

WILL UNVEIL STATUE FOR EVANGELINE

Acadian Descendants To Honor Beautiful Character of Longfellow Poem.

St. Martinville, Louisiana.—All was ended now and the fear and sorrow...

It was in these words that Henry Longfellow told of the death of the beautiful character in his classic of literature...

St. Martinville Acadian descendants live in the past, just as do some of the New Englanders who cherish the memory...

They call this village the capital of the Evangeline country, for it is this section of Louisiana that was settled by the Acadian exiles.

They call this village the capital of the Evangeline country, for it is this section of Louisiana that was settled by the Acadian exiles.

DOLLAR DAYS FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

CAFETERIA IS LARGEST OF ANY IN THE COUNTRY

Plymouth Township Has Place Where Meals Can Be Secured Free.

Plymouth township can boast of one of the biggest cafeterias in the country—a place where over 1000 people can eat at one time.

But in order to be able to enjoy the pleasures of this great cafeteria where you get everything absolutely free, you have to do a little work.

The kitchen has every modern device known which makes for economy or ease in handling the food of a great number of people.

Just off the kitchen is the bakeshop, modern to the last word. One big brick oven has a capacity of over 1200 loaves of bread per day.

On the west end is the cold storage plant. It is large enough to hold 200 chunks of beef, 150 dressed hogs besides large quantities of other supplies.

In the basement is storage capacity for fruits, vegetables and other supplies of this nature.

The Monday afternoon bridge club met at the home of Mrs. R. E. Giles on Blank Avenue this week.

MERCHANTS OFFER MANY BARGAINS TO DOLLAR SHOPPERS

Every possible effort to make Friday and Saturday two real shopping days for people living in this section has been put forth by local merchants for Dollar Days.

Goods that have never before sold at the unusually low prices that they are offered for this event, are seen in every store.

Practically every merchant in the town has entered into the event and people receiving copies of the Plymouth Mail will do well to read every advertisement as some articles that you may have wanted for some time may be offered for this event at just half its original cost.

You will do well to shop in Plymouth on Dollar Days. Every merchant participating in this event invites you to at least visit his store and see the many specials he has to offer.

FUTURE OF PLYMOUTH LAYS IN DEVELOPMENT OF ITS BEAUTY

That the future of Plymouth lay not only in industry but in the development of its natural beauty was more than emphasized at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet last Friday evening at the Mayflower Hotel.

BOY SCOUTS HAVE RALLY AT PLYMOUTH

Local District Is Host To 175 Scouts On Friday

In the presence of 250 parents and friends, 175 Boy Scouts and Scout officials conducted a Court of Honor presenting 122 Certificates of Award and Merit Badges including three Eagle Badges, the highest award that can be received in Scouting.

Plymouth was host to Scout troops from Newburg, Rosedale Gardens, Northville, Village, Wayne County Training School and three local troops.

The outstanding and most impressive ceremony was the presenting of the Eagle Badges by Commissioner Merrick and the pinning of these badges on Melvin Blum, James Holloway and Howard Olm by their mothers which each followed with a kiss of affection for her son.

Immediately following the Court of Honor, the competitive Rally, under the direction of T. J. Hobson, with the following events was entered into by all troops with enthusiasm and determination:

- 1st event, Boxing the Compass by 17 Scouts.
2nd event, First Aid.
3rd event, Signaling.
4th event, Knot Tying, 10 ropes.
5th event, A Mystery.
The results of the Rally were as follows:
1st place, Rosedale Gardens 1, 170 points.
2nd place, Plymouth 3, 121 1/2 points.
3rd place, Newburg 1, 95 points.
4th place, the Northville 1 and Northville 2, 85 points.
5th place, Plymouth 2, 72 1/2 points.
6th place, Plymouth 1, 65 points.
The rally closed on time at 10:00 p. m. and all returned to their homes, the Scouts feeling the satisfaction which comes from achievement in things worthwhile, and parents and friends feeling the real worth whiteness to the boys in doing things which produce a real thrill and leave them stronger physically, mentally and morally because of their enjoyable organization.

By and Mrs. A. E. Patterson entertained at a six thirty dinner Saturday evening in honor of Mrs. P. D. Schrader and daughter, Miss Evelyn Schrader. The following guests were present: P. D. Schrader, Miss Gladys Schrader, Edwin Schrader, Mrs. Jeanie Parks, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Ranch and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Henderson. Contract bridge was the diversion of the evening.

APPROPRIATION IS GIVEN FOR NEW FEDERAL BUILDING

CAPTAIN DENNISTON WILL TALK MONDAY

Next Monday, March 9th, the Ex-Service Men's Club and the Women's Auxiliary will meet at the Lowell and Blackhall hall at 8:30 for supper, following which short social session will be held, followed by the business meetings of the two organizations.

The guest speaker for the evening will be Capt. Edw. Denniston, Supt. of the Detroit House of Correction who will briefly outline his contacts with narcotic addicts and his observations of the extent of the dope traffic.

