

MISS ANNA SMITH EXPIRES SUDDENLY

TEACHER OVER HALF CENTURY

1846 - 1932

Death Comes Tuesday Morning While She Is Preparing To Go To Work In School She Had Served So Long.

Miss Anna M. Smith, 85 years of age and for over half a century a teacher in the Plymouth public schools, one of Michigan's most loved instructors, died suddenly Tuesday morning as she was preparing to leave for the school that she had served so well and so faithfully.

Almost up to the minute of her death she had remained at her desk in the school library. As she busied herself Monday about the school she appeared to be in as perfect health as ever, taking care of the duties that she loved to do so well.

Miss Smith became ill Tuesday morning shortly after arising. She had made her home for over 25 years with Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Draper. They realized that Miss Smith was apparently seriously ill and a physician was immediately called.

Her condition rapidly grew worse and about 8:30 she passed into the beyond, fully conscious up to the time of her death. In her talk with the doctor after his arrival she made it known that she realized that the end was fast approaching, but was happy in the fact that she had lived a well spent life.

When it became generally known about Plymouth that her long and helpful career had ended, there was genuine sorrow among the hundreds of business and civic leaders who had at one time or another been students under her.

Her passing was so sudden that it proved a genuine shock to her vast circles of friends and admirers. Miss Smith was seldom ever ill and for many years she had followed a daily routine that was familiar to every one in Plymouth. It was her exceedingly friendly spirit, her interest in everything about her, that won for her such universal admiration.

Born in Redford township in 1846, Miss Smith spent practically her entire life in Wayne county, the most of it being in Plymouth where for 56 years she was associated with the public schools of this community.

Miss Smith lived in Redford township until she was 21 years of age, moving at that time to Northville where for five years she was a teacher in the schools of that community.

Securing a position in the Plymouth schools at that time, she remained in this community where until the day of her death she was active in the education of the children of the place. With the exception of one four month period and two one-week periods, when she was ill, she had not missed a day in the school room.

Miss Smith not only was interested in the welfare of the student during school hours, but she followed them outside the school room and through their careers after school days had ended.

There is but little doubt but the wonderful influence of this splendid teacher had much to do with the successful careers of a very large number of her students, men and women who have won high places in business, professional and civic affairs.

Miss Smith lived to see a tremendous change in the public school system. In the early days she had as many as 100 students, one that having as high as 138 pupils under her direct charge.

She was a great lover of nature and not so long ago she declared that above all things she thought she liked best the study of flowers, birds and the stars.

It was her interest in this subject that caused so many of her pupils in later life to become nature lovers.

Within the past year the Women's Clubs of Michigan paid high honor to her long and splendid career as an instructor. She was the honored guest at a banquet of state leaders and club members held in Ypsilanti last fall.

Her span of life within the school room was so great that she even taught some of the grandchildren of several of her early pupils.

Miss Smith was a devoted member of the Methodist church and was present at the services Sunday. A sister, Mrs. Charles Dubiar of Northville, and a brother residing in California, survive.

MISS ANNA M. SMITH

FUNERAL PLANS

The funeral of Miss Smith will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Presbyterian church in Northville. Rev. Frank A. Lendrum, pastor of the First M. E. church of Adrian and for many years pastor of the Methodist church here, will officiate with the assistance of Rev. Harold G. Whitfield of the Presbyterian church of Northville. Burial will take place in the family lot at that place. The pall bearers will be Edward C. Hough, Hon. Paul W. Voorhies, Charles Draper, William Sutherland, W. N. Isbell and George A. Smith. The Plymouth schools will close at noon Friday so that the teachers and as many students as desire may attend the services.

"GRUMPY" HERE THIS EVENING

Ex-Service Men To Present Attraction For Your Amusement

Tonight, Friday January 22, the boys of the American Legion and the Ex-Service Men's Club present the fourth in the fifteen series at the school auditorium. Tonight's event should be the best of the series, "Grumpy" a four act show with a cast of nationally known entertainers, a show that ran in the best houses of the largest cities here and abroad and which was plagiarized as a screen success will be the offering.

The ex-service men of the community believing that a team would meet with the approval of the public and be a good asset to Plymouth, went to great expense to sign up. So far in the series, the ex-service men have failed to meet the expense involved and need to make a special appeal to the public to support this fourth event. Anyone seeing "Grumpy" will see an entertainment worth four or five times the admission price and in addition will help the ex-service men of the community dig themselves out of a financial hole.

They didn't fall you—will you fall them?

Saturday Is Last Day of 'White' Sale

Blank Brothers Department store is ending its January white goods sale Saturday. The sale according to manager Wright has been one of the most successful ever attempted and several trips have been made to Detroit wholesale houses during the event to replenish the fast selling supplies.

Attractive offers made by the store brought many customers from miles to take advantage of the savings. Hundreds of exceptional buys will be offered for Saturday shoppers and people will do well to take advantage of them.

Mr. and Mrs. William Marisham and daughter, Billy, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Herrick and Mrs. Sarah Vickery were guests Tuesday of Mr. and Mrs. Archib. Herrick.

TRIBUTES TO A NOBLE CHARACTER

The following tributes to the memory of one of Michigan's most famed school teachers, have been expressed by many of her former pupils and others who have known intimately of her remarkable work:

By E. C. HOUGH
A Student Under Miss Smith.

"In the passing of Miss Anna Smith, Plymouth has lost one of its luminaries. In her work of more than fifty years in the Plymouth schools, she has exerted an influence for good that has reached several generations, and countless people have been benefited by her contact with her in childhood. Her name should be revered and her life prove an example for future educators."

By HON. PAUL W. VOORHIES
Attorney General of Michigan and a student under Miss Smith.

"Miss Smith was my first teacher, when as a small boy I entered school. The lessons I learned from her have remained with me since that time. I refer not so much to lessons from books as I do to lessons in right thinking and right living, which were always characteristic of her teaching. Plymouth has been, indeed, fortunate in having had such a noble character as a teacher for its boys and girls for so many years, and although she is now gone, the impression she has left on those who are now men and women, and on the boys and girls who are to become men and women, will long remain. Doubtless, Plymouth will never again have a woman of such sterling character, whose living therein has meant so much and whose passing will leave such a deep feeling of sorrow."

By W. N. ISBELL
A Former Superintendent of Schools.

"In the passing of Miss Anna Smith, Plymouth has lost one of its most valuable citizens. For nearly, if not quite, fifty years she instructed the children of this community not only in the required subjects of the school curriculum, but in the highest ideals that our present civilization knows. She taught them honor, and honesty and upright living; she instilled into their minds the finest principles of truth and courage and high ideals. And dealing with the younger children as she did the impressions she made on their plastic minds was deep and permanent. Parents never need fear what kind of instruction their children were getting while under her care. They could only be too grateful to have them under the influence of one whose ideals were so high, whose thoughts were so pure, and whose life was so clean and upright. What a privilege to have such a character guiding and directing the youth of a community for so many years! Plymouth should lower its flags half-mast, close its places of business, tread softly for a time, and offer a prayer to Almighty God for the privilege they have had of having such a character in their midst and for such a span of time. Especially does this seem so in a day like this when so often life seems to be lived so carelessly, thoughtlessly and selfishly."

"Miss Smith never grew old in spirit. While old enough in years to be the grandmother of some of the teachers who worked with her, yet she was one of the jolliest of them all. She was always the center of fun and hearty laughter. The teachers were always clustering round her and her hearty laugh and sparkling eyes told how she enjoyed life and her companions in the work. She was faithful in her work, faithful to her friends, faithful to her church, and faithful to her God. How truly it may be said of her, 'Well done, good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joys of thy Lord.'"

By GEORGE SPRINGER
A student under Miss Smith.

"Miss Smith was my teacher for many years. During all her life she never lost interest in what I did. Never do I recall knowing a person that seemed so anxious to have all her students get along well as Miss Smith. Years and years after I left school she would always want to know how things were going. She was a wonderful character, a teacher that has done a world of good."

By GEO. A. SMITH
Supt. of the Plymouth Public Schools.

"The passing of Miss Anna Smith is a real loss to the community as a whole and to the boys and girls, especially, because her work of encouragement, wholesome advice and loving inspiration radiated while in charge of our juvenile library has been a heritage few schools could claim."

"Miss Smith's fifty-seven years of service to the community of Plymouth through its schools merit all the consideration which can be given at this time. To those who came in contact with Miss Smith she inspired in them a joy in learning of our great creative world and its Creator through enjoyment of flowers, birds and stars."

"Miss Smith will continue to live in industry, business, politics, and religion through her pupils whose lives she so richly endowed and in the hearts of the children and their children's children of those who have learned to love her."

By FRANK J. BURROWS
A student under Miss Smith.

"Impressions of our school days are indelibly written on our memory. Though many years have elapsed her guiding influence still dominates our lives. Not dead, but weary; gone to rest, in peaceful sleep you lie, we can but let you pass from sight, in memories dream you cannot die."

By E. K. BENNETT
A student under Miss Smith.

"Miss Smith has lived a long and useful life, one filled with kindly thoughts and actions. She had a wonderful influence on the lives of every one who went to school to her, an influence that continued long after they left the school room. She will be greatly missed as she was constantly active in community affairs."

By EDWARD GAYDE
A student under Miss Smith and former state representative.

"I know of no one who will live as long in the memory of Plymouth people as Miss Smith. She possessed a beautiful character and any one coming in contact with her could not help but benefit by the experience. Plymouth profited by her long and beautiful service in our schools."

By Attorney PERRY W. RICHWINE
A student under Miss Anna Smith.

"It is a privilege to be able to pay tribute to the memory of Plymouth's greatest public servant, Anna Smith. Her's has been a life filled with the joy of daily leadership. Three generations have shared the privilege of her sincere and devoted guidance. Even those of us who have shared her crude method of rebuke carry the memories in the most cherished corner of our hearts. She has lived well, loved many and accomplished much."

