Nearly Hundred Boys and Girls Enjoy Big Feast

Thanksgiving Day Is A Happy One For Youngsters

"Go and sell that thou hast, and give to the poor; and thou shalt have treasure in Heaven."

They sold—and they gave—they gave to 86 hungry boys and girls one of the finest Thanksgiving dinners ever served in Plymouth, or anywhere else in America.

The smiling happy faces of children filled with all the good things that were heaped high on their plates at the Reed restaurant on Stark-weather avenue.

But these are not the only ones who feel that there is a tremendously big reward in humble service to those in want.

Sacrificing their own Thanksgiving day, Mrs. Irene Brocman, noble grand, the Rebecca lodge and three of her tireless working assistants, Miss Jean Mining, Mrs. Blanche Collins and Mrs. Reka Mining, saw to it that not one of the little children arose from the table with an empty stomach.

And to climax a day that seemed to be overflowing with the spirit of Thanksgiving, a mother and six little children came trudging into the restaurant just as the workers were about to clear away the food and dishes.

"Am I too late?" she hesitatingly asked Mr. Reed as she stepped into the door.

"Never too late," declared Mr. Reed—and the happiness that the mother and her brood of little ones radiated as they ate turkey and venison and all the other good things that had been prepared to go along with these delicacies was in itself a sufficient reward for all that had been done by those that planned to see to it that Thanksgiving day in Plymouth should really be a day of thanks.

Mr. and Mrs. Reed, Capt. Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. David Galin and the other committee workers shared a goodly portion of their own dinner when it became evident that there might be a shortage of food. In fact to make sure that there was enough turkey to go around Mr. Reed added one that he had prepared for his restaurant serve about those that were donated by Mr. Galin.

It requires a lot of food to serve 86 hungry boys and girls—that is what these good people found out Thanksgiving day. But fortunately there was enough for everyone.

From 12 o'clock noon until 4 o'clock the Reed restaurant belonged to the children.

Capt. Curtis had used the greatest of care in compiling the list of needy boys and girls. He did not think he overlooked a single one.

The highest number served at one time was 58. The dining room and the lunch counter was filled to overflowing. The ages of the children varied from five to 16 years.

In addition to the exceptional donations made by Reed's restaurant, the turkeys from Galin's Plymouth Purity market, the ice cream from the Cleveland dairy, and milk from Ed's dairy, the turkeys and venison was roasted by the Plymouth Sanitary bakery.

Taystee bread was served and celery came from Joliffe's Red & White store.

Mr. Reed has suggested to Captain Curtis of the Salvation Army that a similar event be held at Christmas time. Already many have expressed a willingness to aid if such a venture should be deemed advisable.

Phones Way From New Orleans For Daisy-Air Gun To Give His Son

A long distance telephone call from New Orleans, Louisiana set a new precedent at the Daisy Manufacturing Co. Monday of last week. It seems Freeman Loeb, well known New Orleans resident, was looking for a good air rifle for his son's birthday and had been unable to locate just the one he wanted so he phoned the Daisy company and told them what he had in mind. Two days later the exact model of the large Daisy pump gun, was in his hands and Mr. Loeb's son was overjoyed with the gun that was ordered across the country by phone.

The call set a precedent in long distance telephone call orders for the Daisy and also in the fact that the gun was sold direct from the company. Ordinarily all sales are made through dealers or jobbers.

Business Women Are Most Active

The members of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Plymouth held a regular business meeting on November 12th at Miss Hanna Strasen's studio on Main street.

On Tuesday evening, November 26th, they enjoyed a Thanksgiving dinner at Hotel Mayflower. Mrs. John Paul Morrow, of Plymouth, was the guest speaker on this occasion. Mrs. Morrow has for some time been attending classes conducted by Doctor Vincent, of Merrill-Palmer School, on the subject of Mental Hygiene, and the club had the happy privilege of hearing her speak on this subject, which today is receiving more attention than ever before, and a study of which shows to what a great extent human happiness and welfare are dependent on right thinking.

The club gave a benefit bridge party at the home of Mrs. Lillian Terry, on Union street, Wednesday evening, December 4th.

Army To Collect Used Clothing

The Needlework Guild of Plymouth has announced that its distribution of clothing has been completed and that this kind of work from now on will be handled by the Salvation Army. The Guild headquarters were closed sometime ago.

It is urged that if you have used clothing that is clean and good repair that you call the Salvation Army. It will be collected and turned over to those that are in need of it.

The Guild during the emergency last winter did some real work and aided a large number of people but because of the other activities and the fact that the Salvation Army can carry on this work most satisfactorily, it has been turned over to the Army.

D.A.R. Plans For Christmas Party

Again this year the Sarah Ann Cochran Chapter, D.A.R., will have their Christmas party and program at beautiful Greenmead, the home of Mrs. Sherwin Hill at Hartsville. The date is Monday evening, December 9th. It is also next night and members are privileged to bring their husbands or friends. The guest speaker will be Louis Flint of Detroit, who will present some phase of National Defense.

Miss Sterling Eaton will contribute to the pleasure of the evening with some of her delectable light songs, and there will also be music by other talented young people.

The Smith-Shirley evangelistic team will be the special workers. They are well known over the state of Michigan. They sing, play guitars, and preach the Gospel.

Everybody is welcome. One will enjoy the spiritual atmosphere and good guitar music. The meetings will close Sunday, Dec. 22nd.

City Reservoir Cleaned, Little Sand, Rust Found

City Officials Surprised At Its Excellent Condition

Last week the two million gallon reservoir, owned and operated by the Plymouth water department, was given a thorough cleaning by the department of public works, under the direction of Wm. A. Reddeman. This reservoir is located on Reservoir road about a quarter of a mile south of the Six mile road and several hundred feet west of the Northville road. It is a concrete structure, entirely enclosed with the exception of six manholes on the top which are locked in place. It is the custom of the water department to give this reservoir an occasional cleaning and remove any sand, dirt, rust or other solids, which may have entered the reservoir.

According to the city manager who made a thorough inspection of the structure, the reservoir was in much better condition than had been previously anticipated. There was very little sand or rust in the reservoir, but what little was found was removed and the interior of the reservoir was flushed several times. The work required several men for a day in brooming and flushing the interior. As much as the water consumption at the present time is only about four hundred thousand gallons a day, it required five days to empty the reservoir and prepare it for the cleaning.

Every precaution was taken by the city to keep the water plant and facilities operating to the best possible efficiency and to insure an adequate and wholesome supply of water.

The work of cleaning and painting the interior and exterior of the reservoir, as well as the water consumption at the present time is only about four hundred thousand gallons a day, it required five days to empty the reservoir and prepare it for the cleaning.

Women's Club To Hear of Menus

December 8th, members of the Women's Club will have the opportunity of hearing Miss Marguerite Pressnell, head of the Detroit Edison Home Service Department. She will speak on the subject "Party Menus".

The Detroit Edison very kind of the Detroit Edison as it is not only an interesting speaker but an extremely clever person when it comes to matters of culinary arts. Every housewife knows how stale her mind becomes after a short period of entertaining. She desires to have something entirely different but is devoid of inspiration. Just now with the holiday season upon us, Miss Pressnell's suggestions will be most helpful.

We hope a goodly number will be present to hear this expert of the Detroit Edison Home Service Department at the Friday afternoon at 2:30.

The group of Rosedale Gardens members are in charge of this program and are planning other pleasant additions to the afternoon's entertainment.

Two Stores Install Line of Gas Ranges

A complete line of gas ranges is now offered by two Plymouth retailers—the Blunk Bros. having installed recently a gas range department and the Powell Electrical store has added a line of gas ranges.

Harold Coolman With Oldsmobile

Harold Coolman, well known Plymouth resident, according to an announcement just made by the Oldsmobile company, has been appointed representative for the Oldsmobile in Plymouth and vicinity.

He has opened up the Mayflower Motor Sales at 908 South Main street, using the display room of the Russell Dettling garage and will be in Oldsmobile.

The 1936 Oldsmobile has been one of the big hits of recent automobile shows. Its makers declare that it has "all the modern fine car features" as well as everything that a good automobile should possess.

Raising Funds For Community Hall - To Hold Big Box Social

The M. E. Church of Plymouth has been very anxious to get its community hall into shape so that it can be opened for recreational activities for the young folks of Plymouth. Some repairs and considerable equipment in the shape of volley ball sets, shuffle boards, ping pong sets, etc. are desired. Thus the Wesleyan Sunday school class is having a box social Monday evening, December 9 at 7:30 p. m. to raise funds for these purposes. Young and not so young ladies are urged to prepare their most delicious lunches, box them attractively, if possible interest their friend in attending this event to bid on "her box" and help along a fine cause. There will be entertainment in the form of various games, many prizes including a grand prize for the evening and a door prize.

Coffee and tea will be served by the class to add to the luncheon. The class feel very fortunate in having Harry Robinson present that evening, in his usual role as auctioneer. Everyone come to the M. E. Community Hall for an evening of fun, December 9th, 7:30 p. m.

Start On Three WPA Projects In City This Week

Sewer Work, Repairs To School Buildings Are Started

On Monday of this week men were assigned to three WPA projects in Plymouth. These projects included the general maintenance of the school building, the construction of storm and sanitary sewers on Hamilton Avenue, and the construction of a retaining wall in the Presbyterian park.

Because of the rush in last week's assignments by the U. S. Re-employment service, a suitable number of men were not assigned to the local projects to which they were assigned. Previous to the assignment of the men to Plymouth projects, several local men were assigned to work outside of the city limits, where they are over in the various WPA offices, the local men working outside of the city will be reassigned to city projects.

Because of the fact that weather conditions do not permit the manufacture of the concrete pipe out of doors, the City Commission has authorized the rental of space at the Lee foundry building on Mill street, where approximately 2600 feet of 33 inch, 30 inch and 24 inch concrete pipe will be manufactured for the Hamilton avenue job. In addition, the WPA will furnish 600 feet of 18 inch concrete pipe and 1000 feet of 8 inch sewer pipe.

As soon as the pipe is manufactured and delivered on the job, the work of excavating the street will start. It is estimated that seventy-five men will be employed on this project for a period of four months.

Several other projects have been approved for the City, but these will not be started until later in the year when more men may be released from other projects in the county.

One of the projects which has been approved includes the engineering and survey project which covers the work of preparing assessors plans on property which is now unplatred in the city. This project has been temporarily held up because it is stated that sufficient number of skilled people are not available at the present time. An effort is being made by the City to obtain at least a portion of the personnel required for this work, so that the project can be carried out through the winter months.

Tommy Corey On Road To Recovery

The many friends of Mr. and Kenneth Corey will be glad to know that their little son Tommy who has been so seriously ill in St. Joseph's hospital in Ann Arbor is now believed to be on the road to recovery. The father and mother have been almost constantly at his bedside during the past few days. He was stricken with pneumonia about a week ago and his condition became exceedingly alarming almost immediately.

Stores Open Evenings

Plymouth stores will be open from now until Christmas time every evening of the week in order to take care of Christmas shoppers who find it difficult to get into town during the day time.

Shoppers not only of Plymouth, but the surrounding country, have found this bit of thoughtfulness on the part of local business houses of exceptional convenience in past years and it is because of this that merchants are again keeping their stores open evenings.

Christmas buyers are finding that all of the stores in Plymouth are stocked to overflowing with goods that make most acceptable Christmas gifts—and gifts that are suitable for every member of the family and at prices exceedingly low.

