

BUSINESS ON THE UPGRADE

Reports Showing Steady Increase Over A Year Ago

UTILITIES HAVE GREATEST GAIN

Hardware Market Shows Best Condition In Long Time

That business conditions are better throughout the country than they were a year ago is reflected in numerous reports that are being issued by various lines of industry.

Increasing rate of gain in both electricity and gas sales is shown by Central Public Service Corporation in reports covering periods up to August 31. This organization is the owner of the Michigan Federated Utilities of Plymouth.

Electricity sales for August were 52,724,454 kilowatt hours, 7.81 per cent higher than August, 1930, compared with a gain of 2.12 per cent for the eight months and a loss of .07 per cent for the twelve months to August 31.

Gas sales of 1,988,054,400 cu. ft. for the month were 15.31 per cent higher. Increase for the eight months was 15.08 per cent and for the twelve months 10.94 per cent.

Under the stimulus of expanded seasonal demands, trade activity in most of the principal hardware markets has increased slightly during the past week. Unseasonably warm weather continues to impede the movement of fall goods in several trade territories and more noticeable improvement is anticipated as the weather becomes seasonal in character.

Fruit jars and related canning supplies have been moving in an unprecedented manner and shortages are reported by manufacturers and wholesalers unable to cope with the demand. Plymouth stores have been forced to place more than one rush order to take care of the local demand.

Handing goods and freplace fixtures are also in excellent demand. The annual retail trade is moving to new living quarters has accelerated the call for housewares and painting materials.

The price situation is steadily becoming more satisfactory and fewer downward revisions are being announced by manufacturers.

Scattered instances of price shading in highly competitive merchandise are being reported, although in view of conditions most quotations are being well maintained.

The credit situation is considered fairly satisfactory.

Gasoline tax receipts for the months of August and September, will exceed those for the corresponding months of 1930. Department of State records indicate. Complete figures for August will not be available but it is certain that the 1930 revenue of $2,171,054 will be exceeded.

Unusually large attendance at the Michigan State Fair as well as at various county fairs and American Legion convention will bring the September gas tax revenue above the Sept. 1930 figure of $2,000,870.

The carpet and rug trade is making considerable headway in emerging from the acute depression which prevailed during 1930, according to a current survey by the Standard Statistics Co. of New York. The survey continues in part:

"Not only were earnings of leading carpet and rug manufacturers during the initial half of 1931 greatly above those of a year earlier but the recent price advances of 5 per cent to 10 per cent on odd-sized rugs, coupled with the prospect that year-end inventory write-offs will not be burdensome, also lend weight to the view that the trade is definitely headed for gradual improvement."

Highway Employee Is Also Injured When Two Autos Collide

J. E. Lowe, an employe of the Michigan state highway department, who has worked considerably out of the Plymouth office, was the driver of an automobile early Sunday morning which took part in a most unfortunate accident, resulting in the death of one person and the serious injury of three others. Itay E. Demolson, 26 years old, of Farmington, was the driver of the car which crashed into the Lowe machine at the corner of Plymouth and Middlebelt roads. He was instantly killed.

Mrs. Denison was badly injured and, with Lowe, was taken to Eloise hospital. Miss Lucille Barnaby of Lansing, who was with Lowe, was taken to the Receiving hospital at Redford.

All of the injured are seriously hurt, and doctors have been unable to state as to the possibility of their recovery, except Lowe who will recover. The youthful highway employe has many friends in Plymouth who have put forth every effort to be of assistance to him since the disastrous wreck. Both cars were demolished.

MISS FREYDL IS FALL BRIDE—WILL LIVE IN DEARBORN

A very charming wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Freydl, Wednesday evening, September 23rd, when their daughter, Dorothy, became the bride of John L. Hertlein of Dearborn, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hertlein of Three Rivers. The ceremony was performed before an improvised altar of palms and autumn flowers by the Rev. Walter Nichol of the Presbyterian church. The bride was attired in a pale blue crepe satin dress and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. She was attended by Miss Anne White of Detroit, as maid of honor, who wore delicate pink thread lace and carried a bouquet of roses. Arnold D. Freydl, brother of the bride, assisted Mr. Hertlein as best man. Miss Delite Taylor assisted at the piano.

Many members of the immediate families of the bride and groom were present at the ceremony and wedding reception. After a short honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Hertlein will reside in Dearborn.

Night Officer And Prowler in Revolver Duel

Night officer Charles Thumme believes he shot a prowler last Sunday night discovered in the rear of the Sturgis garage. Thumme, in making his rounds about three o'clock, ran across the stranger and asked him what he was doing back of the garage. Without answering, the fellow shot at the officer. Thumme returned to the company and the prowler disappeared into the darkness. Monday forenoon, in going back over the ground Thumme discovered blood at the place the fellow stood when he shot at him. The garage had not been broken into.

OFFICE ENTERED, NOTHING STOLEN

Someone, Saturday or Sunday night, broke into the office of the Towle & Roe Lumber company. While the office was ransacked, nothing was taken. The door had been crashed in. Officers believe that the person who broke into the office might be the same one that Patrolman Charles Thumme shot at near the Sturgis garage.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Finnegan and daughter, Barbara Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Krauter, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Richards were Sunday dinner guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Finnegan and family.

CITY PLANNING IS EXTENSIVE

Work Extends Into Regions Beyond City Limits, Says Committee

This is article twelve in the series on the subject of City Planning and Zoning taken from the city planning and zoning primers prepared by the United States Department of Commerce under the direction of an advisory committee appointed by President Hoover at the time he was secretary of commerce. It has been prepared especially for the Plymouth Mail readers by the Plymouth committee that is making a study of the question.

Regional Planning And The Borderland Beyond The City

That a good city plan should not stop short at the city limits is obvious. (Continued on Page 12)

OLD SONGS FOR CELEBRATION

Village Pres. Suggests A Great Chorus For Bicentennial

MUSIC AND SONGS OF WASHINGTON

Series of Concerts During Next Summer Part Of Program

Two suggestions have so far been made for Plymouth's part in the celebration of the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of George Washington, to be held next year from February 22 to November 25.

One part of the program for next year suggested by the Plymouth Mail, provides for a reproduction of the Fourth of July celebration held in Plymouth 80 years ago last July 4th. It is pointed out that this event would be exceedingly appropriate because of the fact that the celebration held in Plymouth 80 years ago was given over almost entirely to tributes to Washington and the Revolutionary leaders, who were living at that time and took an active part in the day's events.

The other suggestion as a part of the program has been made by Village President Robert Mimmack. He would have numerous great song festivals during the summer, a great chorus of many hundreds of people participating in the songfest every week. He believes that it would be an especially interesting part of Plymouth's Washington celebration program.

Since President Mimmack made this suggestion, it has been learned that the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission has been gathering data and conducting research work on the music of Washington's time which will be made available for just such purposes as President Mimmack has suggested.

The work of the Music Division at Washington, has consisted first, in assembling all facts regarding the music of Washington's time, songs and pieces written specifically in honor of Washington, American music and works from abroad which were known and played in the eighteenth century; and then in making such information available to the public. To this end libraries throughout the East have been searched, private collections have been consulted, and photostatic copies of manuscripts, rare prints and editions have been assembled at the headquarters of the Commission in Washington. ANNUAL MEETING OF W.C.T.U. TO BE HELD OCTOBER 22

There was an excellent attendance, September 24, at the meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union held at the home of Mrs. Emma Ruff. Current events were interesting. School memories given by members caused much merriment. Two chapters of the book, "Give Prohibition Its Chance" by Mrs. Ella A. Boole, were read by Miss Nettie Bellman.

The annual meeting will be held Thursday, October 22, at the home of Mrs. Fida Lanfer, at which time officers will be elected for the coming year. Delegates will also be chosen for both district and state conventions which occur in November.

GET LICENSE TO DRIVE, QUICK!

This is the last month for automobile drivers to get their licenses, as the new law becomes effective November first. Chief of Police Vaughn Smith will be at the village hall every Wednesday evening for the purpose of issuing the new licenses required by law. The state has announced that the new law will be rigidly enforced.

Lyle Alexander At North Side Branch

Lyle Alexander, for many years an assistant cashier of the Plymouth United Savings bank, has been appointed temporary cashier at the north side branch of this bank and will fill the position so long and well occupied by Frank J. Pierce, Sr.

Mr. Pierce died recently when on a trip to Ann Arbor. Mr. Alexander has already assumed his position at the branch bank. Officials of the Plymouth United will decide at some later date whether Mr. Alexander will be left permanently in charge of the branch. The north side branch of the United does a considerable higher business than many of the main banks in most villages.

CLEAR CREEK OF RUBBISH

Village Officials Ask For Cooperation From Land Owners

FIRE WARNING IS MAILED TO MANY

To Keep Back of Stores Clear of All Fire Hazards

During the past week workmen, under the direction of village officials, have cleaned out the creek that back of the stores on Pennington avenue and Main street, removed all the refuse that has made the place such an unsightly one during the entire summer, and posted warning notices along the creek that no more rubbish or fire is to be dumped near it.

Not only has the creek been cleaned out, but warning has been mailed to all property owners in the locality about burning rubbish and other materials that have proven offensive in many cases.

