First Debate Takes Place Here

PLYMOUTH HIGH DEBATERS WILL MEET ECORSE HIGH FRIDAY EVENING, NOV. 16.

The Plymouth High school debating team will begin its season next Friday evening, Nov. 16. Their first opponent will be Ecorse, with Plymouth taking the affirmative side of the question, "Resolved, That a Federal Subsidy for Our American Merchant Marine Would Be a Wise National Policy." The debate will be held at Plymouth in the high school auditorium, so everyone who is at all interested in this shipping question will have an opportunity to hear what these two teams believe true of our present situation. The Plymouth team will consist of Ruth Root, Alice Gilbert, Harold Hubert and Rhea Peck as alternate. This first debate promises to be especially interesting as both teams do not wish to be discouraged by a defeat at the very beginning of the season.

These debates, which will be held Nov. 16 by all of the schools throughout the state who belong to the Michigan High School Debating League, are arranged by G. E. Densmore, of the University of Michigan. In the league this year there are more schools than ever before, as each year the enrollment steadily increases. For these first four debates no schools will be eliminated, but at the end of that time all teams who have not made eleven points are not eligible to take part in the elimination contests next spring. Points are given for each debate won, as: three points for a 2-1 decision and four for a 3-0 decision. Plymouth has taken part in these elimination contests several times, and in 1921 won the state championship. Last year the team won all four of their preliminary debates, thus making their number of counts total fifteen, which only seven other schools in the league attained. This year the team is hoping to again take part in the elimination contests, but as they have not met anyone in a league debate yet, they can only hope that their case will be strong enough to win for Plymouth.

Rotarians Held Inter-City Meeting Here

MEMBERS OF NORTHVILLE AND WAYNE CLUBS GUESTS OF LOCAL CLUB.

The Plymouth Rotary Club were hosts to about forty members of the Northville and Wayne Rotary clubs at the regular luncheon hour of the local club at the Hotel Mayflower last Friday. The speaker for the occasion was Fred M. Rutzel, of Detroit, who was president of the House of Correction board of executives when the prison farm was first located in Plymouth.

Mr. Rutzel gave a most interesting talk on the history of the House of Correction from its earliest beginning down to the present time. He told of the great changes that had been brought about in the conduct of the institution in the early days to the present day methods of caring for prisoners and the efforts made for their reformation and turning them back into society as better citizens. His talk was greatly appreciated by all those present.

League of Women Voters Will Meet

The Plymouth League of Women Voters will hold an important meeting at the Hotel Mayflower Friday afternoon, Nov. 9, at 2:30 p. m. Mrs. Phoebe Patterson, newly elected president of the league, will preside. Mrs. Charles O. He is a graduate of the Moody Bible Institute and of the Northern Baptist Theological Seminary. He is now pastor of the Beulah Baptist church, one of the large churches of Detroit. Mr. and Mrs. Ray G. Swartzbaugh will have charge of the song service. For the past 15 years they have traveled with the most popular evangelists of this country and with G. Campbell Morgan, of England, as well.

The many friends of F. D. Schrader, who is a patient at St. Joseph's hospital, Ann Arbor, will be pleased to know that he is gaining steadily.

BIG FOOTBALL GAME TODAY

PLYMOUTH HIGH MEETS WAYNE HIGH ON LOCAL GRIDIRON

Friday, November 9 at 3:30 P. M. Plymouth High School meets Wayne High School in their annual football game held at the Tourist Camp, Plymouth. This is the game that you have all been waiting to see. Plymouth and Wayne for years have been rivals in the Suburban League and this one will be no exception. Both schools have winning teams and the game today will mean much to both the winner and the loser. If you enjoyed the game at Northville last Friday, you will surely want to see the game with Wayne because every sign points to the fact that it will be as good or even a better game than the one which Plymouth won at Northville 7 to 0. Remember the place, Plymouth's Tourist Camp at 3:30 today. Yea Team, Let's boost.

League of Women Voters Will Meet

The Plymouth League of Women Voters will hold an important meeting at the Hotel Mayflower Friday afternoon, Nov. 9, at 2:30 p. m. Mrs. Phoebe Patterson, newly elected president of the league, will preside. Mrs. Charles O. Ball, vice-president, will give a short report of the board meeting of the Wayne County League of Women Voters, held at the Women's City club in Detroit Monday. W. J. Lovett, of the Detroit Citizens' league, will be the speaker of the afternoon. His subject is "Permanent Registration." The matter of permanent registration is a very timely subject as Michigan has just gone through an expensive period of re-registration. The League of Women Voters will sponsor a bill for permanent registration in the coming legislature. This was decided at the state convention held in Bay City in October. Mr. Lovett is a member of the committee that is working with the Michigan league on the preparation of this bill. This matter takes first place on the league's legislative program this year. Every member of the league and all other Plymouth women interested should take advantage of this opportunity to hear Mr. Lovett's presentation of this subject.

"Beverly's Balance" Pleases Large Crowd

O. E. S. HOME TALENT PRODUCTION ENJOYS BIG SUCCESS.

"Beverly's Balance," the local talent three-act comedy drama staged by the Order Eastern Star at the Pennington Allen theatre last Friday evening, played to a large house, which enjoyed every minute of the production. Mrs. Fern Block played the title role in a manner that would do credit to an experienced professional. For length of part, number of lines and excellent interpretation Mrs. Block's rendition of the lovable Beverly probably set a new mark for local dramatic ability, and she easily attained stellar honors in a play strong in varied talent. Second honors must be shared by Seth Virgo and Jack Taylor in their respective characterizations of Jack Renshaw and Watt Dinwiddie, while the playing of Wilma Briggs as Mrs. Renshaw was as charming and well acted as one could wish for. Ruth Baughn as Aunt Maria, Calvin Whipple as "Molphy," the janitor; Ruth West as Mrs. Inksy, Lynn Felton as Sears, and Perry Richwine as Dickie Brooks completed the cast.

The story was a burlesque on the modern prevalence of easy and mutually agreeable divorce. Jack Renshaw, the young multi-millionaire, has a beautiful wife, who wants to get a husband with a foreign title, and calmly asks hubby to help her attain her desires. He obtains the services of Beverly as co-respondent for a consideration, while Beverly sets about to get the couple back together, a feat which she finally accomplishes. Bashful Watt Dinwiddie, her cousin, finally produces the time-worn marriage license, which he has carried for years, and the final curtain drops with everything brought to a happy conclusion. Lisle Alexander directed the production and the final result was ample proof of his abilities along that line.

VILLAGE INSTALLS NEW STOP SIGNS

VILLAGE AUTHORITIES MAKING EVERY EFFORT TO MAKE STREETS SAFE.

With a view of making the newly paved streets in the village safer for public travel by motorists and pedestrians alike, the village is installing at the more dangerous intersections a type of stop sign which in many cities has proven its effectiveness in preventing automobile collisions at busy street corners. The sign is of reinforced rubber set into a wood and metal base embedded in the center of the pavement. The word STOP appears in bold letters of yellow upon a black background, the sign being perfectly readable at a distance of fully 200 feet in the daytime and half that distance under the illumination provided by an automobile headlight.

The sign possesses many advantages. Being placed where it cannot but command the attention of the motorist, and being so easily read, it is a distinct aid to the motorist in calling his attention to stop streets and dangerous intersections. Also, the sign being readily collapsible, and with its base set flush with the pavement surface, it may be run over by motor traffic without harm to either the sign or the car.

A traffic aid of this character cannot, however, be expected of itself to accomplish the results desired. The full cooperation of every motorist is needed to make any system of traffic control effective. Traffic control devices merely serve to aid the careful motorist to make our streets safe at all times for public travel.

The village authorities have in mind doing everything that can be done to keep our streets safe for motor and pedestrian travel, and to this end have ordered the installation of the new signs above referred to. It may be stated in this connection, however, that they do not mean to stop at this point. It is determined to put an end to speeding and all manner of careless and reckless driving upon the streets of the village; and whatever steps may be necessary to bring about this result will be taken.

The careful motorist and pedestrian, and particularly our school children, are entitled to travel our streets in safety at all times. Let us all cooperate with the village authorities in their effort to keep our village thoroughfares as safe for public travel as they can and should be.

Plymouth is putting in a real strong team and the boys expect to build a rink in this village in the near future. For the present, games will be played in Detroit and Windsor. The Plymouth membership in the league will bring considerable prestige to the village in the sporting line and members should be cordially supported. The league consists of the following teams: Barton Plumbers, Graham-Palge, Pere Marquette, Bendix Brakes, Christ Church, Woodrow Wilson Recreation, Holy Athletic Club, Union Trust, Park Davis and Plymouth.

The Woman's Club, of Plymouth, holds its regular meeting on Friday, November 16th at 2:15. Mrs. Beyer's division has an interesting program arranged. A full attendance is requested, as matters of importance to all the club members are to be decided.

LET'S SETTLE DOWN

With the election over, and nothing but the weather and taxes left us as subjects for argument, how about settling down to our knitting and making up for whatever time we lost by arguing politics?

One fine thing about our people is that they refuse to take their politics too seriously. They have long ago learned that, regardless of a man's political affiliations, if he is big enough to run for president he is big enough to look after the duties of the thing is that this isn't a one-man government if he is elected. Another fine ornament. Like a big, perfected match line, with some 110 million units fitting into each other and all working pretty much in unison, it runs along smoothly and grows greater and stronger year after year. We've learned that, after all, we're working toward one common end, and that the welfare of ourselves and our neighbors. We've learned that we are one big family, and that political family disagreements are soon forgotten, and happiness comes as we return to our various jobs and places of activity.

So, with the contest over and the political smoke of battle cleared away for another four years, it's time for everybody in and around Plymouth to get back on the job, roll up his sleeves—and smile. Maybe it resulted the way you wanted it to, and maybe it didn't. But it's still your country, it's still worth working for, and it's still the best place on the face of the earth to live in.

WE CAN'T FORGET

Plymouth citizens are not going to forget the stirring events that marked the opening weeks of the month of November ten years ago. As we measure time, ten years is but a step along life's pathway. Yet possibly never in the history of the human race has a more advanced step been taken than the one made possible by the signing of the World War armistice.

With the crumbling of thrones and one-man governments has come a better understanding of human rights. With the long rows of new-made graves, stretching mile on mile across the landscape and containing the bodies of men of every race and creed, came a hatred of war that would not have come in any other way. Today in every nation and in every heart there is stronger opposition to war, and to talk of war, than ever before. The new hatred of the very word is an assurance of peace.

