

Interest Grows In Play Program For Boys, Girls

Nearly 1200 Youngsters Take Part in the Various Events

During the third week of the summer recreation program, 1190 children attended the playground. Two baseball leagues were started with four teams each. One league, called the biggies, is made up of boys under twelve years of age; the other league, called the juniors, is made up of boys from twelve to fifteen years of age. Each team has selected a name for itself and all games played are very spirited.

A jackstone tournament was held for girls last week and the winner was Phoebe MacCandlish. The mumble-peg tournament started for boys and has been followed with considerable interest. Many of the boys had to rub their noses in the ground trying to pull the peg with their teeth which is the penalty for losing the game. The horseshoe tournament also got under way last week.

The handicraft work for the week consisted of whittling and a few good letter openers were made. Five checker boards were completed and found many eager users during the hot days. A big water tournament is expected in the near future.

The basketball baskets were put up on the ground during the week and many eager boys and girls found enjoyment in shooting the ball through the hoop. Later on teams will be organized for regular basketball games.

The showers in the school building again proved very popular. Street showers are now ready and will be given in different parts of the city. Children should put on their cleanest and oldest clothes and join in this fun.

The program for the week of July 29 to Aug. 2 calls for a scooter tournament, volleyball for girls, ball hop-scotch, track and field work, basketball and clay molding.

All adult men interested in a city championship horseshoe tournament are requested to register with Mr. Matheson, the playground director, at the high school playground. Such a tournament should be a considerable amount of interest.

The nets on the tennis courts are up from 9:00 a. m. to 8:30 p. m. After the Plymouth district tournament of the Detroit News tournament is played off, there will be a mixed doubles tournament. All interested in such a tournament should register with the playground director.

Colored Singers Here Monday Eve

A rare treat in close harmony will be afforded the residents of this community on Monday evening, July 29th, when four gentlemen from the College of the Sacred Heart at Piney Woods, Mississippi, will appear at the Lutheran Church in a concert of both sacred and secular numbers. A great many numbers on the program are Negro spirituals, sung by negroes themselves. Some of Stephen Foster's inimitable plantation melodies will be sung. And the hymns of the church will be rendered as the chief feature of the evening. An unusual feature is the assurance by the concert agent that, upon request, these gentlemen can also do a few German numbers.

The concert will begin at 8:15 and will be held in the Church Parlors of the Lutheran Church. No definite admission fees will be asked. An offering from the audience is all that is requested. The proceeds flow into the treasury of the school, after a portion has been deducted for expenses and for the next year's schooling of the members of the quartette.

The Lutheran Church is conducting an extensive mission enterprise in the Dark Belt of our South. The school at Piney Woods is one of the number of preparatory schools and colleges and seminaries that are being conducted for the colored man to afford him a Christian education and also to prepare him for service in the Ministry of the Word among his brethren. The Mission has grown despite the depression and is a most beloved matter of personal interest to the colored folk down south, as is clearly seen by the unusual sacrifices which they regularly have made for their church.

The group will leave the Methodist church at six o'clock in the morning and return in the afternoon. Come prepared for lots of fun and plenty of sun burn. There is very good swimming and plenty of room for games.

Delinquent Tax List Prepared

The city treasurer's office is engaged in the preparation of notices to delinquent taxpayers which will show the amount of delinquent taxes on record in the city treasurer's office.

As previously described in The Plymouth Mail, arrangements have been made whereby delinquent taxes may be paid at the city treasurer's office.

A tax history of each parcel of land in the city on which taxes are due is being prepared in the process of being prepared and within the next few days this record will be complete so that anyone can obtain the amount of delinquent taxes against their property by calling at the city treasurer's office.

As soon as this record has been completed the city treasurer will mail out a statement showing all of the delinquent taxes and telling of the advantages which can be had in paying the taxes before the penalties are attached. The taxes of 1932 and prior years can be paid on or before Aug. 31 without penalty or collection fee. The 1933 and 1934 delinquent taxes can be paid prior to November 1 without penalty but with the collection fee. The exceptions to the special assessment taxes which are delinquent and which carry the regular interest rate.

As soon as the delinquent tax notices are mailed out, the city treasurer expects that a considerable number of local taxpayers will take advantage of the tax paying plan and make first installment payments at the city treasurer's office. Anyone desiring information relative to their delinquent taxes may obtain the same from the city treasurer.

Club Provides Fun For Children

Nearly half a hundred Plymouth boys and girls last Thursday enjoyed the hospitality of the Northville Exchange club on the annual "Sunshine" excursion conducted by the club to Edgewater park. The little boys and girls of Plymouth were invited to take part by Roy Crowe, who is president of the Northville Exchange club at the present time. In addition to the local boys and girls, there were several hundred from the William H. Maybury Sanitarium, the Training school and Northville. It is for them the day of fun is planned each year.

The Plymouth boys and girls met at the city hall and were taken by automobile to Redford where they joined with the youngsters from Northville, Farmington, Redford and elsewhere.

There under police escort, they formed a parade and were taken to Edgewater park, where the Northville Exchange club had arranged a happy day for the youngsters.

All of the rides were free—and would you believe it, even the ice cream, pop corn, waffles and orangeade was provided free of charge.

It was a great day for the hundreds of boys and girls—and it was a great day for the Northville Exchange club and the other Exchangees that aided in making the "Sunshine" special such a success.

Girl Scouts Spend Day at Lakes

Members of Plymouth Girl Scout troop No. 2 a few days ago enjoyed a delightful visit to Gershom lake, where they spent the entire day in hiking and swimming. Transportation was provided by Mr. and Mrs. Patrick, Charles and Barbara Zietel, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick took their children with them and the Mathias son accompanied his parents, Dean Vanlandingham and Chas. Bulson of Plymouth Scout Troop No. 3, also accompanied the party. The girls expect to return to the lake sometime next month.

Govt. Insurance To Be Provided To Savings Assn.

Notice Received of Plan To Protect Local Investors

At the meeting of the board of directors of the Plymouth Savings and Loan Association, held Tuesday night of this week, the plan was presented to organize a new Federal Savings and Loan Association in Plymouth, which plan will include all present shareholders in the local Plymouth Savings and Loan Association receiving insurance on 100 per cent of their investment in the present association.

The local building and loan association was organized by local citizens in 1919 and has been successfully operating in this locality continuously since that time.

During the fifteen years this association has operated in Plymouth, it has financed or assisted in financing over one out of every ten homes in the City of Plymouth.

The plan contemplates securing unlimited funds for mortgages and government insurance for all investors in the local association.

Find Good Fishing Up On The Algoma

Dr. and Mrs. Paul Butz and son have returned from their second annual fishing trip way up in Canada on the Algoma Central railroad. Access to the lakes where this family of anglers goes there year is only by train, as there are no automobile roads cut through to that part of the country.

"We never had better fishing and we never had better luck. We tried to catch and we caught walleyes. But the sad part of it is that we returned home without spoons or other artificial bait. Unless you are prepared to get the big ones, they are just going to keep your bait, that's all there is to it," said Dr. Butz.

The section of Ontario where they go fishing is some 150 miles directly north of the Canadian Soo.

Choir Provides Radio Programs

To the people who had their radios tuned in on WWJ Tuesday morning came the good fortune of hearing a number of pleasing musical numbers given by the Presbyterian church choir of Plymouth. Not only did the broadcasting station carry the music of the choir to hundreds of thousands of people, but Rev. Walter Nichol gave a brief inspirational talk that was as clear and distinct as any spoken words that ever came over the radio.

One familiar with Rev. Nichol would readily recognize his voice. The brief program provided by the Presbyterian church was as good a one as ever came over any Detroit radio station.

Heat Is Cause Of Much Suffering

Not for many years has Plymouth and vicinity suffered from such a tremendous heat as has prevailed during the past ten days. It has not been the fact that the mercury has hung around the 90 to 100 mark in the thermometers so much as it has been the humidity that has prevailed almost day and night.

Plymouth doctors say there is not much local illness as a result of the heat, but the discomfort is being frightful.

Farmers say they do not recall a time when crops look better than they do at this time. There is a tremendous yield of berries. Corn and potatoes are growing to exceptional size. The damp weather has interfered somewhat with the grain harvest, but no damage has been suffered except to some oat fields where heavy rains and winds have knocked down much of the grain.

Over Hundred At Giegler Re-union

The 10th annual Giegler Reunion was held last Sunday, July 21st at Merrill's woods, New Boston, Mich. About 100 attended, there being a basket lunch at noon. After lunch a business meeting took place, and several interesting talks were made by people of this state, also California and Florida.

Several kinds of games were played, the men's ball game was won by single men and the ladies ball game won by the single women. Ice cream was served after the games. At 7 p. m. all departed for home. A good time was reported by all. The next Giegler Reunion will be held at Perry Giegler's home at St. Johns, Mich.

Attendants At Gas Station Put Fire Out

When the ignition of an automobile driven by a Detroit colored resident caught fire as it stopped at the Shell Gas station on Mill street Thursday morning, employees at the gas station quickly extinguished the flames. The fire department was called, but the attendants at the station by their quick work put the fire out before damage was done to the car, except the burning of some grease-soaked insulation, and before the department arrived. After minor repairs the car continued on its way to Detroit.

Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Hubert of Detroit were calling on Plymouth friends Tuesday evening.

