TWO BIG DOLLAR DAYS TODAY AND TO-MORROW

CELEBRATED 69TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

By Karl H. Starkweather

Today all Plymouth pays homage to its oldest married couple. Just nineteen years ago Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Stevens, of 240 Harvey St., were celebrating their golden wedding anniversary. That was on August 15, 1911. Today they are celebrating their sixty-ninth, still well and happy and going strong. Indeed, theirs is an example profitable to behold. Sixty-nine years of wedded experience have left them contented and serene. From a usual observance of this grand old pair it is easy to estimate only six years more and then visualize Plymouth's first diamond wedding anniversary.

During recent times radio fans have listened with rapt attention to South Parker's old time singing school. Back in the days when Arthur met Miss Agnes these schools were in the full bloom of their existence. Plymouth had her share of them. One was located in the Shutt's Corners district school, three miles west of Plymouth and a quarter mile off the Ann Arbor road. Here, on Saturday evenings in winter, and under the leadership of an instructor provided for the purpose, the whole countryside gathered in happy communion of song. It was here that Arthur D. Stevens learned to know and to love Miss Agnes A. Sawyer. This was all some time before the first shot was fired on Fort Snupper.

Then came the Civil War. Young Stevens was eager to join the colors but loath to leave his sweetheart without the Stevens heritage nor to the expense of the time. Consequently, on August 15, 1861, the Rev. J. W. McGregor, of the Plymouth Presbyterian church, married them. Thirteen days later, on August 28, 1861, Mr. Stevens was mustered in the Fifth Michigan Volunteer Infantry. He served faithfully throughout the war and returned to his anxiously waiting bride in the fall of 1864. Mrs. Stevens (Continued on page Four; Column One)

Entertain For Former Resident

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Fogarty pleasantly entertained last Saturday evening, about forty friends and relatives from Detroit, Royal Oak, Ann Arbor, Richmond, Wayne, Grand Rapids and Plymouth, at a personal shower for Miss Dorothy Stiem, of Detroit, formerly of this place, who leaves shortly for Shanghai, China, where she will meet her fiancé, Charles Hoffman, and upon her arrival will be immediately married, and reside in Shanghai. Miss Stiem is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Stiem and niece of Mrs. Fogarty. She is well known to many in this vicinity, for her childhood days were spent on a farm southeast of the village. The guests showered her with beautiful gifts and wished her much happiness and bon voyage.

Betty June Gyde

Betty June Gyde was born in Plymouth, February 10, 1924, and passed away at Dr. Gates' private hospital, Ann Arbor, on August 4, 1930, following a few days' illness of appendicitis. She was the oldest child of Mildred and Mervin Gyde. She was a much loved and favorite child for her sunny disposition was always in evidence. Besides her beloved parents, she leaves to mourn their loss, a brother, Donald F.; her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. William Gyde; several aunts, uncles and cousins, and hosts of loving friends.

Funeral services were conducted from the home at Gregory, Wednesday afternoon, August 6, Rev. L. S. Shyba officiating. Interment was in Thayer cemetery, Salem.

Little Betty, you have left us When your work had scarce begun; Bane we know that love's bereft us, Of the jewels Heaven has won.

We shall ask in vain for gladness, And your smiles to cheer our way, Naught can banish hours of sadness, While we grieve for you each day.

Little Betty, you now wander Where the flowers are sweet in bloom.

While we stay on earth to ponder, O'er our loss with hearts in gloom, We would wish thee back to cheer us, With your loving ways again, We would have our darling near us, But to ask would be in vain.

Little Betty, we shall often Think of joys that come no more, And our thoughts of thee will soften, Hearts grown hard with anguish sore.

We shall think of thee as dwelling, Where our loved and lost are blest, Where the songs of joys are swelling, In the home of endless rest.

Will Unveil Tablets

To commemorate the service of two Revolutionary soldiers who, following the war settled with the pioneer families in this part of Michigan, the D. A. R. will mark the graves of Solomon Kingsley, Jr., and David Dean. The chapter cordially invites any descendants of these men or others interested to attend the unveiling of the tablets on Wednesday, August 27, at 4:00 o'clock, at Newburg cemetery on Ann Arbor trail.

Mrs. Henry Edg of Windsor, Ont., was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Patton of Whitbeck road, last week.

ALL'S READY FOR BIGGEST FAIR OF ALL

MANY NEW FEATURES PLANNED FOR FAIR AT NORTHVILLE NEXT WEEK.

Tuesday morning, August 10th, the gates of the Northville Wayne County Fair grounds will swing open for what the fair association hopes to be the best and most interesting fair ever staged in Northville. From Tuesday morning until 12:00 o'clock Saturday night of next week, the beautiful and well kept grounds of the fair will be the scene of thousands of people anxious to see the exhibits of farm and industry, the horse races, the horse show and the historical pageant that will be staged by some 300 people each night. In addition to all these interesting features there will be a change of vaudeville program during the week, giving two interesting shows to the visitors.

The Northville fair offers to its visitors considerably more than the average county fair—the horse show, which continues for three days, has become one of the most interesting parts of the great display.

The horse show opens with dozens and dozens of juvenile riders competing for many prizes offered. Boys and girls from Northville, Plymouth, South Lyon, Salem, Farmington, Novi, Westland, Lake, Wilcox, New Hudson, West Haven Park and numerous other places enter their favorite ponies into the contest.

No western rodeo ever produced more fun and more spectacular horsemanship than these youthful boys and girls. The balloons race, the chair race—and all the other events are big features in themselves.

The poultry show of the Northville fair has always been one of the outstanding events of the kind in the country. It far outranks the poultry show of the Michigan State fair, and some of the judges who have come here to pass upon the quality of birds displayed, have said that it equaled for quality many of the national shows.

Northville's fair also has the advantage of being able to get stock displays of more than ordinary merit. All of the Wayne county institutions and the big stock farms in this locality, enter prize winning Holsteins, Jerseys, Brown Swiss and Ayrshires besides imported draft horses, some of them world prize winners.

A special effort has been put forth this year to make the 1930 fair the biggest and best of all providing more amusement and entertainment as well as exhibits to see than in any previous year. A special welcome awaits every visitor, who are urged to come every day and stay late.

John Koch A Candidate For Co. Treasurer

Announcement that John Koch, one of the best known men in Detroit banking circles for many years, will be a candidate for County Treasurer on the Republican ticket of Wayne County this year, has aroused much interest in a good many Detroiters.

Farm Electricity Gains Are Rapid

The development in Farm Electrification in Michigan has been very rapid during the past two years. In 1929 over 8,000 farms were connected to high line service and hundreds of miles of farm lines will be constructed in 1930.

A few years ago farmers regarded electricity as too expensive for farm use but under actual operation electricity has been found to be one of the cheapest sources of power than can be used on the farm and the farmer who now has electricity is most enthusiastic about its use.

In Wayne County farm lines are extending in every direction. Farmers are taking advantage of the new and liberal farm line construction policy and the cheap energy rate and are cooperating in getting electric service to their community.

To use electricity to the greatest advantage it is essential that some of the fundamental principles of electric service be understood, such as, good wiring, the right kind of equipment, the proper size of motors, the correct installation of equipment, and the costs of operation.

The County Agricultural Agent, the Home Demonstration Agent, and the Michigan State College Extension Division are anxious to assist the farmers of Michigan with their electrical problems. The College has equipped two trucks for electrical demonstration purposes. One truck shows proper farm wiring, water systems, motors, feed grinders, milking machines, and poultry house equipment, the other truck designed as a model electric farm kitchen and is equipped with electric range, refrigerator, washing machine, ironer, and household appliances. The equipment on both trucks is wired for operation and demonstrations will be conducted in the afternoon and evening on the farms of W. E. Gault of Bellevue on Monday, August 25, and Charles Posa of Romulus on Tuesday, August 26.

MANY SERIOUS GRASS FIRES

The past week has proven a very busy one for the Village Fire Department on account of the large number of grass fires which they have been called upon to fight, due largely to the prolonged spell of hot dry weather.

Thursday evening, August 7th, the department was called to the orchard property at Phoenix and Moreland roads, where a grass fire had made such progress as to seriously endanger the orchard. A considerable area had been burned over before the fire was brought under control by fire department men from Northville, House of Correction farm, Wayne County Training School and Plymouth.

The next afternoon, August 8th, a call was received from the Huston farm on Penniman avenue, where a grass fire had practically surrounded a number of the vacant farm buildings. After a hard fight lasting several hours, the buildings were saved, though a number of small pens and outbuildings were destroyed before the fire was brought under control.

Monday evening last a call was received from the Northville department which was fighting a grass fire upon Northville road near the Waterford plant of The Ford Motor Co. This fire was practically under control (Continued on page Eight; Column Four)

Fund Given As Nucleus For Great Clinic Building

Plans for the erection of another great national hospital in Denver, with complete facilities for handling special cases from all over the country, were announced at the opening of the International Chiropractic congress, in its fifth annual convention at the Brown Palace hotel, Denver.

The proposed chiropractic hospital will be made possible as a result of a sizable trust fund provided in the will of a Denver couple, whose identity was not revealed. This fund, with several other charitable contributions, is said to approximate $100,000, and other donations will be sought from wealthy persons who have benefited from chiropractic service.

Although the bequest of the Denver couple was originally intended for the erection of the hospital, because of Denver's climate and accessibility of assembled delegates are considering ways and means of increasing the fund sufficiently to build an institution suitable for national use. Tubercular and heart ailment cases would be the principal ones sent here for treatment it was said.

Murray Family Gathered At White Lodge Golf Club

The Murray family reunion was held on Sunday, August 3, at White Lodge country club with 73 persons representing 20 families being present. The program consisted of golfing, boating and swimming following the co-operative dinner.

Patricia Ann Bartow, 4 months old, Mason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bartow, was the youngest present, and the oldest person enjoying the festivities was Mrs. Charles Murray, 75, Lansing.

The new officers elected were as follows: President, Mrs. Emily Bartow, Mason; vice-president, Mrs. Arthur Blunk, Plymouth; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Edna Murray, Plymouth. The retiring officers are: President, Clifford Fishbeck, Detroit; vice-president, Jay Warren, Ann Arbor, and secretary-treasurer, Howard Fishbeck, Plymouth.

The guest of honor for the day was Jacques Murray of Detroit, it being his fifth birthday.

The next reunion will be held in August, 1931, at the farm home of Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Bartow, near Williamson.

PATCHIN REUNION TOMORROW

Remember the Patchin School Reunion tomorrow. Teachers, pupils, former residents of the district and all interested friends are welcome. Bring food and dishes for a pot-luck dinner at noon. There will be a refreshment stand. The program is scheduled for 2:00 o'clock.

BIG STAMPEDE AT MICHIGAN STATE FAIR

Riding wild buffalo, a stunt never before seen in Michigan, will be a feature to be presented at the Stampede, in connection with the Michigan State Fair, August 31 to September 6, according to Col. Frank Hulley, arena director, who is residing in Detroit completing arrangements for the event.

Of all the sports or stunts of the wild and woolly west, riding buffalo is probably the most dangerous and the most rarely presented, owing to the difficulty in obtaining those animals, for there are less than 5,000 of them in the entire American continent.

The animals to be used in the sports at the State Fair Stampede are coming from the big ranch of Maj. Gordon W. Little, better known as "Pawnee Bill" at Pawnee, Okla., where they roam wild as in their native state. Major Little is one of the leading promoters of the fight to prevent the extermination of these beasts that once ranged the American plains by the thousands, and his herd of more than 100 animals is rated as one of the best in the country. The rest of the animals are to be found largely in Government reservations, while only a few can be seen in the zoological gardens of the larger cities of the country.

Riding wild buffalo is a stunt which tests the nerve of any cowboy or cowgirl. Only an expert can stay on the back of one for the 10 seconds required to qualify. In riding wild Buffalo, the beast is herded into a chute, the cowboy climbs on his back from the top of the corral fence. The barrier is lifted and the animal plunges out onto the track. He makes a lunge forward, then digs his front feet in, snorts and shakes his massive body with the cowboy clinging to his shaggy mane. Usually the cowboy is thrown a couple of seconds, leaving the buffalo to be rounded up by other cowboys on horseback.

The Stampede will be presented each afternoon and evening, except Sunday, of Fair week, the Fair starting Sunday, August 31, with sacred concert by Creator's Concert Band and continuing through Saturday, September 6th.

Carl J. C. Ash

On August 11th, a great number of friends and relatives gathered about the bier of Carl Johann Christoph Ash to bid adieu to the memory of another of the old pioneers who has finally ceased his struggle in life and gone home to rest.

The deceased was born in the small village of Wildberg, Province of Prussia, Germany, on the 20th day of June in the year 1848. In the year 1870 he emigrated to America and immediately came to live in Wayne County, settling down in Livonia Center. Having in the year 1875 taken to wife Friedericka Dorothea Wagenschutz, he soon settled down on what was later known as the old homestead, where he spent 44 eventful years of farming. Here were born to him eight children—four boys and four girls, one of the girls dying in infancy. In the year 1910 the couple moved to Plymouth, Michigan, with their daughter, Mrs. Ida Feghelt, where the mother passed away in the year 1928. About a year later, the deceased began to show signs of failing, and finally, three weeks before his end, he was compelled to seek his bed permanently. After an illness which ended his great discomfiture, but left him fortunately almost with no pain, he closed his eyes in death in complete peace with himself and his Savior, at the grand old age of 81 years, one month and 10 days—to open them again in happy surprise and reunion with his beloved ones before his Father's heavenly throne.

Surviving their father, mourning his departure, yet rejoicing with him in his final triumph over death and decay through the Savior, who is the resurrection and the life, and whom the departed brother devoutly served and relied upon until his very end, are his four sons: Fred, who now is lying in an extremely critical condition at St. Joseph's hospital at Ann Arbor; Charles of Plymouth, and Will and Ernest, both of Livonia; his three daughters: Mrs. Anna Zarn of Plymouth, Mrs. Bertha Menzel of Salem, and Mrs. Ida Feghelt of Plymouth, with whom he lived for the past eleven years; as also 22 grandchildren.

We stand in reverence and respect of the memory of our departed father and friend, saying with the aged Simeon: "Lord now lettest thou thy servant depart in peace according to thy word, for mine eyes have seen thy salvation which thou hast prepared before the face of all people."

