other girl replied, "Why, that is my very best dress. I hate to lend it. Haven't I anything else you would care to borrow?"

"No, that is exactly what I want. I am supposed to look sloppy," the new actress admitted before she realized what she was saying.—Indianapolis News.

The New Studebaker Special Six Duplex Phaeton

Open car when you want it —an enclosed car in 30 seconds

WITH the new-type Studebaker Duplex you may take your choice—ride in an open car if you like—enjoy the cool, fresh air and healthful sunshine.

Then in 30 seconds—without even leaving your seat—it can be changed to a deeply cushioned, richly appointed, fully protected enclosed car. It's no fuss or bother at all—simply lower the roller enclosures—it's so easy a child can do it.

No more hurried efforts to put up curtains in the wind and rain.

No more hunting for the right one while the storm beats in.

No more exposure through holes torn in them while trying to obtain for the emergency the protection given by a closed car.

For in the Duplex the side enclosures are instantly accessible—yet rolled up safely out of the way when not in use.

If this two-fold utility were the only feature of the new Studebaker cars they would still be a sensational value—but there are many others.

New body lines—new beauty—more powerful engines—new ease of gear shifting—genuine balloon tires—and the easiest steering car you ever drove.

In justice to yourself—see this car today.

"War" Map Shows Tuberculosis Area

War on Cattle Disease Goes on With Increasing Vigor in United States.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
 The war against animal tuberculosis, under the leadership of the United States Department of Agriculture, goes on with increasing vigor from month to month. In order that the country-wide situation may be clearly understood, and that the various regions may know how much work they have ahead of them, the department recently prepared a new "war" map which shows the extent of the plague in all the states.

Show Progress Made.
 On this map the shaded areas, varying from solid black to pure white, show what progress has been made and how the different regions compare. The scattered white spots indicate the modified accredited areas, those counties in which the infection has been reduced to 0.5 per cent or less. In the areas of deepest shading the infection is more than 15 per cent. The other areas have infection somewhere between these two extremes.

The area with 0.5 per cent or less of tuberculosis embraces 21,801 square miles, or 0.7 per cent of the entire area of the country. A large part of the United States, more than 2,000,000 square miles, has less than one per cent. This is practically 69 per cent of the entire area, and accounts for the recent statement by the department that 30 states promise to be free of the disease within eight years. A little more than 18 per cent of the country's area has from one to three per cent of the cattle tuberculosis, the area being a little less than 537,000 square miles. Herds in areas making up 193,303 square miles, or 6.5 per cent, have from 3 to 7 per cent of tuberculosis.

The total area in which there are herds with from 7 to 15 per cent of tuberculosis amounts to a little more than 115,000 square miles, which is 3.9 per cent of the total area. Only 2 per cent of the area, or 60,507 square miles, has more than 15 per cent of the herds infected with the disease. The average per cent of infection for the herds of the entire country is 3.3.

These figures are the result of averages obtained from the testing so far done. The percentages apply to the total cattle population which is estimated to be 68,927,613 head, but the size of the cattle population in the different areas is not in proportion to the area. The large area of 2,000,000 square miles in which there is less than one per cent of tuberculosis is about 69 per cent of the country, but contains only a little more than 50 per cent of the cattle. The area of greatest infection includes 4.3 per cent of the cattle.

Many Cattle Tested.
 During the month of July, 478,291 cattle were tested in the United States, Wisconsin leading with 69,615 head. In 30 counties tuberculosis has been reduced to 0.5 per cent or less, the "modified accredited" areas. There are now in the country herds aggregating more than 5,000,000 cattle which have been tested once and found free of tuberculosis. Fully accredited herds contain nearly 1,000,000 cattle, and more than 7,800,000 cattle are under supervision with a view to being later accredited. In addition there are more than 2,500,000 cattle in herds which the owners have on the waiting list for the first opportunity for testing.

Canker Is Destructive and Contagious Disease

In damp weather or in low locations, canker is one of the most destructive and contagious of poultry diseases. To avoid it, locate your house on a high, dry spot where the drainage is good. Also make sure there are no holes or cracks in the roof and walls of the house.

