

BUS SCHEDULE FOR PLYMOUTH

New Time Card Shows Improved Service To This Place From Detroit.

BUSES LEAVE FROM IN FRONT BARLUM TOWER

New Routing Between Plymouth and Downtown—Keep Following Schedule For Future Reference As It Will Help You.

From information turned over to the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce by the Detroit Motor Bus Company it indicates that the bus service to Detroit has been improved by the recent change. There has been no change in connection with the through buses which leave Plymouth at 7:30 a. m. and 4:00 p. m. and which leave Detroit from the Shubert Detroit Theatre at 4:00 and 5:30 p. m. These buses will continue to operate over the old route.

In connection with the transfer buses, the transfer is now made at Division and Michigan. At first thought this might seem like a longer route, but according to the Bus Company, operating on this route will enable them to cut their running time from an hour and thirty minutes to an hour and five minutes.

The transfer buses leave Detroit from the Barlum Tower. These buses are the regular Wayne buses, but are marked "Plymouth Transfer Coach." The transfer either way to Division and Michigan is the only transfer. Schedules follow, showing Plymouth leaving time and Barlum Tower and Shubert Detroit Theatre leaving time and leaving time from the transfer point.

Single Grave Lots Laid Out By Village

In the study recently made by the Village Commission of matters concerning the cemetery it was decided that a single grave section should be provided and sold to persons not owning family lots. The single graves are to sell at $45.00 each, the cost to include the complete funeral set-up, consisting of opening and closing the grave and furnishing the tent, lowering device, decoration and matting runners.

Single grave sections are provided in all modern cemeteries and such lots have been in some demand locally for the past number of years. The old single grave section at the south side of the cemetery has all been utilized and until the new area was provided, it was necessary to divide full sized family lots in order to provide single burial spaces.

The area set aside for the single graves is located along the west side of the road drive in the present developed portion of the cemetery and plans are now being made for improving this entire area. All single grave lots are under perpetual care.

Annual Report to Cover Budget Year

The annual report of the Village will be submitted after April 1, instead of January 1, as in the past. This was decided by the Village Commission after the Manager recommended that the report be made to cover the budget year instead of the calendar year.

A report made on the new basis will show the exact standing of the budget after all charges of the year have been made. Former reports have not been able to give a complete picture of the operating charges for an entire fiscal year, as the calendar ends three months previous to the village fiscal year.

The annual audit will also be printed in full after the first of April, thus giving a complete financial report as prepared by the auditors.

Mr. and Mrs. George Chute were guests of Detroit friends, Saturday evening at dinner and bridge.

Get Your License Plates Now Urges Secretary Moore

Secretary Berg Moore of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce who is in charge of the branch office of the Secretary of State in Plymouth, strongly urges Plymouth residents to get their automobile plates as early as possible to do away with any possible delay a few days before the time expires for issuing licenses.

He states that at present the demand for plates is exceedingly slow and that no one will have to wait in order to get their licenses. It is also requested that car owners bring their titles with them when making application for new 1932 licenses.

Secretary Moore points out that it will not only be of aid to his office but that it will give the state funds badly needed in carrying on its winter road program. Thousands of unemployed men are being given work as the result of this action on the part of the state highway department, and a good portion of this money comes from the automobile fees.

NEED CLOTHING FOR WELFARE

Apparel For Children And Women Is Necessity, State Officials

According to workers on the Plymouth Public Welfare Committee, an urgent need exists for more clothing and shoes. This does not mean that the committee is in any way in need of all kinds of clothing for women and children, especially boys. I cannot emphasize this need too strongly. Since we began this work in the fall, more than 800 articles of clothing have been distributed and 40 pairs of new and reconditioned shoes. This does not include a large amount of children's clothing. I will be at the Village Hall every morning between 9 and 10 o'clock Tuesday and Sunday to receive and distribute clothing. For that matter, articles of wearing apparel can be left here any time during the day. A note off of the Council Chamber has been provided for the purpose.

To date the committee has handled quite a few emergency cases. The committee considers an emergency case as one requiring immediate attention which cannot be had from any other agency. By committee action any member of the committee has full power to act in such matters.

At their last regular meeting held Wednesday evening, January 13, it was decided to hold regular meetings every two weeks on Wednesday evenings. The next meeting is therefore scheduled for 8 p. m. Wednesday, January 20th, at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Woman's Club To Give Luncheon on Jan. 22

On Friday, January 22 at 1:00 p. m., the Woman's club will give a luncheon at the Hotel Mayflower.

Each chairman is asked to secure the names of those in her division who will attend and give them to Mrs. Wm. Baker no later than Wednesday, January 20.

An interesting program is being prepared under the direction of Mrs. Chas. Ball. Those who are assisting Mrs. Ball are Mrs. C. E. Walbridge, Mrs. M. J. Moon, Mrs. Wm. Baker, Mrs. M. J. O'Connell, Mrs. D. G. Brown, Mrs. Luther Peck and Mrs. C. E. Penney. Members are allowed to invite guests.

On Friday, January 8, about fifty ladies of the Woman's club spent a very pleasant afternoon at Greenfield village in Dearborn. The meeting was in charge of Mrs. Mark Chaffee and those assisting her were Mrs. Cass Hough, Mrs. Henry Baker, Mrs. Earl Mastick, Mrs. John Patterson, Mrs. J. L. Johnson, Mrs. James Gallimore, Mrs. C. H. Bennett and Mrs. Wm. Shaw.

Eastern Stars Will Honor Officials

Plymouth chapter, No. 115 of E. S. will honor its Past Matrons, Past Patrons and Life Members at dinner on Tuesday evening, Jan. 19, at 6:30. This will be followed by an excellent entertainment including a play by the P. H. S. dramatic club, music by the boys' quartette and the brass quartette, violin solo, soprano solo, child recitation and two readers. Eastern Star members and their friends are cordially invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Middleton entertained at a family dinner Sunday at their home on Holbrook avenue in honor of the latter's brother, Peter, Gayde. Those present besides Peter were Mr. and Mrs. William Gayde, Mr. and Mrs. Lisle Alexander, Miss Helen Gayde and Miss Clara Wolfe of Detroit.

HIGH AVERAGE ON TAX PAYMENT

Estimates Made Early In The Past Year Prove To Be Correct

In April 1931, when the annual estimates of revenues and expenditures for the Village were being made up, the amount of taxes per head was estimated at 88 per cent of the amount of taxes spread. This percentage would have brought in $67,108.18 in cash for operating expenses and the surplus of expenditures from the budget was made up on this basis.

To date the Village Treasurer has collected in general taxes for 1931 a total of $67,347.73 or exactly $239.55 less than the amount estimated eight months ago. As has been said before in the Mail, the financial condition of Plymouth is very good and the same is due only to the fact that the taxpayers are able to meet their obligations so promptly.

Unless some unforeseen emergency arises between now and April 1, the end of the budget year, there will be an ample balance in all funds which will make possible still greater economies in the future. This is in line with the concerted effort to effect a general tax reduction on property in Plymouth.

Later collections has increased the percentage to a higher figure.

Justice Fees Are Fixed By Officials

The fees allowed to Justices of the Peace were officially established by the Village Commission at the meeting held on January 4. The charter makes no mention of the amount of fees to be paid, but it does therefore no schedule was arranged.

The state laws establish a sum for each day of the Justice in state cases and the schedule as set up by the state was adopted as a maximum to be allowed in village cases. The Justice fee will be made out in the Village Hall and approved as to form by the Village Attorney before the warrant is drawn. This will insure proper drafting of complaints and will make possible better recording of all cases.

The Justice court costs will be assessed against the defendant and paid to the Justice with the fine imposed.

D. AR LUNCHEON ON JANUARY 18

Many Visitors Expected To Be Present For This Special Event

The annual luncheon of the Sarah Ann Cochran chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will be given, Monday, January 18th at 1:00 o'clock at the Louise Mulford Hockess House, corner of Starkweather Ave. and Main St.

The guest of honor who will also give the address of the day will be Mrs. James H. McDonald of Glenview Hills, Ann Arbor, Michigan State Regent. Other regents who will be present at the speaker's table are Mrs. A. N. Goddard of Louise St. Clair chapter, Detroit; Mrs. Edmund Heavens of Fort Boulevard chapter, Detroit; Mrs. A. J. Rousseau of the Sarah Casswell chapter, Ann Arbor; Mrs. Benjamin S. Royce, Ypsilanti chapter, Ypsilanti; Mrs. Glenn H. Hopkin of Aquila Stripes chapter, Dearborn; Mrs. Frank Langston of Ezra Parker chapter, Royal Oak; and Mrs. Fred A. Lundum of Adrian formerly of Plymouth, organizing regent of Sarah Ann Cochran chapter.

Mrs. Dwight T. Randall, regent of this chapter assisted by members of the executive board will twelve the guests, after which all will be seated promptly at 1:00 o'clock.

The executive board of this chapter consisting of the following members will be seated at the table at joining the speaker's table: Mrs. Hattie E. Baker, Mrs. Donald P. Yerkes, Mrs. Walter Nichol, Mrs. Roger Vaughn, Mrs. George Willcox, Mrs. Carl H. Bryan, Miss Bertha Warner, Mrs. R. E. Cooper and Mrs. Carmen Root.

Miss Barbara Horton, Mrs. J. B. Hubert, Mrs. L. B. Warner and Mrs. Roger Vaughn are in charge of the sale of tickets and the music for the program which will follow the luncheon will be furnished by Miss Barbara Horton, vocalist, accompanied by Mrs. M. J. O'Connell at the piano and by Mrs. Robert Shaw, pianist.

At the meeting held December 24th at the home of Mrs. George Wilcox, members brought glasses of jelly for the American Legion hospital at Battle Creek.

Mrs. Dwight T. Randall will be a guest as a visiting regent, at the

Nelson C. Schrader Heads Fair Board; Robinson Honored

Nelson C. Schrader, brother of Fred Schrader and a former resident of Plymouth, was Monday night re-elected president of the Northville-Wayne County Fair Association for the ensuing year without opposition.

Not only was Mr. Schrader again named to the position he has filled so well for the past seven years, but Harry C. Robinson, another Plymouth resident, was elected a member of the board of directors of the association. Mr. Robinson has for many years started the annual Michigan State College which outlines the subject-matter for these meetings says that grandparents in the local study groups will be a great help to young parents who need the knowledge of their experience as well as scientific information.

The local meetings are open to all parents and others who are interested in children. Get in touch with the local leaders of your community for the date of their meeting.

The leader meetings for leaders are to be held in the County as follows:

Wednesday, January 20—Plymouth High school, 10:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m.
Thursday, January 21—Belleville High school, 10:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m.
Friday, January 22—Dearborn Library—10:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m.

ANNUAL MEETINGS OF PLYMOUTH BANKS; OFFICERS RE-NAMED

EXCELLENT CONDITION OF BANKS REFLECTED IN ANNUAL REPORTS

Plymouth's two excellent banks which have gone steadily forward during one of the country's most trying times, this week held their annual elections and made plans for the ensuing year.

Charles A. Fisher was re-named president of the Plymouth United Savings bank and John P. Hubert was re-named president of the First National bank.

Roy A. Fisher was advanced to the position of assistant vice president of the Plymouth United, H. A. Gebhardt was made an assistant cashier and Lyle H. Alexander elected assistant cashier and branch manager, filling the place made vacant last fall by the sudden death of Frank J. Pierce.

The complete list of officers of the Plymouth United Savings bank follows:

C. A. Fisher, President.
J. W. Henderson, Vice President.
C. G. Bell, Vice President.
E. K. Bennett, Cashier.
R. A. Fisher, Asst. Vice President.
H. A. Gebhardt, Asst. Cashier.
L. H. Alexander, Asst. Cashier and branch manager.

The directors are: C. H. Bennett, E. K. Bennett, C. A. Fisher, L. W. Goodenough, Edward Gayde, E. O. Hough, J. W. Henderson, E. O. Huston, C. M. Mather, F. D. Schrader, P. W. Voorhes.

