

Death Of George Palmer Proves To Be Mystery

Mangled Body Found On Pere Marquette Tracks On Thanksgiving

Officers Believe He Was Killed Accidently By Train - Foul Play Is Hinted By His Friends

Firmly sealed in his own lips, George Palmer, aged 28 years and well known resident of Plymouth, carried with him to his grave the details surrounding his mysterious death early Thanksgiving morning.

His mangled body was found on the Toledo division of the Pere Marquette railroad tracks about three miles southeast of Plymouth. Officers who investigated the circumstances of his death declare that it was without much question accidental.

Accompanied by Mrs. Palmer and a number of friends, he had driven to his home, a beautiful garden located on the Ford road just west of the Pere Marquette railroad crossing. They had spent the evening before last Thanksgiving there at what they called "a hard time party."

As they entered their cars, it was discovered that Paul K. Knott, an employe of the Detroit House of Correction, did not have a way to return home.

"I'll go find him and we'll take him home," it is reported that Palmer declared to his friends. He disappeared into the darkness and that was the last ever seen of him alive.

It was shortly after 9 o'clock last Friday morning when C. J. Collins, Pere Marquette section foreman from Wayne, while pulling the tracks came across the body lying between the rails. The location was part way between the Wayne and Joy roads and was about two miles this side of the beer garden where the young people had spent the previous evening.

Mr. Collins came immediately to Plymouth and notified Chief of Police Vaughn Smith in company with a number of other officers. Chief Smith went out where the body was found, but it was so terribly mangled that even after he found papers in his pocket with Palmer's name on them, that it was difficult to recognize the body. Later in the day it was definitely established that the remains were those of young Palmer.

The body was taken to Detroit where a post-mortem examination was performed at the request of the sheriff's office. Nothing was found to indicate foul play.

However one of the unusual circumstances connected with the affair is the fact that his overcoat was found about a half mile closer to Plymouth than where the body was found.

Mr. Palmer was well known in Plymouth. At the time he conducted an oil station and during the past two or three months he had been employed at the Wayne County Training School.

Relief Load On Increase Since Early In Fall

County Has Real Problem To Contend With During Winter

This week Wayne county has 66,808 families, including 12,899 families out-county and 53,909 families in Detroit. This total of 69,707 people is increasing at the rate of 398 families per day on the basis of five days per week. It is true that many families do go off from relief; it is also true that many of the applications for relief are rejected.

Wayne county's allotment for relief for December is $3,000,000. The largest ever granted our county is $2,000,000. This comes from the federal government and $1,000,000 from the state government through the sales tax. In addition to this, Wayne county will have between two and three hundred thousand dollars that comes from the local contribution of the nine cities, eleven villages and eighteen township in our county.

In spite of these enormous amounts, it is not possible to meet the needs of the unemployed. (Continued on Page Seven)

Legion To Back Newspaper Sale

According to Melvin Gutherie, commander of the Myron H. Beals Post, No. 32 of the American Legion, the Post will not conduct a Goodwill paper sale this year. Mr. Gutherie states that the American Legion has withdrawn from this annual event due to the fact that the Ex-Service Men's Club had already arranged with the Plymouth Mail to print a special edition to be sold in Plymouth December 15th.

"We ask therefore that our many friends purchase their papers from those who do sell, paying as much as possible for each paper, that this good work may be properly accomplished this year as in former years."

Bennett To Tell Of Orient Visit

C. H. Bennett, just returned from a visit to Japan, Korea and China, will speak at a gathering of men under the auspices of the Men's Class of the Presbyterian Church on Thursday, Dec. 13th. The meeting will be held in the dining room of the church at 6:30 p.m. A committee with George A. Smith, as chairman, has decided that no inquest was necessary and the body was turned over to the Schrader funeral home of Plymouth.

Mr. Palmer was well known in Plymouth. At the time he conducted an oil station and during the past two or three months he had been employed at the Wayne County Training School.

Cut Gas Rates Here, Effective On December 15

Consumers Power Co. On Own Initiative Asks For Reduction Change

Will Make A Savings Of Many Thousands Of Dollars To Users—Await Utility Ruling

Reduction of the gas rates for the city of Plymouth which will represent a saving of something like $18,000 per year to the consumers of this city. Northville and Wayne has been announced by the Consumers Power Company. The new rate will become effective December 15, providing it is sanctioned by the Michigan Public Utilities Commission.

This step has been necessary as the franchise of the Consumers Power company in Plymouth which provides for the higher rate has not yet expired and the action of the company, in reducing the rates, purely a voluntary one. It is not necessary under its present agreement with the city. Local manager for the company, points out that the average family uses something like 2500 cubic feet of gas per month. Under the present rate the payment for this amount runs around $3.66. Under the new lower rate it will be $2.99 for the same amount.

The standard rates proposed by the Consumers Power Company to take the place of the higher rates that were charged by the old Michigan Federated Utilities which the Consumers Power company took over will prevail in the entire Pontiac district, over which Plymouth is not a part.