We have spent ten years in rebuilding that which should not have been torn down. But along with it we have builded a wider and a stronger friendship with the world, and reached for the first time a genuine understanding of each other and of each other's needs. It is a better world as a result of the World War; it will grow still better because of the hatred of war that it bred into all human hearts. We can never forget Armistice Day, nor what it means to the world. Neither can we forget those who fought for the cause that ended in victory with the signing of the Armistice. Their deeds and their sacrifices are among the most sacred heritages left to the world. And the world is not going to forget.

"NO HUNTING" SIGNS

If you'll make inquiry of most any Plymouth hunter he will tell you that "No Hunting" and "Posted" signs are thicker in this state than ever before, and that each year sees an increase in their number. But if he is a good hunter, and a real sportsman, he will not censure the land-owners for erecting such signs. On the other hand he will tell you that careless hunters, those accustomed to disregarding the property of others, are really to blame. It was their unnecessary destruction of property, and their discourtesy and greediness that brought the "No Hunting" signs in increasing numbers. Careless shooting when livestock is around, tramping down crops, breaking down fences or leaving open gates made these signs necessary, though it has worked a hardship on courteous, careful and gentlemanly hunters. That's the reason—and it's about the only reason—for the "No Hunting" sign. It is just a little more evidence that some people are never satisfied until they kill the goose that lays the golden egg.

A LATE THANKSGIVING

Since November is a month of five Thursdays, Thanksgiving Day this year is going to come much later than usual. In fact, we will hardly get our Thanksgiving dinner digested until it will be time to start our Christmas shopping. The observance of Thanksgiving comes this year on the 29th of November, thus leaving something less than a calendar month between it and Christmas. However, any time is a good time to be thankful, and this year, generally speaking, we have as much to be thankful for as we have ever had when the great national holiday rolled around. If we can't find anything else to be thankful for between now and November 29, let's give thanks that the election is over and that we will have a rest of at least a couple of year's before the politicians begin stirring us up and lining us up for another contest.

Maybe the cause of the increased price of furs is that it costs the animals so much more to live now than it used to.

The greatest philosopher we know of in Plymouth is the fellow who is always saying "Don't Worry."

A woman's first duty is to her home, then her hair—and then she can mix up in anything she pleases.

A singer returning from South America says one of the favorites down there is "Alexander's Rag Time Band." Now we know where all good little jazz songs go when they die.

Daphne Accepted Good Advice

By DOROTHY DOUGLAS

DAPHNE'S hand paused for just a moment before closing her studio door. Certainly her soul pined, hesitated before taking that final step which would close forever the door of her loved studio and her girlhood freedom.

But love, in the form of Dick Trevor, was waiting her, and love, when one is but eighteen, seems a very wonderful kingdom for any girl to be entering.

And as she went slowly down the stairs from her door to the next she heard the door of the studio below her own open. The little old lady who lived there came out, and it was obvious she wanted Daphne to halt for conversation.

She smiled very sweetly into the young girl's eyes and asked wistfully, "My dear, could you spare just five minutes to have a little chat with me—before you leave?"

"Why—yes," hesitated Daphne. "But—how did you know I was leaving?"

"I was listening at the door last night, my dear, and I heard all your plans for running off with this poor young artist. And because I think you are making a very grave mistake I am thrusting my advice on you because—my dear, I made the same mistake fifty years ago."

Daphne caught a swift breath and gazed eagerly into the kindly face of the little old lady. "But you have been so wonderfully successful, Madame Vane," she gasped. "Surely love must have helped."

"Love did," replied Madame softly, "when it came. The real love didn't come until I had been through the fires of suffering and disillusion. Love, dear child—the right kind of love—doesn't ask so great a sacrifice as your young artist lover is asking of you. Real love would not permit it. Your voice is not only beautiful—it is grand."

Daphne flushed hotly and the tears leaped into her big eyes. "Oh, Madame Vane—those words coming from you make me feel quite weak—I feel all wobbly. It is too wonderful—too altogether unexpected."

"My dear, I have known it these many months when I have heard you practicing and it is this great voice that you are throwing away for a young man who is letting you do it. He knows you are neither strong enough nor is he wealthy enough to see you safely through marriage with all its hardships and worries and at the same time allow you to study and do your voice the justice due it. Your father will cut off your splendid allowance—I heard you tell your sweetheart that you had promised your father not to marry for at least three years. Your parents are wise, too, child—they know that love in a poor artist's studio and the hard work necessary to place the foundation under your musical career are not possible."

"I had tried to think it all out," said Daphne, "and somehow Dick always talked me into the glory of love and the ambition it instills into one and I began to feel I was being weak in not giving in to love."

"You can still give into love three years later," said the little old lady, "and if you wait until you have stepped into fame and have all the love of a musical world—then and only then will you know what a glorious thing real love can be. You are far too young to realize that the right kind of a man for you is the one who will put you and your interests before his own. This young artist is quite willing you should give up all your own ambitions and simply become a servant in his studio."

Daphne was weeping softly now and her head had found a most happy resting place among the laces and lavender of the little old lady's breast. "I'm so glad you stopped me and have taken me into your life," she said; "my own people are way out West and I've had no one here to ask advice from."

Madame Vane smoothed back the golden hair from Daphne's wide forehead and in her far-seeing eyes was the vision of the great concert hall packed with music lovers and Daphne whose head was cradled on her breast, was stepping out on the platform—full of courage and ready to burst forth into glorious song.

And ten years later Daphne again sat beside her on the same Chesterfield on which they had chatted that night when Daphne would have run off to marry Dick Trevor and her golden head again rested against Madame's shoulder.

There was a soft smile playing about Daphne's lips and her eyes were gloriously alight. Her breath came a bit fitfully, for one who was quite used to facing an audience of hundreds quite calmly.

"He's a wee bit late—isn't he, dearie," said Madame.

"Five minutes," said Daphne, "and—and you do—love him, too—don't you, dear—I couldn't bear to think you didn't love him and want me to marry him."

"He is the one man in all the world I would have chosen for my songbird," said the little old lady; "you are each worthy of the great love that has claimed you and together there are no heights you cannot reach. I talk from experience, my dearie, and I am only too happy to have passed on my knowledge to you. There—run along, child—I hear his footsteps on the stairs."

23 States Liberalize Laws on Speed Limit

Washington. A statement is issued at national headquarters of the American Automobile association based on a survey of speed limits in each of the 48 states and the District of Columbia shows that within the last three years 23 states have eliminated obsolete speed limits.

The national motoring body points out that highway experts, jurists and traffic authorities throughout the country are coming to realize, after careful investigation, that crowded conditions caused by slow-moving traffic contribute more to the appalling number of accidents on the highways than the inefficiently handled automobile moving at a fair rate of speed.

MUNICIPAL NOTES BY THE MANAGER

Considerable sentiment is apparent in the village at present in favor of an ordinance rigidly controlling the activities of peddlers in the village. It is expected that such an ordinance will shortly be drafted and passed by the commission.

A saving of over $300 has been effected in the cost of power for the operation of the village booster pump upon North Mill street for the past three months through application by the village for a change from a domestic to a commercial power rate for this station, which is justified by the heavy demand. The above arrangement has been made effective as of July 30, and a refund of $306.38 upon power bills paid since that date will be forthcoming to the village very shortly.

We do not wish our citizens to believe in signs, but we trust that the motoring public will believe in and observe the intent of the new stop signs being installed at our busy street intersections. The careful cooperation of every motorist to make our streets safe for travel will be appreciated by every citizen.

Bids were opened Monday evening for the construction of a storm sewer system in South Harvey street from Wing street southward to the creek, with laterals on all intersecting streets. There were nine bids submitted, ranging from $10,127.20 to $14,980. The contract was awarded to James Black, of Northville, upon the basis of his low bid given above. It is expected that work will commence soon and that the contract will be completed about the beginning of the year.

Plans, specifications and estimates for a concrete culvert at South Harvey street and the creek were accepted by the commission Monday evening. Construction upon this project will be started in the very near future.

According to reports just received from the Business Institute, Raymond Levandowski just finished cost accounting in nine weeks, which requires ten weeks, thus gaining one week, but between time he has been doing odd jobs, such as for the Detroit News at the primary election along with 36 other fellows; while at the election held last Tuesday Raymond Hunter and Raymond Levandowski were the only fellows out of the twelve from the University of Detroit and fifteen from the Business Institute who were chosen by the Detroit News to work on their new system, which is entirely different from the old system which has been used for many years.

Beautiful Actress ... Countless Admirers

—The secret of her blasted life told for the first time

MAGDA, the saintly, her friends called her. For though this beautiful actress had countless admirers, she steadfastly refused to let the slightest suspicion of love or romance enter her life. Then something happened. The treacherous tongue of scandal linked her name in an ugly way with that of a man of great social prominence. For some strange reason Magda neither denied nor confirmed these rumors. The poison spread. One by one her friends deserted her. Even her youthful protégée, a young man in the cast whom she had encouraged and helped with all her strength, publicly denounced her as unfit for decent people to associate with. Had he known the truth he would have cut out his tongue rather than breathe a word against her character. Then Magda's play suddenly closed. Crushed and in despair, she sought out the man responsible for her wrecked reputation, and threatened to expose him—to tell the world the truth. "I dare you to!" he snarled through evil lips. And Magda knew her fight had just begun. Until now, the sensational truth about the venomous scandal which blasted her life has remained securely locked in Magda's aching, grief-stricken heart. But now her story can be told. It is entitled "Beyond the Pale," and appears complete in December True Story Magazine.

He is one of the oldest members of the Masonic fraternity in the state having been a member of this organization for 70 years. In 1858 he became a member of Farmington Lodge No. 171. Forty-five years ago he was transferred to Plymouth Rock Lodge No. 47 of this place. He was admitted to Northville Chapter No. 55 and later he became a member of Northville Commandery.

The Kiwanis Circus

The indoor circus staged by the Kiwanis club at the High School auditorium last Wednesday and Thursday evenings was a decided success, and largely attended. The entire performance was in true circus fashion, with the barkers for pop corn and crackle-jack passing among the audience. The circus was under the direction of Jack Flagg, of Ypsilanti. The acrobatic work was of a high character and greatly pleased the audiences on both evenings. The antics of the clowns also came in for generous applause. The clowns were Warren Lombard, Perley Deal, Claude Eckles, Dr. H. Brishols, William Peiz, Harold Joffite, Henry Ray, Steve Wall, Roy Fisher, Albert Gayle, Bert Swadling and Ray Hills. The proceeds of the circus are to be used for the annual "every kiddie happy" Christmas program sponsored by the Kiwanis club.

