

Five School Children Hurt In Auto Crash

Machine Collides With Truck at Sheldon and Ann Arbor Roads

STOP! says a great big highway sign on Sheldon road at the intersection of the Ann Arbor cut-off.

But a Ford tudor car filled with five happy, laughing school children, on their way home from school Tuesday afternoon, didn't stop.

From a cut up in Plymouth hospital, where lies a bright, pretty 15-year-old school miss, comes agonizing cries for "Mama, I want to see my mama! Oh! Help! It hurts so, please do something!"

In another room lies a high school boy suffering terribly from head injuries and a frightful gash in one leg.

Three other boys are recovering from cuts and bruises they received when the car crashed with terrific force into the side of a heavily loaded truck on its way from Jackson to Detroit.

The truck driver was hurt too, but not badly.

The injured: Lillian Bartz, 15, concussion of the brain, cuts over the eyes and under one ear.

Arthur Bartz, 17, driver of the car, gash in back of head that required 15 stitches to close.

Howard Zander, 17, unconscious when admitted to hospital. Head injuries, deep rash in right leg and bruises.

Russell Palmer, 15, badly bruised, but not otherwise injured.

Arthur Bartz, 7, bruised about body but not seriously.

Robert Cheney, 475 Harding, Detroit, rider with truck driver, slightly bruised.

The Ford car was so badly wrecked that it cannot be repaired. The truck was damaged to a considerable extent.

All of this suffering and all of this damage resulted because the STOP sign at a heavily traveled thoroughfare couldn't stop an automobile filled with happy youngsters in a hurry to get to their homes after a school day in Plymouth.

"I saw the car coming from the north," said the truck driver, "and I thought sure it would slow down when it got to the corner as it was on a stop highway. As I neared the intersection and the STOP sign it was too late for me to turn off the highway and avoid the collision. The crash knocked my truck sideways and as it ran off the paving, we just missed a big tree. The truck went over a culvert and out into the field. When I looked back, there lying on the paving was a girl, face down and bleeding terribly. A little boy was out of the car crawling towards the field. We ran back and helped the other children, and then I returned home that day and he was anxious to see her."

"I didn't see the truck until we got right to the corner and then we couldn't do anything," he explained.

It was not believed that he was badly hurt when he was talking to the officers, but after he had made his statement and taken over to the hospital, Dr. Paul Butz found that there was a big wound, several inches long in the back of his head that required 15 stitches to close.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bartz, who live on Maben road just off Canton Center road, are the parents of the children. Arthur and Lillian were riding in the front seat.

Howard Zander, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zander, who live on Ford road, just off Sheldon, was in the back seat with Russell Palmer and the other children.

Robert Cheney, the Bartz's live on Canton Center road. Russell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Palmer, who reside on the Beck road.

It has been the practice of Arthur Bartz to pick the children up each day and bring them to school in the Ford car his parents permitted him to drive back and forth.

The damaged truck is the property of the Mackinac company of Jackson. It was loaded with various kinds of merchandise, one being a heavy machine. Apparently, the load was not damaged.

Sends Worth-While Bouquet To The Plymouth Mail

High Official of Press Assn. Praises New Style of Headings

"When a newspaper steps out so far ahead of the procession as has The Plymouth Mail in adopting the present-day trend in newspaper make-up and in breaking away from the old order of things, I am inclined to think it is entitled to a bit of commendation for what it has done," stated Philip T. Rich, president of The Michigan Press Association and publisher of The Midland Republican, largest weekly newspaper in America, the other day when discussing the new style make-up of The Plymouth Mail.

"The Plymouth Mail is the first newspaper in Michigan, either daily or weekly, to adopt the new style of head writing and make-up that is surely on its way in the newspaper business. It is not only a step far in advance of other weekly newspapers, but it is giving to your readers a heading that is much easier to read, tells more of what is to follow in the article, and a heading that is easier to write, easier to set and provides better display for the news."