The letter mailed to each property holder by Village Manager L. P. Cookingham, which contains a portion of the village ordinance regulating the burning of refuse, follows:

"Village employes have just finished cleaning up the area in the rear of the stores facing on Main street and Pennington avenue. This location has been objectionable for some time past and the accumulation of rubbish and debris and the burning of the same has been a cause of considerable complaint.

"We are enlisting the aid and cooperation of all business men near this location in order that such an unsightly condition will not again occur in the Village and to provide for the burning of rubbish as provided for in the Fire Limits Ordinance.

"The above ordinance definitely controls this situation and in order that you may be fully familiar with its provisions, Sections 2, 3 and 5 are copied below.

"Section 2: The burning of paper, leaves, rubbish, etc. within the said Fire Limits shall not be permitted except in public or private alleys or on private premises; provided, however, that such burning shall not be permitted within twenty-five (25) feet of any building or other inflammable structure. Provided, further, that such burning shall be conducted only within some suitable incinerator or container of masonry, metal or small mesh wire, so constructed as to prevent the distribution of fire by air currents, which incinerator or container shall be approved by the Fire Chief before being used, except that large bulky objects may be burned without the use of an incinerator or container if permission for such burning shall first have been secured from the Fire Chief.

CONVENTION IS IMPORTANT

Plymouth Residents To Be Active In National Conference

When the fifth annual meeting of the American Civic Association is held in Detroit next week, two Plymouth residents, Mrs. Arlo A. Emery and J. M. Bennett, will have an important part in the conference. Both have been appointed members of the executive committee and will work with many of the outstanding leaders of the organization ever held.

Mrs. Emery is not only a member of the executive committee but she is also a member of the entertainment committee. T. Glenn Phillips, one of the country's best known landscape architects, is chairman of the executive committee. Mr. Phillips resides on the Seven Mile road near the Meadowbrook Country Club.

The American Civic Association, organized in 1904 through the union of the American Park and Outdoor Art Association and the American League for Civic Improvement, has been a pioneer in promoting city town and neighborhood improvement and in protecting natural scenery.

It led the fight to create the National Park Service and the National Capital Park and Planning Commission. It advocates Town, Regional, State and National Planning and urges the use of good design for landscape and buildings. It believes that the highways of the country should give access to inspirational, natural and pastoral scenery.

Falls Dead Near Home Sunday Night

When Jeremiah Gordon, 75 years of age, fell near the corner of Ann and Williams streets, Sunday night, it marked the sudden passing of three well known Plymouth residents. John Hipp died a short time ago in his automobile while on the way home from Detroit. Frank Pierce, Sr., dropped dead in an elevator in a hospital at Ann Arbor. Mr. Gordon had left his house for a brief walk when he fell to the ground unconscious, dying before medical aid could reach him. The body was removed to the Schroeder funeral home where the funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock. Rev. Walter Nichol officiated. Burial took place in Riverside cemetery.

D.A.R. MEMBERS PLAN MEETING

State Conference To Be Held In Detroit October 6 to 8

MANY TO ATTEND FROM PLYMOUTH

Prominent Women From All Parts Of The Country Coming

Construction work costing millions of dollars is being rushed on its line between Plymouth and Detroit by the Pere Marquette railway company to provide for future business expansion that is anticipated for this section of the country. Much of it will be completed before winter. Some of the work now being done will provide additional train facilities that the rapidly increasing business of the company demands. Some of it is the ground work for future development.

Numerous new grade separations, some completed in the last two years, many others now nearing completion, are being made to handle large numbers of additional trains without traffic hazards. All of these new bridges provide for four, five, six and even seven track ways.

Already the Pere Marquette has completed a double track from Detroit to Plymouth, enabling the company to handle freight and passenger service through the Plymouth terminal at much greater speed.

Plymouth is the funnel through which pours practically all of the shipping to Detroit from the north, west and southwest of this vast railway system that is fast becoming one of the most important public carriers in America.

No one can gain an idea of the immediate future of the improvement work that is being carried on by the Pere Marquette between Plymouth and Detroit without a visit along the railway. That this community will directly benefit by the work when it is completed there is no dispute.

Every yard that the Pere Marquette is opening between its Detroit terminal and Plymouth indicates that the company is planning for a tremendous future expansion along this section of its railway. Fills are being made which will permit a four track line practically all the way from Detroit to Plymouth.

Scattered instances of price shading in highly competitive merchandise are being reported, although in view of conditions most quotations are being well maintained.

The credit situation is considered fairly satisfactory.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1931

Here Is The Answer

Why is Plymouth growing?
Why are business men complaining less about bad business here than in most any other place?

Why do the Plymouth public schools show an increased enrollment when many other schools in communities near here and of about the same size as Plymouth show a decreased attendance?

Why?
Because Plymouth residents have confidence in their community.

They have confidence in one and the other. They like to see the other fellow get along. They are not carrying a chip around on their shoulders and asking some one to try and knock it off if they dare.

They boast for their schools, their churches, their banks and their business places.

They are loyal to each other.
If they cannot say a good word for someone, they say nothing. They see no pleasure in the distress of someone else.

Not only that, but they try to help anyone that needs help.

If by saying a good word, some business can be aided, they say the good word and they say it emphatically.

What is going to be the result of this fine public spirit so manifest in Plymouth?

Just this—
When this depression is all over, when business is back to normal, and it surely will be soon—Plymouth will be so far out in the lead there will never be any question as to its dominance in one of the widest trading territories in this part of Michigan.

Its business houses will be THE business houses of the vast metropolitan district outside the city limits of Detroit. Its banks will be THE banks of the most important cities in Michigan. Its industries, schools, theatres, churches—everything that Plymouth is proud to possess, will be way out ahead of the procession.

Again why?

Just because the people of this ideal and progressive community held their heads and refused to listen to the gossip and blatherskiting that seems so prevalent. Wild rumors that have raised havoc in other communities have not shaken the confidence of the people of Plymouth.

Good judgment, cool judgment—the kind that builds substantial, progressive cities, has been manifested here ever since the depression started. As a result we are all ONE THOUSAND PER CENT better off than the other fellow.

We are going AHEAD in times of depression while the other fellow is marking time or going backward.

Soon "hard times" will be over and Plymouth will be leading the parade of civic progress in Michigan—happy and prosperous because we haven't made fools of ourselves by listening to the scandal mongers that are born of failure.

We've got our chips up and we are fighting as a unit for advancement and prosperity.

We are tending to our own business. If the other fellows want to fight each other, that's their business. Plymouth presents a united front in its forward march, and no united, loyal, determined army was ever licked since the beginning of the world!

That's why Plymouth is a bit more prosperous, its population increasing and its residents happy and contented over the success they are winning in the battle for better times.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Inasmuch as President Herbert Hoover has proclaimed FIRE PREVENTION WEEK OCTOBER 4th to 10th, it is considered the duty of each and every person to eliminate fire causes as far as possible especially during this period.

That all owners of business places, factories, and homes make a special effort to remove all rubbish of a combustible nature from their premises. The cooperation of all civic organizations, city officials, school teachers and principals, newspapers, and radio stations is asked in order that as much publicity may be given as possible.

WHAT CAN EACH INDIVIDUAL DO? Every person occupies a home in Michigan and it is suggested by the State Fire Marshal that an inspection be made of your premises. There are 35 common causes of fire found in the home. Listed are some of the causes: Radio wires fastened to combustible posts on chimneys; chimneys not of sufficient height; wood shingles; electric drop cords hung on nails; celluloid toys; rubbish in basement; rubbish in attic; unprotected joints above smoke pipe and furnace; fireplace without fender or screen; ashes in wooden containers; inflammable cleaning fluid in the home; oily rags or waste; furniture polish and paints; exposed wood lath; gasoline stored in the home; electric iron without pilot light; oil and gasoline stoves; no protection under stoves on wood floors; matches within children's reach; inflammable curtains too close to stove; unstoppered paper-covered flue hole.

If the above can be eliminated there is no question but that a large percentage of dwelling fires can be prevented.

ADVERTISING

Every week that passes the Plymouth Mail becomes more convinced that the progressive weekly newspaper offers the best returns an advertiser can find. Not only do we base this assertion upon the fact that local merchants find that newspaper advertising pays, but the receipt of increasing amounts of advertising material that great radio corporations, food concerns, motion picture stars and others would have the newspapers run as news, convinces the Mail that they, too, regard the newspaper as offering the best that can be secured for the purpose of advertising themselves or their business. The fact that radio corporations look upon newspapers as the best advertising field there is is evident by the fact that they are spending hundreds of thousands of dollars in the making of elaborate electrotypes and mailing them indiscriminately to newspapers in the hopes that some foolish editor will give them something for nothing. As the latest vehicle used in an effort to gain some unpaid for advertising the National Broadcasting company uses the famous hand leader, Creator. The alibi set up as a news feature is such a thin one that even the biggest sucker in the stream couldn't help but discover it.

