MODEL HOME NEAR FINISH

TO BE OPEN FOR INSPECTION IN TWO WEEKS.

This charming English home, the first of its type to be erected in Plymouth as a model home displaying an individual architectural character of studied proportions, is to be opened for public inspection in the next few weeks. Its location is on Park Place, in the Hough Park subdivision, and facing a beautiful landscaped park two blocks south of the Ann Arbor road. This property is very highly restricted and assures the buyer that his investment will always be protected, as no other than a home with correct proportion and architectural style can be erected in this subdivision.

The lot has 75 feet frontage and is 109 feet deep. The house and garage is so situated on the lot as to give a clear area 75 feet wide by 100 feet for the carport, giving the owner the opportunity to develop a formal or informal garden with pools, garden houses, tennis court, etc.

The house is well insulated, and is built with the best materials obtainable, and is equipped with mechanical refrigeration, forced warm air heating with temperature control, Tankin oil burner, hot and cold soft water to all fixtures and instantaneous water heater. A master bedroom of generous size is a feature of the second floor, with a dressing room adjoining. The living room has a large inglenook fireplace.

Roy Strong is the builder and supervisor, and the following are the subcontractors: Lumber—Towle & Roe; Plymouth; general supplies—Eckles Coal and Supply; tilework—Ann Arbor Tile & Fireplace; plastering—B. E. Warner; Northville; plumbing—Henry Ray; Plymouth; heating—Holland Furnace Co.; electric wiring—S. T. Corbett; Plymouth; painting and decorating—Chad Baird; Plymouth; siding—Wm. Weller; oil burner—Tankin Oil Burner Co., Detroit; hardware—Aronold Hardware Co., Detroit.

The hardware throughout is bronze; glazing is executed in plate glass; all the sheet metal work is copper.

A Double Wedding

Our Lady of Good Counsel Church was the setting of a very handsome wedding last Tuesday morning, when the Smith sisters, Marian and Jeanette solemnly spoke their wedding vows in the presence of Rev. F. C. LeFevre, Rev. L. Gaffney and Rev. J. Schuler, to Edward Kilinski and William Lorenz, respectively.

The bridal procession was led by Bernice Novakoski of Grand Rapids, who acted as bridesmaid for Marian, and Bernice Smith, who acted as bridesmaid for her sister, Jeanette.

The brides, dressed in white satin and carrying in their arms bouquets of white roses and baby mums, were led to the altar on the arms of their father who, in turn, presented them to the respective grooms.

Walter Kilinski acted as groomsmen for his brother, Edward, and Ralph Lorenz assisted his brother, William. A solemn high mass was offered up by the pastor, assisted by Rev. L. Gaffney and Rev. J. Schuler. The organist, Miss E. Lehman, ably rendered the wedding march for the processional and for the recessional. The choir sang the mass, and during this service, John Schumberger pleasingly sang two solos, "On This Day, Oh Beautiful Mother," and "At Thy Feet Is Kneeling."

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion; ferns, palms and mums converted the sanctuary into an exquisite setting for the happy couples.

Immediately after the services, forty

THE OFFICIAL JUDGES

The following named gentlemen have kindly consented to act as official judges, and count the votes in the sealed ballot box in The Plymouth Mail subscription drive Saturday evening. These gentlemen are well known in Plymouth and the surrounding country for their honesty and integrity, and the count as given out by them will be accepted as FINAL.

GEORGE A. SMITH, Supt. of Schools.
CHARLES O. BALL, Vice-President of the Plymouth United Savings Bank.
A. J. KOENIG, Village Manager.

Celebrates Ninety-Second Birthday

T. B. Davis, who makes his home with his son-in-law, J. B. Pettigill, on Williams St., celebrated his ninety-second birthday last Friday, October 11th. At noon he attended the Rotary meeting at the Hotel Mayflower, the guest of his grandson, William T. Pettigill, and in the early evening he was not only greatly surprised but pleased when several relatives and friends from Plymouth, Fordson, Wayne and South Rockwood, gathered at his home for a surprise supper. Of course a birthday party is not complete without the birthday cake with candles which he had.

Colin Morrison of Wayne, brought with him his moving picture machine, and several films were shown. Mr. Davis has resided here for the past five years, having come from Koutsky where his entire life had been spent. His genial disposition and pleasant smile has won for him many warm friends who remembered him with birthday cards and other gifts. He is in the best of health, and nearly every morning goes to his grandson's store where he assists with the freight and other routine work.

It is the wish of many friends that he may enjoy many more similar occasions.

REGULAR MEETING OF WOMAN'S CLUB NEXT WEEK FRIDAY

A regular meeting of the Woman's Club will be held at 2:15 Friday afternoon at the Hotel Mayflower. The program scheduled for the day will be exchanged for the modern novel program for Nov. 8, with Mrs. Frank Burrows, chairman.

Miss Adele Warner and Miss Loreta Davison from the Detroit Public Library will speak on the Modern Novel and give a book review. Mrs. Homer Baugh will sing, accompanied by Miss Gladys Schrader.

of the guests were placed at the wedding breakfast in the auditorium.

CLOSING RULES OF THE CAMPAIGN.

In order to maintain the strictest secrecy as to the number of votes and the amount of cash collections turned in by each candidate during the last days of the exciting race for the automobile and the other fine prizes. The big campaign will be brought to a close under a sealed ballot box.

The last count of votes by the campaign manager was made last Saturday night, October 12th. No subscription collections have been made since the close of the second vote period and from that time until the close of the campaign the candidates themselves will deposit their final votes together, with the cash to cover, in the sealed ballot box. By so doing no one, not even the campaign manager or the publisher, can possibly know the voting strength of the various candidates, which precludes any possibility of favoritism and guarantees fairness to all workers.

The big drive will end Saturday night at 8:30 o'clock and the sealed ballot box will be immediately taken over by the committee of judges who (Continued on page Eight; Column Seven)

Red Indian Oil Co. Holds Banquet

DEALERS FROM WAYNE AND MONROE COUNTIES ATTEND.

A week ago last Wednesday evening was the scene of a delightful banquet held in the crystal room of the Hotel Mayflower. Dealers from Detroit, Plymouth, Northville, Wayne, Romulus, Newport, Oldport and Flat Rock were present. Speakers of the evening were J. D. Dolan, who acted as master of ceremonies; I. B. Dworkman, general manager; M. H. Weeks, president, and A. B. Dolbs, manager of the wholesale division of the Indian Refining Company.

The purpose of the banquet was to bring together all dealers in the above mentioned territories who handle Indian products, and also to introduce to the dealers the newest creation in motor oil the "NEW WAX FINE HAVOLINE OIL" made by the "Grocers Process" and the makers of the famous "Indian Red Gasoline." The new oil is now on sale at dealers in this territory and an advertising campaign will start this week in this paper as well as the Detroit papers with facts that will be truthful and beneficial to motorists as well as starting.

H. S. Lee, Allan Horton and Matt Powell, together with several from Detroit, left Tuesday for a hunting trip in northern Michigan.

The exhibit which belongs to the Michigan Mutual Liability of Detroit, is here under the cooperation of the Michigan State Police as it has been shown in many of Michigan's cities. An invitation will be extended to all the pupils of Plymouth schools to visit the exhibit in groups.

Former Plymouth Pastor 'Receives Call To Albion'

We take the following from the Albion Evening Chronicle:

The members of the First Presbyterian church at a congregational meeting in the church parlors Monday evening, by a unanimous vote extended a call to Rev. S. Conger Hathaway of Ypsilanti to become pastor of the church. The elders and trustees were appointed a committee to issue the call. Rev. M. Adair of Concord was moderator of the meeting. Rev. Mr. Hathaway was formerly pastor of the Marshall Presbyterian church and also served in the church at Concord. Rev. and Mrs. Hathaway are popular wherever they have lived. They have one son who is a shoe merchant in Ypsilanti, a daughter who will doubtless enter Albion college, and a son Bobby, a boy of eight years.

Members of the church feel that they will be very fortunate if Mr. Hathaway accepts the call, they stated today, and they expect that he will. The congregation is looking forward to a very successful church year under Mr. Hathaway's guidance. The pulpit has been vacant since Rev. A. W. Wolfe resigned about two months ago.

Jolliffe Elevated To High Office

During the two days convention last week of the Michigan District of Kiwanis International, held in the capital city at Lansing, Robert J. Jolliffe, a member of the local Kiwanis club, was elected to Lieutenant-Governorship of the sixth district of the state organization. He therefore assumes the role of governorship over the eight Kiwanis clubs that are represented in this district, namely: Chelsea, Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Wayne, Plymouth, Dearborn, Wyandotte and Ecorse. This high office which went to Bob unopposed bespeaks the unanimous choice of the entire delegates at the state convention. Rising from the ranks as a mere private, Mr. Jolliffe has been honored in the past by the Plymouth club, in electing him Vice-President, President and Trustee of the local organization. These offices go to only those fitting to assume leadership; and "Bob's" many friends are congratulating him on the new office which he won last week during the State convence. Ever an enthusiastic worker for the ideals of his club whose motto is "We Build."

Mr. Jolliffe enters upon his new duties with the whole and hearty support of all the Kiwanians of the state of Michigan.

MANY FROM PLYMOUTH WILL DOUBTLESS SEE PRESIDENT NEXT WEEK.

The route over which President Hoover will traverse on his drive through Detroit next Monday, has been announced. If the president consents to make a speech it will be made from the east steps of the city hall. Following is the parade route:

Leaving the Dearborn residence of Henry Ford at 11 a. m., the president will drive to Southfield road, south to Oakwood boulevard, east to Fort street, west to Woodward avenue, north to West Grand boulevard, west and south to Fort street west, then west to the Ford residence.

The president is coming to Dearborn in order to take part in the ceremonies arranged by Mr. Ford in honor of Thomas A. Edison and the fiftieth anniversary of his perfection of the incandescent light.

It has been emphasized by officials in Washington that the president's ride through the city is prima, "for the purpose of permitting the president to see as many of the people as possible, and to permit the people to see him. It will be a public phase of a celebration which otherwise will be restricted in attendance.

KIWANIANS STAGING BIG RUMMAGE SALE

Proceeds to be used entirely for the purpose of making happy the poor kiddies at Xmas time. The sixty members of Plymouth's Kiwanis club, with their committee in charge, are putting on a rummage sale this week Thursday, Friday and Saturday, in the building next to Steve's meat market on Pennant avenue, a few steps east of Main street. New and used wearing apparel, furniture to fit in the home, and a great variety and assortment of useful articles will be found properly sanitized and made serviceable in the latest and up-to-date methods, by the Plymouth people, who have so generously contributed to this big sale.

All monies received from the efforts of the Kiwanis club in this it's first undertaking here in our village, will be used by Santa Claus to make happy the kiddies who look forward at Xmas time to getting those things they write or pray for Santa to bring. The last day of the sale, tomorrow, Saturday, a big bake sale will be held in conjunction with the big rummage sale.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Symonds of Cornland, Calif., spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hesse and family.

Supt. of Schools Addresses Kiwanians

The Kiwanis Club was given a real treat at their weekly Tuesday noon luncheon, this week, when Julius E. Kaiser, program chairman, introduced first to the club, Miss Thelma B. Smith, who rendered in Italian dialect the reading, "Between Two Loves." Miss Thelma delighted her audience, and she received a great deal of praise for her ability in rendering the difficult part.

Professor Smith, superintendent of schools, was next introduced, and he gave a very impressive address to the club members, taking for his theme: "Partnerships in Life." Five classes of partners were analyzed by the speaker who in the final analysis, advised Kiwanians to seek the spiritual partner. "All classes of partners we find in business, but the spiritual partner in the one to seek, as spiritual partnerships last forever."

The Rotary Club has invited the Plymouth Kiwanis Club to a joint meeting at the Hotel Mayflower at 12:15 today.

William H. Tait Dies

William H. Tait, a resident of Plymouth for the past twelve years, passed away Saturday evening, October 12. He suffered his first illness last March, never fully regaining his health.

On September 5th, he was taken to Dr. Gates' private hospital at Ann Arbor, for observation, and treatment, but gradually failed until the end came. He was a man of sterling character, always championing the right, and a faithful attendant of the Methodist Episcopal church, of which he was a member. He leaves to mourn their loss, a wife and four children, Mrs. Glenn Whitaker of Salem; Olin Tait of Salem; Nelson Bender of Worden, and Clifford Tait of Plymouth.

Funeral services were held from Schrader Bros. Funeral Home Wednesday afternoon, with Dr. Lendrum of this place and Rev. Hallday of Salem officiating. Interment was made in Riverside cemetery.

Death of Joseph Wohn

Joseph Wohn, a resident at 638 South Harvey St., passed away Thursday, October 10th. The funeral services were held Saturday, October 12, at 10:30 a. m., at Our Lady of Good Counsel church. The burial was at Holy Sepulchre cemetery, near Redford.

Mr. Wohn was 62 years of age, and leaves a wife and four children, Mrs. Peter Pelvo, Mrs. E. J. Lorenz, Mrs. C. Ostberg, and John Wohn.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Sophia Villeroi, a life-long resident of Redford township, and wife of the late Eugene F. Villeroi, departed this life to be with Jesus on October 17th, 1929, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Hesse of Superior township with whom she had made her home the past six and one-half years.

Mrs. Villeroi was taken with paralysis on February 14th, 1928, and has been confined to her bed practically all the time until her death. She was a woman with a kind and loving disposition, always willing to help others, and in her long and trying sickness never became discouraged. She accepted Christ as her savior when only a little child of twelve years of age. Later in life became a member of the Brightmoor Gospel Hall.

She was married to Eugene F. Villeroi June 12th, 1880, and to this union six children were born, of which two predeceased her in death several years ago. There are four children whom survive her and are Mrs. Elva Proctor, Mrs. Ada Hanchett, Mrs. Myrtle Hesse and Marshall Villeroi, whom are left to mourn the loss of a dear mother. She also leaves 15 grandchildren; two great-grandchildren, two sisters and two brothers and a host of friends and relatives.

SCHROEDER BOY PAINFULLY INJURED.

