

VILLAGE TAX NOTICES ARE MAILED OUT

Large Amount of Work Involved in Getting Statements Ready

All Village Tax statements were mailed to taxpayers on June 30th, and should be delivered on July 1st, the first payment date. The statements were ready for mailing earlier than that date, but because of the fact that payments are not permitted previous to July 1st, the mailing of the statements was held up until the last day of June.

Probably few people realize the amount of work necessary in preparing the tax roll and statements for the annual tax. After the assessed valuation has been determined, the office staff must make two copies of the rolls, one of which is known as the "assessment roll" and the other the "tax roll." These rolls are written in longhand, and show the description of each parcel of land in the village and the name and address of the owners.

After the budget is approved and the tax roll set, this rate must be applied against each description of property, and the amount of the tax figured and copied into each roll. In addition to the general tax, all delinquent special assessments of the previous year are transferred from the general roll to the special roll. This involves the figuring interest on all these assessments from the date of confirmation of the roll to July 1st, and each item must be placed in the proper column and totals shown.

The work of balancing the roll requires no little time, as each of the 434 pages have to be totaled, these totals showing the general taxes and each type of delinquent special assessment, also the grand total of all taxes on each page. All general taxes are written in black ink and special taxes and re-assessed taxes in red ink.

After the page totals are completed the books are totaled, and this total must agree with the amount of general taxes spread and re-assessed taxes placed on the roll. After the books are totaled, and balanced, each description is numbered, and this number agrees with the number shown on the tax statement.

The last step is to write out the notices which first are addressed and the property description shown by means of the addressograph equipment. Then each item of the tax roll is filed on the statements. On the 1931 tax roll there are approximately 4700 separate items requiring the preparation of more than 3500 tax statements. After the statements are written they are all totaled and must balance with the tax roll, which proves that they are correct.

Payment of the tax may be made between July 1st and August 10th, after which a 2% penalty will be added.

PRICES OF CEMETERY LOTS INCREASED BY OFFICIALS OF VILLAGE

SAY ADDITIONAL CHARGE IS MADE NECESSARY TO PAY FOR PROPERTY.

The Village Commission and the Board of Cemetery Trustees have found it necessary to make a substantial increase in the price of lots at Riverside cemetery. The former price of $1.00 per square foot, which is considerably less than the price charged at most cemeteries, was not sufficient to pay off the debt on the property and provide the necessary improvements, it is stated.

The cemetery trustees have submitted to the Village Commission and the latter body has approved a new schedule of prices for cemetery lots. The new schedule provides a differential in prices according to the location, the more desirable lots being priced at $3.00 per square foot, with other prices ranging between that price and $1.00 per square foot for lots in the rear of the cemetery.

In order that those desiring to purchase a lot for future use, the new price schedule will not apply to lots purchased during the month of July. If a cash purchase is made. Lots purchased on the partial plan will be sold at the new prices. This arrangement is being made as that local residents may take advantage of the old prices, also to provide additional funds to apply on the outstanding debt.

A six-acre lot may be purchased anywhere in the plotted portion of the cemetery for the sum of $200 cash, during July, after which time these same lots will be priced from $600 down, according to the location. Arrangement for the selection and purchase of lots can be made anytime during the day at the Village Hall, or by special appointment in the evening with the Village Manager.

Ypsilanti Girl Is Bride of Well Known Plymouth Resident

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Baylor in Ypsilanti, at 8:30 on Thursday evening, June 25th, when their daughter, Gladys Victoria, was united in marriage to E. Malcolm Cutler, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Cutler of Plymouth. The bride's home was beautifully decorated with palms, peonies and roses, and the bride's dress was fashioned by hand of white satin. Rev. Marshall Reed of the First Methodist Church of Ypsilanti, officiated. Mrs. Otto Nickel, of Mt. Clemens, a sister, attended the bride, while the groom was attended by his brother, J. Rinsling Cutler. Only the immediate families and a few close friends were present.

Redman Parade Is Big Success

The district meeting of Redmen held in Plymouth last Saturday evening, proved to the people of Plymouth and vicinity that the Redmen are alive and up and doing.

The success of the parade was due largely to the fine performance of the band of the Plymouth High School Band, under the capable leadership of Mr. Evans. The forty men in Indian suits made a fine showing and brought applause from many bystanders along the line of march.

In spite of the extreme heat three candidates were taken in two new ones and one re-statement. Before the parade everyone enjoyed the fine supper prepared by the Council ladies, who also had a very successful meeting, having several new candidates.

July 4th, all Michigan Redmen and families are invited to Lansing, to take part in a big parade, and in the evening an open air meeting will be held in one of the large parks which has been reserved exclusively for the Redmen.

"Pal Night" Proves A Delightful Affair

"Pal Night," an annual festivity of the Business and Professional Women's Club, was observed Tuesday evening, June 23rd, by the local branch with a dinner at the Totem Pole, on the Five Mile road. Mrs. Jessie Oim, manager of the Totem Pole, is a member of the organization, state chairman of membership, and cooperating with Miss Rose Hawthorne and Miss Marie Johnson, who were hostesses for the evening, arranged a most delightful dinner and program. The large table at which the twenty guests were seated was beautifully decorated with gladioli, roses and sweet peas. Artistic place cards and pink roses marked the place of each guest.

After a short business session, at which Miss Elizabeth Sutherland, of the Sutherland Greenhouses, was elected to membership, the remainder of the evening was spent in a friendly contest attempting to prove who had the best pal and in finding out who the pals were.

This meeting was the last of the regular meetings scheduled for the year and with the exception of possibly a few parties during the months of July and August the club will not convene until early in September.

WOMAN HURT IN PHOENIX PARK AUTO SMASH-UP

Speeding Truck Overtakes Car Taking Patient to U. of M. Hospital

Mrs. Roy Boshaw of Port Huron, was seriously injured at Phoenix Park last Saturday forenoon when a meat truck driven by Frank Berlek of Detroit crashed into the rear end of the machine in which Mrs. Boshaw was going to Ann Arbor. Serious cuts about the head and other injuries were treated by Dr. Butz and Dr. Brisbols of Plymouth.

Mrs. Boshaw was on her way to Ann Arbor with her husband and three children, when one of the girls was being taken to the University hospital for treatment. The girl had been seriously burned by an electric shock a year or so ago, and requires regular treatments at Ann Arbor, stated the father.

As the Boshaw car neared Phoenix park from the north, Mr. Boshaw slowed down his car and started to turn off the side of the road so that the mother might give the daughter medical attention required at stated hours.

According to the information given to Chief of Police Vaughn Smith, who was called to the accident, Berlek crashed into the rear end of the Boshaw car, overturning it and badly injuring Mrs. Boshaw. Other occupants of the car escaped injury, although the car was badly wrecked.

No arrests were made. Berlek was delivering meat from Detroit to the Plymouth prison farm.

PLYMOUTH RESIDENTS USE GOOD JUDGMENT DURING PAST FEW DAYS

Plymouth residents and people in this part of Wayne county who do business in this community are to be congratulated upon the good judgment they have used during the past few days following the closing of the Lapham State Savings bank at Northville. Naturally the action in Northville caused some uneasiness in nearby communities, but the conservative banking practices that have always been followed here, in addition to the general knowledge of the strength of the two local banks, tided the situation over without the slightest ripple.

While the local banks have not sought them, it is reported that a number of deposits have been brought here from other places in the past few days. A few who took some of their money out have returned it for deposit.

It has been the confidence and faith in Plymouth business concerns that has given to Plymouth the state-wide reputation it has of being one of Michigan's most substantial communities and the action of the residents of the community during the past week has added much to the reputation for stability Plymouth enjoys. By using this excellent judgment, local residents have not only helped their town as a whole but they have helped themselves.

PHOENIX PARK BECOMES A NEW CONEY ISLAND

Thousands of Detroiters Come Here To Swim; Block Traffic

A new Coney Island has sprung up in the west—right on the edge of Plymouth—a Coney Island where one of the finest bathing beaches in Michigan is open to the public without charge.

While Mayor Murfky of Detroit, and the Henry Ford are giving the mayor's collapsed administration an ancient money on which to operate the city for the next few months, something like $5,000,000, the subjects of the Detroit Mayor are enjoying another Ford kindness out at Phoenix park. The entire west shore of Phoenix lake owned by Mr. Ford, is open to the public as a bathing beach.