China Builds the World's Biggest Mint

Recent reports of the beautiful Chinese government central mint building which has just been erected at Shanghai at a cost of about $2,000,000. The plant, believed to be the world's largest and finest, was designed by Clifford Hewitt, United States government mint expert, who also designed the Philippine government mint at Manila.

Max Hillmer Becomes Chief of Big Corporation

Max L. Hillmer, factory manager of the Guide Lamp Corporation since it was created January 1, 1929, leaves here tomorrow for Saginaw, Mich., and will assume his duties Monday as president and general manager of the Saginaw Steering Gear division of General Motors. The new position as executive of a General Motors division is a splendid promotion for Mr. Hillmer.

The Guide official was superintendent of Delco-Remy Plant 2 before he was made factory manager of the Guide division. He was identified with the Remy industry for fifteen years. For four years he was with the engineering division of the former Remy Company engineering laboratory at Detroit, after which he was transferred to Anderson. The Saginaw Steering Gear division, of which Mr. Hillmer will become chief executive, normally employs about 1,200 persons, and is under the general supervision of C. E. Wilson, formerly of Anderson, now assistant to J. T. Pratt, head of accessories division of General Motors.

Mr. Hillmer will not move his family to Saginaw until later. Frank L. Burke, superintendent of the Guide plant here, who is promoted to the position of factory manager of the Guide Lamp Corporation, succeeding Mr. Hillmer, was superintendent of Delco-Remy Plant 3 before he assumed duties with the Guide Corporation. He was with the central offices of the General Motors Corporation at Detroit before he came here. The new position is a big advancement for Mr. Hillmer. (Ind.) August 7, 1930.

The Mr. Hillmer referred to in the above news story, taken from an American newspaper, is a native Plymouth boy. His formal schooling was all obtained in Plymouth. He entered the local Delco plant as one of the "hands" in 1907. He eventually left Plymouth and found employment as a "trucker" in a Lansing factory. At that time, Mr. Hillmer says, his name was "Hey Boy!" Now, at 39, Max is made president and general manager of a million and half dollar corporation. He called at the old home for a few days recently. Mrs. Mary K. Hillmer, Carl H. Starkweather and Mrs. Rose Holstein of this village, are respectively his mother, brother and sister. The Mail is glad to report the continued success of former Plymouth boys who have entered larger fields.

Kiwanis Club Hears Detroit Boy Speak

Royal Peak, the young man from Detroit who was one of the contestants in the recent Edison Contest at East Orange, N. J., spoke at the Kiwanis luncheon at the Mayflower, last Tuesday. He told of his experiences in the contest, in a very interesting manner. He brought a list of the questions asked, and after hearing some of them the men present seemed to agree that it would require a great deal of knowledge to answer them correctly. It would be very hard to determine on some of the questions whether an answer was correct or not, depending on the personal opinion of the examiner.

Forty-nine boys took part in the contest, and only one could win, but from his description we feel sure that all the boys derived a great deal of benefit from the test and trip. He mentioned as some of the benefits received: The opportunity to meet the great men, Edison, Ford, Firestone, and others; the trip through all of Edison's factories; and the educational value of the entertainment given. He stated that every event moved on schedule from the time they arrived until they departed.

E. O. Huston is in charge of the program, and he stated in his introduction that Royal was one of his daughter's students.

The annual Wayne County Pomona Orange picnic which was to have been held August 16th, has been postponed until Thursday, August 21. It will be held at Woodland Beach on Lake Erie. Take dishes, sandwiches for your own family, and one other dish.

PASSING OF AN OLD CITIZEN

It is with much regret that we chronicle the passing away last Sunday of Frank B. Park, an old honored and respected citizen of Plymouth for over fifty years. Mr. Park had been in ill health for some time, and while his demise was not unexpected, it was nevertheless received with much sorrow.

Mr. Park was born November 20, 1852, at Smithtown, N. Y. He came to Plymouth with his father and engaged in the livery business. Later he bought and operated the Park Hotel in Northville, which he sold out and for a time was engaged in the livery business in Tecumseh, Mich. Returning to Plymouth, he was for a time engaged in the hardware business, but for the past thirty years or more he was traveling salesman for various air rifle and firearms companies.

On April 10, 1884, he was married to Jennie L. Root, who survives. He was a member of Plymouth Rock Lodge, No. 47, F. & A. M., Northville Chapter and Commandery, and Moscow Temple Mystic Shrine, also Case Tent, Knights of the Maccabees. The funeral was conducted Tuesday afternoon from Schrader's Funeral Home, Rev. Walter Nichol officiating. Many old friends and relatives were present. Interment in Riverdale cemetery.

Grade Separation Work Negotiated

With the signing of an agreement for a grade separation at Miller Road and Airport Drive crossings, every planned grade separation in this year's budget has been successfully negotiated, stated Edward N. Hines, County Road Commissioner.

County Clerk Farrell

While there is little doubt that Thomas F. Farrell will be re-elected as Wayne County Clerk, his splendid record for efficiency and the model conduct of this important branch of the county's government merits a testimonial in the form of the largest vote polled by any of the candidates.

PROCTOR REUNION

The Proctor family reunion was held Saturday, August 9, at Cass Benton Park, 130 persons representing forty families being in attendance, the youngest, Dan McLean, aged four months, of Romulus, and the oldest, Mrs. Emma Cartwright, aged 86 years, of Detroit.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. W. W. Murray. The program consisted of the pledge of allegiance, the singing of "America," followed by visiting and getting acquainted. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Perry Lowry, Ann Arbor; secretary, Miss Lucy Proctor, Dearborn; treasurer, Samuel Stephenson, Detroit. A delicious cooperative dinner was served at noon.

Guests were present from Detroit, Flint, Wayne, Dearborn, Trenton, Salem, Shattisburg, Flat Rock, Romulus, Howell, Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Cherry Hill and Plymouth.

ELENBUSH REUNION

The Ellenbush family reunion was held Sunday, August 10th, at Handy Lake at Three Lakes Sub., at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holmes. The occasion was also in honor of the birthday of Charles Holmes and Bert Gill. A potluck dinner was served at twelve-thirty.

The host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Holmes had as their guests: Mr. and Mrs. George Gorton and daughter, Marion; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bolton; Mr. and Mrs. George White, daughter Sarah Jane and son Walter; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Larkins; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Gill; Edith Blake, Andrew Ellenbush; Clarence Doan; Earl Ryder and La Verne Dismore of Dearborn.

Notice Regarding Sprinkling

Water consumers are hereby requested, until further notice, to refrain from the use of water for lawn sprinkling purposes during the night hours from 8:30 p. m. to 6:00 a. m. This restriction becomes absolutely necessary because of the increasing demands being made for water due to the present prolonged spell of hot, dry weather, and as a means of maintaining a supply of water for fire protection purposes. Water has recently been used faster than our pumps can supply it to our distribution system, with the result that our reservoir is now almost empty. Consumers will also please continue to shut off services when the fire siren sounds, until further notice. For the immediate future a short blast of the siren will be sounded when a fire has been put out so that consumers will know that the water may again be used.

Your courtesy and co-operation relative to the above will greatly relieve the present water situation and will be appreciated.

A. J. KOENIG, Village Manager.

FIRE LOSS HEAVIER

Not only have crops of all kinds suffered in every section of the nation this summer from the worst drought in years, but the property loss caused by fires that started through spontaneous combustion promises to far exceed the annual total of $20,000,000. Barn fires have been common in all parts of the country, and in a majority of instances the blaze started in the hay mow. Thousands of dollars worth of hay also has been burned in stacks in the fields, so terrific has been the heat. So far no one has discovered a positive preventive for spontaneous combustion. Even the federal experts in the Department of Agriculture have been unable to find a method of eradicating fires of this origin. They can be prevented in the home by seeing to it that rags and waste material are not allowed to accumulate. And since there is more hot weather ahead everyone should see that this hazard is not tolerated.

GOOD-BYE, POORHOUSE

From present indications it isn't going to be very many years until that dread of old age—the poorhouse—will be a thing of the past. We'll always have poverty, and there's no way to abolish old age. But it appears that a way has been found to take the sting out of both and to make the declining years of those dependent on the public far more happy and cheerful than is possible when the poorhouse is their only hope of shelter.

New York has just passed an old age pension law. Other states have been experimenting along the same lines with success. In New York something like $15,000,000 a year will be paid out in pensions to aged, each sufficient to keep the recipient in food and shelter. Gradually the poorhouse will go, the present cost of maintaining them going into the old-age pension fund.

It won't take long to tell if it's going to work out, and once it proves its worth other states will quickly fall into line. Dread of the poorhouse will have passed. And where is there around Plymouth or in any other locality an aged person that has not at some time or other felt that dread. It may cost the taxpayers a few dollars more, but they will know it is being sensibly spent, and there will never be a protest from them. Even if it meant that we would have to do without something we now enjoy, it would be a good investment.

COUNTRY HOUSEWIVES

Uncle Sam's Bureau of Home Economics has found that the lady of the house on the farm works on an average of 62 hours a week. That is practically 9 hours a day. Assuming that she gets eight hours for sleep that leaves her seven hours unaccounted for. Presumably she is resting then. But even at meal time she also serves the others—so there are hardly any rest periods. She occasionally sits out on the porch in an afternoon and talks with a visiting neighbor, but all the while she is knitting a sock or something. How many Plymouth citizens ever saw a regular country housewife sitting about her home doing nothing at all? This is one class of workers who are never worried about what to do with their leisure. They do not have time to join the Communists and Bolsheviks and carry banners in a parade. And they are saving the sound social fabric of the country that so many others are working to destroy.

WHO STARTED IT?

Some of these days a new order of things is coming to pass in this country, and every legislature in the land will be busy rewriting laws into language the general public can understand. Just who first conceived the idea of writing laws in such a way that nobody but a lawyer could interpret them no one seems to know. But he certainly did a lot to tangle up humanity when he did it. We'll venture to say there are dozens of men right around Plymouth who would never have been in court or mixed up in lawsuits if the laws had been written in the first place so they could thoroughly understand them. What's the use in having to pay out a lot of money anyhow to some fellow to tell you what you could read and understand yourself if it was written in modern English such as that employed in the making of books, newspapers and ordinary letters? We still cling to a lot of old moss-grown ideas in this country, and one of them is that a law has to be written in a peculiar language and twisted English. Maybe some day a movement to rewrite them into plain and understandable words will be started, and that movement will have the endorsement of the general public in every state in the union.

LICENSING DRIVERS

If a movement just started by the American Auto Association becomes as widespread as its promoters hope for, it may not be long before Plymouth auto drivers will find themselves forced to obtain a "driver's license" before they can operate their cars. But they will not be alone as it is proposed to make the movement nation-wide in its scope.

At present several states require drivers to secure licenses before operating a car. But the new plan seeks to have every driver in every state licensed. It does not call for an examination at the start. Any car owner would be able to secure a license merely by asking for it and paying the few cents necessary to defray clerk hire. But instead of fines for repeated violations of traffic laws, or an actual display of carelessness, the driver's license would be revoked by the judge hearing the complaint.

The average driver doesn't care much for a fine, but he would hate to lose his right to drive a car. And it would be the fear of forfeiting his license, it is argued, that would cause him to be a more careful driver. Promoters of the plan feel it will do more to drive the careless and irresponsible drivers from the road than any other method that could be adopted. Petitions are now being circulated in several states and reports indicate that the plan is being widely endorsed by motorists who see in it a protection to life and property they cannot get through present traffic laws.

CHAMBER of COMMERCE NOTES

HOW MANY DOLLARS LEAVE PLYMOUTH FOR UNWORTHY CAUSES AND BECAUSE OF UNWISE BUYING?

Progressive chambers of commerce are taking active steps to curb soliciting among their members for questionable enterprises, and in the communities they serve for questionable merchandise. The Detroit Board of Commerce recently called attention to this harmful activity in an article entitled, "Locust Plague Sweeping Detroit." Another chamber of commerce has started a drastic program against what they term, "Charity Bandits." Still another chamber of commerce has had cards printed for general distribution entitled, "Peddlers, Solicitors and Agents—Please Do Not Disturb." We wonder if all of the members of our local chamber and the public at large realize that the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce is in hearty sympathy with this movement in order to cut down on the number of dollars taken out of Plymouth annually by solicitors for unworthy charity and by house to house peddlers in many cases selling merchandise of unknown and questionable merit.

We can do no more than caution the housewife to be careful in making purchases from house to house peddlers and agents because in most cases no recourse for an adjustment can be had in case of an unsatisfactory purchase. In most cases it pays to deal with a recognized merchant or business house because they are always willing and able to smooth out any misunderstanding or unsatisfactory feature.

In the case of the active business and professional men and women of Plymouth, your chamber of commerce can be of very direct service. The "Notice to Solicitors" stamped on the chamber of commerce membership sign is intended to be taken seriously. We urge that every request for a subscription or donation be referred to your chamber of commerce office if there is the slightest doubt as to its merit whether made in person, by telephone, or by mail. Thousands of dollars are being lured away from American business men daily with the use of the well known "sucker lists" by more or less "gentle rackets." The average person in business has not the time or the means to investigate any or all of these outfits. He gives, as a rule, because it is easier to say "yes" than to say "no" under certain circumstances. In a sense, he bles his chamber of commerce to make impartial investigations for him—and then forgets to take advantage of his membership.

Home's Value Added To by Proper Landscaping

When conditions make it possible for the family to buy or build a larger and better home, the probable resale value of the property is an important consideration either in obtaining financing for the new structure or in disposing of the old one, and the landscaping of the surrounding plot will in turn considerably affect the value of the property.

Trees, shrubbery and plantings in general give to the house background of traditional hominess that is difficult to obtain in any other way and have a never-ending influence upon those who live within the house as well as those who pass by.

Beauty in the development of the garden is a matter of starting right and then going on in the same direction. Beautiful gardens do not just happen. The placement of the background plantings plays an important part. Informed opinion from your florist and study of garden schemes in standard publications are easily accessible guides against mistakes.

Contractors' Responsibility
As a decisive move in a program launched to safeguard the public from the acts of irresponsible contractors, the bureau of contract information has been incorporated under the laws of Delaware.

