

Crowds From Here See The Northville Fair Attractions

Interesting Program Is Scheduled For Today And Tomorrow

With a large crowd in attendance, the city celebrated Plymouth Day at the Northville-Wayne County fair yesterday, but two more days of the fair remain in which many from here are expected to enjoy the varied attractions. Plymouth will be represented in the baseball finals Saturday afternoon when the winner of the Perfection Laundry-Schrader Haggerty game meets the winner of the South Lyon-Garden City contest.

The program for today includes horse races at 1 o'clock for three-year-olds and under and 2:27 pacers, 2:22 pacers and 2:22 trotters. The baseball game between South Lyon and Garden City is scheduled for 2 o'clock and there will be free acts and a fireworks display in the evening. The Saturday afternoon races will be harness races, free-for-all pace or trot and 2:14 trot. These will be followed by the senior horse show and baseball game. As on previous evenings, free acts and fireworks will be provided for all those attending.

The horse show is expected to be one of the outstanding events on the fair program. Those in charge include Harry B. Clark and Mrs. M. Brown-Davey, superintendents, Jack Nelson, chairman, and Russell Walker, secretary. The racing events are being superintended by H. H. Hamilton, with a total of $2,400 offered in purses. Harry C. Robinson, of Plymouth, acts as starter. A post he has held for 20 years, Fred E. Van Alst is clerk of the course, S. W. McCall, of Millford, Harry Rainey, of Birmingham, and D. W. Tryon, of Plymouth, are judges, and Mr. Hamilton, William Rattenbury, of Northville, and D. T. Richmond, of Fowlerville, are timers.

In addition to the special events, there are many fine exhibits which are attracting favorable comments from fair-goers. The various displays are under the direction of the following people: Draft horses, E. M. Starkweather and Ray Honsinger; saddle horses, H. B. Clark and John Nelson; cattle, Howard Whipple; swine and sheep, Carmi Benton; poultry and pet stock, G. E. Richardson and A. E. Fuller; agriculture, Maynard Mott; horticulture, Ralph Foreman; Larnie Bogart and Loren Flint; woman's department, Mrs. Kittie Harman; junior department, Marguerite Eckhardt; concessions, William Forney; free attractions, L. C. Stewart; speed, H. H. Hamilton, E. M. Starkweather, William Rattembury, and Lou Bullen; educational, R. H. Amerman; publicity, Charles Altman and Glenn Richardson; home economics extension work, Miss Emma DuBord; policing, Mark Seeley; and main building, Orlov Owen.

There are also, of course, all the midway attractions which have come to be associated with fairs, and are a necessary part of the atmosphere.

And This Fight Bet Was Actually Paid!

Four Plymouth men made a bet before the Sharkey-Louis fight last week. Messrs. Cripe and Lourella betting on Louis and Pahl and Miller on Sharkey. It was agreed that the losers should wheel the winners in a wheelbarrow from the Andrine hotel up town and around the park. Mr. Johnson, who also bet on Sharkey, had to wheel the wheelbarrow back. Mr. Lourella was not present to receive the ride, so his brother-in-law, Mr. Sambrone, took his place. A case of beer, furnished by Mr. Sambrone, was taken along in case the participants should be thirsty at the end of the ride. A sign bearing the inscription "We won, Sharkey lost" also was in evidence on the wheelbarrow, which was followed by a number of cars with honking horns.

It is difficult to tell which pair was most tired, but Cripe and Sambrone have felt like eating their meals from the mantle, and it is safe to say Pahl and Miller will be more careful on their next fight bet.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Root returned recently from Lake Beulah, Wisconsin, where they visited Mr. Root's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Cumliffe, at their summer home.

Daredevil Driver Is Attraction At Fair

Capt. Bob Ward, daredevil stunt driver and premier airplane and automobile stunt man from Hollywood, will give another exhibition of daredevil driving Saturday afternoon at the Northville-Wayne County fair. His first performance Thursday afternoon drew rounds of applause from the crowd.

Capt. Ward, who doubles for the famous Hollywood stars in crack-ups and crashes of all descriptions, has an astonishing assortment of death-defying stunts guaranteed to produce genuine thrills, yet it is all in a day's work for him and he has been at it, without mishap, for 13 years. He is brought here under the auspices of E. J. Allison, Chevrolet dealer.

Final Date For Registering Near

Qualified voters of Plymouth and the surrounding territory are urged to register soon in order to cast their votes in the primary election September 15.

In the city of Plymouth, those who already are registered will not be required to re-register at this time, but electors who are eligible to vote and have not registered must do so at the office of the city clerk by Saturday, September 5. Those qualified to vote are citizens of the United States over 21 years of age who have resided in the state for six months and in the city for 20 days previous to the day of election.

Registrations were taken by Norman C. Miller, Plymouth township clerk, Tuesday at Mastick's garage, and by Harry S. Wolfe, Livonia township clerk, Wednesday at his office, on the Five Mile road.

Legion Officers To Be Installed

New officers of the Myron H. Beals post, headed by Harold Anderson, commander-elect, will be installed at the regular meeting Tuesday evening at the Legion hall in Newburg.

Final reports of the year's activities and details of the national convention in Cleveland will be given at this time, according to Melvin Guthrie, retiring commander. Several interesting speakers are expected to be present.

The regular Legion dances will be resumed Saturday, September 12. The post has completed its additions to the Newburg hall and has received many compliments on the improvements. A new stage has been built in upstairs, a screened porch downstairs, and the dance floor space has been increased 20 per cent. In addition the whole building has been given a new coat of paint.

Schools Will Open On September 8

Vacations of Plymouth young people will be over Tuesday, September 8, the day after Labor day, when the public schools will open the fall term of the 1936-37 school year.

Registration and classification will be held throughout next week, Superintendent George A. Smith has announced. Superintendent Smith's office in the high school will be open each day from 1 to 4 p. m. from Monday through Friday, as will the office of Principal Claude J. Dykhouse. New students who have not before attended Plymouth high school are requested to consult Mr. Dykhouse for classification.

Five courses of study are offered by the high school, academic and college preparatory, general, commercial, home economics and agriculture.

New teachers in the school system this year are Alvin Balden, of Romeo, who will teach history; Riley Lynch, of Bangor, agriculture; Miss Dora Gallimore, of Plymouth, music; Earnest Beridge, of St. Charles, fifth and sixth grades at Central grade school; and Miss Hazel Rathburn, of Plymouth, third and fourth grades at Starkweather.

Grade school children are to report for their first day of school on September 8.

Casler Stevens is enjoying a two weeks vacation in northern Michigan.

Twenty of High School Graduates To Enter College

Largest Proportion In Several Years Plan Higher Education

To date 20 graduates of Plymouth high school have signified their intention of entering some college or university this fall. Principal Claude J. Dykhouse has announced.

Of this number 18 are members of the class of 1936, which includes 106 graduates. This is the largest proportion of graduates from any one class to go on to higher institutions of learning in the past several years, an evidence of better financial conditions in the community.

Those planning to go to Ann Arbor to attend the University of Michigan are Roland Rhead, Jack Kinsey, Harry Fischer, Gwendolyn Dunlop, David Gates, George Staszni and Matthew McClelland.

New students from here at Michigan State Normal college in Ypsilanti will be Kenneth Thumme, Jean Rosieger, Marian Hix and Dorothy Metzger. At Michigan State college in East Lansing will be Jean Brocklehurst, Alice Williams, Richard Miller, Donald Thrall, William Holdsworth, Norman Kincaid and Wilbur Kincaid. Elizabeth Whipple plans to enter Antioch college.

In this list are the valedictorian and salutatorian of this year's class, Miss Dunlop and Miss Rosieger. Mr. McLellan and Miss Metzger were graduated previous to this June.

In addition to these young people, several more have enrolled for work in various business colleges, Mr. Dykhouse states.

Ground Aviation School Planned

Under the auspices of the W.P.A. a ground aviation school will be conducted here during the 20 weeks of the school year, with classes in the afternoon for high school students and in the evening for adults.

Upon completion of the work, high school students will be given regular credit as well as the certificates granted by the state department of aeronautics for the successful completion of the work. The course includes the study of the construction of planes, airplane engines and the theory of flight. Edward Holleran, who has been conducting similar classes at Cass Technical high school in Detroit, will be the instructor.

Similar courses are being arranged in Northville by Ward Stone, who has been associated with Mr. Holleran at Cass Tech.

