EARL WRIGHT GIVES TALK TO CREDIT BUREAU

Field Representative Visits
Plymouth Banquet Held At Mayflower.

The Merchants Service Bureau of this city was favored Tuesday by having as its guest for the day and evening, Earl Wright, Field Representative of the National Retail Credit Association of America, of which the local Bureau is an affiliate.

The National association headquarters are in St. Louis, Missouri, and is the representative organization of retail merchants and credit bureaus of the United States.

Mr. Wright visited Plymouth in line with his work as field representative for the organization in the states of Michigan, Ohio and Indiana, for the purpose of inspecting the local Bureau aiding the manager, Miss Marie Johnson, in any way possible regarding the local work, and explaining that the real purpose of the visit was to enlighten both manager and local merchants regarding the new program that is under way to render more efficient and a more complete reporting service not only to local members but to all merchants, wherever possible.

The National organization is composed of more than 1200 Credit Bureaus in as many cities in the United States all doing the same work, that of serving the merchants and professional interests of their given communities and aiding in the control of credit granting. There are also affiliated with the organization more than 180,000 individual credit grantors and merchants.

The program at this time under way is not only to standardize the service but also to make it possible for a more complete coverage by organizing new bureaus and branch bureaus wherever possible and to appoint correspondents in the smaller localities; a collection service department is also being organized providing a forwarding list of reliable collection contracts for the flow of consumer retail accounts to aid merchants to collect a higher percentage of skip accounts than ever before; to increase services between bureaus and the individual memberships in the organization. In fact, it is their purpose to improve the work of the organization by improving its local connections so that it will be strictly representative in service of the business interest of the country.

Mr. Wright stated that the local organization was one of the good bureaus of his district, so far as modern equipment and methods of compiling master card information and operation is concerned but that the information filed shows a lack of complete cooperation on the part of local members in use of Bureau service locally and in cooperation. If the merchants used the bureaus as such bureaus are intended to be used and are being used in many cities of the country, this would be one of the outstanding communities in the district so far as credit control is concerned.

In the opening, a meeting with members was held at the Mayflower hotel preceded by a 6:30 o'clock dinner. Mr. Wright addressed those assembled for a short time regarding the work of the National and then there was a general discussion on credit granting and control.

Communication

The Other Side

Since several articles have been published by your Village Manager, striving to give imaginary benefits by incorporating Plymouth Village as a city, other information has been repeatedly requested.

The Wayne County Board of Supervisors is composed of 125 members, of which Detroit has 71, other villages 36 and the townships 18. Of what value to Plymouth would two supervisors be, instead of one?

Oftentimes county supervisors are forced to vote contrary to their wishes, lest they incur the ill will of this large majority against them, whereby they are deprived from gaining certain favors for their townships.

The Township 1930 tax for Plymouth township was $15,278.00 of which $9,478.00 has been paid for the poor, $1,200.00 of which was paid during January. Of this sum only $300.00 has been paid for the poor, outside of Plymouth village.

The poor and insane at Eloise, cost $876.00 all for inmates from Plymouth village.

The total tax for Plymouth township for 1930 was $217,682.00 of which First District No. 7 called for $113,170.00.

The writer is indebted to the kindness of our genial Supt. Smith for additional information.

The Primary money was $22,901.00. Tuition from foreign students $11,571.00, Library from state $286.00. Total $148,918.

Of this total the farmers in sections 24, 25, 26 and part of 26 and 25, with a strip one half a mile wide, between the Ann Arbor road and Canton line contributed a large amount.

If Plymouth village is to be a city what is to become of this portion and the western sections? Your village manager was asked this question, while speaking to the League of Women voters, last Monday. He said he did not know, unless it could be annexed to Northville township.

When asked if he knew that Plymouth was only one half a township, he said that he did not. What capable person would care to be elected as a township officer for this small remaining?

Thanks to the care of a long line of supervisors and township boards, since 1825, Plymouth is, today, one of the very few townships in Wayne county, which has no bonded indebtedness.

Judge James E. Chenot, who served Wayne county as its prosecuting attorney before being elected Judge and who as a result knows much about criminal work, was so highly pleased with the way the case against Harry Tambensem, one of the robbers of the branch bank of the Plymouth United Savings, was handled that he has written a letter to Chief of Police Springer expressing commendation for the work of the local officers.

Judge Chenot at the completion of the trial made a statement in court to the same effect.

In his letter received Monday by Chief Springer, he says:

"During the recent trial of Harry Tambensem on a charge of robbing the Plymouth United Savings bank, which was held before me, I was forced to note the thoroughness with which this case had been prepared for trial before coming into court. Every available witness to any phase of the crime was accounted for and present in court, and I feel that the result of your work in such splendid preparation brought before the jury such a detailed picture of the crime that they could come to no other conclusion but the correct one, namely, that of guilty."

"Accordingly I wish to commend you for this splendid piece of police work. Officers often times feel that the arrest they made is the arrest their work is over, but anyone with experience in the prosecution of a crime knows that this is but the beginning of a criminal case. Thorough preparation before trial is the most important phase of a successful prosecution, and I must say that your work in this case evidences a devotion to duty and thoroughness which is seldom seen in a criminal court."

Ernest J. Allison responded to the toast, "Our Boys", and stressed the dependence of the boy upon his dad from the time that his first toy breaks to the time that he is successfully launched into an occupation.

The Girls' Double Quartette, under the direction of Miss Gladys Schaffner,

then rendered two selections in a manner that would be acceptable to any audience and was especially enjoyed by the men and boys.

Mr. Ray Johnson, a state Y. M. C. A.

secretary whose home is in Plymouth, then gave the address of the evening in which he spoke of the relations between father and son from primitive tribes to the present time using many timely and distinctive illustrations which were understood and appreciated from almost the youngest boy to the oldest man present.

The banquet closed with the singing of America and benediction by Reverend Oscar Seitz.

All in all, it was one of the best Father and Sons banquets that has ever been held in Plymouth because the boy, friendship, and companionship between the fathers and sons was at all times evident.

Guests who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Ira Carney of Newburg, Mrs. Emma Cataline of Port Huron, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lee and family of Howell, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Lee, Mrs. F. A. Lendum, Mrs. Bessie Dunning of Plymouth.

Members of the Myron H. Beals Post No. 32 were given a most delightful entertainment by the Ladies Auxiliary at Jewell and Blatch Hall last Friday evening.

There were forty-five members present and ten new members signed up.

Commander Donald Ryder appointed the following committees: Building committee, Harry Barnes, chairman, Sween, Eland, Harold Jolliffe, Irving Ulrich, Dr. Hoyle, Goodwin Crumbley, and Floyd Eckles. Entertainment committee, Harold Jolliffe, chairman, Irving Ulrich, Dr. Hoyle, Harry Barnes and Floyd Eckles. Uniform committee, Irving Ulrich, chairman, Dr. Hoyle, Harry Barnes and Harold Jolliffe.

Employment decreased materially at the year end, but this is distinctly a seasonal phenomenon. Many industries close down at that time for inventory-taking purposes and resume operations at the same or higher rates at the turn of the year.

Baptist Claude, as indicated by the Federal Reserve Board's report on the permanent store sales, was only 8 per cent lower in December than a year ago. In view of the fact that the cost of living in this country, and therefore the scale of merchandise prices, was 6.2 per cent lower in December, 1930 than in December, 1929, it appears that buying was not greatly curtailed during the recent holiday season.

The decline in commodity prices at wholesale has continued uninterrupted in recent weeks.

Industrial activity in Detroit, the center of the automobile industry, showed an increase during December similar to that which occurred in the same month of 1927. In Saginaw, during December, industrial activity was 26 per cent greater than in December, 1929.

Industrial power consumption data, after adjustment for seasonal tendencies, was higher in December than in November in each of the following cities in southeastern Michigan: Detroit, Bay City, Jackson, Pontiac and Saginaw. At Flint, a small reduction in the adjusted total occurred which may be indicative of a slight decrease in manufacturing in that city during the month of December.

The attention of members of the Woman's Club is called to the regular meeting held Friday (today) at 2:35 p. m. at the Hotel Mayflower. The program is under the direction of the Modern Woman Group composed of Mrs. George Burr, chairman, Mrs. J. F. Seitz, Mrs. B. R. Gilbert, Miss Edna Allen, Mrs. Wm. Hodson and Mrs. Julius Wills. This committee has secured Miss Edith Thomas of the Ann Arbor library, as speaker. Miss Thomas will speak on the subject, "Current Fiction." The program promises to be most interesting.

MRS. SCHRADER, DAUGHTER ENJOYING CALIFORNIA VISIT

According to a letter received by the Mail from Mr. and Mrs. Alton D. Orvis of Hollywood, California, Mrs. Fred Schrader and daughter are thoroughly enjoying their stay on the coast. Mrs. Orvis will best be remembered among her old friends in this part of Wayne county, as Mrs. Lizzie Harger, Mr. Orvis, in his letter to the Mail says: "We have been delighted to have the pleasure of entertaining Mrs. Fred D. Schrader and her daughter, Evelyn, of Plymouth, several days during their stay in Hollywood, on the somewhat extended trip which they have taken from Seattle on down the coast visiting relatives near Bakersfield en route. Their list of adventures has long since been exhausted in expressing their enjoyment of this warm Southern California sunshine, the flowers, the mocking birds, the mountains and the orange groves. Miss Evelyn having been particularly interested in driving past the various movie stars homes in Beverly Hills. We fear it will be rather heartbreaking for them to bid good-bye to this country which they seem to have fallen in love with. We have driven them on various outings, lunching on the great Palos Verde Hills overlooking the Pacific, visited the interesting and wonderful Huntington Home and Library; through many orange groves, many of which are not only laden with yellow fruit, but also covered with fragrant blossoms."

Grand Rapids and Muskegon may be characterized as slightly below the activity of mid-January, 1930. Some improvement is expected within a month.

No change in the building industry is apparent in this area. Employment is still less than it was a year ago, but increasing in about a third of the cities from which reports were received.

The general situation in this section of the state seems to be admirably set forth in a report from Kalamazoo: "The greatest change here is in psychology. Business attitude is much more cheerful since January 1."

JOHN LOVETT TO BE SPEAKER AT BANQUET FEB. 27

Chamber of Commerce Se-

For Annual Meeting.