Little Frank Schroeder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schroeder, of East Plymouth, (Rosedale Gardens), met with a painful accident last Sunday afternoon, when a revolving swing on which he was playing, struck the young lad on the forehead over the left eye, inflicting a deep cut. He was brought to the office of Dr. Peck, where several stitches were needed to close the wound.

About two hundred Northville and Plymouth merchants were guests of the Wholesale Merchants Bureau of the Detroit Board of Commerce at a banquet at the Hotel Mayflower last week Thursday evening. The event was one of a series of similar affairs being staged by Detroit Wholesalers throughout the state to the merchants with whom they transact business, with the idea of getting better acquainted with the retailer and the problems with which he is confronted.

Harvey Campbell, vice-president and secretary of the Detroit Board of Commerce, presided as toastmaster, and took the opportunity between the several introductions of speakers to present to his listeners some of the ideas which he stands for that were timely and effective.

A. H. Nichols, vice-president of Buld & Sons Company, was introduced as the first speaker, and during the course of his remarks stressed the importance of the retailer in keeping modern ideas of conducting his business that he might successfully meet the new conditions that chain stores have brought about.

Carl G. Shear of this village, was next introduced, and made one of the best talks of the evening. The keynote of Mr. Shear's talk was for the retailer to meet the chain store competition with his own methods—a special price to cash and carry customers, thus making the consumer who expects a special service in the matter of free delivery and credit, pay an extra price for it. These methods, said Mr. Shear, would put the independent retailer in a position to sell his goods on the same terms as the chain store operators, and also enable him to increase the volume of business done by his own store.

M. J. Murphy of Northville, was the next speaker, and as usual when this genial gentleman from our neighboring village speaks, put his audience into a happy frame of mind with his keen sense of humor and Irish wit.

Lee J. Macomber, a former Northville citizen, and at present traffic bureau head for the Detroit Board of Commerce, was introduced by the toastmaster, who took the opportunity to introduce him as the foremost traffic man in any commercial organization in the United States. Mr. Macomber spoke of his early days in Northville, and gave a brief outline of the operations of a modern Chamber of Commerce, and its important place in commercial activities of the present day. Mr. Macomber concluded his remarks by generously offering the facilities of his office to Plymouth and Northville business men.

Mr. Campbell brought this most interesting meeting to a fitting close with a splendid talk on modern business conditions. The speaker strongly pointed out that the man who ran his business on the same methods as those of five or more years ago, was hopelessly behind the times, and could not expect to succeed in meeting present day conditions. He sounded a warning to the retailers present not to delay the chain store system, but rather to regard it as the highest phase of merchandising.

Mr. Campbell pointed out that the wholesaler was in a position to give the retailer valuable advice and co-operation on the problems of modern merchandising. Mr. Campbell then spoke of the necessity and need for a Chamber of Commerce in every community, if that community hoped to progress. He took occasion to compliment Plymouth on its organization and especially his choice in selecting a secretary. He said that in traveling around to various conventions of Chamber of Commerce officials, that Berg D. Moore, our local secretary, is highly regarded and well known to most of the big men in the business. He admonished his listeners to "back him up," and expect big things of him and be ready and willing to work with him.

These remarks coming from a man who stands so high in Chamber of Commerce affairs as does Mr. Campbell, is a distinct commendation to Mr. Moore and the local chamber of commerce, who are fortunate in having him as its secretary and directing head of C. C. activities.

It was the opinion of everyone present that it was a most successful affair. The local Chamber of Commerce assisted in making it just that kind of an event.

ATTEND PARTY

Dr. and Mrs. Luther Peck of this place, and Miss Rhea Peck of the U. of M., attended a beautiful party Wednesday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Hildebrandt of Detroit. Motion pictures were shown and reminiscences told of the recent European trip, on which Miss Rhea Peck, Mrs. Bessing Dunning and daughter, Margaret, were members of the party.

OUR WEATHER SHARKS

For some unknown reason our amateur weather sharks are several weeks behind with the prediction of “a hard winter.” This doesn’t often happen. As a usual rule they have long before this come forward with their reports on the thickness of the corn husks, the unusual amount of moss on the north side of the trees, the birds starting to the tropics earlier than usual or the fur on members of the animal world being heavier than usual. And these are the signs and portents they use to back up their claim that “it’s going to be a long, hard winter.”

We don’t want to discourage home-talent weather prognosticators around Plymouth, of which there are a considerable number. But they will have to do better than this if they want to beat Uncle Sam’s weather experts. These latter gentlemen are already contending that there is no reason to believe the winter just ahead of us will be any more severe than the average winter—possibly not nearly as severe as last winter. Of course they are wise enough not to commit themselves too freely, because no professional weather man wants to be reminded a little later on how far he missed it. But they do say that up to this time there is no indication that we will have as much snow or as low temperatures as we had last winter, arguing that it was unusually severe, taken the country over, and one like it comes only at intervals of about 20 years.

All of this is comforting, but it still doesn’t answer our question and relieve our anxiety as to what has happened to our own home-talent weather sharks.

THE SMALL TOWN’S FUTURE

People have a way of following opportunity, wherever it takes them. Hence, if the smaller towns of the country can offer facilities for manufacturing, or can create them by bidding for industrial enterprises with the attraction of plenty of stable power and labor, their chances of growing are vastly improved.

Industrial experts are a unit today in declaring that the erection of every mile of high-tension wire, carrying current into the smaller towns of the country, is a step near the day when big industries, heretofore confined to cities because power was confined there, will seek locations elsewhere. They point out that electricity is giving every town an opportunity to become a city. They show that great cities have problems of congestion, along with difficulties in getting the workers to and from work. The transportation conveniences are so costly; housing problems and high rents only add to the dissatisfaction of workers. So the tendency to locate branch plants in other communities instead of expanding the main plant, located in a big city, is constantly growing.

This makes the opportunity of the smaller towns brighter. When towns like Plymouth can offer unlimited space, freedom from congestion and more desirable living conditions for workers, together with adequate power and transportation facilities it is going to get serious consideration at the hands of industry. It’s a good thing to keep in mind. It’s a goal to push forward to. Let us not lose sight of it.

RED FLANNEL DAYS

We feel sure older residents around Plymouth will be interested in having their attention called to “red flannel” days. And we are able to bring them vividly to their minds by reprinting this little item from an exchange printed in a nearby town: “Red flannel to the amount of ten yards was bought April 10, 1854, by one of our early citizens, according to an old account book which came to light here a few days ago. In the same year, according to entries in the old account book, eggs were 8c a dozen; shoes averaged $1.50 a pair, and brooms sold at 25c each. But coffee sold for 50c a pound and tea at $1 a pound. Candles, gunpowder, fur caps and whalebone for dress stays were listed as necessities, while not in the entire book is there any indication that silk stockings were being worn or that lipstick and lotions met with a ready sale. How times have changed—and how a lot of us are still left wondering if the change finds the human race any happier.”

SOLVING A PROBLEM

Where is the Plymouth motorist who hasn’t at some time or another wondered what actually becomes of automobiles after they reach the point where human ingenuity can’t coax them to run an inch farther. We’ve wondered ourselves, and now that we have read of Henry Ford’s plan to dispose of worthless flivvers, we want to pass it on. Ford is building a plant away up in the northern edge of New York City. It will be equipped to separate the metal in old machines worth saving from the waste material; to smooth out such metal sheets as can be salvaged and to melt up such as cannot. In a word, it will be a modern flivver reduction plant, and will solve New York City’s problem of what to do with worthless junk that once rolled over the streets as autos. But that still leaves us wondering what will become of the millions of others annually falling into that class in other parts of the country.

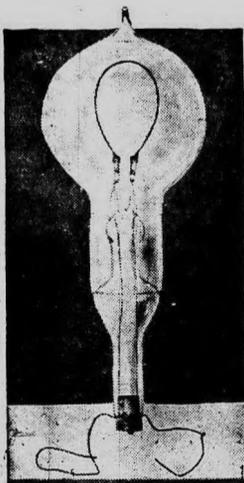

PUBLICITY SEEKERS

Now a woman drives a car for 80 hours without stopping for sleep in order to establish an endurance record for women. A boy sets up a pole in his back-yard and remains perched on the top of it for days just to make a record. One woman even claims to have set the record for continuous rocking in a porch rocking chair. This rage for doing useless things just to “set a record” is getting as ridiculous as it is silly. The one purpose behind it all, of course, is to secure publicity—the ones trying for “endurance records” being far more interested in seeing their names in the papers than anything else. Just why a sane person should want such publicity is more than most of us can understand. But they do, and they continue to disgust the public, and probably will until the newspapers cut out mentioning the “stunts.” That will stop them in a hurry, for there’ll be no more of them when there’s no more publicity.

Zone B primary teachers met in the primary room of Patchen school, Saturday, for their second meeting this year.

Everyone is working hard to get a gold star for correct weight. We are having a physical examination at Patchen. We hope everyone will be all ready for our badges in May, when we have our May Day health program.

Toxin-anti toxin will be given at our school soon. All mothers are urged to attend and to let their children take the preventive against diphtheria.

Many of our boys and girls are planning to go to Plymouth High School to attend the inauguration of the officers of the Citizen's Junior Clubs of Zones A and B. Parents are requested to make a special effort to bring their children to that meeting, which will be November 4th, at 8:00 o'clock.

"STOLEN" BRIDE IS FOUND SAFE AND ALL'S WELL

Panicky Bridegroom Calls Police Reserves, Find Wife in Bed.

Newark, N. J.—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thomas drove up to their home at 16 Shanley avenue, Newark, early recently. They had been to a party.

"Now, dear, you wait on the porch," Mr. Thomas said.

"All right, dear," Mrs. Thomas said, "but hurry, as I am frightened being alone here."

"I'll be right back," he said. "I just want to put the car in the garage."

"All right, dear," Thomas put his car in the garage and hurried around to the porch. His wife was not there. Thomas trembled in fright. He aroused the family on the first floor.

Telephone Police.

"My wife," he said. "She's missing. She's disappeared—just now; just this minute. She was standing on the porch."

They telephoned the police, called neighbors. Men and women in night clothes, flapping about ghostlike in bathrobes, searched the vicinity of the house.

Motor cars loaded with police reserves and detectives burst upon the scene. The detectives aroused more neighbors, searched the neighborhood.

"They've kidnaped her," Thomas said. "I'm sure they've kidnaped her."

"Who? Who did?" a detective asked. "I don't know," Thomas said.

"Well, now," the detective said, "we've got to have a motive. Every crime must have a motive, be it wife stealing or chicken stealing. The latter," the detective said, "is less prevalent in Newark nowadays than the former."

"What'll we do?" cried Thomas. Let's Talk It Over.

"My suggestion," the detective said, stopping to light a cigar, which a neighbor had given him, "is that we go indoors and talk the situation over. Life is very peculiar, especially at this hour of the day."

They went inside. Thomas led the way upstairs. As he opened the door to his apartment a voice murmured: "Is that you, Harry?"

"Elizabeth!" Thomas said. He ran in and took her in his arms, hugged and kissed her. The detective leaned against the door, smoked his cigar, looked at his fingernails, yawned.

"How long have you two been married?" he asked wearily.

Mrs. Thomas blushed.

Mr. Thomas turned and said: "Two weeks. Why?"

"Oh, nothing. I was just asking," the detective said. "Now me, I've been married fourteen years. I never lose my wife."

To Solve Mystery See Other Side of Window

Indianapolis.—Never hang your pants near a window.

That lesson has been imprinted on the mind of William R. Grady of Indianapolis, and there is little danger of him forgetting it.

Hanging his trousers near a window, Grady arose to find that $40 was missing from his roll of $70. Again Grady hung the pants on the same window and a $20 bill was missing with a $1 bill in its place when he awoke.

The pants are not hanging by the window now.

Forced to Act as Pilot in First Airplane Trip

Galveston, Texas.—Taking her first flight in an airplane, Mrs. F. A. Jung of this city, was forced to act as pilot while her brother, the regular pilot, hung beneath the machine, working desperately to repair a strut that was damaged in the take-off.

While a little group of the airport watched with bated breath, Lee Hauer, the woman's brother, hurriedly instructed his sister in the manipulation of the controls and swung himself out of the window. After repairing the strut he again took his place at the controls.

EVERY MAN'S GOD!

A few years ago there was an eclipse of the sun viewed clearly along the Atlantic Seaboard.

God manipulated worlds in such a manner that man who handles mere atoms might see the magnitude of His omnipotence.

And in New York City, the home town of millions, the rendezvous of international crooks, a community whose poor live like gnomes in a knot and whose rich revel in all the soft elegance of wealth: New York, scene of the Western world's most lavish gaiety yet adorned with thousands of churches; New York, whose industrial smoke stacks vie with towering sky scrapers in reaching towards the heavens with tribute of man's labor; New York, to which the seven seas have carried peoples from all over the world, the great cosmopolitan city, the magnificent metropolis of the new world yet only a pin point in the universe, viewed the miracle of the sun with awe and wonder. Every hilltop and rooftop was crowded with eclipse watchers and the passing of the moon between the earth and the sun, casting darkness of night over the face of the earth, at mid-day, was regarded with profound speculation.

Because it was clearly brought before their eyes, those who observed the phenomenon, were impressed with the reality of a God with the almighty power of the Supreme Intelligence.

Millions of men, for thousands of years, have believed in a God. This faith which has made saints through the exalted sacrifices of the Christian martyrs which established the ancient religion of Moses and Elias which inspired the genius of Michael Angelo and Raphael, which turned poor humble workmen into eloquent apostles of Christ, which guided St. Patrick to the conversion of a nation and made zealots of the founders of the reformation, which swayed the millions of Moslems and Mohammedans and even compelled the savage Indian to make prayerful incantation to his sun-visioned God is inborn within the human heart, for God is manifested nowhere so abundantly and beautifully as in the human body.

When primitive man as a pagan worshiped the trees of the forest and images of stone and of wood, he was not so much a pagan after all, nor was he so much a worshiper of craven images. The thing that animated his soul was the force of God in nature. He could see, without knowing why, that a Supreme Intelligence built every blade of grass, created every living thing and made mankind to His own image and likeness.

