KIWANIS AND ROTARY CLUBS PLAY SANTA CLAUS

Hundreds of Children in This Community Remembered at Christmas Time By Two Local Clubs.

The true spirit of Christmas was shown by the Kiwanis Club of Plymouth, in the way they remembered the less fortunate children of Plymouth and vicinity on Christmas.

A careful survey of the community brought the committee consisting of Robert Minnick, J. R. Hubert, Dewey Hollaway and George Robinson, a long list of names of boys and girls whose prospects for a "Merry Christmas" were not bright. Through the efforts of the Kiwanians, assisted by an appropriation from the Red Cross through the efforts of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bennett, the hearts of 145 youngsters and twenty deserving families were cheered by the distribution of baskets filled with nuts, candy, oranges, apples, toys, groceries, shoes and wearing apparel.

Dewey Hollaway again played the part of Santa, and by his genial and happy manner brought smiles and happiness at every place he and his helpers stopped in their calls on Christmas eve. The happiness and joy which these remembrances bring at the Christmas time is something wonderful and only those who really participate in the work of distribution know how much happiness it brings to the recipients.

A representative of the Mail saw the baskets when they were ready for distribution, and they certainly looked fine. The members of the committee expressed themselves as having received a lot of pleasure out of this work, and they are certainly to be commended for their efforts.

The Plymouth Rotary club was next to a large number of boys and girls at the regular luncheon hour of the club last Friday. Among the guests present were seventy boys and girls from the Wayne County Training School in charge of Rotarian Robert Haskell, superintendent of that institution, and his assistants. They gave several song numbers in a most pleasing manner. At the conclusion of the program, every boy and girl was remembered with gifts distributed by Santa Claus, in the person of the genial Rotarian Harry C. Robinson.

It was a most happy occasion and thoroughly enjoyed not only by the boys and girls, but by the Rotarians as well.

The Rotary Club also provided a merry Christmas to a number of deserving families.

SPLENDID NEW YEAR'S BILL AT LOCAL THEATRE

The management of the Penniman Allen theatre announces a splendid bill New Year's night and the following Monday night, at the local theatre. The attraction is Buster Keaton in "College." This picture is said to be one of the best comedies Buster has ever appeared in, and a scream from start to finish.

CHRISTMAS AT THE PRISON FARM

The two hundred and ninety-three men and seventy-eight women prisoners at the House of Correction Farm, were given a chicken dinner with all the trimmings on Christmas day. Rev. Turk of Detroit, conducted a religious service in the morning, and in the afternoon several young ladies from Rev. Turk's church in the city, rendered several songs that were greatly appreciated. A Christmas tree with all the decorations, was laden with candy, fruit and nuts for the inmates.

BASKETBALL

Plymouth lost two more games last Friday night. The second team played the Wayne County Training School, which has a very good team made up of boys who knew very little about basketball before they started on the team. Trained by Donald Waller of Plymouth, they made a good team for Plymouth to play.

The first team played The Business Institute of Detroit, which had a very good but small team. One substitute was all they had, and he was put in for a player who was disqualified on four fouls, and there being another player with three fouls, a man from the night was put on a suit. He was needed before he returned, and so they waited and the game went on. Both teams fought hard although the score ended, The Business Institute 43, and Plymouth 24.

The Plymouth fire department was called, and responded to the alarm and rendered good service in keeping the farm house from burning. The buildings and contents were only partially covered by insurance.

DEATH OF MRS. MARGARET SACKETT

Margaret Winter was born December 10th, 1849, in Dundee, Scotland, and died December 20th, 1927, at the age of 78 years and 10 days.

She came to Ypsilanti, Michigan, at the age of 21 and made her home with her aunt and uncle until her marriage to Arden Sackett, April 13th, 1877. To this union five sons were born, one of whom passed away at the age of two, and the four remaining sons, Clark, Lee, Jay and Ray, are all residents of Plymouth.

Mr. Sackett preceded his wife to the home beyond eight years ago.

Besides her immediate family, one cousin, Mrs. Mary Morrow, of Blissfield, Michigan, and a host of friends remain to mourn their loss.

Mrs. Sackett was a woman of many sterling qualities, a kind neighbor, a faithful friend and a loving mother, whose chief interest centered in her home, her children and her grandchildren, by whom she will be greatly missed.

Services for Mrs. Sackett were held Wednesday afternoon at her home on Forest avenue, conducted by Rev. Nichol of the Presbyterian church.

The funeral services were many and beautiful, many testimonials to the esteem in which she was held.

DEATH OF MRS. CARRIE QUINN

Mrs. Carrie Quinn, aged 39 years, died at Receiving hospital, Detroit, Thursday, December 22nd.

The funeral services were held from Schrader Bros. Funeral Home, Saturday morning, December 24th, at 10:00 o'clock. Dr. F. A. Lendrum officiating. The interment took place in the Sanford cemetery near Howell.

The bride has been a teacher in the rural schools of this vicinity for the past several years. The groom is manager of the Main street store of the Kroger Grocery and Baking Co. in this village. The young couple have the best wishes of their many friends for a happy and prosperous wedded life.

FRANK MURRAY DIES SUDDENLY

Frank G. Murray was born in Superior township, Washtenaw County, May 8th, 1861, and died at his home on East Ann Arbor street, Plymouth, December 23, 1927, after an illness of two hours.

With the exception of two years, his entire life was spent on a farm seven miles west of Plymouth, until nine years ago, when they moved to the home on East Ann Arbor street.

On March 21, 1883, he was united in marriage to Myrtle Sheffield, and to this union three daughters were born.

Mr. Murray was a man of sterling character, and his kind and genial disposition won him many friends who will sadly miss him. He leaves to mourn their loss, his wife three daughters, Mrs. Glenn Lyke of Salem, Mrs. Arthur Bunk and Miss Fernie Murray of this place; four grandchildren, Myrlin, Donald and Doris Lyke and Zephira Bunk; and one brother, W. W. Murray of this place.

Funeral services were held from Schrader Bros. Funeral Home, Tuesday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock. Dr. F. A. Lendrum officiating. Calvin and Austin Whipple sang two beautiful selections. The interment took place in the Lapham's cemetery.

DAISY MANUFACTURING CO. ENTERTAINS ITS EMPLOYEES

Fourth Annual Daisy Christmas Party Was Held at Penniman Allen Theatre Last Saturday Afternoon.

