REPUBLICANS BACK DEMOCRAT

Murphy - For - Congress Club Organized Among Republicans

Political tongues in the new 17th congressional district are wagging these days as never before—wagging because some one hundred or more Republicans of Northville and vicinity have organized a Murphy For Congress club. Tom Jefferson, Andrew Jackson or Grover Cleveland were never under the banner of Democrats than is M. J. Murphy. Not only are practically all the members of the club Republicans—there are three Democrats in Northville and they have joined—but all the officers of this club that seeks to nominate and elect a Democrat to congress are Republicans.

Dr. F. W. Snow, village president of Northville and whose Republicanism still prevails, even though he says he is going to vote in the Democratic primaries for M. J. Murphy and call his horse name in the final election if he is successful in the primaries, has been elected president of the Murphy-For-Congress Club.

Dr. Paul Alexander, a member of the Northville school board, who was born a Republican, and says he will remain one, for a Democrat over is vice president of the Murphy-For-Congress club.

Sherill Ambler, president and general manager of the Ambler Foundry company of Northville, former village clerk and now secretary of the school board, whose Republicanism didn't even waver back in the Bull Moose days, is secretary-treasurer of the Murphy club.

The three officers constitute the election committee that is working night and day to induce the Democrats of the new 17th district to nominate the Northville Democrat leader for congress.

They point out that Murphy is the only Democrat in the lot that they will support and say that they are finding much of the same sentiment in other sections of the district they have visited.

Most of the other Democratic candidates were of some other faith until a few months ago when they saw an opportunity to be elected to office, they quit.

On the other hand they point out that M. J. Murphy was born a Democrat, that his father and mother were both Democrats, that he was reared and educated as a Democrat, that he talks and acts like a Democrat and he knows a fellow Democrat when he sees one coming down the street. That's why Murphy seems to be playing ring-around the roses with some of the fly-by-night would-be office grabbing congressional candidates, say officials of the Murphy-For-Congress club.

Former Resident Returning Here To Make Future Home

Older residents of Plymouth will be interested and pleased to know that E. W. Durfee, a brother of Miss Durfee and Mrs. Armstrong who for years has been in charge of the vocational department of the Carson City school at Carson City, Nevada has resigned his position at that place and with Mrs. Durfee will come to Plymouth to make their future home. They are expected to come here next week.

Mr. Durfee was born in this locality, attended the public schools here and later graduated from the Houghton Mining College at Houghton, going from there to the west where he has made his home since. Mrs. Durfee is a northern Michigan girl.

The Carson City Daily Appeal in speaking of Mr. Durfee from a recent issue, said:

"In the resignation of E. W. Durfee, from the vocational department of education, those who know him realize that the state and federal government have lost a man of more than usual intelligence and a student nature. It has been a pleasure to know this professor, as he is such, as his knowledge of minerals, of birds and of plant life has been most instructive. The subjects are not common to a student, but when one knows him, as such, that there is a story in birds, and bees and many a sermon in the rocks. A quiet fellow, one of a vast store of knowledge and who will be missed when he takes himself and the good wife back to Michigan, which evidently, we are not interested in as it is too far across the continent. Some of us have learned some lessons from Durfee, and on his departure for his old home they wish him luck."

Final Standings Of Playground League

W	L	Pct.
Towle and Roe	12	1
Norge	10	4
Templars	9	5
K. of P.	7	5
C. of C.	5	9
Templars	3	11
Daisy	2	12

Last Thursday night Towle and Roe and Templars played a ten inning game. At the end of the tenth the umpire had to call the game on the account of darkness. The score stood 3 to 3.

In the first game of the playoffs the K. of P. beat the Templars by the score of 9 to 1.

The first seven innings were scoreless. In the first of the eighth the Templars scored the first run of the game. But in the same inning the K. of P. came back with a nine run rally. In this big K. of P. inning the Templars looked very bad, they just seemed to wilt before the attack of the K. of P.

Tuesday night the Towle and Roe handed the Norge their first defeat of the playoffs by the score of 12 to 3.

The Norge for some reason or other failed to click. Towle and Roe didn't seem to hit the ball as hard as usual. The high score was due to the many errors made by Norge.

Friday night, Towle had Roe and K. of P. are due to fight it out for the lead.

CITY HALL GETS COAT OF PAINT

The city hall is being dressed up with a new coat of paint. The old paint which was put on several years ago had entirely disappeared, leaving the building with a drab appearance.

A light colored trim has been put on the woodwork and stone in order that the building will be brightened up. The work is being done by using wage work plan labor as much as possible which will relieve the welfare fund of this amount.

Mr. and Mrs. George Burr left Tuesday morning for Mullett Lake where they are spending the week.

PUBLIC HEALTH REMAINS GOOD

Depression Has Not Increased Death Rate Says Dr. Douglas

The health situation in Michigan and the rest of the United States is the best it has been in the history of the country, and that in spite of the depression, declared Dr. Bruce Douglas, superintendent of the William H. Maybury Sanatorium of Northville in a talk before members of the Plymouth Rotary club at its meeting Friday.

He was the guest of Floyd Eckles, chairman of Friday's program committee, and his assertions pertaining to the health situation were of especial interest.

Dr. Douglas is regarded as one of the leading authorities in the country on the treatment of tuberculosis and he has been the medical superintendent of the Sanatorium since it was opened a number of years ago.

As an indication of the improved health condition in Detroit, he declared that for the first time since the Sanatorium was opened, there was not now a waiting list for admission.

The death rate during the past three years, the three years that we have been going through this business depression, has been going down steadily. That applies to all forms of disease. Tuberculosis is no longer regarded the scourge that it used to be.

If we can maintain during the next few months the same standard of nutrition that has been provided the unemployed and can give them the necessary clothing, I believe that we will be able to maintain the same high average of good health that has prevailed during the past three years. There need be no fear of an increase in tuberculosis.

"The death rate has been constantly going down. Last year in Wayne county it was ten percent. This year so far it has been less than eight percent."

"With this condition prevailing there is no reason for any kind of an epidemic after the depression is over, which we all believe is now near its end. We can maintain our high standard of health even though funds seem to be short."

Clare Nabin and Ralph Lorenz were welcomed into the club by President Charles Bennett and the members at Friday's meeting.

President Bennett stated that there were new prospects of a number of additional members within the near future.

NEXT THURSDAY PLYMOUTH DAY

Northville Fair To Start On Wednesday Eve—All Prices Reduced

Next Thursday is Plymouth day at the Northville-Wayne County Fair. Every one in Plymouth will have an opportunity to visit the fair, it has been decided that all the stores will be closed. While no arrangements have as yet been made for the local visitors who plan to go to the fair, to drive over in one big group, it has been suggested that every one who expects to go, form in line on Pennington avenue and sharply at 1:30 o'clock leave for the Northville fair grounds, going via the Moreland road.

Prices have been cut for the fair this year, the admission as well as the grandstand seats.

The fair will open Wednesday night with a public colored, well-dressed taking place in front of the grandstand. There will be other features of interest for the evening program.

Secretary Floyd Northrup declares that the exhibition this year has never before.

Following is a glimpse of what the fair will be like and it comes from an authoritative source, Floyd Northrup, fair secretary:

"The officers and directors are working to make the 1932 Northville-Wayne County fair an outstanding event and every effort is being put forth for the entertainment of its patrons."

"Many changes are being made this year; the fair will be only a four day event, Wednesday, August 24, being the opening day with a colored wedding the highlight for that evening."

"The Detroit Club, held in the dignified manner with beautiful costumes, bridesmaids, and attendants and will be a legitimate ceremony. This will be preceded by plantation songs, and other special numbers besides the regular high class free show of the grandstand each afternoon and evening."