Chiropactic philosophy is based upon manifestation of God in man—on the innate life force, and intelligent force which converts thought to creation, which from the brain cell sends a life force out over the millions of nerves in the body to every portion, building every extremity and vital organ and rebuilding them over and over again through the body's lifetime. That living force, which is more than an electric current because it possesses the gift of intelligence, if it was intelligent enough to construct the bone, the blood and the tissue, the extremities and the vital organs of man, is intelligent enough to repair them.

This is evident every day. A finger nail is torn off and it grows again, a finger is cut off and it heals, an arm is broken and it knits together, limbs are withered and they are restored to full power, eyesight, hearing, speech are impaired and are fully restored. Bodies are helpless with paralysis and they come back to full vigor. Vital organs have inflicted untold punishment through diseases varying from common colds to cancer of the liver and they have been cured by Chiropactic, without the use of medicine or surgery.

One's faith in God should urge him at least to investigate the way that Chiropactic cures. He should find out that there is resident within his own body a tremendous force passing over the nerves which is more potent in healing than all the drug or outside agents one could employ.

Briefly, Chiropactic philosophy says that almost every bodily affliction comes from the interference with the free transmission of the life force over our nerves. When nerve activity is impaired tissues die. Germs feed upon dead tissue alone, not on live tissue and therein is disproved the common theory that germs cause disease. Germs merely flourish on disease. In healthy living organisms they serve the splendid purpose of scavengers of the body in removing waste material.

Take the dead body of an animal for example. Lying in an open field it will be consumed by maggots and germs in an incredibly short time. That same creature alive and in good health, of course, will not be bothered by worms or germs and may remain in the open field for years.

There is no reason in the world why a man or woman should die prematurely of disease; there is no reason why all the organs of the body should die because one organ is diseased. Drugs do not cure, they merely palliate and, therefore, treat effects and not the causes of disease. On the other hand Chiropactic removes the cause of disease and seeks to cure disease by the opposite of death, the cause of life itself, the use of the innate life force which God put into the human body.

We do not have to look into the heavens for the reality of the existence of every man's God. When we pause to consider that the likeness of God is in dwelling in our very heart and soul we will not wonder that the brightest minds of civilization believe in God, that hundreds of millions of people lift their hearts in adoration to a God every day, that beautiful ritual and sacraments have been instituted to His worship and that the laughing eyes of the Virgin Mother of the Infant God and her tear-jeweled eyes as the Mother of Sorrows have hallowed the soul of womanhood through centuries. Faith in God inspires faith in nature and the things that are of nature. Chiropactic is founded on nature. Chiropactic is pure crystal water flowing from the very fountain of nature, the Supreme Intelligence.

Have you noticed the improvement in village water pressure during the past week or two? The automatic water pressure control at the booster station on N. Mill street was recently adjusted to maintain a uniformly higher pressure in our water distribution system. While originally aimed to meet the required pressure standard for automatic sprinkler systems installed by some of the local industries, the benefits of improved pressure will reach every consumer in the village, besides materially improving our fire protection through the increased hydrant pressure.

New street signs are being prepared for installation upon all South Main street, South Harvey street and Forest and Junction avenues, where signs have long been missing. Other intersections without street signs will be taken care of in the near future.

SAFETY STORY

Description of City.

The miniature city is a twenty-foot set with six-foot wings on each side with the modelling and scenic effects extending upward and backward in perspective. Along the front is the Detroit river front, with waterwheel operating. There is the riverside drive with several streets running back to the back of the set. The miniature buildings in front show Jefferson avenue running from Bates to Shelby street as it appeared in 1895. Turn a switch and it is night. The moon and stars appear, the windows light up, illuminated signs flash advertisements, and even the two inch by four inch automobiles flash on their headlights. Signals and train lights. The Ford airport displays its beacon light. On top of the Penobscot building is the red light so familiar to those approaching the city at night. It has been suggested that the beacon light on the Ford mooring mast should be lighted night and day for the full three score and ten years so that the millions of travelers in the air and on the surface will see it and know it is a memorial to Harry Brooks, waiting his return from a long, long journey.

The 12-inch, six story buildings are in perfect detail. There are fire escapes and washings hanging from the lines in typical city fashion, milk bottles in the windows to keep cool and fairy like people on the sidewalks.

Shows How Accidents Happen

Planes are seen overhead, and there is a constant flow of traffic through the business section. This traffic obeys the traffic lights and therefore shows that traffic can be controlled if traffic will be controlled. All along the streets and highways are visualized 10 common every day accidents that could have been avoided if the driver or pedestrian had observed the golden rule and the factor of safety. The lecturer points out the man who bragged he could beat the train, the man who would not relinquish the right of way and so added to the already crowded country cemetery. Here on the headstones are the inscriptions of the departed. "I Go Fast," "Signal I Didn't," "Jay Walker," "I Be Reckless" and all the rest of the tribe we all know so well. It is the Careless Country Cemetery.

This safety campaign that the Safety City has been the leading factor in 23 of the cities of this state, part of the time under the auspices of the Michigan Safety Council, and with the cooperation of the State Police has called attention to three quarters of a million of our citizens the effect of haste, disregard of the rights of the other fellow and the lack of accidents when our traffic laws and rules are obeyed. "And if one per cent of those people have acquired some information that will prevent one of these accidents which are occurring at the rate of one every 42 seconds in the country, then this expenditure of time and money in the production and operation of Safety City has been justified," said Mr. Emery, who is in charge of the exhibit.

Even the roadside billboards carry messages that are worth while. One reading, "Traffic lights should mean the same all over the U. S.," another, "Leave the plants and flowers for others to enjoy," and still another, "Work for uniform traffic laws and traffic control," should be seen on our own highways if there have to be billboards.

Be sure and see the exhibit which closes Saturday night, October 26th.

Gets New Position

The Highland Park Congregational church has added to its staff a full-time minister of music and church finances. Miss Nellie Beatrice Huger, formerly of Broadway Temple Methodist Episcopal Church, New York City, and a former Plymouth girl. Every week for the past year, Miss Huger has presented a radio program known as "Broadway Temple Hour" in New York City. She has used the combined choirs of her church for these engagements.

Miss Huger studied at the Michigan Conservatory of Music; Michigan State Normal College, Ypsilanti; Chicago Training School, with Daniel Frotheroe, (voice), and Lewis Browne, (organ); Detroit Institute of Musical Art, and Union Theological Seminary. She taught at Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary, Philadelphia, Pa., 1926-7; has been director of music in various churches, 1925-29—minister of music, Bethlehem Presbyterian church, Philadelphia, and Broadway Temple, New York. She is a member of Sigma Alpha Iota, American Guild of Organists, and Matinee Musical Club.

MICHIGAN BELL BUYS WALLED LAKE PHONE CO.

Ownership of the Walled Lake Home Telephone Company, operating at Walled Lake, Oakland county, passed to the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, Tuesday, October 1, according to R. E. Crowe, manager of the Plymouth area of the Michigan Bell company, the area in which the village of Walled Lake is located.

E. W. Mercer, former owner of the Walled Lake company, and in whose residence the company's central office is located, will continue to operate the exchange as local operating agent of the Bell company.

The transfer included all of the physical properties of the company, such as central office equipment, station apparatus, exchange pole lines and cable, motor vehicles and miscellaneous equipment. No real estate was involved in the purchase.

According to Manager Crowe, under whose supervision the new exchange has been placed, the plant and equipment is in good condition. Its operation will continue along practically the same lines under the new ownership. However, because of the residential increase that is being experienced in the exchange area, it is probable that the Bell company shortly will launch an expansion program for the purpose of extending the lines in Walled Lake and of giving telephone service to new subscribers.

Edison Tribute
ALL IN U. S. ASKED TO SWITCH OFF LIGHTS AT 8:15 O'CLOCK NEXT MONDAY NIGHT.

All users of electric lights in Plymouth and vicinity are asked to turn off their lights momentarily at 8:15 o'clock, eastern standard time, next Monday night to observe the moment when Thomas A. Edison, sitting in his rebuilt Menlo Park laboratory at Dearborn, will re-enact the switch-on of the first incandescent lamp fifty years ago.

This request has been made by the Light's Golden Jubilee Committee, in charge of the arrangements for the observance. It is not expected, however, that it will be observed by hospitals or other institutions where constant light is required.

At the moment that Mr. Edison turned current through the duplicate of the first incandescent lamp, the Ford Airport and adjacent streets will be illuminated by a flare of light from searchlights, airplanes, automobiles and fireworks, symbolic of the ascendancy of the electric light over the feeble rays of oil lamps.

This act on the part of the aged inventor will be the culmination of a day which will be observed in his honor all over America. Its focal point, however, will be at Dearborn, where he will be the guest of honor, in the company of President Hoover and Madame Marie Curie, co-discoverer of radium, who is making the long trip here from Paris to be present at the Edison celebration.

President Hoover and his official party will alight at this station when they arrive at the Ford grounds Monday.

Dr. W. G. Jennings has received word from Grant Broughton of Torrington, Conn., that he had arrived there safely with a yearling bull, which he recently purchased of the doctor from his farm near Dewitt, and conveyed to his Connecticut farm on a trailer behind his automobile. The animal is a fine specimen, and is registered as Model Jr. 14801316, and is from the same herd from which F. D. Schrader and Lloyd Williams have recently purchased animals. Dr. Jennings has one of the finest Herford herds in the state.

When a youth, Mr. Peters started a rug manufacturing plant at 2438 Mullett street, where he later conducted a rug cleaning shop. He died Saturday, October 12, at the Burns Home, 37 Holbrook avenue, where he had lived for several years.

Mr. Peters leaves four daughters, Mrs. Floyd Sherman of Plymouth; Mrs. Lewis Whitman, Mrs. Ward I. Lyons and Mrs. Peter Petroff, of Detroit; and four sons, David and William, Detroit; Rev. J. George Peters of Radnor, O., and Marcelle Peters. Burial was made in Woodmere Cemetery.

Appoint New Greyhound Supervisor

E. R. Poulsen has been appointed Supervisor of operations for the Greyhound Lines in Plymouth. He will devote his time between work in the city and out on the lines.

Mr. Poulsen has had a long experience in the bus business, and will be responsible for all operations of the Greyhound Lines out of Plymouth, including the inspection of coaches, supervision of drivers, ticket agents, etc.

Plymouth is on the main route of the Greyhound Lines between Chicago and Detroit. Two trips are operated daily in each direction. This is an important link in the coast to coast system of the Greyhound Lines, which operate in excess of 100,000 miles per day.

According to O. S. Caesar, President of the Greyhound Lines, the appointment of Mr. Poulsen as Supervisor is in line with the company's policy to place its bus transportation on the same high plane of service as that rendered by the railroads.

Ford Motor Company Increases Production

The Ford Motor company today issued the following statement:

"Production of passenger and commercial cars during September, 1929, totaled 161,305 units, a heavy increase over production during the same month of the preceding year.

"An increased production schedule has been set for October, calling for an output of 175,000 Model A cars and Model AA trucks. The program for October anticipates a gain of 47,000 units over the production of October, 1928, when 127,225 units were produced.

"Total Ford production for the first nine months of the current year aggregated 1,633,498 units. Advance schedules indicate that production of Model A cars and Model AA trucks for the full year will exceed 2,000,000 units.

"The program adopted for October means that the Rouge plant will continue on a full five-day schedule, at a high level, with 108,138 employees. Employment in the Ford plants remains working in the large plants of the Detroit area on October 2nd."

Smooth riding ease and restful comfort make the new Ford an especially good car for women to drive

When you see the new Ford, you are impressed instantly by its low, trim, graceful lines and the beauty of its two-tone color harmonies.

As you watch it in traffic and on the open road you can note how quickly it accelerates and get some idea, too, of its abundant speed and power.

But only by driving the new Ford yourself can you fully appreciate the easy-riding comfort that is such an outstanding feature of this great new car.

One reason, of course, is the use of four Houdaille hydraulic shock absorbers, formerly furnished as standard equipment on only the most expensive automobiles. Yet even Houdaille shock absorbers of themselves do not account for the complete riding comfort of the new Ford.

Equally important are the design and construction of the new transverse springs, the low center of gravity, and what engineers speak of as the low ratio of unsprung weight to the sprung weight of the car.

All of these factors combine to soften or eliminate the force of road shock and to make the new Ford an exceptionally comfortable and easy-riding car at all speeds. Even rough roads may be taken at a reasonably fast pace without hard jolts or bumps or the exaggerated bouncing rebound which is the cause of most motoring fatigue.

You have a feeling of mental comfort, too, in driving the new Ford because of its sturdy frame and body, mechanical reliability, the safety of its fully enclosed six-brake system and Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield. This freedom from mechanical trouble—this security—means a great deal to every woman who drives a car.

Prove this for yourself by calling or telephoning for a demonstration. We will gladly bring the new Ford to your home so that you may know, from your own experience, the many features that make it such a good car to own and drive.

Call or telephone 130 for demonstration.

Wildcat Swap Brings Hunter Heavy Fine

Harrisburg, Pa.—The difference between three wildcats killed in Pennsylvania and three killed in Louisiana is $145 in U. S. money, at least so far as the bounty division of the board of game commissioners is concerned.

Despite the similarity in size and color of three pelts offered recently to the bounty board for payment, members of the board easily detected the difference between a Pennsylvania cat and one from the braves of a southern state.

Investigations disclosed the cats had been killed in Louisiana. Instead of collecting $45 in bounties, the hunter paid $100 in fines.

Kansas Woman Comes to Grief in France.

Paris.—Things have happened quickly since the day Mrs. Pearl Hussey Flanagan, a music teacher and wife of an undertaker in Wichita, Kan., walked up the steps of the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart in Paris, France.

Events have followed each other almost too quickly, for when Mrs. Flanagan walked down the steps she was Countess de Taurine and owned the Chateau de Taurine, a massive old structure of rough hewn stone.

Now Mrs. Flanagan owns nothing. She plans again to take up the teaching of music where she left off, and she must begin soon, for the law took away from her her fur coat, dresses, stockings, and even underwear. Besides, her husband is suing her for divorce.

When she entered the cathedral in Paris, Mrs. Flanagan met the Abbe Loubere. She told him of her ambition to establish a school of music in France, and her seriousness so impressed him that he asked her to accept the chateau as a nucleus about which to build the school.