Rabies Epidemic Becomes Serious In This Section

Six Cases Reported To Health Officer In Past Few Days

According to Dr. A. E. Patterson, the city of Plymouth Health Officer, six cases of dog biting have been reported to him within the past few days. Four of these were in Plymouth city and Plymouth township and two in Canton township.

Another suspected case of rabies has been reported as the result of a bite by a pet cat. The bite of a cat is as dangerous as that of a dog, as cats are also subject to rabies and anyone being bitten by a cat should immediately consult their family physician to determine whether or not it is advisable to take the Pasteur treatments.

"I want to issue a special warning to all residents in this vicinity to be extremely cautious in the handling of pet animals as there is a considerable amount of rabies prevalent among the animals," stated Dr. Patterson today. "I have heard in favor of the dog quarantine which has been established by the State Department of Agriculture and am cooperating with the Police Department in seeing that this quarantine is fully carried out," stated Dr. Patterson.

The Police Department is picking up dogs found running at large on the streets and impounding them at the City dog pound. In case a dog is missing for any length of time, it is advisable to call the Police Department to ascertain whether or not the dog has been impounded. According to the dog ordinance, no dogs are permitted to be running at large and are not to be taken off the owner's premises unless held on a leash. In case the dog is impounded, whether or not it has a license, the regular pound fee of $1.00 is charged before the dog is released. In case the dog is not called for within twenty-four hours after being impounded, the same will either be sold at public auction or destroyed by the police department.

Huckleberry Crop To Be Record Breaker

Huckleberries are getting ripe and as a result there are dozens and dozens of Plymouth men and women who enjoy gathering them, visiting nearby marshes nearly every day. Those who have been to some of the marshes say the berries are of exceptionally large size and that the bushes are loaded. It will be a week or ten days before the northern crop is in full bearing, but those who have been up around Houghton lake say that there is going to be the biggest crop of huckleberries that part of the country has ever had.

While working in a hay field over on the Seven mile road just west of Northville the other day, Walter Wittrick caught a young hawk that had apparently flown from its nest in the nearby woods and was unable to fly off the ground again. It was uninjured, but when the young worker started to pick it up, the hawk displayed plenty of fight. He finally placed it in a box and took it down to the Detroit zoo. The young hawk had a wing spread of nearly three feet.

Fishermen Are Back From Northern Canada

Warren Lombard, James T. LeBrun of Plymouth and Paul W. Smith of Bay City have returned from a most successful fishing trip to the northern part of Ontario. The three spent more than a week among some of the best trout fishing lakes north and south of the Canadian Soo and they brought home with them plenty of evidence of the good luck that they experienced. They fished in Ranger lake, Saynon lake, visited Slate Falls and many other places that are familiar to only the fishermen and travelers who like to go to out-of-the-way places.

Complete Work At Newburg Plant

Nearly all of the outside work at the new Ford factory at Newburg will be completed by Saturday of this week. While there is some work that cannot be done until later, workmen this week have finished the driveway on the west side of the building and the refuse that was dumped into the lake during the construction has been removed to prevent any possible check of the flow of water into the power plant. It is not expected that the plant will be in capacity operation for sometime, however it is expected that production work will be started as soon as the vacation period is over.

Army Worms Now Threaten Crops

Farmers and fruit growers in a small region one mile north of the Geddes road, southwest of Plymouth, are faced with crop losses and neighboring farmers are watching with alarm their fields. The worms, which have been discovered, are the army worm, the caterpillar of a dull brown nocturnal moth, has infested land owned by Emery Dell, Jay Harger, and Dr. C. Emerson Vreeland this week, and a stubborn fight is being waged to check the march of the crawling caterpillars.

The worms were discovered first by Mr. Dell in his young orchard Monday afternoon. He noticed the ground practically black with the moving worms and notified his neighbors. Worms were found on Mr. Harger's and Dr. Vreeland's land, which is being rented by Walter Hiscock.

Mr. Dell and Mr. Harger took immediate steps to check the march of the worms and after a two day battle appear to have them checked for the time being but the threat is considered serious.

Mr. Dell and Mr. Harger, who also has a large orchard, have made deep furrows and planted orchards and have dug pits to serve as barriers for the worms, while both of the orchard owners have sprayed their trees and bushes in addition to applying a poisonous mixture at the bottom of the trees.

The worms have infested two alfalfa fields owned by Dr. Vreeland but no steps have yet been taken to destroy them.

The worm takes the name from a new of marching from field to field in a host. They move slowly but in great herds and in the case north of here, appeared to advance from the southeast. They range from three-eighths of an inch to about an inch and one-half long. They are marked with green, black and yellow stripes.

Instances are not uncommon of fields of grain and of orchards being destroyed by army worms, but birds and parasites ordinarily prevent their becoming a dangerous pest. They live chiefly on green vegetation.

The worms appear to be a menace this year with crops abundant and have been reported in other states near here, while several farmers have lost crops near Monroe, it is reported.

Ready To Start P. O. Foundation

Excavation for the basement of the postoffice building was completed last Saturday and workmen during the present week have been busy preparing for the building of the foundation.

One can gain some idea as to the size of the new building from the excavation that has been made for the basement.

Concrete pouring will be started Monday or Tuesday it is believed. It is possible that some of the bases may be ready for filling before that time but it is doubtful.

Workmen have completed the sodding of the banks at the Phoenix grade separation. The grass has already turned a good green as the result of the rains. The improvement is one of the best in the entire park system.

Settlement Of Taxes Continues Above Last Year

Better Business Condition Here Reflected In Payments

For the third successive week the city tax collection has been above the same week of last year. For the week ending July 22 a total of 24.6 per cent of the city taxes had been paid. For the same period last year only 15.8 per cent were paid. This is an increase of 9 per cent over last year. There is no better index of improved business conditions than tax settlements. While it has been generally known for sometime that Plymouth is in a much better condition than many other places, the payment of taxes provides the proof. According to statistics received from other cities in the State, it appears that this same condition is being experienced in most other cities.

Plymouth has been one of the foremost cities in the state as far as tax collections are concerned. It appears from the record being established this year that the increase in tax collections will be such that a greater amount of taxes will be received than was originally anticipated by the city commission. If this is the case, the city of Plymouth can consider itself free from the depression of the depth of the depression.

Even though the tax collections do increase this year, it is the policy of the city administration to continue the same policies of economy in order that the low tax rates can be continued for several more years. The city commission has put forth every effort to operate the city on the lowest possible budget in order to keep the taxes within the reach of the local taxpayers.

The only way to look about them in the neighboring communities to find tax rates 70 to 80 per cent higher than the Plymouth rate. In some of the metropolitan municipalities the tax rates run as high as $20.00 per $100.00 of assessed value. The rate is $12.00 per thousand, which rate is small considering the fact that valuations have been decreased about 40 per cent during the last four years and delinquency has run better than 25 per cent.

Only Issue Of Political Parties These Days is Patronage

The recent "grass roots" conference in Cleveland furnishes an illustration of indifference in another field—politics. At one time National party politics meant dignified but definite difference of opinion on matters of public concern. Today patronage is the party. An analysis of the last, or next state convention for that matter, of the two major parties, would reveal that 85% of the delegates were or are interested directly or indirectly in political payoffs or political profit. Such issues as taxation, international peace, etc., are just a side line with politicians and in a general way this explains the sensational development of the share-the-wealth theories of government in this country in the last decade. The Townsend plan, for example, if put in shape to permit an expression from the people, would sweep the country. Capitalism has accepted the old age pension as a temporary stop gap plan. The patronage build-up is today's government in state and nation. A few attractive issues will be painted on the 1936 campaign curtains but back of the curtain the actors, in both major performances will be rehearsing the same lines—who gets the jobs? All else is ballyhoo. Muri DeFoe in the Charlotte Republican—Trifune.

FAILURES

The report comes from the village of Birmingham that the officials of that rich little community are going to spend some few thousand dollars of the taxpayers' money to find out if the spending of a million or more of taxpayers' money in some electric lighting venture will not bring to an end the financial distress of the community. It seems that the public officials have made a failure in running the financial affairs of Birmingham, that is with all the wealth of the place, these officials have not been able to extract enough money from the pockets of the taxpayers to keep the affairs of the village going as they think they should. They have permitted the operating expenses of the village to become greater than the ability of the taxpayers to pay. Or else the taxpayers haven't paid because like in some other communities they figured that the local government was not worth the money they were asked to provide to support it. People are not inclined to pay for something that looks like a dead horse. Putting it bluntly, that is probably what has happened in Birmingham as well as hundreds of other places.

When the income of a private business begins to drop below expenditures, the usual practice of the man at the head of that business is to cut his expenses to meet his income. He knows that if he does not, that the business is doomed to failure. If the officials at the head of a business are paid employees they know that if the business fails that they are out of jobs too, so ordinarily they cut expenses and figure every way they can to keep the concern going.

But not so with public affairs. Officials keep on piling debts on top of debts, no matter how much tax revenues drop off.

They vote themselves salary raises instead of cutting their pay as do men in private business when revenues begin to slip. Their expense accounts jump higher and higher and they seem to hunt for some pretext to spend money.

So when some crazy scheme is hatched for the spending of more of the taxpayers' money and the adding of a million or two to the debt of the community in order to create more jobs and more debts, why shouldn't the man who is expected to pay the bill look upon the project with doubt and suspicion.