Cleanliness inside the house is also important, for the organism that causes canker breeds in conditions of filth as well as dampness. The disease sometimes results from the use of moldy litter or feed, or from scratches the fowls receive from fighting, or from using sharp-edged feed or water cups that cut them.

Canker usually takes the form of hard, cheese-like patches around the eyes, mouth or in the throat of the fowl. Remove these as fast as they form with a stick or knife, being careful to make them bleed no more than necessary. Then touch up each ulcerated place with a cotton swab dipped in undiluted creolin, which can be bought at any drug store.

Another good remedy is equal parts of boric acid, pulverized camphor and sublimate of bismuth—blowing the powder over the fowl's throat and mouth with a straw.

Remove all sick fowls from the main flock so that infection won't spread through the medium of feed troughs and drinking vessels.

Danger From Wire Tags

Farmers and dairymen should beware of the wire tags that come on feed bags, and other bits of metal, such as nails, pieces of wire and screws, which may find their way into the feed. Once swallowed, such objects may find their way to the heart of the animal, causing death. Care exercised in keeping the feed clear of these things may be the means of saving to the herd some of the best cows.

CHRISTMAS SEALS COME HERE FROM DENMARK

DANISH POSTAL CLERK HEARS SANTA WHISPER PLAN TO HELP TUBERCULOUS.

When Santa Claus was looking for someone to give the first Christmas Seal to the world, he picked on this big benevolent Nord: as a perfect personification of himself. On Christmas Eve, 1903, Einar Holboell, a postal clerk in a small Danish town, stopped a minute to hear Santa whisper in his ear the plan of selling penny stickers to help tuberculous children. His enthusiasm for a plan which would benefit humanity brought men of distinction and influence to his cause. A committee was formed. Mail clerks agreed to work overtime to sell the seals. The people of Denmark liked the idea. It came to the United States in 1907.

When Michigan men and women, and children too, buy Christmas Seals, they are but carrying on Holboell's happy holiday thought which has since brought health and smiles to the faces of hundreds of children, men and women, among people of every race, color and condition throughout the civilized world. BUY SEALS.

Fattening Beef Calves on Grain

More Skill Required Than Is Necessary in Preparing Older Animals.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

During recent years live stock markets have experienced a constantly increasing demand for well-fattened beef animals weighing from 800 to 1,200 pounds and this demand, says the United States Department of Agriculture, must necessarily be supplied by heaves from twelve to twenty months old. The fattening of this class of heaves requires more skill than is necessary in the production of animals marketed at more mature ages, on account of their tendency to grow rather than to fatten.

Various Phases of Problem.
The various phases of the problem of fattening calves for market is dealt with in Farmers' Bulletin 1416, Fattening Beef Calves, just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture, including discussions on how to procure calves to be fattened as yearlings, type of calves suitable for fattening, breeds suitable, importance of good cows and bulls, management of the farm breeding herd, differences in methods of feeding fall and spring calves, feeding the calf from birth to weaning time, dehorning, castration, vaccination, equipment and shelter, and marketing.

Unless the cows in the herd are exceptional milkers, calves intended for fat yearlings should be started on corn, kafir, milo, barley, wheat, or oats, when from four to six weeks old, says the bulletin. Nothing so stimulates the growth and early maturity as milk fresh from the dam, but in all cases calves should be fed liberally on grain for at least one month before weaning time. Every effort should be made to get the calves through the weaning period without loss of their baby fat. The grain ration should be increased so as to permit as little change in their rate of growth and fattening as possible.

Some feeders build "creeps" in the pastures or lots so that the calves can get their grain without disturbance by the cows. Creeps consist of small pens with openings which permit only the calves to enter. These openings may have rollers on each side to prevent bruising the calves.

Problem of Weaning.
Calves from heavy-milking cows should be weaned gradually. If they are running with the cows the weaning should be begun by keeping them up and allowing them to suck only twice each day for five or six days, after which they should be allowed to suck but once each day for a similar period. Then one day's sucking may be omitted, and later two days. Thus the entire weaning takes ten to fifteen days. The calves of cows giving little milk should be weaned abruptly by separating them as far as possible.

