

PIONEER DAY IS REAL EVENT

Daughters Of The American Revolution See Old Styles

The Sarah Ann Cochrane chapter Daughters of the American Revolution celebrated Pioneer Day at the home of Mrs. R. E. Cooper on Penniman avenue, Monday afternoon, March 21st, many of the members being attired in dresses of pioneer days.

Mrs. E. J. Savage of Detroit displayed two dresses, velvet and glass earrings, brought from Vermont by her ancestors, one of heavy silk made entirely by hand. One lady wore a dress with a heavy quilted petticoat and others very beautiful heavy silk dresses of old time style. These ladies dressed their hair in keeping with the costume. Mrs. Dabarr of Northville, with the customary, in those times, curls over one shoulder.

Mrs. Dwight T. Randall, regent, presided over the business meeting, during which the chapter voted to support certain bills now before Congress concerning immigration, communists, also concerning goods manufactured by foreign labor in the United States.

Mrs. Roger Vaughn read several letters of thanks and appreciation from the different libraries which the chapter had presented with typed and indexed copies of the cemetery records of the cemeteries of Northville, Plymouth and Livonia townships.

The program prepared by Mrs. Cecil Bryan and announced by Mrs. Harrie M. Baker, vice regent and chairman of the program committee, consisted in part of stories and anecdotes of the pioneers of Michigan told by Mrs. Wm. Roe of the Dunning family and by Mrs. Donald P. Verkes of the James Purdy family.

Mrs. Baker then introduced the guests of honor, Mrs. Edward J. Goetz and his family, state registrar and Publicity chairman who read parts of the stories sent to her by various chapters throughout the state, telling of the experiences of the early settlers of these then "western" states; their life among the Indians; the mode of travel; their hardships in establishing homes in this new country among the Indians and wild animals in the dense forest. One especially interesting point was brought out—that those who came here from Rochester, New York and settled north of Detroit, found their settlement healthier or "fitter" according to the city from which they came. One hundred years ago in 1832, there were only about 5,000 inhabitants in all Michigan, stated Mrs. Savage, or only about as many as there are now members of our society, the D. A. R. and in 1835 there were only fourteen houses in Ypsilanti as told by some of the descendants of the pioneers. Mrs. Savage closed her story of the program by reading a story written by Mrs. Sedon for Mrs. Foster, regent of Gen. Richardson chapter of Pontiac, telling of the capture by Indians of a mother and two children and the scolding and murder of the father, the mother and one of the children being retained five years later in the fort at Detroit. These stories are to be published in book form and placed in libraries for their educational value.

The D. A. R. is also interested in the fund and the unemployed, one of the most noteworthy being the concert given in Memorial Continental Hall in Washington, D. C. and sponsored by Mrs. Herbert Hoover by Ignace Babrowski, as the D. A. R. contribution to the National Unemployment Fund. This is one of a series of concerts being given by Babrowski for this fund.

Before the meeting of Monday, Mrs. Dwight T. Randall, entertained at luncheon, Mrs. E. J. Savage, State Consulting Registrar and Publicity chairman, Mrs. Carl Bryan of Northville, chapter Registrar, Mrs. Harrie M. Baker, Vice Regent, Mrs. George H. Robinson, chapter Publicity chairman, and Mrs. Allen W. Barron of Highland Park.

Cummings when he went into the service was sent to Camp Cody at Denning, New Mexico where there were over 100 Indians in the 12th Infantry of the 34th division.

Ewing in his letter to Cummings, declares that there is little work in his home town of White-belt, Nebraska.

"Maybe when the weather gets warmer there will be some work. We sure have had a tough winter. It has been cold and plenty of snow since around Christmas time," he writes.

Charter Commission Has Perfected Organization For Its Work

The Charter Commission elected on March 14 for the new City Charter met at the Village Hall, Friday evening, March 18.

The members took the oath of office and immediately organized by electing Wm. J. Burrows as chairman. The commission decided to meet at the Village Hall each Monday afternoon at 4:30 p. m. and each Thursday evening at 7:30 p. m. and at such other times as called by the chairman.

It is the desire of the charter commission to complete the work of drafting the new charter and submit it to the electors at the earliest possible date in order that Plymouth can operate as a city without any great delay. The village commission to operate under the old charter and the township continues to function in the village until the new charter is approved. This should be done not later than the month of May in order that the assessment roll can be reviewed by the County Equalization board and assignments made for the collection of state and county next winter.

The village officials are reviewing the old village charter with the idea of using as much of it as advisable in the new City charter.

SET STAGE FOR PLYMOUTH'S ANNUAL HOME EXPOSITION

STATE POLICE ISSUE WARNING

Farmers and store keepers in Plymouth and other outlying sections have been warned by Oscar G. Olander, commissioner of public safety in Lansing, to use every precaution against possible robbery. Commissioner Olander has deemed the general public warning of necessity because of the fact that gangsters in recent weeks have been turning their attention to better opportunities for robbery that exist in the country and the smaller places.

The commissioner states that not only have things turned their attention to the rural sections because of the greater ease with which robbery can be committed, but because of the fact that times have learned that many people are now hiding money about their homes.

Complaints of burglaries and safe breaking, sometimes accompanied by physical torture, are on the increase due to the growing practice of keeping cash in home safes and strong boxes rather than in banks, he said. Mindful of this the gangsters have turned from the cities where communication is good, where radio cars speed to the crime in seconds and where people have learned to keep little or no cash on hand, and have turned to small communities where communication is more difficult and protection is of course weaker, he said.

As evidence of this he pointed to the arrest by State Police and sheriff's deputies last week Wednesday evening of four Detroit men charged by the officers with lying in wait to rob a wealthy farmer near Kingsford, Mich. The farmer, Peter Winkiewicz, had $2,200 in a home safe.

According to the information received by Capt. Ira H. Marmon which led to the apprehension of the quartet, the men had heard the farmer had $7,000 in his safe. A loaded pistol from which the men had used fire and a new clothes line were found in the car.

Capt. Marmon and Detective Harold Mulbar went to Caro, Mich., this week to question the prisoners further and confer with Sheriff James Kirk and Prosecutor Maurice Bausford, of Tuscola County, to consider the issuance of warrants charging illegal possession of firearms and conspiracy to rob.

A check of stories told by the arrested men has proved them to be untrue, according to Capt. Marmon.

Police records show that Bruno Wronkowsky, 31 years old, 276 Lehigh street, Detroit, had been convicted of robbery; that Kazina Sawicki, 36 years old, 6726 Clifton avenue, had served time for felonious assault and been arrested several times for robbery; and that Clemon Chermiewski, 48 years old, 1228 Mason street, had been convicted of robbery and been arrested several times.