Scientist Would Study Sun at Close Range

Brussels.—Working closer to the sun than has any human being before him, so far as is known, Prof. Andre Piccard of Brussels university and an assistant hope to study the cosmic rays at a height of nearly 50,000 feet.

The professor plans to reach this dizzy height in an especially made balloon with a closed cabin.

Professor Piccard says the cosmic rays are the key to the atmospheric conditions of the earth, and that his initiative may lead to all commercial airplanes using the upper layers for travel rather than the stormy regions close to the earth.

Washington.—Wire and sand were introduced by scientists of the bureau of mines two years ago as a saw for slate quarrying. RARE BIRDS TAKEN OFF TEXAS COAST

Collectors Get Specimens of Queer Species.

Corpus Christi, Texas.—An expedition headed by Dr. Francis Harper, under the auspices of the Academy of Natural Science of Philadelphia, has been visiting several islands off the Gulf coast of Texas to collect specimens of birds and other animal life peculiar to this region.

Many rare specimens of birds were obtained on Lydin Ann Island, three miles north of Port Aransas. This island, about two square miles, is not inhabited. It was there that a frigate bird, which had a spread of wings seven feet six inches was killed.

The frigate bird nests along the southern coast of Mexico early in the spring. It migrates north and returns in the winter. When tired, it perches on some tree or other tall object.

Frigate Bird a Pirate. The frigate bird gets its food by floating lazily above the water, where it robs a gull or tern of the fish he has caught.

Other specimens taken were an oyster catcher, a clapper rail, which resembles the prairie chicken with a long bill, and a turn stone, a small member of the snipe family, which turns over rocks with his bill in search of food. Another specimen was the skinner, a bird about as large as the laughing gull. It also has a long beak, the lower jaw being about three-quarters of an inch longer than the upper. When hungry, it skims along quiet water with the lower jaw immersed to catch small fish.

There are about ten species of terns, some of which were captured by Doctor Harper, the roseate, the gull billed, the black and the Arctic tern. The party also took a roseate spoon-bill, commonly called flamingo, a beautiful rich pink bird.

The still, resembling a large snipe, is able to wade in water eighteen inches deep. The curlew, whose long bill is flexible, presses it into crab holes and fetches forth its meals.

Horned Larks Captured. Several larks were taken by the expedition on the north end of Mustang island. According to Doctor Harper, these are subspecies of the meadow lark and are found in this country only. Several of the horned larks were also added to the collection.

One peculiar fact concerning rodents was noted by the scientists. The islands visited by the expedition are known to have been completely submerged several years ago. Yet a large number of rodents are on these islands. Ground squirrels, rats and gophers are the most common. The rat family included mice, cotton red and kangaroo rats.

Snakes and lizards were taken from all the islands visited, and on Lydin Ann Island signs of an iguana were reported.

Pitcher Is Modest About His Heroism

Memphis, Tenn.—It takes more nerve in the opinion of Robert Russ, fourteen, "to stand up there and put a pin over the plate when the bases are loaded and nobody out" than to dive forty-three feet into a river and save a drowning companion.

Young Russ, who is credited with diving from a bridge over the Tennessee river at Guntersville, Ala., recently to save Harry Smith, fifteen, is pitcher for a local playground team. He had just finished pitching a game in which he struck out seven batters but lost, 6 to 5, when he reluctantly consented to being "inter-viewed."

"Aw gee! I just jumped in and pulled him out," Robert said. He did not tell how he had jumped while several men looked on, that he himself was severely injured by striking a log in the dive, or that it took him twenty minutes to pull young Smith to the banks.

Seeks $15,000,000 in Hulk of Lost Vessel

New York.—The $15,000,000 gold bullion treasure in the sunken hulk of the liner Egypt off the coast of France will be the object of a determined salvage effort to be launched soon by Capt. Henry L. Bowdoin, veteran sea diver.

Captain Bowdoin announced that his attempt to raise the gold was backed by local capitalists, and $150,000 is said to have been spent on the project. The gold, which lies in 400 feet of water, has been sought by many treasure hunters, but the depth has prevented success.

The Egypt sank on May 20, 1922, 20 miles off the French coast.

All Behave in County of 280,000 Population

Fresno, Calif.—Deputy Sheriff William Hulsey, Fresno county's jailer, said here that he wouldn't be surprised should the millennium prove to be just around the corner.

Deputy Hulsey's remark followed forty-eight hours without booking a new prisoner at the county jail. All Fresno city prisoners are also accommodated in the county bastle.

Effort to Stop Cow's Lashing Tail Fatal

Topoka, Kan.—Ten-year-old Ben Junia Trent is dead at his farm home near here, the victim of his invention to prevent a cow from switching him with her tail while he was milking. Tying the animal's tail to his wrist he started to milk her. The cow became excited, bit for a pasture, and dragged the boy behind her. He died of internal injuries.

Salt Production

There are four chief methods of obtaining salt in use today. It may be secured by evaporation of the brine from wells sunk into salt beds; by mining; by evaporation of sea water, and by the evaporation of the brine of natural brine springs.

Points to Remember in Cooking Tender Beef

Different cuts of beef from the same animal vary greatly in tenderness. The home-maker not only has to know how to choose beef in the market but how to prepare whatever cut she buys to bring out its best qualities. Appetizing dishes can be made from all cuts of beef so that purchases may fit any budget.

Recipes for a number of different cuts of beef have been worked out by the bureau of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture and published in a leaflet for free distribution. The principal points in cooking the more tender cuts are: Searing the surface of the meat first at a high temperature for a short time or until a well-flavored brown coating is formed, reducing the temperature so as to finish cooking at a moderate heat; in the case of roasts, using a roasting thermometer in the center of the roast to indicate when the meat is rare, medium, or well done. Beef is rare between the temperatures of 130 and 150 degrees Fahrenheit, medium between 150 and 170 degrees Fahrenheit, and well done at about 180 degrees Fahrenheit. As many people like mushroom sauce with their steak and Yorkshire pudding with roast of beef, these recipes are also given in the leaflet.

Italian Invents New Hood for Sea Divers

Rome.—Endangered submarine crews will have one more chance of escaping a miserable end in case of accident since an Italian inventor, Ottomander Belloni, has devised a new and ingenious hood, recognized as cheap and lighter than ordinary diving suits.

The diver's head is covered by the hood which is fastened to the armpits, and the rest of the body is unencumbered with a small tube of air under high pressure suspended from the diver's wrist. The bottom of the hood is provided with a valve for the escape of vitiated air.

Ottomander Belloni himself has undergone an experience which has enabled him to remain under water for three minutes at a 320-foot depth. Two air tubes would double the time of resistance.

One of the apparatus will not surpass twenty dollars and it weighs only nine pounds, which is one-sixth of the German type of diving suit.

THE NEW WAXFREE HAVOLINE

The greatest ANNOUNCEMENT ever made about OIL!

THIS is the announcement of the New Waxfree Havoline—made by the Govers Process.

The only paraffin base oil from which all wax has been removed.

For years, the oil industry has sought in vain to produce such an oil.

For months, the automobile industry has awaited this announcement.

Now the facts are published.

These facts are based upon definite figures—the specifications by which every oil expert judges oil, and these specifications are printed here.

What do these specifications prove? They prove that the New Waxfree Havoline (Govers Process) has better heat resistance than any other oil of the same viscosity at 210° F. and above—

—has better cold weather lubricating value than any other oil—

—remains "oily" at every temperature—

WAXFREE Wax turns water-thin under heat. Wax turns candle-hard under cold. Now, for the first time, you can get a waxfree paraffin base oil for the best year-round lubrication

SPECIFICATION CERTIFICATE The New Waxfree Havoline #30 VISCOSITY STANDARD ESTABLISHED BY the Society of Automotive Engineers FLASH POINT 450° F FIRE POINT 520° F VISCOSITY 110° F 58 COLD TEST 100° F

Havoline No. 30 is chosen as typical because it is recommended for use at this time of year in such cars as Buick, Chevrolet, Chrysler, Dodge Brothers, Hudson, Nash, Studebaker. Havoline dealers have the correct grade for every car. Any impartial oil expert can tell you these specifications show that the New Waxfree Havoline surpasses all previous standards of quality in oil.

—is the only oil that meets all specifications for ideal lubrication.

The New Waxfree Havoline is not a blended oil.

Without a doubt, this is the greatest advance in oil refining since the automobile was invented.

The development of the New Waxfree Havoline has been long and dramatic. Scientists have been brought literally from the ends of the earth. A vast 400 acre refinery has been turned into a practical laboratory. Not with tiny retorts and test tubes—but with giant twin stills, built at a cost of $2,000,000, the new Govers Process was brought to perfection.

Get the New Waxfree Havoline (Govers Process) wherever Havoline Oils are sold. It retails at 35c a quart and is worth far more in engine protection.

League of Women Voters Held Meeting

Plans for the benefit bridge tea to be held in the Hotel Mayflower Friday afternoon, October 23rd, under the auspices of the Plymouth League of Women Voters, have been completed. Tickets are on sale, and by the response of members and friends of the league, a large crowd is indicated. Several members of the Detroit, Dearborn and Redford Leagues have reserved tables for the afternoon, which shows the interest of the League as a whole in this benefit.

A cordial invitation is given to all persons interested to come to the hotel and enjoy a happy afternoon. There will be other games for those who do not play bridge. Tickets are 50c and can be secured from any one of the following committee: Mrs. Paul Wiedman, chairman, Miss Almada Wheeler, Miss Mary Conner, Mrs. John Henderson and Mrs. Wm. Petz. The patronesses, Mrs. D. A. Bentley, president of the Wayne County League, Mrs. Henry Steffens, Jr., chairman of finance, and Mrs. Henry Adams, executive secretary, all of Detroit; and Mrs. Phoebe Patterson, Mrs. F. D. Schrader, Mrs. Coello Hamilton, Miss Lina Durfee, Mrs. Nettie Dibble and Mrs. D. N. McKinnon of the Plymouth League.

Because of another meeting at the Hotel Mayflower on October 23rd, the date of the bridge benefit has been changed to Friday afternoon, October 25th, at 2 o'clock. Tickets may be purchased from any member of the committee for 50c. Dainty refreshments will be served.

The proceeds of the benefit will be given to the Wayne County League, whose offices in Detroit and the services of the efficient and much loved secretary, Mrs. Harry Adams, are made possible through the generous donations of friends of the league and the assistance of the district leagues.

One of the most interesting affairs held in Plymouth this fall, was the meeting of the League of Women Voters, held at the home of Mrs. Paul Wiedman Monday afternoon, Oct. 14.

After the business meeting at which the president, Mrs. Charles O. Ball, presided, the program which had been arranged by Miss Lina Durfee was presented. Miss Durfee in a few introductory remarks, complimented those assisting her on their ready response and hearty spirit of cooperation.

Group singing of "America the Beautiful," with Mrs. Benjamin Heidemman accompanying at the piano, opened the program. Mrs. Phoebe Patterson then explained the merits of the "Lame Duck Amendment." Following this, Mrs. Coello Hamilton drew a comparison between the Shephard-Towner bill and the Newton bill, showing the educational work done by the former bill now extinct, and the advantages that will be derived from the latter bill when passed.

A very interesting review of "Russia's Children" was given by Mrs. Nettie Dibble, showing the constructive work that has been accomplished in the schools of Russia since the Revolution.

A piano solo by Mrs. Heidemman, closed the afternoon's program, after which Mrs. Wiedman, assisted by Mrs. Wm. Petz, served dainty refreshments.

CHAMBER of COMMERCE NOTES

WOULD YOU BUY A PARTNER-SHIP IN PLYMOUTH?

WHAT KIND OF A PARTNER WOULD YOU MAKE?

George A. Smith, our genial and respected superintendent of schools, made a stirring talk to the Kiwanis Club at their weekly meeting, Tuesday, October 15th, on the subject of "Partnerships." He separated partnerships into four major classifications:

1. Actual or real partners—partners who contribute both money and work, and who share equally in profits or losses;
2. Ostensible or apparent partners—partners who contribute money and their names, who share equally in the profits or losses, but who do not work;
3. "Silent partners"—partners who contribute money, but who do not permit the use of their names, nor do they work;
4. "NOMINAL PARTNERS"—partners in name only, who contribute neither money nor work.

Mr. Smith very ably applied these ordinary commercial classifications to participation or lack of participation in the work and welfare, of service clubs, lodges, churches, and even our homes. We are sure there were many present interested in the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, who wished that Mr. Smith had carried his comparison to include chamber of commerce work for his fine ideas apply with extra emphasis to what it takes to make a successful chamber of commerce.

DRAWING YOUR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE INTO THE PICTURE.

A chamber of commerce in ANY community is the logical medium for community advancement. Plymouth will grow in direct proportion to its growth, strength and vitality of its chamber of commerce. It is, therefore, not far-fetched to contend that a partnership in Plymouth is almost synonymous with a partnership in the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, for the growth and future prosperity of Plymouth so largely depends upon to what extent the people of Plymouth will permit their chamber of commerce to help their community advance and prosper.

THE KIND OF PARTNERS WE WANT AND NEED.

1. To return to Mr. Smith's classifications, we need real partners, men and women who will support the chamber of commerce idea and the chamber of commerce program with their time as well as money. This does not mean that we are lacking in appreciation for the real partners we already possess, but how much more we could accomplish if the community as a whole was back of their chamber of commerce.

The only place where Mr. Smith's classifications do not fit like a glove is the thought of individual profit or loss. It might be difficult if not impossible for an individual or concern to trace a definite dollars and cents return from their contribution to the chamber of commerce budget, but if the community as a whole is benefited, every individual in the community is benefited.

2. Ostensible or apparent partners are inevitable sometimes. In fact, these names do not lend themselves without qualification to a Chamber of Commerce meaning. There are busy men heart and soul behind their Chamber of Commerce, who give freely of their money to further the work, but who cannot give much time. It would not be just to call them "ostensible partners" because they are "real partners" at heart.

Silent partners, while an accepted business term, are hard to fit into the chamber of commerce scheme of things. A man or woman may be a "silent partner" in the sense that striving for the common good they never think of personal gain, but we do not want "silent partners" in the most literal sense, men and women, who although interested in seeing the same things accomplished, never give us the benefit of their thoughts and ideas.