The first meeting of the Plymouth district scout committee was held on Tuesday evening at the Wayne County Training school where some 20 business men from Plymouth, Newburg, Rosedale Gardens and Northville were in attendance. The meeting was called by Dr. Bassett of the Training school who has been appointed District chairman by the Boy Scout Headquarters in Detroit.

In an attempt to further the interests of scouting in this community and surrounding territory this organization of business men was formed to be the nucleus of a district headquarters.

Reverend William Richards of Northville was elected vice district chairman and Wm. Hodson of Rosedale Gardens was elected Commissioner.

Geo. A. Smith of the Plymouth high school was made chairman of the Court of Honor Committee and Cass Rough of Plymouth, Rev. Richards of Northville, Rev. E. M. Purdy of Newburg and Lester Snell of Rosedale Gardens were elected Commissioners.

Chief Scout Executive of Michigan, H. W. White gave a brief talk to the group and outlined the work that was before them. He stated that the association of men with the boys was the one thing which was necessary for their best development and that he was grateful for the interest that they had shown in scouting in this vicinity. Mr. White paid special tribute to Sidney Strong of Plymouth, and spoke of him as the one man who has been able to keep the Plymouth Scout activities in a high state of efficiency.

John Lovett was for a number of years been one of Michigan's outstanding leaders in business circles. When he took over the affairs of the Michigan Manufacturers Association, the organization was not the tremendous power it is today in safeguarding the business interests of the state. Its development has been largely through his efforts.

In his early career Mr. Lovett was a Washington newspaper correspondent for the Kansas City Star, later representing the Chicago Tribune at Washington.

Since coming to Michigan he has taken an active interest in every problem which might be of benefit to the development of the manufacturing business in this state. He has often been called upon to assist in some of the big problems faced by the city of Detroit and is at the present time serving on the commission which is seeking to provide employment for the thousands of idle workers in this section.

Berg Moore, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, received definite assurance Monday afternoon that Mr. Lovett would be here on that date and discuss Michigan business problems in the talk he will give.

Women Voters Discuss Change

An interesting and instructive meeting of the Plymouth League of Women Voters was held at the home of Mrs. Paul Wiedman, Monday afternoon.

Following the business meeting, Mr. Richard, village manager, ably led a discussion on the proposed change of Plymouth's organization from a village to a city. Many questions were asked by the league members, showing their interest in this change and their desire for reliable information regarding same.

Miss Lima Durfee gave an excellent report on the skylift annual cruise and caravans conference held in Washington, D. C., January 19 to 22. Miss Doris Hamill, violinist, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Alice Woolworth, delighted her audience with two old English dances arranged by Klingelchild, "The Shepherd Dance" and "Morris Dance."

Delightful refreshments were served by Mrs. Wiedman, assisted by Mrs. Petz and Mrs. Sullivan.

No Easy Problem To Get Some Books

When you ask for a definite title or material on a subject which is not in the collection at the Plymouth Branch Library, did you ever stop to think of the resources you have at your disposal and the processes involved in filling your request? As a concrete example let us say you want "Taft's and Roosevelt's letters," so a request card is promptly filled for said title. It is the same in the Wayne County Library Headquarters at 3600 Truman Blvd., Detroit. Now, there may be several copies of this book, so the Interlibrary Assistant at Headquarters looks in the files and finds one copy at Trenton and the other at Flat Rock. Either place may be chosen to send for the book. If Trenton is a card is mailed to the Custodian at that Branch requesting her to mail the book directly to Plymouth. If the book is on the shelf, that is done at once, but the book may be in circulation, so word to that effect is written on the card and mailed back to headquarters. This information is then sent to Plymouth Branch so the assistants know approximately when to expect the book.

But let us suppose the title requested is not in the Wayne County collection, so the request is sent to the Detroit Public Library, for the county has also this large collection to call upon. If the book is not available, one may be called in from one of Detroit's twenty-eight branches, sent to headquarters and from there sent to the branch.

Thus one can readily see that the mere request for a book is the smallest item in the machinery. When a special title is asked for, it can take all the way from one to four weeks before it is received, depending entirely on whether it is available at headquarters, or whether it is in circulation in one of the other 25 County branches, or whether it is interloaned from the Detroit Public Library.

Mrs. Murray reports requests for many and varied titles and subjects.

Here is an example of those asked within an hour last Thursday evening:

Jonathan Edwards, German immigration, Stone Mountain, Story of "Gulliver's Travels", Poem for Father and Son Banquet, Customs of Anglo Saxons about 1620, Meaning of "Proletariat".

Members of the Business and Professional Woman's club are promised a real treat at their next meeting.

This meeting, which will be held promptly at 7:30 next Tuesday evening at the Garden Tea Room, will be a musical entertainment. Many of our best local musicians are favoring us.

Every member is honestly requested to be present and each one has the privilege of bringing a friend. Do not forget the night.

WORK FOR MANY

According to a report made by Grover C. Dillman, state highway commissioner, the state plans to spend over $28,000,000 in highway construction during the coming year. If Commissioner Dillman's program is carried out as he plans, there will be a vast amount of labor providing the working men of Michigan. Last year's road construction didn't amount to much. As a result there was not as much work as there will be during the forthcoming year.

Mr. Dillman says the 1931 program will probably be the largest in the history of the state.

The department is carrying over, as of January 1, 1931, work under contract amounting to $15,790,264. Dillman said. Since January 1, work advertised for early letting amounts to $1,121,000 and there is available at the present time unencumbered federal aid money amounting to $6,930,643, against which contracts will be awarded. Later on additional funds will become available, according to Dillman, who believes the total for the year may exceed $28,000,000.

The department will take full advantage of federal aid money, $2,500,000 of which must be spent this year for projects to be completed before September 1. This money was allotted Michigan after the enactment by the national congress of the emergency highway law. Its purpose was to provide additional finances to be expended on road construction, as an aid to relieving unemployment, and it was for that reason the time limit for its expenditure was fixed.

Although the state highway department was required by law to distribute approximately $10,500,000 last year among the counties, less than half of that sum has been paid, Mr. Dillman said. The actual amount received by the counties is $4,500,000, leaving an unpaid balance of $6,168,000. He explained that the delay in payment was due to the state's financial predicament and the unexpected drop in estimated gasoline and weight tax revenues. It is planned to pay the rest before March 1, out of 1931 receipts.

GEORGE WASHINGTON

When the people of the United States turned to George Washington with the universal demand that he stand at the head of the new government and fill the great office of first President of the Republic, he evinced the same diffidence which weighed upon him when he took command of the armies, according to the Division of Information of the George Washington Bicentennial Commission.

In response to the suggestion that he be a candidate, he recognized the fact that he was likely to be again called upon to render public service, and added simply that at his age it would involve a sacrifice which admitted of no compensation. He maintained this tone whenever he alluded to the subject, in replying to numerous letters urging him to accept. But, although he declined to announce any decision, he had resigned himself to the inevitable.

Washington made it clear that he was not pursuing the office, and would only leave his farm to take it from a sense of duty. The electoral college gave him its unanimous vote on February 4, 1789. Neither the animosity of parties, nor the large number of enemies of the new government in some of the states, could deprive him of a single vote.

The reluctance with which General Washington assumed his new position and that genuine modesty which was a distinguished feature of his character, are further illustrated by the following extract from a letter to General Henry Knox: "I feel for those members of the new Congress who, hitherto, have given an unwilling attendance at the theatre of action. For myself, the delay may be compared to a reprieve for in confidence, I tell you (with the world it would obtain little credit,) that my movements to the chair of government will be accompanied by feelings not unlike those of a culprit who is going to the place of his execution; so unwilling am I, in the evening of life, nearly consumed in public cares, to quit a peaceful abode for an ocean of difficulties without that competency of political skill, abilities, and inclination, which are necessary to manage the helm. I am sensible that I am embarking the voice of the people, and a good name of my own on this voyage; but what returns will be made for them Heaven alone can foretell.—Integrity and firmness are all I can promise; these, be the voyage long or short, shall never forsake me, although I may be deserted by all men; for the consolations which are to be derived from these, under any circumstances, the world can not deprive me."

The official announcement of his election as Chief Magistrate of the United States was made to him at Mount Vernon on April 14, 1789 by Charles Thomson, the secretary of the Continental Congress. Accustomed to respect the wishes of his fellow citizens, Washington did not think himself at liberty to decline an appointment conferred upon him by the suffrage of an entire people. His acceptance of it, and his expression of gratitude for this fresh proof of the esteem and confidence of his country, were connected with declarations of diffidence in himself.

"I wish," he said, "that there may not be reason for regretting the choice—for indeed, all I can promise, is to accomplish that which can be done by an honest zeal."

As the public business required the immediate attendance of the President at the seat of the Government, he hastened his departure, and on the second day after receiving notice of his election, he took leave of Mount Vernon. In an entry in his diary, the feelings inspired by an occasion so affecting to his mind are thus described: "About ten o'clock I bade adieu to Mount Vernon, to private life, and to domestic felicity; and with a mind oppressed with more anxious and painful sensations than I have words to express, set out for New York in company with Mr. Thomson and Col. Humphries, with the dispositions to render service to my country in obedience to its call, but with less hope of answering its expectations."

On his journey from Alexandria to New York, Washington was everywhere received with the greatest demonstrations of affection by all classes of his fellow citizens, which were manifested by the most flattering marks of heartfelt respect and by addresses which evinced the unlimited confidence reposed in his virtues and his ability.

At Philadelphia he was received with unusual splendor. In imitation of the triumphal exhibitions of Ancient Rome, an arch was erected at the bridge over the Schuylkill River, and on each side was placed laurel shrubbery. As Washington passed under the arch, a civic crown was let down upon him. The fields and avenues were crowded with people, through whom he was conducted into the city by a body of leading citizens. At night the town was illuminated.

The next day, at Trenton, he was welcomed in a manner as new as it was pleasing. In addition to the usual discharge of cannon and the demonstrations of respect and attachment by military corps, and by private persons of distinction, the women of the city arranged a tribute indicative of gratitude for their deliverance, twelve years before from a formidable enemy. On a bridge over the creek which passes through the town was a triumphal arch, decorated with laurel and flowers and supported by thirteen pillars. On the front of this arch was inscribed in large gilt letters, "December 26, 1776," and beneath, formed in the flowers, "The defender of the mothers will be the protector of the daughters."