Mrs. J. W. McCreedy, Mrs. Starrat and Mrs. George Deville of Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lane of Belleville were recent callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Miller of East Plymouth.

$85,000 FOR NEW POST OFFICE HERE

Saturday morning Detroit papers carried the announcement that in the U. S. building fund allotment for Michigan, which was forwarded to Secretary Mellon and Postmaster General Brown, Plymouth will get $85,000 for the construction of a new post office building here.

The news that Plymouth is to have a new federal building in the near future was received with much satisfaction by the citizens of the village. Many towns throughout the country with a population similar to Plymouth have federal buildings that are a credit to the community in which they are located.

A new federal building will add much to the general appearance of the village, as buildings of this kind are usually of a substantial design and also attractive in construction.

CHAMBER of COMMERCE
NOTES

What follows are thought-provoking comments made by Dr. Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, in an article entitled, "A Post-Depression Decalogue," featured in this week's Detroit, weekly publication of the Detroit Board of Commerce.

"As we emerge from the depression—and authoritative testimony indicates that the upward climb is at last under way—there is a growing realization that once more, as in every period of trial, business has learned several salutary lessons.

"Above all else perhaps this crisis has revealed, as none of its predecessors had, how closely interwoven the economic fabric of this nation has become during these post-war years. We can now appreciate as never before the vastly more sensitive interdependence of our business activities everywhere.

"In one of his first debates with Douglas, Lincoln observed that "commerce brings us together and makes us better friends." These mutual commercial accommodations are the elements which bind together the different parts of this Union. They are the props of the house tending always to hold it up. And if that was true two generations ago, it certainly has become infinitely more convincing in this day of a vastly more intensive, closely integrated economic mechanism. Business is no longer on the lone-wolf, every-man-for-himself basis.

"Don't blame the depression for everything which has marred the tranquility of the economic scene since 1929. The collapse of many parts of the business structure has had widespread repercussions, but there are other and in many cases deeper causes of defects having nothing to do with the regrettable episodes of the past sixteen months.

"Don't compare peaks with slumps. Both are abnormalities. The more we flatten out the peaks, the better will be our control of the slumps.

"Don't fall into the fallacy so general among European industrialists of expecting the wage earner to bear the brunt of the readjustment. Before resorting to that extremity, let industry be sure that every other one has been exhausted.

"Talk of drastic slashes in American living standards and "permanent lows" in wages borders closely on economic lunacy.

"Don't cut loose from associated ac-

COMMISSIONER'S NOTICE

In the matter of the Estate of Lillian M. Brown, deceased.
I, the undersigned, having been appointed by the Probate Court for the County of Wayne, State of Michigan, Commissioner to receive, examine and adjust all claims and demands of all persons against said deceased, do hereby give notice that I will meet at the residence of Charles H. Rathburn, corner Whitbeck road and Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth, Mich., in said County, on Thursday, the 16th day of April A. D. 1931, and on Tuesday, the 16th day of June A. D. 1931, at 2 o'clock p. m. of each of said days, for the purpose of examining and allowing said claims, and that four months from the 16th day of February A. D. 1931, were allowed by said Court for creditors to present their claims to me for examination and allowance.
Dated February 16, 1931.

PROBATE NOTICE
No. 107948

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Wayne, ss.
At a session of the Probate Court for said County of Wayne, held at the Probate Court Room in the City of Detroit, on the fifth day of February, in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one.
Present, Ervin R. Palmer, Judge of Probate.
In the Matter of the Estate of MINNIE RIENAS, Deceased.
An instrument in writing purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased having been delivered into the Court for probate:
It is ordered, That the eighteenth day of March, next at ten o'clock in the forenoon at said Court Room be appointed for proving said instrument.
And it is further Ordered, That a copy of this order be published three successive weeks previous to said time of hearing, in the Plymouth Mail, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Wayne.

ilities in business. Such shortsighted "economy" is the sheerest extravagance at this particular stage of business readjustment. There never was a time in the last ten years when cooperation was more invaluable. No one shoves off in a rowboat from a liner in a mid-Atlantic storm to save passage money.

"Don't ignore the amazing power of the new technology. No peril is quite so disastrous in business these days as a smug, self-satisfied assurance that present technique in production will be permanent.

"Don't cut marketing research. Our gravest deficiency still lies in the field of defective distribution.
"Closely associated with this is the need of sustained, far-sighted advertising as invaluable adjunct to more effective and economical distribution. The stimulus not of blatant hallyhoo, but of well-founded publicity was never more necessary than now.

"Don't overlook the stabilizing value of foreign markets. They can not be exploited on short notice.
"Don't fall again into the perils of mass mania, the delusion that the sole purpose of business is "buy-sell." Quantity operations, whether in output or distribution are by no means an invariable assurance of quantity profits. The latter are indeed elusive unless that fatful margin between income and outgo is thoroughly sustained and respected (not merely suspected).

