THE WORLD'S GREATEST RACKET

It would be folly for anyone to dispute the necessity of welfare aid for large numbers of unemployed people. There are many men out of work. There has always been many men out of work—because there have always been lazy men in the world.

SENATOR MOORE'S TAX PLAN IS UNFAIR TO THOSE WHO HAVE PAID

Of all the schemes and plans advanced from Lansing for the elimination of tax delinquency, we feel that the recent one offered by State Senator Andrew L. Moore is most inequitable to those who have thus far paid their real estate levies for the support of government.

If Senator Moore wants to encourage those who have paid their taxes to date to become delinquent indefinitely, our observation and contacts with many people prove that his plan will do the trick, according to George Averill, editor of The Birmingham Eccentric.

There was the 10-year tax moratorium, allowing delinquent taxpayers to spread their 1932 and prior taxes over a 10-year payment plan; apparently, this did not bring the desired results. Now the present Legislature is in session, and further concessions are being offered tax delinquents.

Mr. Averill continues: The Eccentric readily agrees that tax delinquency is a great problem, and that some concessions must be made to get delinquent property back on the paying side of the ledger of government.

Senator Moore, aided by legislative strategists, may be able to get his bill through this session; if he does, that would be a parliamentary victory. But, so far as solving the actual problem of tax delinquency, we do not agree with the able Senator that it would increase governmental revenues.

Our own idea would be to accept a portion of Senator Moore's plan, but at the same time offering a discount for those who have paid their taxes, and continue to do so in the future. This is merely "good merchandising" strategy, and would tend to keep loyal citizens from entering the tax delinquent class.

State Representative Vernon J. Brown, a Republican leader in the House at Lansing, has a more equitable plan for us we believe Mr. Brown, as chairman of the House's Taxation Committee, will soon release his bill in the Legislature.

Senator Moore has acquired a reputation as an authority on the subject of taxation. The Eccentric has reported many of his speeches, and admits that he possesses a forceful ability to move an audience. However, if Senator Moore, with all his tax knowledge, is not able to produce legislative relief that is sound and equitable to the interest of the paid-up taxpayers, as well as the delinquent taxpayers, then his expressed knowledge as shown in his bill is one-sided, unfair, and, in the long run, won't solve the problem.

For further proof of this fact, ask tax collecting officers who, since Lansing continues to send out suggestions of tax cancellation, find themselves in the solitude of currently suspended tax payments.

The Simon-Hitler Talks

By WALTER LIPPMAN

Considering what it was that Sir John Simon offered Herr Hitler a refusal was inevitable. If Hitler had signed the pact and pledges which were asked of him and returned to the League he would not only have affirmed his own adherence to the boundaries of Versailles, but he would have facilitated and authorized the formation of an armed coalition to resist German expansion in any direction.

In return he would have gotten the legalization of a limited armament. He would thus have obtained by agreement a smaller army than he can create by disregarding the treaty; by approving a military alliance consisting of all the great powers of continental Europe he would have bound himself hand and foot not to use that army; he would have made it certain that if he made a move in any direction beyond his frontiers he would be confronted not only with the odium of treaty-breaking but with organized international force.

It is evident that the French, the Italians, the Russians and the Czechs not only expected him to refuse but hoped that he would refuse. This was not because they were eager for war. They knew that Hitler could not really renounce the objectives of his whole policy in order to satisfy Sir John Simon. What they feared was that he would prolong the negotiations and by that diplomatic maneuver gain time for rearmament and an opportunity to drive wedges into the coalition.

This has been his policy for the past two years. It would seem that he no longer needs time to rearm and that the view held by the French and Italians last autumn which was that the German rearmament would be substantially completed this spring, was correct. The view of the British government does not differ in its essentials from that of the French; it was made very plain by Mr. Baldwin last summer after the murder of Dollfus, and more recently by Mr. MacDonald when he issued the White Paper justifying British rearmament, that the government has decided that the purpose of German rearmament is to conquer an empire in central and eastern Europe.

there is one thing the British hate, it is to cross a bridge before they come to it and to commit themselves before the danger is acute. The net immediate result is to center German attention on the perfecting of the German army and the attention of the former Allies on the perfecting of their coalition. The weakness of the German position is presumably the financial weakness of Germany in obtaining raw materials. It is, however, not easy to obtain reliable information on that point.

The weakness of the allies is that they are not yet really allies, that the position of Poland and Great Britain is uncertain, and that they are internally divided and distracted by the social and political consequences of the depression. At the moment, the continuation of peace depends upon the fact that neither side considers itself ready for war, ready, that is to say, in terms of armaments, alliances and popular feeling. Peace of that kind could not be preserved indefinitely, for at some point on the occasion of some incident, one side or the other would decide that it was safer to strike than to wait.

In this desperate predicament civilized men everywhere will look about for some decisive new element which would radically alter the situation and avert war. It may be useful to examine the possibilities which have been suggested.

The first is the one sponsored by British liberals. It is in essence the proposal that Sir John Simon look to Berlin: that Germany should rearm but should bind herself to accept the status quo at least for a period of years. It is unrealistic because it falls to recognize the terrific pressure in Germany behind Hitler's grant of economic opportunity than Germany now affords and that the only direction in which Germany can expand is via Vienna into the Danube Valley, the Balkans and perhaps south Russia. Hitler must expand or perish and in the only direction along which he can expand he encounters the new nations backed by the great powers. Some have hoped that peace would be maintained by the weight of pacific sentiment and of conscientious objection to war. There is, of course, no such sentiment permissible in Germany and no one counts on it to check Hitler. In the allied countries pacific feeling is strong, but what is not generally realized perhaps is that organized pacifism effective enough to stop them from fighting has been demobilized by the Nazis themselves. The trade unionists of these countries, whether they be democrats, socialists, or communists, fear and hate the Nazis and know that Nazi domination of Europe would be the end of all their hopes. Middle-class pacifism on the other hand, will not stop war.

