FORMER RESIDENT WINS PROMOTION.

In recognition of faithful service and success attained, the directors of the Farmers State Savings Bank at a meeting last week tendered the cashier, Cass I. Gittins, a deserved promotion, naming him president to succeed the late Arthur M. Bird.

In speaking of this election, his friend, S. O. Burgdorf, says: "Cass first visioned the world back in 1883. From the very beginning, as a young youngster he wore the faintest suspicion of a smile, and as he grew into boyhood, the smile broadened and developed with the years. As a student, business man and banker, Mr. Gittins has never been found wanting. Public spirited, genial, always ready to get behind any worthy enterprise, he is one of Plymouth's substantial citizens. Directors of the bank feel that they have done the right thing in naming him president, and his many friends wish him continued success, long life and happiness.—Plymouth Times.

PLYMOUTH'S NEW TELEPHONE BUILDING

PLACE CORNERSTONE OF NEW TELEPHONE BUILDING TUESDAY

Roy E. Crowe, Local Manager of Michigan Bell Telephone Co., Assisted by Harry C. Robinson, Village President, Placed the Cornerstone Tuesday Afternoon at the Ceremonies Held at the New Building.

Plymouth's welfare and its future must be built upon the highest ideals, backed by co-operation and thrift. In the opinion of Roy E. Crowe, manager here for the Michigan Bell Telephone company who pronounced this theory during his address at the ceremony of placing the cornerstone of the new telephone building at 729 Ann Arbor street, Tuesday afternoon, May 18th. And those ideals and qualities the people and industries and utilities of Plymouth have displayed. Mr. Crowe asserted.

The occasion was one that, in the opinion of those who attended the ceremony, marked an important milestone in the history of the village. With the assistance of President H. C. Robinson, Mr. Crowe placed the cornerstone, the dipping of the two silver trowels in the mortar and setting the stone symbolizing the more closely cementing of the interests of the community and the telephone company. In attendance were many telephone users of the community, members of the school's faculty and student bodies, public officials and officials and others of the telephone organization.

Upon the conclusion of the program, President Robinson felicitated Mr. Crowe and the Michigan Bell company upon the very evident progress the company is displaying here and the faith shown in the community in carrying out this large construction program. He expressed the appreciation of the people of Plymouth. Cooperation is Necessary. Dedicating the new building, its equipment and the local telephone people to the public's service. Mr. Crowe said: "I welcome the opportunity, afforded by this occasion, to meet with you today and dedicate to the service of your progressive community the structure which has been here erected. I appreciate the privilege of speaking to you briefly, reviewing the telephone development of your city, our plans for its future growth, and the high ideals of service that we hold and earnestly strive to accomplish. "It is an obvious fact to all thoughtful people that in any community the individual citizens, their public service companies, all other business institutions, their schools, churches and other social organizations, have common interest—that each develops and prospers only as all do. To achieve success, all must be sound, thrifty and possess the highest ideals of service. "Confidence in each other must be developed through contact, for out of this comes cooperation which is vital to the success of any community. "In Plymouth there is every evidence that this desirable condition exists, and the Michigan Bell-Telephone Company, as an integral part of this community, offers this new telephone building, to be completed and filled with modern equipment as its contribution to Plymouth's progress and development. "The telephone within the short space of 30 years has grown from a new invention, by that great scientist Alexander Graham Bell, considered at first only as an interesting toy, to an almost universal necessity in our economic and social life. While its development was slow at first, its value soon was realized and its use spread rapidly. Of late years the demand for telephone service has reached enormous proportions and its continuing at a rate that calls for the utmost energy and resources of the great Bell System which has the heavy responsibility of furnishing the entire country with a nation-wide service. As a component part of the Bell System the Michigan Bell Telephone Company accepts the responsibility of furnishing the best possible telephone service to the people of Michigan, and is bending all its energies to this end. "Local History of Telephone. Recounting the telephone history of Plymouth, the speaker continued: "Plymouth's telephone history dates back to 1888, when the first toll station was established in the village, being located in the drug store of J. L. Gale and being followed, a short time after its installation, by a small switchboard with which a very few telephones scattered about the town were connected. "In about 1890, the New State Telephone Company installed a competitive exchange equipment in the office of E. P. Lombard, which was connected with Detroit by means of a single iron wire and over which rather uncertain service was given, there was one telephone at the Plymouth end of the line. Shortly after the construction of that thread-like connection with Detroit, a small switchboard was installed in the Lombard store by the New State and fifteen subscribers to the service were secured. "Still later, a third company entered the local telephonic field in 1891, when the Inter-county company of Northville built a line to Plymouth and connected it with the New State board. Then the telephone was very young, everyone thought they could reap fortunes in the new business, and the wastefulness of competitive effort in the field was not taken into consideration, with the result that none of the promoters made more than bare expenses. If that. "The New State company eventually was sold to the Michigan Company and the service for Plymouth was consolidated in the Lombard office. Probably that old switchboard and the difficulties attendant upon its operation are yet known to many residents of the community. Shortly after, still another company entered the field, a concern which was organized and financed locally, the central office being located in the building which the Michigan Bell Company now is abandoning for these quarters. The plant was sold by the Plymouth Company to an independent company in Detroit, which was merged with the plant of the Michigan Company in 1912. "Growth Is Predicted. Speaking of the present growth and expected future expansion of Plymouth, Mr. Crowe said: "Through all these years Plymouth has grown. There has been no backward movement, and the community continued to progress and expand. Many new homes are being added each year. The population is increasing and new industries are coming in. "The telephone company has taken all of these things into consideration in determining its program of plant and service expansion here. During 1925 there was a gain of 118 telephones in Plymouth and up until the first of April there had been a gain of more than 20 this year with every indication that the growth during 1926 will exceed that of last year. Approximately 1,150 telephones now are served from the Plymouth central office. "The Telephone company anticipates that the community's growth and the increasing demand for service will continue indefinitely and is, therefore, preparing to meet and serve that expansion. This new telephone building will house the finest modern switchboard and plant equipment. It will be capably served by telephone people who are residents of the community and who have Plymouth's best interests at heart. Their ideals of service are of the highest.

"Careful studies by our engineers indicate that on the average about 100 new homes are built here each year, that the demand continues, and that to the manufacturing and industrial institutions of the community numerous others will be added within the next few years. "United States census figures for some years past and estimates of future population for Plymouth are given in the following table:

1910	1,671
1920	2,857
1925	3,845
1930	7,000

"The close proximity of Plymouth to Detroit is to be considered in our thoughts as to the future, for it is reasonable to expect that as the suburban transportation service improves a great many people will make their homes here, although working elsewhere for Plymouth holds many attractions as a residential community. The telephone company must consider all of these possibilities in building for the future. Officials of the company believe that Plymouth will have 1,700 telephones by 1930, perhaps 2,000, if the anticipated building and industrial expansion is carried out. It seems reasonable to expect that there will be 6,000 telephones by 1940. "Rural Districts Expand. "Rural population, close about Plymouth, is estimated at approximately 4,500 and it is estimated that there will be a growth of about 200 per year for the next four years with probably 7,000 people by 1940. This contemplates only the territory outside the corporate limits as they expand for it is anticipated that the limits will be extended as the community builds, particularly between 1930 and 1940. "And now Mr. President, ladies and gentlemen, not only this building, but the entire personnel of our company—the loyal men and women who build and maintain our lines and who serve in our offices and at the switchboards, do I dedicate to the service of the people of Plymouth and to the service of the people of Michigan.

"With your assistance Mr. President, I shall now lay the cornerstone of this structure, in it I shall deposit this copper box which contains: "The roll of officers and councilmen of Plymouth "Copies of the Plymouth Mail "The Plymouth Telephone Directory "The Detroit Telephone Directory "The Annual Report of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company for 1925 "Copy of 'The Mouthpiece,' our employees magazine "Copy of address given on this occasion."