No one will find it necessary to go to Detroit and mill around in the crowds of sight-seers, excitement cravers and disappointed bargain hunters in order to fill their Christmas needs—for it can all be taken care of in Plymouth at much more convenience and at a far greater saving than by making purchases in Detroit or elsewhere.

Read every advertisement in The Plymouth Mail. These merchants invite you to do your shopping in Plymouth and they are offering you real bargains.

Lady Maccabees Are Hosts of High Lodge Officials

Many Members Present From Communities Near Here

The Lady Maccabees of Plymouth, at one of their recent meetings, had the pleasure of entertaining a large group of five members from Northville and several officials from Detroit.

A lovely dinner was served by the local hive under the direction of Lady Cora Sallow and a well chosen group of co-workers.

During the course of the evening's activities, Com. Furnham of Northville called forth her staff of officers and very graciously initiated two candidates for Plymouth Hive.

The guests from Detroit who responded to Com. Campbell's invitation to address the meeting were Judge Jefferies, whose official Maccabee title is Great Lieut. Com., Supreme Junior Director Louise Minor, State Junior Director Della LaFontaine; State Field Director Richard Garrity and Mrs. Garrity; Sir Knight Baker and Mrs. Baker, the former acting as Building Manager for Maccabees; Asst. Great Com. Alma Moss; Sir Knight Thorpe and Lady Agnes Thorpe, the latter's duty being Junior Hospitalization; and our own field director, Lady Dora Nicholson and her husband, Com. Nicholson of River Rouge Park.

Each left an inspiring message, pertaining to his or her work with the members of the local hive, who hope they may soon again be favored with a visit from neighboring hives and tents.

Unemployed Can Register Dec. 13

Upon instructions of the city commission at its meeting last Monday night, the city manager has arranged to have another local registration of unemployed persons.

Arrangements have been made with Charles Johnson, director of the U. S. Re-Employment Service office, at Dearborn township, for registration at the city hall in Plymouth on Friday, December 13, from 9:00 a. m. until 4:00 p. m. It was not possible to secure an earlier date as the U. S. Re-Employment office is so busy at the present time.

The reason for the additional registration in Plymouth is that a great number of men have been laid off by the Wayne County Road Commission and other employing agencies within the last few weeks. It was felt advisable by the city commission to request another registration here and every unemployed person, who has not already registered, should arrange to be at the city hall on the above date.

New Postoffice Makes A New Job

The building of a new post-office in Plymouth has resulted in the creation of a new job that will be open soon, according to an announcement of a civil service examination that has just been received by Miss Rose Hawthorne, assistant postmaster of Plymouth and secretary of the Board of U. S. civil service examinations in Plymouth.

The title of the position is "fireman-laborer" and the closing date for filing applications for this job is Monday, December 9.

If there is any one in Plymouth who is looking for a good steady all-year job in the new postoffice building, it would be well to get in touch with Miss Hawthorne and secure proper blanks today or tomorrow, as Monday night is the final time for filing applications.

Christmas Street Decorations Have Been Placed - Additional Lights Have Been Purchased

Holiday Spirit Is Emphasized By Business Men

Decorations of the business streets of Plymouth for the Christmas holiday have been placed during the early part of the week and according to Edson O. Huston, general chairman of the committee having charge of this work, the job will be entirely completed in a day or so.

More care has been used this year in seeing to it that the decorations are in more of a symmetrical order than they were last year. But of course the work was done last year so late and in such a hurry that similar care could not be displaced at that time.

Mr. Huston, and Leonard Murphy, secretary of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, are highly elated over the ready response of Plymouth business men in contributing funds to pay the additional expenses involved in extending the decoration scheme for the present holiday season.

William Choffin of Bill's Meat Market on the north side, has been working with the committee both in arranging the decorations for the holiday season and in helping to collect the funds to defray the additional expenses involved in the extension of the decorations. He too is highly pleased with the interest that every one seems to be taking in the street decorations.

When the plan was started last year it was the purpose of the Chamber of Commerce to extend the decorations a little more each year, hoping thereby to eventually make Plymouth one of the most attractive cities in Michigan at holiday time with its Christmas decorations.

Stanley Corbett and his assistants who have been putting up the decorations have not let the icy condition of the streets and sidewalks deter their work.

With the exceptionally good start that has been secured, local business men believe that by the end of a couple of more years, there will be sufficient wiring and colored lights to make Main and Liberty streets and Fenman avenue just one continuous thoroughfare of holiday lights and ornamentation.

Christmas Seal Sales Directed By Women's Club

Plymouth Steps Out To Do Its Part In Great Work

This week opens the annual national sale of Christmas seals to raise money to carry on the campaign for "The Cure and Prevention of Tuberculosis."

In the past, the people of Plymouth and the surrounding territory have responded generously to this appeal—each during the years of depression—and it is earnestly hoped that this year the sale of seals will be larger than ever before for there is no more important work carried on in this country today than the saving of thousands of young people from the ravages of this dreaded disease.

It is the special duty of every one, especially the parents of adolescent children, to do all in their power to help in combating tuberculosis. The best prevention is quite as important as that of the curing of the disease and children may easily contract it by coming in contact with those who are afflicted with it, and who are careless in their habits in the home.

Cases in a certain school were traced to a janitor in that school who had unwittingly been spreading infection by his carelessness.

The work being done by the Detroit Tuberculosis society is outstanding in the whole United States and we are most fortunate to be under their care.

The money which we pay for the seals not only helps to care for the patients in both the Leeland Sanatorium and the Detroit Tuberculosis Sanatorium, but is used in giving the tests for pulmonary tuberculosis to all school children desiring such a test.

Quite often a boy or girl is found to have affected lungs while no outward symptoms have been shown and the child appears to be in the very best of health.

The first test is called the Skin Test and is given only after the consent of the parent has been obtained. It is a painless and simple test and will detect even a single germ of pulmonary tuberculosis in the system. If germs are detected, the next step is the taking of x-ray pictures of the child's lungs to determine the extent of the infection. Again, this is done only after gaining the consent of the parent.

Only two years ago a boy on the football squad of our local high school was found to be tubercular. He was at once sent to a sanatorium and was perfectly cured. However, other cases are on record where parents would not believe their children were so sick and special precautions with their boys and girls.

Tuberculosis is not hereditary, but a child may inherit the tendencies to the disease and a baby may contract it from a mother during the first few months of its life.

It is hoped that people will not refrain from buying seals because they cannot afford to buy large quantities of them. They sell for but a penny each and every penny helps in the great fight which is being carried on surrounding boys and girls safe.

It is also encouraging to note that a very decided improvement is noticed each year in the decrease of the number of cases in our schools.

The sale of the Christmas seals in Plymouth and surrounding district is in charge of Mrs. Bruce Woodbury as chairman this year and is sponsored by the Woman's Club of Plymouth.

The sale will continue until Dec. 20th and we are confident that Plymouth people will do their part in this very worthwhile work.

Legion Auxiliary Christmas Party

The American Legion Auxiliary will hold a strictly potluck luncheon and Christmas party at the Legion hall on Friday, December 13th, at 12:30 o'clock. Members are asked to bring a ten cent gift to exchange at this party. There will also be a short business meeting.

Miss Harriett Schroder has returned to her duties as teacher in the schools at Flint after spending the Thanksgiving vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Schroder on the Six mile road.

Make Up Your Christmas Shopping List From The Ads In The Plymouth Mail

Newspaper Sale Saturday, Dec. 14

So that all the needy boys and girls of Plymouth and vicinity will be sure and have a visit from good old Santa at Christmas time, the American Legion is making plans for a big newspaper sale on Saturday, December 14 and a prize party on Friday night, December 13.

The Christmas party for the needy children will take place at the American Legion hall in Newburg on Sunday afternoon, December 22. There will be a big lunch for the children and presents for everyone of them.

Playthings as well as useful articles of clothing will constitute the presents to be given the children.

Trophy For Best Looking Window

The trophy won last December by Wild & Co. under the supervision of Carl Caplin will be placed into the mailstrom and every merchant should throw off his coat, get out the tack hammer, get a little evergreen from the floral shops or the Chamber of Commerce, put up a few strings of lights, plus some merchandise from the shelves or better still, new merchandise and set his mark to win the coveted prize.

This contest is open to every business man in the city. There is no entrance fee or other financial obligation. And the rules are as varied as each man's ingenuity and originality will carry him. The only rule established is that when the trophy is awarded each year the name of the winner shall be engraved thereon, and when it has been won three times by any particular business concern it shall become the permanent property of that concern.

Kiwanians Hear A Talk on Youth Problem

Members of the Kiwanis club Tuesday night heard Ray Johns, official of the Y.M.C.A. organization, discuss the youth problem of the country. Mr. Johns, who is well informed on the subject, gave to Kiwanians many interesting and rather distressing facts about a problem that the country has yet to solve.

FORD'S THOUGHTFULNESS

Plymouth residents who are employed steadily in the big Rouge plant of the Ford Motor Car company have commented during the past few days about a plan that seemingly prevails throughout the biggest Ford plant. During recent weeks many new men have been hired at the main Ford plant. Not only have new men been engaged, but the company has found it necessary to operate some of its departments six days a week instead of five. While the older employees do not know definitely, they state that the extra work is being given to the new workers, the belief prevailing that the company figures that they need the extra dollars much more than do the regular Ford workers. One older Ford worker said the other day that he wasn't at all sorry that he wasn't getting the extra day's work because he knew that the new men needed it much worse than he did. Such, seemingly is the spirit of the entire Ford organization.

HOW NOT TO DO BUSINESS

A Wright county merchant once went out of business. While in business he made no money for himself. He succeeded in keeping his competitors from making money. He landed in the county with a stock of goods, and announced that he would undersell his competitors. If his competitors offered merchandise at a dollar, he announced that his price would be 90 cents.

When he went out of business he owed a large sum of money. He settled with his creditors on a basis of about 10 cents on the dollar.

His idea of business was to cut the price. That is all that he knew about business. As a result he chalked up a miserable failure, folding his tent, and quit.

Not only did he lose his money but he deprived his competitors of a profit, and the trade was demoralized. And his creditors footed the bill. It even caused other business houses to fail, and because of no fault of their own.

No community can thrive unless people who do business make a profit. This applies to merchants, farmers, industrialists, and all. When some fellow thinks he can out-smart the rest of the crowd by elimination of profit he is nothing short of ridiculous. It costs money to operate a business, and anyone who thinks he can escape this cost is absurd.—Independent, Belmond, Iowa.

CHRISTMAS BUYING

Thanks to Plymouth industrial leaders, Mr. Ford and all others who have worked diligently to make business better in order to provide steady jobs for their employes, it now looks as though Plymouth shoppers are going to have the best Christmas in many a year. The prosperity of the worker is immediately reflected in the improved business of the home town merchant—and when you spend a dollar in Plymouth for Christmas buying or any other kind of buying, that expenditure both directly and indirectly helps you. So let's make this best of Christmas periods a strictly Plymouth Christmas shopping season. If we will all try to fill our Christmas needs in Plymouth it will be a tremendous aid to the community we call home.

BLABBERING OFFICIALDOM

Joe Armstrong, the newly appointed parole commissioner who knew nothing of paroles or crime punishment until he was given his present job in payment of political support to the present governor, endeavored the other day to take to task Judge George V. Weimer of Kalamazoo because of the Judge's criticism of the release of a dangerous crook by Armstrong on parole.