The League of Nations is, of course, another name for the coalition and it can only legalize and moralize what the coalition decides it can and should do. For that reason the best that can be hoped for at the moment is that the coalition will become so impressively united that the present peace, based on mere uncertainty will be transformed into a peace based on unmistakable superiority. That is the purpose of French, Italian, and Russian policy and it would be deemed successful if Great Britain and Poland unequivocally took the same position.

The result would, of course, be only a little less precarious than the present peace. Armed coalitions are notoriously unstable and unreliable. But it would probably produce a pause in the development of the European crisis. The question would then be whether that pause could be used to produce a more dependable peace.

The answer to that question depends upon whether it is possible to come to terms with Nazi Germany on any basis which does not involve the political subjection of central Europe and as a result her mastery of the continent.

Dogs Running Wild And Killing Deer In Northern Michigan

Dogs permitted by their owners to run at large and live off the game of the woods and fields are killing deer in the upper peninsula of Michigan.

A pack of six dogs, vaulted a fence at Fortune Lake, Iron County, and killed eight out of nine captive deer. Three of the animals were overtaken by officers and killed, according to Lawrence Alto, assistant district supervisor at Crystal Falls. Half-wild dogs also have been taking toll of the wild deer in Iron County, Alto reports.

Another pack of dogs killed several deer not far from Sault Ste. Marie, Chippewa county, and made good their escape. Michigan law makes it a violation for individuals to permit dogs to molest, harass, or annoy any game birds or animals during their respective closed seasons, except for 30 days next to and preceding the open season on birds, rabbits, and squirrels when sportsmen may train their dogs for the hunting season.

A Farmer, His Ice and N.R.A.

By MARK SULLIVAN

In Princess Anne County, Va., Mr. P. D. Halstead is a farmer. He raises mainly spinach and berries. He ships them to market in carload lots. The cars need to be iced. The ice, bought from dealers and manufacturers costs about $4 a ton. Mr. Halstead figures he could make his own ice for much less, he thinks for as little as $2 a ton—and so he started to build a little ice plant on his farm.

After he had partly constructed his building and laid out about $2,000, he got, on December 22 last, a telegram. The telegram was from an official of N.R.A. and has a great many officials, departments and committees having long names. The one who signed this telegram was "chairman of the Committee of Arbitration and Appeal for the Virginia ice industry."

"The telegram sent by this official to Farmer Halstead began: 'This committee is advised you're laying foundation preparatory to construction ice-making plant.' The telegram went on to inform Mr. Halstead that N.R.A. forbids any one to build an ice plant without first applying for and getting a permit from the N.R.A. code authority for the ice industry. The committee further warned Farmer Halstead that he must cease building his ice plant. Otherwise—so the telegram concluded:

"This committee will take such action as may be necessary to enforce the law... Your immediate compliance is called for."

Farmer Halstead did not reply. Two days later he received a letter from the same N.R.A. official. The letter repeated the substance of the telegram, warning Mr. Halstead that he must get a permit from N.R.A. before he could build an ice plant "whether for individual or public use."

Again Mr. Halstead did not reply. Five days later, December 29, he received another telegram from the same N.R.A. official. In part it read: "Lacking any response, I extend opportunity to indicate to me on or before Monday that you agree. Your non-response will be accepted as refusal."

al, which will result in such action as necessary to enforce law." By this time Farmer Halstead thought he had better see a lawyer. That is one of the bedeviling things about N.R.A.—citizens whose affairs are small and who all their lives have been unaccustomed to legal troubles, now driven to consult lawyers by intimidating threats from N.R.A. officials. The lawyer told Mr. Halstead in effect that as a farmer building his own ice plant for his own use solely he was not subject to N.R.A.

On behalf of Mr. Halstead the lawyer went to see the N.R.A. authorities at Washington. He explained the case to them. He had many conferences with them and letters to and from them. The lawyer assured N.R.A. that "all of the ice manufactured by this plant will be used by Mr. Halstead exclusively in connection with his own business; he never has proposed to sell a single pound of ice or otherwise deal with it on a commercial basis."

In conferences between Mr. Halstead's lawyer and N.R.A. the latter claimed that Mr. Halstead might use some of the ice made for him for icing vegetables shipped by him for his neighbors. Other technical points were raised. While it does not appear on the record so far as I have examined the record, it seems accurate to infer that the objections to Mr. Halstead's building his ice plant come from ice manufacturers in the neighborhood.

In the end N.R.A. informed Mr. Halstead's lawyer that "if Mr. Halstead should continue with the installation of his proposed plant for him for icing vegetables shipped by him for his neighbors. Other technical points were raised. While it does not appear on the record so far as I have examined the record, it seems accurate to infer that the objections to Mr. Halstead's building his ice plant come from ice manufacturers in the neighborhood.

The so-called "law" under which N.R.A. has thus harassed and frustrated Farmer Halstead is a provision in the N.R.A. code for the ice industry. It reads:

"If at any time an individual, firm, corporation or partnership desires to establish additional ice production... said party must first establish to the satisfaction of the administrator that public necessity and convenience require such additional production."

That was written—the reader can safely take for granted—by persons already in the ice manufacturing business. It is part of the ice code, and General Johnson, when head of the N.R.A. said the codes are "the law of the land." We may find out differently about that whenever N.R.A. permits a case involving N.R.A. to reach the Supreme Court.

Even accepting that provision of the ice code as "law," it still seems extraordinary to apply it to a farmer who says he is going to manufacture not for sale but solely for his own use. If farmer Halstead goes ahead and builds his plant and makes his own ice, he is liable to be haled into criminal court and fined $500 for each day he makes any ice for himself.

The public questions involved are obvious: Does N.R.A. promote monopoly? Does N.R.A. help toward business recovery? Does N.R.A. work oppression on individuals, especially on small individuals? Is N.R.A. as a whole desirable? Ought N.R.A. to be re-elected or allowed to expire?