Data on the manner in which each general contractor in the United States has fulfilled past contract obligations is to be gathered and utilized in an effort to eliminate conditions that have made for irresponsibility in the construction industry. This was announced by the Associated General Contractors of America and comes as the culmination of several years of debate about practices involved in the writing of surety bonds.

The undertaking is a venture in co-operation between surety companies and organized contractors, although it is independently organized as a fact-gathering and investigating agency.

country when a business recession sets in. Many times, we are told, our prosperity continues for a month or more after the remainder of the country is involved in a set-back.

"Upon the return of normal business, it is also declared, Detroit usually follows about the same distance behind. Many reasons are ascribed and various theories have been aired. The fact, however, remains that such is usually the case. Last week's increase in employment will do much toward bringing Detroit's status to a level with the rest of the country, where business is generally regarded as being much better than it was two months ago."

Up-to-Date Community Looks to the Future

The planning of cities and towns is a growing civic activity. It was only a few years ago that the first real city plan was worked out. Now two-thirds of American cities and towns of more than 25,000 population have plan commissions working for the orderly development of these communities. There are 208 in all, according to a report issued by the Department of Commerce. But what is even more interesting, because it has in it an element of surprise, is that of towns of less than 25,000 population, ranging down to as low as 500, there are 483 that have either plan commissions or individual commissions planning for the growth, the facilities and the attractiveness of their respective places.

While the great possibilities of courageous city planning will be realized in the large centers, some of the most interesting achievements doubtless will be in smaller places, where relatively more can be done with comparatively small outlay. There is increasing incentive for town improvement of towns, large and small. There are the merits of the improvements themselves, the aspiration and satisfaction of better standards of living. But there also is the element of competition, in business and in enterprise.—Kansas City Times.

Home's Value Added To by Proper Landscaping

When conditions make it possible for the family to buy or build a larger and better home, the probable resale value of the property is an important consideration either in obtaining financing for the new structure or in disposing of the old one, and the landscaping of the surrounding plot will in turn considerably affect the value of the property.

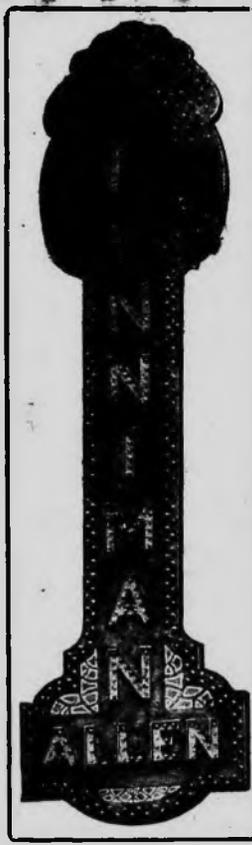

Trees, shrubbery and plantings in general give to the house background of traditional hominess that is difficult to obtain in any other way and have a never-ending influence upon those who live within the house as well as those who pass by.

Beauty in the development of the garden is a matter of starting right and then going on in the same direction. Beautiful gardens do not just happen. The placement of the background plantings plays an important part. Informed opinion from your florist and study of garden schemes in standard publications are easily accessible guides against mistakes.

Contractors' Responsibility
As a decisive move in a program launched to safeguard the public from the acts of irresponsible contractors, the bureau of contract information has been incorporated under the laws of Delaware.

Perry Smith has completed his work on covering up the painter's error on the Ripple house, and it is now ready for the painters again. Now that the weather is spring time again, for a couple days, maybe, Gus can get thru the job okay.

"Skippy" the Proctor children's alreadie is to be seen no more. Poor ole fellow suffered too much with the heat and his great shaggy coat, it is a wonder he did not go mad.

In this same line, we would allay fears of all mothers—"Skippy" was just plain sick, not mad, he was not even cross or angry. Also we are reliably informed all dogs must be licensed paid for—one dollar and three, also must be muzzled when at large and must be confined at home during July and August.

In our particular case here, we are under Township rule. The state laws require that dog tax is levied by the Supervisor, and is due and payable at same time as is Real Estate, general taxes. Also, further, any dog that chases or attacks any living creature is liable to be killed, any person is authorized to do so if the dog is on other than his master's property. In this event his master is notified and dog must be killed. If dog is suspected of being mad he must be isolated immediately, and Health Dept. notified. The laws further go on to state that any person may call upon the sheriff to be the executioner and if he fails to act, he or his deputy, as the case may be, are liable, fine and jail—$300 and 90 days. Further, any person who harbors a stray dog for fifteen days, is presumed to be the owner.

So, now, folks, citizens and all Gardeners, lets keep our dogs at home and muzzled. Give plenty of fresh clean water at all times and we will all keep ourselves and our neighbors kiddies out of trouble and danger.

Proof of Friendship
A telephone call came to the superintendent of a sanitarium near Chicago.

"Say," queried the caller, "have you got a fellow named B— out there?"

"Why, yes."

"Is he paying you any board?"

"No; he's a charity patient."

"Say, that guy hasn't got any more right to be a charity patient than I have. Why, he's got $400 in one bank and $800 in another and he owns a bungalow out in Waukegan. You'd better hide his clothes before you give him a bill, though, or he'll skip out on you. He's that kind of a crook."

"Say," demanded the superintendent, "who are you and how do you come to know so much about B—'s affairs?"

"Oh," replied the unknown caller, "I'm a close friend of his."—Chicago Evening Post.

machine, for to all the roller skates, so for the time being we are safe to say that roller skating is in season.

Perhaps the lawn tennis tournaments will be an assured fact if we continue with cooler weather before the winter sets in.

Mosquitoes are in season these quiet moonlight nights. Between the chirp of the crickets and the hum of skeeters we expect to hear the Lost Chord.

Synchronous with the announcement of Hunk Ford in returning a hundred thousand men to work, the same number of out-state autos are wearing out our beloved U. S. 12 to rush down there for a job. It seems, also, that the same number are at work with a large number of vicinitates complaining of having their badges are being taken away and given to these out-staters who are saving the palms of employment clerks and foremen to the tune of fifty bucks (dollars) for a job. If this is a fact we oughta have Presdt. Hoover, or someone, investigate by commission, the situation to be checked and double checked. If a man has to pay 50 bucks to get a 35 buck a week job something is wrong, and not may be. Of course all this may be bunk, but generally speaking, where there is smoke there usually is some fire.

"It always gets worse before it gets better." Last year from Calvin C. X, and from Herbert H. Presdt., down to Mayor Bowles we heard the words, "In 60 days business will be better and unemployment will end." These "60 day" artists have found a hole somewhere and crawled in, hole and all. In their place we have the solt brothers who claims to know it all, with lectures of just history, etc., and who sez, sez, (plural) how its going tobetattuf olewinter and how wages must be reduced. May be yes, may be no. Why shovel snow 'til the snow comes? Why not make hay while the sun shines? Now if you'd ast us—how will wage reduction make an antidote for the general business depression and a restorative for prosperity. Cutting wages only cuts off purchasing power and that is only simple arithmetic. Outraged wages will not be cut! We might suggest to big employers that they reduce working hours in order to take up the slack of unemployment, thus creating a wider range of earning and spending power and things will soon adjust themselves.

The big red tank still parades about aftn and evens, giving threat to all the shrubbery. So even the orange blossoms on Herwick are beginning to blossom forth again. Thanks to the Land Co. men, we are not going to lose many trees this summer, those which are dying or dead were sure to go the way to the fireplace anyhow, but not on account of lack of moisture.

Our local pharmaceutical shoppe is putting out a sorta questionnaire asking if you all has a baby (guess most Gardenites have) but anyhow he asks some other vital things, like what do you smoke and if you Kodak and what size, if any. So this census of the public needs are taken with the idea it will be a better service emporium for us all if our pill roller knows just kind of Amos 'n Andy tooth paste or favorite magazine to carry in stock.

ens had awaited him in the household of his father. Today, at ninety years of age, Mr. Stevens is the only surviving member of an original company of nearly 1,000 men.

At the war's outbreak Mr. Stevens was a student at the Michigan State Normal College. Following the war he taught school for seven years and then, for thirty or more years, engaged himself in agricultural pursuits. Following retirement from the farm he spent twelve years in the employ of the Daisy Manufacturing Company.

For the past few years Mr. and Mrs. Stevens have been in quiet and contented retirement in their Harvey street home, enjoying the memories of many happy years. Throughout all this time Mrs. Stevens has ever been her husband's comforter, helpmate and guide. Both Mr. and Mrs. Stevens are great readers and both keep fully abreast of the times. When encountered in his home recently, the Mail reporter found Mr. Stevens deeply engrossed in the adventures of Sherlock Holmes.

Despite the fondness for general literature, the Bible has always been a very important factor in the Stevens home. Moreover, Mr. Stevens has regularly attended the same Plymouth Presbyterian church for 81 years. He recalls all the pastors from that time till now. Mr. Stevens has no specific rules for health and longevity. Throughout life, he has made it his business not to worry. Early in life he learned to keep his pulse. Another contributing factor in this general well being lies in the fact that he never over-exerted himself in labor. "I have always been a hard and consistent worker," said Mr. Stevens, "but I have always ceased my efforts this side of great fatigue." He admits a pipeful of tobacco every evening but says all the intoxicants he ever drank could be poured into a one-qt. bottle.

Mr. Stevens believes that a large portion of the annoyances of married life come from mere trifles. He believes that it would be wise for every young married man to enter into an agreement with his wife that in all disputes the party who was most convinced they were right should be the first to step down. By this means both would be more ready to give up the cause. Mr. and Mrs. Stevens have one son, Clarence S. Stevens of Ann Arbor, and two grandchildren. They do not lay claim to ever having done anything spectacular in life but they are known for their high character, for hard common sense, for keen intelligence, for their happy, cheerful temperaments, and for all the worthy, sterling qualities which have been theirs since the time when John Tyler was elected tenth president of the United States.

English Post Laureates
Long Lived but Prosy

Poet laureates of England have been a long-lived race. Doctor Bridges—be was a physician, too—was eighty-five when he passed on. The ages of his three immediate predecessors in the office—Alfred Austin, Tennyson and Wordsworth—averaged eighty. Among the distinguished laureates of an earlier period, Ben Jonson lived to be sixty-three and Dryden to be sixty-nine. But the record among laureates is held by the actor-manager Colley Cibber, who died in 1757 at the age of eighty-seven.

As a poet Colley Cibber was terrible and King Edward had no great opinion of the poetry of Alfred Austin, poet laureate at the time he ascended the throne. He was not alone in that opinion.

"It always thought that Mr. Austin's appointment was not a good one," he wrote to Lord Salisbury, then prime minister, "but as long as he gets no pay it would, I think, be best to renew the appointment in his favor."

A few months later King Edward sent to Salisbury some verses and pointedly called his attention to the "trash which the poet laureate writes"—the letter is quoted in Sir Sidney Lee's "Life of Edward."

Possibilities of Paper
Showers Pointed Out

It was the skyscraper that evolved the idea of showers of bits of paper to welcome distinguished guests in the triumphant procession in the street below. Who threw the first handful? He was a pioneer in that kind of pageantry; and the fluttering particles confer an air so festive that nothing else can equal it.

In earlier eras flowers have been thus cast from windows and balconies, but never in the profigious volume with which the paper cascades descend, nor from the impressive height. We have often thought that this new feature of enthusiastic salutation to heroes and joy-inspiring guests should be developed and elaborated.

If we may not bestow rose-leaves on the heads of the distinguished, tissue paper stimulation of rose-leaves—perhaps somewhat larger for festive effect—in crimson, pink and yellow might be thickly sifted through the air; or still more gorgeous, mingled with stars of silver and gold paper. We don't half realize the possibilities of this showy and entrancing innovation—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Realtors See Benefit in Longer City Blocks

Radical lengthening of present typical city blocks is strongly advised as a measure for cutting down the costs of home ownership in a resolution which was adopted by the board of directors of the National Association of Real Estate Boards at their quarterly meeting held in Chicago.

The resolution puts the realtors of the country on record as favoring residential blocks 1,000 feet or more in length. The general use of the motor car now permits a radical lengthening of blocks in residential areas in keeping with present-day convenience and economy, the resolution points out, and goes on to give the following reasons which make advisable this increased length in laying out blocks in residential districts:

Substantial economies in the use of the land can be obtained. Longer blocks mean reduced street area in relation to total area.

Frequent crossings invite personal accidents, delay traffic and increase the problem of traffic and pedestrian supervision.

Longer blocks not only aid in speeding up traffic movement but also contribute a semi-urban effect of beauty.

Comfort and Safety in Properly Built House

Twenty years ago fire-safe construction was considered an expensive luxury. Today inflammable construction is as out of date as whip sockets—yet the average builder of houses goes blithely on, designing and building houses that will burn. John Smith, 1930, knows that fire safety is inexpensive, but he gets little encouragement.

The really modern 1930 house contains no waste space, but it is not cramped. It welcomes sunlight and insists on ventilation at all seasons and cleanliness under all circumstances. It incorporates room for a garage and does it without fire hazard. It is architecturally simple (neither "qualit" nor bizarre in extreme "modern" style). And in spite of speculators, it is meant to last.

Such a home can be built today. Prospective builders reasonably insist on it. And as it is proved that 1930 folks need not put up with 1910 homes, home building will be on the road to revival.—Exchange.

Beautiful Cities and Towns

Our cities should be kept in the best condition possible. Streets make or mar a city or town. Holes should be filled in when they appear in the streets. Good drainage is very important. Weeds should be kept cut and grass should be planted along the sidewalks.

Roads leading into the cities should have advertisements about various business houses. Bridges should be kept up to prevent detours. A petty, clean road leading into the city attracts tourists. A beautiful park with flowers, trees, and recreation opportunities attracts a crowd.

A city should have a good water system. Cans for trash and paper should be conveniently placed, and should be used. Telephone lines and poles should be kept in good condition, and old posters should be torn off and destroyed as soon as useless. Glaring advertisements do not add to a city's attractiveness.—Grit.

Charm in Colored Mortar

Many world-famous brick buildings owe the charm of their exteriors to the color harmony between brick and mortar. This same harmony can be had in the smallest residential buildings.

With the older buildings this was sometimes due to the sand used, and in other cases to the mellowing influence of age. However, either effect may be produced today through the coloring matter in the mortar. Mortar colors cost but little, yet they often contribute as much to the fine appearance of a brick home as any other single item. They are available in a wide range of colors.