High Students See Greenfield

Through the initiation, organization and hard work of Chas. Thumme local police officer, and the generous cooperation of the Ford Motor company more than two hundred boys and girls of Plymouth high school were able without any expense to them, to see and enjoy a trip through Greenfield Village.

In planning the trip Mrs. M. Thumme worked with Miss Kees, director of girls physical education, in organizing the groups of boys and girls for their trip to the village. The following generous Plymouth citizens made possible free transportation: Paul Weidman, Ernest Allison, Carl Shear, Clyde Smith, Fred Schrader, Oliver Goldsmith, George Robinson, Ivan Cash, Frank Terry, Max Todd, Warren Baxter, Ernie Wilson, Lee Sackett, Harry Durand, Fred Bredin, Carl Sage, William Holmes, Russell Powell, George Gorton, Maxwell Moon, Perry Hux, George Jenkins, Frank Brogeman, John Jacobs, Vera Wilson, Floyd Wilson, Arthur Blunk, John Chapman.

Through the efforts of all who aided in making this trip possible, the trip to Greenfield Village, turned out to be a wretched day as far as education is concerned, into one in many ways equal to school attendance. The boys and girls are appreciative of the many efforts which are put forth by the citizens of Plymouth in making their vacation periods happy ones.

Dworman Buys Sage Station

Announcement was made this week of the sale of the H. A. Sage & Son gas station on Main street next to the Pere Marquette tracks to Herman Dworman, owner of the Plymouth Super Service station located next to the gas station. It is the intention of Mr. Sage and his son to continue in the wholesale oil and gas business, handling the same product they sold at retail.

Mr. Dworman has already taken possession of the station and he plans to give the same prompt and courteous service that has characterized his Super Service Station business during the years he has conducted it.

Bennetts Back From Japan - Delightful Trip

Amazed At Progress Little Island Nation Has Made In Education

Find Conditions In China Just About As Pictured By Writers—All Have Praise For Red Cross

Back from the world convention of the Red Cross which was held during October in Tokyo, Japan, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bennett who had the honor of being named as members of the American delegation to attend the convention, are enthusiastic over what they regard as probably the most interesting experiences in their lives.

"Never were we treated more royally. Never have we had greater courtesy shown us and never have we spent seven or eight weeks in more delightful ways than during our visit to Japan and China," stated Mr. Bennett upon his return home.

They reached Plymouth Saturday after spending nearly two months in the Orient. But sooner had Mr. Bennett returned home than he found it necessary to make a business trip to New York. The Daisy official for years has had a way of combining business and pleasure and it is believed that his long trip away from home will eventually result in considerable business for the Daisy Manufacturing company.

All of the people of the Orient, he declared, have a very high regard for the Red Cross and its work. Frequently in some of the great disasters that have visited that part of the world, the Red Cross organization was first there to provide food and medical care.

"Because of this it seemed that every one went out of their way to make the great convention a success and to make as pleasant as possible the trip of the delegates," he said.

"We traveled from one end of Japan to the other on special trains that the Japanese government provided. Our boat trips cost nothing. In fact Japan officials would not let the delegates bear any part of their expenses to the convention. Of course when we went over to China it was different. The minute we crossed the border line into that country we had to take care of everything we got as well as for our transportation."

"China shows none of the progress of Japan. There are millions of people living without sanitary conditions of any kind in the great cities of that country. One can readily see the difference between the two countries immediately after crossing the border."

Mr. and Mrs. Bennett had a delightful trip across the Pacific on their way home. The weather was good from the time they left Japan until they reached America. In going to Japan early in September they experienced numerous stormy days.

State Housing Director In Address Here, Points Way For Plymouth To Aid In A Great National Cause

An Expression By State Housing Administrator Raymond D. Foley

Following a visit to the new home of The Plymouth Mail after his address to Plymouth business men Tuesday evening, Raymond D. Foley, federal housing administrator for the state of Michigan, said it is one of the most complete and best arranged newspaper offices I was ever in.

The one hundredth anniversary of the Newburg M. E. Church was held Saturday and Sunday, December 1 and 2. Fine weather prevailed and many former preachers, members and friends of this cemetery were turned over to the Methodist society. Some of the names appearing on the transfer papers were those of George Ryder, Josiah Smith, Thomas Wright, Ira Bradner, James Armstrong, Levi Stark and John Passage. Rev. J. W. Shank was pastor at that time. In 1915, the church building was moved to its present location at the corner of Newburg Road and Arbor Trail.

Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Kingsley of Wayne sang two beautiful songs and Rev. Wm. A. Johnson sang the "Stranger of Galilee." The history of the church was given by Mrs. E. A. Smith. Records show that church services were held in 1834, but it was not until twelve years later that the first church was built, on a site just opposite the present school house, on land donated by Dr. Frank M. Field, Rev. Erwin King, Rev. Joseph Dutton, and Rev. Paul Havens, also Misses Ada and Anna Youngs of Kingston and Mrs. Meda Judson of Grand Rapids.