High school students will not be charged any tuition, but a small fee will be charged adults who enroll for the course. Applications for admission to the adult class should be made as soon as possible at The Plymouth Mail office, so that classes may be arranged to start the first week of school.

Storm Here Ends Long Dry Period

Although we have heard of no "rainmakers" in the vicinity of Plymouth, nearly everyone was wishing for a rainy day, literally speaking of course, especially another hot spell similar to the one in July threatened. So when the severe electrical storm of Tuesday put in an appearance, there were more favorable comments on the weather than are usually heard on a sunshiny spring morning.

The storm Tuesday and the subsequent gray rainy days which followed broke one of the driest and hottest summers known in this vicinity. While farmers regret that the rain did not come a little earlier, when it would have been of more aid to the crops, they are thankful for what good it has done.

Evelyn Starkweather leaves Sunday on a two week's vacation to the Adirondack mountains, accompanying Mr. and Mrs. Abram Mason of Detroit.

Miss Doris Hammill has just completed a week's engagement as violinist with the Dearborn Inn Trio. She took the place of the musical director who has been on vacation.

Interesting Tale Of Western Trip Told By Jewells

Terrible Drought And Beautiful Scenery Are Reported

In an extensive trip which lasted seven weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Jewell covered about 10,000 miles to the west coast and back visiting some of the most famous, interesting and beautiful spots in the western part of the United States. They reached home the first part of this week, with many tales to tell of their experiences.

"We started out during that terrible July heat spell, and experienced the worst of it in South Dakota," Mr. Jewell said in an interview with a representative of The Mail. "The temperature went as high as 115 and 117 degrees, and the whole of the state is burned up—there are no leaves on the trees and the grass is brown. In many places we saw cows and young calves lying dead in the fields, and many people in the state were emigrating to Iowa and the Northwest."

The western part of Iowa was pretty well burned up by the drought by the time they reached it on their return trip. Mr. Jewell stated, and the corn crop there all gone. In the eastern parts of Washington and Oregon, however, he reported that they drove through downpours of rain and that the outlook for the grain crop there was especially good. Both Minnesota and Wisconsin seemed to be in fairly good condition despite the heat, according to Mr. Jewell.

In the Dakotas the Jewells visited the famous Black Hills district and liked it so well they stayed several days. While there they went through the mine at Lead, said to be the largest gold mine in the world, but Mr. Jewell explained very regretfully that the authorities were not passing out any souvenirs that day.

From the Dakotas they went into Wyoming, going first to Sheridan to attend a real western rodeo. Then, instead of taking the regular highway west, they went down into the Shell Creek canyon, on the other side of the Big Horn mountains, for what Mr. Jewell describes as one of the most beautiful trips he has ever taken—over roads that are open only about two and a half months out of the year.

Six days in Yellowstone came next, during which Mr. and Mrs. Jewell "did" the park in approved style. Then came one of the highlights of the whole trip, according to Mr. Jewell. They went south of Yellowstone about 50 miles into the Teton mountain region, where very few tourists go, and found what they say is the only place where the old West still exists. The area is located on one side of the Jackson Hole, and is noted for good fishing and grand people, as Mr. Jewell puts it most enthusiastically, adding that although they planned to stay just one day, they remained for six.

Saturday night in Jackson, as Mr. Jewell describes it, sounds like a few pages from a Zane Grey novel. The inhabitants of the town turn out in full force, both men and women dressed in blue jeans, brightly colored silk shirts, sombrero hats and colored handkerchiefs around their necks, and the town is wide open.

The same costumes serve them for church the next day, says Mr. Jewell. The Jewells attended services in the little log edifice, and viewed 80 saddle horses hitched outside, a huge lumbering old stage coach with a span of four horses, and 46 automobiles representing 32 different states.

Traveling back through Yellowstone, they went into Montana and stopped at Helena, where Mr. Jewell says, there is a boom in construction to repair the damage done by the earthquake. Then, after visiting Glacier National park, they proceeded to Seattle, and from Seattle took a boat trip on a new streamlined vessel constructed of aluminum to the naval yard at Bremington.

Group of Boys Tour Daisy Plant Monday

Thirty-six boys from the Wolverine Day club camp visited the Daisy Manufacturing company Monday to see how air rifles are made. The camp, which is under the direction of Mr. Copp of Ann Arbor, is located on the Huron river between Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti. The boys take their lunch and go out every morning, returning in the evening.

As they left each boy was presented with a pop pistol by the Daisy company, and a "popping" good time ensued which sounded to nearby residents like machine gun fire in Chicago or the army war maneuvers near Allegan.

Football Squad Starts Practice

First fall practice for the Plymouth high school football squad has been called by Coach Kenneth J. Matheson for 10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Because schools do not start until September 8, the state director of interscholastic athletics has ruled that practices may be started on the first in order that teams may be in shape for their first games. Plymouth opens its season against the Michigan School for the Deaf in a game to be played here September 19.

All boys who expect to enroll at Plymouth high this year are urged to attend the first practice or get in touch with Coach Matheson.

The complete schedule of games this season is as follows:

Sept. 19 Michigan School for the Deaf—Here.

Sept. 25 Open.

Oct. 2 Wayne—Here.

Oct. 9 River Rouge—There.

Oct. 16 Dearborn—There.

Oct. 23 Ypsilanti—There.

Oct. 30 Ecorse—Here.

Nov. 13 Northville—There.

County Agent Is Taken By Death

It was with regret that residents in this part of Wayne county learned Saturday of the death of Ralph Carr, Wayne county farm agent, following an illness but a little more than two weeks. Mr. Carr, whose office was in Dearborn, had remained at his duties until his condition was so critical that it was necessary to immediately remove him to a hospital in Detroit.

An operation was performed in the hopes of benefiting his condition, but doctors said it was too late to be of aid.

Mr. Carr had been county agent of Wayne county for a great many years. He was regarded as one of the outstanding rural farm leaders of Michigan and his death is generally mourned in this part of the state. The funeral held Tuesday from his home in Dearborn was largely attended. Burial took place in Milan.

Bob Hitt State Horseshoe Champ

There are several reasons why Plymouth, as well as Detroit, might be called the "city of champions," and one of the strongest is, paradoxically enough, small, freckle-faced Bob Hitt, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. V. W. Hitt of 761 South Harvey street, who Sunday won the horseshoe pitching championship of Michigan.

Bob qualified for the state tournament, held Saturday and Sunday in Marquette, with the best score turned in by any of the 16 qualifiers—that is he pitched more rings in a 750 shoe game than any of the others. Then on Sunday eight of the 16 were eliminated. Bob defeated two opponents three straight games (in "three out of five" matches) to meet Lee Rose, of Detroit, in the finals, a round robin match for 50 points, and won that too, despite the fact that Rose is a grown man with many more years of practice than Bob is able to boast.

The Plymouth lad says he has been pitching horseshoes for the past five years and that "it isn't very hard if you know how," but then neither is tap dancing, or riding a surf board or taking a ski jump, "if you know how." Last year Bob won fifth place in the state meet. As a prize for winning the tournament last Sunday, Bob received $40 and enough money to cover his expenses.

Traffic Ordinance Passed This Week

Police Pick Up New Car Stolen in Joliet

Plymouth police picked up a brand new sedan last week which was abandoned here by thieves. The car had no license, so it was traced by means of the serial number, through the manufacturer, to a sales agency in Joliet, Illinois. It had figured in a burglary in that city, according to reports made to the police department here.

L. O. T. M. To Resume Meetings Next Week

The Emerson Guard team of the L. O. T. M. will practice promptly at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening, September 2.

The regular fire meeting will be held at 8 o'clock. As this is the first fall meeting, the commander has asked all members to attend so that plans for an active and interesting year may be discussed.

R. and W. Wins Softball Title

Winning the championship of the Recreation Softball league for the fifth time in eight years, the Red and White team trounced the Daisy boys 10 to 0 Tuesday night.

The play-off standings after the finals were the same as the standings at the conclusion of the regular season. R. and W. led with four games won and none lost for a percentage of 1.000; Daisy, second, had three won and two lost for 600 per cent; Frigidaire was third with one win and two losses, or 333 per cent; and Wilson lost two and won no games for a 0.000 percentage.

The total attendance for the seven games of the play-off series was 2700, according to Kenneth J. Matheson, recreation director.