By MISS ALICE M. SAFFORD
A student under Miss Anna Smith.

"Throughout my whole life, Miss Anna Smith has been an influence for good. On my first day in school and for many days and months thereafter she was my beloved teacher. In later years when I became a teacher in the same school with her, she stood beside me with patient, kindly counsel, sometimes humorous, always Christianly."

"No one who has enjoyed an intimate acquaintance with this brave, faithful, kindly woman, will doubt that, in passing from our mortal sight, she has entered into heavenly rest and her reward for work well done."

By RUTH E. HUSTON-WHIPPLE, AUSTIN WHIPPLE

"It was Miss Smith to whom we have always been indebted for a start in the joys of ornithology. Since we were in the third grade at school, we have owed to her our love of birds. One couldn't see a rose-breasted grosbeak, a scarlet tanager, or a cardinal without thinking of Miss Smith and silently thanking her for opening one's eyes to the pleasure of knowing our feathered friends. Her love of birds, her beautiful character, and her sunny disposition will always be remembered."

TO VOTE ON CITY GOVERNMENT

Plymouth Postoffice Establishes New Record For Business During 1931 Completed Report Now Shows

The year 1931 was a record breaker for the Plymouth postoffice according to reports just completed by Postmaster Bert Giles. The total receipts for 1931 amounted to $24,796.50 as against $24,219.72 for the previous year.

Not only did the total receipts for the office increase over the previous year, but the money order business, another indication of the financial standing of a community, showed an increase.

The total money order business for 1931 amounted to $169,574.96. In 1930 the total was $141,064.09, an increase of considerably more than $28,000.

The only place a slight decrease was shown was in the number of pieces of cancelled first class mail, but this decrease was represented by less than a thousand letters.

HOTEL ELECTS OLD OFFICERS FOR NEW BANK

Annual Meeting Shows Affairs Of Concern Improved In Past Year

Fred Schrader was last Saturday afternoon re-elected president of the Plymouth Community Hotel Company, owners of the Mayflower hotel, at the annual meeting of the organization held at the hotel.

Other officers re-elected are: Charles Bennett, vice president; E. K. Bennett, treasurer; Carl D. Shear, secretary.

The above officers and the following constitute the board of directors: Stuart M. Dodge, Perry Hitchwin, Chair, Navin, George Robinson and E. O. Huston. Mr. Navin, who is manager of the hotel, is a new member of the board.

The following retired from active service on the board: John Henderson, John Larkins, Ed. Gayde and Carl Wideman.

The directors were pleased to learn that the hotel during the past year had considerably reduced its operating costs and that the financial condition was improved as a result. It is believed that the policy which has been in effect during the past year will result in a continued favorable condition during the ensuing year.

The Mayflower is regarded as one of the most beautiful little hotels in Michigan and it has added much to the standing of this community throughout the state.

NO PRIMARY IS NECESSARY AS ONLY FOUR FILE PETITIONS

Four petitions for the office of Village Commissioner, all containing an adequate number of signatures of qualified electors, were filed with the village clerk on or before January 15, the last day for filing such petitions.

The petitions were filed in behalf of Robert Altmann and Dr. Freeman H. Hoyer, present incumbents and for Harry Mumby and Oliver Goldsmith. The village charter does not require a primary election when not more than twice the number of petitions are filed for the number of offices to be filled.

The names of the four whose petitions were filed will appear on the ballots at the general election to be held on March 14.

RADIO-TELEVISION LABORATORY OPENS

H. W. WILSON LOCATES HERE TO PROMOTE THE PERFECTED RADIO FEATURES

Twenty-five years ago, if anyone had told us that we would soon be able to see plays, ballgames, moving pictures, etc. in our own homes, the most of us would have said "Impossible." Some would even think that anyone who would dare predict such a thing should consult a brain specialist, but again Science has contributed to the enjoyment and entertainment of the human race by making Television possible.

Radio and Television fans and experimenters will be interested to know that a complete Radio and Television laboratory service will be available to them in the near future, under the name of the Wilson Radio and Television Laboratories, located in the Mayflower Hotel building.

All technical work will be under the capable supervision of H. W. Wilson, who for the past eleven years, has been actively engaged in ## Commission Finds Petitions Filed Under Old Village Administration Require Question Be Submitted At Forthcoming Election.

Plymouth residents will at the forthcoming election vote on the question of whether it will adopt the city form of government as the result of the action of the village commission Monday night.

On January 5, 1931 petitions asking for the incorporation of Plymouth as a Home Rule City were filed with the Village Clerk and certified by him to the Village Commission. The State Law governing the filing of petitions for incorporation as a city requires that the Commission take no action for a period of thirty days after receiving such petitions and if a general election occurs within sixty days and not less than forty days, then the matter shall be submitted to the electors at the general election. Under the State Law it is optional with the Commission whether a special election is called, otherwise the matter is to be submitted at the general election.

The general election of 1932 which will be held on March 14 is the first general election occurring since the filing of the petitions asking for incorporation and it is necessary that the Commission place this matter before the electors at the spring election. This matter was called to the attention of the commission after a review of the laws relating to incorporation of villages as cities. The law specifically states that the commission shall submit the proposition at the first election after the petitions have been filed and after the necessary time has elapsed.

In order that the village commission and citizens of Plymouth may have an impartial report submitted on the advantages or disadvantages of incorporating as a Home Rule City, the services of the Michigan Municipal League have been engaged to make the investigation and submit a report. This survey will be started immediately and should be completed within one week after which time it will be given the necessary publicity in order that everyone can have advantage of the information contained in such report.

The Plymouth Mail will be glad when the time comes to publish all the information it can get on this matter. It will publish all signed communications dealing with both sides of the question and answer, as far as possible, any question that might be asked.

HAMILTONS SLASH PRICES

Reduces Charges on All Styles Of 22 Calibre Guns Made In Local Factory.

NOT ONLY BEST, BUT NOW LOWEST PRICED

Officials Of Company Believe That New Low Prices Will Prove Benefit To Business During 1932.

In keeping with the trend of the times, the H. J. Hamilton & Son, manufacturers of the popular Hamilton 22 calibre rifle, have announced a sweeping reduction on the prices of their guns.

The Hamilton, always a popular seller among the lovers of small rifles, can now be purchased for as low as $24.95. This is their model number 27. It is the lowest priced, reliable 22 calibre rifle on the market—a dependable gun that, with ordinary care, is good for years and years of service. True, tested from and rear sights make it easy to aim with accuracy. Weigh 2 1/2 pounds. This is the way the Hamiltons describe it.

The Hamilton Repeater is a full size, pump-action, hammerless rifle that fires 15 short or 12 long cartridges without reloading and now sells for $37.75. It has every feature that you would expect to find in a safe, fast, straight-shooting firearm—including a safety lock and automatic cartridge ejector. The barrel is accurately rifled and absolutely true. Knife pattern front sight, open adjustable rear sight. Blue-bronze gun barrel with nickel proof-bronze lining, guaranteed not to pit. American black walnut stock and forearm. Length, 35 inches. Weight, about 4 pounds.

WELLMAN GUILTY OF ROBBERY HERE

Edward Wellman, colored, Plymouth, was found guilty Monday by Judge Allan Campbell of robbing a Plymouth service station of tires and batteries valued at $275 Nov. 19. Sentence was postponed until a report is made by the Probation Department. The station is owned by Herman M. Dvorzman.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller Ross entertained Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Dykhouse and Mr. and Mrs. Hawley Cobb, Thursday evening at their home on the Ann Arbor Road in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Basow, who recently moved here from Youngstown, Ohio.

There will be a meeting of the Plymouth Child Care and Training Club at the home of Mrs. Miller Basow, Ann Arbor Road, Tuesday, January 26, at 1:30 p. m. Let's make this the best meeting of the year.

FLINT HEIRESS FINDS COMFORT

People Coming In Contact With Convicted Girl Believe Verdict Was In Error.

JURY DID NOT HEAR HER DIRECT VERSION

Local Prison Attaches Unable To Understand Why She Was Not Allowed To Testify In Her Own Behalf.

What was wrong with the trial of Helen Joy Morgan, Flint heiress just convicted of second degree murder and now confined in the Detroit House of Correction at this place, is a question every person has asked who has come in contact with the young woman prisoner since she left Flint.

Every person who has talked with her, from the minute she left the custody of Flint officials at the prison doors, is convinced that there was something wrong with the woman's trial, that she is one prisoner who does not belong where she is.

Prison officials will not be quoted on this point. It is not their practice to question the conviction of any person brought to the institution to serve time. Their duty is simply to follow out the mandates of the sentencing judge.

But from others who have come in contact with the woman, who have had occasion to hear her story, there is a feeling that her conviction was a miscarriage of justice, that if the jury had heard her story as they have heard it, she would have been acquitted without the slightest doubt.

Since the woman was brought to Plymouth, among those who have come in contact with the prisoner, the one question declared by why her attorneys did not place her on the stand so that those who had to pass upon the case could hear her version of the case.

The mother of the girl has considerable wealth. Some have suggested that the attorneys saw a possible long court fight, with appeals to a higher tribunal. It is known that in one conversation the woman has had since admission to prison, the addition of another attorney to assist in her case has been suggested as an advisable thing to do.

Following her conviction of slaying the lover who had renounced her and had threatened to kill her, she was given 20 years in prison. She was arrested from the minute she shot the man in self defense, but the jury was not given a chance to hear the story of the whole affair direct from the lips of the person most involved.

It is not often that those who have had long dealings with convicted prisoners take any interest in their cases or the trials resulting in conviction. A prisoner is a prisoner and they are most all alike—that is the general attitude. But from the minute Helen Morgan left the Gousses county jail there has been an exceptional interest in her case and amazement at her conviction. "A terrible miscarriage of justice," it was said.

