

Frank Picard Is Rally Speaker For Democrats

Former Liquor Chief And Other Candidates Plead Cause

National state and county Democratic nominees headed by Frank A. Picard candidate for the United States Senate addressed a meeting of interested citizens at the Plymouth high school Wednesday evening.

Mr. Picard gave a splendid talk during which he stressed the necessity of sending men to congress that would support the president in his attempt to bring order and prosperity to the country. Mr. Picard produced what he declared was the record of his opponent Mr. Vandenberg, and stated that the Junior Senator had voted against the passage of the NRA, which is the basic foundation of the Recovery program as well as against the AAA which is designed to help the farmers of Michigan. He also voted against many of the other recovery programs although he was now attempting to claim credit for help in passing these very same bills, said Mr. Picard. Representative of the Junior Senator's statement "that he would never be a rubber stamp," the Democratic nominee replied that no one expected any senator to be a rubber stamp but neither did they expect him to be a rubber ball. Mr. Picard described Mr. Vandenberg's position as a man on two horses, one headed for Hyde Park, New York, and the other for Palo Alto, Calif.

Rev. Fred O'Meara, of the Episcopal ministry, and a member of the Independent Voters League, told of his thirty years in politics as a Republican and of his present attempt to nominate Alex Grossbeck of the Republican ticket this fall. He stated that the league which has increased its membership by forty thousand within the last ten days, would never vote for Frank Picard as long as he insisted upon being allied with the McKay political machine. He stated that the election of Fitzgerald would mean that McKay would be governor of Michigan with the return of the practices that put Michigan into a state of bankruptcy. In closing he pleaded with his audience to renounce partisan politics and vote the straight democratic ticket.

Chas. P. Webster, candidate for Congress from the 17th District outlined his platform which included payment of the soldiers bonus, a return to congress alone, of the right to issue money, together with a vigorous campaign to put men back to work and take care of the destitute.

Mr. Nichols of Northville, spoke in behalf of the nomination of Duncan MacRae for Prosecuting Attorney of Wayne County.

Legion Dance At Newburg Nov. 9

The annual Armistice Day dance sponsored by the Myron H. Beal's Post of the American Legion is scheduled for next Friday, November 9th, at the American Legion Hall at Newburg. According to the high school committee, no attempt will be made to go in for elaborate decorations as in their opinion the ball room of the Legion Hall is very attractive in itself.

They state it is hoped that no effort will be spared to make the evening brim full of high class entertainment and amusement. Don Patterson's capable orchestra will furnish the music.

This is your opportunity to visit the fine new headquarters of the Plymouth Post. One will not be disappointed.

Annual Meeting Of Eastern Star Will Be Held On November 6th

Plymouth Chapter No. 115, Order of the Eastern Star will hold its annual meeting on Tuesday evening, November 6 at 7:30 o'clock.

Eastern Star members, this is your duty to attend as it is of importance to you and the welfare of your Chapter, in electing new officers for the ensuing year. Come out and show your loyalty and be true Eastern Star and not just names.

All members are urged to make a special effort to attend this meeting as it is the time when the successful labors of the past year will be brought to a close, annual reports will be read, and new officers elected.

Election Day Weather Is Important Factor

Folks should pray for the type of weather they want on November 6 because the women's vote will probably be the determining factor in the election. Superintendent of Schools Geo. A. Smith, says that he noticed last summer, when weather was particularly hot, that women wanted things "lacy," but since it has gotten cooler and they are sending their boys to school the women are looking for something that "Fitzgerald." So now is the time for both Democrats and Republicans to pray for the type of weather they want.

Education Week To Be Observed By High School

Schools Will Be Open Next Wednesday Eve To All Visitors

By a member of the Pilgrim Fraternity Staff.
Plymouth high school will be open Wednesday, Nov. 7, from seven-thirty to nine o'clock as a part of their program to celebrate National Education Week. Three classes will meet for thirty minutes periods. The parents of students and any interested adults are invited to come to the high school on this evening and watch the classes at work. School will close Wednesday noon, and the students will make the time up in the evening.

On Tuesday, Nov. 6, the schools will hold a mock election as a feature of National Education Week. They will vote for state, county, and national officers on ballots similar to those used in the real election. Republican, Democrat, and Socialist tickets will be on the school ballot.

National Education Week is annually sponsored by the United States Office of Education. The National Educational Association and The American Legion. This year it lasts from Nov. 5 to Nov. 11. The American Legion will sponsor a program along Educational week plans on Thursday, November 8 at 8 o'clock in the auditorium from 12:30 to 1:15. There will be a nationally known speaker here to give a fifteen minute address. This will be followed by a patriotic program. Music will be provided by the high school band.

To Take Census Of Farms Soon

Farmers! Prepare to have your pigs, your chickens, your eggs and everything else you possess counted by the government during the coming winter.

Postmaster Bert Giles this week posted on the bulletin board in the post office a notice sent to the office from Washington that the nation's farm census would be taken right after the first of the year.

The government plans to count all the farms in the nation to value all the land, to secure the yield of crops of all kinds, included fruits, vegetables and nuts, and to count all the livestock and poultry.

So be prepared for the count of noses on your farm anytime after January one.

Extension Service Offers A Dramatic Course For This City

This year the Wayne County Home Economics Extension service offers a new project, that of Dramatics. This project has many educational advantages, following the general plan of the course given in the regular Dramatics class at Michigan State College. One of the highlights in the project will be the presenting of a short play to compete with those presented by other similar groups in the county. The winning group will present their play at Michigan State College during Farmer's Week.

Miss DuBord, Wayne County Home Demonstration Agent presents the project to local leaders who in turn present it to the local groups.

The meeting for organizing and for presenting the first lesson to the Plymouth group will be held at the home of Mrs. Hugh Dailey, November 8th, at 1:30 p. m. Anyone interested, please be present at this meeting. We are strongly urged to start all meetings promptly.

Fitzgerald To Speak Here On Saturday Night

Everyone Invited To Big Mass Meeting At Hotel Mayflower

G. O. P. Candidate For Governor And Other Party Leaders Will Be On The Program

Plymouth's final political rally of the present campaign will take place Saturday night at 8:30 o'clock in the Mayflower hotel when Hon. Frank D. Fitzgerald, Republican candidate for governor, will address local residents on the issues of the campaign.

L. J. Murphy, who is chairman of the Plymouth-Fitzgerald committee has made arrangements to turn the big Crystal dining room of the hotel into an auditorium of where with the tables out, a crowd of nearly 500 can be cared for.

Everyone is invited to be present and hear the addresses of the evening. In addition to Mr. Fitzgerald, promising attorney Harry S. Toy, who is candidate for attorney general, will be one of the speakers. Gomer Krise, candidate for prosecuting attorney, Henry Behrendt and numerous other candidates will be present to make brief addresses. However the main address of the evening will be delivered by Mr. Fitzgerald.

Plymouth is especially fortunate in being able to have Mr. Fitzgerald present for the final political meeting of the campaign.

Both women and men are invited to be present. Because of the local interest in his candidacy, there is not much question but that the meeting will prove to be one of the most interesting of the present campaign. Mr. Fitzgerald has been spending the present week in Detroit, where he has been making a most effective drive for support of the entire Republican ticket.

Many Present At Scout Meeting

A Halloween party for Plymouth City Scouts was given by the Scoutmasters and their assistants consisting of Scoutmaster Strong of P-1, Scoutmaster Jacobs of P-2, Scoutmaster Mathias of P-3 and Allen Strong of P-4, Assistant Scoutmaster Williams of P-2, and committee men. The affair started promptly at 7:30, the boys proceeded with the parade dressed in Halloween garb. It was hard to tell whether we had boys or girls at least the prizes thought so when they were awarded to the winners.

First prize was won by John Moore and Richard Innis of P-3. Second prize went to Kenneth McMullen of P-2, he being Uncle Tom and third prize went to James Stevens of P-2, the second prize was given to the section of Mae West. The judges were Sterling Eaton, Harry Mumby and Wm. Smith. Music was furnished through the courtesy of Allen Strong. Bill Smith gave a reading entitled 'Ichies Wedding.' Lunch was served which consisted of apples, sinkers and a square dance for the parents ended the evening, there being about 95 persons present.

The scouts were the guests of Harry Lush and Charley Thumme at the second performance of the Penniman Allen theatre Wednesday night. Scouts are requested not to forget the over night hike to Brady on the 10th and 11th of November. There are a few openings in each one of the four troops for any boy over the age of 12 who is interested in scouting. Come on lets be scouts.

Train Carries Auto On Head Of Engine 300 Feet

Two Hurt, One Seriously In Crash On East Ann Arbor

When their automobile crashed into the side of a southbound Pere Marquette freight on East Ann Arbor Monday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Warner of 555 South Main street, trapped in their car, were carried for a distance of over 300 feet, the automobile resting securely on top of the engine tender. They probably are alive today due entirely to the fact that the freight was traveling at a slow speed at the time of the accident.

Mrs. Warner was so badly injured that she was taken to Plymouth hospital. In addition to numerous bruises and cuts, she suffered a fracture of the left shoulder. Wednesday she was removed to the University hospital at Ann Arbor for additional treatment. Mr. Warner was only slightly bruised in the crash, although their car was completely demolished.

The couple were travelling west on Ann Arbor street. Mr. Warner declares that he did not see or hear the train until he was almost on top of the grade. In an effort to avoid the crash he turned his car to the left but it was not sufficient to avoid the accident.

It is an interesting fact that Dr. Edward Fisher, state representative from this district, just a week previous had requested the state public utilities commission to provide an alarm at this crossing in view of the fact that the street now carries a very large part of the traffic to the east of Plymouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Warner are the parents of three children. It will probably be two or three weeks before she will be able to return home from the hospital.

Women Voters To Meet Monday

A special meeting will be held Monday, Nov. 5th in the Community Room of the City Hall by the League of Women Voters.

This meeting was advanced one week in order to give more study of the Amendments which will be voted on the following day. There will be speakers for both sides and the public is invited. This meeting will begin promptly at 2 p. m.

On Monday, Nov. 12th a Board meeting will be held at the home of the president, Mrs. Ruth Huston-Whipple.

The gas and weight tax amendments will be discussed from three different viewpoints. Supt. George Smith will discuss them from the viewpoint of the public schools. Mr. Buckley of the state highway department will discuss them from the viewpoint of the state highway system and Perry Cookingham will discuss them from the viewpoint of the cities of the state. A speaker from the Detroit Citizens League will give the case for the county reorganization amendment. There will also be a discussion of the so-called income tax amendment.

DINNER IS LARGEST EVER

The dinner party staged Sunday October 28th by the St. Michael's Church of Rosedale Gardens was the largest event of its kind ever undertaken by the parish. Over 700 dinners were served to guests who also enjoyed one of the finest programs that the Church has ever presented.

Red Cross Drive For Members Is Now Under Way

Plymouth Branch Hopes To Top All Records In Present Campaign

No Organization Does Greater Charity Work Than The Red Cross—Urge Membership

The Plymouth Branch of the American Red Cross opened its annual drive for memberships and donations on Thursday, November 1. This splendid organization contributed much during the past few years by bringing relief to the less fortunate in the city and township.