The offender, a hardened criminal with a long record of crime, after being patted on the back and turned free by the parole commissioner, started out with his gun on another series of crimes. Law enforcing officers finally caught up with him and when he was brought before Judge Weimer for sentencing, the Judge pointed out that it was a mistake for the crook to have been again turned back into society.

Now comes the parole commissioner with a long defense of the crook and an attack upon Judge Weimer for his remarks—all of which makes any one acquainted with the two officials, regard Armstrong's criticism of the Judge as the chirping of a school boy orating on a subject he knows nothing about.

For nearly a quarter of a century the voters of Kalamazoo county have retained Judge Weimer on the bench. This alone is evidence that those who know him and are familiar with his methods of punishing criminals are quite satisfied with the judgement he has used over so many years. Other parole commissioners and governors are known to have frequently asked Judge Weimer's advice and opinions pertaining to the parole problem—but here comes just an ordinary politician from Detroit, with not the slightest knowledge or experience in handling paroles, bearing one of the best known parole authorities in this part of the country.

The yappings of petty office holders have brought resentment and public discredit to more than one administration and Commissioner Armstrong, who has up to date made a fairly good mess in the conduct of his office, certainly is not adding much to the credit of those he seeks to serve.

Rambling Around With Michigan Editors

As the autos are made to go faster, the pedestrian is not being bred to jump faster.—Joe Haas in The Holly Herald.

THE TROUBLE
Those county officers, judges and white collar underdogs who refused to play give and take with the overburdened taxpayers with reference to accepting a reduction in salary during depression times, and who have sued and recovered from the county, will be long remembered by the electorate at forthcoming elections long after the stipend for which they struggled has been forgotten.—Charles Seed in The Rochester Clarion.

NOT TO BE FORGOTTEN
Look as you may in every part of the world today and you see trouble brewing and all because quack doctors seem to be in control, submitting this and that concoction as a cure for the ills of life while everyone of them stands convicted in the light reflected from the simple teachings of the Man of Galilee. If the world could from this moment, fall in step with the Golden Rule, "Do unto others as ye would that others should do unto you" we would have the world made new before the dawn of next week. And because the nations will not be owing to their selfish cowardice, for nations like individuals too often follow the path of least resistance. It takes real heroic courage to play the game of life honestly and honorably in any department of life.—J. E. McMullen in The Linden Leader.

THE CURE OF TROUBLES
Just now the administration, assisted by public spirited citizens, is conducting a safety campaign in Michigan. But what is this going to amount to if after arrest drunken drivers are to go "scot free"? Seems to us that courts in Wayne county and metropolitan Detroit need investigating. One case in point is sufficient to show what is going on down there.

GOVERNOR SHOULD CHASTISE OFFICERS
From the Plymouth Mail we learn that two drunken drivers, so drunk that they had to be lifted out of their cars, were picked up by Plymouth police, that city and turned over to the sheriff's office. What happened? Quoting from the Plymouth Mail: "Within two hours after they had been taken to Detroit, Plymouth police were advised that some Detroit judge held a night court and released them from custody."

A NEW DRIVE AGAINST FREE SPEECH
One clause of the Public Utility Act of 1935, the bitterly debated Wheeler-Rayburn bill, should be read by every citizen interested in the fundamental rights guaranteed us by both the letter and spirit of the Constitution.

Here is the clause: "It shall be unlawful for any person employed or retained by any registered holding company, or any subsidiary company thereof, to present, advocate, or oppose any matter affecting any registered holding company or any subsidiary company thereof, before the Congress or any member of committee thereof, unless such person shall file with the (Securities & Exchange) Commission a statement of the subject matter in respect of which such person is retained or employed, the nature and character of such retainer or employment, and the amount of compensation for this clause is a fine of $10,000, imprisonment up to two years, or both."

Now consider the possibilities. If, for example, Joe Brown, clerk in the bookkeeping department of a holding or operating utility, becomes dissatisfied with his working conditions, he cannot legally communicate with his elected representatives in Congress without going through a maze of red tape. If he happens to own a little company stock, and believes some government policy endangers its value, and says so, he is again faced with fine and imprisonment. It will be said, of course, that the law is not designed to cover such cases, and would not be literally enforced—but the fact remains that the law, as written, covers every employee and worker, and that the administering commission has no authority to make exceptions.

This goes far beyond any question of whether holding companies are good or bad. It goes straight to the underlying philosophy of our government. It goes to the roots of the right of free speech—or which the right of protest is an inescapable part. If the legislative branch of government possesses the power to deny one group of citizens these fundamental rights, it can extend the prohibition to other and all groups. It can establish an absolute dictatorship and indefinitely prolong the political status quo through the weapon of dictatorial fear of punishment. It can abolish every democratic principle, and make the Constitution impotent.

The first amendment to the Constitution, which laid the groundwork for the Bill of Rights, says: "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishments of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech or of the press; or of the rights of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances."

Re-read that Amendment—then re-read the astounding clause from the Public Utility Act of 1935. How can the two diverse philosophies of government they represent be squared? The real issue here is Constitutionalism versus a sort of fascist dictatorship.—Floyd McGriff in The Redford Record.

THE ART OF GETTING ALONG
Sooner or later, a man if he is wise, discovers that business life is a mixture of good days and bad, victory and defeat, give and take.

He learns that it doesn't pay to be a sensitive soul—that he should let some things go over his head like water off a duck's back.

He learns that he who loses his temper usually loses.

He learns that all men have burnt toast for breakfast now and then and that he shouldn't take the other fellow's grouch too seriously.

He learns that carrying a chip on his shoulder is the easiest way to get into a fight.

He learns that the quickest way to become unpopular is to carry tales and gossip about others.

He learns that it doesn't matter so much who gets the credit as long as the business shows always turns out to be a boom-erang, and that it never pays. He comes to realize that the business could run along perfectly well without him.

He learns that most of the other fellows are as ambitious as he is, that they have brains that are as good or better, and that hard work and not cleverness is the secret of success.

He learns to sympathize with the youngster coming into the business because he remembers how bewildered he was when he first started out.

He learns that he is not any harder to get along with in one place than another and that "getting along" after all, depends about 98 per cent on his own behavior.—(Friendly Adventurer.)

Many refuse to join public movements because they'd rather remain on the sidelines and criticize.

THE BLIND POSTMAN

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

EACH day the mailman makes his rounds. His eyes forever on the ground. His mind forever on the past. For grief has found his heart at last. Each day the mailman has to bear this new, this unaccustomed, care. And men behold in his hurt eyes A look half sorrow, half surprise.

For grief has come and struck him down. The merry postman of the town, Who used to whistle up the street, And had his friends, and all things sweet.

And, in his eyes, with sorrow beat Is something of astonishment That such things happen, that one day Can come and take so much away.

And yet for thirty years he bore His misdeeds to his neighbor's door Black-bordered letters, or a page Scratched by the lonely hand of age The pleading of some woman's heart.

Who bears the faithless one de-part—? And yet within the mailman's eyes The look is sorrow, and surprise.

"REFORMING ASSES"
I thank my God the sun and moon Are both stuck up so high That no presumptuous hand can stretch

And pluck them from the sky. If they were not, I do believe That some reforming ass Would recommend to take them down

And light the world with gas.—(From a speech given by Gov. Talmadge, of Georgia, in a recent address in Philadelphia.)

Hunters Forgot To Take Rifles

They're back—the five Plymouth deer hunters who went north to hunt deer and forgot to take their rifles with them.

Anyway, that's the story that is going the rounds among the big game hunters of Plymouth. It seems, from all the underground information that can be secured, Madison D. Powell, known to most folks as just Matt Powell, Harold Burley, Robert Burley, Herbert Burley and Herman Dworkman left for the north as the deer season neared to a close, to pick up a few bucks the others had overlooked.

They drove to Matt's camp up near Atlanta where they waited several days for the heavy winds to cease blowing before they started out to get their deer.

"This is a good day to show the boys back home how easy it is to get a deer if you know how to get 'em," declared the handball champ of Michigan as the hunters made ready to enter the forests.

They filled their pockets with sandwiches, bullets and such other necessities as hunters need when hunting deer. Then they started to get their rifles—and there wasn't a rifle in the camp. They forgot them—and left them at home when they started out for the north.

At any rate, that's the story they are telling as to why their friends haven't been sharing a bit of venison with them. So far "it" has been going good.

Church Celebrates Its Anniversary

Members of the Presbyterian church of Rosedale Gardens are tonight, Friday, celebrating the seventh anniversary of the beginning of the church in that community.

The speaker for the evening will be Rev. W. H. Aulenbach, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Cranbrook and one of the well known pulpit orators in the state.

Heating Plant Permits Needed

Notice has just been sent to all of the plumbing and heating contractors in the City notifying them that it is necessary to obtain a permit before making a heating installation. This is required by the building code which has been in effect since 1930.

Within the last few days several cases have been brought to the attention of the building inspector where furnaces or boilers were installed without first obtaining a permit. For the information of residents of this community, it is necessary that permits be obtained before the installation work is started. This includes the replacement of old heating plants as well as installation of new ones.

The Building Code requires that a double permit fee be charged on all permits which are not taken out until after the work is started. A mail order house has been installing furnaces without obtaining the necessary permits, and this organization has been notified that this practice will have to be discontinued and that it will be necessary for them to take out permits covering the work which has already been done in the city.

This regulation was written into the Building Code to insure safety in the installation of heating plants. The code requires certain minimum distances from wood partitions and the wood joists, and certain types of chimney connections which make for more safety in the heating plant.

Miss Couillard And George Furlonge Wed

Wednesday evening, November 27 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Couillard, the bride's parents, 11325 Blackburn avenue, Rosedale Gardens, Miss Muriel Irene Couillard, became the bride of George F. Furlonge of Detroit.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of immediate members of the families and a few intimate friends. Rev. J. J. Miller of the Presbyterian church of Rosedale Gardens officiating. The home was prettily decorated for the occasion. Mr. and Mrs. A. Furlonge of Detroit, parents of the groom, Miss Fanny Kilander and son Keith, Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Couillard, a brother of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. John Oettinger were among the guests. Miss Mary Cook was the bridesmaid and Louis Wallace of Detroit acted as best man.

The young people who have a host of friends, will be at home at 11302 Rutherford avenue in Detroit.

City Gets Bids For New Stoker

The city commission last Monday night received bids from eight stoker manufacturers for the installation of an automatic stoker for the boiler in the city hall. Inasmuch as such a large number of bids on various types and kinds of stokers were submitted, it was deemed inadvisable to make any decision at last Monday's meeting. Accordingly, on the suggestion of Commissioner Robinson, Mayor Blank appointed a committee, consisting of Commissioner Robinson, Commissioner Goldsmith and City Manager Cookingham, to investigate the various stoker bids and make its recommendations for the purchase of the equipment.

The purchase of this equipment will probably be decided upon within the next week or ten days. Appropriation was made in the current budget for this equipment, which it is estimated will reduce the amount of coal burned at the city hall, and will provide a much more even temperature than is possible under the present hand firing method. It will also reduce the amount of time required for janitor service, and will release the janitor for other necessary work.

Dr. and Mrs. Peck Move Into Their New Home

After many weeks of waiting pending the construction of their new home, Dr. and Mrs. Luther Peck Wednesday moved into their new residence at 711 West Ann Arbor Trail. The new home is built on the site of the one that was destroyed by fire last winter. The residence is thoroughly modern in every way, although their former home was one of the most attractive residences in Plymouth.