Not hundreds, but thousands and thousands of Detroit residents each day are taking advantage of Mr. Ford's kindness, and a trip out north on the Plymouth-Northville road any afternoon or evening is just like a trip down along Coney Island.

In fact, late in the afternoon and evening, no greater is the crowd along Phoenix lake enjoying Mr. Ford's bathing beach that state police have found it necessary to spend considerable time along this section of the highway to keep traffic moving.

Schrader - Prescott Wedding Solemnized In Beautiful Way

The many pre-nuptial festivities honoring Miss Gladys Margaret Schrader, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred D. Schrader of this place and Lyle Milton Prescott, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Prescott of Dixon, Ill., were brought to a close with their beautiful wedding Tuesday, June 30th, at four o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents at 237 Main street. The wedding was one of more than general interest because of the bride's popularity among a host of life-long friends. It was also one of the prettiest and elaborate that has taken place in Plymouth in some time.

About one hundred guests witnessed the ceremony, performed by Rev. Walter Nichol of the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth, before an improvised altar of palms and lilies, with burning white tapers, and a background of white curtains, gracefully draped and hung with pink rosebuds, making it look like a picture. The arch between the living rooms was lanked with sweet peas, lily breath, snapdragons and ferns, and huge baskets of pink and white roses and white carnations, were placed throughout the rooms. The arrangement was ideal.

To the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Miss Ruth Allison, the wedding party, consisting of four ushers, Jesse Worth of Dixon, Ill.; Bruce Schwartz of Birmingham; Kenneth Hall of Dixon, Ill., and William Hardy of Dixon, Ill.; the bridesmaids, Miss Evelyn Mae Schrader, sister of the bride and Miss Dorothy Prescott, sister of the groom, the matron of honor, Mrs. Jesse Worth, sister of the groom, and her little daughter, Carol In Worth, as flower girl, scattering rose leaves before her, and the bride, Miss Gladys Margaret Schrader, with her father, Fred D. Schrader, advanced to the altar where the groom, Lyle Milton Prescott, and best man, Edwin A. Schrader, brother of the bride, were waiting.

Miss Schrader, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of imported white barred net over white tulle, with a wonderful long wide sash, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and valley lilies. Miss Evelyn Schrader wore pink net over tulle, with wide sash, and carried burnt orange roses; Miss Dorothy Prescott wore blue net with sash, and carried blue and pink roses, while Mrs. Jesse Worth wore orchid net.

Mrs. Schrader, mother of the bride, was gowned in peach chiffon, her carriage being of burnt orange roses, and Mrs. George Prescott, mother of the groom, wore black net with red roses. All wore hats and other accessories to match.

The groom and other men of the wedding party wore white flannel trousers, and double breasted blue coats.

Mrs. Prescott and Mrs. Schrader received the guests. Just before the ceremony, Mrs. Charles Garlett, accompanied by Miss Ruth Allison, sang "O, Promise Me."

Following the wedding, the guests were taken to the Hotel Mayflower, where they were received in the Palm room, by the bride and groom, the best man, the matron of honor, the two bridesmaids, Mrs. George Prescott and Mrs. Schrader. Roses and carnations featured the decorations of the Palm room. As the guests entered the dining room, Duane Patterson's orchestra provided musical selections. Pink and white ribbon streamers, hung with rosebuds, were suspended from the crystal chandelier, and each window was banked with roses and carnations, while on the long table at which the bridal party were seated, and at the small tables for the guests, were pink and white tapers, with pink rosebuds scattered throughout them.

The out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Prescott, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Worth and little daughter, Carol In, Miss Dorothy Prescott, Kenneth Hall and William Hardy of Dixon, Ill.; Mrs. M. Drows and son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Drows, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cowan, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Asa Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Roderick Campbell of Detroit; Bruce Schwartz of Birmingham; Mr. and Mrs. E. Norton and daughter, Miss Nell Norton and Mrs. John T. Norton of Rochester, Mo.; and Mrs. Nelson Schrader and daughter, Beva and Betty, and son, Nelson, Jr., Dr. and Mrs. Robert H. Haskell and daughter, Mary and Margaret, and son, Robert, Jr., of Northville; Mrs. E. Sutherland and daughter, Betty, of Chicago, Ill.; Miss Luella Kees of Rochester, and Miss Delight Berg of Ishpeming.

Mr. and Mrs. Prescott left the evening for a two weeks' motor trip north to Mackinac City, then across to Capota, and will be at home August 1st, at 515 E. Fellows St., Dixon, Ill.

The bride, a life-time resident of Plymouth, has a world of friends who extend to the young couple heartfelt congratulations and best wishes.

Harry J. Green of this place did the decorating for the wedding, both at the house and the hotel, proving that he is very capable along that line.

PLYMOUTH VILLAGE

No. No.—Not the celebration of the Fourth in Plymouth, July 4, 1831! The above program was for the celebration that took place in Plymouth July 4, 1831—just 80 years ago; to make it absolutely correct, just write in after July 4, the year 1831, and you'll have the exact date of this celebration. One of the original bills advertising this celebration hangs on the wall at the village hall, a most valuable bit of historical data.

Ten years before the Civil war broke out—with veterans of the Revolutionary war marching in parade in Plymouth! What a wonderful celebration it must have been!

No one living in Plymouth is old enough to recall this celebration as far as the Mail can find out. George Lee was then just eight years of age, a bit too young to remember all of the interesting things that took place so long ago in Plymouth.

"Return to the Bowery to partake of such fare as may be provided."

What and where was the Bowery? Maybe some of the sons and daughters of Plymouth settlers have heard their parents tell of it.

Mrs. Karl Starkweather remembers that Maple street was at one time called Bowery street and it is possible that what now might be termed a lunch stand was a temporary eating place, built for that day somewhere on Bowery street, but no one is quite sure.

Mrs. Karl W. Hillmer, another resident well versed in early Plymouth history believes that "The Bowery" referred to might have been an improvised sort of tent built over a platform, with branches of trees heavily laden with leaves forming the canopy.

ENTIRE PRISON NOW LOCATED IN PLYMOUTH

Wednesday Detroit Brings All Prisoners to Local Institution

Plymouth is now the home of Detroit's big city prison, the city Wednesday having completed the removal of all prisoners to the new institution at this place. Capt. Edward Denniston, warden, who has personally supervised every detail of the construction work of the new Plymouth prison, is now at ease for the first time in years, the old Alfred street prison in Detroit, having been entirely abandoned Wednesday.

Life on the 2,000-acre prison farm at Plymouth will be easier for Capt. Denniston and his staff. There every accommodation is modern and every safeguard the best that has been designed.

The fate of the historic Alfred street buildings in Detroit, was somewhat in doubt Tuesday. The common council passed a resolution committing it to the care of the department of public works for the time being. Commissioner Joseph E. Mills declared he could use part of the grounds as a junk and storage yard, and would do so if no one objected.

Plans to abandon the House of Correction have been under way since 1917, when it was first decided that the institution started by Gov. John J. Bagley and U. S. Senator Jacob M. Howard in 1861, had become too old and dilapidated to be remodeled. The first plan adopted was to build a penitentiary at French road near Grafton avenue, where the Municipal airport is now located. Later it was decided to build a farm-type prison, with scattered dormitories replacing massive high-walled cellblocks.

Progress was slow until a year ago, when the Columbus prison fire occurred. At that time Detroit was shocked to learn a similar tragedy had impended here for a decade, and only excessive watchfulness prevented it. The Plymouth institution was rushed to completion on orders from the prison commission to vacate the House of Correction as soon as possible.

Many of the families of Capt. Denniston's assistants have already moved to Plymouth, and before the summer is over, it is expected that most of the employes will have moved here.

HOTTEST IN YEARS—HEAT TO CONTINUE

Sweltering Weather Prevailing Both Night and Day In Michigan

Hon. Horner, Hottest! Monday it was hot. Tuesday it was hotter. Wednesday was the hottest!

Plymouth folks, just like all the rest of the people in the central portion of the country, sweltered this week. Nights that generally bring some relief, have been almost as hot as the days.

Times that tell once or twice during the early part of the week have been followed by hotter weather than prevailed before the storm.

Some people here, suffering from the heat, but as far as can be learned there have been no prostrations in this locality.