The Birmingham public officials acknowledge their failure in running the affairs of the community within the income at their command.

They plan because of this failure to ask the property owners of that village to add another million or so of debts so that a power plant can be erected. If, as they admit, they have been unable to operate the city with all the funds at their command from various municipal revenues, what right have they to tell the taxpayers of that community that by the addition of another million or so of debts to the real estate owners of the community, that they can operate the affairs any more successfully than they have in the past?

Maybe Birmingham needs a good housecleaning, with a lot of public salaries and public expenses cut right in two, with a lot of useless jobs abolished, and legal fees and expense accounts cut off in order to bring municipal expenses down to a point where the taxpayers can and are willing to support the local government.

Our recommendation is that something like this be tried first and if that fails then maybe the creation of another debt of a million or two for the taxpayers to pay, might be experimented with.

PICARD FOR GOVERNOR

There is this to be said about the proposal that the Michigan Democrats nominate Frank A. Picard for the governorship:

Picard is honest, fearless, vigorous, a first class campaigner, loyal, hard-working and far above the common kind of political scheming and trickery.

If the Democrats do nominate him they present a nominee in whom every voter can have confidence.—The Detroit News.

The Plymouth Mail agrees with all that the News has to say about Mr. Picard, but Mr. Picard will not be the Democratic candidate for governor. The Democratic politicians will see to it that some one of an entirely different brand is nominated.

FAKED TELEGRAMS

There is much ado in Washington over alleged faked telegrams sent to members of congress pertaining to the utilities bill that has been under consideration. If we remember correctly there was a real flood of fake telegrams sent to members of the Michigan legislature some two years ago when an effort was being made to force the robber-interest rates of finance outfits down to within reason. In fact some of these faked telegrams were sent from Plymouth—and so far nobody has gone to jail for it as far as any one knows.

Today's Problem

In these days, with distress and poverty on every hand, with a national debt some eight billions more than it ever was before at its highest peak, I am not going to vote to create any useless jobs to add to the groans of the taxpayers. Instead of swelling the interminable salary list of those who live off the government, Congress ought to devote its thought to cutting down the personnel of half of the government establishments. We have reached the ridiculous situation in this country where it seems that literally millions of people are spending all their time trying to devise a way to get on the government pay rolls, in direct contradiction to the true philosophy which holds that it is the duty of the people to support the government and the function of the government to support the citizens. That government is best which rests most lightly on the people, and the way to make the government rest lightly on the people is to refrain from creating unnecessary jobs, dismiss about one-fourth of those now on the public pay rolls, and cease spending money of the taxpayers in sums that stagger imagination.—Congressman L. Ludlow.

The Daisy ball club will play the Tonquish boys at Athletic Park Saturday afternoon at 2:30. There will be lots of fun and also some good ball playing.

Several new cottages have just been finished at Waiked Lake making over 40 now clustered around that pretty resort. A grocery store has started business in the resort colony.

There was a large crowd out last Saturday evening to listen to the band concert in the park, and it will be so every evening the band plays. There were many farmers who came in and we hope that every farmer for several miles around will make it a point next Saturday evening to come to town for a little social enjoyment. Get your chores done early, bring your family and hear the band play.

The dwelling occupied by John Gustin on Lovers Lane was destroyed by fire about one o'clock yesterday morning. But situated some distance from a fire hydrant only one hose could be used so that it was some time before water could be turned on. And at that it is said Gustin did not give the alarm to the neighbors until he had removed most of the household goods. Just how the first started no one seems to know.

Invitations are out for the marriage of Miss Satie Spicer to Norval Welch Ayers of Ypsilanti, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Spicer, on Wednesday evening, July 27. On Monday afternoon and evening of this week, Mrs. Wm. H. Wakely and Mrs. Fannie Spicer Judson, sisters of the bride, gave a reception in her honor at the home of Mrs. Judson in Detroit. Mrs. E. A. ### Rambling Around With Michigan Editors

THE POLITICAL SNAILS

The continued political agitation to confiscate capital under the guise of redistribution of wealth and income, to increase taxes to the breaking point, to compete with private enterprise with government business undertakings in many lines of endeavor, and to destroy holding companies and the savings of millions of helpless investors, is bearing fruit—it is discouraging, if not actually preventing normal business recovery.

Unemployment continues at a peak figure according to official reports, and the number of families on relief rolls is at a record point. How long before the great mass of American citizens will realize that their livings, their jobs and their savings come only from industrial activity, individual opportunity and private enterprise, remains to be seen.

Political doles, political jobs, political control of business and the individual, results in wholesale public charity, destruction of opportunity, exorbitant taxation.

Politics produces no wealth. Instead it absorbs the stored savings of centuries, just as a snail absorbs the leaf of the plant it finally destroys.—Floyd McGriff in The Redford Record.

THE WOMAN HATER!

The Dickinson case in Detroit only shows the care which a man must use when out of his own bailwick. The feminine sex is always protected in court and can go to almost any length and leave her victim (in most cases) a sadder and wiser individual. Many states have done a very wise thing when they enacted the heart balm law which prevents the gold digging which has been such a stench for so long a time. Now, that women are in every line of business and ask equal and even conditions with men, all our old fashioned, time honored, so-called "protection" laws, should be stricken from the books. They are not used for protection at all any more. The feminine sex does not ask for any protection, and she does not seem to want it. These are all used almost exclusively by members of the underworld to work out their blackmail and other gold digging projects. So long as laws protect the shyster lawyer in such pursuits, just so long the underworld will profit and the legal profession will suffer by this feater on their professional calling!—Frank Bryce in The Grand Ledge Independent.

ONE GOOD LAW PASSED BY 'EM

At least one good law was passed by the legislature that recently adjourned. It is the one which requires the state to pay the high school tuition of rural students, instead of their own districts.—Joe Haas in The Holly Herald.

JUST THE SAME

Well, folks, don't you think the wet gang are having as much trouble to keep their baby from crying out loud as we had when prohibition was trying to kick itself out of the harness? Looks a lot like it.—J. E. McMullen in The Linden Leader.

A GREAT IDEA

A local banker says he would like to run a country newspaper for a week. And think what an editor could do with a bank in one day.—George Neal in The Orion Review.

Familiar Sights for Old Timers

MEMBERS of the Battle Creek Three-Quarters of a Century club, each of whom is over seventy-five years of age, revived familiar scenes of their youth when they made a pilgrimage to Henry Ford's old-time Greenfield village. Such things as a tin-type shop, hansom cabs and other historic sights carried the old folks back 50 years. These women were delighted to find a replica of the old-time general store, and enjoyed a shopping tour.

Northville Fair Official Here

Floyd Northrop, secretary of the Northville-Wayne County Fair association, has been in Plymouth during the past two or three days making arrangements for Plymouth's part in the fair to be held August 21, 22, 23 and 24 in Northville.

Automobile tickets have been left with nearly all of the local merchants and they are to be given away with purchases of 50 cents or more.

Mr. Northrop states that he believes there is more interest in the fair this year than there has been in years.

"We know that there is going to be bigger and better exhibits than ever before for which we must thank the weatherman. In fact inquiry pertaining to entries gives us reason to believe that there will be the greatest number of displays we have ever had," he said.

As to the attractions we believe we have booked the best the market offers. There is plenty of variety so every one can enjoy them. The horse show and the races will be up to the usual standard," he said.

Plymouth day has been fixed for Thursday, August 22.

Wading Pools To Be Built In Park

In addition to a major program submitted to the PWA and WPA we have added a few minor items as possible PWA projects and have formally made applications for their construction," stated Road Commissioner, Edward N. Hines, today.

These include five wading pools to be located in the various county parks, costing approximately $29,500.00. The County's share will be approximately $11,500.00 for materials, use of equipment and skilled labor.

Also a request for $27,000.00 for general improvement and accessories to be added to our county park system, such as sand boxes, brushing out, constructing trails and bridle paths and general conditioning. This work comes under the scope of the WPA and will require an additional appropriation from our own funds of about $4,500.00 stated Mr. Hines.

Re-roofing and re-laying (the roof of the hangar at the County Airport to cost about $5,400.00 of which amount we will have to contribute about $2,400.00 in order to come under the rules and regulations of the WPA.

We are hopeful that quick approval of these necessary projects may be obtained.

Pay Schedules Not To Be High

From $12 to about $15 per week is the rate of pay that the government has fixed for laborers to be employed on the next federal aid program according to information received in Plymouth.

The pay of unskilled labor will vary from 32 cents per hour to 45 cents per hour. Skilled labor will be paid from 45 cents per hour to 68 cents per hour.

But no one can have more than 130 hours of labor per month. That means that the average man employed on these jobs will be paid something like $60 to $70 per month if he is able to get "full" time employment under the program.

However this regulation does not apply to those who will have charge of the work. Their pay will vary in accordance with the kind of position given. The re-employment division is said to be working night and day in Detroit on the details of the program to be carried out.

Badly Hurt When Truck Hits Tree

Charles Frost of Dearborn, a driver for one of the Ford Motor company's water trucks, was critically injured late Tuesday afternoon when his truck left the road on the Ann Arbor Trail east of Newburg and crashed into a tree.