Attractive Highways

The rapid building of highways in America for several years was allowed to remain what seemed to be a virtual invitation to a kind of cheap commercialism to make these thoroughfares lanes of ugliness. Indifference and neglect of property owners along the highways contributed to the unsightliness. But the tide, here and there if not generally, is turning in the other direction. Through organized and individual effort, through official and citizen enterprise, a movement for attractiveness is being pushed forward.

Lure of Modernization

One of the most attractive features of home modernization is that owners can do as little or as much as they desire, never losing sight of the fact that modernization on either a large or a small scale adds much to the comfort, convenience and value of the home.

Beautiful Roadside

Prizes worth more than $1,000 have been offered for the best five examples of roadside beautification in a contest conducted by the Missouri highway department.

LOCAL NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lorenz and family spent last week-end in Kalamazoo. Miss Margaret Buzzard is spending two weeks at Camp Cavell, Lake Huron.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Gates and son, Elwood, attended the funeral of Mrs. Gates' cousin in Detroit, last Tuesday.

George McGill of Detroit, is spending the week with his sister, Miss Anna McGill, at her home on Harvey street.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Murray will leave Saturday for a motor trip through the northern part of the state. They expect to be gone a week or ten days.

Dr. and Mrs. S. N. Thams left by auto last week Wednesday morning to visit a sister of the doctor's at Fargo, North Dakota. They had arrived at Duluth, when a telegram was received by them announcing the sudden death of the sister, Mrs. William G. Brown, due to a heart attack.

Daniel Blue, Charles Bennett, Robert Mimmack and Charles Greenlaw have returned from their trip to the upper peninsula with some big yards of what they caught. Charles Bentley caught a muscalonge about twelve feet long (now on exhibition in Ole Club room), Charles Greenlaw caught a small evergreen tree, and Robert Mimmack caught a cold.

The regular meeting of the Plymouth Grange was held Thursday evening, August 7th, at the Grange hall. Although the attendance was small, the business was followed by special program features. Rev. Nichols of Syracuse, N. Y., and Professor Lyman Judson were speakers of the evening. Music was furnished by Miss Luella Howard of Farmington, who is a graduate of the Public School Music Course at Michigan State College this year. At the close of the program, light refreshments were served.

Gates of Death Never Opened for These Two

The prophet Elijah and Enoch never saw death, according to the Bible. II Kings 2:11 says: "And it came to pass, as they (Elijah and Elisha) still went on and talked, that, behold, there appeared a chariot of fire, and horses of fire, which parted them both asunder; and Elijah went up by a whirlwind into heaven." This is undoubtedly a figurative way of stating that the prophet passed from earth by miraculous translation instead of through the gates of death. Likewise Enoch, the father of Methuselah, never saw death, according to Hebrews 11:5. "By faith," that passage says, "Enoch was translated that he should not see death; and he was not found, because God translated him: for before his translation he had this testimony, that he pleased God." This is the basis for the popular but misleading statement that Methuselah, the oldest man mentioned in the Bible, died before his father did. As a matter of fact Methuselah's father never died, according to the Biblical account. Genesis 5:25 simply says: "And Enoch walked with God; and he was not; for God took him."—Pathfinder Magazine.

Much Hinged on Speed Made by Stage Drivers

Old-time stage drivers were ambitious, writes Edward Martin, in the United States Daily. A true test of their mettle was the delivery of the President's message. The letting of contracts by the Post Office department hinged on these deliveries, and if a driver failed to make good time it meant the cancellation of the contract with his employers and the transfer to a rival company.

Dave Gordon, a noted driver, once carried the President's message from Washington, Pa., to Wheeling, a distance of 32 miles in 2 hours, 20 minutes. He changed teams three times in this distance.

Bill Noble, who died in the eighties, claimed to have made the best time on record. He professed to have driven from Wheeling to Hagerstown, Md., 185 miles, in 15 1/2 hours.

Princeton's Famous Ivy

The first class ivy at Princeton was planted by the class of 1877 on its class day at its graduation in June, 1877, and the ceremony was accompanied by an oration, called then and since the Ivy oration. The orator in 1877 stated that ivy had been chosen as a symbol of the perpetual remembrance the class would have of Princeton, striking deep, clinging close, and always green. The class of 1877 turned out to be one of the most remarkable classes in after years that Princeton has graduated. The first ivy was planted at the new library. Since then it has been planted at Nassau hall with a tablet naming the class. Some of the ivy has been historic, being brought specifically for the planting, one spray having been sent from the castle in Germany of William of Nassau, prince of Orange, after whom Nassau hall was named in 1753.

Origins of Tile

At the siege of Argos in the year 278 B. C., a tile fragment thrown from a house-top slew the battling king of Ephraim. Thus tile played an important part in history.

Tile is one of the oldest building materials, having first been made in the remote ages of antiquity; yet, how many of us know just what tile actually is?

Tile is baked clay, or to be more specific, a carefully proportioned mixture of certain clays and other minerals, after being formed into the desired shape, is heated in a special furnace called a kiln until the particles become so hot that they partially melt and stick together. When cooled, this is as firm and homogeneous as a piece of stone, marble.

"Don't kick if your picnic is rained out," advises Dad Plymouth. "The ants are just as much disappointed as you are."

Historic Buildings in City of Philadelphia

Its wealth of historical landmarks and associations and its close proximity with other cities and places of interest on the east coast places Philadelphia on the main roadway of eastern tourist travel. To the visitor interested in the nation's history this city offers associations which are identified with it alone and which distinguish it among all other American towns. Chief among these is Independence hall, where the Liberty bell reposes and within whose walls the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States were drawn and signed.

Many of the most interesting old landmarks are confined to a small area on the central part of town, among these being Carpenter's hall, meeting place of the first Continental congress; the Betsy Ross house, where the first American flag is said to have been made and old Christ church, place of worship of Revolutionary heroes and in whose graveyard lies the body of Benjamin Franklin. Congress hall is another point of interest.

Bright Jap Youth Tells All About the Banana

Japanese descriptions are almost always good for a few laughs. One of the latest is the theme of a little Japanese schoolboy in the Sacramento valley. The subject was "The Banana," and the little fellow wrote:

"The banana are great remarkable fruit. He are constructed in the same architectural style as the honorable sausage. Difference being skin of sausage are habitually consumed while it are not advisable to eat rapping of banana.

"Banana are held aloft while consuming; sausage are usually left in reclining position. Sausage depend for creation on Vitamin being or stuffing machine while banana are pristine product of honorable mother nature.

"In case of sausage both conclusions are attached to other sausages; honorable banana on other hand are joined on one end to the stem and opposite termination are entirely loose.

"Finally, banana are strictly member of vegetable kingdom while affiliation of sausage is often undecided."—Los Angeles Times.

Alaska in Summer

The Alaskan summer is one of gorgeous, vivid sun, warm winds and lower gardens. The warm Japan current striking Vancouver island, is deflected northward and carries to the Alaskan coast the same delightful humidity of the lower Pacific coast. To the visitor Alaska becomes a land of great forests, rushing rivers, Indians, curious totem poles, black fox farms, salmon fisheries. The journey there through 1,000 miles of scenery such as found nowhere else is made in four days threading the almost land-locked channel known as the "Inside Passage" which winds through mountain-hemmed ford-like waterways as through a fairyland with wooded islands, tremendous glacier peaks, fascinating Alaskan towns and queer old settlements.

Ponderous Doctor Johnson

That Dr. Samuel Johnson (1709-1784), famous English lexicographer, defined a window as "an orifice in an edifice," in his noted dictionary is a fact which lends point to the popular anecdote told by Boswell. Speaking of animal fables, Boswell said he thought it would be difficult to write such fanciful things. Johnson said it would be easy enough.

In a later comment on this incident, Boswell recalled the fable of the little fishes who saw birds flying over their heads. The biographer remarked:

"The skill consisted in making them talk like little fishes, but if Doctor Johnson were to make little fishes talk, they would talk like whales!"

Length of Sea Snakes

It is believed that sea snakes do not grow much longer than 12 or 13 feet. Speaking of sea snakes found near the coast of northwestern Australia, the National Geographic society says: "Sea snakes are frequently seen curled up asleep on the surface of the water. These reptiles are poisonous and grow to about 12 feet in length." Sea snakes are distinguished by the compressed, rudder-shaped tail, and they are unable to move on land. Their food consists chiefly of fish.

Loss Yourself in Your Job

I have never been quite happy unless lost to myself in what I was thinking, feeling, or doing. Unself-consciousness seems to be the keynote of happiness. I am certain that to be completely lost in what one is thinking, feeling, or doing is the only way to reach the kind of malaise which self-consciousness brings. Nature, watchful as an old spider, spies the cases of self-consciousness and throws up a philosophy by way of cure.—John Galsworthy.

A Diplomat

That a certain young man is wise beyond his years was proved when he passed before answering a widow who had asked him to guess her age. "You must have some idea," she said.

"I have several ideas," said the young man, with a smile. "The only trouble is that I hesitate whether to make you ten years younger on account of your looks, or ten years older on account of your brains."

Georgetown suffered heavy athletic losses by graduation and a whole new line must be developed by Tommy Mills this fall.

In the old days a farmer's wife could bring a roll of butter to Plymouth and trade it in for enough cloth to make a dress. Now she brings a roll of bills instead.

The sad part of it is that so much of the money spent in beauty parlors would have shown up better if applied on the grocery bills.

Makes for Civic Good

Just as the improvement in the home influences the family, the modernization of a house does a certain amount of good for the community.

In the last analysis, a city is but a collection of homes and anything that improves a part is working for the good of the whole. Modernizing lifts up a city out of its ordinary commonplace position and transforms it into a live progressive community, filled with busy individuals striving for their betterment.

Be Liberal With Paint

Paint has many virtues. Besides beautifying your home, it will increase its sale value and, in fact, the valuation and desirability of the entire neighborhood.

Particularly applicable in this connection is the oft-quoted but very true Dutch proverb: "Good paint costs nothing for it saves more than its cost."

Have you a lot or house to sell or exchange? Why not let the people of Plymouth and surrounding territory know about it—advertise it in the Want Ad Columns of the Mail—the cost is little, the results are big. Just bring the ad in or telephone number 6 and ask for want ad taker.

Farmers Will You Vote for Fair Treatment for Yourselves?

Vote for

THE condition of farmers has grown steadily worse. Why? Because they have not had the same type of representation that other and better organized interests have had.

In the Sixth Congressional District, farmers for years have returned a man to Congress who has always been the tool of a one-track mind, and the interests of the farmers have not even had a side-track.

Grant Hudson has neglected the interests of the farmers because he has been the representative in Congress not of the welfare of his district but of a great political machine that cares nothing for the prosperity of the people so long as its paid votaries can live off the people who support it.

Farmers, you have yourselves to blame for this condition. But you have it in your power to correct it. Send Senator Seymour H. Person to Congress in place of Grant Hudson.

Senator Person has served you well and intelligently in the State House of Representatives and in the State Senate. You need his services where they will help on a national scale.

Senator Person was born and raised on a farm a few miles north of Howell. He still owns a farm. He is a farmer who knows by his own experience the burdens the farmers are bearing.

It is time you retired from Congress a representative who has only one idea and sent one of your own able representatives in his place.

With the depression and condition of the country, you need a strong man who will devote his best efforts toward helping bring about a more prosperous period.

Grant Hudson tells you that it is only in your minds. If you believe that—then you should vote for him. But you farmers know better. Therefore, you should vote accordingly—and send as your representative to Congress one who recognizes that you need help.

Will you help yourselves by voting for a man who has always helped you and only asks your vote to help you again? You answer—only intelligent response—is to vote for Senator Person to replace Grant Hudson in Congress.

Members of the parish are earnestly requested to support the services by their attendance.

Christian Science Notes
"Spirit" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, August 10.
Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect" (Matt. 5:48).
The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Let us learn of the real and eternal, and prepare for the reign of Spirit, the kingdom of heaven—the reign and rule of universal harmony, which cannot be lost nor remain forever unseen" (p. 208).
Next Sunday, August 17—"Soul."

METHODIST NOTES
"Give unto the Lord the glory due unto His name; bring an offering, and come before Him; worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness" (I Chronicles 16:29).
"Owe no man anything" (Romans 13:8).
"If you neglect to support your church as members sometimes do: If you don't pay, I have this to say, 'Then somebody pays for you.' When funds are low and your church needs help, When a host of bills are due; If you don't give that the church may live. Then somebody gives for you." "For your church to spread the Kingdom here, And teach all nations, too, Each one must bear his fitting share—Then others give with you." It is just a few weeks now to the end of our conference year, and if every member would see to it that his or her share of the church expenses is paid, the treasurer could pay all the bills, and the pastor could take a good report with him to the annual conference. The time passes so quickly, it is hard to believe that another church year has nearly passed. The date of the Sunday-school picnic and church rally and "Get Together" is Wednesday afternoon, August 27. Come to Sunday-school and get all the particulars.

CATHOLIC NOTES
The ladies are urged to receive Holy Communion next Sunday.
The Passionist Monastery will be blessed next Wednesday, August 20 by the Rt. Rev. M. J. Gallagher at 10:00 a. m.
Nethermost lost to St. Cyril Cadets last Sunday, but are determined to win next Sunday. Come out to Newburg and watch the game.
Today, August 15, is a Holy day. Masses are at 6-7:30 a. m.

Rose Always Figures in Ceremonies and Feasts
In ancient times as now the rose was the adornment chosen for great occasions, religious, secular or simple and social. When Cleopatra gave her great banquet for Mark Antony roses were spread on the floors three feet thick. The most pretentious banquet the Roman Nero gave was a feast of roses, though the flowers had to be sent from Egypt in winter. On the Campagna the Roman people celebrated a rose festival; in the Middle Ages there was observed in Byzantium the "Dies Rosarium," and at Ephesus was kept another rose festival called "Rozalla." In times all but forgotten the "Days of the Violets" were observed to honor spring, but the "Days of Roses," held in the month of June, bespoke the coming of summer.