SPECIAL O. E. S. MEETING

A special meeting of the Order of the Eastern Star will be held in Masonic Temple, Tuesday evening, May 25th. Dinner will be served at 6:30, followed by initiation services at 8:00 o'clock. While crossing the street in front of her residence last Friday forenoon, Mrs. L. C. Hough was knocked down by an automobile, and painfully hurt but not seriously injured. No blame was attached to the driver of the car, we understand.

ROTARY CLUB HEARS JUDGE LAJOIE.

The Plymouth Rotary Club had the privilege of hearing Judge Ernest Lajoie, of Detroit, give one of the very best talks that the club has ever heard, at its regular noon-day luncheon last Friday. Judge Lajoie gave the members a heart-to-heart talk on the boy problem, a question of which he has a great sympathy, and his hearers were deeply impressed by the convincing manner in which he told of several cases which had come under his particular observation as a judge upon the circuit court bench. Judge Lajoie has a large place in his heart for the underprivileged boy or the one who has gone wrong through evil associations. In many cases the trouble with boys can be traced to the parents and the lack of proper home influences and a lack of understanding between the parents and child, the judge said. It would have been a fine thing if every parent in Plymouth could have heard this talk.

LITTLE GIRL DIES

Barbara, the seventeen months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Plachta of East Ann Arbor street, whose serious illness was mentioned in last week's paper, died at St. Joseph's hospital, Ann Arbor, Saturday evening. Funeral services were held from Schrader Bros. Funeral Home, Sunday evening, Fr. F. C. Lefevre officiating. The interment was in Riverside cemetery. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of the community in their sorrow. Those from out of town who attended the services, were: Mr. and Mrs. George Plachta, Peter Plachta and Mrs. Stephen Jankowiak of Detroit and Mrs. F. Schultz of Bay City.

McCUM-O'LEARY

A very impressive and happy wedding took place last Saturday evening, at 8:00 o'clock, at the apartments of Mr. and Mrs. O'Leary on Longfellow and Dexter boulevard, Detroit, when Clarence McCum, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McCum of Golden road of this village, was united in marriage to Miss Ellen O'Leary of Detroit. Rev. H. E. Slayles of Plymouth Baptist church, read the ring ceremony uniting them husband and wife. The bride wore a gown of white crepe de chine with pearl trimming and carried a bouquet of white roses. She was accompanied by her twin sister, Elizabeth, as bridesmaid, who also wore white crepe de chine and carried tea roses. Earl McCum, brother of the groom, was best man. Only the immediate families attended the wedding. After the ceremony a bountiful wedding supper was served. The young couple have their new apartments all furnished and ready to occupy. Mr. McCum has been for some years in the employ of the Packard Automobile Co., and is a salesman. The bride was a stenographer in the office of the same company. The young people have the best wishes of a host of friends.

CREDIT BUREAU HELD BANQUET

ABOUT FIFTY ATTEND FIRST BANQUET OF PLYMOUTH CREDIT BUREAU, TUESDAY EVENING AT PLYMOUTH HOTEL.

The Plymouth Credit Bureau held their first banquet last Tuesday evening at the Plymouth Hotel Dining Room, with about fifty in attendance. Several business men from Northville were present. A splendid dinner was served, which was thoroughly appreciated. Harry S. Lee presided as toastmaster and introduced the speakers of the evening, Floyd Miller, manager of the Pontiac Credit Bureau, and Edgar Braun, attorney for the Merchants' Credit Bureau of Detroit. The speakers touched upon credit granting, the value of a bureau to a town, importance of merchants cooperating with the bureau, collections, etc. Their talks were very interesting and instructive. The gathering was a splendid success, and much enjoyed by everyone present.

The triangular track meet in which the schools of Plymouth, Grosse Pointe and Northville took part at the local fair grounds Tuesday afternoon, was won by Plymouth with 45 1-3 points to its credit. Grosse Pointe was second with 34 1-3 points and Northville third with 33 1-3 points. Dell Campbell won first in the mile dash; E. Smith carried off the honors in the half-mile event and C. ACCEPTS POSITION WITH PLYMOUTH UNITED SAVINGS BANK.

Charles O. Ball, former cashier of the State Bank of Coloma, and well known in banking circles, has accepted a position with the Plymouth United Savings Bank, and will become vice-president. Mr. Ball took up his new duties last Monday. He has had exceptional banking experience. He specialized in banking and banking law at the University of Michigan, from which he graduated in 1908. For five years Mr. Ball was state bank examiner, and during the succeeding four years was assistant cashier of the Dime Savings Bank of Detroit. For the past three and one-half years Mr. Ball has been cashier of the State Bank of Coloma.

PLYMOUTH RESIDENTS ALERT TO OPPORTUNITY.

"Residents of this community are quick to recognize and take advantage of a real opportunity when it is presented," said W. M. Crown of Detroit, yesterday. "This fact was amply demonstrated following the announcement in the Plymouth Mail of the pre-opening of Plymouth Gardens overlooking Phoenix Park and lake, on the Five Mile road, last Sunday. "From noon until dark, we were constantly showing visitors over the property, and from our observations most of them were from the Plymouth district. "This also is quite a tribute to the pulling power of the Mail as no other paper carried the announcement of the pre-opening which was designed, primarily, to give local people the opportunity to make reservations of homesites in this beauty spot. Many selections were made on the opening day and through the early part of the week. "Formal opening of Plymouth Gardens will take place next Sunday, and until that time local investors will have exclusive privilege of making selections," said Mr. Crown. Messrs. Macdonald and Tobin, the owners of Plymouth Gardens, and said to control many other large pieces of acreage in this district, plan to go forward with the improvement program as rapidly as possible, and according to Mr. Crown, who is the exclusive sales agent for their properties, they intend to beautify the lake shore holdings adjoining the park in the creation of an exclusive recreational park and playground for the use of Plymouth Garden residents.

DECORATION DAY

Thinner and thinner grow the ranks of that once vast army that wore the uniform of blue, and once more as the day arrives on which this nation bows in tribute to them we see the wide gaps in their ranks. More than half a century has passed since they went forth to defend the same starry flag we once again unfurl above the heads of the living and once again drape about the silent mounds that shield the dead. And the years that have passed since the day they marched forth with youthful hearts to defend that flag, have served to heal all wounds and scars and to unite all sections into the grandest and most glorious country the world has ever known.

Residents of Plymouth come to Decoration Day with loving tears for not only the men who wore the blue, but with loving remembrance of those who are now our brothers even though they fought for a lost cause. Their sons have shown themselves of our blood, and today on the fields of France and in every cemetery in this nation the sons of both the men who wore the blue and the men who wore the gray sleep silently side by side after laying down their lives for the same cause. They fought for the nation they loved, and they are loved by that nation because they were big enough to forget sectional lines and political differences.

So we come again to pay homage to our soldier dead, to show them they are not forgotten and that their service to mankind shall never perish from the minds of this generation, and all generations to come. They paved the way for a nation that today stands as an example of greatness for all other nations to emulate. They made it possible for us to live in and to enjoy peace and plenty. And for this we return our sincere thanks with a cheer for those who still remain, and a tear for those who have passed on, and with a renewal of our pledge to uphold the flag and the constitution they sacrificed for—a flag that has never touched the ground and a constitution that has never known dishonor.

A FOOLISH ARGUMENT

They're having a foolish argument in Ohio just now, and one we trust will not be carried to this section. Someone started it by declaring that the residents of rural districts pay more for the building and upkeep of public roads than the town and city residents, notwithstanding the fact that most autos are owned by town and city people. Here is a foolish argument, and a dangerous one, because it can only stir up sectional strife. Every sensible Plymouth man knows his taxes are in proportion to those of the farmers of this community, and the farmers are sensible enough to know that the town man is burdened about as much as anyone else. We've both got to have good roads. So there is no need for such a silly and dangerous argument as someone with very few brains has started in Ohio.