The Company Again Played Santa Claus and Distributed Large Sums of Money Among Its Employees.

FORMER RESIDENT DIES IN OHIO

Charles J. Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Jackson, former residents of Plymouth, died at Riverside hospital, Warren, Ohio, Wednesday afternoon. Peritonitis was the cause of death. The deceased was born in Plymouth June 17th, 1885. He leaves his wife, one son and a step-son and father and mother. Mr. Jackson went to Youngstown, O., several years ago, where he engaged in the store fixture business. The remains were brought to Plymouth and funeral services will be held from the Schrader Bros. Funeral Home Saturday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. Interment in Riverside cemetery.

C. H. Bennett, president of the Daisy company, extended a most hearty welcome to the guests of the afternoon, in behalf of the officials of the company. He spoke of the wonderful cooperation and the friendly feeling that existed between the company and its employees. Mr. Bennett stated that the Christmas checks which were distributed among the employees of the company this year showed a larger total than at any other time since the plan was inaugurated several years ago, and that he hoped it would be still larger next year. He closed his remarks with a wish that everyone present would have a merry Christmas and happy and prosperous new year.

Harry Verot, the magician, gave a clever exhibition of magic in which he kept his audience guessing as to how he performed his tricks. Near the close of his act, he called James McKeever to the stage, and after borrowing Jimmy's watch and dropping it several times upon the floor and finally causing it to mysteriously disappear, the magician presented Mr. McKeever with a handsome gold watch and chain, on behalf of the company, in recognition of his 26 years of faithful service.

Jimmy was somewhat bewildered, and wanted to know if the watch in the box was the real thing or just his old watch. However, before regaining his seat he found his old watch all intact, reposing in the pocket of his coat. The incident created a lot of merriment, and it is needless to say that Jimmy is more than pleased with his new watch.

The afternoon's program closed with a splendid feature picture, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

These annual gatherings of the Daisy family surely bring about a firm feeling of cooperation and helpfulness upon the part of employer and employee that augurs well for a better understanding and closer contact of both.

A PSALM FOR NEW YEAR'S EVE

By Dinah Muloch Craik

A FRIEND stands at the door:
In either tight-closed hand
Hiding rich gifts, three hundred and three score;
Even as send the sower,
Each drop, he treats it in,
and passes by;
It cannot be made fruitful till
it die.

O good New Year, we clasp
This warm shut hand of thine,
Losing forever, with half sigh,
half wisp,
That which from ours falls
like dead fingers' twine;
Ay, whether fierce his grasp
Has been, or gentle, having been, we know
That it was blessed, let the Old Year go.

O New Year, teach us faith!
The road of life is hard;
When our feet bleed, and scouring
winds us scathe,
Point thou to Him whose vi-sage was more marred
Than any man's; who saith,
"Make straight paths for your feet," and to the oppressor,
"Come ye to Me, and I will give you rest."

Yet hang some lamp-like hope
Above this unknown way,
Kind year, to give our spirits
freer scope
And our hands strength to work while it is day.
But if that way must slope Tombward, oh, bring before our fading eyes
The lamp of life, the Hope that never dies.

Comfort our souls with love—
Love of all human kind;
Love special, close—in which,
like sheltered dove,
Each weary heart its own safe nest may find;
And love that turns above
Adoringly, contented to resign
All loves, if need be, for the Love Divine.

Friend, come thou like a friend,
And whether bright thy face,
Or dim with clouds we cannot comprehend,
We'll hold out patient hands,
each in his place,
And trust thee to the end,
Knowing thou leadest onwards to those spheres
Where there are neither days,
nor months, nor years.

CHRISTMAS IN PLYMOUTH.

Christmas is over and Plymouth's homes, churches and stores are again assuming something approaching their every day appearance. To be sure the holiday decorations in most cases have been left in place throughout the week, but throughout the village things in general have returned to "normalcy."

In the stores Christmas goods are being removed from show windows and show cases, their places being taken with other merchandise. At the postoffice there was quite an accumulation of mail, added to by the packages and greeting cards, received too late for delivery Saturday, and Monday was quite a strenuous day for the mail carriers.

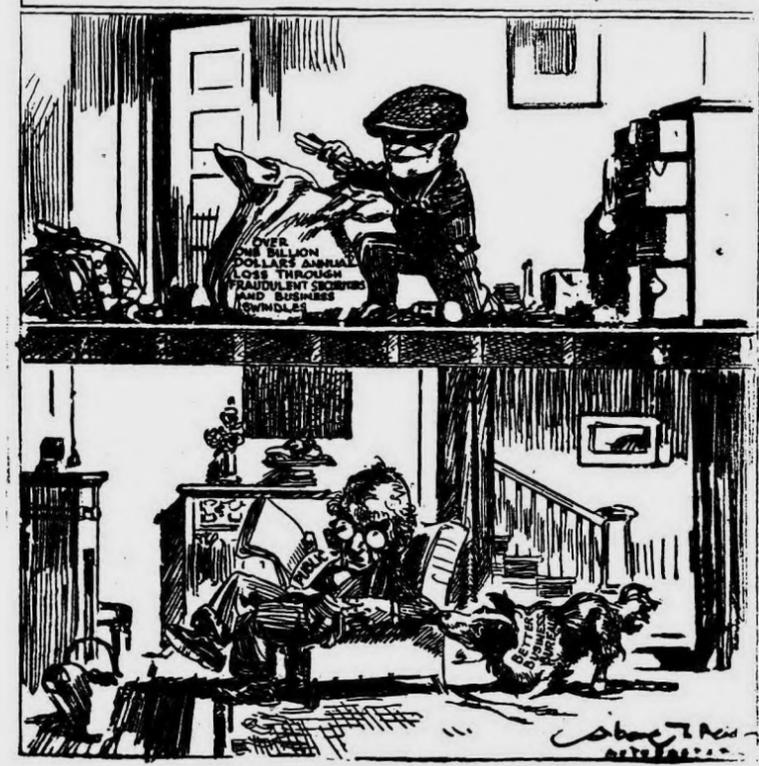

The village's holiday visitors, with the exception of students from colleges and universities who are home on vacation, have left town by bus, automobile or train.