On Monday Daisy and Red and White battled for eight innings to a 3 to 3 tie in a game which was called on account of darkness. Both pitchers were in top form, neither Rorabacher nor Curtis allowing an extra base hit. When an extra inning failed to break the tie, Umpire Gray called the game.

Daisy made its three runs in the third inning, while Red and White made one in the second and two in the sixth. Seven errors were charged to Daisy and three to Red and White, while Rorabacher gave up three bases on balls and Curtis two.

In the championship game, Curtis pitched four-hit ball for the winners and received airtight support in the field. Schryer, big Red and White catcher, contributed to the Daisy downfall with a triple and a home run. Red and White took the heart out of the Daisy squad by scoring five runs in the second inning; D. Gates singled, W. Bassett flied to right field for the first out, Ferguson singled, Straub singled, scoring Gates. L. Bassett made the second out grounding to second, Ferguson advancing to third and Straub to second on the put out, and both runners scored on Partridge's single. Curtis walked and Schryer tripled to score both Partridge and Curtis. K. Gates hit to short for an easy third out.

Red and White picked up another run in the third inning when D. Gates walked and went to third on W. Bassett's single. Bassett and Gates tried a double steal, but while Gates scored, Bassett was out catcher to second to first. In the fifth inning Curtis retired the side on three pitched balls, H. Williams popping to third, Cline lining to short, and Rorabacher hitting an easy chance ball to second.

Four more runs were scored after two were out in the sixth. Ferguson popped for the first out and Straub flied to center. L. Bassett then drew a poppler liner to center which the center-fielder dropped. Partridge followed with his third single of the game, putting Bassett on second, and Curtis singled to center, the fielder juggling the ball and allowing Bassett to score. Schryer came through with his home run, scoring Curtis ahead of him. K. Gates went out pitcher to first. Daisy threatened in the last inning, but when C. Lee got on first because of interference of the Red and White catcher, R. Williams forced Lee at second. R.

New Regulations Effective In 21 Days

At a meeting of the city commission Monday evening, August 24, the new traffic ordinance for the city was given its final reading and passed, to become effective 21 days after that date.

This ordinance was worked out and drawn up by Chief of Police Vaughan R. Smith, City Manager C. H. Elliott and City Attorney Arlo A. Emery to replace the old regulations which city officials felt were outmoded and ineffective to meet the present safety requirements of the city.

Beginning this week and running in the two successive issues of the paper, The Plymouth Mail will publish the new ordinance in full. There will be a front page story each week explaining the more important sections. The ordinance will be strictly enforced by the Plymouth police department, according to Chief Smith, who is asking the co-operation of all residents of the city in observing it. It is expected that the new law will cut down traffic hazards in the city, as well as regulate the flow of traffic more efficiently.

The title of the ordinance reads as follows: "AN ORDINANCE to regulate the use and operation of vehicles on the public highways within the City of Plymouth, Michigan, to provide for the arrest of and penalties to be imposed upon persons violating the provisions of this ordinance, and to repeal all prior ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith."

In the first section, which appears in this issue of The Mail, the terms used in the ordinance are carefully defined. All persons are urged to read these definitions carefully so as to be in no doubt as to the meaning and intent of the regulations which follow. The terms defined include: vehicle, motor vehicle, commercial vehicle, person, operator, owner, highway, one-way street, stop street, cross walk, limit line, loading, parking, double parking, sign, traffic signal, day-time, night-time, business district, residence district and commission.

The powers of the chief of police in enforcing the provisions of this ordinance, directing and controlling the traffic of vehicles and pedestrians, are then explicitly outlined. The chief is empowered to limit, exclude and restrict parking, establish one-way streets, cause limit lines to be placed on streets for the direction of pedestrians and operators, prohibit left-hand turns, designate fire routes, close streets temporarily, designate stop intersections and erect signs to show what these regulations are, but if the rules are to be effective for more than 30 days they are subject to the approval of the city commission.

Further police control through the use of traffic devices, directing officers, emergency rules on special occasions, accident records and reports, and the publishing and posting of the ordinance is then elaborated. More detailed regulations of the ordinance will be explained next week.

A GOOD START

The action of the city commission in requiring the city manager to prepare immediately a complete report on the water situation before taking any definite action is a step in the right direction. If the report is as complete and as comprehensive as one has a right to expect that it should be, it will provide the commissioners with information which ought to help them formulate the right conclusion as to future steps.

NOT MUCH CAN BE SAID

The announcement that Senator Couzens made Sunday to the effect that he would support the Democratic nominee for president in the forthcoming election does not leave much for speculation as to his future political intentions. That has been one thing about Senator Couzens a lot of people have grown to admire in him. You never had to guess as to where he stood on any public question, or issue.

What the effect of his announcement will be on the fall election in Michigan is difficult to tell. Governor Fitzgerald, more far-seeing than some are willing to give him credit for, early last spring did what he thought was for the best interests of the Republican party when he urged that Senator Couzens be re-nominated. The Governor knew that there are a large number of independent Republican voters who have followed Senator Couzens through thick and thin and he rightly believed that with Couzens on the ticket it would help the Republican cause.

But Senator Couzens by his announcement has entirely changed the situation. Those who have admired him because of his independence, fearlessness and his general interests in behalf of the "underdog" and have remained steadfast to him within the Republican ranks, will balk when he asks that they follow him into the folds of another party.

Real Republicans believe that their own party can solve the nation's economic ills. It has been done before, and there is no question but what it can be done again. Senator Couzens, too, should have given some consideration to the loyal Republicans who have supported him, but apparently this did not seem important. He has forced a very large number of Republicans to accept the only alternative left, and that they will do.

CONGRATULATIONS!

As one listens each Saturday night to the splendid concerts being given in Kellogg park by the Plymouth Civic band it is most gratifying to note the splendid progress this organization is making. In a little more than a year the band has become an excellent musical organization. Its concerts are commendable and if the players could only hear the fine expressions of people in the audience, they would be more than pleased. We cannot help but express to the organization our congratulations upon the most satisfactory progress it is making.

SEEING THE LIGHT?

Former Governor Chase Osborn and the editor of The Plymouth Mail have been two citizens of the state, who from the very first day talk started about a bridge across the Straits of Mackinac have openly and strongly declared that if such a bridge was ever constructed, it should be a toll-free bridge. The Plymouth Mail has never been able to figure out why the people who would be required to put up the cash for the bridge in the first place should, after advancing the money for its construction, be required to pay again to the government through a bridge toll, the same amount of money they put up in the first place to build the bridge.

Now comes The Detroit News with just a mere suggestion that maybe the News is seeing the light on this question.

Says The News in part: "However, if the ferries are to be toll-free, the trifling matter of economic feasibility must be dismissed altogether. If it is accepted that the State should provide a toll-free crossing of the Straits, the bridge no longer needs to be self-liquidating, any more than the clock tower on the City Hall, the lighthouses on the lakes or the fancy new lighting of the fountain in Grand Circus Park.

"The only question to be considered, if the toll-free crossing is accepted, is whether the taxpayers would rather pay for the bridge, which at least would be a permanent structure, or for the fleet of toll-free ferries. The latter, of course, will have to be increased in number and capacity to accommodate the extra traffic sure to be created when the tolls are lifted.

"On this question, we beg to reserve judgment, since we are not among the enthusiasts for toll-free ferries. We merely suggest that, for those who do advocate toll-free ferries, the argument about the bridge now must begin all over again on an entirely new set of premises."

ONE MINUTE BIOGRAPHIES OF MICHIGAN GOVERNORS and their ACCOMPLISHMENTS

By Elton R. Eaton

JOSIAH W. BEGOLE

No. 17
Some of the first houses built in Flint were erected by Josiah W. Begole, a New Yorker who left his home in the east to seek a fortune in this state. Born in 1815, he came to Michigan in 1836 after receiving a good education in the east. There were only five houses in Flint when Begole arrived.
Soon after his arrival in the city he married and took up a farm near there. He cleared it and soon enjoyed the distinction of having one of the best farms around Flint.
He served as a township official several times and in 1856 he was elected county treasurer, holding that office for 18 years.

He also served in congress and as state senator. During his term in congress, he deserted the Republican party and supported many Democratic measures. In the state election of 1882 he was endorsed for the governorship by both the Democratic and Greenback parties defeating Jerome, who sought re-election, by a fair sized vote.
At the time a forest fire swept over a large section of northern Michigan. In 1881 Begole wrote to a relief agent in the northern part of the state and told him that he could draw on his (Begole's) personal account until it was exhausted, if necessary to relieve the fire sufferers. He refused a re-nomination and died in Flint in 1896.