LET'S DO IT

The explanation of Village President Robert Minnick in last week's issue of the Plymouth Mail as to why the village could not use some of the men who, through long unemployment, have been receiving public aid in doing some of the work that the village must have done is a surprise to many who have not taken the time to look into the situation. It seems a sort of a ridiculous situation whereby the village cannot use its poor money as its officials see fit. The coming winter and next spring will see plenty of calls for assistance. How much better it would be if Plymouth could do just the thing Grand Rapids is doing, put its unemployed men to work on public improvements. There are any number of men who need aid for their families, but rather than accept poor funds they are going in want. How much better it would be, how much more good could be done if these very men had an opportunity to work for the funds they are so badly in need of. The taxpayers could help these families and at the same time no one's pride would be injured and the community would be getting something in return for the money paid out. Whatever it is to be done to remedy this situation, let's do it—and do it right away.

WORRY

Nothing so paralyzes that part of a man that gets him ahead in the world as worry. And few worries emulate the corn-borer more than the worry over money owed.

Debts are no disgrace, per se. Most of the business of the world is done on borrowed money and will continue to be, for credit is a basic principle of the prevailing economic system. Yet, emergencies do happen. And if the wherewithal to repay money owed is not in sight, all is not lost.

Human nature is such that if the harried debtor goes to his creditor and explains honestly and frankly his situation, a way out usually will be found. Perhaps it will be the partial-payment route. Maybe it will be a deferment of all obligations. Anyway, the tension will have been eased, and all important self-respect restored.—The Rotarian.

THE PASTOR IS MISTAKEN

Rev. Clarence True Wilson of St. Joseph, Missouri, a few days after the close of the American Legion convention in Detroit, issued a statement in which he declared that "staggering drunks" were in control of the American Legion Convention in Detroit, and that he was surprised to think there could be found in Detroit "394 men who would stand up for decency." He meant by that that in the vote of the Legion on the wet and dry question, there were only 394 who voted for continuance of present conditions.

We do not care to get into any wet or dry discussion, but the Missouri pastor, apparently from long association with Missouri mules, let out a bray that is as false as it is farcical. He has mistaken hilarity for drunkenness and he has maliciously attacked without cause the thousands of Legionnaires who went to the convention in Detroit. What if some of the boys did yell and sing? What if they did "yell for beer"? What if they did possibly go to the extreme in trying to have a good time and forget some of the troubles we are all facing at present? We are all trying to do something to keep our spirits up until conditions in America right themselves again.

We, too, saw a great portion of the parade that marched down the streets of Detroit.

It was thrilling, awe-inspiring. At times a bit of hilarity had purposely been injected by the Legion boys. A wonderful thing, a wonderful sight. We stood for hours watching the boys go by and we didn't see a drunken man.

Then after the parade, for hours the writer mingled with the milling crowds. Sure, the boys were having a good time. There was nothing we would like to have done more than join with these fun-seeking veterans. They were out to enjoy to the fullest extent Detroit's hospitality. And they did enjoy it. So did the hundreds of thousands of visitors like the writer.

It would be absurd to say that possibly there wasn't some drunkenness. To the writer the surprising thing about it is the fact that in such a vast throng of people that there was so little of it.

One has a perfect right to ask the gentleman from Missouri what he must have had, if he saw all the drunkenness he claims he did. His attack upon the Legion boys is not only malicious, but it is false.

CONGRATULATIONS

Detroit's spirit is not dead. The old city, although hit hard during the past two or three years by the world depression, showed some 100,000 veterans of the World War from all parts of the United States, that the Detroit spirit is still alive and mighty alert. No city in the country ever extended such hospitality or displayed such a carefree cheerfulness as did Detroit last week. It was Detroit the old days; Detroit with both hands extended wishing everyone a good time. There is no question but what the Legion boys and their friends had it. Detroit did nothing to prevent the good time, even though some of the boys hit upon rather unique ways to entertain themselves and friends. The great crowd that came to Detroit to see the parades and other features, kept from joining with the World War scrapbooks in the street fronts that prevailed everywhere. It all resulted in a very happy event. Soldier lads from everywhere went home praising Detroit and its hospitality. And, of course, we are all glad that the veterans had such a good time. A little fun now and then is good for anyone.

OLD REMEDIES STILL HOLD GOOD

In the stress of these depressed times many folks have almost lost their heads in seeking some method by which we can come back out on the plane of normal times. Fresh methods, loans, panaceas, legislation and all that sort of thing are just so much dead weight on the path of prosperity. The old remedies still hold good and it is not by hitting on something new but by getting back to the old, the sound and fundamental principles upon which America was founded, that we are going to work out our future.

Hard work, sacrifice, honesty, privation, saving management and the principles of the Christian religion are the rules for success which our forefathers used to conquer a wilderness and lay the foundation for the greatest nation in the world today. Prosperity brought with it the dreams of short cuts to fame and fortune. America chased the bubble until it burst and now most of us are sitting down trying to think of some short cut or scheme to get back on prosperity's road again. We need rather to get back sound common sense.

The world has changed but the principles upon which civilization was founded have not changed. The inequalities under which we are now chafing are the result of our disobeying the sound old principles listed above. Instead of further fooling ourselves by following some of the many who are proposing unsound ideas about the return of prosperity, let's get back to the old remedies. They will still hold good, if we but apply them.—News, Lenoir City, Tennessee.

SUCCESS TO YOU

It is an age old practice for the Methodist church to change its ministers about. The church believes that its pastors give better service and its members are more satisfied if frequent changes are made in the pulpits. It is for that reason that Rev. F. A. Lendrum has been sent on to Adrian and Rev. P. Ray Norton transferred to Plymouth. The Mail wishes for Rev. Lendrum the continued success in his new pastorate that he enjoyed in Plymouth. We are sure that he will have it. We wish, too, for the new pastor in Plymouth unbounded success. The Plymouth Methodist church is one of the most important in this conference and it is particularly fortunate that the conference has sent one of its strong leaders here to continue the good work of Rev. Lendrum. Rev. Norton will find Plymouth a very delightful community in which to live and work.

What Other Michigan Editors Are Thinking About

AN INSTRUMENTAL COMEBACK

The supposedly moribund phonograph may be due for a new lease of life. A record is announced that will play for half an hour, with only a moment's attention at 15-minute intervals. With the two sides for one composition, it accommodates a whole symphony, as much as is contained on four ordinary records, and as much as there is in the whole score of an ordinary musical show.

More people will be interested in this development than might be supposed, from the vogue of radio. The phonograph has certain definite advantages of its own, chief among them being that the listener can choose his own programs, starting them when he likes and continuing them as long as he likes. All he then has to do with a radio program is to shut it off when he doesn't like it. People are shutting off radios more than they used to, because of the disagreeable intrusion of commercial bullhoo and over-emphasis of jazz music and cheap songs. A little more improvement of the phonograph, chiefly in the way of still easier manipulation might restore it to general favor.—George Handy in The Ypsilanti Daily Press.

WHAT MICHIGAN NEEDS

What Michigan needs and what most municipalities need is just a little plain common sense applied in budget making. If requirements could be determined by some other measure than providing jobs for benches and if revenues could be determined by some other measure than election results, the harassed taxpayer might see some hope of relief.

Economy is the watchword but loading up the payrolls with incompetents is the practice. Daylight government is talked but secret agreements are the rule. Juggling of funds is condemned but the practice continues.

Budgets are the playthings of politicians. Maybe some day Michigan will elect a set of state officials whose ambitions are only to serve the state while they are there and who don't care a rap whether they or their supporters ever are returned to office.

What a day that would be for Michigan!—Verne Brown in The Ingham County News.

MORE CASES THAN EVER

Having postponed the opening of schools two weeks, the educational activities now will get under way, with more cases of infantile paralysis in the city than when the postponement was decided upon. The postponement served, no doubt, as a warning to all. But it did not and has not eradicated the danger.

The situation hereafter will lie largely in the control of school room teachers and school nurses, who will have to be doubly zealous to detect ailments of youngsters, which might be sympathetic of the dread disease.—Floyd W. McGriff in The Redford Record.

TREAT CROOKS TOUGH

This is off season for electric chair agitation, even the "torch murders" being almost ancient history. The whipping post, too, is off of the conversation list. Why not take up a new thought, and seriously? "Bread and water." If you please, and lots of it. The lots of it is intended to apply to sentences imposed. If there is any one thing that would do more to keep petty law offenders and others from breaking into jail than to feed them on bread and water, we're listening for it.—Harry Izor in The Durand Express.

SELFISH PUBLIC OFFICIALS

Salary cuts announced by the General Motors Corporation and the Steel Corporations, strengthen the conclusion that if public business were operated like private business there would be some real reductions in the salaries of Oakland county office holders. Officials whom the Board of Auditors in their estimate recommend to receive from four, five, six or seven thousand dollars a year could easily be reduced from one to two thousand without seriously cramping their style of living. The psychological effect of such a reduction would be worth as much as the financial saving.—G. S. Rowe in The Milford Times.

MY, BUT HOW HEARTLESS

Up in one of the Upper Peninsula counties the welfare committee has decided that any one who can operate a car need not apply for help. And, to make sure that this provision is not infringed upon, any applying for aid who own a car must bring in the license plates and themselves. This is in quite some contrast to some cases where the applicants have lugged their welfare loot away in cars.—Frank Bryce in The Grand Ledge Independent.