The appeal for Red Cross funds means that for each dollar received as memberships, fifty cents is forwarded to Washington, D. C. to be used in the great National Red Cross fund. This fund is used in the nationwide relief of famine, flood or any other great need or disaster. The other half of each membership dollar will remain in Plymouth in the hands of our own treasurer, Miss Alice Safford for the use of necessary Red Cross activities in this community. All contributions to the Red Cross in excess of the dollar membership fee also remain in full in the local treasury. Any amount less than one dollar may be accepted as a contribution but not as a membership fee.

This is the first time in many years that the chairman, Mrs. C. H. Bennett, has not been in Plymouth during the Red Cross Roll Call. Mrs. Bennett made many plans for the local work before she left on her trip to Japan where she and Mr. Bennett are delegates to a world-wide convention of the Red Cross. The following Plymouth ladies are conducting the drive this year: Miss Alice Safford, Mrs. Robert Mimmack, Miss Elizabeth Sutherland, Mrs. Otto Beyer, Mrs. Warren Lombard, Mrs. J. W. Blickenstaff, Mrs. C. J. Dykhouse, Mrs. Russell Roe, Mrs. Harmon Smith, Mrs. Harold Stevens, Mrs. John Paul Morrow, Mrs. Ray Gilder, Miss Mary Lorenz, Mrs. J. J. McLaren, Mrs. Floyd Burgett, Mrs. A. Kah, Miss Melissa Roe, Mrs. Wm. Kaiser, Mrs. Sara Ross, Mrs. Bert Giles, Miss Virginia Giles, Miss Mary McKinnon, Mrs. Ray Johns and Mrs. Goodwin Crumie.

All who are able to do so are urged to contribute liberally. This good work Red Cross workers feel sure that Plymouth citizens will do their bit and more to aid this splendid organization.

Many Present At Baptist Banquet

The Monday night meeting of the Men's Fellowship Club in the Baptist church basement was not only well attended but the talk by Prof. Waugh of Ypsilanti on "Is the new deal a Dictatorship" was timely and instructive. He compared the powers given to the President to the present dictatorships of Italy and Germany. While in the United States the president has been loaned powers by congress, these powers can be taken at any time or the president impeached. While in the other countries mentioned the dictator can discharge the legislative body at will and run things alone. The Professor did not defend the new deal in its entirety and was very fair to both sides in this discussion.

Harold Hamill acted very acceptably as toastmaster. F. W. Hamill was elected president in place of Robert Todd who resigned account of his new work. Mr. Giles was elected vice president. Plans are already under way for the next meeting the last Monday in November.

Vote Tuesday

Tuesday is election day in Michigan. No matter what your politics might be, no matter whether you think the New Deal is a good thing or a complete failure, get out and vote. When you vote you are taking part in governmental affairs—you are doing your duty. If you do not vote, then you haven't the slightest right in the world to criticize or condemn anything pertaining to public affairs.

Vote Tuesday. It is your duty as a citizen.

The evening which will be followed by a dance. Father Conroy also announces the masses on All Souls Day will be held at 7:30, 8:15 and 9:00.

Starkweather P. T. A. To Raise Funds For Christmas Needs

Starkweather Parent-Teachers Association are desirous of giving the children of Starkweather School a Xmas party again this year. To help raise funds, a bake sale will be held at Wilson's Hardware Store, Liberty and Starkweather Ave. on Saturday, Nov. 3rd beginning at 12 o'clock. Donations of any kind of baked goods and the patronage of the community interested in the P. T. A.'s work, will be greatly appreciated by the committee.

Brucker Tells Kiwanians Of State Affairs

Former Governor Assails Record Of Democrats At Lansing

Former Governor Wilbur M. Brucker, speaking before one of the largest meetings of the Kiwanis club has held in recent months in his condemnation of the present Democratic state administration.

"They told you two years ago at this time that if you gave them the chance they would cut the expenses of the state in half. They told you they would cut down the number of state employees. Well, they haven't done anything of the kind. Instead they have added $50,340,000 to the tax burden of the state. They have added hundreds of political workers to the payrolls," declared Mr. Brucker.

The meeting was presided over by Attorney David Harbaugh of Detroit, who introduced Mr. Brucker as one of the outstanding men of the state.

The speaker lost no time in assailing the Comstock administration which has, he declared resulted in a complete breakdown of the state government.

"They have been grossly incompetent. With this incompetency they have labored under the idea that to the victors belongs the spoils. They have injected politics into the conduct of the prisons and when you mix politics and crime, you do absolutely the worst thing in the world."

"Two years ago they asked you for a chance to better your state government. You gave it to them and they made a miserable failure of it. Now with another inexperienced candidate at the head of their ticket, they are asking you for another chance. They told you two years ago there would be no new taxes. They have written onto the statute books new taxes that have never been done in any half dozen previous administrations. They have added $38,000,000 to your tax burden by these new laws."

Mr. Brucker lauded both Mr. Fitzgerald and Senator Arthur Vandenberg and declared that for the good of the state and nation both should be elected to the places they seek.

"We have had too much of inexperience to turn again to candidates with no experience," he stated.

He recited the details of the surrender of the governor to the powerful lobby maintained by the financial corporations of the state and his decision to turn these outfits are still able to take from the poor and needy of Michigan interest rates far out of all reason and decency.

The remarks of the former governor were loudly applauded.

Washington Bank President, Here For Government, Urges Aid And Encouragement To Building Trade

Declares That If People Will Take Advantage Of National Housing Act, Millions Of Workers And Dealers Will Benefit As Well As Home Owners

Through the courtesy of President J. M. Felton of the Plymouth Rotary club, business men of both Northville and Plymouth last Friday noon had the opportunity of hearing John R. Waller, president of the international bank of Washington, D. C. make a plea for public support of the National Housing Act, legislative measure that makes it possible for any property owner to repair or improve his property.

It was an address that brought encouragement to the citizens of these communities, an address that made it clear that one of the aims of the government at the present time is to help those engaged in the building material supplies business as well as the hundreds of thousands of carpenters, masons and other skilled workers who have long employment over a long period of years.

He urged that every encouragement be given to building and repairing. He stated that the government that made it clear that one of the aims of the government at the present time is to help those engaged in the building material supplies business as well as the hundreds of thousands of carpenters, masons and other skilled workers who have long employment over a long period of years.

Mr. Waller who has consented to give some of his time to the cause to help the country in behalf of this worthy project, came to Plymouth through the activity of Berg Moore, secretary of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, who introduced the speaker.

Mr. Waller's address, filled with many helpful suggestions and encouragement, follows in full: The Better Housing Program sponsored by the United States Government under the National Housing Act is your program and it is your program and responsibility. It will bring benefits and profits to all those who accept the opportunity it offers. It is not only an opportunity but a challenge to the initiative of American citizens. It is up to you to go forward with their Government in this great program to rehabilitate the buildings of the nation, thereby starting the remaining idle wheels of industry moving and putting the unemployed back to work.

I have come here from Washington to tell you of the purpose of this enactment; its economic justification and its importance to everyone in the Nation; just what you should know about it; how it works; and finally how we can all cooperate to obtain its benefits.

The National Housing Act authorizes two types of service. Under the first the Government insures approved lending institutions, building banks, trust companies, finance companies, building and loan associations and installment lending companies against losses which they may incur as a result of making loans from $100 to $200,000 to pay for alterations or repairs to homes and other properties. In brief, it provides credit facilities for character loans. The second will make long term loans available for home construction from $100 to $200,000 on a long-term basis with the cooperation of the Government. The details of the procedure governing home mortgage insurance will be available early in the year. You may be certain that this legislation will insure a tremendous building program.

Let me quote a few pertinent figures in this connection. A recent survey shows there is an acute shortage in the United States of over 150,000 homes, not taking into consideration over-crowded homes and current doubling up. The annual rate of construction of new homes in this country the past few years has been less than 50,000. In England there are four hundred thousand homes are being constructed this year and as many more remodelled; in the last five years they have built about 1,500,000 homes. France and Holland are also engaged in a construction program. There is a shortage in the building trades and allied industries in those countries and there should be none in America. With the enthusiastic response of the Nation to this program, the entire construction industry is beginning to write a new chapter in our national progress. During the past month I have talked to hundreds of bankers and executives on this subject. And I have not found one who does not believe that the act is the most constructive contribution to a sound business recovery of any legislation in recent years.

The fundamental purpose of the National Housing Act has been stated by the President in these words: "We seek the security of the men, women and children."

Clothing Class No. 3 Selects Its Officers

The first meeting of the Clothing class III was held at the home of Mrs. L. J. Stull on Monday afternoon. With an attendance of thirty-three ladies, fourteen were new members. After a short business meeting, two more leaders and a chairman, had to be chosen because of a large class. The officers for this year are: Mrs. Ferguson, chairman, Mrs. L. J. Stull, Mrs. W. Geer, Mrs. G. Renwick and Mrs. G. Gordon are leaders and Mrs. A. Signorelli is secretary and treasurer. The subject "A Well Dressed Woman" was carefully explained, and the lesson for the day "New Use of Color and Line in a Costume, Colors Becoming to the Individual," was explained by the four leaders. The final discussion was on color, individual type and what a well dressed woman is. Each one was classified according to their type, and color bibs were passed around for everyone to see the color suitable for herself.

The next lesson will be "Color Harmonies and The Use of" and the next meeting will be held on December 5th, 1:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. W. Geer, 356 Blunk Avenue.

Mrs. F. B. Andrews of Fenton is spending the winter with Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Jackson.

CONTROL OF THE RADIO

Should there be government control of radio broadcasting, as in England, or should it be a private enterprise, as in the United States? Both sides of this question are presented in the current Rotarian Magazine.

The income of the British Broadcasting Company, it is noted, is derived mainly from license revenue, every owner of a receiving set paying a fee of $2.50 per annum, while in America the income of broadcasting stations is derived from advertising.

Commander Stephen King-Hall, British author whose voice is frequently heard over the British Broadcasting Company network, points out that the British listener is very well satisfied. He sees the wireless business as a personal and intimate matter. He listens to programs in his own home, and likes to feel the thing belongs to him and not to a lot of firms whose advertisements already fill half the newspapers.

"With us in England," Commander King-Hall writes, "the B.B.C. is rapidly qualifying for admission to the list of national institutions. I imagine that in the United States the radio ranks in people's minds with the theater, business, the films, and the press, and if such were the case in Great Britain then you would find people quite ready to discuss whether better news, better variety, and better music could be obtained from a commercial service. But such a question does not arise in British minds."

On the other hand, Earl Reeves, who upholds the American system in this exchange of opinion, believes that advertiser-sponsored programs make for better radio entertainment than does government-controlled broadcasting.

"Surveys show," says Mr. Reeves, "that governmental broadcasting takes two forms: first, it may become the adjunct to the propaganda department of the dominant party, a situation that exists at present in a few countries; or, second, it becomes in its spoken program, wane and colorless, avoiding current or controversial issues, permitting a minimum, even of political discussion as in England. In either event, the entertainment program is handed down by bureaucratic officials, in its content being what a centralized governmental bureaucracy thinks should be good for the public and useful to itself."