Fall calves should not be weaned until after the cows and calves are on grass. Spring calves should either be kept on grass after weaning in the fall or be given some succulent feed, such as silage. It is advisable to provide them with winter pasture, such as wheat, oats, rye, or barley, when soil and climatic conditions permit. A copy of the bulletin may be secured, as long as the supply lasts, free upon request from the United States Department of Agriculture.

Hogging Down Corn Good Practice on All Farms

It usually is wiser and safer to turn pigs into standing corn gradually, so they will not contract digestive troubles from eating the immature corn. Some say immature corn causes cholera, which is not true, although it sometimes sets up digestive troubles that resemble cholera or else get the hog's system badly out of condition and invite attack by cholera. In a summary of several tests made at various midwestern experiment stations we get this general conclusion: In each of six trials one lot of pigs was fattened in the corn field and another lot fed corn on the ear in dry lot. All pigs got either tankage or middlings as supplement to the corn, which is absolutely essential. Some rape and a little rye was found in the standing corn also. The pigs eating the standing corn made slightly more rapid gains and made 100 pounds of pork on 6 per cent less concentrates than the pigs fed corn in the yard.

Unless weather is unfavorable the pigs will pick up the corn as clean as though it were husked. Rape or soy beans in the corn make an ideal supplement, or else give them access to alfalfa, clover or rape pasture in addition to the standing corn, if available. If the pigs get no supplementary green forage as noted, then be sure to feed some protein concentrate or skim milk.

Immature Crops Are Not Good for Making Silage

Every silo should be filled, because silage is the cheapest feed this year. Good silage cannot be made from immature crops. Corn and the sorghums, when approaching maturity, make silage of the best quality. Fully matured and frosted crops make good silage if plenty of water is added. In any case, the finer the feed is cut the better will be the quality of the silage. Silage should be packed thoroughly in the silo, especially around the edges. The faster a silo is filled the more tramping and packing is necessary.

Right Selection of Exhibits for Fair

Uniformity, Color and Quality Essential Factors.

The importance of proper selection of fair exhibits cannot be overemphasized. First of all, the exhibitor should know how to select and pack his fruit and vegetables, if he expects to be a strong competitor for the prizes.

Proper selection of exhibit fruit and vegetables should begin with a thorough knowledge of the varieties and the requirements for which they are selected. Let us say we are selecting a plate of Commercial No. 1 Ben Davis apples, that will range 2 1/2 inches and up in diameter. It is generally the best plan to select a little above the average in size for the variety, should large oversized specimens be picked. The individual specimen in this case should be the true shape and color of the Ben Davis variety. It should be free from all insect stings and injury, and should contain no evidence of any disease or physical defect. In other words, the specimen should be as near perfect as possible.

In starting out, select specimens of fruits and vegetables that conform as nearly to the perfect type as possible. Then pick all of the specimens for exhibit purposes as nearly alike as possible in size, color and shape, keeping in mind that when the judge takes your vegetables and fruits he considers uniformity, color, quality and freedom from blemish.

Federal Grades Favored for Apples in Barrels

United States grades for barreled apples recommended in 1923 and adopted as the official grades in a number of states producing barreled apples including Wisconsin, Illinois, Ohio, West Virginia, New Jersey and North and South Carolina, have been promulgated by the secretary of agriculture under the provisions of the food products inspection law as the official grades for federal inspection at shipping point and in the receiving markets.

At the last session of the New York state legislature an amendment was made to the state apple-grading law which will make it possible for New York growers and shippers to use the federal grades in lieu of the New York state grades.

The specifications of the grades remain substantially the same with the exception that the color requirements for Baldwin and Black Twig have been fixed at 85 per cent for United States fancy and 75 per cent for United States No. 1. This color must be good color and characteristic of the variety. Copies of the grades may be obtained free upon request to the bureau of agricultural economics, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington.

"Chevon" Is Name Given to Designate Goat Meat

Hereafter, if the efforts of a number of organizations and individuals have the desired effect, goat meat will be designated by a special name which will be comparable to pork, beef and mutton. The name selected by the goat-raising interests in the Southwest is "chevon." In reply to requests for approval of this new name, the United States Department of Agriculture has stated that there seems to be no reason why this name should not be adopted and generally applied to the meat of this domestic animal, and it, therefore, approves the name "chevon."