"Don't overlook the perils of obsolete equipment. It is wiser to have the junk heap outside the factory than in it. Nearly half (48 per cent) to be examined) the machinery in our own American factories today is over ten years old. The paralysis of advancing sensibility is all the more dangerous because its stealthy approach is so painless, so easy.

"Don't be stampeded by unfounded rumors. They are the fodder on which crises flourish.
"The mendacity of every irresponsible, dangerous rumor can be and should be instantly squelched. And it will be, as long as ours is still a business leadership of men, not mice. The time for the calamity complex has passed."

LOCAL CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. MARTIN

Mrs. Grace Martin, assisted by Esther Woolsey, Est. West, Mary Murray and Sarah Gayde, entertained the members of the Business and Professional Women's Club at a subscription dinner, at the former's home on Ann Arbor Trail on Tuesday evening last. It was an ideal evening for a ride into the country and an unusually large attendance was noticeable. The Program Committee (in addition to a most delicious dinner) had arranged for two addresses by members of the Wayne Business and Professional

Women's Club. First an informal talk by Miss Ellen McMurtry, President of the Wayne Club, on various topics of interest and then followed an address by Miss Elizabeth Stollwagen, whose subject was "Thrift." Miss Stollwagen has had many years experience in the professional world and her topic was handled in a most convincing manner, leaving with her hearers many ideas and suggestions for serious thought, as well as a pleasant remembrance of her quiet wit and humor. At the conclusion of the program a pleasant social hour was spent in becoming acquainted with the guests who had assisted on the program and in discussing plans for future work and entertainment. The hospitality of the Committee and especially that of Mrs. Grace Martin, who so kindly opened her delightful home for the occasion, made possible another meeting of this local club, long to be remembered. Have you a lot or horse to sell or exchange? Why not let the people of Plymouth and surrounding territory know about it—advertise it in the Want Ad Columns of the Mail—the cost is little, the results are big. Just bring the ad in or telephone number 6 and ask for want ad taker.

GRANGE NOTES

Because of the condition of the Grange Hall, due to fire, the second regular February meeting was cancelled. Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Spicer kindly opened their home and a Grange meeting was held on the evening of Feb. 22. A Committee was appointed to arrange for a celebration to be held as soon as the Grange Hall is restored. During the lecture hour a test was given all members present to determine who were of Scotch origin. On March 12th a meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Swegles on the Perrinsville road, a short distance west of the James Gates road. This will be an evening meeting and all are invited to take part in the program.

15,000 TRAPPERS END STATE SEASON.

From out of the Louisiana marshes are now emerging 15,000 trappers who during the past ninety days have been catching millions of fur-bearing animals, including the muskrat, opossum, raccoon, mink, otter and skunk. No estimate has as yet been made as to the season's catch, although it is believed that the total will be somewhat under the preceding season, principally because of the effect of the drought on the fur-bearing animals. Last year 6,000,000 pelts were taken. Despite Louisiana's balmy winter climate, this state leads all states in the Union in the production of furs. It produces, in fact, more than any other geographic section of North America.—The St. Mary Banner, St. Mary Parish, Franklin, Louisiana.

W. C. T. U.

An interesting meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held Thursday, February 26, at the home of Mrs. Kehrl, Starkweather Avenue. The attendance was remarkably good, despite the fact that several other gatherings were scheduled for the same afternoon. As the meeting had to do with Parliamentary Law, a pamphlet about conducting a meeting was read by the President, Mrs. Vealey. This contained a number of the amusing mistakes so often made in the ordinary routine of a business meeting, and showed how to correct these errors. An article written by the Secretary, Mrs. Clemens, and published in a "De Profit" paper was read by Mrs. Ryder. Miss Pelham also read an article, from the Free Press, of February 22nd, entitled "Face of Washington Found in a Tree." At the close of the meeting a social hour was enjoyed before the guests left for home. A Tea Meeting will occur, March 26, at the home of Mrs. Vealey. Each member is asked to respond to roll-call by giving the name of her favorite book.

NOTICE

A few weeks ago the Leonard Wild Greenhouses circulated bills quoting prices on flower and vegetable plants, and of course the price was lower than that of other houses that are growing them. We have been told of other greenhouse men saying that they could grow cheaper plants too if they bought cheaper seed. That makes us laugh. We were also told that people were told not to buy from us because we were on the verge of going out of business. This of course is foolishness as we are doing a real business and have hundreds of satisfied customers who are coming here every week. If anyone has the idea that we are going out of business will they please come to us and let us know first. We believe a knock is a boost and so we invite our competitors if they wish to keep up with their same tactics and let us reap the profit from their errors. Below is published one of our bills, see for yourself if you can do better elsewhere: Cabbage, per flat, 75c; 50 flats or over, 70c; Tomatoes, 90c per flat; 50 flats or over, 85c; Peppers, $1.00 per flat; 50 flats or over, 90c; Cauliflower, $1.00 per flat; Egg Plant, $1.00 per flat; Celery, $1.00 per flat. We also have a variety of flower plants. If you wish any particular kind of plants, just give us an order for them, and we will

St. Martinville is not a great many miles off one of the main highways running through the state, but except knowledge of the location of the place made historic by one of the best known poems ever written, there is not a road marker of any kind pointing the way to St. Martinville, or anything else to indicate that "on the banks of the Teche are the towns of St. Maur and St. Martin." St. Maur is another little Acadian settlement nearly mentioned by Longfellow in his poem.