The stockholders of the First National Bank held their annual election Tuesday, January 12, in the offices of the bank. Nine directors were chosen as follows: J. L. Olmeyer, Arthur E. Blunk, Russell A. Rice, J. E. Hubert, Frank Rambo, J. H. Patterson, C. L. Finlay, George H. Robinson and Floyd A. Kehr.

At an organization of the new board of directors held Wednesday evening, January 13, the following officers were elected:

Geo. H. Robinson, Chairman of the Board.
John E. Hubert, President.
Charles L. Finlay, Vice President.
Frank Rambo, Vice President.
Floyd A. Kehr, Cashier.
Jack E. Taylor, Assistant Cashier.

The conservative and excellent judgment of the officials of the two banks is responsible for the strong position they occupy today.

Did You Know That

The W. C. T. U. have invited the members of the Woman's club to join them in a meeting at the Methodist church on Sun. evening, Jan. 17, at 7:30 o'clock. Hon. Fred Walker, United States District Attorney, will be the speaker for the evening.

A joint meeting of the American Legion and Ladies Auxiliary will be held in the Oddfellows hall this Friday evening at 7:30. Following the meeting, a social hour will be enjoyed, with refreshments and games.

Eastern Star bake sale, Saturday, January 16, at Stever's Market.

Grandparents and Modern Children Meeting Subject

It is a real art to be a good grandparent or grandchild in this rapidly changing world. But all grandmothers are striving to keep up-to-date. The local meetings on the problems of childhood that Miss Emma Dubord, our Home Demonstration Agent has planned is open to grandparents as well as parents. Mrs. Lydia Ann Lynde, State Specialist in Child Care and Training from Michigan State College who outlines the subject-matter for these meetings says that grandparents in the local study groups will be a great help to young parents who need the knowledge of their experience as well as scientific information.

The local meetings are open to all parents and others who are interested in children. Get in touch with the local leaders of your community for the date of their meeting.

The leader meetings for leaders are to be held in the County as follows:

Wednesday, January 20—Plymouth High school, 10:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m.
Thursday, January 21—Belleville High school, 10:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m.
Friday, January 22—Dearborn Library—10:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m.

STORE ROBBED BY YOUNG MEN

Daring Robbery Sunday Night On Northville Road At Waterford

While dozens of machines whizzed by, three daring young robbers, Sunday night held up the King store and gas station at Waterford, located on the southeast corner of six mile and the Plymouth-Northville roads. They secured something like $20 in cash but made no effort to remove anything else from the store.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen W. King were in the store alone at the time of the robbery, sitting in chairs in front of the counter and watching the traffic on the paved highway.

Suddenly they saw a young fellow about 20 years of age, well dressed, walk towards the store entrance from the north side of the platform of the store.

As he entered the store, Mrs. King started to get up. "Sit down before you get hurt," and the youthful bandit pointed an automatic pistol at the two as he gave his order.

He had left the door open as he came in. Then he called to two companions on the outside. "Come on in, it's alright now." The three other young men with coat collars turned high and hats pulled low over their faces, then came in to the store from the same direction.

One stood in the doorway with another pistol in his hand. The first robber to enter the store asked Mr. King where the cash till was.

The second one to enter the store walked back of the counter and took all the money there was in the till. The three then backed out of the store and apparently walked leisurely to their car which was parked on the north side of the Six mile road headed west. When they left the store, they drove directly west, but neither of the victims were able to get a description of the car.

Both Mr. and Mrs. King thought by the actions of two of the robbers and their care in hiding their faces that they must be some one known to them. The first one to enter the store made no effort to cover his face. At no time were they able to get a look at the faces of the two, although they wore no masks. The victims think that the young bandits must be the same ones who have been committing robberies around Plymouth and Northville for the past six or eight weeks.

LET CONTRACT FOR UNDERPASS

Construction work on the new grade separation under the Pere Marquette Railway tracks just north of the river entrance to the Plymouth-Riverside park will start next week, the company having awarded the contract for the work to the Jutton-Kelley Company, general railway contractors, of Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

This underpass will provide a connecting roadway from the Riverside park and Plymouth road to the parkway that leads along the north side of Plymouth through the Rouge river valley to the U. S. fish hatchery in Northville.

Officials of the construction company have advised Secretary Berg Moore of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce that local labor will be employed on the job as far as possible. For the present the need will be limited, it is stated, as there is considerable preliminary work to be done before actual construction of the grade separation can be started. It will probably be about March first before a full force of men will be needed.

This improvement is a part of the great parkway system that is being built throughout western Wayne county. Workmen have been busy during the past few days making a fill west of the new bridge that was constructed last fall just west of the Northville-Plymouth road. If weather conditions permit they will be employed during most of the winter in preparing the grade for the paving that will be laid during the early summer.

There is another bridge under construction at the present time over Rouge river just south of the fair grounds in Northville. It is expected that it will be finished within another month.

The grade separation that will be started on the outskirts of Plymouth next week will cost something like $90,000. It will provide Plymouth with its first grade separation under the Pere Marquette and will carry much of the northbound traffic from the western side of Detroit.

Schrader Picks Flowers From His Garden In January

No longer is it necessary to go to Florida or California to pick flowers in January.

Wednesday morning Fred Schrader walked out in his garden to see how the bulbs and plants were standing the mild winter only to discover that his pansy garden was in full bloom.

He picked a big bouquet and brought them to his store where dozens were amazed to see such perfectly formed flowers.

But picking flowers is not the only unusual thing that is happening this mild winter.

A number of farmers in this section are now planting their fields and preparing the ground for spring crops.

No matter what the weather might be for the remainder of the year, the continued mild weather of many weeks and the lack of snow and ice will make the cold spell seem a short one at the best. It is one of those things that comes once in a great while, but is thoroughly enjoyed when it does come.

SCOUT RALLY TO BE HELD HERE

Parents And Friends Invited To See Drill In High Auditorium

Scout Commissioner, William Holston, has called a Boy Scout Competitive Rally, Thursday night, January 28, at the High School auditorium in Plymouth.

The Plymouth District comprises the Scout Troops of Northville, Rosedale Gardens, Wayne County Training School, Nowburg, and Plymouth.

The rally will be particularly interesting to the parents and friends of the Scouts to see them in competition, troop by troop, such things as knot tying, first aid, fire by friction, bandaging, etc. The District Scout Troops, of course, will do their best to win honors for Plymouth, and will be loyally supported by their parents and friends at the demonstration. The rally will be one of those occasions at which everybody present has a splendid time from the youngest Scout to the oldest friend.

U. S. ATTORNEY TO GIVE ADDRESS SUNDAY EVENING

Fred Walker, assistant United States district attorney will be the speaker at a Victory Rally to be held Sunday evening, January 7, in the Methodist church. The rally will be under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. Other churches and local organizations are invited to be present and a large attendance will be a large attendance.

This meeting is in commemoration of the passage of the Eighteenth Amendment which occurred twelve years ago.

FIRE THREATENS BIG HEIDE GREENHOUSES

Plants Feared Damaged Are Not Hurt—Repairs Being Made

Fire which at first was believed to be of more serious results than later developed for a time Monday morning threatened to destroy the Carl Heide greenhouses on the north side of town. The flames gained such quick headway that for a few minutes it was feared the entire structure would be destroyed as well as the hundreds of thousands of plants that were being grown.

Quick work on the part of the fire department confined the flames to the boiler room and adjoining office and packing room.

Mr. Heide suffered bad burns on his right hand in attempting to extinguish the flames before the fire department arrived.

He was saved by his desk when a sudden explosion in the adjoining boiler room sent flames shooting in every direction. He turned in the fire alarm and then ran to a hose used in wetting plants in one of the greenhouses. As he played this stream of water on the fire, he burned his hand, but not until a day or so later did he realize that it was so serious.

After the fire it was discovered that none of the plants in the greenhouses had been damaged and weather conditions have been most favorable. The repairs were being made to the damaged buildings. How the fire started is not known. Earlier in the morning workmen had put out a small blaze in the boiler room.

Other plant growers were quick to come to the assistance of Mr. Heide, all of them offering him use of their greenhouses and equipment pending repairs to his own.

TWO VILLAGES PLAN CHANGE

Wayne And Berkley To Vote On City Form Of Government At Spring Election.

HOPE TO MAKE CUT IN TAXES BY THIS ACTION

Petitions Have Been Filed With Clerks In Both Places Which Provide For Placing Of Question On Ballot.

Two Wayne county villages in an effort to reduce their taxation and to gain larger representation on the village board of supervisors, have decided to submit to the voters of their communities the question of adopting the city form of government. The villages of Wayne and Berkley, which have both been hit hard as the result of present business conditions, are the two where this question will come before the voters at the spring election.

The following is taken from the Wayne Dispatch:

Wayne voters will be asked to vote on a referendum changing the municipal government of the village to a city form of administration at the next general election to be held in the village in March. This became a certainty this week when petitions containing the names of more than five percent of the residents to make it legal were filed with the village clerk Monday.

The city form of government has just with the approval of the majority of residents. It was said, since assurance has been received from the Board of Supervisors of Wayne County that the library now maintained by them would, in all probability, remain here retaining the same status as heretofore, probably the village changed to a city charter.

The several prominent residents and business men who advocate the change claim that residents will save considerably in taxes since the slight increased expenses of maintaining a city form of government will be exceeded by small economies to the savings that will be effected through the township taxes. Residents living within the boundaries of a city cannot be taxed by the township.

The form of government that is planned for Wayne should the referendum be passed will carry over to the polls in March is the commission form of five members elected at large from the city. The five elected members will elect their own president and name the department heads.

Advocates of the city plan have taken into consideration the possibility of adding revenue to the municipality through the various departments that have not been

WORK TO BE DONE

The automobile in recent years has become America's greatest transportation method. The vast majority of people who go anywhere now travel in automobiles made in Detroit. Development of highways necessarily followed the advent of automobiles but unfortunately the completion of great transcontinental thoroughfares has been unfortunately neglected. This condition is due to the fact that the federal government has been of little aid in encouraging the building of great trunk line roads. For years the construction of the Lincoln highway, the old Spanish trails highway, and Santa Fe highway has been urged. In spite of the fact that hundreds of thousands of auto drivers cross the continent every year, leaving gas taxes in every state they enter, there is not ONE paved highway entirely across America. This is due entirely to the failure of the federal highway department to do the things it should. It has granted "federal aid" to roads that run nowhere and end nowhere, but it has NOT encouraged the completion of one or more paved highways across the continent. Wouldn't this be an ideal time for congress to step into the situation and see to it that three or four paved roads running from the Atlantic to the Pacific are paved entirely across America? It would provide needed employment for hundreds of thousands of men and it would remedy a situation that has long been neglected by the government.

TAKING WIND OUT OF OUR SAILS

Lester Green, New York fruit farmer, drives to Brooklyn with 10 barrels of apples with his horse and buggy. Unable to sell for a good cash price, he starts trading. After swapping apples for flour, flour for meats, etc., he drives home in a Model T Ford, with food for dinner, a coat for his wife, a pipe, a pound of tobacco, five gallons of gasoline and 50 cents in cash.

Some horse trader?

He must have been. But at the same time, if his feat is possible, it is something of a blow to a lot of our proud ideas about the perfection of our currency and commerce systems. Dropping back a few thousand years in our progress along these lines doesn't seem to be much of a fall.

RIGHT OF FREE CRITICISM

The right to discuss public questions freely and to express vigorous criticism of public officials and their acts has been sustained again by a notable judicial decision. The Supreme court of Wisconsin, in the case of a libel suit brought by the highway commissioner of Jefferson county against the Jefferson County Union, has held that the newspaper's stinging criticism of the official was actuated by concern for the public welfare. It held, also, that doubt in such cases should be resolved in favor of free criticism and discussion.

In editorial comment in which the commissioner was referred to as a "killer," he was charged with being derelict in duty because he had permitted the existence of roadside ditches, which were described as death traps. The severe epithet applied to him was clearly rhetorical, and designed, in the court's opinion, to arouse the public to action.