The Pretty Girl Upstairs

By LILLIAN MOORE

THE State Bank of Remington had just installed a machine which calculated human adding and subtracting—one which totaled a column of figures in neat little typewritten letters, much to the astonishment of the older men of the village, who declared that "it can't be done." The company who made the machine suggested that they send some one up to their school for two or three weeks to learn how to operate the machine efficiently. And, of course, there was no one but Ed Collins to go. Ed Collins was the only one who worked in the bank except the president.

Ed Collins was delighted at the prospect of going. He rushed right down Main street as fast as he could to tell Anna about it. He felt confident that she would be quite as delighted as he. But she wasn't. She was sweeping the front porch, which was already speckled. Her crisp blue apron had a perky bow of white lawn holding it together at the back, and her cheeks were pink from the exercise of sweeping. Altogether she was a pretty sight—pink and blue and creamy skin topped by golden hair. She was not beautiful. There were at least half a dozen girls prettier in Remington than she, but Anna and Ed had always "gone together," as the folks in Remington said.

Ed was thinking about all of this as he sat in the living room of his aunt's tiny flat on the next Saturday morning. He had applied himself to the work at the school and had learned all that he needed to know for the bank work and was ready to start home again. When his aunt had suggested staying in the city until Sunday night he had eagerly accepted the invitation, for he wanted to look about a little. He had been dumfounded when he had first seen the vast numbers of pretty girls that lived in the city. He had heard vaguely that city girls were "lookers" as the Remington boys said, but these girls in the neighborhood were absolutely stunning.

There was one upstairs that he had seen several times in his short stay, and he had wished that his aunt would introduce them. This girl was a pretty blonde, whose hair was always waved and dressed in the latest way. Her skin was marvelous—a pink and white punctuated by soft red lips. She had never looked at him directly, but he had felt that she knew he was there. She was a fairly young girl, probably not more than seventeen. That she was yet in high school he knew, for he saw her carrying books in and out in a dainty fashion.

"Ed, there's the postman. Run down and get the mail for me," called his aunt from the back of the flat.

Ed felt annoyed at her use of the third person. It made him seem such a kid. Couldn't women ever realize that a fellow was a man by the time he was working and earning a living? He rose and moved toward the front door. There was another little tinkle over the bell as he opened the front door and looking down he saw a girl's figure wrapped in a dressing gown of blue velvet ahead of him. He was about to step back and wait until she had returned to her apartment, but the postman's call, "Registered letter to sign for," made him continue his descent.

He saw now by the golden hair that it was the girl from upstairs who wore the blue gown. She was trailing down slowly. Her mother's voice from above came:

"Belle, was that the post?"
 Belle! What a wonderful name! How fitting Ed had had enough French in the Remington high school to recall that Belle translates into the English word pretty. He ambled downstairs a little quicker. The idea flashed into his mind that Belle was a far more attractive name than was Anna.

"There's two cents due on this letter, miss," said the postman, with his eyes on the pile of letters in his hand.
 "Well, by gosh!" came the high voice of the girl, who seemed to be angry from her tone, "why didn't you say so before I leaped 'way down here?"

Ed grinned as he thought of the languorous descent which she characterized as "leaping." Small towns might be slow, but—Belle had turned to go back for the required two cents. Her front hair was done up in some remarkable way in metal waves. Cold cream had been lavishly smeared on her face and still lay there waiting to be rubbed or washed off. No vestige of color marked her face, neither the lips, which were a mere pale pink in color, nor the cheeks, which were undeniably white.

"Guess I'll go back tonight," he said to his aunt as he handed her the mail.

"Well, just as you like," said his aunt. "Belle, stop in when you're dressed. I want you to meet my nephew." She dropped her voice as the door closed. "She's such a pretty girl," she said to Ed.

Ed looked at her sharply, but there was no smile on her lips. She had seen only the back of Belle. And then Ed grinned.

RURAL LETTER CARRIERS MEET HERE.

The quarterly meeting of the Wayne County Rural Letter Carriers was held at the Methodist Church Community hall, last Saturday evening. A splendid dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock, followed by an interesting program, with Mr. Shoeman, of Dearborn, acting as toastmaster. I. N. Jickerson, of this place, retired letter carrier, gave an interesting talk, as also did Robert Walker, of this place, who followed him. A male quartet, of Northville, sang several selections that were greatly appreciated. Postmaster Nessler, of Dearborn, gave a very interesting talk.

J. W. Landon, of Cass City, state treasurer of the Michigan Rural Letter Carriers' Association, gave a selection and gave a short talk.

Mrs. D. W. Landon, of Cass City, gave a report for the Auxiliary of the National Convention. Mrs. Harvey Aldrich, of Mt. Clemens, gave a reading that was much appreciated.

It was a most interesting and enjoyable meeting for all those in attendance.

Many Enroll in the Red Cross

The Red Cross membership campaign which was on in Plymouth last week came to a close last Saturday night, but the work of getting renewals of membership and new members is still in progress. There was a splendid response on the part of our citizens to renew their memberships in the Red Cross organization. If there is anyone who wishes to take out a new membership they can do so by calling on any member of the following chairman or those who served in booths:

Chairmen—Mrs. C. H. Buzzard, Mrs. Robert Munnick, Mrs. H. S. Doerr, Mrs. D. N. McKinnon, Mrs. George A. Smith, Mrs. Florence Webber, Mrs. William Bake, Mrs. F. W. Hillman, Mrs. B. E. Champe, Mrs. Albert Gayde, Mrs. Isaac Gansolly, Mrs. George Bentley.

Serving in booths—Mrs. William Tait, Mrs. Warren Lombard, Mrs. Herald Hamill, Mrs. Bruce Woodbury, Mrs. Fred Schaufele, Mrs. Czar Penney, Mrs. John Henderson, Mrs. Bessie Dunning, Mrs. Fred Lee, Mrs. Sattie Ayres, Miss Mabel Spicer, Mrs. John Hubert, Mrs. Dwight Randall, Mrs. Cass Hough, Mrs. Earl Mastick, Miss Dorothy Dibble, Miss Elizabeth Burrows, Miss Virginia Giles, Mrs. A. K. Brocklehurst, Mrs. Ernest Thrall, Mrs. Benjamin Gilbert, Mrs. L. A. Felton, Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Mrs. Roy Crowe, Mrs. Lawrence Johnson, Mrs. J. T. Chapman, Miss Barbara Bake, Miss Ruth Shattuck, Miss Margaret Dunning, Miss Thelma Pez, Miss Doris Gallimore, Miss Helen Beyer, Miss Athalie Hough, Mrs. Albert Stever, Mrs. O. B. Borek, Mrs. Rose Holstein, Mrs. Charles Olds, Mrs. Hilda Stevens, Mrs. Ada Murray, Mrs. Clyde Whitaker, Mrs. Orson Polley, Mrs. William Wood.

The local organization is indebted to Cass Hough for the placing of the Red Cross posters. The large hammer across Main street was the gift of Mrs. C. H. Bennett.

The receipts from last year's enrollment was $791.65. It is hoped that this amount will be increased by memberships and donations to at least $1,000. If you have not already become a member of the great Red Cross organization you still have the opportunity. Do it today.

OCTOBER PROVIDED VARIED TEMPERATURES

HIGHEST THERMOMETER READING 88 DEGREES, LOWEST 22.

October weather in 1928, as compared to that of the corresponding month a year ago, was bright and warm during three quarters of the time, had an unusually warm spell in its second week and then tapered off to the coldest period recorded since last spring.

On the whole the month was notably mild and without any marked changes in temperature until its closing days. Although the skies were overcast more than half the time rain fell only during 11 days and the total rainfall for the month was only 1.05 of an inch. October 1928 was dry compared to the same month in 1927. It was even drier, only .82 of an inch of rainfall being recorded.

The highest temperature registered last month was 88 degrees and the lowest was 22 degrees, while corresponding readings for October 1927 were 84 and 32 degrees. Last month had only one high and one low period, respectively during its second and last weeks, while October 1927 at its start showed high temperatures that were followed by a series of drops and rises in the mercury column in the middle of the month.

Three times last month the mercury rose to the 80 degree mark or higher, nine times it was in the 70's, five times its highest daily mark was in the 60's and four times the maximum readings were in the 50's. In October 1927 the maximum temperatures were in the 80's only twice but 10 times they entered the 70's, six times they were in the 60's and seven times they stayed in the 50's.

The average maximum temperature for last month was about three degrees higher than the average for the same month a year ago. Despite the cold weather last week, the minimum readings for the month averaged three units higher than those in 1927.

An unusual circumstance is the fact that October 1928 had showers recorded for 11 days but the total rainfall was only slightly more than one inch. In October 1927 showers were experienced only during four days but four 1/8ths of an inch of rainfall was recorded. In the latter month not a drop of rain was recorded after the 12th day of the month, while nearly three-quarters of an inch was recorded after this day in October 1928.

SCHOOL NOTES

CLEARING MATTERS UP

How much more clear is something that has been put on paper than that which is merely discussed. Release Travis benefited the American History class very much by mapping the plan of the battle of Yorktown. The British, French, and American forces were represented by different letters. With their commanders' names near them. The armies, in different colors, were placed in trenches and could be moved along to show their path of advance and retreat. The boats in the harbor were also movable. A lot of time and energy were spent in figuring out the encirclements and plans. It is quite a brief summary of this battle, a summary in which all the important points were brought out while the focus in significant details omitted.

SOMETHING DIFFERENT FOR HISTORY

The most interesting history lesson this week in Miss Aspin's class, I think is the slides of Revolutionary pictures that the University of Michigan sent to us, called the "Winning of our Independence on Sand." Almost everything about this war was shown, even former concepts and legends which led to the idea for independence. The Magna Charter, the Mayflower Compact, the Virginia Assembly with others were very clearly pictured. The leaders of the Revolution, both military and civil were shown, too. In their powdered wigs, George Washington, of course, having a prominent place. The battles, Lexington, Concord, Bunker Hill and many others, were shown, one picturing Lafayette, who dedicated the Bunker Hill monument. An interesting note tells how he wanted to be buried in American soil. When this very patriotic Frenchman died, earth was taken from here and carried across the Atlantic. Thus, though buried in France, his body lies in American soil.

Miss Aspin is expecting more slides later on, one set called "Greece in Literature and History" and another set called "Greece in Athletics and Sports." These "red-letter" days are looked forward to each time because they furnish variety to the usual routine besides their educational value.