On April 19, it is the play of St. Martinville Acadians to bring down from Montreal some 200 other Acadian descendants who wandered back to their old homes after the exile so they too may witness the unveiling of the monument erected to Evangeline's memory.

Andre A. Oliver, official historian for the "Land of Evangeline," says that the monument is being paid for by small contributions that are being made by Acadians and lovers of Longfellow's poems. It is not an imposing monument, only a life-size statue of a comely girl on top of a granite rock. On the granite rock has been attached the old marble slab that originally marked her grave.

Andre Oliver and other St. Martinville historians say Evangeline was not a girl of more than ordinary attractiveness, but that she was loved by the Acadians because of her gentleness and thoughtfulness. In these words Longfellow told something of the character of Evangeline: "Somewhat apart from the village, and nearer the Basin of Minas, Benedict Bellefontaine, the wealthiest farmer of Grand Pre, Dwelt on his goodly acres; and with him, directing his household, Gentle Evangeline lived, his child, and the pride of the village."

"Thus at peace with God and the world, the farmer of Grand Pre Lived on his sunny farm, and Evangeline governed his household." St. Martinville, Evangeline historians say that when she was exiled with the other Acadians from Canada, she was landed on the coasts of Maryland and that her lover was among the first to come to this place. He too was a real person. His name was Louis Arceveaux.

Some of the hardships, the trials and sorrows of the Acadians, in reaching St. Martinville, were described by Longfellow in the following verse: "Many a weary year has passed since the burning of Grand Pre. When on the falling tide the freighted vessels departed, Bearing a nation, with all its household goods, into exile, Exile without an end, and without an example in story. Far asunder, on separate coasts, the Acadians landed; Scattered were they, like flakes of snow, when the wind from the north-east Strikes aslant through the fogs that darken the banks of Newfoundland, Friendless, homeless, hopeless, they wandered from city to city, From the cold lakes of the North to sultry Southern savannas."

Felix Voorhies in his book, "Acadian Reminiscences," tells the story of "Evangeline" as related to him by the foster mother of Evangeline. All of the details of Longfellow's poem, with many added facts, are related.

"Evangeline" saw her lover beaten by a soldier and loaded onto one boat but sailed one way. She was placed on another boat that landed its exiles on the shores of Maryland, where for three years they made their homes. The Acadians knew that Louisiana was under French control, and longing to join their own countrymen, they decided to travel overland from Maryland to the banks of the Teche in Louisiana. For weeks and months they struggled over the mountains of Virginia and Tennessee, then down the Mississippi and over to St. Martinville.

Here it was that Evangeline discovered Gabriel, who was Louis Arceveaux, standing under the oak tree that is now called the "Evangeline oak," watching the newcomers land on the bank of the Teche. In joy she ran to him only to be repulsed and told by him that he loved and had wed another. The story from there on is brief.

University Receives $10,000 For Sociology

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 28—Students and teachers of sociology at University of Michigan are to receive $10,000 annually for the next four years under provisions of a foundation established by H. B. Earhart.

The money is to be used for three purposes: to aid seniors in making contracts with the outside groups, to establish fellowships for graduate students who will do research work; to increase salaries in the sociology department, and to allow for larger community contacts.

A clause in the will of the late Jane Armstrong, Ann Arbor, provides that $10,000 be left in care of the Union Guardian Trust Company, Detroit, the interest to be turned over to the University annually for a scholarship for a medical student to be chosen by the medical school faculty.

A gift of $11,000 was accepted from the American council of learned societies for assistance in the task of editing a middle English dictionary which is being prepared by the English department.—The Ypsilanti Press.

In a few short months Evangeline died of a broken heart and was buried in this peaceful little community of the southland.

STUDENT NIGHT PROGRAM FRIDAY

'SEEKERS' SPEND TIME IN MAKING CODE POSTERS

Perhaps in wandering down the second floor hall you may notice the posters placed on the bulletin board opposite Miss Berg's room. A few of the posters the "Seekers", the Intermediate Girl Reserves' group, made at their meeting last Friday, were posted up there.

THE STAFF

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF: Bruce Miller. FORENSIC ACTIVITIES: Alice Chambers, Lester Daly. CENTRAL AND STARKWEATHER SCHOOL REPORTERS: Margaret Haskell, Freda Kilgore.

VARIOUS THINGS SETTLED BY CLUB

Everything from parties to selling campaigns was discussed and settled at the last Senior Girl Reserve meeting. The meeting began as usual with the reading of the code, slogan, and purpose, and let it be mentioned that there is no more mix-up or stuttering in this weekly repetition.