Question Box By ED WYNN The Perfect Fool

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I am president of a debating society, and on next Saturday we are to debate the following subject, "Who Do the Silliest Things Men or Women?" It would help us considerably if you would tell me the silliest things you ever saw a man do. Will you tell me?

Yours truly,

OPHELIA SORESINOT.

Answer: The silliest thing I ever saw a man do was one day in the post office. I saw this man wait around for two hours and the minute he saw the postal clerk turn his back he pushed four letters into the box, without stamps, thinking he was saving the postage.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

A friend of mine was invited to a party at a young lady's apartment, and he went. During the evening he told the young lady, quite frankly, that he did not like her apartment. The young lady had my friend arrested and he was charged with assault. How did the judge figure out an assault charge?

Yours truly,

Y. SHOODIE.

Answer: The judge probably figured as long as your friend had said nasty things about the young lady's apartment he was guilty of "knocking her flat."

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I go with a crowd of boys and girls and once a week we meet and those who can sing do so, while others just tell jokes and stories. I tell jokes. There is one girl in the crowd who doesn't like me and every time I tell a joke she always says, "That joke is 40 years old." How can I cure her?

Truly yours,

JOE KING.

Answer: The next time you tell a joke and she says, "That joke is 40 years old," you say to her, "And you remember it all this time?" That'll cure her.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I am forty-four years of age and a single woman. Met a man last night who asked to call on me. He is coming to see me next Saturday. I have never had a man call on me before. In case he wants to kiss me shall I call for help?

Sincerely,

MAY DIN.

Answer: By no means call for help. If you are forty-four years old and have never been married, and a man tries to kiss you, don't call for help. Call for witnesses.

Building Slows Down Due to Cold

Building activities in the city dropped to a low point in November according to records supplied at the city hall.

Only three permits were taken out during the last month, all of which covered minor repairs to buildings. The total cost of the work covered by these permits amounted to $730.00. This is the first month since March, 1935, that the value of permits has been below $2000.00. The greatest number of permits were taken out during the month of April, when fourteen permits with a value of $5,094.00 were obtained. During the month of July, only nine permits were obtained. But the value of the work amounted to $34,000.

So far during the year 1935 building permits, for both new jobs and re-modeling work, have amounted to $78,071.00. This is the greatest amount of building which has been recorded in this city for the past five years.

These facts are an encouraging sign, and everything points to a considerable amount of building activity in 1936. Several re-modeling jobs, involving a considerable cost, are being considered in various parts of the city, and no doubt will be undertaken during the coming winter and spring months. These jobs, however small, give work to the skilled tradesman, who have not had any too much work during the past few years. Each repair or remodeling job also adds to the beauty

Dr Kirk Leaves For Higher Post

Dr. Samuel A. Kirk, for the last several years connected with the school department of the Wayne County Training school, has been made Director in charge of the Division of the Education of Exceptional children in the Milwaukee State Teachers College at Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Dr. Kirk is a graduate of the University of Chicago where he obtained a degree of Master of Arts in the field of Psychology. Before coming to the Training school he had had several years of research work and teaching in connection with the Institute for Juvenile Research in Chicago. He obtained his degree of Doctor of Philosophy from the University of Michigan in 1934. He has been a frequent contributor to current scientific literature in the field of Psychology and Special Education and with Dr. T. G. Hegge is the author of a book now being printed: "Remedial Reading Drills."

M. E. Ladies Aid Has Christmas Party

On Wednesday the Ladies Aid of the Methodist church had its annual Christmas party in the church with about fifty ladies being present. A co-operative luncheon was enjoyed at twelve-thirty with a splendid program appropriate to the yuletide season following.

The luncheon table was in V-shape so that all the guests could be seated together. In the center of the table was an American flag with flags of other nations placed around it. Christmas trees and lighted tapers were also used in the decorations.

The theme for the program was Christmas in other lands and was effectively brought out in a play called "Christmas Everywhere" dramatized by ten young ladies. Christmas in Denmark was told by Mrs. Paul Christensen and Christmas in England by Mrs. Miller Ross, both were most interesting. Miss Barbara Horton sang two beautiful English songs which completed a most enjoyable afternoon. Mrs. Carl Lewis, who was chairman of the day, can feel well repaid for her effort as it was a complete success.

Men applaud your good judgment every time you agree with them.

"The modern version seems to be," says Reno Ritz, "Go West, young lady, go West!"

Question Box By ED WYNN The Perfect Fool

Dear Mr. Wynn: My wife and I have saved up $40. Now she wants to buy a cow and I want to buy a bicycle. I claim she'll look funny riding around town on a cow. Am I right?

Truly yours, WATTEL I. DEW.

Answer: She sure would look funny riding a cow, but no funnier than she'd look milking a bicycle.

Dear Mr. Wynn: While walking yesterday I saw a man with a tin cup in his hand and a sign on his hat which read: "Please help the blind." I dropped ten cents in his cup, then, looking at him, I saw he was blind only in one eye. Did I do wrong to give him a dime?

Yours truly, MISS TAKEN.

Answer: You did wrong in giving him a dime. As he was only blind in one eye, you should have given him a nickel.

Dear Mr. Wynn: I have read a great deal about beauty doctors and so-called face lifters. Can you tell me the best way for an aging woman to keep "her good looking youth"?

Truly yours, B. U. TEEFUL.

Answer: The best way for a woman to keep her "youth" is not to introduce "him" to any other woman.

Dear Mr. Wynn: I am a boy seventeen years of age. I am crazy about a girl my own age. I told my father that I was in love. He looked at me for a moment, then said: "My son, love is like a plate of hash!" He then walked away from me. What did he mean by comparing "love" with a "plate of hash"?

Truly yours, WILL. HUGH ANNSER.

Answer: He has experience, my boy. What he means is "you must have confidence in it to enjoy it."

Dear Mr. Wynn: I am a boy twelve years of age and have just entered an essay competition. There are two subjects to be written about, one is "Grasshopper" and the other is "Grasswidow." Are these subjects alike or are they different and why?

Sincerely, X. AMPLE.

Answer: They are exactly alike because they'll both jump at the first chance.

PLACE OPEN FOR COMMON LABORER AT NEW P. O.

Miss Rose Hawthorne, assistant postmaster of Plymouth and secretary of the civil service board for this place, received instructions Thursday morning to secure applications for another place that will be open in the new post-office building soon. Application must be filed today or Saturday and not later than Monday with Miss Hawthorne. The place is for common labor work about the building and pays 50 cents per hour. This place is in addition to another one for fireman that Miss Hawthorne has requested applications for.

THROUGH A Woman's Eyes

By JEAN NEWTON

WHAT ELSE BUT TO LAUGH?

A YOUNG wife had prepared her first "company dinner" — and for her husband's family.

The "piece de resistance" was a turkey; turkey with a chestnut dressing. Laboriously she had shopped for it, gone over and over the recipe guaranteed to be "fool-proof."

When the great hour came, the platter was quite heavy, and carefully, lovingly, she placed it into the hands of young husband. "Only be careful!" she admonished in a hushed voice.

Hubby tried to be, but he too was excited. Exactly what happened as he crossed the door-sill into the dining room will never be known. Nobody could tell at the moment. All we know is that the platter crashed to the floor just on the border surrounding the rug and the turkey slid along, splattering dressing and juice from the smashed bird with the broken china — along the polished surface.

All eyes turned to the young wife who at the sound of the crash dashed in from the kitchen. And what did she do? For half a moment she stood rigid, her eyes closed. And then — she laughed. Not a dramatic, hysterical laugh, just laughter, full of good nature, taking a joke. And the first comment was, "I don't see how she can do it."

Now come to think of it, what else could she do? Rage? Abuse her already stricken young husband? To what purpose? And to the end merely of ruining the party which meant so much to them both. No, she did the only thing possible to save the day. She laughed — and said quite evenly, "It doesn't matter, John. Run down to the delicatessen and get a couple of roast chickens." Almost as soon as the floor was cleaned up the tragedy was forgotten, the roast chickens served the purpose, the evening was saved.

And the young wife had won the respect and admiration of her husband's family to a greater extent than the most expertly prepared turkey could have done for her.

Quarrel of Youth and Age

The quarrel of youth and age dates at least from the time of Noah and his sons, and probably a good deal earlier.

You Can't Make a Mistake on These Gifts for Her Christmas

This year give her something she needs — a gift that will lessen her work through the years to come.

Surprise Her With a Beautiful New ELECTROLUX

PEOPLE who have had experience with other types of refrigerators are the first to discover the vital differences of Electrolux! Find, too, that every point of difference means an important advantage they want! For Electrolux is the only refrigerator that has no moving parts. A tiny gas flame circulates the simple refrigerant, which is cooled by ordinary air.

The utter simplicity of Electrolux permits an amazingly low cost to run, (keeps Electrolux always silent (for parts that do not move cannot cause noise), insures fullest food protection, and eliminates depreciation due to moving parts that wear.

See the new Electrolux models. We believe you'll agree there's every reason in the world for making your "first refrigerator" an Electrolux.

THROUGH A Woman's Eyes

By JEAN NEWTON

ONE PATH TO CHARM THAT IS EASY TO ACHIEVE

I HAVE been reading an article about how dancing improves posture and carriage.

It is advised that we start in early childhood the training that brings about good posture and a graceful carriage. We are told of the rhythms which many schools are now teaching in the kindergarten, how proper breathing helps, the importance of good physical condition and always that paramount matter of example—letting the children see good posture and graceful walking so that they will imitate it.

As I read this it came to me that not enough has been said about the carriage of our women. We hear a good deal about our bad posture, how unfavorably they compare with the wives of women of other countries, how important is a good speaking voice in a woman. But of a woman's walk, which is no less important than her voice in the impression she creates, in any hope she may cherish for that elusive quality of charm—it is taken that far too little notice is taken, or expressed.

If we observe the walk of the average woman from the viewpoint of grace and charm, we must be struck with horror; so few women except those who are in some way athletic walk in a way which is satisfying to the eye. So few women have that stride from the hip that means freedom and poise in walking; so few have animation in their walk, so few, so very few, have rhythm.

No woman can have poise with a slouching little hop of a walk. No woman can have charm who waddles from side to side, no woman can have beauty who seems to be dragging one foot after another.

And this is one thing, this matter of a woman's walk, which any one can learn without a teacher, which has no mysterious technique, and requires absolutely no expense. Any woman can walk well by just thinking about it!

Some of the paths toward charm are straight and narrow and difficult of attainment. But there is one path to charm which is accessible to all of us who have normal physical build. The attainment of good carriage, of a graceful walk, is comparatively easy—and cheap. You need only think, when you are standing or walking, of how you are standing or walking, think about it until the carriage improved by your own sensitiveness has become natural!

The attainment of good carriage, of a graceful walk, is comparatively easy—and cheap. You need only think, when you are standing or walking, of how you are standing or walking, think about it until the carriage improved by your own sensitiveness has become natural!

UNUSUAL DISHES

WE ALL like to serve occasionally something a bit different and out of the ordinary, but for the daily diet the common foods simply served we enjoy the best.

Golden Coconut Shortcake.
Allow two slices of sponge cake for each serving. Prepare orange sauce by using one cup of orange juice thickened with corn starch, adding a bit of sugar and butter. Cover each slice of the cake with the sauce in sandwich fashion, cover with thinly sliced oranges and top with freshly grated and sweetened coconut.

