Vol. 48, No. 52

Plymouth, Michigan, Friday, September 11, 1936

$1.50 Per Year In Advance

School Has Started - It Is Your Duty To Be Careful

With over 1500 school boys and girls crossing the streets of Plymouth four times each day for five days a week, The Plymouth Mail strongly urges every automobile driver in the city to exercise the greatest of care and see to it that not a boy or girl of Plymouth or vicinity is injured by an automobile during this school year. All children are thoughtless. Sometimes in play they forget and dash out into the street. Keep your car so completely under control that even if a tot should run out from behind another car, you will be able to stop in time to prevent an accident. YOU and you alone are responsible in case of an accident involving a school child, no matter what the circumstances might be. The intersections and thoroughfares belong just as much to the boys and girls as they do you, even if you do sit back of the steering wheel of an automobile.

It is YOUR duty to see to it that not a child of Plymouth is injured. And what a wonderful thing it would be if we could say at the end of the school year that not a child in Plymouth had been hurt by an automobile. It is a record worth aspiring for.

Women Voters To Open Activities

The Plymouth League of Women Voters will hold its first meeting of the year Friday (today) at 2:30 o'clock, at the home of the president, Mrs. Ray Johns, on Penniman avenue.

The program will consist of three parts: First, planning for the fall activities of the league; second, plans for attendance at the fifteenth annual state convention of the Michigan League of Women Voters, to be held in Flint Tuesday and Wednesday, September 29 and 30; and third, a discussion of the candidates for election at the primaries Tuesday, September 15. There are candidates for two state offices, 12 county offices, state representative, state senator, United States senator and congressional representative.

With the constantly increasing need for information about public affairs, the Plymouth League is looking forward to an unusually active year. Women interested in profiting from the League's program are invited to contact the president, Mrs. Johns, or the vice-president, Mrs. Ruth Huston-Whipple. All those who wish to learn about the candidates this fall are urged to attend the meeting this afternoon.

Northville Church Gets A $20,000 Cash Gift Because Town Is Friendly

Phil Grennan Said He Liked Neighborliness Of Northville - His Will Reveals A Gift Which Wipes Out Debt Of Presbyterian Church

Northville is a neighborly place. I like it because every one seems just like everybody else," said Philip H. Grennan to a friend one day last spring out at his ranch house on the Beck road.

That neighborly spirit of Northville that so impressed the largest independent baker of America and prominent Detroit sportsman paid Northville well.

The other day Mr. Grennan died after several weeks of illness. Tuesday his will was read in probate court in Detroit.

Among his gifts was a $20,000 contribution to the Presbyterian church of Northville. In fact, the amount will be somewhat more than that because Mr. Grennan in his will provided that if $20,000 did not wipe out the entire obligation of the church, an additional sum of sufficient size should be added to the $20,000 to take care of the debt contracted a few years ago when the Presbyterians of Northville constructed their new church house. Mr. Grennan knew of the church debt because his wife before her death had contributed towards it.

Members of his family, servants and employes get the balance of his estate, reported to amount to much more than a million dollars. His daughter, Evelyn, one time a student of the Plymouth public schools, and her brother, Paul, who is 13 years old, get the bulk of the estate, which has been placed in trust for them. The mother of Mr. Grennan, who resided with him at his home on the Six Mile road near Waterford, is to receive $500 per month as long as she lives.

Mr. Grennan died last Friday morning after lying critically ill in Grace hospital for many weeks. Mr. Grennan's career is indeed a most fascinating success story. Born in Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Grennan moved to Detroit some 20 years ago and started a small bakery. Mrs. Grennan made cookies and pies and Mr. Grennan peddled them from store to store.

In less than a year they developed one of the biggest bakery businesses in Detroit and in ten years from the day he started, he controlled the largest independent bakery in America.

He was a great sportsman and a lover of saddle horses. He introduced polo to Detroit and out at his farm on the Six mile road he had developed a fine polo field.

Local Postoffice Receipts Larger

According to figures released this week by Postmaster Frank Learned, business at the Plymouth postoffice for August 1936 showed an increase of 39 percent over that of the same period last year.

This is the largest increase the postoffice ever had for a single month's time, says Mr. Learned, who calls attention to the fact that many people use postoffice business as a gauge by which to measure general business trends.

Members of Church Build Garage For The Pastor On Labor Day

Labor day was labor day for the men of the Plymouth Lutheran church. The pastor, Rev. Edgar Hoenecke, has long needed a garage at the parsonage. So, Monday, a day when every one was supposed to celebrate Labor day, the men of the church took hammers, saws and nails over to the pastor's house and before night came there was a new garage all ready for the pastor's car. When the day was over, awaiting the men was just the kind of a dinner that hungry men appreciate. It was prepared and served by the ladies of the church.

Church Celebrates Harvest Home Festival

Pictured above is the altar of St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church, splendidly arrayed for the Harvest Home festival held last Sunday. Colorful offerings of fall fruits and vegetables, in attractive arrangements, were brought by members of the congregation for this occasion.

The two baskets on the altar itself were presented by two of the laborers while the pastor, Rev. Edgar Hoenecke, repeated the instructions found in Deuteronomy: "take of the first fruit of the earth... put it in a basket and go unto the place of the Lord... and the priest shall take the basket out of thine hand and set it down before the altar of the Lord thy God."

The pastor's sermon was based on the twenty-fourth verse of Psalm 104: "O Lord, how manifold are Thy works; in wisdom hast Thou made them all; the earth is full of Thy riches." The Harvest Home festival is one of the oldest and most beautiful of the church festivals, antedating by centuries our own Thanksgiving. In addition to the attractive display at the altar of St. Peter's church, tiny bundles of grain—wheat, barley and rye—tied with yellow ribbon were fastened at the ends of the pews, as the completing touch.

Elliott Reports Tuesday Evening On Water System

Declares Distribution System Should Be Improved

A detailed history and analysis of the water problem in Plymouth was submitted to the city commission Tuesday evening by City Manager Clarence H. Elliott, in response to the request made by the commission August 17. In his opinion the information gathered in the report calls for the improvement of the distribution system and pumping station through 10-year program.

Following a brief history of the Plymouth water system, which had its beginnings in 1891 and 1892, Mr. Elliott's report gives a general description of it, including the source of the water on Beck road, half a mile north of Waterford road, pumping equipment at the gathering ground, supply line, storage reservoir, booster pumping station at Mill and Starkweather streets, street distribution system and elevated steel tank.

In June, 1929, a firm of Ann Arbor engineers tested the water supply and found that the yield of the system, including the collecting well and the eight-inch driven well, amounted to at least 700 gallons per minute. There is a six-inch well not in use which, if developed, would bring the yield to more than 1,000 gallons per minute, it is believed.

Mr. Elliott points out that even on hot summer days the yield of 700 gallons is ample for the present population, and that 1,000

Attendance Up As Plymouth Schools Open Year's Work

Initial Enrollment For All Grades Totals 1,464

Plymouth public schools opened Tuesday, September 8, with an enrollment of 1,464. This is the largest initial enrollment in the history of the school, the figure for last year being 1,442 and for 1934, 1,349.

The attendance is divided among the three schools as follows: High school, 683; Central, 476; and Starkweather, 305.

As usual, not all pupils reported the first day, some of them failing to return from vacations in time, while others had not completed jobs which they undertook for the summer. The attendances will probably go over 1,500 by the end of the week, school authorities estimate.

Only five changes were made in the teaching staff, and the new teachers are making adjustments to the system very rapidly. Among the changes in administration is the placing of a man, Ernest Berridge, in the sixth grade at Central in order to offer opportunity for the boys to enjoy their recreation periods under the direction of some one who can actually play their sports.

Another man, Alvin Balden, has been placed in the seventh and eighth grades to teach and act as leader in recreation work for junior high boys. Other new teachers are Riley Lynch, who will take over the agriculture work, Miss Dora Gallimore, music, and Miss Hazel Rathburn, third and fourth grades at Starkweather.