Despite the fact that there was no snow, Santa Claus seemingly found no difficulty in making his rounds Christmas eve, and aided by Plymouth's parents, churches, the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, saw to it that no child in the community was forgotten.

The churches of the village observed the Christmas time with appropriate exercises or services.

Practically all of Plymouth's business men closed Monday, and the business streets were deserted throughout the most of the day.

LOOKING AHEAD

If industrial leaders and writers on financial subjects really know what they are saying and writing, the year 1928 should be a good one. No one expects, of course, a wave of money-making and money-spending such as that which immediately followed the war. In fact, none of us want any more orgies like it proved to be, with only the rich richer and the poor poorer when it finally ended and we got back to a normal state.

But we do want sufficient production to keep our mills and factories running. Industrial leaders say we are to have them, now that Ford has revealed his secrets and manufacturers know where they stand. We want work for everyone who wants to work, and they say there will be enough to meet the demand. We want the very best farm prices to be had, because the farmer has too long borne the brunt of whatever depression swept the country. Agricultural experts say Congress will afford the relief necessary. We want something done to forestall another Mississippi Valley horror. Officials at Washington promise immediate action. Lindbergh's visit to Mexico, Pres. Coolidge's coming visit to Cuba, and other such visits, yet to be made, ought to insure peace and harmony with other nations.

So, if we can be satisfied with forecasts and promises, and that is about all we can expect in advance, it is going to be a good year. Insofar as Plymouth citizens are concerned, the old one leaves no cause for regret. It could have been better, but at the same time we must remember that it could have been far worse. We believe the same thing will apply to practically every other section of the country. Give us work, give us reasonable growing weather, preserve us from violent storms and epidemics, and we will make it a happy and prosperous year. The New Year finds everyone hopeful, expectant and willing to do their part toward making it a successful and peaceful one. We can't go far wrong when we approach it with such a spirit of optimism as now prevails throughout the entire country.

A TAX THAT PAYS ITSELF

Now that nearly everybody drives a car and pays a tax on gasoline for the building and upkeep of roads, it becomes interesting to learn what we get for our money. By actual tests made in Iowa by the Agricultural College and the State Highway Commission the car goes ten miles to the gallon on mud roads, fourteen miles on gravel roads, and twenty-one miles on concrete. Without counting greater comfort and speed, without considering economy on tires and springs and chassis, the fact that you save a third on your gasoline would seem to justify a tax of four cents on the gallon to change the mud road to gravel, and the gravel to concrete.

Please don't understand us to be arguing in favor of a four-cent tax on gasoline from now on, for we are not. We don't want to bring down the wrath of everyone around Plymouth upon our head. But we do say that, looking at it as Iowa's state commission sees it, we haven't much kick coming on the levy now imposed on those who own and operate cars.

TOO MANY KILLED

Shortly after the first of January figures will be offered showing the number of people killed in the U. S. by autos in 1927. According to advance reports, it is going to show an increase over 1926. It will also show that a large majority of the fatalities were due to faulty brakes, and that is the part of the report in which every auto driver around Plymouth should be most interested. No matter how perfect the condition of your car in every other way, if your brakes are not perfect you are operating a menace to human life and a death-trap. If a car cannot be stopped quickly when desired it is a dangerous car to be on the road. Have the brakes tested and adjusted before you get far into the new year. It won't add very much to the appearance of the car, but it's a good life insurance policy for yourself and your fellow citizens.

IT'S A FUNNY WORLD

We have in the U. S. some of the smartest politicians and statesmen in the world. And yet the two greatest diplomats we boast are Will Rogers, a comedian, and Charles Lindbergh, an aviator. Together they have done more to cement friendly relations and build up good will with other nations than all our so-called statesmen combined. Their latest effort, in Mexico, has brought these two countries closer together and on more friendly terms than they've been within the present generation. They are the greatest messengers of "peace on earth, good will toward man" produced in modern times. And they are effective because they are not in politics, or paid huge salaries for appearing wise. We don't know but after all it would be a good idea to throw away a lot of the red-tape in Washington City and leave it to Will Rogers and Charles Lindbergh to get us out of war. They seem to be the most valuable peace weapons we have ever been able to find.

NEW RESOLUTIONS

We are again in the season of making—and breaking—new resolutions. Now that the big holiday is behind us, why wouldn't it be a good idea to include in our new resolutions one to lend a little more encouragement than we have been lending to educational work in Plymouth? It is a long hard drag from now on to the end of school for the boys and girls of the community, as well as for the teachers. Why not resolve to make it a little lighter by calling at the school some afternoon and thereby showing both scholars and teachers that you are interested in the work they are doing. You don't need to get up and make a speech, nor point out a lot of ways in which you could improve on present conditions. You need do no more than merely say that you came to greet the teachers and pupils, and to see them at their work. Your very presence will indicate your interest, and the fact that you are interested will go far toward cheering the workers along. We don't believe in a lot of resolutions at the New Year. But here is one that strikes us as being too sensible to pass unnoticed.

METHODISTS WIN IN ONE-SIDED GAME

Last Monday evening the Methodist basketball team romped to victory over the Presbyterian team to the tune of a 50 to 21 score. Taking the lead from the very start, they ran up a strong lead, which they held throughout the entire game. The most important feature of the game was not the score, but the high standard of sportsmanship that was shown by both teams.

Methodist—	Presbyterian—
Stevens	F. R. Partridge
Doudt	F. Schrader
Carney	C. Giles
Mettetal	C. O. Partridge
Rambo	G. Ashton

Substitutes—Bakewell for Schrader, Schrader for Ashton.

Doudt had the highest individual score, with 22 points to his credit. Stevens and Carney almost evenly divided the rest of the Methodist score. Giles was almost the entire attack for the Presbyterians and is responsible for over half of their score.

Tonight (Friday) the Methodist boys will play the Wood Brothers team from Northville, and the church girls' team will play a team composed of high school alumnae. Both of these games promise to be very interesting.

CANTON HOME FURNISHING GROUP

A very interesting meeting of the Canton Home Furnishing Group met December 20th, at the home of Mrs. Frank Palmer on Canton Center road. After roll call, pictures illustrating were criticized and mounted. Then the new lesson on color in the home was taken up. First was given the points emphasized in the last lesson importance, source and qualities of color, followed by the effect of hue, value and intensity in rooms. Plain colored pieces of cloth were classified by the class. Related and contrasting harmonies, unity and proportion in color were explained.