THE PRIVILEGE OF LIVING TODAY

The year 1933 will go down in history. Just as our grandfathers talked of the Revolutionary period and our fathers of the Civil War era, so our children will refer back to 1933. The greatest social changes in the history of our nation are now taking place. Europe sits spell-bound at America's findings. We ourselves are almost too dazed to realize the transition.

We are hanging from an individualistic society to one of cooperation. There will be anxious moments in this changing process, but those who have adopted the philosophy of John Dewey in regarding each experience, whether happy or sad, as something to enrich one's life, will benefit most from this experiment.

There is too much humanity in the world for this experiment not to succeed. We may falter on the way, but the American people have never known the meaning of the word fail.

Frankly, we would rather live in 1933 than in any period in the history of America. For the first time we have a patriotic call without girding ourselves to kill. That in itself would mark out the year 1933 as an historic twelve months.—Independent, Littleton, Colo.

WHAT IS THE CURE?

It is possible that we may yet discover that the surest way for us a nation to be restored to something like our old time economic condition must be by the strictest adherence to the fundamental prin-

Rambling Around With Michigan Editors

A CODE FOR FEAS

Tower, the family dog, looked forward to four o'clock with great gobs of joy in his eyes, and renewed wags in his bushy tail. For under the code governing feases, they would have to quit work at this time, or else be made to lose their hide, and thus seek other areas for the carrying on of their annoyances. That is why Tower, as four o'clock approaches each day, looks happily toward four o'clock. He has also called a canine convention for next Thursday, when he expects dogdom to pass resolutions calling on the Brain Trust to eliminate Sunday work from the schedule of the dogs. But then, as we all know, feases are such wags that even they may not be taken seriously by Washington's contemporary brain commandant.—George Averell in The Birmingham Ecceentric.

DECENCY IN POLITICS

There ought to be a dependable element of decency and honesty in the political utterances of a man, who has been lifted to the position in life that admits to the highest public office in the gift of the state, but it appears that Mr. Lacy who has been untrue and deceitful to the old stalwart leaders of the party of his choice, who has been set back by the governor of our state in his efforts to wring easy money out of a job that he and his associates had been entrusted to carry on for the unfortunate who had their all in flattened out bank affairs, and then who appears before audiences up and down the state and there maliciously maligns his betters and erupts volley after volley of untruths that only the lowest type or a political shyster would resort to against any kind of people. It is a shame that the Michigan electorate will favor that kind of a blatherskite and trouble maker with a single vote. It is as easy for that bird to set the multiplication wheels to turning in his head and then go away and leave them multiply dollars into thousands of dollars, as it is for him to double cross those responsible for the party he seeks to lead. Criticism in the past has been directed against Attorney General O'Brien, Auditor General Stack and Agricultural Commissioner Metzger but they are high class gentlemen in comparison when it comes to the point of truth and veracity in political statements and political conniving.—Al Weber in The Cheboygan Observer.

ple of spending less than we receive. In other words, there is no sure promise of national security as long as we are paying out millions more than are coming in.

Pay day comes some day, sure as fate. No one can fail to be concerned about this matter when he thinks it through. Bold strokes in favor of artificial rejuvenation of trade, agriculture, and industry, business in all forms must have a coordinate reaction that will be harmoniously stimulating and tend quickly to make us a going concern in the matter of finances.

We cannot go on forever and ever running behind in our budget. That we know. We must quit spending soon and go to paying off. As for general conditions, they may be improved by remedial measures—it is certainly to be hoped they will be—but the most solid improvement will come through the natural processes that work through our economic organism just as such processes work through all other organisms.

Nature tends to balance things in an orderly manner. Business, industry, agriculture, labor conditions tend to balance themselves if given time. If sugar is too low in price for the producer he quits producing and the price rallies. The same can be said of all other products; they demand that the cost of traffic be paid, and if it is not paid the traffic ceases. Natural law controls those processes in a very large degree, and it is a dependable law with few slips in it.

But there is distress attending these adjustments even when nature carries the load. We seek, then, sometimes, temporary relief, help for the disabled. There is where the experimental enters the picture; the doctors in economics come on to the scene, and there are many different doctors with many different degrees and many different medicines, so we are lost to know which doctor to employ, which medicine to take.

That's where we are today, and we all hope that our doctors and the new specifics will prove to be "remedies," not stimulants that are succeeded by a depressant reaction, but remedies that tend to really assist nature in a permanent cure.—Evening Journal, Washington, Iowa.

W. C. T. U. SHOWS WISDOM

The membership of the W. C. T. U. includes women of the very highest character, many of them devoted mothers and wives who have observed at close range the evils of intemperance. It was with the hope of safeguarding the home that such women, and a multitude of other good citizens, supported prohibition.

Prohibition was a failure in what it set out to accomplish. It was worse than a failure because the evils that arose from it were far worse than the evils of the old saloon era, due largely to the public attitude on the question.

Now, the president of the Michigan W. C. T. U. announces that the aim of the association will be to promote total abstinence through education. This is a sane, helpful cause. Temperance, if not total abstinence, can only be brought about through education.

The W. C. T. U. has decided, too, that its opponents should not be called "wets," but "friends of beverage alcohol." Probably the longer term will not come into common use, but it seems to indicate a milder attitude on the part of the W.C.T.U.

The W. C. T. U. is still a live organization. It can be of great value during the readjustment following repeal if it avoids extremes of policy and utterance; in other words, if it abides by the ideal of true temperance in all things, declares the Detroit Times in a recent editorial.

NEW DEAL'S DECALOGUE

One of the new Assistant Secretaries of State is Harry F. Payer, of Cleveland, who, in a recent speech, laid down the Ten Commandments of the New Deal, partly as follows:

"First—Thou shalt not live, my dear country, beyond thy means.

"Second—Thou shalt not lose confidence in thyself or thy great strength.

"Third—Thou shalt not make Mammon thy god but neither shalt thou be unmindful of thy monetary system, let it destroy thee.

"Fifth—Thou shalt not make sold thy god but thy servant.

THE YOUNGER GENERATION IN MEANS IS BECOMING A PROBLEM TO ONE AND ALL

Mother, do you know where your children are? Are they somewhere raising rough house and making a nuisance of themselves or are they home playing in their own back yard? Ah, summer on Sunday afternoons some young Mears boys have been cutting up around the pickle factory, breaking glass out of the lumber yard warehouse, climbing up on the pickle tanks, running in and out around the big silos. Sunday afternoon Mr. Downing found a number of young boys smoking up on top of one of the vinegar tank roofs. The roof structures on these silos were not made to run on but are a light covering to keep out the rain. If the roof should accidentally catch fire, a bunch of young hoodlums and they would fall into the vinegar tanks and get pickled it might be conducive to the peace and order of the town but it would be too bad to spoil so much vinegar.—Swift Lathers in the Mears News.

WHERE?

Letters from state officials, writing with the approval of federal relief administrators, have warned the county that it must do something to provide funds for welfare relief to supplement those promised from federal funds. Nothing was said as to how this money might be raised with the tax mill amendment definitely in the constitution and the tax money which it makes available already appropriated, there is no open road to comply with the request, emergency bond issues would have to be voted, or new taxes imposed.

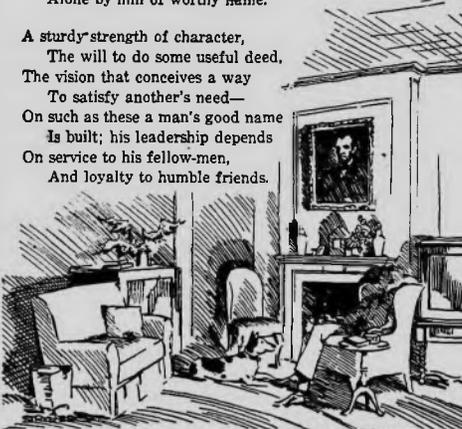

The voters have already turned thumbs down on one county bond issue and any proposal for a new tax is certain to meet with aggressive opposition. Gladstone has done proportionately better than the average because it was willing to approve one bond issue.—Joseph Sturgeon in The Delta County Reporter.

A Good Name

Oh, Lord of men, teach me to know
 Just what "a good name" signifies!
 Help me to understand its worth,
 And let me never cease to prize
 Above all else that life affords—
 Yes, better far than wealth or fame—
 The reputation that is won
 Alone by him of worthy name.

A sturdy strength of character,
 The will to do some useful deed,
 The vision that conceives a way
 To satisfy another's need—
 On such as these a man's good name
 Is built; his leadership depends
 On service to his fellow-men,
 And loyalty to humble friends.

Lindy Trophy Exhibit

Numbers 4,000 Pieces

St. Louis, Mo.—The largest single collection of trophies awarded to any one man comprises the Charles A. Lindbergh exhibition in the Jefferson memorial here.

Infrequently does a week pass that new trophies are not received from some part of the world, near or remote. More than 4,000 individual trophies fill an entire wing of the building.

A shipment of 58 trophies recently was received from Mexico. Among the pieces are a book of Mexican air mail stamps, presented by the director general of mail in Mexico, a bulky book of air mail stamps from all parts of the world, moccasins, pillows, religious medals, meticulously carved gourds and a jigsaw puzzle.

Among the solid gold medals and gem-studded trophies there are to be found a bit of petrified trees, small bits of felt lace, crochet work, and other small inexpensive items from humble admirers.

One of the most magnificent trophies recently received is the handsome gold Hinuon trophy presented by the International League of Aviators "au Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, laureat des Etats Unis, 1927."

"Forgotten" Penny Cut From Mouth of Boy, 7
 Waukesha, Wis.—James Hoag, seven years old, underwent an operation for removal of a penny which had lodged in the roof of his mouth and which he "had almost forgotten." Dr. Melvin Johnson, of the Waukesha Dental Clinic, saw the penny reflected in a dental mirror when he examined James' teeth. It was necessary to cut away tissue before the coin could be extracted. "I didn't tell mother, because she told me never to put money in my mouth. It didn't bother me after a little and I almost forgot about it."

Duck Is Hero; Even Policemen Say So
 Charleston, W. Va.—The city police department was officially advised of the rescue of a drowning bantam rooster by a duck. This is the story:
 R. B. Mays, household owner, told three officers of the rescue. They didn't believe it. "I'll prove it," said Mays. They went to the houseboat and Mays took "Jiggs," the bantam, and tossed him into the water near where "Bill," Mays' pet duck, was resting. "Bill" made a dive for the floundering "Jiggs," grabbed one of his wings in his beak, and laboriously pulled the rooster to shore. That's what the officers reported.

Burch Foraker Made Chairman Of Board Of Telephone Company

A realignment of official duties and responsibilities resulted from action taken Thursday by the Board of Directors of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, when Burch Foraker, President since 1926, was advanced to Chairman of the Board, and G. M. Welch, Vice President and General Manager was elected to succeed him as President. T. N. Lacy, Chief Engineer, was elected Vice President and General Manager in charge of operation.