Pedant Ridiculed
Sir James Mackintosh (1705-1832), eminent statesman and historian, had such a pedantic outlook on things that Sydney Smith (1771-1845), contemporary divine and wit, said that a Mackintosh dissertation on pepper would probably run after this fashion: "Pepper may philosophically be described as a dusty and highly pulverized seed of an oriental fruit, an article rather of condiment than diet, which, dispersed lightly over the surface of food, with no other rule than the caprice of the consumer, communicates pleasure rather than affords nutrition, and by adding a tropical flavor to the gross and succulent viands of the North, approximates the different regions of the earth, explains the objects of commerce, and justifies the industry of man."—Exchange.

Origin of Handclasp
"How do you do?" you say when you meet a friend, and instinctively you shake hands with him or her. But why do you do it? Shaking hands is such a common form of greeting that we rarely take the trouble to consider why it is so. In the warlike times of centuries ago, when it was the custom to be armed, men took the simple precaution of grasping each other's right hand when they met, so that if one of them should prove hostile he could not seize his sword or dagger. From the ancient habit of grasping the weapon hand grew up our modern custom by offering our right hands to be clasped by friends or acquaintances.

Baby Learns to Walk
The word "walking" is becoming obsolete as the term "hiking" comes into general use. Before long we may be saying, "The bride hiked down the aisle on the arm of her father-in-law's Women's Home Companion."

Every dog has his day, but it seems that around Plymouth the nights are reserved for the cats.

Community Building

Upkeep Cost Lessened by Good Construction

Living rent free by owning one's home is a fine thing, but living upkeep free in that same home is an entirely different matter. Of course, nothing of a material nature is permanent, but the natural life of any material used in the construction of a home can be prolonged through proper care and treatment.

If in our homes we desire to keep down upkeep, it is necessary first to use good materials and to have them assembled according to good construction methods. Few home builders are familiar enough with materials and methods to write their own specifications and to see that the terms of the specifications are carried out. For these reasons alone, although there are others, the services of an architect should be engaged.

Never was there such an opportunity to build into a home permanence and quality as exists now. Research, carried on continuously, has brought the standard of building materials to a level probably beyond the comprehension of our forefathers. It is now possible for a manufacturer to guarantee his product whether it be tile, brick, cement, heating system, plumbing fixtures and fittings, or paint. All of which has brought to us better homes at lower prices, if we go about getting them in the right way.—Detroit Free Press.

Not Enough Attention Given to Roof's Effect

Oftentimes the greatest need of an old house is a modern, up-to-date roof. Many old dwellings have patchwork roofs. An addition or the porch of one of the houses may have a roof that differs in every respect, coloring, material and design, from the roof which covers the main building. This patchwork effect spoils the appearance of the residence. In this day when there is such a wide choice of roofing material the property owner will experience small difficulty in planning a new roof which will harmonize with the style of architecture of the old house and add to the appearance of the building at the same time.

Building Art Improving

For 75 years or more builders of moderately priced homes have built just houses, sadly lacking in architectural style and beauty. The older portions of nearly every city and town prove this, for in these sections rows of houses stand, as out of date as the leg of mutton steer.

With these thoughts in mind a short walk through such a section makes us glad that there is a renaissance in interest in architecture so far as the small dwelling is concerned. We have but to walk on to the outskirts of the town to see this in the trim, well-designed houses recently built. The debt we all owe to the architect and the value of the stock plan services which make good designs available at low cost is evident.

Wide Entrances Needed

The growth of large cities, which includes a considerable area about them, has revealed no need more urgent than that of wider thoroughfares leading into the population centers. In many places the widening of these highways already has progressed to a marked degree. Notable examples are found about such centers as Los Angeles, Detroit and Chicago. In the metropolitan area of Chicago plans now are being agitated for the widening of nearly 400 miles of road. It is one of the chief projects of the regional association which is concerned with an area having a radius of 50 miles or more about the city.

Lawn "Entrance Hall"

An open stretch of well-kept grass is necessary to properly balance the mass of architecture which the front of the house presents. This lawn area should be broken up as little as possible. Keeping the entrance, walk and drive to one side or the other will aid immeasurably, though if the walk must cross the lawn it should appear as inconspicuous as possible by using soft-toned materials.

Plantings of evergreen, shrubs and shade trees should be kept to the boundary lines or about the foundation of the house. Then will the out-of-doors entrance hall extend a real welcome to those who enter it.

Highways and Towns

People are fast learning that while a main highway within easy access is an advantage it is likely to be a liability when it passes through the town. Through-town main highways are getting into the same class with railroad grade crossings, to be avoided when possible, endured where they must be and cured where they can be.

Needs Help

Good roads do not necessarily make a town. The town has got to make itself.—Country Home.

A Swedish psychologist says that all nervous breakdowns, all the neuroses, in fact, are caused by laziness. Men work hard at their businesses, undergo much strain and anxiety, and finally break down. "Overwork" is the verdict of the neighbors, and of the old-fashioned doctor. But this psychologist denies that. He says that if a man thoroughly enjoys his work, he never has a nervous breakdown. It's working when you want to be doing something else that makes the mischief. There is a conflict of desires there, and a sustained conflict inevitably results in a neurosis.

Bravest Hearts Stirred

When Lions Give Voice
No more appalling sound is known on our living earth, says American Forest, than the roaring chant of a troop of lions. It reaches camp as our "black boys" are feasting by the fire, singing or babbling like children under the blazing stars. Camp safety ceases as though a meteor had fallen, and terror takes the place of mirth.

There are lions abroad tonight, ruthless as death; frigid in purpose, daring and strong. Another high-pitched boom—raucous and shattering as from some epic brazen trumpet, dwindling to a series of hoarse, detonating grunts.

Perhaps a dozen full-grown lions are on their way down to drink after a colossal kill and all-night gorging of meat. Suddenly one will halt to breathe out an awesome roar that rolls and throbs for miles over the silent wilderness. As the lion draws in another great breath to repeat, a second lion takes up the challenge. Then a third, a fourth and so on, until the very firmament seems to vibrate and tremble as with shattering contact with physical powers. There is nothing like it to strike awe and fear into the bravest heart; it is the authentic voice of a true king of beasts.

Nature Both Kind and

Unkind to Great Poet

Alexander Pope, the author of "The Rape of the Lock" and "An Essay on Man," was the son of a London tradesman, and was born in 1688. Slightly at birth, he remained sickly; it was only by the greatest care that life was kept in his frail body.

When he reached manhood, he was withered and small, being but four feet tall; he was a remarkable scholar, surpassing, perhaps, anyone of his time. His greatest works were those mentioned above; also his translations of the "Iliad" and "Odyssey" have been held in high esteem.

His poetry was roughly handled by the London critics. But, for all his insignificant appearance, he was a bitter fighter, and lashed out with tongue and pen in a way that caused all but the most hardy to shun him.—From Popular Biography.

Hope for Drug Victim

Recent observations and investigations of drug addicts indicate that the morphine victim is not wholly hopeless, as is generally supposed. The addiction to morphine is not characterized by physical deterioration or impairment of physical fitness aside from the addiction per se. This may seem highly surprising. Yet detailed clinical examinations of many patients gave no evidence of change in the circulatory, hepatic, renal or endocrine functions. When it is considered that the persons under observation had been addicted for at least five years, some of them as long as twenty years, these negative observations are highly significant. Thus there are substantial grounds for the belief that, were it possible to relieve the addict of his addiction, complete rehabilitation might be expected.—Washington Star.

Paul Revere as Dentist

Boston's Evening Post of September 26, 1768, carried this advertisement: "Whereas, many persons are so unfortunate as to lose their fore teeth by accident or otherwise to their great detriment not only in looks but in speaking both in public and private. This is to inform all such that they may have them replaced with artificial ones that look as well as the natural and answers the end of speaking by Paul Revere goldsmith near the head of Doctor Clarke's wharf. All persons who have had false teeth fixed by Mr. Jos. Baker surgeon dentist and they have got loose as they will in time may have them fastened by above said Revere who learnt the method of fixing them from Mr. Baker."—Detroit News.

Colonial "Babies"

"Some baby" may sound modern but its use goes way back to pre-Revolution times according to Fortune Magazine. However, when a man said "babies" in those days, he was referring not to young Colonial dames but to the latest dress importations. They were always in miniature on dolls which were known as babies. Before 1776 these came mainly from London, but during the Revolution none but Tories would ape the British, and French "babies" began to be shown. Importations of actual gowns, says Fortune Magazine, discussing the garment industry, did not begin extensively until well into the Nineteenth century.

Unfair

For centuries men have had all the breaks. Now it is the women who get them. Apparently the struggle for equality gave the wheel of life such a turn that it actually reversed itself. Prof. John Hanna evidently had this in mind when he said: "Equality before the law is a reassuring slogan for the seal of a great commonwealth but it has no particular application to breach-of-promise cases. A man's broken heart is worth nothing."

Make Best of Mistakes

Mistakes are just as natural as sin, and nothing in the world is more common. But the commission of neither is fatal. They constitute experience. Mistakes can't be undone, it is true, but they can be taken advantage of.—Grit.

Many Serious

Grass Fires

when our trucks arrived at the scene. Tuesday of this week, just before noon, the department was called to the farm property south and west of the intersection of Whitbeck and Ann Arbor roads, where a severe grass fire had spread over a number of acres of land and was traveling rapidly before a brisk wind. It required the united services of the firemen and a large number of volunteer workers to subdue the fire and bring it under control before any buildings were damaged.

In addition to the fires above mentioned, a number of calls were received during the past week to send men to put out grass fires that had not yet reached dangerous proportions. At a time like this, when dry weather has brought about a condition where every field of grass is a fire hazard, it behooves all of our citizens to take every precaution against the starting of a fire out of doors, for once a grass fire gets started, every opportunity is afforded for the fire to develop into a conflagration which will seriously endanger life and property.

Builders of Casa Grande

People of Pueblo Type?

Casa Grande is a ruined structure of prehistoric origin in the valley of the Gila river near Florence, Ariz. It had never been seen by white men connected with the Coronado expedition 1540; it was certainly discovered by Padre Kino in 1694, and was revisited by him in 1697. In 1869 congress provided for the protection of the ruin as a monument of antiquity, and in 1892 the structure and the adjacent grounds were set apart as a public reservation in case of a custodian. It is of adobe or mud construction, that is, adobe or mud, molded in place, in walls three to five feet thick at the ground, thinning upward. The surfaces were plastered with a slip of adobe clay. There are five rooms in the ground plan; portions of three stories remain, and there may have been a fourth in part of the structure. Recent exploration has shown that the main structure described above is only a small part of the ruin. The buildings are assembled in great walled rectangles called compounds, of which four exist at this ruin. The Casa Grande ruin is almost in a class by itself, but in pottery, etc., it shows very strong affinities with the Pueblo ruins, of which it may perhaps be considered a frontier example. It may have been built by the ancestors of the modern Pima who inhabit the country today, but it seems more likely that its builders were other people of a more distinct Pueblo type.

More Action, Buddy

We talk too much and do too little. From the days when the expression, "There oughta be a law," originated on the Texas frontier, we have had the notion that once we passed a law or even a resolution, our problem was solved ipso facto. Nowadays public officials attach the same weight to their own mere statements, and we the people too often accept their valuation. We might better use the words of the movie director to a pining youth: "A little more action, Buddy; a little more action." And we might apply the suggestion even to ourselves in our efforts to improve our towns, our societies, our churches, our schools, not to speak of our personalities.—Nelson Antrim Crawford in the Household Magazine.

Trees Are Injured

If Bark Is Ringed

SCORING TO HASTEN FRUITING IN APPLE ORCHARDS MAY CAUSE DISEASE INFECTION.

The practice used by some Michigan orchard owners of ringing or girdling the branches of apple trees to hasten the time when the trees will bear fruit may be the means of seriously injuring the trees by the introduction of disease organisms into the wounds made by the cutting tools. It has been found by members of the horticultural department at Michigan State College.

In one commercial orchard in the state where the practice of ringing has been used, 146 out of 487 Baldwin trees which had been ringed were badly infected with blight which had gained entrance through the cuts in the bark. Conditions in the orchard showed that the disease infection had been carried from tree to tree in the rows as the workmen performed the ringing.

Farm Fire

Fire started Thursday some time between 5:0 and 6:00 p. m., near the railroad tracks at Phoenix, and raged by an east wind made quite an extensive blaze burning several fields and destroying the young orchard and part of the big orchard on Nettie Moore's farm. The grass was deep in the orchards, and the blaze went to the tops of some of the largest trees. The apples were barked right on the trees. Nettie Moore feels the loss keenly, and wishes to thank through the columns of the Mail, the many fire fighters who helped to extinguish the blaze that threatened to sweep the whole farm; especially the fire equipment from the Wayne County Training school and the children from there who did such wonderful work. It was a miracle the timbered land was saved. I am so thankful that the fire departments responded to the call that saved part of my orchard and buildings.

NETTIE MOORE.

FOUR BIG DAYS OF FAST HORSE RACING AT NORTHVILLE-WAYNE COUNTY FAIR NEXT WEEK, AUGUST 19, 20, 21, 22, and 23

Haggerty A. C. Wins Again Nethem Defeats Cadets

The Haggerty A. C. captured a spectacular struggle from the strong Woodward A. C. last Sunday, scoring two runs in the seventh to gain a 11 to 9 decision in the second game with the Detroiters. The game was played at Canton Park. The victory gave the Haggerty Club nineteen triumphs out of twenty-one. This hectic game exhibited some of the best baseball that has been seen in this vicinity this season. Perfect hitting and spectacular catches and stops featured throughout the prolonged contest that took two hours and thirty-two minutes to decide.

WEST POINT WINS ONE, LOSES ONE

West Point Park broke even this week in ball playing by winning a game Wednesday from Needles (Six Lakes) at Milford, and losing to Ecorse on Sunday. The loss of the game at Ecorse was due mainly to the condition of the diamond. No opportunity was given to left field to catch any balls because of the piled up dirt along the edge of the lot. Ground rules allowed two-base hits for all balls going over the edge of the diamond. Goers, who pitched for West Point Park, lost his first game this season. He allowed nine hits in the seven innings before he was replaced by Quinn, who allowed four hits in the one inning he pitched. Burkhardt allowed twelve hits in nine innings. Each pitcher struck out two men. Goers walked three men, and Burkhardt, 5. Dearborn won their game also. Sunday, which ties them again with West Point Park for first place in the league, while Lincoln Park is a close second.