4. NOMINAL PARTNERS—partners in name only, who contribute neither money or work, but who share in the profitable results of chamber of commerce activity—and they are partners because they are citizens of Plymouth, and as citizens they may deny but they cannot entirely escape responsibility.

PROFITS AND LOSSES PICTURE A UNITED COMMUNITY BEHIND THEIR CHAMBER

OF COMMERCE, AND CAN YOU CONCEIVE THE COMMUNITY SUFFERING THEREBY? PROFITS WILL FAR EXCEED THE LOSSES AS A RESULT OF THE EFFORTS OF AN ACTIVELY FUNCTIONING CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Campaign

will proceed with the final count of votes, to decide the winners of the various prizes together with the total number of votes polled by each candidate. The report of the judges will be announced immediately after the count is completed. The names of the official judges are announced in this week's issue. The prizes will be given out Monday.

Candidates are cautioned not to put any personal checks in the sealed ballot box. Candidates should have all checks made out to themselves and cash same and deposit the cash in the sealed ballot box. This action is made in fairness to all candidates and will be strictly adhered to.

Now is the time for the candidates to go after extension subscriptions in the big subscription drive, which closes Saturday night, October 19th, at 8:30 o'clock, so don't be late.

Awaiting the winners Saturday night is an array of prizes that will gladden the hearts of the workers. At the very top of the list is a brand new Chevrolet coach with extra equipment which is well worth the best effort of the workers. Then follows the wonderful Radio set and the handsome three-piece overstuffed living room set and all the numerous other prizes that are now holding the interest of the entire community. After the prizes are awarded those candidates who have remained active, but who failed to win one of the fine prizes, will be awarded a cash commission of ten per cent of the total amount of cash turned into the campaign office to their credit during the life of the campaign.

The big sealed ballot box has the top soldered on and will have to be cut open by the judges when the final count of votes takes place. The closing hours of the campaign show intense activity by the more active candidates. Everywhere is hustle and bustle as the final score with the total club votes weighed in the score, shows a very narrow margin between some of our leading candidates. Do not forget the closing hour of the campaign, 8:30 Saturday night, and don't be late.

The result of the count of ballots in the subscription drive will be bulletined in the window of the Plymouth Mail immediately after the close of the count Saturday night. See photos on page fourteen.

COP COMES OUT SECOND BEST IN TILT WITH CAT

Arrests Disorderly Kitty but Neglects to Put Brackets on It.

Silver Spring, Md.—This is a story of a policeman and a cat, in a little scrimmage in which the feline won. Montgomery county policemen are always on the alert to assure a peaceful life for the populace, ever ready to take action to quell any disturbance. Charles T. Barnes, patrolman attached to the northern district station, was settling down for a long night watch, glancing at the clock for the time to roll around, when he would take his turn on the 85-mile beat. The telephone rang and a feminine voice complained of a cat that was causing a disturbance around a home several miles from the station.

Dadie, Apparently. Barnes put on his hat, strapped his Sam Brown belt, with pistol and bullets attached, over his massive form, and tied forth in the police car. The cat was delivered to him, a docile feline, apparently. He stroked its fur, placed it in the car, closed the windows so it could not get out, but neglected to put the "brackets" on an act that he now regrets. But who would have thought a cat could cause any disturbance, particularly with glass protecting.

He left, with kitty secure on the back seat, apparently enjoying the ride. He was rolling along the roads, and after about two miles the feline apparently objected to confinement. There was a thud at the back of the policeman's neck, and a sharp dig in his shoulder told him that all was not secure within the enclosure. He reached for the cat. It now was crawling upside down on the ceiling of the car, and making good time. So was the automobile. Back again at the policeman's head and neck. A swipe of the hand cut only the air, for the feline was back on the ceiling, and running around in circles, spitting and hissing. Kitty struck again, and scored this time on the shoulders. Barnes ducked and let go a long arm. Missed again.

Things Get Hot. Barnes said things were getting hot. The car was stopped. But kitty kept making the circuit of the ring, hitting everything in sight, and not missing Barnes on any cycle. Barnes glanced at the car and the flying fur, and then into the dark countryside, and decided that there was vastly more room there than in that car. He reached for the window to open it, but quickly decided the door would provide more exit space and opened it wide. Kitty made it the first time and disappeared up the road and if it causes any more disturbance, Barnes has decided that some one else will have to contend with the disturber.

COOK CUCUMBERS IN SEVERAL WAYS

They Are Delicious Dipped in Batter and Fried.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Cucumbers need not always be eaten raw. They can be cooked in several delicious ways. The bureau of home economics, United States Department of Agriculture, suggests serving them stuffed and baked, or dipped in a batter and fried. Crisp sliced or diced uncooked cucumbers are, of course, usually an acceptable addition to any vegetable salad. Try them in liver salad, using four parts of cooked liver to one part of diced cucumber, served on lettuce with mayonnaise. Salmon or tuna fish salad with cucumbers added is also appetizing. Thinly sliced cucumbers are tender and the stuffing makes a delicious and moist sandwich filling.

Baked Stuffed Cucumbers. Peel four or five good-sized cucumbers, split them lengthwise, and scoop out the seed portion. Parboil the cucumbers in slightly salted water for fifteen minutes. Drain and stuff the cavities with a mixture of tomatoes cut into pieces, minced onion, and buttered bread crumbs. Place the stuffed cucumbers in a shallow baking dish, add two tablespoons of hot water, and bake in a moderate oven until the cucumbers are tender and the stuffing is delicately browned.

Fried Cucumbers. 4 medium-sized cu- 1 cup four-cumbers 1 egg 1 cup milk 1/4 tsp. salt Pare the cucumbers evenly and cut them in slices lengthwise about one-eighth inch thick. Beat the egg slightly, add the milk, and pour this liquid into the flour and salt, stirring until smooth. Dip the slices of cucumber into the cover batter and brown them on both sides in hot fat. Drain on paper and serve hot.

Uncle Sam's Cakes Are Mostly Home Product

Cake making is one field in which the American housewife has not yet surrendered to the commercial baker. The bakers have taken over a large proportion of the bread baking of the country, but the cakes the country eats are predominantly of home manufacture.

The bakers have here a wide opportunity for expansion of their business. Baking specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture, however, inform the baker that "not only must he make cake that is good and yet relatively inexpensive, but he must also convince the housewife that the cake made in the bakery, like the bread, is as good as that made in the home, and possibly better."

OLD KING'S HOUSE WILL BE REBUILT

Jamaica to Restore That Historic Mansion.

Kingston, Jamaica, W. I.—The King's House, historic structure of the West Indies, is to be rebuilt after centuries of neglect. Once the residence of noblemen and the rendezvous of the elite of Jamaica, the King's House stands in Spanishtown, a remnant of hygone glories.

The building was swept by fire in October, 1925. Little more than a shell now remains of the stately mansion, once regarded as "the noblest edifice of its kind in the Western hemisphere." The handsome facade, with its dignified columns of Portland stone and pavement of white marble, withstood the fire. The structure stands on a square the north side of which is fringed by an open terrace and colonnade including the elder Bacon's statue of George Bridges Rodney, the "Savior of the West Indies."

The King's House was designed by Crossell, the engineer of the islands, during the administration of Gov. Sir Henry Moore, about 1764. It became the residence of many governors. Its cost was over $100,000. Not until 1870 did the glory of the King's House fade. During the administration of Gov. Sir John Peter Grant the seat of government was removed to Kingston.

In this house Jamaica gathered on his majesty's birthday for the "king's ball, where such was the decorum that the Royal Gazette announced that "no gentleman can possibly be admitted in boots or otherwise inappropriately dressed."

On the portico the Lady Nugent, the delightful diarist, was received by Lord Balcarras, upon her arrival here in 1801. The big Hall of Audience is depicted by Wickstead in a famous painting. The salon was an apartment of noble proportions adorned with busts of poets and philosophers. On the walls were costly gilt grilles to carry candles. At the north end was a minstrel's gallery where a hand played on festive occasions.

Lady Nugent, in her diary, speaks of the governor from whom her husband took over the administration:

"I wish Lord B. would wash his hands and use a nail brush, for the black edges of his finger nails made me positively ill. He has besides an extraordinary propensity to dip his fingers in every dish at table."

Our definition of success is unorthodox. We claim that any man who is honest, fair, tolerant, kindly, charitable of others and well behaved is a success, no matter what his station in life.—Jay E. House, in the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

"BONKURA ONLY MEDICINE THAT CORRECTED MY STUBBORN AILMENTS"

MR. GEORGE A. RUST

"Although I am 62 years old, have suffered for many years, Bonkura won a splendid victory over my stubborn ailments," said Mr. George A. Rust, 653 Glenwood Avenue, Owosso, Michigan. "My food did not agree with me. I had to spit out particles of half digested food and a sour liquid continually. For many years I suffered terribly with constipation, nervousness and neuritis pains in my hips and back. All medicines I had tried proved worthless."

"After being persuaded to take Bonkura, relief came instantly. My system was thoroughly cleansed with the first bottle and the gas, belching, constipation, nervousness and neuritis pains left me. I was able to eat and digest anything. The wonderful Bonkura Tonic gave me back appetite and strength and I enjoy working again. Bonkura Treatment alone could overcome my misery and I gladly recommend it." Bonkura is sold by Beyer's Pharmacy.

SHOW MORE INTEREST IN FARMING METHODS

Fine Crop Produced By State Nut Trees

CONTEST BRINGS OUT SAMPLES EQUAL IN QUALITY TO ANY PREVIOUSLY KNOWN.

Samples of hickory nuts and walnuts already entered in the prize contest conducted by Michigan State College prove that Michigan trees bear crops equal in quality to any previously found in America, according to statements by members of Michigan State College horticultural department at East Lansing.

The men in charge of the contest say that there is still opportunity for prize winning entries before the close of the contest, November 15. Prize winners will be announced at the State Horticultural Show held at the College at that time.

First and second prizes of 25 and 10 dollars are offered for both hickory nuts and walnuts, and a special prize of a set of horticultural reference books is offered to the Smith-Hughes high school whose pupils send in the best collection of Michigan nuts.

Each entry submitted for prizes must be accompanied with directions for locating the tree which bore the nuts. The College department is attempting to locate especially desirable trees which can be used to develop commercial plantings.

Walnut trees come into bearing from five to ten years depending on the soil and other conditions. Hickories are slower in reaching bearing age but probably will bear profitable crops in from 10 to 15 years.

A large acreage which is not adapted to general farming can be used profitably for nut culture in Michigan.

ENROLLMENT IN AGRICULTURAL SHORT COURSES INCREASES RAPIDLY.

While the farm population in Michigan has been decreasing, the interest of farmers in learning new angles of their business has increased, according to class records in the short course office at Michigan State College, East Lansing.

The first short courses, three in number, were given in 1897. Forty-five students enrolled in those courses. Last year 19 short courses were given at Michigan State and 455 students enrolled.

Many of these courses last only one week and are designed as a clearing house of new information about a particular subject. Most of the students can spare only a short time from their business and the short courses meet their needs.

The longest of these courses is the two year general agricultural course of 16 weeks. Fifty-one men took this course last year.

Five courses are given in dairy subjects, five courses in horticultural subjects, and one each in poultry, agricultural engineering, home economics, tree raising, seed production, farm management, and veterinary medicine.

The 16 week course in general agriculture begins October 28. All others are held in January, February, or March.

DECLINE IN POTATO CROP

A decline of more than four million bushels in the Michigan potato crops since September 1 was the outstanding feature of the report issued this week by the Michigan Co-operative Crop Reporting Service. The drought which prevailed throughout the state during August and part of July continued through September, and this, coupled with severe frosts during the latter half of the month, reduced the indicated production to 19,460,000 bushels—a figure below the final estimate for every year since 1916. The total U. S. crop is now estimated at 345,177,000 bushels which is 3,935,000 bushels less than the September estimate and 119,306,000 bushels smaller than last year's final production. If the final estimate is no larger this will mean a crop the smallest since 1925.

The Michigan corn crop also showed a decline in condition; the forecast of production on October 1 being 36,134,000 bushels as compared with 36,984,000 bushels on September 1. The yield of barley as reported by crop respondents was 23.0 bushels as compared with 30 last year. The forecast of production is 5,888,000 bushels or 1,278,000 bushels more than average production of the last ten years. Buckwheat and sugar beets were other crops showing a decline in condition during the past month. The total production of buckwheat is now estimated at 630,000 bushels as compared with 720,000 bushels last year. The sugar beet crop is forecast at 338,000 tons or 114,000 tons less than last year's production.

Harvesting conditions for field beans have been unusually favorable during September, and the condition of the crop as reported on October 1 was six points higher than that for one month ago. As a result, the forecast production is for a crop of 5,685,000 bushels or 102,000 bushels more than the September 1 estimate.

The state average yield of oats was reported at 29.8 bushels per acre, which gives an estimated production of 44,760,000 bushels or more than five million bushels below the average crop of the past ten years. The average yield of tame hay was reported at 1.68 tons per acre as compared with last year's yield of 1.51 tons. The estimated production of 5,147,000 tons is the largest on record for the state.

The prospective production of all fruits except grapes showed an increase during the past month. The total apple crop is now estimated at 6,472,000 bushels and the commercial crop at 1,112,000 barrels. The peach crop estimate is 816,000 bushels; pears, 475,000 bushels; and grapes 66,000 tons or the same as one month ago.

Picked Up About Town

Dad Plymouth says a man often starts things that he can't finish, but that it isn't that way when he starts in to make a fool of himself.

Uncle Sam says the adhesive on the back of his postage stamps is nothing but tapicou, and here we were all the time thinking it was chair varnish.

"Why is it," asks Dad Plymouth "that we always start wondering how much a man is going to touch us for when he starts praising us."

Dad Plymouth says he often wonders if there is any law against a big business man writing his signature so you can tell what it means.

Along about this time of year we reach the conclusion that there's nothing wrong with a country that can afford pumpkin pie.

"Maybe another reason why the saloon will never come back," says Dad Plymouth "is because all of the good corners have been gobbled up by chain stores and filling stations."