Mr. Wm. J. Smith was present with a beautiful vase of mums, as he was the oldest member present having joined the church in 1875. On Sunday, at 10 o'clock Dr. J. A. Halmhuber, the District Superintendent, preached a very inspiring message for his text, "Upon this rock I will build my church." Special songs by the choir, by Robert MacIntyre and the Misses Viola and Marian Lutermoser were also enjoyed.

Harry Barnes, a past commander of the Myron H. Beals Post, No. 32 of the American Legion, announces that the post will stage a party for all needy children in Plymouth and surrounding territory on Friday evening, December 21st. Mr. Barnes is chairman of the party. The Christmas Children's party will be an annual event beginning this year.

A complete announcement regarding the party giving the program in full will appear in next week's issue of The Mail. W. A. Garrett, proprietor of Bill's Barber Shop at 818 Penniman avenue, has assured Mr. Barnes that he will give free hair cuts to the children invited to the Legion party for four nights beginning Monday, December 17th and continuing through the evenings of the 18th, 19th, and 20th. Mr. Garrett estimates that he will give the hair cuts to 150 children.

The club is composed of 45 men, each of whom is an artist, and is the oldest and best known organization of singers in Detroit. The concert given here will present the same program as will be by the Club later in the month at Orchestra Hall as one of their two annual concerts. The admission will be 25 cents and tickets may be obtained of members of the Woman's Club or at the door.

Following is the program to be given by the Orpheus Club of Detroit, Charles Frederic Morse conducting in the high school auditorium, at 8:15 Saturday evening, Dec. 8, 1934. For a number of years it has been the custom of the Orpheus Club to open the program with the Dutch Folk Song, "A Prayer of Thanksgiving."

Raymond D. Foley Urges Home Building

Declares It Provides The Greatest Safety Valve There Is For The Future Of America

Nearly one hundred Plymouth business men as guests of the Kiwanis club and Plymouth Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night heard Raymond D. Foley, recently appointed federal housing administrator for Michigan, declare that the salvation of these United States lies in a return to the kind of home life upon which America was founded.

Mr. Foley came to Plymouth upon the urgent invitation of Mr. Ber Moore, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and the officials of that organization as well as the Kiwanis club. Probably never before has a Plymouth group of business men heard a more emphatic or more clearly defined discussion of a great national problem than Mr. Foley presented.

He made it clear that the federal housing act was designed to aid as far as possible the return of family life as it was known to America in the pioneer days—and that the return of the good, old fashioned American home is the only thing proposed to end radical agitation and communistic tendencies among the people.

"We one ever heard of a radical advocate of communism or any other of these wild ideas we hear so much about these days ever trying to buy or build a home. You know as well as I do that the trend away from the home is the greatest danger to America we all love," he declared.

"We are probably now well on the way out of the depression. Had we been honest with ourselves we would never have gotten into it. The depression we did, there is nothing more drastic and nothing more emphatic than 'save money.' But there is no need of me going into a long list of reasons that have happened. We are here to discuss a great problem not one of politics or opinions.

"We, the people, are the government. We are the communities and the cities of the nation. What has happened has been our own fault, not that of the government so we must look at the matter honestly and candidly. I am not here representing any political party—but I am here representing our great government, your government and my government.

"You know, we all know that the first duty of government is to protect the home—the kind of a home that our forefathers carved out of the wilderness. Settlers came into Michigan to build homes for themselves and families. They did not build homes to rent or to sell for a profit, but a home in which to live. That is the fundamental spirit of America—home ownership. The homes of our pioneers were not temporary homes, but they were homes for home making and home living.

"The trend away from home ownership is due largely to the fact that we have not made home ownership safe. The federal housing act has endeavored to remedy some of the conditions that have brought discouragement and these unfavorable conditions about. There are many things that remain to be adjusted. Our own state legislature must help us make the federal act more effective. We believe that we have in this act the greatest weapon there is against the danger that confronts our country.

MRS. ELIZABETH PARMALEE DIES After an illness of over a year Mrs. Elizabeth Parmalee, wife of Arthur Parmalee died at 11:30 o'clock. She was a sister of Mrs. W. P. Farmer and the remains will be at her home, 801 Starkweather avenue until the funeral.

More Kindly Expressions From Our Neighbors And Friends

It was stated in The Plymouth Mail last week that the local expressions that had been made to the publisher of this newspaper pertaining to the new structure that has been erected for our newspaper home were seemingly sufficient reward for the venture that has been made.

But now from our neighbors and associates in the business come numerous editorial expressions and letters of commendation that are just as thoroughly appreciated as have been the expressions of good will from the business patrons and readers of The Plymouth Mail.

We are sure that some of these editorials and letters will bring as much enjoyment to the readers of The Mail as they have to the publisher.

First comes a letter from J. John Pope, president of The Michigan Press Association and publisher of The Grandville Star, an alert and progressive newspaper over in Kent county near Grand Rapids. Mr. Pope writes:

"Editor Plymouth Mail: Permit me to congratulate you on the occasion of the removal to your new building. This new building undoubtedly will mean to you what our new structure meant to us. It served to interest the citizens in us to the extent that it virtually doubled our business in the next succeeding two years.