The robbery of Mr. Fisher early in the winter at his home on Ann Arbor road just outside of Plymouth has never been cleared up. This is another case where his home was forcibly entered and his home ransacked after he had been choked and dragged into a room west of the house.

Two men Monday afternoon in light blue coats, one of them in the light blue coat at the corner of the First and Telegraph roads and robbed the owner of all the cash he had in the store. No content with taking what cash they could find, they removed a shotgun that he had in the place. Due to the fact that they had no telephone in the place, there was a considerable delay before he could notify Deputy George Springer of the robbery. No arrests have been made. The men made their getaway in an automobile.

Mrs. Nellie Moon has been confined to her home by illness.

Mrs. Harry Mumby and Mrs. Harry Durant entertained the Ladies Auxiliary of the Ex-Service Men's club at the home of the former Tuesday afternoon, March 22. Mrs. Earl Gray received first prize Mrs. Roy Crowe low prize and Mrs. John Miller, horse prize. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

There will be a meeting held Wednesday, April 6th, 7:30 p. m. at the City hall for the purpose of electing a president, secretary and treasurer, and for the formation of a League Schedule for the coming base ball year. Special notice is given to the various managers and players of last year's teams. Any new teams wanting to enter the League kindly have your representatives there.

Chicken Thieves In Two Raids On Same Farm Within a Week

Chicken thieves not content to take just 50 of the new big fat barred flocks belonging to Ray Powell at his home northwest of Plymouth on the Town Line road, came back last Sunday morning and took the remaining 60 they had left on their previous visit.

The thieves first visited the Powell place last week Thursday night, taking half a hundred chickens from the pens.

The matter was reported to Deputy Sheriff George Springer and while he was investigating, they returned and took the remaining 60. Mr. Springer has been able to secure a clue which he thinks will produce results.

As a special privilege to the boys and girls and the teachers of Plymouth High School who accompanied the High School Orchestra and allied organizations played a fine concert which was enthusiastically received and very much appreciated by the attendants and patrons of the Wm. H. Maybury Sanatorium.

The Goodfellow Club at the sanatorium served the Orchestra, Quartettes, and Rotarians with a splendid lunch before they returned to Plymouth.

The occasion of the visit of the Music Department of the Plymouth High School to the Sanatorium each year is one that is anticipated in advance by all who go, and from the applause that the music received, the anticipation is probably mutual.

Play Ground League Plans For Summer

Special notice to the players and fans of the Plymouth Play Ground League is of more than ordinary interest.

Fisher Named Crop Loan Chairman For All of Wayne County

R. A. Fisher, cashier of the Plymouth United Savings Bank, will be the county chairman of the Crop Loan Committee appointed by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Loans are to be made for crop production only and are made only to those who farm the last year. The idea is simply to help out those who are actually farming and need extra help this year and is not intended to help set anyone up in the business. Application blanks will be in this week.

Additional information may be secured by Mr. Fisher or of Ralph Carr, County Agricultural Agent, Dearborn.

The commissioner states that not only have things turned their attention to the rural sections because of the greater ease with which robbery can be committed, but because of the fact that times have learned that many people are now hiding money about their homes.

Complaints of burglaries and safe breaking, sometimes accompanied by physical torture, are on the increase due to the growing practice of keeping cash in home safes and strong boxes rather than in banks, he said. ## "Fixer" Is Jailed In McCardle Case

Charged with attempting to collect money from Thomas McCardle, a Northville, who formerly lived in Plymouth, to keep McCardle's two sons from being sentenced on robbery charges, Earl G. Desmore, 1128 Fourth avenue of Detroit is held at the County Jail.

The sons, James and Robert McCardle, 18 and 22 years old, with William Springer, 17, have pleaded guilty to the charge of kidnaping in the McCardle case, and are being held pending a report from the protection department.

McCardle went to William J. Binkingham, assistant prosecutor, last Friday, and told him that on Feb. 20 a man who said he was Dave Harris called him and said that girl friends of the boys had asked him to do what he could for them. McCardle met Harris, who proved to be Desmore, at Grand River and Trumbull avenues, where Harris said he had influence in Recorder's Court, that for $50 he could get the boys out of the protection department from the prosecutor's office, and have it understood, and that with $30 he could settle with the complaining witnesses so they would not testify.

McCardle did not pay him any money but Friday gave Bankingham the man's telephone number. The address was located, McCardle called the telephone number and while Desmore talked to McCardle the police entered and arrested him.

Desmore confessed, but claimed that McCardle had come to him and asked for help.

Mrs. McCardle called the police and told them that she had been called by a man who said he was Dave Harris and that he had asked her to do what he could for her boys. She told the police that she had been called by a man who said he was Dave Harris and that he had asked her to do what he could for her boys.

CONGRATULATIONS

Plymouth residents can congratulate themselves upon the representative citizenship it has elected to the charter commission. It is indeed a fortunate thing for any community when its leading business and professional men and women will give their time and energy to a solution of local problems. Possibly this answers in a way why Plymouth is one of Michigan's outstanding and thriving little cities. There is no question but what in the preparation of the new fundamental law for the city we will soon be that a commission composed of such men and women as elected at the recent village election will serve the best interests of the entire community at all times. In the adoption of the city form of government there is little doubt but what Plymouth has taken a forward step, both economically and otherwise and there is not the slightest question but what the new charter commission will see to it that there will be nothing injected into the document that the community will ever regret. Again The Mail desires to congratulate the voters of this city upon their charter commission selections and to commend the members for their willingness to serve in such an important but thankless task.

WHY NOT?

Plymouth has for many years watched the successful career of one of its former local attorneys with more than ordinary interest. From village attorney to prosecuting attorney of Michigan's greatest county, special prosecutor in one of the greatest grand jury probes Wayne county ever had, then attorney general, in brief tells the career of Paul W. Voorheis. Is it presuming too much for his old hometown paper to suggest that no greater service to the state of Michigan could be rendered than by elevating Mr. Voorheis to the supreme bench of the state at the next opportunity? He is equipped by education and training and he has every quality that a worthy supreme judge should possess. Everyone knows that it would be a sacrifice on the part of Mr. Voorheis in a financial way to accept such a position, but the honor of being a supreme judge of a great state is in itself compensation of a considerable amount. The Mail would be pleased to see such a thing happen at the first opportunity offered.