"Let There Be Light"

NOT by luck, not by accident were Thomas A. Edison's inventions successful. Each experiment was the logical outgrowth of previous observations. His method depended but little upon theory. Having satisfied himself that there was a market for a certain invention—like the electric light—he would exhaust the literature on all allied subjects before beginning his experiments. A gas expert once said that Mr. Edison knew more about gas lighting than any other man living. When he had begun his research, he and his assistants tried everything that showed any promise. If an experiment failed, he learned why, then went about eliminating defects. His fifty-thousand storage battery experiments are illustrative of his method.

As a boy, Edison had an insatiable appetite for books, and in this trait he was encouraged by his mother, with whose help he read—before the age of twelve—Gibbons' "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire" and other historical and scientific works of equally lofty content. His father also stimulated these literary tastes by paying him a small sum for each book mastered. He even attempted to read every book in the Detroit Public Library, and had progressed through several long shelves of volumes before he was discovered and guided into more profitable channels. In his freight-car laboratory and another in the basement of his home, he acquired such vast knowledge in practical chemistry that today he has few peers in this science.

Mr. Edison was very fond of telling and hearing stories, and always appreciated a joke. One of his early associates relates: "I remember one that he liked to get off on us once in a while. Our lighting plant was in duplicate, and about 12:30 or 1:00 o'clock in the morning, a change would be made from one plant to the other, involving a gradual extinction of the electric lights and their slowly coming up to candle power again, the whole change requiring probably about thirty seconds. Sometimes, as this was taking place, Edison would fold his hands, compose himself as if he were in sound sleep, and when the lights were full again would apparently wake up, with the remark, 'Well boys, we've had a fine rest; now let's pitch in to work again!'

ONLY a mind and a body possessing amazing stamina could have withstood such fatigue as Mr. Edison imposed upon himself—to the extent, on one occasion, of going five days without sleep. It is small wonder that such perseverance was rewarded with over 1500 patents in the United States alone.

Mr. Edison is credited with saying that if he has achieved anything worthwhile, it is due to the obstinacy and pertinacity inherited from his forefathers. Equally indicative of the man's overwhelming modesty is his classic remark, "Genius is 1 per cent inspiration and 99 per cent perspiration."

By example, by genial companionship, Mr. Edison maintained a remarkable enthusiasm and esprit de corps in his laboratories. Here is a normal, fun-loving American—plain, placid, affectionate, beloved by all his associates. Self-educated, with only three months of formal schooling, this newsboy and candy butcher lived to be decorated for his benefactions to mankind with the honors of all the leading nations and scientific societies of the earth.

BECAUSE Thomas Alva Edison lived and worked, untold millions of people are happier, more comfortable, more intelligent citizens. Because of his inventions, industry has geared its mechanism to electrical power, the world is brighter with electric light, and men and women everywhere are saved the toil now shouldered by electrical devices, in home and factory. Without the inventions of Edison, there might today be no motion picture industry, no phonographs, no electric railways, no practical telephone. A hundred industries are more productive because he lived. The inventions of Thomas Alva Edison will serve his fellowmen for unnumbered generations.

USE THERMOMETER WHEN ROASTING LAMB

Eliminating Guesswork in Roasting a Leg of Lamb

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

A roast meat thermometer removes the guesswork from roasting any thick piece of meat to the desired stage of doneness. It can be used with rib or sirloin roasts of beef, veal roast, with leg of lamb, or ham. These thermometers, which can be bought for a relatively small price, are marked to indicate when the meat will be rare, medium, or well done. A small cut is first made in the thickest portion of the raw meat with a narrow knife or a skewer. The thermometer is then thrust into this cut far enough for the bulb to reach the center of the meat. It will show when the meat is cooked to the degree wanted. Whenever a similar cut of meat is cooked in the same way, the results will be the same, hence the housewife can be sure of uniformity whether she does the cooking herself or has some one else do it for her. The time required to roast meat of any kind depends largely on the temperature of the oven. Very high temperatures shorten the time of cooking but increase shrinkage and may make the meat overdone and too dry. In the case of a roast leg of lamb, little juice is lost and the meat is uniformly cooked at the temperature given in the recipe below from the bureau of home economics, United States Department of Agriculture. It will have a light golden brown crust. Whatever way lamb is cooked, if it is to be served hot it should be piping hot on hot plates, because the fat hardens as soon as it begins to cool. For an average family select a leg of lamb weighing from four to five pounds, preferably cut so as to include some of the loin. Wipe the meat with a damp cloth, sprinkle with salt and pepper, and rub well with flour. Lay the roast skin side down and cut-flesh side up, on a rack in an open pan without water. Insert a roast-meat thermometer so that the bulb reaches the center of the thick round of the leg. If the fat covering is very thin, lay several strips of bacon on top. Sear for 30 minutes in a hot oven (about 480 degrees Fahrenheit).

Today's Reflections

Now that filling stations along the highways are selling hot-dogs, motorists had better look out of the absent-minded service man will be filling the tank with sausage and putting mustard in the crankcase.

Treasury officials say the new money will be slow in getting around. As though a lot of us in Plymouth didn't realize that already.

Maybe the reason some people stick to the straight and narrow path is because there isn't so much traffic on it.

They say the Chinese make better soldiers since discarding their pigtails. Maybe it makes them harder to catch.

Marriages may be made in heaven, but the sofas in Plymouth homes have been the scene of a lot of preliminary arrangements.

Why is it that if you are right 99 times and wrong once, everybody remembers the time you were wrong?

In Russia the Soviet has abolished Sunday as a day of rest. The auto and golf did that in this country long ago.

Another advantage in living in Plymouth instead of a big city is you don't have to wear out a pair of shoes here running out to see if the police have put a ticket on your car.

The world may be growing smarter, but a lot of hunters will pull loaded shotguns through barbed-wire fences this fall.

Virtue always has its own reward. You can always find a lot of parking space near a church.

What Plymouth man ever expected to see the time when a pair of high-heeled shoes and cotton stockings would be classed as antiques.

Another thing we've never been able to understand is what happens to a crowd immediately after the parade has passed.

Could you refer to a man who has three pair of shoes as being well-heeled.

Another thing the city-bred man can't understand is how a farmer gets grass to grow without sprinkling it.

Every time a Plymouth man has a half-hour to spare, he uses it up bothering another man who hasn't any spare time.

Time may be money, but a lot of us around Plymouth don't seem to know just where to get it cashed.

Ere always knew when Adam was tired. He began with the words: "If it hadn't been for you."

Scientists say that a mosquito can go two days without food, but whoever saw a mosquito that would?

Some mysterious person in Florida is shooting mules at night, possible under the delusion that they are jazz bands.

Why is it that the family skeleton in the average Plymouth home never starts to rattle until there's company in the house?

So live, young man, that when you grow old you won't be forced to stand on the street corner and amuse yourself by finding fault with others.

We've noticed that the big insurance companies will take a chance on most everything except insuring a happy marriage.

Dad Plymouth says war is so horrible that he doesn't want to see another one until a long time after he is dead.

According to Dad Plymouth, the chap who said skirts were coming down hit it about as well as the one who said prices were.

We see in a market report that "coffee is weak." Then why don't they boil it a little longer.

It has been our observation that the average Plymouth man appreciates home ties more than he does the kind he gets for Christmas.

You're out-of-date without an Eight! Informed motorists say, "Buy an EIGHT"

The informed demand today is unmistakably for the Eight. The swing of public preference is developing with unprecedented rapidity. Nobody can predict what chance a Six will have in next year's used car markets.

Consider the facts: During the first seven months of this year, in 43 states,* registrations of new cars over $1000 showed a 94 per cent increase in Eights—and an 18 per cent decrease in Sixes. Every high-priced American car is an Eight. The finest models of such foreign aristocrats as Bugatti, Bianchi, DeDion-Bouton, Isoffa-Fraschini, Mercedes-Benz and Renault are Eights. Today over 41 per cent of all American makes of cars are Eights.

And Studebaker, enjoying its seventy-seventh successful year in business, sells more Eights than any other manufacturer in the world.

So why pay as much or more for a Six when you can have a champion Eight by Studebaker—holder of 11 world records and more American stock car records for speed and endurance than all other makes combined? A Studebaker Eight, brilliant with the power, the smoothness, the flexibility that only an Eight can deliver. An Eight as economical as the thriftiest Six. And styled with a notable smartness all the way through.

Remember what happened to the Fours in the medium and high priced fields. Sixes today are succumbing to Eights the same way. Now that it costs no more to own and drive one—get an Eight—a champion Studebaker Eight!

CLUB MEMBERS WIN TRIP TO SAINT LOUIS

STATE RECORDS FALL IN PULLING CONTEST

MICHIGAN TEAMS KEEP SCORES BUSY IN BATTLES STAGED AT COUNTY FAIRS

The state record in horse pulling contests for both heavyweight and lightweight teams has been broken several times in the contests held at 15 county fairs which were supervised by members of the animal husbandry department at Michigan State College. The record at the beginning of the year was held by the team owned by J. F. Gohr, Lansing, which pulled 3200 pounds. This record, in the heavyweight class, was broken by a pull of 3275 pounds made at the Ionia Fair by a team owned by George Abbott, Ellwell.

This record held one day less than a month and was raised to 3300 pounds at the Saginaw Fair by horses owned by R. F. Langley, Flint. The Gohr team went out and got their record back by pulling 3325 pounds at Marshall.

Records in the lightweight class were broken by teams owned by the Hall orchard, Belding, and by Peter Horn, Charlotte. The Horn team now holds the record at 2925 pounds.

The three heavyweight teams which have broken records this year will compete at Michigan State College during Farmers Week, Feb. 27. An attempt will be made to better the world's record of 3500 pounds.

All pulls are made on a machine which measures exactly the amount of energy expended by the horses and the pull made is equal to lifting the same number of pounds vertically.

Dorothy Zimmerman, Ypsilanti, is one of the owners of the herd of Jersey cattle which club members are showing at St. Louis. The other owners, Edmund Stuart and Max Ross, Ypsilanti, and Frank McCalla, Ann Arbor, are also in St. Louis.

Upper Peninsula boys who made the trip are Joe Ilberman, Rock; Harold Snyder, Trenary; Carl Yoder, Manistique; Egbert Talsma, Rudyard; Arnold Tassava, Ironwood; William Nash, Crystal Falls; Romeo Paty, Iron River; Robert Johnson, Ishpeming, and James Rhodes, Iron Mountain.

Our new librarian, Miss Danielson of the Wayne County library, visited our school on Monday morning and brought us a collection of twenty-five books. Miss Danielson has spent the last three years on the Hawaiian Islands, and she told us two very interesting Hawaiian fairy tales.

Miss Jameson brought us our gold star card and constitution. We read our constitution over together, and plan to adopt it at our next regular meeting.

The school children from the Fourth grade through the Seventh are working on a health map called "Uncle Sam's Farm." We learn the different kinds of fruits and vegetables that will help us get up to standard weight, cut out pictures of these products, and paste them on the states from which they come.

Miss Viola Rolden, our last year's citizen's junior club president came to the school Friday morning and presided over our regular club meeting. We have decided to have a Halloween party on the afternoon of October 30th. It is to be a masquerade party. No one will be admitted unless they are masked. We elected a program committee, decoration committee and refreshment committee to take charge of affairs.

Our school is gay with Halloween decorations of black witches riding on broomsticks, jack o'lantern faces peep merrily out of hidden recesses.

We have two new pupils who enrolled this week. They are from Alan, Michigan. Eugene Szymanski, who is in the Seventh grade, and his sister, Anita, in the Second grade. We hope they will like our school.

BIOLOGY CLASS

Mr. Bentley's biology class has started an aquarium in their classroom. The pupils the bringing tad-poles, mud-turtles, crabs, etc., and putting them in large glass jars with clams and water plants which altogether make a very interesting display. Mr. Smith is getting a ten or twelve gallon aquarium so that the students may carry on this project to a fuller extent, giving them the opportunity to watch and study the habits of these animals.

Central School Notes

John Baker entered kindergarten last week, making twenty-eight in the morning class. The afternoon class has a new boy, too, Robert Phillips. Both classes have been learning songs and coloring pictures for Halloween.

The following children in Mrs. Root's room have been neither absent nor tardy during the first six weeks of school: Junior Blair, Doris Ruse, Burton Kouzeski, Orlyn Lewis, Beverly Smith, Melvin Lewis, Inez Westfall and William Werneck. The class is learning to salute the American flag. Groups One and Two are reading in the Elson primer, having finished the chart. After writing at the blackboard for six weeks, the children have begun to write at their seats and are learning to hold their pencils, sit correctly, and use arm movement. Each child has bought a large envelope in which he keeps his Palmer Method tablet, writing book and pencil.

Halloween lasts about three weeks for the children in the grades. Miss Richards' children have made Jack-o'-lanterns and put them on the board and windows. Everyone has made the most interesting dolls, too, putting them together with tooth-picks. Dorothy Ann Campbell entered the room last week.

Buck will certainly have to do something if it wants to keep its good reputation. The Foris and Buicks are tied again in the arithmetic contest. In Miss Wentworth's room, they have a new pupil, Floyd Campbell, from the Starkweather school. Barbara Z. Bosh was absent all of last week on account of illness.

Mabelle Lohdecker has entered Miss Farnham's room from Lansing and Herbert Campbell has been transferred from Starkweather. Wray Bailey is ahead in the multiplication table.

The Edison contest has created much enthusiasm in Miss Fenner's room. The essays will be judged the first of next week. In spelling, Russell McGraw's team is three points ahead of Pollyanne Wright's. The contest will end at Thanksgiving. The winners? Betty Housley and Betty Shearer have received the highest scores in the reading test. Homer Tennant was out last week because of illness, and the class was glad to have him back Monday.

The product maps of South America have been completed by Miss Hallahan's pupils. The six best essays on Edison, to be sent to the final contest, were by Margaret Horvath, Jack Kinsey, Edward Blachar, Esther Bieby, George Statael and Roland Rhead. In Current Events, Wyatt Dunn brought to school a gas mask used during the World War. He explained to the class the uses of the different parts. He also showed them a helmet worn by an American and one worn by a German.

In art, in the higher grades, Miss Cooper has been helping them to make colored paper cut-outs, and they are also working with water colors. The lower grades are still making their still-life studies of two pieces of fruit beside a vase.