"Let me also say, Mr. Eaton, that the Plymouth Mail under your editorship in my estimation is one of the finest weekly newspapers issued, both editorially and typographically and I am sure every citizen of Plymouth and the surrounding area point with pride to the new home of the Plymouth Mail and what this commanding community newspaper means to them.

"Usually a city is known by the type of newspaper it supports and when I reflect what a fine newspaper Plymouth can point to, the sort of leadership for the community it has supplied, I feel that your city has just reason to believe that both the city and the paper will continue to forge ahead and both prosper.

"Again I congratulate you."

Then from the editorial columns of The Birmingham Eclectic, a Michigan newspaper that has won numerous national awards due to the progressiveness of Publisher George Averill, comes the following appreciated sentiment:

"Last week The Plymouth Mail, edited and published by Elton R. Eaton, moved into its splendid new building, a model newspaper property that is a fitting improvement both to Michigan newspapers and to the beautiful little city that nestles in Clinton Valley west of Detroit. To Mr. Eaton and to Plymouth we extend hearty congratulations! The Mail is one of Michigan's outstanding weekly newspapers; Mr. Eaton, recognized as a very able and aggressive editor and publisher, has now given his journalistic enterprise a home deserving of the place it occupies in Michigan journalism. We hope that the good citizens of Plymouth realize their good newspaper fortune and continue to support The Mail in its community effort to improve and protect the welfare of those it serves."

From one of the editors of The Linotype News, one of the few trade publications that goes to every civilized nation of the world, comes the following letter:

"Editor Plymouth Mail: Mr. W. T. Ward has sent to us a tear sheet from the Plymouth Mail of November 16, and it was a pleasure to learn that you were moving into your new building and we rather enjoy the many conveniences that have been provided.

"We should like to use this material for a story in the Linotype News, not only for its value as a news article but more particularly for the reason that you have, if you would put new life into the newspaper business and what is more, awaken many communities with a tendency to enliven other lines of business and abate much of the 'crying in a hanky.'"

"Won't you please let us have a photograph either of your building or yourself, or both, to go with this article as we believe your example in improving your plant would favorably affect others to do likewise."

Then from that excellent newspaper, The Dearborn Press, comes the following congratulations to both Plymouth and its newspaper:

"The need of more progressive community newspapers with modern plants that are capable of serving the growing municipalities of Michigan has long been known.

"Many publishers have been thinking about it but economic difficulties have prevented their thoughts from materializing. But Elton R. Eaton, publisher of the Plymouth Mail, has cast aside the gloom of depression and led the way in his community by the erection of a new building and the creation of an ideal publishing plant.

"The Plymouth Mail has long been recognized as one of the outstanding weekly publications in Michigan and its editor and publisher is held in high esteem by contemporaries of the journalistic kingdom of this state. Plymouth is indeed fortunate in having the establishment at its service and the type of men like the Eatons to lead. (His son is following in his footsteps.) The Press and Dearbornites extend to the Eatons and Plymouth congratulations and best wishes for prosperity and progress."

One of the busiest circuit judges and one of Michigan's most outstanding jurists is Judge Joseph A. Moynihan of Detroit. He took the time to write these few appreciated lines the other day:

"Dear Elton: Word has just reached me of the opening of your new newspaper plant at the above address and I hasten to extend to you not only my sincere congratulations on what you have done since you have come to Plymouth, but to wish for you and yours many years of success and happiness in the new building. You deserve the utmost commendation in times like these to undertake a project requiring capital and brains. Of course, knowing that you possess an abundance of the latter, it undoubtedly made up for the well-known shortage of the former among newspaper men.

"In company with your many friends and admirers throughout the state I join with you in the happiness which I know you possess at this further evidence of your progress."

It is needless to say that these fine expressions are deeply appreciated. They will only serve to cause The Mail to work more diligently live up to the expectations of our friends, neighbors, and business associates.

TREES

(Contributed.) The tree lived longer than the man, but what the man did will live on in the tree.

Nine miles west of Springfield, Illinois, there is the biggest walnut tree I ever saw. It reaches from the earth to the sky. It must be a hundred years old. It started from a small sized walnut and it never stopped growing. Yesterday I purchased all the nuts from this Giant of Illinois Prairie and my friends are to plant them as a souvenir of our friendship and reminder of how far a boy of humble birth and resolute will power, may go upon his own resource and his own rugged manhood.

At the breaking out of the Civil War a young, unshaven farm boy came to Springfield to get a job in the army. He had never done anything but fail at everything—except to attend school at West Point and he hadn't a political friend to pull his walnuts out of the fire for him.

He wore a soiled cap and carried a grip about the size of a quart cup. He found nothing but discouragement. He discovered that political pull was at the bottom of all success—or so it seemed to him.

As discouragement and homesickness crept over him, he pondered upon the time the next freight train should leave for Galena, Illinois. Governor Yates—the War Governor—became impressed with the set jaw underneath the greasy cap and gave the young farm lad an audience in his office.