PLYMOUTH JOINS FIGHT AGAINST $473,000,000 FIRE LOSS

President Proclaims Observance of National Fire Prevention Week

Fellow Citizens: In the year 1911 the custom of observing Fire Prevention Day in America was established, when October 9th—the anniversary of the great Chicago fire in 1871—was designated for that purpose. In more recent years, in order to afford the opportunity to place in effect a general program in keeping with the importance of the occasion, it has become customary to observe the week which includes October 9th as Fire Prevention Week, the three purposes of which are:

First, to inculcate a spirit of carefulness about fire for application by the individual citizen every day of the year; second, to emphasize the serious loss of life and property from that source; and, third, to impress the fact that the loss can be measurably reduced. Every citizen should lend his active support to its observance. I trust every citizen will aid in doing his bit to cut fire hazards to a minimum during this week, as well as throughout the year.

Robert O. Mimmack,
President

DESTROY COSTLY FIRE HAZARDS, SAYS FIRE CHIEF

That the average American citizen thinks but little of fires and fire prevention despite the fact that millions of dollars worth of physical property is lost by fire every year, is the belief of Fred Wagenschutz, fire chief. In speaking of Fire Prevention Week, Chief Wagenschutz urged carefulness on the part of all citizens in order to cut down fire hazards.

"Reliance upon a fire department, however well organized and equipped," said the chief, "does not relieve anyone from his duty towards fire prevention. Prevention of fire will do more to stamp out the ravages of fire in our community life than any other thing that can be mentioned.

"I want to impress upon our citizens that some 75% of fires happen because of carelessness and ignorance.

"Fire departments are necessarily limited in what they can do and it is unfair to place the burden of our own carelessness upon the fire department, depending only upon suppression to eliminate the danger of fire.

"Fifteen thousand lives are sacrificed each year in the United States on the altar of fire waste. Our nation's ash pile each year receives this contribution of lives, mostly women and children, because our people are careless. Aside, therefore, from the economic phases of the situation, there is a distinct social relation in this thing that demands of you that you exercise the greatest care in how you keep your property, whether it be your factory, your office or your home. It is an obligation that goes hand in hand with your citizenship and the man who avoids this simple duty in so maintaining his property as to give the maximum amount of safety to himself and to his neighbor is thoughtless and careless and to that extent a coward in his citizenship. We, who are engaged in fire prevention work, have a right to demand that each citizen study this problem with a view to understanding it so that he shall, through a proper understanding, contribute his share to the general carefulness that will ultimately result in a maximum of fire prevention and a minimum of fire waste."

FIGHT DEMON FIRE BEFORE HE BEGINS HIS DAMAGE

$1,000 PER MINUTE IS FIRE LOSS OF UNITED STATES

Every moment of the day $1,000 is going up in smoke! That is the figure set by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce—the figure every American city in the United States is striving to cut down. The cutting down of the number of fires depends entirely upon the citizens of the United States. Each individual can do his part to minimize this terrific drain upon our human and physical resources by following ten brief rules advocated by leading fire preventionists. Here they are:

Rule No. 1.—Keep matches in a closed metal container inaccessible to children. Handle them carefully and dispose of them properly, making certain they are extinguished before you let them leave your hand.

Rule No. 2.—Keep all gas lights and open flames away from woodwork or other combustible material. Do not allow curtains to hang near flames for the wind may blow them into contact with the fire.

Rule No. 3.—Always disconnect electric irons, toasters, heaters, and similar appliances from the sockets when through using them. Never use any substitutes for approved fuses.

Rule No. 4.—Inspect, clean, and repair your chimneys and flues before winter comes.

Rule No. 5.—Place hot ashes in metal cans and dump them in places free from combustible material.

Rule No. 6.—Promptly collect and remove all refuse and rubbish. Keep basements and spaces under stairways clean.

Rule No. 7.—Do not start fires in stoves with benzine, gasoline, or kerosene.

Rule No. 8.—If gasoline or benzine is used for cleaning purposes, do the work outdoors.

Rule No. 9.—Learn the location of the nearest fire alarm box and be sure you know how to turn in an alarm.

Rule No. 10.—Inspect your property frequently.

FIRE LEVIES TAX INCREASE ON ALL PROPERTY OWNERS

Do you remember some fire you witnessed, a fire which gave you a momentary thrill of excitement to the vividness of the scene and the clamor of the engines? Such a scene as this has been enacted throughout this country for many years. No doubt it has brought some recollection on every citizen's part regarding the terrible effect of fire.

Perhaps it has brought to your mind the loss caused by the burning of precious things which go to make up a home. Perhaps the sad condition of a business which perhaps some of our ancestors struggled for years to establish and the horror of some one burned to death in the flames is brought to your mind. All these things no doubt have passed through your mind and they alone are sufficient to cause every one to deplore the indifference of the American people to the fire waste.

But have you considered its personal relation to you as a citizen? Do you know that every fire means the burning of accumulated effort and the destruction of valuable buildings? Fire is constantly depleting our national resources and this means that every citizen must pay his share of the loss.

The destruction of property by fire in the United States entails a personal tax upon every citizen of $5.00—not taking into consideration the tax imposed for the maintenance of the various city organizations for the protection of this property against this great menace and evil.

Every fire not only destroys valuable property but contributes to the loss of life by fire which amounts to 15,000 souls every year.

Most fires are caused by carelessness and the lack of cooperation of citizens in preventing fires. Your cooperation and assistance is a patriotic duty for the reduction of this great fire loss. Do all you can to prevent fires in your homes and your places of business. This means good housekeeping and careful installation of all electric appliances which you use.

This is a great economic question, one that necessitates your constant effort in preventing the occurrence of any fire within your power to prevent.

For any information regarding the installation and the fire hazards of various devices, used in the home and business and for other useful information regarding the prevention of fires, consult the National Board of Fire Underwriters, New York, or the National Fire Protection Association, Boston.

GOVERNOR ASKS DR. HASKELL TO ASSIST IN WORK

Dr. Robert Haskell, superintendent of the Wayne County Training school, has been appointed a member of the general advisory committee of the Michigan Conference on Child Health and Protection by Governor Wilbur M. Brucker, and requested to take an active interest in the conference to be held in Lansing, November 9, 10 and 11.

Governor Brucker, in writing Dr. Haskell of his selection, said in part: "In calling this conference on child welfare, it is my opinion that a great deal of good can be accomplished by bringing together the various agencies within the state which are interested in this work for a comparison and study of their activities and general survey of the work which is now being done. Child welfare activities cannot be too thoroughly integrated."

"The various organizations interested in child health and protection have worked along lines selected as being most attractive of good results for the expenditure of time and money available. The state is also interested and has pursued activities through its agencies—the Department of Education, Department of Health, and the State Welfare Department and many others. As this work has developed and progressed, there has been some overlapping of efforts."

"It is not with the thought of setting new standards to which any organization of the state should strive that this conference has been called, but with the thought that the work of the many organizations and departments of state may be set in complete harmony in order to accomplish the greatest amount of good from the efforts now being directed along these lines."

"The home is the basis of our commonwealth and the work of this conference has to do with the most precious persons in the home—the children. I commend to you a study of the work now being done to the end that there may be a thorough understanding and complete accord in all child welfare work in Michigan."

The Michigan conference just called is the outcome of the White House conference held last spring at the suggestion of President Herbert Hoover. Dr. Haskell also took an active part in the Washington conference.

What A Difference Fifty Years Makes

1881 FIFTY YEARS AGO women wore hoopskirts, bustles, petticoats, corsets, cotton stockings, high buttoned shoes, ruffled cotton drawers, flannel nightgowns, puffs in their hair—did their own cooking, baking, cleaning, washing, ironing—raised big families—went to church Sunday—were too busy to be sick.

1931 TODAY women wear silk stockings, short skirts, low shoes, no corsets, an ounce of underwear—have bobbed hair, smoke, paint and powder, drink cocktails, play bridge, drive cars, have pet dogs, and go in for politics.

MEN have high blood pressure, wear no hats, and some no hair, shave their whiskers, shoot golf, bathe twice a day, drink poison, play the stock market, ride in airplanes—never go to bed the same day they get up—are misunderstood at home—work five hours a day, play ten—die young.

STORES have electric lights, cash registers, elevators, never have what the customer wants—trust nobody—take inventory daily—never buy in advance—have overhead mark-up-down-quotas-budget-advertising stock control—annual and semi-annual end-of-month, dollar day, founder's day, rummage, economy day sales—an never make any money.

NANKIN SAWING WOOD FOR NEEDY DURING WINTER

The Nankin township welfare department will be well supplied with fuel this winter as many of the men who are working for the village of Wayne for doing have received from the township have been detailed to sawing logs and stacking it on village property near the water works department. All of the welfare workers in the village are under the supervision of Charles Goudy, superintendent of public works, who is having the men cut down dead trees and transfer them to the sawing crew. The logs will be doled out for fuel this winter by the welfare department. It is intended to keep several of the welfare laborers at sawing work throughout the winter. Since the "no work no dole" system went into effect several weeks ago the villages in the township have been beautified and the township roads cleared. Hundreds of dollars are being saved by the villages and the township by having this work done by the welfare departments. Peter J. Snyder, township supervisor, said:

At this writing, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Joy and children of Farmington were visitors at the McNabb home, Wednesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Holmes spent the week-end at the parental home. Jen's Pederson left last Sunday for Avoca, Iowa, where he will spend several months with his uncle's family. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ryder and Wm. Smith attended the funeral of Mrs. Nettie Cady of Wayne, Saturday afternoon.