"Auto polo will be played at each performance of the fair and a kicking mule, an animal act for the children, as well as grown ups will give all a hearty laugh."

"The Detroit Creamery, seven horse hook-up of beautiful horses with electrically lighted harness, will be a prominent attraction."

"Three days of horse races and a baseball tournament are among the regular features. With the exception of auto polo, a complete change of program will take place each afternoon and evening."

"The Horse Show committee is cooperating with the fair management and many events of beautiful horses in action will be staged in front of the grandstand each afternoon and evening."

"Friday, August 26, has been declared Governor's day and Governor Wilbur M. Brucker and his party will be Northville's guests on that day."

"The directors of the Northville fair have worked hard for the past sixteen years without financial compensation to make the fair one of the cleanest, and most educational fairs in the state, but it cannot be a success without the cooperation of the public. Plan your exhibit now. Come to make a profit of 25 cents, both day and night performance. Plans have been made to park all autos on grounds."

"Bring an exhibit—spend a day at the fair, and climax the four day festival by watching the beautiful display of fireworks. Be sure to bring your entire family—there will be something of intense interest for everyone."

trip through Canada with Montreal as their ultimate destination. On their return home they will make their residence at 896 Pennington Ave. in Plymouth.

W. C. T. U. CHANGES MEETING DATE

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet Wednesday, August 24 with Mrs. E. C. Lauffes, 620 Pennington Avenue. The change in the day of meeting is made on account of the Northville Fair, as many of the W. C. T. U. members will no doubt, wish to attend the Fair on the "big day," Thursday. It is hoped there will be a large attendance at the meeting, Wednesday as there will be a speaker present who can give information relative to the political situation, and instruction regarding the primaries.

Don't forget the date of the meeting, Wednesday, August 24, at 2:30 p. m.

From the Michigan Union of August:

If you take the right side, the right side, ultimately men, no matter how they may settle you now, will come to your support."

HELEN DONAHUE BRIDE OF WINSTON COOPER

With only a small group of the closest relatives attending Miss Helen Donahue and Winston Cooper spoke their marriage vows at a most impressive wedding ceremony in the First Presbyterian Church in Detroit last Monday morning.

Announcement of the marriage was a most pleasant surprise to the people of Plymouth who only recently were informed of the young couple's engagement. Mrs. Cooper is a sister of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Eckerman of Detroit and at the time of her marriage was holding an excellent position with the Guardian Trust Company of Detroit.

Winston Cooper is the son of Mrs. Maude Cooper and has spent the greater part of his life in Plymouth where he has made a host of friends. At the present time he is employed by the Packard Motor Car Co. in Detroit.

The ceremony was performed by Reverend Vance of the First Presbyterian at 10:30 Monday morning, August the fifteenth. Directly after the ceremony a delightful wedding breakfast was served at the Eckerman residence at 347 Webb Ave. The young couple left Monday afternoon for an extended motor

THE ROBINSON'S IN CELEBRATION OF ANNIVERSARY

Tuesday, August 16, 1932, A. D.

Important day in the life of Harry Robinson—if you just didn't happen to know it.

He was married 47 years ago on that day.

That date is also his wife's birthday.

Then for he was checking in a grocery store 47 years ago that day.

Forty-seven years to the very day after he was married he annexed another store for his furniture annex conducted in connection with his auction business.

Verily the number 47 is an important factor in the life of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Robinson.

TAX PAYMENT BEARS RECORD

Higher Percent Pays This Year Than Paid A Year Ago

On Saturday, August 13th, the city treasurer had received 69.2 per cent of the 1932 City taxes. On August 21st last year 64.4 per cent of the taxes had been paid this year on August 13th as had been paid by the end of August last year.

It is believed by placing the penalty on the taxes on August 10th that the taxes will be paid more promptly. This is important under the City form of government because of the fact that the City Treasurer also collects the State, County, and School taxes beginning in December and it is advisable to have the City tax collections out of the way before starting the collection of the other taxes. The 2 per cent penalty placed on the taxes on August 10th will be increased to 3 per cent on September 10th so that all persons paying taxes between now and September 10th will save an additional 1 per cent over those paying after that date.

In balancing the budget for the coming year the City Commission estimated that 80 per cent of the taxes would be paid. At the present time it will be necessary to collect $3,000 more in city taxes in order to meet the estimated percentage. It is believed that this amount will be received before September 10th. The excellent financial condition of the City of Plymouth can be maintained if the 80 per cent is received by the early part of September. The financial standing would be materially improved and a record established if the percentage greater than the estimated amount would be paid to the City Treasurer.

Ernest Allison's Chevrolet Garage.

Plymouth Motor Sales.

Herman Duwman.

Itouffier Brothers.

J. Miller.

Two Badly Hurt In Automobile Crash On Northville Road

Dale Henwick, watchman at the Pere Marquette crossing, on Stark weather avenue and Albert Killeit, a Northville youth, were badly injured in an automobile accident last Saturday afternoon on the Northville-Plymouth road. The latter, who owned the car and was its driver at the time of the accident, apparently did not see a big gravel truck making a turn onto the Six-mile road and crashed almost head-on into the truck.

His coupe was badly wrecked and the head end of the big truck was so badly damaged in the crash that it could not be used.

The two boys, both badly cut and bruised were picked up and taken to the Sessions hospital in Northville, where it was found that Henwick in addition to his many cuts and bruises was also suffering from a broken shoulder. Killeit suffered no broken bones and has been taken to his home in Northville.

Henwick will probably be in the hospital for some time longer. His parents live in South Lyon but the young man has many relatives in Plymouth where he has worked a number of years.

Farmington Ford Dealer Kills Self

Salvation Army Leaders To Leave Here For A New Field In Charlotte

The many Plymouth friends of Capt. and Mrs. F. Williams Wright of the Salvation Army will regret to learn that they are to be transferred from Plymouth to Charlotte, N. C. Another meeting to be conducted by these two well known Salvation Army leaders who have won the entire respect of the community.

Capt. and Mrs. Wright came to Plymouth in February, 1928, and opened up the work of the Salvation Army in this community. Because of the fact that Plymouth had never before had a branch of this religious organization within the city, some doubted if it would be made a success here. But the doubters were to be disappointed. Another day they were a success of their work here. Their meetings are largely attended. They have organized a small band. Their Sunday school has an average weekly attendance of over 50 members and the Ladies Home League numbers nearly 25 members.

The Salvation Army under the direction of Capt. Wright has conducted a great amount of charity work in this locality. Not only have they taken care of the work that has come directly to the organization, but Capt. Wright has had charge of the clothing department of the welfare committee. Last winter he saw to it that all the clothing needs of the unfortunate in this part of Wayne county were taken care of.

Sunday evening the meeting in the Salvation Army hall will be their final one in Plymouth. They will leave next Wednesday for Charlotte where they will make their future home and continue Salvation Army work in that place. Their Plymouth successors have not yet been named.

POLICE CHECK CITY SPEEDERS

Determined To Slow Down Traffic Before School Opens

During the past few weeks an increasing amount of speeding has been noticed on the city streets and the police department has been started by the Police Department to slow up traffic to a reasonable limit. During the past two weeks several speeding cases have been brought before the Municipal Court by local officers.

Within a few weeks the school children will be back on the streets going to and from school and it is the desire of the Police Department to eliminate speeding in order that these children will be protected to the greatest degree.

Several stop street violations have been noticed and offenders warned or summoned into court. The police department is asking the cooperation of motorists in this campaign and issues a warning that violators of the traffic ordinance will be brought before the Municipal Judge.