The mother accompanied the daughter to the prison. When they were reunited for a few minutes before the final parting, both appeared to have steered themselves with a new courage in an effort to comfort each other.

Such a "front" could not last for long and the girl suddenly knelt sobbing at her mother's feet, begging that once more she be blessed by the mother, whose affliction of deafness prevented her hearing the testimony which sent her child to jail.

"You have been a victim, my dear," the mother moaned, "a victim of politics and the underworld." (Continued on Page 10)

Did You Know That

Carl Baldwin and Conrad Springer of Detroit were called at the George Springer home Friday.

That Mrs. Lulu Lacey's Auction sale of farm tools and cows will be held Feb. 16, Harry C. Robinson, Auctioneer.

On Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. Webster Davis of Detroit entertained guests at the Louise Mulford Hostess House.

That Harry C. Robinson, the Auctioneer, will sell for the Border Milk Products Company of Michigan, 58 head of registered cattle, Guernsey and Holstein, Jan. 29.

There will be a meeting of the Plymouth Child Care and Training Club at the home of Mrs. Miller Basow, Ann Arbor Road, Tuesday, January 26, at 1:30 p. m. Let's make this the best meeting of the year.

HE DIDN'T DO IT!

Frank H. Bell, notorious Chicago gangster who was electrocuted a few mornings ago for killing a man during a robbery said just before he died: "If I'd have listened to my mother's advice and kept on going to church, I wouldn't be here now." What a shame it is so many young fellows do not listen to the advice of their mothers. Sooner or later they pay the penalty. No crook ever lived who did not eventually pay, and pay dearly, for his misdeeds.

OUR GRAND JAG

Like any other country with an enormous supply of untouched resources at hand, we began as trading pioneers, cutting into the virgin forest, we entered in a furious episode of grabbing both fists into the treasure chest; we ended in a drunken riot of materiality.
If this long period of depression has shown anything, it has been shown that no man, no industry or no country can feel its drunk on way down the highway with a complete disregard of the well-being of others. We have discovered that to drive a competitor to ruin is to lose a cash customer.

MEN FOR THE NAVY

During the year of 1931 the Navy Recruiting Station, Detroit, which covers Michigan and Northern Ohio, enlisted 266 men. Besides the main station at Detroit, there are sub-stations at Lansing, Grand Rapids, Saginaw, Flint, Pontiac, and Toledo, Ohio. The 266 men enlisted were selected from 5476 applicants, an average of 455 per month. 4895 men were examined by the Medical Officer, who rejected 4479 as not physically qualified. Of those who passed physically and were not enlisted, some failed on the mental test, and others had police or reform school records, or could not furnish satisfactory character references. 581 applicants were not even examined, but rejected on information given in the application, such as insufficient education, police record, etc. The largest single cause for rejection of applicants was defective or insufficient teeth, including pyorrhea, which accounted for 2060, or 37.47 per cent of all applicants. Defective vision, including color blindness, came next in importance, causing 584 rejections. Flat feet, popularly supposed to be the chief cause of rejection of Navy applicants, made a poor fourth, 325 rejections. Diseases and defects of the ear, nose, and throat, 132, while defective physical development accounted for 344 rejections. The remaining physical rejections ran the gamut of human frailties, from increasing tonoids to tuberculosis.

To the layman this may mean an excessive percentage of rejections, and create the impression that the youth of the country is rapidly deteriorating, but many of the conditions causing rejection are minor, and amenable to corrective measures, and, although they might never bother a man in civil life, in the service might soon render him unfit for duty. Many applicants are unaware of the conditions causing their rejection until informed by the Medical Officer, and not a few left corrective measures, and are afterward accepted. Applicants are from every walk of life.

The requirements for enlistment in the Navy, are probably the highest of any organization in the world. The rigid maintenance of these high standards by the Navy Recruiting Service assures the pick of America's manhood in the first line of defense.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

On January 17th was the 226th anniversary of a great American who should not be forgotten amid nation's tribute to George Washington this year; for this noted American was not only a glory to our history but without him Washington might not have been able to achieve our independence.

The great American was Benjamin Franklin, who became next to George Washington, the best known American of the 18th Century. Wherever enlightened men gathered during Franklin's lifetime, they accounted him foremost in philosophy, politics, and diplomacy, and to this day his name is secure in history as that of a pioneer in science. Franklin was one of the most versatile men of our history. His clear thinking and good common sense won him fame everywhere. As for his winning personality, it proved a tremendous asset to the American cause. The final victories of Washington on the battlefield would never have been possible but for Franklin's skill in the field of diplomacy and ultimate winning of the French nation to America's side.

Benjamin Franklin was born in Boston, on January 17, 1706. The United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission reminds us. His father wanted him to learn the trade of candle-making, an occupation that he disliked so much that he threatened to revolt. To forestall his running away to sea, the boy Franklin was apprenticed to his half-brother, James, a printer; and here Franklin's rapid self-education got its start. In his brother's shop he met intelligent people, he eagerly read the best books, and he soon tried his hand at writing for his brother's newspaper, called the "first sensational sheet in America."

Quarreling with his brother, Franklin set out for Philadelphia at the age of 17, to make his own way. There he soon caught the attention of Governor Keith at whose suggestion he went to London. There, in spite of many hardships, he soon obtained employment and his agreeable personality brought him many influential friends. One of them, a Quaker merchant named Denham, offered Franklin a job in a store that he planned to open in Philadelphia. Within a short time Denham died and Franklin again was without a job, but his next step was important.

With Hugh Meredith he established a printing shop in Philadelphia and in ten years he had made it the most important business of its kind in the country. Next he bought the Pennsylvania Gazette, which soon gained a circulation of 10,000 and became one of the outstanding papers of the time. In this paper he began those pithy maxims to be gathered under the title of "Poor Richard's Almanac," which lives today in lasting fame.

Meanwhile Franklin's interest and activities had broadened in every direction. He founded the American Philosophical Society, organized the first fire company in Philadelphia, and became the city's postmaster and clerk of the Pennsylvania Assembly. His interest in science also developed, and he invented a stove and began those experiments in electricity which have made his name a household word in the scientific world.

Every schoolboy knows the story of Franklin's suspicion that the lightningbolt was simply a larger specimen of the spark he drew from a Leyden jar. He proved the likeness with his historic experiment of the kite and the key during a thunder-storm. The invention of the lightning-rod soon followed.

Franklin's diplomatic feats make too long a list for a newspaper column, but it was he who first sought to bind the Colonies together in union. He performed many saving services for the Colonies before the Revolution, and during that struggle his influence in France provided the factor that turned the Revolution to victory for America.

Even at 81, Franklin's deeds for his country were not yet ended. For in 1787 he performed the culminating service of his long and great career with the fitting act of becoming a member of the Convention that wrote the Constitution.

Throughout his life he was a devoted admirer of George Washington, and the friendship of these two men is one of the fairest pages in early American history. On his death, on April 17, 1790, Franklin willed his name to Washington, with the famous words: "My fine crab-tree-walking stick, with a gold head curiously wrought in the form of a cap of liberty, I give to my friend and the friend of mankind, General Washington. If it were a sceptre, he has merited it, and would become it."

MICHIGAN'S TREMENDOUS COST

The report recently given out by the United States Bureau of the Census pertaining to the costs of operating the Michigan state government is almost startling in its nature because of the tremendous amounts it shows that are required to operate our state government. The report is for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1930. The per capita figures for 1930 are based on an estimated population of 4,814,000.

The payments for operation and maintenance of the general departments of Michigan amounted to $63,456,045, or $13.80 per capita. This includes $22,667,170, apportionments for education to the minor civil divisions of the State. In 1929 the per capita for operation and maintenance of general departments was $13.49 and in 1918, $7.25. The payments for operation and maintenance of public service enterprises in 1930 amounted to $190,032; interest on debt, $4,521,015; and outlays for permanent improvements, $30,412,644. The total payments, therefore, for operation and maintenance of general departments and

TUNE IN!

Tune in! There's music in the air!
Tune in, with listening ear—
It's all about us everywhere.
Have we the ears to hear!
Tune in—and catch the smiles of life;
Let not your heart be sad,
Let not the turmoil and the strife
Embitter you, my Lad!

Tune in—and see the beauty, too,
Of flowers, trees and sky,
A baby's smile—and thus renew
The sparkle in your eye!
Tune in, my friend—don't stand apart—
Come, join the happy throng—
Tune in with Life—and fill your heart
With Life's defiant song!

public service enterprises, for interest and outlays were $107,569,736. Of this amount $272,537 represents payments by a State department or enterprise to another on account of services. The totals include all payments for the year, whether made from current revenues or from the proceeds of bond issues.

Of the governmental costs reported above, $33,034,406 was for highways, $7,638,514 being for maintenance and $25,395,895 for construction.

The total revenue receipts were $113,500,763, or $23.58 per capita. This was $42,343,671 more than the total payments of the year, exclusive of the payments for permanent improvements. This excess of revenue receipts is reflected in reduction of debt; also in purchase of investments and increased cash balances, not shown in this summary. Of the total revenue receipts $272,537 represents receipts from a State department or enterprise on account of services. Property and special taxes represented 49.1 per cent of the total revenue for 1930, 46.8 per cent for 1929, and 40.2 per cent for 1918. The increase in the amount of property and special taxes collected was 282 per cent from 1918 to 1930 and 25.9 per cent from 1929 to 1930. The per capita of property and special taxes collected was $11.58 in 1930, $9.42 in 1929, and $4.18 in 1918.

Warnings of general departments, or compensation for services rendered by State officials, represented 6.6 per cent of the total revenue for 1930, 7.5 per cent for 1929, and 15.1 per cent for 1918.

Business and non-business licenses constituted 37.3 per cent of the total revenue for 1930, 38.2 per cent for 1929, and 17.5 per cent for 1918.