Funeral services were held for Miss Edna Maten at 3:00 p. m., Friday, Sept. 25, in Newburg church, Rev. Frank Purdy officiating. Misses Ann and Ada Youngs sweetly sang, "I'm a Pilgrim," "I'm a Stranger," and "One Sweetly Solemn Thought." Beautiful flowers from relatives and friends, also from the Plymouth Laundry Co. of which Edna had been an employee, showed the esteem in which she was held.

Several of her old schoolmates acted as pall bearers. She had been a long and patient sufferer since the early part of May, at East Lawn Sanatorium, Northville. She passed peacefully away early Wednesday morning, Sept. 23. She leaves to mourn her loss her mother and brother, Roy, and a number of friends who loved her. Her sister, Grace, passed on to her heavenly home thirty years ago. Edna was laid to rest in Newburg cemetery.

BASIC LAW OF NATION WORLD'S BEST, CLUB TOLD

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney W. Gomer Krise was billed to address the Kiwanis Club at their luncheon last week Tuesday at the Mayflower. He was unable to come but sent George E. Gullen, also an assistant prosecutor, who delivered a very interesting and capable address on the Constitution of the United States. He stated Blackstone declared the Constitution to be the "greatest instrument struck off by the hand of man." In spite of the fact that Washington, Jefferson and other great men of the time spent days in the preparation of this document, it was so difficult to establish a common ground that the Constitution was finally adopted with ten original amendments. It was designed to protect the rights of the individual without oppression and at the present time covers in its jurisdiction forty-eight states and colonies.

Without it we would have no Federal Government. We cannot blame the framers of the Constitution for some things that were not seen by them. The Civil War settled the question of State's Rights and incidentally Slavery. It looks now as if the Federal Government should have increased authority on account of the growing complexity of industrial and political life. This is being carefully studied at the present time. One of the recent amendments gave the women the right to vote, and the eighteenth amendment is the basis of a difficult problem at the present time. Mr. Gullen gave an outline of his week's program and emphasized the fact that all cases must be settled according to law and not according to the personal opinion of the prosecutor. He stated that Prosecuting Attorney Tot instructed his staff to submerge personal opinions and do everything according to law. He commended the training in government that the young people are now receiving in the public schools, and stated that if the voters know more about government it would result in a great benefit to everyone. He further stated that if the opinion of the minority could be expressed without so much difficulty and danger,

MRS. LUECHT DIES AT AGE OF 87—ILL BUT SHORT TIME

Mrs. Friedrich Luecht, nee Salow, who died Friday, Sept. 25, at the home, 313 Farmer street, was born in Ludwigshafen, province of Mueckenburg-Schwerin, Germany, on the 12th of March, 1844. Soon after her birth she was brought to the Savior in Holy Baptism. Later she attended catechetical instruction and was confirmed in the Lutheran faith in the village of her birth. Here also she was united in marriage with Frederick Luecht, May 3, 1866. This union was blessed with nine children, three sons and six daughters; one son and five daughters having preceded the mother into eternity.

In the year 1874 the family came to the United States, settling in Livonia Township of Wayne County, where 40 years of their life were spent. In 1911 they moved to Plymouth on Farmer street, where the next twenty years were spent. Her earthly pilgrimage was 87 years, six months and thirteen days. WOMEN VOTERS HEAR ABOUT TAX CUT IN PLYMOUTH

The September meeting of the Plymouth League of Women Voters was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Charles O. Ball, Monday afternoon, Sept. 28th. This was the first meeting following the summer adjournment, and plans for the coming year were outlined.

The speaker for the meeting was L. P. Cookingham, village manager, who gave an interesting and instructive talk on "Tax Reduction and How it was Accomplished." Mr. Cookingham stressed the importance of the budget system of expenditures for municipalities and the necessity of keeping within that budget.

Mr. Cookingham called attention to the difference between efficiency and effectiveness in government. He stated that tax payers usually do not mind improvements and that complaints when taxes are increased. A new law does not allow improvements when 25% of taxes are delinquent.

The members of the League asked many pertinent questions regarding affairs in Plymouth's local government that were answered by Mr. Cookingham.

FOOTBALL SEASON OPENS

Thought the Rocks open the 1931 football season by engaging Dearborn. A league game usually does not open season, but the extended vacation has forced Mr. Matheson to postpone the Walled Lake game. Last year the home eleven gained a victory over the Black and Orange, but many of last season's victorious team have graduated. However, practice has shown up many good players, and the game should be a good one.

In this year's schedule three of the games are to be played on home grounds and the remaining four are to be played away. The schedule is as follows:

- Dearborn, Oct. 2, here
- Detroit Country Day, Oct. 3, here
- Lincoln Park, Oct. 16, there
- Farmington, Oct. 23, there
- Northville, Oct. 30, here

EDITORIAL

Owing to the interruption in the school program, the Pilgrim Prints staff is slow in getting started. Those who reported on Monday last were Elizabeth Currie, Beniah Wagenschutz, Kathleen Gray, Zerephah Blinn, Alice Chambers, Miriam Joffe, Detroit Cline, Steve Dundek, Ernest Archer and Frieda Kilgore. One or two sophomores who can write are wanted for athletic events—boys who can go with the games and who read and know sport phraseology.

FAMILIAR FACES

Most of the last year seniors returned the first week of school to see how the old corridors look after graduation.

Several of the graduates of other years also returned. Among these were Jimmy Roberts now working at the General Motors Proving Grounds at Milford; Lyman Judson, now an instructor at the University of Wisconsin; Julia Leaman, now at the Michigan State College, and Lynn Partridge and Will Hake from town.

Ralph Meyer, from the class of '25, was at school Monday; he has finished the course in the College of Dentistry at the University of Michigan, and is now an instructor in operative dentistry in the University.

Another visitor was Edward Schultz, who is attending University High School in Ann Arbor, and who wore the letter indicating he is a member of the tennis team there. He and his sister, Martha Schultz, '29, who is a sophomore in the College of Pharmacy, drive back and forth from Ann Arbor to their home west of Plymouth each day.

Altar Society was entertained by Mrs. Dr. Harold Brisbois Canton Center road, last Wednesday eve, after a cheery business meeting.

Last Saturday eve, Mrs. Fred H. Winkler was hostess to the Altar Society with bridge and luncheon at her home on Pembroke road.

Folks from Detroit, Plymouth and all c. n. r. y. s. i. d. e. were represented at the many tables, for each one a prize for high score was the goal. After dainty as well as generous sandwiches and coffee and home made cake, the "boys" entertained the ladies with songs of old and new and a wonderful exhibition of war time dominoes by Legionnaires present. This party netted a tidy sum toward the chicken funds.

Other parties are in the offing, so keep your eyes open if you wish to play at bridge and your ears in a receptive mood for the time and place.

And another thing—don't forget to reserve October 23, 1931—a Sunday—all day—for "home" church, dinner and entertainment.

Weather we will have weather, or whether we won't, we had "birth" September Spring, September Fall and September Winter the past week or so.

Legionnaires, in addition to bringing and spending over $12,000,000, brought and spent their "home town weather" (at this time of yr.) as well as good cheer to all but the whoosis who "who-woo" all that is meant for a jolly good time, whether they left a leg or arm or eye or two in France or are still under hospital care here at home, or were well and able to parade, march, and did, or trumpet and drum drilled to the split second of time at Navin Field.

St. Michael's Parish first building is coloring all up nicely. Plaster, glass, stairways, tile and stone work all done but finishing.

Mr. Al Henke promises first Mass in three weeks, possibly two, for the Rev. John E. Conway, so he is making every effort to get as much done as possible by that time, with practically every thing complete inside by the Big Day, October 25, 1931. Supt. C. G. Wilson also promises the Rectory pro tem at or before the same time.

Shrubbery planting is also in season with Land Supt. Al Henke and his able assistants, as well as many of R. Gardineta and B. Gardineta's, several of whom are laying out rock gardens from home or picture book ideas.

The Charles King green shingle house is to be no more, it is being brick veneered by Sir Watson, who made so many of this kind of affair lately. Same Sir is also brick veneering the additions to the Rectory pro tem, with Cousin George Klokis shower bathing and other things in pipes and valving thereat.

Fall rains have made our sward green again, necessitating our grasscutters to get busy again, as very little has been done with mowers over the dry weather, but in keeping with the wet rote of the Conventionaires in session, the weather man sent a hurried request for wet weather, and, strange to say, and true, on came the deluge or was it the Jewish Holidays, anyhow it rained, and how, and the green grass grows all around again.

The Kiddies Orchestra is studying and practicing in R school house every Friday after school, and our neighbor, Joe Shader, Esq., is instructing the little folks in the art of making folks' feet so they won't stay still.