Unrestrained abuse of public officials is never to be commended, but there are occasions when utterance must be made in terms that will bite into the dormant public consciousness if the public interest is to be served. If that has been so interpreted as to deter outspoken criticism, the public weal must suffer. It is better to err on the side of liberty than, by strict construction, to induce timidly and critical impotence. Democracy would degenerate into a condition of bureaucratic domination were it not for free exercise of the right to criticize its officials and their acts.

WE WILL BE FLYING SOON

It won't be long now before a lot of us will be having our own airplanes and flying them with the same assurance, and maybe a bit cheaper, than we now drive our own automobiles. The price for the new light plane set out by one of the world-famous plane builders is just on a level with the first-class medium priced motor car. It will cruise at approximately 25 miles to the gallon of gasoline, which is better than the automobile will do. This new plane, selling at less than $1500, will be able to land at 28 miles per hour, will take off with one passenger in four seconds and with two passengers in six seconds. All that remains is for our nation to have a sufficient number of landing fields, and the day of the private plane will be at hand. We do not mean the private plane for a comparatively few venture-some souls, but for even the timid. One of the big advantages of this private flying will be that a pilot may come down when conditions threaten and will have no official schedule to follow, through thick and thin, rain, snow and windstorm.

FORGET HIM

News dispatches say that Babe Ruth is not willing to take a pay cut during the coming year. He says he is going to get $50,000 or he will not play. The owners of ball clubs of the big leagues should see to it that he does not play. Babe Ruth has been a popular player, there is no question about that, but when he insists on taking the extra nickles and dimes out of the pockets of baseball fans in times like these to make up his tremendously big salary, it is about time they relegate him to the sidelines for good. In fact that is what should be done with every person who is not willing to take his share in the losses that have been experienced by every business concern in America.

DOWN TO BUSINESS

It is pleasing to note that during the past two or three weeks there is a tendency over the country for every one to settle down to business. The hectic conditions that marred the last few weeks of the old year have been replaced by more sober action on the part of people and seemingly every one has come to realize that we have all got to settle down to work and devote less time to talking about our affairs. In trying to do something there is surely some good that will come from it. If we don't try, of course there can be no improvement in anything.

Two or three weeks ago a speaker at a meeting of the Rotary club suggested that about the only effective way to stop public officials from getting big salaries and from spending in needless ways was for taxpayers not to give them any more to spend. He hinted that a general strike on the part of all taxpayers might be the only means to make some cities and states realize that the time had come to do a little real saving. His suggestion is a drastic one, but needless to say it would be an effective one.

You and I

CHARLES S. KINNISON

REGARDING PROUD PAPAS

I have a boy of whom I'm proud—
 But yet I would not talk out loud
 And tell how wonderful he is—
 Despite the brain that might be his.
 He might be all a boy should be
 (At least he might seem so to me)
 But if, to you, I boast his score,
 I only make myself a bore.

But I know one who'll listen well
 To all the good things I can tell
 About my kids—and smile with joy
 To hear me boast my girl and boy,
 Believing everything I say,
 And does not think that I'm a Jay.
 With all I say she'll well agree—
 And that's their Grandma—yes, air-ee!

What Other Michigan Editors Are Thinking About

SICILY HANDLES 'EM

After being terrorized for 500 years, Sicily at last has crushed the Mafia, the world's greatest criminal society. Every citizen even poor peasants, had to pay protection money to it, or be taken for a carter ride. Today, more than 1000 of its leaders are in jail serving long term sentences.

If it can be done in Sicily, why can't it be done in Chicago, Detroit, or any other community?—Robert Gifford in The Eaton Rapids Journal.

RIGHTO, GEORGE

If you're a home town knocker, now is the time to flip over a new leaf and quit biting the hand that feeds you.—George Neal in The Orion Review.

ONE REAL STATE OFFICIAL

Frank D. Fitzgerald is to be complimented on his losing fight to halt the building of a new barracks, costing $100,000, for the state police. The governor insisted on the completion of the project on the theory the barracks had to do with his campaign against crime. If the writer were a member of the administrative board we would vote to abolish the police, although we voted as a member of the state senate, for the measure when it was first proposed, back in the Sleeper administration, as a war measure. So long as we shall continue to have police units by counties, the state police are unnecessary. We would favor, however, abolishing county sheriff organizations and having all the police work done by a non-political, civil service, state wide organization with a resident officer in each county and this officer changed to a new location every six months. Such a plan would, in our opinion, give us better and cheaper law enforcement.—Mert DeFoe in The Charlotte Republican.

BACK TO ARMS!

A Montcalm county farmer offers a reward of $25 for information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of the lowdowns who recently burgled his hencoop with disastrous results. Which sounds strange coming as it does from a section where only a few years ago they had a habit of lying in wait for henhouse thieves and shooting 'em dead with buckshot. Must be the boys on the back-fence are losing their nerve.—Fred Kolster in The Ionia County News.

RICHES TO RAGS

When the papers announced the other day that a man named Leo Melanowski was living in the home of the Little Sisters of the Poor in a middle west city, it didn't sound especially interesting—unless you read on and learned about the man's background.

For Melanowski was one of the big men in the early days of the automobile industry. Three decades ago he was considered probably the best automotive engineer in the country. As a matter of fact, some men still feel that way about him.

At one time Henry Ford asked him for a job. He guided the early development of the motor industry; he once held five shares of Ford stock, which, if he had held on to it, would have netted him more than a million and a half in cash in 1919.

But today he lives in the home of the Little Sisters of the Poor; and the whole story emphasizes the prodigal way in which business, like life in general, uses hu-

QUESTION DIVINE GUIDANCE

In spite of the fact that a lot of Michigan newspapers have questioned the Divine guidance of Lieut. Gov. Dickinson in the naming of the taxation committee of the Senate, we still believe it is possible that Mr. Dickinson was so guided. Editor Verne Brown, of Mason, presents a strong argument against the Divine guidance claimed by the Lieutenant Governor; Fred Kelster in the Ionia News says the Lord must have misused his (Dickinson's) prayers; and others have made some very sarcastic remarks. Now gentlemen, while the taxation committee of the Senate may not have been all that you desired, but if possible, that, after looking the Senate over, Mr. Dickinson really was Divinely guided in his selection? Think what the committee might have been without such guidance.—Wm. Berkeley in the Cassopolis Vigilant.

A Prayer

Just now, our blessed Heavenly Father, we would be lifted up above the lower range of our faculties and meditate for this moment in the realm of the invisible. There are many gods—gods of cruelty, gods of law, gods of equity—but what we need is the God of Divine Fatherhood, with patience, forbearance, and forgiveness. We praise Thee that Thou art our Lord and our God, and Thou wilt sustain us when we falter, and even catch us when we fall. In this most baffling world, through its difficult ways of human adventure, we bless Thee for the assurance of our most holy faith. Welcome discordances, for they are the background of the sweet melody of the heavenly life. Welcome the crash of circumstances, for it drives us to the altar of dependence. Welcome infirmities, for they are the loosening of the cords of our earthly tabernacle. Welcome troubles, for they tell us that we are crossing the sea, and just ahead is the crown set in the sunburst of eternal glory. O God, lead us to where the farthest beacon beckons.

THE EARTH A STAR

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

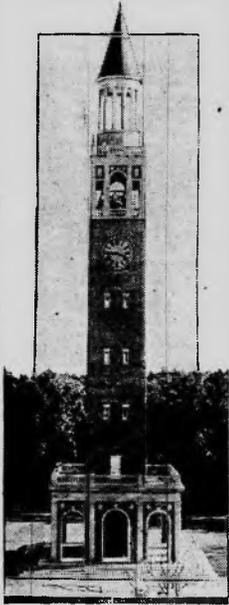

A T CHRISTMAS time we set a lamp
Upon the window sill,
That others in the dark and damp,
The loneliness and chill,
May find a little brighter way
That leads to their own Christmas day.

And all the lamps in all the town,
In all the towns there are,
I think, when Christ Himself looks down,
Must seem like some new star—
Yes, this old earth, so dark, so dim,
Has made itself a star to Him.

Oh, how a single candle seems
To twinkle joy and mirth,
And what a face that kindness beams
Can do to this old earth!
I'm sure, when that's the way we are,
We really make the earth a star!

This is the Morehead-Patterson Bell tower, the $100,000 gift of John Motley Morehead III, American minister to Sweden, and Rufus Lenor Patterson, prominent New York tobacco manufacturer, which was formally presented to the University of North Carolina recently. The tower was dedicated as a memorial to the Morehead and Patterson families who have been distinguished in the history of North Carolina. It is 172 feet high and has 12 chimneys.

NUTTY NATURAL HISTORY

BY HUGH HUTTON

THE TURKESTAN ZOO
The peculiar walking motion of this creature, resembling that of a measuring worm, saved the construction of the trans-Siberian railroad from utter failure when the cold weather froze the Russian yardsticks so hard that they could not measure up the curved sections of the track. A pair of zoops were brought up from the zoo at Bokhara, and were soon trained so that they could step off seventy-two inches with great exactitude. Travelers complain of the rouled being bumpy in places, but the zoops were unable to think of linear distance and vertical elevations at the same time.

Three peanuts make up the head and body shown above, the universal joint being a wad of chewing gum and the neck a clove. Legs are short toothpicks and the feet are split navy beans. Rice grains with ink spots can be stuck on for eyes.

Christian Science Churches

"Sacrament" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, January 10.

Among the Bible citations was this passage (1 Cor. 10:17): "For we being many are one bread, and one body; for we are all partakers of that one bread."

Correlative passages read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, included the following (p. 33): "Are all who eat bread and drink wine in memory of Jesus willing truly to drink his cup, take his cross, and leave all for the Christ principle? Then why ascribe acceptable unto God, that Truth this inspiration to a dead rite, instead of showing, by casting out error and making the body 'holy has come to the understanding'?"

Bible School, 11:45 a. m. Stanley Proctor, Supt.

Cottage prayer meeting, Wednesday evening, 7:30.

The regular Sunday morning service at the Federated church will be dedicated to the young people. The pastor expects to bring a message on their part in the work of the church, and stress to the adults their responsibility in training their Joshua's. These are difficult days for young people but we would say to them, as Moses said to Joshua: "The Lord, He it is that doth go before thee: He will be with thee. He will not fail thee, neither forsake thee: fear not, neither be dismayed."

Carl Haray, violinist, will play and F. R. Padlock, P. will be the soloist for this service.

Methodist Notes

Last Sunday night fifteen young people of the Adrian Epworth League came to Plymouth for the evening service. They took charge of the Epworth League meeting here and assisted in candle lighting and report of installation for the Epworth League and Junior League cabinets. The Plymouth League served them with cocoa and sandwiches in the church dining room.

Fifteen children and two babies were dedicated in baptism last Sunday morning. The children are receiving instruction for church membership each Sunday morning by means of a special five minute sermon. After the sermon the children now march down stairs where they continue a study of the bible through hand work, this work is under the direction of Mr. T. J. Carr for the boys and of Misses Margaret and Gladys Clemens for the girls.

The Junior chorus choir of children in the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades will sing for the first time Sunday evening.

Beginning Thursday, January 21, there will be eight big church family night suppers. Suppers will be served at seven o'clock. A program including everyone will fill the evening. Two classes in teacher-training will be held each Thursday night. One will be on dramatics from 6 to 7 o'clock. This will be taught by Rev. John McPherson of Detroit. The other class will be from 8 to 9 o'clock each Thursday

HENRY FORD SHOWS INKSTER HOW TO DIG OUT OF UNEMPLOYMENT TANGLE AND PROVIDE FOOD AND CLOTHING FOR IDLE

No matter how much longer the depression keeps its grip on the rest of the world, there are persons in Inkster who will be better off in 1932 than they were in 1931.

Two months ago these men, women and children were sitting around in the idleness and hopelessness which falls like a pall on the people who can find no work. Disease was pressing close on hungry, ill-fed bodies.

But though starting from the scratch of poverty, their section of Inkster is now on the high road to self-help, cleanliness, food, clothing—and hope.