Seniors over 16 years of age, as stated in last week's Mail, will be allowed to take a course in ground aviation for credit.

With school nicely started, board of education members feel they have every reason to believe that a happy and profitable year is in store for all.

Add Several To List of College Entrants

Several names have been added to the list of Plymouth high school graduates who are planning to go away to school. William Thams is entering the University of Oklahoma, Doris Lockwood will go to Michigan State Normal college in Ypsilanti, Jack Seasons will enroll at the University of Michigan, Elmore Carney is going to attend the Northern Illinois School of Optometry, and Robert Van Meter will be a student at Cleary Business college, in Ypsilanti.

He Is Outstanding Democratic Leader

LEON D. CASE

Among the readers of The Plymouth Mail are a large number of good Democrats, who believe thoroughly in their party and its aims. Like the Republicans, the Democrats will Tuesday select their candidates for various public offices. Among these candidates will be Leon D. Case, of Waterford, candidate for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor. Mr. Case has been state senator from the Perrin-Cass district for a number of years and during the last legislative session he was the Democratic floor leader in the senate. He did more than any one other man in the senate to help kill off bad legislation. When the legislative session was over, his work was praised by both Democrats and Republicans. Mr. Case is publisher of the Waterford Record and The Plymouth Mail does not hesitate to give him the highest of recommendation and praise to our Democratic friends. He is an outstanding candidate and a good citizen of Michigan.

Former Governor Is Kiwanis Guest

Members of the Plymouth Kiwanis Club had an unusually interesting program Tuesday night when they were favored with a brief talk by former governor Wilbur Brucker and another by Earl Nash, Townsdenite candidate for congress.

Both spoke briefly on problems confronting the national government and gave their views on ways of eliminating present day hardships. Governor Brucker left Plymouth immediately following his talk to attend a large political rally at Northville sponsored by the Northville Republican club.

George Mitte, 92 Years Old, Prescribes For a Long Life

Moderation Is Secret Of Health, Says Aged Man

"Always keep your head cool and your feet dry." That is George Mitte's recipe for a long healthful life, and he should know for he was 92 years old Tuesday, September 8. Mr. Mitte has made his home with his nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Matts, at 794 York street, for the past 10 years.

An excess of anything is harmful, Mr. Mitte says, explaining that he has never eaten nor drunk to excess and, although he has worked hard all his life, he has always taken care of himself.

Moreover, he has only had a doctor twice in his life, once to set a broken arm and another time to treat a carbuncle on his neck. When he broke his leg one time while in the north woods 21 miles from a doctor, he proceeded to set it himself; another time he managed to set his own broken arm. Never in his life, he says, was he ill enough to be confined to his bed.

George Mitte was born September 8, 1844, in Essex Center, Ontario, Canada. He was one of 17 children, and is the eldest of the five brothers and three sisters still alive. In 1850 the family moved to Canton Center, coming by way of Detroit and Plymouth. The journey from Detroit, behind a pair of good horses, took two and a half days, starting from the site of the present Book-

Past Events May Give Murder Clue

Interesting Briefs About The Murder

Mrs. Ernest Elliott, daughter-in-law of the murdered man who lives near his home, said yesterday that it had been the habit of her father-in-law to keep large sums of money hidden about his house.

It was just a little over a year ago when three men drove up to Elliott's home, hit him over the head with a club, robbed him of $14 and made their escape.

The man who murdered Elliott, walked away from the house. No one heard an automobile start up after the shooting and no one saw a machine drive away.

Louie, of the O. K. shoe repair shop at Plymouth, had spent the evening at the Elliott home visiting with the family that made their home with Elliott. Mrs. Elliott believes that the man who murdered Elliott watched Louie leave the place and after he had left, shot him. She said Louie had been gone less than half an hour before the shooting.

Elliott is known to have had some enemies but on the day he was killed he had worked helping his son put a roof on a shed he was building. He was happy and expressed pleasure over being able to work.

Judging from the hole through the screen made by the shot, the shotgun was discharged by a person who was not very tall. The muzzle of the gun was held directly against the screen in the door.

Police believe that possibly the same men who robbed Elliott a year ago may know something about the murder. That crime was never solved. They are quite sure too that it was some one who must have known Elliott's habits.

Elliott had lived for nearly half a century in the vicinity of the place where he was murdered.

Neighbors believe that if officers can check back over all of Elliott's past troubles, they may find a clue which will lead to the solution of the killing.

After he had been robbed a year ago he purchased a revolver and told Plymouth acquaintances that he was ready for the next man that came to his place to try and rob him.

Ernest Elliott called Schrader Brothers funeral home in Plymouth and the undertakers called the coroner who in turn notified the sheriff's office. In a few minutes cars 12 and 13, of the Wayne county sheriff's patrol, were at the scene of the murder, arriving about 9:50 p. m.; they were followed within a half hour by cars 11 and 7 and Chief Deputy Charles E. Swales, with A. E. Farrell, investigator.

The deputies who manned the patrol cars were Harry LeClear, J. Pariseau, Andrew Collins, Henry Oberschulte, Howard Heinrich and George Stanton. They reported finding three shotguns and a revolver in Elliott's house.

Elliott was separated from his wife, who lives in Plymouth. In addition to Ernest Elliott, he had another son, Herbert, and two daughters, Mrs. Catherine Miller and Mrs. Anna Smith, as well as a nephew in Detroit. The Digbigs have been detained for further questioning. Digbigo, who is employed in Detroit, was not at home at the time the murder occurred.

Elliott Murder Is Investigated By Authorities

Sheriff's Officers Seek Solution To Killing Of Aged Man As He Sat Near Radio Tuesday Night

According to information received from the sheriff's office late Thursday, they have no definite clue as to who killed Alonzo Elliott. Local residents were pleased to know that Luigi Gallo, who was taken to Detroit for questioning, was released Thursday upon the application of Attorney Perry Richwine. He was taken to Detroit for questioning and it was found he had no knowledge of the crime that would in any way aid the officers. He had been to Elliott's house the evening he was killed and it was for this reason they thought he might be able to give them some lead.

With a series of previous calls to straighten out difficulties, on a basis for their investigation, members of the Wayne county sheriff's department are seeking to solve the murder Tuesday night of Alonzo Elliott, 75-year-old farmer who lived at the corner of Haugerty highway and Joy road.

Elliott was killed about 9:30 while sitting in an arm chair before his radio, the murderer shooting through the screen door with a 12-gauge shotgun. He was shot through the neck and died instantly, according to the coroner. Some shot was found in the radio, and the back of the chair in which the old man was sitting was blown off.

An Italian family lived in the house with Elliott and the woman, Mrs. Anna Dibigio, was putting her two small children to bed when she heard the shot fired. The report also was heard by Elliott's son, Ernest, who was coming to his father's house from his own place across the road. He found the frightened Mrs. Dibigio and her two children clad in their nightclothes, on their way to find him called Schrader Brothers funeral home in Plymouth and the undertakers called the coroner who in turn notified the sheriff's office. In a few minutes cars 12 and 13, of the Wayne county sheriff's patrol, were at the scene of the murder, arriving about 9:50 p. m.; they were followed within a half hour by cars 11 and 7 and Chief Deputy Charles E. PRIMARY ELECTION

Next Tuesday is primary election day. Frequently the selections made by the voters at the primary are equivalent to an election and it is because of this fact that it is so important that people get out to vote. Voting is a duty of every citizen, and unless one exercises that duty, he has not the slightest right to complain about the conduct of government or the failures of public officials to do what is for the best public interests. No matter who you favor, get out and vote Tuesday. You will have exercised a right that only a free people possess. Public interest in public affairs is evidenced only by the size of the vote and it would be a pretty healthy sign if when the ballot boxes are closed Tuesday evening, the members of the election boards could say that every one in Plymouth able to vote had performed their duty to their government and themselves.