As Washington passed under the arch he was met by a party of matrons leading their daughters, dressed in white, who carried baskets of flowers in their hands, and sang an ode composed for the occasion. At Brunswick, he was joined by the Governor of New Jersey, who accompanied him to Elizabethtown Point. A committee of Congress received him on the road, and conducted him with a military parade to the Point, where he embarked for New York in an elegant thirteen-oar barge, prepared for the purpose by the citizens of New York, and manned by thirteen pilots.

"The display of boats," said Washington in his private journal, "which was attended and joined on this occasion, some with vocal, and others with instrumental music on board, the decorations of the ships—the roar of the cannon, and the loud acclamations of the people, which rent the sky as I passed along the wharves, filled my mind with sensations as painful (contemplating the reverse of this scene, which may be the case after all my labors to do good) as they were pleasing."

At the stairs of Murray's Wharf, which had been prepared and decorated for the purpose, he was received by the Governor of New York, and was conducted, with military honors, through an immense concourse of people, to the apartments prepared for him. Washington arrived in New York on April 25 and on the 30th the Constitutional Government of the United States began with his inauguration as the first President.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

The Real Clara

Clara Bow has frequently played the role of a "sweet young thing" imbued with a love for a wholesome life, and opposed to the dizzy pace of younger set that thinks chiefly in terms of liquor, cabarets and petting parties. But if we are to believe the discharged secretary, Clara Bow is the type of actress whose attractive screen face and shapely body has earned so much money for her, she doesn't know what it is all about. The secretary pictures sweet Clara as a whiskey guzzler and a person who didn't have enough good taste to select her own wearing apparel. To further believe the secretary, Clara's idea of a diamond studded vanity case was something for her pet dogs to play with.—The Ironwood Daily Globe.

Not a Bad Idea

Michigan has a state owned cement plant that has been in the red ever since the state has owned it. We are just wondering if there might not be something wrong with the management of the concern? Is it too cheap labor or what might be the reason? Over in South Dakota, at Rapid City, there is a state owned cement plant that is proving a success and has been for years, in fact is the only state owned institution that is a success. The Mobridge Weekly Tribune in commenting on the success of the state owned cement plant says: "The state cement plant at Rapid City still stands out as the one project in South Dakota's state ownership program that is successful. It is showing a profit each year as a result of good business management, together with state loyalty. The reason for this is that politics has been kept out of its affairs. But, in view of the political management we have had of the other ventures into state ownership, one wonders if it is possible that politics can forever be kept out of the management of affairs of the state cement plant; or if at some time in the near future some governor may make a political football out of this." May be Michigan has too much

Hard Winter South
My observations so far on the trip to Florida are that this has been rather a hard winter on the southern people. The cold has reached points down here that seldom experience it, and many complaints are to be heard from the people that there has been too much winter. Indications are that there is a much larger crop of visitors from the north than usual and this will assist materially in starting the flow of money through the channels of trade. The South needs this aid and is doing all she can to merit it. Northern visitors are received courteously and given a warm welcome.

The yearly influx of northern people is resulting in an acquaintance between the two sections of the country that cannot but result in closer relations and a friendly feeling.—David Hulchell in The Croswell Jeffersonian.

Give Her an "A"

A Saratoga teacher gets hold of an essay written by a school girl. She was required to write 200 words about a motor car, and after a while submitted the following:

"My uncle bought a motor car. He was riding in the country and it stopped for want of gasoline while going up a hill. The other 180 words are what my uncle said when he was walking back to town but I know that you wouldn't want me to repeat them here." —Fred A. Kehler in The Lodi County News.

Yes, But What?

The Wickersham Report was a good and noble document. You can take it wet, dry, moist, damp or with curled hair upholstery. It was another case of shaving off onto a commission a controversy over which no two individuals, let alone two politicians, could agree.

In Michigan we have had reports by a special tax commission and a crime commission. They both were good reports—just like the Wickersham report. The tax report said something ought to be done about taxes. The crime report said the exact cause of crime had not been determined, but something ought to be done.

Governor Brincker wants a study by a special commission to study stabilization of employment. It will be a good report too. It will say that when men are out of work something ought to be done about it.

There is a movement on foot to organize the Brethren and Sisters of Useful Commissions. The college yell will be "something ought to be done about it," delivered with the eyes cast heavenward.—Edward Novack in the Michigan State Digest.

Treatment of flower seeds with mercuric chloride in a 1:1000 solution will destroy many seedborn parasites and so help to prevent the common diseases of garden flowers, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Most flower seeds will stand soaking in this solution for one half hour without injury. Shake or stir the solution containing the seeds frequently to keep air bubbles from preventing contact between the solution and the seeds. Rinse the seeds in clean water after treatment. Use only wooden glass or earthenware vessels for the mercuric chloride solution. The seed should be planted immediately after treatment or it may begin to swell. If prompt planting is not possible, the seed should be spread out thin at once and dried thoroughly.

In roasting meat, sear it first in a very hot oven, then reduce the temperature and finish more slowly. Meat cooked in this way shrinks less than when it is roasted from start to finish at a high temperature.

Centuries have passed, no doubt, since the first user of the above sentence showed his wisdom. But time hasn't dimmed the truth—and today's business conditions give added weight to the fact.

In all our relations with business men—facts are faced, and from that basis the strongest form of cooperation is developed.

We are proud of the number of business men we are serving. And proud of the facilities which fit us to serve you equally well.

THE PLYMOUTH MAIL

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hileyer and children of Romulus, were guests of their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Orr Passage, recently.

Dr. and Mrs. Claude Burgess of Detroit, Mrs. Kate Allen and Harry Lush have returned home after a three weeks' sojourn in Biloxi, Miss. Harry says the weather was fine and the golfing good.

Jack Harmon, salesman for the Giant Products Co. of Trenton, N. J., left Wednesday for Des Moines, Iowa, where he will attend the products convention which is to be held in that city from Feb. 9 to 14.

The Hanford Child Care and Training Group met at the home of Mrs. Robert Waldecker on Friday, January 23, with fourteen members and one visitor present. The subject of the discussion was "Your Child's Play Life and His part in Family Recreation." The next and last meeting will be held at the Cherry Hill church house on March 5th, at 4:30 o'clock, with Mrs. Lydia Ann Lynde as speaker for the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Doerr entertained fifteen guests at a family dinner Thursday evening, January 29, the occasion being the eighty-ninth birthday anniversary of the latter's father, H. A. Spicer. Mr. Spicer enjoys splendid health, having tended his own as well as his neighbors garden the past summer. He is a great reader, doing most of it without the use of glasses. He was the recipient of several gifts and many wishes for other happy anniversaries.

One of the largest surprise parties of the year was the birthday party given in Jewell-Bridger hall on Saturday evening, by Mrs. Arno Thompson in honor of her husband. The evening was spent in dancing. Much was served, and a jolly evening passed. Relatives and friends to the number of sixty were in attendance. The out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pebble and daughter, Anna, and Mr. Jerry Phillips and Miss Lena Hutchins, all of Detroit.

The dancing party given by the entertainment committee of the Masonic Lodge last Friday evening was a distinct success. The Masonic Temple which was beautifully decorated, accommodated approximately 150 people. This is the second in a series of dancing and card parties planned for the winter months and it is hoped that they will continue to meet with the approval of the Plymoutites. The next is a card party planned for Friday evening the 13th, and the usual good time is expected.

On the evening of Tuesday, February 24th, a group of people under the auspices of the Men's Club of St. John's Episcopal church will present an old-fashioned play at the high school. This play, "A Wild Flower of the Hills," will be entirely home talent, both as to actors and direction, and will be a departure from most of the amateur stage presentations seen here recently. Later write-ups will give the details of the cast and prices, but it can be said now that it will be well worth while for Plymouth people to remember the date and to plan to patronize this event.

Mrs. Geraldine Vealey celebrated her fourteenth birthday Tuesday evening by inviting a number of girl friends to her home on Ann Arbor St. Pedro was the pastime of the evening in which Donna Bridger won first honors and Jewell Fredericks the consolation. After enjoying the delicious luncheon which had been prepared by her mother, Mrs. Richard Vealey, Geraldine had the pleasure of opening several parcels which proved to be lovely remembrances from her guests in honor of the occasion. Ruth and Beatrice Michelin, Alice Broth, Donna and Doris Bridger, Jewell Fredericks, Florence Gray, Harriet and Lillian Rutherford were the guests.

Mrs. Rose Beveridge was hostess at a luncheon at her home, 215 S. Main St., Monday, February 2nd, in honor of her two nieces, Mrs. George C. Cates of Chicago, who is visiting here and Mrs. Albert Reed of Detroit, who left Tuesday for Florida. Those invited were: Mrs. Anne E. Lyons, Mrs. Wm. C. Lawrence, Mrs. Frank Delaire, Mrs. Howard J. Hudson, Mrs. Marvin Townsend, all of Detroit; Mrs. Spencer Grammel and son, Spencer, Jr., of Ypsilanti; Mrs. Fred Tillman of Mt. Clemens; Mrs. Joe Grammel, Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. Wm. Grammel and daughter, Betty; Mrs. Thomas Gardner and daughter, June; Miss Mary Murray all of Plymouth, and the two guests of honor.

FACTS AND FANCIES

CUNCLUSIONS, based on arguments dealing only with fancies, usually prove to be both dangerous and illogical. When such conclusions are expressed in definite actions, disaster is the assured result. If out of surplus funds created by long periods of thirst, one desires to make an investment, he should be guided more by facts than fancies. The actual earning power of any concern expressed in dividends is a more accurate index to the safety of an investment than one's imagination kindled by reports and so-called "tips." The world of fancy is created by our own imagination—a world as we would like it to be. The world of facts is created by real conditions as they actually exist.

L. A. Barrett.

An interesting freak of human nature is to create an imaginary world—a world of fancies. Those who live in this kind of an artificial world welcome with all the gullibility of their natures—news, opinions and impressions which tend to keep the fires of fancy burning. In other words, in world of fancy conditions are believed to be just as one would like them to be. A person living in a world of this sort actually persuades himself that his own imagination is fully capable not only of interpreting but also of creating conditions he personally desires. He even accepts without question everything that seems to make this world of fancy an actual possibility. Speculation as a factor in the economic world is motivated by a world of fancy, while an investment disregards all conditions that fail to interpret anything but actual facts. For this reason an investment is safer than a speculation.