Receipts from business licenses consist chiefly of taxes exacted from insurance and other incorporated companies and of sales tax on gasoline, while those from non-business licenses comprise chiefly taxes on motor vehicles and amounts paid for hunting and fishing privileges. The sales tax on gasoline amounted to $16,714,394 in 1930 and $14,461,396 in 1929, an increase of 15.6 per cent.

The total funded or fixed debt outstanding June 30, 1930 was $90,422,253. Of this amount $50,000,000 was for highways. The net indebtedness (funded or fixed debt less sinking fund assets) was $64,372,174, or $13.37 per capita. In 1929 the per capita net debt was $14.39 and in 1918, $2.64.

The assessed valuation of property in Michigan subject to ad valorem taxation was $9,015,297,600; the amount of State taxes levied was $43,757,436; and the per capita levy, $9.09. In 1929 the per capita levy was $7.16 and in 1918, 4.77.

Facts Nobody Knows

Among "facts nobody knows," compiled from all parts of the world by Collier's Weekly, the editors awarded first place to the following:

More than 2,000 different kinds of articles are now plated with chromium.

What is the largest palace in the world? The Vatican, with 11,000 rooms.

Human skin is so anti-septic that it kills 90 per cent of all disease germs that land on it.

An ordinary suit of man's clothing is made up of approximately 130 different pieces of cloth.

Japan recently examined 10,000,000 primary school children and found 22 per cent feeble-minded.

The average man weighs 13 per cent more than the average woman, but her heart weighs 22 per cent more.

Howlers

The esophagus is the thing the tickhorns lean on.

Truncy is something which has been proven to be true.

A sure-footed animal is an animal that when it kicks it does not miss.

One of the rights people enjoy under the constitution is the right to keep bare arms.

Secrets Of Success

Have initiative. Rats often deepen into graves.

Be exact. Slipshod methods bring slipshod results.

Work hard. Hard work is the best investment a man can make.

Love your work. Then you will find pleasure in mastering it.

Cultivate personality. Personality is to a man what perfume is to a flower.

Honesty is the best policy. Be honest, first of all, with your own conscience.

Study hard. Knowledge enables a man to work more intelligently and effectively.

Have the spirit of conquest. Thus you can successfully battle and overcome difficulties.

Help and share with others. The real test of business greatness lies in giving opportunity to others.

Be democratic. Unless you feel right towards your fellowmen you can never be a successful leader of men.

In all things do your best. The man who has done his best has done everything. The man who has done less than his best has done nothing.

Living

If we have energy for achievement, now is the time to release it. If we have worthy emotions involving others, now is the time to liberate them. Let us live worthily now. In five minutes the tide of affairs may be moving in another direction.

A crowd never cheers till the deed is done, and then, not long.

He who sells his honor for pelf crams his pockets with fool's gold.

FORCING PAY CUTS

It looks like a show-down in Detroit's city government because of delinquency in tax payments. With no money in sight, cuts in salaries loom up as a necessity. One wonders if the cut will include the high salaries of department heads. An exposure of the salary list by a Detroit newspaper only a few weeks ago, was startling in the extreme. The same, too, applies to a considerable number in state departments. Harry Izor in the Journal Express.

NOT A ROSY PICTURE

Advocates of a change want government supervision to take the place of the independent bootlegger. That will supply the man or woman who wants liquor a safe brand to drink—good liquor, as we so frequently hear about—but will it ease the loose moral complex that has come over the home of the American Drinker today? Between the "poor man's forum" where he chafed himself to problems and the looseness of the moral condition of the home of the average drinker today, give me the old forum. There the women and children were omitted from the picture, at least, even though they did suffer in the background.—Thomas Conlin in The Diamond Drill.

WORTH THINKING ABOUT

A Detroit newspaper in its picture section recently carried a large picture of "Potential Marksman." Being a group of three boy scouts, being directed by a member of the Detroit police department to qualify for marksmanship merit badges. They were armed with rifles and their target was the outline of a man hung before them on the wall. Of course, they were not allowed to shoot just at the man, but at vulnerable points, so as to kill him quick and sure. Now when you stop to think about it, isn't that an elevating, an inspiring and a most commendable thing to teach the youth of today to do? We don't imagine all of these boys will aspire to be policemen, and maybe with that experience and that confidence in a shooting iron they ought to grow up and make some of the "big shots" of today look like amateurs tomorrow. We don't imagine some of Detroit's Purple gangsters had such a careful and considerate tutoring, or that they would not be languishing in prison today. They would have shot their way out of the law.—Al Weber in The Chelorgan Observer.

FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

For the first time in his long career as lieutenant governor, Mr. Dickinson is facing top notch opposition in providing the gossip column out of Ann Arbor is correct. Two years ago former state senator, Charles A. Sink, of the Washington-Oakland district, withdrew in favor of Mr. Dickinson's renomination. He has been told this year, according to reports, that he can have a generous support for his office contingent that he made an early announcement and active campaign. Senator Sink is now mulling the thing over in his mind and friends say that he is certain to make the race which, if true, means real stiff opposition for the local man. On previous occasions Mr. Dickinson has had, speaking in a state wide sense, almost unknown opponents. Senator Sink has the acquaintance, the necessary personal character and a considerable legislative experience.—Muriel D. De Poe in The Charlotte Republican.

NOT QUITE FAIR TO FITZGERALD

The evening daily in a recent editorial criticized Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald for mulling out each week a departmental news bulletin. "The news," says the Press, "is not extraordinary and often it is merely a rebash of items previously carried by the press associations. The press services, in fact, are to be cited and disseminate any news that is worth the printing and at no cost to the state. If Mr. Fitzgerald is putting choice bits of exclusive information in his bulletins then he is 'holding out' on the press associations."

This seems to us to be rather petty fault finding with a service that the state press in general has found very readable and useful. Apparently the Press entirely overlooks the fact that this service goes to all the papers in the state, including many weeklies which do not enjoy the Press facilities as a result of owning both an Associated Press and a United Press franchise.

The press services, true enough, are eager to obtain all the news, but they have never been noted for any intense eagerness to give it away, once obtained, nor can they be blamed for that attitude.

Why confine this criticism to Mr. Fitzgerald's bulletin? The conservation department sends out two of its excellent bulletins in his name, the valuable publications of Michigan State college, and the university are also voluminous, but apparently they arouse no ire on the part of our contemporary. The average citizen will continue to feel that Mr. Fitzgerald, as the first administration member to cut his own salary and those of his assistants, has already demonstrated his very real desire to be helpful in the present situation.—George Welsh in The Grand Rapids Chronicle.

TO THE MAN OF THE HOUSE

SUPPOSE you had to do the cooking in your home, 365 days a year. Wouldn't you demand the most modern, up-to-date equipment obtainable, to help you prepare your "three a day"? You can bet you would. You'd choose equipment as modern as the machines you use in your business. And like many of those machines, your kitchen equipment would be electrical. First of all you'd choose an electric range—and your keen sense of practical value would make that range an Electrochef. You owe your wife this modern kitchen stove to help her in her work. You owe the family and yourself this better cooking. Its healthfulness is as important a factor as its utter cleanliness. Precious minerals and essential food values are retained. Meats and vegetables cook to melting tenderness in their own juices, with all their natural flavors sealed-in. Decide today to buy your wife an Electrochef electric range.

radio and was formerly Service Manager for the Milwaukee branch of the American Radio and Television Stores Corporation, and also held the position of Radio Editor for the Milwaukee Sentinel.

Mr. Wilson is very much interested in the advancement of Television and has carried on considerable experimental work along this line. He will have articles of interest to the general public in each edition of this paper. Any questions on either Radio or Television will be answered in our Radio and Television column. Address all questions to Radio Editor, The Plymouth Mail or if you wish your answer by direct mail, enclose a two cent stamp to cover postage. Your name and address must accompany each question but your name will be withheld upon request.

A complete Television Receiver will be on display in the laboratory at all times and Mr. Wilson will be glad to explain its operation to anyone interested. Amateurs and experimenters can get the fullest cooperation on anything they care to undertake along this line and are invited to consult him on any problems that may arise.

The precision instruments and testing equipment used by the Wilson Radio and Television Laboratory are the finest that money can buy and a complete line of parts and accessories will be carried in stock at all times. Nothing has been overlooked in order that they may render quick and efficient service. They will not only specialize in Radio and Television service, but also Public Address systems, motion picture short wave radios, sound recordings, intercoms, eliminating and special aeriols. Read our Radio and Television column each week in the Plymouth Mail and you may be able to better your Radio reception considerably.

PLYMOUTH COUPLE WED IN CINCINNATI

Word has been received of the wedding of Mrs. Lucinda M. Hoyt and Edson O. Huston, two of Plymouth's well known and popular residents, at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the Gibson House, Cincinnati, Ohio. The marriage service was read by a Presbyterian minister in the presence of the bride's sister, Mrs. Elmer Reichnecker of Ann Arbor and the groom's brother, Elmer Huston, and wife of Birmingham.

The bride was attractively gowned in ivory tulle with matching accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Huston left Thursday morning for Florida, where they will remain until Spring. They carry with them the best wishes of their host of friends.

Masonic Meeting Largest in Years

Past Grand Master Hawkes of the Michigan Grand Lodge of Masons was one of the guests of honor at the conferring of the first degree at the Plymouth Masonic Temple last Friday evening. The largest attendance at a First Degree communication in the local temple in years witnessed the work which was the first done by the present officers, this year. Other guests of honor included Wm. Zwalin, Worshipful Master of Farmington Lodge and Robert Coolman, Worshipful Master of Northville Lodge. Past Master R. Mettetal of Redford assisted in conferring the program both in degree work and entertainment, the first of which is to be a card party this Friday evening, (the 22nd), to which everyone is invited to play both bridge and 500. The former success of these parties insures a good time.

