

MEMORY TEST AMAZES CLUB

Kiwanians Hear Railroad Jack Tell of Great Men In History

HE KNOWS DATES ALL FAMOUS MEN LIVED

Speaker's Memory Has Long Been Subject of Interest In Michigan

Railroad Jack, one of Michigan's best known characters, was Tuesday's speaker at the Plymouth Kiwanians club. He amazed the Kiwanians by his remarkable memory tests, giving every member present the right to ask him about any well-known character in history. "I will tell you when he was born, when he died and what he did," said Railroad Jack. "Just write the name of some one that has been known in history on a card," asked the speaker. Names of Ethan Allen, Alexander Graham Bell, Jane Adams, Thomas Edison, Luther Burbank, Andrew Mellon, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Cato, Julius Caesar, William Shakespeare, Seventh Earl of Shaftesbury, Beethoven, Mendelssohn, Col. Lindbergh, Dwight Morrow, Nathan Hale, and many others were written down. Without the slightest hesitation, Railroad Jack told the club the date of birth and something of the career of each one. He gave the date of death of those who have died. Amusing as it may seem, no one in Michigan has a more complete historical library than Railroad Jack. He has memorized over 10,000 dates in history and rarely makes a mistake in answering questions about someone famous in history. He has compiled this data on cards, which are indexed in such a way that he can readily refer to any well-known name.

Railroad Jack has challenged any University of Michigan professor to meet him in a test of historical knowledge at any place and any time. He is at present making his home in that city. During the past two or three years he has spoken frequently over the Chicago Tribune radio station and in Milwaukee, also. Last spring he was the speaker before the Chicago Rotary club on ladies' night and with a crowd of over 850 present he expertly answered every historical question asked him. For years and years Railroad Jack has haunted the libraries of the country, especially the larger newspaper offices, seeking historical information.

He hit upon the idea of learning dates as a youngster, and has followed it studiously ever since. Many educators who have met him, declare it is seldom that a person develops such a remarkable memory as has Railroad Jack. He has never been married, does not use tobacco in any form, neither does he drink tea or coffee. Some people who have known him a great many years believe that he has become wealthy as he has practiced throughout his life the most rigid rules of economy. The only name any one has ever known him to have, "Railroad Jack" is a misnomer. His habits and everything he does would indicate an entirely different nature than such a name implies.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Smith To Celebrate Golden Wedding At Newburg Home Saturday Afternoon, October 17th

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Smith of Newburg, life-long residents of this locality, a couple who through the years of more than half a century have won for themselves the love and respect of hosts of friends and neighbors, will, on Saturday, October 17, celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. This happy event will take place in the Smith home located on Newburg road, one mile south of Newburg, where they have resided during all their married life. There will be an informal reception at the home from 2:00 o'clock until 5:00 on the wedding anniversary, and to this event all of their friends, neighbors and old acquaintances are invited. "We would like to have the Plymouth Mail just let all our friends know that we will be delighted to see them," explained Mr. Smith as he stood in the yard looking over the farm land he had worked for more than half a century. Mr. and Mrs. Smith, both in perfect health and happy over the culmination of lives well spent, will be assisted in receiving their friends by their children, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Smith of Plymouth, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ryder and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith of Newburg. Mr. Smith, who is 73 years old, was born on the farm where he has always lived. His bride of 50 years ago was the daughter of a neighboring family, and she, too, was born on a farm but three miles from the Smith home. She was formerly Mrs. Eva Cady, and her parents were among the first settlers of Wayne county. Few pioneer families did more than the Cady's toward the development of Western Wayne county. Some of them settled in the little village of Detroit. Others migrated out into the wilderness that surrounded Detroit years and years ago. Her parents were among the first to locate in Nankin township where she was born. Other members of the family located in the northern part of Plymouth township, which is now Northville. Early Wayne county history teems with the Cady name. "Playmates in childhood, it was not at all surprising to their friends of years ago that Eva Cady became the bride of William J. Smith. Following the wedding the young people established their home on the Smith farm where they have lived all the years since. Besides the three children, they have six grandchildren. "But things are a lot different now than they were then. We used to harvest the hay and grain on this farm with the scythe and cradle. I remember when my father bought the first mower. I went with him to town. It cost $140, and other farmers used to come over to see how it worked. Newburg was then a fairly good sized place. It was the first post office established in Wayne county west of Detroit. Plymouth was a little bit of a place," said Mr. Smith. "Yes, I remember other depressions we have had when prices were low and you couldn't get hardly anything for what you raised. But then our taxes were low too, so it didn't make so much difference," said Mr. Smith. "With conditions at present we can't get anything for what we raise and taxes are higher than ever. People are doing all they can to economize, but that doesn't help much with taxes as high as they are."

Both Mr. and Mrs. Smith are looking forward to a very happy time on Saturday, October 17. Service Men Meet Monday Veterans and Auxiliary To Outline Work For Coming Winter

Branch Laundry Is Opened Here A branch laundry has been opened in Plymouth by H. Glazier and S. Marquis, having a place in the Robinson block on Pennington avenue. They are the owners of five branches, with the one they have opened here. Other places are located in Monroe, Dearborn, Warren and on Fort Street in Detroit. They will also do pressing and cleaning in their place.

Mrs. Craig Miller, Outstanding Michigan Woman Civic Leader, To Give An Address In Plymouth

On Monday, October 12th, at 2:15 o'clock, Miss Lina Durfee and her sister, Mrs. Sarah Armstrong, will entertain the Plymouth League of Women Voters at their home at 1222 Pennington Ave. This promises to be one of the most outstanding meetings of the league held in Wayne County this fall. Mrs. Craig Miller of Marshall, state chairman of "International Copyright to Present War," will be the General. Mrs. Frank S. Cartwright, county chairman, will be the guest of the league. Mrs. Craig Miller is a woman of national prominence. She is a past president of the Michigan League. She was a delegate a few years ago to the General Peace Conference. Miss Czarina Penney and Miss Marguerite Wood, formerly with W.A.R.K., will play two piano numbers. Miss Durfee and Mrs. Armstrong extend a cordial invitation to all League members to attend this meeting and grant each member the privilege of bringing a guest.

Big Crowds Enjoying Kiwanis Rifle Contest At Powell Garage

Two big nights left! Tonight. Tomorrow night. Plenty of time for you and your friends to still enjoy the fun that members of the Kiwanis club are providing for you in the big Powell garage on South Main street. The rifle shoot and carnival has proven a big hit. It opened Wednesday evening with over 200 competitors taking part in the various events. If any one has any idea that the numerous prizes are going to be won by default, they have another guess coming. There is plenty of stiff competition among the crack shots of Plymouth. President Ernest Allison and Chairman Ed. Huston stood in the back end of the crowd watching the big show Wednesday night. "Never did I expect to see such a crowd," declared the club president. The committee chairman agreed with him. Remember there is plenty of other fun outside of the rifle shooting contests. Dancing, band concerts and some out of the ordinary vaudeville stunts keep the crowd busy. It's all for the little boys and girls—Plymouth Kiwanians want every boy and girl to have a happy Christmas. Every cent you spend at the carnival will go towards some child's happiness.

Drive To St. Louis And Return Without Stopping For Sleep You've read much about flights over the Pacific and Pacific. But have you ever heard of the non-stop flight made by automobile from Plymouth to St. Louis, down by the Mississippi, and return? Of course such an "automobile flight" could only be made by regular day-in-the-wood baseball fans. When the world series opened the other day, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hawn decided they wanted to see the game. They called up Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wolfe of West Point Park, and wanted to know if they would like to see the game. The four left Plymouth last week Thursday evening at 8:00 o'clock. They arrived in St. Louis, Friday forenoon at 10:00 o'clock. The distance between Plymouth and St. Louis over the route they followed is 567 miles. Following lunch they went out to see the game. At 7:00 o'clock, Friday evening after the game, they left for their return trip to Plymouth. They came back through Chicago and did not reach here until Saturday evening at 9:00 o'clock. What sleeping they did was in the automobile. Their friends claim it is the longest non-stop-sleep automobile trip ever made.

MILAN GIRL MARRIED TO LAWRENCE BOHL Announcement of the marriage of Vivian Gramis of Milan, to Lawrence Bohl, who resides on Plymouth road, came as a complete surprise to the many friends of the young couple. The ceremony was performed Friday, October 2nd, at the Methodist church in Ypsilanti, by Rev. Matthew R. Reed. Lawrence O'Flair and Grace McHenry of Ann Arbor, accompanied them. They will make their home in Plymouth.

PLYMOUTH TEAM WINS FROM FAST WAYNE OUTFIT Plymouth's independent football team in its first game of the season last Saturday, held a powerful Wayne team in a 6 to 0 score. Outweighed 20 pounds to 4, the fast Plymouth team broke up every play and at various times broke up their plays before they were started. The Stinson team is composed of players from Detroit, Alton, Dearborn and Wayne, and boasts a line averaging 160 lbs. and it was only through mere determination that the score was low. Stinson scored early in the first quarter after Plymouth fumbled on their 15 yard line. Although they threatened twice in the third quarter the scrappy Plymouth team snatched off their attack. Eddie Wood, midget quarterback for Plymouth, was the outstanding player for Plymouth, breaking up many plays and repeatedly making 10 and 15 yard gains. Chuck LaFerre, center, stood out on the line. But as a whole a scrappy team can't be asked for.

Central P.T.A. To Meet Monday Eve The first Central P. T. A. meeting this fall will be held in the high school, Monday, October 12, at 7:30 o'clock. All parents who have children in school are asked to be there.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Dreyer entertained Loren Eastlake of Fort Worth, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Eastlake, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Judge and three daughters and Mr. and Mrs. John Redaway of Detroit, for dinner Sunday, at their home on Blunk avenue.

Hit The Peddler Nuisance Hard, It Does No One Good

Complaints from time to time regarding the peddler nuisance has brought the following statement and suggestion from the Chamber of Commerce. "There is no question but that interruptions caused by transient peddlers and solicitors constitute a real problem to busy housewives. A record of the total number of trips huck and forth to answer the door-bell during an average month would be interesting. "The problem goes over and beyond the mere nuisance angle, however, bothersome as it is. While established firms are occasionally represented, it will be found in the majority of cases that the articles offered for sale have little real merit. "Furthermore, in case of misrepresentation, misunderstanding, or dissatisfaction it is not always easy and sometimes impossible to get an adjustment when buying from someone here today and gone tomorrow. "Women in other communities have been able to check this nuisance by displaying cards similar to the following:

NOTICE Peddlers and Solicitors Not Wanted Plymouth Chamber of Commerce "For the sake of neatness, these cards would not have to be much if any larger than an ordinary calling card, but printed in heavy type with black ink on a white background at eye level, they could not escape being seen. The desired reaction in all probability would be obtained by having a peddler encounter the same message on door after door. He would begin to believe it. "Of course, Village Officials can and should help. Some people have learned to ask peddlers not to show a license, and when unable to produce one, as is usually the case, they call the Village Hall with the result that a member of the police force is sent out to check up. It is felt, however, that the majority of people would not go to this trouble, and thus the suggestion of a neat little notice card. "If there is any favorable response to this suggestion a supply of cards will be printed and may be had by stopping in the office of the Plymouth Mail."

Will Open Theatre At Northville on 23rd of October Manager Harry Lush of the Pennington-Allen theatre, announces that the Northville theatre which was closed a few weeks ago, will be opened again for business on October 23 and 24. For the opening he has booked "Merly Mary Ann," in which Janet Gagner and Charles Farrell are starred. It is the plan of Manager Lush to keep the Northville theatre open permanently if it is given the support of the village and can be made to pay its way.

Titus Raff Finds Old Copy of Mail Titus T. Raff, who resides on Hamilton avenue, has in his possession a copy of the Plymouth Mail printed February 24, 1898. The old paper is filled with interesting material about Plymouth and its activities of the day. The publishers were Baker & Gray, both now residents of the city of Lansing. Mr. H. J. Baker is advertising manager of the State Journal, one of Michigan's most successful daily newspapers, and Miss Gray is clerk of the house of representatives, where he is regarded as one of the most efficient employees of the state government. The paper tells of the coming of the first street car into Plymouth from Wayne. It required "but" few minutes to run over here," said Mr. Raff.

Colorado Pastor To Speak Rev. P. Ray Norton, new pastor of the Plymouth Methodist church, has announced that the Sunday evening meeting at the church which will begin at 7:30, will be addressed by Rev. Ezra Beaupre of Colorado. He will speak on "Work Among the Spanish Speaking Americans."

AIDING A BIT

Are you looking for work? Maybe you would like to do some housework, or some outside work, or take a job of any kind. Just bring your ad to the Mail Office, and it will be printed free of charge. Have you some work about your place that you would like to have someone do, have you an odd job that would provide work for some man or woman? Just bring an ad to the Plymouth Mail office and it will be run without charge. No ads of this nature will be taken over the phone. This offer will remain good until January 1st.