Marie, Mildred and Margaret S., and a few others, have attained the height of classical selections that will surprise even Mr. Sousa or Victor Herbert; you'll be surprised when you hear them at R. P. T. A., or something, wait!

Cousin Snell has completed the painters part on the Bryant and King jobs on southern Berwick, leaving Cousins Watson and Bernadotte to make a complete job of the places.

The Edgar Luttermoser family expect to move to Detroit next week sometime. This is rather sudden like, the kiddies will be missed at B. School.

Miss Ethel S. R.'s Dancing Dolls are planning a surprise, as is Mrs. Becker's Dramatics. But the little tongues will jabberbox, still what ever it is, it is a secret, so don't tell anyone about it.

WASHINGTON MUSIC

The results of this research are to be made available in two publications. The first is a collection of eighteen songs and pieces entitled "Music from the days of George Washington." These pieces have been selected by Carl Engel, Chief of the Music Division of the Library of Congress, who is providing an explanatory introduction to the collection; and the music itself has been arranged by W. Oliver Strunk, also of the Music Division of the Library of Congress.

To give full information about all music of Washington's time, a second publication is planned, a book to be called "The Music of George Washington's Time," which has been written by John Tasker Howard, author of "Our American Music," and editor of the Music Division of the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission. This work will tell of the musical background of early America, of early concerts, popular songs in the eighteenth century, the dances of Washington's time, musical instruments, and will give a complete account of music associated with historic events. The latter part of the book will comprise a catalogue of eighteenth century music in modern editions, and of modern music commemorating George Washington or otherwise appropriate for use in the Bicentennial celebration.

To insure the completeness of this latter part of the book the Commission invited all music publishers to send to its headquarters in Washington copies of all music which they publish appropriate to the occasion. This material will be catalogued, classified and cross referenced, and will eventually become a part of the archives of the government.

In addition John Alden Carpenter, American composer, has been commissioned by the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission to compose a choral ode in honor of George Washington. Mr. Carpenter has accepted the invitation and the ode, as yet unnamed, will be published in time for performance during the period of the Bicentennial Celebration.

Mr. Carpenter has been selected was, or rather is out again all done over in new paint, and Ben appears without cane, but limps a little bit. However, he is preparing his speech to be delivered at the Festival twentynine.

for this honor as a composer thoroughly representative of America and American ideals. He has achieved fame as the composer of the orchestral suites, "Adventures in a Perambulator," a "Concertino" for piano and orchestra, three ballets—"The Birthday of the Infanta," "Krazy Kat," and "Sky-scraper"—as well as many concert songs, and the "Home Road," one of the few songs of the World War period which is still sung.

Two other musical works have already been composed for and accepted by the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission. They are the "George Washington Bicentennial March" by John Philip Sousa, and "Father of the Land We Love," a song by George M. Cohan.

The Commission also announces that a manuscript and an early printed copy of a song written in honor of George Washington by Francis Hopkinson, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, have recently come to light. This song is a "Toast," written and composed presumably in 1778.

Francis Hopkinson, a man active in national affairs before and during the Revolution, was also, according to present knowledge, the first native American composer of music, and a number of his songs have been revived and issued in modern editions. The "Toast," however, has not been known to musicians of the present generation as a song, although the words had originally been printed in the Pennsylvania Packet of April 8, 1778.

A few months ago the manuscript of the song was brought to the attention of the Music Division of the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission by Edward Hopkinson, great-grandson of the composer, who had recently learned of its existence, and it proved to be genuine.

The United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission is to publish and distribute the "Toast" so that it may be used as a feature of Washington bicentennial celebrations.

The universe pays every man in his own coin; if you smile, it smiles upon you in return; if you sing, you will be invited into gay company; if you think, you will be entertained by thinkers; and if you love the world and earnestly seek for the good that is therein, it will pour into your lap the treasures of the earth.—Elmer R. Murphy.

Coming Attractions At Penniman-Allen

"CAUGHT PLASTERED"
The bubbling, irrepressible nuts are back again! Bert Wheeler! Robert Woolsey! Dorothy Lee!
All reunited in one long, grand, paroxysm of mirth and laughter, Radio Pictures' "Caught Plastered" showing at the Penniman-Allen Theatre, Sunday and Monday, October 4 and 5.
This production opens a new field of comedy! It's different! From the time they roll into a mid-western town via box car pullman, until they fall the bootlegger king and save the beautiful old lady from the poor house and a pauper's grave, it's different.
It is the long awaited combination of slam-bang, knock 'em dead comedy and a real story. Not a dull moment. The dialogue is by Ralph Spence and what the boys say is funny because of the action behind the situations.
Lucy Beaumont, Jason Robards and DeWitt Jennings complete the cast.
William Selter directed it.
Douglas MacLean, former comedy star, wrote the story and also supervised production.
"Caught Plastered" is a worthy vehicle to signalize the re-mobilizing of Radio's comedy trio, for it tops their past successes, even in "The Cuckoos," "Rio Rita," "Half Shot at Sunrise," "Duck, Line and Sinker" and "Cracked Nuts."
"THE SMILING LIEUTENANT"
The screen's most unique stellar personality, loved the world over for himself, his songs, his vivacity comes to the Penniman-Allen Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, October 7 and 8, in his new starring picture, "The Smiling Lieutenant," directed by Ernst Lubitsch, maker of "The Love Parade" and "The Patriot." He is Maurice Chevalier, the smiling French entertainer whose love-making and love-singing have made him the idol of two continents.
"The Smiling Lieutenant" is a rollicking romance with all the love and song appeal of his first moving picture, "Innocents of Paris," with all the luxury of setting and story of "The Love Parade" with the star of another Chevalier screen success, "The Big Pond," Claudette Colbert, in one of the leading feminine roles; with another bright screen light, gorgeous Miriam Hopkins, in an equally leading role, and with Charlie Ruggles, lovable comedian, in an important supporting part.
The story deals with the delicious romance of a young lieutenant of the guards, whose smile gets him involved with two women, one, a cabaret performer whom he loves and wants to marry; the other an old-fashioned princess who loves him and whom he is forced to marry. How this marriage turns his life topsy-turvy, and how the unwelcome wife turns the table on her rival, is the amusing topic of the romance.
"THE SPIDER"
When "The Spider" was presented as a play on the Broadway stage it sent a galvanic shock through the theatre-going public. It was an absolute novelty. It broke severely with stage traditions of a hundred years. Not content with keeping the actors and audience separated by the footlights, the whole auditorium was made the scene of the play. The resulting excitement was terrific, and kept the box office men busy during a very long run.

In the Fox Films version of this celebrated play, which the Penniman-Allen Theatre will show next Friday and Saturday, October 9 and 10, all the original shock devices, and surprise tricks are said to have been retained, with a number of others that the screen alone could present.
Like the stage "Spider" the film offering is greatly in the way of an innovation. The new technique, which in the Fox success "Transatlantic" brought tornadic action back into pictures, previously slowed down by the introduction of dialogue, has been used again in this mystery play with what preview reports have unanimously styled, increased effect.
"The Spider" tells of a brother and sister whom a designing uncle is endeavoring to keep apart for his financial advantage. When he and the girl attend a theatre, she sees her brother assisting a magician on the stage. The uncle attempts to forestall reunion. A shot is fired and the uncle drops to the floor. Then the real suspense mounts.
Edmund Lowe has one of the finest opportunities of his artistic life in the role of Chetrand The Great, a magician, who attempts to unravel the fatal skein of the plot. Lois Moran is by his side in the featured feminine lead.
Mr. and Mrs. Jack Taylor were hosts to a number of friends from Northville, at a delightful supper Sunday evening. The guests in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kullman, Mr. and Mrs. George Stalker and Mr. and Mrs. C. Zimmerman.

CONFERENCE TO DISCUSS CREDIT HAS BEEN CALLED
According to Miss Marie Johnson, manager of the Plymouth Merchants Service Bureau, information just received from Guy H. Hulse, secretary and educational director of the National Retail Credit Association, states that an international credit conference is being called for a thorough and complete study of our present economic system. Delegates representing every gold standard country in the world will be invited to attend this conference. The delegates will represent every line of business extending credit—both wholesale and retail. Mr. Hulse pointed out that credit has assumed gigantic proportions during the past few years. National and international business cannot be prosperous unless supported by fundamentally sound credit structure. Ninety-eight per cent of the transactions of all civilized countries are conducted on a credit basis. No international attempt, according to Mr. Hulse, has ever been made to correct the maladjustments now existing in our credit system. Mr. Cuthbert Greig, leading credit expert of England, General Manager of the International Association for the Promotion and Protection of Trade, London, has been asked to handle the details of the meeting for Great Britain and Continental Europe. The conference will be held in Washington, D. C., during the early fall.

Hulse, secretary and educational director of the National Retail Credit Association, states that an international credit conference is being called for a thorough and complete study of our present economic system. Delegates representing every gold standard country in the world will be invited to attend this conference. The delegates will represent every line of business extending credit—both wholesale and retail. Mr. Hulse pointed out that credit has assumed gigantic proportions during the past few years. National and international business cannot be prosperous unless supported by fundamentally sound credit structure. Ninety-eight per cent of the transactions of all civilized countries are conducted on a credit basis. No international attempt, according to Mr. Hulse, has ever been made to correct the maladjustments now existing in our credit system. Mr. Cuthbert Greig, leading credit expert of England, General Manager of the International Association for the Promotion and Protection of Trade, London, has been asked to handle the details of the meeting for Great Britain and Continental Europe. The conference will be held in Washington, D. C., during the early fall.