THE LEGISLATURE

Within the next few days the Michigan state legislature will convene for the purpose of giving consideration to the tax burden of the state and devising if possible, ways to relieve that financial obligation the taxpayers of the state are finding it difficult to carry. Just what Governor Brueker will recommend that the legislature give thought to has not been revealed. The governor during the one session that has been held under his administration took no leadership in legislative affairs and refused to have any part in matters before the lawmakers of the state. Whether this was for the good there has been considerable argument. It is needless to say that the session was one of the longest and most fruitless ever held in Michigan's history and many say it was due entirely to the fact that the governor did not and would not assume leadership that his official position gives to him. It is our hope that some good will come from the present session, that some plan will be devised whereby the taxpayers of the state can be relieved of the burden they are finding it difficult to carry. Governor Brueker is in a position to give to the state a service that will be of everlasting benefit. It is the hope of every loyal Michigan resident regardless of political faith that he will do the thing that seems for the best interests of the greatest number.

JUST SOME OLD MAN

Who is dead?
 Did you ever ask that question when you heard the tolling of the church bell?
 And if you did, did you receive the answer:
 "Oh, it's some old man."
 Yes, just some old man.
 Even his face is no longer remembered.
 His face may or may not have been familiar upon the streets of the town he inhabited.
 He was just an old man.
 Ah, the irony of fate.
 It is not long since the old man you bury today was young, ambitious, and just as handsome as you are.
 He, too, then replying, "Oh, some old man."
 The same old query and the same old answer.
 Generation after generation it is "just some old man."
 Some day you too will be "some old man."
 Just some old man.
 It does not seem possible, does it?
 It certainly can't be that you, the handsome, well dressed, perfectly groomed, smart, clever, cunning, cock-of-the-walk will be "just some old man."
 Well, we'll admit that it does not seem probable and that Providence should make an exception in your case.
 But the exception won't be made.
 Nature is as exact as the multiplication table.
 And Providence has pretty much gone out of the exception business. So you better make up your mind that some day you will be just some old man.
 "Oh, it's so disagreeable."
 Yes, we know but we can't change it.
 So when you hear the church bells tolling and you ask, "Who is it?" and the answer comes back "some old man" just say to yourself: "There's my funeral if I live a few years more."
 Yes, there it goes.
 See how they hurry!
 They want to get the old man stored away as quickly as possible, that they may go back to their business and their pleasure.
 The casket is lowered. The minister says "Dust to dust."
 It's all over and the crowd scrambles home again.
 "Whom were they burying today?" you ask, as you see the empty hearse return.
 "Oh, some old man."
 When you hear that just say to yourself, "some day I'll be that 'some old man'."
 Yes, in spite of all the fuss and all the feathers, you will be just some old man.—Gunnar Bjornson in Minnesota, Minnesota, Mascot.

WHO SHOULD BE THE BOSS?

I wonder who should be the boss,
 The husband or his spouse?
 Which one, I ask, should have the task
 Of governing the house?
 And now, I hear some man exclaim:
 Why, that's as plain as day—
 "I'll answer that right off the bat—
 'The MAN should have the say!"

And now, I hear the women cry:
 "Tut, tut—you poor old dab.
 Think what you wish,
 You poor old fish—
 But WE still swing the club!
 And finally we'll tell you this:
 (And please, sir, don't you frown);
 We do not care if you do wear
 The pants. We'll wear the crown!"

to seven circuits of the earth, says that now that he has plenty of leisure he is going in for long hiking trips, visiting places he always wanted to see, but never has had the opportunity.

The columnist will now proceed to trot out the old joke about the postman going on walking tours on his day off and also the one about the doctor who, not knowing that his patient was a letter carrier, advised him to make full use of his legs if ever he wished to get well.

Perhaps Kautold finds it as hard to break an old habit as the rest of us do. Then again he may be bearing in mind the warning of medical men that it is dangerous to retire from an occupation in which one has been very active and that it is better to wear out than to rust out.

The Spirit Counts

Someone once said, "To accomplish great things one must do the small and simple duties thoroughly."

You often notice that the bigger a man is the more thoroughly does he do the little things that smaller men are inclined to ignore or to handle in a haphazard fashion. Little things invariably lead to big ones, and those who wait for only the larger opportunities, refusing to notice the smaller ones, are unable to properly gauge the big thing when it arrives, because they have no foundation nor practice in bringing small things to successful completion.

After all, it is the spirit in which one works that determines ultimate success rather than whether or not the task of the moment can be considered a great opportunity.

When Least Expected

Not by appointment do we meet Delight and Joy.
 They heed not our expectancy
 But round some corner
 In the streets of life
 They, on a sudden, clasp us with a smile.

Green Trees

The mists of morning,
 When morning broke,
 Were as grey waters
 Of dunes in a flock.

No kin, slow-moving,
 With leathery deep,
 Nor birds were stirring,
 Nor larks nor sheep.

Green as sea-water,
 But through the grey
 What green light rising
 Here found its way?

Like living flamboy
 Of crown-rose light,
 The trees appearing
 So slim, so bright.

Now from the grey mists
 The trees emerge,
 Like green mounds rising
 From the ocean surge.

They light green tapers
 By twos, by threes,
 Like slight mounds walking
 Through the grey seas.

A Prayer

O Thou whose wondrous name is Love from whom we, Thy children, seek earnestly the choicest gifts of Thy bestowal; lead us this day along the higher path where we may walk with Him in whose humanity Thou hast revealed the hidden springs of our divinity, the springs of everlasting love, that in word as in deed we may stand forth empowered as the sons of God.

May we learn anew from him in the light of our sonship, that though we speak with the tongues of men and of angels and have not love, we are but as sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal; that though we have knowledge and faith, though we bestow our goods to feed the poor, though we give our bodies to be burned and have not love, it profiteth us nothing.

Breathe on us then, O Spirit of the living God, the love that is very patient, very kind, that knows no jealousy, is never rude, never selfish, never resentful, never glad when others go wrong, the love that is only glorified by goodness and is always eager to believe the best. So shall our walk be close with Thee in fellowship with Him who gave to us a new commandment, that we should love one another, Jesus Christ, Thy Son our Lord.

Golden Pebbles

From a word of cheer and kindness,
 Though we bestow our goods to feed the poor, though we give our bodies to be burned and have not love, it profiteth us nothing.

Oliver Wendell Holmes said

I find the great thing in this world is not so much where we stand, as in what direction we are moving. To reach the port of heaven, we must sail sometimes with the wind and sometimes against it; but we must sail, and not drift, nor lie at anchor.