PHIL H. GRENNAN

Phil H. Grennan, prominent Detroit business man who maintained his home near Plymouth, died the other day in the prime of life. Doctors said his death was indirectly due to an injury received some three or four years ago. All of Mr. Grennan's interests outside of his business, were confined to the vicinity of Northville and Plymouth. His intimates knew what extensive plans he had for the future in connection with this part of Wayne county. Without doubt these plans will pass with him, and the public will suffer as a result. In tribute to Mr. Grennan, the following editorial taken from The Detroit

News, probably best expresses the feelings of those who knew Mr. Grennan well:

"Somewhere a sportsman has been defined as a man who wins honestly, who loses cheerfully, who hopes increasingly, who bestows quietly, who receives naturally, who differs fairly, who agrees warmly, who lives liberally—whose playfellows are mankind.

"An occasional rare spirit rises to the level of that definition, and inevitably his influence on his fellows is profound.

"Such a one was Phil H. Grennan. His contribution to Detroit sport was exemplary. His quiet charities were matters to be pondered in his own heart. The loss to Detroit and to Northville, through his death, is best measured not in terms of his success as a business man and sportsman, but by the mellowing influence of his life on the many who called him friend."

CHEATING THEMSELVES

Several times during the past two or three weeks the writer has driven by public "projects" where several hundreds of men have been employed to do the work. In one group there was probably a total of some 300 men who were supposed to be working. Because the engine of a big truck was stalled, traffic was delayed near where these men were "working", for several minutes. Out of the 300 men or more, during these few minutes of delay in traffic, it is doubtful if a dozen shovelful of earth were removed. The "workers" either stood leaning on their shovels, or talking in groups. One honest worker could have produced more real results in these five or six minutes than did the entire 300 or more men.

This loafing by public workers is one of the things that so enrages those who are footing the bill. Taxpayers and men with jobs are perfectly willing to help pay for "projects" to give unemployed men work, providing the unemployed will do something for their city, state or country in return for the aid they receive. But it is an outrage upon the public and downright thievery for a man to accept a PWA check for the kind of work the writer witnessed the other day. If these loafers think they are cheating anybody besides themselves, they have another guess coming, because some day there will be an accounting and the "work" slackers will find themselves as thoroughly despised by the public as did the slackers during the world war, with just as tough a row to hoe afterwards.

ONE MINUTE BIOGRAPHIES of MICHIGAN GOVERNORS and their ACCOMPLISHMENTS

By Elton R. Eaton

CYRUS B. LUCE

No. 19

Cyrus Gray Luce was the first governor of the state to remove to Lansing and give most of his time to the duties of the executive office.

Born in Ashtabula, Ohio in 1824, reared in Indiana, where he learned to play politics. Cyrus Luce had little difficulty of getting into politics when he came to Michigan and located in Branch county. His father was a farmer. For a time he operated a wool-carding factory in Indiana that was owned by his father, but later came to Michigan, buying 60 acres of land near Gilead, Branch county.

In 1852 he was elected supervisor of the township in which he lived, and served on the board of supervisors for eleven years. He was made a member of the first Republican legislature the state ever had. Following his retirement from the state legislature he was elected treasurer of Branch county and served two terms. Always anxious to serve in a public capacity, Luce was made a candidate for the state senate and was elected to the senate in 1864, serving two terms. He was also made a member of the constitutional convention in 1867.

Governor Crosswell made him state oil inspector, being re-appointed by Governor Jerome. At the Grand Rapids convention of the Republicans in 1886, Luce was made candidate for governor by acclamation, and defeated Judge George L. Yapple of Mendon, the Democratic candidate, by the small majority of 7,432.

Governor Luce, who for seven years was master of the state grange, did much during his two terms as governor, for the benefit of the farmers of the state.

NOT THE STARS ANY LONGER

It was a wise person who said that the length of one's life does not depend so much on the star one was born under, but more on the color of the traffic light as one crosses the street.—George Averill in The Birmingham Eccentric.

SOMETHING WRONG

That there is something wrong in this unemployment relief set-up is becoming more apparent with each passing day.

This week there appears two significant items in the Crystal Falls Diamond Drill, published at the county seat of Iron county. One item tells that officials of a South Dakota sheep ranch have been in Iron county where they have negotiated with owners of the Triangle ranch near Amasa for pasturage and winter feed for 10,000 breeding ewes. The Dakota ranchers are victims of the drought. It is related that the South Dakota ranchers report the forage of Iron county of excellent quality and winter feed ample for their requirements.

The other item tells of the great increase in mining and ore shipping activities in that section. The Lake Superior Iron Ore Association is quoted as reporting an increase of 50 per cent over last year up to August 1. Last year to that date the tonnage amounted to 12,000,000 tons while so far this year the tonnage reported amounts to nearly 19,000,000 tons.

In the face of the fact that the county has escaped drought and the fact that mining and ore handling is nearly up to normal, an increase of more than 50 per cent, the last report issued by the Michigan Emergency Relief Administration shows that more than one-half the population of Iron county is now being supported by state and federal relief programs. Gogebic county shows a ratio just below 50 per cent while Dickinson and Ontonagon each indicate a relief load slightly less than 40 per cent. Marquette county with its rich mines and varied industries and large shipping interests still lolls in the lap of the relief agencies to the tune of about 25 per cent of the total population.

We wonder how much these well paid social workers really want their jobs closed up. We wonder how hard they struggle to release those on relief and how much they encourage their "clients" to seek and retain normal employment.

Another thing, how long does an emergency last and when does it become the accepted thing?

More than $37,000,000 was expended by the state emergency relief administration during the year ending June 30, 1936. In addition to this an untold and unknown amount was expended under various forms of federal work relief activities. During the same period, every industrial concern in the state picked up the tempo of returning to normal operations. Again we ask, when does an emergency cease to exist?—Vernon J. Brown in The Ingham County News.

Elliott Reports To Commission On Water System

should care for the city until 1955, when he estimates that the population will have increased to 7,500. As for the booster station, which has two pumping units each with a rated capacity of 700 gallons per minute against a total suction and discharge of 100 feet, Mr. Elliott points out that in 1929, upon the recommendation of consulting engineers, the 25 horsepower motors operating the pumps were replaced with 10 horsepower units. This, he says, has saved considerable in power; but he doubts whether the pumps will deliver 700 gallons as the present time.

The report goes on to state: "The distribution system, it is agreed by the several engineers with whom I (Elliott) have talked, is the one weak point in our system. The water problem is not one primarily of more supply, but of adequate pressure throughout the city and available water."

Some of the weaknesses in the distribution system are listed as follows: 1. The steel tank regulating the pressures is fed actually by a six-inch main; 2. Adams street, which becomes one of the main feeders for the northwestern section, is four-inch and is a dead end main at Blanche street, 3. Irvin, Arthur, Pacific, Sheridan, Golden road, Dewey, Blanche, Roosevelt, Harding, Kellogg, South Mill and Hobbrook avenue are all dead-end lines.

4. The water mains for the entire area south of Brush are fed with a four-inch main; 5. There is a four-inch bottleneck on Penniman west of Church street; 6. There is a broken valve at Mill street and Ann Arbor trail.

The report is concluded with the following recommendations: 1. Inasmuch as engineers have ascertained that a capacity output at the spring is between 1,400 and 2,100 gallons per minute and further that a well is drilled but not equipped which, if equipped, would place the city out of immediate danger of a shortage of water, I therefore, recommend that the city equip the six-inch well with a "turbine" pump and make the changes necessary to make it efficient.

2. A tester or locator for leaks should be secured and an examination of all lines made as soon as possible.

3. That the engineering department proceed with a study of the efficiency of the pumps at the booster station, keeping in mind the possibility of increasing pressures, and thereby increasing the amount of water to reach the city.

4. That the city manager proceed with the preparation of a 10-year program for the improvement of the distribution system.