W. C. T. U.

The following members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union attended the District Convention, held last week in Detroit: Mesdames E. R. Daggert, J. Clements, Phoebe Patterson, Clara Patterson, Todd, E. Vealey, J. Rattenbury, C. R. Ross, Mary Hillman. Reports will be given by them at the next meeting, which occurs at the home of the president, Mrs. E. R. Daggert, Thursday, November 15, at 2:30 P. M. It is hoped there will be a large attendance as the reports are sure to be full of interest.

Mrs. Phoebe Patterson, who has for twenty-five years served as Recording Secretary of the District, in addition to serving two years as District President, was compelled to relinquish her office on account of pressure of other work. Mrs. Clara Patterson Todd was elected to take her place. As a token of appreciation of her long and faithful service, Mrs. Patterson was presented with a lovely bouquet of flowers and a beautiful W. C. T. U. pin set with pearls.

Remember the date of the next meeting, Thursday, November 15, at 2:30 P. M. at the home of Mrs. E. R. Daggert, 181 Starkweather Avenue.

PERRINSVILLE

The Halloween party given at the brick school was largely attended, many masquerades, fortune telling games, the evening was one round of pleasure after the parents and teachers meeting was held.

Clinton Bachr was surprised after returning from the movie at Plymouth Saturday evening to find some of his young friends there to help him celebrate his seventeenth birthday. The evening was spent in playing games, after which a light lunch was served.

The Ladies Aid will meet with Mrs. Johnson at Newburg Wednesday the 14th. Pot luck dinner.

The Ladies Aid held a Halloween social at the hall Thursday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ort entertained company Sunday.

Mrs. Sell, of Detroit, spent Wednesday at May Kubies.

The political "I Told You So" season is starting any minute now!

ANCIENT WEATHER LEAVES ITS MARK

Texas Fossils Prove to Be Marks of Drizzle.

Washington.—Recent discoveries made in the famous Red Beds of Texas, of the Permian age, have proved that the markings described by earlier investigators as trails of many-legged worms, are in reality weather markings, or examples of "fossil weather." The proof of this statement lies in a small slab of shale which shows numerous parallel markings, large and small, in such abundance that they could not have been made by animals. The designation of the markings as "drizzle runs" indicates the weather conditions in what is now Texas, in that far-off time.

Formed on Mud Flats.
The "drizzle" formation of the markings is due to the accumulation of fine mud in a slow runoff on a mud flat with a gentle slope. Some slight obstructions, such as a grain of sand or a bit of plant material or a hard piece of mud, was enough to start the formation of a slight ridge along which the markings continue. On another slab of red shale are to be seen circular marks where a plant leaf or a piece of grass made circular scratches in the soft mud millions of years ago. One can almost see the sunshine following the shower after which an animal, unknown to science, walked past the wind-moved plant.

Disprove Raindrop Fossils.
Geologists have for many years regarded as fossil raindrops any group of circular or oval-shaped depressions, and the standard textbooks figure such markings. Recent experiments in the University of Wisconsin, supplemented by observations of shale slabs from the Texas Red Beds and on the soft mud and sand along the Pacific coast, prove clearly that many of the so-called raindrop impressions are due to air bubbles. Markings made in recent mud are exactly like those seen in the ancient red shales.

The influence of the proportions of sunshine and cloudiness, in ancient geological time, upon the rapidity of growth of individuals and upon the rapid expansion of groups of ancient animals and plants is now attracting the attention of students of fossil life. An attempt is being made to interpret, from conditions seen in ancient rocks, the state of the weather at a time when earth conditions were quite different from what they are now. It is expected that previously unrecognized bits of sunshine will soon be seen in the rocks of the old Paleozoic.

Texan Gives Candy to Mexican Children

San Antonio, Texas.—For several years J. M. Allardice, a retired candy manufacturer of San Antonio, has devoted himself to making the poor children of Mexico happy. During the most part of each year he travels through the remote parts of that country on mule-back accompanied by a pack animal which carries a store of sugar and candy-making utensils. Whenever Allardice arrives at a primitive village he sets up his candy-making equipment in some lowly home or public place and makes dulces for the children. He distributes the sweets free of charge and while the children are gathered around him he tells them Bible stories in Spanish. In this simple manner he has been the means of bringing religious teachings into hundreds of homes and to thousands of children.

Lack of Bathing Suits Prevents Lake Rescue

Detroit.—A Detroit doctor, while driving by a Lake St. Clair beach recently, saw a knot of people looking excitedly out into the lake. He stopped his car and three young men came running up to him. "There's a fellow out there," they cried, pointing toward the lake. He was swimming alone and he went down. He drowned."

"Well, why doesn't some one go in for him?" asked the doctor, and then almost suffered apoplexy when he was told: "Why, we would, but we haven't any bathing suits."

Sleeping Coach Links London With Liverpool

London.—A motor sleeping coach—said to be the first in Europe—made its first public journey recently when it left London for Liverpool at 11 p. m. with a full complement of 12 passengers.

The coach was built by the Albion Roadways company, and is fitted with upper and lower bunks arranged as one on a ship, but with curtains instead of doors. A touch of a bell brings a steward to the entrance with a tray containing breakfast. Hot water for washing is also provided. Only one coach has been put in commission so far, but the service will be extended if the patronage justifies it.

THE VANISHING PIONEER

To find water and to create irrigation systems that would make the semi-desert soil productive was one of the greatest problems of the pioneer settlers who developed the American West. This vital problem of waters provides the theme for Zane Gray's "The Vanishing Pioneer," the Paramount picture featuring Jack Holt which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre Sunday and Monday, November 11 and 12.

The picture shows a band of pioneers encountering terrible hardships in crossing the desert. Their water dries out and their plight seems hopeless. Leaving tiny graveyards in the sand as milestones of their progress they fight their way on to discover water.

Twenty-five years later what was once a desert region has been transformed into a productive valley by the magic of water. The pioneers have developed an irrigation system that has made their "Happy Valley" an exceptionally prosperous one.

A nearby city needs to enlarge its water supply and a committee is sent to Happy Valley to negotiate with the settlers for purchase of their water rights. A corrupt politician heads this committee and endeavors to obtain the water rights by underhand methods at an unfair price. The desperate fight the settlers have to defend their water. This picture is 1890.

The desert crossing and the discovery of water is portrayed in the prologue of the picture. The period of the prologue is 1865. The main part of the production deals with the struggle the settlers have to defend their water. This picture is 1890.

In the prologue Holt takes the part of Anthony Ballard, leader of the pioneer covered wagon train. His son Tim takes the part of John Ballard. Anthony Ballard's son, at the age of seven years, in the principal part of the picture Holt takes the role of John Ballard grown to young manhood.

"THE SAWDUST PARADISE"

A street carnival ballyhoo girl's successful efforts to "put over" an evangelist's new revival is told in Esther Ralston's new Paramount picture, "The Sawdust Paradise," to be shown at the Penniman Allen theatre Wednesday and Thursday, November 14 and 15.

In the story, Miss Ralston is paroled to an evangelist, at his request after she had been arrested with others connected with a cracked street carnival. A scuffer at first, Miss Ralston nevertheless likes the kind old man and seeks to do something about filling his tent.

She induces him to adopt unusual methods of arousing the public's interest and in the end, without realizing what is happening, she begins to thoroughly enjoy her new work.

Rosal Howes, who played opposite "Hara Row" in "Rough House Rosie," is shown as a carnival concession grifter in "The Sawdust Paradise." The love affair between the ballyhoo girl, Miss Ralston, and himself is depicted in a novel manner.

Also appearing in the supporting cast to Miss Ralston in this picture is Holart Bosworth, veteran screen player, who is cast as the old revivalist. Mr. Bosworth gives an admirable performance in this character. Mary Allen who gained fame in "Birth of a Nation" has a prominent part as does Allan Roscoe, who is cast as the hard-boiled carnival owner.

"VARSITY"

It is safe to say that no moving picture in the past has succeeded in portraying American college life with any such fidelity as "Varsity," which is coming to the Penniman Allen theatre, Saturday, November 17th. The change from the usual slapstick variety of college picture to this lovely and dignified story with a college background, in which Charles (Buddy) Rogers proves his right to the starring honors, with which Paramount has presented him in this film is a welcome surprise.

It is a tale of the love of a father for his son. The father, Chester (Conklin), is the janitor of one of the buildings at Princeton university and a campus character. The son, who is unaware of his parentage, is a student at the university.

The son is beset by dangers from which the father, with heroic self-effacement, rescues him. The son completes his college course with honors and a lovely girl, played by Mary Brian, for his wife.

"Varsity" is truly a soul-stirring picture. The story is built on the vital human emotions, the love of a father for his son. The background is one of beauty and dignity, the scenes having been taken on the campus of Princeton university.

SAVES POLICEMAN'S LIFE

Lancaster, Pa.—Russell Troupe, state highway policeman, declared upon his return here from Baltimore that he owed his life to a bob-haired girl bandit who was one of a gang that kidnapped him.

Mischievous Moles

It may interest a lot of people around Plymouth who make their living out of the soil to learn that one of the latest bulletins from the United States Department of Agriculture lists the mole as one of the most destructive of pests. Its menace comes through the displacement and tearing up of plant roots, mostly in gardens, and in turning up the soil so that it dries out quickly. The department discourages the use of poisons in eradicating the pests, and insists that tripping has so far proven the most satisfactory method, even though it requires extraordinary patience and skill. Figured in terms of dollars and cents, the damage and destruction wrought by moles each year runs into the thousands. For that reason Uncle Sam lists the mole as a nationwide nuisance, and urges constant warfare upon them.

SOME GOWN!

Agua Calientes, Mexico.—A dress valued at $22,000 that is so filmy it can easily be passed through a ring is one of the most remarkable articles to be shown in the Mexican building at the International Exposition of Seville, Spain. It once belonged to the wife of a Mexican president. It is now the property of Mrs. Eugenia De Emerz Leon of Agua Calientes.

"What should be done in a case of drowning?" asked the timid man who was learning to swim.

"Well," replied the instructor, "I shouldn't think the natural thing would be to have a funeral."

Watts tried a pass to Cavell which fell incomplete. Watts carried right end for 10 yards. Tiffin made first down on Plymouth's 19-yard line. When Northville failed to gain their yardage on fourth down, Plymouth took the ball on their own 11-yard line.

Beagle made 2 yards off left end. Herrick punted past goal and the referee brought the ball back to the 20-yard line where it went into play.

Watts made a pass for a gain of 30 yards. The next pass fell incomplete. Time was taken out for Plymouth. After a little rest Watts lost 17 yards when the whole Plymouth team broke through Northville's weak line and made the tackle.