RAMBLING with Editors AROUND of Michigan

WHO OWNS THE MECHANICAL PICKPOCKETS?

On three occasions this summer we have made trips into the northern and northwestern parts of the state. On each occasion we have noted a number of slot machines in stores, restaurants, and other public places. These machines are more or less busy. Men, women and children play them. There must be a great many thousands of dollars tucked into these mechanical pickpockets every day.

Who owns them?
Practically everyone knows that the percentage against the player is around 12 to 1. It is a form of mechanical gambling where the player has little or no chance to win. If he wins once he is prompted to try it again and then he loses plenty. These machines are illegal in Michigan. Every prosecuting attorney and every sheriff knows this. Which brings up the question: Why are they allowed to run?

We are told that the slippery gentry who actually make the contacts with the proprietors of premises where machines are located, and who periodically come around and take away the winnings, are willing to "split even" with the store owner. Further, it is rumored that they are willing to "whack" with the authorities, if necessary.

Assuming that local authorities are dishonest and accept the bribe, what is there to prevent the State Police from smashing these machines? Is it possible that someone has gotten at the "higher-ups"?

We have no sympathy for a normally intelligent adult who loses his shirt on a slot machine. There has been plenty of publicity which has warned against this form of mechanical theft. Boys and simple-minded men and women who contribute more than they can afford should be protected from the grafters.

Just who DOES own these machines—and what arrangement do they make to run them unmolested?—Schuyler Marshall in The Clinton County Republican-News.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

The Keweenaw miner on relief who had $17,000 in the town bank certainly knew what President Roosevelt meant by the "more abundant life."—Adrian Van Koevering in The Zeeland Record.

THE CIVIL SERVICE BILL

Prof. James K. Pollock of the U. of M. whom many have heard speak here in Grand Ledge, and who has been working a year on a Civil Service bill, thinks he has one which takes care of all desirable features of the Civil Service and is fortified against the features which have, in the past, proved undesirable. The hope is that this bill will put our state government on a Civil Service basis which will increase efficiency and eliminate the spoils system. This will prove not only a benefit from the standpoint of efficiency and continued service, but will also give those who take political jobs, the benefit of assured continued service as long as they are satisfactory and makes political work a career rather than a haphazard off and on system.—Frank Bryce in The Grand Ledge Independent.

THE STATE INCOME TAX

While Michigan has rejected proposals for a personal state income tax the measure will be on the ballot again this fall.

This time the move is advanced by the real estate operators, who want to see home owning revived again. There is no property tax levied by the state, the sales tax taking its place, but towns and cities and school boards still tax property for income. If the state amendment should be enacted, then these smaller units of government will have to find some other means of getting funds. The proposal is that they be given a pro-rata share of a state income tax.

If it comes to raising all state funds and city funds, outside of licenses, from an income tax, what a reform is in the offing in government.

Heretofore the policy has been to hide the collection of taxes, much as a pickpocket would hide his pecuniations. The new dealer Labor Secretary Miss Perkins (not her married name) says that the "function of government is constantly to find new sources of revenue." That brings it down precisely to the pickpocket's profession. And she is being plain about it.

But if and when we get a state income tax, we are going to see one of the biggest howls go up from all classes of people, as they gradually find out what government costs. And how politicians will squirm in trying to find ways and excuses for piling up the income tax with their spendings.

We probably have more to gain from a universal income tax, if we could at the time abolish all other taxes, than we have to lose. It will bring government spending more closely under Mr. Workingman's scrutiny.

So we should give consideration to the real estate man's proposal for abolition of the property tax.—Floyd McGriff in The Redford Record.

Seventy five guests assembled around an immense bon-fire on the shore of the lake. Afterward watermelon was served at Mrs. Allen's cottage which was beautifully decorated for the occasion. They had the best kind of a time.

About forty invited friends witnessed the marriage of Miss Kate Passage to Harry C. Corbishley, Thursday evening, August 17th, at 8:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Passage on Main street. The bride and groom entered the room as Miss Ethel Chapman sang "I Love Thee", and were both unattended, standing under an arch very prettily decorated with smilax. The bride wore an embroidered voile dress. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. King. After an elegant course supper, the bride and groom left for a trip east, after which they will return to Sandusky, Michigan. Mrs. Corbishley was a graduate of the State Normal college and was a successful high school teacher at Stanton and Sandusky. She has a host of true friends, by whom she is held in high esteem. Mr. Corbishley is one of the leading business men of Sandusky and a young man of rare excellence.

One of the many features of last week's gala day celebration was a fake fire alarm. The Phoenix company was held in readiness to make the time to the Plymouth hotel and at the sound of the whistle "hooked" behind a team and wagon driven by Bert Robinson, completing the distance in little less than eight minutes. The fire boys did this little stunt more especially as an object lesson for the village council, which has a petition on the table asking for a team of horses and a new hose truck. When the cart and men arrived at the supposed scene of the fire they were not all "wind blown," and exhausted, but ready to lay the hose and go to work. Had they made the run on foot dragging the cart in the night, it would have taken them twenty minutes to make the distance and then they would have been in no condition to go to work. The boys hope the council saw the point.

Bride-Elect Honored At Shower Last Week

A lovely surprise shower was given August 18 by Mrs. Broderick at her home in Detroit in honor of Miss Frieda Kilgore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Kilgore of 115 Phoenix avenue, who will become the bride of Garnet Uptegrove, of Northville, on Tuesday, September 8.

Over 30 friends and relatives attended the shower. Following the presentation of the gifts, a delicious supper was served.

Miss Kilgore was graduated from Plymouth high school three years ago and is now associated with the Business News Publishing company in Detroit.

Washington they saw everyone busily engaged in some phase of the lumber industry. There was a saw mill every few miles, states Mr. Jewell, and 75 per cent of the trucking done was for the transportation of logs. They passed within 80 miles of Mt. Rainier, but were able to see the mountain plainly because of the extremely clear weather.

After a short stay in Portland they took the Columbia highway down to the Dells and circled Mt. Hood, then went back to the coast to drive on to San Francisco. Mr. Jewell describes this as one of the most scenic drives of the whole trip. They saw the lovely and unusual Crater lake, formed from the crater of an extinct volcano and of a strange blue color which reminded them of a huge ink well. The lake is surrounded by red rock and has an average depth of from 1,500 to 2,000 feet.

The Oregon caves came next and here at the hotel, or chateau as it is called, Mr. Jewell saw a clear little mountain stream flow straight through the dining room, with the trout making themselves quite at home.

From San Francisco the Jewells headed east across the Salt Lake desert, which looked like a huge field covered with snow, to Salt Lake City where they visited the Mormon temple, and the museum with its famous collection of pioneer and Indian specimens, as well as tried a swim in Salt Lake.

Heading south, they passed through Independence pass, the highest in the United States, to Colorado Springs and Denver, then drove back through the mountains and three more passes, Berthaud at the Divide, Milner and Fall River, stopping at Estes Park and Greeley, Colorado, and turned homeward through Nebraska, Iowa and Wisconsin. From Manitowish they took the ferry to Ludington, finishing their trip by crossing Michigan.

Summarizing what he had seen and heard on his trip, Mr. Jewell said: "The political situation is pretty well split between the Republicans and Democrats, with a surprising large number of Townsendites. Ninety-eight per cent of the roads were excellent, only a few of the lower roads in Colorado proving bad. I would like also to say a word in praise of the Rangers of the national parks, most of them college graduates who have majored in geology, botany and history. They conduct tours every day and lecture at camp fires in the evening, offering varied programs which are both interesting and educational."

Crab-Apple Jelly
3 pounds Concord grapes
3 pounds crab-apples
6 1/2 pounds sugar
1 bottle fruit pectin

Crush the berries, add 1/2 cup water, bring to a boil, cover and simmer 10 minutes. Strain apple and grape juice through a cloth. Bring sugar and 6 cups fruit juice to a boil, add pectin, stir constantly, cook at full rolling boil 1/2 minute. Remove, skim and pour in glasses and seal.

Spiced Peach Jam
3 1/2 cups prepared peaches
1-3 cup lemon juice
7 1/2 cups sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon allspice
1 bottle liquid fruit pectin

Select 2 1/2 pounds of fully ripe peaches. Wash carefully, peel, pit, and grind or chop very fine. Add the lemon juice and spices. Measure the sugar into a large kettle and add the prepared fruit. If the mixture does not make 3 1/2 cups of prepared fruit, fill up the last cup with water if necessary. Mix well and bring to a full rolling boil over the hottest fire. Stir constantly while boiling. Seal in glasses or jars.