THE BEST OF ALL

We overheard a conversation between several well-known Plymouth men a few days ago, and it is worth passing on. They were discussing auto trips, and interesting places, and finally one of them said:

"Taking a trip is a fine thing, and every man who owns an auto owes it to himself to take at least one good, long one. Then when he gets back to the old home town he'll know how to appreciate it more than he did before he saw other sections of this country."

And there's a lot of truth in that statement. Other states and towns and cities look good on paper and in the motoring guide books, and other ways of making a living appeal to us while we are reading about them. But a short stay anywhere else will convince you that what you have here is many times better, everything considered, than what you are going to find somewhere else. It costs no more to live here than in other sections, and even if it did—it's worth more. The trouble with the average citizen of this and every other community is that he is so busy believing that the other fellow has the best end of life that he overlooks his own advantages. And nothing will bring those advantages to his attention any quicker than getting out on a trip somewhere and seeing how the other fellow lives.

THE LITTLE THINGS

If you want a good example of the fact that it's the little things that count, dig up a daily paper of recent date and read of the death in New York of a fellow named Bobbie Leach. Some years ago he went over Niagara Falls in a barrel and escaped with a few bruises. Then he joined a circus and made parachute leaps from a balloon. But a few weeks ago he slipped on a banana peel, fell and broke his leg, and when the member was amputated he died from blood-poisoning. Here is a good lesson for every citizen of Plymouth who values good lessons in carefulness. We always guard against the big things and escape them, only to suffer from little things, such as crossing a street or highway without looking both ways, driving with defective brakes or without properly focused headlights. We believe the death of Bobbie Leach from a little thing like a banana peel is about as good a warning to us to watch the little things as anything that has ever come to our attention.

OBITUARY

Arcadia Michigan May 13th.—In kind remembrance of our beloved wife and mother, who passed away April 30, 1926, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. D. F. Lemley, in Plymouth, Michigan, at the age of 70 years, 7 months, 11 days.

Viola Facella Bowman was born in Defiance county, Ohio, August 19, 1855. Removing to Washington county, Iowa, with her parents at the age of ten years, then again in the year 1866, they came to Northern Michigan, and made their home in the forests of Renzie county. She was united in marriage, September 21, 1871, to Orlo E. Putney, and to this union were born three children: Loren B., Bertie F. and Etha Pearl. Bertie passed to the life beyond, June 17, 1901, at the age of 23 years.

Mrs. Putney in former years was an active worker in the W. C. T. U., and in the year 1902 united with the Christian church near Arcadia.

Owing to the fact the deceased and her husband were only visiting in Plymouth, the remains were taken back at once to the old home near Arcadia, where she had lived fifty-four years of her married life.

Our beloved wife and mother, whose every thought was for friends and home, leaves to mourn her loss, her husband, two children, six grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Funeral services were held at the Christian church, and burial at the Elberta cemetery. Rev. Paulson of Bear Lake officiated.

METHODIST NOTES

A. L. Betts, formerly of Boston, now manager of the Methodist Book Concern in Detroit, was a week-end visitor at the parsonage.

Richard Stribley of Detroit, who was in El Oro, Mexico, at the time of Dr. Lendrum's residence there, surprised his former pastor by appearing in church Sunday morning.

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES

Seven representatives of Plymouth Presbyterianism attended the Fellowship Banquet at General Motors Building, Detroit, on Monday evening. Rev. Dr. John Timothy Stone of Chicago, gave a most inspiring address.

Preparations for Children's Day have begun. June 13th is the date set for this year.

The Sunday-school is showing encouraging growth and interest. Several new classes have been added.

The Busy Woman's and Ready Service Bible classes held monthly social meetings this week. A good time is reported by both.

BAPTIST NOTES

Rev. F. L. Cuddy of Lansing, Michigan superintendent of evangelism of the Baptist State Association, preached last Sunday morning, and gave a splendid sermon on “The Resurrection,” from John 20.

The evening service was in charge of the Sayles family. Four of the boys were at home: Alton, from Ypsilanti; Clifford, from Detroit; Harry, from Palm Beach; Gaylord, at home. Harry gave a short account of Rev. Stratton of New York, who spent the winter in Palm Beach, and was preacher at the Baptist church. He is leader of the Fundamentalists, taking the place of William J. Bryan.

Dr. Stratton is a wonderful scholar and preacher. The pastor gave a short sermon on “God's Attitude Towards Sin and the Family and Home.” The young men sang as a quartet. Alton sang a solo, and Mrs. Sayles, Harry and Gaylord sang a trio. Duane was to have given a report of Kalamazoo Convention. Mrs. Harry Sayles, who was horrified to see—not her husband, but a burly tramp. She tried to shut the door, but he thrust his foot in, uttering the most awful threats.

The housewife acted quickly. Snatching a brooch from her dress, she thrust the pin of it deep into the intruder's leg. With a yell of agony, he dropped back, and she at once banged and locked the door and ran for her husband's gun. But the tramp was gone—with the brooch!

FIND “WEAKER SEX” NOT UNWORTHY FOES

English Burglars Have Unpleasant Experiences.

A Cumberland woman, according to an English paper, was waiting for her husband to return from market. Suddenly she heard a knock at the back door. When she opened it she was horrified to see—not her husband, but a burly tramp. She tried to shut the door, but he thrust his foot in, uttering the most awful threats.

The housewife acted quickly. Snatching a brooch from her dress, she thrust the pin of it deep into the intruder's leg. With a yell of agony, he dropped back, and she at once banged and locked the door and ran for her husband's gun. But the tramp was gone—with the brooch!

A strapping, unpleasant-looking man was put in the dock at Bristol police court, charged with breaking and entering a house. His head was bandaged, and he looked distinctly the worse for wear.

The owner of the house, a lady, testified that she woke in the night to find the man in her room.

“Are you alone?” he asked, closing the door.
Her answer was to spring out of bed and ring the bell. Then the fellow got her by the throat and threw her to the floor.

Her maid, hearing the noise, came running in, and picking up a hot water jug, went for the intruder. The jug, exhibited in court, showed dents made by the blows on the burglar's head, which was “apparently also badly dented.” Anyhow, the burglar ran for his life, but was caught outside the house by a policeman.

The wife of a Welsh collier was busy cooking supper for her husband, who was due back from the pit in about an hour, when a rough-looking man came into the kitchen and demanded money. At the moment the woman was frying potatoes.

Without an instant's hesitation she swung the frying pan, and brought it, together with its boiling contents, down on the man's head. He had to be taken to the nearest hospital.

Wheat Growers Encouraged

The losses of the wheat crop due to the Hessian fly will probably be much smaller than usual this year, according to a report issued by the United States bureau of entomology of a survey of the wheat growing states, which says this insect is at a very low period of its abundance throughout the country. Illinois and Kansas alone show serious infestation, which is attributed to too early sowing and auspicious weather conditions at the time of the insect's emergence in the fall. Dissemination of information about the life history of the Hessian fly by state and county authorities and co-operation of the farmers in deferring planting until the fly-free date in late September, as well as unfavorable weather conditions, are cited as causes for its decreasing prevalence.

Ancient Irishman

Ireland's oldest man is William Smith of Dromara, County Down, who has just celebrated his one hundred and twenty-fifth birthday. He believes himself to be the oldest man in the kingdom, if not in the world, and can produce official papers which show that he was born on January 2, 1801, in the Smithfield area of Belfast. Mr. Smith, who is still hale and hearty, can converse quite freely in a remnant of his native Gaelic, and his memory being such that he is still familiar with events which happened many years ago. He was a hawker for many years, traveling about the country, and he attributes his long life to his simple manner of living and the exercise in the open air.