Throughout the land are hundreds of similar sections, and it is the inspiration and the changed life and outlook that have come to Inkster through the community organization and self-help Henry Ford has imbued in these people.

Three principles are cardinal—the philosophy of Henry Ford—cleanliness, work and dirt—the last in the form of good old mother earth used by men to provide in superabundance, if desired, the things they need for sustenance.

Eight weeks ago, a portion of the town, occupied by about 300 Negro and 12 white families, was literally "down and out" economically. Men, women and children were suffering from lack of food, clothing and fuel. Children, ill-nourished, were easy prey to rickets, colds, pneumonia and every disease germ which could flourish in Inkster's accumulated rubbish and ditches of stagnant water along muddy streets.

Overburdened with unpaid taxes on their homes, all of which had been taken over on the installment plan; months in arrears on payments and of current light bills; foodless, workless, yet with several blind pigs and gambling dens offering some source of entertainment and profit to the few who dared, these people saw the zero hour arrive and they appealed to the Red Cross. Henry Ford heard of that, and went to see what was happening.

"I have insisted all along," Mr. Ford said, "that there is plenty of work to be done, if you do not wait to be hired to do it. There always is something any able-bodied man can do to improve his condition, no matter how far down he may be.

"I have insisted all along," Mr. Ford said, "that there is plenty of work to be done, if you do not wait to be hired to do it. There always is something any able-bodied man can do to improve his condition, no matter how far down he may be.

Mr. Ford went to work on this Inkster community. He rented a store room. Paint was suggested, to make the place presentable.

"Forget the paint," Mr. Ford said. "Get fly and scum and water, get volunteers to clean it up and stock the store with wholesome necessities which they can buy on their I O U's if they will go to work on a general cleanup campaign."

So the work began. Ford trucks went up and down the muddy streets collecting scrap—stumps of rusting tin cans, old automobile scrap, wire, everything that belongs to the category of metallic waste. They carried away tons of ashes and collected tons of rubbish and burned it. The labor was performed gratis by the men and boys of the community.

Yards were cleaned and put in order. The insides of houses were cleaned, and when the dirt and useless rubbish inside were put out there was very little left inside some of these homes.

The store was put in order and stocked, some of the goods—apple butter, apple jam, whole cornmeal—being brought over from Mr. Ford's Greenfield old-time village mills and shops.

In the same store building is a room where a volunteer collier was put to work. He is the busiest collier in this part of the country, for nearly everybody's shoes need mending. Adjoining the collier's room is a tailor shop. A volunteer tailor was put to work. Volunteer carpenters, cooks, chefs, bakers were called for, and all were found in the community.

In another room of the building a big kitchen range was set up. A bake oven will be installed beside the range. All work is being done by people who were drifting in idleness. Men who work steadily at jobs for the community are given a cash payment of $1 a day. But the spirit of work has seized all the people.

An economic miracle has been performed under their eyes, and they are a part of the miracle, for surely nothing is more miraculous than to be clean, fed, clothed—all as the result of doing the simple and obvious things in the line of cleanliness.

Every day, from the community kitchen, well-cooked meals, prepared by the volunteer cooks, are distributed to those who need them—and virtually every family in the community was in dire need of wholesome food. Old clothes worth repairing are brought to the community tailor. Persons in real need of new clothing receive orders on the Highland Park store of the Ford Motor Co. For what they get they give their "I O U's."

And Mr. Ford has a plan for carrying through. He put plows, with tractors, to work in the village. About 500 acres have been cleaned up and plowed. Every square foot of soil that can produce something to feed people has been turned over. Food for next year is thus assured. Ford farm experts will supervise the farming and the men who work on the land will be paid with Ford "I O U's" on the crop.

cottages and shacks. Most of it is good soil for anything, and all of it is good for something. The houses are well enough scattered so that many of these plowed areas assume the proportions of field, and there is no plot that is not large enough to supply a good quantity of garden truck.

Next spring these people will go to work on the soil in their spare time, and every man, though regularly employed for wages, will then rub elbows with Mother Nature and coax her to lavish gifts—the things people really need most for living.

Roads—they could hardly be called streets in this part of Inkster—have been leveled and crowned, with the help of volunteer workers of the village and a power road scraper. Uncouth and disease-breeding ditches have been filled, and the work on a street drainage system is well under way.

Men who have nothing else to do are looking for old concrete, torn up from old streets or gathered from demolished buildings wherever they can find them. Trucks are lent these men. They take the old concrete blocks to the Ford crusher in Dearborn and bring back a load of material suitable for the top covering of roads and sidewalks.

A doctor from the Rouge plant of the Ford Motor Co. comes twice a week to the community to oversee health measures, and oftener if needed. A nurse from the Visiting Nurses' Association of Detroit comes every day on her rounds of this part of her assigned district. Every sick person will be cared for and desperate cases are taken to the Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit if hospitalization is advised by the doctor.

"But aren't you banking pretty heavily on the 'I O U's' of these people?" the official in charge was asked.

"This is an attempt to do welfare work without a large welfare fund," was the reply. "We have become entangled in a system where no one seems to believe he can turn around without money. Welfare work is falling down because it has become so largely a matter of money. We are attempting to show that the wheels of productive community life can be started turning again without money."

"The best charity is to lend your hands, and active assistance in showing people what they can do for themselves. The cash outlay of what we are doing here is comparatively little. Any person, even of small means, could do it. The big contribution is our own personal interest in these people's problems and their own hearty cooperation in our plans to help them. There is no charity in this, except the old-fashioned charity of helpful human cooperation."

"It is ridiculous that so many people in the world should be sitting in bitter idleness when a little community planning could set them all to working and when a little plowing of vacant land would enable them to feel secure against possible unemployment next year."

"The fact is, some such plan as this will have to be adopted by larger communities as the depression continues. Money charity is surely coming to an end in many communities by reason of the prolongation of the depression. Cities like Detroit, for example, should organize men into work squads instead of breadlines and should lay up a food supply against next year. No one should make a dollar out of welfare work. We shall have to prove that our communities are self-containing and self-supporting by using the human and natural resources already at hand."

We shall have to prove that our communities are self-containing and self-supporting by using the human and natural resources already at hand.

"It is the duty of everyone, no matter how good his job may seem at present, to use the soil to lay up a store of the things his family needs most. Many of these workers, though living within the city limits, have considerable ground on the lots they own, or they could easily arrange to use vacant lots, and every one of them has plenty of time for the cultivation of gardens."

"In this time of transition, no one knows when the daily wage job may fall. But the soil never fails. Nature always does her part and makes good her promises. The main thing, these days, is to learn that you can turn around without money."

"These things are fundamental. Any community that gets down to fundamentals, stripped of all political motives and complicated social formulas, can solve its problem of human need."

Cherry Hill

(Too late for last week.)

The Denton Parish Neighborhood met at Denton, Thursday evening. The Denton Parish League, held a Watch Night meeting at the Church House, New Year's Eve. Rev. Shilling and fifteen young people of Ann Arbor were their guests. The League elected new officers for the year. President, Gladys Oliver, vice president, Lucy Merrifield; Secretary, Ruth Simmonds; Treasurer, Jane Oliver.

The following group of young people who have married the past year were presented with a gift: Mr. and Mrs. Irving Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. William Smith, of Denton, Mr. and Mrs. William Houk, and Mr. and Mrs. John Gustaf of Cherry Hill. A program and refreshments were enjoyed by all. The evening closed with a Devotional Service.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeman and daughter, Irene, of Kalamazoo, spent New Year's Day with Mr. and Mrs. James Burrell.

Mrs. Martha Heald and children, visited at Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hawker's over the weekend. Rev. and Mrs. Atsworth, and family and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Dunstan were dinner guests of Mrs. Jennie Houk on Wednesday.

William West visited at Flint the past week. Mr. and Mrs. August Houk and daughters, Mrs. Jennie Houk and Jane Oliver, visited Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Losoy, of Stony Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Knud Johnson entertained for dinner on New Year's Day: Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Stewart, Wesley Stewart and Ruth Oliver, of Detroit; Mrs. G. C. Robinson, Wayne; Leslie McCoy, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Houk, Gladys Jane and Junior Oliver.

Miss Carolyn Heald spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Houk.

TAX RELIEF CAN ONLY COMETHROUGHVOTERS

LUNCHEON CLUB SPEAKER SAYS THE OFFICE HOLDERS WILL NOT AID

(Omitted from last week's issue) "Everybody in Detroit is drawing a public salary or else they are on the dole," declared Prof. John R. Rood in speaking before members of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs last Wednesday on taxation problems. Mr. Rood held a hope for lesser taxes only through direct vote on the people on constitutional amendments which will absolutely control taxation.

"Do not expect any relief from taxation by legislation. Do you suppose those who are making our laws are going to do anything to cut down their own income? That's something they have never done and will not do."

"Taxation is so great in the big cities that they have started to tear down buildings to get away from taxation. We are on the way a change. To get back to where we belong we will have to work 30 years."

"We are like a sick man, we have become ill by gouging ourselves. Now to remedy our condition we have got to do just like the doctor does with the sick man, we have got to cut off the food supply. If we don't pay these public officials any money, then they won't spend it. We've got too much money that has been our trouble."

"You will find no scandal where there is no money and you will find the only way to save ourselves at present is to bankrupt the public officials. Down in Detroit they are confiscating the homes of the little fellow in order to pay the loafers on the streets and the public officials."

"We can stop all of this by enacting a constitutional amendment which prevents the taxation of property for only a certain percent of its value and by enacting another clause which controls the assessment rights of public office holders. But some of these things have got to be done before there will be less taxation."

Tells How to Keep Minnows in Boxes

The rapidly decreasing supply of minnows in Michigan's lakes and streams is being aggravated by neglect in the care of minnows kept by individuals and dealers during the winter months, according to Henry A. Schull, superintendent of rearing ponds for the Department of Conservation.

Hundreds of thousands of minnows are lost every winter through ignorance in properly caring for this "food fish" in privately operated ponds and live boxes, Mr. Schull believes. Instances have been reported of 90 percent of captured minnows dying through a winter for lack of care.

Proper care of minnows by the scores of dealers who retain them in live boxes and ponds can do much toward conserving the fast diminishing minnow and fish food supply," it was said. The Department has been experimenting for several years with various species of minnows and with their care.

Persons who hold minnows for bait should study the natural environments of the fish and try to create conditions as nearly similar in the private ponds, it was said. When minnows are taken from wild waters, the water temperatures should be taken. Then, when placed in either the live box or trough, care should be taken that there is little difference in the temperature.

Gold shiners are known to be surface feeders and bread crumbs thrown on the water are eagerly accepted. The most efficient food consists of oatmeal and clam meal cooked to a porridge consistency with a small amount of corn meal added to increase the solvency. A pinch of salt may be added. Meat scraps, cooked, dried and ground, may be substituted for clam meal, which is not commercialized and not easily available.

To successfully raise or keep minnows it is necessary that the pond or live box be kept absolutely clean to avoid fungus growths. Over crowding is responsible for the loss of many thousands of minnows.

It is suggested that a mullet be kept in the trough or pond to keep it clean.

ALICE M. SUGDEN

Alice M. Sugden, died at her home in Plymouth on December 28, 1931. She was born in Watertown, Tuscola County, Michigan, September 28, 1856. Her maiden name was Alice M. Bates. She was married to John F. Sugden on June 17, 1914, and made her home in Tuscola county until about six years ago, when they moved to Plymouth and lived here until her death.

She leaves to mourn her loss, her husband, and one uncle, Martin Beringer and a host of friends.

ROCKNE SIX STARTLES AMERICA

Meets today's conditions with the finest cars ever offered in the low-priced field

THE ROCKNE SIX is sold at the lowest prices ever placed on six-cylinder automobiles in the history of this industry considering size, quality and standard equipment offered without extra charge.

It is not just one car but a line of cars—the "65" of 110-inch wheelbase and six body styles—the "75" of 114-inch wheelbase and five body styles.