Couple Celebrate Their Seventy-First Anniversary Mon.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Stevens were delightfully entertained on Monday evening by a party of relatives and friends, who came in to congratulate them on their seventy-first wedding anniversary.

The dining table was decorated with a bouquet of full blown roses, and a large angel food cake. Home made ice cream was served by Mr. and Mrs. Willard Geer, in honor of the occasion. Mrs. Charles Root wore the wedding gown, that was made for the occasion. Mr. and Mrs. Stevens have spent their entire lives in this vicinity. Both are in excellent health.

Alertness of Clerk Results In Two Being Held By U. S. Officers

Maybe you can find David Estep, clerk in the Gayle Red & White store on the corner of Grand and Third streets. He was held by U. S. officers when he came to passing bad money. It was through his alertness that Deputy Sheriff George Springer and Officer Alanzo Brockelhurst last Saturday night were able to pick up two men who are now being held by the federal government on a charge of passing counterfeit money.

The two prisoners gave their names as Boris Cozack, 43 years old of Cleveland and John Brock 37 years old of Grand Rapids.

At about 10:30 p. m. a Plymouth auto last Saturday afternoon and immediately began the circulation of a number of bad quarters. Officers in their investigation found where eight had been passed during the brief time they operated here. The quarters were perfect imitations of real money but Estep detected the counterfeit by the sound of it when he dropped it in the cash till.

Ed Gayde immediately called the officers, Deputy Springer finding one of the men in the Eckles coal yard and forcing the other one down the railroad tracks later.

When questioned by federal officers, Cozack, who passed the money, declared he got it from a store near Toledo where he had been employed. Officers believe that they threw some of the money away when it was discovered they were about to be arrested. They are held in jail in Detroit for arraignment in federal court.

At a meeting of the city commissioners held early this week John W. Henderson, a member of the commission, was elected mayor pro-tem to serve during the absence of Mayor Mimmack for one year. KIWANIS HEAR CLUB OFFICIAL

Members of the local Kiwanis club enjoyed a fine meeting last Tuesday night in the Hotel Mayflower when Ed. H. Flack of Saginaw, was guest speaker of the evening.

Mr. Flack is the Governor of the Michigan district of Kiwanis International and the Kiwanis high-light he presented to the club were exceptionally interesting. He was accompanied by Vernon Thurman who is lieutenant governor of the 4th district of Kiwanis.

"Every department in the store is enjoying a heavy demand, our furniture department as well as our men's wear, ladies' and dry goods departments. We feel that we have marked our stock at rock bottom prices and that any one who purchases during our anniversary event can certainly never do better."

Mayor Mimmack Is Slowly Improving

Encouraging news comes to Plymouth from Ford hospital relative to the condition of Mayor Robert Mimmack who underwent a serious operation about two weeks ago. During the past few days his condition has shown a steady improvement although it has been slow. He will doubtless be confined to the hospital for two or three weeks longer. Relatives say it will doubtless be a few days longer before visitors will be permitted to see him.

WHAT MR. FORD SAYS

Henry Ford has become so powerful in business circles of the world that anything he says is almost as important as what the President of the United States says. Therefore his comment about President Hoover's address last week in which the President outlined his policies, is of wide public interest. Mr. Ford said:

"President Hoover's speech of acceptance was a strong utterance. He gave evidence of a comprehensive grasp of affairs, and his work in the last four years shows that he has tackled his problems with courage and energy. From what I have heard from all parts of the Country I think that the people feel rightfully proud of their President, and that his speech has had a tremendous effect in building National confidence in our ability to weather this long depression and to emerge stronger for the experience.

"I was particularly interested in the evidence which President Hoover gave of his knowledge of the weak spots in our money system. No man without knowledge or without a determination to tackle this most crucial defect, could have spoken as he did.

"There was not a line in his speech that was calculated to curry a vote. His straightforward statement of the condition of the Country satisfies the people that we have a trustworthy, intelligent, hard-working and deep-feeling man in the White house.

"His stand on prohibition shows no change on fundamental principle. He is still on the side of decency and sobriety in the family and the Nation and against any encroachment by liquor. As president he has nothing to do with changing the Constitution; and what he says on this question is just what everyone knows—the whole question is in the hands of the people. They have not spoken as yet.

"President Hoover leaves no doubt that, personally, as a citizen, he is on the side of the sober, law-abiding people of the United States and that, as President, he is no nullifier of the Constitution. I think he was right in leaving prohibition in a minor place. Anyone hearing his speech or reading it must feel that with the world trembling under the menace of imminent collapse, it is mere twiddling with straws to regard prohibition as a major question."

CLIMATE OF SOUTHERN MICHIGAN

The decision has long been forgotten, but the Royal Geographic Society of England made an intensive climatic survey of the world about 35 or 40 years ago to discover the most wholesome and best scientific optimum in climate for the white man of the temperate zone.

It was found that the white man thrived and was best suited by the climatic average in a circle of only 100 miles in diameter which includes Detroit, but cuts off Port Huron to the north and Toledo to the southwest, and includes Ontario as far as Pt. Pelee.

Th rainfall is not too great. Winters are not too cold. Summer is largely tempered as to extreme heat. There are no long spells of severe heat or severe cold, and no destructive storms.

The climate about Plymouth gives the tonic effects of cold without the benumbing effects of extreme cold. The lassitude given by extreme heat in summer is absent. The white man can here pursue his career with the greatest energy and comfort. The present summer is evidence of this statement a summer of about as perfect weather as one could wish.

The land of heaviest rainfall is along the southern slopes of the Himalaya mountains, north of Calcutta, where as high as 800 to 1,000 inches of rain fall annually. The coldest part of the world in Eastern Siberia, several hundred miles northeast of Lake Baikal, where the thermometer goes to 90 below for long periods. The driest part of the world lies in central Asia in the Gobi desert. The hottest part of the globe lies in the central Sahara Desert. The most unhealthy climate, heavily laden with fever, is the humid, dank hinterland of Africa along the Gulf of Guinea.

TOMATO JUICE

If it isn't one kind of California product, it is another. Now it's tomato juice.

A Californian can market anything. He is a promoter both by nature and training. Accustomed to big things, he has words to fit any situation or even the most humble product. He just "irrigates and cultivates and Deity exaggerates."

Carrots, prunes, spinach, tomato juice! It makes no difference in his technique. He could peddle skunks and have the world yelling for more.

He hands the world a lemon and tells it that citrus acid alkalies the system. It does; but the world would never believe it before. The world is now sucking lemons.

He recommends a glass of orange juice before breakfast as good for the digestion. Forthwith all the doctors help him promote. The Californian capitalizes on Tom Sawyer's methods and sets the world to selling its sunshine.

He suggests prunes. Prunes are a laxative. And before the world knew it needed prunes, he has it eating 'em for breakfast. Then he turns to spinach. Anybody who can market spinach is a genius. The Californian does it. Spinach is roughage. Mother make their kids eat it. He markets lettuce and the world goes to grass.

And now it is tomato juice!

COUNT HIM OUT

Many people who heard Mayor McKeighon's first radio speech last week have expressed their ideas about his statements — and they count him entirely out of the picture. Certainly, from what the listeners say, he did not help his candidacy way. His lavish use of sign boards, the radio and other advertising means, will bring him naught, judging from the comment of those that heard his first talk. The fight for the Republican nomination is between former City Manager George Welsh of Grand Rapids and Governor Brucker, with the news "breaks" right now favoring Welsh. Ex-Senator Quinlan of Grand Rapids, injected into the race in an effort to cut the vote of Editor Welsh in his home city, is just the type who could be "used" for such a purpose. Maybe he will vote for himself.