Mr. Foraker came to the Michigan Telephone Company from the New York Telephone Company where he entered the service in 1893 as a telephone installer's helper. He advanced step by step through the Company's organization to the position of General Manager which he held when he came to Michigan. He has made many important contributions to the telephone business and is recognized by all of his associates as one of the outstanding figures in the Bell System in which he has had more than 41 years of distinguished service.

Mr. Welch, the new president, came to the Michigan Bell Company in 1909 from Minneapolis after four years of service in the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company. He has risen from the ranks through the various levels of the Company's organization to the presidency. In 1916 when he was appointed General Manager, he was the youngest official of that rank in the Bell System. He is thoroughly informed as to the telephone needs of Michigan and familiar with the Company's personnel and plant.

Mr. Lacy entered the service of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia in 1905. After a number of years of practical experience in the construction and maintenance of telephone plant, he became Division Plant Superintendent of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company with headquarters in Atlanta, in charge of that Company's plant operations throughout the South. Six years later he came from that position to the Michigan Company, becoming its Chief Engineer in 1925.

Yes We Are Making Loans

Every day we have inquiries for loans.
 We are in a position to lend money for the purpose of financing farmers, business men and individuals, but these loans must be amply secured by collateral or adequately supported by a financial statement.

We also must know how and when the money borrowed is to be repaid. That is the only sound policy for both the bank and the borrower.

With this in mind, we shall be glad to consider your request.

MICHIGAN'S SEN. VANDENBERG BECOMES NATIONAL LEADER

Grand Rapids Man Has Fine Record Of Accomplishment In Senate

Although Senator Vandenberg has been in the Senate only seven years, he has moved forward to a position of such prestige and influence that he became the unanimous choice of his Republican colleagues for the chief Senate honor—president pro tempore—and also is acting as chairman of the Republican Senatorial Legislation Committee. This prestige and influence are of tremendous aid to all of the people of the State of Michigan.

During his service at Washington, Senator Vandenberg has met every Michigan request for cooperation and assistance without respect to politics and has served Michigan Democrats quite as faithfully as he has served Michigan Republicans in the Capital. Thus all the people of Michigan are the beneficiaries of the prestige and influence referred to in Paragraph 1.

Senator Vandenberg was the author of the so-called "Vandenberg Amendment" to the Glass-Steagall Bill which instituted Federal bank deposit insurance last January. He is recognized as the leading spokesman for bank deposit insurance in Congress. Chairman Crowley (Democrat) of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation refers to him as the "father of bank deposit insurance. The final battle for the permanent retention of bank deposit insurance will be fought in the next Congress.

Senator Vandenberg is co-author with Senator Nye of North Dakota of the so-called Nye-Vandenberg Resolution under which the present sensational munitions inquiry is being held in Washington. Vice-President Garner appointed Senator Vandenberg a member of the investigating committee and he is carrying a large share of the responsibility. It is the greatest and most practical peace movement ever undertaken. It is the culmination of the American Legion's prayer "to equalize the burdens and take the profits out of war." The committee has recessed until after election. Senator Vandenberg will be withdrawn from this tremendous labor unless he is re-elected. He is the only member of the investigating committee who is running this year.

Senator Vandenberg is known throughout the country as "beet sugar's first friend." The life of the great Michigan beet sugar industry is absolutely dependable upon Federal legislation. It is particularly jeopardized by the attitudes of the "Brain Trust" in this Administration. Senator Vandenberg is credited with large responsibility for saving the situation in the last Congress.

Senator Vandenberg is unanimously endorsed for re-election by all of the 21 Brotherhoods. This action is largely based upon his enthusiastic support of retirement pensions legislation which he believes is the life-line of all American industry. The action of the Railroad Brotherhoods in respect to candidates is the acid test upon friendly attitudes toward righteous labor legislation.

Senator Vandenberg is opposed to government price-fixing, which soon will be responsible for an insufferably high cost of living. He is equally opposed to the repeal of antitrust laws under NRA, which are crushing small business and encouraging monopoly.

Lacy Has Change Of Heart As He Announces Aims

Would Ask Legislature For Two "Strange" Bits Of Legislation

Speaking as Democratic Government nominee, Judge Arthur Lacy says that he will ask the next Legislature to submit two Constitutional amendments to make public borrowing easy.

One of the amendments will authorize State bond issues for welfare, education and public health and safety.

The other will authorize the use of State credit by bankrupt municipalities "to meet emergencies." Formerly Judge Lacy was champion of public economy. He went up and down Michigan protesting against heavy taxation, avoidable bond issues and reckless public spending. He was a foe of avoidable debt.

So it is rather a shock to find him now advocating such departures as these.

For the first of the two amendments the Judge proposes to, in substance, an effort to provide a method for doing the very thing Gov. Comstock was trying to put across when he advanced his "insurrection bond" proposal, a proposal the voters turned down with a bang.

The second would open the way to a big increase in the State debt and would be a favor to municipalities which might take advantage of its provisions.

Bankrupt or financially hard pressed Michigan municipalities do not need more easy money. It was easy money obtained by borrowing when almost any tax exempt security could be sold that got most of them into trouble.

To feed municipalities more of it now would be like treating a poisoned patient by giving him more of the drug that has made him ill.

MR. LACY??

Does Right Well By Himself With Only "Bare Hands" To Work With

"We have but our bare hands to work with." This is a statement intended to be pathetic and somewhat appalling that was made use of in News Letter No. 7 circulated in behalf of the candidacy of Arthur Lacy in opposition to Governor Comstock.

But at that, with only his bare hands to work with, it is made to appear through certain official reports having to do with business affairs in and around Detroit that Mr. Lacy is no piker as a self-helper in a game of his own choosing.

The reports referred to tell of the activity and thrift of the winner over Comstock in making very prompt and profitable use of an appointment that came to Lacy from Governor Comstock as attorney for the Conservator of the Detroit Trust Company. Later Lacy was dismissed from the position Comstock had given him—dismissed by order of the State Advisory Banking Committee, charged with seeking excessive fees. But Detroit persons critically inclined declare that Lacy made his while the sun was shining.

Banking Commissioner Reichert, in an official report stated that Lacy, in his capacity as an attorney for the Detroit Trust Company had collected a total of $109,587.90. Of that amount he accepted $17,789.90 as expenses covering mortgages foreclosures for the company. Commissioner Reichert said "The Commissioner's report included the statement that Lacy's law firm was paid at the rate of $3,500 a month as attorney for the Conservator, another $4,725 was paid for foreclosures of mortgages owned by the Trust Company, another $22,416 was paid in fees and other trusts including $16,227 paid by the Children's Fund of Michigan.

the municipalities of Michigan and for the state government and for the people of the State is through practice of frugality and hard self-denial.

Judge Lacy knows this. As an intelligent person of experience he must know it. Indeed in former times he preached it, earnestly.

But something seems to have happened to him. He seems almost to desire to forestall escape by the public from the burden of heavy public obligations. For he says in advocating his two amendments: "It is apparent that many tax changes are in the air. There are the amendments of Michigan motorists to limit the taxes they pay. If they can get away with it, there will be other taxpayers' movements, tending to reduce the State income."

Politics Charged As Lacy Is Fired From Bank Body

That the dismissal of Arthur J. Lacy Democratic candidate for Governor, from the service of the Advisory Banking Committee in connection with the reorganization of the Detroit Trust Company was a malicious political move on the part of Governor Comstock, was the report of candidate Lacy when the fact of the dismissal was publicly announced. However, the fact that the dismissal of Lacy was recommended and completed by a committee of five, the Advisory Banking Committee, two of whom are now with Lacy as fellow candidates for important positions on the Democratic State ticket, does not fit in with Lacy's protest that it was all Governor Comstock's doing.

The members of the committee that decided that Attorney Lacy's fees and charges of more than a hundred thousand dollars, a total that was taken from impounded funds of unfortunate depositors was unjust and deserving of censure and of his dismissal, included State Treasurer Fry, State Banking Commissioner Reichert, Attorney General O'Brien as well as Governor Comstock and the Secretary of State.

As to Lacy's deserving such a condemnation there might have been differences of opinion were it not for the fact that after his nomination as the candidate of his party for Governor he presented himself on the platform of his party's State Convention and asked for the renomination of Attorney General O'Brien and State Treasurer Fry, two members of the committee that dismissed him. This would make it appear to be Mr. Lacy's opinion that the members of the committee were deserving of further honors from the State as well as the unanimous approval of gates.

HE IS NOT A MACHINE SMASHER

One statement repeatedly made by the Democratic candidate for Governor, Arthur J. Lacy, is that he "proposes to smash machine domination in Michigan and to give the State straightforward government." It might well occur to any listener to this announcement that the most deplorable demonstration of servile obedience to political expediency and machine domination ever displayed in Michigan was portrayed by this same Arthur J. Lacy.

Mr. Lacy appeared at the Democratic State Convention held in Grand Rapids as the primary nominee of his party for Governor. It is true he was minority nominee having barely escaped defeat, but the prestige and the power of State party leadership was his at this convention if he had had any of the courage and machine smashing inclination he is day by day so bravely talking of in his campaign speeches.

When Mr. Lacy appeared on the platform of his party convention and in a hesitating and apologetic way, as report of the convention stated, made it known that he had changed his mind as to what the convention should do and would ask his party friends to join with him in a sacrifice for the good of the party, there was not a delegate in that convention, his friend or foe to Lacy, who did not immediately realize that he was stultifying himself through hope that by so doing his chances for election might be added to.

Some days before this significant incident Governor Comstock had publicly said of Arthur Lacy, "He would do anything to get to be Governor" and on that convention day with a piece of paper in his hand on which the names were written of the persons he was about to ask for as his associates on the State ticket, the literal truth of Governor Comstock's estimate of the man was being demonstrated. When his humiliating confession of surrender to the influence of the occasion was completed and the names on his list made known it was realized by all that the brave ring-smasher of the morning hour had become the willing fixer and announcer of a machine made deal for the afternoon session. And the Lacy whose candidacy he continually insisted was inspired only by the call of duty was asking for places as comrades on his State ticket for Democrats who had believed the statement of Governor Comstock that "Lacy was not a fit man for nomination in any ticket" and had actually worked to defeat him.

Lacy, the nominee for Governor, was put forward to advise for alleged party purposes the making up of a ticket such as Lacy the candidate for nomination had declared he would not consent to—nominations not submitted to the judgment or wishes of representative Democrats from all sections and counties in the State but put together and nailed down as a slate decided upon in some hotel upper room.

There were yells and jeers and protests when Lacy had concluded the part assigned him in the upper room program, but no attention was given to objections and acceptance of the slate was declared to be unanimous. And the next night to a group of young Democratic candidates Lacy resumed again his recital of the promptings of duty that had compelled his candidacy and of his anxious eagerness to smash machine domination in Michigan and with perhaps his fingers crossed made use again of the term "straightforward government."