The sensation of 1932

Both Rockne cars are the very last word in sound construction and full equipment. Both bring you, without extra charge, such supreme achievements as Free Wheeling with Full Synchronized Shift, New Switch-Key Starting and 4-Point Cushioned Power. Both leave the factory completely engineered with every other desired advancement of the day—glass-smooth electro plated pistons—quadruply counterweighted crankshafts—easy pressure, solid-gripping brakes—finger-tip steering—silent carburetion—self-adjusting spring shackles—hydraulic shock absorbers—to mention but a few.

With big dimensions and tremendous power, with daring new styling and superb construction, the Rockne Six is frankly the achievement of a manufacturer intent on producing the very finest cars ever offered in the price field where more than two-thirds of all cars are sold.

Coming Attractions At Penniman-Allen

"LADIES OF THE BIG HOUSE"
Sylvia Sidney, whose excellent work in "An American Tragedy" won favorable comment from the critics, now has the leading female part in "Ladies of the Big House," which is scheduled as the feature attraction at the Penniman-Allen theatre, for Sunday and Monday, January 17 and 18.
This picture is Paramount's screen version of the story by Ernest Booth, life-tern convict author at Folsom prison. It is a gripping romantic drama of two persons who have run athwart the law and presents a cross-section of the real drama of life within the quarters of a great prison.
"Men in Her Life"
"Men in Her Life," the attraction at the Penniman-Allen theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, January 20 and 21, presents Lois Moran, Charles Bickford, Victor Varconi, Donald Dillaway and others in a story of a delinquent who decides to discover love and life for herself and runs into a lot of adventure.
The action takes place in gay France in a picturesque French village and in fashionable New York with a murder trial providing a stirring climax. The story is based on a novel by Warner Fabian and the picture is directed by William Beaudine. It's a Columbia Picture.
"The Guilty Generation"
How children suffer for the sins of their parents—how family ties make young innocents guilty—is the theme of the Columbia picture, "The Guilty Generation," which will appear at the Penniman-Allen theatre, Friday and Saturday, January 22 and 23. The film is an adaptation of the play by Joe Millward and J. Kerby Hawkes.
It is a thrilling tale told in a forceful manner and superbly acted by a cast headed by Leo Carrillo, Constance Cummings and Robert Young and the two young people who almost come to blows, not because of their own evil doings, but because they are their parents' children. Their near-tragic love affair will arouse your sympathy.

New Life Is Given The Milford Fair

That the Fair Association will not suffer during the next year for want of diverse opinions, was indicated at Monday's meeting of the Milford Club which was given over largely to discussion of matters connected with the history, present worth and prospects of the Fair.
It was pointed out that the Oakland Association is in better condition than many fairs in the state. Practically all of them lost money in 1931. The local fair has a good working plant and a fair can be held with very little expense in the way of improvement to the grounds.
Little or nothing was voiced in the way of criticism and the discussion made clear that the Fair Association is a non-profit organization, formed and operating under state law and that any person may become a member of the Association for one year on payment of one dollar. It was brought out that the memberships are non-assessable and carry no financial responsibility and that officers and directors serve without pay.
It was asked if the Milford Club could take over the fair and operate it. The answer was no, but that every club member could join the fair association and have an equal voice in its operation.
President Richardson of the Club asked for a rising vote of those willing to become members of the Fair Association. Practically every one stood up. Over 20 men present paid their dollar each and became members.
On motion a committee was appointed to solicit further fair memberships and to report at the next meeting of the Milford Club, January 18, Ralph Watkins, Wm. V. Porter and Joe Pittenger was named such a committee.
The adjourned annual meeting of the Fair Association was again adjourned to meet January 18 after the report of the club's membership committee named above.
The committee to furnish the entertainment part of the Club's programs for the next three months is composed of Jos. Pittenger, Charles McNulty and Vincent Boyles—Milford Times.

PLEASANT TIME AT THIS EVENT

Rain did not seem to dampen the spirits of the large crowd that attended the card party at Our Lady of Good Counsel church last Tuesday evening. Bridge prizes went to Mrs. Wolf and Mrs. Whitmore and to Mr. Hayley and Mr. O'Connor. In the 500 contests, Mrs. Flemming and Mrs. Gray and Mr. Flemming and C. A. Metens were winners. In the Pedro contests Mrs. Mandell, Mrs. Martin, John Welm and M. J. Lorenz were winners. In the luncheon Miss Keiner, Miss Lorenz, Joseph Schomburger and Mr. Willmann were winners. Mrs. Shank played the piano for the dance that followed. The event was one of the most delightful held in many weeks.

ROTARIANS SEE MOTION PICTURES

Members of the Rotary club last week enjoyed one of the best motion picture lectures on Michigan wild life ever presented before a local organization. C. A. Paquin, representing the educational department of the conservation department in Lansing was the speaker. He was introduced by William Pettigill, who was chairman of the day. The pictures were of more than ordinary interest because they showed the Rotarians many interesting views of the state in motion picture form that all were more or less acquainted with.

IS ARRESTED ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Chief of Police Vaughn Smith in cooperation with federal officers, Tuesday night arrested Al Lyons, who faces a federal liquor charge in Detroit. The local officers stated that Lyons was arrested following two purchases made from him by federal officers. He was taken before U. S. Commissioner Hurd in Detroit Wednesday where arraignment took place and bail was fixed.
Miss Dolh Entleien entertained the Plymouth bridge club Thursday afternoon at her home on Church street. This was the first meeting of the club this year.

GARDEN CITY HAS BOARD MEMBER

For more than three years, or since its existence, the little village of Garden City, in the northeast corner of Nankin township, has been battling for representation on the township board but never have its residents been able to muster enough political strength to put the proposition across to the majority of the electorate.

Their persistency, however, was rewarded last Tuesday evening when at the regular meeting of the board, Carl Heavlin, village clerk, and well known resident, was appointed justice of the peace to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Eugene H. Davidson, of Eloise, three weeks ago.

Members of the Nankin board, consisting of Peter J. Snyder, supervisor, Albert R. Walker, clerk, Willis R. Harrison, John A. Freeman and John Murphy, justices of the peace, were of the opinion that the need for such an official in Garden City was quite apparent.

Modern parents seem to have tried every scheme to make the kids behave except that of showing them how.

Dressing in the morning for a lot of the girls now is just switching from their night to their day pajamas.

IT SEEMS FANTASTIC

A Story of Persistent Love

By Fannie Hurst

THE fact that he was married to Gladys Cooper was to be made a phenomenon to John Bayley. That the lovely Gladys should ever have found in him sufficient attributes to claim not only her interest but her love, was something that even in the second and third year following their marriage, was to remain a miracle in the eyes of John.

First of all, Gladys, above everything, was so alive. She radiated a vitality that seemed to demand so much more than the sedentary life in a cottage which the young clerk in a large wholesale floral and tree nursery was able to provide her.

Gladys, before her marriage, had been the center of a group of youths eager to provide her with more than John could. She had lived her girlhood so recklessly in the spirit of dance, frivolity and adorable nonsense!

It gave a man pause to have come into the vast inheritance of a creature of this irresistible love-of-life. It gave him pause and more than that, it gave him the urge of high ambition.

A man had to justify his good fortune in having won a wife like Gladys. More than that, if a man wanted to hold her, he had to earn the right. John realized all this.

It gave him a sense of pride and at the same time filled him with a sense of torment.

What if the turn in the tide of his affairs was not to come in time? Gladys was so young, so uncalculatingly kind to attract all who came within her orbit. Even on the street, heads swung after she passed. In a group she predominated. A young husband had to look to his ps and qs.

So that Gladys herself ever gave all the slightest awareness of the extent to which she kept her husband pleased to it. The first years were just happy, excitement, interest, an adorable wife and an adorable, good-looking young husband, who could be serious one moment and play boy the next. True, resources were low. The position of clerk in the tree nursery was not remunerative and Gladys was filled with little wishes that tugged at John's heart.

"Darling, do you think we'll ever be able to afford just a second-hand little coupe? Wouldn't it be too heavenly having one to rush around in?"

"Oh, John, fancy being able to buy the milk coat in that window. Honestly, if I had just an imitation one, I'd curl up like a sardine and die of happiness."

"Oh, honey, would I love a duck of a bungalow like that! Do you think we'll ever be able to afford one half as nice?"

John did think, a great deal. There was, of course, much to be said in behalf of his work at the nursery. The offices within walking distance of their tiny suburban cottage, were set in the midst of acres of growing roses, mistles of spicy carnations, glowing riots of fuchsias, marigold, pinot, gladiolas and madonna lilies. From the window beside his desk, far as the eye could reach, there billowed the shining, tender green of young leaves and the wind-swept waves of color. It kept a man a little drunk with just the sense of rising sap and growing vegetation. It kept him somewhat young, and in a strange ashamed way, reverential toward the beauty of the world about him.

All very well and good from John's angle. Pleasant, unburied work. The delightful proximity of his small home and lovely wife. The days that ended peacefully with Gladys waiting for him at the end of the floral pergola that led from his office to the high road. All very well and good. But it got a man nowhere. One hundred and fifty dollars a month earned in the heart of a garden, got a man's wife nowhere.

Not that Gladys complained. Of course she talked and planned for a future, but there was something frighteningly indeterminate about that future. At best he, John, could only hope for an increase of from fifty to seventy-five dollars a month. Unless, of course, the unforeseen happened, and he managed to wangle his way into the firm. That, however, was unlikely. Only calamity or catastrophe could bring that about, and there were two busy young sons between him and the ultimate dream of membership in the firm.

Be that as it may, it must be said for Gladys that while she banked for so many of the good things denied her, there was not in her attitude either rancor or bitterness. That a wistfulness, and it was that wistfulness which, somehow, broke John's heart, and at the same time filled him with fear.

There was a country club set in the suburb where the Bayleys had set up their home. While not part of it, Gladys had opportunity to observe, from the remote vantage of sidelines, the gay-spirited existence of the polo-playing, hunting, golfing, dancing and motor doings of neighborhood couples about their own age.

Evening after evening the strains of dance music floated to them from the adjacent club house and sometimes, over the top of his newspaper, John could see the foot of Gladys, seated at her handiwork, tapping, tapping, to the rhythm, as if it were all she could do to hold herself in leash.

Never a word, dear darling, but John grew afraid, particularly as never an evening that Gladys did not meet him with this or that recital of what hearsay she had been able to pick up about the country club crowd.

Well, John decided to himself, it was just as well it was happening, and above all, it was good that he was realizing it before something concrete came along to jeopardize his happiness. This way at least, he could take that step while there was time. Without this stimulus, he might be content to go on to the end of time in the pleasant fastness of his position and the perfection that was his in his marital relations.

It was about this time that he decided to take the situation in hand. Wall Street seemed to present the first rung in his ladder. Not in the gambling sense! John was too shrewd for that. The way to wedge in was as bond salesman. Various of his friends had worked their way into brokerage positions and finally wealth by way of that intermediate step.

John did not intend to risk one penny of his two thousand dollars savings. Rather, he would get out of his run into business that promised a future.

The way to hold a beautiful, restless young wife was to widen her horizon. The way to keep pace with the younger generation around town was to see a little dangerous.

Gladys, at first quite bowled over by the proposal of the radical change in their life, yielded, however, to seeing the wisdom of a young man's alertness to his future.

Of course, a small apartment in New York could be more alluring, and there were John's future to consider. Naturally, a vigorous, up-and-coming young fellow, fairly bursting with ambition, must have his clothes.

Curious, she told herself, how well John had kept this ambition in leash during those first few sweet peaceful years of their marriage! She had been lax and absurdly loving in not discovering the latent restlessness in his makeup.

It was not easy dismantling the house. It was an absurd little affair, built like a gingerbread cottage, and almost buried behind foliage and shrubbery that the nurseries had bestowed upon young Bayley when he married.

It was not until they were stripping the little garden of the furniture that together they had built and painted, that there arrived the moment when the equality of Gladys collapsed.