In the crash, his chest was crushed in and he was otherwise injured internally. He was rushed to Plymouth hospital where Dr. Harold Brisbois gave him emergency treatment and later in the day he was taken to Ford hospital in Detroit. Apparently he struck a rough spot in the highway and he lost the grip on his speeding machine, causing it to leave the road and crash into the tree. There is no other explanation of the cause of the accident.

Don't worry about the next generation being weak—think of the big bond issues they'll have to pay off.

Redford Meets Defeat Sunday

Off to an early start with five runs in the first two innings, Plymouth defeated Redford, 10 to 2, last Sunday at Plymouth-Riverside Park.

Plymouth rolled up ten hits, two triples, three doubles and five singles, off the offerings of Paul Derette and John Gibson. Bery Smith and Robert Blundell accounted for six of Plymouth's hits, each getting three.

George Bowers and Harold Pankow divided the mound duty and both proved very effective allowing Redford eight scattered hits.

Redford's left fielder, Jim Kelley, was the fielding star of the day, making several outstanding catches that were booked for extra base hits.

One error was charged to the Schrader-Haggerty's while Redford committed five misplays.

Plymouth will meet the Knights of Dearborn Saturday, July 27th, at Plymouth-Riverside Park, starting at 3:30 p.m.

On Sunday, July 28th at Cass Benton Park, Ditzler Color will oppose Plymouth. Ditzler Color is a member of the Detroit Industrial League. The contest is scheduled for 3:30 p.m.

Daisyites Give Wilson's a Scare

The largest crowd of the week turned out to see Daisy and Wilson tangle. Daisy started out with a bang, scoring four runs in the first inning and two in the second. Wilson Edge, put one run across in the first but Joe Rigola limited the Wilson sluggers to 2 hits up to the ninth inning. In the ninth the Wilson Hardware power broke loose and showed why they are leading the league. They scored five runs off of Rigola and Rorabacher to tie the score at 6. Vaughn Smith singled in the eleventh inning to score Pete Penney with the winning run.

Red and White pounded Winkler of Hi-Speed for 13 hits and 10 runs during the five innings he pitched. Lee took up the pitching in the sixth and limited the store boys to 3 hits and 3 runs. D. Gates hit a home run in the ninth inning. Final score, 13 to 1.

Frigidaire and Schraders played one of the best games of the year. Frigidaire won by the score of 4-2. In the fourth inning Alfred Gates a new member of Frigidaire smashed a hit that started out like a home run, but Merie Weir, center fielder, running at top speed with his back to the ball, jumped and made a bare one handed catch.

Wilson with Gilder pitching 4 hit ball romped to an easy win over the second place K. of P. team, 12-6. Dietle, the hard hitting third baseman of Wilson, batting each got as many hits as the entire K. of P. team.

The K. of P. vs. Mail game was rained out. It will be played Monday, July 29th.

Part of St. Clair Is Duck Refuge

Michigan has a new 14,000 acre refuge for wild waterfowl. Final arrangements for the creation at Lake St. Clair of the largest waterfowl refuge in the state received favorable action by the state conservation commission at its July meeting.

The refuge consists of three units, so arranged as to leave adequate areas of water on the lake open to public hunting, while providing much-needed protection to ducks, geese, brant, and other species of migratory waterfowl.

Under commission action all three units will be closed to hunting and trapping during any open season on waterfowl established for 1955 by the United States Bureau of Biological Survey.

The units consist of 7,000 acres, 8,500 acres and 600 acres, respectively. Their boundaries as well as the necessary channels for traffic through them are to be marked by buoys. Boats carrying guns during open hunting season can traverse the refuge only by the established boat lanes. Anglers in boats, however, will be permitted on the refuge units at all times, provided that no guns are carried.

Much interest has been evidenced by the United States Biological Survey in the establishment of the refuge due to the diminishing number of ducks and geese and the wide-spread demand for regulatory measures to safeguard the supply.

The Biological Survey has announced its intention of cooperating in the enforcement of refuge regulations and already has stationed a patrol boat at Lake St. Clair. A federal headquarters is to be established adjacent to the refuge.

Rotarians Will Hear of Mexico

What promises to be one of the most delightful affairs since the organization of the Plymouth Rotary club is scheduled for this Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bennett on Main street. Mr. Bennett, a former president of Rotary, was the official delegate of the club to the international convention recently held in Mexico City. He was accompanied to the nearby Republic by Mrs. Bennett and Miss Pauline Peck.

It is the usual practice of the club to hear a detailed report of these meetings by the representative of the club attending.

For this report Mr. Bennett has arranged something entirely different and unique. The ladies of Rotary have been invited and Mrs. Bennett has made it quite clear that he would like to have the affair one of those one hundred per cent meetings. He has suggested that those who do not attend might regret the fact. It is known that the event is to be a colorful Mexican affair.

Mrs. A. I. Brink, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Harold Sage, and family at Louisville, Kentucky, returned to Plymouth Saturday and on Sunday was accompanied to her home at St. Charles by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gayde and H. A. Sage, who remained there for the day.

Shuffle Boards Prove Popular

The great game of shuffle board is being popularized in Wayne county so as to furnish potential Michigan champions with an opportunity to keep themselves in trim for next winter's St. Petersburg, Florida tournaments, stated County Park Trustee Edward N. Hines, today.

Four shuffle board courts have been constructed; two of which are located at the Athletic Field in the Middle Rouge Parkway just north of Cass Benton Park and the other two are located just south of the tennis courts in Plymouth-Riverside Park. These courts were ready for play July 4th and since that time have been almost constantly in use. Additional courts are planned.

Four concrete tennis courts have been added to the recreational facilities at the Northville Athletic Field and four additional courts have been built in Plymouth-Riverside Park, stated Mr. Hines.

Mayor of Garden City Sues Club

Suit has been started by Arnold F. Folker, mayor of Garden City, and by the Folker Company of which he is president, against the Garden City Square Deal Club and ten of its most conspicuous members charging conspiracy on the part of those named to put the Folker Company and Folker out of business. Damages of $150,000 are asked.

Coincident with the institution of the suit a restraining order was issued by Judge Guy A. Miller ordering the defendants named in the bill of complaint, not to molest, threaten, libel, interfere, etc., with the business of the Folker Company. A hearing on the restraining order will be held August 1.

Including the Square Deal Club eleven defendants are named in the suit. Others are Thomas P. Ross, Francis L. McManus, Harold Doner, Charles Tarte, Edward J. Miles, Jenie L. Rice, Hyman A. Vogel, Joseph E. Higgins, Glenn F. Penrod and Albert Reame.

The bill of complaint alleges that the Square Deal Club was organized specifically for the purpose of putting the Folker Company and Folker out of business. Particular instances are brought out in which the alleged conspiracy resulted in injury to the plaintiffs, the Folker Company and Folker. The outstanding charge is that the defendants conspired and blocked the sale of 30 lots and the erection of 25 homes on them. The charge in this instance as in other instances, is borne out by affidavits in which various defendants are quoted as saying that they were interested in putting the Folker Company out of business and ridding the community of Folker among other things.

The suit was started by Tinkham & Snyder, Wayne attorneys, who are acting as counsel for Folker and the Folker Company.

The profit system hasn't passed as long as they can sell a 5-cent cushion for two bits at a football game.

The De-Ho-Co News Brieft and Gossip

COTTAGE "B"
Let the poets rave on about dandelions and spring and lovely gardens. We will too, but in a different way and here are some of the reasons why. "Gussie take this knife and go out in the backyard and see how many dandelions you can dig up."

Yes, Mrs. Kitson, how about saving some of the seeds for next year." Gussie won't be here but she wants to be sure that those who will be will have dandelion greens (to dig up).

Then comes the gardens. Every available space and hoe must have a garden on the end of it, but if you were to ask Mrs. Kitson I think she would say that she has all the willing workers she can use.

Our pansies, tulips and violets are lovely, thanks to Mrs. Slater. She certainly knows her flowers and we are proud of her and the work she has done.

Lost—one green cigarette holder somewhere between Cottage "B" and the Visiting Room in the Adm. Another holder will be given to the finder if she will communicate with the matron in charge of Cottage "B."

PLUMBING SHOP
"Red" (better known as pipe covering red), was with us for thirty days, and spent most of his time at the Women's Division along with "Shanks" and Mr. Sullivan, repairing and teaching Red Styles the technique and secrets of putting the canner in ship shape for the coming canning season.

"Shanks" has the Plumbing Shop looking quite neat with his garden in front of the shop. This column would not be complete without mentioning our friend Roddy Kane. Roddy has been kept busy keeping the Dormitories in good shape.

Our head man "Shanks" (Frank Moran) has finally succeeded in his effort to see Mr. Armstrong, our Parole Commissioner, as bad as we need you we hope for your success with Mr. Armstrong and after that other men of the Department are to see the "Man" this month.

CHAIR SHOP NEWS
The editor just put the "Bee" on me for some news. The only thing I can say is that we are so busy that news is quite scarce.

At the present time we are working on a large order of 54 chairs that requires about twice the amount of work an ordinary chair does. We have an order for 6,000 of these chairs and quite an order for special work. There has been so many changes that Mr. Nolan don't know which way to turn. No sooner we get started on one order, another order supplant it and we have to start on the other order and leave the original or first order rest.