Stuffed Tomato Salad.
Scop out the centers of six ripe even sized tomatoes. Chop the centers and add one cup of cooked rice, four tablespoons of cheese grated, one hard cooked egg, two tablespoons of pimiento and one small onion, all minced; season with salt, a little lemon juice and any other desired seasoning. Fill the tomato cups and chill. Serve on lettuce with salad dressing.

Pot of Gold Dessert.
Mix one-half cup of sugar with one-fourth cup of cornstarch, add a bit of salt and a cupful of rich milk one cup of orange juice and when cooked until smooth and thick in a double boiler add two tablespoons of butter and the well beaten yolks of two eggs. Let cook until smooth. Serve molded in individual molds with whipped cream.

Capt. Denniston Weds In Chicago

Capt. Edward Denniston, warden of the Detroit House of Correction, gave his friends a real surprise early this week when it became known that he was married last Saturday to Mrs. Rena Judd in Chicago. The bride has been prominent in social service work of the League of Catholic Women in Detroit for many years.

Cliff Bell, night club operator, and Mrs. Bell accompanied Denniston and his bride to Chicago. The party returned Sunday.

Denniston will celebrate his sixty-second birthday Dec. 13. Mrs. Denniston, a widow, is 36 years old. Her former husband Milo O. Judd, a Detroit Edison Co. designer, died last July.

Denniston met the then Mrs. Judd in 1929, when she visited the old Detroit House of Correction in connection with her social service work, he said. Captain Denniston has four children from an earlier marriage. His first wife died in 1924.

She Shatters All Butter Records

CARNATION GIRMSBY NELLIE, seven-year-old Holstein cow of the Carnation Milk farm at Carnation, Wash., has just broken the all-time record for the United States in butter producing, her mark being 1,600 pounds for one year.

Another Shower Given For Miss Drewyout

One of the loveliest affairs of last week was the co-operative buffet-supper and miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. W. B. Petz and Mrs. Caroline O. Dayton on Friday evening at the home of the former on Main street, south of complimenting Miss Marion Drewyout of Detroit, formerly of Plymouth.

The dining table was beautiful with a silver candelabra with lighted tapers set on a large mirror in the center and on either side tall vases of yellow mums. The guests were seated at small tables which had vases of mums in the same color. Following the delicious supper the guests enjoyed "500" for a time after which the parcel-postman arrived with a large clothes basket full of beautifully wrapped parcels for the guest of honor. Many and lovely were the gifts which the bride-to-be received, gifts she will enjoy throughout the years to come both for their usefulness and for remembrances they bring of the donors. Miss Drewyout previously had a linen shower given by Detroit friends and a personal shower by Plymouth friends.

The guests included Miss Drewyout, her mother, Mrs. E. J. Drewyout, her cousin, Mrs. Evelyn Valrance of Detroit, Miss Maurine Dunn, Mrs. Frank Dunn, Mrs. Max Trucks, Mrs. W. R. Freymen, Mrs. Stewart Dodge, Mrs. William Arscott, Mrs. George Cramer, Mrs. Penoyer, Mrs. O. F. Beyer, Mrs. Glenn Renwick, Mrs. Martin Moe, Mrs. Glenn Smith and Mrs. Merritt of Plymouth.

Announce Special Dividend on Dec. 16

The holders of Prudential Trading Trust Shares were advised by Prudential Investors, Inc. on November 26 of the declaration of a special dividend of 10 cents per share, payable December 16 to shareholders of record December 14.

In the same communication, shareholders were advised that the market value of securities owned was considerably in excess of their cost and constituted common and preferred stock and bonds of over 100 leading industrial, railroad and public utility corporations, all listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

This special dividend is possible due to increased earnings of the Trust since October 1 of this year and is in addition to the regular

Charles O. Ball Jr. and Miss Alice Smith Wedded in Lansing

The following write-up taken from the Lansing State Journal of the wedding of Charles O. Ball Jr. and Miss Alice Smith of Lansing will be of interest to Mr. Ball's many friends in Plymouth:

The manse of the North Presbyterian church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Alice Luella Smith and Charles Otto Ball Jr. Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The Rev. W. M. Mackay read the ring service in the living room, where palms, tall floor standards holding white chrysanthemums and cathedral candelabra, each bearing seven white tapers formed the background for the ceremony. Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" was played on the organ by Miss Mildred Koonsman.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Lucy C. Smith, and Mr. Ball is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. O. Ball, Detroit.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her grandfather, Beverly R. Carter, wore a white satin made on princess lines, the skirt ending in a short train. The gown had a high neckline with long fitted sleeves ending in points over the hand. She wore a little fitted cap of silk net, and carried an arm bouquet of Johanna Hill roses and white carnations.

Miss Lois Jane Smith, the bride's sister, was maid of honor. She wore American Beauty velvet with a floor-length skirt, and trimming of white velvet at the neck and wrists. Her flowers were a shoulder corsage of white chrysanthemums. Kingston Barr Ellis of Detroit, a cousin of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Donald and Victor Smith, cousins of the bride.

A reception for 75 guests followed immediately after the ceremony in one of the church parlors. The bride's table was centered by the wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. On both sides were vases of red roses and at each end of the table were candelabra holding white tapers, to carry out a color scheme of red and white, the colors of Olivet college where both the bride and bridegroom attended school. Smaller tables were decorated with red roses and around the room were large baskets of Michigan holly and white chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Smith received the guests in a gown of wine-colored crepe and both she and Mr. Ball, mother of the bridegroom, who wore green crepe, had corsages of bronze chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Smith was assisted by Mrs. Frank Huxtable, Mrs. I. J. Barnett, Mrs. Dan Allerton, and Miss Mildred Smith. Serving the guests were Barbara, Bethany and Beverly Sue Smith, cousins of the bride and Kathleen Barnett and Maxine Struble.

The bridal couple left following the reception for a short wedding trip to Chicago after which they will make their home in Detroit where Mr. Ball has a position with the Detroit Trust company. Mrs. Ball graduated from Central high school in 1932 and studied art at Olivet college. Mr. Ball is a graduate of Olivet with the class of 1935.

Among out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Ball, Mrs. Neils Becker, Miss Shirley Ellis, Robert Ellis, and William Dewey, all of Detroit; Dr. H. H. Theunissen and Mrs. Theunissen of Mt. Pleasant; Miss Jean Stelter and Miss Jane Stelter of Charlevoix; Mr. and Mrs. H. Jordan Felbig of Flint; Miss Irene Herbert of Olivet; Miss Bobby Lou Goman of Ann Arbor; Don Smith of East Lansing; Mr. and Mrs. Earl B. Smith and sons Victor and Donald of Holt; Mr. and Mrs. Theron F. Mills of Masson; Miss Mary Alice Spice of Charlotte, and Miss Maryellen Endres of Grand Rapids.

HE COMES TO CHURCH

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

AT LAST he came to church today;

Six neighbors carried him that way;

But, when he passed the portals straight;

Another had to swing the gate.

Another open wide the door,

For he could open it no more.

But now at last he came in search

Of something that they have in church.

The preacher spoke a helpful word,

And yet I wonder if he heard,

Or, if he heard, he understood?

His hearing now was not so good.

He was made welcome, for all men

Are always welcome, even then;

And yet he would have been, I know,

As welcome years and years ago.

We all must go to church some day,

But some of us too long delay.

The words of comfort by our hier

We could have come in life to hear.

For here to greet us waits a Friend

At the beginning, not the end.

Religion is for living—aye,

To live by, not alone to die.

Stage A Boxing Bout For Nickle

"Do you want to see a good box-in' match for a nickle?" asked a little bit of a fellow barely larger than the pair of boxing gloves he carried in his hands as he entered the Plymouth Mail office last Saturday.

"If you do, we'll put on a good one for you right here. Just five cents that's all it costs."

With the youthful spokesman was another little chap, not quite so tall, but just as enthusiastic about the boxing match as was the older lad. They carried with them boxing gloves made just for bright ambitious boys such as they were.

The financing of the big bout was arranged—the chief contenders got their settlement in advance—and would you believe it—those little lads for a few minutes showed real boxing talent.

Who were they? The eldest was Harold Shuettler, ten years old, of 724 Maple avenue, and his boxing partner was a young brother named Gerald, 8 years old.

How many other exhibitions they staged about the city is not known—but apparently there were several.

It takes originality to win these days—and if the youngsters keep it up their originality and pep are sure to carry them to success, if one was to judge by their Saturday's venture.

Gov. Fitzgerald Endorses Christmas Seal Sale

PROCLAMATION
ANNUAL SALE CHRISTMAS SEALS
1935

Be scourge that has laid its devastating hand upon mankind has exceeded the "white plague", tuberculosis, in destruction and devastation.

Countless homes have experienced the very depths of bereavement as one after another of its members have been swept away through the ravages of this destroyer. The financial loss to the nation, inflicted in interrupted cultural and economic development, has been infinitely greater than the cost of all its wars.

For centuries considered unconquerable, modern science, made effective through the generous support of the people, has demonstrated this scourge can practically be eradicated. In our own State, in the last quarter century, the death rate from tuberculosis has been lowered by fifty per cent.

The splendid results that have thus far been attained in this vitally important field, have been largely owing to the aggressive and intelligently directed efforts of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, whose activities have been financed in an important degree through the sale of Christmas Seals. All that has been gained must be lost unless this work is carried steadily forward.

Therefore, in conformity to properly established custom, I, Frank D. Fitzgerald, Governor, hereby direct the attention of the people of the Commonwealth to the Annual Sale of Christmas Seals, and urge that each one patronize the sale as generously as personal circumstances may permit.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State this twenty-ninth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five and of the Commonwealth of Michigan the thirty-fifth year.

Frank D. Fitzgerald
Governor of Michigan

ABOVE is a facsimile of the proclamation issued by Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald, endorsing the sale of tuberculosis Christmas Seals in the State of Michigan. The sale is opened officially on Thanksgiving Day and continues through to Christmas. Fifty-eight million tuberculosis Christmas seals are being distributed in the state this year by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association. The money raised in this way supports all activities of the Association.

Christmas Messages Can Be Sent At Lower Rate Says Wm. Hester

Manager William Hester of the Plymouth office of the Western Union says it isn't going to cost so much for Christmas telegrams this year. The Western Union Telegraph company announced today that in pursuance of its policy of establishing low flat rates for special occasion messages, it has filed with the Federal Communications Commission an application for permission to establish such rates for Christmas and New Year telegrams.

Flat rates of twenty-five cents for telegrams selected from fixed texts prepared by the company and of thirty-five cents for fifteen word messages of the sender's own composition, restricted to salutations and expressions of the character usually exchanged at this season are the new rates announced, and the telegraph company is making preparation to handle a much greater volume over the Christmas holidays than in any previous year.

Christmas greeting telegrams have become more popular each year since Western Union introduced the first special blank in 1914. The number of Christmas greeting telegrams far exceeded 2,000,000 in 1929 and 1930. After declining in 1931, 1932 and 1933, the total jumped upward 22 per cent last year. This was due in part to improved business conditions, business men being large users of Christmas greeting as a means of evidencing their appreciation of past patronage.

The new Christmas greeting rates comes on the heels of the introduction last month of the twenty-five cent birthday telegram and taurate telegram which permits travelers to send fifteen words relating to the conditions of the trip at a flat rate of thirty-five cents between any two Western Union offices in the United States.