Watts passed to Leavenworth for 10 yards. Then came another pass, but this one was very short. Northville failed to gain their yardage on fourth down. It was Plymouth's ball on their own 32-yard line.

PLYMOUTH-TOWNWAYNE GAME. The Plymouth-Wayne game to be played Friday, November 9 (today) at the Tourist Camp promises to be a big attraction.

The Plymouth High school band is scheduled to play at this game. The H-Y club plans to remove the bleachers from the baseball field and rebuild them at the Tourist Camp.

This will accommodate a great many people. As both Plymouth and Wayne have excellent teams the game will be an exciting one.

THE BAND AND THE SNAKE DANCE. The Plymouth High School Band attended the Plymouth-Northville game. During the half, led by the drum major, they marched up and down the field stopping in the center to form a large letter P.

This maneuver was greeted with much applause and handclapping from both sides. The ranks then closed in to their original positions and played the "Flight Song."

After the game the people of Plymouth formed in a long line and led by Mr. Emens they danced what is known as the "Snake Dance."

BUSY AS BEES. Some industrious little workers are members of the Junior Hec Club. Last week at the Plymouth vs. Northville game they sold blue and white pom-poms at a profit and are going to give the money to the Student Council.

They have also undertaken the project to make curtains for the club-room that belongs to Mr. Emens' Sunday School Class at the Methodist Church.

SCHOOL NOTES GALLEY ONE DEBATING

A close debate was held Thursday, November 8th, when the Ypsilanti Central High School affirmative team, consisting of Robert Hidding, Paul Hidding and Virginia Talbot, defeated the Plymouth team.

The Plymouth team which will meet Ecorse in the first league debate, Ruth Root, Alice Gilbert, and Harold Hubert, with Rhea Peck as attorney, has been named the A team, while the remainder of the squad is formed into a B team.

Friday, November 9 at four o'clock the A team will go to Highland Park High School to meet their negative team in a practice debate.

Tuesday, November 13, at 7 o'clock, the A team will meet the Ecorse High School negative team in a practice debate at Fordson High School.

Then, as you know, comes the first league debate with Ecorse High School in the Plymouth High School Auditorium at seven o'clock on November 16th.

With the domestic art and science classes. The high school classes have been working on salad and salad dressings, and their place in the diet.

The eighth grade food classes are preparing quick breads such as plain muffins, with variations—date, brand, whole wheat and baking powder biscuits, both dropped and rolled.

The seventh grade class is making kimono and night gowns, trimming them very attractively in fancy bias tape.

The lunch room is expected to reopen about the middle of November. Everything will be reasonably priced—no one thing over 10c, desserts and soups 5c. For 20c or 25c a well-balanced and nourishing meal can be bought.

YEA TEAM! When you hear Plymouth students at a game yelling for their team for all they are worth you can rest assured that the Cheer leaders are doing their work.

They have four new ones this year—Donald Bronson, Frank Leonard, Jimmie Stansson, and Marvin Partridge, and they certainly are full of pep.

They have blue and white megaphones with the initials "P" on them to assist them in their cheering.

CENTRAL SCHOOL NOTES. Virginia Talbot. Robert Clark is another new pupil in Miss Wilmore's morning class.

The children are learning songs for Thanksgiving and are cutting out turkeys and coloring them.

Van Dyck's picture "Baby Snare" is being studied in Mrs. Root's room and the boys and girls are making art books on it.

They are having another tests in the Sewwork Pads. Friday a border will be put up across the blackboards for Thanksgiving.

George Fallon has been added to the list of boys and girls with perfect teeth.

James Stevens brought a goldfish to the Second Grade Friday and the children are taking turns feeding it.

Thursday nine boys had girls had perfect spelling papers. Guy McCallan has left for Fort Wayne, Indiana.

The Third Grade has lost two pupils. Budha Klug went to Muskegon and John Machine to Dearborn.

Art booklets are being made in Mrs. Blaxton's room also. In doing this the children had practice in design, lettering, paper-folding and cutting, measuring and pasting.

The room is already decorated for Thanksgiving with an "owl and moon" border. Four stars have been given for perfect teeth. Barbara Olsaver, Bobby Hull, Jean Woodworth and Robert Lorenz. The children are enjoying the exciting story of "Mrs. Cucumber Green."

George Smith has returned to Miss Farrand's room after three weeks absence. The booklets on teeth have been completed and they are studying the Eskimo home now. In the Arithmetic contest the "American League" is two points ahead of the "Navy."

Elice's team is still ahead in spelling in Miss Hallahan's room. Six B is making booklets "They Study of the Eye."

Miss Fenner's room had a border decoration of turkeys and corn stalks. Harold Jacobs has been absent for a week because his sister has scarlet rash. The children are going to have a "mock election" November 8th.

The 6 B section is making a red, white and blue shield which is going to be used for the picture of our next president. The 5 A section is ahead in spelling and the 6 B section will have to treat it less.

STARKEATHER PARTS. A delightful Halloween party was held in Miss Spiegelberg's room last Wednesday. The children brought apples and candy and games were played.

William Wallace has entered this room. The H-Y Club has suddenly grown from an unobtrusive club of about fifteen to a larger and better club. The new fellows are being given a chance to go to two meetings before definitely deciding whether they wish to join.

In the last meeting about thirty boys were present. Mr. Emens led them on a very interesting discussion on "Emotional Control." They talked of the effect of anger upon one's physical, mental and social make-up.

They discussed the value of the control of such emotions as hate, disgust, anger and fear in accidents, in social life as parties, and especially in athletic contests.

They are initiating the new boys by using them in service for the school and the community. By permission of the town officers, they have to clean the hill overlooking the football field at the Tourist Camp, which means cutting the tall hay and weeds and digging out the thorn bushes.

They also have to take the bleachers there for the Wayne game. About one hundred and fifty boys were put in the contest box last week and they are being judged by Miss Birkenhamer, Miss Hadley, Mr. Matherson and Mr. Emens.

The first prize will be two dollars and the second, one dollar.

AMONG THE BOOKS. When a teacher entered the library eight or ten years ago she was usually called upon to stop a game of tag or some other hilarity and now we find the library a very orderly place run by students.

It was difficult to find a girl who had applied for the job of student helper, frankly told the principal that she would not reprimand a disorderly pupil; such pupil would be "down" on her. But through the years, there has been developed a wholly different attitude among pupils.

They recognize the library as a useful part of their work; they respect the student librarians and disorder is now unheard of. Each hour different pupils are on duty which means that they must give out and receive books, check up on persons entering the library, and keep order. These duties are respected by the student body just as much as if a teacher were present in the room.

There are certain rules as to the use of the library. It cannot be used for a study hall but is only for reference material or recreational reading. Only a certain number of people from each study hall may go to it each hour and no person on the Aikward Signal one having an I or E on any subject may enjoy the privilege.

This work is under the supervision of Miss Traut.

FUTURE CITIZENS. Here are a few citizens-to-be that will not have to be shown how to vote by the clerks in the voting booths. Miss Lyke is taking care of that. Her eight grade history classes have made charts showing the food values of the most common foods to the body.

The eighth grade food classes are preparing quick breads such as plain muffins, with variations—date, brand, whole wheat and baking powder biscuits, both dropped and rolled.

The advance sewing class is making dresses for a afternoon and evening wear of various silks and woolsens. These frocks are elaborate and skillfully done, of the newer modes, and shades, and their appearance as a whole is deserving credit.

The seventh grade class is making kimono and night gowns, trimming them very attractively in fancy bias tape.

The lunch room is expected to reopen about the middle of November. Everything will be reasonably priced—no one thing over 10c, desserts and soups 5c. For 20c or 25c a well-balanced and nourishing meal can be bought.

HALLOWEEN REIGNS SUPREME. Witches, ghosts, goblins and other Halloween symbols formed the base on which social affairs were conducted last week. Several clubs had Halloween parties, among them the Travel Club.

This was held at Heloise Travis' home Friday evening, November 2, and although it rained, thirteen members with Miss Osman, their leader, were present.

First they played a peanut game, where each one threw peanuts into a set of pans, each pan counting so many points. Marvin Baumgarten got the prize for having the most points and Janet McLeod for the least.

Then we each tried to blow a candle out through the small end of a funnel. This sounds easy but try it. Darrell Cool and Lois Martin were ahead in this.

Then came the part which every Halloween party must have—fortunes. These were written on white cards with milk. By holding them over a candle the milk became brown and one could read his fortune. This of course was a lot of fun.

After playing spin the platter and everyone having had some football, refreshments were served, consisting of fresh cider, apples and doughnuts.

As it was becoming late, the hour when all good children should be in bed, goodnights were said and the club thanked their hostess for the enjoyable evening.

A SPARK. Preceding the H-Y is a group of boys known as the Torch Club. This is really a H-Y club but it is for younger boys and so has been given a different name.

These boys have been doing a number of things. Two delegates, Edward DePorter and Charles Ball, were sent to the H-Y Setting-Up Conference at Fish Lake where they obtained some very instructive and helpful information as well as enjoyed a regular time. In September a Home Meeting was held at the house of Charles Ball and a Home Party has been appreciated at Edward DePorter's.

Their meetings consist of an opening prayer, business affairs, discussion, and a closing sentence by each member.

Officers of the group are: Charles Ball, president; Kenneth Groth, vice-president; John Randall, treasurer; Steve Horvath, secretary. Mr. Perdue and Mr. Cobb sponsors the organization.

JUNIOR CHORUS. The Junior Chorus along with the sixth and seventh grades is starting the November music memory contest. They are all working hard for the finals which will take place at Detroit.

NOTICE! The Junior Girl Reserves are selling Brown Boards. Do not forget to get yours. Their next meeting following their plan for the year "Highways are Happyways" is "Curves" a meeting on health.

THE H-Y. The H-Y Club has suddenly grown from an unobtrusive club of about fifteen to a larger and better club. The new fellows are being given a chance to go to two meetings before definitely deciding whether they wish to join.

In the last meeting about thirty boys were present. Mr. Emens led them on a very interesting discussion on "Emotional Control." They talked of the effect of anger upon one's physical, mental and social make-up.

The first prize will be two dollars and the second, one dollar.

NATURE STUDY CLUB NOTES. The Starling. In the spring of 1890, Mr. George Schellhorn brought to this country from Europe sixty Starlings which he liberated in Central Park, New York. They have multiplied many-fold and are now rapidly spreading in all directions.