PARK PROJECT SAVED BY BOARD

Mayor Murphy Unable To Kill Improvement Work In The County Action of the Wayne county board of supervisors Wednesday in supporting the half mill tax levy for continued road and park work in this part of Wayne county means for Plymouth a completion of the parkway project that was started early in the present year. It means for Plymouth the employment of a large number of men late this fall as well as early next spring and summer. The project was opposed only by Mayor Murphy's supporters on the board of supervisors. Every supervisor in the county outside the city of Detroit where all of the work is to be done, favored the half mill tax. It also had the support of fourteen supervisors from the city of Detroit, and was carried by a vote of 64 to 45. Opposition to the plan was started by a group of Detroit real estate men who had platted large sections of county land in the outlying sections and sought to get rid of this small extra tax that means employment for so many men.

Believe Fire On Bradner Farm Set Fire which completely destroyed the barn on the old Charles Bradner farm east of Plymouth, early in the morning on September 25th, is rumored to have been set by some one. The place is now owned by Mrs. Louis Poehner and the loss is a severe one to her. A new barn and Ford sedan were in the barn when it burned. The barn was built in 1871 by Tom Bradner, who settled in Wayne County the year previous. The fire department was called out to keep the flames from spreading to adjoining buildings.

PROBLEMS OF THE HOUSEHOLD BUYER TO BE DISCUSSED Plans for spending the household allowance in advance is the topic to be studied by the Home Economics Extension groups of Wayne County. During this lesson each homemaker will decide definitely the needs of her family for the year and then budget the minimum income which she and her family have decided is likely to be available. This is the second lesson of the Home Management project, "Problems of the Household Buyer."

ATTEND BENEFIT BRIDGE PARTY Eight members of the local business and Professional Women's Club attended a Benefit Bridge at the Totem Pole, corner of Five-Mile and Beech roads, on Tuesday evening, October 5th. Refreshments were served and at each table the guest holding high score was presented with a delicious fruit cake.

PLYMOUTH BOY SCOUTS HIKE

Youngsters and Fathers Spend The Week-End Over At Camp Brady

HEALTH TALKS GIVEN SCOUTS AND GUESTS

Dr. Robert Haskell Makes Sunday Address—All Near-by Troops Attend

Eighty Boy Scouts and twenty adults (fathers and friends of Boy Scouts) spent a most enjoyable and profitable week-end in the pursuit of Scouting at Camp Brady. Camp Brady is ideally located in the lake region near Clarkston, Michigan. The boys, their fathers, and troop committees arrived from Plymouth, Northville, Wayne County Training School and Rosedale Gardens, about three p.m. Saturday afternoon, and Scouting activities were immediately begun. In the afternoon were ball games, Scout tests, horse shows, and the preparation of lunches for the night. At five-thirty, all were divided into patrols and assigned their locations in the dining hall. There was considerable speculation among those visiting Brady for the first time as to "What of the night?" Regardless of the fact that some were led to believe that there was to be no hike, the Scout executives and dads puffed along endeavoring to follow the Boy Scouts through four miles of darkness, many passes being wide enough only for one traveler and failure to follow the path meant a plunge into the water. After arriving at the campfire, a splendid program was carried out including songs, a timely and most interesting talk to the boys on den hygiene by Dr. S. N. Thoms, a splendid story and application by Major Greany of the Wayne County Council; trumpet solo by Forbes Smith of P-1; whistling bird imitations, by Eddie Zander, N-2; followed by songs and yells given by the assembled Scouts; then some of the best-acting scribe-drama that the Boy Scouts ever drank was presented by Dr. Haskell, superintendent of the Wayne County Training School. Taps were then sounded by Enoch Smith, and the Boy Scouts wended their happy way back to camp for the night. The following morning during the devotion period, Dr. Robert Haskell gave a very interesting and inspiring talk to the Boy Scouts and adults in the natural amphitheatre by the lake. The roll call follows: P-1—George A. Smith, William C. Smith, Troop Committee; L. C. Jewell, E. D. Kenyon, A. A. Roth, L. H. Felton, Dr. S. N. Thoms, Kenneth Green, Assistant Scoutmaster; Alvin Strout, Scoutmaster; Sidney D. Strong, twenty-four boys. P-2—G. E. Dunn, six boys. P-3—W. William Hodson, J. R. Hester, Troop Committee; Scoutmaster; H. Church, four boys. P-4—Charles F. Murphy, Thaddeus Knapp, Scoutmaster; Orin Owen, Assistant Scoutmaster; Franklin Knight, sixteen boys. P-5 and P-6—Dr. Haskell, T. W. Trull, Scoutmasters; Thomas King and Richard Loomis, Assistant Scoutmaster; Thomas Modjeski, thirty boys. Detroit Official—Commissioner Floyd T. Merrick; Major Win C. Greany, chairman of Honor Committee; R. L. Thompson, director of camping; E. J. Peavener, Field Scout Executive. The weather for the over-night "hike" was ideal, the food served was outstandingly good, and from the time the Scouts arrived at camp until taps were sounded Sunday afternoon, there was not an idle moment or unprofitable moment for those in attendance. All regretted to leave Camp Brady, and are looking forward to another happy week-end next spring. Project leaders will meet for this lesson Friday, October 9, at Wayne Library, with Miss Olga Stantz, Home Management Specialist, Michigan State College. The third lesson, "Filling the Household Budget" will be given by Miss Mariet Dundas, Nutrition Specialist. Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Willett visited the former's sister, Mrs. S. C. Henech and family in Benton Harbor, over the week-end.

U. of M. Professor to Speak Before Woman's Club Oct. 16 About sixty members of the Woman's Club and their guests enjoyed a luncheon at the Hotel Mayflower, Friday, October 2nd. Following the luncheon, Miss Grace Brown, a Detroit attorney, a member of the firm of LeBlanc, Brown, Charnock & O'Donnell, and chairman of Local Status of Women in Wayne County League of Women Voters, gave a very interesting talk on "Michigan Laws and How They Effect Women." Miss Barbara Horton, accompanied by Mrs. Gilbert Brown, sang a group of songs, following which T. Glenn Phillips, noted landscape architect and executive chairman of The American Civic Association, invited the members to attend the convention which that society is holding October 5-8. A short business meeting was held at the close of the program. On Oct. 16, which is the date of the next meeting, special services will be given by Mrs. Moon, and Prof. Ivan H. Walton of the English Department of the University of Michigan, will speak on the subject, "The Modern American Novel." This should prove a very interesting topic and the committee in charge are hoping for a large attendance.

ONE LOOK BACK—BUT TWO AHEAD

By SILAS H. STRAWN

President of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce

Every day those in conspicuous positions in private or public life receive vast numbers of plans or nostrums designed to cure our troubles. No one yet has devised a panacea which seems possible of effective application.

To those who are melancholy about existing conditions and who ask whether we ever shall climb out of the present trough of depression, may I call attention to the fact that during the last 120 years, in the United States there have been no less than seventeen major depressions. In 1837, conditions in business and finance were infinitely worse than they are now, but we came out of that depression, as well as those of 1857, 1873, 1893, 1907, 1914, 1920, and 1921, and went on to enjoy greater prosperity and a higher standard of living than ever before.

The responsibility of bringing business back to normalcy throughout the world rests upon the business men rather than upon governments. Governments, as such, can do but little more than maintain peace and order and protect the rights of the individual in working out his own salvation. We have always worked out our difficulties in the past and there is no reason why we should not be able to do so this time.

By reason of the lack of continuous employment, the difficulties of our wage-earners would be increased if obliged to take a reduction in wages. On the other hand, the wage-earners must come to a realization that some manufacturers cannot resume production at a cost too high for the consumer to pay. The situation demands, and I believe, will receive the cooperation of labor with capital.

The great mass of people cannot and, I confidently believe, will not recede very far from their present standard of living but they will realize that they must be more frugal. They will continue to own automobiles and radios. The housewife will insist upon her gasless telephone, her electric lights, and her washing machine, and her ice-box. Obviously, all of these conveniences make more labor, increase consumption, and add to our general prosperity.

I am in entire accord with the plan of the president of the United States in the selection of a general over-seeing committee to encourage local communities to take care of their own unemployed during the coming winter. I regard it as the duty of every employer of labor and of everyone else who can by reasonable sacrifice do so, to contribute liberally to the unemployed funds now being collected throughout the country. These contributions can not be called charitable gifts. They are premiums on insurance against radicalism.

I cannot predict when we shall evolve out of our present economic condition but, as I said before, when we look backward and see that in the past we have always come out of depression and gone on to greater prosperity, I am confident that we shall repeat our past experience. I believe there are already encouraging signs on the horizon. When that recovery will come, no one will have the hardihood, definitely, to forecast. Certain it is that it can only be brought about by cooperating individual effort and not by governmental action.

Assuming we have some cause for our present dejection, let us remember we have never experienced even a small part of the difficulties which our ancestors overcame. Let us awaken in ourselves the latent spirit of our forefathers. Let us cease to cast about for nostrums and demonstrate not only courage and enterprise but faith in ourselves and regard the present as an opportunity which challenges our best efforts.

The Death Whisper

THEY CALL it the "death whisper" —

BECAUSE IT kills little eggs and things in the water

AND HELPS to keep it pure:

IT'S A sound wave that's so speedy you only hear a whisper.

THAT ISN'T so speedy nor so nice.

BUT IS just as fatal.

IT KILLS friendships and high hopes and reputations and good will and peace of mind and lots of things.

YOU KNOW what I mean—the whisper of gossip and suspicion

THAT SPREADS from one tattler to another

TILL A reputation has gone smash, or a friendship has died out.

OR SOMEBODY dies of a broken heart or lives a living death.

THE BEST enemy of the death whisper is the life whisper.

IF WE'VE got any whispering to do let's tell Mrs. what's-her-name how fine a girl Helen is.

AND THINGS like that.

LET'S KEEP the death whisper for killing bugs in the water. —McAlpine.

A Nation's Prayer

Almighty God, the creator of all things holy and eternal, we would learn of Thee. Teach us, Father, that there is no way to a higher and nobler life except the path of duty and the fulfillment of the office of a good man and an honest citizen. Make these our passion and our pride, for if we fail our labor will be like a cast-off scroll —unread forever. Do Thou protect us as a nation from blind drift and the senseless gulfs of anarchy, and fortify us with wisdom and the knowledge of the truth. Subdue and defeat the misguided and rebellious aliens of our country who would substitute for our representative government the false network of communistic vagaries and cause the social order to be overwhelmed and cast into fresh confusion. O God, stay Thou the elements in our land whose purpose is godless and

PROGRESS

By a vote of over five to one the state of California voted for progress the other day—the spending of over $200,000,000 for the development of the water supply that will be afforded Southern California through the construction of Boulder dam. By this action California plans not only to purchase from the federal government a large part of the power that will be developed from the dam, but it will also make available to its people, water for domestic and irrigation purposes. Engineers estimate that the additional water that California will get as a result of the success of this election will take care of an additional population of 7,000,000. That means that the city of Los Angeles will within the next twenty years become the world's largest city. It will mean for southern California during the next quarter of a century a growth more rapid than it ever experienced before. California is living up to its reputation of doing things in a big way.

DAD AND THE BOSS

Employees have about the same amount of consideration for the problems and difficulties that beset the boss that the family has for father's troubles. If money is scarce the boss is razed for not going out and getting more, just like mother and the girls roast father for his incompetency.

If vacations must be sacrificed, father and the boss are the victims. They stay home and do double work so the pleasures of others will not be decreased.

If privileges must be curtailed employees grouch at the boss just like brother and sister find fault with dad when their greater liberty is touched.

If business conditions are poor the professional fixers and uplifters join in with employees and families to prove that the boss and father are to blame.

If economy is necessary father and the boss must stand about all of it.

In fact, just about the whole of the world's responsibilities are up to the fathers and the bosses. It is a wonder they are so willing to bear criticism, so persistent in finding ways out of difficulties. Employees may strike and cause temporary trouble. Families may sulk and complain. But visualize it if you can the condition of affairs if the boss and father should take a notion to walk out, or go on a strike or sit around and sulk and make no effort to work things out.

But there is no danger of their quitting. Dad and the boss are spunky old cusses. They are used to hard knocks, they are used to working things out, they wouldn't be where they are if they did not have grit, rumpion, and an endless capacity for absorbing punishment; so they can be depended upon to keep things moving. It is fortunate that the positions of dad and boss are so generally filled by one and the same person.—National Printer Journalist.

ARTHUR BRISBANE WRITES WILL ROGERS

My dear Mr. Rogers: You will know by the enclosed that your advertising is read—at least by one reader. I saw that advertisement of the Durham, where you probably never saw it. In the Hamlet News-Messenger, an excellent little paper published in the active town of Hamlet, North Carolina.

I am particularly glad to see that Mr. P. S. Hill, who I suppose is your boss, puts his advertising in many of the smaller newspapers in the country. These are the most important newspapers and, incidentally, in proportion to their circulation, their advertising results are the biggest and their advertising rates are the smallest in the country. They are read through from end to end. Every copy of circulation means an entire family, not a family that lives in one room with a can opener, but a family that owns its own house, a family that buys everything from the roof on the house to the cement on the cellar floor, from the hat on the mother's head to the skates on the father's feet.