HERBERT HOOVER TURNS SPADEMAN

The Secretary of Commerce turns up first spadeful of dirt at ground-breaking ceremonies for emergency hospital on the grounds of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition in Philadelphia. The exposition will commemorate the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of American Independence. At the cabinet member's right is Mayor Kendrick of Philadelphia. The hospital will be conducted by physicians and nurses from the Philadelphia General Hospital.

LUCK NEVER GREAT FACTOR IN SUCCESS

Ability and Hard Work the Two Requisites.

The games that chance and destiny play with the life of man have been the theme of poets and philosophers since history began.

Job said that man was born to trouble as the sparks fly upward. The poets of Greece and Rome depicted blind chance making and unmaking men, and tangling the web of life. It would appear, with senseless malignity.

Today the belief in luck, as we call Blind Chance, perhaps to palliate it, is as common as in any previous period of history. What should be our attitude toward it?

A few days ago the papers were full of exciting stories about a young Englishman, who right after night won substantial sums of money at the gambling tables at Monte Carlo.

How much of that was luck, how much of it was system? I don't think any infallible system which would beat Monte Carlo exists. If it did, Monte Carlo would not exist either.

There have been fortunes made on the turf by bookmakers, who flourish on the pathetic belief in luck that dominates so many of their clients. But when the bookmaker himself takes to backing horses he generally, as the popular phrase goes, comes unstock.

Taking these two great media of gambling, the tables and the turf, luck is obviously an unsafe creed. Yet there isn't any doubt that it exists. The wise thing is to recognize that there isn't any way of harnessing it, and to dismiss it from our calculations on the road of life and in the pursuit of happiness.

Mr. Kennedy of Straffan, County Kildare, made a study of blood-stock breeding, and coming to the conclusion that a fresh strain was needed, went to France and took back the sire of The Tetrach, perhaps the greatest romance of modern turf history. Was it luck, or was it judgment? Mr. Kennedy believed, and was entitled to his belief, that it was the latter. But even he could not repeat so sensational and successful an experiment.

If we look fairly at the achievements of successful men we usually find not how much but how little luck had to do with them.

In business a young man may be lucky if by accident he gets, early in life, the chance to show what is in him. Luck is no use to him, however, if he hasn't got the ability and the grit to do the job. And if he has he will get there, even if luck does not give him a short-cut.

Cecil Rhodes went to South Africa because he was an invalid. He had a genius for painstaking work and relentless application. While others of the pioneers of his era gambled and drank and amused themselves, he fought steadily and persistently for his great ideal. It seems to me, fatuous, in the case of two such men, to talk at random of their "luck." Surely it should be spelled pluck.

And there, I rather fancy, the secret is out. There is such a thing as luck, but pluck and perseverance are greater things. And they can be cultivated which luck cannot.

Cultivate a belief in luck, if you like. But leave it out of your calculations in the stern battle of life.—The Rt. Hon. Lord Decies, D. S. O., in the Continental edition of the London Daily Mail.

Quail's Many Enemies
The chances against the mother quail hatching her eggs are approximately three to one, according to the observations of E. L. Stoddard of the United States biological survey. Stoddard kept tab on 38 quail nests in Georgia. Ten clutches of eggs were hatched normally. Here's what happened to the remainder:
Ten destroyed by skunks.
Two destroyed by snakes.
Three destroyed by undetermined enemies.
One destroyed by an opossum.
One destroyed by a weasel.
One destroyed by a house cat.
One destroyed accidentally by fender.
Four clutches of eggs were still being incubated by the mother bird at the end of Stoddard's check-up.

Ancient Science Not Eclipsed by Modern

As all artists know, there are pictures 3000 years old which need only cleaning to show as bright as on the day they were painted. It is doubtful whether any of the pictures painted today will last half that time, and experiments are being made to discover the secret of the colors used by artists of the Middle Ages. One idea is that these painters, who, of course, mixed all their own colors, washed them with the greatest care before using them, says the Dallas News.

The Romans made cement at least as good as any we have, yet this secret was lost for more than 1000 years and was rediscovered only about a century ago. It was the Romans, too, who made the wonderful pottery called "terra sigillata." This was rediscovered by the Roman painter, Fischer, in quite recent times.

Lanolin, the fat made from the wool of sheep, was manufactured and used by the Greeks 2000 years ago. Here again the secret was completely lost and quite forgotten until rediscovered late in the Nineteenth century.

In 1915 Mr. Simpson, of Blackburn, patented a liquid that has peculiar properties. When painted with it a paint won't become dry, while iron work covered with it cannot rust. This liquid was pronounced by leading engineers to be another old Roman secret lost for some 1700 years.

Thousands of years ago the Egyptians used to embalm the bodies of their rulers in a way we cannot match today. Modern science is endeavoring to recapture this lost knowledge.

Sheffield turns out the finest steel in the world. Yet even Sheffield, with all her science, has never matched the steel of the sword blades made by the Saracens 1000 years ago, and the Saracens never had such machinery as we possess.

Turks Hide Old Fezzes

Since the Turkish national assembly forbade the wearing of fezzes the Constantinople bazaar has become ludicrous instead of picturesque. Formerly bearded old Turks used to sit cross-legged behind their wares with red fezzes on their heads. Now they wear old "howler" hats, white straw hats, "apache" caps and all kinds of nondescript headwear, says the Washington Star.

It is said that an enterprising Armeanian, who anticipated the decree abolishing the fez, made a profit of $30,000 a week by selling second-hand hats and caps hastily imported from Vienna. Very few Turks have parted with their fezzes. They keep them stored away against the day when they will be allowed to resume wearing them.

Four Months of Night

Wireless messages from Spitzbergen, Svalbard, report that the sun reappeared for the first time February 17 at Advent bay after nearly four months' continual darkness. The return of daylight was looked forward to with great joy and eagerness. When the first beam of sunlight shot out from the horizon a gun salute was fired and the festivals of the small colony began. About 400 persons, including women and children, remained over winter at Svalbard and from the beginning of September they were entirely cut off from the rest of the world except for communication through the wireless stations. The winter was unusually cold. Polar ice blocked up the coast earlier in the autumn than usual.

Expensive Railroad Ties

The most expensive ties in the world are being used in laying the Orient line from Alpine, in Texas, to Marquez, in Mexico, according to E. H. Schaeffer, general manager of the road, says the Topeka Capital. The ties are of solid ebony, extensive forests of which are found in the mountains of that region.

"The ties are brought in by Yaqui Indians," said Mr. Schaeffer. "who transport them by means of burros. They are dragged down from the mountains. Holes must be drilled before spurs can be driven into the ties, so hard is the wood. But this hardness insures their lasting for generations."

AUTO RACES AT JACKSON NEXT SUNDAY.

Everything is set for the running of the first scheduled sanctioned auto race on the fair ground track at Jackson, Sunday afternoon, when Ralph DePalma, the famous Italian pilot, makes his debut in this state. The American Automobile Association has sanctioned the race. It will likewise be an excellent opportunity for people to see the driver who holds the world's records on dirt track in the same car in which he hung up these records. DePalma is the most colorful of all drivers on the big speedways today. The car he will have here is a 122 cubic inch Miller, built by the famous Harry Miller of Los Angeles, California, who will have motors in at least 18 of the 30 cars that face the starter at Indianapolis, May 31st. DePalma will reach Jackson, Friday, and immediately after the races will go to Indianapolis, where he will drive in the big race. He will be in three different races here.

Arrayed against him will be the best drivers in the middle west, all registered with the A. A. W. D. Edenburn of Detroit, who has run the Indianapolis Memorial races for ten years, will be there to run the Jackson races, as representative of the A. A. A. contest boards. The trials will start at 3:00 o'clock, and arrangements have been made to care for 15,000 spectators. The grandstand will seat 7,500. The gates will open at 9:00 o'clock in the morning. Prices will be $1.10 at the gate, and 50 cents for the grandstand, with no charges for cars or parking. Box seats will be available without extra charge as long as they last.