5. That the PWA project be withdrawn.

6. That standby service be obtained from Detroit if the cost is not too great.

7. That all broken gate-valves be fixed as soon as possible and all leaks repaired as soon as discovered.

City Manager Elliott's report will appear in full in next week's issue of The Plymouth Mail. The commission also heard a talk by T. Glenn Phillips on the advantages of a zoning ordinance for Plymouth.

Mr. Elliott reported that the Garfield avenue culvert had been completed at a total cost of $595, and that the street will be opened to traffic in a week or so, as soon as the drying process is complete.

George Mitte Is 92 Years Of Age

transferred to Chicago where he Cadillac hotel in Detroit, where he stayed for two years before going on to California to become a division superintendent.

Then he left the railroad business, and went to Cleveland to become the agent for an oil company. This work took him to Calumet Michigan, Duluth, Minnesota, and Minneapolis and St. Paul, before he quit and bought a farm in Arenac county. Here he stayed until 1912, when he sold out and moved to Detroit to live until 10 years ago, at which time he moved to Plymouth.

When asked what he could remember of the old Plymouth he saw as a child when traveling through, he says it was merely a four corners with a postoffice, a few log houses and a saw mill. He has good reason to remember the mill, because once he was sent there on horseback to collect the money due for timber. It was a bitterly cold day, as he recalls it, so he stood for a while in the boiler room to get warm before starting for home. He was scarcely on the road before the boiler blew up, killing several people.

"I can remember one thing about that," he chuckles. "Folks said that a piece of that boiler flew through a room in a house near by where two women were sitting, and that neither one of the women was hurt, but their canary bird was killed."

The radio is Mr. Mitte's chief source of entertainment these days, and Mickey Cochrane is no more interested in the Tigers' fortunes than he is. He never misses a game, and says he believes he'll offer himself as a pitcher next season to put the Detroit team in the pennant race again.

"Might as well let 'em know I'm alive," he declares, with a twinkle in his eye.

Kenneth Mosher Will Assume Elton Ashton's Place In United Bank

Kenneth Mosher, who has been associated with the First National bank of Almont for the past ten years as assistant cashier, will, on September 15 become a teller and bookkeeper at the Plymouth United Savings bank. Elton Ashton has resigned to become associated with the United Securities company of Missouri, as their Plymouth representative. Mr. Mosher will assume the position held by Mr. Ashton, who has for some time past been interested in the company that he will now represent in Plymouth. Mr. Ashton has been with the bank for a number of years, but he has been strongly urged by representatives of the United Securities company to take over their work here for some time and recently made up his mind to enter this new line of work which presents exceptional opportunities.

Mrs. Smiley, grandmother of the groom, wore a printed silk crepe gown with a corsage of pink roses, little white mums, and lace ferns.

After the wedding, a reception was given for the happy couple by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Lefler at their home in Northville.

Only immediate families and close friends were present at the wedding and reception.

The young couple left on a wedding trip through the northern part of the state. On their return, they will make their home in Detroit.

The public is invited to attend the lecture.

Rotarians Visit The Ayers Farm

Just as in past years, the annual visit of the members of the Plymouth Rotary club and their ladies to the beautiful farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ayers last Friday evening, was an outstanding event in Rotary circles. Dressed in working clothing of farmers and fruit growers, it is needless to say that the Rotarians made good looking farmers. The ladies wore house dresses.

The big barn where dinner was served was decorated with jack-o-lanterns and cornstalks. The setting was both unusual and most attractive. The dinner, prepared by the Mayflower hotel, was served piping hot, even though the farm is some two miles or more from the hotel.

President Fred Saborn and the committee in charge, consisting of Robert Willoughby, Roy Woodworth and Lynn Felton, made the event more enjoyable by combining with it a celebration in honor of the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Robinson. Mr. Robinson, one of the charter members of the Plymouth Rotary club, and his bride of half a century ago, were given a real surprise when Charles Bennett, in behalf of the Rotarians, presented them with a beautiful colonial mirror. Songs especially written for the golden wedding celebration were sung following the presentation talk by Mr. Bennett.

For once the popular old time resident of Plymouth found difficulty in expressing to the club his appreciation for the unusual remembrance of their wedding anniversary.

To add a bit more to the pleasures of the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Ayers presented each lady present with a basket of assorted fruit picked from their orchards. Then followed an evening of old time dancing on the Ayers tennis courts in front of the barn. The event was one of the happiest Plymouth Rotarians have enjoyed during the year.

At today's meeting, District Governor George Averill will make his official visit to the club and President Saborn expects that there will be a one hundred per cent attendance.

Mrs. Goodale Is Winner At Fair

Another championship has come to Plymouth, this time through the expert knowledge of Mrs. Loren J. Goodale of 186 Hamilton avenue, whose baked goods won the grand championship this week at the State Fair in Detroit.

Mrs. Goodale entered 11 cakes and a quantity of cookies and candy, in competition with hundreds of other women, and was awarded first prize money, together with the blue ribbons signifying that she is "tops" in the baking field—no mean achievement.

This is the third year that Mrs. Goodale has entered the State Fair contest; last year she took third place. She also has a display of canned goods with which she hopes to win further honors. These were to be judged some time Thursday.

Plymouth Hills Robbed On Sunday

While Melvin Partridge, owner of the Plymouth Hills Golf club, was attending a show Sunday night, thieves broke into the clubhouse office, looting the place of $28 in cash and a quantity of cigarettes, cigars and golf balls.

Partridge suspects four boys from Highland Park who were hanging around the club earlier in the evening and who, he says, seemed anxious for him to close up and leave. Apparently the thieves forced entrance through a window, as the glass was broken. Partridge reported the robbery to Chief of Police Vaughan Smith, who in turn notified the sheriff's office, under whose jurisdiction the case comes.

Train Wreck Is Narrowly Averted

A train wreck which might have proved serious was narrowly averted Tuesday night when railroad men discovered several tie plates on the rails of the Pere Marquette tracks just before the No. 7 passenger train was due from the east.

The plates are large pieces of steel which could cause the derailling of a train which might result in serious injuries and death. It is thought the plates were placed on the track by mischievous boys who did not realize what the consequences might be, and parents are being urged to caution their children against such "pranks."

Locals

Mr. and Mrs. William Greer returned Monday night from Chicago where they spent the week-end with relatives.

J. Kenneth Greer left Wednesday morning for Chicago where he will be employed the coming year.

Mrs. Ray Johns attended the state board meeting of the Michigan League of Women voters held in Lansing Tuesday.

On Tuesday evening Mrs. William Greer entertained 16 guests at dinner in honor of her father, LeRoy Simmons, as a surprise to him in celebration of his birthday. The guests were old time friends and the evening was pleasantly spent talking over days of old. Later Mrs. Greer served refreshments. Mr. Simmons was the recipient of several gifts in honor of the day.

Burroughs Company Makes Survey Of Property On Plymouth Road

Activity Indicates Possible Construction Program Is Contemplated; Story of Rapid Growth Of Burroughs Company Is Most Interesting

During the past few days engineers have completed surveys of the Burroughs property along Haggerty highway at the corner of Plymouth road. While no official announcement has come from the officials of the company about building plans, the fact that the land has been surveyed and staked, leads to the belief that steps are being taken towards the construction of a new unit in this locality for the Burroughs Adding Machine company within the next few months.

The following article about the tremendous growth of the Burroughs company taken from a recent magazine issue, will be of especial interest to Plymouth just at this time in view of the reported prospects of the construction of a factory unit here. Back in the days when young blades staged spirited horse races on Grand Boulevard west of Woodward when Detroit was whipping its Tigers into shape for a string of pennant-winning years . . . and when the Lions in town were curiosities in the Belle Isle zoo . . . In October, 1904, to be exact, the Burroughs Adding Machine Company—its entire personnel and their families—rolled out of the west into Detroit on a special train.