The distinction between artificial values created by one's imagination oftentimes run wild, and those values created by the actual facts in the case is also applicable to the world of moral values. The moral norms which prevail at any particular period are not necessarily right just because they are universally observed. The next generation may reverse both sentiment and practice. The test of the validity of moral norms is based upon facts and not fancies. Rome fell because of the decadence of moral ideals. Abnormal interpretations of definitely fixed moral values can create neither prosperity nor progress.

Nature depends upon facts or fundamental laws for her development and not upon substitutes or deviations from those laws. The world of reality is made possible by placing one's confidence in facts rather than fancies.

On January 29th, 1931
The Past Noble Grands
Thought we'd have some fun.
So we used our autos,
Instead of a sleigh
And out to Steve Jewell's,
We found our way.

We all took our smiles,
Our jokes, and our laughter,
For 'twas plain to be seen,
A good time we were after.

The ears weren't forgotten,
Each one took their share,
For a royal welcome
Was waiting us there.

Each cook did her best,
For she very well knew,
What eighteen Past
Noble Grands could do.

And did we enjoy
Our dinner? Oh Boy!
As we served up our jokes,
Our laughter and joy.

And when we had finished
Each had their fill,
Some one suggested
A slide on the hill.

So they put on their boots
But they went for a stride
While some weren't able
To crawl outside.

Our meeting we called,
Right promptly at two
Took care of old business
And everything new.

And then very soon,
As the day was yet young
The crowd to progressive
Pedro was swing.

Some played just for fun,
While others played wise,
And Minnie Medlin
Came home with first prize.

While her luck ran good
Florence Cline was consoled
And she won for a prize
A green mixing bowl.

And Eva Gray
Was lucky too
As she won the house prize
For an ace she drew.

And here our party
Came to an end
As we our homeward
Way must wend.

And as friendship loves
A grand renewal
We extend our thanks
To Mrs. Jewell.

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

TO CURE HICCoughs

ACCORDING to the American Folklore society they have in some sections a cure for hiccoughs which consists of putting the thumb against the lower lip with the fingers under the chin and saying nine times: "hiccup, hiccup over my thumb!" The efficacy of this charm resides in the magic power of the thumb. As far back as the days of the Egyptians the hand was regarded as endowed with mystic significance. Among the Romans each part of the hand had some special quality assigned to it and by the contour and markings of the hand the destiny of its owner could be ascertained by the wise. Chromancy we call this divining by the hand and many there be who believe in it and practice it to this day. Now the Latin word for the thumb was pollex, derived from, or allied to, the verb pollere, to be strong, and the adjective pollent, strong, powerful, prevailing. Thus the pollex was pollent. That is the thumb was powerful and prevailing. Thus we see the idea of power and mystic power—attached to the thumb, an idea originating, most likely, in the first place from its formation as compared with the fingers proper. Therefore when we apply the thumb to the lip in a case of hiccoughs we apply that which is powerful and prevailing. And the "hiccupps" get the worst of it.

"Yes," was the answer, with a careful survey of the hefty build of the stout: "I have the figure of a girl of sixteen; that's why I bought it."

NUTTY NATURAL HISTORY
BY HUGH HUTTONTHE HIGHLAND HOOT-MONGOOSE

THIS curious creature can be heard hooting during the evening in the mountainous regions of Scotland. The young hootmongoose is born with these trousers, so is not forced to wear kilts like the Scotchmen whose feet are too big to go through trouser legs.

The hootmongoose goes hunting for the Earthling, the Scottish pest, with untiring zeal. When a Farthing is cornered, the hootmongoose strangles it and puts it in its hip pocket. Dead hootmongoses have been found with as many as 500 Earthlings in their hip pockets. Here is a young one out on its first Farthing hunt.

He has a fibrous body, a peanut head, split almond tail, macaroni trousers, toothpick legs, and almond shell feet. His bill is a sawed-off split peanut, and the topknob is the ball from a clove.

Cows will eat an unpalatable grain mixture or low-grade hay more readily if flavored with molasses. Before adding the molasses, mix it with enough water to make it flow freely. Excessive quantities of molasses make the ration too laxative. Don't give more than 3 pounds a day to each cow.

Chevrolet Adds Coupe To Line

Addition of a new convertible cabriolet to the 1931 line of Chevrolet sixes was announced recently by W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager.

The new body type lists at $815 f. o. b. Flint, Mich., and brings the number of passenger models in the Chevrolet line to ten, providing an unusually wide range of models in a low priced car.

The new convertible Cabriolet is a deluxe type car, with sport accessories as standard equipment. Finish is in new Duece combinations of English gray, with the upper panel in Duphine green, and trim stripe and wheels in cream.

The new model offers a smart combination of style and utility. With the top raised it becomes a comfortable enclosed coupe. With the top lowered, it is a gay open roadster. The folding top is of fabric, with chrome plated handin irons in the rear and a rumble seat enlarged to carry two passengers comfortably.

Both the rumble seat and the front seat are upholstered in leather, a small leather ridge running down the center of the driver's seat, which is adjustable to separate the passengers. Instrument panel is of special sport design, an ash tray and pocket are in the right front door and a small package compartment is located back of the front seat. Included as standard equipment are a cowl ventilator, cow lights, chromite frame on windshield and windows, which lower flush with the door sills, five wire wheels, forward folding windshield, three chromite plated assist handles to afford easy access to the rumble seat, and radiator grille.

The new type was first shown at the National Automobile show at New York, and dealers throughout the country are being stocked with models for immediate delivery.

Here's a good tutti-frutti sauce for ice cream or blanc mange: Strain the juice from 4 slices of canned pineapple, add sufficient water to make 1 pint, and combine with 1/4 cup of sugar and 1/4 teaspoon of salt. Cook for about 10 minutes or until the syrup is fairly thick. Break 1-1/2 cup of blanched almonds in halves, cut the sliced pine apple into thin pieces, and add to the syrup with 1 cup of candied cherries and 1/2 cup of citron, both cut in small pieces. Boil for a few minutes, chill and serve with the dessert.

Voting will take place at the Village Hall in Precinct No. 1, which embraces all that part of the Village lying south and west of the P. M. Ry. right-of-way; and at the tarkweather School in Precinct No. 2, which includes all of that part of the Village lying north and east of the P. M. Ry. the right of way.

Polls will open at 8:00 o'clock a. m. Eastern Standard Time and will remain open until 7:30 o'clock P. M. Eastern Standard Time.

Registrations will be received by the Board of Registration at the Village Hall during the business hours of any business day up to and including Saturday, February 7, 1931, and from 6:00 p. m. to 8:30 p. m. of Saturday, January 31 and February 7, 1931. Dearborn Opens New Soup Kitchen

Dearborn's newest innovation, a "soup kitchen," has been put into effect by Mayor Clyde M. Ford at the corner of Mulkey and Dix avenues. The kitchen, which was the result of a meeting a short time ago when residents of what is known as the south end of the city came before the council and asked aid, is functioning in real style.

The plan which was formulated by the mayor and which received the support of the council in granting $1,000 for this work, formally opened Monday morning. At that time there were registered 108 persons. These people were all required to fill out a questionnaire concerning themselves, giving facts and references. When the application is filled out, the party receives a card for meals for one week. Two meals a day are provided by the city. Breakfast is served from nine until eleven and the afternoon meal is served from four until six. The store building used as the kitchen has been rented by the city in the central part of the territory where the needy reside.

From the standpoint of nutrition, the egg is really two foods, rather than one. The white part is almost a pure watery solution of certain proteins of high quality for body-building and maintenance. The yolk furnishes not only fat and protein of fine quality, but has an unusually rich store of the minerals and vitamins necessary for growth and development. Children need an egg a day, if possible.

Hearts Are Trump On Valentine's Day

I Hope You Break Your Neck

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

FOR ALL the robbers who despoil the country or the city, the one I'd like to boil in oil, Not show the slightest pity, Is not some crook who runs around. Although there are a number, But one who makes one awful sound That robs me of my slumber.

Long after dark he comes along, It may be near eleven, And does the world the greatest wrong. A man can, under heaven. Some thief may take our cash and keep,

Some men will rob their mothers; The fool who robs us of our sleep, Is worse than all the others.

In life he wants to make this man, A noise while passing through it, And does—the only way he can, Without the brains to do it.

To love the human race I try, But here is what I'm hopin'—

You'll break your neck if you're the guy

Who leaves his cutout open. (©, 1931, Douglas Malloch.)

Through a Woman's Eyes

By Mrs. Newton

SWAPPING MATES

IN A western state there is a case on record of real wife swapping! Two couples actually did what so many husbands and wives have at some point in their joint careers wished they could do—swapped husbands and wives—oh, all above board and legal, or almost legal as the story will show.

Two couples living on farms four and a half miles apart, decided that they preferred each other's mate to their own.

Thereupon, each testifying for the other, without cancer and without tears, both women obtained simultaneous divorce decrees and immediately turned around and exchanged mates in a double wedding ceremony.

That, it seems, was the only disreputable thing they did, for the divorce decrees distinctly stated that they could not remarry within ninety days; and after all the trouble they had taken to remain respectable and in accordance with the law they found themselves nevertheless in conflict with it. The state alleged that under the circumstances they were not married to each other at all and began criminal proceedings. For a year the sword hung over these newly married couples and the children which each other had taken with her.

The judge dismissed the proceedings against them, saying that in "swapping mates" as they did they violated no law of the state, and that if any punishment is to be meted out to them "it must be left to the unfailing penalties of their consciences—those fierce and refined pains and punishments which conscience alone may inflict!"

To my mind that judge is not a practical man. Fancy his leaving to such an indefinite quantity as conscience the "punishment" he feels these people deserve! How much nearer the possibility of retribution in just year or two of the ordinary routine of married life with the new mates—married life minus the thrills of prosecution or ostracism!

KNOWING The TREES

WEEPING WILLOW

(Salix Babylonica)

THE weeping willow is a large, gracefully drooping tree with light, soft wood. The bark is dark gray and rough. The leaves are long, narrow, and taper to a sharp point.

While the weeping willow is not subject to many important diseases, there are a few leaf diseases which may cause defoliation. However, the mottled willow frequently causes serious injury to the trunks and branches.

The weeping willow has little commercial value, but is cultivated extensively as an ornamental tree. It can easily be distinguished by its drooping branches.