The word "chevon" was created, after long consideration of many suggestions, by organizations representing the principal Angora-goat producing regions. It was made by combining parts of two French words, "chevre," meaning goat, and "mouton," meaning mutton. In other words, "chevon" means goat mutton.

Farm Hints

You are swapping dimes for dollars when you plant legumes.

Blood will tell, and that's why so many farm seeds fall in life.

The best factory for converting farm roughage into cash products is the dairy cow.

If you want to put the unity in community you must help your neighbor push things.

Corn production for the United States is now 10 per cent less per capita than it was 30 years ago.

A million and a half farmers tried co-operative marketing methods in 1923. "There's millions in it."

Why leave land to "rest" for improved yields when it will improve vastly more if you make it "work" with a growing legume?

Over 800,000 farm boys and girls in the United States in 1923 learned through club work how to beat dad and mother at their own business.

Heavenly fly prevention is dependent primarily on good farm management and co-operation. Early plowing, keeping down volunteer wheat, good seed bed preparation, planting on a safe date, and the community co-operation are effective measures.

SCHOOL NOTES

The grade notes were furnished by Dorothy Caldwell; those for High school by Juanita Coe, and the foot ball write-up by Everett Cummins.

GRADE NOTES

Preparations for Thanksgiving are under way in the second grade, in the form of Indian booklets which the kiddies are making.

Grade 4 B was entertained last week, by some pet rabbits belonging to Milton Orr, and two prize bantam roosters, whose proud possessors are Billy Ray and Donald Bronson. These animals were loaned by their small owners for use in their nature study class.

The following people in the fourth grade have been neither absent nor tardy in the past five weeks: Berta Chappel, Marjorie Clay, Mary Jane Hamilton, Ilene Jordan, Andrea Kreeger, Alice Lee, Harold Michael, Ida Taylor, Gladys Zietsch, Melvin Blunk, Richard Gordon, Charles Kuhn, Russell Michael and Ralph Minthorn.

Maxwell Todd of grade 6 B broke his arm last Tuesday, while playing soccer.

There are four people in the second and third grades, who are A students. The fortunate ones are Robert Champe, Alexander Kronozski, Coraline Rathburn and Evelyn Fisher. There are twelve people in that grade who have been neither absent nor tardy.

Merle Weir has returned to school after an absence of three weeks, due to blood poisoning in his foot.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The sophomores are arousing a great deal of interest for the program they are going to give in assembly November 21st. It is all a dark mystery now.

"Come Out of the Kitchen," is the play which the Juniors are going to give December 5th. They chose their cast this week. Another of their class activities was a wienie roast at Phoenix Park last Thursday.

As a result of the debate try-outs, Julia Wilcox, Forest Hubert and Ira Kingsley were selected as the team to represent Plymouth, with Ernest Ambrus as an alternate.

Something unusual is promised in the magazine review which the seventh graders are preparing for assembly.

The Girl Reserves, which correspond to the boys' Hi-Y club, held their first meeting last Thursday.

Leonard Wnuk brought to class a Late Petoskey potato, weighing three and a half pounds. A hole in the middle of course.

The Hi-Y boys had a Chinese atmosphere for their banquet last Monday night. This effect was gained with Chinese tea room decorations. The Senior assembly is grateful to the Hi-Y boys for the splendid talk that Mr. Jordan gave them on "Choice of a Life Work." Mr. Jordan is a member of the Detroit Y. M. C. A., and also Hi-Y leader in Highland Park.

SECOND TEAM FOOT BALL GAME

Plymouth's second team played a very careless game against Northville, last Wednesday. It was a slow game all the way through, and the team deserved to lose on its very poor showing. The team came out on the field with the same sort of confidence that typified the first team at Redford. Their confidence was due to the fact that they had beaten Northville by a comfortable margin some time ago.

It was straightway shown that the Plymouth team was much the stronger, as they took the ball over for a touchdown in the first few minutes of play. Hickey's try for punt was blocked. The players then got careless, and by a few tackles they were shirked, and some fumbling allowed Northville to approach the 15-yard line. Then the Northville quarter recovered a fumble back of the line, and ran down the side lines for a touchdown. At the try for point, a pass that should have been blocked was allowed to be completed, because there were four Plymouth men to block it, and they all left it to the other fellow to do. The team then recovered its fighting spirit, but too late, they took the ball from their own ten-yard line to their opponents twenty-yard line on straight line plunges, but time was too short—the final whistle blew.