BANK NOTICE FOR MASTER ACCOUNTS

Due to the fact that the banks have decided not to handle small accounts without charging one dollar per month checking charge, we have been advised by the banks that we consolidate all accounts in Plymouth high school (not including the text-book account) into one general account.

On the Four A spelling chart test the score was thirty-seven, the Five B score was forty-one and the Five A score was thirty-nine. The Four A arithmetic score went up to eight points. On the Five B spelling chart, Thelma Williams, Jacquelyn Shoof, Marjann Kleinschmidt, Ina Flegger, William Darnell and Howard Anderson got stars.

Making money is always a hard proposition for any club, especially since the old methods are just about worn out. A new method, therefore, was proposed and is being carried out by the club. The girls were divided into four groups headed by Katherine Hitt, Dorothy Hubert, Viola Luttmoser, and Arbutus Williams.

BAND PRESENTS MUSIC PROGRAM

Acting as chairman, Mr. Smith opened the general assembly with the announcement that the last basket ball game would be played here by Dearborn Friday night, March 6th.

CLASS VOLLEY BALL BEGINS

With basketball games still fresh in mind the high school boys began to play volley ball Wednesday, March 4th. This is the third consecutive year of volley ball in high school.

BOAT AND DESKS MADE BY BOYS

DEARBORN BEATS SECOND TEAM 5-3

In the preliminary tilt with Dearborn the Plymouth second team lost the closest game that they have played in the past season.

NEWS FROM STARKWEATHER

PLYMOUTH TRIMS DEARBORN IN SEASON FINAL

To end the season right the Rocks last Friday night defeated Dearborn in a league game, 21 to 11. This was the second victory for the Blue and White in the way of league games.

CONTEST BEGINS IN ALGEBRA CLASS

Because the pupils in Mrs. Crumbie's ninth grade beginning Algebra class have started their new drill books, the class is divided into two teams which keep track of the daily percentage of marks.

SPONGES

During school day, Mr. King told the class that a boy, John Warren, in another group, had been turning in the very best papers of any one in all his classes, adding that John also always knew the correct answers to all questions.

BLUE AND WHITE BATTLE HOWELL AT YPSILANTI

The Rocks opposed the strong quarter from Howell Thursday evening at 9:00 p. m. The winner of this game will oppose either Ypsi Central or Blissfield Saturday night for district championship. It is very probable that Plymouth will offer strong competition in the district and perhaps the regional, as all the regulars will be in the lineup for the first time this semester.

NEW COMEDY REHEARSED

The play "They Struck Oil" a cartoon on society, is being rehearsed before the Junior Drama Club. This is being prepared as entertainment for the Woman's Club on March 6, some time later the Business and Professional Women's Club, and may be presented before the High school assembly.

COML CLUB BUYS AWARDS

In previous years, the different typewriting companies have awarded pins and certificates to students who earned them, but this year that practice was discontinued. Since the commercial club members do not wish to sponsor their annual banquet again this year, they have decided to spend the money in the treasury to pay for certificates and pins as awards to those students in the various classes of the commercial department who become most efficient in their particular field.

BOAT AND DESKS MADE BY BOYS

One of those polished thirty-foot outboard motor boats that so slipping so clearly through the water is the only one of these working nautically at the hands of the boys in Mr. Carr's manual training class. Two others have made writing desks that will probably be given a prominent place in their homes.

FRESHMEN MAKE FLYING FINISH

"Fresh" we can't play any more games of basket ball this year. Such are the woes of many boys in school. The schedule has been finished and the boys enjoyed it throughout the entire season. The lower classes benefited especially by these games. The Freshmen were the only ones that were able to hand the Seniors a licking while the eighth graders had to battle out a tie for Junior League championship.

GYM CLASSES ARE BUSY

Anyone suddenly tapping in on the seventh grade girls gym classes would find them bowing and posturing in the intricate figures of the old English folk dance. That same someone, if he should "hang around" still longer, would be amazed by the queer shapes the eighth grade classes do get themselves in, in learning tumbling.

THE WHY OF SUPERSTITIONS

IT IS almost three-quarters of a century since songs like "Not for Joe" regulated love-longing adventures. That the song has elements of real public appeal was demonstrated only a few years ago, when Brian Hooker resurged "Not for Joe" among other period songs in his revival of Mrs. Anna Cora Mowatt's play, "Fashion."

PLYMOUTH TRIMS DEARBORN IN SEASON FINAL

To end the season right the Rocks last Friday night defeated Dearborn in a league game, 21 to 11. This was the second victory for the Blue and White in the way of league games. The team was greatly encouraged by the return of several regulars and the teamwork was greatly improved.

Watchmaker Who Inspired Ford, As Youth, Dies At 80

The watchmaker who once inspired Henry Ford to follow the same trade died at the age of 80 years at his home at 2033 Michigan avenue, Detroit, last Monday. His home was located above the store which he had established back in 1878.