On weeping and weeping that the petition of Frank

For getting and getting that the administration of estate be granted to Charles H. Rathburn Jr., or some other suitable person:

It is ordered, That the fourth day of March, 1931, at ten o'clock in the forenoon at Court Room be appointed for hearing said petition.

And it is further Ordered, That a copy of said petition, published three successive weeks previous to said time of hearing, in the Plymouth Daily News, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Wayne.

CATHOLIC NOTES

Sunday is Holy Name Sunday. All men are requested to receive Holy Communion.

Blessing of the throats will be imparted Sunday after each of the Masses.

Father Lefevre has been confined to his room with a serious ear infection. Father Fabian Kelley of the Passionist Monastery has been assisting Father Lefevre and will be here for the Sunday masses.

Lent begins Feb. 18.

February has been set aside for the food collection.

Mrs. Joseph Zilasko, Sr., has been home ill; also Mrs. Joseph Ronzetti.

Mrs. O. N. Polley, 425 N. Harvey St., will entertain the Altar Society of Our Lady of Good Counsel church, at a one o'clock luncheon and cards, Thursday, February 12.

"Love" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, February 1.

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear, because fear hath torment. He that feareth is not made perfect in love." (1 John 4:18).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Truth and Love come nearer in the hour of woe, when strong faith or spiritual strength wrestles and prevails through the understanding of God. The Gabriel of His presence has no contests. The infinite, ever-present Love, all is Love, and there is no error, no sin, sickness, nor death." (p. 567).

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES.

A good deal of interest is already being manifested in the next meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary which will be held Wednesday, February 11th at 2:30 p. m. in the church parlors. A play, entitled "Glancy," which promises to be very interesting is to be presented by seven or eight of the women; the music will be in charge of Mrs. Moon and refreshments will be served. Probably every woman in the congregation will wish to be at this meeting. Those who drive are asked to think of others who would come if given a ride.

The meeting of the Busy Women's class on Tuesday of this week brought out a large attendance. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. George Crainer, North Harvey St. Mr. A. D. Stevens was present and received from the class congratulations on the 50th anniversary of his birth, which he celebrated this month. The program was in charge of Mrs. L. H. Root and was much enjoyed.

The ladies of the February circle of the Auxiliary will hold a bake sale Saturday beginning at one o'clock at Butterbury's market.

BAPTIST NOTES

Beginning tonight and lasting through until Sunday night, Rev. Ralph Stoll of Sandusky, Ohio, will conduct the services.

Saturday afternoon (tomorrow) at 2:30 p. m., all children of the church and neighborhood, up to the age of 13 are invited to meet in the church parlors. A good time is promised to all who attend.

Thursday, February 12th, the Association Rally for the young people is to be held in the church parlors.

The banquet and speakers for the evening are worth your while coming.

Last Sunday evening with 42 in attendance at B. Y. P. U. a decidedly good message was put across on the Second Coming of Christ. You are missing something, friend, if you do not investigate these meetings.

The Ladies' Aid will hold their regular meeting in the church parlors Wednesday afternoon, February 11 at two o'clock.

METHODIST NOTES

"He which soweth sparingly shall reap also sparingly; and he which soweth bountifully shall reap also bountifully."

"Every man according as he purposeth in his heart so let him give; not grudgingly, or of necessity; for God loveth a cheerful giver." II Corinthians 9:6,7.

"Milo began to lift the ox when it was a calf. If Milo had waited until the calf had grown to the proportions of an ox he could not have lifted it; but he began to lift it when it was small. Let us apply the lesson we make a pledge to the church, say of fifty-two dollars a year. If we begin to lift it at the rate of one dollar a week, it is probably easy enough to lift the entire fifty-two dollars. But if we let it grow to fifty-two before we begin to lift—well, that may be quite a burden. Do not forget that Milo began to lift the Ox when it was a calf."

Next Wednesday, February 11, the Missionary Society will meet with Mrs. James Glass on Burroughs St. Luncheon in charge of Mrs. Wm. Hood will be served at 12:30. All are requested to bring dishes and silver. The program "W. F. M. S. Work in India" will be given by Mrs. Holler and Mrs. Fluelling. Mrs. Hager will have the devotions. All interested in missions are cordially invited to meet with us.

Remember the meetings of the week? The mid-week service Wednesday, 7:15 to 8:00 o'clock. This meeting is inspirational and very delightful. We, each one, need the spiritual help this service provides.

The young people of the community are all cordially invited to meet at the church for their social and devotional hour. Sunday evening at 6:00 o'clock.

The Junior Sunday-school children are urged to be in their places promptly at 11:30 on Sunday, so they will not either miss or interrupt the story which is part of our worship.

EPISCOPAL NOTES

Make a special effort to be present—it will be worth it!

Mother's Cook Book

It is a glorious privilege to live, to love, to look up at the blue summer sky; to see the sun sink slowly beyond the line of the horizon; to watch the worlds come twinkling into view, first one by one, and the myriads that are white, is white; and you and I are here—Marco Morow.

OLD FRENCH FAVORITES

FRENCH cooking has in times past been considered the sine qua non of that art. However, America is beginning to notice that our cooking is quite excellent, and worth talking about. We must give the French cooks the honor due them in being masters of economy, something in this country we have yet to learn. The business of the French cook is to extract the utmost possibility from every article of food on the menu, and then present it in the most attractive form. A worthwhile business for every cook to master.

At Mardi Gras where the following dish is to be had in perfection, several sorts of fish are used, all of the more delicate varieties. With us any of the fine-grained fish will answer, as well as cod or mackerel.

Bouillabaisse a La Provencale.

Take three pounds of fish, mine two onions, and one parsnip and cook in oil until light brown. Add two large tomatoes, a clove of garlic, one-half teaspoonful of powdered saffron, some sprigs of parsley and a bay leaf. Add one quart of water, cover closely and cook 20 minutes. This is usually served all together in a soup tureen, with diced toasted bread placed in the bottom of the tureen.

Burgundian Pate.

For this dish the breast of two chickens will be required. Pound them to a paste. Add one cupful of fresh bread crumbs well mixed with half a cupful of melted butter, one-half teaspoonful of salt, dash of cayenne and five well-beaten eggs. Cook six livers and six gizzards until tender, in chicken stock, add one cupful of chopped cooked ham and one cupful of mushrooms. Cook all a few minutes, then cool. Line a pate mold with puff paste, fill with the mixture, cover with an ornamental top of pastry and bake in moderate oven. Cover with paper, if the pate seems to be browning too fast. Pour in a little stock through the opening in the lid. Serve hot or cold.

Mrs. Jessie Thomas visited her cousin in South Lyon, last week; also Mrs. Shepard.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Green and family of Detroit, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Gurnee.

Newburg friends wish to congratulate the newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Basil Carney. May they have a long and happy wedded life.

Miss Florence Stuart, of Ypsilanti, spent Wednesday evening with her parents, the occasion being Ruth's birthday.

"MOROCCO"

A personality, a beauty as devastating as anything that has ever been seen on the screen will appear at the Peniman Allen theatre Sunday and Monday, February 8 and 9, in the tremendous spectacle of the French Foreign Legion, "Morocco." She is Marlene Dietrich, the new Continental star, who in "Morocco," begins a moving picture career which will surely sweep her from the front rank of moving picture favorites.

One just can't help marveling at Marlene Dietrich in spite of the fact that Gary Cooper, in the starring role portrays in "Morocco" one of the greatest characters he has yet undertaken. Again in uniform, Cooper is that type of devil-may-care, soldier lover whom every woman dreams of, and every man admires.

In "Morocco," the talking screen has found its voice of love. Here is a love story that is vital, soul stirring, real, with a ruthless unremitting fervor that dwarfs all other emotions. Cooper or a soldier of the Legion; Miss Dietrich, a woman of mystery, a cabaret singer, who wins all men. These two meet against the colorful background of "Morocco" and fall in love. Adolphe Menjou, the dapper sophisticate who starred in many memorable pictures, is the third member of the intriguing triangle that develops when Miss Dietrich whirls her charms into the opening scenes.

We recall the thrilling adventures of "Beam Gesté," the amazing action of "Beam Sabreur," and we still record our highest praise to this magnificent love drama, "Morocco." It is stunningly real; compellingly human; brilliant in its setting; supreme in its acting. Its true artistry is attested by the name of Josef von Sternberg as director.

"HER WEDDING NIGHT"

"Her Wedding Night," revealing the amusing and romantic adventures of a slick-haired movie star who tries to escape the men, and a song writer whose numerous lady friends make life miserable for him, is Clara Bow's new riotous laugh-and-love hit showing at the Peniman Allen theatre Wednesday and Thursday, February 11 and 12.

"Her Wedding Night" is an Avery Hopwood farce, with a succession of comedy situations that bubble and froth in rapid crescendo to an exciting and thrilling climax. It is a new type of vehicle for the "it" girl, being altogether farce without the customary dash of drama. It's built for laughs only, but there's plenty of loving to occupy the Red-Head.

Ralph Forbes, the handsome hero of "Beam Gesté," and recently seen in "A Lady of Scandal," with Greta Garbo, gives full play to his talent for straight farce in this "it" show. And Charlie Ruggles, playing in his first Paramount Hollywood studio picture, brings his fresh humor to an important supporting role. Also, there's Skeets Gallagher's tongue-provoking seriousness to add spice to the comedy, and a trio of Hollywood beauties, Geneva Mitchell, Rosita Moreno and Natalie Kingston, to pep up the show.

The story opens in Paris where Clara is battling a host of heart-breakers and preparing to tie the knot with the south of France. On the trip she is marooned at a small waystation and mistaken for an eloping bride, wedded against her will to Skeets Gallagher, and, as he is traveling under an assumed name, she becomes the bride, by proxy, of a man she has never even met. When the strangely paired couple does meet there is a riot, and a delicious love story.

"Her Wedding Night" is built strictly for laughs, according to Frank Tuttle, the man who made it. Inasmuch as Tuttle also made "Sweetie," "True to the Navy," and "Love Among the Millionaires," "Her Wedding Night" should be just what he says it is. He knows laughs and he knows Clara Bow.