HE MADE GOVERNMENT HIS BUSINESS AND MADE GOOD

Frank Fitzgerald's Career One Of Steady Advancement Thru Years

This is the story of a man—a man whose rise to the eminence of now being sought by thousands of sane clear-thinking Michigan people as the one to hold the highest post in the commonwealth has all the elements of those chronicles that, while on the surface they may seem commonplace, are nevertheless made up of incidents, experiences and accomplishments that result in the development of an inherent character that merits the trust and confidence of his fellow man.

COMPROMISE

Compromise As Dems Pick Ticket At Convention Party

The Democratic convention at Grand Rapids was most conspicuously a compromise. The Democratic electorate at the primaries repudiated its leadership, the dominant administration—and named a new standard bearer. Yet in convention assemble it was forced to compromise with the present administration—to renounce the incumbent officials and to present to the people for their consideration at the polls, the same old book with a new cover. Was it only the cover that the people discarded at the primaries or did they object to the book itself? We believe the latter is the case. The citizens of Michigan have spent the past two years perusing that book and should pretty well know its contents by now. After all a mere cover has no significance without the book within it.

It is obvious that the leaders of the Democratic party either can not read the handwriting on the wall or they have in their convention proven themselves powerless, when faced by the grim reality of incumbent officials, to execute the demands indicated in the primaries.

At all events, it is plainly to be seen that the same old operators still have hold of the puppet strings of the show. The show went on according to their wishes in spite of the fact that the electorate paid their admissions at the primaries, in anticipation of a new show. The response of the audience will be manifested at the final curtain in November.

Mr. Fitzgerald was married to Miss Quenna M. Warner, of Mulliken, Michigan, on June 28, 1909, and they have one son, John Warner, 9 years of age.

Mr. Fitzgerald was educated in the public schools of his native city, which included high school. Later he attended Ferris Institute at Big Rapids. He is a thirty-second degree Mason and Shriner, member of the Macabees, State Knights, Fraternal Order of Eagles, Knights of Pythias, and the Order of Eastern Star.

He is also an Honorary Member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and of the Spanish War Veterans, an honor that comes to few citizens and is bestowed for unusual service in behalf of Veterans.

At the age of 22, we find Frank elected Supervisor for the city of Grand Rapids, the first Republican to ever be elected to that position in that city.

He evidently enjoyed public service for in 1913 he was clerk for the Michigan State Senate; in 1915, proof reader in the House of Representatives. Between sessions of 1915 and 1916 he was clerk in the office of Secretary of State.

Between sessions of 1917 and 1919 he was Executive Secretary of the Michigan Food Administration. In 1919 he was appointed Deputy Secretary of State by the Honorable William C. Spurgeon. In 1923, he was appointed business manager of the Michigan State Highway Department by former Governor Alexander J. Groesbeck.

In 1930, he was elected Secretary of State and took office on January 1, 1931. In 1932, he was re-elected Secretary of State, being the only Republican candidate for state office to survive the unprecedented Democratic landslide.

His past splendid public service and the fact that he is the only survivor among those who were candidates for state office on the Republican ticket marked him as the logical candidate to be the standard-bearer of his party.

During the early summer of 1934 430,000 citizens of Michigan signed nominating petitions and asked that his name be placed on the ballot so that they might nominate him for the office of Governor of this Commonwealth. This statement he received by the people of this state is too fresh in the minds of every citizen to require any comment in this compilation.

Since the primary system of nominating candidates for Governor was adopted in this state, did a candidate receive such an outstanding vote of confidence as was accorded Mr. Fitzgerald.

"Phoney Baloney" Charged By Dem Judge Connolly

"Job hunting politicians" participating in what Judge William F. Connolly of Detroit refers to as "cheap phoney baloney" is a characterization that will properly attach to the present campaign to Arthur L. Lacy, Democratic candidate for Governor, and Frank A. Picard, Democratic nominee for United States Senator.

Judge Connolly, known throughout Michigan as a life-long Democrat, recon member of the State of the National Democratic Committee was referring to statements sent out from Washington by Lacy and Picard that they had been instrumental in arranging for the expelling of Detroit's First National Bank depositors pay off. As to this statement Judge Connolly has this to say:

"In today's Free Press appears a dispatch concerning a trip to the National Capitol, by Arthur J. Lacy, Democratic candidate for Governor, and Frank A. Picard, Democratic candidate for United States Senator."

"Tonight Lacy and Picard announce that as a result of their trip they have secured assurances that the pay-off of eighty-three million dollars to effect payment in full to $47,000,000 depositors had less than $30 on deposit when the institution closed will soon be made."

"I resent, on behalf of the fine men and women of all parties, who have helped our work, this cheap phoney that any job-hunting politician weighs an ounce in this pay-off."

"Talk about cutting down purchasing power! What greater avenue for cutting down purchasing power is there than the avenue of taxation?"—Senator Tydings (Dem.) Md.

"Where in the constitution, is it laid down that the government may tax A in order to bribe B not to work?"—James A. Reed.

A very interesting and instructive demonstration of the latest models of old fashioned foods was conducted by Miss Raush of the home economics department of the Consumers Power Company at the Masonic Temple, Tuesday afternoon. An audience of 200 attended the school and were instructed as to the proper preparation of tasty foods that were given to those in attendance.

Admission was by ticket with the holders name thereon and the foods were distributed to five lucky ticket holders. Mrs. W. B. Roe, Mrs. Edith Boyle, Mrs. Geo. Knapp, Mrs. A. Harting and Elizabeth Lehman were among those who received broiled liver, Florida sweet potatoes, oven-cooked noodles, baked brown bread, buttered sliced bread, granular cracker cheese pie, and an angel food cake.

A series of these demonstrations will be conducted periodically in the Plymouth district in an effort to acquaint the housewives with the most modern methods of preparing food.

The attendance of these schools will be sponsored by the various church organizations in the district. The school just completed was sponsored by the ladies of the Presbyterian and Our Lady of Good Counsel churches.

FRANK FITZGERALD is a candidate for governor because 430,000 citizens regarded him not only as an honest, able, efficient public servant, but because he is "FIRST IN THE HEARTS OF HIS FRIENDS" that he received the amazing vote of confidence last September.

These friends insure his election. But Frank Fitzgerald is not basing his candidacy upon friendship. It is based upon experience, ability and a desire to aid in solving Michigan's problems. He urges AND WILL WORK FOR:

- Elimination of the state property tax.
- Adequate aid for the public school system.
- Protection of Michigan's boys and girls by preventing the sale of intoxicating liquor to minors.

Your Congressman
Should Support
YOUR PRESIDENT

That Franklin D. Roosevelt because of his tremendous effort to bring a recovery to the nation deserves the united support of the people of the 17th Congressional District and that this same district should express their confidence by sending a Democratic Congressman who himself believes in the President's program.

Read This Human Betterment Program of
CHARLES P. WEBSTER
17th DISTRICT
For CONGRESS Democratic Ticket

He gives you his pledge that he will not only vote but FIGHT FOR--

1. Permanent abolition of child labor.
2. Legislation insuring permanence of the doctrine of collective bargaining and legislation which will make possible its enforcement.
3. Complete and immediate development of the Muscle Shoals Project and the St. Lawrence Waterway.
4. Issuance of non-interest bearing currency instead of tax-exempt interest-bearing bonds to pay the cost of this depression and the full payment of the Soldiers' Bonus.
5. Insurance for the unemployed and pensions for the aged.
6. The thirty-hour week.
7. The complete nationalization of the banking system.
8. Extension of the C.C.C. camps.
9. Legislation insuring the farmer an adequate profit on his product.
10. All necessary appropriations to provide for the unemployed.
11. He insists that the issuing of money is a function of government and that Congress has no right to delegate this power.

LET'S LOOK AT THE RECORD OF YOUR PRESENT CONGRESSMAN OF THE 17th DISTRICT—
Voted against the Muscle Shoals Project and in favor of the Power Trusts.
Voted against welfare appropriations to feed the unemployed. Had his vote prevailed there would be no Federal aid for welfare in Michigan this winter.
Voted against monetization of silver.
Voted against a Federal liquor control system.
Voted against the Cotton Control Bill which sought to rehabilitate the cotton farmer. Until the farmer gains some degree of prosperity he cannot purchase automobiles.
Voted against the President's plan for reciprocal tariff trading which would revive our export trade.
Voted against the President's securities act which gives the government supervision over the stock exchanges of New York.
Voted against the President's silver purchase bill.
VOTED AGAINST THE PRESIDENT 21 TIMES

A vote for WEBSTER is an endorsement of ROOSEVELT

"Men Are Nothing-- Principal Is Everything"

—Daniel Webster.

"Back Roosevelt—and vote for me," says Frank A. Picard, Democratic candidate for Senator.

"Back Roosevelt—and vote for me," says Arthur J. Lacy, Democratic candidate for Governor.

"Back Roosevelt—and vote for me," says one of the local Democratic candidates for office of coroner.

From constable, coroner, and drain commissioner, up to him who seeks the honors of the Senate, the cry is the same: it beats upon our ears by night and by day and flashes into our vision on every billboard and spare tire cover:

"Back Roosevelt—and vote for me."

Nor is this peculiar to Michigan. From every state in the Union, with one exception, it is the chant of the seekers of jobs: "Back Roosevelt—and vote for me." The one state that is the exception is Maine where the cry was first heard and is now still. The money was poured in there early to corrupt the electorate. The election is over.

Never in the political history of this Republic has there been a campaign so dependent upon the personality of one man and so devoid of basic principle.

Here is a national election being waged by the New Dealers solely on the fact that the leader of their party is a man with an infectious grin, a warm handshake, and a charming personality.

Principles? Where are they? As Al Smith (a Jefferson-Jackson-Cleveland Democrat and not a parlor pink) would say: Let us look at the record.

At the 1932 convention, in Chicago, the New Deal Democrats took a vow before God and the people of the United States. They proclaimed it as a sacred pledge. Let us read from their party platform. It said then:

"We believe that a party platform is a COVENANT with the people to be faithfully kept by the party when entrusted with power, and that the people are entitled to know in plain words the terms of the contract to which they are asked to subscribe."

Entrusted with power! No president in the history of the United States has ever been entrusted with such power as has Franklin D. Roosevelt. What has he done with that power?

The platform continues: "The Democratic Party solemnly promises by appropriate action to put into effect the principles, policies and reforms herein advocated, and to eradicate the policies, methods and practices herein condemned."

"We advocate an immediate and drastic reduction of governmental expenditures by abolishing useless commissions and offices, consolidating departments and bureaus and eliminating extravagances, to accomplish a saving OF NOT LESS THAN TWENTY-FIVE PER CENT IN THE COST OF FEDERAL GOVERNMENT, and we call upon the Democratic Party in the States to make a zealous effort to achieve a proportionate result."

If Franklin D. Roosevelt did not write that platform he dictated it. Yet with all his absolute power, has he lived up to that pledge? Has his party? Instead of reducing the cost of government 25 per cent, the Administration has poured billions into every crackpot scheme that could be conceived by the brainstorm trusters who swarm over America. Not one commission or bureau has been abolished but hundreds have been added until now they are so numerous they have had to be

by Lawrence Hawthorne

There's little satisfaction to be gained from doing things That hold no difficulties; it's the tough old task that brings Keen sense of worth and power to the man who wins the fight; His failures test his courage and his problems prove his might. Until a man has conquered loss and overcome defeat He cannot fully understand just why success is sweet!