The team should be criticized for its half-hearted efforts, and not showing at all the pep and go that we Plymouth people like to think is a characteristic of all Plymouth organizations. It can be criticized for poor generalship also, in allowing too many line plunges and not enough passes and end runs. It is hoped that the team will profit by its loss.

AROUND ABOUT US

Northville now has five meat markets.

The Redford fire department responded to seven fire alarms within forty-eight hours, last week.

E. H. Partridge has sold a half interest in his grocery business at Northville, to his brother-in-law, Arthur W. Marsh of Detroit.

Seventeen thousand poppies, symbolic of the battlefields of Flanders, were placed on sale in Ann Arbor, Armistice Day, November 11th.

F. P. Simmons & Son of Northville, have shipped 2,456 barrels of apples from their Novi orchards. It took fifteen cars to transport the crop.

Mrs. Camilla Dubuar of this village, is a granddaughter of Marcus Swift, the first minister to conduct religious services on the Plymouth circuit. He was assisted by Lorenzo Davis and together they conducted services in the various communities, which then composed the circuit—Northville Record.

William Spencer has sold the old homestead on the Livonia township line to Detroit parties, who will subdivide the property. A great deal of Livonia farm property is being purchased by Detroit parties this season. Mr. Spencer will come to Northville to reside, and will bring his faithful old dog with him.—Northville Record.

The state highway department, last week, placed road signs along M-16 and M-66, which will be of significant importance to tourists, in fact to all motorists. They are placed at important road intersections and indicate the distance to near-by towns, not only on the road placed, but on the junction roads. There are also signs to indicate the corporation limits of cities and vil-

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK EXPOSITION NOTES

Joseph Drake, Sagola, Michigan, who is champion in potato club work in his state, has been awarded first prize in competition with club boys of the mid-western states in his essay entitled, "My 1923 Club Project," which tells about his experience in potato production. The National Committee on Boys' and Girls' Club Work will give him a free trip, as a result, to the Third National Boys' and Girls' Club Congress which will be held in Chicago the first week in December in connection with the Twenty-Fifth Anniversary celebration of the International Live Stock Exposition.

The Michigan Agricultural College has again entered a team of students in the Inter-Collegiate Crop Judging Contest which will be held on November 29th in connection with the International Live Stock Exposition at Chicago.

Gotfredson Stock Farms, Ypsilanti, will be a new exhibitor at the coming International, having entered eight head of Shorthorn cattle, including "Maxwalton Mack," grand champion at four recent Michigan fairs, "Haylands Butterfly," winner of similar honors at the same shows and the Polled Shorthorn bull calf, "Mornel," junior champion at the 1924 Michigan State Fair.

The Michigan State Agricultural Experiment Station will stage an educational exhibit of some of its recent findings of timely interest to farmers at the International Grain and Hay Show in Chicago, November 29th to December 6th.

Professor H. C. Rather, East Lansing, Michigan, has been appointed Assistant Superintendent of the International Grain and Hay Show which will be held in connection with the Twenty-Fifth Anniversary of the International Live Stock Exposition in Chicago the first week in December. Michigan exhibitors have captured many of the high honors in this great crop contest during recent years and are expected to again play a prominent part in the coming show.

What an Old Sea Captain says about Liquid Granite

"There she is mate—clean, tight, and tidy as the decks must be. You can rattle your tackle on that. And if a bit of sea slaps over the rail, mop it up, and no harm done."

Liquid Granite makes your floor clean, water-proof, durable, resisting the buffetings of use, standing up under occasional hard knocks and persistent daily wear.

Developed through years of experiment in search of a floor finish at once beautiful, easy to apply, and simple to care for, Liquid Granite gives a smooth, velvety surface that brings out the natural grain of the wood and retains its beauty under the hardest wear.

They had a fine trip, and 2800 miles in fourteen days with a Ford sedan, had no tire trouble and hit on all fours. Of course, Charles J. helped by leaning forward on the wheel to get back to old Michigan again.
R. P. Woodworth, of the Woodworth Bazaar, has made some improvements in the interior arrangement of his store, by the removal of a long hallway on the south side of the building. This gives additional room for more shelving. Mr. Woodworth is constantly adding to his stock, and expects in the future that he will build an addition on the rear of the building.