The transfer of all the employees on one train and in one day from St. Louis, Missouri, was heralded in those days as an event of more than passing consequence. Therefore, when the Burroughs special steamed into the station there was much fanfare, several speeches of welcome to the incoming citizens, and other befitting festivities. After being shown the city, the Burroughs and quiet were escorted to a remote and quiet neck of the local woods where the company had decided to build its new factory. That location, now designated as Second Boulevard at Burroughs Avenue, is still the site of the main factory and general offices of the company.

The home of the world's oldest and largest manufacturer of adding, bookkeeping, billing and calculating machines and allied products, then, is only a hop, skip and two or three jumps from Webster Hall, being approximately three-fourths of the distance from the hotel to the Fisher and General Motors buildings (but fronting on Second Boulevard). Established nearly a half-century ago in St. Louis, located in Detroit continuously for the past 30 years, the Burroughs Adding Machine Company has contributed an element of variety into the industrial life of a city which pulsates primarily in response to automotive activity.

Yes, men, money and motors sing the saga of Detroit. But if you will include figuring machines—in the title I will briefly sketch another story that parallels the dramatic early days of the automotive pioneers. It is the story of William Seward Burroughs, founder of the company which bears his name and inventor of the first commercially practical adding machine.

In his youth, Burroughs served as a bank clerk in Auburn, New York. And while laboring over his ledgers, weary from endless hours of adding, subtracting and frequent checking against error, the lad dreamed of a machine that would relieve himself and all human beings of such drudgery. But while Burroughs gained the idea of the adding machine, he lost his health.

Broken in body, Burroughs went west to find both a climate and an occupation to help him fight his way back to health. He took up residence in St. Louis, Missouri, in 1882 and fortunately obtained work in a machine shop where he quickly became a first-class mechanic. His conception of an adding machine began to take definite form. So definite in fact that he developed plans to work with and also plans to talk about. He saved his talk for men from whom he might get financial support. A dry goods merchant, skeptical though willing to "invest," advanced $300 for development work on the machine. The $300 investment soon vanished, as did an additional $400. Months slipped by rapidly and accumulated into years—six whole years—before Burroughs finished his first machine. The patent was registered in 1888, although the company had been formed two years earlier.

Fifty machines were then built and sold, but hardly had they been put into use than complaints and protests were heard. The machines would not add correctly with any regularity! Burroughs himself investigated, found the claims true, and set out to remedy the trouble. At first he tried by instructing the correct method of operation—but there always existed the human variation in the power and speed applied to pulling the machine's handle. He then decided that the change had to be made with the machine itself.

Burroughs returned to his bench, knowing that the success or failure of his invention rested squarely on his shoulders. His toughest problem confronted him. He faced it as he had all others—with hours of hard work and masterful mechanical skill. He remained in his shop for three consecutive days and nights and on the morning of the fourth day emerged with a device that was to make his adding machine practical, his invention successful. He fool-proofed his machine, inventing a governing device that made his machine add correctly regardless of who operated it.

From this original adding machine, slowly and painstakingly perfected, have come the adding machines, bookkeeping machines, billing machines and other Burroughs machines now seen in offices the world over. Burroughs, although in poor health for years, lived to see the success of his invention and to rise from an obscure bank clerk to a man of enduring fame and considerable fortune. Burroughs died in the south in 1898.

Big oaks from little acorns grow, and from Burroughs' humble organization in St. Louis has developed the present-day company, known in all quarters of the globe. Throughout its entire existence, the Burroughs Adding Machine Company has kept an ear to the ground for the figuring and accounting machine requirements of business. The company's engineers and craftsmen, noted for precision of workmanship much as the automotive world is known for assembly line production, have constantly invented new machines and even new methods for handling figure work. The company now offers 450 standard models of machines and nearly 2,000 individual machine features to the buying public.

Included in the long list of machines are the following: adding machines, adding-subtracting machines, bookkeeping machines, typewriter, billing machines, calculators, cash registers, standard typewriters—hand or electric carriage, correct-posture chairs and supplies, such as roll paper, carbon paper, machine stands and ribbons. Burroughs machines are kept in perfect operating condition by a factory trained and controlled crew of service men.

One of the most interesting of the newer machines is the Electric Carriage Typewriter on which returning the carriage to the left-hand margin, spacing up the paper to the next writing line, and shifting to capitals are performed electrically. Advantages of such a typewriter are apparent to typists and stenographers and to any one who can visualize the amount of energy required to push back a typewriter carriage by hand hundreds of times daily.

As long as the Burroughs Adding Machine has been in Detroit it has never missed paying its stockholders a quarterly dividend. That the company has made so many safe landings on the right side of the ledger is a tribute to foresight and sound management. It amounts almost to a matter of civic pride that one of the city's larger institutions marked its recent dividend check, "The 130th Consecutive Cash Dividend of Burroughs Adding Machine Company."

National Disgrace.
Carter Glass, Democratic senator from Virginia, said: "The New Deal, taken all in all, is not only a mistake, it is a disgrace to the nation."

Vital Provisions of New Ordinance Appear This Week

dents and reckless or drunk driving are carefully outlined. Chief of Police Vaughan Smith, who is responsible for the enforcing of the new ordinance, points out that these sections are vital to every resident of the city, especially those who drive cars.

He explains that the ordinance specifically states all operators of motor vehicles must carry with them their state license cards and receipts of registration of titles, to be turned over for examination upon demand of any police officer of the city. Too many persons erroneously believe it sufficient merely to have obtained these papers, he says.

Then comes a provision that all cars must be properly equipped with a license plates, a law which nearly every driver knows about.

For the safety of both motorists and pedestrians, the ordinance forbids any person to drive a car unless he is completely inside the car and in front of the steering wheel. It further provides that the operator's view may not be obscured by any objects, stickers or window cards, and forbids any person from climbing or hitching on to a moving vehicle, either with or without the consent of the operator.

Reckless driving is strictly prohibited by the following clause: "No operator shall drive recklessly. The operation of any vehicle on any highway in such manner as to endanger or be likely to endanger the life or limb of any person or the safety of any property shall be deemed reckless driving. The term shall also include the driving of any vehicle when it is not under control, turning a corner in a manner endangering the safety of pedestrians or property; or driving a vehicle past a red traffic signal light."

A little further on there is a clause which expressly forbids anyone to drive a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor or drugs, and stipulates that no owner of a motor vehicle shall knowingly permit a person under such influence to operate his car. The ordinance requires every motor vehicle to have adequate brakes, with two separate means of applying them to at least two wheels, constructed so that no part liable to failure shall be common to the two sets. "Adequate brakes shall consist of a service brake capable of stopping the vehicle within a distance of forty feet from a speed of twenty miles per hour on a dry, smooth, hard surface road free from any loose material, and an emergency brake, capable of the same performance, and capable of holding the vehicle on any grade which it can ascend."

A horn in working order, audible at least 200 feet away, also is required, but sirens, exhaust, compression, or spark plug whistles or any other unnecessarily loud warning devices are forbidden.

Lights required by the ordinance for all motor vehicles on the highway during the night and at all other times when visibility is insufficient to show a person on the highway 200 feet ahead. Every car must have two head lamps which will reveal a person that distance away without dazzling the operator of a car coming from the other direction.

All vehicles, whether motor driven or trailer type, must have a red light in the rear which is visible for 200 feet, while the license plate must be illuminated by a white light and readable 50 feet to the rear, the ordinance states. Trucks or trailers over six feet, six inches wide are required to have a green light on the left side in back.

Parking lights are permissible if visible for 200 feet, but all parked cars must show two white lights to the front and a red one to the rear during the night. The only exception in the ordinance is a parking light mounted on the rear left fender displaying a white light to the front and red to the rear, each visible for 200 feet. One spotlight may be used if placed not higher than the center of the windshield and adjusted so the rays project downward. All other lights except those required by state law are prohibited.