The way business is upswinging, it behooves red ink manufacturers to find some artistic or ornamental uses for their product.

HOLY WEEK

(By Fr. F. A. Lefevre) Each year it is customary to celebrate certain days as commemorative events. That have taken place. Our thoughts on these days, naturally are merged upon the activity of the occasion.

Next week the christian world enters upon a week designated in its calendar as Holy Week, a week set aside to commemorate the sufferings and death of Christ upon the cross. The history of man's eternal salvation. Every prayer is symbolical of man's petitions for a Redeemer.

On this day the Rev. Chas. E. Steves will be ordained to the priesthood by Bishop Penten of Grand Rapids at St. Andrew's cathedral. It is hoped that all citizens of Plymouth will observe Good Friday during the thoughtful religious hours of 12-3 and attend some church or service commemorating the event of man's need for salvation and redemption.

Tells of Growth of Austin Oil Co.

More than 40 associate dealers, employees and representatives of the J. Austin Oil company's Wayne county division, attended the celebration meeting held Monday afternoon and evening at the Mayflower hotel. The new Shell advertising policy, which comprises the most extensive advertising campaign the oil industry has ever conducted, was fully outlined at the meeting.

Alfred Truesdell presided as chairman of the meeting. Mr. Truesdell is general manager of the Austin organization. The speakers were Leslie Guest, Harry Davis, Fred Allen, and Mr. Shafter of the Shell tank car sales division. With the aid of several reels of motion pictures he gave the complete story of Shell oil from the well, through the refinery to the service station. He told why Shell products with Shell service have made the Shell organization one of the leading factors in the petroleum industry.

The Shell advertising for the present year will include newspapers, magazines, outdoor advertising and the radio with Al Tolson and Victor Young's orchestra. Mr. Allen told of the remarkable growth of the Austin Oil company since its inception as a Shell distributor in 1921, when it had but one employe and a small bulk plant with a capacity of only 15,000 gallons of gas monthly. Today the Austin company operates two large bulk plants, employs more than 40 men and distributes nearly 400,000 gallons of gasoline monthly through its own and associate distributing dealer stations numbering nearly one hundred. The meeting was one of the most enthusiastic the company has ever enjoyed.

Gaylord To Get New T B Hospital

By FRANK D. BROWN
Special Correspondent

The republican party is in ascendancy. Successes at the polls the past week are regarded by administration leaders and admitted by some democrats as repudiation of the "new deal" in Michigan affairs and approval of Gov. Fitzgerald's economy program. The election result is expected to have a spurring effect on the action of the legislature, contributing to a final adjournment somewhere around the second week in May.

Although all republican candidates for state offices were successful, the party suffered one reversal in the election of a democrat to the vacant House seat from the first legislative district of St. Clair county. Mervin W. Tomlin's election to succeed Rep. Duncan McCall, resigned, places the lower house on an evenly divided basis with 50 republicans and 50 democrats. Actually, however, the democrats have voting control by a majority of one due to the inability of Rep. William Ward (R) of Thompsonville to yet take his seat on account of illness.

The long delayed building of a tuberculosis sanatorium in the northern part of the state is now practically assured with the project having been given the approval of the governor and the members of the state sanatorium commission. Senator Otto W. Bishop of Alpena has introduced a bill to appropriate $250,000 for the purpose. This sum of money was appropriated by the 1933 legislature to be derived from the now extinct tax on malt and wort but was never spent. The money later having been placed in the state's general fund.

The proposed sanatorium will likely be built at Gaylord where a site is already under option and where medical authorities claim is the most desirable spot in the state considering climatic conditions conducive to the successful treatment of the disease.

The Thatcher $25,000,000 school-aid bill continues to play an important part in the legislative high spots of the week. The senate committee still has charge of it and there is every indication that the allowance to the schools will be pared down by five million, the sum insisted on by the chief executive. Rep. Thomas Thatcher, author of the bill, has consented to the reduction as a result of the outcome of Monday's election. He takes the position that the defeat of Dr. Paul F.

Voelker, superintendent of public instruction who made the $25,000,000 figure a campaign issue, is a clear-cut mandate from the people that that amount of money is not wanted.

Defeat late Thursday of the integrated bar bill and the passage of the bill to exempt certain food-stuffs from the sales tax constitute the most important operations of the House during the past few days.

The integrated bar bill which bore the endorsement of the Michigan Bar association was rejected by the narrow margin of two votes. The measure would have allowed the lawyers to organize themselves and exercise certain police powers to the end that the unethical practitioner might be eliminated or controlled.

With the passage of the bill amending the sales tax law to exempt some dozens or so staple items of food, the question of constitutionality of such action has been raised. The attorney general submitted an opinion that the unethical practitioner might be eliminated or controlled.

It is estimated that the bill if finally enacted will reduce the state's income by at least five million and many place the loss as high as ten million.

In addition to such items of food as flour, meat, milk, butter, and sugar, etc., being placed on the exempt list, the bill also offers exemptions to farmers on purchases of seed, machinery, packing cases, containers and all items put into or on a product later sold at retail.

The state property tax is now definitely off the books. The governor has affixed his signature to the measures repealing the mill taxes which went for the support of the University of Michigan and Michigan State college. Beginning July 1 these institutions will be financed by direct appropriations, bills for which were introduced during the past few days.

All budget bills are now ready to be dropped into the hopper, a sign that the wind-up of the session cannot be far away. Appropriations for institutions, direct appropriations, bills for which were introduced during the past few days.

The total cost of the nine state hospitals and the state hospital commission is set at $4,490,130 a year by one of the measures. The present appropriation for eight of the institutions is $3,800,000 a year. A large part of this increase is due to two new items not heretofore included, $178,000 for the Mt. Pleasant branch of the Michigan Home and Training school and an item of $13,050 for the hospital commission.

Until last July the Mt. Pleasant school was financed by the federal government but at that time was taken over by the state when the federal government intended closing it. This is the first time since then that an item for the institution's support has been placed in the regular budget.