"ALONG CAME YOUTH"

Charles Rogers, that handsome young favorite of film fadists, whose sparkling zest made his name a household word in such comedies as "Safety in Numbers," "Follow Thru," and "Head Up," will be seen at the Peniman Allen theatre Friday and Saturday, February 13 and 14 in "Along Came Youth," a refreshing romance comedy of sporting (and kitchen) life in jolly old England.

"Along Came Youth" Rogers is seen as a young American sportsman stranded in London after a series of reverses with his string of blooded horses at the race-tracks. Forced to take a job as chef in the baronial mansion of a visiting South American millionaire, he bluffs his way through the culinary duties, abetted by the comical blunderings of his trainer, Smart Ewin.

There's a girl at a neighboring manor with whom he falls in love; and there are any number of mouth-provoking events built round the bizarre situations of the play.

The finale is a thrilling steeple-chase in which Rogers rides his favorite hunter to fame and fortune.

The story was written by George Marion Jr., the comedy-fashioneer who regaled the movie-going public with "Sweetie," "Let's Go Native" and "Safety in Numbers."

"Along Came Youth" deserves your attendance.

BARTLETT SCHOOL NOTES

Elizabeth Reich, Dorothy Hoblins, Thelma Tegge, Charlotte Dennis and Doris Campbell made a Health House outing outside for the sides,raham crackers for the roof, raisins to outline the windows, apricots for the border around the bottom of the house, rice for the stones for both sides of the driveway.

The 5, 6, 7, and 8th grades are planning a trip to the Ford museum at Dearborn, Thursday, February 12, 1931.

The Sunshine circle met at Marie Korte's for a party Friday, January 30. They played many games suggested by the 4-H club pamphlets. A most delicious dinner was served by Mrs. Korte at 6:00 o'clock. The dinner was planned, prepared and served entirely according to the lectures given at the Nutrition on Home Management meetings. Mrs. Hewer assisted Mrs. Korte.

The SANDMAN STORY

ABOUT THE BEARS

ONE of my babies is with me," said Mother Black Bear to Billie Brownie, who had gone to call on her in the heart of the great mountain forests.

"The other two are at yonder camp," she said.

"You know that the most seasoned and fearless hunter will tremble if he even imagines a mother grizzly with her young."

"A mother grizzly is so devoted to her young, so intense in her desire to protect, that any mother grizzly is dangerous because she looks upon all men as enemies of her children.

"I Shall Tell My Friends What You Say," Said Billie Brownie.

"With us it is quite different. Often campers will capture some of our young to amuse and entertain them throughout the summer.

"There is nothing quite so cunning as a bear cub, nor so amusing and appealing and funny and jolly.

"Of course at times a bear cub is cross, but he is cunning even then.

"My two were captured when I was driven up tree by a dog belonging to yonder campers. I had, as I've told you, three little ones, two black and one brown.

"They left one of the black ones with me, this one you see.

"Throughout the season they played and frisked about and were left off their leashes to go up the trees for naps.

"Then the campers would go up after them and they'd come burrying down like naughty children who know they have stayed out too long.

"Every evening I went to the camp, I and my little one, just to see that all was well.

"I would not venture too near. I was afraid of that dog. Naturally I would be."

"And I haven't been able to get over that fear."

"But I liked to see that all was going well and to keep a mother bear's eye on my young."

"I can't fight as a grizzly with a grim, relentless, fierce power.

"I am the kind of a mother bear that I am."

"But I am looking after the baby I have with me—really, he is no longer a baby."

"You will see if you stay around long enough that he grows and grows.

"In fact, it is lucky that his skin and fur grows, too, so that he is always well covered, us, if it weren't for that, I don't know how I'd keep him in clothes—he grows so."

"I've heard campers saying that their children just grew out of their clothes, and it was so hard to keep getting them new things."

"That I can well understand. But they should have bear ways."

"When our children grow in size their coats grow with them."

"Surely that is sensible. In fact, animals have many sensible ways which people have not."

"That is true," Billie Brownie said. "I shall tell my friends what you say. I feel that they will agree with you."

"And I think, too, they will agree that a little bear cub is about the cutest little thing in the world."

Billie Brownie hadn't long to stay.

He had many engagements to keep, but he promised Mother Black Bear that he would be back again and see how her children grew.

"They grow right before your very eyes," said Mother Black Bear.

But, as Billie Brownie went off, he said to himself:

"Mother Grizzly is a dangerous lady, but she loves her children more than Mother Black Bear does—that is certain."

ELM SCHOOL NOTES

Our school people are taking toxin-anti-toxin and vaccination. We are trying to earn our star for immunization.

The people who are on the dental honor roll are: Lloyd Trinka, August Card, Marion Thomas, Ernest Thomas and our teacher, Mrs. Douglas.

Miss Reid, our school nurse, gave a posture test on Thursday. Those who received 'A' in posture are: Marion Thomas, William Wolfram, Lola Sternig, August Card, Myrtle Booker, Ernest Thomas, Mildred Card and Ida Mae Stapp. The rest received 'B' and are going to try to be on the A posture list next time we are tested.

The eighth grade boys have made a postur tester, testing three ears of seed corn.

The fifth and sixth grades have made true posture charts.

The seventh and eighth grades have made dental charts keeping track of the days when their teeth are brushed.

We are deeply grieved over the death of one of our little schoolmates, Earl Jordan. The family have our sincere sympathy.

An abnormal erosion on range lands can be controlled by establishing a ground cover of plant growth, according to the United States Forest Service, which has been conducting experiments on this problem in the Southwest. Where a few perennial grass roots remain and the soil has not been depleted, restoration of cover under protection from overgrazing is fairly rapid, but where the grass is practically gone and where the soil has been removed or impoverished by erosion, recovery will be very slow. In moderately grazed or totally protected areas the trend is for improved pasture.

Detroit Country Day School Here Tonight

MASTER OF MAKE-UP SPEAKER AT ASSEMBLY

The first assembly of the second semester was opened with a group of announcements given by Mr. Dykhouse who stated that the credit slips would be given out by the group teachers at the end of the assembly. He said that the student council tickets are on sale for the second semester. He announced that the basketball team would play Wayne, Friday, at Wayne. For the benefit of the new students, he said that during school hours, lockers may only be used at 10:00 and 1:30. He reminded the students of the Plythean sale Thursday and Friday, when a fifty cent deposit must be made. Marion Gust announced that all names of people to whom students wish invitations sent must be in by Friday.

Mr. Dykhouse then introduced Mr. Neill Bellharz, the master of make-up. Mr. Bellharz' first presentation was an old-time country school debate in which he took all the parts, which ranged from the group's leading citizen to a stranger from Boston. Not many stuck very closely to the subject which was: "Resolved, that the printing press should be suppressed." One, the village drunkard, got the word "printing" mixed with "elder" and vigorously upheld the elderpress. Mr. Bellharz portrayed these by means of voice, wigs and beards, and the bearing of the body. In his next sketch, he showed the character by voice and bearing only. This was a small boy entertaining his big sister's company. His next sketch was Uncle Hank of Beaverville, Michigan, who read personal items from the home paper, the Beaverville Bugle. The next was an Irishman's version of how Columbus discovered America. The last was a reading supposedly given by him when he was a boy in a country school. His program was varied and all very interesting.

MAJORITY PASS BADGE TESTS

The girls' athletic badge tests, which were held in the gym after school last Wednesday, were won out by the American Playground and Recreation Association of America and are sponsored here by the Plymouth Woman's Club. Those who passed the girls in passing these tests were Mrs. Buzard, Mrs. Chapman, Mrs. Blackstock, Miss Allen and Miss Kees.

There are four tests that each one must pass. First is the walking balance beam. It consists of walking a beam twenty-four feet long, taking one deep knee bend, turning around and walking backward. Second is the potato race which covers a distance of twenty-two seconds, blocks must be picked up and placed from one circle to another. Third is the basketball distance throw of thirty-five feet, and fourth is the basketball goal throw. At a distance of ten feet from the basket two out of five throws must be made.

These tests were given last year and the total number of girls taking them was 97 compared to 149 for this year. From the 91 of last year, 39 girls passed everything, and 23 passed all but the balance beam. This year 97 out of the 149 girls passed all the tests; 18 girls passed all events but one which was the balance beam with one exception; 21 girls passed two events and failed twice; 9 failed three out of the four, while 3 failed all four tests.

In June, at the Honor Assembly, the 97 girls who passed all events will receive a bronze pin inscribed with the picture of an athletic girl and one star signifying the first badge test. These girls will also receive twenty-five points toward their school lettermen. Miss Kees expresses herself as very well pleased by the effort the girls have put forth and by the great increase of contestants over the previous year.

DO YOU LIVE UP TO THIS

Clothes play their part in citizenship and success according to Mr. Collier's civic classes which have collected material on proper clothing. A committee from the classes headed by Kathleen Ford has summarized all the data brought in by the class in a booklet titled, "Do You Live Up To This?"

All types of clothing from shoes to hats and for all occasions have been illustrated, and, in addition, the point has been brought out that proper clothing being conducive to better health and comfort makes better citizens. And it was also pointed out that proper or improper clothing affects the personality and consequently influences success.

12 AND 8 GRADES LEAD ALL TEAMS IN BASKETBALL

The boys' class basketball league has been progressing fast in the past few weeks until every team has played at least three games. The 5-A grade made a diagram of the circulation of the blood. Mrs. Brown visited this room last Wednesday. The 5-A children are studying Asia. The six-B children are writing stories of personal experiences. The five-A are now having their first oral book report. They are also having a test in hygiene. The six-B are having a test in history. All of the children are going to do their best in checking health habits because they have some new health crusade charts.

GIRL RESERVES HOUSECLEAN

Even in clubs, since they are composed of humans, dust gathers and dulls the bright sparkle of the willing spirit; so last Friday the first meeting of the girl reserves this semester, was housecleaning day in both the junior and senior groups. The officers impressed on the girls how gradually the life of the clubs had been dulled and many of the members have become sitters. They asked for suggestions of ways to make the club more interesting and, above all, for cooperation. As the quota of the club is filled, so many who would make good members cannot join, it was suggested that girls who realize they are slaves and do not care to overcome the habit, drop the club.

8-A FOODS

A burly logging boss was giving instructions to a new timekeeper. Shoving his hand into the pocket of his overalls, he pulled out a key ring full of keys. Fumbling among them, he finally separated two from their jingling companions.

"This here's the key," said he, pointing to one, "for the store, and this one here is for the tool house, and the rest—well, they're just keys."