OUR TAX INCREASE

It will be interesting to our readers to know that in 1910 our per capita tax in Michigan was $14.40. At that time we had in Michigan a population of 2,810,173. Ten years later we had a population of one million more people, and our tax had increased almost one hundred percent to $34.42. Ten years later still, or in 1930, we added still another million to the number of inhabitants in Michigan. And the tax rate increased to $70.29 for every man, woman, and baby! Five times as much as in 1910. Where is the end to this increase? Michigan's government of the

AL BANGS AWAY

Non-resident nimrods will be charged an exorbitant fee for a fishing license this year. They will be obliged to pay $4 and that is not fair. It is simply another way of killing the goose that lays the golden egg. Statistics or a check up or whatever you call it credits the tourist and resort business as the second best "industry" our state boasts. Those out of state visitors help us build our roads with their gas tax. They buy summer homes and pay heavy taxes, to township authorities that use them as the goat. They help a lot toward keeping northern Michigan out of the "dole" class, and then after generously paying for this and that we soak them another four bucks, if they take a notion to wet a line. In the face of that kind of treatment for our summer visitors we haven't the "nuts" to charge a dollar rod license to hundreds of our fellows that don't pay a cent's tax, that the county must keep through the winter months if not at other times. We cloak conservation under a pretty guise and we stress it in our lures held out to attract new money to our state, but what has it come to be in the minds of our illustrious legislators, simply a political football. Conservation Director Hogarth ventured out, into the state to acquaint people with real conservation, but illness called him back home, and the message he might have spread was checked in its beginning. Al Weber in The Choboygan Observer.

HASKINS IS RIGHT

Almost anyone can criticize a public official but when it comes to stepping into the same shoes and doing any better—that is a different matter.—James Haskins in The Howard City Record.

DO YOU USE SMILES?

If you would add a dash of serenity to your life, cultivate a sense of humor. In the never-ending parade of human beings, the individual with a sense of proportion will see his own significance, and will provide for himself an escape valve for whatever vanity and conceit that at times finds lodging within his thinking apparatus.

In your chase for joy, pursue it with moderation; do likewise in your unconscious acceptance of sorrow. Both of these emotions too often are not real—they are artificial paste-diamonds of the genuine joy or sorrow that, when really experienced, lift you to higher realms. Do not stand too long before your mirror gazing upon what you believe to be a happy man, neither let your shoulders be bowed as you observe your reflection of a great man weighed down with grief. Just cheer to carry along with you coupons of quantities of humor, and then be afraid to experience joy or sorrow; for humor turns paroxysms of sobbing into belly-laughs—better than twitter-ziggles.

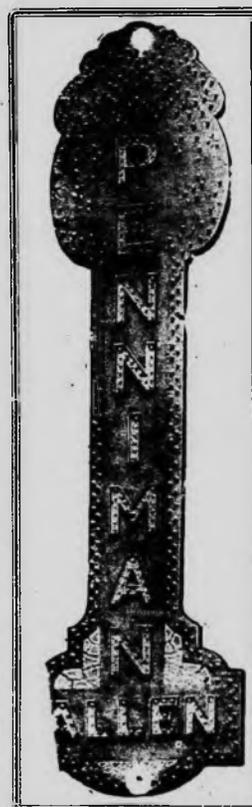

Let us not take ourselves too seriously. Let us smile, and leave every year with a smile, and many smiles with tears. Then, with vanity and conceit fairly well out of the way, we'll be able to see life in a better light; we'll be able to become patient, serene, enduring and enjoyable.—George Averill in The Birmingham Eccentric.

IT DOESN'T PAY TO KNOCK THE HOME TOWN

Two Ishpeming young men left there five years ago and went to Detroit to make their fortune and they were successful in obtaining employment at high wages. They returned a couple of years later while the boom times were still present, and boasted about the big city. They could talk nothing else and had little interest in the home-city except that they felt it their duty to pay it a visit every few years. They ran down the old town and asked their friends how they could bear to live here. For them the city was the only place in which to live and work, and the small town would soon be forgotten.

Then the crash came. The two youths, from Ishpeming, were thrown out of work, and their small savings lasted but a few months. It was not long before they were back in Ishpeming. The old town looked mighty good to them as they dropped from the side of a box car and headed for the places where they knew they would be most welcome. A room and meals, all without cost, made a good-looking picture to the chap far away without funds or friends. The home folks always have a place for the prodigal.
 The other day the two were noticed working on one of the city crews, two days a week and it is a certainty they are pleased to have the employment. They are not standing about the street corners knocking the old town and boasting for the city. They would still be without work were they in Detroit, and they are wise enough to realize this fact. They are grateful for the opportunity to work given them here.

It does not pay to knock the home city. It does on every day, but the chap handling the hammer may be forced later to change his tune of pessimism to one of optimism. It is the booster who gets places.—Ishpeming Iron Ore.

Ask Observance Of Good Friday Today From 12 to 3 O'clock

Citizens of Plymouth are being called upon again this year for a religious observance of the Tre Ore, the period from 12 to 3 on Good Friday, March 25, commemorating the death of Jesus Christ. The eighteenth annual appeal for this observance has been issued by the Detroit Diocesan Union, Holy Name Society, sponsors of the movement.

Gov. Wilbur M. Brucker, Mayor Frank Murphy of Detroit, and many other chief executives of various communities will issue proclamations during the week asking for a suspension of business and a general observance of the three-hour period.

The Holy Name Society, as in past years, is distributing tens of thousands of window cards, some asking the people to refrain from buying or selling during the three hours and others to be displayed in business houses, announcing the suspension of industry from 12 to 3 o'clock on Good Friday. Catholic Boy Scouts and parish adult organizations will handle the distribution of the cards during the week.

Last year, according to reports received at Holy Name Headquarters in Detroit, the observance of the period was general throughout Absent: Commissioner, Hover.

The minutes of the regular meeting held February 15th were approved as read.

Robinson that the Village Manager be authorized to advise Mrs. Johnson that the Village of Plymouth will bear one-half of the cost of rebuilding the above mentioned fence provided that the owner of the adjoining property will bear the balance of the cost as no agreement can be found whereby the Village assumes the responsibility of keeping the entire fence in good repair. Carried.

The Manager read a report from the Michigan Inspection Bureau in which was included various suggestions relative to the improvement of the fire protection facilities. The report recommended that the membership of the volunteer fire department be increased to fifteen men. It was moved by Comm. Robinson seconded by Comm. Learned that this Commission recommend to the Fire Department that the Village Manager, one police officer, and the Superintendent of Public Works be made members of the Volunteer Fire Department, to serve without pay. Unselfish prisoners made war on officials because they got no snigger over here, officials make war on criminals for the same reason.

To lose fat surely and SAFELY, take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning.

Sundays—Mass at 8:00 and 10:00. Confessions Saturday nights at 7:30, and before each mass.

Week-days—Mass at 7:30. This hour makes it convenient for the children to attend on their way to school. All should begin the day with God.

Societies—The Holy Name Society for all men and young men. Communion the second Sunday of the month. The Ladies' Altar Society receives Holy Communion the third Sunday of each month. All the ladies of the parish are to belong to this society.