Said the Governor: "We have a regiment of green, stubborn recruits out on the prairie nine miles west of here, and no officer seems to be able to do anything with them. Do you think you could make something out of them?" "I think so," said the young, silent, round-faced farmer boy from Northern Illinois.

And that morning Ulysses S. Grant, sitting under this same walnut tree, wrote his order to der his soldiers. He called his officers together, and said to them: "This is war and not play. It means work, and march, and heat, and obedience. Get your men in marching order to go first to Quincy, Illinois."

That night, ten miles west, the women were giving a big banquet and Grant and his officers were invited. He said to them: "We are engaged in a war and not a festival. Our soldiers will renew their march toward Quincy."

He never stopped at Fort Henry, Fort Donnellson, Appomattox or Shiloh. He never stopped until he walked into the White House and hung up his hat.

The distance from Galena, Illinois, to the White House is a long march but it tells in simple language what a poor boy may do if honesty and pluck and perseverance are the paramount issues of life.

Will B. Otwell, Carlinville, Ill. P. S. In the Spring of '34 I planted 1,200 little walnut trees, one year old, in a permanent orchard. Nearly all have lived through this hot, dry summer. In the Fall of '34 I planted a Quarter of a Million Black Walnuts from which to grow little trees for school children, so that instead of a whole school planting one tree on Arbor Day, every child may plant from one to ten trees. This is my contribution toward helping restore a million forest trees that have been wantonly destroyed in the past two generations. Every one can do something and the world will be a little richer by every tree that you plant.

W. B. O. Plant this walnut NOW two or three inches deep so that it may freeze and thaw many times this winter and next Spring it should grow. And as it grows your interest and enthusiasm will grow and every time you see it a feeling of deep pride will come over you.

"THE VISION ASININE" Some of the stories from Lansing name Vernon J. Brown as No. 1 man for speaker of the house of representatives in the coming session of the legislature. The same stories express doubt of his landing the berth because of his independent position. That's just too bad. Seemingly Mr. Brown is just the man for the job. His independence, however, should be a factor in his favor.—Harry Izor in The Durand Express.

WHO GETS THE PRINTING DOLLAR? Who gets the dollar that is spent for printing? Analysis of disposition of the dollar spent for printing shows that more than 70 per cent of it is paid for labor and remains at home to benefit the butcher, the baker, the clothier and every line of retail trade.

The dollar expended with the local printer is of greater value to the community than the dollar spent for merchandise. The local merchant who buys printing outside of his own community is robbing his own cash register.

A good many retail merchants chant education along this line. The only source from which

Trouble an' Sunshine

by Lawrence Hawthorne

It takes a bit o' trouble now an' then
 To help us learn the ways o' life, I guess;
 A spell o' cloudy weather teaches men
 To understand what brings 'em happiness.
 No person ever yet has seen it rain
 Without the sunshine comin' later on;
 But some folks get the notion grief an' pain
 Are here t' stay, an' every joy is gone.

Seems like there's plenty more o' cheer than care
 For them that keep their spirits brave an' true;
 Seems like the days 're mostly bright an' fair,
 An' clouds don't often cover all the blue!
 An' so, a bit o' trouble now an' then
 Should help us prize our blessin's all the more;
 An' when good-luck is greetin' us again
 We'll find things even brighter than before!

PRaises WEEKLY PAPERS STATE FARM BUREAU

One of the resolutions unanimously adopted at the recent meeting of the State Farm Bureau read as follows: We especially commend to our members and to farmers everywhere their home weekly newspapers. No other single force is more invaluable in maintaining the present high standard of informed citizenship than our weekly newspaper. To them more than to any other falls the task of interpreting passing events in terms of rural needs and desires. Their leadership has been sound in the great majority of cases and we urge their support.

NEW DISHES: $9,300!

It must be somewhat of a shock to people of the country to read that the wife of the president has ordered a 1,000-piece set of dishes for the White House at a cost which exceeds $9,300. If you'll figure that out you will see that every plate, every cup, every saucer, every compote (whatever that is), every sauce dish, costs $9 apiece.

Grant that the White House does a lot of entertaining; grant that they are buying fine dishes; we still say, that at a time when many people are still getting by on welfare doles, it is a poor time to spend that much money for dishes!—James Gallery in Tuscola County Advertiser.

SOUND ADVICE

"A state that confiscates the homes and property of its citizens in order to exist will not long endure. The foregoing is a sentence, perhaps the most striking in an address delivered Thursday night by State Senator A. L. Moore of Pontiac, before the Michigan Federation of Retail Merchants at a banquet which was given as a complimentary affair for state officers, senators and representatives last week. That is a bit of sound philosophy it seems to us which can not be successfully controverted. One does not have to go into abstruse and difficult reasoning to see the force of it.—Ernest Evans in The Brighton Argus.