The sewing shed will be repaired soon. Mr. Burke will be delighted to have the shed repaired, for the absence of the shed requires double the amount of effort for him and the men.

And, for many years a pillar in the chair shop, has left us by the way of the parole route. There is no doubt that Andy will make good, he is the type that will make good under any circumstances. Best of luck Andy.

It is our pleasure to report the frequent visits to the Chair Shop of Capt. Denniston, Superintendent. We are always pleased to have you pay us a call. Thanks and call often.

All in all our shop is a scene of activity, as well as No. 4 Dormitory, where the chairs are sanded and prepared for the

Power Project Branded Farce

Something like a year ago when Nelson Schrader of Northville, a former Plymouth resident, returned with Mrs. Schrader from a trip through the northwest and along the Pacific coast, he gave to The Plymouth Mail an interview of some of the interesting sights he had seen.

Among the things he commented about was the construction by the government of the Grand Coulee power dam and reclamation project on the Columbia river in the state of Washington. He stated that for the life of him he could not see where there would ever be enough people in the northwest to use all the power that the dam would produce and as for additional irrigation purposes, he thought the whole thing was a "big laugh."

He pointed out that there wasn't enough land within hundreds of miles of the place that could be irrigated with benefit to any one, and that it seemed "crazy" for officials to be expending money on crop productions in the country and at the same time spending millions for a new irrigation project to raise more crops.

Not much has been heard about the project back here, except what Mr. Schrader had to say about it a year ago upon his return from the west, until a week or so ago when The Saturday Evening Post published an article entitled "The Eighth World Wonder."

The Post points out that of all the squandering of millions of tax dollars, probably the $300,000,000 that is being poured into this worthless project is the prize of them all. It declares that as far as any real benefit coming to anyone from the building of this dam, that it compares favorably with the pyramids of Egypt.

By the widest stretch of imagination the government officials can never hope to use even a fraction of the power that the dam will produce, neither can it find enough land in the mountain valleys of the northwest for the dammed up waters to irrigate.

It is just one of those things. The Post points out as did Mr. Schrader a year ago, where public money is being spent without benefit to anyone except the contractor holders and builders.

Paint Shop The maximum output of the shop is expected of us and we shall not fail.

After an absence of some time, the best single improvement around the environs of the Men's Division seems to be the brick housing around the Chair Factory cyclone sawdust dump. No longer is the surrounding landscape showered with wood dust and shavings.

Bill O'Neil has had his crew working on the grand stand getting it in order and the shower rooms have received a much needed coat of paint so that they can be used.

Donald Boyd Joins United States Navy

Donald C. Boyd 18 years of age, son of Mrs. Grace Boyd of 481 Ann Arbor Avenue, enlisted in the United States Navy at the Recruiting station in the New Federal Building, Detroit, on Tuesday, July 16th for a term of four years.

Young Boyd is a graduate of Plymouth high school and passed the Navy's physical tests with very high marks and the Navy is very glad to get boys of his type.

Immediately upon enlisting he was transferred to the Naval Training Station at Norfolk, Va., where he will be in training for the next 12 weeks, learning all about the Navy and how to become a good sailor.

Upon completion of his training period he will be granted a leave of absence from the Navy, to enable him to visit his mother and friends in Plymouth.

Half Year Auto Licenses Expire

But five days are left for the use of the many hundreds of half year license plates that are on cars in Plymouth and vicinity to secure full year plates from the branch office of the Secretary of State in Plymouth, Secretary Leonard Murphy is prepared to handle the rush that is sure to come.

There will be no extension of time and police have announced that they will not permit the operation of half year licenses on any highway or street a minute after midnight July 31.

Few of the hundreds of thousands of car owners using stickers have ever stopped to realize the consideration that successive legislatures have given the problem of keeping as many cars operating as possible, for the benefit not only of the owners themselves, but the state which collects the gasoline tax, and every dealer in cars, parts, gasoline and accessories.

Even fewer car owners have any conception of the details which must be worked out in the operation of the deferred payment plan of weight tax collection. While the state adds not a penny to the tax collected from individual owners using stickers, the work of collection increases, and as a result, the cost of collection increases.

The system presents a large scale example of extending payments without added cost to the payer. The operation of some 150 branch offices of the Secretary of State, together with the office in the state capital, is made vastly more involved, however.

With the passage of money into a window, for stickers or plates, the transaction is completed, so far as the car owner is concerned. The chain of events is only about one-third completed, however. Out of the preparations which placed the plates in the branch offices, flow the daily reports to Lansing that branch managers make, as to plates sold and money collected. Important, however, is the fact that no cash is sent to Lansing. Duplicate deposit slips on local banks are sent; the State Department draws on these banks to the State Treasury, from which it is transferred to the account of the auditor general.

By law, the entire weight tax is returned by the state, to the 83 counties of Michigan, for highway purposes. The sum collected from each of the counties forms the basis of the allocation—still in the form of credit or checks—of the weight tax return by the State Highway Department. It is only when the money is expended by the ultimate receiver that actual cash, not seen from the time the car owner paid his in, finally reappears and goes into circulation. Bandits would find the state of Michigan slim picking.

Golfers Enter Club's Contest

The entry list for the club championship at Plymouth Country club, qualifying rounds for which are being held now, has been very pleasing to its sponsors. Many excellent scores have been turned in and from all indications, each flight will be well represented by players from the city of Plymouth.

At least three of the players in the championship flight are from Plymouth. Jimmie Williams, well known high school athlete, turned in a very fine 75, and judging from his previous scores during the year, he stands an excellent chance coming through with the title. Norm Wagner who lives outside of Plymouth is another outstanding contender, his qualifying score being 73. Both Norm Wagner and Dick Gray of Plymouth are members of the Plymouth Country Club team. Gray qualified with a 75.

Another Plymouth player, Herm Dworkman, may land in either the championship flight or the first flight. His score was 84 and at the present time, five players are tied at 84, two of which may be drawn for the championship

Even Break For Garden City Team

Garden City split the two games played over the week-end, losing to the Bennett Brothers of the Dearborn Recreation League and winning from the Detroit Mohawks. In the game with the Bennett Brothers, Garden City was unable to solve the offerings of Siepierski and suffered defeat by a score of 5 to 3. Harry Wolfe pitched for Garden City and allowed but 6 hits to Siepierski's 7. Bad fielding on the part of Garden City enabled the Bennett Brothers to take advantage of wildness in the third inning. Lovell Hill allowed only five hits for two runs in the game with Detroit Mohawks, and Garden City was able to win by a score of 6 to 2. Garden City hampered the offerings of the two Mohawk pitchers for 15 hits which totaled 23 bases.

Bennett Brothers opened the scoring in the first inning. Longridge, if not for an error, would have scored on a double play when Higgins failed to cover 2nd base on the throw. Roach hit to third, but a play at home plate was too late to get Longridge sliding into home plate. Garden City tied the score in the 2nd inning when C. Wolfram walked and took 2nd on a passed ball. After C. Johnson had grounded out, Garrity doubled to send Wolfram home with the tying run. Garden City's hopes were short lived for the Bennett Brothers scored 3 runs in the 3rd inning. With two out and Roach on 2nd, Place singled and Scienkonic doubled. Siepierski and Dale walked and three runs were scored when Scienkonic came home on Tatro's error. Bennett Brothers scored another in the 7th inning when Whitecup singled. He was forced at 2nd by Roach, but Place and Scienkonic walked to fill the bases. Siepierski was hit by a pitched ball, Roach scoring. Garden City staged a desperate rally in the 7th but were only able to score two runs. With two out Higgins and Tatro were walked. O'Brien tripled to right field scoring them both. Neither team was able to score after that and the final score was 5 to 3.

Garden City took an early lead in the game with the Detroit Mohawks when they scored a run in the 2nd inning. R. Wolfram doubled into the garden in left field and was promptly sent home by C. Wolfram's single. The lead had a short life for the Mohawks tied the score in the 3rd and went in to the lead in the 4th. Ray doubled and went to third on a sacrifice. Eanes singled him home. The fourth inning gave the Mohawks another run. Samsom and Bishop came home on a wild pitch. Garden City put the game on ice in the 6th inning. O'Brien hit a double into the garden in left field. The ball would have been a home run at Navin Field, but ground rules limited it to a double. R. Wolfram followed with another double into the garden. C. Wolfram again singled to score his brother from 2nd base. They added three more runs in the eighth inning. R. Wolfram opened the inning with his fourth successive hit of the day, a single to right field. C. Wolfram drove him home for the third time of the afternoon with a long double

Ten in a Row For Plymouth Park

Plymouth Park won its tenth successive game in the Southern Michigan League, beating Wyandotte, 9 to 2, last Sunday at Riverside Park. The victory enabled Plymouth Park to increase its lead over Wyandotte to two full games.

Ed. Sinta led the heavy hitting Wyandotte team down with five hits, which makes a total of seven hits the opposing teams have made from his delivery in the last two games, and a grand total of three runs. The victory was Sinta's seventh for the season.

T. Levandowski knocked out a home run on the first ball pitched in the first inning, which started the boys on the road to victory.

J. Schomberger and Tonkovich were the leading hitters last Sunday when they gathered in two out of three. Each having two singles and a walk in three official times at bat.