WILLIAM F. BUTLER

Election laws require that William F. Butler become a candidate to succeed himself as a member of the Wayne County Road Commission. It is too bad that such an efficient official should be forced to go through the routine of a primary election. Commissioner Butler, like all the other members of the Wayne county road commission, should be retained on the Commission as long as he desires to remain there. The Wayne county road commission is one branch of the county and state government that tax payers can point to with real pride.

The Nurse

Softly she moves from bed to bed,
 Easing the pain of the aching head,
 While on her face she wears a smile,
 Bringing cheer to all, the while.

Hour by hour throughout the night,
 This lovely woman dressed in white,
 Quietly moves through ward and halls,
 Watching with care and answering calls.

She knows our wishes and every need,
 And stories often to us does read,
 Patient, untiring, the kindly maid,
 Hour by hour the pain has stayed.

We see her at life's first breath,
 She lingers near at the call of death,
 Do we appreciate as we should
 This woman in white, so brave and good?

 Hundreds of butterflies on the lawn,
 But only one mother the wide world over.

A Prayer

Almighty God, who hast given us this good land for our heritage, we humbly beseech Thee that we may always be ourselves, a people mindful of Thy favor that we might always prove ourselves a people mindful of Thy favor and glad to do Thy will. Bless our land with honorable industry, sound learning, and pure manners. Save us from violence, discord, and confusion, from pride and arrogance, and from every evil way. Defend our liberties and fashion into one united people the multitudes brought hither out be justice and peace at home, and that through obedience to Thy law we may show forth Thy praise among the nations of the earth. Especially in this day of anxiety and distress suffer not our trust in Thee to fall. All of which we ask through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Many skin diseases are traceable to improper diet.

A clear skin depends on both cleanliness and diet.

The skin suffers from chronic constipation both in texture and color.

Presence of malignant growth like cancer is indicated by the color of the skin.

The Sparrow

The perkiest little sparrow
 Sat on my window sill,
 And loud and long
 He sang his song.

In notes quite sharp and shrill,
 Some people praise the robin,
 While others laud the lark,
 But let me have the sparrow—
 He sings when things look dark.

He's right there in a snowstorm
 When other birds can't sing;
 He keeps the snow winter
 Is followed by a spring.

Rambling Around with Michigan Editors

JUST A REMINDER

When conditions get better and folks are all working (that is those who still want to) and prices are up ONE THING THAT THE FOLKS SHOULD NOT LOSE SIGHT OF IS THE FACT THAT THEY HAVE TAKEN IN HAVING TAXES REDUCED. A great start has been made, let's keep it up.—Senator C. M. Howell in The Chesaning Argus.

IT'S ALL THE BUNK

Don't anyone become overheated at the prospect of lower taxes just because the newspapers have carried big headlines telling Michigan that their tax assessments have been cut a billion dollars. Cut or no cut, taxes are measured in the amount of money spent and not at all by the totals at the bottom of the assessor's pages. Fixing values by the state tax commissioners is merely applying an arbitrary rule to determine what percentage of the whole state tax each county must pay. The figures used are of just about as much interest to the taxpayer as the price of stocks in Wall street to the unemployed husband and father on township dole.

Some political trickster may be heard boasting of this cut in valuations. If any has the nerve to attempt this he will deserve a good measure of guffaw from the assessor. If the state tax commission had adopted six thousand dollars instead of six billion, the result to the tax payer would have been identical.—Vern Brown in The Iuzham County News.

BUY IN MICHIGAN

George W. Welsh, candidate for governor, is preaching at least one doctrine with which we can agree. His proposition is that the state should do much to improve its condition if it were to buy all its supplies, materials and equipment from Michigan concerns. We do not know what proportion of Michigan's purchases go out of the state but we assume that Mr. Welsh has looked into the matter and has found that Michigan, like most states, shows no favor to its own citizens.

The answer is that purchases must be made through competitive bids, but that does not prevent officials accepting the "lowest and best" bid should the bid of a Michigan man or concern be a fraction higher. It does not need to be demonstrated that every dollar spent in the state will be put to work and used for paying wages which will later increase the purchasing power of the state. It is almost axiomatic.

In the matter of food Michigan has everything needed in the meat, dairy, vegetable and fruit line to properly feed those who are housed in state institutions. It is quite conceivable that Saginaw county could heat its buildings; Michigan salt measures up to the best; and it is entirely possible that coffee sweetened with Michigan beet sugar would prove palatable.

Perhaps, it would not be feasible to state that the State of Michigan would consider only Michigan products but it would be practical to do so when the price variation was far from great. And we believe competition would secure as good prices from Michigan bidders as from those without the state. What is true of food is quite as true of the buildings and its other equipment.

There is no good reason why Michigan shouldn't and every good reason why it should make its purchases for its charitable and educational institutions within the state if at all possible. It is only common sense and self-preservation in its final analysis.

What is true of the state is equally true of counties, cities and purchases for the public. Their purchases should be Michigan products where possible. It may not always be possible but an honest attempt should be made as a matter of enlightened self-interest. There is no legislation needed. There is no new expensive purchasing machinery to set up. Merely the will to do it is enough.—C. W. Hemmingsway in the Washtenaw County Tribune.

BOOVER'S FORTUNE

As an example of what has happened to the rich we might point to the shrinkage of President Hoover's fortune from $4,000,000 at which it was estimated when he became president to $700,000 today. This is just what has happened to everyone who had investments in industrial ventures or in such securities. Only those who put their money into government securities are worth today about what they were in 1929. This ratio of loss holds true right on through the lines down to the office bookkeeper or the manager; everyone has lost. Many are facing actual want that a few years ago figured themselves secure against want. The working man is not the only sufferer in this terrible crisis.—Thomas Conlin in The Crystal Falls Diamond Drill.

BETTER TIMES

"Just around the corner" must be recognized to a certain extent, despite political booby and the wall of the pessimist. An abundance of farm crops is now assured, and there is no disputing the fact. Regardless of the price, present or future, today's outlook from the farmers' angle is about 90 percent better than though last year's failure had carried through this season.—Harry Izor in The Durand Express.

Crop Condition Is Better Than Year Ago Says Report

That Michigan crop prospects on August 1 were considered better than on the corresponding date in either 1930 or 1931 is reported by V. H. Church, U. S. Agricultural Statistician of the Michigan Co-operative Crop Reporting Service in his monthly statement issued today. While the western half of the Lower Peninsula, some southern counties, and local areas elsewhere were much too dry during the greater portion of July, good rains during the latter part of the month brought the July precipitation up to normal and restored crops in most sections to a good growing condition. Much of the wheat and rye in the southeastern half of the State have been threshed. The yield of wheat is about 23.5 bushels per acre, 2.5 bushels less than last year which broke all previous records, but 5.0 bushels above the ten-year average. The State's rye yield is estimated at 13.5 bushels, the same as last year and slightly above average.

Oats and barley are considerably below average; the former is expected to fall 2.5 bushels per acre and the latter, 6.0 bushels below last year as the result of heat and drought in June. The condition of corn varies greatly between fields and localities but the color is generally good and there are many fine fields throughout the State. Recent rains and moderate temperatures are favorable and the crop promises to be about two bushels above average. Should the remainder of the season be favorable, another two or three bushels per acre might easily be added to present estimates.