"Your newspaper is in a class by itself and you have reason to be proud of it. To follow the trend is easy, but to step out ahead and do something different is something not quite so easy. The Mail is to be commended for its progressiveness. In a few brief years it has emerged from just an ordinary weekly paper to one of the outstanding, not only of Michigan, but the entire country."

For which The Plymouth Mail publisher expresses a most appreciative thanks.

Legion Plans Newspaper Sale On Saturday

Veterans To Bring Happiness To Boys And Girls of Plymouth

So that there might be some Christmas happiness for every little boy and girl in Plymouth, The American Legion post will again this year conduct its annual Good Fellow newspaper sale on Saturday, December 12, for the purpose of raising a portion of the funds necessary to carry on this good work.

Commander Harold Anderson has selected William McLain as chairman of the special committee in charge of the paper sale and Christmas celebration this year and as aides on this committee he has named Edward Drews, Walter Eklund, Norman Winkard, Sven Nislev and Jack McCullough.

The Plymouth Mail and other newspapers will be sold on the streets of this city Saturday from early morning until late in the evening. The Veterans hope to be able to raise most of the funds needed by the sale.

The annual Christmas party for the children to which all the boys and girls are invited, including the children of all veterans, will take place Sunday afternoon, December 20 at the Legion hall in Newburg. There will be presents for all the boys and girls, and refreshments too—just the kind that boys and girls like at Christmas time. However, this year there will be no dinner served.

Some of the funds will also be used in buying needed articles for children of the city. To add to the fund that seemingly is never sufficient, the annual Christmas keno party will take place at the hall on Thursday, December 17. Every one who desires to help swell the Legion Christmas fund is invited to attend this party.

Under the direction of Leon Merriman, who has been appointed by Commander Anderson, plans are rapidly being formed for what Mr. Merriman hopes to make the most successful charity benefit of its kind ever held by the Legion.

Woman's Club Told of Madonna

Literature and Art proved to be an interesting program for the Plymouth Woman's club held last Friday at the Mayflower hotel. Mrs. Claude Dykhouse, who was chairman for the afternoon presented Mrs. George E. Courney of Detroit who spoke on "The Madonna in Picture and Legend." She impressed the members greatly by the presentation of slides and a history of the Madonna.

A group of four Christmas carols was sung by the club with Carol Campbell as pianist. The next meeting will be a Christmas party with the Junior Drama club presenting a play. Mrs. Charles Humphries is chairman for the afternoon and assisting her will be Mrs. William Morgan, vice chairman; Mrs. Clifford Cline, Mrs. Arlo Emery, Mrs. Joseph Witwer, Mrs. Bruce Woodbury, Mrs. Paul Wedman, Mrs. George Farwell, Mrs. F. W. Carley, Mrs. Paul Nutting and Mrs. R. L. Hills, with Mrs. Carmen Root as honorary member.

On Sunday evening Mrs. Fred Stocken and Mrs. James Dunn will entertain several ladies in honor of their husbands' birthday anniversaries, at the home of the former, on Davis avenue.

To Observe Christmas in Beautiful Villa St. Felix

Felician Sisters Move Into New Home On Schoolcraft Road

Happy days are these indeed, for the Felician Sisters, who have just moved into their beautiful new Villa St. Felix out on the Schoolcraft road, for they are planning their first Christmas celebration in the vast buildings that have been erected for their use in educating orphan boys and girls.

In the past few days the sisters have completed the big job of removal from their home over on the Five Mile road, where they used to occupy an old farm home and are now just as busy as can be making ready the new buildings for the wonderful purposes for which they have been constructed.

There are now 67 sisters making their home at Villa St. Felix. By next summer there will be several hundred there in addition to the hundreds of boys and girls who will secure their entire early training and education at this place.

For Christmas, it is expected some 200 or more sisters will be out from Detroit to extend in congratulations to Mother Superior DeSales, who has so successfully carried on a building program that ran well over a million dollars.