Hundreds have taken to their automobiles in an effort to find some relief during the evening hours, only to return home after a fairly refreshing ride to suffer more with the heat.

The entire country, according to weather reports, except the Pacific coast states and New England, are experiencing this unusual heat wave.

Tuesday at Marquette on the shores of Lake Superior, it was as hot as in Plymouth, the thermometer going to 102 degrees. The south reported temperatures of 110, 112 and in some places it went a trifle above this mark.

Wednesday morning at 6:00 o'clock, some thermometers in Plymouth on the shady sides of the houses, registered as high as 80 degrees. Some say at no time Tuesday night did the mercury drop under 80.

Weather reports say it snowed in the mountains of Montana, last Tuesday afternoon.

A woman down in Indianapolis, according to press reports, drew her money out of a bank, hid it in the ice box, and it melted away during the night when some thief watched her take it from the bank and discovered her hiding place.

The Perfection Laundry in Plymouth, has washed and ironed more collars and shirts this week than at any time in its history. Collars wilted almost by the time they were put on.

Bug Fighter Is Given Degree

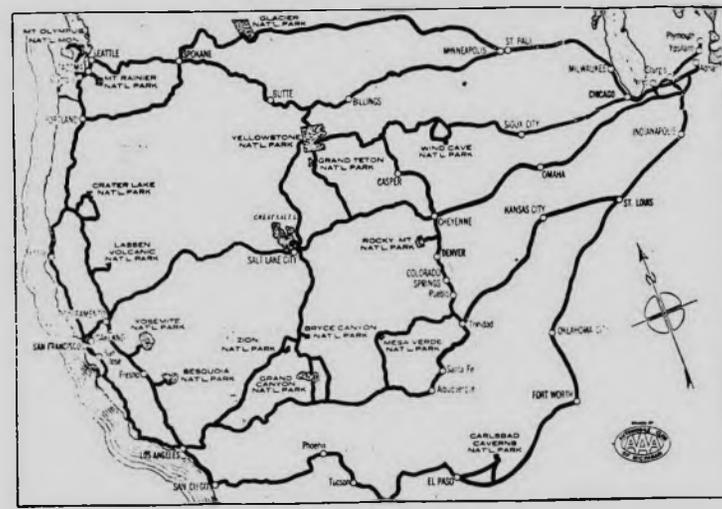

Professor R. H. Pettit, entomologist at Michigan State College who probably has answered more fan mail than any of the modern movie stars, has been granted the degree of Doctor of Science by the institution which he has served for 34 years.

Professor Pettit is best known to Michigan people by the phrase, "Hello Folks," with which he starts the advice on insect control which he gives from station WKAR at East Lansing. When the rest of the college staff start to draw a sigh of relief at the departure of the regular students at commencement time, Professor Pettit rolls his sleeves a little higher in preparation for the barrage of letters praying for or demanding advice for combating the insect pests that choose the hottest weather to destroy field and garden crops.

This tide of letters rolls in unceasingly, because as soon as the weather outdoors discourages insect pests they move into the greenhouses, which are multiplying rapidly around Michigan cities. The correspondence also discloses that not all insects work outside. Good housewives sometimes ask for advice and demand that this request be given no publicity.

Control methods for the apple maggot and the cherry fruit fly, two of the most serious orchard pests in this state, have been worked out by the college entomologist, and the warnings to apply the sprays for these insects are distributed by a plan which gets the information to every fruit grower in time for him to protect his fruit.

Plymouth Auto Club Manager Tells Of Best Points To Take To National Parks

Since the creek of covered wagons on the Santa Fe trail the number of persons who seek recreation in the national beauty spots of the west, increases. This year finds hundreds of thousands of motorists trekking to the national parks of the far west, to spots set aside by congress because of their extraordinary scenic beauty, remarkable phenomena and other unusual qualifications.

The accompanying map, outlined by Marie Johnson, manager of the Plymouth Division of the Automobile Club of Michigan, shows the principal routes to many of these famous national playgrounds.

These tracts, usually large areas, are national beauty spots created by nature and altered by man only by the addition of excellent roads that wind their way through these lands.

Among the parks included in the accompanying map is Glacier National Park, located in northwestern Montana. It has an acreage of 1,534 square miles of rugged mountain region, similar to the famous Alps. Here are 250 glacier-fed lakes, 60 small glaciers, precipitous and rare scenic beauty, Carlsbad Caverns National Park was created only last year and is located in the southeastern New Mexico. It is one square mile in area and here is found beautifully decorated limestone caverns, believed to be the largest ever discovered.

Mount Rainier National Park in west central Washington, is 325 square miles in area and is recognized as the largest accessible single peak glacier system. Rocky Mountain National Park in northern Colorado, is 378 square miles in area. It is in the heart of the Rockies and here are found peaks ranging from 11,000 to 14,255 feet in altitude. Mesa Verde in southwestern Colorado, covering 77 square miles in area, is the most notable and perhaps best preserved spot in the world for prehistoric cliff dwellings. Wind Cave National Park in South Dakota, 17 square miles in area, is a famous cavern which offers several miles of galleries and peculiar formation. Grand Teton, created in 1929, is located in northwestern Wyoming. It is 150 square miles in area and is in a picturesque portion of the Teton mountains.

Yellowstone, perhaps the most popular of the national parks, is located in northwestern Wyoming and covers an area of 3,348 square miles. Here are found more geysers than in all the rest of the world together—boiling springs, mud volcanoes, petrified forests and the Grand Canyon of the Yellowstone and many other unusual phenomena. Crater Lake Park, in southwestern Oregon, 240 square miles, is a lake of extreme blue formed in the crater of an extinct volcano. Its sides rise 1,000 feet over the lake. Lassen Volcanic National Park in northern California has an area of 124 square miles. Here is found the only active volcano in the United States.

Grand Canyon, another of the most famous national parks, is in north central Arizona. It is 958 square miles in area and is known as the greatest example of erosion and the most sublime spectacle in the world.

with your fellow citizens. Yet that transcendent love of country, by which you have always been actuated, did not suffer you to rest here—but when the united voice of myriads of fellow-citizens (your fellow citizens) called you from the repose of domestic life, actuated solely by the principles of true glory—not seeking your own aggrandizement, but sacrificing the sweets of retired life to the wishes and happiness of your country, we have beheld you, possessed of the confidence of a great people, presiding over their councils, and, by your happy administration, uniting them together by the great political bond of one common interest.

"It is, therefore, that the inhabitants of this borough seize with joy the only opportunity which has afforded to them, to testify their appreciation of, and their gratitude for, your services.

"Long, very long, sir, may you enjoy the affections of your fellow-citizens. We pray for a long continuance of your health and happiness, and the choicest blessings of Heaven on our beloved country—and on You—its Father and its Friend."

Washington's reply to the above address was as follows:

"To the Corporation and the Inhabitants of the Borough of Lancaster: Gentlemen: Your congratulations on my arrival in Lancaster are received with pleasure, and the flattering expressions of your esteem are repelled to with sincere regard.

"With I confess my gratitude for the distinguished estimation in which you are pleased to hold my public services, a sense of justice to my fellow-citizens ascribes to other causes the peace and prosperity of our highly favored country. Her freedom and happiness are founded in their patriotic exertions, and will, I trust, be transmitted to distant ages through the same number of wisdom and virtue. With sincere wishes for your social, I offer an earnest prayer for your individual welfare."

At 3 o'clock the President and a very large number of citizens "sat down to an elegant entertainment, provided for the occasion, in the Court House." Fifteen regular toasts were given, and finally Washington gave the toast, "The Government and State of Pennsylvania" and retired, when the company arose and volunteered a toast, "The Illustrious President of the United States."

Washington Made Only One Speech On Birthday Of Nation

The only Fourth of July address ever made by George Washington was delivered at Lancaster, Pennsylvania, on Independence Day, 1791. This place, at that time, was the largest inland town in the United States.