Field beans are looking exceptionally well in most of the principal producing counties, and the ample moisture and moderate temperature condition at the present blooming stage are more favorable than they have been in any recent year. Present indications point to a yield of 11.5 bushels per acre which, if realized, is not only above average but more than obtained in any other season since 1926. This would amount to a crop of 6,210,000 bushels or 3,720,000 bags, on the 340,000 acres planted this year. With a drastic cut in the acreage of Great Northern beans in the west, a moderate reduction in the acreage of pea beans in Michigan and other eastern states, and a prospective production of only 9,645,000 bags, which is 24 per cent less than harvested last year, the 1932 situation would appear to be greatly improved for the Michigan bean industry.

Potato prospects range from poor to very good. There are many fine stands throughout the State which, under the present favorable moisture and temperature conditions, should produce a good setting of tubers and, if later weather conditions should likewise be favorable, an excellent yield. On the other hand, poor stands are in evidence in many sections. These are particularly numerous in the area within a radius of 40 miles around Cadillac, where poor stands predominate as a result of the prevalence of the disease known as yellow dwarf. The present outlook is for an average yield of 95 bushels per acre and a total production of 25,175,000 bushels as compared with 23,750,000 bushels in 1931. As the September weather is an important factor in the yield of late potatoes, the final out-turn will be greater or less than this figure to the extent that September weather departs from normal.

Sugar beets are in generally good condition, being 85 per cent of normal which is three points higher than on the same date last year and 3.6 points above the 10-year average. Stands are mostly good, the beets are growing thickly and an excellent yield is in prospect.

The Michigan hay crop is of good quality and at least 17 per cent larger than that of 1931.

Fruit prospects, except for apples, are decidedly above the ten-year average. Winter apples, especially Baldwin and Spies, are generally light, while summer and fall varieties are more plentiful. Only 42 per cent of a full crop of all varieties is expected as compared with 76 per cent of a full crop last year. Peaches and pears promise 80 per cent of a full production in comparison with 90 per cent and 53 per cent respectively a year ago. The Michigan cherry crop proved to be of greater volume than expected earlier in the season being 67 per cent of a full yield. The present condition of grapes indicates 85 per cent of a full crop, a better prospect at this date than in any year since 1922.

COSTS PLENTY TO PRINT SPEECHES OF CONGRESSMEN—NEW YORK DEMOCRAT HOLDS DISTINCTION OF TALKING MOST

Oratorical overflow published in the appendix of the Congressional Record during the last session of Congress cost American taxpayers $135,000, a check-up disclosed today.

During the eight months that Congress was in operation the government printing office has added a total of 3388 pages of appendix to the daily edition of the printed record of Congressional proceedings. As the official estimate of the cost per page is $40 the total cost of the appendix amounted to a minimum of $135,000 for the session.

If to this cost is added the expense of printing extra copies of matter inserted in the appendix by Representatives and the cost of franking these articles through the mails, the initial printing cost would be greatly increased. No estimate of this cost was available, however, today.

As operated during the last session the appendix of the record served as dumping ground for undelivered speeches as a sort of free forum for the nation. Originally its purpose was that of furnishing a place where Senators and Congressmen could have printed remnants of speeches begun in the House or Senate but unfinished because of lack of time. In recent years, this Congressional privilege has been expanded until all sorts of articles appear in the back part of the Record.

Today the appendix serves a three-fold purpose: "First, it provides a limbo for those speeches and remnants of speeches which time or other limitations prevent members from delivering; second, it serves as a permanent storehouse for radio addresses, memorial addresses and the like, which members may make away from the scene of their legislative duties and which would were it not for the appendix go unpublished; third, it presents members with an opportunity to have printed, free of charge, poems, essays and other literary endeavors sent them by their constituents.

Although one section of the Congressional Record was peppered almost daily with demands from organizations and individuals for economy in government the size of the appendix continued to increase as the session grew older. An actual count today disclosed the following cost for each month of session: December, $10,640; January, $14,500; February, $13,380; March, $13,480; April, $17,760; May, $18,800; June, $22,040; July, $24,700.

While it was impossible to discover who had been the most prolific contributor to the appendix during the last session, scrutiny of the document for February 29 would seem to indicate that Representative Sol Bloom, Democrat, New York, director of the George Washington bicentennial commission, was going strong to the finish. Mr. Bloom on that day inserted no fewer than seven separate speeches in the appendix, all leading with George Washington. To print them all cost $210.

At a cost of approximately $280, Representative John J. Cochran, Democrat, Missouri, inserted into the appendix what appeared to be a complete history and guide book to the city of Washington entitled "Washington, the Nation's Capital." At $40 a page it outlined in detail the points of interest in the city and presented an exhaustive history of the capital's development.

"The Wholesomeness and Food Value of Margarine" was the title of a full-page insertion made by Senator Tom Connally, Democrat, Texas, on March 2. Two days later Representative William L. Nelson, Democrat, Missouri, had printed an article written by himself twenty years previously entitled "Babies and Daddies." It cost $1840 to print an article by Senator Tasker L. Oddie, Republican, Nevada, entitled "Prohibition of Soviet Imports." And at $40 a page it cost a total of $360 to print on July 16 the assertions of Representative Joseph T. Byrns, Democrat, Tennessee, and Senator Wesley L. Jones, Republican, Washington, that the session of Congress just ended had saved a lot of money for the taxpayers.

After the session closed members of Congress went right on filling $40 pages on a wide variety of subjects. Representative W. P. Lambertson, Republican, Kansas, drew fire late in the session when he protested against the practice of filling the appendix after Congress had adjourned. Representative Bertrand H. Snell had sought permission for each member to have five legislative days in which to "extend" his remarks in the record.

Said Mr. Lambertson: "It seems to me that when we are trying to economize this is one of the places where we can set an example. It is my notion that matters which are placed in the record are intended to influence legislation. When the session is over there is no such excuse left and any remarks placed in the record after the close of the session are placed there purely for political purposes." After a few moments of heckling, Mr. Lambertson decided to "let tradition have its way" and yielded to the "desire of my minority leader, Mr. Snell, and our speaker. His capitulation to leadership, however, did not prevent Representative Cole, Republican, Iowa, from suggesting that members be forced to pay $1 an inch, "the regular advertising rate," for insertions in the appendix. Mr. Cole's suggestion was met with cold silence.

There is good in everything. How would we get our radio programs if it wasn't for B. O., pyorrhea and halitosis?

"Dirt Farmer" Gets His Day at State Fair

Michigan's "Dirt Farmer" has become the king exhibitor at the annual Michigan State Fair and Exposition, the eighty-third anniversary of which will be observed Sept. 4 to 10.

Non-Michigan and so-called professional exhibitors and the big livestock breeders no longer frighten the "dirt farmer" away. He is defying the world in stock breeding and is holding his own. In 1931 he dominated all departments but one in the number and size of his exhibits and the awards he took home. Only in swine is he outclassed, a circumstance neither of deep concern nor of likely early correction as Michigan is not a swine breeding state.

This was not always true. Fair statistics for 1931 and for several preceding years show. Previously Michigan's "dirt farmer" was sadly excelled, sometimes four to one. In many classes he was not even represented, and when it came to collecting prizes he was in a pitiful minority.

In these days the wide world, as now, was invited to compete at the fair. And the invitation, as today, was almost universally accepted. Professional non-Michigan breeders of horses, cattle, sheep and swine brought in their prize stock, and made showing in Detroit an annual rule. Livestock breeding was in its infancy in Michigan. As a result the "outsiders" departed with most of the awards.

Then the Michigan "dirt farmer" began to take the breeding and exhibiting of livestock seriously. In later years he discovered he had worthwhile animals of his own. More of him began to exhibit large numbers of them. And soon he found himself on a par with the best from anywhere.