TEMPLE THEATRE

Headline honors for the week will be divided between Miss Lucille Ballentine, Broadway's popular dance star, and C. B. Maddock's unique musical novelty, "Trump, Trump, Trump." Miss Ballentine offers a dancing flash assisted by Eric Holber, Tom Atlas, Ted Wheeler and Will Allen. Jack Cameron is the featured principal with "Trump, Trump, Trump," assisted by Tom Waters, Leo Lee, George Hall, James DeSarro, Murray Price, Jimmie Wilson and Jesse Willis. Others billed are: Jimmy Lucas, author-comedian assisted by Miss Geraldine Herbert; Edgar Bergen and Company; DuCation, "The Impenetrable Jiddle"; the Italy Trio have a novelty called "Samples"; Anderson and Vvel, comedy roller skaters, and the weekly screen program.

HAVE MICHIGAN PEOPLE GOOD FEET?

INTERESTING DEMONSTRATION TO BE HELD IN PLYMOUTH.

How many people in Plymouth have good feet? How many people within a radius of fifty miles have good feet? These questions may seem odd, but according to authorities on the foot, only three out of ten persons have really normal feet. All the rest are either pestered with corns, annoyed by callouses, suffer with tired aching feet, weak ankles, sharp shooting pains in the legs, or they endure, often for hours, agony with bunions.

Yet all of this suffering is unnecessary, declares Mr. O. M. Cowden, a foot expert of Chicago, who is coming to Plymouth on Saturday, May 29th. While here, Mr. Cowden, who is a representative of Dr. Wm. M. Scholl the famous foot authority, will give a demonstration of Dr. Scholl's Method of Foot Correction, at the Walk-Over Boot Shop.

Willoughby Brothers, of the Walk-Over Boot Shop, have issued an invitation to all foot sufferers to come and let Mr. Cowden look at their feet. He will, they declare, be pleased to show them how easily they can be rid, forever, of their aches and pains by simply being correctly fitted with shoes or perhaps with light appliances which are worn in the shoes.

1ST AMERICAN YOUTH ENTRY

Edith May Adams, eighteen-year-old Barrington, N. J., girl, presenting her entry blank to Mayor Kendrick in his office at City Hall, Philadelphia. The American Youth and Teacher Award was established as a tribute to American youth and teachers by the Board of Directors of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, through which the people of the United States and the world at large will celebrate the 150th anniversary of the Declaration of American Independence. The exposition will run from June 1 to December 1. Miss Adams' entry blank cited her for heroism displayed recently when she remained inside a burning building helping doctors render first aid to injured Bremen. She is a candidate for the Golden Eaglette, the highest gift within the hands of the Girl Scouts. Each state will elect a girl and boy and one teacher to represent them and one teacher to represent them and the successful candidates will be the guest of the Sesqui officials from June 23 to July 5 at the exposition. MUNICIPAL NOTES

BY THE MANAGER

Cheer up. Before these notes are printed, our road oil ought to be here. We hope that there will be enough HOT weather to thoroughly heat the road surface so that the oil will penetrate and spread better than it did last year.

The Commission, Monday night, authorized co-operation with the township in replacing the bridge washed out on Moreland avenue last fall, with twin corrugated iron culverts the full width of this road. Mr. Stark and his men are preparing the site, and the village will install the culvert.

Now that the library is moved into its new quarters, the front hall and the old commission room at the village hall will be redecorated. Oak floor will be laid and the walls and ceiling painted a light gray like the manager's office. When the work is done, the room will be made a part of the manager's office, and will also be used again for commission meetings.

The commission and manager attended the cornerstone laying at the new telephone building, last Tuesday, at the invitation of Manager Roy Crowe. President Robinson assisted in the ceremony, and the engraved trowel used will be kept at the hall as a memento of the occasion. The village congratulates the telephone company on their fine new building.

We would call the attention of all building contractors and of all property owners, to the fact that within the fire limits of this village, permits must be obtained to do any building or repair work, and also that certain kinds of construction are taboo in this district. This part of our building code has been called to the attention of citizens before, and there is no excuse for ignorance or disregard for the provisions of this ordinance. This comment is caused by a recent instance of a shingle roof replacement contrary to the ordinance in question.

John Oldenberg, who has cared for our parks for several years, has retired from our service, and August Kinyon has taken his place. We appreciate very much Mr. Oldenberg's faithfulness in this work.

Both of our sewer contractors are making good progress in their work. The Crowe company expects to finish up the disposal plant this month, ahead of their contract time.

Nearly all the lead water service pipes have been put in on South Main street, in anticipation of the new pavement there. Several brick gate wells remain to be built and fire hydrants are to be installed also.

It appears to be necessary to call to the attention of some auto drivers the fact that the hills around our village flats are no hill climbing testing grounds. Drivers caught and convicted of driving up and down these hills will have to answer the charge of destruction of public property.

The Manager very much regrets that he is to lose the services of Miss Alice Bullen, deputy clerk, at the end of the month. During the last year and a half, her efficient work and pleasant manners have won for her the sincere respect and liking of all those who have dealings with our office. We are advertising in this issue of the Mail for a stenographer and bookkeeper to take Miss Bullen's place.

We are asking elsewhere in this paper for bids on sidewalk work. Concrete contractors please note.

ELM SCHOOL NOTES

The play, "Examination Day at Woodhill School," and carnival given by the school, and P. T. A., Friday evening, May 14th, proved to be a success. About fifty dollars were taken in, which will go toward paying for the equipment which makes our school one of efficiency by which we are to receive a gold star to be awarded by the county commissioner's office—for the following goals: seating, flag, playground equipment, educational equipment, health and hygiene, attendance, grounds, teachers' attendance at zone meetings, Parent-Teacher organization, affiliated with the county and state, citizenship, good housekeeping and school lunches.

In order to receive the star for educational equipment, new pictures were required for the two school rooms; this award was made possible by a gift of two new pictures for each room, made by the girls 4-H Sewing club which was organized by Mrs. George Michell, Jr. This club being disorganized, their treasury fund was used in the purchase of these four beautiful pictures, selected by Mrs. Michell and Mrs. George Bentley, and presented to the school in memory of the First 4-H club of Elm. The "Examination Day at Woodhill School," followed by an old-fashioned dancing party, will be given the first week in June. Those who did not see Mr. Tarbox before, will be glad of an opportunity to see this play and enjoy a good time, Friday evening, June 4th, at Livonia town hall.

SCHOOL NOTES

The Plymouth High school base ball team was beaten by Farmington High, last Wednesday afternoon, by the score of 15 to 1. This was the first defeat suffered by our team this season. Doubt pitched very good ball, but was not supported by his teammates in the usual manner.
Last Friday afternoon Plymouth High school met and defeated Wayne in a close game—score 6 to 4. This game was a much better exhibition of base ball than the one on Wednesday, and showed that the team really possessed base ball ability. This puts Plymouth in a tie with Dearborn.

STATE JUDGING CONTESTS

Eight boys from the Agriculture class went to the State Judging Contests at the Michigan State College at East Lansing, Thursday, May 13th. Sixty-five schools were represented, and there were thirteen hundred contestants. The judging contests were held in poultry, live stock, grain and potatoes.
For the first time since the poultry contest was held, Plymouth was not represented, as most of our students eligible to enter preferred to make the trip to Ann Arbor instead. This was also true in live stock.
The following entered the Potato Judging contest: W. Curtis, C. Blunk, G. Sayles, T. Palmer and O. Partridge. They were asked to rank potatoes as first, second, third and fourth plates in each of the four varieties, and reasons for placing them in that order. Besides this, fifteen varieties names of fifteen plates of potatoes were required.
In the Grain Judging contest, the four who took part were: H. Cochrane, O. Partridge, G. Brady and D. Melzinger. They were required to place in similar groups wheat, rye, oats, and to identify twenty varieties of farm seeds. This required the time until one-thirty, when the music contest was held. Six or more students from each school which entered the contest were required to sing "A Perfect Day" and "Sailing." This contest was won by the Owosso boys.
At two o'clock, the contestants were invited to the Farmers' State program in the college gymnasium.
After this, Prof. Newman showed them the new People's Church, which was completed this week. At four o'clock, they were invited to the base ball game which was with Hope College. Michigan State College won by a score of six to two.
At six-thirty, all of the High school students were given a banquet in the college gymnasium. The main speaker for the evening was William Rainey Bennett, who spoke on "Twentieth Century Farmers."