IT SHOULD COUNT

Some of the stories from Lansing name Vernon J. Brown as No. 1 man for speaker of the house of representatives in the coming session of the legislature. The same stories express doubt of his landing the berth because of his independent position. That's just too bad. Seemingly Mr. Brown is just the man for the job. His independence, however, should be a factor in his favor.—Harry Izor in The Durand Express.

WHO GETS THE PRINTING DOLLAR?

Who gets the dollar that is spent for printing? Analysis of disposition of the dollar spent for printing shows that more than 70 per cent of it is paid for labor and remains at home to benefit the butcher, the baker, the clothier and every line of retail trade.

The dollar expended with the local printer is of greater value to the community than the dollar spent for merchandise. The local merchant who buys printing outside of his own community is robbing his own cash register.

A good many retail merchants chant education along this line. The only source from which

How your MONEY WORKS FOR YOU IN A Checking Account

When you put your money in a savings account you get interest on it. In a checking account you get service for it—and let the bank draw the interest. In return for this interest the bank gives you privileges worth far more to you than the interest itself.

When you maintain a balance commensurate with your use of your checking account privileges, the bank will be reimbursed for the expense of serving you. Otherwise, the bank may properly look to you to meet this expense.

Money in a checking account is an investment that pays you real dividends.

SECURITIES COMMISSION UP FOR CONGRESSIONAL INVESTIGATION

The Michigan Securities Commission is again in the limelight. This time a congressional committee is the instrument through which the shortcomings of the commission and the punishment given to investors is being aired. The history of the Michigan securities Commission is a stretch in the nostrils of every Michigan citizen. Designed and created to protect the unwary from investments in "blue-sky stocks and bonds," it became, in the course of years, a web baited with rich morsels into which the thrifty people of Michigan were lured to the extent of more than a half billion of dollars of losses.

It is a sad chapter of intrigue and fraud which the records of this commission disclose. The guilt of the public is laid upon even to the point of using the magic words, "Federal" and "United States of America" in the labels as if the national government stood behind bonds when nothing was behind them except the machinations of clever manipulators. Second, third and fourth mortgages were peddled by "1st Mortgage and Bond" concerns. An institution created by the state to protect the public worked hand in glove with interests set up to milk the public.

Salesmen licensed by the state were permitted to go about the state selling securities passed by the state. Why should not the victims cry out against the state when it is learned that they were sold stuff they would never have touched had they stood their own guard and had not been lured into a false sense of security. Even the banks are found involved as it becomes known that sucker lists were largely secured from bank clerks who handed out the names of those with substantial deposits to their credit.

Michigan has thus far failed to clear its skirts of this drab stain. The Michigan Securities Commission still exists, virtually under the same personnel which sent thousands into the dole line and swept away the investments of other thousands. Perhaps an investigation made by congress may bring better results.—Vernon J. Brown in The Ingham County News.

NEWBURG METHODIST CHURCH CELEBRATES

old, has been very busy the past five years writing the history of Methodism in Michigan.

Dr. Thomas Prvor, pastor of Whitfield church, Detroit, but in charge of Newburg church two years ago was the last speaker. He urged that at the beginning of this second century of life of this church, that we carry on with the same zeal and earnestness, as did our forefathers for the upbuilding and furthering of Christ's Kingdom.

So interesting was the brief history of the church compiled by Mrs. Smith that Newburg readers of The Mail have asked to have it published in full. Mrs. Smith's paper follows:

Some fourteen years ago, when our church was removed from Plymouth charge, I was asked to write a history of it. I found at that time no one who could remember when Newburg did not have a place of worship.

It had always been a church going place, the first record of service is in 1834. We were then on the Plymouth Circuit, one of ten preaching places. We have no knowledge of when or where the meetings were held. It was twelve years before there was a permanent house of worship. The Newburg Methodist church was built in 1846 and stood opposite the present Newburg school house on land donated by Mr. Warren Tuttle. It cost $400, $100 was given by Mr. Tuttle and $100 by Mr. Nathaniel Elbridge.

For a number of years service was held every two weeks. There being a Congregational church, across the road from the cemetery with preaching on the alternating Sunday. This society at one time was in a very flourishing condition, but death and removal so decreased its membership that it was thought best to transfer the building to the Methodist Society, it being a much better one than theirs.

It was transferred by Mr. Geo. Ryder, Josiah Smith, Thomas Wright, Ira J. Bradner and Mrs. Mary J. Bradner on Jan. 13, 1853 to Mr. James Armstrong, Levi Stark and John Passen, trustees of the M. E. Church of Newburg. Rev. J. W. Shank being the pastor at that time. The following year the Ladies' Aid Society was organized and then came a complete remodeling of the church, it being a very plain unpretentious structure. There were two separate doors and a window in front, they were taken out and the double doors put in, which were a great convenience on many occasions. Here feeling the need of more room the Chapel or side room was built, it was much appreciated by the Sunday school teachers, the school at that time having an average attendance of more than 80. Next the Belfry and Vestibule with the cement steps and walks were added. In 1902 the church was renovated. The stained windows were put in, and many other improvements made which gave it a much better appearance.