Not only has Mother Superior DeSales had direct charge of this tremendous building program, but at no time has she relented in her efforts to extend the great charity work of the wonderful organization of which she is in charge. Not only members of her own group but a host of admiring friends plan to come out and spend the happy Christmas holidays at Villa St. Felix Christmas observance will begin with mass at midnight.

Fire Destroys Cady Farm Home On Joy Road Early Tuesday Afternoon

House Built By A Pioneer Family—Loss Is Severe One

Fire completely destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Cady, at Joy and McCullough highways Tuesday afternoon as well as a good portion of all of the furnishings of the eleven room house. Some of the furniture on the first floor was removed, but little was saved from the second floor of the home that for over sixty years has been regarded as one of the most pleasant farm residences in this locality.

The flames were discovered by Kenneth Hurst, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Cady, who was working out at the barn. He saw smoke and fire coming through the roof. Hurrying to the house, he told Mr. and Mrs. Cady of the fire and ran to the upstairs where his sister, Mrs. Hazel Penpler, a night nurse employed at the William H. Maybury Sanatorium, was sleeping. He aroused her and then discovered that almost the entire attic was in flames.

Help was called from the Plymouth fire department, but so rapidly did the fire spread, that little could be done to save the house, and it was burned to the ground. How the fire started is unknown, as there was nothing to cause a fire in the attic, where the flames were first discovered. The loss is only partly covered by insurance.

The Cady house, an eleven room structure, when it was built by Aruna Cady, father of John, in 1833, was regarded as one of the finest country homes in this entire locality. The present owner, who like his father, was born on the place, hauled all of the stone used in the many foundation walls, and it was named "cheese-covered" house built in the Plymouth countryside.

The Cady farm has been in the possession of one family since 1826 when D. D. Cady, the grandfather of Mr. Cady, bought the land from an early settler who had just taken it up from the government. The Cady's were among the early settlers of these parts. A street in Northville is named after one member of the Cady family. The old house built something like a hundred years ago by D. D. Cady, is now the tool house, located some eight rods back of the house that burned.

"I've been wondering if maybe we couldn't move the first Cady home back on the foundation and make that do us from now on," said Mr. Cady Wednesday, as he sat by a stove in the building that was once the home of an early Michigan pioneer family. Places where the plaster was cracked showed that the lath used in the old house had been cut by hand.

The Cady farm, comprising 127 acres, is all tiled land and it has long been regarded as one of the best pieces of farm land in western Wayne county.

The fire destroyed many valuable keepsakes of the family, including the trombone that Mr. Cady played for over 18 years in the old Plymouth band. A violin in the possession of the Cady's since 1840 was also lost in the fire.

Felt Products Company Adds 65 More Workers To Pay Roll

Employment during the past few days has been provided 65 more men by the Plymouth Felt Products company as the result of the addition of the third shift to the force, the company now operating its plant 24 hours per day. This makes a total of something like 220 men who are working steadily at the Felts Products plant.

During rush periods in the past the company has worked on 12 hour schedules, but so rapid has been the increase of business during recent weeks that officials decided it would be best to add the third shift, providing eight hours work for the highest number of men ever employed in the plant.

In addition to the increase in the number of employees, the company has just started the erection of a big warehouse, 63x121. The warehouse will be one story high, of brick construction and it will enclose the company to use space within its present factory building for additional equipment.

It is stated that if the business of the company keeps on increasing at the rate it has during the past year or so that it will be necessary to add another unit to its factory building.

Padding felts are produced chiefly for automobile manufacturing concerns. Elmer Zuckerman is the manager of the Plymouth plant. The company is a part of the Allen Industries of Detroit.

Physical Tests of Pupils Completed

Doctors Find Several Who Are In Need Of Medical Care

Physical examinations of all school children undertaken recently by local doctors have been completed.