GRADE NOTES

(By Wendell Doult)
The children of the kindergarten did very well in their hand work for the exhibit, and they also built railroads and trains, houses and airplanes out of their blocks. Lily Cool entered the kindergarten last week. The kindergarten has been reading a story of "The Little Bird" in their primers.
In Mrs. Root's room one side of the exhibit consisted of the children's silent reading; the crayoning and illustrations of the stories they had read from the Elson Pre-Primer and the Primer. They also cut out birds and butterflies, which were strung on chains between the lights. Their construction work was of sleds, Indian canoes, May baskets and different types of furniture. Their seat work was of their nature study from September until the present time. Betty Martin of the 11 first grade, has moved to Ypsilanti. Mrs. Clayton Cool was a visitor in this room, Wednesday. Donna Ambison and Genevieve Clinton returned to school after a month's absence due to sickness.
For several weeks the children in Miss Stader's room have been working on artificial flowers, with which to decorate the room for the exhibit. With the assistance of a couple of boys from the manual training room, Miss Stader made some lattice work at the entrance of both the doors and decorated the lights. The blackboard border was of ducks out in the rain. They also showed wonderful progress in their writing, as the large board consisted of their numbers, writings and drawings. They also put on exhibit three little books of Bible Study, Nature Study and Picture Study. The children have also finished the Child's Library reader, and it was enjoyed by all.
The 1-A will finish their supplementary readers this week. Also they are making baskets and decorating them with their own designs.
In Miss Harford's room, everyone had perfect numbers. The room was decorated for the exhibit with blue birds and wild flowers that were brought by the children.
Section one of Miss Harford's room have been renewing the Elson Reader. The following people did not miss one word in the whole book: Ruth Norman, Harry Fisher, Edna Woodcock, Harold Wagenschutz, Eleanor Allen, James Johnson, Roland Rhead, Edward Placta, Billy Brinks, Madeline Salow, Mildred Postiff, Vernell Hill, Lavern Kincaide and Audrey Moore. The exhibition was enjoyed by all.
The pupils of Miss Logan's room were quite pleased with the exhibit, although they were somewhat handicapped due to Miss Logan's illness.
Miss Harris had some maps on exhibition. They were the first the children ever made, and were very good. They also had posters about protecting the birds. They had theme work pertaining to English, on display, also.
The 4-B had the highest average for spelling during the last week.
The 4-A and 5-B classes in Mrs. Mole's room, had the same number of papers and drawings from each child for exhibit. This gave the visitors a good chance to see every pupil's best work.
The 4-A class are learning how to address letters.
In Mrs. Bird's room, the walls were decorated with pictures of different designs. The work that was on exhibition was all that has been completed since the beginning of the school year. Also the Palmer Method papers were returned.
The exhibition in Miss Hallehan's room had a daffodil border, and had free hand pictures. They also exhibited some very good maps. They had some fine English and Arithmetic papers. The A division have a large product map of South America.
The average in spelling are as follows: 6-A average, 89; 6-B average, 99.

Do you know why BUICK 4-wheel brakes are mechanical

Buick 4-wheel brakes are built on the same sound mechanical principle as the two-wheel brakes you always have used.

The brake on the outside front wheel releases when turning a corner. The outside front wheel needs to turn in a larger circle to avoid skidding and Buick brakes let it turn.

And the operating parts of Buick brakes are steel drop forgings.

For safety's sake, and for easier driving, pick Buick and Buick mechanical 4-wheel brakes.

TRUST CO. WILL FURNISH TWENTY-FIVE YOUNG MEN FOR CAMP CUSTER.

In order to back up the national defense to the limit the Union Trust Co., Detroit, has offered to furnish twenty-five of their young men employees as students at the C. M. T. C. at Camp Custer, July 8th to August 6th, inclusive.

In addition to giving the young men who enroll for Camp Custer their regular vacation periods, the Union Trust Co. will also give them full pay for the thirty days they are in training at Camp Custer. This is the first business institution in Michigan to permit such a large number of their employees to attend Camp Custer, with full pay for the time they are in training, and a vacation besides.

Frank W. Blair, president of the Union Trust Co., in making the announcement of the generous offer of the Trust Company, said the board of directors realized the necessity of an adequate national defense and were willing to do their best to support the government of the United States.

"We believe every young man ought to receive efficient training, and we believe the C. M. T. C. offers such a training and education every young man ought to have," said Mr. Blair. "I am sure that every young man who attends this year's camp at Camp Custer, whether he is an employee of the Union Trust Co., or a high school student, will be benefitted mentally, physically and morally as a result of the thirty days he spends at Camp Custer. He will be taught everything he ought to know to make him a highly efficient young man, no matter what his vocation is. I want to strongly endorse these training camps for young men and urge fathers and mothers throughout the state to send their sons to attend this year. It is an opportunity young men of my day did not have, and I am sure the young men who attend will be bigger, better and more successful citizens."

The twenty-five young men who will attend this year's camp will be selected from a list of more than fifty employees who signified their willingness to go and receive their pay from the Union Trust Co., and have all of their other expenses, including railroad fare to and from camp, food, clothing and medical care paid by Uncle Sam.

To be eligible for this summer's training camp at Camp Custer, young men must be between the ages of seventeen and twenty-four years, of good character and be physically sound. Every young man in Michigan who can qualify with the above conditions is invited to make an application. There will be no class distinctions, a laborer's son is given the same advantage as a millionaire's son, and the fat boy gets the same chance as a thin boy providing he qualifies.

There will be a hundred or more prizes offered for tract events and other athletic games, and the students will be coached by expert athletic directors. The athletic events will be held every afternoon in order to qualify as many students for the big athletic day, when the prizes will be awarded to the winners of each event.

Colonel Raymond Sheldon, who will command Camp Custer this summer and Colonel Wade Mills, civilian aide for Michigan to Secretary of War Davis, who have charge of getting the Michigan quota, want to close recruiting by the end of May. It is therefore necessary for young men planning on attending this year's camp to get their application in at once. When the quota for Michigan is filled not one more boy can be accepted as there will be no money to pay his expenses.

Applications can be obtained from any county committeeman, medical examiner, reserve officer in any town or city in Michigan or direct from the headquarters of the 85th Division, 204 New Telegraph Bldg., Detroit, Mich.

Picked Up About Town

According to Dad Plymouth, the saddest hour in a woman's life is when she realizes she is too old to marry a young man for love, and not young enough to marry an old man for his millions.

After a woman has been married about ten years, you can always make a hit with her by telling her she doesn't look it.

Dad Plymouth wants to know what has become of the old-fashioned fellow who used to boast that he kept all the laws of the land.

More and more it looks as though this is eventually going to be a nation of probers, by probers and for probers.

Dad Plymouth says he has come to the conclusion that the farmer is lucky. If he was more prosperous the government would be investigating him.

"Few of us worry over how much money we make," says Dad Plymouth, "but all of us worry over how much we get."

"I've noticed," says Dad Plymouth, "that folks who drag the family skeleton out of the closet, are always careful to hide the bones."

The G-BOY

Scores a Genuine Triumph

The enthusiastic welcome given the G-BOY, Graham Brothers new one-ton truck, has established this fact:

It is recognized at once as a real—a major—contribution to commercial haulage.