Strange, indeed, is the collecting power of the key-ring. But that nickel-plated bit of hardware has nothing on the average refrigerator. Many a housekeeper could match the lumberjack's instruction as she turns over her kitchen to the new maid. "Now here," she might say, as she opens the door of the refrigerator, "is the cold meat for luncheon, and there is the boiled rice for the pudding tonight, and the rest—well, they're just leftovers."

Miss Gray's food classes have tried to see what they can do in the way of using the above left-overs. The girls worked out ways of combining these foods to be used in luncheon menus so that the same food could be served again but in a different way.

Someone suggested that the housewife could buy bigger refrigerators to hold the left-overs or invent some loud-speaking device for our present model that will cry out as the door is opened, "How about using us leftovers today?"

MISS WELLS' GROUP WINS BANNER

There has been a great deal of competition among the group meetings since the school banking system has been established. The thrift banner, given each week to the room having the highest percentage of contributions, went to Miss Wells' group for the past two weeks. Last week 55.8 per cent of the group deposited savings. Both Miss Trout and Miss Berg came in second place, their groups having 53 per cent.

SECONDS WIN BUT LOSE

In the preliminary game with Wayne, last Friday, the Plymouth second team, after three discouraging quarters, edged up to the tall end of a 19-15 score to win from a strong Wayne second team.

After returning to Plymouth joyful because of their victory, the seconds learned that they must forfeit their game because of the ineligibility of one man that played in the game, but they are willing to forfeit it because they know that they really won.

SENIOR GIRL WINS HIGHEST LETTER AWARD

Norma Savery has earned the highest award the girls may earn in letters, the five-inch white chenille old English letter with a navy blue star. Last year she earned her 1,000-point letter, and has earned 400 additional points this year. She is the first girl to win it, and we feel that she is very worthy of the award.

STARKWEATHER SCHOOL NOTES

The children in Miss Stukely's room who had perfect attendance for the first semester are: Louis Smith, Nelson Parmenter, Virginia Dunham and Patricia McIntosh. Their room received the "Thrift" banner for this week.

The children in Mrs. Moles' room who had perfect attendance for the first semester are: Ruth Ash and Helen Jane Springer from the third-B grade; Elmer Passage from the third-A grade; Wilma Cripe, Olivia Marroe, Donald Mielbeck and Vern Schmidt from the four-B. Mrs. Moles is teaching only two grades and she believes she can do much better this year.

The four-A grade has a five minute drill in arithmetic on subtraction, division and multiplication. Teams have been chosen for these drills and the Red Sox team is one ahead of the White Sox. Twenty stars have been earned in spelling so far. Mrs. Hunt's room also won the P. T. A. banner. The five-A made a diagram of the circulation of the blood, for hygiene study. In language the children are writing experiences that have happened to them. Miss Hunt has forty children in her room.

7-B CLOTHING

There are certain questions that a girl in beginning sewing is confronted with. Some of them are:

1. Can you use the sewing machine?
2. Can you make underwear for yourself?
3. Can you tell whether material is durable and serviceable?
4. Can you select material for your clothing?

A few of the girls have had some experience in making doll clothes. For those who have not had experience in sewing, things needed about the house—shoebags, hot dish holders, and such are chosen as their first problem.

The girls this semester are making a laundry bag called the Japanese Laundry Bag for the reason that, when hung up it resembles a colorful Japanese lantern. The girls can make rapid progress on these articles as it is not difficult to cut them out, it is easy to put together and it is easy to use the machine on them.

BELL AROUSES CURIOSITY

In the middle of a sleepy-eight-hour class, the bell suddenly rang. The girls raised up as though pulled by a single string. "What, the hour that nearly over?"

But no, the bell tinkled again and again, and still again. "Fire!" yelled one experimenting lad, but the rest smiled skeptically while still looking curiously at one another. As soon as the hour was really over, one girl at length peered out of the room consumed with curiosity about those four rings. She expected to hear that it was a signal of sudden death or, oh, most anything exciting, but discovered that it meant just a teacher's meeting that night. Then with a blush,

"Oh, what a beautiful day!"

Well, and we supped in a well-known refectory.

On what a lovely night!

Taking the hint, I was not very slow.

Oh, what a gorgeous day!

Soon we were gushing as lovers can.

Told her I loved her, but she answered

"Hush!"

Then when I kissed her, she said, with a blush,

"Oh, what a beautiful day!"

Well, and we supped in a well-known refectory.

On what a lovely night!

Take it bankrupt before we come away.

Oh, what a lovely night!

Please you will guess that it ended in strike.

Got a black eye and escaped with my life.

Nonsense! The end is that she is my wife.

TORCH CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

At their first meeting, the Torch Club elected the following officers for this semester: President, Donald Brown; Vice-president, Robert Chapman; Secretary, Lester Bassett; and treasurer, William Tuck. An Inner Circle meeting will be held Monday to map out the program for this semester. The purpose of the Torch Club is to help the boys solve problems that confront them, but as we look back during the past we see that this club found an important problem of giving baskets of food to the needy. Rather than giving the baskets out in the holiday season, they distributed them as the need arose.

CLASS LEARNS PRETTY ART

Remember the occasional gift box you have gotten that was entirely too pretty to open? Learning how to wrap that sort of a package is occupying the time of Mrs. Brower's Art Appreciation Class. So far, the students have already made several, that it would be a shame to open. A black silhouette box of Christmas trees on a bluish-purple background marks one; another, tinsel and a monstrous big bow; another, wheels, stars and appliqued scenes still others. By the time they finish, gift days are going to be more beautiful in several homes.

As to the high school art classes,

HYGIENE PUPILS LEARN HOW TO BE HEALTHY

They know how to live right for health, do the students of Miss Stukely's 7-B hygiene class. If only they carry out the rules they know so well. Why, so sure they know them? Their excellent scrap books illustrating health laws is a good proof of their knowledge. Not an accepted rule have they left from their clever books in which they have illustrated every precept.

The 7-B hygiene class has made a model village. Small houses are placed at the proper distance from each other consonant for health, and many trees dot the landscape. All in all, it is too bad that there are not more real towns built on the health rules that the class has illustrated in its model.

STUDENTS VISIT THE FAR NORTH

They are taking imaginary trips to the cold northland, the members of the sixth-grade geography class have learned a great deal about the life and customs of the Eskimos. Many of the class wrote stories about the thrilling adventures of hunting seals, living in igloos, and traveling on little sleds pulled by teams of Eskimo dogs. Large posters portraying scenes of the far north were put on the bulletin board.

THEIR FUTURE

---it's up to you!

Your children, for whom you plan such wonderful things! Are you giving them that most important thing of all—the background of a truly modern home? A home in which, for instance, a plentiful supply of hot water makes the daily bath, the frequent shampoo, a matter of charming habit? Their future health, beauty, and popularity, will depend so much upon the personal niceties they learn now. And their food—are you building sturdy bodies and keen, sparkling minds with proper food, cooked exactly right on an up-to-date gas range... safely preserved in a dependable Electrolux refrigerator? Most important of all, have your children the time and attention of parents who are happy and contented, freed by modern gas service from daily household irritations? Gas service costs so little—often less than it costs to get along without it. Let us tell you more about it.

By LEONARD A. BARRETT

FAUST

GOETHE'S Faust introduces us to a scene in heaven, where Satan, as Mephistopheles, argues for an opportunity to prove that in spite of the fact that God pronounced his creation "very good," within the heart of man there is very little joy, and that if given opportunity, a man would be willing to sell his soul for the possession of happiness.

In order to prove his theory, Satan requests possession of the soul of Faust which request is granted. That the vendor will not be successful is assured, for that even though the prophecy is Faust may yield to sin and sell his very birthright, he soon will have discovered that within his heart burns the unquenchable fires and aspirations for the noble.

Faust fears at Easter dawn the music of cathedral bells. Thoughts of the human life bring him no joy. With suicidal intent he presses a vial of poison to his lips. Satan appears, promising him happiness if he would be his subject. Satan caused Faust to drink deep from the cup of power, only to leave his heart adumbrated and his eyes like hills of steel. The world of pleasure with abundant opportunities for happiness is next offered Faust, but again he retires from it, satiated, tired and disappointed. Satan is defeated again.

Faust goes decides not to live for himself but for others. He reclaimed a wide stretch of land from the ocean which he made into a beautiful park where artisans could rest and little children play. Thus Faust discovered that happiness was found in service. "In the merging of the interest of self into the general good." Thus through service Faust found his way to happiness.

In his dying hour Faust fears not, but with repentant heart for past wrongs, and with a full faith in God and man, he sees others continuing the work of service and sacrifice which he started.

The story of Faust teaches us that happiness is not the cry of man's physical nature. It is the outreaching of a spiritual nature which only the possession of spiritual realities can satisfy.

Seventh and Eighth Grades

Ray Schofield, Teacher

Our Gymnasium Period.—The pupils of the seventh and eighth grades enjoy a twenty-minute gymnasium period each day. The first part of the enjoyed twenty minutes is given to various gymnastic exercises in which our teacher, Mr. Schofield, is the instructor. In the latter part of the period we play games. We have played fox and hound, squirrel in the tree, jumprope, and volleyball ball. According to reports there will be basketball playing before long.

We give up our usual fifteen minute period for recess and have a five minute intermission which leaves us twenty minutes for gymnasium. We enjoy it very much.

The new Ford has more than twenty ball and roller bearings

EVIDENCE of the high quality built into the new Ford is the extensive use of ball and roller bearings. There are more than twenty in all—an unusually large number. Each bearing is adequate in size and carefully selected for the work it has to do.

At some points in the Ford chassis you will find ball bearings. At others, roller bearings are used regardless of their higher cost. The deciding factor is the performance of the car.

The extensive use of ball and roller bearings in the new Ford insures smoother operation, saves gasoline, increases speed and power, gives quicker pick-up, decreases noise, and gives greater reliability and longer life to vital moving parts.

