Grandfather of the First White Woman to Locate in Plymouth Bore Active Part in Founding of the State.

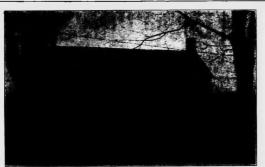

(By Karl H. Starkweather

The Vermont Sesqui-Centennial celebration is necessarily of more than ordinary interest to at least several families now residing in this village. Captain John Benjamin, grandfather of the first white woman to locate in Plymouth and adjacent townships, is today being signally honored in the historic town of Windsor, Vermont. Four commemorative tablets have been recently placed at historic points in that community, and one of these specifically mentions the name of John Benjamin as being one of the and particular thousands of the mind the midding. The state of Obio has set her siste wife. She has selected from the stat wire. She has selected from the state university an expect modifiest, a man who knows all there is to know about sewing annichines. He is visiting each county seat, and through the county seat newspapers housewives whose sewing machines are not working sat isfactorily are invited to bring them in on certain dates to a "sewing machine clinic." They are fixed free of charge, the state paying all costs. Today, with so many farm families boasting autos, the "sewing machine clinic" is possible in all communities. No reason appears why our own state should not follow Ohio's ex-ample. We feel sure housewives around Plymouth would welcome a chance to have their sewing machines put in tirst-class order, and that other communities would be as intersted. Who'll wake up over at the

THE SUMMER WHITE HOUSE.

We've read a good deal of con House," and it is interesting to find that not one newspaper in the country has criticised President Cooldige for electing to spend his vacation in the northwest. In fact, we find one editor arguing that it would be a good idea to have a "Summer White House" in every section, with the president alternating his vacation time among them He argues that in that way the presi-dent could keep in closer touch with every part of the country, and be in position to render still greater service But that will probably strike the verage Plymouth render as going of ar. He will agree, however, that President Cooldage has, in spending his summer in the northwest, set an example other residents can follow in the future with profit to the whole country. There is too much of this country lying west of the Mississippl river to be neglected by even a presi-dent, and too much beauty he cannot afford to miss. It is the puntry of the nation, and from it comes our men nation, and from it comes our ment and bread. It is entitled to a visit at least once a year from the highest official in the land; such visits serve to bring the people of the nation into a closer bond of friendship. FOOLISH FADS.

This is a great country for fads. Let someone start doing or saying something different from what has been previously said or done, and spreads like wildfire. A few season ago someone pasted a sticker on the windshield of his auto, and then came a fad for "bathing beauties" and slogans plastered all over the car. Motorists are pretty much the same everywhere, so Plymouth contributed her quota to the lot. Now, however. some states prohibit stickers windshields, and several states b special ordinances against cars being operated with anything on the windshield tending to in any way interfere with the vision of the driver. Fads are harmless as a genera-rule, but here is one that does not bring any real pleasure or enjoyment but that does actually endanger the lives of others driving on the same thoroughfare, as well as the life of the man sitting behind the sticker In this day and time a driver needs to have both eyes wide open every second he is at the wheel, and he needs a clear view. Anything that will obscure his view for an instant must be classed as dangerous, and the windshield sticker is very apt to do that very thing at the wrong moment Have your fads, if you wish, but don't follow the kind that carries even the smallest element of danger. The windshield sticker is far more dangerous than it is ornamental. Discourage its use by refusing to put it on your car or to let anyone else put it there

What Better Railroad Service Has Meant to Business

Agricultural commodities have shown an upward tendency in prices during the current year, while the course of industrial and raw material prices has taken a downward trend. We have been going through a period of price re-adjustments—always a critical time for business—but, in this instance, there were not the usual accompanying shocks to business peculiar to such periods.

 $oldsymbol{T}$ he major reason for this absence of disturbances in business is that smaller inventories are being carried nowadays since the rail-road service of the country assures certain and speedy delivery. Traders carry smaller stocks, and business, therefore, is carried on with less capital and with fewer hazards.

More stabilized business conditions are assured American business, and with these, consequently, failures become less likely and less frequent.