This fall these birds have been seen around Plymouth in flocks, varying from fifteen to twenty. The coloring of the Starling is rather odd. Dark throughout with magenta and green iridescence, the upper feathers speckled; lower parts, wings and tail dark brownish gray, the bill yellow. Like most of the brilliantly colored birds their plumage is duller and less iridescent in winter.

The song of the Starling is a jumble of mixed tones, including a few sweet whistles. W. H. Hudson says that in his song there is the twang of the Jews harp, the squeak of a rusty gate, the cluck of the hen and the rattle of a wire spring; that frequently he indulges in a few short and sweet whistles; that his merit lies more in the quality of the sounds he utters than in their endless variety; for an hour or so he will ramble away in a leisurely manner, whistling and warbling most graciously, including his long notes with clatterings, chuckings, squeakings and many other indescribable sounds. He is not a mimic, what he has to say is all his own.

The economic status of the Starling has not yet been fully determined but it seems to be a more useful bird than the English sparrow. Like the sparrow the Starling is omnivorous, fond of grain and small fruits; but unlike the sparrow is destructive to grasshoppers and locusts and competes actively clean and dainty in its habits.

It is partial to nest boxes, and no doubt would crowd out our native birds were it not for the fact that many of them, having smaller bodies, can use entrance holes through which the foreign bird cannot pass.

Last Thursday our Club enjoyed a hike to the Tourist Camp. Our birds for that day are—Starlings 11; Crows 2; Jays, many; Nuthatches 2; Cardinals 1; Chickadees, many; Brown-croppers many; Downy Woodpecker 1; Juncos many; White-throated Sparrow 1; Song Sparrows, several; Tree Sparrows 2.

STARTING ON THE RIGHT FOOT. On Friday of last week the officers and patrons of the two Intermediate Girl Reserve Clubs had a joint meeting with Miss Still of the Extension Department, at Detroit. Her purpose in coming was to get the club more definitely organized. She helped to arrange a program for one day so that the girls would know how to make their programs in the future. As to subject matter of programs, she emphasized health and devotional participation.

LET'S READ. It is so easy to settle down in a great big soft chair with an apple or some cookies and read. The member of the Junior High reading club gave reports in the last meeting on books read, we should like to fancy, in just that manner and they discussed some poems.

SENIOR HEC CLUB. The Senior Hec Club has been so unfortunate as to have a member who has been ill for the last two weeks. In the last meeting they wrote a chain of letters to her to fill some of her rest-less hours. A lovely Thanksgiving basket is being planned by them for some needy family. A great many couples surprise their friends by getting married," asserts Dad Plymouth "and every now and then some couple surprises their friends by staying married."

Picked Up About Town

Dad Plymouth says the reason a poor man's prayers are answered is because he never gives the angels any peace of mind until they listen to him.

Big fish are like big offenders. They are easy to hook but hard to land.

So far the nicest thing about the airplane is the fact that it isn't equipped with a horn.

Dad Plymouth says he expects that along about the first of December when the weather gets cold the women will put away their furs for the winter.

According to Dad Plymouth he can still remember when a fellow could get a pretty fair shotgun for 40,000 tobacco tags.

When Prosperity shakes hands with them, too many people think the work is done and signal the Plebe for a ride.

"At the present rate we're going," declares Dad Plymouth "it will soon be practically impossible for a chigger to work under cover."

Today's Reflections

Ever notice that when a Plymouth man arranges to go somewhere and it rains he says he might as well quit trying to do anything?

Another reason why we have so many divorces is couples always take each other for better or worse instead of just medium.

After a man has partaken of a meal prepared only for women he is still hungry enough to go out and eat the cheese out of a rat trap.

Wonder what has become of the old-fashioned Plymouth boy who could play a Jew's harp?

The only kind of good nature worth having is the kind that holds out all day and still sticks to you when you get home and find that supper isn't ready.

The average Plymouth woman's idea of making a fool of her husband is to let him have his own way.

People who cling to the notion a school teacher has an easy job must love their children more than they understand them.

We read where a scientist says a man breathes 400 lungfuls of air a minute. And still some of them go on eating onions.

About all we get out of being acquainted with some Plymouth people is a chance to hear them say disagreeable things about other people.

"The Den" To Be Opened Monday On West Main Street

Bright and early Monday morning there will be opened in Northville a place known as "The Den" located in the Richardson building on West Main street—and it is going to be something entirely different than anything else in town, although it is going to be a place where lunches can be secured.

The owner, Clyde E. Whittaker, of Plymouth, who has many friends in Northville, will have assisting him in the business Walter Anderson, an experienced man in the lunch room business.

Soup, pork and beans, the latter specially, sandwiches, pie, cakes, soft drinks, ice cream, and good coffee as well as the famous popcorn known as "C" and place don't the market some years ago by Mr. Whittaker, will always be ready for patrons of the place.

Mr. Whittaker has had the Northville fair popcorn concession for years and every one knows something about his good popcorn. A half page ad in this issue of the Northville Record tells of the opening he has planned for Monday and of the souzoulers that go with it. Northville Record.

BRIGGS SCHOOL NOTES

By Vice President, Abbie Melow.

Miss Reid visited school Monday afternoon to weigh and measure the children.

We had a Halloween party Wednesday, October 31st. The children were masked in different costumes. Evelyn Rutenbar and Nellie Vorbeck were dressed like gypsies, Lawrence Yatzek like a woman, Celesta Luno like a ghost and Billy Garrett like a clown. There were many other pretty costumes. One clerk room was decorated with black cats, bats and jack-o'-lanterns, where two gypsies told fortunes free of charge. We voted for and gave prizes to the following pupils: Abbie Melow, the prettiest girl; Billie Garrett, most popular boy; Lawrence Yatzek, the funniest costume and Edward Ash, the prettiest costume. We played games and had a very enjoyable time.

Friday, Miss Jameson made her regular visit at our school. After listening to classes, she gave us a very interesting nature talk.

The Miss Youngs gave us a musical treat one day last week. The musical program consisted of Indian selections and songs. Miss Young's explanation of the origin of Indian music, helped to make it very interesting for the children.

Styles change, but every now and then we still see on the streets of Plymouth some fellow whose trousers fit snug under the arm pits.

The Judge's Josh

"Kind of tough on Jones to be perpetually finding himself in such a tight place."

"Why, does he?"

"Yes. He is doorkeeper up at the Home for Inebriates now."

Citizen "What do you want? Money?"

Outcast "If yer got a plate of hot soup in yer pocket, it'll do as well."

"Well, that lets me out," grinned the convict, pointing to the open gate."

GAINS IMMEDIATE RELIEF FROM HIS HEALTH TROUBLES.

Says Konjola Brought An Improvement Over His Whole System; Gladly Indorses It.

MR. FRED E. C. BAXTER.

"Three years of almost constant suffering had made me very discouraged over my health, and especially since I was never able to find any one to help me," writes Mr. Fred E. C. Baxter, 123 Post avenue, Battle Creek, Michigan.

"Severe indigestion pains came over me almost as regularly as I ate. My food would sour and ferment as I ate and gas caused shortness of breath and pains around my heart. I became very nervous and was irritable and very had any energy or pep. I never knew what it was to get a good night's rest. Finally I was the victim of a completely disordered system and couldn't find a remedy to help me.

"Konjola proved a Godsend to me. I gained immediate relief soon after taking this medicine and today I am entirely free of all my health troubles. I have good appetite, sleep well at night and always feel fine in the morning. I gladly indorse it to others.

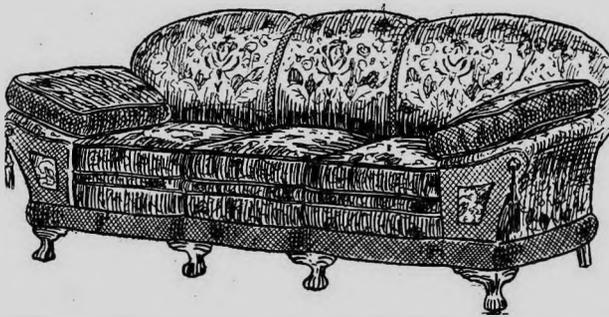

Konjola is sold in Plymouth at THE COMMUNITY PHARMACY and at all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

HOME BUILDERS

Are you thinking of building? Are you considering a house or a HOME? A house may be a shell, consisting of walls, floors and a roof, which represents only shelter and privacy without offering the owner any of the comforts of a home. The A-A-HOME is the result of thoughtful and careful planning and brings to you a house that represents all that the word HOME means in its truest sense.

EPISCOPAL NOTES

Ten years since the Armistice was signed.

The war touched the lives of us all; surely there should be none who will not want to remember Armistice Day, not as in former years with hilarious rejoicing but in solemn thanksgiving and dedication to the cause of lasting peace. The morning service on Sunday, November 11, will be especially given over to the observance of this day.

Members of the Order of DeMolay are planning to attend this service in a body. We shall be very happy to welcome these young men.

It is a fitting thing that there are to be two children baptised on Sunday morning. It is taken that hereafter they shall not be ashamed to manfully fight under Christ's banner. As Deacon Inge puts it, there is a "divine warfare."

Bishop Page will confirm a class of several children and adults on Sunday evening at 7:30 p. m. Let us do all that we can to make this day and service one which they will remember with joy in years to come. All members of the parish are urged to be present.

Visitors are cordially invited to hear the Bishop.

A Bazaar and Supper will be given by the Woman's Guild of Thursday afternoon and evening, November 15. Supper served from 7:30 to 7 p. m. Do some of your Christmas shopping.

CATHOLIC NOTES

Sunday is Holy Communion Sunday for the men of the parish. Let's all report.

Friday night, (tonight) November 9, the Nethem club will sponsor a dance in the Auditorium. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

A very enjoyable and successful meeting of the Nethem club was held last Monday night. About fifty young folks gathered for the occasion.

The young people meet every Monday night. The large choir will have their practice next Monday and Friday nights.

Albert Condo is at St. Joseph Hospital at Ann Arbor, slowly recovering from a serious illness.

The building contract of the Don Scotus school, located at the Nine Mile and Evergreen road, was given to the W. E. Construction Company, to be supervised by N. B. McLellan.

METHODIST NOTES

"O for a thousand tongues to sing my great Redeemer's praise."

Dr. John Martin, our District Superintendent, of Ann Arbor, will be with us at our church training night next Wednesday. Beginning at 6:30 we will have our cooperative supper, followed by the Quarterly Conference. All members of the church are urged to be present.

Next Wednesday the Missionary Society will meet at the home of Mrs. Warren Lombard. A cooperative luncheon will be served at 12:30 p. m. We hope to have an out-of-town speaker. All the women of the church are invited.