Feas

Spare and core. Drop in slightly salted water. Drain and boil 3 to 5 minutes in No. 2 or No. 3 syrup. Pack in sterilized jars, fill with syrup to within 1/2 inches of top of jar. Put on caps, screwing on tight. Process 25 minutes in hot water bath or 75 minutes in oven at 250 degrees or 10 to 15 minutes in pressure cooker.

Vinegar from Fruit Juices and Jellies

Place left-over fruit juice and jelly in a clean jug (covered with a clean cheesecloth) in a warm place until it ferments. By adding a little vinegar "mother" the process will be shortened. Strain into bottles and seal.

In Italy full fare is collected on trains for youngsters over a certain height. This relieves conductors of arguments with thrifty mothers.

World armament cost $2,531,000,000 in 1913; in 1934 it cost more than $7,000,000,000.

IN THE KITCHEN

Nothing is more satisfying or delightful for the self-respecting house wife to view than colorful rows of jars and glasses filled with jellies and jams, from the pale orange of crabapple jelly to the deep purple of grape. And now is the time to stock the fruit cellar so that some of the fruits of the harvest season may be enjoyed throughout the winter.

There are some simple rules of jelly-making which help to insure perfect results. If you want your jelly to be firm and beautiful in color, yet not too hard and rubbery, you must follow these rules. The amount of sugar needed for jelly-making will vary with the fruit used. In a general way, three-quarters to one cup of sugar per cup of extracted fruit juice is a safe rule to follow.

Such fruits as blackberry, apple, black raspberry, cranberry, quince and red raspberry requires three-quarters of a cup to each cup of juice. Crabapples, currants, gooseberries and wild grapes require one cup of sugar to each cup of juice. Fruit that is just a bit under-ripe is the best for jelly. If it is impossible to obtain under-ripe fruit, a tablespoon of strained lemon juice added to each cup of fruit juice will produce almost the same result.

The lemon juice should be added when combining the sugar and fruit juice to be boiled together. It is unimportant whether cane or beet sugar is used, but in either case remember that too much sugar makes a syrupy jelly while too little will prevent your juices from jelling at all.

It is best to use a large, flat-bottomed kettle in making jelly so that evaporation can take place. Stir until the sugar is dissolved, then cook only long enough to obtain the jelling test. This test is made by dipping a large spoon into the boiling syrup and lifting the spoon so the juice runs off the side. When the juice "sheets", turn off the heat. The jelly is then ready to pour into hot, sterile glasses.

Titus 2: 11-13.

To the unsaved the second coming of Christ is a dreaded affair. But to the Christian His glorious appearing is a blessed hope. Does the reality of His coming bring joy and gladness to you? If not, it will be well for us to heed the exhortation of Christ to examine ourselves and see whether or not we be in the faith. Col. Frank Knox Will Visit Alma

Col. Frank Knox, Chicago publisher and Republican party nominee for vice president, is to return to the scene of his college day activities in Alma to give an address Labor Day at Bahk Field that will be the feature of a big state-wide Republican rally. Incidentally the event will be a homecoming for residents of this vicinity. Other central Michigan counties are cooperating heartily in plans for the assemblage.

The Young Men's Republican club of Gratiot county, which has been active in efforts to assure a visit of Col. Knox to his Alma Mater as the main drawing card for the biggest political rally to be held in central Michigan in years, was notified that the date was set for Labor Day, Sept. 7. Officials and prominent Republican party leaders from all parts of Michigan will contribute to the rally program.

Colonel Knox will come to Alma to visit familiar scenes. An alumnus of the class of 1898 of Alma College, he was one of the organizers of the first football team of Alma college and an athlete of outstanding ability. He is at present one of the trustees of the college. That he will be accorded a rousing welcome is an assured fact.

Incidentally the college has given evidence of the cordial welcome it will extend to Col. Knox by arrangement of a homecoming in observance of the return of the vice presidential candidate to his Alma Mater.

Miller Dunckel, state senator from Three Rivers, who is representing the Republican state central committee in general arrangements in Alma cooperating with members of the local committee. Writers of newspapers at several of the larger cities of the state are visiting Alma to gather material for advance stories concerning the big event, indicating state-wide interest in the plans.

The plan is to stage the rally and homecoming, which is under the auspices of the Young Men's Republican club of Gratiot county, at Bahk field. Through cooperation of the Republican National committee it is expected the address of Colonel Knox will be broadcast over the country through a nation-wide radio hookup.

Committees of the Gratiot organization will be sent out to other counties in the state to contribute to the interest and will urge representation in the activities of the big day on the part of service clubs of the cities and other civic organizations.

Bridge on the Cumberland Road

In 1806, an act was passed for the survey of a road from Cumberland, Maryland, to the Ohio River, in order to make westward travel less difficult. Progress was so rapid that in 1820, a great artery, the Cumberland road, was opened to Wheeling and then extended to Columbus, Indianapolis, and toward St. Louis.

Shirley Temple, Bing Crosby On Theater Program

"Rhythm on the Range" Is Scheduled For Next Sunday

Outstanding pictures have been scheduled for next week at the Penniman-Allen theater. Bing Crosby's latest, "Rhythm on the Range", will be shown Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, followed by a double feature Wednesday and Thursday, "Border Flight" and "Ticket to Paradise." Shirley Temple in "Poor Little Rich Girl" will come to the local screen Friday and Saturday.

"Rhythm on the Range" is another of the Bing Crosby musicals, this time in a western setting which provides Bing with the opportunity to wear a dashing cowboy outfit and sing a group of several songs. Among them "Empty Saddles", which has skyrocketed to popularity. Bob Burns and his famous "bazooka" offer much of the hilarious comedy which makes the picture such an amusing entertainment.

Bing appears as Jeff Larrabee, a cowboy who wins several cash prizes at a New York rodeo, buys a blue-ribbon bull and sets out for Arizona in a box-car. He meets a runaway society girl, played by Frances Farmer, and the fun begins. In the meantime Burns, playing Bing's cowboy pal Buck, starts west on a passenger train and is taken in tow by a harum-scarum eastern girl, Emma Mazda, played by Martha Raye. They too, carry on a merry transcontinental romance.

"Border Flight" is a story of the United States coast guard air force and their dealings with a band of fur smugglers. John Howard plays the leading role of Lt. Dan Conlon, with Grant Withers as Lt. Pat Tornell, his bitter enemy, and Frances Farmer as Ann Blane, the girl they both love. There is plenty of action, and heroic action too, before the smugglers are finally captured and the love affair of Dan and Ann brought to a happy conclusion.

In "Ticket to Paradise" Roger Pryor appears as Terry Dodd, wealthy young Chicago business man, who is injured in an automobile crash while taking a taxi for a train east to complete an important business deal. He recovers but suffers from amnesia; most of the picture is devoted to his hilarious adventures in trying to find out who he is, but it takes another knock on the head to bring him to himself. Wendy Barrie is the girl in the case.

Shirley Temple dances and sings herself further into the hearts of American movie fans in "Poor Little Rich Girl." The daughter of very wealthy Richard Whalen, she runs away from her nurse and after a series of adventures is taken in tow by Alice Faye and Jack Haley, a pair of out-of-work vaudeville troupers seeking a spot on the radio. With Shirley, they manage to land a contract and Whalen is surprised to hear his small daughter's voice on the radio. More adventures follow before Shirley wins fame for Miss Faye and Haley, and romance for her father and Gloria Stuart.

You Should Can Soup Now To Use In Winter

Recommendation that housewives with extra garden produce will find it worthwhile to can soup mixtures for use when fresh vegetables are not easily available is made by the home economics extension department at Michigan State college.

It is often a convenience to put up soup mixtures when other canning is being done. Good soup vegetables include tomatoes, corn, lima beans, okra, carrots, turnips, celery, onions, parsnips and red and green peppers. One of the combinations that are popular can include equal portions of lima beans, corn and tomatoes.

Processing under pressure has become the recommended practice for canned soup made in home kitchens. Studies also have been made so that the process can result in the best possible flavor in the products.

For putting up vegetable-soup mixtures the home economics staff suggests the following procedure: Wash and trim the vegetables. They should be cut into small pieces or cubes to get the flavor into the soup and permit better processing.