First School Dance

The senior class has given its last class dance, Friday, October 11. It seems queer to many seniors, but nevertheless it is true. Of course they will patronize other class dances, not only because they will not have the opportunity to give another one, but because they will try to help out the other classes. Everyone knows that nothing can be done unless there is cooperation of the whole.

To make this one of the best they have ever had, the seniors had a six-piece orchestra known as the Personality Boys. Mr. and Mrs. C. Shear, Mr. and Mrs. S. Strong, Mrs. Nichol and Mrs. A. Murray were the chaperones. To this dance, as to all other school dances, only the high school pupils were invited. Cider and frost-bites were served as refreshments.

The Junior High Needlework Club

Following is a list of officers elected for the Junior High Needlework Club: President—Alice Prough; Vice-President—Marie Chapman; Treasurer—Jean Haner; Secretary and Reporter—Audrey Barlow.

We have decided to tax everyone 5c who forgets her sewing. The money collected during the year is to go toward a picnic in the spring.

It has been decided to have an entertainer each week. Last week Jean Haner told us some jokes and read us a story while we sewed. This week Marie Chapman started telling us the thrilling plot of a movie—the five alarm ring and interrupted it and our sewing.

A Collection

On Wednesday at weekly assembly, Mary Blaskoff acted as student chairman, introducing the speakers. The first was Marian Gust, treasurer of the Student Council, who, after giving a financial report of that organization, urged the students to buy their student council tickets, which cost but fifty cents, enable the purchaser to admission to every home game and to debates. Following this, the president of each class reported concerning the status of his class. They were: For the twelfth grade, Russell Wallace; eleventh grade, Bernard Christie; tenth grade, Steve Budek, ninth, Melvin Blisk; eighth, Robert Champe, and seventh, Harold Cline.

Succeeding this, Mr. Cobb spoke in behalf of the faculty, announcing their record in this project to be 100 per cent perfect, which means, of course, that every teacher has "done his bit" by buying a ticket.

Paul Letzler gave a debate announcement to the effect that one does not usually talk to himself (which it seems is the first sign of insanity). In other words, she extended an invitation for those who wished to stop and hear debate try-outs.

Now came the surprise of the day. Joseph Ribbar convinced us by demonstration how much muscle one can really get out of an insignificant little instrument costing probably not more than fifty cents—the mouth organ. Dressed to resemble a happy-go-lucky country orchid, he played in fine shape a half dozen selections. The student body was genuinely pleased, manifesting it by the volume of its encore.

Then Catherine Nichol reminded everyone of the senior dance, which was to take place the following Friday evening. Football announcements were given by Gale Kinyon, vice-president of the senior class.

After this series of speeches and announcements, everyone joined in singing the old favorite "Flight Song," told all classes to go directly to group meetings, and here would be given his report cards.

TEACHER'S INITIATION

Every year the "old" teachers give a party for the new members of the staff; if possible this comes early enough for an outdoor dinner. At Cass Benton Park Tuesday, October 8, a refreshment committee with Miss Fenner as chairman—it is also understood that Mrs. Dykhouse is always a member of this committee because of her position as head of the home economics department—served potato chips, rolls, pickles, olives, baked hamburger, coffee, pumpkin pie and cheese. After this came the initiation of the new teachers.

First on the program was a little playlet, "The Three Bears," and the characters were: Eleanor Thompson, Carol Field, Irene Krauter and Winifred Ford. The second event was a debate. Resolved, that half a pie a day is better than a whole pie one day. This was staged by Miss Fiegel and Mr. Day. Miss Fiegel is still debating for the other half of her pie. The third was, "The Three Little Pigs," starring Hazel Parmelee, Margaret Stacey, Vivian Smith and Neva Nye. Fourth, Miss Perkins, with Mr. Winkelman, rendered a delightful duet. Then Bernice Richard, Delight Berg, Christina Gray and Carol Bentley gave their interpretation of the "Three Billy Goats." And lastly, Miss Kees danced a non-verbal jasep entitled "Floating Limbs."

Debating at P. H. S.

Great progress has been shown by the members of the debate squad during the last week. The try-outs were held Wednesday, October 16, and the following day were selected out of sixteen, for the first squad: Lester Daly, Harold Stevens, Alice Chambers, Zoropha Bink, David Daly, Ruth Heister, Billy Kirkpatrick, Marion Gust and Emma Rowe. Mr. Smith, Mr. Emens and Miss Ford judged the try-outs. The following Saturday, most of the squad, accompanied by Mr. Winkelman went to the Detroit Public Library, where they accomplished much on the question.

The first practice debate is Wednesday, 16th, with Ypsilanti, Central High School. Alice Chambers, Harold Stevens and Lester Daly debate for Plymouth, upholding the affirmative side. This is just a practice debate and before the first league debate every one on the squad will have a chance in a practice argument. Preference for the first one was given to the aforementioned because of their experience in speech work.

Much work has been done since the beginning of the season, and the team has all sorts of available material on both sides of the question. The question, "Resolved, that a board of judges or judge should be substituted for the jury in all state and municipal trials in Michigan," is very debatable there being many authorities and articles for both sides. This promises some scrappy debates before the season is over. The first league debate will be November 15, the place and our opponent will be stated later.

Debating and a Basis For Life's Work

Reasoning power, method, balance are necessary ingredients to the making of the basis of any branch of endeavor which we call work, and for which the world compensates. "What is the relationship of these incidents or examples to the main issue?" is the question that is continually asked in fields of enterprise. The salesman must be able to substantiate his point of view toward the article he sells with acceptable, valid reasons. Before any social project or reform can gain support, reasons must be given, debating brings out the inherent reasoning power of the student or other person who takes part in it. Every important statement concludes with "because."

The debater's box of filed cards bearing the classified information of his question is an illustration of method. Haphazard, hazy methods are stamped of low value in building and supporting a case in debating. Such methods are undoubtedly of low value and to be unlearned before entering any branch of work.

The debater cannot turn his attention to a single point, or some few points, and close his eyes to the rest. Every argument must be weighed in perspective against the total complete case. Continued demand for this kind of thinking is the forerunner of the balanced view toward all matters and situations met with in life.

Are the reasoning power, method, and balance developed by debating valuable to your boy or girl as a basis for their life's work?

Starkweather Notes

The bulletin board in the lower hall at Starkweather, was decorated last week by the kindergarten. They made blank cats, snakes, Jack-o'-lanterns, Brownies and bats. The class as a whole, is working on a doll house project. So far, they have cut windows in a huge box and the girls have sewed little curtains and put them up.

The first grade room looks very "spooky" with its Halloween decorations. Last week Junior Weise entered from Iowa. The more advanced groups are reading in their primers. They had their first penmanship lessons at their desks last week and the papers were surprisingly good.

Arthur Trupis broke his collar bone last week. Last Thursday everyone was present and on time in Miss Stader's room. There is a picture for Halloween in the back of the room, made by the members of the class.

Mrs. Mole's room is studying the different kinds of stone used in building.

The state fire chief visited Starkweather, also, and gave them several pointers for the prevention of fires.

Each team in Miss Thompson's room is working hard to pass inspection. So far, the team "Health and Success" is ahead. The sleep chart shows that the children are averaging about ten hours sleep, as they should.

Plymouth Meets Roosevelt Today

Plymouth High School plays the Ypsi squad for its second league game today, at the Plymouth Tourist Camp. Roosevelt fell victim to Farmington last week, while Plymouth lost its first league game to Dearborn. The probable line-up for the game today, as announced by Coach Matheson, is:

R. E.—Towle
R. T.—M. Bannerman
R. G.—Kenyon
C.—Ferguson, Lyke
L. C.—Dudek
L. T.—Ball, Sockow
L. E.—DePorter, Rodman
Q.—Cline
R. H.—Lanker
L. H.—Hix, Straub
E.—Curtis

The Suburban League standing to date, is as follows:

Wayne	Won	Lost
Farmington	2	0
Dearborn	1	0
Norville	0	1
Plymouth	0	1
Roosevelt	0	1

The Importance of Good Officials

Probably after reading the student council treasurer's report, most people thought that $25 was an enormous amount for officials for the Plymouth-Dearborn game. However, this is not true, for to secure good officials it is necessary to pay for them.

The officials for the last game were as follows: Referee, Walter Adrian, coach of wrestling, boxing and tumbling, at the Michigan State Normal; Coach umpire, Earl N. Risky, head of the department of the Intramural Building at Ann Arbor; head lined man, Jack Holt, a senior physical education student at Michigan State Normal.

Some schools will hire any kind of an official to save money, but a good official is familiar with all sport rules, is fair to both sides, and is fair with the other officials. Therefore, it is better to get good officials or not get any, and the prices for good officials are practically standardized.

"LES VAGABONDS FRANCAIS"

The French club has a new member, Virginia Talbot. The minutes of the last meeting and also the constitution were read and approved. The motion was made and seconded that on the days when we have our luncheon we pay thirty-five cents dues. The motion also carried that we have a party at some member's house and also have a theatre party once a month.

Teachers Enrolled In U. of Michigan

It is always gratifying to a community to know that its teachers are doing college work in undergraduate or graduate fields, that they are keeping up to the minute in every way they can. Mr. Emens and Mr. Dykhouse are working for their degrees of Doctor of Philosophy in the field of education, Mr. Emens doing research work in the field of administration, and Mr. Dykhouse in school curriculum. Besides that, each is taking work in a field outside the one of education. Mr. Emens in sociology and Mr. Dykhouse in comparative psychology.

Mr. Carr is taking work in manual training, one hour in theory and three hours in shop practice each week.

Mr. Cobb is enrolled in the School of Education, taking work toward his master of arts degree, one course being in mental tests and measurements and the other in the literary college in modern social problems.

All of the above courses involve Saturday classes.

Miss Allen and Miss Cary are enrolled in an evening class in "The Novel in the Nineteenth Century," in the department of English.

TING-A-LING

"Yes, there goes the fire bell! Hurry, we must get out!" Such were some of the exclamations by pupils in response to the bell Thursday, October 10. After the fire-drill, Mr. Wagonenschutz, the fire chief of Plymouth, introduced Herbert Just, a state fireman, to the assembly. The careless throwing away of cigarettes is one of the most common causes of government expenditure. Because such careless acts as naphtha, gasoline, and kerosene quickly evaporate forming gases which, because they are heavier than air settle low, fire starts spontaneously when a match or a cigarette stub is thrown away. There is no safe way to handle these agents.

One gallon of gasoline may cause an explosion as terrific as that produced by eight hundred pounds of dynamite.

Mr. Just emphasized the fact that it is better to send clothes to the cleaner's and have him take the risk because he has more experience, or else it is better to wear clothes which are "not so clean." Cheap electrical appliances constitute very many cases because of the cheap insulation. As a rule everyone should heed the warning that he should keep away from substances which might produce flames, and that he should act with extreme care in like cases. Fire, the flaming monster, when once started, takes in its fold everything in sight.

High School Girl Reserve Officers Training Conference

The high school Girl Reserve officers training conference was held Saturday, October 12th, at the new "Y" building in Detroit. Our club was represented by Elizabeth Strong, Katherine Tuck, Hazel Lomas, Mildred Gilbert and Lydia Joy.

It was realized that the purpose of the conference was to discover that about forty-five schools were represented, each by eight girls. The inter-club officers are:

President—Mary Finlay
Vice-president—Vivian Mitchell
Secretary—Mary Jean Harrison
Treasurer—Mary June Kooz
Song Leader—Lenore Gemmel
Musical Director—Elizabeth Strong, Senior Girl Reserve of Plymouth Artist—Ethel Pierson.

The semester's thought for the year is very beautiful. It is, "To the dreamer who works and the worker who dreams all things are possible."

The morning worship was led by Miss Florence Anderson. Every girl and mother will remember Miss Anderson for the lovely speech she gave at last year's Mother and Daughter banquet. She is also the associate secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association.

Different discussion groups for the girls were held, dealing with different subjects they were interested in. For example, one discussion was held for all those interested in Social and Service work. Another was held for those who are presidents in their own clubs.

Following this was a song meeting led by Lenore Gemmel. Luncheon, consisting of Spanish rice, rolls, salad, cocoa, and chocolate pudding, came next.

The closing program at which ways of having different types of ceremonies were discussed, ended the program. This was held on the second floor in the auditorium.

A very fitting ending was given to the conference when all the girls sang "Girl Reserve Quest." In it there is one thing that all Girl Reserves who are true members try to do. Here it is:

Everywhere, always,
In sunshine or in shadow,
In joy, disappointment,
Success or defeat—
We, the Girl Reserves,
We, the Girl Reserves,
Follow the Gleam,
Follow the Gleam,
If once we fall,
We rise to face the light:
If once we fall,
We fight again to win,
We cannot be lonely,
For we stand together,
We know the One we follow—
Christ, the Lord.

Impression of "The Miracle"

By Velda Larkins

Crowds enter a hushed cathedral, with tapers and dimly-lighted candleabrae relieving the darkness. About one-third of the Olympia has been used in setting the stage which is a reproduction of a medieval convent, producing all its wonderful effects of color, light, shadow and perspective. The performance begins with an organ prelude, while in the distance are heard chants of psalms and "Ave Maria." Gregorian themes, taken mainly from the Litany, which at last transmutates into a hymn to Mary still sung in churches along the Rhine, follows. One unconsciously forgets persons and places; the aisles seem to have come to life with nuns, novices, priests, monks, mobs of lame men, blindmen, wretched men, children and all classes of townspeople. On the dim altar beside a pillar rests the breathing statue of Mary (Princess Matchabell). It is all so realistic and so very impressive.

"The Miracle" is a most unique Italian pantomime. It was written presumably by some monk of olden days, and down through the centuries, repeated, copied and diversified by literary men, until now it is staged in perfection. It is a tragedy like the parable of the Prodigal Son, and a very appealing one. The setting of the story is in a church in the middle ages, and it is, as in many simpler fables, a struggle to overcome evil and restore peace to an organized world of men. The nun is a type of our erring humanity, urged on by hopes of happiness elsewhere than in accord with the wishes of God. The Holy Mother represents the patient eternal love of God. In that age the idea seems to have prevailed that God was a deity, terrifying, unapproachable King of some sort. It needed to have a mediator, an understanding one to intercede and appease this potent one.