In the past no appropriation has been made for the hospital commission.

Operation cost of the four state normal schools is set at $1,417,335 a year in other bills of the group already in committee. This is approximately $10,000 less than the current figure.

Still insisting that the state administrative board should be abolished, Gov. Fitzgerald has vetoed the measure which would have placed the lieutenant governor on the board at an annual additional salary of $2,500. Whether or not an attempt will be made to pass the bill over his veto remains to be seen when the session resumes work after the week-end recess.

The 58th legislature is living up to the reputation of its predecessors in the number of bills introduced. While this session may not establish an all-time record, the blue-covered shelves of paper continue to make their appearance in varying quantities from day to day. The stream will keep right on flowing up until the deadline for introduction of new bills whenever it is agreed upon. To date well over 800 have been thrown into the maw of the legislative machine. They propose to accomplish most everything from creating an open season on house cats to the regulation of the mattress and bedding industry.

Wilson Team and Hi-Speed Champs

Last Tuesday evening the players, sponsors, the city commission, the School Board, and the community fans met to formally conclude a season of basketball. From the degree of fun, laughter, and general enjoyment evidenced, the gathering promises to become an annual event.

James Latture, a member of the Plymouth high school faculty acted as chairman and toastmaster for the evening, and Jim provided real entertainment both in the speaker which he presented and the manner in which he presented them. The reactions of the basketball league from the boys standpoint was given by Kenneth Matheson, coach of the high school and a player in the league. Chris Witwer spoke for the girls' teams, and Bob Jolliffe spoke for the sponsors.

The highlight of the banquet was of course the presentation of the coveted trophies for which each team has been struggling all year. In the girls' trophy was won by Hi-Speed, a well organized team which provided real excitement when they defeated the runners up and championship contenders, Red & White, by two points in the final game.

The boys trophy was won by Wilson Hardware who defeated Schraders through some fast basketball, well played. Schraders appeared to be bidding for the championship, having gone through the playoffs without a defeat until they met Wilson's. Wilson, however, promptly proceeded to eliminate Schraders by defeating them in two successive games to win the championship for themselves.

City Manager Perry Cookingham presented the trophies saying that they were to remain in the possession of the winner until a better team took them away. Each successive season the names of the winning teams will be inscribed on the trophies. Mr. Cookingham also stated that the governing bodies, the City Commission and the School Board, who make this league possible, are well pleased with the results of the season just passed, and they both feel that the league is well worthy of their support another year.

Jim Latture, on behalf of the players, presented Earl Gray, manager of the league, a traveling bag as a token of their appreciation for his efforts during the season.

Following the banquet everyone adjourned to the Odd Fellows' Temple for two hours of dancing.

THROUGH A Woman's Eyes

By JEAN NEWTON
MEN AND WOMEN

A MAN is seldom more manly than when he is what you call unmanly—then his emotion is chivalry, pity, and courage; the instinctive desire to cherish those who are innocent and unhappy, and defend those who are tender and weak.

Those words bring to my mind the case of a man who let his "manliness" stand in the way of his happiness. It was a question of forgiving his wife for a fault that had humiliated him, that had caused him to lose face with his friends.

The man wanted to forgive and forget, but he had his "self-respect"—he thought it wouldn't be "manly." So he sacrificed the happiness of himself and the woman who loved him.

And don't we women have the same fault? We do not call it "manliness"—it is "pride" or "self-respect" on whose altar we make sacrifices.

It may be a woman friend with whom there is a rift. You miss her companionship, you feel she misses yours. The difference after all is not irreparable. But there is that question of "self-respect" in making the first move. What a man might call his "manliness" deters you from "running after" her.

And if that "self-respect" can stand between you and another woman—what have it can work between you and a man, even the man you love! Whatever the hurt or the wrong, coming from the man it attacks your womanliness!

Perhaps a woman, too, is most womanly and most self-respecting when she allows such emotions as pity, courage, love, to sway her, and to subordinate that pride which in a man is called "manliness."

The Story of the Bible Told in Pictures

Lot's flight; Destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah.—The Lord revealed to Abraham that He was angered by the wickedness of Sodom, and Abraham pleaded with Him for the righteous few in the city. And God promised Abraham that if ten righteous souls should be found in Sodom He would spare the city. Two angels then visited Lot in the city of Sodom. The angels commanded Lot and his family to flee from the city, enjoining them not to look back upon the city. "But his wife looked back from behind him, and she became a pillar of salt."—Gen. 19: 26. Her figure may be seen at the left of the accompanying picture in which Matthew Merian portrayed the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah. "And Lot went up out of Zoar, and dwelt in the mountain, and his two daughters with him; for he feared to dwell in Zoar; and he dwelt in a cave, and he and his two daughters."—Gen. 19: 30. Having the understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart."
Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 297): "Sickness, sin, and death are the vague realities of human conclusions. Life, Truth, and Love are the realities of divine Science. They dawn in faith and glow full-orbed in spiritual understanding."

*Eyesight PROTECTION THROUGH GOOD LIGHTING

Old eyes and young have one thing in common: Both need GOOD LIGHTING to see properly. A youngster has keen vision that must be kept sharp and clear. A man has eyes that are perhaps tiring a bit, and need all the help that good lighting can give them. But proper lighting helps to protect eyes good and bad, young and old. Your home should not be without it.
Good lighting is not hard to attain—nor is it expensive. Here are 5 simple rules for good lighting that it will pay you to follow: (1) Use correct size lamp bulbs—"WATTS." In table and floor lamps with three sockets, use 40 watts in each socket; with two sockets, 60 watts; with one socket, 100 watts. (2) Have at least one-tenth as much light in the rest of the room as you have on your book, newspaper, sewing, etc. (3) Use SHADES on all lamp bulbs to prevent GLARE. (4) Use shades with light-colored linings to get the most light. (5) Have enough lighting fixtures or portable lamps to insure the proper intensity of light throughout the room. In addition, have a periodic examination by your eye-sight specialist.
Try these 5 principles of good lighting in your home and see what a difference they make in the comfort and seeing ability of every member of your family.