Jury Finds Barbers Innocent of Charge

Grant Stimpson and William Garrett, local barbers were found not guilty on a charge of assault and battery in Justice Melvin Gulley's court Tuesday afternoon.

Charges had been preferred by Louis Stevens who alleged an assault in his barber shop during the middle of December. The case was heard before a court room of interested spectators who packed the large room of the second story of the Village Hall.

The jury was out but 20 minutes, but the presentation of the case required the greater part of the afternoon.

The trial was the result of a second warrant issued in the case, the first charge having been dismissed due to a legal question as to the adjournment.

Purchasing Agent of Prison Dies Suddenly

Joseph Tallman, 41 years of age, who for 35 years had been purchasing agent for the Detroit House of Correction, died suddenly Monday morning at his home in Plymouth following a stroke suffered shortly after he awoke. Mrs. Tallman, noting that he had been taken suddenly ill, called a physician, but he died within a short time.

The family moved to Plymouth last fall when the House of Correction was transferred from Detroit to this locality. In the brief time he had lived here he had made many friends who were grieved to learn of his sudden death.

Besides Mrs. Tallman, who has the sympathy of a wide circle of friends both in Detroit and Plymouth, two children survive. Burial took place in Elmwood cemetery on Wednesday.

Chistian Science Churches

"Life" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, January 17.

Among the Bible citations was this passage (Prov. 8:1, 25): "Dut not wisdom cry? and understanding not forth her voice? For who so findeth me, shall find life, and shall obtain favor of the Lord."

Correlative passages read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, included the following (p. 167): "We apprehend life in divine Science only as we live above carnal sense and correct it. Our conscientious admission of the claims of good and evil determines the harmony of our existence, our health, our longevity, and our Christianity."

Consolidation of Townships on Way, Says Lansing Writer

Frank G. Morris, Lansing correspondent of the Detroit Press, in a special article appearing in a last Sunday's issue of that newspaper called attention to a question that is of interest to every village and township in the state. Mr. Morris in his article says:

Consolidation of local governments to reduce property taxes will be one of the principle reforms recommended to the next Legislature. It was indicated today by a report of the Michigan Municipal League asserting that more than 100 villages are taking steps to break away from township jurisdiction.

The League's report declared the villages are contemplating reorganization as fifth-class cities and that if all of the 152 municipalities eligible for such classification carry out the plan, the cost of local governments will be reduced approximately $1,100,000 a year.

Because the scheme will have a tendency to "start out" the townships which will have village revenue, proponents of more simplified government believe it will mean another step in the abolition of townships—a proposal that is being studied by a special commission appointed Gov. Wilber M. Bricker.

The Governor's commission was created to investigate the possibility of reducing taxes by changing the system of local government. It has been urged to recommend abandonment of townships and school districts and have counties operate as a single unit. Thus, instead of five units, the taxpayers would support only Municipal, County and State administrations. The commission is not expected to report until late in 1932.

Proponents of the plan scored their first victory during the last Legislative session when a law was passed compelling the counties to take over township roads within five years. With regard to removal from township jurisdiction, and the villagers breaking away to become cities, the sponsors of the movement argue that townships are doomed.

If the State Commission finds that townships can be abandoned, it will prepare suitable legislation on the subject for the Legislature. The re-incorporation of Villages into Cities has been urged by the Michigan Municipal League.

Clarence V. Smazel, business manager who has been in charge of this work, has pointed out to the villages that they can eliminate township taxes, reduce duplication of governmental work and establish more efficient administrations by following the plan the League has sponsored.

If all of the 152 villages eligible to become fifth-class cities take advantage of this right, operating costs will be reduced approximately $1,100,000 a year, Smazel said. He has estimated the savings will average a per capita reduction of $4 a year in taxes. In the villages near population centers, the reduction will be as high as $10 a year for each man, woman and child, he said.

"Duplication of work by village and city administrations is an unnecessary waste," Mr. Smazel said. "In every village the village assessor and the township supervisor both assess all of the property and prepare separate tax rolls; the village treasurer and the township treasurer each have a separate roll for the collection of taxes; all voters must register twice, once with the village clerk and once with the township clerk. These are but the major duplications.

"Besides eliminating township taxes," Smazel said, "we are very certain that by putting these municipalities under a modern charter they can save from 10 per cent to 20 per cent of their annual operating costs.

"The possible savings in Township taxes to the taxpayers of any Village upon becoming a City can readily be determined. Examination of tax payments in many townships indicates that Village property pays from $1 to $10 per $1,000 valuation per year, with an average of about $4. The latter rates are in the strictly rural townships, while the highest are in the metropolitan areas. Where townships have taken on many functions that should be delegated only to city or village governments, and where Convent roads have been built wastefully

"Our plan guards against the danger resulting from the fact that many townships have been presumed to have a valuation that actually did not exist, because of the villages within the township. In metropolitan areas especially, the valuation of one or more villages in a township may easily exceed 75 per cent of the entire township valuation; the village or villages may have used their local valuation to run up their bonded debt limit and village tax rate, and yet this same valuation is counted in for bonding purposes and taxation. Many thoughtless township expenditures of the past months have been utterly impossible. If these villages had been cities, with sound and distinct valuations, especially in Convent road expenditures.

Villages of less than 750 population are not eligible to become cities.

"VICTORY DAY" OBSERVED - DETROIT LAWYER TELLS OF PROHIBITION

The union service which was held at the Methodist church last Sunday evening under the auspices of the Women's Christian Temperance Union was very well attended. Several churches were represented, locally and from Newburg. The singing by the splendid choir of men was much enjoyed. The speaker of the evening was Robert A. Ritter of Detroit, a lawyer who is the legal adviser to the Prohibition Council. He came to substitute for Fred R. Walker, whom we were to have heard but was unable to come. Mr. Ritter gave a very good talk which was listened to with earnest attention. He said there was trouble with the liquor problem clear back in Bible times, he thinks it would be quite as wise to scrap the Ten Commandments as to repeal the 18th amendment.

At the close of his speech, Mrs. Ernest Venley the President of the local W. C. T. U. came on the platform and gave a brief explanation of the purpose of the meeting and why January 16th is called "Victory Day."

The meeting was held to commemorate the fact that twelve years ago on January 16th, the 18th amendment was adopted into the Constitution of these United States. The National Officers of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, feeling that such a decided step forward in the progress of Prohibition deserved some special attention, set aside that date, Jan. 16, as a Red Letter Day and called it Victory Day and have ever since requested all Unions to observe that day with some special service.

There will be a regular meeting of the local W. C. T. U. at the home of the Misses Pellam on January 28. Remember the date. All members please make a special effort to be present as there are some important matters to be discussed, Thursday, Jan. 28, 7:30 p. m.

Mild Winter Proves Benefit To Birds

The mild winter is giving Michigan's game birds as good an opportunity for obtaining food as they have had in any winter in years. But interested farmers, sportsmen and others are planning to establish feeding stations when the snow does arrive according to the Game Division of the Department of Conservation.

The absence of snow for an unprecedented period has made it possible for pheasants, quail and other ground feeding birds to obtain food easily and in a variety. However, when the snow does come there is again the possibility of the birds being unable to obtain food. As a result large numbers of feeding stations probably will be established about the state by those who are anxious to assure a large breeding stock next spring.

Adequate feeding stations need not be expensive the Game Division says. At swamp borders, in the brush along fences and other similar places where the birds frequent, all that is necessary is to sweep or shovel away the snow and sprinkle grain. It is necessary to tend the station after a snowfall when the snow can be brushed away again and the food supply renewed.

Shelter may be built but they are not essential. A rude "lean-to" shelter covered with burlap, brush, cornstalks or evergreens will save time since it will keep the food from being covered with snow. Birds accustomed to a feeding station will dig as much as three inches under the snow for food.

Another method is to attach ears of corn to poles or sticks placed a few inches above the ground.

NEW CHIEF FOR MILFORD BANK

At a meeting of directors of the First State Bank, in connection with the annual election by stockholders held Tuesday, M. B. Liddell resigned as president of the institution of which he has been the head for the past forty years. He also offered his resignation as director but this last has not been accepted by the board.

New officers elected are as follows: President—Henry T. Ross, Vice President—Frank S. Hubbell, Vice President—Dennis Boyle, Executive Vice President—Carl J. Eckfeld, Cashier—Elmer Field.

The board of directors includes, besides the above, Mr. Liddell and Bert Vincent.

The bank's inception occurred just forty-one years ago when Volney L. Lacer and Mark B. Liddell started a private bank here in 1892. The bank was organized as a state bank in 1911 since which time Mr. Liddell has been the president and executive head until illness this summer compelled relinquishment of the more active duties.

Mr. Liddell through these many years has entered in a marked degree the confidence and esteem of the community and his many friends cannot but regret the turn of circumstances which brings about his retirement. — Milford Times.

State Has Enough Natural Gas For Over 2,800,000 Population

Gas wells now operating in Michigan have sufficient daily capacity to furnish natural gas for all domestic uses for 2,800,000 families or approximately 2,811,000 people.

Figures obtained from the Geological Survey Division of the Department of Conservation show operating gas wells to now have a daily capacity of about 75,000,000 cubic feet.

In Michigan only 25 percent of the capacity production may be taken from a gas well, leaving present production in the state at a little more than 18,000,000 cubic feet a day. This is sufficient according to figures, to furnish domestic gas for about 234,000 families.

Most of Michigan's gas wells are located in the Mt. Pleasant field. Natural gas is now being supplied for domestic and industrial use to Midland, Mt. Pleasant, Rosebush and Clare, long pipe lines carrying the gas direct from the wells to the various cities.

There is a possibility that in the future these gas lines may be extended or others may be built to furnish natural gas to many other cities in the central and the southern part of the state.