The theme itself is a simple one, revised and presented with every great resource of the modern theatre equipment and conception of drama. A bell sounds and "The Miracle" has begun. At once comes the marvel, in the midst of an adoring mob, a lame man is healed by the influential image of the Madonna. The opening scene seems to be fulfilled but of implanting the religious mood in its audience—or rather congregation now. The young, beautiful Meglides lately has become a nun and sister of the cathedral. Her tempter is a piper (the essence of sin, who entices her, Meglides is faithless to her vows. The piper brings to her a charming knight, and she implores the Madonna to grant her freedom. The miracle follows. The Virgin aligns from her pedestal, dons Meglides' garb, and bids her to follow the ways of the outer world; and the Madonna becomes a sister in Meglides' place.

Then the unfortunate Meglides, with the piper ever dancing about her in various appearances, ends her earthly hopes vanished. The knight, the Robber-couper, the foolish Emperor and the Prince carry her off, and each time the piper blows a mournful tune, and the black shadow, portraying death, hovers over her lover. Finally on Christmas Eve, she crawls back from the wayside into the cathedral, her child in her arms, and finds the Holy Sister had just become an image again, and the vestments of Meglides being set aside, had left them on her departure seven years ago.

Meglides dons them and turns to find her child dead. She bows forlornly before the image. Ecclesiastics and townspeople return to realize the restored statue; and with the image is the Divine Child, Meglides, delivered from sin, shuns all belongings from the now vapid world, and the face of the Madonna wears a smile of forgiveness and understanding as the play closes.

This is really an incomplete description of "The Miracle." One must see it to feel the essence of the great drama. Several of the high school pupils have been to see it.

Farmers Buy Fake Poultry Medicine

Michigan poultrymen are warned by the poultry department at Michigan State College that at least one man has defrauded state farmers by selling them a medicine supposed to cure almost every disease which affects poultry.

The salesman claimed to represent Michigan State College when he sold the remedy to one poultry raiser in St. Clair county. At other points in the state, he has posed as the representative of the Michigan Poultry Laboratory.

A sample of the remedy, when analyzed at the college, contained re-ground bran or middlings, wood charcoal, quassa, limestone, salt and Epsom salts. None of these ingredients have a marked remedial effect upon diseases of poultry, and any of them can be purchased at local stores if they are wanted.

College poultry specialists advise flock owners to call the local veterinarian, the county agricultural agent, or the College department before investing money in poultry remedies sold by strangers.

"THE FLYING FOOL"

Appearing in a series of breath-taking, death-defying aerial exploits "The Flying Fool" comes to the Penniman Allen Theatre Sunday and Monday, October 20 and 21, in the person of William Boyd, Pathe star. It is a thrilling, all-talking air drama in which this popular player is supported by Marie Prevost, Tom O'Brien, Russell Gleason and other notable screen artists.

While this new air picture has an aviation background and contains some of the most sensational air stunts ever photographed, it is essentially a high powered drama of humor mingled skillfully and blended into a fine network of entertainment.

It is the story of a stunt flyer, who risks his life every day to satisfy a thrill-hungry mob. He is a devil-may-care personality whose other chief interest in life is women. But, he boasts, he has never fallen in love. Then his kid brother becomes interested in a cabaret entertainer and the Flying Fool decides to "save" him from this supposedly designing woman. What happens after that is plenty and the story is said to rise to a tremendous climax in the air.

Marie Prevost plays the cabaret singer. Tom O'Brien has a serio-comic heavy role that suits him ideally and Russell Gleason plays the brother. Others in the cast are Dan Wolheim, Kate Bruce, and Dorothy Ward.

"ILLUSION"

Charles (Buddy) Rogers, that perennial young juvenile-hero, and his equally delectable partner of the recent Paramount opus, "Close Harmony," Nancy Carroll, will be seen and heard in their second co-featured all-talking picture, Paramount's "Illusion," at the Penniman Allen Theatre, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, October 22, 23 and 24.

With a play that is excellent ["Illusion" is based on the novel by Arthur Train] and actors who are equally superior, it is difficult to judge which is the more deserving of commendatory precedence.

Rogers is a young magician who had learned his stage tricks through an early up-bringing in the circus. Nancy Carroll is the girl who was raised in the same environment and who is his partner in their successful stage act. She is in love with him. But Buddy, through his charm and suave appearance, gets himself invited to the parties and fetes of gay Park Avenue society. He falls for a wealthy heiress, played by June Collyer. Meanwhile Nancy becomes disconsolate, and in the same meanwhile June learns the true story of Buddy's background. She tells Buddy she can never marry him.

He goes to a theatre where Nancy is playing the old act with a new partner. The thrilling climax of the act comes. Four rifles blaze at Nancy. Their lead bullets for which she was supposed to have substituted harmless graphite ones by a sleight-of-hand trick, zing through the air toward their human target. Nancy is struck. She collapses. Well, for the rest of it see it yourself. It is real entertainment with every value that the talking screen can give.

There is fast and interesting dialog, there are a number of secondary character-impersonations by a capable supporting cast, there are three memorable songs introduced in a logical manner—and there are Nancy and Buddy, personable and glamorous sweethearts of the screen.

Lothar Mendes did an excellent job of the direction, and E. Lloyd Sheldon is equally deserving of praise for his work as adaptor of the story for the screen.

"HUNGARIAN RHAPSODY"

"Hungarian Rhapsody" is a thoroughly authentic picture of Hungarian life, and may be seen at the Penniman Allen Theatre, Friday and Saturday, October 25 and 26. In the unfolding of the tale there are depicted the farm workers, the national Hungarian harvest-time customs of the people, the part that music plays in the national life.

The romantic story which stands out in bold relief against this authentic background is beautifully portrayed by three of the best-known favorites of the European screen—Lil Dagover, Dita Parlo and Willy Fritsch.

Erich Pommer, well-known European producer, made the picture for UFA. The plot does not lag for a moment, and the interest of the audience is held in suspense until the big dramatic climax.

The film is released in America by Paramount. The musical staff of the Paramount organization worked out the musical score which provides the excellent synchronization for the film. Authentic Hungarian music—romantic airs, national folk-songs and folk-dances and military marches were incorporated into the score.

There is a strong supporting cast for the three principals, and hundreds of extras were used in the festival-dance scenes, in the harvest-field "shots" and in the cavalry maneuvers.

SIRE TRAIN BROUGHT WEALTH TO MICHIGAN

PUREBRED BULLS WILL INCREASE PRODUCTION OF DAIRY HERDS IN STATE.

Spanish ships which used to sail east with cargoes of American gold were just curriers of small change when compared to the wealth that dairy specialists at Michigan State College believe was carried into northeastern Michigan by the Better Sires Train.

They say that the computation is just a case of simple arithmetic. Eighty-two purebred bulls were sold from the train and will be used to replace that number of scrub sires.

The bulls will have an average of 15 daughters which will increase their dam's records of production by 100 pounds of butterfat a year. This increase over a four year period of production will total 1,968,000 pounds of butterfat with a value of 40 cents a pound or a total worth of $787,200.

Visitors to the train totaled 1,847 on the 22 stops. The largest audience was at Cheboygan where 626 people listened to the dairy talks and examined the exhibits.

The largest number of bulls was sold in Alpena county where 13 animals were bought by farmers at two stops. Cheboygan county dairymen bought 10 bulls at the two towns where stops were made.

Flags on Merchant Vessels

By an ancient rule of the sea merchant ships fly two flags. On the foremast is the flag of the port to which the ship is bound, and on the stern mast the flag of the ship's country is flown.

Christian Science Notes

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches on Sunday, October 13.

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "The night is far spent, the day is at hand; Let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armour of light." (Romans 13:12).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Mortal existence is a dream of pain and pleasure in matter, a dream of sin, sickness, and death; and it is like the dream we have in sleep, in which every one recognizes his condition to be wholly a state of mind." (p. 188).

EPISCOPAL NOTES

"Where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them." Matt. xviii: 20.

Why go to church? Why belong to the church? Why have a church at all? These are some of the questions which will be discussed on Sunday morning. They should be of interest to both church members and non-members alike. Why do you, or why do you not, go to church?

Last week's attendance was very good. Every Sunday is "Go to Church Sunday" in the sight of God. The men of the church met last week and re-organized the Men's club of St. John's with a fine attendance and enthusiasm. All men and young men of the parish are welcome.

The Men's club Halloween party for all adult members of the church and their friends, to be given Wednesday, October 30th, will be the "real thing." Don't miss it! Children's party, October 31st.

The Guild will give a "Five Hundred" party Wednesday night, October 23rd. Everyone is welcome. You will meet your friends there. "Adventuring With Christ" is the church's challenge to her children. There is a share in it for everyone. Find out more about it. Further announcement on this subject will be made on Sunday morning.

CATHOLIC NOTES

Sunday is Communion Sunday for the ladies of the parish.

Parents kindly send your children each Saturday morning at 9:30 to the religious instructions. These classes are in charge of the Dominican Sisters. Your co-operation is needed for the success of this undertaking. Make the sacrifice and a great reward will be yours.

October has been set aside as the coal collection month. Have you done your duty?

Our church was the scene of a very christlike wedding last Tuesday, when the Smith sisters, Marion and Jeannette, spoke their marriage vows in the presence of the pastor, to Edward Klenski and William Lorenz, respectively.

Joseph Wahn died last week and was buried from the church last Saturday. Interment at Holy Sepulcher cemetery.

George Elliott, the husband of Ethel VanBonn Elliott, was buried last Monday morning from the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. VonBonn, at Holy Sepulcher cemetery.

Northville parish is to have a mission the last week of this month, been October 27th to November 3rd.

The Rev. J. Hunt of the Cathedral has been elevated to the rank of a Domestic Prelate—a nonsignor.

METHODIST NOTES

"And Jesus said unto them, . . . If ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed, ye shall say unto this mountain, Remove hence to yonder place; and it shall remove; and nothing shall be impossible to you." Matthew 17:20.

The visitation of all the families of the church is in progress, starting last Sunday. Why wouldn't it be a splendid idea to make next Sunday "Go to Church Day" and every one of our large church family be on hand for the morning service at 10 o'clock. It would benefit the pastor as well as ourselves.

Next Wednesday is Junior Missionary day and all the boys and girls are urged to come directly after school. Some of them met at Mrs. Card's last Saturday to organize their little work club. Come and hear about it.

Wednesday evening, 7:15 to 8 o'clock the mid-week prayer and praise service. Come and enjoy this spiritual refreshing. The service needs you, and you need it.

This afternoon (Friday) from 3 to 5 o'clock the Missionary ladies are hostess to the Mother Jewell children and they mothers at the church. The children will put on a program under the direction of Mrs. Leo Card. Refreshments will be served.

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES.

Robert S. Womer of Detroit Law School will be the speaker at the morning service next Sunday. His subject will be, "The American Christian Sunday." People sometimes ask as to whether there is such a thing. Come and hear this discussion.

The Ready Service class held a fine meeting on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Paul Wiedman. There was a large attendance and interesting reports. The program was good and varied. All left declaring Mrs. Wiedman and excellent hostess and the class a fine company.

Mrs. B. Heidemman is teaching the Ready Service class and her work is being much appreciated.

The Women's Auxiliary goes right on doing things. They have this week had installed a fine new large stove and a generous steam table in the church kitchen. Already several women have been heard to say they would like to help in the kitchen at the next church dinner. A committee with Mrs. Melburn Partridge as convener, coached by the experienced stove man, Bob Mimmack, have had charge of these improvements.

D. A. R.

The Sarah Ann Cochran chapter of the D. A. R. will meet at the home of Mrs. Earl Mastick, Monday afternoon, October 21st, at 2:30 o'clock. Reports from the State conference will be given.

Those desiring to bring articles for the box which the chapter is sending to Ellis Island should do so at this meeting. Inasmuch as almost four men to every one woman land at Ellis Island skirting, denim yarn sweaters which could be unraveled, and knitting needles especially desired. It is said the men spend a great deal of their time knitting while waiting at the island.

Organize Men's Club

Seventeen men of St. John's Episcopal church met last Wednesday night to organize the Men's club. The evening began with an informal "get-acquainted hour" devoted to games and singing. Following this, suggestions for a men's club were presented and discussed by all present, and a motion was made to re-organize the club.

The following officers were elected: President—Sam Virgo. Vice-President—Ernest Henry. Secretary—William Davidson. Treasurer—Alfred Innis.

After this organization was effected, plans were immediately made for a Halloween party to be given by the club, open to all adult members of the parish, and their friends, a nominal charge being made to cover expenses. This will be held on Wednesday evening, October 30th, beginning at 8 o'clock. The forepart of the evening will be given over to games and the remainder to dancing. The committee in charge of this entertainment are: Sidney Strong, Ben Stewart, Edwin Woolley, Ernest Henry, Oscar Seitz.

The club will also sponsor a party for the children of the church, to be given the following evening.

St. John's Men's club extends a cordial invitation to all men interested in the church and in social fellowship to join their number. The club meeting nights are the first and third Wednesdays of the month.

Hypnotized and Married
Lancaster, Ohio.—The tale of an alleged modern Ench Arden was revealed in a divorce petition filed here by Mrs. Zetta E. Worff against Christopher Worff. Mrs. Worff alleged that Worff came to her rooming house, representing himself as an unmarried man and after exercising what she believed a hypnotic power over her induced her to marry him.

Universe Not So Big as We Had Supposed
Ottawa, Ont.—Dr. Ludwick Silberstein, of New York, announced here that he had measured the universe. By mathematical and physical experiments at the Cinema Laboratories corporation in his home city he had discovered, he said, that no two objects can be further apart than 9,000,000 light years.

A light year is about 6,000,000,000,000 miles—the distance that a beam of light would travel in a year. Thus 9,000,000 light years would be 54,000,000,000,000 miles, within which, Doctor Silberstein said, "there is ample room for some millions of galaxies comparable in size with our own Milky Way."

Doctor Silberstein made his statement before the American Astronomical society meeting at the Dominion observatory. He branded as "utterly inadmissible" the Mount Wilson observation estimate of 140,000,000 light years as the distance between the earth and a group of faint nebulae in the constellation of Virgo.

What Silberstein said he did to measure the universe, only recently regarded as finite, was to determine the radius of curvature of space-time.