Bring the soup to the boiling point and pack the vegetables hot with sufficient liquid to cover and prevent too dense a pack. A steam pressure cooker should be operated at 10 pounds pressure or 240 degrees Fahrenheit through the time recommended. For pint glass jars, 60 minutes of processing is necessary. Quart jars need 70 minutes; No. 2 cans require 50 minutes and No. 3 cans 65 minutes, according to the bureau of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Ornamental trees and shrubs that appear to be in the honey producing business this summer are merely being bothered by an extra infestation of aphids, according to Ray Hutson of the entomology department at Michigan State college. Little can be done to exterminate the pests, except where gardeners have access to water under pressure which will knock the insects from the foliage. The aphid is a small fragile insect, green black, yellowish or reddish. The "honeydew" they excrete is attractive to bees and ants, but proves unsightly on tops of autos and on sidewalks. The young insects crawl, while the adults also are able to fly. They feed on foliage and young growing tissue but except for the unsightly honeydew the damage to ornamentals is not serious.

Here Is Good News For Deer Hunters

As a service to deer hunters who are planning trips into new and strange country this fall, the lands division of the department of conservation has available maps of many northern counties showing the roads, streams and lakes. These maps will be sent on request at a fee covering part of the cost of publication and mailing.

The maps will meet a demand that has been recurrent each fall, particularly from deer hunters from the southern metropolitan centers of the state.

Printed lithographic maps showing in colors the lakes, streams, soil type, forest-cover type and the roads and trails on a scale of an inch to the mile are available at a fee of 50 cents each on the following counties: Antrim, Alpena, Crawford, Kalkaska, Roscommon, Ogemaw and Menominee.

Another set of maps of the blue-print type on a scale of two inches to the mile will be distributed at fees ranging from $1 to $2.50 on the following counties: Alger, Schoolcraft, Cheboygan, Bay, Charlevoix, Chippewa, Iron, Luce, Montmorency and Oscoda. These maps also show the lakes, streams, roads, trails, forest cover types and soil types.

The maps will be handy for spotting the location of camp in relation to the nearest towns and landmarks.

Laying Contest Opens October 1

Encouragement to poultry breeders in Michigan and other states is offered in the announcement that a new egg laying contest will be opened on the campus of Michigan State college at East Lansing for a 51 weeks test beginning Oct. 1.

"There is an incentive to better breeding in these contests," says C. G. Card, head of the poultry husbandry department at the college. "There was little progressive commercial poultry breeding previous to the start of the first contest at the college in 1922-23."

"That first year the high pen of ten birds had a 51 weeks record of 2125 eggs. In 1933-34, the high pen was that of E. C. Foreman, Lowell, Mich., whose ten layers had a record of 2755 eggs. In 1934-35, W. S. Hannah and Sons, Grand Rapids, had a pen with a high individual bird laying 327 eggs. That is real production."

An increase of 50 eggs per year per bird in commercial flocks, it is pointed out, offers a real step in breeding more efficient poultry for distribution from hatcheries and flocks. In the 13 contests already completed and the 14th, now in progress, the breeders making entries pay costs of the competition. The high pen so far this year is that of the Royal Poultry Farm at Zeeland, with 2226 eggs and seven weeks records still to be made.

Dairy Head Praises Mission Orange Drink

Everyone knows the rigid requirements required for the production of all dairy products, such as milk, butter and cream. There is now another dairy product prepared under equally as strict regulations, according to Herman Bakhaus, manager of the Cloverdale Dairy.

"This product is known as Mission Orange Drink and is prepared fresh every day in the spotless cleanliness of dairies throughout the United States," Mr. Bakhaus declared. "We have recently taken on the distribution of this nationally famous drink and have found that it meets with exceptional popularity wherever it is used."

"This widespread acceptance of Mission Orange Drink is due primarily to the fact that it is made from the juice of California Valencia oranges, which insures real orange flavor. Also because it is prepared every day in dairies, people have recognized that it is a pure and healthful drink. It is sold throughout the city in generous five-cent bottles and is also available for delivery in family sized quart bottles."

Mr. Bakhaus stated that since the introduction of Mission Orange drink to Plymouth their volume of business has shown a considerable increase.

Old Cemetery Records Reveal Interesting Historical Material

City Is Asked To Care For Burying Ground of Pioneers

Much of interest about the early days of Plymouth is being uncovered in connection with the transfer of the old Plymouth cemetery (sometimes called the Baptist cemetery) located at the end of Pearl street, to the city. For many years this old cemetery, where between 400 and 500 pioneer Plymouth residents are buried, has been cared for by Donaldson Craig, of Detroit, a descendant of one W. H. Craig, who was one of the first subscribers to the Plymouth Village Cemetery society. Finding it impossible to continue with this work Mr. Craig has asked the city to take over the old burying ground and replace the markers which have been overturned, as well as keep the place up generally. Arrangements are being made now for the transfer to be made. According to Mr. Craig, the old cemetery is an historic spot, sacred to certain of the Indian tribes in this territory long before Alanson Aldrich and A. B. Markham arrived in 1825. One of the great Indian chiefs, a friend of Pontiac and of many of the early white settlers, is said to be buried there. The site was used as an Indian Ossuary, according to Mr. Craig, who explains that their sacred stone god stood facing the outer edge of the cemetery and remained there until about 1830.

Partly for these reasons Henry Holbrook, who laid out the village of Plymouth, set aside this site for a cemetery. Mr. Holbrook himself is buried there, with members of his family. Although unable to identify every grave, Mr. Craig has had the place measured and studied carefully. In addition to the early settlers, he says, there are soldiers who took part in the Black Hawk war, others of the military company established in Plymouth in 1827, and soldiers who fought in the Civil war laid to rest in this cemetery.

Following several conferences with Mrs. Craig, City Manager Clarence H. Elliott unearthed in the city vaults the "Records of the Plymouth Village Cemetery Society in Wayne County, Michigan", which give something of the founding and opening of the cemetery, as well as interesting sidelights on the people and the times.

The first meeting of citizens interested in starting a cemetery was held June 19, 1845. On June 27 a special committee was authorized to purchase land and on June 30 about an acre was purchased from one Bethel Noyes and deeded over for the princely sum of $75. A cemetery society was then formed and a constitution adopted.

The list of first subscribers included Joseph Brearley, W. H. Craig, Wesley McKray, J. J. P. Lyon, John Miller, 2nd., Mathew Lockhead, Archelans Green, L. Hudson, Andrew Bradner, Alfred Shattuck, Hiram Newman and William Markham.

William Markham was named first president of the society, with J. J. P. Lyon as vice-president; Joseph Brearley, secretary; Hiram Newman, treasurer; and W. H. Craig, assessor. It was decided that the lowest price for lots should be $3, and that the first public sale should be held July 28, 1845. Twenty lots on the east side were reserved for burial of transients.

S. W. Averill was granted Lot 1 in consideration of relinquishing his claim on some of the land. Henry Colton was named the first sexton, and the organization meeting was adjourned.

From that time on meetings were held yearly, if a quorum could be obtained. As early as October, 1848, we find a terse entry, "The members did not come together, therefore no meeting. J. Brearley, sec."

Nearly all the entries, made in quaint old-fashioned script in ink which has long since faded to a pale brown on the yellowed pages of the old notebook, have to do with elections of officers and the granting of payments for services rendered. In 1850, however, the secretary reported 40 lots sold, with 80 yet unsold, of which six had been spoken for. Seventy-five persons already had been buried in the cemetery, 44 males and 41 females. Ten more had been interred before the meeting the following year.

On July 12, 1867, permission was granted to the Detroit and Howell Railway to run their road on the section line south of the cemetery. Three years later the secretary was authorized to "purchase material and put up a railing to hitch horses to."

The report of the annual meeting of October 31, 1876 shows "no secretary's report as H. Colton is dead and gone", buried in that same cemetery about which he had kept records from 1862 to 1873.

The beginning of the end of the society came in October, 1881, when the secretary recorded, "Meeting called for first Tuesday of this month. Present J. N. Hedden, Pres., and myself. Adjourned one week. J. C. Peterhans, sec." The next entry says, "Next week same result. Present J. N. Hedden, Pres., and myself. Went home in disgust. J. C. Peterhans, sec."