Children of Mary—Every child of the parish must belong and must go to communion every fourth Sunday of the month. Instructions in religion conducted each Saturday morning at 9:30 by the Dominicans Sisters. All children that have not completed their 8th grade, are obliged to attend these religious instructions.

Today, Good Friday, the day that the Christian world commemorates the death and crucifixion of the world's savior, is truly a day of serious thought and for that reason the Governor of this state has requested all his subjects to turn their thoughts from material things to the spiritual, and to implore Christ thru His love for man to send blessings and benedictions upon this state and upon the nation. In keeping with this request, all business places have pledged cessation of work between the hours of 12-3, so as to give all an opportunity to attend church and share in the solemnity of this commemorative day. Services in the Catholic church here will be held from 1 to 3 and a cordial invitation is extended to the public. Remember Christ died for all mankind and all mankind is called upon to give proper reverence to their Redeemer.

Saturday the services will begin at 7:30 a. m. and confessions will be heard from 3 to 5:30 p. m. and at 7:30 p. m.

Sunday, Easter, the feast of the Resurrection of Our Lord from the dead, the supreme expression of His divinity, a day of general rejoicing to the Christian world, and may I, Father Lefevre, wish all the readers of this column a happy and joyous Easter, and the benedictions from the risen Lord. Easter services at 8 and 10 a. m. and general communion for the parish.

Go to church Easter Sunday and receive the sacrament of Holy Communion. Each Sunday of your life and thus store up for yourself a treasury that will be blessed and rewarded in eternity.

A happy Easter to all and God bless one and all.

Correlative passages read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy. Included the following (p. 191): "As a material, theoretical life-basis is found to be a misapprehension of existence, the spiritual and divine Principle of man dwains upon human thought, and leads it to "where the young child was,"—even to the birth of a new old idea, to the spiritual sense of being and of what life includes."

"Walking Stick" Is Now Proving Menace To Northern Michigan

Oak forests of north central Michigan are menaced by a new surprise attack from a new enemy, the "walking stick" insect, which in the last few years has increased from a curious pest, whose eggs literally shower the ground in infested areas, reports Samuel A. Graham, professor of economic zoology in the University of Michigan School of Forestry and Conservation.

One reason why this insect is usually a rarity is its voracious habits with its eggs which are simply dropped bit or miss by the female, with the result that the young may die before they find food, or be devoured in the egg by other insects or birds. The eggs, which resemble tiny beans, now lie in some areas as numerous as 200 to 100 or more in a square foot, according to Prof. Graham. Strangely enough the Michigan walking stick eggs do not hatch the next spring after deposit the previous fall, as elsewhere, but over two winters and a summer before hatching. This is fortunate for the oak trees since defoliation annually is much more serious than that occurring alternate years. The School of Forestry and Conservation is now engaged in a thorough study of the problem to discover the cause behind this unusual outbreak.

FIRE DAMAGES BURNHAM GARAGE

Residents of Salem were greatly surprised Sunday night at about 8:30 when the Salem Garage was discovered on fire.

The garage was closed for the night and its proprietor, G. C. Burnham, was out of town.

Fire departments were called from South Lyon, Northville and the House of Correction and these with the Salem department (regularly housed in the Salem Garage) united every effort as they worked tirelessly in checking the blaze which had gained a lot of headway before being discovered.

Before it was brought under control about one-third of the roof had burned away. Luckily the wind favored the fire fighters, for it blew sparks away from the Burnham residence which is close to the garage.

Loss amounting to quite a sum is covered by insurance. An incendiary origin is suspected.—South Lyon Herald.

POTATO SUPPLY IS PLENTIFUL

A recent report issued by Verne H. Church, U. S. agricultural statistician for Michigan, places the stocks of potatoes on Michigan farms on March 1 at 5,738,000 bushels as compared with 5,095,000 bushels one year ago. The amount available for sale will be considerably less than the quantity now on hand, as allowance must be made for seed and food requirements, and feeding to livestock. Seed requirements alone will be between 2,500,000 and 3,000,000 bushels while the amounts used on farms for food and feeding to livestock after March 1 have not been estimated. With the prevailing low prices, it is anticipated that a considerable quantity will be fed to livestock.

For the 37 intermediate and late potato states, the total stocks on March 1 were found to be 112,279,000 bushels as compared with 81,700,000 bushels on the corresponding date last year. The 1931 production in these states exceeded that of 1930 by nearly 35,000,000 bushels, which, with extremely poor marketing conditions, accounts for the larger stocks. The recent cold weather extended into the extreme southern states and reports are being received that extensive freezing damage occurred in those states in early potatoes, fruits and vegetables. This will tend to slow up shipments of early southern potatoes into northern markets for the immediate future and may materially reduce the total quantity of such movement.

Northfeld Church Burned to Ground

One of the most spectacular fires seen in this community in years occurred in Northfield Sunday night when St. John's Lutheran church and parsonage burned to the ground.

Origin of the conflagration is not known, beyond the fact that it started in the wall or basement of the church. Before discovered it had gained such height that nothing could be saved from the edifice. Old records too were destroyed. Furnishings of the parsonage were saved.

All attempts to get a fire department were useless.—South Lyon was out on a call to Salem, and another department could not or would not come. The flames made headway so rapidly it was no time at all before attempts to save the parsonage were given up.

St. John's Lutheran church was one of the finest country churches as one could find anywhere. Seldom does one see such beautiful memorial windows and a pipe organ in a church located in a rural community.

Loss is partly covered by insurance.

It is expected work will soon start on the erection of a new church and parsonage. At present, Rev. Alfred Mans, who is also pastor of Emmanuel Lutheran church of South Lyon, his wife and two children are staying at a home near the church site. We understand services will in the meantime be conducted in the Congregational church at Worden, which has been closed for some time.

St. John's Lutheran church was organized by Rev. Schmid in 1869, with 3 charter members. During the first four years services were held in the Sutton school house a mile south of the site of the church. The building was erected in 1874. Alterations and enlargements were made in both 1914 and 1925. The church had twelve pastors between the time of Rev. Schmid and Rev. Mans. At this time the church rolls comprise the names of 125 families.

Rev. Mans who came in the parish in July, 1920, from Sterling, Michigan, has done much for the growth of his churches both in Northfield and South Lyon and has many friends in other denominations as well as his own. South Lyon Herald.

(Too late for last week)

There was a very good attendance at church Sunday, considering the extreme cold and sickness in the community.

Rev. Purdy gives a story to the children each Sunday, also having something special for the Temperance cause. He announced the Revival meetings at Wayneford, commencing this week Monday evening, giving all a cordial invitation to come and assist this little church in their good work. There were 84 in Sunday school. Seven birthday offerings were put in the missionary box.