Altogether the afternoon seemed far too short, and it was decided to start the next lesson a 1:00 o'clock sharp, January 24th, at Mrs. Honeywell's. So plan ahead!

Some men wouldn't want to wake up and find themselves famous if it means losing any sleep.

You'll find most of the Presidential candidates parked under the mistletoe these days, hoping that their party will spy them.

LINDBERGH NEEDED.
THINKING COMES FIRST.
BACK 5,000 YEARS.
ABOUT FLOOD RELIEF.

Lindbergh, world's champion flyer, landed in Mexico City, notifies the world that young men in this country know how to fly, in spite of the fact that their Government does not yet realize the importance of flying.

The United States Government ought to enlist the services of Lindbergh to instruct American fliers and enlighten those responsible for our air defense. If another war ever comes it will seem very extraordinary to future historians, writing of American cities bombed and gassed, that the richest cities in the world should have gone along without adequate air defense. Not one of our cities is protected today by anything but distance. Coast defense guns and battleships are obsolete, anti-aircraft guns absolutely inefficient. We spend $300,000,000 a year for "defense" and have none.

in the course of ten years, another flood that might cost in destruction more than the total appropriation? Secretary Mellon could borrow the money for three per cent. if he couldn't take it out of the surplus. Haste is important: floods don't wait.

Last August the stock market broke when President Coolidge's first "do not choose" came out, and a few days ago that foolish market broke again because the President said he meant it. What frightens gentle stock brokers and speculators? Do they think Hoover, Lowden or Dawes would declare war on Patagonia, abandon the gold standard, suspend the writ of habeas corpus, close factories, stop the rainfall and destroy crops? Mr. Coolidge is a good President, wisely allowing those that know how to run the country's business to run it. Other good men are ready to do the same. The wise will not choose to sell their stocks because Mr. Coolidge does not choose to run.

The United States Gypsum Company, with offices in twenty cities and twenty-two mines and mills in fifteen states, has this good idea: All headquarters managers devote two hours, from 9 to 11 a. m., to "concentration." They allow no interruption except in emergencies. From 11 to 5 they see subordinates and business visitors generally. Each manager has at least two hours a day for real thinking.

John D. Rockefeller had that idea many years ago. One of his local managers, pointing proudly to a desk loaded down with papers, said to him, "A lot of detail, but I shall get through it all by night." Mr. Rockefeller, quoting that, said to his directors, "I want all important managers in our organization to sit with their feet upon clear desks, thinking how they can make more money for Standard Oil." They made it, with Rockefeller's direction, and now he spends it usefully, fighting disease and ignorance. To get ahead, remember that thinking comes first. The rest is secondary.

Learned professors in the University of Southern California say that slang, within reason, is good. It makes students select their expressions instead of using them automatically. To call your friend a "dim bulb" is better than saying to your brother, "Thou fool," and it means the same. Use of slang "makes a dent in the brain" and causes thought, says one professor. It also takes the place of thought, but that is too long an argument.

Britain is sending a commission to India headed by Sir John Simon to see about helping India toward self government. The help should have begun 5,000 years back.

How can you give self government to a people in whose literature the word liberty does not appear in 5,000 years, to millions who believe that little girls eight and nine years old should be married to middle aged men and that when the old husband dies the young woman should be burned alive with the husband's miserable corpse? That's a long way from self government.

The President recommends a ten-year plan for Mississippi Valley flood prevention involving $200,000,000. Altogether, $25,000,000 would be spent the first year and $30,000,000 a year thereafter. Why not spend every year as much as can be spent wisely to hurry the work rather than risk

THE THEATRE

"COLLEGE"

Buster Keaton as an unwitting and therefore witty, college hero is the feature film fare at the Penniman Allen theatre Sunday and Monday, January 1 and 2, when his newest United Artists picture "College" will be the offering. Produced by Joseph M. Schenck, "College" was directed by James W. Horne from the story by Carl Harbaugh and Bryan Foy. Ann Cornwall is Keaton's leading lady. Other professional actors and actresses in the cast are Sutz Edwards, Grant Withers, Harold Goodwin, Buddy Mason, Flora Bramley, Paul Goldsmith and Florence Turner. "The Vitagraph Girl" of two decades ago.

Literally hundreds of world-famous college athletes, Olympic champions and world's record-holders, including Morton Kaer, Bud Houser, Lee Barnes, Kenneth Grambles, Leighton Day and Charles Borah, as well as the baseball team of the University of Southern California, support Keaton in "College." All of them appear voluntarily and without remuneration in order to stimulate interest in the sport of Los Angeles, where much of the picture was filmed, as the site for the college games.

"College" offers Buster Keaton in an entirely new setting and presents his most varied antics against a quickly changing background of baseball games, track meets, regattas and fraternity scholasticism. He is "The Boy," bright enough to win a little high school, but not so big a fish in the larger college pond, especially as the little lady of his heart insists that he demonstrate his athletic prowess. The finale of the picture occurs at the annual boat race, Buster hoping to be coxswain of his college crew.

"College," even to persons who have not seen it, has two cardinal and unusual virtues: It was made by professional humorists and it was made with college men and college athletes appearing in a college story.

"SPLITTING THE BREEZE"

Tom Tyler scores a decisive screen victory in his latest F. B. O. picture, "Splitting the Breeze," which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, Tuesday and Wednesday, January 3 and 4.

Tyler is developing versatility as he acquires greater fame. It appears from the current attraction. For in this Tyler is seen in a hard-riding role, not as a cowpuncher, but as a prospector in the gold country in a remote region of the West. The romantic story has the snow-crested peaks of the Rockies as its background, and outlawry in the gold camps as the irritant which supplies the fuel for its red-blooded dramatic action.

Mystery lends added charm to the splendid screen story in which Tyler is seen as a prospector whose source of wealth is so obscurely hidden that it gives rise to suspicions regarding its actual existence and of Tyler's honesty. Consequently, the star, weighted down by suspicion in the eyes of the law-abiding element of the gold town, drifts into the so-called camp of the outlaws, who before accepting him put him to a crucial test. The story in its telling teems with vivid action and permits Tyler as its star to demonstrate both his histrionic talent and physical prowess with remarkable results.