The last entry in the book was made June 20, 1891, by this same J. C. Peterhans, and reads, "Met in an adjourned meeting called to order by the President, J. N. Hedden. Minutes of last meeting read and approved. Report made by committee and accepted. Motion made by Henry Reichelt and supported by Peter Gayde that what has been known as the Plymouth Village Cemetery society is defunct and the grounds be turned over to the Common Council of the Village of Plymouth; that the society can no longer maintain itself and therefore vacate the grounds, John C. Peterhans, sec."

And so ended the Plymouth Village Cemetery society. In the back of this same old book, however, is a record of the first interments made. The first is that of Asenath Delia Lyon, nine years old, who was buried April 24, 1845. Alfred Hudson, three-year-old baby who died of convulsions, was buried July 31, and Barbary Peterhans, 33, who, the record says, died of brain fever, was laid to rest September 18. The last interment recorded in the book is that of Virginia Bradner, one year old, who was buried October 18, 1858.

The list includes many surnames famous in Plymouth history, which are found attached to streets and landmarks in this district. Perhaps one of the most interesting and amusing columns is that which shows the causes of death of each individual buried in the cemetery. In addition to brain fever, consumption, croup, "hooping" cough and old age, we find one case labeled "opium and fits", while another was killed by a pitchfork and a third by drinking lye. In one case the cause given is a fall down cellar, in another just "bleeding".

The names mean very little to people of the twentieth century, none of them standing for a personal, individual man or woman, but a world of drama, both of tragedy and comedy can be read between the lines of the crabbled, often misspelled and ungrammatical notes in this old book.

Small Combines Cut Reaping Cost

Hiram Moore of Kalamazoo, over a century ago constructed a combine harvester that would cut, thresh and separate grain maturing in the field, yet it has only been in the last nine years and especially during 1936 that the combine has been improved and prices lowered sufficiently to make them practical and popular with farmers in the state.

In observations in Michigan this summer, E. C. Saue of the agricultural engineering department of Michigan State College has found small combines costing around $600 doing efficient work in handling standing grain. Combines with a five foot swath have covered 13 to 14 acres a day, approximately the same acreage as the average size grain binder. The small combine is becoming popular because it represents a cost nearly comparable to the binder which it replaces, says Mr. Saue.

"It is not possible to determine at this time the degree of success of the small combine on all combine crops," Mr. Saue reports. "The wheat and oat crops have been handled successfully so far. Some of these machines have demonstrated their ability to handle the 1935 soybean crop. Hulling grass seeds and threshing field beans are jobs tried this year."

Power to operate a five foot combine is not a serious problem. A two plow tractor able to exert a 12 to 15 horsepower drawbar pull is considered ample to maintain the desirable even pace of 3 1/2 miles an hour down the field. The small combine utilizes a power takeoff and runs on rubber tires.

Those who have worked hardest for their savings will be the first to be robbed when the nation is ravished by the consequences of the New Deal.

"The Folks"—Ruth Suckow

Perhaps the great American novel has not yet been produced and possibly it never will be since we are such a diversified group but we will venture to say that the novel of the Mid-west has already been written. Ruth Suckow's "The Folks" is surely the story of a typical midwestern family.

On the first page we move in with the Fergusons: Fred and Annie and the three children Carl, Margaret and Dorothy. Bunny appears later. They are living in a small Iowa town, Belmond, where Fred is an officer in the local bank and the children are attending school. We come to know this family very, very well including Ben and Ella and Grandpa and Grandma Ferguson who still live on the old farm where Fred was reared and lived until he met and married Annie when she came to teach the nearby school. We know them all as we know our own blood relations. The story is long and full of minute detail yet every sentence adds something to the picture. We can even smell the homemade bread and pies turned out by Annie on Saturday morning. And our mouths water as we read about the sumptuous chicken dinners served on special occasions.

Carl, the oldest son and pride of the family, after graduating from the Belmond high school goes to a Presbyterian college nearby. He finishes in four years and returns for Lillian whom he marries partly because she has always been his "best girl" but mostly because Mother and Father have decided it for him. They go away to another small town where Carl starts his career as a successful school superintendent. After the new school house is built and he sees no advancement possible in the future, he becomes slightly discontented with his lot. At this time some insidious influences enter into his life and when he is offered a much better job in the East, Lillian attempts suicide. He gives up this chance and takes himself and family off to another part of the state and spends the rest of his life as a small town school superintendent.

Margaret, the misfit whom the folks can never quite understand, gets herself expelled from Normal, comes home and does not rest until she persuades her parents to send her to New York where she can study to become a librarian. She immediately plunges into the life of Greenwich Village, falls desperately in love with a married man, goes South with him where they part only to meet later in Manhattan.

Dorothy, the pretty curly headed darling of the family marries well, so the folks think at the time, but in later years they find all is not well with them.

When Bunny, the youngest, brings home a queer, sullen Russian girl and introduces her as his wife Fred and Annie know that they are "old folks" now. Fred retires from the bank and they make a trip to California to visit Dorothy. What they see there confuses and disappoints them and they are not content until they are home again in Belmond. Fred had always hoped that his children would do better than he but now he only wishes they might do as well. He reaches over and touches mother's hand and sums everything in the only words he can find "Well, Mama . . ."

Ruth Suckow, pretty, plump and forthright is well qualified to write about this section since she was born and reared in the state of Iowa. The daughter of a Congregational minister, she had ample opportunity to see all parts of the state as it is customary for ministers of the gospel to move about considerably. While teaching in the University of Denver, she became interested in bees and later spent six years as owner and manager of a modern apiary. She is also the author of "Country People", "Cora" and "The Bonnett Family."

Panosian Hurls Laundry Team To Win Over Inkster

New Pitcher Allows Only Three Hits To Win 7-4

Although Adam Panosian held Inkster to three hits, two of which came in the ninth inning, to enable Perfection Laundry to win 7 to 4 Sunday, the local team did not qualify for the play-offs for the Michigan Inter-County League.

Schrader-Haggerty, however, defeated Ace of Clubs 10 to 2, to take third place in the league standings and earn a play-off position. Schraders will play Cass Benton Sunday in the first round of the play-offs, while the league-leading Garden City outfit meets Highland Park.

Panosian came through with his second win in his second start for Perfection Laundry. It was a hard-earned victory for the Plymouth boys, as the game was so close and so hard-fought that spectators witnessed several flare-ups between the two teams and Schryer was benched for fighting.

Joe Schomberger was the leading hitter for the laundry boys, getting two out of four. One of his hits came in the eighth inning when the score was tied and the bases loaded, putting Perfection in the lead.

Next Sunday at Riverside park, Glen Gray's strong Class A team from Detroit will meet the Perfection nine at Riverside park and a good game is expected. Perfection and Schrader-Haggerty clashed in an interesting exhibition game Thursday afternoon at the Northville Wayne County fair.

Holcomb Favors Coroner Change

Dr. Clayton E. Holcomb, prominent Redford physician, today promised the people of the suburban communities of Wayne county that if elected Wayne county coroner, he will immediately upon assuming office, change the present policy of the coroner's office to provide for quick removal of bodies in cases of accidental deaths in the outlying communities.

Dr. Holcomb favors the appointment of special deputy coroners, to act in emergency cases in Wayne county communities outside Detroit, so that bodies of victims of accidental deaths will not be permitted to lie unattended for hours.

Dr. Holcomb was born in Southfield township and raised in the Redford district of Wayne county, so that he thoroughly understands the problems and is sympathetic with the viewpoint of the citizens of the smaller communities situated outside the city limits, but within the Detroit metropolitan district.

"Redford has always been a community in itself, although now annexed to and a part of the City of Detroit," Dr. Holcomb declared. "I therefore feel that I am fully qualified by education, training and experience to administer the office of coroner in a humane, kindly manner, and will give first consideration to the best interests of the people of the local communities where I am called upon to function."

The recent case at Plymouth where the body of a prominent engineer, whose car had skidded and turned over on the highway, lay for hours on the concrete pavement in the terrific heat of the July heat wave, waiting for the coroner to come, is an example which proves conclusively that the citizens outside the city of Detroit, are entitled to more prompt and efficient service from the coroner's office than they have received in the past," Dr. Holcomb asserted.

"If elected, I will immediately re-organize the coroner's staff and give absolute instructions, that calls from the suburban communities of Wayne county, are to be answered immediately and without a moment's delay."

Dr. Holcomb has practiced medicine for many years in the Redford-Grand River avenue district and has his office in the Holcomb Building at 22128 Grand River avenue.