Next Sunday at Riverside Park the fast going Gray A. C. will close their season with the local club with a double header. The first game starting at one o'clock and the second twenty minutes after the first game.

Gray A. C. who are in fourth place gave the local club a hard run two weeks ago. Plymouth Park winning out in the latter part of the game by the score of 9 to 2.

DANNY IS GLAD HIS TAIL IS SHORT

MANY, many times, Danny Meadow Mouse had envied his cousins, Whitefoot the Woodmouse, Nimble Heels the Jumping Mouse, and Nibbler the House Mouse, because of their long tails. It used to seem to him that Old Father Nature had been very unfair in giving him such a homely, short, stubby tail. If there was any one thing he would have had if he could, it would have been a long tail. The truth is, Danny used to be ashamed of that short tail.

But he isn't any more. No, sir, Danny Meadow Mouse wouldn't have that tail of his any different now if he could. He had learned one of life's great lessons, which is that those things which sometimes seem the least to be desired are the greatest blessings. He learned it that night when he played hide and seek with Buster Bear, deep in the Green Forest.

Buster Bear is a very clever fellow. There are few who use their wits as Buster uses his. It didn't

Mrs. Aurora Wilkie, mother of E. F. Wilkie of Plymouth, died at her home in Highland Park Sunday evening after an illness of more than 18 months.

She was born in Wisconsin, November 30, 1869, and was married to Charles Wilkie in Milwaukee, September 1, 1890.

The family came to Highland Park about 20 years ago and have resided there continuously.

Mr. Wilkie was killed in an automobile accident in Los Angeles, March 10, 1934. The untimely passing of Mr. Wilkie was a severe shock to his wife and family, but with wonderful courage she carried on notwithstanding this sorrow and her own infirmities.

Surviving are Edward F. of Plymouth; Clarence P. of Detroit; Eleanor, Miss Meta Botsford and Mrs. Myra McCormick of Detroit. Services were conducted from the family residence at 385 Highland avenue, by Rev. Floyd Croup-ton, on Wednesday, July 24, at 2:30 o'clock. Interment in Evergreen Cemetery, Detroit.

In these lines we have tried, during the past few weeks, to tell you the good that is done with your county taxes. We have made a complete study of where each penny goes and have boiled these facts down so they wouldn't be boring, but would at the same time be clear and conclusive.

followed by a shout from a county official who went into a huddle with boat attendants. All efforts toward embarking immediately ceased. An impatient and boisterous crowd waited. They waited fifteen minutes, a half hour, and then starting in the typical way, the rumor floated around that the boat was waiting for the arrival of Governor Fitzgerald.

President Victim of Stress

By Mark Sullivan

I have said in a recent dispatch that the word-mouth stories being told about President Roosevelt's mental and physical condition are untrue. That it is a public duty to deny them, and that it is desirable the public should not believe them.

It is also true, however, that Mr. Roosevelt is in a state of mind, or temperament, which, because of his position and power, has public importance. So long as the Democratic leaders in Congress abdicate their body's function, the temperament of Mr. Roosevelt is largely the government of the United States.

Mr. Roosevelt has always had the touch of daring recklessness, and until recently some close to him made it their duty to urge caution of him. For two seasons, the restraint does not now exist. Some who acted as steadying influences are not now available to him. The second reason is that Mr. Roosevelt is under strain and tired, and the effect of fatigue is to diminish his own restraint and caution.

A year ago last June Mr. Roosevelt was in a mood like the present one, and took a long sea voyage in the Pacific. On that occasion, Mr. Roosevelt said he would not again let himself get tired, that he would not be a point of spending one week out of seven away from Washington.

That resolution became difficult in the present session of Congress. Then, when the session was approaching a close, late last June, Mr. Roosevelt threw into the session a proposal for a distribution of wealth tax. His doing this was itself an example of the touch of reckless daring that is part of his temperament. The Supreme Court decisions had irritated him and his attempt to arouse sentiment against the Court and the Constitution had gone against him. Partly to show a fighting spirit, partly to divert attention from his unfortunate criticism of the Supreme Court, he sent the distribution of wealth message to a surprised, tired, and resentful Congress. Mr. Roosevelt did not intend the message should be acted on at this session—his plans contemplated that both Congress and he should soon get away from Washington. But again things went against him. The radicals called his hand, and with another touch of impetuosity Mr. Roosevelt declared the distribution of wealth tax measures should be enacted at this session. By this time Mr. Roosevelt was in the state of which fatigue grows upon itself.

The quality of Mr. Roosevelt's temperament now most to the front is resentment against anything that checks him or opposes him. He never shows his resentment superficially. He literally never shows anger. To avoid the appearance of anger is part of his technique of dealing with men and with the public. On the contrary, his smiling becomes more energetic.

The great check that came to him was the Supreme Court decisions. That Mr. Roosevelt resents the decisions, and that he will strive to checkmate the court and the Constitution, can be taken completely for granted. "He has," says an admiring biographer of him, "a steel-like vein of stubbornness. His struggle against the court and the Constitution will not come for some months, but Mr. Roosevelt will be ceaselessly busy bringing it about and preparing himself to be at the best advantage in it. That is the reason for his requiring Congress to pass measures known to be unconstitutional. He will be obliged to declare them unconstitutional, and that will line up behind Mr. Roosevelt several groups who are beneficiaries of the measure.

The other thing that irritated the President was the opposition to his public utility holdings company measure put up by the companies and their security holders. Because of this opposition, the bill was made more drastic than was originally intended. In the form the bill came to have it represents a feud by Mr. Roosevelt against certain individuals in the holding company field. The President has been told that the bill in the form he insists on is unworkable. To Democratic leaders who have pointed this out, Mr. Roosevelt has replied in a defiant "Pass it anyway and we can modify it in a future session of Congress." To Mr. Roosevelt in his present mood, the first thing is to beat the public utility companies and certain individuals associated with them.

For the President's present attitude there are yet other reasons. Several of the New Deal innovations are in a mess. The condition is due partly to the fact that the innovations are unworkable, partly to the fact that the men Mr. Roosevelt chose to run them are inadequate. Even if all the innovations were workable, there are too many. It is part of Mr. Roosevelt's temperament to have expansive moods in which he bites off more than he can chew. In the past the defect of some New Deal innovations have been saved from public attention by the practice of putting forward new ones. It has been a technique of the political magician who pulls another rabbit out of the hat before the audience can see what became of the preceding one. Some of what is now going on is the same sort of strategy, but more of it is due to the fact that the magician is tired from strain and fretful under failure, check, and opposition.

In governments this dangerous tendency to press and press is reinforced by officials, especially unseasoned and temporary officials, who want to make a name for themselves, or at least to justify their own continuance in office. The President undoubtedly has on his hands a large number of amateur officers who would like him to invade Ethiopia for the glory, and the abolition of slavery. They are not the typical bureaucrats interested in obeying the routine and holding their jobs as inconspicuously as possible for as long as possible. They are an active, inventive, pushing bureaucracy, with many achievements to their credit in obeying the President if he does not promote the good ones to the status of ordinary officials and send the rest of them home with love and kisses.

The real difficulty, I imagine lies in distinguishing between a national emergency, like that of 1933, and the gross abuses and injustices of human society. Looked at close to and full-comprehended, the evils which men undergo seem to intolerably unnecessary that a sensitive man must at once do something to remedy them. A terrible abuse easily presents itself as an emergency. Mr. Roosevelt is a sensitive man with an unusual knowledge of the lives of the people, and a brave man's contempt for the prudence that feeds on complacency. He is surrounded by men and women who might have lived easy and worldly lives and are instead trying to help their fellow men.

There is great strength in this, but also, in the head of a government, a dangerous weakness. Its strength is to make the government deeply responsive to the people and by that, not merely to help them but to give them confidence in their institutions. Its weakness is that an overpowering desire for the improvement of society leads to policies which put too great a strain on institutions, which transcend the administrative capacity of officials, which surpass the understanding of the people. Then a sense of righteousness takes the place of right policy, then indignation takes the place of thorough investigation, impatience with abuses takes the place of considered action. Before he knows it, the messianic delusion has seized the public man.

Once that happens, it is the

Wayne Planning Big Home Coming

The entertainment committee of the Wayne Homecoming celebration has just contracted with Henry H. Lueders of the United Booking Association of Detroit for a much larger program of free acts than have heretofore been exhibited locally. A three-day celebration is planned this year, and will be held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, August 8, 9 and 10.

In keeping with the homecoming celebration slogan "always bigger and better," the entertainment budget, instead of being cut has been enlarged in order that the public will not be disappointed in expecting to see the best and latest in modern entertainment.

Amateur night will be observed Thursday night and two complete, entirely different programs are booked for the other two nights. On Friday the show will consist of "The Wilford Mae Troupe," hoop rolling and juggling act. The Mae Sisters in snappy dances display many beautiful costumes. Chief Tenderhoe and Co., an outstanding roman ring act, with violin and songs is another feature.

On Saturday the show will consist of Allen, Lind and Allen, the European balancing and equilibrist; the three Howards in an act entitled "Speed on Skates," Prof. McLaughlin in comedy magic. Jack Pennington will act as master of ceremonies during the two days with Miss Mary Andrews at the piano. This will be one of the finest platform shows ever presented here.