Library Honors Andrew Carnegie

Andrew Carnegie was born in Dunfermline, in Scotland, on November 25, 1835. The centenary of his birth is being celebrated in the United States and all over the civilized world. In the United States, 1946 libraries have been built with Carnegie funds. His philosophy of wealth was that all surplus money should be used for public service, and he created trust funds to be managed for peace work, scientific advancement and many other worthwhile causes.

Many libraries are having a Library Progress Week with exhibits showing the growth of the library, posters exhibiting what Carnegie foundations are doing, etc. Detroit received $750,000 from Carnegie funds for libraries.

In the Wayne county branch libraries, patrons may borrow Carnegie's autobiography and a life of Carnegie, written by Burton J. Hendrick.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Payne and daughters, Deerfield, were dinner guests of their brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Payne, Sunday.

Miss Irma Kehrl, was a guest of her brother Roy Kehrl and family in Dearborn, Sunday.

Ray and Mrs. Henry Boyson, Detroit, were supper guests of Mrs. Lucia M. Stroh, Saturday.

Mrs. W. A. Kahler will entertain the Ladies Auxiliary Society of the Congregational Church, Thursday, Dec. 12 in her home for dinner at noon. This is the annual business meeting with election of officers and reading of reports.

Helmuth Ringel celebrated his 54th birthday anniversary Sunday, and his wife arranged a fine supper served to 14 guests from Northville and Plymouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Mankin and children, were supper guests of his daughter, Mrs. John Rankin in South Lyon, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Nollar, Farmington, were Sunday callers of Mrs. Laura Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Heddle and son Lester and friend, Harvey Beach, of Clyde, were Sunday dinner guests of the B. F. Shoebridge family.

Mrs. James Dickie, her mother Mrs. Geo. Foreman and Mrs. Howard Whipple, spent Friday in Detroit.

Mrs. Laura Smith, spent Saturday with the Howard Nollar family in Ferndale.

Mrs. B. F. Shoebridge accompanied her brother, A. M. Heddle and family of Clyde, to Ann Arbor calling on their sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Lyke will entertain Thanksgiving day, Mrs. Mertie Murray, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Blunk and family, Plymouth, and Mr. and Mrs. Merlyn Lyke, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Lyke and small daughter.

The Union School PTA recently held their regular meeting. After a short business session, Mrs. Earl Mack, the program chairman, introduced the Plymouth high school players. They presented two delightful plays. Mrs. C. Lewis served tea and attractively wrapped cookies. The next meeting will be held in January.

Last Friday the Salem PTA gave a hard time dance in town hall. They sold candy, frost bites doughnuts and coffee. Mrs. Cloyd Hardesty was chairman.

On Wednesday afternoon, November 27, the men and women of the Union school will present a short Thanksgiving program. A small charge is asked in order to raise money for the Tuberculosis association.

The attendance record of the lower room has dropped down considerably during the month of November. Colds have kept Patricia Waid, Jack Wixon, Homer Wixon, Roy Shipley, Julia Ann Lewis and Estella Dunbrose, who was in the hospital, confined to their beds.

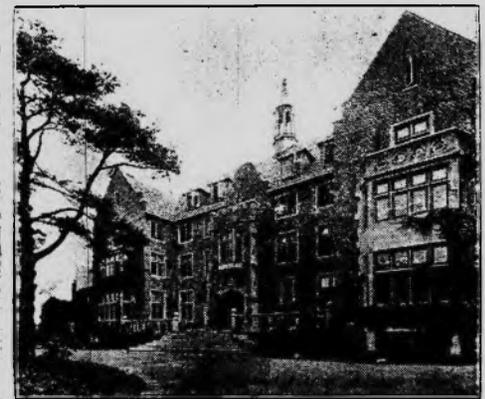

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Darrow will spend Thanksgiving day with the Frank Burgess family in Warden.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Covell and family spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Payne.

Many Are Present At Christian Science Thanksgiving Service

Exterior view of the Sanatorium of The Christian Science Benevolent Association at Brookline, Massachusetts.

The annual Thanksgiving service was held on Thursday morning at First Church of Christ, Scientist, Plymouth, with a large attendance. A feature of the occasion was the testimonies of thanksgiving for healings of sickness, sin and lack through Christian Science, told briefly and in succession by members of the congregation. Mr. Cyrus Bigler and Mrs. Merle Bennett, Readers of the local church, conducted the service.

The special Thanksgiving Lesson-Sermon read in Christian Science churches throughout the United States, compiled from the Bible and the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy, contained this passage from Hebrews 13:8, 15: "Jesus Christ the same yesterday, and today, and forever. By him therefore, let us offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually, that is, the fruit of our lips giving thanks to his name." Among the correlative passages from Science and Health was the following: "To keep the commandments of our Master and follow his example, is our proper debt to him and the only worthy evidence of our gratitude for all that he has done."

PLYMOUTH DEBATERS WIN SIXTH VICTORY

Defeating Dearborn high school's negative team in a debate held at 3:30 Tuesday, November 26, in Dearborn, Plymouth speakers again triumphed in the contest for the debate championship of the Twin Valley Association.

Plymouth has, to date, been successful over all the schools with which it competes, but will meet each school once more, upholding the opposite side of the question. The proposition discussed this season is the proposal for a government monopoly of the munition business.

In this sixth league contest, this school's debaters opposed Dearborn's negative team, including Edith Evans, Janet Bird, and John Steward. Mr. Skinner, of Wayne University, was the judge. Constructive speeches lasted eight minutes, and rebuttals four.

During the debate, the evils of the present system of munition manufacture and the possible defects of government monopoly, were discussed by both teams. Dearborn's case differed to some extent from those of other schools thus far encountered by Plymouth.

At the conclusion of the contest Mr. Skinner rendered his decision as critic judge. He stated that both teams presented an excellent analysis of the proposition and their own points in regard to it, and that in this respect the debate was difficult to decide. In regard to arguments over the need for a change from the present system, he believed that the affirmative finally gained the upper hand, and also mentioned that Plymouth's team cleverly pointed out inconsistencies in the arguments of two negative speakers. Upon the basis of these points, he awarded the victory to Plymouth.

As a result of this success, Plymouth gained an even further lead for the league debate championship, having already defeated Lincoln Park, Ypsilanti, River Rouge, and Ecorse, the latter school in two debates. Four more contests will take place in two of which Plymouth will support the affirmative and in two the negative Lincoln Park, the school holding second place, lost to Plymouth's negative in the first debate of the season. River Rouge, usually Plymouth's rival for the championship, has so far been defeated twice.

With the entire debate season only begun, considering the series of elimination debates held after the conclusion of local competitions, Plymouth has already participated in twenty-four practices six have been league events. Plymouth winning all. Eight occurred during the tournament at Milford, where Plymouth also received only victories. The remaining contests were not judged. As a result, this school has an untarnished record, and it is hoped that this perfect score can be maintained in the approaching debates.

CLASS NOTES

Miss Haul's seventh grade history and geography classes presented 'The First Thanksgiving' in plays, stories, and interesting projects. Marion Cowan and Virginia Rock, and Phyllis Campbell composed poems which were read in class. Winnie Cutler, Mary Jane Olaver, Dorothy Ebersole, and Jeanne Compton made Model Pilgrim homes. Bob Dalley, Charles Crumm and Lloyd Clark wrote and produced a Thanksgiving play.

Miss Lovewell's ninth grade English classes enjoyed a Thanksgiving program presided over by Dorothy Roe. The following people gave parts in the program: Doris Buzzard read a Thanksgiving poem, Phyllis Barrows and Keith Jolliffe read a story, Virginia Zobel and Jimmie Bassett read a story in rhyme leaving out words to be filled in by fruits, vegetables, and parts of cars, others who participated in the program were Elaine Effert, Ruth Roediger and Donald Mielbeck.

The ninth grade physical training classes are practicing shooting, faking, dribbling and pivoting for baskets. There has been a game of number nine, tenth, eleventh, and twelfth graders going out for the basketball teams that play in the gym at noon. The members of the 10B bookkeeping class are beginning the use of the cash journal as an introduction to the special journals. The 11B bookkeeping class members are completing their French and Breun sets.

The penmanship classes are gradually completing the prescribed Palmer manual and a new class will begin soon.

PLYMOUTH-YPSI TO DEBATE AGAIN

Having won seven debates in the Twin Valley Association series, Plymouth speakers, now undefeated, will uphold the affirmative of this year's proposition against Ypsilanti High's negative, at Plymouth High, 7:30, Tuesday, December 10. Plymouth has already been victorious over Ypsilanti's affirmative team.

The Plymouth speakers will be supporting the affirmative for the last time in the Twin Valley tournament this season, as the two remaining contests this school will take the negative side. The question deals with the proposed government monopoly of the munitions industry.

OLDER BOYS MEET OVER THANKSGIVING

One thousand boys from all parts of Michigan, including six Plymouth students, attended the thirty-third annual Older Boys' Conference held at Jackson over the Thanksgiving vacation. The organizations which were represented from Plymouth were Hi-Y, represented by Jack Sessions; Epworth League, represented by Alva Elzerman; The Methodist Sunday school, represented by Tom Brock and Lester Upton; and the Presbyterian Sunday school, represented by Elton Bakewell and Jack Birchall.

Dr. W. W. Whitehouse of Albion College was the first main speaker of the conference. He outlined a display of her pet hobby which is standing around gossiping. Mr. Latture insisted that she be awarded two thumb tacks since hers was the tackiest hobby by there. She also won third prize in the knitting contest.

Dr. Thomas Graham of Oberlin College the second speaker pointed out three basic urges by which a man lives the urge to know himself in a significant way, the urge to find a job which is distinctive to himself, and the urge for security. In a second speech, Dr. Graham told how to achieve happiness and success, drawing his conclusions from the life of Paul.

Dr. Howard McClusky of the University of Michigan spoke of the subject of the healthy personality which he said is marked by a high resistance to the shocks of life and by a capacity for joy with a surplus of energy. This sort of personality is usually found in a person having creative and constructive interests, generous and unselfish associations with the opposite sex, and an integrated or unified goal in life.

Dr. William Spencer, president of Franklin University, said that all things of life are measured by standards and that setting the standard for our own life, we should aim at perfection, even though this be an impossible goal. George Campbell of Cincinnati led singing at all of the sessions and proved to be the ablest and most popular song leader ever brought to an Older Boys' Conference.

SUPERSTITION IS THEME OF PROM

Capitalizing on the date of the Senior Prom, Friday the thirteenth, the class of '36 is planning decorations for this social function which will be based entirely upon well known superstitions. Giantic horseshoe arches have been constructed at the entrance and a magic wishing well has been designed to furnish refreshments to the guests. A rain-bow with its accompanying pot of gold will furnish the background for the orchestra. Panels which illustrate such superstitions as 'red sun tonight, sailors delight' are to be on a base which pictures the sky and its sparkling stars, comets, and meteors. Other fun foil stars will hang from the ceiling above silver balloons. In addition to the panel pictures, boys picking daisy petals to test affections and such pet ideas, the reception room is to be decorated by a number of large four leaf clovers which will list other superstitions.

In this magical setting guests will dance to the music of Gene Regis' Recording Orchestra. This orchestra has played at leading restaurants in New York and Detroit including Fifth Avenue Penthouse, Blossom Health, and Saks. It plays regularly over station WXYZ and will be accompanied by Dorothy Mason who sings for station WWJ.