Through the kindness and generosity of the local physicians, Drs. Brisbois, Butz, Kelly, Nalbant, and Peck, remedial defects have been found and are being brought to the attention of parents, who will, no doubt, cooperate in making it possible for these children to enter activities of life nearer one hundred per cent than would have been possible had these defects not have been brought to their attention.

The service was extended by the local physicians to 670 boys and girls of the seventh to twelfth grade, inclusive, without any cost to the board of education or the community, which is an outstanding service rendered to boys and girls, states Sup't. George Smith.

Among the defects were several remedial heart irregularities. At present the board of education of physicians is able to render, and in the years to come, several boys and girls will be happy and useful, who otherwise might have been helpless and dependent, as a result of the examinations just completed.

Thomas Jamison of Wayne Dies Suddenly

Thomas Jamison, prominent resident of Wayne and well known in Plymouth, especially among members of the Rotary club, dropped dead in Wayne Tuesday evening. His death proved a great surprise to every one as he had apparently been in good health and had not complained of illness. He was in Plymouth about two weeks ago and spent a portion of the afternoon here. He had been in the real estate business in Wayne for many years. He was active in Rotary club affairs.

Shrine Plans Big New Year's Eve Party

Music and Entertainment to Feature Evening of Merriment

Definite plans are under way by members of the Suburban Shrine Club, under the direction of president Fred D. Schrader to stage a dinner and dance New Year's Eve at the Hotel Mayflower. Many reservations have already been made at the hotel and indications are that it will be the finest affair of its kind ever staged in Plymouth.

The hotel will be unusually decorated and the crystal dining room will present the appearance of a night club with tables arranged around the outer walls of the room. The center will be used for dancing and music will be furnished by the popular Strassen Orchestra.

Several prominent Detroit entertainers have already been engaged to furnish amusement for the guests and the Shrine club promises everyone who attends one of the finest parties that the group has ever sponsored.

The proceeds of the affair will be turned over to the club's fund for crippled children. Reservations are to be made at the hotel and as only a limited number will be accepted it is advisable to make them now. The committee has set the price at $6.00 a couple including a full course turkey dinner and the fullest evening of New Year's merriment ever.

Kimbrough Has Added To Stock

R. L. Kimbrough of The Electric Motor shop has just announced the addition of another service to Plymouth residents, the repairing of all kinds of motors. Although they have been in the general motor repair business for some time, they now do wholesale and retail motor repairing and are jobbers for carbon brushes. Motor repair work is now being done for Howell, Ann Arbor, Belleville and other nearby places. Many parts are now carried in stock. Mr. Kimbrough has recently been appointed Plymouth representative for the Hold-Heath Automatic Furnace controls. He states that business prospects for the coming year are exceptionally good and he expects 1937 to be his best year.

Charity Givers Asked To Meet

In an effort to avoid as much duplication as possible of Christmas charity work, groups in the city who are planning on doing something for those in distress has been called for Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the city hall.

City Manager Clarence Elliott states that he is especially anxious to have some representative from all groups that are raising funds for Christmas giving, at the meeting.

It is hoped that some plan can be worked out whereby every one in the city will be taken care of, but that some do not secure more than all groups and others none at all. The invitation is an urgent one, if you are interested in Christmas giving this year.

The new Functional Method of Gregg shorthand will be taught. This method is only a year old and much more rapid progress is made than with the old system. Dictation will be offered for advanced students with transcription on the typewriter, if desired.

Anyone interested in this class should either go to the high school to sign up or send in his name.

Postal Business Almost Doubles

According to figures compiled by Postmaster Frank Learned this week, the business of the Plymouth postoffice during the month of November nearly doubled that of a year ago.

There is one sure indicator to judge postal business by, and that is the sale of postage stamps and mailing permits. During November, 1935, the total sales for these two mailing items was $2,120.95.

During November of this year the total jumped to $3,815.30, almost twice the amount of business done during the same month a year ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Davis of Detroit and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dunn, visited relatives at Romulus, Sunday.