Making Good

Walter Johnson, Jr., son of the "Big Train," appeared on the mound for the Bethesda Juniors in the Capital City League for the first time since he was injured when struck by an automobile several months ago. His father, at the same time, was piloting the Nationals into first place in the American league. This photo shows Walter, Jr., warming up on the mound.

This and that In Sports By The Mail Sports Editor

Less than two dozen first year pitchers have held their jobs in the big leagues this year. The foot ball season was officially opened in Great Britain Saturday, with the playing of games in the Scottish League. Other leagues were started early this week.

The Central State Teachers College summer baseball nine with eight victories, a defeat and a tie out of 10 starts had a squad average of .351 cannot boast of a hitter in the 300 circle. Six of the leading bowling teams of Detroit and Windsor have filed entries in the International League to bowl at the new Wyandotte Recreation at Wyandotte and Hall streets, Windsor, this coming season.

Geel Smith again set the pace as the Freebooters swept to victory in their last polo match of the season Sunday afternoon, downing the Grosse Pointe four, 15 to 3, in six chukkers of rather listless play on the Country club field.

Eddie Tolan, a Detroit youth who holds the world's record for 100 meters and is the national champion for 100 and 220 yards, added further glory to his record last Saturday, when he conquered George Simpson, rated the "world's fastest human," in two races at the Police Field meet on the State Fair track.

Coach James H. Crowley of Michigan State College, has ordered 65 foot ball candidates to report at East Lansing, Sept. 10, 17 days prior to the opening of the season at Alma College. Fourteen lettermen are on the list. Judge Glenn Garberghy, head line coach, who has signed a contract for two years, will assist Crowley.

The national open miniature golf championship is scheduled at French Lick Springs, Ind., Oct. 25. There are now 3,500 tiny courses located throughout the United States, and the championship tourney is the logical outcome of the spread of the game. It will be open to all men, women and children, amateurs and professionals.

The athletic team to represent the United States in the International track and field games against the British Empire squad at Soldier Field, Chicago, on the night of August 27, will be selected as a result of the annual Amateur Athletic Union championships at Pittsburgh, August 22, 23 and 25. The thrilling tests between the famous stars of this country and Great Britain are expected to attract 100,000 fans to the big Chicago stadium.

Marven Lasky of the Adams Branch won a two-mile river swim for Y. M. C. A. members Saturday, winning by 100 yards over George Weisenthal. Also of Adams. His time was 28:35. Weisenthal was 50 yards in front of Art Samozochian, of Western Branch. Robert Stewart was fourth. J. Laird Henry, fifth; head Pierce sixth; John Smith, seventh; Gabriel Le Gal, eighth; George Morin, ninth, and William Bagnott, tenth. The race was from the Edison Boat Club to the Belle Isle bath house.

More than 100 track and field athletes are expected to compete in the Cadillac Athletic Club's open meet at Belle Isle Saturday, Aug. 16. Among the leading contestants are J. E. Hatfield, of Indiana University, in the hurdles; Fred Ward, of the Millrose A. A., New York, in the six-mile run; Carl Groth, of Adrian College, in the 40 and 80; Lee Bartlett, formerly of Albion, in the javelin throw; Art Richter, of Western State, in the sprints; Charles E. Roberts, of the University of Michigan, in the discus and javelin throws; and Eiler Simonsen, of Cadillac, in the 800 and mile.

Seeing Big League BASEBALL By BILLY EVANS

The effect of criticism on ball players differs with individuals, just as the results of applying the whip to a horse differ with the horses themselves. A Good Record

Mrs. Anna Van Skike of Santa Monica, Calif., celebrated her seventieth birthday Sunday by swimming twenty miles in the Pacific ocean. Starting from the foot of Venice pier at 15 minutes past midnight, she finished when adverse currents stopped her progress off the mouth of Santa Monica canyon. She was in the water 12:25 p. m. Mrs. Van Skike said that swimming had kept her in perfect health, but now that she had passed the three score and ten she would not make another swim or other public appearance.

Four Fast Baseball Games Scheduled For Northville Fair

The Haggerty A. C. will oppose the West Point Park team at the Northville-Wayne County Fair on Friday, August 22, at 3:00 p. m. On Thursday, August 21 the Detroit House of Correction nine and Plymouth will play. The winner of each game will clash on Saturday. All four teams have good records in fast baseball. West Point Park is a member of the Down River Baseball League and has lost three games this season. Haggerty is an independent team playing fast ball and losing two games out of twenty-one. The Detroit House of Correction nine speaks for itself by defeating many teams from the "big" towns this season. The Plymouth team has a good record this season, although the House of Correction nine has beaten them twice. That will be same game, as both sides are out for victory.

Horse Racing At Northville Fair

Marvin Staan, superintendent of speed of the Northville Wayne County Fair association, has completed the program for the racing events that will feature the fair, August 19th to 23rd. He has been assured by many horsemen of the state that they will enter some of their best trotters and pacers, and that the races will have a large number of starters. Harry C. Robinson will act as starter again this year. The race program follows: Wednesday, August 20-2:14 Trot; 2:16 Pace; 2:27 Pace. Thursday, August 21-2:24 Trot; 2:15 Pace; 3 Year or Under Trot. Friday, August 22-2:18 Trot; 2:22 Pace; 3 Year or Under Pace. Saturday, August 23-Free-for-all Pace or Trot; 2:27 Trot.

The hard hitting Cadets from Detroit knocked Horvath from the box in the fourth inning, then coasted on to victory, just Sunday at Newburg.

Numbers had a perfect day at bat when he gathered five hits out of five, three of them being doubles. He relieved Johnson in the fifth, and then tried to left hand the Nethem boys the rest of the game, but wasn't as effective as the right handed Johnson who slow-balled the Nethem boys to death.

Nethem gathered fifteen hits, but couldn't hit in the pinches, therefore they left fourteen men on the sacks. John Schomberger knocked out the first home run of the season in the first inning, scoring Toriskey and Schmitz ahead of himself.

Next Sunday, Roseville Fire Department will be the local attraction at Housseum Park at Newburg. Don't forget the time, 3:00 p. m.

The Plymouth Playground League will finish their last game of regular play this evening, after which they will start their playoff to determine the champion. Four teams will start the playoff, three of which have been determined, Rocks, Robinson Sub. and Masonic. The other competing team will be decided after tonight's game. The playoff will start the week of August 24 and continue until the champion has been determined. There will be no games next week.

De-Ho-Co Trims Merchants 32-2

In one of the most one-sided games of the season, De-Ho-Co defeated Plymouth, 32 to 2. Dolson lusted two hits, leaving with the third before retiring a batsman. Walker who succeeded him, fared but little better, going out at the end of the sixth. Moskow finished the game.

FIRST INNING—Van Bonn drove a hot line through third. Kracht forced him at second; Kracht stole and took third when Doherty's throw went wild. Moskow singled to right scoring Van Bonn. Strasen struck out and Moskrey fled out to Hammond. 1 run, 2 hits, 1 error.

SECOND INNING—Plymouth—Willson walked. Blackshaw and Walker struck out, Dolson doubled to left; Van Bonn singled scoring Dolson. Kracht fled out to Lazor. 2 hits, 1 run, 0 errors.

De-Ho-Co—Giles grounded to Kracht but was safe when Moskrey dropped.

Sport Success Based on Power of the Attack

Few men ever dodged themselves into championships. Attack has been 75 per cent of the assets of the great. "If you wish your opponent to withdraw," said Gen. Foch, "beat him." The winning principle of foot ball is: Play the game in the other team's territory. Dempsey's only idea of ring strategy was to tear in and keep on punching, until his opponent dropped. Maurice McLoughlin had no great defensive ground strokes, but his terrific attack overhauled revolutionized tennis. Cobb and Ruth, most famous of base ball players, gained their following because of the power and ferocity of their attack.

Illinois and Purdue are meeting in foot ball this year for the first time since 1918. The favorite visiting player at the Polo Grounds is Frank Frisch, who starred for the Glants many years. ## Nan Had Made Her Man

By LEETE STONE
(Copyright.)

FOR two years Nan Smith had tried to fire Mark Tully with high ambition. He was the easy to discourage, sincere and talented type that needs a definite overture from success to spur him over the high hurdles down the track of persistent effort. She had finally persuaded him to go to New York.

"Now, that's a story!" Nan punctuated the climax of one of Tully's fascinating, fanciful yarns with enthusiasm. "Write that tonight, Tully."

"Yes, dear," he answered, moodily, staring at the flames from the hearth fire in Nan's cozy parlor in the little city of Sioux Bend.

Nan was sure Tully would topple into the bed the moment he reached his room, sleep until almost time for his train to New York, and have to be scrambled on board by a kindly conductor.

"For a cent I wouldn't go, Nan. Darn it! Let's be married on the money I've saved from the Bugle job—and keep that job. If I can write at all, I can land from here just as well as in New York, can't I?"

"Oh, Tully, my dear, I'm hoping New York will fill you with fire and fight. You need strife! I want you to go over the top. Tell me, where'll you finish as reporter for the Bugle? Why, Tully—at fifty you'd be smug and satisfied and through."

"O. K., Nan, child! Hate to leave you, that's all."

Nan Smith sat up late after Tully left. She was a girl with "front," darling, born of a struggle. She loved a man of true ability who shunned the arenas of life. So she sent him to the greatest arena of them all—New York. A slim chance, perhaps. Nan's blood danced down from prairie schooner fighters; Tully's idled down from a panorama of picturesque southern planters. Dominance was linked to charm.

Having arrived at the Grand Central, Tully took a firm grip on his typewriter, well-spanked in the interests of prairie erudition; patted the hip pocket which contained his capital—$200—and eagerly sought the hall bedroom where he was to start his ascent of Parnassus.

Situated finally, Tully worked hard. He wrote mornings and devoted afternoons to seeking a market for his feature stories with editors of all the papers. He hoped the quality of his stories would eventually secure him a regular staff position.

At the end of six weeks his money was nearly gone and he had no job; but he had tried hard. Competition offered by clever staff men in the feature field was too keen to be met successfully in so short a time. Editors were busy men. There were a score or more applicants for every vacancy.

Back home Nan's heart sank at the courage shown to cloak discouragement which she sensed in Tully's letters. She had nursed a far fetched idea of giving him a boost a long time. Now was the moment to try it. The time had come for a possible smile from Lady Luck.

Meantime, Nemesis was snapping at Tully's heels. One morning found him staring, in deep thought, at a small sunbeam that palpitated on the ragged carpet of his garret room. Knocking at the door roughly, the superintendent entered.

"Your rent's three weeks overdue, Mr. Tully. I'll have to have the room or the money tomorrow."

Listening to the departing footsteps as they met each descending stair with the dutiful clump of authority, Tully murmured with the smile that always won him friends:

"Oh, well, things might be worse!" Footsteps in the hall again, and a voice drawing, "Registered letter for Mark Tully." Tully signed for the missive feverishly. Nan's name typewritten in the upper corner of the envelope.

Tully whisked the letter open and shook out the contents. A check fluttered to the floor. He snatched it up and saw that it was made out to him, for a hundred dollars, from a good magazine.

Mystified, he muttered, "Some mistake!" and searched for a note from Nan which surely must be somewhere in this folded carbon copy of a manuscript which the torn envelope revealed. He found no apparent word from her!

So Tully, in a maze of wonder, straddled his chair and commenced to read the manuscript. It was titled, "For the Love of Mike,"—a name that rapped familiarity at his brain. Nearly every phrase and line of the story fell into line with his dim recollection.

"But I didn't write it! How come?" he breathed, finishing the story. Then his eye caught a line of longhand in Nan's handwriting on the lower margin of the last page.

"This is the story you told me that last evening. I just typewrote it from memory, and 'Love Annals' has taken it. It's all yours. Back up and try again."

Tully sat with the manuscript crumpled in his hand for many moments lost in the mystery and infinite resource of Nan's love for him.

"My story! To be in print, and paid for—and Nan did it. What a girl!"

SUMMER MEALS

During the warm weather in most households the meat is cut down in quantity. A little with plenty of fresh vegetables will supply all the food value one needs for the warm days. If there is a bit of chicken, veal steak or even beef steak, it will make a good meal combined in a chop suey.

Cut up a bunch of celery into small pieces and cook it with an onion or as one's taste dictates. Add a little boiling water with the finely cut cooked meat, a few fresh cooked green beans and simmer until all are nicely seasoned and the onion well cooked. Celery is better served in this dish not soft, but crisp and transparent. When serving place on a platter with a border of hot cooked seasoned rice. Use a dash of chop suey sauce over the dish before taking to the table.

Short Bread Cakes.—When you wish to serve something out of the ordinary try these: Line patty pans with short bread pastry, sometimes called Scotch shortbread. Fill the shells with any kind of cake batter—sponge or cup cake is preferred. Bake and remove carefully from the pans and cool. Scoop out a little from the center of the cakes and ice all over with icing, sprinkle with shredded coconut or shredded almonds and brown. When cool fill the centers with flavored whipped cream and pipe a border around the edges. Fresh berries with the cream will add another variation.

Creamed Sardines.—Drain one can of sardines. Remove backbones from fish and wash. Melt one-fourth of a cupful of butter, add one-fourth of a cupful of soft bread crumbs and one cupful of cream. When thoroughly heated add two hard cooked eggs finely chopped, the sardines, salt, pepper and paprika to taste. Serve on pieces of toasted bread.

Orange Ice Cream.—Add two cupfuls of cream slowly to two cupfuls of orange juice, add a little of the grated rind and sugar to taste. Freeze and serve with fresh chopped and sweetened strawberries.

Care Is Required To Preserve Food

ENZYMES MUST BE RENDERED INACTIVE AND BACTERIA KILLED TO MAKE CANNED GOODS KEEP.

To properly preserve foods in cans, the canning process must render the enzymes present in the foods inactive and must make conditions within the can or container unfavorable for the growth of bacteria, according to members of the bacteriology department at Michigan State College.

Canning temperatures inactivate the enzymes so no other precautions are needed to destroy these factors which are responsible for the spoilage of such food products as meats. Meat can be preserved by drying because the moisture which must be present for them to work is removed in the drying process.