PERSONAL MENTION

We can all be thankful for our Thanksgiving vacation which allowed four days of rest to our teachers. Now we will take more to jangle their nerves for most of the time can remember the good times they had. Just to prove it, we'll tell on some of them. Miss Waldorf went home to Trenton, Miss Carr visited her brother at Crosswell. Miss Wells went home to Buchanan, Miss Piegel spent Thanksgiving at Sturgis with her brother, Dr. S. A. Piegel. Miss Lickly went home to Hudson, and Miss Kees ate Thanksgiving dinner at home in Rochester, but after that, she spent the remainder of the vacation in Detroit visiting friends. Miss Allen spent part of her vacation in Royal Oak and Miss Lovewell went to New York City to have the guest dinner with friends. She really had something to be thankful for.

The students also had a good time eating turkey and doing other things to make themselves thankful. Arlene Soth was hostess to several of her friends last Friday evening. Shirley Sorenson, Betty Smith, Doris Buzzard, Bernice Lawson, Dorothy Rose, Phyllis Barrows, Betty Korb, Bob Walker, Robert Lorenz, Joe DeKroub, Keith Jolliffe, Bob Kenyon, Rockwell Smith, James Stevens, and Earl Beckwith all enjoyed bunco and other games.

Richard Gilles spent Thanksgiving vacation at Saginaw. Ernestine Wilson had as her guest on Thanksgiving her cousin, Miss Eleanore Van Dorp, of Detroit.

Ellen Nystrom and Charlotte Jolliffe were guests in Detroit on Sunday evening. The girls also got together on Tuesday night when Charlotte stayed with Ellen. Ellen Mulry and Betty Griffiths went to the city to see Santa Claus. We all hope they made a good impression.

Katherine Kaletsky went to Detroit Thursday evening with relatives who had spent the day in her home. She stayed in Detroit for the rest of the vacation. Marguerite Mattinson and Norma Hewlett spent the weekend with Mrs. Bobeck in Royal Oak.

Madeline Salow, Ruth Bichy, Marion Krumm, and Jean Roe, all started their vacation off right by attending the Northville Prom last Wednesday night. Elizabeth Vealey and Marion Krumm spent the weekend with Elizabeth's sister Geraldine at New Hudson.

At the Holdsworth and Weltha Sells had supper at Astri Hegge's home and Mary spent the night with Astri last Friday. Astri Hegge had lunch with Mary Holdsworth at Mary's home on Saturday.

Elizabeth Hegge went to Detroit Friday night to see 'The Great Waltz'. Althea Shoemaker spent Friday night with Norma Coffin. Carol Nichol was the guest of Dorrine Joyce at the University of Detroit football game Thanksgiving morning. Muriel, Carol, and Gloria Nichol spent the weekend in Detroit.

Elizabeth Hegge spent Wednesday night with Elizabeth Whipple and on Saturday the girls went to Detroit to see 'The Great Waltz'. Madeline Salow and Ruth Bichy spent Friday in Detroit. Betty Sands visited school Wednesday.

Gwendolyn Dunlop went to Ann Arbor with her parents Sunday where they visited different buildings on the University Campus including the Museum. Jean and Ruth Roediger spent Thanksgiving Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dickie in North Farmington.

JUNIORS PRESENT PLAY TONIGHT

If you did not come to see the first performance of the Junior play, 'Huckleberry Finn', be sure not to miss the final presentation, to be given tonight in the high school auditorium beginning at 8 o'clock. Imagine Betty Parker attempting to ensnare the Reverend Jones, or Norma Jean Roe, as Aunt Polly, falling in love with Russell Magraw, who plays the part of Huck's father. John Finn, Huck and Tom Sawyer will amuse you with their lively pranks—letting loose mice in the church and selling Fred Raymond (Hal Horton) lessons in love. For an evening of hilarious entertainment be sure not to miss this comedy.

This is the cast for tonight: Aunt Polly, Norma Jean Roe; Ruth Watson, Georgina Schultz; Mary Jane, Barbara Nutting; Fred Raymond, Hal Horton; Melba White, Ellen Mulry; Clara Wopfinger, Betty Parker; Amy Wopfinger, Madolyn; Huckleberry Finn, David Hair; John Finn, Russell Magraw; and Tom Sawyer, George Kenyon.

THROUGH A Woman's Eyes

By JEAN NEWTON

"IT DOESN'T MATTER"

"IT DOESN'T matter!" said a very charming woman in a very trying situation which involved a tremendous disappointment to her. The people responsible for her disappointment were waiting in embarrassment to see how she would take it. The atmosphere was surcharged with uneasiness and gloom.

But, like a magic wand were those words, "It doesn't matter." They raised the pall of gloom, everybody breathed easier, a great deal of unpleasantness that might have been avoided.

The point is that, as this woman said, "It doesn't matter." It was more than a gesture. The others were convinced that it didn't matter, and were so much happier about something which at that point couldn't be helped. And perhaps her saying so convinced the woman herself that it did not matter, for she seemed far too contented and cheerful for a disappointed person.

What a gift that, being able to say convincingly, "It doesn't matter," even being able to believe when things turn out differently than we had expected, hoped, desired, that "It doesn't matter!"

If there should be one panacea to create smooth sailing in this world of struggle it would be that. There is so much telling of how much the things matter which have not turned out to suit us. And to no end but some one's pain. For there will always be mistakes, shortcomings, insufficiency on the part of some one—things that cannot be helped, once they have happened; they are things which can be dwelt upon until their significance in harm and unhappiness is many times multiplied, or they can be minimized and forgotten, and so produce the least possible chagrin and pain, as in the case of the woman who was able to say convincingly, "It doesn't matter."

The Story of the Bible Told in Pictures

Christ Before Caiaphas.—After the soldiers had taken Jesus, according to John, they led Him before Annas, at Jerusalem. "Then the band and the captain and officers of the Jews took Jesus, and bound Him. And led Him away to Annas first; for he was father-in-law to Caiaphas, which was the high priest that same year. Now Caiaphas was he, which gave counsel to the Jews, that it was expedient that one man should die for the people. The high priest then asked Jesus of His disciples, and of His doctrine. Jesus answered him, I spake openly to the world; I ever taught in the synagogue, and in the temple, whither the Jews assemble; and in secret have said nothing: Why askest thou Me? ask them which heard Me, what I have said. Now Annas had sent him bound unto Caiaphas the high priest. And Simon Peter stood and warmed himself. They said therefore unto him, art not thou also one of his disciples? He denied it, and said, I am not. One of the servants of the high priest, being his kinsman whose ear Peter cut off, said, did not I see thee in the garden with Him? Peter then denied again; and immediately the cock crew."—John 18: 12-27. This illustration is from Merian's story of the Bible in pictures, engraved in 1625-1630.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Walter Nichol, Pastor
Christmas preparations are going forward in the Sunday school. Next Sunday evening at 6:30 p. m. the Young People will hear a report from Elton Bakewell and Jack Birchall of the recent Older Boys' Conference at Jackson.

Sunday evening, Dec. 15th at 7:30 p. m. the Young Peoples Society will hold a meeting to which everyone is invited. There will be a beautiful candle lighting service in which twelve young people will share and this will be followed by an address by Walter L. Jenkins, field representative for Young People's Work in the Synod of Michigan.

The Busy Women's Class enjoyed an interesting meeting at the manse on Tuesday of this week. There was a fine dinner. The program centered around Dr. Grenfell and his work in the Labrador.

A box of clothing and toys was sent this week to the Community Center in Caspian, Michigan.

Mrs. Crumie's class has collected, reconditioned and forwarded a considerable number of toys to the Delray Community House.

Universal Bible Sunday will be observed in this church next Sunday. Four hundred years ago the first Bible in the English language was published.

The Woman's Auxiliary will meet on Wednesday Dec. 11th at 2:30 p. m. Reports of the bazaar and dinner will be presented and an interesting program is being arranged.

THE DAY OF LEFTOVERS

IN EVERY well-regulated home there will be nice food which should not be slighted because it is left over. One housekeeper cleverly gets everything eaten by serving a tray with small dishes, nicely warmed and seasoned and each member of the family may have a choice. The food never goes begging.

In these days of vegetable plates one may have a hot vegetable plate with a few spoons of peas, beans, tomatoes, cabbage or onions. Such a meal is often preferred by those who realize that they eat too much meat.

Leftover baked potatoes make most delicious creamed potatoes, having quite a different flavor from the freshly cooked or boiled ones.

One large grapefruit when carefully peeled and the sections (minus their covering) placed on tender lettuce with a sprinkling of shredded almonds and a good dressing, make the best of salad.

By the way, our beauty dietitians tell us that a dozen almonds a day with an apple, banana or a glass of fruit juice is one of the best luncheons for beautifying the complexion. The almonds must be carefully masticated.

Rice and Meat Mold.
Mix two cups of boiled rice with one-half teaspoon of salt and line a buttered mold with two-thirds of the mixture. Mix two cups of chopped cooked meat with one cup of soft bread crumbs, salt, paprika, two tablespoons each of chopped onions, celery and parsley; add two beaten eggs, one-half cup of milk and pour into the mold. Cover with the remaining rice. Over the top place a thick waxed paper. Set into hot water and bake in a moderate oven 35 minutes. Serve with:

Tomato Sauce
Take two cups of tomatoes, two slices of onion, two bay leaves, two celery leaves, four whole cloves, one teaspoon of salt, one-fourth teaspoon of paprika, one-half teaspoon of sugar and one cup of water. Cook together slowly for 20 minutes. Strain and add to three tablespoons of butter and four of flour that have been well blended. Cook until creamy.

Anniversary Is Near Of Plymouth's Biggest Hit in Home Talent Minstrel Shows—What The Plymouth Mail Said About the Event

Beautiful Belles of Blackville Long Regarded As The Best Group Of Home Talent Actresses and Singers Plymouth Ever Had.

When Saturday, December 21 arrives, it will have been just 41 years ago since "The Beautiful Belles of Blackville," a group of Plymouth young women, made one of the biggest hits in amateur theatricals Plymouth had known up to that time, or since, say many who have lived here constantly during all of these years.

The other day Mrs. Karl Hillmer, who well remembers the various productions staged in Plymouth and Northville, brought to The Plymouth Mail office, photographs of the group made on one of the nights of its biggest performance, as well as write-ups of the event in The Plymouth Mail and The Northville Record.

Mrs. Hillmer, who was formerly Mrs. Carrie Brown and was one of the "end men" in the play, states that the show was staged by the young women to raise money to buy a fire bell for the village. Plymouth had had a destructive fire a year or so previous and it badly needed a fire alarm. Sufficient funds were raised from the sale of tickets to purchase and present to the village the old fire bell that served the community so many years.

So interesting to many of the other residents will be the write-up in The Mail of the show, that it is being re-printed in full, as follows:

The girls minstrel show has come and gone and will long be remembered by those who attended and by the girls themselves.

It surpassed all expectations, and many were the flattering comments made thereon. For days before the show it was on every one's lips, and many guesses were made as to the order of the show. But when the curtain rolled up on Thursday evening a surprised murmur passed over the immense crowd that seemed to carry with it such an approval as the girls desired and inspired them at once to proceed with the vim and earnestness possible.

Long before the hour for opening the doors had arrived, the crowd began to gather at the hall and at eight o'clock every nook and corner was filled and the boys had to find positions in the wings. The girls used every precaution in seating the crowd so as to avoid mistakes. Their efforts proved successful. Not one complaint was heard or an error made.