Church Excavators Never Removed From Old Cemetery

Steam shovel operators who on Monday completed the excavation for the new Presbyterian church structure to be erected during the coming winter and spring, dug deep into the early days of Plymouth and possibly into the burial ground of a tribe of Indians that roamed this part of Michigan long before the coming of the white man to claim these beautiful lands.

Excavators believe that possibly parts of 35 or 40 skeletons were dug up during the past week when the earth was removed for the church basement. Some of them, they believe, were Indian remains.

The park that adjoins the church property was, in the early days, the Plymouth cemetery. Something like half a century ago it was supposed all of the bodies were removed and placed in the new cemetery when the town began to grow all around the old cemetery, but apparently a large number of graves were never found, as workmen this week declared they were sure that as many as 40 skeletons had been dug up with the earth as it was taken from the big church basement.

They state that in many cases the bones were barely a foot or two under ground. When removed they simply crumbled to pieces, and became just a part of the earth that was being dug away. Not only were many of the skeletons that were uncovered on the side of the old hill nearest the church, but a short distance under ground, but the remains seemed to lie in every direction, some with heads to the west, others to the east and some to the south. The variation in the depth of the burials led the excavators to believe that possibly this part of the old cemetery had in the early days been an Indian burial ground, although they found no Indian relics of any kind.

Near the center of the park and where the old cemetery is known to have been, the skeletons that were dug up were buried much deeper, some of them being four or five feet under ground. Here also were found parts of headstones.

Shorthand Class Starts Soon

A class in shorthand will be offered in addition to typewriting in the adult night school at the high school, providing there is a sufficient demand, it is stated. The class will be started immediately after Christmas and will meet every Monday and Wednesday night from 8 to 9 o'clock. The usual tuition of $2.50 for ten weeks will be charged. The class will continue for two ten week terms—possibly three.

The new Functional Method of Gregg shorthand will be taught. This method is only a year old and much more rapid progress is made than with the old system. Dictation will be offered for advanced students with transcription on the typewriter, if desired.

Anyone interested in this class should either go to the high school to sign up or send in his name.

Steam Shovel Uncovers Indian Burial Places In Plymouth

(Continued from page one) A part of one stone that had in the years of the long ago been broken, was excavated. It bore the name "Joanna A. Wright, daughter of..." but the remainder of the inscription was on the part of the stone that could not be found. This stone was some three feet under the ground.

The bodies buried on the north side of the hill near Church street had been enclosed in caskets. Near the center of the park there were a few pieces of metal casket trimming found. "One skeleton that was uncovered as the shovel dug into the bank, revealed a skull that had a set of as perfect teeth as I have ever seen," said Mr. Rowson.

There was no other cemetery close, except the burial ground at Waterford and later the one at Newburg. As a result all of the burials of the early days in Plymouth were made on "the hill." Of course there were a few exceptions where bodies were buried on the land owned by a few of the early settlers.

Kiwanians See Motion Pictures

The Tuesday program of the Kiwanis club was in charge of Roy E. Crowe, manager of the Michigan Bell Telephone company. In the way of entertainment he presented pictures to illustrate the various forms of communication that are provided by the telephone company.

"Network Broadcasting" was used to open the program. This film traced the movement of a radio program over wires from the point of pick up to the broadcasting company distribution point and from there to the large groups of broadcasting stations throughout the country. The methods used in presenting the original high quality of the program were featured in this picture.

"A Modern Knight" was used to illustrate the many forms of communication used by law enforcement officers in their day to day work. Conversations with police officials in London, England, Melbourne, Australia, San Francisco and on ships in mid-Atlantic. Teletypewriter messages, photographs and finger prints by wire from remote points all contributed to the downfall of the kidnapper appearing in this picture.

The film "A Call to the East" was used to conclude the program. This picture was taken in the Chinatown Exchange in San Francisco. Only Chinese subscribers are served at this exchange. It was interesting to note that the Chinese operators handled all calls by names and addresses; each operator being required to memorize the proper connection to make for the 2400 telephones.