He is the son of the late Dr. Samuel D. Holcomb, who was one of the pioneer physicians of Wayne county and in whose memory the Holcomb school was named, as a memorial to his kindly services as a family physician and civic leader for a number of years.

Dr. Clayton E. Holcomb is married and has a son, Clayton E. Holcomb II, four years old. He resides at 21601 W. McNichols Road, Detroit. Dr. Holcomb is a graduate of the University of Michigan and is well known as an eminent physician and surgeon throughout Wayne county.

British Women Hold Luncheon

Mrs. Joseph Denton of "Farm Crest", Six Mile road, entertained the members of the British Legion auxiliary, of which she is president, at a luncheon last Wednesday. Members were present from Detroit, Redford and Farmington.

Luncheon was served on the front porch, with Miss Pearl Denton and Mrs. Marie Walls assisting the hostess. The afternoon was spent in visiting and planning future gatherings.

Mrs. Denton has announced that all women in this district who are eligible for membership in the auxiliary can get in touch with her for full particulars about the organization. Any woman who had father, husband, son or brother who served in the British forces during the World war is eligible to join.

Tonquish Lodge To Meet Next Tuesday

The visitation committees from Ypsilanti, Belleville, Dearborn, Wayne, Jasper and Plymouth will meet in Wayne, Wednesday, September 2.

The regular meeting of the Rebekah lodge will be held this evening.

Brothers Wheeler and Tegge will leave Sunday for a fishing trip near Cadillac, and other lodge members expect some tall fish stories upon their return.

Schraders Earn Play-off Berth In League Play

Defeat Ace of Clubs In Three-Hit Game, 10-2

Schrader-Haggerty will open the first round of the Michigan Inter-County baseball league play-offs Sunday, August 30 at Cass Benton park. Opposing them will be the strong Cass Benton club managed by Eddie Wittenberg. The game will be called at 3:00.

In the other contest Highland Park will meet Garden City at Garden City.

Highland Park, Cass Benton, Schrader-Haggerty and Garden City were the only clubs to qualify for the play-offs. When these four teams take the field Sunday they will all have only one object in mind, and that is the Michigan Inter-County league championship and the large trophy.

Pounding two hurlers for 15 hits, Schraders last Sunday swamped the Ace of Clubs, 10 to 2, as Harold Pankow and Lee Gohs turned in a three-hit performance. The game was played before one of the largest crowds of the year at Cass Benton park.

Harold Pankow started on the mound for Schraders and in the six innings he worked, allowed only two singles. Lee Gohs took up the mound duty starting the seventh and held the Aces to one lone hit.

Kamin was the starting pitcher for the Aces but was driven from the box in the sixth, and followed by Misseleer.

Leonard Millross and Gerald Simmons led the Schrader attack. Millross getting four hits out of five trips to the plate, and Simmons taking three out of six, one being a home run.

By winning from the Ace of Clubs while Garden City was handing Cass Benton a beating last Sunday, Schraders went into a tie for third place with Cass Benton in the final league standings.

See Our State Fair Governor Urges

Through the State Fair Board, Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald has issued a proclamation asking all residents of Michigan to try and pay a visit to the Fair this year.

"It is entirely proper and fitting," he wrote, "that the 87th Michigan State Fair should be used as an instrument to celebrate the 100th anniversary of Michigan's statehood by depicting the progress which we have made and the results which have been obtained from the time our ancestors carved out of the Old Northwest Territory the prosperous and dynamic State of Michigan."

Cites Progress
"One hundred years ago we were less than 90,000 people, scattered along the Detroit river and the southern borders of the State. Indians still reamed the forests and the interior of Michigan was practically an unbroken wilderness."

Rich State
"Today we have over 18,000,000 acres of land in farms with a valuation of nearly $900,000,000. More than 1,897,000 horses and cattle graze on the hills, valleys and flat-lands of our state. We rank fourteenth in the value of the farms and eighteenth in the number of farms. In 1934, the income to the farmers of this commonwealth was estimated to be $115,669,000. Our industrial development has startled the world and the products of our shops and factories are found upon the farms, the roads, and in the homes of every civilized people in the world."

Fair Outlook Bright

Success of the Michigan State Fair this year, September 4 to 13, depends solely on "a good break in the weather" according to Secretary George A. Prescott.

"Every facility and requisite for making this Centennial fair the greatest in Michigan's history has practically been laid in our laps," Prescott said Saturday, "and apparently there is nothing to fear save cold or rainy weather."

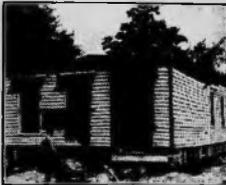

"The automotive and other industrial concerns are renting space and arranging for exhibits far beyond any of their previous efforts. Agricultural and livestock exhibits will top any achieved in other years."

Pony Entrant

Little Walter Rix, 7, of 1143 West Six Mile Rd., Detroit, is the first to enter a pet in the Michigan State Fair pet show. He brought his pony, Ginger, to the Fair Grounds and said he would enter his pet if Ginger were given grazing privileges on the Fair Grounds. The request was granted. Ginger is here shown taking a lump of sugar from Miss Virginia Lyon. The Fair will be held this year Sept. 4 to 13 inclusive.

Where Grant Lived

This is the house in which President U. S. Grant lived when he was an obscure army lieutenant stationed in Detroit. The house was recently moved from Fort street to the Detroit Fair Grounds where it will be open to visitors to the Michigan State Fair, Sept. 4 to 13. Workmen are shown restoring the house to its condition when Grant lived in it. The house will be stocked with Grant relics.

Hog Calling Contest Conditions

Perhaps the most humorous aspect of the Michigan State Fair is the hog calling contest which will be held in the grove on September 11th, at 2:30 P. M. Fifteen dollars will be awarded to the three highest scoring contestants as follows: $7.50 to first, $5.00 to second, $2.50 to third.

All Eligible
We know no East, no West. Any farmer in the wide world is eligible. No entrance required. The following percentage will prevail:

1. Volume, loudness or carrying capacity of voice—30 points. Volume is necessary to reach the ears of the hogs, especially if they are in the back eighty, and the wind is blowing from the wrong direction. It also enables the neighbors to know one is at home and "doing the chores."

2. Variety, 20 points. A varied appeal is always more effective than a monotonous, uninteresting call. Variety in calling might be correlated with a variety of feelings.

Charm Counts
3. Charm or appeal to the hog, 20 points. The hog caller's voice must have the ring of sincerity and honesty. It must carry conviction to the porkers or the calling is not a success. Truth will out.

4. Originality, 10 points. Originality creates interest. The hog should be able to distinguish its master's call from those of the neighbors.

5. Clearness, or musical quality, 10 points. Happiness aids digestion and hogs enjoy music. A clear musical call will bring them in happy and light-footed to eat with more enjoyment and more profit. Singing school lessons thus are not wasted.

6. Appearance and facial expression of caller in action, 10 points. Facial expression and general appearance of caller are the surest ways of judging the extent of the effort.

Same for Husbands
Practically the same conditions which govern the hog calling contest will prevail in husband calling contests.

Governor's Day will be celebrated at the Michigan State Fair on Wednesday, September 9th. Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald will auction off the Grand Champion Steer in the Coliseum at 2:30 P. M.

Tax-payers:

Keep your tax record clear . . . make second payment on the 10-YEAR PLAN by September 1st, 1936

TAX-PAYERS of Michigan last year set a notable example for the people of America by paying or reviving their taxes on hundreds of thousands of pieces of property.

Many thousands of tax-payers cleaned up their back taxes in full. Other hundreds of thousands put them on a ten-year plan by paying one-tenth of their total indebtedness for 1932 and prior years.

Now the second payment is due. It amounts to only one-tenth of the amount involved, and to it must be added a carrying charge of 4%.

Don't miss making this payment.

And remember: if you failed to put your taxes on the ten-year plan last year you can still do so by making the first two payments, plus 4%, and a small extra charge on the first part.

Note:

By paying up your taxes now on the 10-Year Plan you save 8% to 36% on future payments.

MICHIGAN'S 10-year plan, as enacted by the legislature, provides that on unpaid balances the taxpayer is to add interest at the rate of 4% per annum from September 1, 1935. In other words, on this year's installment the interest charge is 4%. On next year's, 8%. In 1938 it will be 12%. In order to save these advancing costs you can now anticipate all payments by adding only 4%.