The applause began when the curtain rolled up and did not wear through the whole performance only, possibly, at times when the people had laughed or applauded so hard as almost to fatigue them and were not able to give vent to their appreciations. But that would only be temporary and they would again fall into line with renewed efforts.

The "end men" proved that they were fully capable of carrying out their parts and won much applause. Mrs. E. L. Riggs sang "Swim out O'Grady" and was warmly applauded as was Mrs. F. B. Park, in her solo "Mandy." Miss Maud Sherwood sang "Willie and the Indians or the Pale Face Boy," which proved to be a button buster, and she was encored twice.

Her second commenced with a sketch called "Patchwork," and the following specialties were introduced. Miss McGill's leader was a success and kept the audience in laughter. Mrs. Gale gave a piano solo and Mrs. Riggs a violin solo, followed by a quadrille which was the best comical act of the whole and the audience went wild with applause.

Mrs. Gale gave a piano solo and Mrs. Riggs a violin solo, followed by a quadrille which was the best comical act of the whole and the audience went wild with applause.

The second night was a repetition of the first, save some new and good jokes. The girls were, however, more at home and rendered their parts with less fear than was shown the first evening.

Most every one that attended both evenings agree that the second night was the better. The characters were as follows: Interlocutor—Miss Hammerhandle, Miss Pelham. Bones—Birdie Blennerhassett, Miss Penniman. Dina Dewdrop, Miss Maud Sherwood.

"The Gold is in the Pumpkin"—Pumpkins to a whole lot of people we know mean just those heaps of golden globes that are piled by roadside fruit stands as they motor through the country. All very pretty, but really not much use. Unless, of course, you take into consideration the fun children have carving them into grinning jack o'lanterns that leer at one on Halloween. They're terribly wrong if that is all Pumpkins mean to them. They have a dozen uses.

A good, large-sized pumpkin that shades from bronze to burnished gold makes a stunning centerpiece for the dining room. The table is then surrounded with bright-skinned apples, deep purple grapes and a banana or two. We don't know of a better way to give a horn of plenty air to one's Thanksgiving table than this. And the insides are used for the buffet and ten delicious dishes. Pies, first of all. Is there anything quite so good as a generous slice of spicy pumpkin pie topped off with a big gob of whipped cream? Guaranteed to add at least a hundred and fifty calories to the meal and ten times that amount of eating pleasure. Then there are pumpkin cookies, biscuits and custards. All just as delicious as they can be. Here are some prize pumpkin recipes.

Pumpkin Pie 1 1/2 cups cooked pumpkin (canned pumpkin is just as good) 1/2 cup sugar 1 teaspoon cinnamon 1/2 teaspoon ginger 1/4 teaspoon cloves 1 teaspoon salt 3 eggs

1 unbaked pie shell 2 cups milk Put pumpkin in a heavy frying pan and cook, stirring occasionally until most of the liquid has evaporated. There should then be about 1 cup of pumpkin. Cool. Add sugar, cinnamon, ginger, cloves, salt and well-beaten egg yolks. Mix well. Add milk gradually. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into pastry-lined pie pan. Bake in a very hot oven (425 degrees) 10 minutes. Reduce heat to moderate (375 degrees) and bake 25 minutes, or until filling is firm.

Pumpkin Cookies 1 1/2 cups brown sugar 1/2 cup shortening 2 eggs, well beaten 1 1/2 cups pumpkin (cooked) 1 teaspoon vanilla 1/2 teaspoon salt 1/2 teaspoon ginger 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon 1 teaspoon lemon extract 2 1/2 cups flour 4 teaspoons baking powder 1 cup raisins 1 cup chopped nut meats Cream sugar and shortening; add eggs, pumpkin and seasonings. Sift flour and baking powder, combine with sugar mixture. Add fruit and nuts and blend thoroughly. Drop from teaspoon to a well-oiled baking sheet. Bake 15 minutes in a hot oven (400 degrees). Makes three dozen good sized cookies. Golden Harvest Biscuits 2 cups flour 1/2 teaspoon salt 2 tablespoons sugar 2 tablespoons baking powder 5 tablespoons shortening 1/2 cup cooked pumpkin 1/2 cup sifted flour, salt, sugar and baking powder. Cut in the shortening. Add pumpkin and mix well. Add milk. Toss lightly on a floured board and cut with a small-size biscuit cutter. Bake in a hot oven (450 degrees) from 15 to 20 minutes. Serve at once with loads of creamy, yellow butter.

Golfers Are Invited To Florida Contest

Daytona Beach, Florida, will be a winter mecca for the Northern golfer, when the Second Annual Florida Senior Golf Tournament is held March 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7, 1936.

This contest for veterans, to be played on the courses of the Daytona Beach Golf and Country Club, is being sponsored by the Rotary Club of Daytona Beach, Florida. Prizes in excess of $500 will be at stake for winners and runners-up in the event. All persons 50 years or over will be eligible to compete for these valuable awards.

A gala program of entertainment is being planned for the contestants throughout the week. Lured by the Southern climate, excellent courses, and keen competition, advance inquiries indicate that several hundred will take part.

Question Box By ED WYNN The Perfect Fool

Dear Mr. Wynn: I am a girl sixteen years of age. I have just left school to help earn money for my family. I would like to be an elevator operator. Can you please tell me the qualifications necessary to apply for a position to run an elevator? Sincerely, LIPSON DOWNS.

Answer: To run an elevator you must be a good "story teller."

Dear Mr. Wynn: There is a chap in my class at college about twenty-two years of age and he has the most peculiar habit I have ever seen. Whenever I look at him he always has something on his nose. For instance, one minute he is juggling a feather on his nose, the next time I look at him he has a book on his nose, at another time he'll be strumming a tune on the bridge of his nose with the tips of his fingers. Can you tell me what in the world his idea is? AL LOOMIS.

Answer: He must be one of those fellows who likes to have fun "on his own hook."

Dear Mr. Wynn: What does a "Union" mean when its men go on strike for more money and shorter hours? Yours truly, BELLA GATE.

Answer: That means the men want more money and more time to spend it in.

Dear Mr. Wynn: When a business concern has a "failure" there are generally two kinds of creditors. Just a plain creditor and a preferred creditor. Can you tell me the difference? Sincerely, I. M. STUCK.

Answer: A preferred creditor knows immediately that he gets nothing, while a plain creditor has to wait 60 to 90 days to find it out.

Husbands Hunt, Wives Go South

If Plymouth deer hunters have any idea that their wives are going to sit around and just keep the home fires burning while they—the deer hunters—are up north having a good time, they have another guess coming.

Six wives of well known Plymouth deer hunters just as soon as their husbands were safely tucked away in their hunting clothing and camp blankets, piled into automobiles and away they went to St. Petersburg, Florida where they remained for 12 days during the hunting season.

The party included Mrs. Mary Bengert, Mrs. Jewell Smith, Mrs. Florence Simmons, Mrs. Winifred Downing, Mrs. Evelyn Brocklehurst and Mrs. Carol Barnes of Dearborn.

As one of the wives said to The Plymouth Mail (she didn't want her name used), "No one knew what we had in mind, except one of the hunters, Bill Downing, who knew there wasn't any deer up north. We covered over 3,000 miles in going to Florida and back. Our destination was St. Petersburg where we remained for a brief time. We enjoyed balmy weather in the south and returned home through Jacksonville. While the boys were up north looking for deer we were down south having a glorious time. They came home with disappointed looks and we came home with smiles and a southern tan."

BOUQUETS

Dear Editor:
Tonquish Lodge No. 32 of the Independent Order of Odd-Fellows wishes to thank you for the splendid cooperation shown by you and your staff in helping us as guests of Mr. and Mrs. "Honeymoon Island" a success.

Respectfully yours,
Floyd B. Sherman,
Rec. Sec'y.

Dear Editor:
I thank you very much for what you said in your Plymouth Mail of November 29, 1935, regarding "Politicians Stirred." I agree with you that no one has been held accountable for it all.

I have been working on this swindle and fraud since March 12, 1932. Plymouth attorneys know of it, so do all the Michigan governors since the said date, also all the Attorney Generals and the prosecuting attorneys of Wayne county.

If the State of Michigan will give me a chance, I will help Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald, Attorney General David H. Crowley and Prosecuting Attorney Duncan C. McCrea to put their hands right on the people who are accountable for this plight and who have allowed the citizens of Plymouth and those of the State of Michigan to be swindled out of their life savings by holding companies, through sale of stocks and bonds by misrepresentation and fraud and by transferring of stocks, which Michigan securities commission knows all about.

Anything you can do regarding this matter will be greatly appreciated by the Plymouth stockholders.

Very truly yours,
Geo. F. McPhee,
Plymouth, Mich.

Dear Editor:
I read your lead editorial in the Plymouth Mail under date of November 26th with considerable interest, and wish to congratulate you for bringing the possibilities of City beautification and development in connection with the Middle Rouge Parkway so forcibly to the attention of the readers of the Plymouth Mail.

Since this development has been under way in the vicinity of Plymouth, it has been apparent that some sort of a plan should be worked out, such as you have suggested in your editorial, and I believe your paper can be the leading factor in developing public opinion along these lines and a civic pride which will make possible one of the most beautiful residential communities in Wayne county, if not in the entire state.

During my recent vacation, I had the opportunity of spending several days in a suburb of New York City located in the Westchester County Park area, which is a similar development to the Middle Rouge Parkway. Stories were told to me of the untiring efforts of civic minded citizens who had planned the development of that entire area for a great many years. This area, now one of the beauty spots of the East and everyone located within the vicinity of the development has profited by the improvement. In one township alone it is said that the valuation has increased many times, due to the fact that residential development of a higher type has followed the development of the Parkway. The increase in the valuations alone in the vicinity of the Parkway has been much greater than the cost of the work to the taxpayers.

In Westchester County, New York, upwards of eighty millions of dollars have been spent on the County Parkway and the valuation of property has increased many times the amount.

Do not mean that the property already developed has had its valuation increased, but that the new developments in the area have added to the valuation of every municipality so that taxes are really less on the developed property which existed before the improvement was made.

I believe that, by inaugurating a logical plan and adhering unselfishly to this plan over a number of years, everyone in this whole area will be materially benefited.

An organization composed of leading citizens of Plymouth and other municipalities and townships along the Parkway operating for the interests of the whole area can accomplish unlimited benefits. Such an organization should function only for the best interests of the whole area and all selfish interests should be eliminated. Such a group would naturally result along these lines with proper leadership and backing.

You should be complimented for taking the first step toward such a general plan and it is hoped that you will continue with an editorial and news campaign until the above objective is reached.

Very truly yours,
L. P. Cookingham,
City Manager.

Charon, the Ferryman
In classic myth, Charon was the ferryman of the Styx. Charon's toll is a coin, equivalent to about a penny, which was placed in the mouth or hand of the dead by the ancient Greeks to pay Charon for ferrying the spirit across the River Styx to the Elysian fields.

Soft Shell Crabs
Soft shell crabs are those that have cast off their old hard shell by the natural process of growth. The soft shell crabs on the market are caught soon after moulting.

Chinese Apartment Houses
Chinese apartment houses are different from the foreign variety, as they consist of a number of rooms built around an opening to a central court.

The Intellectual Leaders
The intellectual leaders of men are the men of vision, with the power of seeing more than others see, for seeing ahead of one's fellows.