I'm thankful for my disappointments, for the battles lost, And for mistakes that seemed to charge an overwhelming cost; I'm thankful for the days of doubt, when it was hard to see That all things work together for the good that is to be; I'm glad for all that life has brought, because today I know That men must brave adversities if they would greater grow!

Lawrence Hawthorne

Cleveland, "is a public trust." Public faith is not built on broken promises.

When Mr. Roosevelt was nominated he flew to Chicago. He praised the platform in the highest terms, and raising his hand to high heaven, he cried out so that the whole Nation could hear his charming voice: "I accept this platform 100 per cent."

And now we are asked to vote for Democratic candidates for Senator, Governor, county clerk, judge, drain commissioner and coroner—all of them, the mighty host—shrieking in unison:

"Back Roosevelt—and vote for me."

And a voice of sanity answers back asking "Why?"

In the name of God and Country: Why? The people have a right to ask: "What have you done with that sacred covenant you made to us? Why have you refused to live up to your pledges? Where are your principles?"

"Where is the balanced budget you pledged us?"

"Where is the saving of 25 per cent?"

"Instead you have thrown our money away like drunken sailors and we have nothing to show for it, except purchased votes."

"You pledged your word of honor to abolish commissions and bureaus. Instead you have added hundreds of bureaus and commissions that do nothing but eat up our money."

"You promised us a program of action and now you tell us you are still experimenting. You pledged us our citizenship and you have made us guinea pigs in your professional laboratories."

"Two years ago we believed you. Since then you have broken every promise that you made to us."

"Why should we believe you now? You have broken the covenant. You have cast aside the principles you pledged us. You ask us to forget them and to vote for you because Mr. Roosevelt is a plausible and pleasing gentleman of great personal charm."

"We answer that this Nation was not founded, nor did it grow great, on pleasant principles, but on rock foundation principles."

"Where are they?"

"Men are nothing," said Daniel Webster in his greatest speech. "Principle is everything."

Let Mr. Picard and Mr. Lacy and the candidate for coroner and the would be drain commissioner quit the dog-eared dodge of hero worship. Let them tell us what the party principles now are and why Mr. Roosevelt discarded the ones on which he was elected.—The Detroit Free Press.

Efficient Courteous RE-ELECT

JACOB P. SUMERAKI
Democrat
County Treasurer

He saved the taxpayers $83,000.00 in 1 year.

reduced to an alphabetical system running from A.A. to Z.Z.Z.

The party platform continues: "We favor maintenance of the national credit by a Federal budget ANNUALLY BALANCED on the basis of accurate executive estimates within revenues, raised by a system of taxation levied on the principle of ability to pay."

Today Mr. Roosevelt laughs merrily at the idea of the budget being balanced. Yet he and his party pledged their solemn and sacred oath that this was what they would do. It was a covenant with the people! They said so.

The platform continues: "We advocate strengthening and impartial enforcement of the anti-trust laws to prevent monopoly and unfair trade practices." Another covenant with the people! And the first thing that was done was to throw all the anti-trust legislation into the ash can and to create the NRA blue eagle which Carter Glass, another great and honest Democrat, denounced on the Senate floor as "a blue buzzard."

The platform continues: "We advocate the removal of the government from all fields of private enterprise except when necessary to develop public works and natural resources in the common interest."

Removal of the Government from all fields of private enterprise? What field of private enterprise has the Roosevelt Administration left uninvaded? Never in all the widest dreams of political job peddlers have a people been inflicted with such a horde of bureaucrats telling them what they shall eat, what they shall wear, how they shall live—and why. The pigs and cattle are destroyed so that the struggling housewife has to pay twice as much to feed her family, nor does the poor merchant reap any benefit. And this is the manner in which a sacred covenant with the people has been met.

The platform continues, and it sounds like a cruel mockery: "WE CONDEMN THE IMPROPER AND EXCESSIVE USE OF MONEY IN POLITICAL ACTIVITIES."

Why, then, did Mr. Picard and Mr. Lacy go to Washington, as soon as they were nominated, to confer with President Roosevelt, Postmaster James Farley and the other leaders of the new political party?

They answered that question themselves. They boasted to the world that they had gone down there as candidates for office, not as public officers, to get money for Michigan. That has been the burden of both the campaign songs of Lacy and Picard. "Elect us and we will get you money from the Federal Treasury."

That is why Senator James Reed, another great Democrat, sent his flaming protest across the state of Michigan. Why, except to corrupt the electorate, as was done in Maine, is Federal money to be promised except for the payment of votes?

Is this keeping a sacred covenant to the people who voted for the Democratic Party, because they had faith in the chosen leader of that party, Franklin D. Roosevelt?

"A public office," said still another great Democrat, Grover

State Representative

From This District

Republican Ticket

He has served the state and district well. There could be no benefit to the tax payers by making a change at this time. He knows legislative procedure and he has demonstrated that he has the ability to make a good man in Lansing.

Re-elect Dr. Edward Fisher As Your Representative

Is Everyone Satisfied?

Friends and Neighbors!

Tuesday, November 6, is the time residents of Plymouth and western Wayne county can show to John S. Haggerty, candidate for re-election as a member of the Wayne county road commission that we have not forgotten all that he has done for this part of Wayne county.

Let's Make it a 100 Percent Vote For Him

He has been for us one hundred percent all the time. He has granted to us every favor we ever asked of him, so let us now in return give him a 100 percent vote in return.

Democrats and Republicans Alike

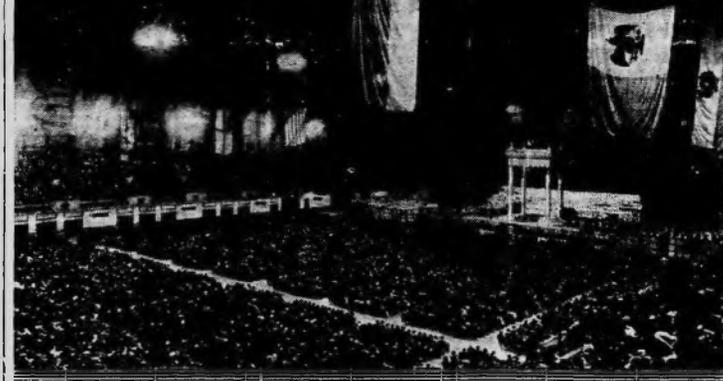

When we ever asked anything of him, he never asked whether we were Democrats or Republicans. If our request had merit, irrespective of party beliefs, we got it. So we appeal to both Democrats and Republicans to vote for John S. Haggerty on Tuesday, November 6.

Jesus said to Nicodemus: "Ye must be born again." "Canst thou see the Kingdom of God? Have you been born again? Many nominal Christians today have never had a change of heart. They like Nicodemus know nothing about the "New Birth." When old things are passed away and behold all things are become new." Jesus can take out of your heart the old desire to sin if you will only let Him perform the operation. For He is not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance." II Pet. 3:9.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Guild will be held on Wednesday Nov. 7th with an all day meeting commencing at 10 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Sidney Strong, Auburn avenue with a potluck luncheon at noon. This all day meeting is for the purpose of sewing for the annual bazaar.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH
"Probation after Death" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, October 28.
Among the Bible citations was this passage (Mark 9:24): "And after six days Jesus taketh with him Peter, and James, and John, and leadeth them up into an high mountain apart by themselves; and he was transfigured before them. And there appeared unto them Elias with Moses; and they were talking with Jesus."
Correlative passages read from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, included the following (p. 325): "He who has the true idea of good loses all sense of evil, and by reason of this is being ushered into the undying reality of Spirit. Such a one abideth in life—life obtained not of the body incapable of supporting life, but of Truth unfolding its own immortal idea."

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
Loyd Sutherland Minister
We are in the midst of a series of messages on Prayer. At ten o'clock we continue the sermon of last Sunday on "Why our prayers are unanswered." There is surely an answer to this great question and who of us are not interested in knowing the answer? If you do not have a church home, this church with the other churches, urges you to keep up the fine start we had on Rally Day. Splendid music and a message that will help.
11:15—Bible School. Rally Day is truly carrying on into these days, numbers and interest are on the increase.
6:00—Meeting of the Pioneers.
7:00—At this hour we have the fine privilege of showing Pilgrim's Progress in pictures. No book has been so widely read throughout the years, except the Bible, and the older ones will be glad to recall its pages and re-think its lessons, and the younger who are now reading it or have done so in recent years will not want to miss seeing these beautiful pictures that tell the story of Pilgrim on his way to The Eternal City.

Mid-week prayer service on Wednesday evening at 7:30. The Monthly Missionary meeting will be held next Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Albert Gates on York street.

LIGHTS of NEW YORK

All other large companies have their own airplanes, which they use for advertising purposes and to transport officials on hurried business trips. The head of one of these companies decided to take his first trip in a company plane and, never having flown the head man before, the pilot was a bit excited about it and wanted to make a good impression. He showed the passenger the working parts of the plane and explained to him about his parachute. When the time came for the take-off, he turned to the passenger behind him and said: "When we get to the mountains we may have to fly pretty high. You are not used to that and may feel the altitude, but that is the oxygen tank right beside you. I'll look back to see how you are doing and, if you seem to be feeling the height, I'll call to you and all you have to do is to work that little handle."

Everything went smoothly until they began to get pretty high and then the pilot looked back. The passenger looked a little greenish, so the pilot jerked his thumb in the direction of the tank and yelled "Pump!" Then he turned back to his job. A little jolt or something caused him to look back again. There was no passenger. The boss had understood the pilot to yell "Jump!" and had bailed out. He had succeeded in pulling the ring, and there he was far below floating down toward the side of the mountain.

There was no place the pilot could land around there and nothing he could do. He gave the ship the gas and made for the nearest possible landing place. There he got an automobile and a search party. It took him almost a day to find the boss and one day to induce him to get back into the plane.

In reference to an article I wrote recently concerning my phonetic method of spelling and the serious problem as to when I comes before a David D. Cassidy, of Amsterdam, N. Y., writes me:

If I can manage to memorize that, it is going to save a lot of copy reading. But I want to warn Mr. Cassidy that this is only a beginning. There are other words. I always like, for example—although I know it is derived from the Latin bene—to spell benefit as benefit.

Billy Gaxton, star of "Of Thee I Sing," has a very beautiful wife, whose stage name is Madeline Cameron, and who appeared in such shows as "Hit the Deck" and "Good News." For some reason, his pet name for her is "Ma." They went into a Fifth avenue shop to look over some silks. Mrs. Gaxton wandered to another counter and her husband called to her: "Ma, come back here and look at these things."

A little while later, she received a letter from the shop. It read: "We are pleased to inform you that the shirts you ordered for your son are ready."

Those interested in tennis may be pleased to learn that the international intercollegiate tennis match between Harvard-Yale and Oxford-Cambridge will be played at the Newport casino in July. What seems interesting concerning it to me is not that this is the ninth match and that each team has won four, but that among the Cambridge representatives will be David Jones, former Columbia champion, and that Clayton Hurwell of North Carolina will represent Oxford, where he is now studying on a Rhodes scholarship.