Washington, in his diary, thus describes the incident:

"Monday, July 4, 1791. This being the Anniversary of American Independence and being kindly requested to do it, I agreed to halt here this day and partake of the entertainment which was preparing for the celebration of it. In the forenoon I walked about the town—at half past 2 o'clock I received, and answered an address from the corporation and the communications of the Clergy of different denominations—delivered between 3 and 4 o'clock—frank read with Mrs. Bond." The address from the corporation was as follows:

"To George Washington, President of the United States:

"Sir: On behalf of the inhabitants of the borough of Lancaster, the members of the Corporation beg leave to congratulate you on your arrival at this place. On this joyful occasion, they approach the First Magistrate of the Union with hearts impressed with no less grateful respect than their fellow-citizens of the East and South. With them they have admired those talents, and that firm prudence in the field, which finally ensured success to the American arms. But at this time, reverence forbids the language which would naturally flow from the recognition of the evens of the late glorious revolution. The faithful page of history will record your illustrious actions for posterity. Yet we cannot forbear to mention what we, in our day, have beheld and witnessed. We have seen you at the awful period, when the storm was bursting around us, and our fertile plains were deluged with above adversity, and exerting all the talents of the patriot and the hero, to save our country from the threatened ruin; and when, by the will of Heaven, these exertions had restored peace and prosperity to the United States, and the great object for which you drew the sword was accomplished, we have beheld you, adorned with every private, social virtue mingling

Auction Sale That Listed Much For Sale

Back many years ago in the Plymouth Mail appeared an item about an old auction sale of long ago. The article is of just as much interest now as it was then. The other day in going through some old papers, Harry Robinson ran across a clipping of the article he made at the time it was reproduced in the Plymouth Mail. It follows:

"Harry C. Robinson, our genial auctioneer, hands us a copy of a notice of an auction sale held in Pike county, Missouri, over 70 years ago. Such a list of property sounds strange, indeed, in our day. The notice is as follows: "Public Sale, State of Missouri,

MAN DROWNS IN PHOENIX LAKE

John Wesley, 30 years old of Detroit, was drowned about 3:30 Thursday morning in Phoenix Park Lake, when taken with cramps. His body was recovered shortly before 8:40 o'clock by Officers Westfall of Plymouth, and Deputy Sheriff Frabum of Detroit. Officer Charles Timmune of Plymouth had assisted in the dragging of the lake and was out after another boat when the body was found in about four feet of water.

Wesley, who had been out of employment for a number of years, resided with his parents. He was unmarried. He had spent the entire night at Phoenix with friends. Once earlier in the night he had been seized with cramps and had been taken from the water, but went back in, and it was not a great while before he was missed. His body was not far from the shore when found.

Gas Tax Unpaid; Station Seized

State police have seized and are now in possession of the Paramount Gasoline station fixtures at the corner of Main and Grel streets, for the non-payment of the gasoline tax. This is the station that has been selling ten gallons of gas for $1.00 for a number of weeks.

When a number of former patrons went to the place Wednesday morning to "tank up," they found the station closed and notices posted in the windows that the place had been taken over by the state police.

The station is said to have been one operated as a part of a chain of cut-rate gas stations in Detroit.

A Protest—"The Dayang Muda of Sarawak," a poet fresh from Europe said, "keeps open house for modern poets and painters in her beautiful apartment on the Promenade des Anglais in Nice. She's very rich, you know. She was a Palmer—the Huntley and Palmer biscuit people."

"She's very rich and she's very witty, too. She said to me one day on her return from her dressmaker's: "Women's clothes are ever so much dearer than they were in the past; yet in the past it took two sheep to make a dress, while it only takes one silkworm now!"

Trade Depends on Wants—Human wants are, as it were, the mainsprings of economic activity, which in the last analysis, keep the economic world in motion. The desire to have clothes as fine as the clothes of others, or finer, or different, leads to the multiplicity of silks, satins, laces, etc., and the same principle applies to furniture, amusements, books, works of art and every other means of gratification. The increase of wants in so far as it leads to an increase in trade, tends to lower the price level.

EPISCOPAL NOTES

Our service this Sunday will sound the note of the national holiday which precedes it. There is nothing which our country needs more today than the prayers and good character of Christian people. In other time duty has called men into battle, to great pioneering enterprise, or the construction of material wealth and comfort. Today the need is equally great for real religion. It should be considered a patriotic duty in these days to go to church and to endeavor to live according to our profession as followers of the Master.

Decide now to include in your holiday program an hour for worship. Wherever you are, go to church next Sunday.

The Holy Communion will be celebrated in St. John's Church at 10:00 o'clock, this Sunday morning.

Although there will be no classes in the church school during July and August, every boy and girl is asked to come and worship with us at the regular 10 o'clock service. Parents are requested to encourage the children to come. It is part of their religious education to become familiar with the services of the church.

Christian Science Notes

"Christian Science" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches on Sunday, June 28. Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Light is sown for the righteous, and gladness for the upright in heart. Rejoice in the Lord, ye righteous; and give thanks at the remembrance of his holiness" (Ps. 97:11,12).
The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christian Science is dawning upon a material age. The great spiritual facts of being, like rays of light, shine in the darkness, though the darkness, comprehending them not, may deny their reality" (p.540).

Coming Attractions At Penniman-Allen

"WHITE SHOULDERS"

"White Shoulders," the new Radio Picture showing at the Penniman-Allen Theatre, Sunday, July 5, boasts the talents of three of the finest players in pictures today—Mary Astor, Jack Holt and Ricardo Cortez.
Mary Astor's performance in this story by Rex Beach, has already received high commendation from the critics. This star, who lapped to new prominence with her fine playing opposite Ann Harding in "Holiday," and later duplicated in such productions as "Behind Office Doors," "The Mighty," and other outstanding films, is seen in the principal female role in "White Shoulders."

Playing opposite her is Jack Holt, rugged he-man and two-fisted incarnation of the screen, whose acting in "Dirigible" and "Subway Express" are among current highlights.
Ricardo Cortez, suave and charming screen villain, is again seen to advantage in a role sympathetically portrayed in spite of his character. Cortez, it is said, does the finest acting of his career in "White Shoulders."

The picture was directed by Melville and made a more up-to-date, faster-moving and funnier job out of its original pattern. Arthur Kober, playwright, journalist and advertising man, has injected into it the pep and care-free spirit of 1931—and the famous play now sparkles and glitters on the talking screen.

A brilliant cast of players enact the famous roles of old (Cyrus Martin, Eugene Pallette) the bath-soap king; Rodney Martin (Norman Foster) his playboy son; Ambrose Peale, (Skeets Gallagher) the hip and humorous press agent; Mary Grayson (Carol Lombard) the smart business girl who falls in love with Rodney; and the other famous burlesque types on big business life.

The story deals with the doings of Rodney after his father dispossesses him for playing around with chorus girls. The young lad, faced with starvation, gets Peale to join him in a soap enterprise to compete with the "old man." Mary, who likes Rodney, decides to join them in the venture. In reality she is in the pay of the "old man" who enlisted her, aid to coerce Rodney into going to work. Rodney is ignorant of this scheme, and he goes right ahead falling in love with Mary.

"IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE"

A delicious plot structure, enlarded with a rich mixture of laughing syrup, is "It Pays to Advertise" the comedy-romance which makes its debut at the Penniman-Allen Theatre, Saturday, July 11.

This story has been rated as one of the most perfect plays for never-miss laughs every constructed by leading American playwrights. It ran successfully for many seasons a decade or so ago in New York, on tour and in stock in various cities of the world. And now Paramount has taken it

Modernizing Can Be Achieved Gradually....

Modernizing the home does not necessarily mean remodeling the entire dwelling. Many home owners have adopted the plan of remodeling or refinishing one room each year. Others start modernizing their homes first by making the changes most needed and then doing less vital alteration work later. Perhaps the first year the front porch can be rebuilt; the second year the attic can be lined with insulation to make an extra room or two; the third year new floors can be laid in first floor rooms, and so on until the dwelling has been brought up to date. By spreading the cost of improvements over a period of time, many householders have been able to pay for modernizing operations out of income. In this manner many old homes have been gradually improved until they compare favorably with many newer structures without putting the owner to great immediate expense.

Three Presidents Of United States Died On Fourth Of July

One historic fact relating to July 4 is seldom remembered in the usual observance of Independence Day. We are informed by the Division of Information and Publication of the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission. This is especially true because this historic fact has touching and dramatic meaning. July 4 is the day on which three Presidents of the United States died. Each of these three early Presidents played a prominent part in the very formation of our government, and each received, as a reward from the people, elevation to their highest office. Having performed great labors in planning the theory of our government, it fell to their lot to set noble examples in putting the theory into practical effect.