Bacteria are responsible for most of the deterioration in food products. Sterilization of the food is necessary to prevent them from destroying it. The bacteria present in the food must be killed and the food then must be placed in an air tight container to prevent the entrance of bacteria after the food has been processed.

If the cans are not sealed tightly, air will be drawn through any minute openings as the material in the can becomes cool. The air which enters carries with it bacteria which will perhaps spoil the canned product.

The spores of certain strains of bacteria are highly resistant to heat and tests made show that some of the spores were alive after heated to a temperature of 212 degrees Fahrenheit for five and one-half hours.

If prohibition is the success the dries insist it is and the failure the wets insist it is, then let's just drop the whole matter and talk about something else.

Flagrant Instances of Plants Without Morals

Some years ago an Indian scientist showed that many, if not all, plants have feelings very like our own. No one has yet discovered the brain of the plant, but it is unquestionable that while some are normally clean-living things, others display craft, cunning, and even criminal tendencies in order to obtain a livelihood.

One which is both criminal and cunning is the plantain, which infests lawns. It is clever enough to adapt itself to circumstances by spreading out its leaves so that they escape the attentions of the lawn mower. Add it goes further than this. It wants to obtain sunlight, and it can do so only if the grass does not put it in the shade. Being a thorough criminal, it puts out its flat leaves in such a way as to kill by suffocation the grass growing near its roots.

By strangling growing trees, and the small convolvulus plays a similar part to grasses and plants. But perhaps the worst criminal in the garden world of plants is the dodder. It attacks clover fields and is capable of feigning death for weeks until an unwary plant appears near it. Then it sinks its suckers into the flesh of the victim and commits murder.—London Tit-Bits.

There was a theory one time that wheat had to go through a sweat bath being threshed but with present prices the grower may go through the sweat instead of the wheat.

One trouble about dandelion wine is that after you make it and it is ready to drink it tastes like a mouldy haystack.

Another thing medical science needs to devote a little time to is finding a way to make the vaccination mark look more beautiful.

June Clover Helped By Applying Potash

FIELD TRIALS MADE BY COLLEGE SHOW THIS PLANT FOOD PLAYS IMPORTANT PART.

Success or failure in obtaining a crop of June clover depended upon the amount of available potash in the soil in the field trials conducted by the soils department at Michigan State College during the past few years.

Tests were made on farms in Jackson and Branch counties on a sandy loam soil. The clover was grown as a part of the four-year rotation of corn, oats, wheat and clover. Fertilizer applications were made with corn and wheat. Several different analyses of fertilizer were tried.

On the Jackson county farm no field which did not receive potash as one of the ingredients of commercial fertilizer or as contained in barnyard manure produced over 800 pounds of June clover per acre in 1929, and no clover was harvested in 1929 from fields receiving no potash.

Yields of June clover from fields fertilized with potash ranged from 3200 pounds to 4600 pounds per acre in 1929 and from 1145 pounds to 2208 pounds per acre in 1930.

The soil on the Branch county farm was in a better condition than that of the Jackson county farm and the differences in yields of clover on the fields receiving potash were not as pronounced in 1929, but there was a marked difference in favor of potash in 1930.

Farmers who intend to seed June clover are advised by the farm crops department to use manure or a potash carrying fertilizer on the crop in which the clover is to be seeded.

Brothers Star on Rival Teams

Comparative newcomers to the list of brothers who have gained fame in big league baseball are the Ferrells—Wesley, star pitcher of the Cleveland Indians, and Dick, regular catcher of the St. Louis Browns. The brothers come from a baseball-playing family from Greensboro, N. C., and this is the first season in which the two have earned regular berths.

Wesley, big right-hander, standing 6 feet 2 inches and weighing 192 pounds, is considered by many as undoubtedly the leading pitcher in the American league.

The pitching member of the Ferrell family had a tryout with the Indians in 1927, being picked up from the semi-pro ranks at East Douglas, Mass. He was farmed to Terre Haute of the Three-Eye league in 1928, winning 20 games and losing eight. He was back with the Indians in the tail-end of the season and last year as a regular compiled the remarkable percentage of .877, winning 21 games and losing only ten.

This season he bids fair to better that figure, in games won at least, for he needs only six victories to equal the 1929 mark.

Dick Ferrell, who had his first trial with the Browns last year, has won the regular catching berth.

Glee Club Didn't Sing in the Baseball Park

Last spring when the New York Giants and Chicago White Sox were making their barnstorming trip on the way north from the training camps, they made a stop at Fort Wayne, Ind., for a game.

"Where's the ball park?" asked one of the New York writers of one of the Chicago scribbles. "I dunno," replied the C. S. "Haven't you been here before?" "Yes, once. With a glee club."

"Well, don't you know where the ball park is?" "We didn't sing in the ball park. But I can tell you where the First Presbyterian church is, if that'll help any."

Two Navy Gridders Give Promise of Making Good

Though the athletic material in the new fourth class at the Naval academy appears below the usual level, two football players of promise, a back and a lineman, have already been noted.

They are Baird, a 180-pounder, who played center last year on the freshman of the University of Iowa, and Hisecker, 187 pounds, a freshman back at Purdue.

A youth of Swedish extraction, weighing 140 pounds and with some football experience, failed the physical tests because he had a minor affection of the heart.

Terris Leaves Boxing Richer and Careful

Sid Terris leaves boxing richer and wiser than when he entered it. The former East side idol has laid away a comfortable fortune, earned in the ring with his padded fists. Better it might be to say that he won it in the ring with his nible feet, for Terris seldom was a puncher, depending rather on his immense speed of foot to keep out of the other fellow's rushes, the while he tapped and stabbed his man, piling up points and drawing laughs and cheers from the crowd by making a monkey out of his adver-

SEEING BIG LEAGUE BASEBALL

react differently to the lash, but the fact remains that none of them like it. The howl of the wolves is a terrifying sound to some players. Along toward the end of the season they begin to cast calculating eyes on the pamphlets issued by nice restful sanitarians. Others manage to shrug and ask, "What's the difference?" It being part of their philosophy that submission to censure is one of the things they are being paid for.

Both of these types, however, are extremes. I believe that Babe Ruth, despite his spectacular qualities, is about as "human" a ball player as there is in the game, and as such is probably as representative as any when it comes to finding a typical reaction to the wolves' chorus.

The Babe, as most fans know by this time, is just like a big kid. He'll take a bow when he gets a big hand, but when the boos are hurled at him from the claque of the critics the Babe feels it. Sometimes he covers his feelings with a grin, sometimes with an impassive stare. On occasions he has been known to fling back a snappy retort and even to thumb his nose.

Bob Meusel, now with Cincinnati, for years Ruth's teammate, is impassive itself. Meusel is one of the greatest players in the game, but because his light has been somewhat dimmed by other stars that shine in the same constellation, he has never received full credit. Bob has been ridden more than most players who possess less than one-half of his ability. This is very likely due to the fact that Meusel is the type of ball player whose aggressiveness isn't readily apparent. He's an easy-moving athlete and often his play seems languid to those who don't know him. He may look indifferent in action, but he's not; he's a grand player and a hard one.

But because of his style, Meusel, when he does miff a play, which isn't very often, is accused of loafing, and he has had to put up with some pretty vigorous abuse from the stands. Bob throws it off as well as any of them, but it has made him pretty much the cynic.

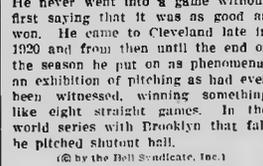

Walter Mills was driven out of the big leagues by razzing, although it didn't all come from the stands. On the contrary, it was a rival player—some say Ty Cobb—who discovered Walter's weakness, and once it was discovered it was worked overtime by hostile ball players and fans alike.

Mills simply couldn't stand kidding. Because of that baseball lost a great star—one of the greatest, I am convinced, of all time. Physically he was another Rube Waddell. I never saw a southpaw with more stuff.

Mills, as they say, had "rabbit ears." The man in the third base coaching box could whisper to the third baseman that he understood reports were going around that Mills was a baloney, and Mills would hear it—and worry about it. Thereafter, his ear would be cocked toward third base, and a little of his poise oozed away with each succeeding uncomplimentary remark. This inability to keep his ears shut and his mind on the game was all the more peculiar in Mills' case because of the man's terrific self confidence. He not only thought he was great but he said so. He never went into a game without first saying that it was as good as won. He came to Cleveland late in 1920 and from then until the end of the season he put on as phenomenal an exhibition of pitching as had ever been witnessed, winning something like eight straight games. In the world series with Brooklyn that fall he pitched shutout ball.

Howley Pessimistic

Manager Dan Howley of the Cincinnati Reds doesn't think much of the move for baseball games at night. He does not hesitate to say that it will never reach the big leagues.

"SWEETHEARTS AND WIVES"

MURDER is committed in "Sweethearts and Wives," but it is one of the minor incidents of this First National and Vitaphone production...

"THE FALL GUY"

"THE FALL GUY," Radio Pictures' comedy-drama which comes to the Pennyman Allen theatre Saturday, August 23, is everything the stage success was, and more.

The big incident of the story is the maid's attempt to recover a stolen diamond necklace. Billie Dove, First National star, plays the part of a French maid de chambre in a little forsaken inn in the South of France...

The original play, which set a long-run record in New York, was funny, gripping and human. The screen version is all of that, with the added intimacy and warmth which only a well directed talking picture can give.

"The Fall Guy" has many unusual features that make it refreshingly different from the first mad rush of talkie production. It is not a spectacle; the plot flows smoothly along, no one suddenly breaks in and sings for no reason at all, and there is no moral.

Sidney Blackmer has the supporting role opposite Miss Dove. He enacts the part of an English motorist lost and out of gas in the south of France. Lella Hyams as his married woman companion finds herself in a peculiar position. She is especially worried for fear her husband will learn of this escapade.

Oliver Brooks, that polished Englishman, is a divorce detective. He is seeking the diamond necklace to secretly return it to the husband of the lady who lost it. But the return of the necklace to him, means a divorce scandal for the lady. The players are all pitted against each other, either intentionally, or by force of circumstances.

The solution is interesting and startlingly novel. Of course the beautiful woman, Billie Dove, wins out in the end, but just how is for you to find out for yourself.

World's Famous Glaciers

Lessening in Dimension

A glacier is, broadly speaking, an accumulation of ice, of sufficient size and weight to flow down from an elevation. It is a river flowing from a lake, only the lake is of snow and the river of ice. The thickness of the ice will vary greatly—it may be, under favorable conditions, as much as 1,000 feet.

Frequently glaciers extend far below the snow line of the region, because their great masses of ice are so thick that they are not entirely melted during the warm summer months. The functions of a river and a glacier are identical—the drainage of a certain district or basin. Exactly how a glacier moves has not been satisfactorily explained, but that it does move has been proved by hundreds of observations and calculations. More than that, the stream at the center of a glacier moves much faster than at the sides or bottom.

One of the most interesting characteristics of glaciers is the power to transport rocks and other heavy material over great distances. These are "moraines." The glaciers of the Rockies, like those of other countries, now are almost all "in retreat," either because the climate is growing warmer, or because the snowfall is lessening.

Famous Liberty Statue

The Statue of Liberty was 12 years in preparation in France and was mounted and exhibited in Paris in October of 1881. The American celebration was commenced in 1883 and was not completed until 1886. The statue itself was of hammered copper sheets and weighed 450,000 pounds. It was mounted on an iron framework covered with wood and so arranged that it could be taken down and shipped in sections. It was taken down and was shipped in 210 cases on the French state vessel Isere, sailing from Rouen, France.

Had One Qualification

I could not resist purchasing an admission ticket for the ragged little lad who stood in the lobby of a motion picture house chuckling to himself over the stunts advertising the comedy being shown within. Yet he was so tiny I hesitated as I asked, "But—can you read?"

"No, ma'am," eagerly, "but I can laugh."—Chicago Tribune.

Choosing a Wife

A Swiss savant states that if a man wishes to learn the character of the girl he wants to marry he should watch her peeling, cleaning and cooking potatoes. If she peels the potato, cutting thick rings, she is extravagant. If she leaves the eyes she is lazy. If she uses a great deal of fat while cooking the vegetable, she is greedy, and if she allows it to burn she is negligent.

On the other hand, the savant declares, if the girl avoids these revealing pitfalls, the man should marry her whether she is rich or poor, ugly or pretty, for she will prove a good friend and wife and bring him prosperity and happiness.

Small Wonder Criminals

Feared Being "Jugged"

Many a criminal has lamented his incarceration in "the jug"—to adopt a common expression in thieves' parlance. In the Middle Ages plenty of miscreants were placed in the jug—or joug—literally; and up and down the country there still remain a few specimens of the iron neck-halters which derived their name from the Latin Jorum.

In Bridlington Priory church, a place where at every turn imagination is invited to bridge the centuries, a well-preserved example of a jug may be seen in the west porch. It is shackled to the wall by long links, and is fitted with a hinge and padlock.

Eity the poor wretch doomed to be locked by the neck in the clumsy contrivance! True, there are no spikes or devices for torture incorporated in the jug. The punishment of being "jugged" would be mental rather than physical. The prisoner would be the helpless victim of every passing body's ridicule, and doubtless more than a few well-ripened eggs and similar missiles have splashed against the weathered wall from which hangs the unpleasant instrument.—Yorkshire (England) Post.

Finding One's True Self

Life is an opportunity for making of a soul, and in most of us it is still in the making; a patch work, unfinished. There are so many selves, each struggling for mastery, that it is not easy to detect the elusive, ultimate self. Which "me" is my real "me"? There are a lot of them, the ragged hobo out at the elbow, the dandy in the dress and gold cane, the toady, the pretender, the penitent, the poet, the ascetic, the donkey, who always wants his own way; and, at times, a glimpse of another fellow, who seeks to rule the whole godly crew. Who is he? What authority has he? Who gave him the job? Will he get it done, making the motley array of slovens, boasters, scullions, prophets, and saints of divers orders, at last obey?—Joseph Fort Newton in the Churchman.

Pontiac Man Enthusiastic About Konjola

"I LOST SIXTY POUNDS AND WAS IN A PITIFUL CONDITION BEFORE TAKING NEW MEDICINE," HE SAYS.