What the workings of the Federal Reserve Act proves to be to business, through the stabilizing of credits, the improved steam railroad transportation service is accomplishing through its regular and its prompt deliveries. So the large outlays to better the service have justified themselves. Both expedients work to the same end in their respective spheres. They avert the shocks.

In Michigan, this is particularly true. Vast sums, in recent years, have been expended to achieve this new standard of service. Seven of the nine railroads serving Michigan alone are expending this year nearly $26,000,000 in new engines and cars and in improvements and betterments which will continue these stabilizing forces.

These expenditures, too, were made right at home, and at a time when the hull in industry, through which we have just passed, was at its low ebb. Therefore, these $26,000,000, going largely to labor, raw materials and manufactured commodities, served appreciably to buoy up conditions.

Michigan railroads have, therefore, been more than local common-carriers. They have, through their service, removed some of the hazards inherent in business in former years.

PLYMOUTH MERCHANTS WIN FROM NORTHVILLE, 11 TO 1.

The game was very one-sided. The Plymouth pitchers got twenty strikeouts and allowed only three hits for one score. It is hoped that next Sunday we will have a ball game. We play Ypellanti, at Burrougha field at 3:00 o'clock, and it hoped that they will put up a better game so that our boys will have to play their best.

Plymouth—0:110:17:01*—11 9 1

1: NETHEM 3, COLLEGE PARK MERCHANTS 0.

Nethem journeyed to Hawthorne Valley Golf course last Sunday, in order to meet a team whose slate, thus far has been clean and no defeat rendered them. Before a very large crowd the victor was conquered; the mighty did fall, as Hy Gale mounted the rubber for the Nethem boys, with fire in his eye and muscle in his arm. He sent twenty of the Hawthorne boys to the bench—a sensational record; twenty strike-outs. Hy surely was in excellent form, and very politely demonstrated it to all. Only seven chances were given the remainder of the team, and each handled his sole chance well.

Hy should have given the Hawthorne boys a goose egg, but for a misunderstanding on an overthrow rule. Gale featured this game all the way understanding on an overthrow rule. Gale featured this game all the way through, having twenty strike-outs and three beautiful hits to his credit. Hawthorne— 00010000—1 5 2 Nethem— 03321000—9 15 2 Batteries—Kreger, Bixler, Calhoun, Hy Gale, Joe Schomberger.

The Rousseau Rouge Park, at Newburg, was the scene of a very interesting and brilliant ball game last Monday, the Fourth of July. The strong College Park Merchants motored out to our suburban city, Newburg, in order to "wallop," as they said, the Nethem boys ball team; and from the build of the boys it seemed as though they were going to carry out their threat. But "David met Gollath," and so did Nethem meet College Park Merchants, and as the mighty Gollath yielded to little David, so did the College Park team yield to the Nethem boys, with Doyle Rowland in the box. If ever a game was filled with thrills and nervous prostrations, this one surely was. Time and time again, Doyle Rowland would have three on the sacks with none or one out, and them the boyish hurler would be as accurate with his throw as was David Isn't it funny how one sweltering day in summer can make you forget whole weeks last winter when you thought you'd freeze to death?

We don't know which is worse, the guests who worry for fear their chil-dren will become a nuisance or those who don't care if they do.

There are still a lot of fellows around Plymouth who would rather go to jail for a few weeks than to carve a chicken when there's company at the table.

We know of some men around Plymouth who spend as much time trying to keep their hair from coming out as their wives spend in trying to keep the wrinkles from showing.

The reason a bride should have year is there is always a chance they'll be the last new clothes she'll get for a long time.

Northville firemen are very grateful to Manager Lush of 'the Penniman Allen theatre for his consideration of them at the time of the recent benefit show. CHAMPIONSHIP M. S. C. HORSES ROTARY CLUB PASSES RESOLU-TION ENDORSING PAYING OF HIGHWAY.