Bible Lectures Are Scheduled

A series of up-to-date, thrilling Bible lectures will be given in the Masonic Temple, in Plymouth, beginning Sunday night, September 13, at 8 o'clock, and continuing every night, except Saturday night, until the series is completed.

Evangelist C. J. Coon, who has lectured in several of the large cities of the east, will be the speaker. He is a fundamentalist, and believes the time is ripe for a re-statement of the great Bible truths which gave to Protestantism its message and power.

Mr. Coon declares that he is fully convinced that the Bible is the divinely inspired Word of God, and that it alone gives humanity a true understanding of present-day conditions, and the outcome.

Mr. Coon believes that the prophecies of the Bible which have already been accurately fulfilled, and other prophecies which at the present time are in process of fulfillment, constitute undeniable proof of the inspiration of the Scriptures, and that to many in Plymouth the Bible will become a more cherished and appreciated book as these prophecies are studied, and that the Christian's faith will be greatly strengthened in the Bible.

Mr. Coon says that these important lectures are not only for church members of all persuasions, but also for those who make no profession. He desires to have any infidels, or atheists attend these services and be convinced of the existence of God.

There will be special music at 7:45 each evening, for 15 minutes preceding the lecture. The community song service will be especially enjoyed. All are most cordially invited to come and join in singing the old favorite gospel songs. There is no admission charge.

The opening service will be held on Sunday night, and the topic will be, "All the World Under One Flag." In this lecture is presented a prophecy which no infidel can refute. It deals with the fulfilled past, and reveals the unfulfilled future. Accepting the fulfilled past, which was not yet fulfilled when the prophecy was given about 2500 years ago, we have undeniable proof and evidence that the remaining portion of this prophecy, which predicts the events to transpire in the immediate future, will be as accurately fulfilled, Mr. Coon declares. These lectures will be a treat to the people of Plymouth.

1. That you believe in the basic principles of the Civil Service Bill as proposed by the Michigan Civil Service Study Commission to which I pledge my whole-hearted support.
2. That you favor the establishment of a welfare program which will co-ordinate all present agencies. (Civil Service requirements should be extended to this important work to remove political influence.)

4. That you believe that a system of pardons and paroles should be established which would eliminate political pressure from those administering the system.
5. That you favor adequate educational facilities.

Browned Honey Rice Pudding
1 cup washed raw white rice
3/4 cup strained honey
1/4 cup raisins
1 1/2 cups evaporated milk or cream
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 cup chopped nuts
(these may be omitted)
Cook rice in boiling salted water. Brown in a skillet, being careful not to burn the honey. Drain rice, mix with the honey and add butter, cinnamon, nuts and milk. Mix and place in a casserole. Bake in a moderately hot oven until pudding gets golden in color. Add juice of 1 lemon, stir and bake 15 minutes more.

Cauliflower with Golden Sauce
1 medium size head cauliflower
1/2 cup sugar
yolks of 2 eggs
1/2 cup cream or evaporated milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1-8 teaspoon paprika
Juice of 1/2 lemon
2 tablespoons butter
Cut away the green leaves and woody base from the cauliflower and soak head down in cold salted water for at least 15 minutes. Drain and boil, uncovered, in enough salted water to cover until tender. Drain, divide into flowerets, and serve with golden sauce. To make sauce beat the yolks slightly, add cream, salt, paprika and lemon juice. Place in the top of a double boiler over boiling water and cook until thick. Add the butter a small bit at a time as the sauce cooks.

Chocolate Tapioca Souffle
1-3 cup granulated tapioca
1/2 cup sugar
2 squares chocolate cut in pieces
2 cups milk
2 tablespoons butter
3 yolks beaten until thick and lemon colored
3 egg whites stiffly beaten
1/4 teaspoon salt
Combine tapioca, sugar, salt, chocolate and milk in top of double boiler. Place over boiling water and bring to scalding point (allow 3 to 5 minutes), and cook 5 minutes, stirring frequently. Add butter. Cool slightly while beating eggs. Add egg yolks and mix well. Fold into egg whites. Turn into greased baking dish. Place in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven.

Eggs are now being preserved by treating them with carbon dioxide and nitrogen. This treatment is said to preserve them for a year.

Relief Obligation
Gov. Landon's philosophy is that relief to the unemployed is not a privilege or a vested right or charity. He told the Kansas legislature that it is a common obligation created by the rapidity and complexity of economic growth.

Foreign Pork
Under orders from the Roosevelt administration, American farmers killed their pigs and brood sows, and in 1935 foreign farmers shipped more than twelve and one-half million pounds of pork into the American market.

Students Get Gas From White Clover

HAROLD children, twenty-two, of Cokato, Minn., and William Mahle, twenty, of Macalester college, Minneapolis, claim to have discovered a process by which usable combustible commercial gas can be obtained from wild white sweet clover. The gas, methane and ethane, say the discoverers, can be furnished to consumers at half the present cost of commercial gas in most residential communities, and the growing and manufacture would furnish a number of by-products, including honey, alcohol and acetone. Backing for the statements of the two young scientists was given by two of their instructors, R. U. Jones, head of the chemistry department of Macalester college, and R. B. Hastings, chemical professor of that institution.

THREE GOOD RECIPES

HERE is a good ice-box cooky, which is always a good one to keep ready for any occasion:

Sugar Cookies
Cream one cupful of butter, add two cupfuls of sugar, add two teaspoons of vanilla, one of lemon extract, two teaspoons of nutmeg, one-half teaspoon of salt, three eggs well beaten and four tablespoons of cream. Beat three minutes then add four and one-third cups of flour, one teaspoon of cream of tartar well blended. Shape into two rolls two inches in diameter and roll in waxed paper. Place in the ice chest 24 hours. Cut into thin slices and bake in a quick oven.

Caramel Jelly
Soak two tablespoons of gelatin in one-half cup of cold milk for five minutes. Pour one-half cup of sugar into a smooth iron frying pan. Heat slowly, stirring constantly until a light brown sirup is formed, add one cup of boiling water and cook five minutes, stirring frequently 'till well dissolved. Add the gelatin mixture and one cup of boiling milk. Cook slowly until the gelatin is dissolved. Add one-half cup of cream, pinch of salt, one and one-half teaspoons of vanilla and pour into molds to stiffen. Turn out and serve sprinkled with shredded almonds.

Orange Cream
Cook together the juice and rind of a lemon, one cupful of orange juice and four tablespoonfuls of flour mixed with one-half cupful of sugar. Add the beaten yolks of four eggs and cook until thick. Cream one-half cupful of butter and one cupful of powdered sugar and add to the cooled custard. Lastly fold in the stiffly-beaten whites of the eggs. Line the bottom of a pan with lady fingers and pour in the orange mixture. Set aside to cool and serve garnished with whipped cream.

Indianapolis in 1825

In 1825, Indianapolis was a small town, but in 1847, when the first railway entered the city, it began its steady growth. Its central geographical location, its railway connections, and nearness to the coal fields have combined to make it one of the principal industrial centers of the Middle West.

Our attendants exhibit personal concern in seeing that the ceremony shall represent a real, heartfelt tribute.

When The Sun Leaves Baby

All summer baby has been drinking in the health-giving rays of the sun. Even now in September, he can be out of doors in his little sun suit. But gradually the sun is losing strength. Baby must obtain the elements of sunshine in another form to build his resistance against winter cold. Wise mothers are starting to give baby daily doses of cod liver oil or its concentrates, which contain an abundance of sunshine vitamin D. Many are getting their supply at Dodge's for here they are sure of getting the quality baby requires at consistently low price.

Groesbeck Praises H. Montgomery

"When they appointed Henry A. Montgomery county clerk, the Wayne circuit judges showed that they knew their business," said former Governor Alex J. Groesbeck in statement issued this week.

Henry Montgomery took office without any strings attached to him whatsoever. He went in to fill a vacancy, and had a clear field before him. He proceeded to build up an organization in which efficient public service is the first rule.