Big Ford Plant For Northville

While no definite information has been released, it is persistently rumored that the Ford Motor company is planning a large addition to its Northville plant. In fact it is stated that the proposed addition will make possible the employment of nearly a thousand workers.

The Northville plant produces a large portion of the valves used in the Ford cars. So busy has the plant been during recent months that it has been operated on a 24 hour schedule.

There are now over 300 men on the payroll in that plant the largest number that have ever been employed by the Ford industry in Northville.

It is known that Mr. Henry Ford has personally visited the Northville plant two or three times within the past few days. The Ford plants in and around Plymouth are humming these days. In fact most of them are operating almost to capacity. The popularity of the new Ford car is reflected in the activities of the Ford factories in this locality.

So Danny Swam With All His Might for the Other Bank of the Smiling Pool.

Grandfather Frog. "I'm rather fond of the little fellow, and I hate to think that I shall never see him again."

Grandfather Frog saw Reddy start to spring on Danny Meadow Mouse and closed his big, goggle eyes so that he would not see the dreadful end of Danny. He expected to hear Danny's last despairing squeak, but instead he heard a splash. Grandfather Frog's big goggle eyes flew open, and then he gave a grunt of surprise. On the bank where Danny had been a second before was Reddy Fox, and if ever there was an angry and disappointed Fox, that one was Reddy. And there in the Smiling Pool itself was Danny Meadow Mouse swimming straight out toward the other bank. While he was as much at home in the water as his big cousin Jerry Muskrat himself.

From the way he was headed it was quite clear that Danny intended to swim across the Smiling Pool to the other bank. "Chugurum!" exclaimed Grandfather Frog. "Chugurum! Bravo, Danny Meadow Mouse! Bravo!"

Danny made no reply. He was too busy. He couldn't waste his breath talking. Besides, he was afraid he would swallow some water and choke. So he kept right on swimming as hard as ever he could. The truth is, Danny was in a hurry to reach the other bank. While he wasn't afraid of the water, he was afraid of certain folks who live in the water. He knew that Snapper, the great, big Snapping Turtle lives in the Smiling Pool, and that nothing would make him happier than a fat meadow mouse for his dinner. Then Danny couldn't help but think of Billy Mink. If Billy Mink should happen along, well Danny didn't like to think of it. You see, Billy Mink is also fond of fat meadow mice.

So Danny swam with all his might for the other bank of the Smiling Pool. There were some little holes in that bank where he would feel quite safe. As for Reddy Fox, he looked both foolish and angry. You see, Reddy had felt absolutely sure of that Meadow Mouse dinner. As it was, he wouldn't even get a frog dinner, for, at the warning of Reddy the Blackbird, all the young frogs along the edge of the Smiling Pool had dived for safety.

A COMMUNICATION

The city commission acted in good faith and in accordance with the Charter when it postponed action on city election certification last week.

First Section 12, page 13 of the city charter holds the city commission responsible as the judge of the election and qualification of its own members.

Second Section 28, page 8 states that no person shall serve on the city commission unless he shall be a freeholder of the city and resident thereof for two years prior to his election.

Third, one of the commissioners—elect was not listed as a freeholder on the tax rolls of the city.

Fourth, there was an apparent conflict in interpretation between Section 21 and 12 of the city charter, the question being, "does certifying an election as a canvassing board mean certifying qualifications of candidates?" With these points before them, the commission could honorably do only one thing, postpone action until some of the questions could be clarified.

The city commission has been accused of hostility and "raging argument." Neither existed. This is proved by the fact that the city commission treated all 3 commissioners-elect alike by postponing the certification of all of them. Nobody was certified at the Tuesday meeting, so there was no discrimination. Whatever hostility existed was engendered by several people after the meeting. The commission, itself showed no hostility, no partiality, and indulged in no "raging arguments."

The city commission has been blamed for not checking the candidates qualification before election. The city charter makes it mandatory for the city clerk to print on the ballot the names of an elector who has the required names on his nominating petition; that is the only requirement. Consequently any attempt to check charter required qualifications of a candidate before election would be interpreted by most people as an effort to defeat the candidacy at the polls. Therefore neither the city clerk nor the city commission has any moral or legal right to check a candidates qualifications before election.

From the foregoing it is apparent that the city commission acted in good faith when it postponed election certification, and also acted in the belief that the majority of Plymouth's voters want the charter which was adopted in 1932 lived up to.

Furthermore the city commission did not call a special meeting but only an adjourned meeting which is the proper procedure under the charter.

A Commissioner.

WHAT DANNY MEADOW MOUSE DID

TO GRANDFATHER FROG, watching from the safety of the Smiling Pool, it seemed that Danny Meadow Mouse hadn't the least chance in the world. There he was on the bank of the Smiling Pool with water in front of him and Reddy Fox creeping up right behind him. To try to run back would be to run right into Reddy's mouth. There wasn't a place for Danny to hide.

"I told Danny he was foolish to come over here," muttered Grandfather Frog.

Grandfather Frog. "I'm rather fond of the little fellow, and I hate to think that I shall never see him again."

Grandfather Frog saw Reddy start to spring on Danny Meadow Mouse and closed his big, goggle eyes so that he would not see the dreadful end of Danny. attention of the City Commission to the assessed valuation on the Lee Foundry Company property which has not been reduced after fire had almost totally destroyed the plant.

It was moved by Comm. Goldsmith and seconded by Comm. Whipple that the assessed valuation on the 1934 Assessment Roll on the real estate of the Lee Foundry Company be considered in error due to the fact that no reduction was made in the assessed valuation following a fire which occurred just previous to the preparation of the Assessment Roll and that said valuation be reduced from $10,800 to $3,500.00.