Robert De Lacey directed, adding materially to the smoothly racing continuity of the story. Included in the splendid cast supporting Tyler are Peggy Montgomery in the leading feminine role, Harry Woods as the "heavy," Barney Furey, Tom Linzham, Rod Lennox, Al Henston and Barbara Starr.

"Splitting the Breeze" is an original story by Frank Howard Clark.

"THE MAGIC FLAME"

They knew what they wanted—and they got it. The single phrase might sum up the theme idea behind Henry King's production of "The Magic Flame" for Samuel Goldwyn which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, Thursday and Friday, January 5 and 6.

Throughout the entire 9000 feet of film, Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky are in constant pursuit of their own dream of happiness achieved in their own sphere of life, and through a constantly rising tempo of thrills and dramatic climaxes, they finally attain their desire.

From the first hundred feet of film where the gay and carefree atmosphere of the romantic little Italian circus is established, to the last fade-out where Mr. Colman and Miss Banky, their struggles forgotten, are back in the atmosphere they love—the picture was made as a blend of high comedy and grim tragedy.

A high-raising balloon ascension and parachute jump by Vilma Banky clutches the audience at the start of the picture and holds them through a double murder by Count Casari and an amazing rough and tumble fight between Mr. Colman (as Tito, the clown) and the Count which ends in the death of the latter when he falls a thousand feet from the window of his hotel room into the sea below. As Tito, following the death of the Count, attempts to escape from the hotel in the Count's cloak, he is apparently apprehended by secret police. Thinking he is facing the guillotine, he finds instead that the old king has died and that he, the clown, must, to save his life, take the place of the prince who has been killed.

From then on the romantic adventure takes an entirely new trend and the camera follows Tito into the strange and startling happenings at the court of the dead king, where he faces death and betrayal at every turn. At the very start he has proved to himself that a clown may not be a king, nor a king a clown. The outward semblance may be there, clothes and posture may be acquired, but the real man can only be happy in the activities he loves. For himself, the life of the circus and the love of Bianca (Vilma Banky) are all that make life desirable.

Miserable then, in his new-found glamour, Tito constantly seeks a way out. Fate and chance supply his great opportunity through Bianca, who, believing her lover slain, leaves the circus and comes to the capital city to kill the Prince, the man she thinks Tito to be.

There is a tense moment when Bianca waits, pistol in hand, for the royal procession to pass her hiding place that she might shoot the prince. Foiled by circumstances as she is about to pull the trigger she finds herself thrown into prison and facing a life term for her attempt. Rescued from her cell and clothed in an altering gown by her fiancé, Bianca comes alone at night to the bedroom of the prince to achieve her revenge. The denouement of the story, with the clown and the circus girl escaping from the kingdom and returning to happiness in the life of the circus, is equally effective.

"THE CITY GONE WILD"

Thomas Meighan's new Paramount picture, "The City Gone Wild," coming to the Penniman Allen theatre Saturday, January 7th, is described as an underworld melodrama, the story of a gangster in a police war in an American metropolis.

The picture finds Meighan an opportunity for a powerful characterization as a criminal lawyer who turns prosecutor because of the love of a beautiful girl.

James Craig, director of "Gold Diggers," "The Covered Wagon" and other spectacular productions, directed.

"The City Gone Wild" is an original story by Charles and Jules Furthman.

Jules being responsible for the screen adaptation. It is a well drawn tale, written as only a former Chicago newspaperman could write it. Jules Furthman has made a careful study of the present crime wave, and is said to have embodied some of his own findings in his new production.

Paramount has surrounded Meighan with an excellent cast, headed by Marietta Miller, Louise Brooks and Fred Kohler. The others are Duke Martin, late of vaudeville; Nancy Phillips, Wyndham Standing, Charles Hill Mailes, King Zany and "Gunboat" Smith.

Gang wars and gun fights, gunmen and their girls, are shown in striking contrast to the love of Tom's sweetheart, whom he saves from social crucifixion when it is learned that her father, a wealthy capitalist, is the real ruler of the underworld.

Dramatic to the extreme, advance reports tell us that "The City Gone Wild" serves as an admirable vehicle for Meighan and makes an ideal successor to his last picture, "We're All Gamblers."

LINDBERGH NEEDED.
THINKING COMES FIRST.
BACK 5,000 YEARS.
ABOUT FLOOD RELIEF.

Lindbergh, world's champion flyer, landed in Mexico City, notifies the world that young men in this country know how to fly. In spite of the fact that their Government does not yet realize the importance of flying.

The United States Government
ought to enlist the services of Lindbergh to instruct American fliers and enlighten those responsible for our air defense. If another war ever comes it will seem very extraordinary to future historians, writing of American cities bombed and gassed, that the richest cities in the world should have gone along without adequate air defense. Not one of our cities is protected today by anything but distance.
Coast defense guns and battleships are obsolete, anti-aircraft guns absolutely inefficient. We spend $200,000,000 a year for "defense" and have none.

The United States Gypsum Company, with offices in twenty cities and twenty-two mines and mills in fifteen states, has this good idea: All headquarters managers devote two hours,
from 9 to 11 a. m., to "concentration."
They allow no interruption except in emergencies. From 11 to 5 they see subordinates and business visitors generally. Each manager has at least two hours a day for real thinking.

John D. Rockefeller had that idea many years ago. One of his local managers, pointing proudly to a desk
loaded down with papers, said to him,
"A lot of detail, but I shall get through it all by night." Mr. Rockefeller, quoting that, said to his directors, "I want all important managers in our organization to sit with their feet upon clear desks, thinking how they can make more money for Standard Oil." They made it, with Rockefeller's direction, and now he spends it usefully, fighting disease and ignorance. To get ahead, remember that thinking comes first. The rest is secondary.

Learned professors in the University of Southern California say that slang, within reason, is good. It makes students select their expressions
instead of using them automatically.
To call your friend a "dim bulb" is better than saying to your brother,
"Thou fool," and it means the same.
Use of slang "makes a dent in the brain" and causes thought, says one professor. It also takes the place of thought, but that is too long an argument.

Britain is sending a commission to India headed by Sir John Simon to see about helping India toward self government. The help should have begun 5,000 years back.

How can you give self government to a people in whose literature the word liberty does not appear in 5,000 years, to millions who believe that little girls eight and nine years old should be married to middle aged men and that when the old husband dies
the young woman should be burned alive with the husband's miserable corpse? That's a long way from self government.