"County Clerk Montgomery had no political debts to pay off, no friends to reward, no lame duck relatives to take care of. His first move was to bring back 12 men and women who had long years of experience in the county clerk's office."

"Henry Montgomery is not a politician. As editor of Detroit daily newspapers, originator of the Friend of the Court department and as a practicing attorney, he was thoroughly familiar with the needs of the county clerk's office and exceptionally qualified to build up a staff of expert assistants."

"I am confident that real service is, after all, the best campaign argument, and that the vote for County Clerk Montgomery will prove that to be true."

Great Negro Epic Will Be Shown At Plymouth Theater

"The Green Pastures" Is Scheduled To Open Next Sunday

One of the year's outstanding pictures, "The Green Pastures" will be shown at the Penniman-Allen theater for three days, beginning Sunday. This production, based on the famous stage play of the same name by Marc Connelly, is a dramatization of the primitive negro's interpretation of the Bible.

A completely negro cast, aided by the Hall Johnson choir, depicts heaven, the Creation, the story of Noah, of Moses and of Babylon, together with other incidents from the Bible, as they are told to a Sunday school class of pickaninnies by an old colored preacher.

The outstanding performance, or, more accurately, performances, are turned in by Rex Ingram, the skilled actor who not only portrays De Lawd, but also Adam and Hezredel, a young Hebrew of the time of Christ. Ingram was a four-letter athlete at Northwestern university, wears a Phi Beta Kappa key and was graduated with honors.

"The Green Pastures" is said to be an epic production, in which the Creation is a skillful and awe-inspiring sight, and the Flood a thing of terror, despite the comic relief provided by the marching of the animals into the Ark. Heaven is depicted as a southern "fish-fry," the negro's idea of what a really perfect existence would be. The Hall Johnson choir adds solemn beauty to many of the scenes with a majestic rendering of some of the best of the old negro spirituals.

Don Ameche, the young actor of "First Nighter" fame whose voice is known to thousands of radio listeners throughout the country, appears with Jean Hersholt in "Sins of Man" Wednesday and Thursday. The theme concerns the affection of a father for his two motherless sons, one of whom is a deaf mute, and the heartbreak and sorrow, turmoil and triumphs which this love brings.

Hersholt plays the part of a sexton and bellringer in a small Tyrolean village. Ameche has a double role, that of the older son, Karl, who goes to America to become an aviator, and also of Gabriel, the deaf mute. Karl is killed in a crash, the war destroys the village and the father becomes a doddering old pauper. Then, 20 years later, Hersholt and his younger son are brought face to face in a scene of touching pathos.

For those who enjoy Jack London's romances of the northern wilds, "White Fang" is being shown Friday and Saturday. The leading roles are taken by Michael Whalen and Jean Muir, with Slim Summerville, Charles Winger and John Carradine in the supporting cast. The plot is one of gold and greed, love and danger, with Whalen as an intrepid adventurer and Miss Muir the beautiful young girl whose brother dies in the wilds, a suicide.

Hidden Taxes

"If the major portion of the government's income is obtained from indirect and hidden taxes—taxes upon such things as food, clothing, gasoline and cigarettes—then the main burden falls upon those of small income and the cost of government is hidden. In this case, it is the wage earner, the salaried worker, the farmer, and the small business man, who have to pay most of the bill."—A. M. Landon at Buffalo, N. Y., August 26, 1936.

Cotton Checks

Big cotton planters in the South received generous helpings of government funds for not growing cotton. Forty-six received more than $10,000 each and one was sent a check for $123,000; 1,131 received checks of over $2,500 each and then of the little fellows, 732,075 received an average of $46.00 each.

Northville News

Because the new $85,000 grade school building will not be completed until sometime in December, it was necessary for grade school classes to open in temporary quarters on Tuesday, the first day of school.

Grades 3, 4 and 5, taught by Mrs. J. A. Congo, Mrs. K. H. Babbitt and Mrs. A. R. Clarke, are meeting in the Legion hall, grades 1 and 2, taught by Mrs. O. F. Increased enrollment this year will make another high school teacher necessary this year, Supt. R. H. Amerman has announced.

The board of education last week authorized plans to make the high school building fireproof by piping steam heat from the new grade school boiler room. Brick laying is well under way on the new building, and the pouring of cement for the first floor has been started. Approximately 25 men are employed on the job through the WPA.

Members of the Methodist church are laying plans for the fiftieth anniversary of the building of the present church structure, to be held on September 20 and 21. Two special services will be held Sunday, and a dinner on the following day. Former pastors will be invited to attend, while the older members of the church will be guests of honor.

Residents of Northville township will decide at the November election whether or not they will continue the caucus system of selecting candidates. Petitions for a change have been circulated and the question will be put on the November ballot, according to Supervisor W. A. Ely. At the present time there are only three or four townships in Wayne county using the caucus system.

Former Sheriff Seeks Nomination

Among the candidates for the nomination for sheriff in Wayne county, on the Democratic ticket, is Thomas C. Wilcox, former police commissioner of Detroit and recently sheriff.

Wilcox was elected sheriff in 1932. In seeking re-election in 1934, his Republican opponent defeated him by a few hundred votes. A recount was petitioned for and granted, and Wilcox was certified by the election committee, assuming office January 1, 1935. Later his opponent instituted quo warranto proceedings which resulted in a judgment of ouster. The decision was appealed to the supreme court, where a ruling is still pending.

Born and educated in Wisconsin, Wilcox moved to Detroit more than 25 years ago. He has been in law enforcement work more than 34 years. In 1917 he was appointed by President Wilson to the United States department of justice, a position now known as that of a "G-Man." His outstanding ability as an agent resulted in his promotion to a place as chief of the Philadelphia district, in charge of all governmental investigation of federal prisons where he unearthed evidence of corruption and graft which he later eliminated. In 1930 he was appointed commissioner of police for Detroit, where he served until a change of mayors.

A Country Soul

by Tracy Cone
I must have been born with a country soul
And a love for the country folk.
For there I find the greatest joy
Life's living can provoke.

I love the bleating of the sheep,
The mooing of the cow,
The grunting of the lowly pig,
They all amuse, some how.

The whinny of the family horse,
The clucking of the hen,
Creates a feeling deep within
All true-bred country men.

There's worlds of fun in making hay,
In following the plow,
In sowing oats, in shocking corn,
The milking of the cow.

I've roamed the streets of many towns,
Enjoyed amusement's charm,
But found they lack the lasting joys
One finds upon the farm.

My fervent hope is to possess
An eighty-acre tract,
Where I may give my country soul
Full privilege to act.

Invisible Taxes

"We cannot buy a stitch of clothing without the government's taking in taxes a part of the money we pay out. We cannot buy an ounce of food at our grocery store without being taxed to support the government. We cannot go to a movie, or to a baseball game, or ride in an automobile without this invisible tax arm of government reaching out and taking a part of the money we spend."—Alf M. Guess How Many Votes

Nash Will Get; Win $50

Business Man In Royal Oak Offers Unique Plan to Settle Curiosity of Citizens

Seldom does John Q. Public get anything out of an election except the satisfaction of having voted for the candidate of his choice, but this one election when three lucky persons will share $50 in cash prizes by guessing how many votes Judge Earl N. Nash will receive for the republican nomination for Congress in the 17th congressional district.

All guesses must be in the mail or in the office of the newspaper co-sponsoring the contest by Monday night, Sept. 14. In case of two or more guessing the same number, they will be required to draw lots to determine the winners.

Judge Nash has nothing to do with it. A business man of Royal Oak is offering the prize and paying for the publicity in that regard.

First prize will be $25 in cash; second prize $15 cash; third prize $10 in cash. All winners will be announced through this paper next week.

Here is the plan:

Three competent judges will be selected, one from Royal Oak, one from Pontiac and one from the Twenty-second Ward of Detroit.

Turn to page twelve and find the vote guessing coupon; fill in the number of votes that you think Mr. Nash will get; sign your name and address and bring or mail the coupon to the Guessing Contest Editor, 17205 Lahser Road, Detroit.