While the natural gas is selling in the cities using it at about the same figure formerly charged for artificial gas, natural gas produced in this state has about twice the heating capacity of artificial gas. This means that only about half of the gas is consumed as when artificial gas was used.

State Plants 7,000,000 Perch In Small Lakes

More than 7,000,000 fingerling perch taken from the Boardman river, the St. Joseph river, the Cass river at Frankmunth and at the Van Etten Lake Dam were planted by the Fish Division of the Department of Conservation in Michigan's inland lakes during the year 1931, a report issued by the Division today shows.

The perch, averaging about three inches in length, were seized from the rivers as they ran in from Lake Michigan and Lake Huron and were transferred directly to the inland lakes. The large number planted was made possible through the use of tank-trucks used for the first time last year.

The Boardman River yielded the largest number of perch fingerlings, 3,160,700 being seized. A half million of these fish were taken to the upper peninsula for planting in waters in that section of the state. With probable added tank-truck equipment it is hoped that even larger numbers will be taken north of the Straits of Mackinac next year.

The Fish Division's report shows 2,490,200 fingerlings taken at Bangor or on the Black River and at Berrien Springs on the St. Joseph; 1,237,100 at Frankmunth; 123,770 at the Van Etten Lake Dam and the rest of the 7,000,000 at Traverse City on the Boardman River.

While perch are available during the fall months in practically unlimited numbers, the Division has been taking only numbers that may be practically and successfully planted. Because of the fact that the perch taken are large and more easily adapt themselves to changed waters and water temperatures, the loss through transportation and planting is believed to be small.

It is believed that the number taken from the various rivers has little or no effect on the perch population in Great Lakes waters in the vicinity since only a small proportion of the fingerlings running up the streams are taken.

NINTH ANNUAL FATHER AND SON BANQUET FEB. 16

Preparations are being made by the Hi-Y and Torch clubs for the ninth annual Father and Son banquet which will be held in the Plymouth High school auditorium on Feb. 16. This date will fall on Tuesday to make it a more convenient time for all the fathers to bring their sons. The Hi-Y and Torch clubs are working hard to make this the biggest and best banquet of the year. Mr. Walker of Detroit will be the main speaker of the evening. He is well known in these parts for his wonderful work in the Hi-Y and M. C. A. A very good program is being planned for this big banquet. Donald Proctor is chairman of the committee that will arrange the program. There will be group singing and everything that a man could enjoy. An exceptionally fine menu has been selected by Clifford Smith and his committee, and the best part of it all is that the price has been cut down to sixty-five cents a plate. In order to make this a real success the Hi-Y and Torch clubs will need the best cooperation of all the men and boys. So fathers come on and take your sons to the banquet and sons keep Tuesday, February 16 open so your fathers can take you to a gathering of real men at the Father-Son banquet.

ENGLISH 9 THEMES

This week members of the English 9 B class wrote topics suggested from pictures they had seen. Below are a few of the best which contained surprise endings.

THE ADVENTURES OF ROVER AND JACK

One day as Rover and Jack were sitting on the porch they heard Ted, their master, say that he was going for a bike in the woods with the other boys. This deeply interested them and Rover said to Jack, "Let's start out on an adventure, too."

The idea appealed to Jack and so they started down the road toward the wood as fast as they could go. After walking for quite a while they reached the woods with its tall bushy pines and oaks. They stopped to listen. Nothing was stirring but the tall tops of the trees which were swaying in the wind.

As they started down the road once more they spied a nice, long, black stick lying at one side. Now if there is anything in the world Rover and Jack enjoy it is having a tug of war with a stick and so they made a rush to see who could get it first. Reaching it at the same time they seized it in the middle with their teeth and started to pull, but here is where Rover and Jack got the surprise of their young lives, for both ends of that stick suddenly began to wave around in the air and to twist and whirl around their necks and bodies, as no other stick had ever done before.

Something was wrong, so they dropped it and scrambled to the other side of the road. As they turned around, they saw the end of the stick disappearing in the grass. Rover looked at Jack, and Jack looked at Rover. Their eyes were round with astonishment. Then Jack said, "Boy, were we lucky? That was a snake. No more tugs of war for me!"

QUEN-SEE

"Oh, Mother, that's the doll I want," cried Mary Lee. "That little Chinese doll, right there?"
"Quen-See, dear," she said. "I don't want to live with a little white girl. I want to go to a Chinese home," she sighed.

G. R.'s WORLD PEACE

Among the various programs for Girl Reserves during the semester was, perhaps most important of all others, a World Peace program in the form of a one act play. The characters played by members of the club were Mother Earth, her two daughters, Militaria and Pacifica representing war and peace, Britannicus, Orientus, and Americus, Pacifica's suitors, and Utopia, an attendant of the suitors, who represented the fundamental principles of peace. None of the three suitors won Pacifica's hand in marriage because each had selfish ideas about himself. Utopia understood the cause of peace and won Pacifica's hand. The moral of this play is that war is too well understood while we do not understand the principle of peace, neither do we give it the attention it deserves. Briefly peace is only a level surface whose true meaning we are not as yet acquainted with. The play was arranged and directed by Christine Nichol.

ANOTHER NEW STAMP ISSUE

After receiving the new Washington bicentennial stamp issue from the half-cent through the ten-cent, issued January 1 in Washington and January 2 in all other places, one is supposed to look for another issue; that to commemorate the Olympic try-outs, which appears on January 25 at Lake Placid, N. Y. and is on sale in other places that ask for it on January 26 and at Washington, D. C. This, it seems, is a customary courtesy extended by the countries in which try-outs have been held, and so the U. S. conforms. The issue comes only in the two-cent denomination and presents a picture of a ski-jumper. This issue is not expected to interfere with the one to come out during the Olympic games in the summer.

FRESHMEN ARE LEADING LEAGUE

The fourth year of class basketball is well under way. Large groups of fellows are reporting for these games. The freshmen, juniors and seniors are leading the senior league with no defeat to their credit. All the games are very close. The senior-sophomore game ended with a tie and was decided by fouls. The freshmen beat out the senior team 11-13.

Both junior teams came up from behind in the last quarter to beat both sophomore teams by a two point margin. Kenzie, an eighth grader, has taken all honors in scoring. His thirty-nine points are far above everyone else. All three eighth grade teams are at the head of their league.

Many decisive games will be played in this coming week. Games will be played at noon, four o'clock and four-thirty. The games will be played according to the same rules as previously. The eligibility rules are the same as for the varsity.

They are two leagues, the Senior and Junior. The Senior league is made up of two teams each from the four high school classes. The Junior league is composed of three teams each from the seventh and eighth grades. No one on the first or second squad is eligible to play in these leagues. Games will be played strictly to schedule and any team not ready to play at the scheduled time must forfeit the game. No player can play on more than one team. Practice makes perfect. Shields will be awarded at the honor assembly to the champions of each league.

In spite of the fact that but one year of bookkeeping is absolutely required for commercial students, there are eleven pupils entering Miss Cary's advanced bookkeeping class next semester. These eleven people started in the beginning class of 33 members last year; 22 of which have taken a year and a half of bookkeeping, and the remaining eleven starting in next semester to complete two full years.

Two years ago, when two years of bookkeeping were required, there were but ten members of the beginning class. As all commercial students are now required to take either two years of bookkeeping and one year of shorthand, or two years of shorthand and one of bookkeeping, there are some students who are taking one semester of bookkeeping as an elective subject.

ENGLISH 9 THEME

THE STORY OF THE TIGER

El Ben Si lived in the little village of Kaladgi. Kaladgi was located on a huge hill. The hill was in India. India was in the south part of the vast continent of Asia.

This huge hill was covered with a jungle. The jungle lay over the hill and much of the valley. Tigers lived in this valley. El Ben Si was not an accident with one of them. Yes! Yes! El Ben Si wrapped his thin, bony dark arms about his thin, scrawny dark self and uttered queer little "Oh! Oh!" sounds from about five and one-half inches below the place where his turban reached.

El Ben Si groped back into the dim, dark, unswart reaches of his memory and fell over a large stone. Yes, this stone was made of solid fact. That is, most of it. All but the vapor part which had leaked out of El Ben Si's imagination. But then—where does it make a good story so—

El Ben Si was creeping along the jungle that covered the hill and ran down into all the nooks and crannies and things of the valley. Tigers were there! El Ben Si had heard stories. He was there now looking for the sacred white buffalo belonging to the village. It had faded from the darkness of the night and had wandered into the jungle—perhaps down in the valley that was filled with tigers.

El Ben Si was looking for that buffalo. It would bring him a large bit of money if he found it. The valley of tigers to hunt for. Oh, yes!

There was an open space off to the left. It was an elephant pit! Was there anything in it? The pit was open. Something had broken through the false ground. Was it a tiger?

El Ben Si crept up to the jagged opening where some heavy body had crashed through. He grasped the side with both hands. He looked down. Suddenly there was a sound of breaking branches! A heavy crash, a shrill squeal of terror, a loud, roaring cough.

At this point El Ben Si himself always took up the narrative, living again that rendezvous with a tiger.

"I find myself on the ground. A tiger is there. He grins at me. He purrs. He comes over to me and coughs. He licks my face. It is the same tiger that ate Kin Tae for breakfast. I do not like it. I get angry. He licks my face again. I shove him away and yell at him. 'Why did you eat Kin Tae? Eh! Why did you eat Kin Tae?'"

He answers, "I was hungry. Kin Tae was a bad man. He deserved to die. Oh little one. Do you?"

HOW TO STUDY FOR EXAMS

During review is a good time to "catch up" on the parts of your lessons that you just "skipped over" during the first of the semester. Study during review period. Studying does not mean just looking through your books from beginning to end; it does mean organizing your material, and following that organization while you study. Take your history, for instance. The table of contents will help to a large extent. Under each chapter in the American history books, there are three divisions, all titled, "Exercises" and use the questions at the end of each chapter. If you were required to make notebooks, it would be a very good idea to know the contents of your notebook, for in it are some of the things your teacher will want you to know. Follow the same plan of study with all of your lessons.