In 1931, when an all-time mark of exhibitors entering 12,908 displays in all departments was set at the fair the Michigan "dirt farmer" had 60% of all the livestock entries. Livestock breeding was in its infancy in Michigan. As a result the "outsiders" departed with most of the awards.

State Fair officials ascribe the changed condition to improvement in Michigan livestock and not to any preference shown the state's "dirt farmer". Formerly any preference was on the side of the non-Michigan exhibitor. This once seemed necessary. The state's lack of blooded stock made it essential to encourage outsiders to show at the fair so as to build up the exhibits, set standards for Michigan stock and to stimulate local livestock breeding. The plan was effective and the exhibiting rule changes resulted. As proof that the rules still are fair to the outsider and that the prizes still are worth competing for, Fair officials point out that livestock exhibitors at the 1931 fair came from Texas, Massachusetts, Iowa, Georgia, and similarly remote states.

Sheriff To Wage War On Petting Bandits

The so-called "petting party bandit" is the for some rough handling from the Wayne County highway patrol.

Sheriff Henry Behrendt today issued an order that the patrol be increased and to nightly tour every secluded highway in the county to guard the occupants of parked cars against visits by highwaymen. He also instructed the patrol to warn the car occupants against the danger of a visit by such bandits.

A number of reports of "petting party" hold-ups and fear of a recurrence of something like the Ypsilanti "torch" murders prompted the Sheriff's action.

Sheriff Behrendt styled the "petting party" type of bandit as "a most vicious kind of outlaw. To robbery, they often add criminal assault and murder. Young folks parked in isolated spots are invited trouble from these criminals."

Permanent Blind Permits Necessary

Permanent blind permits will again be required for duck hunters who wish to construct, occupy and use permanent blinds this fall. This is in accordance with Act 325 of the Public Acts of 1931 which prohibits the use of permanent blinds on waters under the control of the state and except under permit from the Department of Conservation.

The Conservation Commission has authorized the use of permanent blinds in the following waters only: Houghton Lake; Muskegon Lake; Lake St. Clair (in Anchor Bay from Perch Point to Point Huron and along the west shore from Point Huron to Grosse Pointe not more than a half mile out from shore); Saginaw Bay (from Point Lookout in Arenac County to Point Aux Barques in Huron County, excepting that portion of Wildfowl Bay south of a line extending from the Bayport Fish docks to North Island.

Last year all of Wildfowl Bay was closed to permanent blinds but the Conservation Commission decided to allow this year, the use of permanent blinds in the deeper and more exposed part of the Bay and away from the State marshes.

Hunters planning to use blinds this fall are requested to make applications early in order that proper distribution of blinds on the designated waters may be made. Application should be made to the Lansing office, Department of Conservation.

Federal permission is also needed for the erection of permanent stationary blinds in navigable waters and the state permit must be obtained before the Federal permit will be granted. Application for Federal permit must be made to the U. S. Army District Engineer's office at Detroit (for Lake St. Clair and Saginaw Bay) or at Milwaukee (for Muskegon Lake). No Federal permit is required for Houghton Lake.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
"Song" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, August 14.

Among the Bible citations was this passage (Psalm 84:2): "My soul longeth, yea, even fainteth for the courts of the Lord: my heart and my flesh crieth out for the living God."

Correlative passages read from the "Christian Science" textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, included the following (p. 325): "Because Soul is immortal, it does not exist in mortality. Soul must be incorporated to be Spirit, for spirit is not finite. Only by losing the false sense of Soul can we gain the eternal unfolding of Life as immortality brought to light."

Andy Gale of Nethem shut out Spreckel Cartage Company of Detroit, when he allowed but seven hits but his support cracked when they committed eight errors and Nethem was defeated ten to six. Zielasko was the leading batter of the day when he got three out of four.

BIGGEST HYMNAL ORDER IN HISTORY PLACED IN SOUTH

The Kingsport Press, Incorporated, has received the largest known single order of hymnals ever placed with a single concern. The order was placed by The Christian Science Publishing Society of Boston.

The order consists of 400,000 cloth-bound books and 10,000 deluxe full leather-bound books. The books will be distributed throughout the world. It is expected the distribution will begin about Sept. 1. The music plates for the 640-page hymnal were prepared by the P. H. Gilson Company of Boston, nationally known music composers. All of the type for the plates was set by hand.

E. W. Palmer, president of the local plant, said some idea of the magnitude of the order could be obtained by the quantity of material and time necessary for the completion of the book. Five of the largest perfecting presses of the Kingsport Press began work on printing the book June 15 and will run 20 hours each day until August 25, at which time the printing is expected to be complete.

A total of 325 tons of paper will be used in the book, 40,240 yards of book cloth, 39,000 yards of head bands, seven tons of end paper material, 60 tons of cover board, and more than 210,000 yards of muslin reinforcement for the backs of the books. Mr. Palmer said probably the most outstanding part of the manufacturing process will be the use of more than 500,000 sheets of 22-carat gold for the stamping of the cloth-bound edition and gilding the edges and stamping the de luxe edition. Mr. Palmer estimated the cost of the gold alone at $12,500. Kingsport (Tenn.) Times.

Cherry Hill

Cherry Hill won a one-sided game from Superior Sunday 20-3. M. Nass pitched a good game and was never in trouble.

The Thistle Cutters, all hit Castroline hard and piled up a large score in the early innings. The game had plenty of heated arguments from start to finish. The trouble being mainly because two former Superior players are now playing with Cherry Hill.

Cherry Hill plays the Plymouth Cubs Sunday, August 21.

Rosedale Gardens

Welcome to the Community this week will be extended the William Morris family, and the little Morrisies—Lois Jean, Charles, and William, Jr., who have purchased the "Westover" model at 11039 Cranston Ave.

Thus St. Michael's Parish grows again as the days go by, and there are three more kiddies in the Rosedale School.

Peeping thru the transit-lift is Cousin Adolph S. these days, to fix stakes for leveling of alley behind the business section, thus setting the site of the fence to fence the business section out, which Supt. Alfred H. Steam Shovel, M. Powell, etc., etc., are preparing beds to shrub the residence section in making all and a better place in which to live in on the inside.

The shrub pathway is to take up the first, or "alley" lot as this particular brand of lot has ever been a source of worry to all to whom they may concern.

Flowers of practically every conceivable shade and color, all fixed up in an all inspiring manner, made a number of City visitors gasp with wonder at St. Michael's services last Sunday morning.

A number of people, friends of Fr. Conaway, and of Gardenites, are in the habit of coming out to visit over the week-end and for the day. After Mass and breakfast the visitors visited about gardens and Gardenites and discovered where all the flowers came from. The Pastor, Ladies of the Altar Society, and every one again thank those who are so generously contributing the blooms of their gardens. With plenty of both rain and sunshine, everything seems to be growing better than ever this year.

Alterations are now completed on the Heindel home and the Miller is now receiving attention of carpenters and decorators whilst Blackburn, Avenoo shingles are to receive the kind of care of bricklayers and the Van Deventer to the painters.

Welcome also, as soon as the alterations are completed for them, will be Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burns, who have purchased the little wire cottage in the woods at 9615 Herwick Ave.

Signs of the times are getting brighter for better business, as well as the big electric sign at the corner of Merriman and U. S. 12 Roads, and the 'E' House sign at Berwick and Plymouth, all resplendent and in all glory of bright new paint.

Thus attracting the passersby to homes and cherry pie (in season) other pies out "of season" as well.

A Wedding In Chicago, Ill., took R. Connable and Mrs. Albert Hirsch, York Avenue, over last week-end.

That may be the reason certain during folks went down and up the streets at "reckless driving" speed.