It was moved by Comm. Whipple and seconded by Comm. Goldsmith that the resignation be accepted. Carried.

Fishing Festival at Kalkaska May 1st To Be The Biggest Ever

The second May festival to be held at Kalkaska this year will be bigger and better in every way. Last year, the first, was a great success considering the short time for arranging the program.
This year plans began in February for the event, and a grand and glorious program has been arranged for by the committees. The celebration will begin on the afternoon of April 30th with a parade through the village to the new park on the Boardman river where casting contests will be held. That evening the Liers Club will hold forth and the noted Ford Mountaineers will be there to entertain.

On the evening of May 1st a Fisherman's Dance will be held in the village and between dances prizes will be awarded. Much tackle has been contributed by manufacturers for prizes and the Association is contributing many.
Last year prizes were awarded to the fisherman coming the longest distance, the oldest fisherman, oldest car, most typical fisherman, the biggest fisher (man and woman) waist line route, earliest legal catch, and the best looking lady fisher. This year all of these will be given and many more.

Again TERRAPLANE Proves amazing economy in nation-wide test
22.9 miles to the gallon of gas—in a full-sized, 88-horsepower sedan! That's the average mileage, shown by scores of reports from leading cities, of stock Terraplanes in nation-wide economy tests held just last month. And some of these cars went over 25 miles per gallon!
In everyday driving, of course, you don't expect the kind of gas mileage you can get under test conditions—but even in city traffic Terraplane is also the outstanding economy car. Thousands of sworn statements from actual owners prove it.
Ruggedness Saves in Upkeep, Too!
But these affidavits also show an even more important saving from Terraplane ruggedness. Hudson's way of building automobiles—with America's only bodies all of steel, the greater ruggedness of Terraplane chassis and higher quality of materials throughout—means longer life and lower upkeep cost.
What other car can pile proof of economy on more proof, as Terraplane does for you? Drive a Terraplane, soon. Compare other lowest price cars with it. Then decide.

SENIOR BIOGRAPHIES

Barbara Ruth Hix was born on a farm near Plymouth on July 16, 1917. This curly-haired young lady attended the High School in the country before entering the ninth grade in the Plymouth School. During her years in high school she has been a member of the Glee Club, Senior Drama Club and Junior Chorus. Just like any other individual, she has her likes and dislikes, and one of her greatest dislikes is people that insist on obtaining wrong impressions. Her favorite color is brown, which she wears rather frequently. Her favorite food is beef steak with mashed potatoes and gravy. She also enjoys the study of art and she hopes to go to some school after she graduates where she can specialize in it, and we're quite convinced that she will. She is a commercial student and plans to be a commercial illustrator.

Dorothy Rose Hobbins (late ill with the mumps) was born in Redford, January 8, 1918. She has lived in Plymouth and Ann Arbor and attended the Bartlett School as well as schools in Ann Arbor and Plymouth, entering the ninth grade here. She is a commercial student and plans to some day to be some lucky man's private secretary (Basset's it looks like at present). Cy Elliott or aforementioned W. Basset can find her busily occupied at the Needlework Department Store. Hobbins' hobbies include class sports of all kinds and dancing. She belongs to the Glee Club and is also a member of the Leaders' Club. Dorothy once described a pedestrian as "a man who walks in the rain with an umbrella and in consequence she will never hear the last of it. Her twin sister is Ann Urban and unless one of them has the mumps you'll always find them together. Lately she has been trying to use big words to improve her struggling with "pathetic" which she slips in any time any one bats an eyelash. Her favorite dish is "Ann's mother's chocolate pie" but she doesn't like dill pickles sent by Miss Graf ("Mumps you know").

That tall, slender, hazel-eyed senior, Emily Ingall, was born on January 20, 1915 near Plymouth. She received her elementary education at the Geer school and entered P.H.S. in the ninth grade. Her hobbies are collecting stamps, flowers and receipts. One of Emily's favorite poems is "Unknown" by Loughton and "The Wide, Wide World" by Elizabeth Wetherell is her favorite book. She likes macaroni but she detests molasses. Emily prefers to wear blue rather than any other color. She enjoys her art classes and she has been an active member of Girl Reserves all through high school. Emily would have graduated with the class of '34 if she had not been forced to leave school because of illness last year. We think she was certainly a good sport to come back again and we wish her better luck this year.

Jean Vivian Jolliffe was born October 29, 1917 in our little town of Plymouth on Penniman Avenue. This very lovely young lady has hazel eyes and brown hair. There have been a large number of fellows who have admired her and have also tried to court her but Jean says that there is only one—Robert. She has been a very active member of her class holding offices of treasurer and vice president. Jean has been in Girl Reserves, Drama Club, and she had the lead in Junior play, and Student Council for which she is now the treasurer. Her hobby is art and we all know that she is a very good artist. When out with her boy friend she eats hamburgs but her favorite dish is macaroni and cheese, but she does not like turnips nor beets. After graduation she expects to go to college and take up art. She likes all subjects in high school and says she has never had trouble getting any of them. Lib Whipple and Pat are her best girl friends.

Frederick Lawrence Johnson, better known as "Froggie" first started the world with his bright remarks in the big city of Detroit, his first being on March 1, 1917. His was a loud yell to let the people know he was alive. He moved to Plymouth in 1931 and joined our forces in September of that year. While a student here he has belonged to the Airplane and Aggie Clubs and taken a great interest in physics and electrical work (so he tells us). Fred prefers suspenders to hold his pants up and is very partial to red (perhaps you've noticed those bright ties). Fred is the tallest member of the Mutt and Jeff combinations (Bill Swadding and Froggie Johnson). After graduation Froggie says he is going to get a job and make some money and perhaps go to a technical school. We might also mention that Froggie is thataway about the little blonde, Pearl Smith.