Replaces Old Bridge With New One in Night
London.—In a single night an old 120-ton bridge carrying the railway over Edgeware road at Cricklewood was rolled bodily out of place and a new 150-ton structure rolled in to replace it. A month's preparatory work by railway engineers and contractors was necessary to enable the old and new bridges to be exchanged in a single night.

Gold Found in Can by Big-Hearted Man
Deadwood, S. D.—The bread which Contractor Harry Porter figuratively cast upon the waters came back to him with a very thick layer of butter.
Porter acquired an abandoned store in the town of Lead. He had no particular use for it and no particular reason for wanting it removed. He decided to raise it, however, for no other reason than that the job would give employment to some men he knew who needed work.
Assisting with the raising work, Porter tore away a board and uncovered an old tin can. He opened the can. It contained 80 pounds of placer gold, worth from $11,000 to $15,000. It was believed it had been hidden there by an old prospector years ago.

Question Box By ED WYNN The Perfect Fool

Dear Mr. Wynn: I was riding in a trolley car yesterday. Sitting opposite me was a man reading a Texas newspaper. As he started off the car I saw a headline in his paper which read: "Well-Known Mexican Flies with $350,000." My curiosity is aroused, as I saw nothing in the New York papers about it. What do you know about it?

Truly yours, NICK L. RIDE.

Answer: Don't believe it. Looks to me as if the Mexican government is trying to take the edge off the Florida boom and get the people to go to their country. It is true that Mexican "flies" are well-known, but I doubt if they have any money.

Dear Mr. Wynn: There is a chap who lives next door to me and I absolutely know he is a bootlegger. He has a sign in front of his home which says he is a "Marine Attorney." Can you see any connection between the sign and what he does for a living? Yours truly, C. MAYNO.

Answer: My dear friend, I'm surprised at you. A "Marine Lawyer" is the same as "bootlegger." A "Marine Lawyer" is a fellow who takes cases off ships.

Dear Mr. Wynn: Do you think traveling broadens one's mind? The reason I ask is I have the opportunity to take a trip across the Atlantic and back again without getting off the ship. Do you think a trip of this kind will add to my present knowledge? Sincerely, C. WHEEL.

Answer: If there is anything at all in a man, a five-day trip on the ocean will bring it out.

Dear Mr. Wynn: There is a man living next door to me who drinks heavily and is nearly always drunk. I don't drink at all, yet I have only one-half the friends he has. How do you account for that? Yours truly, T. TOTALER.

Answer: You say he is always drunk. That's the reason. He sees twice as many people as you do. © The Associated Newspapers—WNN Service

The Jollitye bridge club will be the guest of Mrs. Ben Blunk on North Territorial Road at luncheon Thursday, November 8.

And He Calls Himself a Hermit

"I feel 50 years younger already," declared Dad Jowett, seventy-five-year-old World War veteran of Jackass Mountain, Ore. He had gone to Miami, Fla., for the sixteenth national convention of the American Legion. He is a self-styled hermit up Oregon way but lost his status when Paula Roberts and Frances Jones, local bathing beauties, came out to greet him. "This must be the fountain of youth," said Jowett.

The Romance of a Happy Marriage

By ANNE CAMPBELL

THE romance of the "sheik," the glory of glamorous, mystic sands; The allure of the unknown places; The magic of foreign lands— They can never approach the splendor My Grandmother could recall! The romance of a happy marriage Is lovelier than all!

The romance of a "back street" lover; The furtive, clandestine kind, Could never be as satisfying As love that I have in mind; An affection that builds a future As staunch as a granite wall! The romance of a happy marriage Is lovelier than all!

The romance that is only captured In print or upon the screen Is unreal when compared to unions Of lovers that I have seen! When two hearts are entwined together No matter what may befall, The romance of a happy marriage Is lovelier than all! Copyright—WNN Service.

THROUGH A WOMAN'S EYES • By JEAN NEWTON

EXCHANGING CHILDREN

"A CUSTOM quite general in New England in the early part of this century (Nineteenth) was that of friends in different parts of the country exchanging children for a certain length of time, shorter or longer. The advantages were sometimes for the intellectual training of the children, and are known to have worked well."

So, long before this age of easy travel and fast communication it was recognized how important is variety of background, change of environment. Even in the days that we are inclined to regard as provincial and narrow in outlook people in this young country realized that to be really educated their children must know something about the life and viewpoints of those in "other parts." The Union might be not half a century old, but it was heir to the cultural traditions of the Old world.

Though they were denied "travel on the continent," though they could not emulate the wealthy English who sent their children for education to Germany or Italy, the Italians who sought study in France and England, the Germans who near their own borders had foreign fonts of learning to make them world-minded, they fought provincialism by exchanging children.

How would these Americans of a hundred years ago have regarded today's facilities for western youth coming east, the spectacle of our Far West having universities of international fame where the children of not-rich Easterners can "work their way," get a new slant on their country, and return home in four days by train or cover the three thousand miles by plane in about a day!

Would you go back to the days when parents had to combat provincialism by exchanging children? © Best Syndicate—WNN Service

TASTY GOOD THINGS

THE children like the taffy apples so well why not prepare some at home.

Candy Apples. To two cupsful of sugar add one cupful of condensed milk, one-fourth of a cupful of butter, one cupful of corn syrup, mix and boil slowly, stirring constantly until a hard ball is formed when dropped into cold water. Remove from the fire and add two teaspoonfuls of vanilla. Set the syrup into a pan of hot water and dip the apples which are pierced with wooden skewers—dip once or twice if necessary—drain on a buttered baking sheet, roll in coconut or chopped nuts if desired.

English Tea Muffins. Sift one cupful of flour, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth teaspoonful of soda, add one cupful of graham flour, one-third of a cupful of brown sugar, two beaten eggs, two tablespoonfuls of milk and one cupful of sour cream. Mix well and add one-half of a package of dates sliced. Bake in well-greased muffin pans in a hot oven. This recipe makes eighteen small muffins. If you are out of pastry flour add two tablespoonfuls of corn starch to make a full cup with ordinary bread flour.

Garden Butter. Take two tablespoonfuls each of chopped parsley and celery, two tablespoonfuls of chopped chives, one tablespoonful of chopped water-cress and one teaspoonful of tarragon leaves. A bit of the vinegar may be used if the leaves cannot be obtained. Place in a chopping bowl with two hard cooked egg yolks, a tablespoonful each of chopped pickle and capers. Remove and press through a colander, add one-half cupful of butter, beat sharply with a wooden spoon for five minutes. Place in a jar in a cool place. Orange Ambrosia. Slice oranges and arrange in overlapping slices, sprinkle with sugar and coconut, serve in glass dishes. © Western Newspaper Union

Woman's Exposition In Convention Hall On November 12-17

Michigan women are keenly interested in the Woman's Exposition which will be held at Convention Hall, Detroit, Nov. 12-17. This exposition is a miniature world's fair, conceived, planned, and executed by women. It is designed to show the progress that women have made in their various pursuits in the last three decades.

The great hall has been divided into booths in which there will be exhibits showing the work of women in practically every walk of life. There will be painters, sculptors, silversmiths, wood carvers, and rug makers actually at work. Women doctors, aviators, designers, musicians and authors all will have a part. Leading merchants and manufacturers have purchased space for exhibits in which they will exhibit the latest scientific household devices, explain the value of food, and demonstrate with fashion shows, the latest in women's dresses, millinery and furs.

There will be a program each afternoon and evening opening with the reception for 50 prominent Michigan women who have achieved national fame in their particular field. There will be pageants, musicals, and historical costume shows. A glass cage has been built on one side of the hall where the babies who have entered the health and beauty show will be on display each afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock. The winners will be chosen Nov. 17.

This exposition which represents over 100,000 women is sponsored by four organizations, the Federation of Women's Clubs, the Michigan Council Federated Church Women, the Wayne County Order of Eastern Star and the Michigan League of Catholic Women.

ren of the Nation. That security involves added means of providing better homes for the people of the Nation."

But in order to consider this great national program intelligently let us look into the economic reasons for the legislation which Congress passed this measure. This Act was not passed in a hurry. It is in no sense a partisan measure, but is based on a careful analysis of the conditions affecting owners of real property throughout the Nation, as well as the building trades as well as the building industry. The Housing Act is the result of several months' intensive study by both houses of Congress, aided by the best minds of the country. Reports of these hearings before committees of Senate and House of Representatives make up good sized volumes. The Act is founded on the immediate and imperative necessities of the Nation.

Let us analyze this situation. Let's go back and look at the record. It was not so long ago that confidence and prosperity in the United States reached the highest point in its history and the long hoped for ambition of the Nation to abolish poverty and insecurity appeared within the realm of accomplishment. During this period the building industry exceeded all other business, the annual expenditures for private building and construction including up-keep from 1920 to 1930 was from six to nine billion dollars, not counting public work or construction. There was no unemployment in the building or allied industries.

Then came the recent period of doubt and uncertainty. People became ultra-conservative not to say timid and frightened. Building credits vanished and banking accommodations were seriously curtailed. All but absolutely necessary expenditures stopped. As a result, few structures were erected and the buildings of the Nation were allowed to fall into a state of disrepair. Manufacturers of building supplies were hard pressed. The past few years have witnessed a stagnation in construction activity. Last year the total was less than two billion dollars with annual up-keep of more than a billion dollars indefinitely postponed. Until very recent weeks the figures this year fell below 1933. The principal motive power of the Nation has been shut off and more than 4,000,000 men in the building and allied industries have been out of work.

This is the key to most of our recent economic difficulties. Hence came the demand for this program which is designed to put millions of men to work; to speed up the activity of industry in profitable operation; a program which to the extent that it receives your co-operation and support is designed to reduce Government spending and permit the balancing of our National budget.

Let us analyze the figures: Of 29,000,000 buildings in this country 16,000,000 are in need of repair. Of these 16,000,000 three million are so badly depreciated as to be practically unfit for human habitation. The other 13,000,000 can be saved from rapidly accelerating depreciation if repairs are made now. Delay in making these repairs in millions of instances will mean rapidly increasing damage and much higher cost for later repairs. A survey of farm properties recently completed shows that there is an immediate need for repairs and improvements on farms totaling more than Six Billion Dollars. Another survey shows that about 20 per cent of all city dwellings are without either bathtub or shower; 36 per cent cook without gas or electricity; 38 per cent have no facilities for hot water; 72 per cent have no central heating plants. The rural figures are equally alarming. Please remember that all of these figures deal with existing buildings and an immediate need.

While the average necessary repairs are substantial, if only $30.00 is spent during the next few months on each building in need of renovation, it would assure a total expenditure every thirty days of approximately one-half billion dollars. You can picture what this would mean to our Nation. Every one of the unemployed four million in the building and allied industries would be put to work, the wheels of industry would spin throughout the Nation, and beneficial effects would be felt by everyone.