In an autobiography published about 10 years ago, Mr. Ford recalled how, as a boy, he loved to watch the jeweler at work through his window and how he had wanted to take up the watchmaker's trade. Later, it is said that Mr. Ford confided in Grimm his plan for making watches for 30 cents apiece.

Some time ago, Mr. Grimm recalled that he had sold Mr. Ford a watch 40 years ago and that Mr. Ford told him recently that he was still using it. He also remembered that Ford used to make his own hair springs, fashioning an instrument dial that gave both sun and regular time.

Grimm is survived by his wife, a son, Christian A., of Chicago; two daughters, Alice C. and Mrs. Albert A. LeFevre, seven grandchildren, and one great-grandchild. Funeral services were held at St. Boniface's church, The Dearborn Press.

Yes, this is the ideal year for remodeling a home. Costs are lower all along the line, laborers can be found more readily and money is more available. Courage to go ahead with such a plan will benefit the home owner, and it will benefit his community inestimably in getting rid of the labor surplus.

man, Frank K. Learned, Carl G. Shear and John W. Henderson be hereby declared to have qualified for positions upon the ballot to be voted at the regular Election to be held March 9, 1931; and that the Clerk be authorized and directed to have the ballots prepared accordingly. Carried.

Upon motion by Comm. Wiedman supported by Comm. Kehrl the Commission adjourned.

GEO. H. ROBINSON, President.

New Dishes From Old

Tasty Ingredients Give Left-Over Foods New Flavor

TRANSFORMING left-over foods into delicious family treats is a culinary accomplishment of considerable merit, but this desirable knack of utilizing the remnants of previous meals may be acquired easily by any housewife.

The secret, as good hotel chefs know, is attaining tasty combinations of the left-over foods with condiments and other appetizer ingredients, which supply the needed zestfulness and make the dish taste new and lively instead of second-hand and flat.

Savory Meat Loaf
2 pounds ground beef; 1 can tomato soup; 2 cups cracker crumbs; 1 teaspoon salt; 1/2 teaspoon pepper; 1/4 teaspoon poultry dressing; 1 tablespoon minced onion; 1 cup sweet pickle, finely sliced.
Combine meat, soup, cracker crumbs, and seasonings. Mix thoroughly. Fold in pickles. Press into a greased loaf tin and bake in moderate oven (325 d.) for one hour or until done. This loaf is excellent hot or cold, and will keep several days in a refrigerator. Makes an excellent filling for sandwiches.

Another popular dish made of left-over beef is:

Everyday Chop Suey
1 pound ground beef; 3 onions; 2 green peppers; 1 cup water; 3 table-spoons butter; 1 teaspoon salt; 1/2 teaspoon pepper; 1 medium can cooked spaghetti.

In a skillet with the butter, fry the chopped onions and green pepper until slightly brown. Add the ground meat and fry until the meat browns. Add water, season with salt and pepper, and simmer for 10 minutes. Add the spaghetti, allow to boil, and serve.

Corned Beef Hash Puffs
3 eggs; 2 cups corned beef hash; 1/2 cup catsup; 1/2 cup water; 2 table-spoons chopped dill pickles; parsley.
Add well beaten egg yolks to hash and mix thoroughly. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and drop hash mixture by spoonfuls onto buttered baking sheet. Place under broiler and brown. Combine catsup, water and chopped pickles, and heat to make a sauce. Garnish with parsley and serve immediately with the hot sauce.

Such protection unheard of...

MOST home owners and business men guard against financial loss from fire, but leave themselves unprotected from other hazards. Comparatively few know that, in addition to fire insurance, policies are written to guard against almost every hazard of this modern age.

Some Of The Many Questions Editors Of The South Are Interested In And Are Discussing In Their Papers

LOUISIANA MAY SHOW US WHAT MISSISSIPPI ESCAPED

Louisiana proceeds rapidly with her almost sensational road building program. Contracts are to be awarded within a few days for projects totalling between $8,000,000 and $9,000,000, calling for construction of 439 miles of new roads in 40 parishes, of which 285 miles will be built of concrete.

Mississippians, noting the rapid construction of these highways and contrasting it with the comparative slowness in our own state, may think they have good reason to envy their neighbors. But they may change their minds within a few years.

Louisiana may be getting good highways, and getting them quickly. But it remains to be seen what they will cost. The state has burdened itself with the heaviest bond issue in its history. Interest on these bonds will run the cost of the roads to double the cost at which they are contracted. Interest charges will absorb a large part of the revenues devoted in the past to highway building and maintenance.

ASTOUNDING

"I am astounded!" This is the remark Senator Faulkner, chairman of the legislative investigating committee, made at the latest revelation at Nashville.

The remark was made just after an auditor had testified he found from 700 to 800 uncashed and "unbooked" checks strewn around the office of the insurance commissioner. Some of these checks were dated as far back as October.

As this is written there is no information as to why the checks were held. That will come out later and may add more stench to the rotten mess.

The state so busted that the Legislature couldn't recess without transferring bridge funds to the general fund and 700 to 800 checks strewn around an office—uncashed, not even put on the books.