EDITORIAL

In speaking of the Japanese-Chinese clash, which seems to be dying down, we have several doubts in our minds that have not been cleared up. Our vague ideas might be put in the same tone and sentiment as Southey's in his "Battle of Blenheim" when he says:

"And everybody praised the Duke Who this great fight did win." "But what good came of it at last?" "Quoth little Peterkin, 'Why that I cannot tell,' said he, 'But 'twas a famous victory.'"

We cannot see for what reason this great invasion by the Nipponese was carried on except for the reasons they gave to the press such as protection of property in a foreign land. Now that they have accomplished their object we can see "what good came of it at last."

To us, however, Japan's tactics in Manchuria are merely repetitions of the efforts of other countries in other lands. Their desire for more territory and natural resources is no less than France's, no less than that of Great Britain and even the United States.

Therefore these school boys and girls should find a way, so that when they become of voting age and are experienced enough to figure in the national politics they may stop this petty fighting and bickering over questions which might have been settled in a peaceable manner.

GYM CLASSES GIVE EXHIBITION

To show the work and activities of the gym classes in the high school the second annual Physical Training Demonstration was given last Friday night in the high school auditorium before the parents and friends of the students.

Though physical training is required by the state, it is not all exercises and it is not all play as was shown by the varied program. Most of the classes have about half and half. All of the stunts and games on last Friday's program are actually played and performed in the gym classes.

SENIOR BIOGRAPHIES

William Henry, commonly known as Bill, was born in Plymouth. Bill is considering being nothing more than the president of the United States. Here's wishing you luck. No use girls, he doesn't care much for the women. He is a member of the Vocational and Hi-Y clubs, holding the office of president of the Hi-Y last semester.

Vincent Hertzler is a red headed boy who is elegant at reciting poetry. He had his first public appearance on Stunt Night. Vincent also has high ambitions; he wants to become an aeronautical engineer. This blushing boy is a member of the Plythean Staff, Hi-Y, and Math clubs. He is active in class basketball.

Dorothy Hubert, who is planning to crash the girls of Hollywood, was born in Stockbridge, Michigan. Perhaps she and Mon are going to form a comedy team in Hollywood or something. Dorothy is a member of the Girls Double Quartette, Glee Club, Drama Club, and Girl Reserves. She had the leading part in both the junior and senior plays.

High Horton got his first glimpse of this world when he was much younger than he is now, although you wouldn't know it sometimes by his actions. He says that he is going to enter a rapidly rising profession, that of a lumm, but if Irene has anything to say she will soon change his mind. High, who really is a good looking lad is a member of the football and track teams and had one of the leads in the junior play.

Doris Lillian Herrick, wants to open a beauty parlor in one of Salem's barber shops. When she opens her part of the shop, there will probably be a lot of manning going on. She is a member of the commercial club. If the above mentioned statement does not come true, she will take up stenography. She will certainly be a beautiful stenographer, or a beauty parlor operator.

Lillian Joy, whose latest beau is Walker, was born on a farm near Plymouth. She says she wants to become a nurse—perhaps a Walker needs a nurse such as Lydia to take care of him. She is a member of the Girl Reserves, Drama Club, and Glee Club. So far, she is the only senior girl who has decided to take up nursing.

Parents seem to have an unfeeling curiosity and interest in their children's school work. It's to be expected. They've invested a great deal of money in the child's education and have a right to hope for some returns. Report cards tend to show them in what subjects the pupil needs the most practice, study, or help—especially when he is in grade school. By the time he is in high school he begins to see why he is there and consequently studies a little more, rather than just getting by for the sake of saving money for his hair and less punishment at home.

Without the aid of marks, the teachers would have a rather difficult time in telling when a pupil was ready to go on with something harder. People must have a goal to work toward in order to attain success. Call it human nature or you like, but it's true in anything they accomplish. A standard must be set before a record can be broken. People are not satisfied in meeting a standard, they must break a record.

So, we say, "Here's to bigger and better records—and report cards!"

AD. LIB.

We missed the senior "tell-all" last week. What's the matter, Ernie, wouldn't they come across with the dirt? You shouldn't tell things slip like that. It destroys all the confidence the readers have in you (if they ever had any), and besides, you get out of training.

Had a pal (?) visit me last Sunday, and just because I wasn't home he goes up in me closet and ties me pajamas in knots. There's two things I hate and pajamas being tied is both of them. That's the class along with horse-tethering, and you know what they did to horse-tethers.

Speaking of things we don't like before summer starts there should be something done about those poor nuts who insist upon going around saying "It's hot enough for you?" Marbo for instance, a "Society for the Prevention of Inanities Saying—Is It Hot Enough For You—When It's 80 in the Shade But who wants to sit in the shade?"

Can you imagine—An assembly without announcements—Jim Meyers getting to school on time at least once during the week—silence in the library when Miss Traut isn't there—Red Miller sitting in Economics without raising his hand in Mr. Smith's face—sleigh riding weather that stayed sleigh-riding weather—a Hop or Prom body—the school picnic not being held at Island Lake—a dance that wasn't finished off with "Home Sweet Home"—Mr. Evans forgetting to say "this here so-called" such and such—Frank Allison agreeing with Miss Fiegle—a senior class team that didn't get beat at least twice by the freshman—swims (swim being only five foot two?) We ask you—can you imagine???

Noticed in the P. P.'s, last week about the dance ending with the "dying strains of the orchestra." That must be true, but it's been in some dances where it would have been a little more truthful to say "the strains of the dying orchestra."

By successfully spelling "halter" Jeannette Brown, on March 18, won the seventh grade championship in the first of the 1932 contests in the Metropolitan and National Spelling Bee. Jeannette Bauman, who is an eighth grader, won on the word "amaranth." These two lucky girls each received a Webster's Collegiate Dictionary as their prize.

OBITUARY

A solemn funeral was performed last week in Miss Cary's room. The poor half-starved unfortunate victim went to his happy hunting grounds without a sermon, flowers, or a coffin. Yes, he is dead, dead as a door nail, as Dickens says. Perhaps his death came from kicks received from Zephra and Mary. He leaves to mourn his death, Miss Cary and a few more of his kind. The exact number of his relatives can not be given but we do know there are quite a few of them.

It was found dead one morning by Miss Cary, who so cruelly picked him up by his tail and threw him out the window to fall wherever he might. Mr. Mouse will be gladly missed by all who knew him, except of course, Miss Cary.

EGGS

Eggs—eggs—scrambled, omelets, poached, golden red eggs! As eggs have proven a suitable dish for the Easter season, the girls in the 8B cooking class have studied various ways to prepare egg dishes. In the breakfast unit, the girls have studied cereals and have prepared cream of wheat and rolled oats. In learning to choose suitable fruit for breakfast, the class made apple sauce and prepared baked apples.