Juniors, don't forget the Christmas party at 4 o'clock on Wednesday, December 16. The losing side of the attendance contest, of which Lady Grammel is leader, will entertain the winners at a Christmas party the same day, starting at 6:30 o'clock.

All members are requested to bring a wrapped 10 cent gift, enclosing their name.

Ancient Rome had a law which allowed a man to avoid a law suit after insulting another. He merely had to hand the injured man a sum of money equivalent to 25 cents to prevent him from taking the matter to court.

THE LANGUAGE OF YOUR HAND

By Leicester K. Davis
© Public Ledger, Inc.

SPIRITUAL TYPE

HAVE you sometimes "felt" the leads of the lines self prompting you to action in a definite kind of occupation, giving you "hunches" which you felt impelled to follow? Your hand, if its type be read correctly, may be relied upon as a guide to the activities and surroundings in which nature has fitted you to function best.

The Spiritual Type of Hand.
You will have little trouble in placing this type by its beautiful but seemingly fragile structure. The fingers and thumb are notable in their graceful proportions, the nail tips being well tapered, with the nails themselves long, oval in form and delicately set. The thumb of this type is often extremely flexible, and the first or nail joint may be bent backward readily toward the wrist. The palm and underside portions of the hand are often extremely pliable and are never overheshed.

The spiritual type of hand, although the most beautiful of the seven types, is the least practical of them all. Its possessor is sure to live on a receptive plane which sometimes confers extraordinary psychic powers.

The man or woman with this type of hand is seldom of robust constitution, and this, combined with a tendency to assume a visionary attitude toward worldly things, makes the selection of an understanding, practical mate and associates of supreme importance if health and prosperity and happiness are to be assured.

A girl pilot learns how to steer a glider in one of the new aviation schools in Japan, located near Tokyo. Japanese girls as well as boys are trained in the "junior division" of the air force. After competitive examinations the most competent are sent to military aviation schools.

Precipitation
"Precipitation" is the general term the Weather bureau uses in preference to rainfall, for the sake of the comparison of the amounts of water deposited on the earth by rain, hail, mist, sleet and snow. For this purpose, sleet and snow are measured when melted. Deposits of dew, fog and frost are not regarded by the Weather bureau as precipitation.

A Christmas Crime Wave

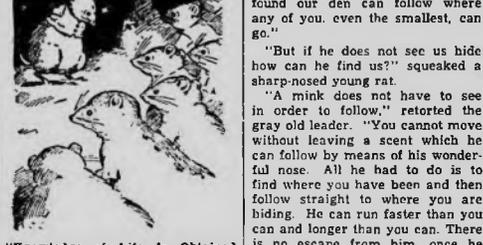

The early Puritans had plenty of trouble with Christmas rosters who persisted in celebrating the holiday. The picture is of Elder Bradford checking the Christmas crime wave with some iron-clad words. It was not until 1856 that the Commonwealth of Massachusetts got around to making Christmas a legal holiday.

LITTLE STORIES FOR BEDTIME
by Thornton W. Burgess

THE ROBBERS DECIDE TO FIGHT

WHEN one of the young robber rats at the meeting of all the rats in the big barn which Billy Mink had visited boasted that he never had seen anyone he couldn't hide from, all the other young rats nodded their heads in approval. You see they prided themselves on knowing every hiding place in that big barn, and they never had known an enemy small enough to follow them to these hiding places. So when the gray, old leader of that robber gang said that unless he was greatly mistaken they were likely to have a chance to see someone they couldn't hide from, they at once demanded to know what he meant.

The old leader looked around the circle of rats waiting for him to speak. There were big rats, little rats, and middle-sized rats. There were rats gray with age, and sleek young rats. He counted noses. Every rat of the tribe, save only the babies too small to leave the nests, and the one whom Billy Mink had caught, was present. In the faces of the gray old rats he could see worry. Like himself they understood the danger they were in. In the faces of the younger rats there was no worry. It was plain to see that they felt quite confident of being able to take care of themselves. Never in all their lives had they met an enemy they could not run away from, and he knew they didn't believe such an enemy existed.