It certainly looks as if a general housecleaning was needed on Capitol Hill—and then plenty of disinfectant to cover up the memory of the miserable disorder.—The Press-Scimitar, Memphis, Tenn.

CAMPAIGN PROMISES

It is to be hoped that the voters of Mississippi will not lose their sense of humor or common sense during the pending campaign.

Maintenance of both is essential if the governmental standard is to be improved.

To be specific: Do not attach too much seriousness to the pre-election promises made by any candidate unless he has a record for successful management of his personal business.

All aspirants for office are filling the air with frantic promises that they will inaugurate policies of rigid economy.

Some of these promises are sincere. Others are not. Political promises, like pie crust, are easily broken, and platforms are made to get in on, not to stand on.

Keep your common sense, and also your sense of humor. Size up the man. Does he look big enough to carry out his promises? Does his speech ring sincere? If not, then he is not worthy of your support.—Jackson, Mississippi, Daily News.

LOUISIANA BANKS

In view of the serious banking troubles in Tennessee, Arkansas, Mississippi and other Southern States during the last year, Louisianians have ground for congratulation over the excellent showing of our own State banks as revealed in the annual report of State Commissioner J. S. Brock as of Dec. 31, 1930.

Percentage of cash and secondary reserves appear higher and bills payable lower than in 1929. Total resources, in conformity with the recession of general business and heavy shrinkage in security and commodity values, are considerably lower, and so are loans and discounts and demand deposits, but this is only to be expected and indicates no weakness of the institutions.

No Louisiana State banks were closed and placed in liquidation for a period of over two years up to November, 1930. Since then there have been three comparatively small banks to close and go into liquidation. But generally the condition of the banks is sound and apparently they are strongly fortified with cash and secondary reserves.

In the opinion of Mr. Brock, by adherence to the policy of conservatism that has marked the recent course of our financial institutions, and in the absence of hysteria on the part of the people of the State, these institutions should experience no serious difficulties and should be able safely to maintain their previous good record throughout 1931.—The Evening States, New Orleans, La.

FINANCIAL WIZARDS

Down goes Benham, the financial wizard of Belvidere, Ill., and with him goes something like $400,000 of the hard-earned cash of his neighbors. If he had been left alone, says this former shipping clerk, he would have paid out with handsome profits, and a lot of his victims will believe him. Such is human nature.

Nothing is easier than to make 50 per cent, for a time, by using new loans to pay interest on old ones. And nothing is more utterly impossible than to make 50 per cent, or anything like it, in the general run of financial operations on a large scale. It has been said time and again, and still holds true, that the man who can show people how to make 7 per cent without risk can name his own salary in any bank in the country.

Why is it that repeated warnings fail to protect people against these "Ponzis"? For the same reason, perhaps, that you can't warn a tribe of savages against the tricks of a medicine man. Belief in magic is just about as widespread in finance as in rain-making. It is all a matter of credulity, whether the object of the hocus-pocus is a shower of gold or a shower of rain.—St. Louis, Mo., Star.

EASY OFF

Two conspicuous slot-machine promoters got away at the weekend with a fine of $200 each. We didn't follow the evidence in the case and don't know to what extent it bore out serious allegations made by the District Attorney when the arrests were made. It was said at that time that the promoters of the machines had been pushing them upon reluctant storekeepers all over the City, not only on the assurance that they had "political protection" for them, but also at times under threats against themselves or their business if they refused to set the machines up in their places.

It was this latter phase of the situation that aroused our interest—not the mere petty gambling involved, big as that might be in the aggregate. The appearance of such methods as those described could of course be nothing less than the introduction of the racket system in New Orleans with all the strong-arming of respectable business people, and the corruption of politics, that distinguish it in a number of other cities. Nothing of that character could be tolerated by the people of this community who are wise enough to know when they are well off.—The Morning Tribune, New Orleans, La.

COUNTY CONSOLIDATION

The aggregate cost of county government in Mississippi is twenty times greater than the cost of state government.

The total bonded debt of the counties makes the state's bonded debt look like a handful of nickels.

Well, you ask, what's the answer? Obviously, too many counties—just about fifty per cent too many.

Wonder who will be the first legislative candidate to show courage and vision by declaring that, if elected, he will introduce a bill providing a comprehensive plan of county consolidation?

It will be a practical and effective way of reducing the tax burden and eliminating useless waste and extravagance, but it will take courage to propose it, and much more courage to put it through.—Jackson, Mississippi, Daily News.

Plymouth Girl Tells of Florida

The following communication was received at the Mail office last week. The contents are interesting and we are pleased to pass it along to our readers.

Coleman, Florida February 24, 1931

Dear Friends:

We left Perrinsville Wednesday, January 14, for our first trip to the "Land of Sunshine and Flowers." We had the pleasure of staying one night in each state, the first night in Miamisburg, Ohio; second night in Corbin, Kentucky; third in Knoxville, Tennessee; fourth in Atlanta, Georgia; and the fifth in Jennings, Florida. We arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Stokes in Coleman in time for dinner Monday.