These three presidents were John Adams, Thomas Jefferson and James Monroe. Indeed John Adams and Thomas Jefferson died almost at the same time on July fourth, 1826. After many sharp differences of opinion, which had divided them during a part of their lives, Adams and Jefferson became not only reconciled but closely attached friends. The correspondence of their final years is one of the glories of American letters. Adams lived to be ninety, Jefferson eighty-three. Neither knew how close to death was the other, and Adams' last words, when conscious that death was near, were said to have been, "Thomas Jefferson still lives." But Thomas Jefferson was already dead.

Before their presidency, both these great men served as vice-president, and one of them as vice-president while the other was president. The older man, John Adams, was vice-president under George Washington. All three were closely associated with Washington during our formative days, and to one of them, John Adams, goes the credit for playing a major part in throwing George Washington into the arms of destiny.

It was largely the action of John Adams that led the Continental Congress to appoint George Washington as commander-in-chief of the Revolutionary forces. Before that time Washington had been an outstanding sectional figure, a man of the South. In command of the Continental forces, he became a man of the country, and history knows full well how he played the part.

James Monroe, a younger man, appeared on the scene of action after the great political groundwork of founding the nation had been accomplished. But as a young man he played a gallant part on the field of battle, as a follower of Washington.

Strange to say, he at first opposed the Constitution of the United States, and, as a member of the Virginia Convention, elected to act on adoption of the Constitution, he voted against it. Yet he lived to become the president who enunciated a Doctrine that states men regard as not less an actual rule of American policy than the Constitution itself. James Monroe died on July 4, 1831; but the "Monroe Doctrine" is immortal.

The older men, Adams and Jefferson, are forever linked with George Washington as leaders in the movement that made America independent. Washington was distinctly the man of action, the soldier, the director of affairs, and without him the Revolution might never have moved to victory. But just as necessary were the philosophy of Jefferson in shaping our principles of government, and the abilities of Adams in waking and training popular opinion, a labor in which he had few peers.

Both Adams and Jefferson served on the committee to draft the Declaration of Independence. Both signed the Declaration, and to one of them, Thomas Jefferson, belongs the immortal honor of having written that timeless instrument.

In spite of their passing differences, these two giants of intellect and manhood were partners throughout their lives, in one of the greatest achievements for the progress of humanity.

Children Help Prevent Fires

The school children of Michigan are playing a important part in keeping down the number of forest fires, and more and more prevention education will be directed to them, according to the Forest Fire Division of the Department of Conservation.

Within recent years many schools, especially those in the northern part of the state, have taught pupils the ways and means of preventing fires. This sort of teaching should be extended to schools in the southern part of the state as well, it was said.

The Division realizes that prevention methods should not be taught only to those living in the districts where forest fires occur frequently. People in these areas realize the real seriousness of fire and know how to prevent them. It is to those living away from the fire area and who go north during the summer, that prevention methods should be taught.

Early in the spring the school commissioner of one northern county ordered that short essays on forest fire prevention be read once each morning for a week to the pupils of every grade in every school in the county. Such a program extended to every school in the state should result in an appreciable decrease in the number of forest fires. Children are being taught how to properly extinguish a camp fire. They are being cautioned against setting any fire in the woods. They are being asked to caution their fathers against throwing away lighted tobacco or matches.

Boys' and girls' camps should include in their educational curricula a course in forest fire prevention and control.

Big Fireworks At Walled Lake

Anxious to see a big fireworks display on the Fourth? There's going to be one at Walled Lake, according to the announcement carried in this week's issue of the Mail by the Walled Lake Amusement Park management. It will be the biggest fireworks display ever presented at the lake. One of the features of the evening's program will be the "Battle of the Clouds," with all its dramatic climaxes. To create this mammoth fireworks display it will require great flares, rockets, gigantic bombs, torpedoes and other pyrotechnic devices. Never before has the management planned such a spectacular fireworks display. There is no admission charge to see the display.

GIRL OF ODD NAME
Just because my name is Jessie James Outlaw, don't get the idea that I am dangerous and don't think my parents were trying to play a joke on me when I was christened. My father's name is Jesse and I was the first child. James is another family name. Say anything about me you care to, but don't write my name "Jessie James Outlaw." So spoke Jessie James Outlaw, explaining her curious name to the registrar while appearing as a student in Texas Christian University.

On the very birthday of the new charter they had brought to mankind, when the entire nation was celebrating its 50th anniversary, they died, within a few hours of each other. Had they been allowed to select the day of their passing, neither could have picked one more to his liking, or more fitting to the record they have left on American history.

As Independence Day is celebrated this year, the American people should spare a thought or two to this striking historic fact. In honoring the day as the beginning of their liberties and privileges, they should also honor the memories of those three men who died, full of years and full of honors, on this birthday of a government that has enriched the records of the past as it has enriched the lives of a living people.

Training School Boy Scout Tells Of Trip Made To Put-In-Bay

"A Story of Put-In-Bay" is the title of an interesting article written by Eddie Zander, a member of the Wayne County Training School Boy Scout Troop No. 2. The article has so much merit to it that the Plymouth Mail has asked Dr. Robert Haskell for permission to use it, so that Mail readers can gain an idea of the work some of the boys and girls at the school can do. It follows:

"There were twenty-two scouts that went to Put-In-Bay from N2. We left at 7:30 in the morning and traveled on the bus for an hour. While we were riding on the bus, the Scouts sang songs and told jokes. We finally got to the place where the big boat was. It was a very big boat. It was on the First street. All the Scouts got on the boat. The first event was to try and get all the troops that were on the boat. There were thirteen events: out of the thirteen events two Scouts from N2 got two of the prizes. We rode on the boat for four hours. What a ride it was! I can bet you that the Scouts that were on the boat walked up and down the floors about 10 times. I am sure that I did. This is the first time that I was on Lake Erie, and it sure is a big lake. When we were on the boat we passed under the Ambassador Bridge and it sure is a big bridge. We finally came in sight of Perry's Monument. It sure is high. It is 300 and some feet high.

"While we were still on Lake Erie some of the Sea Scouts sent messages by signalling to the other Sea Scouts that were on the other boat. Finally the boat anchored by the dock at Put-In-Bay. There were lots of people waiting for the boat to come to Put-In-Bay. The people on the dock seemed to be happy to see the Scouts come to Put-In-Bay. Everybody got out of the boat. It took about thirty or forty minutes before everybody was out of the boat. The Scouts of N2 went by a tree and ate their dinner. While we were eating our dinner, some of the Scouts of another troop challenged us to a ball game. We played about 3 or 6 innings and the score was 10 to 6 in favor of N2. We sure played a hard game. I was the pitcher and I pitched a good game to help win for N2. Then the first-aid team came to play. We chose five of our Scouts and five of the other Scouts. We played four innings when an aeroplane came and dropped some messages and ended the ball game, because there was a prize in the messages. But the score was six to five in favor of the First Aid team. Then came a big tug-of-war. The tug-of-war was sure a hard tug-of-war as ever I saw. The tug-of-war was between the east side and the west side. Finally the west side won after a hard struggle.

"Then the Scouts all marched to Perry's Monument and one of the Sea Scouts' captain talked about Perry and said in his talk about the words Perry said. Here are the words Perry said: 'We have met the enemy and they are ours.' Then all Scouts saluted and said the Scouts' Benediction and then we all went to the boat and some of the Scout Commissioners gave out to the Scouts pencil clips to remember Put-In-Bay. Then the boat started back for home. We sailed on Lake Erie till we came to the Detroit River. We sang songs on the boat and danced too. When the boat just got about near the Ambassador Bridge it started to rain. Finally the boat anchored and everybody got out of the boat and the Sea Scouts had to clean up the boat.

"The Scouts of N2 went to the bus. It was 8 o'clock and then we started back to the school. We ate part of our supper on the boat and the other part on the bus. Here are some of the Scout songs: 'Over Hill, Over Dale,' 'Once I went out Swimming,' 'Let Me Live for Scouting,' etc. We got back to the school at 10:30 in the night. All the Scouts of N2 and N3 that went to Put-In-Bay sure had a good time and how I am positive the Scouts that are in the Training School are very thankful that Dr. Haskell let them go to Put-In-Bay. Well, you know why they call the place Put-In-Bay, because Perry put the ships in the bay. It really was a big day for the Scouts!"