ONE CASE DISMISSED, NEW ONE IS STARTED

BARBERS MUST APPEAR ON A NEW CHARGE RULES JUSTICE ALGUIRE

Upon the recommendation of the prosecuting attorney's office the case of William Garrett and Grant Stimpson was dismissed Tuesday afternoon by Justice Alguire. The complaint alleging assault, signed by L. M. Stevens, another barber, followed a dispute that is said to have taken place between the barbers early in December.

The dismissal followed an objection raised by Attorney Fred Brooks that the continuation of the case two or three weeks ago was longer than provided in the statute. Justice Alguire first ruled against Mr. Brooks, but following consultation with Assistant Prosecuting Attorney George Gullen, the original charges were dropped and new warrants issued.

When arraigned Tuesday evening on the new warrants, the defendants pleaded not guilty and demanded a jury trial, which was set for next Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The trial will take place in the village hall.

Something like a hundred people gathered at the village hall Tuesday to hear the case and were disappointed when it was learned that because of legal reasons the case was dropped pending the issuance of new warrants.

"Who stuffed that white owl?" No one spoke in the shop. The barber was busy, and he couldn't stop.

The customers, waiting their turns, were all reading. The "Daily" the "Herald" the "Post," little heeding. The young man who hurried out such a blunt question: Not one raised a head or even made a suggestion.

And the barber kept on shaving. "Don't you see, Mr. Brown?" Cried the youth, with a frown. "How wrong the whole thing is. How preposterous each wing is. How flattened the head is, how jammed down the neck is!"

In short, the whole owl, what an ignorant wreck 'tis! I make no apology. I've learned owlology. I've passed days and nights in a hundred collections. And cannot be blinded to any reflections. Arising from unskillful fingers that fail.

To stuff a bird right, from its beak to its tail. Mister Brown? Mister Brown! Do take that bird down. Or you'll soon be the laughing stock all over town!"

And the barber kept on shaving. "I've studied owls. And other night-fowls. And I tell you. What I know to be true: An owl cannot roost. With his limbs so unbalanced. No owl in this world. Ever had his claws curled. Ever had his legs slanted. Ever had his bill curved. Ever had his neck screwed into that attitude. He can't do it because 'Tis against all bird-laws. Anatomy teaches. Ornithology preaches.

An owl has a toe That can't turn out so! I've made the white owl my study for years. And to see such a job almost move me to tears! Mr. Brown, I'm amazed You should be so gone crazed As to put up a bird In that posture absurd! To look at that owl really brings on a dizziness. The man that stuffed him don't half know his business!"

And the barber kept on shaving. "Examine those eyes. Taxidermists should pass Off on you such poor glass: So unnatural they seem They'd make Audubon scream. And John Burroughs laugh To encounter such chaff. Do take that bird down: Have him stuffed again, Brown!"

And the barber kept on shaving. "With some sawdust and bark I could stuff in the dark An owl better than that. I could make an old hat Look more like an owl Than that horrid fowl. Stuck up there so stiff like a side of course leather. In fact, about him there's not one natural feather."

Just then, with a wink and a sly normal lurch. The owl very gravely, got down from his perch. Walked round, and regarded his fault-finding critic. (Who thought he was stuffed) with a glance analytic. And then fairly booted, as if he should say: "Your learning's at fault this time, anyway: Don't waste it again on a live bird. I pray. I'm an owl; you're another. Sit still, and good day!"

And the barber kept on shaving.

THE PLYMOUTH-CANTON EUCHECHE CLUB CONTEST

The Plymouth-Canton Euchre club played at Matt Waldecker's Friday evening. Katie and Sheila were swamped by M. Waldecker and Dunham, nine games to four. In the other contest, R. DIGS POTATOES CHRISTMAS DAY

Speaking of Florida weather. We don't believe it has Michigan beaten, by any means! Not when our folks can dig fresh potatoes for Christmas dinners. Sounds almost impossible, doesn't it? But knowing the parties it concerns, will you be for it being the truth. And here's the story:

Last fall when Ed Skelton of East Lyon dug his potato crop he left a number of his hills undug as the vines seemed unusually green. The "spuds" ripened during the ensuing mild weather and it continued so very mild that Mr. Skelton decided to see just how long the few remaining potatoes would remain in edible condition in the ground. Following one of the most remarkable fall and early winter seasons, Mr. Skelton went to the field on Christmas morning and dug potatoes enough for dinner.

While a small part of the tubers nearest the surface had been nipped by frost, the others made a very good meal, and now if the weather man is willing Mr. Skelton plans digging the rest of them on New Year's day.—South Lyon Herald.

TEN ARRESTED IN DECEMBER

The report of the chief of police for the month of December shows ten arrests. 29 lodgers accommodated in the jail, one gallon of moonshine and two quarts of beer confiscated, and four dogs disposed of. Fines and fees collected during the month amounted to $70.80.

Firestone Again Reduces Prices

Buy now! Don't drive on worn, smooth tires when you can have new Firestone Tires at these low prices. Never before could you buy such remarkable values.

You get extra strength, extra safety, extra service with every Firestone Tire because of these extra Firestone construction features. Gum-Dipping, the Firestone patented extra process that makes the cord body tougher and stronger.

Two Extra Cord Plies Under the Tread, a patented Firestone construction that gives added protection against punctures and blow-outs and stronger bond between tread and cord body. Tougher, thicker non-skid tread that gives greater non-skid protection and longer non-skid wear.

1931—the year in which values counted most — was for Firestone a year of great accomplishment. Because of Firestone's unequalled position in buying raw materials — rubber and cotton — efficient factories and economical distribution, they gave car owners the greatest values in their history.

Drive in today. Equip your car with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires and enjoy their extra safety and satisfaction at the lowest prices in history.

Table with columns for Make of Car, Tire Size, Firestone Original Type, Firestone Special Type, and Price Per Pair. Lists various car models and tire specifications.

Special brand tires are made by a manufacturer, without his name, for distribution by mail order houses and other distributors under their own brands. These tires are sold to the public without the responsibility, identity or guarantee of the tire manufacturer. Firestone does not make Special Brand tires for ANYONE. Firestone Tires are sold through Firestone Service Dealers and Service Stores who give complete service. You get extra protection with the name "Firestone" on every tire Firestone makes.

LEGION MAKES A GREAT RECORD IN SERVICE TO MEN

Any organization, whatever it may be, derives its strength, its power to achieve the purpose for which it is organized, through its membership. The organized group that has a small membership or a small number of people who subscribe to its program, cannot hope for a maximum of success in its activities. The established organization that has carried on a successful program must keep its membership growing if it hopes to attain higher objectives and do bigger things. Once the membership slumps, and there is a decrease in the number of those who have supported the organization, then the accomplishments of that group will be diminished in like proportions.

The American Legion is proud of what it has accomplished in past years. The record is undoubtedly one that has no equal in the history of the war veteran organizations of the world. But the Legion realizes that its work has scarcely started, that the field of legion service is broader now than at any time since the organization was formed. Past successes have not brought a cessation of Legion activities. Instead, the way has been lighted the new opportunities and greater endeavors. Everywhere the Legion is concerned with the strengthening of its ranks so that it can successfully carry on the work of the future.

The American Legion engages in a wide variety of activities but its first obligation, the one activity nearest the hearts of all Legionnaires, is caring for those veterans who were disabled by their war service. In order that the disabled men might be properly cared for and that they might receive hospitalization and compensation commensurate with their war-incurred disabilities, it has been necessary to enact legislation for their relief.

Legislation, however, does not operate automatically for the welfare of the disabled man; it is only the first step in the Legion's rehabilitation program. The self-appointed task of the Legion is to see that these laws are properly administered and that the veteran is given the right kind of medical attention and obtains all the compensation to which he is entitled. This entails a vast amount of labor and expense for many of the claims must be presented individually. Government procedure is often slow and ponderous and months and even years sometimes elapse before the Legion is successful in having the claim of a disabled man satisfactorily adjudicated.

LIQUID AIR VERY COLD, YET BOILING

Did you ever imagine that any substance with a temperature far below freezing could boil? Liquid air does just that—and it is three hundred and twelve degrees below zero, and boils continually. Boiling is in reality a cooling process, according to Mr. Elliot James, the speaker in assembly for Wednesday day and is not a heating one, as many people suppose. Freezing is a warming process. When water boils, it lets off heat, thus keeping from getting hotter. When it freezes, it takes on heat, thus warming itself. That is rather odd if you do not understand, no doubt, but it is true.

The liquid air was carried here from Chicago in a sort of thermobottle. The cover can not be tight, or the air will explode. Mr. James demonstrated this by pounding the cork into a bottle containing liquid air, and the cork shot out into the audience, over half the length of the auditorium. The liquid air will not remain liquid very long, and when it turns into air again it increases its volume eight hundred sixty times. As it becomes air again it gives off much power, which was demonstrated by a small airplane that was made of wire and sponge, the girls made plain cakes, spice, and angel food. At the end of the desserts the class will have a practical lesson in planning and serving simple luncheons.

AMONG SHARKS AND SEA TURTLES

It was in fishing in the Gulf of Mexico and porpoises and sharks that Mr. Bentley spent his Christmas vacation. By leaving Plymouth on Christmas day, he arrived in St. Petersburg, Florida, Sunday afternoon. It was there that he went out in a boat into the Gulf of Mexico and caught various kinds of fish, including sea robins, grunts and red groupers.

Going inland, Mr. Bentley traveled through the citrus fruit region of central Florida. At sunny places oranges were two dozen for a dime, while grapefruit sell for a cent apiece. In visiting Sarasota, he found it to be the winter quarters of the large crocodiles, during the winter the animals are kept in pens and are also trained for summer performances. He came home with a very tender steak, for it broke off just as the rubber ball had broken when it was dropped on the floor. After the steak and the rubber returned to a normal temperature again the steak was as tender as ever, the rubber ball once more rubber, although not in the shape of a ball.

A lead ball will not tinkle very well, but if it is cold enough it sounds fairly well. The molecules of the lead move about so rapidly when they are warm that they produce a very good sound, but when cold come near making a tinkling sound.

When one tests the iron to see whether it is hot or not, he wets his finger first, and that forms a vapor which, for an instant, protects the finger from the heat of the iron. It is the same with liquid air. Mr. James put his finger in some liquid air, and even put some in his mouth and blew out a lot of vapor, the heat of the mouth warming it up. The same protection is present here as in the case of the iron, only one protects from heat, the other from cold.

Liquid air at present is manufactured mainly in commercial plants for separating oxygen from the air. Mr. James put some liquid air in a dish, burned all parts of it but the oxygen away, put in a small amount of ammonia, and then a match to it, and concluded the program with an exceedingly brilliant light which makes ordinary electric lights very, very dim indeed in comparison.

REPORT CARDS—GOOD AND BAD

Last week was the closing of the third marking period and as usual, report cards were given out. It is requested that these cards be returned immediately for the purpose of recording the marks for the semester. It is necessary to place the marks on records in a rush at the end of semester one. After the cards are returned the teachers have to make out a report of these marks and so, to save your teacher's extra work, and yourself some shoe leather, you are asked to bring yours back at once!

CAMP FIRE

The camp fire meeting of January eighth was in charge of Zerepha Blunk. It was decided that the next excursion would be held at the home of Madelyn Blunk on January the eighteenth. The program was then begun, the laws of the Camp Fire were discussed, Jane Whipple telling of Seek Beauty. The next, given by Janet Hilkensstorf was Give Service. Parents Knowledge was given by Madelyn Blunk. Re Trustworthy was given by Zerepha Blunk. A group discussion was held on Hold on to Health. Glory Work was given by Esther Egge. The meeting was closed by Mrs. Stevens with the Re Happy.

GIRLS CREATE UNREAL JOBS

In order to help the girls solve the problems they will meet when applying for positions in the business world, the members of the commercial home economics class have been making imaginary applications for jobs. The class was divided into two groups, that of the employer and that of the employee. As each personal application was made, the class discussed and criticized the method used by the applicant. These imaginary visits to employers helped the girls gain self-confidence, pride in personal conduct, and ability to be at ease with all people.