But R. Land Co. boys have their license no so if they please keep up again it will be had for some ones who have no thoughts for safety of R. Kiddies about their play.

Not that any one wishes to cause trouble, but to save trouble and may be save a life we have made Plymouth the Speed Limit in R. "built up" residence sections.

R. G. I. Boy Scouts have returned from camp at Commerce Lake, according to all accounts the lads had a wonderful time and are ashamed of only one thing (says Scout Master Harold Church, and begin of quote "each boy ate the ration of two, especially when "Baked Beans ala Scout" were on the menu."—A quote.

There is also a welcome for a new member in the making, namely Jack Buttrick, 9906 Cranston Ave.

Picnic of the St. Michael's Parish folk will be in full play this Sunday post meridian.

Full directions to get to the second picnic of the season are to go to Joy Road, someplace, then go along this here Joy Road 'till you get to the gravel roadbed, thence to a place where it is near Middle Belt Road, you will see big signs, tents and a dance floor all plainly marked in plain Americanese.—St. Michael's Picnic which is the place, the date August 21, 1932.

Good times, cats, "everything are to be there. People folk from Ann"

Banquet Ends Week Of Church Activities For Young People

On Friday evening, August 12th, Young People's Week at the Salem Federated Church drew to a close with a banquet for the members and friends of the P. O. M. class. Miss Eleanor Bennett was general chairman, and she managed the affair with all the ability of a trained hostess. In keeping with the spirit of the Washington 10-centennial, the color scheme was red, white and blue, and this was carried out in tri-color stripes on the white table cloths, in candles, and with red and blue glass bowls of flowers in three colors. The color scheme was also accented with the menu by watermelon cocktail, red and white radishes on blue willow plates, beet pickles in blue dishes and red fruit salad.

A South Lyon orchestra under the direction of Merl Bradley played while the young people marched down-stairs to the dining room. Russell Gale and Malva Cinnamon arranged the program which surely sets a high standard for the social affairs of the class. South Lyon Orchestra Duett, "My Savior"

Eleanor Bennett, Kathryn Pennell Reading, Mrs. Hugh Means Vocal solo, Myrtle Sargent Reading, Beatrice Bulmon Duett, Fred Rich and Russell Wallace.

Address, Shirley Douglas Kinde, F. O. M. class was the toastmaster and his performance in that difficult office was exceptional. No doubt in the future when "Senator Libgard" comes back to visit in the village some of the folks who greet him will be remembering the first Young People's Week in the old Salem Church and will be reminiscing. "I knew him when he was toastmaster at our first class banquet," Robert surely "hit the bull's eye" with all of his jokes, and they added much to the merriment of the occasion.

Mr. Kinde spoke briefly from the text, "not by might, nor by honor, but my Spirit saith the Lord of hosts." The young people have asked Mr. Kinde to preach in Salem on September 4, when he is on his way to Moody Institute, and it is hoped that we may have another special —

Only the Best
IN this day and age, people insist on the best of everything. Old, inefficient ways of doing things must give way before the march of progress, and the business which cannot keep pace must drop out of line.
Funeral Service is no exception to the rule. There are constant changes in technical methods, constant improvement in equipment and merchandise. The funeral director must be on the alert.
We have always believed and demonstrated that nothing but the very best was good enough for this community. That is why we are constantly improving methods, have renewed our equipment with a SIDE SERVICING hearse and are showing the latest developments in merchandise.

Poultry Growers Are Aided By Research Work of Specialists

Some fifty years ago the German physiologist, Dr. Voit, fed a pigeon a very simple diet consisting of washed wheat and distilled water. The bird lived for some two months and appeared perfectly healthy. Then it broke a wing and was killed. In order that its body might be thoroughly examined in- side.

It was now proved that outward appearances were deceiving. In fact the pigeon had been suffering severely from lack of the bone-building materials. So great had been the drain upon the breast bone and skull that they had been reduced almost to the thickness of paper with many holes in it. Calcium phosphate and other minerals, needed in the bird's blood, was drawn from the skull and the breast. In other words, this pigeon was eating away its own bones.

This story was told at the American Association for the Advancement of Science Meeting at the University of Syracuse by Professor Victor K. La Mer, of the Department of Chemistry, Columbia University.

Since Dr. Voit's time, research work and science have combined to aid poultrymen in meeting present competitive conditions by formulating a proper balance of minerals, proteins and vitamins to effect speedier, healthier growth of baby chicks into broilers and pullets and of pullets into profitable, consistently high-egg producing laying hens. The Research Department of Arcady Farms Milling Company is constantly engaged in reviewing and analyzing results of feeding experiments and to be of ever increasing service to its customers. Arcady's most recent and valuable contribution to poultrymen is the development of Liver Meal (vacuum-processed). Through their Research Department special machinery was devised to make a potent, uniform meal from carefully selected, fresh livers by a secret vacuum-process and which is blended in definite quantities to all Arcady Wonder Mashies—Starting, Growing, Broiler, Breeding and Laying Mashies. Through proper blending and balancing of the right proteins, minerals and vitamins in these mashies, they have made possible sturdier, healthier chicks, with a minimum of mortality, and the production of two to three weeks of age, and laying flocks capable of sustained 75% egg-production and disease-resistant flocks—resulting in greater and surer profits to poultrymen.

Eckles Coal and Supply Co. are exclusive distributors of Arcady-Wonder Mashies, and will be pleased to tell you more about them. They are feed specialists, handling the best of feeds for all livestock and poultry. Also, their stores carry fertilizers, seeds, and binder twine and are widely and favorably known for their excellent service.

FEE SETTLEMENT IS DUE SOON FOR CORPORATIONS

Before Sept. 1, approximately 17, 750 Michigan corporations will be required to file annual reports and pay the 1932 privilege fee.

This fee is based upon the corporation's paid up capital and surplus as shown by the company's books at the close of business Dec. 31, 1931 or at the close of the corporation's fiscal year preceding the filing date of the report.

All corporation privilege fees are payable Sept. 1 but a period of 10 days is granted before the corporation powers are suspended. Once its right to do business is suspended, a corporation cannot legally transact business until the proper fees have been paid and the suspension lifted. If the fees are not paid within two years, the corporation's charter is revoked.

Michigan corporations were delinquent several weeks ago by certain accountants who offered to reduce corporation privilege fees. In many instances, the reports prepared by them did not show the true condition of the corporation's books and the reports have been held in abeyance until proper balance sheets have been obtained. Changes in balance sheets after Dec. 31 would result in a false report which is in violation of the corporation law and is punishable by a $1,000 fine and imprisonment for the officers signing the report.

Advertisements prepared by the accountants also indicated that free and easy access to annual reports of corporations was allowed by the Department of State. Under Michigan laws, reports filed with the department are available only for "reasonable examination" by other than state employees and persons without valid reasons are not given access to department records.

New Highway Will By-Pass Villages

The State Highway Department is developing and building a new trunk line road to parallel in a general way Michigan Avenue from Detroit across the state, by-passing the cities and villages. This route begins at Detroit, utilizing Ford Road across Wayne County, stated Road Commissioner Edward N. Hines yesterday.

This new route is graded west from Canton Center Road to the Washtenaw County line, a distance

New Prison for Women Has Neither Walls Nor Bars

CALIFORNIA has just presented her erring women with a beautiful place to rehabilitate themselves and change their environment, representing the new trend to help prisoners to lead a normal life in elevating surroundings. of three miles, and will be built of concrete 20 feet wide, 40 feet over all on the new 120-foot width of right of way. From the Wayne County line west to U. S. No. 12 east of Dixboro, a distance of approximately five miles, the work of grading the road is in progress preparatory to pouring the concrete.