DEDICATION WEEK EVENTS

The dedication banquet on Wednesday night of last week, at the Methodist church, was one of the fine occasions of the week. The well prepared menu, under the direction of the Ladies' Aid Society, was a great credit to that organization, and every one of the nearly 250 present was more than delighted and satisfied. Music was furnished during the banquet by the Kenyon orchestra, which added greatly to the enjoyment of the occasion.

Following the banquet, a delightful program of toasts was given. The toastmaster of the occasion, Dr. H. A. Leeson, filled that position with his usual graciousness and joviality. Clifford Cline gave a well rendered toast, representing the young folks of the church, on "The Foundation," which was followed by a vocal solo by Mrs. Nagle, a part of which was an original verse suited to the occasion of dedication.

E. V. Jolliffe, representing the building committee, spoke on "Builders for God," and Mrs. Tena Bovee, representing the Ladies' Aid, spoke on "Aides-de-Camp." Both toasts were splendidly given, and represented the deep spiritual purpose of the new building.

Miss Ruth Allison, rendering a piano solo, was enthusiastically received. Rev. Ralph Brown, a former member of this church, and a graduate of the local High school and now pastor of the Belleville Methodist church, was present, and was called on for some remarks. All were glad to hear Ralph once more.

Dr. Dunning Idle, pastor of the Ypsilanti Methodist church, spoke for some few minutes on the importance of building for Christ, and the great opportunity of this day for service. Those present were only sorry that Dr. Idle did not see fit to give his scheduled address, owing to the lateness of the hour. The happy evening closed after singing the doxology, and the pronouncing of the benediction by the toastmaster.

REMINISCENCE PRAYER MEETING

On Thursday evening of dedication week, a reminiscence prayer meeting was held, and a delightful and profitable occasion it was. After a happy hour of christian fellowship, letters were read from former pastors who are still living. Those from whom letters have been received, congratulating the church and congregation on its growth and prosperity, are: Dr. Samuel Plantz, now president of Lawrence college, pastor here 1882-84; N. Norton Clark, 1890-93; W. J. Stevens, 1898-1903; Erwin King, 1906-11; Joseph Dutton, 1912-16; Frank M. Field, 1916-21. Dr. E. J. Warren, 1911-12, preached the closing sermon of dedication week on Sunday evening.

CONSECRATION SERVICE

The consecration service on last Sunday morning was a helpful occasion. A number of parents consecrated their children to the service of Christ in holy baptism. Several adults were baptized, and others received into the church. The services closed by the observance of the Lord's Supper.

DR. RICE'S LECTURE

There was a good attendance at the lecture given by Dr. M. S. Rice at the community house of the Methodist church, last Friday evening. Dr. Rice gave his famous lecture on "Junk," which is intensely interesting from beginning to end. The speaker emphasized Junk Things, Junk Time and Junk Life, drawing apt illustrations of these three cardinal points of his lecture. While the theme of his address is humorous, yet it is filled with good practical thoughts that cannot help but leave a deep and lasting impression upon all who heard him. Dr. Rice is always a favorite speaker with a Plymouth audience, and last Friday evening was no exception.

BAZAAR, SUPPER AND DANCE

The ladies of Our Lady Good Counsel church are planning another big affair, which is to be in the nature of a bazaar, supper and dance, to be held at Newburg Gleamers' hall on Wednesday, November 26, Thanksgiving eve. Even more elaborate preparations are being made for this party than the last one, which was such a success. They earnestly solicit your patronage for that evening. Full details next week.—Advertisement. 571p are the three characteristics of a slab of stone like this shown in the illustration; simplicity of nature, sincerity of convictions, solidity of principles and character. IN MEMORIAM

SIMPLICITY SINCERITY, SOLIDITY

In sad but loving memory of our dear husband and father, Charles Mining, who died one year ago today, November 14, 1923.
A loving father, true and kind,
No friend on earth like him we'll find.
For all of us he did his best,
And God gave him eternal rest.
His Loving Wife and Children.