To bring this about, Congress passed the National Housing Act a few months ago, and it is now recognized as one of the most important enactments in recent years. During the past few months a nation-wide organization has been created to make the program effective throughout the entire United States. Regional District and State Directors have been appointed to organize the Better Housing Program in their areas and the entire country is being organized from the largest city to the smallest village. Complete responsibility will be placed on the shoulders of Field Directors. It will be their duty to see that Better Housing Campaigns are organized in their areas. The Washington office will act as a clearing house for matters of policy and information, and exercise general supervisory control. The National Emergency Council has placed part of its forces at our disposal, and these men have completed their organizations. We therefore, have no efficient and well posted staff in the field including approximately seventy Regional, State and District Directors.

Now let us analyze the loan feature of the Better Housing Program. The Character Credit Plan is very simple. These modern organization loans are made by private lending institutions, from funds under their control. But I want to make it clear that the Government makes no loans.

The Government insures lending institutions approved by the Federal Housing Administrator against losses which may be incurred by them by reason of having loaned money to property owners to improve their property. Under the Plan any person, firm or corporation can go to an approved financial institution and arrange credit from $100.00 to $2000.00 upon agreement to spend the money exclusively on improved real property. As many as five loans may be made to modernize as many properties, and this includes sidewalks, driveways, fences and similar improvements to the premises.

1. The property owner must file a Credit Statement, showing his financial condition, sources and amount of income and other information necessary to determine his ability to repay the loan.

2. The property owner must present to the bank or other lending institution a precise estimate of the cost of the improvements and should be prepared to show that they are necessary.

3. A Modernization loan is solely for the purpose of repairing, altering or improving your home, apartment, garage or any other building.

4. It cannot be for less than $100.00 or for more than $2000.00. The borrower must have a bona fide source of income equal to at least five times the total payments the first year.

5. It can be made for terms up to five years, but may be paid in full earlier than the maturity date if the borrower desires.

6. Maximum charges, including interest and fee, cannot exceed one percent equivalent to 45.00 discount per year per $100.00 original face amount of the note.

7. The loans must be repaid in monthly installments.

In order to insure the success of the Better Housing Program, it is necessary to have the co-operation of lending institutions, manufacturers, dealers and the general public. The assistance from the bankers and financiers has been beyond expectation. Although they are practically required to set up special departments to handle these character loans nearly nine thousand financial institutions with assets of upwards of thirty-six billion have been given insurance contracts approved by the Federal Housing Administrator. They represent the leading financial institutions of every state and afford credit facilities to an estimated population of one hundred and twenty million people. Loans are now being made daily in every state in the union. One large bank is averaging three hundred Modernization Credit loans in a week. The daily total for the Nation runs into very large figures.

The public is responding enthusiastically. Literally millions of booklets and tons of literature on the campaign are being distributed through the Nation's fifty-two thousand post offices and by banks and Better Housing Committees; over twenty-five hundred campaigns have already been inaugurated with more than fifty additional cities and towns getting under way each day.

Personal Experiences
Manufacturers and dealers are aiding magnificently. Recently I sat in several large meetings of industrialists and business men in Washington and they all pledged their hearty cooperation and support. They are sponsoring the program to the limit. Many companies announced large advertising programs. Hundreds of cooperative meetings similar to this are being held daily throughout the Nation. It may be said that the entire business and industrial strength of America is being consolidated in support of the Better Housing Program. I am sure you will be interested in some concrete facts and I should like to read important communications received in this connection. It will give you suggestions, some of which you may wish to put into effect.

Now as to the part you are going to take so as to secure the full benefits of the Better Housing Program. Everyone here can assist in the local community campaign. You must realize that for the first time in years property owners in good standing can now obtain money to make immediate improvements. A little later they will be able to get long term loans at low rates for home construction.

The welfare of every locality is in a large measure tied up in this Program. In every center the largest group of workers out of employment are those in the building trade and allied industries. One-third of all those out of work are in this field alone. This Program will bring employment to millions, many of whom are now on the relief roll. The demand for materials and supplies will create pay-rolls in many industries and take men from the relief rolls. An ever widening circle of benefits will reach to every industry in the Nation. Increased employment means increased purchasing power to every locality and this will be rapidly reflected in general prosperity for all.

Renewed activity in the United States is very apparent. Thousands of homes and buildings throughout the nation are being repaired, remodeled and modernized. Private credit, in the form of Better Housing Modernization Loans is at work. More than twenty-five hundred Better Housing Program Campaigns have been organized and the Modernization Program is progressing rapidly.

Tens of thousands of men have been returned to gainful occupations, and millions of idle occu-

Students To Hold Election

The students of Plymouth high school are planning to hold an election on November 2. The purpose of this is to interest the students in current public affairs and to give them a practical knowledge of voting. The ballots will be as nearly as possible like the ones presented to the voters of Plymouth on that day; they will bear the names of the twenty-one candidates for national, state, and county offices and the six proposed amendments to the state constitution. No one will be permitted to vote who has not resided in Plymouth on Wednesday, Thursday, or Friday of the preceding week. Election material concerning candidates of both parties has been posted in the halls and rooms. The election was planned and conducted by the members of the club presented to the voters of the ninth grade civics classes had charge of the registration. Katherine Schultz is general chairman of the election and the committee chairmen are as follows: Registration-Lillian Keeler; Ballots-Edna Froun; Educational-Ruth Schmidt; General Publicity-Jack Wilcox; Candidates Publicity-Robert Soth; Amendments Publicity-Elwood Elliott; Counting-June Gray. Letters have been received from both Republican and Democratic headquarters commending the students on this work. The results of the school election will be published on this page next week.

lars have been returned to business channels. The return of these millions to normal circulation is being felt by every business in the Nation. Pride in home, community, and Nation everywhere, pointed the way.

One large manufacturing company has received more orders in the past month than all during 1933. The arch-conservative Wall Street Journal states: "The Housing Program is emerging as the Government's most successful recovery effort."—The United States moves forward.

"We stand in the midst of a great National Enterprise. It is going to effect you tremendously. The Big Drive is underway. Let us go forward together! The greatest progress in the Nation has always come after a building slump. Modernization and construction means activity and the creation of wealth. Building brings prosperity. It keeps money in circulation. Remember that a great opportunity to help your community and the Nation has been given to you. Your country asks you to help and the citizens of the great State of Michigan have never failed. But don't wait for your ship to come in, unless you send one out."

Plymouth Negative Beats Lincoln Park

Meeting the Lincoln Park affirmative debate team in the first league debate of the season, Plymouth negative speakers including Katherine Schultz, Russell Kirk and Harry Fischer, defeated the opposing team at Lincoln Park, Wednesday, October 24. The contest was attended by an unusually large audience of about two hundred fifty students and adults. The formal statement of the question, "Resolved, that the federal government should adopt a policy of equalizing annual grants to the several states for public primary and secondary education," was that adopted for debating throughout the state this season. Mr. Hyman instructor in social science at Ypsilanti high school, judged the debate, and Dorothy Hearn acted as timekeeper for Plymouth. The Lincoln Park speakers were Vivian Carter, Jack Robinson, and Robert Mitchell.

"At the conclusion of the debate Mr. Hyman, the judge, rendered his decision to the negative stating that excellent work had been done by both teams. Mr. Hyman stated that the third affirmative, Robert Mitchell, had been the best speaker, and that on many points the debate was extremely close, the constructive speeches largely favoring the affirmative, while all debaters had spoken unusually well. Having defeated Lincoln Park at Plymouth in the same evening, Plymouth high now has two victories recorded at the beginning of the season.

Plymouth Wins First Dual Debate In League

Opening the season's league debating contests, Plymouth high school's affirmative team defeated Lincoln Park in Plymouth high school auditorium Wednesday evening, October 24, in a debate upon this year's question, "Resolved, that the United States government adopt the policy of equalizing educational opportunities within the nation through annual grants made by the several states for public elementary and secondary education."

The chairman for the contest was Mr. Bentley of Plymouth high school, who introduced the judge, Carl Forsyth of Ferndale high school and the debaters of both teams. Jeannette Brown acted as the local timekeeper. Plymouth's affirmative speakers were Jewel Starkweather, Thomas Brock and Jack Sessions, who spoke in the order named. The speakers of Lincoln Park included Roderick McGather, John Brown, and Charles Keller.

Mr. Forsyth immediately after the debate, announced his decision in favor of the affirmative team and gave an explanation of his choice. Although he stated that the Lincoln Park team was courteous and well coached, he believed the affirmative team had a clearer case. He alleged that the winning team had better speakers and used better grammar. He pointed out that many of the negative objections were entirely hypothetical. Plymouth's affirmative has won the first League debate. It will again debate with Ypsilanti, November 8, in Plymouth high school.

FIND OUT FOR YOURSELF by means of this Trial Plan THAT ELECTRICALLY COOKED MEALS ARE BETTER MEALS

There is actually a difference in flavor between ordinary cooking and electric cooking. Until you have tasted a meal prepared on an electric range, you will not believe that this difference is possible. But the fact remains: ELECTRICALLY COOKED MEALS ARE BETTER MEALS, and you can find it out for yourself.

Here is the Trial Plan: We will install an electric range in your kitchen without initial charge, and let you use it for six months, removing it without charge if you do not like it. During this trial period, you pay for the service as registered by your meter, plus a monthly charge of $1 for the range. If you decide to keep the range, your monthly payments will be applied toward the purchase price. If you decide that you do not want it, the range will be removed at our expense. The Drago Doctrine
When in the winter of 1902-03 Germany, Britain and Italy blockaded the ports of Venezuela in an attempt to make the latter country settle its debts, by L. E. Drago, a noted jurist of Argentina, maintained that force cannot be used by one power to collect money owing to its citizens by another power. Prominence was given to the contention by the fact that it was officially upheld by Argentina and favored by other South American republics. The principle embodied has become generally known as the Drago doctrine.

On Wednesday evening, Halloween, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Reck were hosts at a party at their home on Penniman avenue having as their guests the Wednesday evening bridge club. The house was beautifully decorated throughout in the Halloween colors, black and orange with an occasional ghost stationed to direct the guests. After games were enjoyed the guests, who of course were in costume, were invited to the basement where fried cakes, waffles, cider and other good things were served for certain prices, paper money having been given them beforehand by their hosts. Altogether it was an evening of fun and laughter, and all enjoyed the generous hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Reck.

Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Carley attended a house party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben O'Keefe in Howell over the week-end. Guests were present from Ann Arbor, Whitmore Lake and Dixboro.

YOU CAN REDUCE YOUR FUEL BILL

Practically all heat leakage occurs through the ceiling and roof of your home. With an insulated ceiling you will require less heat to replace that lost at this point. This heat will then recirculate in your rooms and be affective much longer. THUS INSULATION WILL MAKE YOUR HOME WARMER IN WINTER AND COOLER IN SUMMER. This is accomplished in two very simple manners. FIRST, by "tucking in" a blanket of insulation in between the rafters, thus providing an effective barrier against heat and cold. The other method is to nail the sheet form of an insulation board over the rafters, over the attic floor, or on the underside of the rafters. Thus insulation is accomplished effectively and inexpensively, and fuel savings are bound to result. Benefit by the savings and EXTRA comfort!