When we left Michigan we thought we would be into warm weather in two days, at least; but we drove four days and a half before we found any warmer weather than we had left at home. Coming around the mountains in Tennessee we found eleven inches of snow. The mountaineers told us that was the highest snow fall they had in fourteen years. We made only 167 miles that day on account of the ice and snow.

When we arrived in Coleman we had driven 1291 miles and had not been off a cement or asphalt road, except for a short detour in Georgia.

Last week we made a trip to Tampa where we attended the South Florida Fair. It is very different from our Michigan State Fair as there are so many different flowers, fruit, and vegetables on display. There were oranges, lemons, limes, grapefruit, kumquats, pineapples, bananas, dates, coconuts, pineapples, papayas, okra, cotton, sweet potatoes, strawberries, sugar cane, and peaches. There were very few pigs and no sheep, cattle or horses on exhibit. We visited the Dutch Village which is a true reproduction of Holland. The entrance is a reproduction of the Gate of Kampen Church of the 7th Century. Windmill at Rotterdam, where in 1620 the Pilgrim Fathers set out to the new world, the old Church of Alkmaar, built during the 13th Century, and became famous during the 16th Century, the Cheese Market 4th Hall of Alkmaar, built in 1522, and several houses on the Island of Marken, built on piling to prevent being flooded by heavy winds and high tides. We saw the Dutch people in their native costumes, whose styles never change.

From Tampa we went to St. Petersburg, "The Sunshine City" by way of the Glady Bridge, which is six miles long. On to Clearwater, on the Gulf of

Loans Available For Modernizing Homes In Spring

The fact that building and loan associations of Michigan are in a strong position today, as shown by the recent report of Paul F. Kreeger, state supervisor, indicates that loans, particularly for home modernizing, will be more readily available this spring than they have been in some time. It is pointed out by Harold F. Donaldson, of Lansing, secretary of the Michigan

Mexico where we went across the Memorial Causeway to the beach and picked up shells and sponges.

We went to Miami by way of the Tamiami Trail. It was a delightful trip through the Everglades. The day was perfect, bright and warm and the highway is a smooth, fine road, perfectly straight and on the level for miles and miles.

On the left hand side, as you travel east, is the canal made by excavating the low swamp lands, throwing up the earth upon which to construct the fine asphalt highway. This canal is wide and deep and is constantly filled with water, abounding in all kinds of fish and occasionally an alligator is seen. You drive for miles and miles and see nothing but cranes, hawks, crows, ducks, turkey buzzards, swamp grass, cypress trees, and some Seminole Indians. My cousin and I had our picture taken with a little purpose. We spent several days in Miami, going down to the ocean to the Greyhound races, and seeing the beautiful homes.

Another trip of interest was to Silver Springs where we took a ride in the glass bottom boat, and viewed Nature's Fairyland under water. The Bridal Chamber is 81 feet deep. It was here, so the Indian legend runs, that a young girl, disappointed in love, drowned herself. Here shells and crystals are brought up by the water, making it resemble a flimsy bridal veil studded with pearls and gems. There is a Great Cavern 65 feet long, 12 feet high, and flows 550 million gallons of water daily. Two freight cars could stand end on end in this great service. And there is the Devil's Kitchen in which the boiling of the water brings up the shells which suggest the popping of corn.

We took a short trip up to Crystal River, one of the oyster beds of Florida. We fried ten pounds of fish and a gallon of oysters over an open camp fire and proceeded to have a sea food feast. We had had a good time in Florida and only regret that we can't stay longer.

Sincerely, Margaret Kubie

Building and Loan League. Mr. Donaldson calls attention to the recent report of the state official, which showed that home financing organizations had paid off nearly 50 per cent of their bank indebtedness during the last six months of 1930, without dipping materially into their reserves.

"In line with the conservative policy followed by Michigan associations and approved by the department of state the associations applied a generous part of their receipts in paying off much of what they owed the banks last year," Mr. Donaldson declares. "That leaves them stronger and in better position to enlarge their loaning policies this year. Furthermore, it appears right now that a steadily broadening loan program will be possible, because there seems to be a tendency toward increasing investment in our field. That is the case in Lansing, and I understand the same applies to other cities of Michigan."

"It is hardly to be expected that loaning will be done on speculative building ventures, but we are going to encourage modernization of homes and loans for modernization as much as possible. Many communities have sufficient housing facilities, but there is a sad lack of homes that are modern in design or modernly equipped or both."

Generally speaking, one will find old fixtures in an old home.

"If a home owner can't afford to remodel his place and equip it also, it would be well for him to undertake part of the work this year and finish up later," Mr. Donaldson says. "If he starts the job, he is certain to finish it he will ever tackle the problem."

whether this year or three years from now. But if he shies away from such a program because he lacks the financial outlay or the courage to borrow sufficient to complete the whole job at once, there is some question as to whether he will ever tackle the problem.