I hope you will persuade Mr. Hill and those that represent the advertising department of your big company to continue to send advertising to what are called "community papers." They not only pay well, but the service that their publishers render to the public is in my opinion the most important service rendered by any class of citizens in the United States. Sincerely yours,

ARTHUR BRISBANE

What Other Michigan Editors Are Thinking About

Taxes Could Be Higher—Look At England—

But whatever action Congress may take American taxpayers may thank their lucky stars that no such burdens will be laid upon them as the latest act of the British government loads onto the already bowed shoulders of its citizens. In London a man with a wife and two children whose income is $5,000 a year, will pay a tax of $958.50, while a man in the United States similarly situated would pay $12.38. A single man with an income of $1,800 in England must pay a tax of $353.50, while a single man in the United States would pay but $3.83 upon his $1,800. In other words the income tax of England is from 90 to 100 times as high as in the United States. The new British law lays a tax of ten cents a gallon on gasoline, 16 per cent on theatre tickets and so on down the line. With all the outcry against high taxes in the United States what a long way we have to go before we reach the exactions to which British subjects must submit.—Robert Gifford in the Eaton Rapids Review.

Names

To the older people of Michigan, who remember the name of Alger as that of an honored and honorable family, who remember the days when Russell A. Alger was governor of Michigan and a member of President McKinley's cabinet, it is somewhat saddening to see that name dragged in the mire and slime of the liquor crowd which is attempting to "reform" the prohibition law backward in Michigan. We are just in receipt of a letter signed by Mrs. Frederick M. Alger, as "Michigan Chairman Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform" asking for the "supervised sale of alcoholic beverages." Could Mrs. Alger have seen the pioneer picnic crowd addressed by her father years ago, and compared it with the sober and orderly crowd at the Centennial last week, she would be ashamed of her letter.—W. H. Berkey in the Cassopolis Vigilant.

Drink, Drank, Drunk . . .

A Massachusetts judge has defined four stages of intoxication. At first the free lumber is jocular, the state of seeing things through a rosy mist, and being satisfied with the world at large. Second, you may become bellicose, as when one looks for a fight; after, or before, you may change to lachrymose, the whimpering state. Last, but not least, if your supply of liquor is not exhausted, you may slip into the "passing out," or comatose state of drinking; other names for this stage are "plastered," "stuccoed," or, to paraphrase a golf action, "teased up." Would it be true to state, in summing up all the four conditions in these days of questionable liquor, that in any of the conditions enumerated one is in bad spirits?—George Averill in The Birmingham Ecceentric.

"Hats Off To This Man"

He came into the Record office just a few days ago with a smile and a word of kindness. He left leaving everyone in the office feeling just a little more "perked up"—at a time when smiles are not as thick as they once were on our streets.

And yet, friends, we happen to know something about this man and if any one in Northville has a good reason for being gloomy and discouraged, here was the man.

This citizen of ours faces difficulties and trials with a smile. He has "stuff" inside him and he faces the world with good cheer and optimism and doesn't parade his troubles—of which he has had plenty. (No two of you will guess alike as to who this man is and this writer is not even going to tell his wife to whom we are referring.)

Folks of Northville, Novi and Salem—and points in between—we say the community owes a deep debt of gratitude to men like this. We can be glad that we have a whole lot of men and women just like our good friend we have mentioned—we picked him just to make our point.

As the poem we read somewhere once said:
 "The man who's worth while
 Is the man who can smile
 When everything goes dead wrong."
 —Richard Baldwin in The Northville Record.

Tut, Tut, George

Even Birmingham, rich as she is, makes plans to aid the needy this winter. It's the home of Senator Couzens, who offered a million for charity which hasn't been accepted as yet—with string attached amounting to nine millions.—George Neal in The Orion Review.

Interesting bits of news Taken from Plymouth Mail

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Pettigill Sundayed in Wayne.

Mrs. H. C. Robinson was an over Sunday visitor at the Flats.

W. H. Hoyt was in Cheboygan on business several days last week.

A. N. Kinyon has sold his house on Ann Arbor street to Mrs. Vina Joy.

D. C. McLaren and wife of Chelsea were guests at J. D. McLaren's this week.

C. D. Daines, stone cutter for E. W. Foxen, has returned to his home in Belding.

A horse belonging to J. D. McLaren ran away last Saturday, doing no damage however.

The copious rains of last Saturday made the farmers feel happy. It was much needed.

E. L. Riggs has been in Milford this week conducting a cloak sale.

The residence of W. B. Roe has been connected with the Independent telephone.

Shafer brothers sold this week a large quantity of scrap iron that had been accumulating at their old foundry building since 1891. Wonder some relic hunters hadn't carried it away before this.

Trustee Butterfield made a report to the common council that he had collected all but $54 on the tax roll, something over $10,000. The cemetery board was authorized to purchase chairs and curtains for the waiting room on the cemetery grounds. A stove will also be placed in the room.

School visitors this week were Monte Wood, Genevieve McClimpsa, Louis Evans, Russell Bogert, Eva Passage, Helen Stewart and Harry Wagon-shutz.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Rattenbury have decided to go to the Pacific coast, instead of to Colorado. They expect to return to Colorado later.

The phone number of the Mail is now 6, two rings. There are 300 or more subscribers on the Plymouth exchange.

Back To Nature

Vacation is a game, and we are all in it. It requires a terrific, unending energy to succeed. But the men who do dig things are those who occasionally get away from the mass and find rest and recreation where the winds blow and the soothing waters flow; where the odor of pines is perpetual, and where Nature supplies everything in the way of health and healing that tired bodies demand.—Elbert Hubbard.

A Gentleman

A man asked to define the essential characteristics of a gentleman—using the term in its widest sense—would presumably reply, "The will to put himself in the place of others; the horror of forcing others into positions from which he would himself recoil; the power to do what seems to him to be right, without considering what others may say or think."—John Galsworthy.

Persistence Wins

Nothing in the world can take the place of persistence. Talent will not; nothing is more common than unaccomplished men with talent. Genius will not; unrewarded genius is almost a proverb. Education will not; the world is full of educated derelicts. Persistence and determination alone are omnipotent. The slogan "Persevere On," has solved and always will solve the problem of the human race.

The Golf Bug

A little bug is lurking where it never can be seen:
 It does its stuff
 From sand to rough,
 'Long fairway and the green.

That little bug will get you if you dally with the theme
 Of par or so—
 How ideas grow:
 'Long fairway and the green.

No known vaccination will
 Dissolve the golfer's gleam
 When once the bug
 In him has dug
 'Long fairway and the green.

To guarantee immunity
 From golf bugs it would seem
 A man must stay
 Far, far away
 From fairway and the green.

Christian Science Churches
 "Unreality" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches on Sunday, October 4.

 Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "The darkness hideth not from thee; but the darkness and the light are both alike to thee" (Ps. 139:12).
 The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Did God, Truth, create error? No! Doth a fountain send forth at the same place sweet water and bitter? God being everywhere and all-inclusive, how can He be absent or suggest the absence of omnipresence and omnipotence? How can there be more than all?" (p. 287).

Presbyterian Notes
 Rally Day will be observed on Sunday next. At 11:30 a. m. the Sunday-school will meet. There is some keen interest being taken in the effort to get the very most complete attendance possible of all the classes. Everyone is asked to be a committee to get the others out. The program promises to be one of unusual interest. Big and little, young and younger should be there.

Wednesday, October 14th, is the time for the meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary. There will be a business meeting at 2:00 p. m. o'clock. Then the general meeting is at 2:30 o'clock, and it is to be of very special interest. The Women's Union of the Northville Presbyterian church will be the guests of the Plymouth organization on that day. The Northville women will supply the program and they are fortunate in having secured Mrs. Charles Boyd, vice-president of the Detroit Presbyterian, as the chief speaker. The subject of the address is "Stewardship." Every Plymouth woman is urged to be present, and then, too, the meeting will have its lighter, social side for the April and May division of the Auxiliary under the leadership of Mrs. F. D. Schriber. Mrs. A. E. Patterson and Mrs. George A. Smith will serve refreshments. A very delightful meeting is assured.

The Busy Women's Class met at the church on Tuesday of this week. This was the annual meeting of the class with the election of officers for another year. Last year's executive was returned to office: Mrs. Foulton, president; Mrs. Tillotson, vice-president; Mrs. Merylls, treasurer; and Mrs. Cramer, secretary. The meeting was largely attended. Mrs. Lewis H. Root and Mrs. F. L. Becker acted as hostesses. There was a fine dinner and a good social time. The program included readings by Mrs. J. W. Blackmore, Mrs. F. L. Becker and Mrs. Gale, and an interesting game.

Methodist Notes
 The Missionary Society will hold its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. I. N. Dickerson, 712 Fairground avenue, Wednesday, Oct. 14. Program in charge of Misses Flinzing, Lewis and Parker.
 Mrs. I. N. Dickerson, Mrs. Mary Card and Mrs. H. S. Doerr are attending the branch meeting of the W. F. M. S. at Metropolitan church in Detroit, this week.

Coming Attractions At Penniman-Allen

"BAD GIRL"
Absolute faithfulness to the theme of the original story and play, richness of emotion, human appeal, and lavishness of production mark the Fox Film version of Vina Delmar's "Bad Girl" which will appear at the Penniman-Allen Theatre on Sunday and Monday, October 11 and 12.

James Dunn, as the husband in the picture, a newcomer to films, scored a sweeping personal triumph with his realistic portrayal. This young man radiates screen personality and is headed for the heights. Sally Eilers gives a well rounded performance as the emotionally torn girl-ride in the title role.

Another member of the excellent cast, whose splendid character portrayal added much to the rich entertainment qualities of the picture, was Minna Gombell, former star of the stage now enacting featured roles for Fox Films. William Pawler, as the brother, the role he created in the original stage version in New York and Frank Darlen, as the proprietor of the radio store, also scored heavily with their effective characterizations.

Frank Burzage's direction brought out all the depth of pathos latent in the theme.

"SMART WOMAN"
Packed with side-splitting comedy, fast-moving action-drama, domestic philosophy and colorful settings—and interpreted by a cast of unusually clever players. Radio Pictures "Smart Woman" will be seen at the Penniman-Allen Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, October 14 and 15.

Adapted from Merron C. Faazan's stage hit, "Nancy's Private Affairs," the plot revolves about the domestic troubles of an over-solicitous wife who returns from abroad to find her husband in the clutches of a gold-digging daughter, aided and abetted by an avuncular mother.

When the wife invites the female love-platée and her own boy friend to spend a week-end at her home, things happen which are uproariously funny and among the most amusing situations ever screened.

Five players can boast of such a cast of players—Mary Astor as the wife, Robert Ames the husband, Noel Francis the gold digger, Gladys Gale, the husband-hunting mamma, and Edward Everett Horton, a hypochondriac whose facetious comments and antics add to the genuine entertainment of the film.

Others in the cast include Ruth Weston, John Halliday, Alfred Cross, Pearl Varville and Lillian Harmer.

The roles of husband and wife are particularly suited to the talents and abilities of Mary Astor and Robert Ames, who rapidly are becoming one of Hollywood's most popular screen teams.

Edward Everett Horton's work is reminiscent of his stage character in "The Nervous Wreck" in "Smart Woman" he proves himself one of the screen's most competent comedians.

Feet Ball season was on again, off again, flivverin—meaning on and off U. S. 12.

Most fans kept a steady pace going by our way, but a few tried to get away to the lead first place, as only one car could hold first place the honors were often disputed by broken wheels and fenders causing a delay in movement cityward. However, by the end of the season most of them will still be doing the same thing, regardless and nerveless.

Sundee was almost as bad as Satdee, tho the F. B. Gangs came and went in bunches, the Sundee crowd kept up all day and eve. These folks who complain of hard times should see the traffic to and fro like the ebb and flow of the tides on F. B. days and the to and fro all day on a Sunday.

Stoppers by "complain" that U-12 is not the only highway on the map to be crowded, they say they all are. Ask Gasoline Ed, he knows.

Moved away are the Will Kinne and family. We are sorry to see them go, as they were ever interested in R. P. T. A. and Sunday school and everything. We can't remember a P. T. A. gathering that Mrs. Kinne was absent.

Mrs. James B. Kinaban entertained the Ladies of the Altar Society last night at bridgeon and 500. Quite a crowd gathered for the occasion and a neat sum added to the chicken fund. Mrs. K. also served delightful luncheon.

St. Michael's Parish Buildings are all roofed, bricked and glassed in. Florentine effect on auditorium and lower sash in chapel. Plastericians completing their artistry in good style.

Woodicians and painters are doing their level and brush best to shape up the inside of chapel for Mass this coming Sunday. Watch for announcement further ahead in this issue, and the sign on the Plymouth road.

Next Tuesday, the thirteenth instant, the Altar Society is to meet at the home of Mrs. James B. Kinaban (secretary and treasurer), 11301 Berwick. All the lady folks are invited to attend this important meeting, as ways and means and everything are to be gone over for the Fall Festival on the 25th instant, and other very important matters. It is rumored that at their last meeting it was voted that friend husbands were "to wait on tables"—maybe, and if so—how!

Mrs. John Walker (vice-pres.) reports that Plymouth merchants have been unusually helpful in giving of their wares for the ladies' "Fancy" booth. This makes us feel very kindly toward them, and it is recommended that all return by doing their shopping in Plymouth. Those who have not yet tried Plymouth first should do so, and they'll be surprised to learn that "everything" can be obtained locally if home folks don't have it, they'll get it. So.