The President recommends a ten-year plan for Mississippi Valley flood prevention involving $298,100,000. Altogether, $25,000,000 would be spent the first year and $30,000,000 a year thereafter. Why not spend every year as much as can be spent wisely
to hurry the work rather than risk,

in the course of ten years, another flood that might cost in destruction
more than the total appropriation?
Secretary Mellon could borrow the money for three per cent. If he couldn't take it out of the surplus. Haste is important; floods don't wait.

Last August the stock market broke when President Coolidge's first "do not choose" came out, and a few days ago that foolish market broke again
because the President said he meant
it. What frightens gentle stock brokers and speculators? Do they think Hoover, Lowden or Dawes would declare war on Patagonia, abandon the gold standard, suspend the writ of habeas corpus, close factories, stop the rainfall and destroy crops? Mr.
Coolidge is a good President, wisely allowing those that know how to run
the country's business to run it.
Other good men are ready to do the same. The wise will not choose to sell their stocks because Mr. Coolidge does not choose to run.

"THE CITY GONE WILD"

Thomas Meighan's new Paramount picture, "The City Gone Wild," coming to the Penniman Allen theatre Saturday, January 7th, is a superb and an under-estimated melodrama, the story of a gangster and police war in an American metropolis.

The part Meighan plays is especially a powerful characterization as a criminal lawyer who turns prosecutor because of the love of a beautiful girl.

James Cruze, director of "Gold Diggers," "The Covered Wagon" and other spectacular productions, directed "The City Gone Wild" is an original story by Charles and Jules Furthman.

SALEM

The wedding of Charles Lewis and May Irene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
George Shoebridge, was celebrated in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rowers at Salem on Christmas day,
the officiating minister being the Rev.
A. J. Parker, of Salem Federated church. The happy couple were the recipients of many gifts, and on Monday they left for their home in Detroit, accompanied by the well wishes of many friends.

Miss Frances is spending her Christmas vacation with her parents and friends at Marlette.

Elsworth Brown, who recently underwent an operation at Ford hospital, passed away after a brief illness. His funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of his sister, Mrs. John Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Rich and sons spent Christmas in Detroit with Mrs. Louie Robinson and family.

Miss Dorothy Foreman spent Christmas with friends in Flint.
The school Christmas exercises held in the town hall last Thursday evening were well attended, the hall being filled. The exercises were composed of talent from both Miss Anderson's and Mr. Phillips' rooms, with Mrs. Ivan Speary, pianist. The songs
by the school choir, the duet by Mrs.
Spears and Mr. Phillips, the Christmas plays, recitations and dialogues were all very pleasing to the large audience. The Christmas tree and the hall were very handsomely decorated.

Santa Claus arrived laden with presents, just in time to help with the distribution of the gifts.
Miss Beulah Merritt, of Fordson, and friend and Miss Hazel, of Detroit, and friend were Christmas guests at the Wm. Merritt home.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sheffield, of Durand, were Monday visitors of Mr.
and Mrs. George Roberts and Wm.
Sheffield, of Lingsburg, spent the week-end and a few days this week there.

The community was shocked Friday
to hear of the sudden death of Frank Murray, of Plymouth, Thursday evening. He was a former resident of Salem and well known in the community, having lived many years on a farm south of Salem. He leaves a wife and three daughters and other close relatives, besides a host of friends. His funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at the Schrader funeral parlors in Plymouth. Burial at Lapham cemetery.

Cecil Mumberson spent from Friday until Monday with relatives in Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Doane spent Christmas with his sister and family,
Mr. and Mrs. W. Winans, of near Ann Arbor.

SALEM FEDERATED CHURCH.

Minister, Rev. A. J. Parker.
Services for New Year's day, Jan.
1st:

Covenant service for the new year
Sunday morning at 10:00.
Sunday school at 11:45.

Special evangelistic pictorial service
Sunday evening at 7:30. Subject,
"Some Mother's Boy." Song service at 7:15. Illustrated hymns. Collection.

Prayer meeting at the parsonage
Wednesday evening at 7:30.

St. James' Protestant Episcopal church minstrel party from Bright-moor will visit Salem with their minister on Friday, January 13, under the auspices of the Federated Church Ladies' Aid, and will give a concert in the town hall to commence at 8:00 o'clock.

The next church night will be held on Friday, Jan. 20th.

Fully an hour before time people began to arrive at Salem Federated church on Christmas eve for the annual Christmas program, which was rendered by members and scholars of the Sunday school. The chair was taken by the superintendent, H.
Proctor, and by the time the program
commenced the church was crowded, additional seats having to be brought
in. The program consisted of duets, recitations, instrumental selections, dialogues and Christmas plays, and the choir assisted the program by the rendering of special carols. The Christmas tree and the church were prettily decorated and beautiful colored light effects thrown onto the stage helped to enhance the beauty of different items and scenes represented in the program. Toward the close of the evening's entertainment real earnest. Boxes of candy, nuts and oranges and an endless variety of other presents found their way around amongst the crowded congregation. It is apparent that the number attending Christmas programs tends to increase every year, and it may be deemed necessary to make provision for an even larger congregation next Christmas. All the artists on the program acquitted themselves admirably, and the whole evening's entertainment proved to be of a most interesting and enjoyable character.

The pastor and his wife wish to express sincere thanks to members of the church and congregation for many tokens of kindly thought and cheer which have been received during the Christmas season.

NEWBURG

Last Wednesday evening the annual Christmas party was held at the hall. About one hundred were present, and a good time playing games was had until the party was called to order to await the arrival of Santa Claus. While waiting a reading by Mrs. Eva Smith was enjoyed by all, as was a little play under the supervision of Mrs. Thomas. After this Santa appeared and the lovely tree which was trimmed by Mr. Holmes and Mr. McNabb was lighted, and the folks, old and young, enjoyed the gifts and candy which were brought to them.

The school program, which was held on Friday evening, was received by a large crowd, and the very creditable manner in which the pupils took their parts showed the training
they received from their teachers, Miss Reddman, Mrs. Waterman and Mrs. Campbell.