The parade will be held at 7:00 Thursday evening and Friday evening a huge display of fireworks will be seen. Other features include auto show, band concert, military drill, merry-go-round, ferris wheel, chair plane, horse shoe tournament and many others. Prizes will be given to the largest family and also to the oldest couple.

Derby hats were introduced in this country by an Englishman in 1875, says a historian. Well, it's too late now to have the fellow shot.

In other words the administration is going to see to it that there are no pockets in the shroud that covers the rich.

The End Of A Period

By Walter Lippmann

The feeling of Congress about the tax program is like that of the man who was packing his suit cases for a journey and had with the gravest difficulty just managed to jam into them more than they were meant to hold. By jumping on the lids he had almost closed them. With the help of rope, extra straps and pieces of wire he had made them look as if they might stay closed. Grunting and sweating with the effort, and more than a little worried whether he could handle his baggage, he was yet reasonably pleased with himself when along came a kind friend bringing him a bowl of gold fish, a cage with a pair of cooling doves, and an encyclopedia. Though he loved his friend, though his heart was pure and he was fond of fish and birds, and in fact of all other pleasures and of nature in general, though he loved books and all the noble means of self-improvement, at the precise moment he could think of nothing better to do than to sit down on the floor and cry for mercy.

Congress, however, is not merely too tired, too hot, and too unprepared to write a major tax law now. It is moved by a revulsion which comes from the people at home. This revulsion may be ascribed, I think, to a growing conviction that the President is prolonging the emergency and postponing a restoration of the normal processes of government.

It is to Mr. Roosevelt's everlasting credit that in the winter of 1933 he judged correctly the extreme gravity of the deflationary crisis, that he had the insight to see that the crisis called for an indisputable assertion of the national power, in order to bring swift conviction to the people that in the midst of the general demoralization they could rally around a government, possessed of great resources, that was ready and afraid of nothing. There was no doubt about the reality of the emergency, and no one who understood it was disposed to question the authority of the President to meet it. For in the last analysis a belief in the Constitution means a belief in the President's authority to defend the nation against disaster.

But the authority to draw upon what Mr. Hoover called "the reserve powers" must, in a free country, be relinquished as soon as the threat of disaster has passed. It has passed. But it is not yet clear that Mr. Roosevelt realizes it. His alarming predictions as to what might happen if some of his emergency establishments were dismantled, the fanatical atmosphere of the utility brawl, the indecent and disorderly haste about the tax program, the uncompromising demand for the dubious powers of the Guffey bill, the Wagner bill, the AAA and TVA amendments—the driving insistence upon enacting all these laws without adequate hearing or debate indicate a disposition to act in the summer of 1935 as if it were still the dark winter of 1933.

The question is not whether these measures are good or bad. The question is whether salvation depends upon railroadng them through Congress. If it does not, then the only way to find out whether the measures are good or bad is to return to the slow, educative process of democratic debate.

Men who have exercised extraordinary powers almost always find it hard to relinquish them. I put no stock whatever in the wild charges that Mr. Roosevelt

New Postmaster For South Lyon

Patrons of the South Lyon postoffice will be sorry to learn that J. V. Baker, whose term expired on December 18th, is to leave the postoffice, he having received notice today that a new postmaster is to be appointed at an early date.

Mr. Baker has been postmaster in South Lyon for nearly 13 years and during that time the affairs of the office have been conducted in a very accurate and efficient manner. Only recently a federal inspector rated the place at 85 percent perfect, the highest of any postoffice in the state.

During his term of office, Mr. Baker's ambition has been to serve as best he could both the patrons of the office and the government which hired him, and as he leaves the place in charge of a new postmaster he can well feel that he accomplished his aim.

The new postmaster's identity has not been divulged at this time, neither has it been definitely learned when the new man is to take charge.—South Lyon Herald.

Scholarship Won By Lona Rhode

Lona Belle Rhode, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rhode, who reside on the Merriman road just off the Plymouth road, has just been advised by the State Board of Agriculture that she has won one of the honors offered by the Michigan State College for being one of the girls in the state best at making clothing. This special honor goes to only ten girls in all Michigan.

Lona Belle graduated from the eighth grade in the Rosedale Gardens schools this spring and she is especially fond of sewing work, but her parents and friends did not know that she would rank among the ten best in all the state when she entered into the Michigan State College contest.

The other winners are Mary Louise Aldrich of Tekonsha; Jean Root, Grand Prairie; Anna Hackett, Marne; Betty McPherson, Rapid River; Lowens Ludlow, Springport; Mary Frances Glarum, Elberta; and Mary Eager, Bay City.

This award carries with it a scholarship which can be used at the Michigan State College at any time. Entrance and course fees are remitted for the freshman year and for the sophomore year if the holder of the scholarship obtains a required scholastic standing the first year.

Lona Belle before entering Michigan State plans to complete her high school work in the Plymouth high school, entering as a freshman this fall.

beginning of the end for him and for his mandate and for his reforms.

So it is not only Congress that needs a vacation because it is tired. The President needs it even more so that he may have the leisure to re-examine his position, to look back over the road he has come, to weigh his achievements and his failures, and then to readjust his mind and his spirit to the fact that he has conquered the crisis and must now proceed by the normal methods of the American government.

Former Plymouth School Teacher Long Time Minister, Is Retired

Rev. J. E. Mealley Would Like to Hear From Old Friends

Old Plymouth friends of John E. Mealley who served from 1900 to 1904 as one of the instructors in the Plymouth public schools, will be interested to know that he has just been retired by the Methodist conference after many faithful and diligent years spent in the service of the church. During recent years he has been pastor of the Marysville Community church, where he has been regarded as the dean of all Methodist pastors of Port Huron.

In a letter to The Mail, Rev. Mealley states that Mrs. Mealley has been in better health during the past year than at any time since she was stricken with apoplexy in 1929.

"You may know that we would be glad indeed to have a post card message from our old dear friends in Plymouth. Our address is 2025 12th street, Port Huron." says Rev. Mealley in his letter. "We live alone and as a result I am not able to get very far away," he adds.

The Port Huron Times Herald in addition to a long write-up of his career, published in one of its feature columns on the editorial page, under the heading "Smilax" by Ed. S. Snover, the following glowing paragraph tribute to Rev. Mealley:

JOHN MEALLEY
We see that our friend, John Mealley, who has labored faithfully in his chosen vocation here nearly a quarter of a century and who has spent more than forty years as a minister of the Gospel, has been retired by the Detroit Conference, and when we read the item about the elder's retirement, we chuckled to ourselves, because we know the veteran pastor well enough to be absolutely certain that the only way to get John Mealley to retire from ministering to his fellow-men is to bury him out in Lakeside cemetery. Because, although John may be retired Officially, he'll remain active as long as he is physically able to be.

Active and John Mealley is a preacher of the old school who always has preached—and always will preach—the doctrines of a true representative of The Man of Galilee is supposed to Preach and he has never made his pulpit a political forum and he has not like so many modern ministers, advocated this ism and that ism and he has not desecrated his church with the many unchristian things which may be found in too many other churches today and he has never compromised with anything he regarded as sinful but has fought the good fight and we take off our hat to Rev. John E. Mealley for

His excellent work as a minister of God and for his excellent work in the Boy Scout organization and for his excellent work in so many other lines of endeavor and we are confident that, when the Supreme District Superintendent, Retires Elder Mealley, that He'll provide him with a front seat in the most beautiful spot in Paradise, to which he'll be ushered with the words "Well done, good and faithful servant."

THIS WEEK'S BEST FISHING STORY
Surprising indeed how these fishing stories keep up. The editor of the Fish Department thought there might be two or three good fishing stories, but when every week produces a new and rather startling fishing story, the matter has gone beyond the "surprise" stage. It has become rather amazing.

New comes forth Edward Bolton. As every one knows Edward Bolton likes to fish now and then—just like all other people who are in their right minds.

So the other day Mr. Bolton carefully packed up his fishing tackle and put a sandwich in his pocket and started out to spend the day fishing.

It was one of those beastly hot days this part of the world has been suffering from. Ed. fished and fished. Finally he felt a nibble. "That's a pike," he said to himself as he studied the way the fish was playing with his hook.

"Well," continued Ed. still talking to himself, "they say that pike at this time of the year have a sore mouth and that they don't like to bite a hook unless they are starving. Now that pike fusing around my hook can't be starving or else he would take that minnow by slow degrees. I'll just fuss around with him for a while and see what he will do," said Ed. talking to no one except himself.

"He's back here again. Say, his mouth must be sore or he couldn't take that minnow. He goes away and comes back and bunts his nose against that minnow and then goes away again.

"The next time he comes back, I'm going to try and lasso him, if he doesn't take that minnow," mused Ed. to himself.

"Here it is again," and then it was that Ed. started his preparations to lasso the pike that kept bunting his hook but wouldn't bite it.

Ed. carefully worked his line around to what he thought was the long side of the pike. Then he let out a bit more line so that it would sink down under the fish. Next he shoved his pole out from the boat as far as he could. Slowly raising the line, he pulled it toward the boat. Then down went the line again and carefully he led it out passed where he thought the fish's head would be. Several times he repeated this process of wrapping his line around the neck of the pike he couldn't see down in the water.

Thinking maybe by this time he had the pike firmly lassoed, he gave a sudden yank on his pole and sure enough he had the fish fastened in his line.