Cousin Will Palmer has been searching is 'ead over what is and what isn't the proper wall decorations and colors for a rectory, so the argument was settled, by selecting some very pretty pattern colors for the parietals. Now our William is whistling in the dark thinking how foolish his worry was, but is now scratching away to get the rectory cleaned up in time for the "house warming" for

Patients Suffer While The Police Have Argument

In a special investigation made by The Press on Tuesday, it was learned that police agencies in Wayne county failed to agree where persons, who were injured in an accident that occurred at 3:30 Sunday morning at the intersection of Middlebelt and Plymouth roads, should be taken and that seriously injured people laid on the cold ground for approximately an hour before they were removed to a hospital and given proper medical attention.

In the accident referred to, Reid E. Dennison, 29155 Charleston boulevard, Farmington, was killed, his wife suffered serious head and body injuries, Miss Lucille Barnaby received a fractured pelvis and skull, and James E. Lowe, of Clinton, Michigan, an engineer employed by the state highway department, suffered fractures of both arms and left wrist.

According to reports given The Press, John Bissel, of the Redford township police department, Troopers Lynn Smith and Paul Fredericks, of the Wayne detachment of the State police and Deputies Frackleton and Avery of the Wayne County Sheriff's office arrived on the scene shortly after the crash. Officer Bissel told The Press that the deputy sheriffs were the first to arrive and that as a matter of police courtesy they were permitted to continue with taking care of the accident while he and the state trooper stood by to assist.

"I thought that an ambulance would be there soon, as Eloise was but a short distance away and the Redford Receiving hospital was only a few miles, but after twenty minutes or so had elapsed, I became disgusted with the actions of the deputies and proceeded, with the aid of the troopers to take Miss Barnaby to the Redford Receiving hospital," he said. Dr. A. Fremont, a member of the hospital staff told The Press that the young woman was received at the hospital at 4:30, according to their records.

According to records at the Eloise Infirmary, Mrs. Dennison and Mr. Lowe were not received at that hospital until 4:30 a. m., which reveals that it took one hour and ten minutes before seriously injured accident victims could be removed to hospitals, which were, at the most but 15 minutes driving distance away. It is believed that the deputy sheriffs arrived on the scene at about 3:25 a. m.

Eloise officials also stated that their ambulance was not called, but the injured persons were brought in by a patrol wagon from the 14th precinct of the Detroit police department, which is located at Grand River and Schaefer roads. Detroit police officials stated that their patrol wagon was sent out as a matter of courtesy and in an emergency, when a call was received from the deputy sheriffs at 4:05 a. m.

Archie Fraser, chief deputy sheriff, told The Press that his men did not want to remove the victims because they feared that the extent of their injuries would not warrant handling by anyone but experienced medical men. He did not, however, comment on the fact that Detroit policemen and the deputy sheriffs finally removed them in an ordinary patrol wagon and that no steps were taken to call Eloise hospital where an ambulance driver and assistants are on duty all night.

The question which has been asked The Press is, can it be possible that three seriously injured persons were allowed to lay on the ground during one of the coldest mornings of the past few weeks when there were plenty of able-bodied police officers there with cars to remove them to a hospital immediately. And can it be possible that differences in opinion among police officers, as to just where the victims should be taken, should be allowed to stand in the way when three persons were suffering and needed immediate medical attention.

"If this is the way police agencies in the county cooperate, some steps should be taken to alleviate such conditions immediately," was the opinion of Mr. Bissel.—Dearborn Press.

Nail Robs A Robber

A nail robbed a robber in Ansonia, Conn. The burglar had stolen the life savings of Mrs. Mary Koval, an aged woman, and was climbing down the side of the house when his pocket caught on a nail and the money stuck fast. Mrs. Koval found the money the next morning shortly after she discovered the robbery. There was no claw to the intruder.

Dog Amputates and Heals Own Leg

A hunting dog owned by Charles Phillips, of Jacksonville, Ill., amputated his own injured leg and drew the skin down over the wound with its own teeth, and now the wound has healed nicely. The dog would not let any one touch the injured leg.

A man may owe something to himself, but the chances are he owes more to other people.

Let's have a SHOWDOWN on this matter of TIRE COMPARISONS

WITH all the conflicting claims published about tires, it is obvious that misleading statements are being made. The only conclusion that you as a tire buyer can draw is that either we, as Firestone Dealers, are misrepresenting Firestone products, or that a certain mail order house is not telling the truth about theirs. Both can't be right—one or the other is misleading the public by their comparisons.

Firestone, in their advertising, only make comparisons that can be easily verified by the customer before buying tires. To attempt to substantiate the comparisons made by this mail order house, it would be necessary to go into a laboratory and employ experts.

The very reason that the comparisons made in Firestone advertising enable you to get the facts yourself, makes it unnecessary for Mr. Firestone to make affidavits on the truth of his statements or to file any complaint with the Federal Trade Commission, and then advertise it, in an attempt to lead the public to believe his statements were true.

Mr. Firestone doesn't ask you to accept comparisons about Firestone Tires and special brand mail order tires until you see the facts yourself. Neither do we. All we ask is that you make your own comparison.

We have cross sections cut from special brand mail order tires purchased from stocks of mail order house and from Firestone Tires—no "tricky" or misleading comparisons—come in today and make your own comparisons for Quality, Construction, and Prices. YOU and YOU ALONE be the judge!

Harold A. Sage, Well Known Plymouth Young Man, Manager of Big Detroit Hotel, Praised in Recent Detroit Magazine Article

Harold A. Sage, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sage of Plymouth, who is manager of the Tullier Hotel in Detroit, and has a large number of friends in his home town, was given special mention in a Detroit publication, known as Detroit This Week, recently. The article which will be exceptionally interesting to Mr. Sage's many Plymouth friends, follows: "I'd like to see Mr. Sage, please."

Down the stairs to the barber shop. A young man was standing at the cashier's desk, paying his check. "Is Mr. Sage here?" "Yes, he is," answered the young man.

I looked over the barber chairs. There was an elderly man in one chair who was probably Mr. Sage. Just then the barber, the hoodlum and the manicurist chorused, "Good-by, Mr. Sage," to the young man!

Just as surprising as my introductory meeting with Harold Sage, was my conversation with him. This 31 year old product of Plymouth, Michigan, is as young and vital as a three year old colt. Not frisky, or too serious about this business of existence, but knowing that the life course through his veins must be utilized while it runs freely, without stimulus.

Imagine then, that this chap was studying to be an undertaker, all futures, when the war came along. Joining the air service, he was sent to Kelly Field, at San Antonio, Texas, where he was a cadet for 14 months, not receiving his discharge until 1920. The discharge decided his future, and the undertaking profession was relegated to the other studies he had to finish.

South Bend, Indiana, and the Franklin automobile benefited by this change of mind, for Sage became wholesale manager for the company. Lonesome for the home folks, Mr. Sage returned to Detroit late in 1920, and started in at the Stratler Hotel as assistant credit manager, which job, he assures me, was not so much a job as title. In 1924, however, he was named assistant manager. One year later, the Guarantee Trust decided that he was just the man for their property manager, and Mr. Sage took over a job which was more job than title.

There were twelve apartments under the trust company's guidance, as well as the Park, Clifford and Gorham Hotels. Successful there, he was asked to assume the management of the then ill-fated Savoy, which was using up a greater part of the red ink manufactured in Europe. (American red ink lacks the violent color necessary to list the debt of the Savoy at that time.)

While managing the Savoy, Mr. Sage also served as managing director of the Murray Hill. All this before he reached the ripe old age of thirty! The $4,000,000 Savoy, at Woodward and Adelaide streets, was suffering from the fact that business in general was poor, and Detroit, just finished with an orgy of building, which included many fine hotels, was not treating the hotel business very well. The Savoy dining room was empty a great percentage of the time, and it cost more to serve a dinner than the guest could possibly pay.

Faced with a similar condition, many fine hotel operators would quit. In the face of adversity, big men are made, is an old adage, and Sage used his wisdom. (Pardon the pun, Mr. Sage, but I waited patiently for the opportunity). Through many transitions, the dining room had remained a dignified retreat. In fact, it retreated from pretensions, transformed into a comfortable coffee shop. It made $5,000 each and every month.

The Wolverine Hotel then attracted attention of Dr. Sage, consultant for diagnosing the ills of sick hotels. In 1929 he became manager of the Tullier Hotel, which position he has held until the present date. In 1928, Mr. Sage was elected first vice-president of the Detroit Hotel Association, and in

THREE PLYMOUTH GRADS ASPIRE TO BIG HURON TEAM

Seventy-one ambitious young gridmen, many of them stars of the first magnitude on the high school fields from which they have graduated, made up one of the most promising freshman squads in recent years at Michigan Normal as they began work this week under Coaches Ray Sittes and Andy Van Dyke.

All but five, who come from schools outside of Michigan, are former prep stars from practically every section of the state in which football is played. Twenty of them hail from Detroit and Metro-Wilbur area, while 14 others come from schools in Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor and the immediate vicinity.

Only one game is definitely on the books thus far, this with Michigan State yearlings at East Lansing on October 24. The Hurons won the contest handsily at Ypsilanti last fall.

Following is the complete list of candidates: From Detroit and vicinity: Frank Undergraff, Cass Tech.; Robert Llan, Southwestern; Earl Mueller, DeLaSalle; Peter Diamond, Western; Richard Paton and Elmer McDuff, Northwestern; John LaBlond, Eastern; Nick Rovinsky and Frank Hodas, Hamtramck; Urban Rice and Aolph Kalscar, Fordson; Ajax Varantian, Dearborn; Robert Wilson, Ecorse; Ferris Newman, Pontiac; Murphy Kern, Keego Harbor; Ernest Fleming, Ferndale; George Stillwagon, Wayne; Robert Gillespie, St. Mary's; M. Clemens, Norman Pincus, Grosse Pointe; James Casey, St. Paul, Grosse Pointe.

From Ypsilanti and vicinity: George Adams, Raymond Horton, John Perce and Harry Baker, Ypsilanti; Sheldon Vogt and Austin Lutes, Ann Arbor; Michael Basso, St. Thomas, Ann Arbor; Earl Quackenbush, University, Ann Arbor; Marvin Baumaner, Stanley Lanker and Edward DePorter, Plymouth; Trazzel Bruckner, Milan; Robert Foster, Chelsea.

From other Michigan cities: Jack Shaw, Milan Clark, Charles Brown and Gorham Mannin, Jackson; William Chase and Ray Clave, South Lake; Vaughn Kilburn, Flint Northern; Ray Williams, Flint Central; Earl Charles and Edward Fullson, Grand Rapids; Catholic Central; Ray Weinski and Luddy Lindwison, Manistee; Fred Beckman, Saginaw Arthur Hill; Merle Pipin, Saginaw St. Andrew's; Ivan Bannion and Larry Clal, Negaunee; Lewis Starland and Herbert Page, Grand Blanc; Norman McCorry, Ontonagon; Earl Stine, Battle Creek; George Messelman, Eradonville; Hal Kenneth Hughes, Benton Harbor; John Powell, St. Charles; Roy Thompson, Cheboygan; Robert Spran, Muskegon; Robert Ingram, Houghton; Clayton Fraser, Harbor Beach; Joe Kapets, Ironwood; Angus Kangas, Greenwood Twp.; William Koski, Iron River; James Dirks, Grand Haven; Irving Cook, Gaylord.

From other states: Floyd Benzhauser, DuBols, Pa.; Edward Henry, Mt. Iron, Minn.; Gilbert Patch, East Tech, Cleveland, O.; Kenneth Lent, Liberty, Toledo, O.; William Tucker, Iberia, Mo.

February of 1930, became president, the youngest man to ever hold the office, and undoubtedly one of the youngest to ever hold a similar office in an large city in the country.

I visited with Mr. Sage during the Legion convention. Unruffled and undisturbed by the commotion in the city, Mr. Sage took me to his rooms overlooking the park, and in a lovely and comfortable sitting room we conversed as comfortably as though the hotel had temporarily ceased to exist. This detachment must influence Mr. Sage's work. The ability to gaze back upon what has been done, and visualize the future is a major factor in the materials which constitute a hotel manager. Personality, alert and apparently are three others. Mr. Sage possesses them all to an unusual degree.

New Books For The Plymouth Library

The following new books have been received at the Plymouth Library: WHITE HERON FEATHER, by Robinson. Nansaka, a sixteen-year old white girl, has been reared among the Maine Indians who had made a captive of her mother.

NAYARRE OF THE NORTH, by Darling. Nayarre an Eskimo wolf-dog, descendant of the famous Baldy of Nome, is rescued by young Paul Barran, from a cruel master. The dog accompanies Paul to France, where he rescues a wounded officer and is awarded the Croix de guerre.

WAIF MAID, by McNeer. It has feeling and charm as well as a story. Who will not turn again and again to the exploit of the merry Hans, in the winning ways of the sprightly Fraulein Bae? GREAT MOMENTS IN FREEDOM, by Lansing. Significantly enough her first story concerns a woman of her own time, Helen Keller. Others have faced the same terrors, the same slavery of being blind and deaf in a lonely, lovely universe. But perhaps none have won their way through to the beauty that was rightfully theirs with quite so much earnestness or determination.