Dorothy Joanne Kania, better known as Doty, was born in Rochester, Michigan on May 10, 1919. She attended the Stoney Creek School and completed the eleventh grade at Rochester high school. Last September she completed her senior year at Chassey high in Detroit but transferred to Plymouth in November. Swimming, dancing, singing, and collecting poetry are her hobbies and her favorite recreation is riding roller-coaster. Dorothy is extremely fond of "strawberry shortcake with loads of whipped cream." She has toured northern Michigan and traveled rather extensively in Canada. She has no extra curricular activities here, except that of Girl Reserves, but at Rochester high school she belonged to the Junior-Senior Girl's Club. She and Bette Rogers are pals. Dorothy hopes to attend business college and to become a secretary. Her greatest ambition however, is to fly an airplane.

Doris Betty Kelly was born on July 25, 1917 in Detroit, Michigan. Before coming to Plymouth she attended the Webster School in Detroit and in the sixth grade joined the class of '35 here. She has been a member of the Junior Drama Club and the Needlework Club. Her favorite color is blue; her favorite dish, macaroni and cheese; and her favorite study is sewing. Oliver Wendell Holmes happens to be her favorite author. When asked what she disliked she replied, "getting up in the morning to go to school." She seems to have her plans definitely made; she wants to be a clerk in the candy department of the Sears Roebuck store. A nice sweet job! Her greatest ambition, she answered in a flash, "with Kenneth and to roller skate."

Lillian Marie Kelner was born in Langdon, North Dakota on September 10, 1917. She has hazel eyes and brown hair. While in North Dakota she attended St. Alphonsus school. She is very nice to get along with because she likes everybody and she has no dislikes; here's a good chance for some young fella. Her hobbies are movie pictures, music, and reading. Lillian likes getting up in the morning for Edythe Donnelly; they're always together. Of all the foods she likes spaghetti the best and red and yellow are her favorite colors. During her high school years she has been in Library Club, Travel Club, Needlework Club and Glee Club. Lillian likes to read books by Montgomery and Temple Bailey. The book she enjoys most of all is "Contrary Mary."

CLUB SWINGERS ARE AT IT AGAIN

The Plymouth high school golf team held its first practice at Plymouth Country club, March 28. As it was windy and cold the fellows played only nine holes. Twelve boys reported for practice, six of whom played last year and four of whom are new to the golf team and are taking the place of the four who graduated last year. Harold Burley, who played first man last year, will not play this year because the semester time limit has expired for him.

Qualifying rounds were played Thursday, April 4, and the four fellows with low score will play in the first match: Lionel Coffin with an 83, Harold Williams and Melvin Michaels with an 84; Lawrence Moe next with an 85; William Statezni and Roy McAllister with 100; and William Holdsworth and George Statezni with 103. George says his favorite club is the hand masher.

The golf team last year lost its four matches and won the next eight and took fourth in the Twin Valley Athletic Association meet held at Dearborn Hills. The average for the golf team last year was 86 and the team this year has an average of 84. Melvin Michaels, Harold Williams, Lawrence Moe, and Lionel Coffin will go to Ferndale, April 16 for the first match of the year. Ferndale was not in the list of teams that Plymouth played last year. On April 19 Ecorse will play against Plymouth at Plymouth Country Club. Plymouth won two matches from Ecorse last year. H. Williams in Eng. 11A.

CLASS NOTES

The American history students have handed in their bibliographies for term papers, and those participating in the DAR contest have handed in their bibliographies. The members of Mrs. Nott's ninth grade English classes are studying the Shakespearean drama "Julius Caesar." For their recent theme work they have been writing their autobiographies.

The first year French students have subscribed to "LePetite Journal," a French newspaper published bi-monthly. The twelfth grade English literature class is studying the Victorian age which includes Tennyson, Browning, Arnold, and many other great poets.

Miss Ford's biology classes planted bean, pea and corn seeds about four weeks ago and the peas are now in blossom. The boys for the past week have been studying how plants differ from humans in food-making in so much as plants make their own food and humans can not.

The general history classes are studying the history of China, Japan and Africa. Miss Smith's ninth grade algebra students are beginning work on their graph book, which will consist of original graphs. The general history classes are making in class. Marks will be determined according to neatness, originality, and content.

Miss Waldorf's sixth hour public speaking students are studying parliamentary law. They are learning how to conduct properly a business meeting and act as chairman of an assembly. Her eighth hour public speaking students have been making campaign speeches on interesting subjects. Some are campaigning for reorganization of the dramatics department, reorganization of the school lunch hour, and some are campaigning for offices.

AD. LIB

It's too bad to have to mention Walter (Woosey) Wilcox every week but he keeps doing things that should be recorded. Last week he showed up with his fingernails smeared with bright rose nail polish. Woosey, you old peanut breaker, if you don't stop you're going to have to conduct stick with you to beat off the girls.

Poet Sessions has been at work again with a lovely little poem entitled "Spring." In last week's issue you read the first seven stanzas. As there are fourteen stanzas in all, we will print the rest of it in this issue. As we remember it, the great blizzard of '88 came in April.

STUNT NIGHT WON BY JUNIORS

Stunt Night was a great success for the juniors. Their stunt was "The Arizona Hicks" and was given in very good style of the farm life in Arizona. Although the stunt lasted longer than those of the other classes, it was not too long to be enjoyed by everyone. The Juniors also took third place in selling tickets. Second prize was awarded to the sophomore class. Their stunt was "Big Van Winkle's Dream" and probably had more preparation than the others. Although the sophomores did not take first in the stunt, they sold the most tickets. A "Nightmare" presented by the freshmen class was third in the decision of the audience. However, the freshman class took second in the selling of tickets. The Senior stunt, "A Possum Hunt," was fourth in place in the decision. The Seniors, being rather unlucky this year, also took fourth place in ticket selling.

DRAMA CLUB PRESENTS COMEDY

The Senior Drama Club presented a one-act comedy entitled "His First Dress Suit" at the junior assembly on Friday, April 5. The play was announced by Norvall Bovee and the cast was as follows: Teddy—Jean Brocklehurst, Betty—Elizabeth Whipple, Mother—Eva Scarpulla, also Johnny—Jack Selle.