MR. PUGH C. SMITH

"My height is six feet two inches and I should weigh approximately 200 pounds," said Mr. Pugh C. Smith, 388 North Saginaw Street, Pontiac. "In the latter part of 1928, due to long hours in the shop, improper food and lack of sleep, I gradually lost more than sixty pounds. I was in a pitiable condition and such food as I ate did not digest properly. This was due, no doubt, to my rundown condition. At the time, Konjola was recommended. I was in a state of mind bordering on melancholy.

"After taking this miracle medicine for about six months my friends did not recognize me. I had gained back all my lost weight. I am now a picture of health. When I started taking Konjola I weighed 140 pounds; I now weigh 204. I have not taken Konjola for eight months and I still feel great. Every word of this statement is true and I can support the facts by many witnesses who have known me for years."

What could be added to such a sincere statement? Is it not logical to believe that Konjola can do as much for you—for everyone?

Konjola is sold in Plymouth, Michigan at the Community Pharmacy and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Progressive City Sees to Its Attractiveness

While much emphasis is being placed—and rightly—on the advantages that Indianapolis possesses as a commercial and industrial center, which are many and obvious, not enough thought or effort is directed to making it attractive as a place of residence. The men who work here have to live here, and therefore the town must be a good deal more than a workshop.

While we have a fine start, there is much that might and should be done to increase the advantages that we already possess. We are richly endowed with churches, schools, libraries and art facilities, all of which make a strong appeal to those seeking new homes. We have our clubs, municipal playgrounds, golf courses and swimming pools and parks, and these are very important assets.

Valuable as they are, other things are needed. People like to live in comfort and amid beautiful surroundings. A campaign for the beautification of the city would yield rich returns. There should be greater care for our trees and a planting of new ones, even in streets supposed to be doomed to treelessness—certain of our business streets, for instance.

The campaign against the smoke evil will, just as far as it succeeds, contribute to both beauty and comfort—contribute very largely. For cleanliness is an element in both. Dinginess is certainly not attractive. Nor is it sanitary. Beauty, cleanliness and comfortable living conditions are all the marks of a wideawake and progressive community.—Indianapolis News.

Rural Schools Urged to Beautify the Grounds

The Missouri state highway department urges each rural school on a state highway to beautify its school grounds with proper plantings and landscaping, and offers the services of a landscape expert to the schools for the preparation of suitable plans for planting flowers, trees and shrubbery, according to letters sent by the department to all county school superintendents in the St. Joseph highway division.

This move is a part of the highway beautification project started by the state highway department last year.

George L. Argus, engineer at the St. Joseph highway office, points out that northwest Missouri's wooded countryside abounds in native shrubs and plants that are unequalled for landscaping purposes, and they may be transplanted to the school grounds, and if a landscaping program is followed, surprising results at little cost can be obtained. Other desirable plants and flowers may be brought from home by the pupils.—Kansas City Star.

Modern Traffic Needs

The smaller cities of the country, even the small towns, need major street plans and other comprehensive plans as badly as the big metropolitan areas. Everywhere the increased use of the automobile, demand for traffic relief, for airports, parks and new and enlarged business centers is requiring enormous changes, particularly in the widening of streets laid out for a horse-drawn era.

Regional planning activity in the United States has materially increased, particularly in and about Chicago, Los Angeles, Philadelphia and Washington. Many new county planning commissions have been established.

Scenery or Signery?

California is waging an intensive campaign against signboards that disfigure the landscape. There is a reason. Landscape is large in California's stock in trade for tourists.

So the slogan of the warfare on the boards is "Scenery or Signery?" And it seems to be an effective one. Public opinion is operating to compel elimination of obnoxious disfigurements to beauty. It is this force that has impelled two big companies, along with others, to cut out all their roadside displays except one or two of directional value to drivers.

"Scenery or Signery?" It is an all-inclusive suggestion.—Minneapolis Journal.

Remodeling Old Homes

Veneering an old house with face brick has been made a simple process. The contractor merely changes a few old-fashioned bays, etc., on the exterior and lays up the brick right over the old frame. Many builders are offering to finance the remodeling job, letting the owner pay a small amount down and the rest on convenient terms.

Brick Combines Well

Common brick meets all architectural demands for surface effects and type. It may be used in the best homes in combination with slate or tile roofs, copper and zinc gutters and down spouts, metal casements and sash, exposed oak timbers and plate glass!

Business follows good roads; in fact it will open its cut-out and follow right on to the next town if you don't put your own town in order.—Country Home.

Bodily Changes

Dr. Edward F. Adolph of the University of Rochester has stated that the elements in human bodies undergo the following changes: Water changes every three weeks; salt every 22 days; potassium, 72 days; magnesium, 108 days; nitrogen, the fundamental element of muscles, 290 days; iron, essential element of the blood, changes about every 800 days; phosphorus, 800 days; and lime, 2,800 days. Certain cells, such as the brain cells, apparently last a lifetime.

SEASONABLE FOODS

A most delicious dinner may be prepared in a Scotch kettle. Place a piece of brisket or shoulder of beef in the kettle with plenty of fat to brown all over. Then add a little water, cover it lightly and cook at a low heat. An hour or more before the meat is to be served add carrots, onions and later a few potatoes; cook, basting them occasionally and season well during the basting. Serve the meat surrounded by the vegetables and prepare a gravy from the liquor in the pan.

Black mustard seed sowed for greens will make a most welcome addition to the vegetables for the summer. Cook it as any greens, or cut it fresh and serve with lettuce in any salad where lettuce is used.

Did you ever eat: Molasses Pie.—It may be baked in individual tins or in the usual sized pie plates. Line a pie plate with flaky pastry and fill with the following mixture. Bring one cupful of molasses to the boiling point and add carefully a tablespoonful of butter rubbed to a paste with a tablespoonful of flour, cook in the molasses until slightly thickened, then remove from the fire and add the juice of a large lemon and a pinch of cinnamon. Walnut meats may be added to make it more tasty. Cover with a top crust and bake in a moderate oven.

Raisin Pie.—Line a pie plate with rich pastry. Pour boiling water over one and one-half cupfuls of seeded raisins, let stand until cool, drain and mix with three-fourths of a cupful of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of salt, and two tablespoonfuls of flour. Turn the mixture into a pie pan, piling it high in the center, sprinkle with the juice of a lemon and a grating of the rind, add one-half cupful of water in which the raisins were soaked and dot with two tablespoonfuls of butter cut into small pieces. Cover with pastry and bake forty minutes. Have the oven very hot the first ten minutes to bake the pastry, then reduce the heat. Serve hot or cold.

Monk's Self-Sacrifice

Ended Bloody Contests

Battles in the arena between gladiators were stopped for all time in 444 A. D. by the impulsive action of Telemachus, a Christian monk.

It is said that the first set combats between gladiators in Rome were in the year 263 B. C. and that they were given by Decius and Marcus Brutus at the funeral of their father. Later the idea spread, and the contests became a favorite means of amusing the populace. It grew to such enormous proportions that Trajan gave an exhibition at the Coliseum lasting 23 days, in which 20,000 gladiators were slain.

In 325 A. D. Constantine abolished these contests. But a century later, up on the retreat of Alaric with his Goths from Rome, the Emperor Honorius celebrated the event by a revival of the combats. It was then that Telemachus leaped into the arena, holding high a cross and calling upon the people to prevent further bloodshed.

The reply of the populace was to stone him to death. Afterward, in deep sorrow, they repented the act, and Honorius proclaimed the combats forever at an end.—Popular Biography.

Community Building

Maintenance Big Point

in Real Estate Value

The owner who realizes that the maintenance of property is a real asset as to the sale or rental of the property does not have to be told of the necessity of keeping property in good condition. Unfortunately, however, there are many property owners, especially owners of unoccupied property, who do not realize this fact and then wonder why the property cannot be sold or rented. There is an old saying, "A stitch in time saves nine." This applies to many phases of business, but in regard to the maintenance of real estate it has a significance which can be measured in dollars and cents to an exceptional degree.

A small repair neglected can have much the same effect on an individual property as a decaying apple can have in a barrel of sound apples. The small repair develops into a bigger one which affects other parts of the property, causing a decay, so to speak, and a depreciation in value that really in the end makes the property unattractive and undesirable. It also affects in a detrimental way every nearby piece of real estate and deters persons who might be interested in nearby property to the point that they will neither buy nor rent in a particular street or section.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Pennsylvania in Move to Beautify Highways

Community and civic organizations throughout Pennsylvania have been called upon to carry out plans of roadside development and landscaping to supplement construction of highways. The appeal was made by the Pennsylvania Motor federation.

"Pennsylvania has spent and is spending millions of dollars for the construction of fine roads," S. Edward Gable, president of the federation said. "In connection with this there should be in each community a program of tree planting, landscaping and roadside care which, when completed, not only will make the roads more pleasing to the eye, but will give to the traveler a much better and pleasanter impression of the community."

"There is little reason why the wind-swept, sun-baked stretches of concrete roads winding through the countryside should not be made more graceful to the eye by the planting of trees and flowers and roadside landscaping. The possibilities of roadside beautification are unlimited, and, if handled by community enterprise in co-operation with the proper authorities, can be worked out without burdensome expense."

Good Citizen Defined

The qualities of good citizenship are both positive and negative. A hermit is not a good citizen because while he may do no real harm, break no important laws, he contributes little to the general welfare, does not assist in enforcing law and withholds from the world the good influence which he might exert. The good citizen is interested in and helps to promote religion, education, clean politics, public economy and thrift; he keeps posted on public affairs and candidates in order that he may vote intelligently, attends the primary and regular elections and votes.

His greatest contribution to public welfare is perhaps unflinching faith in the ultimate triumph of good in the affairs of men.—Grit.

Garage as Investment

Most home owners who embark on a modernization campaign are sold on the idea that no improvement on the home place will add more to the appearance of the property and help more on the case of sale, than an attractive garage building.

As a source of revenue, for the small amount expended or invested, there are few better revenue producers than a garage built on the rear part of a home lot as there is, in most residence neighborhoods, a continuous demand for rented garages.

Erecting a garage and renting it will in many cases pay the taxes on the property.

Brick Veneering Pays

Many old houses have sturdy frames despite the shabby and old appearance of the exterior. Given a veneer of face brick, these houses will put on an appearance of newness and will give service that compares well with an entirely new home. The brick exterior provides protection against the elements and takes on added beauty with the years.

Supervision Important

Many architects believe that supervision is more important to the house than good plans, for good plans alone do not insure good building. It is the least expensive part of the architect's service. He charges less for this than for making the plans and specifications, because it takes less time to do it.

Houses Hard to Sell

Houses may have sound timbers and built into them the best of workmanship, but if the exterior lines are old, the siding weather-beaten and unpainted, the interior lacking in all of those modern conveniences that make for the comfort and convenience of the housewife, they are avoided.

Routing Highway Traffic

Some small towns have concluded that routing highway traffic through their main streets does not materially aid business, but only causes congestion, and the speed of the tourist cars adds to the danger of the streets.

University Tests Highway Guard Rail Strength

Michigan highway engineers have long sought some sort of means to prevent motorists from running off of embankments on curves in the roadway. Solid, immovable embankments are impracticable from the standpoint of expense and damaging characteristics, according to F. N. Menefee, Professor of Engineering Mechanics in the University of Michigan, in charge of the University Materials Testing Laboratory. Light railing which merely invites the motorist's attention to the danger but does not offer resistance seems to be not only useless but in fact full of potential dangers. Wooden rails easily splinter, and the records are full of cases where splintered rails or planks have pierced the sides of cars, injuring or killing the occupants.

The steel cable has been used in Michigan for several years with greater success than other forms of rail. The cable is tough and strong, yet flexible. A 3,000 pound car at 20 miles an hour contains about 90,500 foot-pounds of energy. This energy must be used up before the cars will come to a stop. The steel cables used by the State of Michigan are required to withstand at least 15,000 pounds of tension before they break. Being flexible and mounted on posts which have some flexibility and which in turn are set in the ground, which by yielding permits them to absorb shock without breaking, the energy of the moving car is largely spent in overcoming these yielding resistances.

The energy of the car could be absorbed if the cable could pull its anchor 6 feet with a force of 15,000 pounds. This might mean pulling a few posts out of the ground or breaking them off, but while this destruction was taking place the car would be slowing down. The yielding resistance is the quality which makes this type of road guard so much to be preferred to others.

In buying this cable the State specifies that it must have a tensile strength of at least 15,000 pounds, and in order to determine whether it meets such conditions a six foot length is cut from every so many feet and sent to the university for testing.

There the cable is cut in two places and the individual wires in each end are spread apart and turned back on themselves in a hollow cone-shaped type of grip which is filled with molten zinc to prevent its slipping out. The prepared specimen is then put in a testing machine and gradually loaded to destruction and the load at breaking carefully noted. If the cable does not withstand fifteen thousand pounds the shipment may be rejected.

Relief From Curse of Constipation

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lax, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderlie at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store. Bayer Pharmacy.

Museum Publishes Many Science Contributions

Results of research descriptions of animal life and accounts of Museum collections are included in the 238 scientific handbooks and pamphlets published by the University of Michigan Museum of Zoology.

Many of the papers concern insect, reptile and mammal life of Michigan, and are useful to students and teachers. Most of the studies are intended for persons of some technical knowledge and titles such as "Description of a New Subspecies of Cnemidophorus lemniscatus Laurenti" may thoroughly discourage the layman, but others have wider appeal to persons interested in careful observation of the animal life of the state, such as pamphlets on "The Mammals of Washtenaw County," and a "List of the Fishes of the Great Lakes and Tributary Waters," or "A New Species of Black Bass."

The handbook series is intended to fill a need for elementary reference books and includes three titles to date, Primitive Man in Michigan, by W. B. Hinsdale; A Manual of Recent Wild Mammals of Michigan, by L. R. Dice; and The Herpetology of Michigan, by Alexander G. Ruthven, Crystal Thompson and Helen T. Galge. Before accepting the Presidency of the University Dr. Ruthven was Director of the Museum, and appears as author or co-author of thirty of the publications.

The handbooks and scientific pamphlets are printed by the University and distributed at cost.

The Plymouth man who laughs at the awkward way his wife parks the car should see himself seeing a button on his shirt.

The governor of Kansas says plenty of work is the secret of success. We knew there was a catch in it somewhere.