THE ADVENTURES OF ANDRIS, by Kati. The school days and holidays of Andris and his sister Kati, who live on a big estate in the center of Hungary. THE JUMPING-OFF PLACE, by McNeely. Pioneer life on the Dakota prairies as seen through the eyes of the four young Linvilles. OLAF, LOUPEX FISHERMAN, by Schram. When Olaf was five his father went to Lofoten as Doctor during the fishing season and Olaf went with him.

THE CAT WHO WENT TO HEAVEN, by Conisworth. A very poetic and amusing story, one with real imagination. It is the story of a little white cat, that belonged to a poor Japanese artist. It will interest adults, and children will like it read aloud.

STUDENT INGENUITY BEATS ECONOMIC DEPRESSION AT UNIVERSITY-HOW SOME YOUNG MEN AND WOMEN PAY THEIR WAY

Starting a fad for corduroy trousers and bean casting in as salesman of the same, giving finger waves to your more prosperous friends for 35 cents, selling five cents worth of stones for $1 after carving initials on them, taxing couples to dances in an ancient horse-drawn hack, and many other strange yet profitable money making schemes are invented by the hard pressed student who finds his or her stay in college threatened by lack of funds, according to a study made by Professor Robert C. Angell and students of his sociology class at the University of Michigan.

Carefully prepared questionnaires were submitted to 273 students chosen at random from the student body, and investigations of student organizations and activities, interviews with town business men, landladies, fraternities, sororities and University officials were made. Comparison of the situations of individual students and general conditions for the years 1924-1930 and 1930-1931 was the object of the survey.

A wide variety of facts were brought forth. Notable was the relatively slight increase in withdrawals from the University for financial reasons, 112 in 1929-1930 and 130 in 1930-1931. For men the figures were 104 and 102 for the years given, while for women the numbers were 8 and 24; this may "reflect a smaller number of opportunities for self supporting work for women than men, and, perhaps, less willingness to undergo real hardship to stay in college," says Professor Angell.

The average income of students for 1930-31 during the first semester was slightly less than the previous year, the average for all being $422 and that of working students $432. Source of this income changed but little, allowances gave 2 per cent less in 1930-31 than the previous year, while income from work during school, summer work, loans and miscellaneous sources increased in proportion in 1930-31. The slight decrease in allowances indicates that college expenses are one of the last places where families economize. That many wholly or partially self supporting students were hard pressed is indicated that the University loan requests were almost double those of 1929-30, and that private organizations such as fraternities reported early exhaustion of such funds.

The brighter side was the many ways of earning extra dollars that students invented, and a tendency to demand and get lower living expenses.

penses. Room rent fell considerably, meals declined 10 to 15 per cent in price. Fewer late lunches, and fewer persons eating meals outside their fraternity or sorority houses were reported. Economies were made in amusements, especially on shows. While dances were well attended, pool, billiard halls and bowling alleys, suffered. There were fewer pleasure trips and more hitch hiking. Religious contributions fell off, organization dues somewhat surprisingly increased. Barbers reported student shaves declined 60 per cent. Clothing sales decreased little, but prices were decidedly lower.

"The women spent comparatively more this year on room rent and organization dues, less on meals, movies, sodas and hair dressing," said Professor Angell. They were better bargain hunters than the men with regard to clothes and hair dressing, but poorer relative to food and traveling expenses. Working students economized more than non-workers on room rent, meals and text books."

Child Care And Training Group Holds Meeting. The Waterford Child Care and Training group held their first meeting September 30th, at Mrs. Howard Bowring's. The project this year pertains to keeping the child happy in his own home.

Booze Shows Church. Alcoholic fumes and the pitter of drops of liquor, oozing from the ceiling of the church in Carr's Fork, Ky., broke up the services of the small mountain congregation. The pastor halted the singing of hymns. In the garret was found a five-gallon keg of moonshine whiskey, covered with rags and leaking badly. The keg was removed and services resumed.

PLYMOUTH TO PLAY AT HOME ON SUNDAY

DEFEATED WEST POINT TEAM TO SEEK REVENGE FOR LAST SUNDAY'S DEFEAT

Plymouth will play at home Sunday, October 11th, when they will meet West Point in the second game of the series at Burroughs Park. If Plymouth conquers West Point Park in the game scheduled for Sunday, the series will fall to the home team, but if they should lose, the two teams will clash the following Sunday at West Point Park in the third game. Detroit Federation umpires will officiate the contest. An exceedingly large crowd is expected to witness this outstanding game. Game starts at 3:00 o'clock.

Plymouth's Haggerty hammered out a 8 to 7 victory over the West Point Park team behind the excellent relief pitching of Estel Rowland last Sunday at West Point, to take the first game of the series. It will be remembered that West Point Park finished in second position in the triple-A division of the Detroit Baseball Federation League.

Plymouth had "Dolly" Dahlstrom on the mound, but the star left-hander was found for four hits and three runs in the first inning and was unable to stop the Parkers so save way to Estel Rowland, with only one out. Over the eight and two-thirds innings he worked, Rowland allowed West Point eight scattered hits, supported by his teammates with good fielding.

John Jawoski, opposing to Dahlstrom and Rowland, was pounded almost at will. Plymouth piled up six of their runs in the third inning on six solid hits.

The Parkers got the runs needed to win on second and third in the ninth inning with none out, but Rowland rebuffed the next two batters on strikes and a ground out to the infield.

NETHEM WINS THE TWENTIETH GAME OF YEAR'S SERIES

Gale gave a splendid demonstration of pitching last Sunday at Newburg, holding the strong Highland Park team to 6 hits, as Nethem pounded out twelve hits to gain a six to four decision.

Dillow held Nethem to five hits for six innings, then blew up in the seventh inning, giving Nethem six hits and five runs.

Gale pitched a better game of ball, giving up but two hits until the seventh inning, when the visitors scored their first two runs. The boys must have been inspired by the pitching performances of our recent or current world series. The big three got half of Nethem's hits, when Joe Schomberger, Tonkovich, and R. Levandowski got two hits apiece out of four trips to the plate. John Schomberger also gathered two out of four for the day. Jack Pizarek pulled the fielding feature play of the game when he robbed Robinson of a sure hit in the ninth inning with bases loaded and nobody out, when he made a diving catch off the grass tops. That makes two beautiful catches in the last two games.

This game marks the first year a Nethem team has won twenty games in one season since the team was organized over five years ago.

Two-base hits—Dillow: Hits off Dillow, ten in 6 2/3 inn. Losing pitcher—Dillow. Struck out by Gale 6, by Dillow 6, by Koler 2. Walks off Gale off Dillow 0, off Koler 0. Umpires—F. Schultz and McKean. Scorer—S. Stremlich.

Next Sunday at Rousseau Park, Newburg, a double header will be played beginning at one o'clock, against Newburg. This game is a yearly affair for the local boys. Last year Nethem defeated Newburg, 3 to 2, which was a very close game. A better game is expected this year as Newburg has secured the services of several Garden City players and local boys to make their team a worthy opponent. Don't forget this game starts at one o'clock.

At three o'clock the strong Detroit Pilots will bring out their star hurler to have Nethem gaze at something that will stop Nethem's winning streak.

Everybody is welcome to these games, and let's see if we can surpass last Sunday's crowd.

At this time we again challenge the Plymouth-Haggerty club for the baseball championship of Plymouth.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS OF THE VILLAGE COMMISSION.

Plymouth, Mich., Sept. 21, 1931. A regular meeting of the Village Commission held in the Commission Chamber of the Village Hall on Monday evening, September 21, 1931 at 7:00 p. m.

Present: President Mimmack, Commissioners Henderson, Hoyer, Learned and Robinson.

Absent: None.

The minutes of the regular meeting held September 8th were approved as read.

The report of the special committee appointed to investigate and report on the price of cemetery lots was read. The report recommended that three prices be established, said prices being $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50 per square foot and that the Cemetery Board determine the property to be so priced. It was moved by Comm. Hoyer seconded by Comm. Robinson that the report be accepted and concurred in. Carried.

A communication from A. W. Ehrman & Company was read.

It was moved by Comm. Learned and seconded by Comm. Robinson that the Manager be instructed to communicate with Miller Bailey Company regarding a quarterly audit and request them to submit a proposition on this matter to the Commission. Carried.

It was moved by Comm. Learned and seconded by Comm. Hoyer that the communication of A. W. Ehrman & Company be received and placed on file. Carried.

WHEREAS, On July 6, 1931 the Village Commission designated the Plymouth United Savings Bank as depository for public funds up to an amount of $25,000, the same to be covered by approved collateral securities, and designated the First National Bank as depository for any sum or sums above $25,000 provided that they elect to qualify with the existing statutory provisions, and upon failure to qualify the Village Commission would designate some other bank as a depository for surplus funds of the Village of Plymouth upon furnishing proper security, and

WHEREAS, the deposits of the Village now exceed $25,000 and the First National Bank has not indicated that it is desirous of having the municipal deposit, and

WHEREAS, the Plymouth United Savings Bank has agreed to provide protection for an additional $15,000 by placing collateral securities in trust, therefore be it

RESOLVED, that the Plymouth United Savings Bank be designated as depository for funds of the Village of Plymouth during the fiscal year 1931-2 and that bonds in the amount of 10% above the deposits be placed in trust at the Detroit Trust Company.

It was moved by Comm. Robinson seconded by Comm. Learned that the above resolution be adopted.

Ayes: Commissioners Henderson, Hoyer, Learned, Robinson and President Mimmack.

Nays: None.

Carried.

The following resolution was offered by Comm. Learned:

RESOLVED, that this Commission hereby approves the securities enumerated below and accepts the same as collateral security for Village of Plymouth funds now on deposit or to be placed on deposit with the Plymouth United Savings Bank.

BUSINESS GAIN WITH NEW YEAR

Manufacturers Look For Better Times In The Next Few Months

Automobile production during September continued at a rate substantially below estimated replacement demand, according to Dr. Ralph E. Badger, executive vice president, and Carl F. Behrens, economist, of the Union Guardian Trust Company, Detroit, under the direction of the General Motors Corporation, Inc. Production of passenger cars and trucks in the United States and Canada in September, 1931 amounted to approximately 160,000 as against 192,000 in August of this year. In September, 1930, the total units produced were 229,000 as against 234,000 in August of that year.

The immediate outlook is for a continued restriction in the rate of production until 1932 models are announced. There is some question as to the present time regarding the date at which new models will be shown. The consensus of opinion is that no wide scale introduction of new models will be made before the New York Automobile Show in January, 1932. On this assumption, there is little hope for substantial pickup in production levels for the balance of this year. Whereas it is too early to predict the rate of step-up in production after the turn of the year, it is probable that manufacturers will maintain rigid control over production and stock of cars until they are able to estimate consumer demand.

The present business outlook is such that leading manufacturers will maintain rigid control over output which probably will not go very far in making expenditures for the purpose of developing innovations in the design and construction of 1932 models, although some of the manufacturers, whose position has become less favorable during the past two years, will undoubtedly make strenuous efforts not only to maintain their present position in the field but to regain part of the ground which they have lost.

For the past month, there has been comparative stability in wholesale commodity prices. For four weeks, Fisher's Index of Wholesale Commodity prices shows no change from the 68.9 level reached on August 28, 1931, although during last week, a fractional decline in 1931 occurred. This reflected Great Britain's departure from the gold standard on September 21, 1931. Cotton and wheat have been especially weak since that date. Whereas the immediate effect of a devaluation in the pound would be to depress all commodities in terms of dollars, it is quite possible that the price of cotton and other commodities, which are used by Great Britain in the manufacture of goods for export, will not be ultimately affected by a decline in sterling. Such commodities, having been processed, will ultimately be re-exported against payment in terms of other currencies.

Wholesale merchandising has also decreased in volume, for retail establishments seem to have steadily reduced their inventories. Retail trade in dollar volume has declined somewhat, but estimates place the amount of this decline at only 5 to 15 per cent below the levels of the same months of 1930, whereas retail prices have averaged nearly 20 per cent under prices of a year ago. It appears, therefore, that the actual volume of sales at retail, that is, the number of articles exchanged, has increased.

Some of the smaller manufacturing plants have been able to adapt themselves to changed conditions of demand readily and are experiencing satisfactory business. In general, the output of manufacturing concerns is the lowest it has been since April, 1922. The Federal Reserve Board's index now stands at 80 per cent of the 1923-1925 average which compares with 91 per cent a year ago.

Agricultural production this year will about equal the two-year average and will exceed last year's output by nearly 10 per cent. Farm prices are much lower now than they were a year ago, however. As of September 15, the farm price index of the United States Department of Agriculture stood at 72 per cent (August, 1930-July, 1931—100) which compares with 111 on September 15, 1930, a decline of nearly 35 per cent.

In the securities markets, many stocks are now selling at the highest yields at which they have sold for a considerable period. There is likewise some improvement in the yields on bonds. This constant increase in the yields on common stocks makes the dollar more and more valuable as a unit of investment.