Other outstanding features that make the new Ford a value far above the price are the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, silent, fully enclosed four-wheel brakes, four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, aluminum pistons, chrome silicon alloy valves, three-quarter floating rear axle, Rustless Steel, the extensive use of fine steel forgings, and unusual accuracy in manufacturing.

on last Friday night, was as usual a stormy blustery night, which was probably the reason that some twenty odd beautiful pottery pitchers were placed one on each table (in case rain would come thru the roof—but it didn't) any how, however, over a hundred came over and played at bridge, 300 and had a good happy time. The ladies served dainty sandwiches and coffee. The crowd was in for another party right away quick so they might get a prize of one of them there aforsaid pitchers, but were warned to go home as the wind was getting wilder and colder and also that it was already another day (Saturday), so they all went about 12:45 and the old house was again in its usual midnite darkness, and the treasury fifteen dollars more ahead of the red ink bottle.

Pans

(just one) was found by Perry Gray (list Whenslee, in his door yard garden, too. This probably is a sign of early spring; even if the little groundhog did see his shadow on Monday last, Honest Ijim, Mister Ripley, is so far as we all saw it (the prissy).

day next Sundee, and we hope every day thereafter, will be celebrated in the Gardens by all Gardenite daddies and sonnies. We know that there is an organized conspiracy in the hearts of many to make bigger and better gardens for mother this year, not that Sundee celebration has anything to do with it, but we bet a ginger cookie if may at that.

et cetera, from many callers at her home, was accorded our youngest (in spirit) resident, Mrs. Anna Brockway Gray, by all Gardenites, young, middle aged and older than that. Mrs. Gray celebrated her 80th anniversary receiving congratulations, best wishes, etc., from many callers at her home, 3023 Berwick avenue, and by cooking the regular Sunday chicken dinner. May Mrs. Gray also receive the best wishes of these folks for many more years.

More details of this event will appear in next week's Coffee for to dunk home sandwiches and unusually good cookies, were served by the committee on dunking and entertainment.

is in receipt of a number of new books. 272 books were dispensed during period Jan. 6 to 31, 1931. The library recapitulation was: Adult fiction 170, non-fiction 21, juvenile fiction 57, non-fiction 24. Which all goes to prove that we needed a library here. With such a report for less than one month, and the first days of its existence, we are confident that as many more will subscribe and enjoy the benefits thereto as those who have so far patronized this corner of R. Emporium. And another thing, 25 books, several technical, were sold for and supplied from the main library at Temperance and Grand River, Detroit.

The Platette

is coming along nicely. Mrs. Dr. Henry Adams is working hard to get the young folks in shape to make their bow before the public very shortly.

Best H. S. Students Lead In College

Elementary and high school performance furnishes a valuable indication of probable college success, states Dr. Clarence S. Youkum, vice-president in charge of educational investigation in the University of Michigan, whose comparison of thousands of University first-year grades with pre-college records showed significant trends.

Hopes that a mediocre high school student will do well in college are generally unjustified, but the student who has skipped grades in elementary school or made good in high school tends to do better than average, the statistics show. Students who have no high school failures gain uniformly higher college grades than those with failures. Dropping mathematics and science in high school are usually unfavorable symptoms for college marks in general while dropping languages had a bad result except in the cases of engineers, for whom this was not a bad sign. Among literary college students those who had dropped English in high school made unfavorable first semester records, but improved during the second.

Students reporting a liking for English in high school, with the exception of engineers, showed good average college grades, while the comparatively few who stated a fondness for languages made excellent college records. A liking for history was not a favorable symptom, and those who took much history in high school tended to do relatively poor work in college. In dislikes reported a dislike of history in high school was a favorable sign for college work. Dislike for languages and mathematics, however, were unfavorable. Students making good grades for particular high school studies also continued to do well in the same lines in college.

Participation in organized games in high school was a bad sign, those playing or on teams ranking distinctly lower averages than those reporting no such activity. The high school principal's rating of the industry of individual students was found to be generally reliable in suggesting the quality of college work, except the group optimistically rated as "fairly high," did not usually do better in college situation.

The Michigan data is not intended to furnish a final standard for predicting an individual student's chances of success or failure. Dr. Youkum warns, but indicate only certain trends in the performance of large groups during the first year of University work. Personal factors such as determination, physical and mental health, financial or social handicaps oftentimes being of greater importance, and always present.

of Agriculture. Pack together birds of about the same color, size, quality and appearance. For the boxes, use a good quality of new lumber, free from knots. The poultry trade prefers birds packed 12 to the box, breast up, in single-layer boxes, except the larger chickens and turkeys, which are sometimes packed on one side. Heavy turkeys are usually packed in double-layer boxes or barrels. Line the boxes or barrels with good-quality white parchment paper and wrap the birds' heads in water-finish fiber paper. On account of tender skins it is desirable to wrap the bodies of broilers in parchment or waxed paper. When barrels are used, place absorbent paper between the layers of poultry.

Hot gingerbread, split and filled with a mixture of cream cheese, dates and chopped nuts, is an excellent dessert.

Pythians Hold Installation

On the evening of January 27th, before one of the best crowds that ever witnessed a local Pythian installation, Plymouth Temple No. 84, Pythian Sisters and Knights, impressively installed their officers who are as follows: Past Chief, Bessie Ball; Most Excellent Chief, Elsa Middleton; Excellent Sr., Clara Bingley; Excellent Jr., Edna Drews; Manager, Delta Dunn; M. of R. and C., Minnie McConnell; M. of F., Mildred Jewell; Protectress, Irma Dodge; Guard, Minnie McLaughlin. The meeting, which was a joint affair, was called to order by Most Excellent Chief, Bessie Ball shortly after eight o'clock and Past Grand Chief, Laura Gillette of Ann Arbor was introduced. Mrs. Minnie McConnell was then presented as the installing officer and assumed immediate charge. Her work in that capacity was highly commendable and the drill work of the officers and staff was truly fine.

A flower girl, little Barbara Litsberger was adorable when she presented roses to each of the officers to elect. Bouquets were presented to P. C. Minnie McConnell and the Most Excellent Chief, Elsa Middleton. P. G. C., Laura Gillette, the Misses Nash and Fredericks and Miss Marguerite Wood who was largely responsible for the success of the meeting by her work at the piano. Each received gifts of box chocolates.

While the Misses Nash and Fredericks played a piano duet, the Knights prepared to do their work.

As the officers marched into the lodge room under military escort they presented a striking appearance in their robes and costumes that carried one back to the chivalrous days when knighthood was in flower. The installation was directed by past Chancellors Williams, Stocken, McLeod and Gates.

A special feature of the evening was two solo numbers by Harold Jaffiffe, first singing, "The End of a Perfect Day" as the retiring officers left their stations, and later pleasing with everybody's favorite, "Mother Macchree."

At the conclusion of the ceremonies a luncheon was served and the table prize of a Galileo lamp was won by George Gehhardt. The hall was beautifully decorated in apple blossoms and palms. The Past Grand Chief pronounced the work so nicely done that she wished it repeated at the district convention at Chelsea this summer.

The Pythian Sisters and Knights of Pythias are very grateful to the Rose Bud Flower Shoppe for floral contests and to Mr. Schrader for the kind loan of palms and chairs.

Municipal Notes

Be sure to cast your ballot at the primary election next Monday, otherwise at least one of your preferred candidates may not have his name up on the ballot at the regular election in March.

Attention of voters is called to the fact that polls will be open at the primary election from 8:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m., to give all voters ample opportunity to cast their ballots. The best rule is to vote early and avoid the rush. This also insures against forgetting to vote until too late to cast your ballot.

Registration of voters will be taken until 8:30 p.m. on Saturday of this week, after which no more will be received until after the primary election. Persons not registered cannot vote unless illness or other good reason should have prevented registration on the last preceding registration date.

The Senior class proudly wishes to announce that it has secured the services of the famous radio and Brunswick recording artists, Dave Diamond and his Delta Robbin orchestra, to furnish the music for the first formal high school dancing party this year on February 20.

The prominence of these artists may be explained through their recent bookings. They are playing for the National Kolberton Ball, February 20, in Detroit. The orchestra played for the Inter-collegiate Alumni Association Ball which was held at the Statler Hotel in Detroit Jan. 17.

THE PLYMOUTH MAIL

Annual Play Coming Soon

Blackmail! Train wreck! Theft! Love! Laughter! All these contribute to the interest of a lively plot in the Junior play, "A Full House," here at last! At eight o'clock next Thursday and Friday evenings, February 12th and 13th, "A Full House," is being presented for the first time at Plymouth High School, only after gaining special permission from the publishers, the Samuel French Co., was this presentation possible. Can you imagine Wilton Richwine as Parks, an English servant; Doris Hamill as Susie, the unconscious maid from Sioux City; Dorothy Hubert as Ottily, a bride whose husband leaves her on the night after the wedding; Janet Blackstaff as Miss Winnaker, the old maid maid from Wonkers; Hugh Horton as Nicholas Klink, a very hard boiled and rather uncertain character; Bill Kirkpatrick as Ned Pembroke, an only son who is very much in love with Daphne Charters in the person of Louise Doherty, but whose freedom is obstructed by Beryl Proctor taking the part of Vera Vernon, a tough, gold-digging actress; Frank Learned as Momney, a goofy policeman; and Frank Beckwith as a police sergeant, who, of course, is not a bit fooled by the mystery of the lost jewels. The rest of the characters are: George Howell, Ottily's wandering husband; Don Proctor, Stanley, another policeman; Albert Miller; Mrs. Fleming, who owns the apartment; Mary Loring; and Mrs. Pembroke, Ned's mother from Boston. Zephra Blumk. The play is in three acts, all of them representing the drawing room of Mrs. Fleming's apartment on Riverside Drive, New York City, early spring of this year. It was written by the witty Fred Jackson and after a very successful presentation in Detroit high schools, has finally been selected for Plymouth high school. The small sum of twenty-five cents will admit any child or high school student, and for thirty-five cents any adult will be admitted. Don't neglect coming to "A Full House."

Communication

January 20th. Seven members and two under and indebtedness of $110,000.00 plus $25,000.00 cemetery bonds. May it not be wise to pursue the even tenor of our way than to turn the grindstone for a favored few?"

Major Clyde Ford of Dearborn-Fordson, said that taxation would surely be higher, where any village under 12,000 became a city.

Our business must realize that harmony is the strength and support of all institutions, especially of trade. Let us not antagonize the support of a large portion of our friends, to please the few.

Let us think for ourselves, and not take the tone of our ideas from others, who are of themselves in error, or else have a motive in deceiving us.

In these days of depression, and rigid prohibition where even water is scarce on the farm, it is dangerous to jump from the frying pan into the fire.