The church was filled Sunday evening for the program and white gift service. Everyone took his or her part in a very efficient manner, and our thanks for the lovely program are due Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Joy McNabb and Alice Gilbert.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Mackinder and son, Vern, and family, of Grand Rapids, ate Christmas dinner with Mr. and Mrs. James Norris, of Strathmoor.

Joy, and Mrs. Vina Joy and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Joy and family spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. James
Joy and family.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Ryder ate Sunday dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith.

on Monday Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Smith
and family, of Plymouth; Mr. and Mrs.
Donald Ryder and son and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith and baby.

Henry Grimm, Jr., entertained the following: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grimm, Sr.; Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell, Raymond Grimm and Miss Hazel Reddman, Mr. and Mrs. C. E.
Ryder, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ryder
and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith.

will be held at the hall next Wednesday, Jan. 4th. The business

ner, with the following committee in

Sore Throat

Is Dangerous

Thoxine Relieves Quickly
Don't neglect sore throat—it often leads to tonsillitis, scarlet fever or diphtheria. Take Thoxine, a famous physician's prescription, which is remarkably successful because it works on a new principle—goes direct to the cause not reached by gargles and patent medicines and brings relief within 15 minutes, or money back.
One swallow does the work.
Contains no iron, chloroform or other harmful drugs. Safe and sure —pleasant to take—much better than gargles. Ask for Thoxine, 35c, 60c,
and $1.00. Sold by Dodge Drug Co.
and all good drug stores.

A woman was entering a motion picture house when she was stopped by an attendant.
"Excuse me, madam," he said, "but you can't take your dog inside."
"How absurd!" protested the woman. "What harm could the pictures do to a tiny dog like this?"

AN INTERESTING LETTER

Mrs. Nettie Purdy Moore has received the following interesting letter from a Wisconsin lady who, with a party of friends, stopped at the Purdy home last October and were so delighted with Plymouth and Mrs. Moore's hospitality that it prompted her to write this letter:

Dear Mrs. Moore: Ever since we stopped at your house that night in October I have been going to write you and tell you how much we appreciated your showing us your father's wonderful collection. I was so taken by surprise that I think I hardly realized what I was seeing until we began talking it over on the way home. It surely was an inspiration to me to hear of your parents and especially of your mother and her help to your father. I have tried to pass it on at the Woman's club and P. T. A. and a great many in our little town are interested in the story of the collection.

I know all of us received inspiration from knowing of her. So you see just happening to stop in that town brought something new to us "way out in Wisconsin. I hope I may be able to call at your house again some time. I think I never had any experience that I have thought so much of afterward, and even dreamed of, as that. I have been thinking of you this holiday season when our children are getting ready for Christmas. Although you have not the children as I have, you have the wonderful father and mother to be so proud of.

We send you greetings. Sincerely, Ruth Malcolm.

COUNTY'S BEES IN QUARANTINE

STEPS TAKEN AS PART OF STATE FIGHT TO ERADICATE DISEASE.

By Fred W. Henshaw

Announcement of a 10-year quarantine of Wayne County against bees on combs and other used bee-keeping apparatus was made yesterday by Herbert E. Powell, state commissioner of agriculture. This is intended to help stop the spread of foul brood, a disease which has threatened to wipe out the state's bee industry.

"Every county of the state is now under apilary inspection," said H. M. Krebs, the department apilary, "and all except Wayne, Monroe and Leelanau has been under quarantine for some time. Wayne now is included in the quarantine list and the other two will be added soon.

"Under the regulations, bees and equipment can not even be transferred from one farm to another without state inspection and permit.

"We expect the quarantine against out-of-state shipments will be enforced for the full 10-year period, but if the situation clears up within the state, shipments from county to county will be permitted."

There are about 25,000 beekeepers in Michigan, according to Mr. Krebs, and of these about 700 are in Wayne county.

"Before the drastic steps we have taken in the last year," he added, "the disease was spreading so rapidly that it threatened to wipe out the bee-keeping industry in the state. However, it seems now to be partially checked. By another year we ought to have it pretty well in hand."—The Detroit News.

A New Year's Conscience by Martha Banning Thomas. Some of us were born in New England and have that kind of a conscience. Why New England should produce a particular conscience different from any other's conscience seems a little difficult to explain. However, there seems to be a traditional conscience in the last degree. You go one point further than actually necessary and worry for fear you won't think up all the possible things you might have done under a certain set of circumstances. Well, then— We all rather like to think we obey our conscience; it gives us a faint glow of saintliness. (Though, of course, to admit this publicly would ruin us for life.) Whatever conscience is—a still, small voice, an broken habits of right thinking, an instinct that urges us toward the best—most of us possess an inner law of some sort or another; and we either follow this law, or push it off irritably. At New Year's we take stock of our affairs. And very often conscience sits as judge. And let us never forget that we are responsible. Not to be responsible is a kind of crime. Just

CATHOLIC NOTES

The Christmas services were well attended. A very large crowd was present at the midnight services. The new church was in readiness, and held a capacity congregation. It is estimated that there were about four hundred and fifty people in the church, and each seemed more than pleased with the new building, a monument of their faith and an expression of their belief.

The large choir masterfully rendered Baltman's Mass in E-Flat, and gladdened the hearts of all with their Christmas hymns.

The children, too, entered into the real spirit of the day, by pouring from their hearts Christmas songs. It was indeed a happy Christmas for all, and a thrice happy one for the parish, as they were able to give the Christ Child a real, tangible Christmas gift this year, a new church.

The New Year's services will be at the hours of 8:00 and 10:00 o'clock a. m., Sunday. Start the 1928 calendar right.

Square all your 1927 accounts, and start 1928 with a new slate.

The pews in the church will be rented, and each will be given the month of January to select his or her place in church. There are enough seats for all now, and it is sincerely hoped that all will get a seat in church.

The pastor wishes to express his appreciation for the generous Christmas offering, and here is wishing all a happy and prosperous New Year, filled with God's blessings.

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES

The Sunday-school Christmas program and pageant were presented in the church on Friday evening of last week, before an audience which filled the auditorium to capacity. The beautiful Christmas tree and attractive stage decorations proved very effective. The pageant, "The Kingly One," was very beautiful, and many of the parts were well taken.

One feature of the program which was greatly enjoyed, was an orchestra under the direction of Mr. Millard. This is a new musical organization for Plymouth. The orchestra gave its initial performance on Friday night, rendering several selections in excellent manner and winning many complimentary remarks. We are much indebted to Mr. Millard for this contribution to the program.