A development of some importance during the past ten days has been a loss of over a quarter of a billion dollars in gold to European countries by "ear-marking" and actual shipments. This situation has probably been brought about in part by the sale of the securities for foreign accounts in our local markets. Thus, establishing credit balances against which gold may be drawn. A full understanding of this recent trend leads one to the conclusion that it is highly constructive. It is generally agreed among bankers and economists that the present world-wide distress arises in part from maldistribution in the world's supply of gold.

Undoubtedly a continued withdrawal of gold, coupled with substantial increases in our government debt, would eventually increase money rates to some extent. The amount of gold which may be withdrawn without any substantial effect on interest rates, however, is substantially in excess of the amount so far involved. It is quite probable, in fact, that as much as a billion dollars of the five billion dollars of gold held in this country would be withdrawn without any appreciable tightening of money conditions.

Retains of our questionnaire from various sections of Michigan indicating business conditions in these areas as of September 15 and the outlook for business in the near future may be summarized as follows: Manufacturing activity in southeastern Michigan declined to comparatively low levels, the only exception being the city of Adrian where a slight improvement is reported. With regard to the outlook in the near future, six reports of the twelve received from this area indicate an increase in manufacturing activity. No change is indicated by the other six. Flint, Jackson, Saginaw and Port Huron are among the cities where improvement in manufacturing is expected this fall. Farming conditions in the saginaw Bay area are good and a similar favorable report comes from the farming communities surrounding Jackson and Adrian.

Northern Michigan business has in general become very dull. Farming conditions in the vicinity of Gaylord, Grayling, Harrison and Manistee are reported good, however, and this may be reflected later in retail trade.

ONE OF WORLD'S LARGEST COLLECTIONS OF ROBINSON CRUSOE STORIES HAS BEEN PRESENTED TO UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN

When Alexander Selkirk, English mariner, quarreled with his captain and was set ashore alone on the desert island of Juan Fernandez off the west coast of South America in 1704, he little thought that his adventure, immortalized by a master novelist, would serve as the basis of a whole class of literature, and that 250 years later a University library in a nation yet unborn in 1704, would consider its collection of his adventures, under the name of Robinson Crusoe, as one of its most interesting treasures.

Various editions of Robinson Crusoe, first and one of the greatest of the romantic realistic type of novel, have for years been collectors' prizes, and the University of Michigan collection, the gift of Regent L. L. Hubbard, is one of the finest in the world. Literally hundreds of editions, from the antique first in 1719 to brilliantly illustrated copies of recent years, translations into 20 foreign languages, piracies, imitations, poetical versions and humorous parodies testify to the permanence which the art of writer Defoe gave to the adventure of seaman Selkirk.

Daniel Defoe was not the first to record Selkirk's trials and tribulations on his desert isle. In 1712, Captain Woodes Rogers, who rescued the sailor after four years and four months on Juan Fernandez, wrote his version of the story, but was evidently a better sailor than story teller, since his account stirred little popular interest. Then in 1713 Sir Richard Steele, famous essayist and dramatist, wrote a journalistic story for The Englishman, a magazine of the time, a copy of which is in the Hubbard collection.

On April 25, 1719, Defoe's version appeared. His story was not a dry journalistic recital of events. The real Selkirk became the imaginary Robinson Crusoe, the four years of solitude became colored and enlivened with extra adventures and the feelings of an intelligent and sensitive man in such a situation. At once it was a great success, and four editions were run off the presses in as many months. The University library possesses a copy of the first variant of the first edition, as well as other early editions.

Since that time edition after edition has been printed and read by young and old of all nations. In the Hubbard collection there are 550 editions in English alone as well as translations in French, made in 1720; Dutch, 1720 and 1722; German, 1721; Italian, 1731; and later editions in Spanish; Polish; Sanscrit; Arabic; Japanese; Persian; Karanese, an east Indian dialect; Eperanto; Welsh; Irish; Javanese; Wendish; Latin; Danish and Swedish, as well as Braille for the blind. Copyrights were largely disregarded in Defoe's day, and piracies of books were quite common. One of the treasures of the collection is the "Amsterdam Coffee House" piracy, rarer than the authorized first edition.

"Robinsonades," or imitations of Robinson Crusoe, appeared early, and in various languages, and a number of these are owned by the University. Perhaps the best known Robinsonade is the "Swiss Family Robinson," a children's classic. Poetical versions of Crusoe's adventures are fairly numerous as are humorous parodies and juvenile adaptations designed to aid in the learning of the three Rs. The story has been pictured in sets of folding cuts, and in modern editions famous illustrators have lavished their art on Crusoe and his man Friday, more widely known today than in the England of Defoe.

CANNING FOOD FOR THE IDLE

Feeding the needy in Dearborn Township will be a much easier and less costly job than it was last winter.

During the past few weeks public spirited women of the community have volunteered their services in canning foodstuffs grown in the township's welfare farm and at the present time there are more than 1,000 cans of vegetables stored in the basement of the township hall at Inkster, where the canning is being done.

This hoard of food will be increased before winter and will be distributed to the needy as the occasion arises.—Dearborn Press.

Asks Washtenaw Grand Jury to Look Into Many Things

Judge George W. Sample, sitting as the one-man grand jury, will continue to hear testimony until a number of investigations have been made, and new inquiries added to the list involve the conduct of state and municipal officials.

Although the grand jury was called for the purpose of determining the connection of Miss Katherine Keller, 25, Ypsilanti, with the quadruple slayings near Willis on the night of August 10, the scope of the grand jury is far-reaching and includes anything that might merit investigation.

A few of the investigations to be made by the grand jury are: Irregularities of the Ann Arbor Common Council in awarding contracts to members of the Council, contrary to the city charter and state law.

Irregularities of the Ypsilanti Common Council in awarding contracts to members of the Council, contrary to the city charter and state law.

Irregularities of the Ann Arbor Board of Education in awarding contracts to members of the board, contrary to state law.

Investigation of a state official who resides in this city on a charge of driving while intoxicated. The case is said to have been "hushed" for a sum of $700 or thereabouts in a settlement with the party whose car was wrecked by the state official.

It is said that these matters have already been placed on the docket of the grand jury and further inquiries begun.

The former administration of the Washtenaw county road commission may be investigated; and irregularities brought to light last spring, resulting in a special session of the board of Supervisors and the subsequent resignation of two members of the commission, may be probed.

FAVORS WORK FOR MEN INSTEAD OF AIDING THE IDLE

That the Plymouth Mail is not the only publication in Wayne county that believes at least a portion of the mill tax should be used to keep men at work instead of stopping the work and placing them on the dole list, is evident from an editorial in Tuesday evening's edition of the Detroit Times.

"Edward X. Hines, America's ablest builder of public highways, makes an eloquent plea to save the Wayne County Road Commission's programme for this year.

"He points out that if construction is stopped 2,000 men, most of them married and all in poor financial circumstances will be thrown out of work. This means 10,000 added people will be forced to live on charity this winter.

"To those who object to the building of more roads in Wayne County, especially at this time, Commissioner Hines points out that the work proposed is practically all in Detroit within the circle bounded by the Outer Drive, and that 90 per cent of the work is a completion of construction already started.

"Mayor Murphy suggests a compromise which should be considered by the Board of Supervisors. He would curtail the work, preserving enough of the programme to keep these 2,000 men at work as long as present conditions exist.

"It would seem to be the greatest folly for the county to throw 2,000 men out of employment and then feed and clothe them either by public or private charity when there is necessary and permanent public work to be done."

Wins Girl In 25 Years

An international romance which began in France a quarter of a century ago ended in Chicago when Dr. J. G. Claverie returned to Chicago with his French bride, Dr. Claverie, an ophthalmologist, met Miss Zella Lambie in France 25 years ago. The couple planned to marry, but the doctor had to return to America to complete his studies. During the war he was seriously wounded in France, and she nursed him. But not until this summer were they married.

"IT'S JUST LIKE USING CITY GAS"

Oh, hello Mary! ... yes indeed, I use Philgas and you have no idea what a joy it is—so clean and fast ... It's so easy to cook with gas, too. The oven heat control on my new range takes all the guess work out of baking, and I can leave the kitchen for hours while a whole meal cooks ... no bother at all about the fuel, ... it's just like using city gas ... I certainly can recommend Philgas because it has been so satisfactory in every way ... One of those pretty ranges will do wonders for the appearance of your kitchen ... the Dealer? ... oh, yes, here's his name and address ... Glad to do it ... See you soon, Mary. Goodbye!"

Like Old English Grilling

—this ELECTROCHEF 20-MINUTE OVEN BREAKFAST!

PREPARE a whole breakfast—A MAN'S BREAKFAST—in the ELECTROCHEF oven within twenty minutes! Muffins, broiled bacon and eggs can all be prepared at the same time, and served together, deliciously hot and appetizing. Enhanced flavor, like old English grilled bacon, results from ELECTROCHEF broiling. The bacon is evenly browned and keeps its shape—it does not shrivel into unmanageable curls. Even the eggs taste better than when fried, thanks to the "flavor conserving" heat of the ELECTROCHEF oven, which does not cook to toughness but cooks thoroughly and gently. Finally, ELECTROCHEF-baked muffins are delightfully flaky and tempting—a treat to top-off any breakfast! Here is a meal after a man's heart—and with the ELECTROCHEF range, it takes only 20 minutes to prepare!

Has Your Kitchen Stove These ELECTROCHEF Features?

1. A clean kitchen, a clean stove—no soot, no fumes.
2. Cool cooking—summer and winter.
3. Full flavor cooking—sealed-in healthful food values.
4. Exact oven control—no baking disappointments.

STATE WILL KEEP OPEN MANY OF ITS NORTHERN PARKS

Thirteen of Michigan's state parks, three in the upper and ten in the lower peninsula, will remain open throughout the coming winter, it was announced by P. J. Hoffmaster, superintendent of state parks.

The parks to remain open are: Munuscong, J. W. Wells, Fort Wilkins, Bay City, Dodge Bros. No. 4 at Cass Lake, Island Lake, J. W. Hayes, Interlochen, Hartwick Pines, Muskegon, Wilderness and Burt Lake.

At these parks a caretaker will be constantly in attendance. All camping facilities will be available. The two weeks' limit on camping permits is now lifted. Mr. Hoffmaster said, and campers may now use the parks for any period within the discretion of the park superintendent.

Ten parks closed September 15. They were: Aloha, Beuzie, Brimley, Cheltenham, Gladwin, Marquette, Charles, Meigs, Palms Book and Silver Lake.

October first eight more parks were closed for the season: Bloomer No. 1, Bloomer No. 3, Dodge No. 4, Dodge No. 5, P. W. Fletcher, Harrisville, William Mitchell and Young.

Sixteen parks, including some of the largest, will close for the season, Thursday, October 15. They are: D. H. Day, Lake City, Orchard Beach, Traverse City, Grand Haven, Holland, Van Buren, White Cloud, Higgins Lake, Huron, Wilson, P. H. Hoef, Magans, Otsego Lake, St. Clair, and the Straits Park.

The Bloomer Park No. 2, Dodge Park No. 2, and Dodge Park No. 8 will remain open until November 1.

While the parks closed this fall will continue open to the public, all sanitary and other facilities will not be available to campers and others and there will be no caretakers in charge.

With more than $50,000 recently released by the State Administrative Board available for improvement work in a large number of the parks, crews of men have already been put at work and improvement work will continue until late in the fall.

OVER $83,000.00 IN TAXES IN WAYNE TO BE COLLECTED

A balance of $83,584.45 is still due on the village taxes, it was reported today by Miss Emma John, village treasurer, who issued a statement to local residents asking their cooperation in making the tax payments as promptly as possible.

The amount of tax monies collected to date is $39,255.31 from the total assessment of $142,839.96.

Miss John's statement follows:

"Your prompt payment of taxes has been greatly appreciated by the village commission, they wish you to know you have assisted in the paying of its obligations; the cooperative spirit seems general in our village, and we are truly happy that it is thus.

"To those who have not paid, we kindly remind you that days are slipping by. The time is right here for the payment to be made. We want to assist you with the burden, if you find it impossible to pay the total at once, arrange payment of the general now within the next few days. The paving assessment may be paid two weeks later.

"In this way you will make it easier for yourself, and also contribute to your village treasury.

"Another plan for those who can pay is to pay the balance due on the paving. We will accept your payment of the balance, and you will make a saving of six per cent interest which is added each year. This would make a profitable investment for your money."

For the convenience of the taxpayers, Miss John is accepting tax payments every day of the week until November 1—Wayne Dispatch.

Starkweather Notes

There are 265 students enrolled in Starkweather school this semester.

Miss C. Stuey has 25 pupils in her class. She has 37 pupils in her class. Patricia, Barbara Johnson, Doris Mertens and Homer Snyder. Betty Blair has transferred to Central School. The children are making free hand cuttings of flowers and illustrating Mother Goose rhymes for seat work. Everyone in the class has learned to count to fifty.

Eilon Snyder from Royal Oak is the new pupil in Miss Stander's room. Last week was the first time the second grade has ever had a record of perfect attendance. The children have learned a poem, "The Milkweed" and are now learning the Pledge to the Flag.