Beginning with last Monday evening a training school for Sunday School workers is being conducted at the Methodist church at Ypsilanti. Every Monday evening up to and including December 10th. Our own Dr. Lendrum former Missionary to Mexico, is instructor for the class next Monday night. The subject being "A New Missionary Program." It is hoped a number of our teachers may attend these classes.

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES.

On Monday evening, Mrs. Champe's class met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Campbell, Canton Center road. Everybody was there, the class supper was excellent and the fruit—why, the girls are talking about it yet.

Mr. Partridge's class met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bondorp, on Tuesday evening. Not even the excitement of election night could prevent this enthusiastic group from enjoying their regular class meeting.

Mrs. Ashton's home was the meeting place for the Busy Woman's Class on Tuesday, November 6th. There was a fine attendance and a good dinner, and program. The election of officers took place and resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Fulton; vice-president, Mrs. Tillotson; Secretary, Mrs. Geo. Cramer; Treasurer, Mrs. Merryless.

Next Tuesday, November 13th the Ready Service Class will meet at the home of Mrs. George Smith, 1435 Sheridan Avenue. A pot luck dinner will be served at noon. Each member is expected to bring table service. The afternoon will be spent in sewing for the approaching bazaar.

Several of the churches of the town are uniting in a religious survey of Plymouth to be carried out early in December.

The October-November division of the Woman's Auxiliary has completed plans for a musicale to be given in the church Thursday evening, November 15th at 8 p. m. An excellent program is assured.

The Woman's Auxiliary will meet on Wednesday, November 14th at 2:30 p. m. in the church parlors. Plans for the bazaar will be completed.

The Annual Bazaar and Supper will be held on Thursday, November 22nd, in the dining room of the church. The women have been working hard in preparation for this event. Many attractive and useful articles are being made and the supper will be up to the high standard already established.

BAPTIST NOTES

Miss Scott's class and Mrs. Riley's gathered at the church Saturday afternoon for a good time party and social.

The Ladies Aid will meet at the home of Mrs. Dreyfus Wednesday, November 14th. At this meeting further plans for the Christmas bazaar will be made.

Last Thursday evening, November 1st, Dr. H. H. Savage, of Pontiac, was heard by a large audience. The church was filled to seating capacity and many were standing in the rear. His theme "The Way to Victory" was very interesting and constructive. Mr. Millard's orchestra played several fitting numbers, which were appreciated by the congregation. Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Falek, of Highland Park, were in charge of the song service.

This type of service will be repeated through the winter months. Rev. Arnold H. Kohl will be the speaker at the next meeting, which will be held Thursday evening, November 15.

SICKLY BOY, 7, GAINS 15 LBS.—FATHER HAPPY

"My boy, 7, would not eat. I gave him Vinol and the way he eats and plays now makes me happy. He gained 15 pounds."—J. F. Andres.

Vinol is a delicious compound of cod liver, peptone, iron, etc. The very FIRST bottle often adds several pounds weight to thin children or adults. Nervous, easily tired, anemic people are surprised how Vinol gives new pep, sound sleep and a BIG appetite. Tastes delicious. Dodge's Drug Store.

ONLY $3,000 TO THE LORD.
OUR DESCENDANTS.
LINCOLN'S SHORT LETTER.
"ONLY A COLD."

Mrs. E. S. Dodge dies leaving one million. Nineteen thousand dollars go to friends, $5,000 to a Presbyterian church, the balance to relatives. Five thousand dollars out of $1,000,000 given to the Lord seems small. In the old days, when heaven and hell were taken more literally, it would have been thought wise to give $300,000 of the $1,000,000 to religion and make sure of salvation.

But in this agnostic day many feel that the Lord does not need money, especially as He could create any amount of it by an easy miracle, whereas relatives and educational institutions DO need money, and can't perform miracles.

That a son is born to Princess Michael Cantacuzene in Chicago means little to the average, but a great deal to a few old men of the Grand Army, who know that Princess Cantacuzene is General Grant's granddaughter.

The only immortality of which we are certain, apart from the certainty of religious faith, is the immortality of our descendants. Each may live for thousands of years in his descendants. You that read this are descended from men that were alive on earth 500,000 years ago.

What our descendants will be we cannot guess.

General Grant, before opportunity came and people wondered why he didn't keep "sober," little thought that he would be the great-grandfather of a son of a Russian prince.

Descendants of Astors, Vanderbilts and Rockefellers will beg their bread a thousand years hence if begging still prevails.

Descendants of Jhenghis, Timur and Attila are among Mongolian hordes now scattered through Asia.

The Triennial Protestant Episcopal Convention in Washington is urgently requested to recognize faith cures. In such cures the patient helps himself by believing that someone else will help him. Faith can do many things. A man was bound to a chair, his feet put in hot water and told that his feet would be cut by a razor.

The back of a razor was drawn across the soles of his feet. Not a drop of blood was shed, but he died. What cure could cure.

Some doctors wisely believe that faith healing should be used to help nervous patients.

On June 12, 1848, Abraham Lincoln wrote to William H. Herndon a short letter, telling what he thought about Zachary Taylor's prospect of election.

The letter was sold yesterday for three thousand dollars.

Lincoln, thirty-seven years old when he wrote that letter, would have been amazed had he known what would happen to it.

At that time he would have been glad to get the job in the Interior Department for which he applied unsuccessfully. Fortunately he didn't get it, for it might have taken him out of politics.

Set New Records At M. S. C. Contest

SIXTH INTERNATIONAL EGG LAYING CONTEST PRODUCES RECORD NUMBER OF 300 EGG HENS.

New records for individual production, for the number of "300 egg" hens, and for consecutive day production were established at the sixth international Egg Laying contest just completed at the Michigan State College.

A White Leghorn hen owned by the LaFayette Poultry Farm, LaFayette, Ind., produced 326 eggs in 365 days as compared to the old record of 314 eggs. Ten hens in the contest this year produced 300 or more eggs. The largest number to attain the "300 egg" class in previous contests was seven. LaFayette Poultry Farm had one White Leghorn pullet that layed an egg a day for 176 consecutive days. The first and only Barred Rock to lay more than 300 eggs in 51 weeks was entered by the Meadowbrook Hatchery, Avoca, Mich. This hen produced 307 eggs in 357 days, and at the end of the 365 day period had increased the total to 313 eggs.

The winning pen of the entire contest was entered by W. C. Eckard, of Paw Paw, Mich. His 10 White Leghorns produced 2,304 eggs for a total of 2,619 points in 51 weeks. The high pen among the Rhode Island Red entries is owned by the West Neck Poultry Farm, Long Island, N. Y. The high Barred Rock pen was entered by the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, Ontario.

The sixth contest was decided by the point system which rewarded hens producing eggs of desirable size and penalized those hens producing small or undersize eggs. Proof that desirable egg size can be obtained without materially reducing the number of eggs is shown in the fact that the first and second place pens won both on points and the number of eggs produced.

PIGON LOSES MESSAGE!

New York.—A carrier pigeon, exhausted by long flight, fell to the deck of the steamship El Coston in the harbor. A rubber band on a leg indicated that the bird had been carrying a message that was lost. The other leg bands were marked: S. B. C-190-1x—28x and 810.

Day Coach Passengers Sleep at Their Own Risk

Sioux City, Iowa.—Train employees are not obligated to awaken passengers who fall asleep in day coaches when nearing destinations of such passengers and railroad companies are not liable for damages if loss results to the passengers if they are carried beyond their destinations, Judge A. O. Wakefield ruled here in the District court.

The ruling was made in the case of Clyde Vanderbick of Sioux City against the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific railroad. Vanderbick sued for $2,700.

Cotton Is Successful on Islands Off Virginia

Urbana, Va.—James Barnhardt, a young farmer, has been so successful in growing cotton on the islands off the Virginia coast that old-timers, who at first disdained his project, have emulated his example in this region. Some believe cotton definitely has replaced the Irish potato as the main crop.

Because of the milder weather along the coast the bolls are brought to fruition before the frost, which would kill them farther inland. As yet the boll weevil has not found its way into this vicinity.

Expensive Fish

New York.—One hundred pounds British gold for one fish was the top price paid at the recent British Aquarists' association exhibition in London. The fish was a blue, telescope-eyed veiltail, one of the new forms of goldfish bred by the Japanese. Gold, white and black in these forms are common, but blue is a rarer color.

Fog Horn Silenced to Please Resort Colony

Bexhill, England.—"Mournful Mary" has lost her job. She has been given a full month's notice, and the nerve-racked residents of the fashionable resorts within sound of her wails are jubilant.

The only friends "Mournful Mary" has are the members of the Imperial Merchant Service guild, which guards the interests of merchant seamen. They have submitted a protest against her dismissal with Trinity house.

What will fog-bound ships do, they ask indignantly, if Mary's piercing shriek fails to warn them that they are approaching the most dangerous turning in the English channel? For Mary is the foghorn of the Royal Sovereign lightship, and if she isn't popular with the residents at least the sailors appreciate her.

Over 500 Miles of Concrete Highways in a Single County!

Wayne county, Michigan, (Detroit) has over 500 miles of concrete highways, with pavements from eighteen to eighty feet wide.

Nineteen years ago, this county built its first stretch of concrete road. Year after year, the Board of County Road Commissioners has continued building concrete highways, to complete a road system planned in 1906.

Many of the older pavements have been widened. Some have been torn up to make way for wider pavements at a different grade—but no concrete pavement has worn out!

No wonder Wayne County keeps on building concrete roads!

CONSTANT EXPANSION
—to serve Chevrolet owners better

SINCE January 1st more than a million new Chevrolets have been delivered to owners—making the Chevrolet Motor Company, for the second consecutive year, the world's largest builder of automobiles!

This outstanding achievement has been attained not only because of the quality and value of Chevrolet cars—but also because there has been a constant expansion of Chevrolet service facilities.

In order to bring these mammoth facilities of the Chevrolet factories to Chevrolet dealers and owners everywhere, there have been erected 26 huge parts warehouses in the principal centers of distribution. This expansion program is continually going on—for four great additional warehouses will be in operation by January first and seven more by the summer of 1929.

Into the service departments of all Chevrolet dealers, Chevrolet has brought special tools and shop equipment—designed under the supervision of Chevrolet engineers. This equipment definitely assures maximum speed and precision and the lowest possible cost in the performance of every Chevrolet service and repair operation—which are charged for on a flat rate basis.