Former Teacher Dies in the East

Miss Lovia Bryant, sixth daughter of Reverend George W. Bryant and Marinda (Parker) Bryant, died in New Hampshire on June 27th. Miss Bryant will be remembered in Plymouth as a sister of Mrs. Frank B. Adams, spending many summers here until 1903, when the family moved away.

Miss Bryant had been in serious ill health for more than three years. She was born in Lisbon, New Hampshire, on July 26, 1866, and her childhood was spent in Lisbon and in Newbury, Vermont. She united with the Methodist church in Lisbon at the age of twelve. For several years she was a student in Tilton Seminary, Tilton, New Hampshire, and was graduated from that institution in 1887. She later studied in the State Normal Schools of Marquette and Ypsilanti, Michigan, and at the University of Chicago.

Miss Bryant was for more than thirty years a teacher in the public schools of Michigan, for the greater part of that period in Escanaba, where she was principal of the Franklin School. She was a person of fine

Any Michigan resident who can find a huckleberry bush, of the highbush type, which produces berries one-half inch in diameter or larger and who can resist the temptation to pick the berries long enough to notify the superintendent of the South Haven Experiment Station may be able to sell the plant for $25.00 which is offered for the best native huckleberry plant found in the state this year.

Ten dollars is offered for the next best plant. The color of the berries may be either blue or black and the plant must be three feet or more in training and brilliant mind, and had marked ability both as teacher and administrator. She made a notable contribution to the development of departmental teaching in the schools of Michigan. Throughout her professional life she was known also for the artistic talent, which she had first shown as a student at Tilton, and for her dramatic readings. She was a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution and of numerous educational organizations.

Miss Bryant is survived by a brother, Judge Wilbur F. Bryant, of Harrison, Nebraska; a sister, Mrs. Mary Bryant Adams, of Orange, New Jersey, and by several nephews and nieces. Funeral services were held in Lisbon, and the burial was in the family lot in the Lisbon cemetery.

FARM PROSPECTS ONLY "WHITE SPOT" ON THE STATE BUSINESS MAP

HOOVER HELPS WORLD CONDITION; LITTLE BUILDING BEING DONE ANYWHERE.

Such a reversal in business psychology as we have witnessed since President Hoover proposed a year's recess in international debt payments is without precedent, according to Dr. Ralph E. Badger, executive vice-president, and Carl F. Behrens, economist, Union Guardian Trust Company, Detroit, a unit of the Guardian Detroit Union Group, Inc. With the disclosure of this plan, much of the uncertainty which has confronted business men throughout the country in recent weeks, vanished. No better demonstration of this fact can be found than the sharp rise which has occurred in security and speculative commodity prices during the past ten days.

Although industrial activity as evidenced in steel mill activity, electric power consumption, railroad car-loadings and other such barometers has decreased in recent weeks, the situation in agriculture shows distinct improvement. The winter wheat crop as far north as Kansas has been harvested and yields have been most satisfactory. Throughout the Ohio valley, this crop has been and gives promise of exceptional yields. Corn and cotton have likewise been favored by good conditions of growth, namely, rain and high temperatures.

The only sections of the country where the outlook for crops is at all bad are the western part of the spring wheat area and the northwest.

Retail trade has fallen off by more than the normal seasonal amount and general commodity prices are persistently weak.

Money conditions are very easy. The decline in short-term rates has been reflected in increased purchases of high grade bonds by banks and other investors, in a rise of prices of these bonds, and in a corresponding decline in yields. Lower grade bonds have continued weak, however. Uncertainty over the future of business has also resulted in a substantial decline in the volume of new bond issues, exclusive of United States Government securities.

Michigan business reached a peak during the first half of 1931 some time in April or May. This is especially true of the southeastern section with Detroit as its center. In Detroit, industrial activity as reflected in this company's index, was about 74.7 per cent of normal in April, but declined to 71.2 per cent in May. Similar changes in industrial output occurred in Bay City, Jackson and Pontiac during April and May, but at Flint and Saginaw, May output was greater than April. The rate of industrial output during the first two weeks of June has been less than in April or May in nearly all the industrial centers of southeastern Michigan. Some improvement in employment conditions has been noted at Jackson and Saginaw, and further increases are expected in these two cities; in other cities, employment has decreased.

Retail trade has fallen off very perceptibly in Detroit but has shown some improvement in Flint, Harrisville, Lapeer and Saginaw. Further increase is anticipated at Harrisville, Lapeer and Saginaw. Dairy farmers supplying the Detroit market with milk products have entered into an agreement with the distributors of these products in this city whereby milk prices have been reduced from 12 cents a quart to 10 cents. This reduces the cost of an important item in most family food bills by a substantial amount. Many other food products have declined in price during recent weeks.

Building activity in most cities of the southeastern area is considerably below activity of a year ago. The value of building permits issued in Detroit during May, for example, was only $2,307,000 compared with $5,024,000 a year ago. At Flint, the totals were $170,000 for May, 1931, compared with $108,000 in May, 1930. Lansing and Ann Arbor are exceptions to the general statement, however, for in each of these cities, the value of building permits issued in May, 1931 was well above the values for the same month of 1930.

In general, the reports received from bankers and other business leaders from various parts of southeastern Michigan indicate more optimism and more real improvement in business than those from any other section of the state. Manufacturing operations at Battle Creek and Kalamazoo are about equal to operations a year ago and at Niles and Charlotte, somewhat greater than they were a year ago.

Furthermore, in eight out of the fifteen reports, manufacturing is expected to continue at satisfactory levels and in three of them, some further improvement is anticipated.

The value of building and construction under way in Battle Creek, Kalamazoo and Mt. Pleasant is greater than it was a year ago, but in the other important cities of this area, last year's levels only are being maintained.

Crop conditions are very good in the farming areas surrounding Albion, Benton Harbor, Holland, Ionia, Lake Odessa and Stanton, and are good near Battle Creek, Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, Mt. Pleasant and South Haven. In the farming area around Charlotte, they "never looked better," according to one report.

Northern Michigan business is reflecting the effect of summer tourist trade. The cherry crop in the Hart fruit growing section has suffered severe damage, but good crops of peaches, plums, apples and pears are expected. The continued weakness of farm prices has, of course, discouraged buying on the part of local people whose incomes are closely related to agricultural conditions.

The very good outlook for farm crops and the seasonal increase in summer tourist trade are also the factors upon which Upper Peninsula business men are relying. At Manistique, a school building program involving the expenditure of $200,000 has relieved unemployment to some extent and at Sault Ste. Marie, government and state projects totalling $2,000,000 "will offset all unfavorable conditions." The low prices of copper continue to exert a depressing influence on business in the Calumet district. Shipping, which is also a source of considerable income to Upper Peninsula residents, is severely depressed. The tonnage of freight which passed through the canals at Sault Ste. Marie during May, which is a good indicator of shipping on the Great Lakes, was only 98 per cent of the tonnage for May, 1930.

This Bug Does No Injury to Wheat

Both the scientists and the humorists say that the wheat crop is lousy this year, but the entomologists at Michigan State College say that farmers of this state need have no serious worries about the presence of unusual numbers of the common grain aphid, or plant louse, on wheat.

Farmers from all sections of Michigan have bombarded the College department with requests for information and advice about this minute insect which is found on the heads or other parts of the wheat plant. This grain aphid is an old resident of the state and is present each year.

It is also known as the apple-bud louse and spends part of its time on apple trees, where it does no harm. From the apple, the insect migrates, in April usually, to grasses or grains. It sucks juice from the plant, but does not inject any toxic substance into the plant to cause serious injury. This insect has been observed for the past 80 years by the College entomologists, and, during that period of time, natural parasites of the plant lice have always killed most of the aphids before harvest time. This parasitization is expected to occur again this year and the plant lice will be reduced to their ordinary numbers. The species of plant aphid which causes serious damage to grain crops in some parts of the country has been found in Michigan only once or twice and no specimens of it has been reported this year. This aphid injects a substance into the plant which interferes with the plant's growth.

Monticello, historic home of Thomas Jefferson, has many oddities which excite the popular interest. For example, it is a home without beds. The master slept (and died) on a cot of his own contrivance, located in an opening between his study and what should have been his bedroom. He was able to jump out of it into either room. The cot was so arranged that it was raised to the ceiling during the daytime to have a passageway between the two rooms.