The members of the advanced clothing class have commenced their last problem for this semester. Some of the girls are making silk blouses while others are starting silk dresses. In the lesson in mending, the girls repaired thirty-five football sweaters for next year's team.

Desserts for dinner and luncheon have been the problems of the high school foods class. In studying the perfect tooth chart, Robert Gortschak's name has been added to the list of those who can count to fifty.

CENTRAL GRADE SCHOOL NOTES

Betty Moore and Arlene Drews entered the kindergarten under Mrs. Carpenter last week. Sanford Burr, Annabelle Heller and Lila Mumby each have a gold star on the perfect tooth chart. Robert Gortschak's name has been added to the list of those who can count to fifty.

In Mrs. Root's room Jo Ann Gordon, Barbara Hill, Iris Deue Hirt, Beth Ann Hohelsal, Noel Hoover, Bobby John, Billy Kiefer, Jack Kenyon, Margaret Jean Nichol, Katherine Voth, Jean McGee and Ronald Weber are on the Honor Roll for having all A's and B's on their report cards. The pupils are very glad to welcome Alan Candell into their room who comes from Indianapolis, Indiana, giving them an enrollment of forty-one. Group one is reading about Johnny and Johnny's Rabbit, "Chicken Little" and "The Three Bears," in silent reading. For their border the children have made patterns of snowflakes, funny snow-men, sunbather babies and boys tilling snowballs. Twenty-four children have not had colds this winter, and are riding on airplanes on the "No Cold" chart. There were fourteen mothers present at their Christmas program.

The children in Miss Mitchell's room made snow men in handwork for one border. For the other, they made children playing with sleds. Each child in this room has made a boy and snowball for their "No Cold" chart. Group one has started the child library book two.

In Miss Weatherhead's room, Pearl Denton has had her name added to the "Perfect Teeth" chart. Bobby Perkins of Lakeview visited the room last Wednesday afternoon. Molly (Goldstein) entered the third grade from Detroit last Monday. One group of the three B's are using the new readers, "The House We Live In."

Eugene Shipley is absent from Miss Dixon's room with measles, but it is hoped that he will soon be able to return. Dale Ostlund has moved to Detroit.

The pupils in Miss Field's room are making geography maps of the United States. Orville Ervin entered this room last week. Robert Moore had a perfect score on a self testing drill that was given a few days ago.

The fifth graders in Miss Hill's room are very sorry to lose Florence Figan who has moved to Detroit. Glen Kaiser just entered this room recently. The fourth grade geography class have been giving special reports on Yellowstone National Park, Grand Canyon and Old Faithful.

Belva Barnes has returned back to Mrs. Holliday's room after an absence of several weeks on account of illness. The five A's are studying Australia in geography class. Doris Buzzard won the prize for winning the most spell words.

The fifth graders in Miss Fenner's class made geography maps of Africa one day last week. Mary Katherine Moon's spelling team is ahead by two points.

Mrs. Atkinson has enrolled two new pupils in her room who are Myrtle Drews in the Six B from Starkweather and Kathleen in the Six A from Benton Harbor. The Six B's are studying punctuation in language work. In arithmetic they are studying the first five of nature. The Six A's are studying Michigan in geography class. Bruce Richard's spelling team received 100 per cent in spelling last week.

The results of the essay contest which took place last fall, that was written on the beauty of nature, seen on a hike were the following: First place was given to Beulah Sorenson; second to Margaret Rodiger; and third to Elizabeth Nichol.

G. R.'S TO ATTEND MID-WINTER CONFERENCE, FEB. 12-13

The midwinter conference of G. R.'s will take place February 12 and 13 at Battle Creek, Plymouth is expected to send two girls to the conference. There was no winter conference last year because the demand for one was not made as it has been this year. Three senior girls reserves attended summer conference at Camp Cavell and twelve attended the fall conference at Detroit, Y. W. C. A. These conferences add to ones character, friendship list, and experience and are very worthwhile for those who can possibly attend.

At the last G. R. meeting, all the girls who hope to take rings in May filled out questionnaires. The rest of the group wrote out their interpretation of the Girl Reserve Code. The Girl Reserve treasury now stands at one hundred eighty dollars.

PROM DATE APPROACHING

The date of the Senior Prom, the highlight of the school year, is not far off. Approximately one short month must pass before the occasion. The affair promises to be one of the most successful ever given in Plymouth High school. The committees are working hard and ask you not to forget the date, February 12.

JANUARY MUSIC PROGRAM

The Boys' and Girls' quartettes of the music department are playing each time in January. The date has not been definitely decided upon as to when the Girls' Quartette and the Orchestra will play and sing for the Women's Division at the House of Correction, but it will be sometime in January.

January 19—The Boys' quartette sang at the Eastern Star.

January 20—Boys' quartette singing for the Maeculuses.

BASKET BALL—THE NATIONAL GAME

From the "Country Gentleman" by Sol Metzger. This was recommended by Coach Matheson as it applies to towns about the size of Plymouth.

"Basket ball is a new national sport in America whose tremendous popularity, particularly in rural districts, surpasses that of any other game. The University of South Carolina made a survey of athletics in the high schools of that state, 90 per cent of which are in rural communities. The results were amazing. Every coach expected to find football in the lead in popularity. Basketball, it was then discovered, easily topped the list about 70 per cent. Only the schools boasted varsity basketball teams, while only 48 per cent had football eleven. Most of the country boys preferred basketball.

In the National Interscholastic Tournament, Athens, Texas, a community of 500 people, presented a basketball team of 15 players, titled. A team representing Carr Creek, a crossroads hamlet in Kentucky, which is known as the county, because the sensation of the 1928 tournament, defeating many well coached teams before a packed town of Vienna, Georgia, defeated them.

"Basketball," explains a recent association year book, "is a major sport in the high school of Iowa. More than 700 high schools had boys' teams and 351 schools reported girls' teams. Each year has witnessed an increase of interest. The number of boys participating in interschool basketball games would run as high as 13,000 and the number of girls participating as 5,000. The number of boys who participate in inter class games would easily add another 70,000, and there would probably be as many girls in interclass basketball.

George E. Edwards, basketball coach at the University of Missouri states that more than 90 per cent of the small high schools in that state have basketball teams and play regular interscholastic schedules. Missouri has about 300 teams in the elimination for her state title. There are about ten boys to a team. About 35,000 boys are on organized teams in Missouri, other sports are insignificant when compared to the popularity of basketball. Probably less than 100 of the smaller towns have teams in football and practically none have baseball teams. There are about 50 basketball teams to one in football, and 100 to one in baseball.

The Department of Commerce compares the number of basketball balls sold during 1927 at the staggering total of 1,021,316.

There are several reasons why basketball is so popular. Fewer players are required than in any other popular team game, and this gives the small schools with its limited material and funds for equipment a chance. Second, basketball has a simple method of scoring and it is easier to master and to watch. Third, the high tension at which the game is played grips contestant and spectator alike. INTER-CLASS SPORTS

The system of competition in various sports between the classes of the high school and the seventh and eighth grades is one of the best activities ever instituted in Plymouth High School for a number of years. It was introduced three years ago by Mr. Matheson when he became coach of the athletic teams.

The advantages of this system are many. First, it develops material for the varsity from the lower grades. Second, it gives the boys not on the varsity teams a chance to play. Third, it develops interest not only in the regular schedule games, but in every class sport.

QUARANTINED WITH MUMPS

Imagine if you can Bob Shaw posing as Sir Hector Fish and quarantined with the mumps. Then try to imagine Odene Hirt and Bill Tuck dressed in women's clothes. If your imagination is not overtaxed by all being dumb, Claire Shurtz is being dumb. Vera Woods as a newspaper reporter, and Margaret Holcomb as an old maid aunt. Phyllis Doer, Clifford Cook, Gladys Shetter and Irene Humphries are also taking part in this big bit.

The students in the play have all had experience on the stage. But that is not all. The "Mummy and the Mumps" made a big hit with the Belasco company which is quite famous for its plays in Detroit and New York.

The author, Larry Johnson, knows his mummies and his mumps as he plainly shows in this play. Well, the "Mummy and the Mumps" will be expecting you Thursday and Friday nights, February 25 and 26.

FRESHMEN DANCE RESULTS

The freshmen collected $35.75 at the door and they expect to make about $13.00 on their dance given last Friday night. The Ypsi Collegiate furnished the music and the chairmen were Mr. Gullimore representing the Board of Education, Mrs. Cassidy, Mrs. Shultz and Mrs. Bachelder. The class sponsors were also there. Everyone seemed to have a good time.

ENGLISH NINE ENDS AUTHOR'S STORY

In our nine B English classes our teacher, Miss Perkins, read to us an uncompleted story to which we were to write a logical ending. The story, by Frank H. Stockton, is called "The Lady or the Tiger". The story took place in olden times with characters of semi-barbarism. A certain king, whose very word was law in his kingdom, had built an arena in the town. On one side of the arena were two doors. On the other side, one door out of which the culprit came. The king's throne was near this. Any man who committed a crime worthy of his notice was brought here to be tried. The method was fair and just. The man would walk to the side and either door he chose in one would be a tiger. If he opened the door where the woman was he was innocent and quickly married to her. If he opened the other it would be certain and quick death.

The king had a beautiful daughter for whom he loved devotedly. She and a man of lowly position were in love. The king found it out and quickly decided the youth must try his fate in the arena. The great day came; thousands of people were assembled, even the princess, she had possessed herself of the secret of the doors. When the youth came out of the door below this throne to decide his fate the princess indicated with a lift of the hand to go to the right.

The following conclusion was written by Miriam Brown: The princess, having pointed to the door at the right, solemnly watched the young man, who was to meet his fate soon, as he walked with determined step toward the door. Laying his hand cautiously on the latch he lifted it. Would that door reveal the fair, young lady, his wish and trembling as she joyfully stepped into the arena? Would the priest, followed by the bridal party with its dancing maidens gayly tossing roses to the music of chiming brass bells, enter the arena through the same door as the young man, only a moment before? Or would the wild, hungry beast devour him?

Only the princess knew. The arena was silent. Every eye was fixed on the slowly opening door—"The tiger!"

STARKWEATHER SCHOOL NOTES

Mrs. Johannsson visited the kindergarten class last week. Miss Whitson's room and Miss Stuekey's group have charge of the P. T. A. program for January 18.

The first grade pupils had an after-Christmas party and the children brought the toys Santa left them. The first-A's are having addition problems.

The second grade class has resolved to do its best to make 1932 better than 1931. During their bible study period every one pledged to take Jesus as an example and every time they are tempted to do wrong they will ask themselves "What would Jesus do?" Miss Stader's room is organizing a "Happy's Club" to promote good citizenship.

Mrs. Moles' four-B class is having map study of North America. They made maps this week. The Armour company sent them a product map of the United States and the children like to look at it to learn where various things are produced.

The five-B geography class saw slides on the European countries last week. They were very interesting and the class enjoyed them. For picture study they had "By the River" Frances Meighan spelled down Miss Hunt's room. Mrs. Farrand's sixth grade class greatly enjoyed the Christmas

Out Of Town Guests

Those queer yellowish bugs, with long slender legs like bent toothpicks in Mr. Bentley's room are fiddler crabs that he found along the Florida beaches and brought back for the members of his biology classes. Because the baby alligators require a great deal of sunlight, he has arranged a miniature beach in a box containing both water and a ridge of sand in front of the window for the alligators to live in. Some of the other bottles and boxes in front of the windows contain large horseshoe crabs and blue stone crabs. He also brought back some coral and some white beach sand to be used in his aquarium.

stories and poems which they wrote for language work. The following poem was written by Marguerite Mattinson of the sixth grade.

CHRIST

One night when it was dark and drear, The little Lord Jesus came to here. He was the baby of Mary so fair And all the wise men, the gifts to share Bright chests of silver and gold.