Furthermore, all of these tremendous facilities have been made available to 15,000 authorized service stations manned by skilled mechanics, over 25,000 of whom have been factory trained to efficiently handle every repair operation on a Chevrolet car. In addition, there are over 4,000 other points where genuine Chevrolet parts may be obtained.

Uniformly efficient, uniformly reliable and within easy reach of everybody everywhere—this great service organization is maintaining at peak efficiency the fine performance for which Chevrolet cars have always been renowned.

We cordially invite you to come in and see how our service facilities reflect the influence of this great national service program.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

MILK

Milk is perhaps the most ideal food for a human being. It is our only food in infancy and a food too little used by adults. It has been called "the perfect food."

It is a food, however, that is hard to keep, for it readily spoils at too great a temperature.

We have preserved all other kinds of foods, we have salted fish, canned vegetables and fruit, canned meat and smoked ham.

In 1871 a man went to England with a meat biscuit he had invented. On the ship on which he traveled there were cows to give fresh milk. At that time most vessels resembled floating barnyards, that is, most vessels that pretended to give human comfort. The inventor observed on his return trip home in the summer that the cows were sea sick, the milk was bad and many babies died.

Coming home he devised a process of drying milk and canning it. After much difficulty the enterprise was successful.

It grew to great proportions during the Civil War, when the government bought the entire output of his factories.

Since then preserved milk has been a boon to all explorers whether in the frozen regions of the north or in darkest Africa.

Herbert Hoover preserved the lives and health of some 1,200,000 Belgian children by condensed milk.

Our own Mr. Strauss has proved himself a public benefactor by supplying pure milk for babies.

Any traveler in Europe is familiar with the dirty milk that is supplied everywhere from milkmen's cans. These have been replaced almost entirely in America by the bottle.

Still about 6,000,000 children in the United States between the ages of two and fourteen are undernourished. They are stunted for lack of proper food, usually for lack of milk. The various companies handling milk have done much good by disseminating knowledge as to the value of pure milk. Pure milk has as much to do with preventing infant mortality as any other one thing. In China, years ago, when they had plenty of cows, they created a great civilization, now that they have cut down their forests and eaten their cows they kill as many babies as they raise. You cannot bring up a child, with success, on tea.

Those health departments in the various cities which are insisting on pure milk and the companies which owe their success to the distribution of pure milk, deserve all encouragement. Nothing could be of more importance to the public health than the maintenance of a supply of pure milk.

Farmers Will Show Grain At Chicago

MICHIGAN MEN EXPECT TO REPEAT THEIR WINNINGS OF PAST YEARS.

Michigan farmers are again polishing up the products of their fields in preparation for their annual invasion of the prize winning lists at the International Hay and Grain Show to be held at Chicago, December 1 to 8.

The 150 exhibits sent to Chicago last year by Michigan men won 94 prizes, among which were firsts on soft winter wheat, rye, beans, and eastern grown alfalfa seed.

No corn will be sent from Michigan to the show as the corn borer infestation in Michigan prevents the shipment of ear corn outside the State.

The rules of the Show require that all samples which are exhibited must have been grown, selected and prepared by the exhibitor in 1928. Only one entry in any one class is permitted from the same farm or family.

Michigan exhibits at Chicago will be cared for by representatives from the crops department at Michigan State College. State farmers have already entered 200 samples. Exhibits should be shipped to the International Livestock Exposition Hay and Grain Show, Union Stock Yards, Chicago.

A New Safety First Movement

Now a new Safety First movement has begun. Lieutenant Herbert R. Schaeffer of the United States Navy points to the fact that because small towns have not visible markings that enable a passing aviator to identify them that many accidents occur, as the aviator is compelled to fly low to see what town he is passing. It is when airplanes are flying low that most air accidents occur.

Rural communities should provide for airplanes just as they are now providing for automobiles. When a tourist enters a town, a signboard welcomes him and gives him the name of the town; when he leaves, another tells him what town he is leaving. All along the road, he is kept posted as to just where he is—why not let the aviator know where he is, too? If the name of the town were painted in large letters on the roof of the railroad station, or some other means of identification were worked out, the aviator would have a much easier time in locating himself. As it is, after leaving a big town many aviators get lost.

Large arrows, pointing toward the town, could be placed in the lanes of traffic depending upon the direction of flight that is used the most. Below the large arrows in white letters: "This way to, etc." "Straight ahead to, etc. Air Port." Surely progressive communities will respond to this idea. The aviators are being taken care of—now to take care of the aviators!

HURLED OUT OF PLANE, HE LANDS SAFELY.

Windsor, Ont.—Donald Strevett was thrown from an airplane when it nose-dived 1,000 feet in the air, and was killed, but his instructor, Captain R. J. Soundy, also thrown out, stead hold of the fuselage as he was falling, crawled back into his seat and landed the plane safely.

Neither of the men were using a safety belt or wearing a parachute. Strevett was at the controls when the plane began to nose dive.

Have you seen the new toilet accessories that are developed in colors as fresh and dainty as those of the fabrics that drape the modern bedroom?

There are mirrors and brushes, beauty boxes and manicure tools in soft tints and patterns. Some reproduce the Chinese motifs of old Ming porcelains and lacquers; others show Empire designs and colorings, and again others have floral designs.

Imagine the charm of accessories of Napoleon blue in a French pattern on a dressing table drenched in changeable taffeta. Or picture the Chintz-hung room with toilet articles in soft blue or buff, green or mauve, according to the color of the draperies! These are just a few of the decorative effects that may be obtained with the new toilet ware which, relatively speaking, is far from expensive.

CHILDREN LIKE FIGS THIS WAY

For cream fig pudding, dissolve a package of lemon-flavored gelatin in a pint of boiling water. When cold and beginning to thicken, whip to consistency of whipped cream. Add one cup whipped cream and one cup chopped figs cooked to a jam. Mold or pour into sherbet glasses.

DELICIOUS CORN ENTREE

Chop fine one green pepper and two slices of onion; saute in butter. Heat two-thirds cup canned corn and 1 cup stewed tomatoes, add pepper, onion, 2 tablespoons butter, 1-3 cups diced cheese, 2 tablespoons quick cooking tapioca and seasoning. Cook 15 minutes; serve on toast or crackers.

PLEASES THE GROWING BOY

Chocolate bread pudding is very wholesome and beloved by the children. Use your usual recipe for plain bread pudding, but add to the scalding milk 3 squares melted bitter chocolate. This pudding is delicious served with cream.

SAVE FRUIT JUICES!

Juices left over at canning time can always be turned into jellies at a later date. Use one or two cups of syrup, according to strength of flavor desired, add two cups water and five level cups sugar and bring to a boil. Add again to full rolling boil for a half minute. Remove, let stand a minute, pour and seal.

Romance and Beauty

By AD SCHUSTER

LUELLA CROSS had beauty and she worshipped it. She was certain she had to need to be clever and was content to leave the qualities of thoughtfulness and modesty to her less fortunate sisters. "Let them cultivate manners," thought Luella. "If she thought at all, and I will cultivate looks." And it may be said the results recorded in her mirror and the admiring gaze of Parkerville were both startling and effective.

When the celebrated beauty contest was broached, Parkerville to a man nominated Luella who smiled her thanks and made plans for the spending of the award. The contest was to be held in Parkerville and was open to the state. As the day approached there came stories of promising entrants from one place and another. Luella looked upon their photographed features and smiled. It seemed too easy. There was not a one, she told herself and with some justification, who could match her pink and white complexion.

Two weeks before the contest, the tall Maxwell Boom came to town and because he was the most distinguished looking man she ever saw Luella was given something besides the contest to occupy her thoughts. Maxwell Boom was no longer a youth but he carried himself like a soldier and had that iron-gray hair which sometimes can be so romantic. Before twenty-four hours passed every girl in Parkerville had speculated concerning this handsome stranger and wondered at the hidden sorrow which had tinged his hair and given him that look of dignity and reserve which, they agreed, was most becoming.

Maxwell met Luella and, strange enough, did not seem impressed. It was a new experience for the girl and one which stirred her to new efforts. She donned one of the dresses she had planned to wear during the contest week and contrived to meet him again. And Maxwell went just a small way toward surrendering. He asked her to dinner and the theater.

This older man appealed to the girl who felt every eye in the restaurant upon them and glowed all the prettier in her pride. With a husband like Maxwell, she thought, a girl's looks could be accented to the best advantage. And that was as close as Luella ever came to falling in love with anyone save herself.

Maxwell was constant. He had an invitation for every evening and there were rides in the afternoon. Luella, used to attention, had never been singled out from so many by one man in so short a time. This one must be serious. Luella thought of the other girls and how envious they must be. After she had seen Maxwell and the beauty contest there would be no one to dispute her sway.

"It's my complexion," she told herself, "all the time he looks at my cheeks." And the complexion she repeated would win the contest.

The day of the contest brought the girl her first faint misgivings. Something had gone wrong, just a little wrong, with the prized complexion. Perhaps she should not have gone out so many evenings, eaten so many late dinners. She rubbed her cheeks to give them color.

"At that," she decided, "one does not have to be one's very best to win from these others."

The contest was close. After an hour the judges had eliminated all save Luella and a brunette from Middleton. Luella wished she could pinch color into her cheeks for she knew her rival was a worthy one.

"They can't pick her—a brunette—when they have a blonde like me," she tried to convince herself and yet the judges gave no sign. Suddenly there was an agreement. The prize went to the stranger. Parkerville lost and Middleton won, and because Luella lacked the coloring of the other.

The beautiful girl, tasting her first defeat, sought consolation in the romance. Maxwell Boom would tell her she was better looking than this black-haired girl. She would find Maxwell. Some one spoke to her. It was one of the judges.

"It was very close, Miss Cross, and our task was a hard one. Have you met Miss Boom, the winner?"
"Miss Boom?" For once the girl was thinking hard. Maxwell Boom? he was her father! And those lobster suppers, late hours were all in the plot against her pink cheeks. There was no prize now and no romance, only a firm conviction in the duplicity of men.

The Old Frank Leslie's

"We don't have such reading matter nowadays as we did when I was a boy," grumbled old Roswell Rasp. "I don't mean the Rollo books, the works of T. S. Arthur, and so on, that were only good for little old maids of both sexes. I am referring to Frank Leslie's Boys' and Girls' Weekly, of which we now and then get a copy on the sly and read in the same way. There were in it the Jack Harkaway stories, which I believe were the most interesting romances ever penned—it was could have discovered how they came out. But we never could. Something always happened to the paper—our parents destroyed it, or the house caught fire and burned it up, or something of the sort, and we never learned what happened to the hero. But I think yet they were the most interesting stories ever written."—Kansas City Times.