> At the noonday luncheon of the Plymouth Rotary Club, a resolution was presented to the club to have Moreland avenue which bounds the a trunk line road, which would con nect the Ann Arbor paved road with Grand River just west of the grade separation in Novi. This road enters Northville on Center street, and the Rotary Club of that village have pass-ed favorably upon the resolution. The resolution was brought to the atten-tion of the local club by Attorney Fred Cochrane of Northville. It is though that if there was local support to the project the matter could be accomplish-ed within the next year. It has been pointed out that this road would do away with many grade crossings be tween Grand River and the Ann Arbor new trunk line there is but one, and that is not regarded in a bad location

The local club passed the resolution without a dissenting vote.

THE THEATRE

THE RETURN OF PETER GRIMM

Every so often some motion pictur cern turns out a production which is set off the beaten path. A picture, as it were, that one is inclined to talk of long after seeing it.

"The Return of Peter Grimm. which comes to the Penniman Aller heatre. Wednesday, July 13th.

Fox Films deserves high praise for the screen version of David Belasco great drama of several years ago in which David Warfield immortalized himself. Alec B. Francis plays Peter Grimm in a manner which should be a credit to any luminary of either stage of screen. Francis has always seen a favorite of this reviewer but he has never done anything which at-tempts to match his performance in Both are a treat for sore eyes. John this great story.

"The Return of Peter Grimm" deals with life's greatest question—can the dead commune with the living? The play did not attempt to answer this question. Neither does the picture. But the great problem is presented in vivid fashion and the spectator is pernitted to draw his or her own co

Some of the most dramatic scene ever recorded by the motion picture amera are incorporated into the final equences when the kindly old Peter Frimm returns in the shadow and observes a situation which greatly dis-tresses him. Richard Walling and Janet Gaynor have the leading romantic roles and Roche plays the villain to perfection. The remainder of the cast fits into the picture like clockwork.

"STEPPING ALONG"

Johnny Hines has without a doubt broken the laugh record for all times He deserves the championship comedy

"Stepping Along." which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, Saturday, July 16th, has more fast and furious fun to the cubic foot than any comedy that has come this way this season, besides being jammed from opening to fade-out with the color and life of New York's Broadway.

Johnny, as a funmaker, is irresistible in this number, now whimsical in his interpretation and now putting a comedy twist to a situation so that it registers with a bang, followed by a salvo of laughter.

The comedy is an adaption of Matt Taylor's sorry, "The Knickerbocker Kid." and shows the many amusing situations that a New York newsboy with a sense of humor can get into when he decides to take a fling at politics.

Johnny, as the newsboy, not only furnishes the bilarity, but brings home the bacon, knocks out the villain in a screamingly funny and original and wins the heart of pretty fight and w Mary Brian.

It's Johnny's hot foot that win him friends in his Bowery neighborhood. Then he dances to fame for the po-litical boss and keeps it up.

Also permit us to state that Johnny Hines is one of the most generous comedians in the movies. He always gives his supporting cast a chance to turn loose their abilities.

Mary Brian, as the girl, is the best leading lady Johnny has had to date, and besides being apt at screen com-edy she hundles her emotional scenes with perfect understanding.

William Gaxton is the villain-but a most handsome one, who scores his points easily, and Ruth Dwyer is love-ly and charming as the girl reporter.

Two old favorites, Edmund Breese and Dan Mason, are splendld folls for the comedian in some of the most hilarious episodes.

Charles Hines bandled the direction in his usual capable manner, never losing a chance to put over a comed; moment so that it would register.

Indeed, "Stepping Along" is the most clever celluloid affair that has come our way this season and should not be overlooked by those who like Drink a cooling, energy-building beverage during the summer months. Drink milk—more milk and be healthful. Milk is a food. Milk is a thirst-quenching drink. Milk is good for old and young. Milk is not a stimulant. Milk is a satisfying food value in liquid form. Milk shakes—milk in cold cocoas or chocolates, milk in sodas. As an ice cold beverage—unsurpassed. Hills milk is good milk, the best to be had. Tests highest and richest in food values. Increase your milk budget, the best investment you can make this summer. Try it for a few weeks—and you'll never alter the program. Fresh every day, rich, creamy milk.