The struggle began, Ed. using more care than he had ever done before in bringing the fish to the top of the water.

Sure enough, as he flopped the four pounder in his boat, he has lassoed that pike right around the back of the gills as perfectly as any cowboy ever threw a rope over the horns of a western steer.

The fish he lassoed was the only one he caught that day.

A clever conversationalist is the man who can convince his wife that she doesn't need a fur coat.

The fool and the dead alone never change their opinions.

Hunting Dates Fixed By State

A number of changes will be in effect in Michigan's hunting laws next fall and winter as a result of action taken under the Discretionary Power Act by the State Conservation Commission at its July meeting.

The commission reduced the 31-day open seasons provisionally set by the legislature on pheasants, ruffed grouse, sharp-tailed grouse and prairie chickens to 13 days in the open territory of the lower peninsula.

The commission had no authority under the Discretionary Power Act to increase the season on ruffed grouse, prairie chickens and sharp-tailed grouse in the upper peninsula and so the 12-day seasons of previous years will prevail there.

Bag limits on the species of upland birds above mentioned, however, will be larger this year. The season bag limit on pheasants has been increased from four birds to six birds and the season bag limit on ruffed grouse and sharp-tailed grouse from 10 to 25. These limits are statewide in effect, except that prairie chickens and sharp-tailed grouse may not be hunted south of the north line of Townline 16 north.

The rabbit and hare season in the southern half of the lower peninsula was shortened by 30 days. South of the north line of Townline 16 the rabbit and hare season will close on Jan. 1. The rest of Michigan will close on January 31, as in previous years.

The 45-day season for hunting raccoon in the lower peninsula was left as set by the legislature. This means an increase of 15 days for raccoon hunting. The season will be from November 1 to December 15, inclusive.

No action was taken by the commission on migratory waterfowl, due to the fact that dates of any open season allowed this year will be set by the United States Bureau of Biological Survey. If an open season is declared by the Biological Survey on certain species of migratory waterfowl, it probably will be shorter than that provisionally allowed by the state legislature.

No action was taken on the woodcock season, pending plans of the Bureau of Biological Survey on migratory game birds. Previous discretionary orders of the State Conservation Commission closing hunting for black and gray squirrels will continue this year. The season on fox squirrels will remain the same as previous years.

The deer and bear hunting seasons were left unchanged with the same open territory as last year. Moose, elk, caribou, wood-ducks, spruce hens, killdeer, cinder ducks, swans, black-bellied and golden plover, quail, yellowlegs, and sandpipers continue on the protected list the year around.

Dates of the open hunting seasons on the respective species of game birds and animals for the coming fall and winter are as follows:

Deer, Nov. 15 to Nov. 30 in the upper peninsula. Nov. 15 to Nov. 30 in lower peninsula.

Bear, Nov. 15 to Nov. 30 in upper peninsula. Nov. 15 to Nov. 30 in lower peninsula.

Rabbits, hares, Oct. 1 to Jan. 31 in upper peninsula. Oct. 15 to Jan. 31, north of north line of Townline 16 in lower peninsula; Oct. 15 to Jan. 1, south of Northline of Townline 16 in lower peninsula.

Ring-necked pheasants, closed in upper peninsula. Oct. 15 to Oct. 27 in lower peninsula.

Ruffed grouse, Oct. 1 to Oct. 12 in upper peninsula. Oct. 15 to Oct. 27 in lower peninsula.

Sharp-tailed grouse, Oct. 1 to Oct. 12 in upper peninsula. Oct. 15 to Oct. 27 in lower peninsula.

Prairie Chickens, Oct. 1 to Oct. 12 in upper peninsula. Oct. 15 to Oct. 27 in lower peninsula.

Season closed south of north-line of Townline 16 by legislature.

Farmer Robbed By Roving Gypsies

William Mandlik, who resides a half mile west of Walled Lake, is $200 poorer today, since the departure of a group of gypsies from his home yesterday afternoon.

Mandlik was alone about two o'clock in the afternoon when a Cadillac car, occupied by gypsies, drove up to his yard and stopped. They asked for matches and as he went into the house to get them, some of his "visitors" followed him, and judging from what he heard, one or more of them must have made it their business to search the place.

Mandlik's son returned just as the nomads were leaving, and it was soon after that the elder Mandlik discovered the disappearance of $200 which he had kept in a can in a dresser drawer. In their hurry the gypsies had overlooked a $20 bill and $1 bill which had stuck to the bottom of the can.

As soon as the theft was discovered, the son gave chase and overtook them, but not being armed he had no way of stopping them and they made their escape. All surrounding towns were notified, says Deputy Sheriff E. J. McKinley, and it was also broadcast from Lansing over the police radio. One Ford car occupied by four gypsies was apprehended in this vicinity but they of course were not the parties for which search is being made.

The Cadillac car bore a foreign license, gray, with the numerals 71107. In the excitement young Mandlik failed to note what state the license was issued in.—South Lyon Herald.

"Truth" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, July 26.
Among the Bible citations is this passage (Matthew 7: 7-8): "Ask and it shall be given you; seek and ye shall find; knock and it shall be opened unto you: For every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and he that knocketh it shall be opened."
Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 322): "It is easier to desire Truth than to rid one's self of error. Mortals may seek the understanding of Christian Science, but they will not be able to glean from Christian Science the facts of being without striving for them. This strife consists in the endeavor to forsake error of every kind and to possess no other consciousness but good."

It was decided by the congregation to hold all congregational and directors' meetings on Tuesdays hereafter, instead of Wednesdays.
The treasurer reported a small deficit in the treasury. The meeting authorized the Trustees to procure funds to meet the same.

The Story of the Bible Told in Pictures

Boaz Finds Ruth Gleaning in the Field.—During the time of Israel under the judges, Elimelech, an Ephrathite of Bethlehem-Judah, and his wife, Naomi, and their two sons went in time of famine and lived in the land of Moab. Here Elimelech died, and after about ten years his son, who had married two of the daughters of Moab, Orpah and Ruth, died also. Naomi returned to her native town, and Ruth, who could not be dissuaded, accompanied her, casting in her lot with the people of Judah. The two women arrived in Bethlehem at the beginning of the barley harvest in a state of dire poverty. Elimelech had had an inheritance of land among his brethren, but, unless the next of his kin could be found, Naomi would be compelled to sell it. Elimelech had a prosperous relative in Bethlehem named Boaz, who, like others, was engaged in the harvest. Naomi sent Ruth to glean in his fields. By the advice of Naomi, Ruth claimed kinship with Boaz. Boaz was willing to take up the duties of the next of kin, and married Ruth, by whom he became the father of Obed, the grandfather of King David. This illustration is by Merian, and was engraved in 1625.

USE THE RANGE — COOK ON IT — then decide for yourself if you want to keep it!

Enjoy These Advantages of Electric Cooking!

- CLEAN. Electric heat is as clean as sunlight. There is no smoke or soot to soil kitchen walls and curtains. Cooking utensils remain bright and shiny after long use.
- HEALTHFUL. Electric cooking seals in nourishing juices and natural elements in meats and vegetables. Important food values are retained.
- WATERLESS COOKING. With your electric range you use no water for roasts and only half-cup for vegetables.
- MODERN. In attractive and striking designs, these electric ranges do much to brighten and add a feeling of newness to your entire kitchen.
- FULL FLAVORED. Electric cooking has a deliciously different flavor—a natural flavor in foods. Meats and vegetables cook to melting tenderness in their own juices.
- INEXPENSIVE. Electric cooking costs less than a cent a meal per person.
- SAFE. An electric range supplies only pure heat from a glowing wire—there is no flame, no matches, no fumes.

THERE is an easy way to decide whether or not you like electric cooking—whether or not you can afford it. You must use an electric range for a short time in your own kitchen. Then you will know exactly how much it costs and whether you want to keep it.

To enable you to do this, we are making a special trial offer. We will install an electric range in your kitchen without initial charge, so that you may give it a thorough trial. During the trial period you simply pay for the service as registered by your meter, plus a monthly charge of $1 for the range. If you decide to keep the range, your monthly payments will be applied toward the purchase price. If you decide that you do not want it, the range will be removed at our expense.

Electric cooking is as inevitable as electric lighting. We know it—we want you to discover why. We want you to see from your electric bills that electric cooking is not expensive. Just tell us to put an electric range in your kitchen—we do the rest.

Applications for ranges on trial installations will be taken care of in the order they are received. Call any Detroit Edison office.

The Kitchen Table

By ANNE CAMPBELL

SHE sits with heavy heart, and watches with watchful eyes— An angel banished from her Paradise.

The sale proceeds . . . Her treasures one by one, Are purchased for a song by kindly neighbors.

She sees the couch go, where her oldest son Lay till released from earth's purposeful labors.

There is a chair, a chest of drawers . . . Unable To buy, she longs most for the kitchen table.

For it was at the kitchen table she Was blessed most by her home's tranquility;

Here she has bent, and rolled the clay crust, and stirred up cakes and cookies . . . Here Many a hasty luncheon has been thrust

Down eager throats . . . Speech, Intimate and dear, Took place around this table made of pine,

So homely was its use—but half divine!

For finer treasure cannot stir her thought

As this does . . . All the furniture she bought Long, long ago is carried from the door.

She does not grieve for it . . . Her dreams remain