There are three classes in Mrs. Moles' room, three-A, four-B and four-A. They are enjoying the "The Snow" by Mark Twain. The four-A class is studying about the South Atlantic States in geography.

The three-A nature study class is learning about animals that wear fur coats.

The new pupils in Miss Hunt's fifth grade class are Charlotte and Madeline Sabourin and Frances Meligan. The five-B language class is keeping a book of poems. Next week teams will be chosen for a spelling contest to be held each week this semester.

Carroll Howard from Dixon, has entered Miss Larrance's sixth grade class. Leroy Cripe has transferred to Central School, and Jean Durant has been absent this week. Our spelling capitals are Myrtle Brevin and Douglas Eckles. Marguerite Mattinson and Baby West have spelled the room down.

P. H. S. Debaters Open Season

"Wanted—A large-scale squad" was the call issued by debate coach, Mr. Latture, as he opened the debate season for 1932. The response was eight students of whom seven were girls. Although only one member of the 1931 team remains, splendid possibilities are in store for a capable debate team. It is Coach Latture's desire to have as many people as possible compete in interscholastic argumentation.

The question for debate is "Resolved: That Michigan should enact legislation for Compulsory Unemployment Insurance." This question should prove to be a very worthwhile discussion as it is so vitally pertinent during this period of depression and unemployment. Material for reading has been distributed and general discussion of the question has been carried on for the past week. Now the squad is ready to prepare a case for the affirmative and negative sides of the question. Practice debates are to be held with neighboring schools as soon as a team is organized, and then in November, Plymouth will start on its quest which is thirteen points for entrance to the elimination series.

Rocks Tumbled By Dearborn

Although playing good heads-up football, the Plymouth varsity grid team lost 10-0 to the heavy and more experienced Dearborn team. Dearborn held the upper hand throughout the game due to the fact that Plymouth had only four days of practice and was out-weighted about fifteen pounds to a man. Almost all of Plymouth's substitutes saw action, because the regulars had to be replaced on account of injuries.

Donald Bronson was the first victim of the Dearborn troopers while several other regulars were bruised up. Jack Gillis, a promising back, saw action on Plymouth High for the first time; he was one of Plymouth's assets both on offense and defense.

Captain Dudek kicked to Dearborn, and the Rocks were forced back to their 3-yard line, where they made a stand for four downs. Plymouth got the ball but failed to make a first down. Horton kicked out of danger and the Orange and Black again advanced dangerously close to the touch-down. Towards the end of the first quarter Dearborn made the first score of the season. The kick was wide for extra point. Plymouth received the kick on the 30-yard line, and then held Dearborn for the remainder of the first quarter.

The Orange and Black scored again in the second quarter and gained an extra point on a pass across the line. Plymouth then managed to gain two first downs. The half ended with the score: Dearborn 13, Plymouth 0. Plymouth received and for a while made a strong stand against its heavy opponent with Dudek doing most of the ball carrying, and throughout the third quarter Dearborn was unable to cross the goal line.

Beginning the fourth quarter, Coach Matheson was forced to make many substitutes as the lack of practice showed on his players and the bumps and bruises were getting rather serious. Dearborn scored their last touchdown with but three minutes to play and the extra point was unsuccessful. With another week of practice, the Plym-

Central Grade Notes

The formation of a Good Health Habits club has been made by Mrs. Root's first-B pupils, and emphasizes courtesy, truthfulness, kindness, obedience, safety-first and self-control. In nature study they are making pictures and talking about harvest and preservation of fruit. As a reminder to brush their teeth and keep clean, they are learning health poems.

The first-A grade in charge of Miss Mitchell have been talking about Halloween in language class and have made scare-crows and self-control. In nature study they are making pictures and talking about harvest and preservation of fruit. As a reminder to brush their teeth and keep clean, they are learning health poems.

Donald Ostlund has moved to Detroit and is not to be in Miss Dixon's room any longer. Robert Daniels has just enrolled in this third grade room from Wayne, this week.

Mrs. Carlton Lomis called on Miss Weatherhead's room and also in the fifth grade, Tuesday.

Mrs. Holliday had a visitor, Thursday, Mrs. Towle. The five-B pupils of this room have started the study of South America.

The health class in Miss Holt's room made posters this week. They are learning "Boys Song" by James Hogg, in language class.

Lucille Minton from Flint, and Shirley Thatcher from Detroit, have entered the six-A grade. Leroy Cripe, Robert Kisheth and Cynthia Doloney entered this class last week. Betty Barnes and Bruce Richards are the new spelling capitals. Last week this room had one hundred per cent in spelling.

Each Wednesday forenoon, the current events are given. The pupils in this room have made for their border this week, colored leaves and bowls of cosmos.

Betty Johnson's team in Miss Fenner's sixth grade spelling class received a percentage of eighty, while Mary Katherine Moon's got seven-one per cent, making Betty's three points ahead in the total. The fifth graders have made a clock of health in the past week.

In last week's items, it was mentioned that Betty Siefert was a spelling captain instead of Betty Johnson, in the sixth grade.

Report Cards Issued October 21st

Owing to the extra two weeks of suspension of school the first marking period will end October 10 instead of October 9, as formerly planned. This arrangement will give four weeks of actual school work. Report cards, therefore, will be issued Wednesday, October 21.

Two Orchestras Are Organized

The number of members of this year's high school orchestra exceeds last year's number by four people, making a total of twenty-two musicians. Although the orchestra has practiced very little they made their first appearance Tuesday evening. Under the direction of Miss Marguerite Henry, the orchestra played four selections for the installation of officers at the Citizens' Junior Club held at the high school.

A junior orchestra has also been organized. Lester Daly, a post-graduate, assists Miss Henry with the direction. At present the membership is twelve. When the personnel of both orchestras is definite it will be published in the music notes.

Hi-Y To Help Poor

The Hi-Y boys decided to have a relief committee to take care of the Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter baskets. Steve Dudek was elected chairman of this committee, which will also gather shoes and clothes for needy boys. There are several boys who are badly in need of shoes right now, and will be given some as soon as possible. Harlow Wagenschultz was elected Student Council representative.

English 10 Theme

The following theme, submitted in English, grade ten, was considered the best among ninety-three. It is a Hi-Y theme; its aim was to make one see the surroundings and the characters involved.

Editorial

The assignments to a regular staff will be published next week. The following are at present members: Jack Wilcox, Darold Cline, Miriam Joffe, Bruce Miller, Persis Fogarty, Betty Snell, Beulah Wagenschultz, Elizabeth Currie, Zephora Blunk, Freda Kilzore, Alice Chalmers, Steve Dudek, Frank Allison, Ernest Archer and Kathleen Gray.

The Wedding Rehearsed By Sr. Drama Club

Once again the wheels of drama begin to turn around the school year as the Senior Drama club rehearse a one-act mystery farce called "The Wedding." There are twenty characters in the play; thus nine-tenths of the club participate. This production resembles a musical comedy to some extent. The situation is a mysterious one for on the day of the bride's wedding her diamond engagement ring disappears. At the close of the play the bride has a fainting room. This portion of the drama has been added to the original by the club members.

Wednesday, "The Wedding" was presented to the high school assembly. The cast has also consented to give it at the Presbyterian church some time this month.

Raring To Go

The following officers were installed in the installation of officers of the Torch Club: President—Deward Taylor; Vice-Pres.—Warren Bassett; Secretary—Marvin Schmidt; Treasurer—Oscar Lutermoser. Although there is a depression in our present economic situation we find it is not so in the number of boys wanting to join the Torch Club.

About twenty boys who belonged last year attended the first meeting held last Friday, and an exceedingly larger number wanted to join. The boys have got a good start and it looks as if this year would be a success. The new president discussed the program for the year and the general aim of the club at the first meeting.

Hi-Y To Help Poor

The Hi-Y boys decided to have a relief committee to take care of the Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter baskets. Steve Dudek was elected chairman of this committee, which will also gather shoes and clothes for needy boys. There are several boys who are badly in need of shoes right now, and will be given some as soon as possible. Harlow Wagenschultz was elected Student Council representative.

Last week Mr. Dykhous gave a very interesting talk on his trip through Canada and New York. There are about fourteen new members who will be initiated into Hi-Y this Friday.

Plymouth's Second Team Football Squad

Plymouth high school's second team football squad is made up of light material, which promises in a year or so to develop into a very good football team. It is made up mainly of twenty-five freshmen and sophomores. In a few days it will practice on the signals. All of the players understand the game, and they will learn the plays and signals very rapidly. The practice that the coaches have been putting the players through during the first three weeks of school has improved their playing ability a great deal.

Central Grade Notes

The formation of a Good Health Habits club has been made by Mrs. Root's first-B pupils, and emphasizes courtesy, truthfulness, kindness, obedience, safety-first and self-control. In nature study they are making pictures and talking about harvest and preservation of fruit. As a reminder to brush their teeth and keep clean, they are learning health poems.

The first-A grade in charge of Miss Mitchell have been talking about Halloween in language class and have made scare-crows and self-control. In nature study they are making pictures and talking about harvest and preservation of fruit. As a reminder to brush their teeth and keep clean, they are learning health poems.

Donald Ostlund has moved to Detroit and is not to be in Miss Dixon's room any longer. Robert Daniels has just enrolled in this third grade room from Wayne, this week.

Mrs. Carlton Lomis called on Miss Weatherhead's room and also in the fifth grade, Tuesday.

Mrs. Holliday had a visitor, Thursday, Mrs. Towle. The five-B pupils of this room have started the study of South America.

EDWIN J. TOWLE OUT FOR PLACE ON FRESHMAN SQUAD

Edwin J. Towle of Plymouth, was one of the eighty-six yearlings to report for the first workout of the Michigan State freshmen football squad this week. According to Coach John Kuhn, Towle is considered to be excellent gridiron material.

The fresh grid aspirant is reporting for practice five days a week, and will probably appear in the line-up when the Spartans play the Michigan State Normal freshmen at East Lansing, October 24, in the first game of the season.

Other games on the schedule include the University of Detroit freshmen at East Lansing, October 31, and the Western State freshmen at Kalamazoo, November 13.

In a last desperate effort to get help, the needy in America might make a noise like Armenians.

NEWBURG

There were 81 in Sunday-school last Sabbath. The Junior Department is putting on a concert to see how many will be present promptly at 11:30 a. m. when the school opens. They have two classes in the basement and are doing fine.

A very pleasant event occurred Monday evening, when about sixty neighbors and friends of the church and Sunday-school walked in at the personage, much to the surprise of Rev. and Mrs. Purdy. Mrs. Purdy remarked it was the first time she was really surprised. A musical program, readings and games featured the evening. The ladies served fruit punch and cake.

The Queen Esther Girls are collecting for the Bronson Hospital and Chelsea Home this week. Newton Yonnes and sisters, Anna and Ada, spent the week-end with their aunt, Kate Yonnes, at Kingston.

After an extended visit among relatives and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Horton returned home last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. William Smith and Mrs. C. E. Ryder, called on Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Schroeder at Cass Lake, Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Joy motored to Toledo, Sunday; also called on Mr. and Mrs. C. Leonard and family at Lake Orion.

Rev. and Mrs. Frank Purdy and Mrs. Jesse Thomas attended a meeting of the Ann Arbor District at Benton, Tuesday afternoon and evening.

After which I decided to leave and give my table and obliging study to another victim of the Empress Eugenie hats.

Money to Burn

By Peter B. Kyne

Hands up, Charley, my boy! Don't pull the gun—please. There, that's easy so much more sensible.

"I told you, Charley, that if I heard one little peep out of you I'd knock you for a double loop."

"What's wrong with the company?" "His police record is over there on the whatnot. Wait a look at it? Perhaps you'd like to verify his photograph with the original and check up on his Bertillon measurements."

"Quit stalling, Mac, and get down to business." Colorado Charley growled testily.

"I admit I went back on my promise to lend Doris or Mae or whatever her name is a thousand dollars, but I'm not going back on my promise to you."

There was a suppressed scream, the sound of shuffling feet, the crash of furniture—silence! Nellie trembled violently and turned a white, pitiful face to Detective Sergeant Fahey who laid his great paw on her little brown hand.

"Can the kid go some?" he demanded fiercely. "Maybe I'd better pop out an ear see if Colorado Charley has done for him with a knife. He always carries one."

"Elmer can whip his weight in wildcats," Nellie faltered bravely. "He's spollin' everything for us, Detective Sergeant Lipowsky complained bitterly. "He don't run true to form. We figured he'd wilt; figured they'd scare him to death and get all the cash he has on hand and a promissory note for the balance, when we could not get for blackmail. As it is he ain't give them a chance to make their proposition, so what've we got to hang a case on?"

"He's a bonehead," Detective Sergeant Fahey hissed. "He's a hick! But, Lord, how I love him!" he added.

Nellie looked up at him gratefully. "You're a dear," she said simply.

A voice came over the dictograph again. Elmer was speaking. "While dear Charley is wandering in dreamland, Doris, suppose you spill your bad news."

"My dear Elmer," the girl replied in dulcet tones. "We didn't come here to spill any bad news. All we wanted was an explanation of your curious and embarrassing action in ordering payment stopped on your check."

"I haven't—but I have hopes. The unknown friend who sent me the information on Charley may develop additional interest and send me news of you."