As Newburg began to grow there was much talk that the church should be here on the corners. It seemed a vast undertaking and many while feeling that it would be for the best, disliked to see it taken from the place where it had stood for so many years. However in 1915 it was moved to this present corner and now let me say just a word about the other building, that was the first M. E. Church. It was given into the hands of a Society formed for the purpose of taking it over, and called The Hall Association. They bought land and moved it to its present location, remodeled it, painted and named it The Newburg Hall.

Some years later the Society becoming diminished and scattered and wishing the Hall kept for a good purpose desired to transfer it to the Ladies' Aid Society. However, before we could own the property we had to be an incorporated body on June 17th, 1904 we signed the articles of incorporation under an act of the Legislature of the State of Michigan which provides incorporation of Benevolent Societies. We were given a deed of the land and incorporated for the sole purpose of keeping and maintaining the Hall in such a way that it would be a good place for our young people to gather in at any time and while it was an extra expense to keep it up, we felt we must because at that time there was no other Hall or suitable place in the community for our suppers and entertainments. Our Ladies' Aid also there being too many for a private home was held there.

Next a young student was sent who could give very little time to the work. Then a young man with a wife and family came to us, Rev. Havens, and we felt the need of a permanent place for them to live, so in the spring of 1924 we built our parsonage. The ground was broken for it April 1st and the pastor moved in on June 28 of the same year, for the first and only time then was a mortgage on our church property, so the next few months saw very strenuous work on the part of the Ladies' Aid as leaders. Every one seemed willing to help and on Sept. 20, Rev. Dr. Phelps came out and gave as a very interesting sermon, at the conclusion he congratulated the congregation on their achievement of taking care of the full indebtedness and the mortgage was burned. From then on we have carried on till now we have reached the hundred-year mark. Mrs. M. Eva Smith

Doctors Not To Let Bills Run

Plymouth physicians and dentists have adopted a uniform credit and collection policy effective immediately, according to P. E. Parker, vice president and general manager of the Merchants Credit Bureau of Detroit. Under this agreement unpaid accounts are automatically turned over to the Credit Bureau for collection when they become four months past due. Mr. Parker added that doctors and dentists do not have the time to properly attend to their collection problems and they have chosen this organization, with years of experience through the Plymouth office to handle this work for them.

Mr. Parker states that the Wayne County Medical Association and the Detroit Dental Society adopted a similar set-up some months ago and that it is working out very satisfactorily. Doctors and dentists as a group have not suddenly decided to become hard boiled toward their patients, but they do feel that the public should be educated that there is no sound reason why they should always be among the very last to receive payment.

All who wish to hear the two teams in debate will be guests of the Student Council without any charge whatever.

Many Attend Annual Thanksgiving Day Science Services

The annual Thanksgiving service was held on Thursday morning at First Church of Christ, Scientist, Main and Dodge Sts., with a large attendance. A feature of the occasion was the testimonies of thanksgiving for healings of sickness, sin and lack, through Christian Science, told briefly and in quick succession by members of the congregation. Mrs. Charles Root and Mr. Wilbur Holdsworth, Readers of the local church, conducted the service.

The special Thanksgiving Lesson-Sermon read in Christian Science churches throughout the United States, compiled from the Bible and the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy, contained this passage from Rev. 7: 11, 12: "And all the angels stood about the throne, and worshipped God saying, Amen: Blessing and glory, and wisdom, and thanksgiving, and honour and power, and might, be unto our God for ever and ever. Amen." Among the correlative passages from Science and Health was the following (p. 234): "Whatever inspires with wisdom, Truth, or Love — be it

A Hole in the Hedge

By ANNE CAMPBELL

OUR hedge was so lovely a few years ago. Unbroken and straight, with its clipped edge just so. But now it is not so precise to the view.

There's a hole in the hedge where our baby runs through!

There's a gap in the green made by small eager hands.

Like a small open door with a well come it stands.

And I like our hedge better than when it was new.

Since it spreads a green path where our baby runs through!

Plymouth Road Open To Traffic

Traffic for the first time in over six months was permitted over the Plymouth road from this city east Wednesday morning. The new bridge at the entrance of the Plymouth-Riverside park has been completed and the surface gravelled for winter traffic. This will permit the highway to settle before the paving is laid next spring.

The roadway has been raised some eight or ten feet from its former level in order to permit the new parkway road to go through an under-pass. Unfortunately this condition has cut off from Plymouth an entrance to the park off the Plymouth road. However there is almost a direct entrance to the park from East Ann Arbor trail and from the north side of the city just across the Northville road bridge.

Workers are now busy fencing the new grade for the protection of traffic during slippery winter driving.

One feature in favor of the old style phonograph over the radio is that it doesn't take time out to tell us about tooth paste, auto tires and stomach medicine.

Fail In Effort To Block Fisher

Rumors that Dr. E. F. Fisher would not be permitted to take his seat in the State House of Representatives as representing the Fifth District, because he was holding more than one elective office, were quickly quieted today when it was stated that holding the Dearborn council post would have no bearing on his state office.