SENIOR PROM FEBRUARY 12

The senior prom is to be held February 12. Del Dellbridge and Roy Gorrell present Bennie Kytte and his orchestra, which play over the N. B. C. network, and which will play eight pieces for the prom.

RESERVES LOSE TO NORTHVILLE 17-15

Although the Blue and White reserves showed a fighting spirit throughout the entire game, they were defeated last Friday night by the Orange and Black, 17-15. The Rocks showed an especially fast burst of speed in the last quarter to hold the Northville five to only one field goal and a free shot. The Northville players had an advantage over the Plymouth fellows because they knew Eskimo children riding on sleds drawn by dogs, for the bulletin board row. This room decorated the bulletin board in the hall with some of their best writing papers and silent reading seat work, also with cuttings of snow flakes and funny snow men they cut and gave Eskimo children riding on sleds drawn by dogs, for the bulletin board row.

Fourteen children out of twenty-one in Miss Mitchell's room received one hundred per cent in spelling for last week. They are memorizing the poem "What the Wind Brings." In language class they are studying "The Wolf and the Kid" which was told and dramatized. They made snow scenes and mounted them on blue construction paper in handwork. The children are learning simple addition combinations, such as adding one's to numbers and two's to numbers.

The children in Mrs. Wilcox's room had their eyes tested last week. Their last picture they have been studying in picture study was "Return to the Farm."

Mrs. Willman called in Miss Weherhead's room last Thursday afternoon. The children in this room also had Physical Examination last week.

The fourth grade Hygiene class in Miss Holt's room had Health examinations last week. The fifth grade Arithmetic class have been studying cancellation.

Mrs. Holliday's room have been making health posters. Some very original posters were made. The five B's are studying the story of "Robin Hood."

In Miss Fenner's room the fifth graders have been making salt and flour maps of Africa, and in Hygiene they have been making sleep posters. In Arithmetic the sixth graders have been working on percentage. The entire room colored Listerine pictures and Lillian Cool received the first prize; Junior Oaks the second; Marie McAre, the third and Louis Schaffel the fourth. Bottles of Listerine were the prizes. Mary Katherine Moon's spelling team is eight points ahead of Betty Johnson's.

The Six-A Hygiene class in Mrs. Arkison's room made health poster last week. The room received a rating of nine in Arithmetic last week.

All men stumble, some fall. Only the great ones try to get up. The color of a man's moral world is the hue of his own conduct.

"Let George do it" has never gotten anything done, by George. Those who get on in life have to "get up."

"What's the use?" is the most useless phrase on human lips.

HOW TO SPEND THAT PAY CHECK

In order that the best methods of spending money wisely might be realized, the girls in the commercial home economics class have studied various ways of buying. In discussing charge accounts, installment, checking accounts, and cash sales, the girls decided that paying cash or having checking accounts was the best method of buying. In order to become acquainted with business as it is carried on in a bank, the class made deposit slips and wrote checks between themselves in an imaginary bank. Some of the questions to be decided before spending were: What do you expect to receive? What must you buy? How much will be left? How will you choose to spend that surplus? The girls were given definite amounts as an imaginary salary. With this money they were to spend it according to the following scale as given by leading authorities on finance.

20% shelter.
15% clothing.
25% food.
25% advancement.
15% operating.

This scale might vary with different conditions, such as the physical condition of the family, number in the family, and environment.

MASK MAKING BY ART STUDENTS

One of the most interesting things that the art students have just completed is mask making. A clay flour paste is modeled into the form of a face. After this is hard, wax grease is applied, over which strips of newspaper are placed. When the mask is thoroughly dry, it is painted and the complexion and hair put on. Several very becoming ones are on display in the art room.

Another interesting study of this class is life-sketching. They have a different model each hour, therefore they average one roughly finished sketch an hour.

Free brush designs, which the pupils construct with only their brushes, as no pencil marks are allowed on the paper, and interior decorating were also studied previous to these.

ROCKS MEET LINCOLN PARK TONIGHT

The Rocks play their third league game tonight at Lincoln Park. Though not much is known of their strength it will probably be a close game.

Last year the Rocks inflicted a severe defeat on the visitors. The score was 29 to 4. Besides, the Rocks won from the Park riders in football so the opponents have a double reason for wanting a victory.

If you do not like your world, make yourself a new one. A thought will do it.

ROCKS SWAMP NORTHVILLE IN LAST SUBURBAN GAME

Playing before a large enthusiastic crowd, the strong Blue and White quintet overcame their ancient rivals 34-29. This game was the last Suburban League classic between the two schools. Captain Carley, Plymouth's dependable forward, was out of the game on account of injuries to his leg.

Many sensational shots and plays by both teams featured the game. Plymouth showed remarkable superiority on foul shots and fast follow-in baskets. The Rock defense was very strong and only in very few instances did Northville get a chance at the basket within the foul line. Northville managed to make several baskets from the center of the floor. Du-senberry starred for Northville by making five baskets and three foul shots. He did not start and when he was put in towards the end of the first quarter, the Northville stands went almost wild. Williams and Gates starred for Plymouth. Their guarding up with two baskets. Northville was put in the game. He scored a long basket shortly afterward. Gates and Williams finished scoring for the first quarter by two beautiful baskets. Score Plymouth 12, Northville 2.

The second quarter was featured by fast passing and brilliant shots. Du-senberry managed to sink two baskets and a foul shot. Gilles was substituted for Levandowski and shortly afterwards he scored a basket on a fine pass from Blunk. Williams and Gates each scored in this quarter and Blunk got a foul shot. Score Plymouth 19, Northville 9.

During the third quarter the game was somewhat slower down. Plymouth was outplaying Northville, but every once in a while Du-senberry would break away for the basket. Plymouth missed one foul shot in this quarter which was the only thing that marred Plymouth for a perfect score on fouls. Gilles made the final basket of the game. The whole team showed remarkable playing and cooperation. Championship hopes are still pretty high.

THE STENTORIAN WOUGH

The Wough (pronounced "wow" as in fish), or Antarctic Sea Camel, is an aquatic animal feeding on wild penguins and waffles, and causes great havoc among these creatures. It has an enormous voice incorporating the latest orthopedic principle and is continually using it. Due to the cold and inclement weather, it is rather despondent and once considered taking up New Thought, but was unable to go into the sciences. It sheds its hide whenever the temperature goes above eighty degrees. A double peanut with the muzzle shredded for whiskers and toothpick tusks attached make up the head and neck of the beast. The body is a fibert and the feet split almonds. Dipped in pale blue paint and placed on a bit of orange ice, the wough makes a very nice color scheme. (© Metropolitan Newsman Service.) (WNU Service.)

THREE GOOD THINGS

HERE are recipes for three especially tasty things to eat: Raisin and Date Salad.

Cover one package of orange gelatin with one and one-third cups of boiling water, cool, add one cupful each of seeded raisins and dates cut into small pieces, and one can of pineapple. Pour into the molds and chill in the refrigerator. When molded turn out on lettuce and serve with mayonnaise dressing.

Sweet Potato Muffins.

Add one tablespoonful of shortening, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt to one cupful of mashed sweet potato. Add one and one-fourth cups of scalded milk and when lukewarm add a dissolved yeast cake which has been softened in a bit of cold water. Mix with enough flour to handle lightly and knead. Set to rise until double its bulk, then make into small balls and place in a well greased pan to rise. Brush well with softened butter or any sweet fat to prevent drying of the top; this will allow the muffins to rise more quickly. Bake when doubled in size in a moderate oven.

Chicken Salad.

Add enough of the jellied chicken broth to moisten the finely cut chicken breast and a dash of highly seasoned french dressing. Cut up tender almonds, using an equal amount of celery and chicken. Turn into small molds to become firm. Serve on lettuce. Garnish with capers and hard-boiled egg.

NEW FORD CAR SOON READY FOR MARKET

Residents in Plymouth and this section of Wayne county will be interested in the following article taken from a recent issue of the Michigan Manufacturer pertaining to the new Ford car, which is said to be nearly ready for the market.

Significant in its effect on the unemployment situation in the Detroit zone, as well as its moral effect upon the entire automotive industry, was the revelation this week that the Ford Motor Company River Rouge plant began production for 1932. Speeding up of the assembly lines in the big plant now is giving employment to in excess of 50,000 men, it is said, with more being called back to work daily, after lengthy lay-offs.

It is understood that three shifts are being employed, that the plant is operating day and night on the initial run of the refined Model A cars, and that production of bodies in the Ford plant, aside from those produced by Briggs and Murray companies, is running better than 200 a day. The new line was expected to have its initial showing at the company's New York show room on Friday or Saturday of this week. The new V-Eight, reported as having approval for production, is not expected to make its appearance until late February or early March.

Ford is sending out thousands of post-cards calling back former employees, especially qualified in certain lines of Ford production. Many of these workers have not been employed for almost a year past. This is taken to indicate that the company has undertaken to rebuild its production facilities to a more normal level with the prospect that some 75,000 will be on the payroll by the time the reported new V-Eight is in production.

With 50,000 men employed at a base wage of $6 a day, five days a week, the Ford company is contributing approximately $1,500,000 a week toward the restoration of purchasing power in the Detroit area.

The steel industry hears that Ford has released some contracts to parts makers, and these companies have placed steel orders; but no important tonnage has come directly from the Ford company, whose schedule for volume production of new models may not get fully under way until late February or March. The company is known to have installed one steel company at Ypsilanti to delay deliveries on bookings of sheet and strip metal until March instead of January and February. Orders for 70,000 brake band assemblies have been let.