"You seem to forget that I am your fiancée." "You're right—I do. I never was your fiancée. I never asked you to marry me."

"Well, you certainly gave me the impression that we were engaged. The letters you wrote me will be rather hard to explain, and I'm here to tell you that no small—how can I put it—the way you've treated me and get away with it."

"Oh, I expected to be blackmailed under threat of a suit of breach of promise!" "Blackmail? I have said nothing about blackmail. I am not here to threaten you Elmer. I came up to talk the situation over sensibly."

"That isn't possible. I'm one of those fellows who will not be blackmailed, cajoled, threatened or persuaded. I know what you have in mind and a rose by any other name would smell as sweet. Hello, Charley, did the little birdies sing sweetly to you while you were out? Pick yourself up off the floor, you swine, and betake yourself and your partner out of here. On your way, both of you."

"Come, Harvey," Doris urged complacently. "I will ask Mr. Clarke to explain to me at a more appropriate time—say in the midst of his campaign for mayor. You dirty skunk," she added, her fury gaining control at last. "I'll make you feel as ridiculous as you've made me feel. That much at least I can do, and you watch be do it. I didn't come here to blackmail you, but—"

"Yes, yes, I know my letters to you will look silly in the public prints, but I'll be shot if I'll buy them back," said Elmer Clarke.

refresh your memory and induce a change of mind on your part, little boy friend." "How much do you want for them?" Elmer demanded.

"Ah-bah! So you are interested, aren't you? Well, Elmer, those letters will cost you tonight exactly five thousand dollars in cash, and a promissory note for one hundred thousand secured by an assignment of interest for a term of ten years in your Uncle Hiram's estate. You come to Los Angeles and my lawyer will arrange the details."

"But this is blackmail," Elmer protested. "I dislike the word. Call it heart balm," the girl corrected him. "You can give me your check for the five thousand now. I'll take a chance on your not stopping payment this time."

"I am a high-priced writing man, am I not?" Elmer retorted good-naturedly. "Doris, dear one, I didn't have the slightest idea of capitulating. I merely had a curiosity to know what new you'd ask. Now that I know it, I'm no longer interested. Really, I wouldn't give you a cancelled postage stamp for all those letters. Get out, and many thanks to you for the extremely cheap education you've lavished on me. You've made an ass of myself over Doris, and you'll be the last. The next sweetheart I have is going Don't linger. Night-night!"

There was the sound of a door closing. Silence.

CHAPTER XII Out in the garage Detective Sergeants Fahey and Lipowsky exchanged glances. "I thought the boy was going to spill the beans on us, Lippy," Fahey declared, "but at the finish he sure came through noble."

"No, thanks to him," growled Lipowsky. "He was just kiddin' them. Well, we've got enough on them to make the pinch as soon as they get back to Los Angeles. No use botherin' ourselves with them now. They got return tickets."

"Women ain't got no sense!" Fahey declared. "Get 'em mad an' they'll tell everything they know—present company excepted," he added gallantly. "I don't suppose you're going to tell Elmer all you know, are you?"

"Indeed not! That would only embarrass him." Lipowsky winked at Fahey. "Don't you think Elmer awfully courageous?" Nellie pleaded.

"I dunno whether he's courageous or crazy or a plain boob, but whatever makes him go the way he does, I'm for him. Well, guess our job's done—all except gettin' that dictograph out of the house."

"It's Jasper's day tomorrow," Nellie informed him. "I'll make Elmer take me to luncheon and then you can run over and get the dictograph. If I were you I'd wind up the wire as far as the back of the house tonight; otherwise Elmer might find it in the morning. You can coil it and conceal it in the grass."

Fahey winked at Lipowsky. "Meanwhile," Nellie continued, "I'm going home. I'll send Captain Fitzgerald a copy of the transcript of my notes tomorrow. Why do you not arrest those wretches tonight?"

"We're out of our own jurisdiction. Of course we can make the pinch if you want us to, but we'll have to call in the local dicks, and then the news would be all over town in the morning. Better let us handle these birds in Los Angeles. We might get their shyster lawyer, too."

"Go to the head of the class, Mr. Fahey. Thank you very much. Good night." She slipped noiselessly out of the door into Hazel drive. On that street, midway between C and B streets, she could see a man and a woman, the man struggling along under the burden of a suitcase and a bag. So Nellie crossed to the other side of Hazel drive, in order to place distance between herself and Elmer should he chance to be standing on his front porch, and hurried away in pursuit of the couple. She watched them turn in at the principal garage.

"Going to hire a car and go on to San Jose for the night," she thought. "I'll find out." She followed boldly into the garage, not thirty feet behind them, and stood listening to Colorado Charley bargaining with the night manager for a closed car to take himself and wife to San Jose. When they started a few minutes later Nellie Cathcart hired another closed car and followed. At a third-rate San Jose hotel—which was, however, a first-class hotel in comparison with the Palace hotel in Philadelphia—Colorado Charley and his companion registered as Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Skidmore of Los Angeles, and retired for the night.

Nellie immediately returned to Tully home at one o'clock a. m. She did not go to bed immediately, however, but took down the telephone receiver and called for Mr. Fahey at the Palace hotel.

The detective got out of bed and came downstairs to the telephone booth. "Fahey talkin'?" "This is your female accomplice, Mr. Fahey. Please forgive me for getting you out of bed, but I have news of importance to communicate. I followed those people. They hired a car at the Main Street garage and Charley told Mr. Bass, the night manager, that he wanted to hire it for himself and his wife. Mark that. Himself and his wife. Go right down to see Mr. Bass and remind him that he rented a car tonight to a man and his wife and see that he remembers it so well that he will not be liable to forget it."

"That wife stuff is good!" "Well, that couple are now asleep at the Garden City hotel, in San Jose, and registered as Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Skidmore, of Los Angeles."

of Edward D. Smith, Uretta Smith, Edward H. Burlage and Katharine S. Burlage to have vacated the Plat of Parkside Gardens, a subdivision of part of the West Half (1/2) of the Southeast Quarter (1/4) of Section Twenty-Six (26) in Town 1 South, Range 8 East in the Village of Plymouth.

No. 166649 Upon reading and filing the verified petition of Edward D. Smith, Uretta Smith, Edward H. Burlage and Katharine S. Burlage as proprietors, to have vacated the Plat of Parkside Gardens, a subdivision of part of the West Half (1/2) of the Southeast Quarter (1/4) of Section Twenty-Six (26) in Town One (1) South, Range Eight (8) East in the Village of Plymouth, Wayne County, Michigan; which plat was recorded October 18, 1926 in the office of the Register of Deeds of Wayne County, Michigan in Liber Sixty One (61) of Plats at Page Sixty Six (66); which plat embraces the following described land:—

Beginning at a point in the East line of Mill Street, Six Hundred Eighty Five and Five Tenths (685.5) feet South and South Eighty-Eight Degrees (88°) Fifty Nine Minutes (59') No Seconds (00") East Thirty Three and No Tenths (33.0) feet from the center post of Section Twenty Six (26), Town One (1) South, Range Eight (8) East. Thence continuing South Eighty Eight Degrees and it is further ordered that a copy of this order be posted in each of three of the most public places in the Village of Plymouth, Wayne County, Michigan, at least twenty days prior to the date of hearing aforesaid.

And it is further ordered that a copy of this order be served personally upon the presiding officer of said Village of Plymouth at least twenty days prior to the date of hearing aforesaid.

"You're such a comfort, Mr. Fahey," Nellie cooed. "Of course they won't have any defense, unless they can produce a marriage certificate."

"I know they can't do that, an' if they do, their case against Elmer is a wash-out. It's a wash-out anyway. Well, little partner, we can't very well land 'em for attempted blackmail without draggin' your man into the case, so I guess we'll have to wait till next time, but in the meantime—"

"Yes, yes, go on! You were going fine, Mr. Fahey. You were about to say?" "We'll get them a quick trial in the San Jose police court before they can get bail, find 'em guilty an' send 'em to the county jail for three months."

"Oh, make it six!" Nellie pleaded. "With credit for good behavior they'll be out altogether too soon. It only costs a few dollars to file a suit, and nothing at all for publicity. That woman will do that for revenge as soon as she gets out, no matter what happens to her. Elmer can't afford it."

"Well, seein' as how you ask it, I'll make it six months. That's the limit. Consider it done!" Mr. Fahey had been tryin' cases in the judge's chambers for ten years. That's the only way us dicks can get any justice or recognition. Good night! Sleep tight!"

A week later Nellie Cathcart received by registered mail a small envelope. Upon opening it she discovered it contained a small gold shield bearing the legend: "Honorary Detective Sergeant, Los Angeles Police Department." The shield bore a number also—No. 1!

In fact, that week everybody received something. Colorado Charley and Mae, to their great bewilderment, were given six months in the county jail and blamed Elmer Clarke for it. Mae even wrote him accusing him of it, but bidding him refrain from thinking he was little Jack Horner, since every dog must have his day.

Alas! Mae was counting her chickens before they were hatched, for immediately upon his return to Los Angeles, Detective Sergeant Lipowsky decided to strike a blow for true love. He knew a burglar who was also an expert at opening detritary safes. So he burglarized the office of Colorado Charley's attorney, and presently Elmer Burdett's name was received by an ordinary mail a large fat envelope. It contained his love letters to Mae, anonymous source he received a clipping from a San Jose paper. It contained the story of the arrest and conviction of Joseph Skidmore and his companion, and since the story had been illustrated with pictures, Elmer was no longer in doubt of a very significant fact, to wit: that God had been very good to him, indeed!

Simultaneously, from another clipping from a San Jose paper, it contained the story of the arrest and conviction of Joseph Skidmore and his companion, and since the story had been illustrated with pictures, Elmer was no longer in doubt of a very significant fact, to wit: that God had been very good to him, indeed!

Elmer accepted with alacrity and when he and Nellie found themselves in a booth at the Palace grill he gave her a detailed account of his adventure. Nellie noticed that Elmer did not put himself on the back.

How One Woman Lost 10 lbs. In A Week

Mrs. Betty Luedeke of Dayton, writes: "I am using Kruschen to reduce weight—I lost 10 pounds in one week and cannot say too much to recommend it."

To take off fat easily, safely and quickly take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—an 85 cent bottle lasts 4 weeks—Get it at Community Pharmacy or any drug store in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the easiest, safest and surest way to lose fat—money back.

MRS. CAROLINE SIEITING

Last Friday morning, a little after the hour of four, the Lord in His wise providence called home to Himself in Heaven the soul of a well-loved member of St. Peter's Lutheran church, a faithful member of the Ladies' Aid Society, and a friend of the whole community, Mrs. Caroline Sieting.

She was born in the province of Brandenburg, Germany, on the 11th day of June, of the year 1846. There she received baptism and confirmation into the Lutheran church. In the year 1870 she came to this country, and three years later was joined in holy wedlock, with Adolph Sieting, who preceded her to his eternal rest twelve years ago. For the last two years she has been living in Plymouth. In this short time making friends of all who came in contact with her through her friendly good humor and humility.

She leaves to mourn her passing one son, Frank Sieting, and his wife; two brothers, Charles Helm of Livonia, and Paul Helm of Plymouth, and their wives; her sister, Mrs. Mary Gates, went before her in death but this past August.

85 years, three months and 21 days, also of her days was true the word of Moses: "The day of our years are three score years and ten, or even by reason of strength four score years; yet is their pride but labor and sorrow." And yet her life was not lived in vain, for she had the knowledge of the Redeemer in her heart and fell asleep in peace, placing her faith in Him, who has assured us: "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth, yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors, for their works follow with them."

Interment took place amid a throng of relatives and friends last Sunday afternoon, the services being held at the Schrader Funeral Home and the burial at Riverside. Rev. E. Hoenecke officiated.

PRIZES AWARDED FOR VISITS TO NEW FUNERAL HOME

Six hundred residents of Plymouth were visitors at the new Wilkie Funeral Home, 217 N. Main St., during the week of September 23 to 30, according to Mr. Wilkie.

Numerous guests were heard complimenting the completeness and convenience of the funeral home. The entire lower floor engaged the interest of the visitors, who were impressed with the care and attention bestowed upon every detail of the funeral service rendered by this home.

The Methodist Ladies' Aid Society registered over three hundred visitors during the week; the society was awarded a first prize of $50 in cash. The ladies of the Presbyterian church bettered the 200 mark and received the second prize of $30. The third prize of $20 went to the Rebekah Lodge for a total of 150 guests.

A fourth prize had been offered. No club qualified for this prize and it was divided between the organizations winning second and third prizes.

Judges were J. Hubert, H. Cobb and C. J. Dykhouse. Mr. Dykhouse served in the absence of Harry Robinson.

NUTRITION GROUP HOLDS MEETING

The Plymouth Nutrition Group held the first regular meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. Harry Brown, Monday afternoon, October 5, with sixteen ladies present. After a short business meeting, the leaders, Mrs. Ferguson and Mrs. McLeod, presented the lesson in a very interesting manner. The lesson this month dealt with growth of the body at different times during life, and the control of body weight without injuring health. After the lesson, light refreshments were served. We feel that the group has had a very good start, and hope for a very successful year.