A Northwest Assemblies program featuring Jane Dudley, violinist, was originally scheduled for April 5. However, Miss Dudley was injured in an automobile accident and it was necessary for her to cancel her appearance at Plymouth high school.

CENTRAL GRADE SCHOOL NOTES

Dorothy Jean Richwine is back in the kindergarten, after a visit spent in Florida. She brought a box of sea shells to her school-mates. The children have been making pictures of umbrellas and bunnies for decorations for their room. They are all enjoying the new books the PTA bought for them.

Miss DeWaele's pupils have strung their marionettes, and are now learning how to operate them. They have made kittens from pussy willows. The drawings of birds have been made by them, and they have made covers for their bird booklets. Doris Faber is marking the days of this month's calendar.

The children in Miss Frantz's room are studying birds and have already learned to recognize the robin, bluebird, meadow lark, oriole, cardinal, song sparrow, red winged blackbird, and the wren. They are keeping a weather calendar for April.

Opal Wells has left Miss Weatherhead's class and is now attending Starkweather School. The children were weighed last week by the nurse. In music all are working on their song for the operetta, and they are learning to draw letters in art class. The third graders are learning the song "The Elf and the Doormouse," and the second graders are learning "The Baby Seed Song."

New Easter posters for blackboards and windows have been made by Mrs. Eird's room. The children have organized ball teams. Harold Schultz is captain of one team and Harold Micol, captain of the other.

Mrs. Flaherty visited Miss Sly's room last week. The pupils are learning about birds. In the fourth grade a geography Miss Widmayer's pupils are studying about the North Central states. The fourth grade B's are studying lumbering. Everyone is having bird study. They are learning the poem "Bob White" and Dorothy Golen, Elizabeth Horvath and Velda Rorabacher are absent with mumps.

Richard Virgo, of Miss Hornbeck's room stood the longest of the fifth grade B's in that room. He was the eleventh to go down in it. In the spelling contest, Steve Dely, of Mrs. Ulrich's room was the last in all the grade participating. Robert Kirkpatrick, Nancy Larson, George Chute, and Ed McConnell are back in Mrs. Ulrich's room after long illnesses.

Miss Detwiler's students have made Easter rabbits for a blackboard decoration. The boys have started their baseball practice. The sixth grade A's have painted illustrations of Robin Hood. Betty Schepelle and Ardith Rowland, both of Mrs. Holliday's room, were winner and runner-up in the recent spelling contest. The students are studying about the Civil War in history.

H.I.Y. ENJOYS MUCH HOKUM

Messrs Ross and Liebor are not the sole contenders for honors in the respective field of conjuring for at the last meeting Professor Elliot and his able medium Swami Swegles, presented several stupendous feats of thought transmission. By means of mysterious symbols and uncannyappings these astonishing experts of mental telepathy were able to name objects selected while the performers were absent from the room. Unlike most members of their profession this team of prestidigitators employed a system of constant repetition which enabled the spell bound audience to gradually understand the mysterious workings of the act.

The second Freshman Dance will be given tonight at eight o'clock. The music will be furnished by the Four Barons, who were a great success at the First Freshman dance last year.

CAVELL PICTURES SHOWN TO G. R.'S

The Intermediate, Junior, and Senior Girl Reserves had the privilege of seeing moving pictures of Camp Cavell at their meeting of Wednesday, April 3. The pictures were shown by Miss Fraser and Miss Gunthrop of the Detroit Y.W.C.A. at a joint meeting held in the high school auditorium. Camp Cavell is situated on Lake Huron ninety miles from Detroit. It is sponsored by the Detroit Y.W.C.A. and attended by Girl Reserves from the various schools throughout the metropolitan area. The moving pictures gave the group some idea of the picturesque setting of Camp Cavell with its marvelous beach and its rustic cabins and lodges. Among the fascinating activities portrayed were swimming, tennis, riding, archery, basketball, and many types of handicraft. Joan Cassidy and Dorothy Metzger represented the Plymouth group at Camp Cavell last year. Several girls from Plymouth will probably be sent to Camp Cavell this summer.

DEBATERS GIVEN GOLD MEDALS
Katherine Schultz, Tom Brock, and Jack Sessions, the three Plymouth debaters participating in the elimination series for the debate championship of Michigan high school have received gold medals from the Detroit Free Press, sponsoring the contest. Similar awards have been presented to the debaters of other schools taking part in the elimination.

This is the second year in which the Free Press has presented medals, the Plymouth team of last season having received them. Jack Sessions is the only member of the team to have both awards.

TRIPPING AMONG THE DAFFODILS

Hello my good friends and Wilcox. We will now go into a coma and tell you the week's gossip. For some reason or other Bill Petz's streamline Model T has been left out of the headlines.

But now he was seen driving two of the teachers home in it. They were holding their hats on. Many new concoctions have been started at the local Sweet Shop. Two of the most common are the root-beer with eight trays and the gin-von-cholcrehm, the last one being started by Jean Brocklehurst.

A few new romances have been started and should be mentioned. The first one is Barbara Nutting and Dick Innis. Another great athletic man is in love. The other one is Phyllis Dickerson vs. Norman Kincade. The old triangle enters in because Phyllis likes Clyde Earnest quite well. Quotations by Mr. Evans in chemistry class: "I want you to test all these unknown solutions to find out what they are. When you get all through and can't distinguish their properties, they must be water after all." "Not much disappointment," sighed the class.

GIRL SCOUTS ATTEND U. OF M. CONCERT

All the girls thoroughly enjoyed the University of Michigan Band Concert which they attended, Wednesday night, April 3, at Hill Auditorium. Wednesday, April 10 they went on a hike during which they practiced fire building, trail signs, nature and cooking. Ingrid Ericsson has been awarded her second stripe by patrol leader Marion Kleinschmidt.