The high school clothing class has started working on pajamas. Pretty striped cloth, plain and plain material have been chosen out of which the girls are making both lounging and sleeping pajamas. The trimming for these garments consists of birds, colored bands, and plain material bindings.

10-A ENGLISH THEME DEBUT IN TOURNAY

This is the second theme on the subject of Report Cards. Last week the best theme on the opposite side of the question was published.

"What's The Matter With Report Cards? They're All Right"

When the discussion of abolishing report cards began, someone asked, "What have you do report cards mean, anyway?" The schoolboy answered, "Bad news to the kids, expense to the school, bother to the teachers, worry to the mothers, and exercise for the fathers." That sounds all right from the students' point of view, but mightn't it be poor reasoning? A little consideration of the question might bring up causes for another conclusion such as the ones that follow.

Parents seem to have an unfeeling curiosity and interest in their children's school work. It's to be expected. They've invested a great deal of money in the child's education and have a right to hope for some returns. Report cards tend to show them in what subjects the pupil needs the most practice, study, or help—especially when he is in grade school. By the time he is in high school he begins to see why he is there and consequently studies a little more, rather than just getting by for the sake of saving money for his hair and less punishment at home.

Without the aid of marks, the teachers would have a rather difficult time in telling when a pupil was ready to go on with something harder. People must have a goal to work toward in order to attain success. Call it human nature or you like, but it's true in anything they accomplish. A standard must be set before a record can be broken. People are not satisfied in meeting a standard, they must break a record.

So, we say, "Here's to bigger and better records—and report cards!"

TRAVEL CLUB VISITS YPSILANTI STATE HOSPITAL

Visiting the Ypsilanti State Hospital last Saturday, seventeen members of the Travel Club and three teachers enjoyed the services of Dr. Yoder, a member of the hospital staff.

The tour started in the main hall of the main building. The first thing of interest was the office department which included the doctors' and nurses' offices, secretarial offices, library, and examining rooms. From the office department the group went to one of the women's halls. The doors leading to the hall were kept locked, but once inside perfect freedom reigned. The inmates or customers as they are called, are never punished. They are taught that anything they do is correct. From the women's hall the path led to an assembly room where Dr. Yoder gave a very interesting lecture and answered all questions. In the lecture he explained the causes and the effects of insanity. After this, the guide led the way through a tunnel to another building where the recreational and men's wards were located. In this building a group of men playing indoor baseball. This building also contained the kitchen and dining rooms. The huge vats in the kitchen were a source of much interest and wonder. The next place visited was a men's ward. This like the women's halls, was kept locked although perfect freedom reigned when inside. However there were rooms in which the windows and lights were carefully guarded by strong wire screens and the doors were made of heavy wood with smaller doors in the center for extra reinforcement.

Dr. Yoder then showed where future buildings were to be located and explained that when these were completed in 1936 they would accommodate five thousand people. This hospital will take care of the insane from six counties in this section of Michigan and will have all of the modern conveniences for caring for the patients.

He writes in one of his bright editorials: "Most every man has a hobby of some kind. Maybe its checkers, golf, polo, horse races or fishing. The scribble likes to fish. Now we are especially proud of our hobby—pride of it because no less an authority than Charles Heddon, of Dowagiac, declares that you can't find any real fishermen in the penitentiaries. This famous maker of bow-tie hats says that fishing and crime do not mix any better than gasoline and water, and be ought to know. We do know there are golf bugs in jail, that prison wardens have to constantly fight against poker playing within the walls and that a lot of race-track followers spend a considerable portion of their lives making binder twine and furniture for the State. Mr. Heddon has now raised the fishing fraternity to the highest degree of citizenship by declaring that there is not one of them wearing stripes. He says so right on the inside cover of his brand new catalog and that settles it. From now on, if you are looking for an honest man for some job, all you have to do is find out first if he is a fisherman. Frankly (as a chap always says when he has no desire to be frank) I have been scratching my head ever since reading this, trying to remember some terrible criminal who loved to fish. Authorities disagree. Azrak Walton said: "We may say of angling as Dr. Boteler said of strawberries: 'Doubtless God could have made a better berry, but doubtless He made none better.'"

But Dr. Johnson, a much more creditable man, defined a fishing rod as "a stick with a hook at one end and a foot at the other."

I asked a well-known psychiatrist about the matter. He asked that his name be not used, but with the prestige of Prof. Amper, the argument might carry weight. So I quote him:

"To be Aristotelian for the moment: Criminals are invariably men of an abnormally nervous and rest-less temperament; a highly nervous and restless man would not enjoy fishing; therefore, criminals do not enjoy fishing."

"But to continue in our syllogistic mood: Could we say that because criminals, being a restless nature, do not like to sit still all day in a boat, all staidy, mindless, intuitive men who do like to sit all day in a boat are honest? Hardly."

Love of angling is a matter of temperament, not of morals. Take our presidents. The physically inactive (to be polite) Cleveland and Coolidge and Hoover, they were at least in a boat, all staidy, mindless, intuitive men who do like to sit all day in a boat are honest? Hardly."

Personally, I have not as yet finished my study of the criminal records of American penitentiaries, but I will say, in closing, that from what I have heard the fishermen say about what they have caught, I know a great many of them who ought to be in jail.

Mr. Heddon later advised the Mail that the authority Mr. Biggley named had never fished and really didn't know what constituted fishing tackle.

Annual P. T. A. Party with all the pomp, glory and in formalities. St. Patrick's Day evening, the music for the evening by Norma Schaffer and her orchestra kept everyone lively for 4:25 of the time.

Match Box Nosing was the outstanding event of the party. This game has to be seen to be appreciated, the qualifications for a successful winner is apparently to fit ones nose in an empty safety match box (older piece) and, without use of hands, to fit the next follows nose and release your own with and from the box. The former Match King Krueger was probably turning over in his jar of ashes laughing at our P's and T's and friends about 10:30 last Thursday night.

The Usual office, home made cakes and sandwiches were served by the refreshment committee, and it being St. Patrick's Day the Ruttermilk Club members were permitted to dunk beyond the statutory limits of one knuckle, and for the same reason Miss Norma led with appropriate and lively dance tunes to the delight of dancers.

Old Chief Tecumseh Was a Noble Indian Declares Authority

Tecumseh, last great leader of the Indians to attempt to band his people in confederation against the white man, only to see his hopes dashed at the battle of Tippecanoe and again when his British allies disappointed him in the war of 1812, was the noblest and most capable Indian of whom there is historical record in the United States, who under favorable conditions might have ranked with such military-spiritual leaders as Mohammed, Joan of Arc or Gandhi.