Money to Burn

By Peter B. Kyne

By Peter B. Kyne
WNU Service

Reluctantly Elmer agreed to her counter proposal and Nellie, hugely satisfied with herself, hunk up and returned to the bank, where she wrote the following letter to J. Fitzgerald, acting captain of detectives, Los Angeles police department:
"Dear Captain Fitzgerald:
"With reference to the matter we discussed over long-distance telephone, when I told you that a check in favor of Doris Gatewood had been received at this bank and was being returned with the notation 'Signature of indorser irregular'—You will be glad to know that your action in conforming to my request and mailing anonymously to Mr. Clarke the police records and rogues' gallery photographs of Colorado Charley has borne rich fruit. Within a few minutes after its receipt Mr. Clarke called at the bank and ordered payment stopped on the check. He was much disturbed. Shortly thereafter he purchased two thousand dollars' worth of travelers' checks here, so I realized he was about to leave the state.

"Immediately I made it my business to call him up and ascertain without letting him know I was pumping him, that he is frightened and panicky. Evidently he has compromised himself, probably in writing, and now fears reprisals from the outraged and disappointed lady in the shape of a suit for breach of promise. My personal opinion is, however, that now they realize his suspicious are aroused, they will endeavor to extract as large a cash settlement as possible, guaranteeing no publicity in return. Of course we must protect him by catching them in the act of leaving blackmail, and if Mr. Clarke fled the state we couldn't do that, could we? So I have managed to delay his departure forty-eight hours.

"This letter will reach you by the same train that carries Mr. Clarke's rejected check back to the Los Angeles bank. In fact, it will reach you earlier than that, because I am sending it special delivery. Immediately upon receipt of it, please arrange to have the movements of this unsavory couple watched and report to me by telephone.
"Yours truly,
"Nellie Cathcart."

CHAPTER XI

The following afternoon Nellie received a long distance call from Los Angeles. Acting Captain of Detectives J. Fitzgerald was reporting.

"Sent a man out to watch the house as soon as I got your letter," he announced. "The bank must have telephoned them about the check, for at half past ten they called a taxi and went down to the office of a slyster attorney. They were there two hours and then returned to the bungalow. As soon as my man reported they were in conference with that particular lawyer, the whole thing was as clear as mud.

"They're going up to Pilarcitos to shake the boy down as sure as death and taxes, so I have started two good men for Pilarcitos in a fast automobile. They will install a dictograph in the young fellow's house and listen in on the unholy proposition. I want you to provide a fast and accurate stenographer to take down every word. Can you do that?"

"I'm the fastest and most accurate stenographer in this county," Nellie replied quietly.
"Good girl! Now, then, I'm going to leave it to you to arrange for a clear field for my men. They've got to be alone in that house for an hour.

"I have already arranged that. I will explain the details to your representative when he calls tomorrow morning."

"Thanks. We'll land 'em out in the tall grass, never fear. I'll phone you if anything new develops."
He did at eight-thirty a. m. next day, to report that Colorado Charley and his lady friend had purchased tickets from Los Angeles to Pilarcitos an return; that they were due in Pilarcitos at nine-two that night.

"At ten o'clock a sleepy-looking man walked into the bank and immediately sought Nellie Cathcart's window, a small gold sign bearing Nellie's name serving as a clue.
"I'm Detective Sergeant Fahy, from Los Angeles," he announced. "The chief sent me an' my partner up with orders to report to you."

"I'm pleased to meet you, Mr. Fahy. Here are your instructions," and she handed him a sealed envelope. "Good morning."

"Just met the smartest Jane in the world," Mr. Fahy confided to his partner, Detective Sergeant Abraham Lipowsky, when he re-joined the latter on the sidewalk. "She takes no chances on being seen in long, earnest conversation with a strange man, so she had the dope all typed out an' waitin' for us. 'Pleased to meet you. Good-by,' says she."

He tore open the envelope and read to Lipowsky:
"Colorado Charley and Mae are due in Pilarcitos at 9:02 tonight. They will probably go direct to Mr. Clarke's house, a shingled bungalow, at No. 302 C street, corner of Hazel drive.
"at seven o'clock tonight Mr. Clarke will leave his home to take me to dinner. He will not return until shortly after ten. As soon as he has left the house his colored servant will go uptown to spend the evening. You can gain entrance to the house by using a skeleton key on the kitchen door, the lock of which is simple and old-fashioned, since burglars seldom operate in Pilarcitos.

"You can set up your dictograph behind the old hair sofa in the parlor and run your wires along the edge of the wall, draw them up back of the piano and out of the window, around the back of the house to the garage. Nobody will disturb you there as Mr. Clarke keeps his car in an uptown garage.
"When Mr. Clarke drops me at my house and proceeds to the uptown garage, I will come over to his garage with a large flashlight torch, a stenographer's notebook and several sharp pencils. The fender of the flivver will serve as a desk. I will knock twice on the door and proceed to write each rap. The rest I leave to you."

"Well, what do you know about that dame?" said Detective Sergeant Lipowsky.
"I'd ask her to marry me if I stood a Chinaman's chance—which I don't," Detective Sergeant Fahy replied sadly.
"Promptly at seven o'clock Elmer called for Nellie and carried her off to Joe Angelotti's road house for dinner. Not once during the ride out did Nellie refer to Elmer's unfortunate predicament; seemingly she was not interested in it and not until they were halfway through dinner did Elmer broach the subject himself.

"Can't linger to do any dancing here tonight, Nellie. I must get home early."
Nellie seemed disappointed, so hastened to excuse his action.
"I'm afraid I'm in for a bad hour between nine and ten tonight, Nellie. I had a wire from Doris Gatewood this morning. She's coming up to see me and she asked me to be at home tonight."

"Now, what do you suppose she wants?" Nellie's tones were freighted with a languid interest. She helped herself to an olive, and ate it with relish. Elmer, watching her sharply, was reassured.
"Well, of course, in so far as that young lady is concerned I've done an about-face, so I suppose she wants an explanation."

"She doesn't want any explanation. She doesn't even want your affection. All she's after is your cash."

"Well, of course, I did promise her her thousand dollars; I dare say she predicted certain payments on that promise and my reversal of form has probably embarrassed her greatly. I'm a little sorry the lady lost, but—a little glad I won! Of course," he added parenthetically, "I never was the least bit in love with her. She went to my head, like champagne, when I was with her, but when I wasn't I found it hard to keep up steam. Nellie, I must have been crazy to tell you to play second fiddle."

"If we are to be judged by the worst we do in the world, Elmer, we'd all be out of luck. Now, when I look over my mental ledger account with you, I see a long string of golden credits—page after page of them—and on the debit side, I find one little human entry under the explanatory head of Doris Gatewood. This lone debit item is composed of equal parts of blindness, repression, curiosity, stupidity, flattered ego, childishness, masculine idleness and original sin. You didn't fall without a battle, and when you fell you hurt everything that was fine and decent in you, and knew it. You weren't really happy in your new conquest. You only told yourself you were. And as for little Nellie Cathcart thinking for an infinitesimal fraction of a second that she could possibly descend to playing second fiddle to that baby-faced fool—well, Elmer, you are a sweet fool! Why, I'm the whole orchestra. I suppose, Elmer, if never occurred to you that I am a designing, scheming, farseeing selfish girl where you are concerned."

He laughed derisively. "Tell me another joke," he pleaded.
"You're a helpless idiot, Elmer. You will persist in making an angel out of a human being. Well, have one little dance with me, and then we'll go home and commence your education."

When Elmer dropped Nellie off at her home he had the audacity, after his attempt to claim a good night kiss, Nellie laughed at him. "I'll not kiss you good night," she declared, "because I'm not particularly desirous of kissing you and you've forfeited the right to ask it." He drove away chaffalton to a degree.

The instant his car had turned the corner Nellie came out of the house and ran all the way to within a block of Elmer's bungalow. As she passed down C street and turned into Hazel drive she observed a man and woman seated on Elmer's front steps, with a suitcase and a bag reposing beside them. Elmer's garage stood at the rear of the lot and opened on Hazel drive, so Nellie walked boldly up to the door, gave the prearranged signal and was accorded instant admittance.

"They're waiting for him," said Detective Sergeant Fahy out of the corner of his mouth.
"I saw them. Elmer will be along in five minutes," Nellie gasped. "Is everything all right?"
"Right as a fox," said Detective Sergeant Lipowsky.
"Elmer will come down C street in the direction of Hazel drive. He's expecting them, so there will not be any talk on the porch. He'll take them inside immediately. However, one or both of you might go out to the corner of the house and listen."

The two detectives waited five minutes and followed her suggestion. Presently they returned with veiled feet. "All he said was 'Good evening. Please come inside and we'll talk.' All the woman said was: 'You know it!'"
Nellie wrote that brief record in shorthand. Detective Sergeant Fahy clamped the receivers over her ears as she spread her notebook out on the front fender of the flivver, leaned over it and prepared to take dictation. The two detectives were also listening in.