So great was the need for a light truck to transport the average load swiftly, easily, safely—yet at lower cost than ever before—that Graham Brothers newest product has scored an immediate triumph.

The revolutionary improvement in balance effected by a new system of weight distribution profoundly impresses every man who has ever had experience with the haulage problem.

The compact wheel base, ease of handling, generous body capacity, the advantages of the ever-dependable and always economical Dodge Brothers engine—all these important factors enter into the G-BOY'S marked success.

And then the price! So low that only Graham Brothers, the largest exclusive truck makers, with huge buying and building capacity, could possibly achieve it.

For the average load there is nothing like the G-BOY. We are eager to show you this latest contribution to commercial haulage.

STRIKES

When LABOR strikes it quits work. When FIRE strikes it goes to work. In both cases the effect is the same—production is suspended, income stopped, while fixed charges, such as salaries, interest and taxes, go relentlessly on.

In England, as a result of the strike of five million workers, many firms will be unable to survive the drain of lost profits and continued expense. In this country many firms suffer severely or fail because they neglect to indemnify themselves against loss from suspension of operations, as the result of fire, tornado, explosion, strikes or riot.

Loss from interruption of business may be even more serious than loss to property. Protection for production and profits, which every manufacturer and merchant needs, can be secured through this office.

Power

When we tell you to judge Havoline oil by the power it gives your engine, we are describing its superiority in the most direct and practical way.

Power is a sure test of value—in men, materials or machines. It separates winner and loser, champion and pretender—the quick and the dead. It's only human to desire it.

Any car can test oil-power. Try your own car with Havoline. Once you feel it "come through" for you, you'll never deny your engine the extra pep and vim that result from the use of quality oil.

Worth Millions and Died of Starvation

A Greek named Papadakis, born in the village of Galaxidi, Greece, and at one time a deputy, recently died in Athens. Cind in rags, he had lived for some time in an attic.

From time to time Papadakis' neighbors took pity on him and went to his assistance. His daily food consisted of a little milk in the morning, a few olives and some dry bread in the evening—just enough to stave off starvation. After his death the authorities searched the attic and found only a few articles of worn-out clothing and a battered valise containing some pencils and two rusty pocket knives.

Shortly after Papadakis' burial, however, a young man visited police headquarters declaring that he was the old man's son and that the latter was a millionaire, possessing a great deal of valuable property in his native province and in Athens itself. He added that his father, a miser, had alienated himself from his family and relatives, none of whom he would permit to visit him.

The son requested a death certificate from the authorities in order that he might act as the dead man's legitimate heir. The police official of the district in which Papadakis had spent his last days, who knew the old man, suspected fraud and opened a formal inquiry. Several witnesses were summoned and corroborated the son's story.

It was developed that Papadakis possessed a fortune estimated at more than 10,000,000 drachmas (a drachma is worth, normally, 13.3 cents) and consisting of three large buildings in the center of Athens, some valuable real estate on the Avenue Amalie and near Zappion, and many rich acres of farm land in his native province.

Physicians who conducted a post-mortem examination of the old man certified that he had died of starvation. The room where he lived was so filthy and foul smelling that the doctors could remain in it only a few moments at a time. He was eighty-five years old and had existed under these conditions long enough to become a familiar figure in the neighborhood.—From La. Bulgarie, Sofia. (Translated for the Kansas City Star.)

Back in 1880

"Here's a picture taken of me in 1880," said a man who doesn't look his years. "You'll notice I've got on one of those stiff hats that was about as tall as a playing card. Look at the collar. That is the style that John L. wore when he was in his prime. And the shirt was a white one with a front that was as stiff as a board and glistened as if it were varnished. In those days the only persons who wore colored shirts were men who worked in factories and shops. Then we always dressed up on Sunday, and the man was a poor fish who didn't have a 'good' suit, a 'good' pair of shoes, and a 'good' hat. In time it became second best, then 'every day' and finally they reached the 'work' stage. This outfit was my 'good' one."—Detroit News.

Saving Grapevines

An epidemic of measles has been afflicting California grapevines, and a new remedy is put forward by L. O. Bonnet of the California agricultural experiment station. The disease is the same as the affliction of the vine known in France as "apoplexy," though it has no relation to either measles or apoplexy in human beings. It makes dead patches in the leaves, and then kills off whole shoots and ruins the fruit, working from the top of the vine downward. Mr. Bonnet has found that spraying the vines with 4 or 6 per cent sodium arsenate solution will prevent the development of the disease.

Boxing Match for a Church

One novel method of settling religious differences between the orthodox and the "Living" Russian church was adopted at Sorbichini village, near Lubni, in the Poltavsky district. A boxing match between the leaders of the two congregations was advertised for several days and was staged on the Zubovka river at midday. Before the start an agreement was signed that the congregation whose entry won should have undisputed possession of the village church. But the ice started to crack and there was no decision.

Unique Reward

Some time ago Leo M. Dixon, Warren (Ohio) policeman, saved a frail and elderly woman from death on the street. She offered money to him and he refused it. Later a florist delivered a carnation to Dixon as he stood at his post and told him that he had a standing order to deliver a fresh carnation to him every morning as long as he and the woman are alive.

Fashions and Fiction

"What do you think of these new togs?"

"I approve of them," answered Miss Cayenne. "They aren't very appealing to the eye, but they at least help to prevent fiction writers from referring to a manly sultor as looking like a 'Greek god.'"—Washington Star.

Nerves of Steel, Too?

"Here," said a lady to a beggar, "is a glass of water—pure, cold, delicious water. What! You refuse it?"

He shook his head and sighed. "I have to ma'am," he said. "You see, I've got an iron constitution, and water would rust it."—Dartmouth Chronicle.

Fine Dress Material

Softer than the softest silk or wool with a pliability greater than any other known cloth, is the new dress material invented by a noted Paris garment designer. It is made from the finest ostrich feathers, says Popular Science Monthly. These downy feathers are plucked from the quills treated by a special process and then woven into cloth. The finished product is said to be lighter in weight than the finest down, yet very durable and capable of effects in colors and patterns that are difficult to obtain in the materials now in common use.

"WHY WOMEN LOVE"

Somehow one expects epic drama when the boundless sea is the background for the story.

And when, as in the case of "Why Women Love," the First National picture, which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre Saturday, May 22nd, the story is enacted by the exceptionally brilliant cast, and directed by Edwin Carewe, a master craftsman in stirring emotions, there is nothing left to be desired. In fact, this production can safely be ranked with the best pictures of the year.

Blanche Sweet makes her debut as an exclusive First National player in this picture, and she has put into her part the touches that have stamped her as one of the screen's foremost emotional artists. As Molla, who has spent her girlhood on board her father's vessel, she contributes a characterization that is unique and powerful.

Robert Frazer easily is the type, dark, dashing and devoted, to capture the fancy of Molla. Dorothy Sebastian, as the rebellious daughter of a lighthouse keeper, whose life has been soured by an ill-fated romance, starts with the realism of her work. Finely etched characterizations are given by Russell Simpson, Edward Earle, Alan Roscoe, Charles Murray, Bert Sprotte, Fred Warren and Herbert Prior.

"Why Women Love" was adapted from Willard Robertson's stage success, "The Sea Woman."

Here is a picture that you can't afford to miss if you enjoy the finer things of the screen.

"MIKE"

"Mike," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, directed by Marshall Neilson, which will be shown at the Penniman Allen theatre on Sunday and Monday, May 23 and 24, is described as one of the best and most amusing pictures that director has yet turned out in a long career of notable successes. This seems reasonable to assume as the story itself is Neilson's own.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has given this talented director another outstanding cast, Sally O'Neil, a wonderful newcomer; Charlie Murray, Ford Sterling, Muriel Frances Dana, Frankie Duro, Junior Coghlan, William Haines, Sam De Grasse, Ned Sparks and other well known players appear in the picture. Miss O'Neil, who plays the title role, makes her screen debut in "Mike." She is Neilson's latest discovery, and he states that she will develop into a star in a surprisingly short time.