Thus Dr. W. B. Hindsdale, associate in charge of the Great Lakes division of the University of Michigan museum of anthropology, characterized Tecumseh in his presidential address on "Tecumseh's Missions" before the Michigan Academy of Science, Arts and Letters recently.

By 1800 the "Long Knives," as the Indians called the white English settlers, were pouring over the Allegheny Mountains into the Ohio and Michigan regions, felling the forests, driving the wild game before them and appropriating the choicest lands from the Indians. Tecumseh saw that his people would be inevitably driven from their lands unless a strong stand were taken. Vigorous in mind and spirit, he imagined a union of all the scattered tribes from Canada to Florida to resist and push back the white man.

Tecumseh's campaign was not based on blind hatred of the white man, but was a call to the old ways of living and thought, to abandon the trader's fire water, gun and cloudy clothing and the white politician's clever tactics with individual tribes which were slowly dispossessing all the Indians from their common hunting ground. It was a movement somewhat resembling that led by Gandhi in India, except that Tecumseh saw that some fighting would be unavoidable and he waited for the proper moment to strike. This never came in 1811 he travelled to the south to recruit other chiefs to his cause, leaving the Prophet to keep the northern tribes loyal, but at all costs to keep them out of a premature battle. His brother failed him, leaving Tecumseh's judgment. The Prophet fought General Harrison at Tippecanoe and was badly beaten.

Tecumseh's confederation never recovered from this blow. When the War of 1812 came he allied himself with the English, who were traders rather than settlers and not so dangerous to the Indian's way of life. Proctor, his British ally, proved incompetent and timid, being driven by the Americans out of Detroit and into Canada. Here Tecumseh forest a half-hearted stand on the banks of the Thames River. Again the Americans were victorious and the Indian patriot died in battle. His hopes moved illusions. He put his faith in aid from the pan-sounding Spirit which the Indian believed in, a faith which also proved an illusion. A country sparsely populated with a people of a simple way of living could never have long resisted the numbers of the whites or their new and complicated ways of life. Tecumseh thought of himself as the deliverer of his people, said Dr. Hindsdale, and had he been born to face a less impossible task, he might have made good his attempt and would occupy a greater place in history.

The mother who is interested in keeping her family well will provide milk, fruits and vegetables, the so-called protective foods, for her family. One quart of milk for each child and a pint for each adult will provide the lime essential for the building and maintenance of good bones and teeth.

A wooden spoon used in a utensil saves dark streaks on food stirred with them. It is particularly good for whipping potatoes, candy, or frosting. The spoon should be made of hard wood and shaped so that it can be easily cleaned.

"An Electric Range was a luxury when we were married

... Now I couldn't be without mine!"

Only well-to-do families could afford electric ranges when WE started house-keeping—so of course we didn't have one. But nowadays, with the Electrochef so low-priced, and its cooking cost so low, I wouldn't be without it! If every young housewife today knew what a difference this modern stove makes, an Electrochef would be the first thing she'd insist on in her kitchen. It's not only the cleanliness and the beauty of my range that I like, but also the delicious flavor retained by electric cooking. Very little water is needed for electric cooking, and meats and vegetables cook in their own juices. All the healthful food values and natural elements are retained, instead of being lost in steam. Brides today are lucky to be able to start house-keeping with an Electrochef. This lovely range makes cooking a real pleasure!

OBITUARIES

MRS. ANNA BICBY
The deceased, Anna Bichy, nee Beyer, was born in Buffalo, N. Y., January 6, 1841, the daughter of John and Johanna Beyer. As her parents were faithful members of the Lutheran church she also was baptized into the Lutheran faith in infancy and later received her schooling in the Lutheran parochial school.

When she was eight years old her parents moved to Detroit, Mich., where she received further religious instruction and was confirmed in the Lutheran faith.

At the age of twenty years, in 1861, Anna Beyer was united in holy wedlock with Wm. Bichy, which union was blessed by God with eleven children, 2 born in Detroit and 9 in Buffalo, where Mr. and Mrs. Bichy had returned about 1872, remaining there until 1901 and then returning to Detroit.

When father Bichy's eyesight began to fail the family decided to move out to Plymouth and Stark Roads where they erected this beautiful home and here resided there for eleven years. Mr. and Mrs. Bichy were permitted by God to celebrate their sixty-third wedding anniversary.

When father Bichy died suddenly about 7 years ago, mother Bichy expected to follow him soon. Yet by God's grace and through the wonderful care which she received from her children her life was prolonged until Thursday afternoon, March 17, when she went to sleep like a tired child. She attained the age of 91 years, 2 months, and 11 days. Mother Bichy leaves to mourn her departure her children Wm. Bichy, Anna Bichy, Mrs. May Metz, Julia and Louise Bichy with whom she had made her home. Also Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Metz, residing in the neighborhood home. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bichy of Plymouth and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bichy of Detroit, Mich. Other mourners are seven grandchildren, two brothers, Wm. P. Beyer and John Beyer, one sister, Mary Beyer, many other relatives and friends.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home on Plymouth Road. Rev. Chas. Strasen officiating and Miss Anna Strasen furnishing the music. Interment took place in Woodlawn cemetery in Detroit, Mich.

Wayne Co. Seven years ago she moved to her present home in Superior Township, Washtenaw Co., where she passed away March 15th, 1932, at the age of 74 years, nine months and three days.

She was a kind and loving mother and a devoted wife, a great lover of her home and family, always thinking of the welfare and happiness of others more than of her own comfort.

She leaves to mourn their loss her husband, two daughters, Nellie M. Simmons of Plymouth, Bessie J. Hilschlob of Ann Arbor, one son, Fred B. Phillips of Ann Arbor, one sister, Jennie Hildner of Detroit, eight grandchildren, and a host of friends and relatives.

M., which membership he never relinquished, being at his death the second oldest member of his lodge.

In June 1900, he moved to Plymouth where he passed the remaining days of his life. He enjoyed a large acquaintance, many of whom were the older residents of the community with whom he passed many hours in recalling bygone days. He took a keen interest in the affairs of his community and was always ready to do anything to promote its welfare.

Two weeks prior to his death, he suffered a fall at his home. He was rushed to Highland Park General Hospital where it was learned that he had broken his hip. The fracture reset itself and for a time hope was held for his recovery. Complications set in, however, and due to his advanced age he succumbed. He is survived by two sons, George Jr. and Wirt who reside in Detroit and one daughter, Florence Forman who resided with him, three granddaughters and several nieces and nephews to mourn his passing.

Funeral services were held under Masonic auspices at the Masonic Temple at Plymouth, Mich., March 18, at 3 o'clock. Rev. Walter Nichol officiating.