If Ford is going to make an Eight it is conceded that it will take several weeks to get the plant in shape to handle it, even though the new motor may be designed so that it will be interchangeable with the Four. In the same chassis, Gossip in automobile circles is that the V-Eight is an assured thing and that the bodies for both the Four and Eight will be three inches longer in wheelbase. Present length of the Model A is 103 1/2 inches. A V-type radiator, slanting windshield, some form of engine cushioning to produce the effect of floating power, an automatic clutch and possibly some development of free wheeling are expected in the new Ford lines.

Ford has done much in plant equipment changes calculated to cut down cost of production. One of these changes is said to be the installation of giant presses which stamp out the entire body with but a minimum of welding operations.

There is considerable curiosity as to the probable price range of the new Fords. The present range is $430 to $640. In view of the many economies effected by Ford during recent months in wage savings, power production and utilization and mechanical operation, it is presumed that there may be some revision in the price range favorable to the buyer. In this event, speculation is that the Four will be lowered in price and the Eight will probably be offered at slightly higher prices than level for the Model A.

Whatever Ford does in 1932 in the way of improving its lines as a means of stimulating sales, the automotive trade believes that the eventual disclosures will exert a beneficial influence all around by the elimination of uncertainties and the release of new buying power.

ROAD WORKER IS BADLY HURT

M. R. Cook, teamster on the construction gang working on Grand River was severely injured on last Monday afternoon when struck by an automobile driven by a man who gave his name as William Barron of Indianapolis, Ind., while enroute to Detroit.

The accident occurred near New Hudson while Cook was driving his team hunched in a wheeled scraper across the road. It is stated by witnesses that the car was approaching rapidly and failed to heed the signal of the flagman on duty. Cook was taken to Mellins hospital, Brighton, where his injuries are reported as a bad scalp wound, cuts about the face and one ear torn loose. Barron was taken to the county jail at Howell by Deputy Robert Phillips to await outcome of Mr. Cook's injuries. He and also a passenger riding with him were undamaged.

Books On Russia At Plymouth Library

Without doubt the eyes of the world are today focused more directly upon Russia than upon any other country. Her Five Year Plan has created much comment and some anxiety on the part of all of us. Her experiment is so different from anything any other country has ever tried, with emphasis on the material rather than on the spiritual side. We cannot afford to be unwilling to learn other sides of the question of the situation in Russia. The Plymouth Library has the following books on Russia:

QUIET STREET by Michael O'Saughin. In a quiet street in Moscow there lived a lovable old professor with his grand-daughter. This story of the changes wrought by the revolution in their cultured sheltered lives is told with deep understanding and justice. The character drawing is admirable.

EDUCATION OF A PRINCESS, by Marie, grand Duchess of Russia. A cousin of Nicholas II tells her own life story. She was brought up by her aunt, sister of the Empress, within several palaces, yet never experienced a natural home life. She experienced one tragedy after another—the banishment of her father, assassination of her uncle, her marriage with Prince William of Sweden, the war, the Russian Revolution, and the dissolution of the Romanoff family. She is working in New York now.

SOVIET RUSSIA, by William H. Chamberlin. The most accurate, comprehensive and impartial description of the Soviet Union that has yet appeared in English. It should take its place as the authoritative work until its inevitable displacement by a historian equipped

K. of P. Lodge Has Public Installation

In a Hall beautifully decorated with palms, ferns, artificial rose buds and "Mums" the Pythian Sisters and the Knights of Pythias installed their officers before a crowd of nearly 250 people.

When every conceivable chair had been taken, Forbes Smith, attired as a Herald, assumed his position as Bugler and called "assembly."

The regular officers then marched in and took their places and the meeting was called to order by Chancellor Commander Davis.

After the opening ceremonies and invocation by Rev. Norton, the meeting was turned over to installing officer Mildred Jewell and her efficient staff.

While the installing staff were getting into costume, Harold Joffe amused everybody by his introduction in song to the officers of the lodge.

The closing ceremony, which is always impressive in a Pythian assembly was very colorful. As the flag was being carried to the altar, the entire audience rose to their feet and remained rigidly at attention during the presentation of the flag at the altar and the playing of "Taps."

NEWBURG

Rev. Frank Pardy's text Sunday last was taken from Matthew, 23: 25. Fine interest is shown in Sunday school. There is great need of more Sunday school rooms; plenty of room in the church basement, which can be done as soon as the different Society's can raise money to do the work.

Epworth League attended the Temperance Victory Rally in the M. E. Church at Plymouth, Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Elton Meyer are the proud parents of a seven-pound baby girl, Margaret Jean, born Wednesday, January 13, at Dr. Atchison Hospital, Northville.

A very pleasant event occurred last Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edna Guthrie when she entertained 21 ladies in honor of Mrs. Samuel Guthrie.

Norman Karanda was klicked last Saturday by a riding horse owned by his grandfather, Mr. Elmer Flint. Sunday morning he was taken to Ann Arbor Hospital. It was found two ribs were fractured and two small blood vessels were ruptured.

Miss Anna and Ada Youngs motored with their brother Ed and family to Albion Sunday, P. M. where they have a nephew attending college.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ryder and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smith called on Mrs. Elton Meyer Sunday p. m. at Atchison's Hospital in Northville.

Mrs. Ida Thomas underwent a major operation at Ford Hospital last week Tuesday. Her many friends will be glad to know she is nicely convalescing.

Rosedale Gardens

Mrs. H. Eggleston of Melrose Ave., president of the Ladies Altar Society of St. Michael's church entertained at a picnic and party for the benefit of the church, Thursday evening, January 14. The party was a decided success there being sixty-five people present.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Burton and children and their home guest Mrs. McQueen spent Sunday January 17 in Toledo the guests of Mrs. Burton's aunt there.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Burton of Ingram entertained Mr. and Mrs. John Albright and Mr. and Mrs. A. Blech of Detroit, Saturday evening at bridge.

HAMILTONS SLASH

The Hamilton Single-Shot Rifle is a dependable gun that shoots with the same accuracy as rifles that cost several times as much and the price has been reduced from $3.25 to $2.90.

The Hamilton Safety Bolt-Action Rifle has many exceptional features. An efficient safety device prevents it from being discharged by an accidental blow on the bolt or cocking device.

While the installing staff were getting into costume, Harold Joffe amused everybody by his introduction in song to the officers of the lodge.

FLINT HEIRESS FINDS

The reserve was broken. Both women wept, but there was no hysteria. Mrs. Morgan urged Capt. Edward Denniston, head of the House of Correction, to see her daughter.

"Take good care of my girl," she begged, and the pair parted. It was Helen Morgan, a prisoner, whom the mother left behind her—a young woman forced to go through the customary examination of prisoners.

"I would like to do office work here," she broke in once. "I have had some bookkeeping experience and I can type."

"I am a victim of circumstances, but the matter will be straightened out," she added. "Then mother and I will go to California."

"Some people thought I was hard-boiled because I did not break down when they showed Les' bullet-riddled garments," she commented. "How could they expect me to be unhappy? I was thinking it was only by the grace of God they weren't my garments, torn by bullets."

Capt. Denniston described her as "an intelligent type who should be a model prisoner." He turned her over to Miss Anna Whaley, matron of the Woman's Division.

"I'll put my money on the young fellow who burns the 'midnight oil' rather than the midnight 'gas.'"

FIRE DOES DAMAGE TO HILLMAN GARAGE

PLACE JUST OPENED BY JACK DAVIDSON—CARRIED NO INSURANCE

Fire Monday night did considerable damage to the garage building at 305 South Main street owned by Floyd W. Hillman and just recently leased to Jack Davidson of Detroit who had opened a sales and service agency in the building.

When discovered the flames were shooting through the roof near where a furnace had been installed. The fire department was able to confine the blaze to that portion of the building where the fire was discovered, although before extinguishing the flames the roof had been badly injured in one place and some loss to equipment was suffered.

CHARITY BALL AND FESTIVAL

The Emergency Relief Charity Ball and Festival sponsored by the Civic Pride Association of Great-Detroit will be held at the Masonic Temple at Second and Temple Avenues, Detroit, Friday, January 22. Dancing will be in the Crystal Ball and Fountain Rooms, music furnished by Jean Goldkorn, Del Hedbridge and Gertrude Ostris.

Several young people motored into Detroit Tuesday evening where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harmon for an evening of bridge.

Last Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. William Hodson delightfully entertained the scout leaders of this district at their home in Rosedale Gardens, Orlo Owens of Northville, Mr. Loomis of the Wayne County Training school, Mr. Clark of Rosedale Gardens, and Sidney Strong, Claude DeKhone and Ernie Hoey of this place.

Don't Get Up Nights

Physic The Bladder With Juniper Oil

Drive out the impurities and excess acids that cause irritation, burning and frequent desire. BUCKETS, the bladder physic containing Juniper oil, huchu leaves, etc., works on the bladder similar to castor oil on the bowels.

Any race well begun is half won.

Parents Of Local Man Celebrate 64th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. McCullough of Northville, parents of Wm. D. McCullough of this place, and C. A. McCullough of Northville celebrated their 64th wedding anniversary last Sat., Jan. 16th.

Sunday they were given a pleasant surprise by their relatives and friends in honor of the occasion, and a beautiful anniversary dinner was enjoyed by all.

Mr. and Mrs. McCullough are highly respected and much beloved citizens of Northville, having resided there for the past 43 years.

Stop That Cough Quick!

Men, women and children everywhere are amazed at the quick results from the first swallow of Thoxine—a doctor's famous prescription. Acts like magic, on a new principle. Stops the cough at once and goes direct to the internal cause preventing further trouble.

Taken before retiring Thoxine absolutely prevents night coughing. It gives the same speedy relief for sore throat, too. Safe for the whole family—guaranteed no dope. Money back if not satisfied. 35c. Dodge Drug Company and all other good drug stores.