And many other gifts untold. When Jesus was about two, King Herod wanted to destroy anew. For he thought he would take his throne and reign. But Jesus would not if he were slain. The following sixth grade pupils are on the spelling honor roll: Anna Dely, Douglas Eckles, Myrtle Drews, Marguerite Mattinson, Bobby West, Carol Howard, Oran Eloff, Harold Norgrove, and Douglas Miller. OBITUARIES

RICHARD J. KANE
Richard J. Kane, age 72 years, passed away Wednesday evening, January 6th, 1932, while on duty at the Detroit House of Correction. He was an officer. The body was brought to the Schradler Brothers Funeral Home, Plymouth, Mich., and later taken to his home at Hubbardston, Michigan, from which place funeral services were held Saturday morning, January 9th, 1932, at 9:30. Interment in Hubbardston cemetery.

MRS. ISABEL MILLER
Mrs. Isabel Roben Miller, 88 years of age and a pioneer resident of Big Rapids where she lived for over 70 years, died in Plymouth, Michigan, Saturday morning after an illness of some time. Mrs. Esther M. McQueen, an instructor at the Wayne County Training school, was a daughter and Mrs. Miller had for some time been making her home here so as to be near Mrs. McQueen. Mrs. Miller was the widow of Washington Miller, one of the pioneer business men of northern central Michigan. He was for years the owner of a big general store that furnished supplies to a large number of the lumbering camps that flourished in that locality. A brother, Douglas Roben, and two sisters, Celeste Roben and Mrs. Mary Bennett, all of Big Rapids, also survive. The body was brought to the Schradler Funeral Home and sent to Big Rapids where the funeral was held Monday, interment taking place there.

MRS. GEORGE C. GALE
Mary E. Packard, was born January 19th, 1863 in Superior township, Washtenaw County, Michigan. On December 13th, 1883 she married George C. Gale and the young couple went to Lansing, Superior township. Four children were born to this union two of whom died in early life. Twenty-eight years ago the family moved to Plymouth where they have lived since that time. For some time, Mrs. Gale has been in failing health and for the past twenty months has been confined to her home. She suffered much, but with a marked degree of patience and fortitude. The end came quietly just after midnight, January 8th, 1932.

There are left to mourn her death, her husband, George C. Gale, two daughters, Mrs. Edith Elkington, Northville and Mrs. Gladys Shrader, Plymouth; four grandchildren and many friends. The funeral, largely attended took place from Schradler Bros. Funeral Home to Riverside cemetery on Sunday, January 10th at 2:30 p. m. Rev. Walter Nichol of First Presbyterian church, Plymouth, officiated.

Mrs. Wilhelmine Oldenburg
Wilhelmine Beyer was born at Gramlow, province of Mecklenburg, Strelitz, Germany, on June 7th, 1845, a daughter of Carl and Fredericka Beyer. Here she was baptized and reared in the Lutheran faith.

In the year 1871 she came to America, settling down in Buffalo, New York. Here it was that on the 8th day of October, of the same year, she was joined in holy wedlock with John Oldenburg. In happiness the young couple lived here for the thirteen years following. And during these years the Lord blessed their union with seven children, two of which preceded the parents in death, one in early infancy, the other at the age of 16. In the year 1883 they came to Michigan and lived in Ionia Township until 1916, when they removed to Plymouth. Her husband passed to his eternal rest on February 13th, 1928, and ever since Mrs. Oldenburg has been living with one or the other of her children.

On Wednesday, the 6th of this month, she fell sick with influenza. The doctor who was called in considered her condition quite improved by Thursday; but on Saturday evening it was found imperative to administer a sedative. And Thursday in utter peace and tranquility, as was her expressed wish to her son, Charles, she slept away until sleep was turned into the sleep of death, Monday morning at nine o'clock. She attained the grand old age of 86 years, 7 months and 4 days, and was happy to go home to her Father in Heaven.

During her life she was a member of the Livonia Lutheran congregation for 33 years, a charter-member of that ladies' aid society, and for the past sixteen years a faithful member of St. Peter's Lutheran church of Plymouth.

The only near relative of her age surviving her is her sister-in-law, Mrs. Johanna Beyer, of Plymouth. She leaves her three sons: Charles of Dearborn, George of Ionia, and Frank of Plymouth; two daughters, Mrs. Minnie Tullman of Detroit and Mrs. Rosie Carr of Lansing, also 19 grandchildren and 31 great grandchildren.

She was laid to rest to await the summons of her Lord on Resurrection Morn, Wednesday, January 13th. The funeral services were held at St. Peter's Lutheran church, Rev. E. Hoenecke speaking to a large number of relatives and friends of mother Oldenburg on the basis of the scripture as it is found in Phillipian 1:23, words which were peculiarly true of her, especially in her last day on earth.

This again passes one whom we had learned to esteem as a true Christian, one who bore her heavy cross patiently and meekly, one who listened enraptured when he Savior spoke, one whose Bible was all to her—and one who has by this time heard her Savior's happy welcome: "Come unto me—I will give you rest! You, may she rest in peace! May her example live and may her children and all who behold strive to imitate her in that for which we loved her most: her simple, childlike attachment to her Savior, Jesus-Christ!

"Wonder" Is World's Largest Steer

E. HUFFMAN of Ericson, Neb., is shown here on the back of his purebred Holstein steer, "Wonder," which is the largest steer in the world. The animal is seven years old, stands 6 feet 2 inches in height and weighs 3,300 pounds. He is 10 feet 8 inches long and has a heart girth of 9 feet 6 inches. Huffman is preparing the steer for the Chicago World's fair in 1933, and expects to have him weighing better than 4,000 pounds by that time.

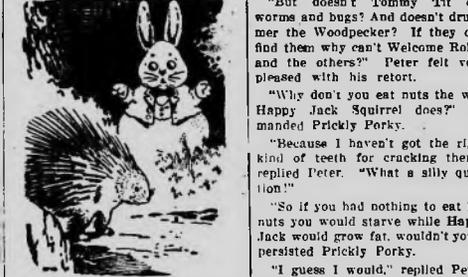

"Little Stories for Bedtime"

WHY SOME BIRDS FLY SOUTH AND SOME STAY

WHEN Peter Rabbit asked Prickly Porky the Porcupine if it was discontent that caused so many of the birds to fly away to the sunny Southland at the coming of cold weather he did it more to change the subject than with any hope of learning anything. Prickly Porky had been preaching to Peter about contentment, and it had made Peter feel a little uncomfortable. You know nobody likes to be preached to, Peter least of all. So he tried to change the subject.

Now he didn't have the least idea that Prickly Porky would really know anything about the matter. Like almost every one else he always thought of Prickly Porky as rather a stupid fellow. He is slow moving and does little but eat and sleep, and altogether is regarded by his more active neighbors as rather stupid. So Peter didn't really expect to learn anything when he asked the question. It was a matter that had bothered Peter for a long time. He never could see any sense in those long journeys which so many of his feathered friends made every year. If Tommy Tit the Chickadee and Drummer the Woodpecker, and a few others who stay all winter could stand the cold why couldn't the rest? He had studied and studied the matter without growing one bit wiser. So just imagine how surprised he was when Prickly Porky stepped eating long enough to look down at him and say to the most scornful way, as if he thought Peter the most stupid fellow that ever was to ask such a foolish question:

"Discontent has nothing to do with it. It's simply a matter of getting enough to eat. I thought everybody knew that."

"Why Don't You Eat Nuts the Way Happy Jack Squirrel Does?" Demanded Prickly Porky.

"So if you had nothing to eat but nuts you would starve while Happy Jack would grow fat, wouldn't you?" persisted Prickly Porky.

"I guess I would," replied Peter, looking puzzled. "But what has that got to do with Welcome Robin and Drummer the Woodpecker?"

"Nothing!" replied Prickly Porky. "Only Drummer has a bill for making holes in trees and in the bark where certain kinds of worms are always to be found, and where bugs hide their eggs. Welcome Robin hasn't and there you are. Drummer can find a meal any time where Welcome Robin would starve. It's the same way with Tommy Tit. He eats millions of eggs of insects, so tiny that you wouldn't be able to see them at all probably, and he finds them on the twigs of trees hidden under the bark. Welcome Robin never could fill up on those, and even if he could, he couldn't get them. His feet are not made for climbing upside down to little twigs as Tommy Tit's are. That's all there is to it. Those who can find enough to eat stay, and those who can't find enough to eat go. Simple isn't it?"

COMMUNITY NURSE TALKS OF COLDS AND HOW TO CARE FOR THEM

Members Of The P.T.A. Hear An Excellent And Timely Talk

Colds and their prevention was the subject discussed by Mrs. George Strasen, community nurse, before members of the Parent-Teachers Association at its meeting Monday evening in the Central High school. Because her talk is so timely and of such general interest at this time, the following portion of it is published for the benefit of those who were not present to hear it:

"Since colds resulted in more absences from school than any other cause, we are putting on a cold prevention program in our grade schools. The object of which is to reach the children the cause of colds, prevention of colds and what to do when you get a cold.

"First, after you hear the remark, 'It's just a cold and he will get over it in a day or two.' But if allowed to continue without attention the cold may terminate in a more serious disease such as scarlet fever, measles, whooping cough or pneumonia, as the symptoms of a cold such as headache, tiredness, sore throat are also the symptoms of many communicable diseases.

"Colds are very contagious. We have two kinds of colds, first colds that we get from unguarded coughs or sneezing or by handling articles that are contaminated by a person with cold. It is said that 80 per cent of the people in homes suffer from colds at least twice a year, and if one member of the family gets a cold, usually every one of the family has a cold before they are through with it. This is not necessary for if the person who comes down with the cold first were put to bed, isolated and given proper medical attention he would be over the cold in a day or two. Then we have colds resulting from the germ which is with us at all times, but does not harm unless our bodily resistance is lowered by undue exposure to inclement weather; by wearing unsuitable clothing; eating improper food; lack of sleep and outdoor exercise. Cold air alone never causes colds. Arctic explorers exposed to all the conditions ordinarily supposed to produce colds, do not suffer from these ailments until they return to civilization and become infected by contact with people with colds.

It is the belief of health authorities that if certain rules of health were observed conscientiously every day the number of colds can be greatly reduced. Some of these rules are:

1. Stay away from people with colds.
2. Keep your body built up by eating nourishing food, sleeping eight hours with the windows open, drink at least six glasses of water daily.
3. Keep your feet dry.
4. Breathe through your nose.
5. Live and work in well ventilated rooms. It is better for the thermometer to read 68 degrees than over 70. Overheated rooms cause more colds than underheated.
6. Dress according to the weather. Wear enough clothes to be comfortable. But when we are at home or school take off extra clothing such as sweaters, coats and rubbers.

"If extra clothing is left on our body perspires more freely and when we go outdoors our body cools off too quickly, which makes us feel chilled, this lowers body resistance and a cold is very likely to follow.

"Our activities in this program consist of:

1. Morning Inspection. (a) For colds, or signs of infections, such as coughs, flushed cheeks, running nose, (b) Send children having colds to the nurse, (c) For a clean handkerchief, (d) Clean clothing, (e) Clean hands and face.
2. Posters: Each room has made over it in a day or two. But if allowed to continue without attention the cold may terminate in a more serious disease such as scarlet fever, measles, whooping cough or pneumonia, as the symptoms of a cold such as headache, tiredness, sore throat are also the symptoms of many communicable diseases.

"During the month of December, Mrs. Root had only four people out of forty with colds, and so far this year she has had twenty-seven children who have not had colds at all. I feel this is a very fine record, as December is usually a month of colds. We hope with the cooperation of the parents to make this a banner year against colds.

Housed are they who expect little, for they usually get it.

Not all women favor birth control, but all of them are strongly in favor of birthday control.

The Old Gardener Says:

SEVERAL of the ferns, which grow wild in the woods, make very good house plants. They should be taken up after the frost has destroyed the tops but before the ground has been frozen. The next step is to set them in a large pot or a wooden tub, leaving them outside until they freeze solid. When taken indoors they will gradually thaw out and will begin to grow in five or six weeks. They will remain large and thrifty all winter if kept out of the direct sunlight and not exposed to drafts from door or window.