"BLACK FROST" A "black frost" may cause considerable damage to growing crops without there being any deposit of frost whatever, says the U. S. Weather Bureau. The bureau explains this phenomenon by saying that the temperature of any exposed object usually falls more or less steadily after sunset until it reaches the dew point, at which time the invisible water vapor in the atmosphere begins to condense and be deposited, especially if there is considerable moisture present. If the dew point is above 32° F., the freezing point of water, dew forms; it is 32° F. or lower, frost forms. Since dew or frost does not begin to form until the temperature of the ground or other object reaches the dew point, it is apparent that if the dew point is very low, the temperature may fall low enough to cause considerable damage to vegetation by freezing without the formation of frost.

ERADICATE OX WARBLES Though ox warbles usually do not appear on livestock in the North until February, the southern livestock raiser should watch out for them in December. Warbles found on stock should be squeezed out and destroyed. Do not crush the warbles, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture, as this sometimes has a bad effect on the cattle. The grubs can also be destroyed by the use of Derris as a wash, ointment or powder; by pyrethrum ointment; by the injection of benzol or carbon tetrachloride; or by the application of the tobacco powder or nicotine dust. Get your neighbors to cooperate by destroying warbles on their herds, so your cattle will not be reinfested.

Baby Girl

Mrs. Fred Chavey, 10004 Cranston Avenue, is receiving congratulations on the safe arrival of a seven and one-half pound baby girl, last Friday, the twenty-sixth instant, the stork arriving at about two a. m. meridian. The proud daddy comes to R Emporium for requisites and gives us the pretty name for a baby "Miss Margaret Anne Chavey."

This is six girls this year to one boy. Wadda we care anyhow, as twenty-one years from now they'll all vote and each vote probably will count the same as now, one or more, according to location of the polls.

Let us not forget to mention seven is a lucky number, and little Miss Margaret Anne is seventh Gardenite lady this A. D. year 1931. Here's wishing her all the good luck.

Ching
The chow dog per of the Pembroke Road Goodhold's is still among the missing, the Frank Brown has offered all kinds of money and advertised in all papers hereabouts, to word of him has come from anyone, anywhere. Even had Ching eloped, it is hardly likely to have him stay away so long. Foul play is feared, as owing to the variety of the beast, he would have availed himself of any opportunity of getting home again, or grieve himself to death in confinement in the hands of a stranger. Everyone is requested to look for Ching.

Lakeing
are all the Kinalans, the Snells, Dunlops, Boyls and others, scheduled to go and do likewise. From looks of chokid highways, and our many visitors it seems as the there were but few people left in Detroit these hot days, nites and on Sundays. Gardenite folks as a rule enjoy homeside, however.

Financing
Michigan, north of Bay City on Saginaw Bay, bicycled to by Herbert Kalmach, Cranston Avenue, last week. Herbert left mother at 5:00 a. m., and arrived at grandmother's fifteen (15) hours later, making a total of 137 miles all safe and tired and hungry.

Lawn-Fete
Ice cream, home made cakes and home grown strawberries, at the corner of McKinney Road and US-12, netted $1 Sunday-school a tidy sum. Tables were prettily decorated, white linen cloths and home flowers, attracted many a passerby with his sweetie. June bugs and gypsy moths were not charged for, they they were not unwelcome, as one sweetie from Detroit was heard to remark "O Tom! I just love the country air, isn't it gorgeous, these flowers, these bugs and these ants!" (Tluntt).

Then our youth and comaster orchestra musicians, the Schaffers, and the Shaders, kept things lively with appropriate tunes. Little Miss Lois Hoffman sang, and her brother, Wesley, and cousin, Lorna Belle Robbe, danced very nicely for all assembled to partake of goodies.

The committee is to be congratulated in having selected a good moonlight and warm nite, they had to send to R Emporium for more gallons of ice cream, it all seemed to disappear somehow.

Last two years we had to hurry indoors on account of thunder storms, but this year had a jump of two miles on the storm, which same reminds us when it did come it was a

that visited us on Friday, as well as elsewhere, though no material damage.

And it is further Ordered, That a copy of this order be published three successive weeks previous to said time of hearing in the Plymouth Mail, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Wayne.

Don't Get Under An Oak Tree In A Storm

To seek shelter under an oak tree during a thunder storm is almost as dangerous as to search for gasoline with a lighted match. Of all trees, the oak is most susceptible to lightning.

So says a bulletin just issued, following a study of the phenomena of lightning in relation to trees.

If you must get under a tree, says the Davey Institute, find a beech, for it is rarely ever the victim of lightning. The ratio of the oak to the beech in being struck by an electrical bolt is 60 to 1, according to observations made over a period of years.

The roots of a tree tap the electrical field of the ground. When a storm cloud is overhead the positive electricity in it is attracted by the negative electricity in the earth, and lightning follows.

Trees, such as the oak, which have a large root area naturally have larger electrical fields than others. Oaks also have "tap" roots, which go far into the ground and bring up large quantities of water to the tree, which serves as another attraction for electrical bolts.

The best advice of the Davey Institute is to avoid trees altogether when lightning is at work, as it would be somewhat difficult for the layman to make a scientific selection in time of emergency. Better to keep in the open spaces. If no house is near, and get thoroughly wet than to offer yourself as a target for lightning.

Ants and Crickets
are in season. The ants more than usual and the crickets not so many. But we fear that there may be more as the season grows drier. Lady correspondents to these columns ask how to get rid of same. For ants we recommend that a pile of five pounds of sugar be placed about 100 feet south of the house, watch sugar close, sitting with back to sun, and sweat every five minutes day and nite until you have killed all the ants. For crickets give the men folks Mason jars (any old tomato or pineapple cans will also suffice), tell them to catch crickets for fishing on the morrow while you prepare luncheon for to take, they will be (the men) so tired by the time all the crickets are caught that they won't want to go anyplace but to bed. Continue these stunts 'till Xmas and we guarantee there'll be no more 'till next summer.

Additions
are about completed, including a lot of shrubs and back dirt and a nice fence on the Hudson, Jr., lots on Melrose Avenue. And all in all its a good job and looks nice.

Prizes
to be announced later, are being offered for the best looking garden; the Rosedale School boy or girl, who can name the most number of birds seen hereabouts and where; brief description of same. One side of paper only and not over two hundred words, for the birdie contest.

Question
by city cousin Charlotte—"Mother, why is a rose?" Now, smartie Gardenite, answer that one if you dare!

Stinson Hurt, Pilot Killed

Myron S. Hutchinson, eastern district sales manager of the Stinson Aircraft Corporation, died Saturday in a plane crash at White Plains, N. Y., in which his bride of a few months was seriously injured.

Shortly before Hutchinson was killed, Eddie Stinson, president of the company, narrowly escaped serious injury when a plane in which he and Orson Porter were flying nosed over in a forced landing. The plane was slightly damaged.

Hutchinson was flying from Roosevelt Field when his motor died. Just when he seemed to have achieved a landing the plane hit a tree and turned over.

For the last two years, as an employee of various airplane companies, Hutchinson has done all of his traveling by plane. Physicians who attended Mrs. Hutchinson, said that she had slight chances of recovery.

Mr. Car Owner

Here is what Race Drivers with Life and Victory at Stake have decided about Tires

FOR twenty-one years the Indianapolis two and a half mile circular brick track, surrounded by a concrete wall to keep the cars from dashing off, has been the crucible where at white heat automobiles and tires have been tested. Thousands of men have risked, and some have sacrificed, their lives, and manufacturers have spent millions of dollars to the end of making better automobiles and better tires.

Louis Schneider and mechanic on Saturday won this race in a heavy 8 cylinder car. He made an average speed of 96.629 miles per hour—on the straightaways and in passing cars he touched 140 miles and better. He drove on 6.00-20 Firestone High Speed Tires with racing treads. He had no tire trouble.

He used Firestone Tires because Firestone experts and engineers have through twenty-one years taken this race as a challenge to tire making. From this race they have developed these vital improvements which have given to Firestone Tires the world leadership in safety, mileage and endurance.

1. Gum-Dipping. Tires had to be stronger and able to stand the heat of a hot red-brick track at high speed. Firestone met this by developing and perfecting the dipping of cords through a rubber solution to insulate each fiber of every cord to overcome heat and give the cord greater strength—and 55% greater flexibility. This is the Patented Gum-Dipping Process used in the making of every Firestone Tire.