The state law specifically provides that any Michigan official cannot hold a state or county office but makes no mention of municipal offices. The controversy arose when it was ruled that James K. Jamison, treasurer of Ontonagon county, would not be permitted to take his seat in January.

The attempt to rule Dr. Fisher out, is believed to have come from the belligerent Democratic camp in this district, which he has successfully opposed for two consecutive terms despite the fact that Democrats have won out in the rest of the county.

Dr. Fisher's fellow councilmen in Dearborn have repeatedly stated that his place in the House of Representatives is a decided advantage to that city. They point out that his close connection with city affairs enables him to keep the council informed on State legislation that benefits the city and also permits him to do more good for his constituency as a whole. They declared that during the past year Dr. Fisher's knowledge of the workings of the State departments have enabled the city to secure quicker action on their inquiries.

D.R.R. Members Hear Talk On Immigration By District Director

Green Mead, the beautiful colonial home of Mr. and Mrs. Sherwin A. Hill, Base Line Road Northville was the scene on the evening of Dec. 3rd of the annual Christmas guest night of the Sarah Ann Cochrane Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. About forty guests were present. John L. Zubrick, District Director of Immigration in Detroit, gave an interesting address on "Immigration." Mr. Zubrick's experience with problems connected with the Federal administration of this department extends over a long term of years and he gave his listeners many sidelights on phases of the work as well as a resume of legislation dealing with government fabrics concerning aliens who desire to enter the United States.

Music, contributing to the entertainment was given by a trio of Plymouth ladies, Mrs. Cassidy, Mrs. Cutler, and Mrs. McAlister. Mrs. Woodworth accompanied by the male quartette of Northville with Mr. Kenyon, Mr. Smith, Mr. Lee and Mr. Bryan, with Miss Bake at the piano, presenting a group of songs and by Mrs. Lunley of Northville singing several solo numbers. The program was arranged by Mrs. Sidney D. Strong.

The Boston Symphony Orchestra Coming To Ann Arbor on Dec. 11

The Boston Symphony Orchestra, consisting of 110 players, will make its only Michigan appearance this year in the Choral Union series, Hill Auditorium, Ann Arbor, Tuesday evening, December 11, at 8:15 o'clock Eastern Standard time. On its western tour, the famous organization will visit Buffalo, Ann Arbor, Toledo, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, and Schenectady.

The program for the Ann Arbor concert will be the same as that with which the famous orchestra and its conductor, opened their New York season in Carnegie Hall, on November 19. The concert was praised by music lovers as one of the finest of the season. The opening number will be Mozart's Overture to "The Marriage of Figaro," while Beethoven's monumental Eroica Symphony No. 3, will follow. After the intermission, Moussorgsky's "Pictures at an Exhibition" will be played. This work was originally written for piano, but was rearranged for full orchestra by Maurice Ravel, especially for Dr. Koussevitzky.

The program in full is as follows:

Overture to "The Marriage of Figaro," Mozart.
Symphony No. 3 in E flat major, Op. 55 "Eroica," Beethoven.
I-Allegro con brio; II-Marcia funebre; adagio assai; III-Scherzo: Allegro vivace; Trio; IV-Finale: Allegro molto.
"Pictures at an Exhibition," Pianoforte Pieces arranged for Orchestra by Maurice Ravel.

sums, it has been necessary to cut budgets and to cut the hours of the heads of families, who are on work relief. Work relief costs between $9.00 and $12.00 more per month per family than does direct relief, therefore, it is logical to transfer men from work relief to direct relief, when funds are running short and the case load is increasing. However, work relief is less expensive in the end because it is better for the morale of our workers, and because it gives the taxpayer some improvements for the money expended. Both President Roosevelt and Harry Hopkins, federal relief administrators, are committed to a following of work relief; Michigan's administrator, Dr. Wm. Haber, favors work relief and so does the Wayne County Relief Commission. So if congress appropriates any part of the nine billion dollars for which Harry Hopkins is asking, our work relief program will be further expanded, and the Wayne county men whose hours have been cut will have their budgets restored.

It is something suggested that Wayne county cut the cost of administration instead of budgets. The cost of relief administration in Wayne county has been cut from fourteen percent to nine percent at the present time.

When Sen. Wm. E. Borah of Idaho recently said that the cost of relief administration ran as high as 25 per cent he was referring to isolated cases, because, as Harry Hopkins stated November 24th in Chicago, the cost of relief administration averages 7 1/2 per cent for the whole United States at the present time. During the past year the average cost was 10 percent for administration, and Michigan as a whole stayed within this percentage. Wayne county has cut its administrative cost drastically the past month and can not cut much further, because with the exception of two or three employees, the salaries of our 2200 relief workers are outrageously low. It is almost impossible to cut the number of workers, when the case load is increasing. It is hoped that the pick-up in the automobile business will relieve the increase in case load, and that congress will appropriate enough to carry on a satisfactory work relief program for those people who can not find work in private industry.