Another section of Ford Road will also be built this season on right of way dedicated by Henry Ford. Thirty feet of concrete will be laid on the north side of a 150-foot width of right of way for a distance of three miles west from Church Road to the Rouge River, stated Mr. Hines. This section of roadway will be boulevarded, with a park strip in the center. The south half of the pavement was built many years ago. From Rouge River to Outer Drive, an additional 10 feet of concrete will be added to the old roadway, bringing it up to its minimum width of 40 feet.

Both of these sections will be completed and opened to traffic this fall, stated Mr. Hines.

Squatters Giving State New Problem

The "shacker" a familiar figure to northern Michigan during the early period of its development, but who had almost entirely disappeared three years ago, is again reoccupying buildings long deserted and is creating a new problem in conservation law enforcement, according to reports received by the Department of Conservation from its field men.

Practically all of the old deserted farm houses and squatters' shacks in the upper peninsula and the northern section of the lower peninsula are now being occupied by men or by entire families who are taking their living from the woods, the reports say, and as a result there has been a considerable increase in fire hazard as well as in game and fish law violation.

Most of the new "shackers" have migrated from the city where they have been forced through economic conditions to find a living elsewhere. Many of them obtain their living through the taking of game during the closed season, officers claim. While the blueberry season has given them temporary employment, the coming winter will see most of them in severe straits.

Large number of squatters are being discovered on state owned land, but so far trespass is being permitted unless it is interfering with homesteader's rights. Eviction would only cause them to move to some other county and again set up housekeeping in some deserted shack.

"Little Stories for Bedtime" by Thornton W. Burgess

BUSTER BEAR HAS NO LUCK

THREE (three I've turned upon my tail. And crossed my toes, but still I fall To win from Luck my simple wish For just one single little fish."

As he said this, Buster Bear sat and stared into the Laughing Brook with wrinkled brows. He had set out that morning to get fish for breakfast, and because he had set his heart on fish, nothing else would do. You know, Buster Bear is sometimes what is called pig-headed—that is, he starts to do a thing, and no matter what happens he persists in trying to do it. He had started out for fish that morning, and fish he would have or else go hungry. Now, everybody knows that it is of no use to try to drink from an empty pail, and every fisherman knows that it is of no use to fish when the fish have gone away from their favorite places. Buster Bear knew that for some unknown reason there were no trout in the little shallow pool, where he does his fishing. Of course, he didn't know to cross his toes, and when he did these things he looked around first to make sure that no one would see him. And, of course, his luck didn't change. You see, there isn't any such thing as that kind of luck. No matter what happens there is a cause, a reason for it. The reason Buster Bear saw no fish that fine morning was that there were no fish to see. They had all gone down to the Smiling Pool because the water there was deeper and cooler than in the Laughing Brook. You see, the weather had been so hot for so long that the Laughing Brook was growing smaller and smaller, and so the fish had moved down to the Smiling Pool for comfort and safety. If Buster had used his common sense he would have known and given up all thought of fish.

At last he sat down in a little open place close by the Laughing Brook, and not far from where Plunger the Fish Hawk had built his nest. Buster sat down to rest and cool off. He had not been there long when he heard voices, harsh, screaming voices. They came from high up in the air. Buster tipped his head back and looked up. There was Plunger the Fish Hawk and King Eagle, and they were quarreling. Plunger was dodging this way and that way down the river, now to this side and now to that. And clutched in Plunger's claws was a great, big fat fish. At the sight of that fish it seemed to Buster that his stomach just flopped right over. Yes, sir, that is the way it seemed. Water began to trickle from the corners of his mouth, water of pure longing. Plunger was high in the air, and if that fish was big enough for him to see at that distance it must be very, very much bigger than any fish Buster had ever caught in the Laughing Brook. Buster could not keep his greedy little eyes off it. He knew by what he saw that King Eagle was trying to make Plunger give up that fish.

"Robber!" grumbled Buster Bear, quite forgetting that were he in King Eagle's place he would be doing the same thing. "Robber! I hope Plunger gets away from him." A sudden thought came to him. What if King Eagle should make Plunger drop that fish? Would King Eagle be able to catch that fish before it reached the ground? Decidedly this was a queer worth watching. They were almost overhead now and not very far up in the air. Plunger made a sudden swoop that brought him still nearer the tree tops, and at the same instant King Eagle swooped with a scream so fierce that it gave even Buster Bear a funny feeling. And then, something silvery, something shining in the rays of jolly, bright Mr. Sun, dropped straight toward Buster Bear.

this when he started out that morning, but it didn't take him a great while to find out. Not so much as a glimpse of a fin or tail had Buster had, and he had followed the Laughing Brook almost to the place where it leaves the Green Forest on its way to the Smiling Pool in the Green Meadows.

And just because he couldn't have fish, Buster wanted fish more than anything else in the world. People are that way sometimes. So Buster persisted in wandering along the Laughing Brook, hoping that luck would turn. Fishermen, you know, are great believers in luck, and Buster is like the rest. That is why he said this foolish little verse at the beginning of this story. Of course, he knew it was all foolishness to turn around three times and to cross his toes, and when he did these things he looked around first to make sure that no one would see him. And, of course, his luck didn't change. You see, there isn't any such thing as that kind of luck. No matter what happens there is a cause, a reason for it. The reason Buster Bear saw no fish that fine morning was that there were no fish to see. They had all gone down to the Smiling Pool because the water there was deeper and cooler than in the Laughing Brook. You see, the weather had been so hot for so long that the Laughing Brook was growing smaller and smaller, and so the fish had moved down to the Smiling Pool for comfort and safety. If Buster had used his common sense he would have known and given up all thought of fish.

At last he sat down in a little open place close by the Laughing Brook, and not far from where Plunger the Fish Hawk had built his nest. Buster sat down to rest and cool off. He had not been there long when he heard voices, harsh, screaming voices. They came from high up in the air. Buster tipped his head back and looked up. There was Plunger the Fish Hawk and King Eagle, and they were quarreling. Plunger was dodging this way and that way down the river, now to this side and now to that. And clutched in Plunger's claws was a great, big fat fish. At the sight of that fish it seemed to Buster that his stomach just flopped right over. Yes, sir, that is the way it seemed. Water began to trickle from the corners of his mouth, water of pure longing. Plunger was high in the air, and if that fish was big enough for him to see at that distance it must be very, very much bigger than any fish Buster had ever caught in the Laughing Brook. Buster could not keep his greedy little eyes off it. He knew by what he saw that King Eagle was trying to make Plunger give up that fish.

New Driveway Near School Staked Out

In accordance with the action taken by the City Commission on August 25th, the city manager has staked out the proposed driveway through the park in front of the high school building. Sufficient stakes have been set so that anyone viewing this proposed improvement can see approximately how the new driveway will appear in the Park. It is planned to have a circle with a fifty foot diameter at the end of Church Street in front of the school driveway in order that automobile traffic may turn around on the dead end of Church Street if the street is to be closed.

It is suggested that all citizens interested in the closing of Church Street or opposed to the closing of the street look over this proposed lay-out or staked in order that they may form a definite opinion on the matter.

The council proceedings of August 28th, published elsewhere in this issue of the Mail, give a brief outline of the discussions at the public hearing held by the city commission. It is suggested that these proceedings be read over in order that the sentiment of the persons in attendance at the public hearing can be had.

The Commission has received a protest against this improvement and it is understood that several petitions opposing the closing of Church Street are now in circulation and will be filed with the Commission at an early date. The Commissioners will welcome the comments and advice of interested citizens on this proposed matter.

If only a soft answer would turn away a look peddler.