This is a proposition sponsored by a Royal Oak business man to see how the people are thinking about this congressional campaign, when there are more qualified electors than ever before, and more issues than ever before.

THE RULES

Get your guess in early. You may be the winner.

Only one guess will be allowed to a person.

Armless Golfer Plays At Country Club Here

Tommy McAuliffe, the famous armless golfer who has been shooting good steady golf without his arms for the past 30 years, has been playing the Plymouth Country club course frequently of late, turning in some remarkable scores. On Sunday he came through with a 93 and 103.

The lobster's skeleton is outside its body, and its muscles inside the skeleton.

era of short skirts and long waistlines. Even in tunic and jacket dresses the harmony of the silhouette is not disturbed. In addition to the stress being laid upon line, we find also that trimming is very important. Circle flowers, braid and ribbon of all sorts are used. Shoulder and sleeve interest is heightened by puffs, shirrings, pleats and braid. Then, too, color is important. While black leads, the newest fall shades include spruce, eggplant and green.

While suits are probably the most important items of outdoor wearing apparel for fall, everyone needs at least one coat and two that are recommended for campus wear would be grand for most any of us. One is a light tan camel's hair swaggar coat, fur-lined against the cold winds which whip across campus and stadium. It has loose sleeves and a high neck closing. The other coat is a plaid tweed sports affair, double breasted, with a swanky notched collar and deep coachman's cuffs.

As for hats, well crowns are high, brims sweep up and trimmings say the sky's the limit. Hats are dramatically styled to make the most of autumn fashions. Among others we have saucy little Scottish berets, charming Juliet turbans, and dashing director's postillions. Materials used include woolen fabrics, velvets, stitched felts, and soles. For all-around wear there are convertible hats which you may pinch and punch into any shape you want and, by changing the trim, use for various types of costumes. Trimmings, by the way, are very colorful; feathers, ribbons and flowers are used in a variety of ways.

Well, we can't all be coeds attired for sorority rushing parties or the first dances of the fall college season, but we can take a leaf from their book in this matter of buying new fall clothes. No matter whether we are buying many or few, the new things should be just as smartly up-to-the-minute as those being paraded across the diagonal at the University of Michigan or on the campus at Michigan State.

With the contrariness which one can expect from such a feminine thing as style, up-to-dateness this year means, in several respects, harking back to fashions of other years. We find Juliet collars, for example. These are, of course, patterned after those worn by Norma Shearer in the screen version of Shakespeare's great love story so there is something modern and American in them after all. Hollywood is fast gaining on Paris as a style center.

The director's influence also is very evident in fitted jackets, many of them with braid or lacquered ribbon trim. A smart black frock, for example, has a plastron of black braid in front and high plateau shoulders outlined in braid. Another has a peplum jacket edged in braid with white accents of lacquered ribbon in the high collar and "wings" over the shoulder.

American Way Best
"We have found by experience that American institutions serve our purpose better than those of any other country. We not only want to safeguard our freedom, but we also want security and abundance of the good things of life. We are told, however, by defeatists that we cannot have both. We must, they say, choose between freedom and security. They insist we must give up one in order to gain the other. Let us not surrender to any such counsel of despair."—Gov. Alf Landon at West Middlesex, Pa., August 22, 1936.

Inquisitiveness
Gov. Alf Landon's inquisitiveness has been a marvel to every newspaper man assigned to cover his activities as Republican candidate for president. They find themselves answering more questions than they ask. That he is versed in a wide range of subjects is demonstrated by the straight-to-the-point questions he pumps at them.

Drought Aid
As Governor of Kansas, Alf M. Landon whipped together a workable program for movement of livestock from larger farms to suitable grazing lands, and for shipment of feed and water to the small-holder, one family farms.

Natives of Borneo Jungles Taste Their First Ice Cream... and Like It

Mrs. Martin Johnson, who with her husband is famous as a motion picture explorer in tropical countries, is shown in the above picture with native helpers around the Johnson camp on the banks of the Kinabatangan River in North Borneo. The natives are having their first taste of ice cream. Any one can see how delighted these childlike jungle-dwellers are with the treat.

When Mrs. Johnson isn't busy helping Mr. Johnson film the sound pictures of wild animal life with which the jungles of Borneo abound, one of her pastimes is making ice cream. She decided to invite the natives to try this typical American dessert. Mrs. Johnson got a lot of fun out of the event, and the natives liked the ice cream so much that they kept asking for more.

This ice cream feast in a dense tropical jungle where the weather is perhaps hotter than anywhere else in the world was made possible because, odd as it may seem, the Johnsons' grass dining hut is furnished with refrigeration just as up-to-date as that of any city home in America. The camp is equipped with two Electrolux refrigerators made available by the Servel Company of Evansville, Indiana. Because of the remoteness of the Johnsons' camp, kerosene is used to operate the refrigerators. One refrigerator is used for preserving food, cooling beverages and making desserts, and the other for keeping photographic chemicals at even low temperatures.

The Borneo expedition is sponsored by the American Museum of Natural History. The films will be shown in motion picture houses when the Johnsons return home next year.

Earl Nash Seeks Legislative Seat

Earl N. Nash, of Ferndale, who is running for the Republican nomination for congressman from the seventeenth district in the primaries September 15, has as his slogan "a plain man for plain people."

He was born August 4, 1891, in Jackson and educated at Williston seminary, Easthampton, Massachusetts, Valparaiso university and the Detroit College of Law. He was appointed by Governor Crossbeck to assist the attorney general in looking after the interest of the state in the widening of Woodward avenue through Ferndale, and in 1924 was appointed assistant prosecuting attorney to handle criminal cases in the south end of Oakland county.

In the spring of 1929 he was elected associate municipal judge of Ferndale and in 1932 was elected municipal judge of the same city. The Ferndale city commission appointed him to the Oakland county board of supervisors in 1930, where he served for three years.

He has pledged himself to support the following legislation: The Great Lakes-St. Lawrence seaway; a plan to create business, caring for the aged and giving employment to the younger generation; uniform child labor laws; assistance for farmers; laws that will protect the working man's rights; and laws that will keep this country out of war.

Paid in Cash

To balance the Kansas budget every state employee from governor down accepted a pay reduction. This included school teachers, but they received their salaries when due, and in cash. They thoroughly approve of the Landon system. In the process no child in Kansas was deprived of school opportunities.

Two Extremes

While the Roosevelt administration was spending two dollars for each dollar of revenue received, and creating a deficit of more than $14,000,000,000, Gov. Alf M. Landon was holding down government expenses in Kansas and seeing to it that the state did not spend more than its revenue.

Miss Florence Gray Is Honored With Shower

On Wednesday evening a group of 16 friends of Miss Florence Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Gray of Northville, were guests of Mrs. Paul Christensen at her home on Blunk avenue, the occasion being a kitchen shower honoring Miss Gray's marriage to Lester Pennell of Walled Lake.

The evening's diversion was buncio after which dainty refreshments were served with yellow and brown, the fall shades, being carried out in flowers, favors and the lunch. On each piece of cake the initials "G" and "P" were inscribed. The favors were held by clothes pins which had the names of the young people on and the date, October 2, when their marriage will take place. A very unique plan was carried out for the guest of honor to find her gifts. She was sent to the kitchen to wash the dishes but found on the sink a slip telling her to look in a certain place and there she found a gift. Other slips directed her to more gifts.

Those present were Bernice and Vivian Delvo, Marian Krumm, Betty Wilkie, Jane Dodge, Anna Urban, Alice Marsh, Jean Steinhurst, Donna Bridger, June Fredrick, Dorothy Hobbins of Plymouth, Mrs. Alice Prough Shepko and Mrs. Geraldine Vealey Knapp of New Hudson, Mrs. Mabel Maurice of Northville and Mrs. Claude Eaton of Ypsilanti.