On Tuesday evening, a group of young people representing the Sunday-school classes, led by Mr. Partridge, Mrs. Ball and Mr. Bakewell, met at the church and spent an enjoyable hour.

Mrs. Shaw's class will meet at the church next Tuesday evening at 7:00 o'clock. The second chapter of "The Story of Missions" will be studied, and there will also be the usual social hour.

The sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered at the morning service January 8th.

METHODIST NOTES

We extend our heartiest greetings to all for a happy and prosperous New Year.

There is an old saying to the effect that what ever one does on the first day of the new year, he will continue to do throughout the whole year. So let us start the year right by going to church on January 1, 1928.

The regular meeting of the L. A. S. will be held Wednesday, January 4, at 2:30 p. m., in their room. Hostesses Mesdames George Howell, Arlo Soth and Albert Groth. Mrs. H. A. Terry will have charge of the devotions, and the program is in the hands of a competent committee. Every woman in the church is cordially invited to attend.

The "Week of Prayer" will be observed next week, with meetings on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings, from 7:15 to 8:00 o'clock. It is a splendid and very profitable way to start the work of the year. More things are wrought by prayer than most of us realize. Several years ago at the great centenary celebration at Columbus, Ohio, at the entrance of the grounds was a great flashing electric sign proclaiming to the world, "Prayer Is Power." It still is. Let us all attend these services and renew our spiritual strength, and accentuate our habit of prayer.

What Every Housewife Needs

The old-fashioned idea that a woman's highest praise was her capacity for domestic drudgery, late and early, is fast passing away.

The modern housewife calls in the aid of electricity. She cooks, washes, sweeps, sews, with efficient, cheaply-running electric appliances; she does her housework quickly and easily; she has leisure for other things; she has a more homelike home; she preserves her health, lengthens her life, and saves her money.

As the old year dies and the new one is born it is time to take stock again as we hang up a new calendar. We want to thank our fellow citizens of this community for their generous patronage during 1927, for their confidence in our ability to serve. That confidence means much to the community, and to each individual in the community. Money that is spent here will be respent and by its circulation from neighbor to neighbor adds to the community's general prosperity.

And you help yourself as well as each other when you patronize home town merchants. You make your work and your pay more secure. Make your purchases from your home merchants and guarantee your prosperity for the New Year.

From the bottom of our hearts we want this community to enjoy prosperity, and hence we thank you, all of you, for your appreciation of our efforts to give you the very best service possible. We will strive to continue to deserve your confidence.

And to each and every one of you we sincerely wish a Healthy, Prosperous and Happy New Year.

ANNIVERSARIES
The Italo-Hibernian poet, Tommaselli, has written:
"I think that the meanest historian on earth
Is the one who recorded the day of one's birth."
If your life has not been particularly happy or lucky, why should people observe the anniversary of your birthday?
Some people make much of birthdays and some newspapers give a list of the birthdays of prominent men every day but there are two opinions about that.
Young ladies of a certain age get one birthday and stick to it. They are twenty-two for instance, until they reach thirty-five, and then they begin to go back.
A good plan when you begin to be old is to select a certain age and keep it. Why get any older?
As for me I would prefer to celebrate anniversaries other than my birthday.
I would like to recall the first time I fell in love, if I could or the first view of the sea, or the first revelation of moonlight or starlight.
The first good view of a tree would be also worth remembering, or an orchard in full bloom.
The first good investment I ever made or the first examination successfully passed, or the first time I escaped a merited punishment.
I remember the first day I was converted to Wagner, and the first time that the full appreciation of the old masters in painting dawned on me.
These are epochs in one's existence, divine enlargements to the house of life and commendable as well as memorable.
The first pay day also adds to one's superiority complex.
If we are going in for celebrating, these might be worthy celebrations. But just to record that you have lived sixty years—of what good is that?
Life is a pleasant thing perhaps and it is good to see the sun and to function otherwise, and one would not willingly give it all up. But not very much of the time we are glad we were ever born. Perhaps we ought to be, but the mulligrubs are too busy with most of us and our life is hardly successful enough for us to celebrate continuously.
It is very complimentary for our friends to say that they are glad we were born and they hope we will live a thousand years, but we sometimes question whether they really mean it.
Some of us have reached the declining years. When somebody asks us to have a cocktail or a highball we decline, and if certain forms of food are put before us we must also refuse because the doctor says so.
Our present ailments and limitations are sufficient without calling up those of the past. We would never render ourselves public nuisances by continually rehearsing our calamities. Let us forget them. About the best thing we can all do with the past is to forget it and look forward to the future. That may be better, and again it may not be, but at least it has the advantage of being untried, and we are justified in looking forward to it hopefully.

Today's Reflections

Bad weather used to bring a lull in back-fence gossip around Plymouth, but with the telephone here a rumor gets spread around whether the clothes get hung up or not.
Nothing is impossible. The radio has been invented, the sea has been crossed by airplane and people even can learn to economize if they try hard enough.
We've some smart men in America, but none of them has ever invented a way to make a cat stay home at night.
What has become of the old-fashioned Plymouth girl who had her ears pierced so she could wear earrings?
After a man has had a car so long another dent in the fender doesn't worry him. And after he has had a wife so long he doesn't even notice a few more wrinkles in her face.
"Hogs are little changed," says a market report. They still monopolize the center of the road.
We never could figure why the average Plymouth woman always takes so long to buy a pair of shoes unless it is because she knows that once they're worn she can't take them back and exchange them.
If sunshine could be bottled there wouldn't be a chance in the world for bottled moonshine.
We're not as much worried over the lost art of conversation as we are over the fine art of keeping still.
A clock will stop working when it is run down, but the average Plymouth man hasn't that much sense.
The old-fashioned kid had to wear out his dad's cut-down clothes, but the modern youngster just wears 'em out his patients.
Homes are still pretty useful for hurried people who don't like to fight in public.
It has been our observation that nobody in Plymouth will growl at you unless you treat them like a dog.
The automobile is said to be conquering the deserts of the earth. But with no trees in sight what do fool drivers wreck their cars against?
Nowadays a Plymouth girl will sit down and worry more over a broken date than her mother worried over a broken engagement.