Elmer unlocked the front door, switched on the light and walked into his bedroom to put away his overcoat and hat before returning to the stuffy little parlor, where his Nemesis awaited him. Nellie thrilled with a vast pride as his first words came clearly to them via the dictagraph. The eyebrows of the two detectives went up and Detective Sergeant Fahy dropped his prognathous jaw in a comical grimace. For without an instant's hesitation Elmer had seized the initiative by going directly to the attack.

"Well, Colorado Charley, old settler," he began blithely, "how about a little drink to wash down the dust of travel out of your lying throat? I mean a drink of water. I wouldn't waste liquor on a skunk like you."

"Say—" Colorado Charley came back at him, "where do you get that stuff?"
"Draw it out of a faucet," chirped Elmer cheerfully. "Doris, or whatever your name is, you wired me for a conference, but you didn't tell me this confidence man was coming with you. Let's understand each other, Doris: Your boy friend here is out of the picture. Charley, if I hear one peep out of you I'll knock you for a double loop. That being clearly understood, say your say, Doris, and then get to blazes out of here before I throw you out."

Followed about five seconds of profound silence, then:

We're at WAR
RIGHT HERE!

Let's stop this terrible slaughter which is going on—RIGHT HERE—on the streets and highways of this country.
We're in a war... a war against recklessness and carelessness that killed 32,500 people last year and injured over 900,000 more.

Are you on the side of safety? If you are, come here to Silvertown Safety League Headquarters and sign up—lend your support to this national movement to reduce this ghastly toll of Death—to make the highways safe for you and your family.
Adopt the rules of the Silvertown Safety League Pledge as your own driving rules. These nine, common-sense rules were developed by the drivers of the famous Silver Fleet who have covered over FIVEMILLION MILES WITHOUT INJURY TO A SINGLE PERSON. The pledge has proved its ability to prevent accidents. Dozens are coming in and joining every day. Won't you come in, too? There is no cost. We will install a handsome chromium emblem on your car to show where you stand in this war against death-dealing recklessness.

MY PLEDGE AS A MEMBER
THE SILVERTOWN SAFETY LEAGUE
I AGREE...
1. To drive at speeds in keeping with the safety of others as well as myself.
2. To keep on the right side of the road, except when passing.
3. To pass only when I know there are ample time and space—never on blind curves or when nearing the crest of a hill.
4. To go through intersections only when I have the right of way.
5. To observe all traffic signals.
6. To give signals myself that can be clearly seen and understood, before turning or stopping in traffic.
7. To drive only when in full possession of my faculties.
8. To keep my brakes, lights, and horn in good condition.
9. To operate my car on tires which assure a positive grip on the road—safe traction—and freedom from hazardous tire failures.

vions. The automobile is having a profound influence upon the character of city growth. Cities are spreading over greater territory. This brings about a need for planning over wider areas and created new problems of design, such as the layout of outlying commercial centers where traffic congestion problems already occur.

There is no real line of separation, no "twilight zone," between the city and the country surrounding it. Obviously the plan of the city and that for surrounding territory should be consistent. Every growing town or city with an agricultural or undeveloped belt about it not only needs good highway connection with the country, for example, but desires to forestall the strangling effect of ill-planned or unplanned suburbs. To some suburbs and towns the maintenance of clear roadways and good rapid transit facilities which pass through other jurisdiction is of most vital importance. Inadequate approaches to an important bridge in one municipality may become an intolerable burden to the citizens of others. Objectionable uses of land in one community may adversely affect another, as in the case of slaughterhouses with their offensive odors, or of factories set directly next to a city residence district.

Orderly development from the point of view of the region as a whole must come eventually through comprehensive planning by regional commissions, which define and analyze regional problems, and devise practical measures for carrying them out. Voluntary regional planning bodies are proving helpful in a number of regions, and even without them the planning authorities of one city may always cooperate with those of neighboring local governments, and with principal landowners. Such contact may, for example, serve to coordinate highway improvement programs and secure conformance to an existing comprehensive street plan in new subdivisions beyond the city limits. Occasionally the city is given authority by the state legislature to control planning features and to prescribe zoning regulations for the territory within 3 to 5 miles or more of the city limits.

"Any person burning paper, leaves, rubbish, etc., under the provisions hereof shall keep such fire under continuous observation and control until combustion shall have ceased.

"The burning of garbage, feathers, grease, oil, tar or any other material which when burning, gives off foul or noxious odors, or a dense smoke, shall not be permitted within the Fire Limits.

"Section 3: The accumulation of ashes, rubbish, garbage, or other refuse or wastes of any kind, or of materials which may constitute a fire hazard, whether in or out of doors, is hereby prohibited within the Fire Limits: Provided, however, that the temporary placing of ashes at the rear of private premises, or along the line of public alleys, so long as in any manner to obstruct full and free passage or vehicular traffic through same, shall be permitted from November first to May first of each year.

"Section 5: Any person violating the provisions of this Ordinance shall be punished by a fine of not to exceed FIFTY DOLLARS plus the costs of prosecution, or imprisonment in the Detroit House of Correction to not exceed ninety days, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the Court.

"We would suggest that all the persons having rubbish to dispose of, build an incinerator of adequate size to take care of the burning of all rubbish. This would eliminate several small rubbish fires and would greatly reduce the fire hazard which now exists. Such an incinerator would also reduce the smoke nuisance caused by the many small fires, about which we are receiving many complaints.

"To those merchants having garbage to dispose of, we will advise that it will be necessary to provide waterproof containers for this purpose and that these containers must be covered at all times. Garbage should be removed from the Village at least twice a week, and in no case will garbage be allowed to accumulate for such a length of time that will be up to the standard of "We hope you will cooperate to make the space in the rear of your store a more sightly place. The one that will be up to the standard of Plymouth. We will be glad to have any suggestions which you may give for the improvement here."

MILLIONS FOR

In this work the county highway commission has cooperated with the railway officials, assisting in every way possible in one of the most important construction programs ever undertaken by any railroad leading into Detroit.

For a considerable distance out of Detroit the old 90 pound rails on the main line are being replaced by 110 pound rails, which insure much more comfortable riding and will carry a considerable heavier traffic. Eventually the larger rails will be laid way to Plymouth and possibly beyond into the state when conditions require a heavier rail than now used.

Thousands and thousands of carloads of filling earth have been dumped wherever needed from Detroit to a point this side of Detroit.

The Pere Marquette is the builder and owner of the Detroit Union Produce Terminal, one of the finest plants of its kind in the country. Here hundreds of cars can be handled at one time. Numerous icing plants enable the company to take care of perishable freight without the slightest delay.

This vast amount of development work is but a part of the expansion program being carried on by the Pere Marquette company. In another article that is being prepared, the Plymouth Mail will tell of the development of the freight and passenger service of the Pere Marquette and of the importance of this railroad to Plymouth's future growth.

Joe Schomberger's single in the ninth with one out, scored his brother John with the winning run to give Nethem a ten to nine victory over Liberty A. C. of Detroit, and also the odd game for the season. Nethem got but ten hits off of Summers and Knight, and Joe Schomberger gathered five, or half of the hits. Not a bad day—five out of six.

J. Pizarek completed the best play of the game when he made a running catch at the grass tops of Tracy's liner in left field in the seventh inning.

TWELVE INNINGS TO DEFEAT LOCAL TEAM

In one of the greatest games ever played in this locality, Plymouth-Haggerty, strong semi-pro triple-A club, and the Detroit, Fire Department, a fast triple-A team from the Detroit Baseball Federation League, battled for twelve innings last Sunday at Burroughs Park before a decision was reached. The Firemen finally won the contest, 2 to 1.

A. Bolday, star hurler for the Fire Department, allowed the Plymouth sluggers six scattered hits. Dolly Dahlstrom, Plymouth's brilliant left hander, pitched one of his best games of the season, held the visitors down with eight safeties. The Detroit Firemen scored both of their runs after two were out.

In the first inning: Burrell singled and Banks fanned, Rineholtz walked and stole second, Schagan singled over third base scoring Rineholtz, C. Bolday grounded out. In the twelfth the deciding run was scored. Rineholtz grounded out, Schagan singled and took second on C. Bolday's grounder, Landokke and Fessett both drew bases on balls. Rineholtz hit a hard liner to count two strikes and one ball on Robbiss, Schagan made a dash for the plate and was safe on Dahlstrom's late throw. Robbiss heard the third strike called.

Plymouth obtained their only hit in the sixth. Smith singled, O. Atchinson hit a hard liner to Landokke, Smith taking second, L. Simmons walked, Finnigan struck out, Kruger singled scoring Smith from second and L. Simmons taking second on the play. G. Simmons fled to deep center field for the third out.

Plymouth will play West Point Park at West Point Park, Sunday, October 4, in the first of a three game series. This will give the baseball fans a chance to see what will happen when two well known local teams meet. Plymouth won the only game played last year by a score of 4 to 3. In the only encounter this season, West Point won the contest 4 to 3. Attend this series and see some real fast triple-A baseball.