2. The Balloon Tire was developed by Firestone to permit greater speed, comfort and safety by increasing road grip and absorbing bumps. It was made possible by the added strength and flexibility given by Gum-Dipping. In the 1928 race some of the drivers felt the then new Firestone Balloons. The others stuck to big pressure tires. Peter de Paolo on Firestone Balloons made a world's record. All the prize money came in on Firestone Balloons—Now the balloon tire is here the standard.

3. The Cord Breaker. The higher-powered cars and the heavy in speed demanded still more tire toughness. At one hundred miles an hour, the circumference of a tire increases by more than 10%, and this, added to the centrifugal force, tends to throw off the tire treads. Firestone met this by developing the Patented Double Cord Breaker which gives a 50% stronger bond between the tread and the tire body and also gives a 50% greater protection against punctures and blowouts.

—Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires hold all world's records on road and track for safety, mileage, speed and endurance.

—for twelve consecutive years they have won the 500-mile Indianapolis Endurance Race.

—were on the winning cars in the Pike's Peak Race where a slip meant death.

—were on the G.M.C. Truck, carrying a two-ton load, that hung up the coast-to-coast endurance race.

—were on the Studebaker car which on a board track in Atlantic City in 1928 went 30,000 miles in 26-32 minutes.

—on 125 buses of the Washington Electric & Railway Company, ran 3,674,266 bus miles during 1930 with only 13 tire delays.

—on 150 trucks of the Safeway Stores, Inc., ran 1,361,000 miles in one year without one single hour of delay on the road.

At one hundred miles an hour, the circumference of a tire increases by more than 10%, and this, added to the centrifugal force, tends to throw off the tire treads. Many Present at W.C.T.U. Meeting

The Birthday Party of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, held Thursday, June 25, at the home of Mrs. Clara Patterson Todd, was well attended despite the intense heat of the day.

In addition to a goodly number of members of the local union, several Detroit W. C. T. U. workers were present to aid in the celebration of the birthday of the W. C. T. U. Twins, Clara Patterson Todd of Plymouth and Clara Patterson of Detroit. In their childhood, "The Twins" were very helpful doing countless errands for the W. C. T. U. and helping with the little shows given to air in replenishing the treasury. Later, Mrs. Todd, following in the footsteps of her mother, Mrs. Phoebe Patterson, became an active worker in the Plymouth Union, and now holds the office of recording secretary of the district.

An especially interesting report of the World's W. C. T. U. convention, held in Toronto, June 3 to 9, was given by Mrs. Todd, who, with several Detroit members, was present during the entire time of the convention. Mrs. Todd's report of the convention gave one an excellent idea of what is being done in the various countries of the world toward banishing from the earth the evil of intemperance.

Previous to the report, an original poem, "The Twins," was read by Miss Nettie Pelham. By "The Twins," of course, was meant Clarence and Clara Patterson. The poem, which was really a story in verse, gave some of the early experiences of "The Twins," and caused considerable merriment. After the reading of the poem, a number of pictures of "The Twins" in various amusing poses were passed around to be viewed by the ladies.

After the report, ice cream and cake were served. A large and beautiful cake with the words "W. C. T. U. Twins" was greatly admired by all.

Under the direction of the Flower Mission superintendent, Miss Cora Pelham, bouquets were arranged and sent to the sick and shut-ins. The thanks of the superintendent are due to those who so kindly contributed flowers for the occasion.

Time and place of next meeting will be announced later.

County superintendents of the poor who met Wednesday afternoon, June 3, at the H. G. Christmas Burks company as the contractor for the new $332,000 addition to the Eloise infirmary which by providing space for 800 beds, is to bring the institution's capacity to 8,000 beds.

City Zoning Is Planned System

According to the Citizens' Planning and Zoning Committee, a wealth of interesting and valuable information on these subjects is contained in A City Planning Primer and A Zoning Primer, prepared by an Advisory Committee appointed by President Herbert Hoover at the time he was Secretary of the United States Department of Commerce. The Committee's statement follows:

"In quoting this material it is, of course, understood that this Advisory Committee acting under Mr. Hoover's direction covers these subjects in general terms, and quite naturally, therefore, some of their statements have a more direct bearing on our local problems than others. Mr. Hoover, then Secretary of Commerce, stated the following as a foreword to the City Planning Primer:

"This city planning primer reminds us that city planning is going on about us every day in our cities and towns. Whenever a street is laid out, or a park or school site is acquired, or a home or factory or store is built, some one decides where it is to be located. The planning may be done bit by bit by private land owners and city officials, few of whom know, or can know, what the others are doing or have in mind. Or it may be done by the citizens and their local government working together through a permanent public planning body with a well-defined master plan, which they all use as a picture of how the whole city is developing.

"In this primer the eminent members of the advisory committee tell briefly why the people of some 400 American cities and towns are choosing the second course, with its greater economy and harmony, and less ugliness and waste. They also show how a city's physical development is bound up with that of a larger region about it, and why regional planning is fast earning a place in American life."

Brief space is given the following sub-heads in the City Planning Primer. Is Your City Selling Its Birthright? What Is City Planning? What Is A City Plan? How Is The Plan Given Effect? Planning Rests On Legal Basis, Transportation, The Street Plan, General Requirements For The Street System, The Approaches To The City, The Central Business And Shipping Districts, Industrial Districts, Location of Public Buildings—Civic Centers, Residential Districts, The Outskirts of The City, Parks and Playgrounds, Carrying Out The City Plan, City Planning Commission And Its Work, Technical Planning Service, Executing And Financing The Plan, Control Of New Subdivisions, Zoning (as part of city plan), A City Plan Eliminates Waste, A City Plan Promotes Safety, Regional Planning And The Borderland Beyond The City, Modern Planning Has Met The Test Of Experience, and Conclusions. All of this material in one dose would be tiresome, so it is our intention to split these sub-heads up into a series of articles."

CONFIDENCE

Whatever you have, you have gained through confidence. Some one believed that the work you did for them was good, work worth paying for. They had confidence that you would give honest service for what you were paid or else you would not have been hired. Some one bought something from you. Maybe it was a load of corn. Maybe you sold someone a few cords of wood. Maybe it was something of more value, a farm or a home within Plymouth. You bought it because you had confidence in some one. Some one sold it to you because they had confidence that you would pay.

In short, our entire business system is built upon confidence and nothing else. In our trust of one another, in our confidence in the community in which we live, we have built an important trading center. The farmer, the tradesman, the worker, the business man have united in this important work. Everything that has ever been done in Plymouth has been done through confidence.

Plymouth has had its ups and downs in the past but has always come out of "the downs" a bigger and better place in which to live. Why? Because its residents had confidence in one another and the future.

The country is just emerging from a serious business depression. There have been many in the past but it has always been confidence in the future and confidence in the business leaders of the community and nation that has resulted in better business.

But depressions always bring rumors and some are always influenced by fear.

It is at times like these when one should give a bit of serious thought to the future. Keep a cool head. Do not be influenced by wild stories. Get the facts. Go about your regular routine of daily life as you have always done—HAVE CONFIDENCE in your neighbors and yourself. It will not last for long. And when it is all over you will congratulate yourself upon the good judgment you have used and the stronger position you, your neighbors and your community occupy. The communities that will suffer the worse will be those communities that have lost faith, lost confidence—lost their all. When a community suffers all of its residents and neighboring farmers suffer in proportion. No one escapes. And what a shame when a little cool judgment and plenty of CONFIDENCE would have prevented it all.

Lightning Plays Havoc In House

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Turland who live at 300 Phoenix avenue, on the north side, now know that you never know what lightning will do when it strikes your house. It was during the severe electric storm early Tuesday morning when the aerial for their radio was hit by lightning, carrying the bolt into the house.

From the brick chimney in the center of the building, the bolt was carried to the bath room, where it twisted the electric fixtures in all kinds of shapes.

The plaster was knocked from the ceiling of every room in the house, but none of the plastering on all of the sidewalls was damaged, although several pictures on the walls were blown to the floor by the force of the lightning, and broken. None of the furniture was damaged.

Mr. and Mrs. Turland were still in bed, and she was slightly stunned by the bolt. The fire department was called, but the house did not catch fire. A part of the roof was torn off. Contractor Roy Streng has already started repair work, but it will be two or three weeks before the occupants will be able to use the house.