"Mike" is pure entertainment. It abounds in comedy—of the sort that Neilson is noted for. It has a charming love story and there are many moments of intense excitement culminating in breath-taking thrills. But its chief quality is its humor, which runs from subtle wit to broad comedy.

The story deals with the life of the family of a section boss, whose division is that part of a transcontinental railroad that crosses the desert. The home of the group is an ingeniously appointed box car.

"TOO MUCH MONEY"

Anna Q. Nilsson will be seen next Wednesday, May 26th, in the garb of a housewife—checkered apron, gingham dress and all—when First National's latest picture, "Too Much Money," comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, with Miss Nilsson and Lewis Stone in the featured roles.

Of course, the star wears beautiful clothes, too. But her real acting is done in a little Bronx apartment where, plainly garbed, she sweeps her own floor, scrubs her own sink and washes her own dishes.

In "Too Much Money," Miss Nilsson is the wife of Lewis Stone, a man with too much money for his own happiness. Her time is so taken up with social affairs that Stone decides to turn his wealth over to a friend and pose before his wife as a pauper.

"Too Much Money" is an adaptation of Israel Zangwill's stage hit of the same title. It was directed by John Francis Dillon, under the supervision of Earl Hudson. In the supporting cast are Robert Cain, Ann Brody, Edward Elkas, Dorothy King and Derek Glynn.

STATE PREPARING FOR NEARING SHOW

UNIQUE PROGRAMS BEING COMPILED. CAVALRY CADETS AND BAND DRILL.

Unique souvenir program will be a special feature of the Third Annual Horse Show to be held May 28th and 29th, in the foot ball stadium of the "campus beautiful." The celebration coming as it does the week-end before Decoration Day is expected to be among the most popular exhibits of saddle horses and horsemanship in the middle west.

Besides the general technical information about the competing horses the program booklet will contain explanatory notes concerning the fine points in judging the excellence of the various performers. To a novice attending such a show, this clearcut information is expected to be of considerable interest and help.

Drum Major James Hands has been busily engaged whipping the crack cavalry military band into condition to entertain the horse show audience "between acts." Of special interest to the students is the special drill formation of the block "S," the recently adopted school insignia replacing "M. A. C." of previous years.

The cadet cavalry officers are busily ironing out the defects in the hurdling and charging of the cavalry unit mounts. Some of the horses are hardly controllable after their long winter of inactivity. Others have forgotten a bit of the fluency they exhibited last spring, and must have their memories jogged a little by the steel spurs and tightened reins of the cadet officers.

The local horses, however, will have a comparatively small part in the heavy program of the two days. They are entering but few of the thirty-two classes. The main attractions will be the thoroughbred animals from the larger cities of the middle west.

Today's Reflections

Things have gotten so in some Plymouth families, father has to ask the children two or three days ahead if he can use the car.

If nature is so grand, why doesn't the lightning bug carry his headlight in front where headlights are supposed to be?

Autos are now coming in a new variety of colors, but pedestrians still have to be content with black and blue.

Whenever you see a Plymouth man wearing both a belt and a pair of suspenders you can know he believes in "Safety First."

Make hay while the sun shines and you won't have to borrow an umbrella when it rains.

You can always tell an amateur auto driver. They always stop when they run over anybody.

Not all things are even. Citizens of Plymouth always welcome the first robin, but you don't hear them doing any cheering when the first fly shows up.

Kentucky has adopted the goldenrod as her official flower. This looks like a direct snub at the hay-fever vote.

After a Plymouth man has struggled for two hours trying to light the kitchen fire, it's hard to convince him that a cigarette can start one that will destroy whole forests.

Our idea of a diary is a book in which you can write down the things you are too timid to say out in public.

If you meet a Plymouth man who seems in more of a hurry to get home to dinner than usual, you can know that house-cleaning is over at his house.

It seems France has about reached the point where nothing will help her as much as a good cry.

William Wrigley says the sun never sets on his chewing gum. No, but often the daughter sticks a wad of it where somebody else does.

The reason the average Plymouth mother is so proud of her good-looking, well-behaved children is she knows they take after her.

Lightning never strikes twice in the same place, because the same place isn't there after the first stroke.

LOWERING HOME COSTS; CO-ORDINATING CITY GROWTH; TO BE BIG CONVENTION TOPICS.

PRACTICAL BUSINESS MATTERS TO HAVE LARGE PART ON TULSA PROGRAM, OVER ONE HUNDRED SPEAKERS NOW SCHEDULED.

The cost of building homes may be lowered through better circulation of sound ideas for construction economy. That is the thesis upon which the National Association of Real Estate Builders has called a national home builders conference as a leading feature of its nineteenth annual convention. City planning as it must enter into the work of the man who plots out a new subdivision or develops a new industrial tract will be a second large topic of the convention, which is expected to bring together between 3,500 and 4,000 of the leading real estate men of the United States and Canada.

The National body of Realtors will also consider methods of control which should be exercised to insure sound development of subdivisions. It will study essentials in the development of a central manufacturing district, and best methods of solving the location problem for factories and other industrial plants. It will discuss work of official appraisal committees of real estate boards and the growing opportunities for technical education in real estate as a special field of economics, and confer on raising the efficiency of real estate advertising, which now has a volume second only to that of the advertising of one other commercial product. Intensive discussions will also be held on business problems connected with the brokerage of real estate.

BUILDERS MEET

What is reported to be the first meeting called expressly for builders by Realtors, has just been held in Detroit by the Michigan Real Estate Association.

About one hundred Realtors, contractors, architects and builders supply men of Fort Wayne, attended this meeting as well as a number of representatives in and around Detroit. Many important matters were discussed in connection with building cost and construction.

It is gratifying to note the co-operation between the builders and the Realtors.

TOURIST CONFERENCE

The local secretary of the Plymouth Real Estate Board has just been notified of a Michigan Lake Frontage Development and Tourist Conference held under the joint auspices of the Michigan Real Estate Association, Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, East Michigan Tourist Association, and the Michigan Tourist and Resort Association to be held in Muskegon, Michigan, May 20 and 21.

This conference will be attended by representatives from all parts of Michigan. They will go into the details of accommodations and the handling of the tourists' trade. The preservation of Michigan game and animal life that attracts tourists, and many other matters.

HISTORY IN CAKE

A field near the factory has been obtained for fabrication and testing of the planes. The plane is of the four- or five-passenger enclosed cabin type, with the cabin heated and ventilated. It has brakes on the wheel, adjustable stabilizer, and a self-starter for the motor. The power plant is a 200-horse power, air-cooled Wright motor.—Michigan Investor.

This replica of historic Independence Hall in Philadelphia is a fine example of the baker's art. It was made by the chef of one of Philadelphia's leading hotels to advertise the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, which will open in that city June 1 and run to December 4 to celebrate the 150th anniversary of American independence. The "State House" stands on a table at the entrance to the main dining room of the hotel.

BROKER EXAMINATION STIFF IN CALIFORNIA

J. R. Gabbert, state real estate commissioner of California, will hold written examinations for brokers who make application for licenses.

"The state license law of California authorizes such an examination," said Gabbert in the San Francisco Bulletin, and he quotes the following extracts from the law:

"In addition to proof of honesty, truthfulness and good reputation of any applicant for a broker's license, the real estate commissioner may also require proof that the applicant has a fair knowledge of the English language, including reading, writing, spelling, elementary arithmetic, a fair understanding of the rudimentary principles of real estate conveyancing, the general purposes and general legal effect of deeds, mortgages, land contracts of sale and leases, and a general and fair understanding of the obligations between principal and agent as well as of the provisions of the California real estate act."