"Knowledge of life is obtained only through experience," he began. "You who are so sure you can hide from this new enemy are confident because you are ignorant. Cats and dogs you do not fear because you can go where they can not follow, but this mink who has found our den can follow where any of you, even the smallest, can go."

"But if he does not see us hide how can he find us?" squeaked a sharp-nosed young rat.

"A mink does not have to see in order to follow," retorted the gray old leader. "You cannot move without leaving a scent which he can follow by means of his wonderful nose. All he had to do is to find where you have been and then follow straight to where you are hiding. He can run faster than you can and longer than you can. There is no escape from him, once he sets out to catch one of you. The best fighter among us is no match for him alone. I tell you, friends, our tribe is in danger. It is in the greatest danger it ever has faced. I have called you together to make this plain to you and to get your ideas as to what we should do."

For a few moments no one spoke. The worried look on the faces of the older rats had crept into the faces of the younger rats. Finally a scarred old fighter spoke. "It seems to me," said he, "that is only one thing to do, and that is fight. What one of us alone can not do, all of us together can. I propose that the next time this enemy appears we all attack him together."

To this all the rats agreed.

TIMELY RECIPES

A GOOD stuffing to use for fish is the following, which all will like.

Pickle and Capers Stuffing. Mix thoroughly the following ingredients. One cupful of cracker crumbs, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth teaspoonful of paprika or a mixture of paprika and cayenne, one teaspoonful each of chopped onion, minced parsley, capers and pickles finely chopped; add one-fourth cupful of melted butter. This makes a dry stuffing; if liked moist, add a little milk. If capers are not liked, substitute a teaspoonful of lemon juice.

For a delicious filling for sandwiches, cream peanut butter with water, using one-half cupful of the butter and one-fourth cupful of water, hot. When well blended add one-half cupful of chopped pickle. Sour chopped pickle added to salmon salad improves it. Freshly grated coconut is also an addition to salmon salad.

Carrot Soup. Wash, scrape and slice thin twelve medium-sized carrots. Place in a saucepan with two tablespoonfuls of butter, season with salt and cayenne pepper and a teaspoonful of sugar. Cook slowly, turning constantly until the carrots begin to brown. Add two cupfuls of good broth and simmer slowly until the carrots are glazed. Remove, press through a fruit press or strainer, return to the broth and simmer until hot, then serve.

Apple Jam With Cinnamon Candy.

Take four and one-half cupfuls or two and one-fourth pounds of ripe unpeeled apples, cut into quarters and add one-half cupful of water. Cover tightly and simmer for five minutes or until the apples are soft. Put through a sieve to remove the skins. Measure apples, sugar, five cupfuls or two and one-fourth pounds, add the fruit and sugar with two-thirds of a cupful of cinnamon candies, bring to a full rolling boil in a kettle over a hot fire, boil hard one minute, remove from the fire and add one-fourth of a cupful of pectin. Skim and pour quickly. Cover with a thin film of paraffin, when cold add another.

THROUGH A Woman's Eyes - By JEAN NEWTON

WHAT IS A LIE?

ONE of our readers asks how far it is safe to follow "this new-fangled notion of the psychologists" that children must never be regarded as lying, for what they do is only "wish thinking." She sends us something on the subject that appeared in a newspaper. Here it is: "When we persist in demanding of them absolute truthfulness of our children, we neglect to make allowance for the child's natural tendency to say what he wishes were so instead of what actually is so. The same drive which makes a child forget duties and remember pleasures, which makes him invent delightful happenings in place of painful and humiliating ones, causes him sometimes to distort the behavior of others. He supplies for their actions the motives and interpretations which are more agreeable to him than the actual ones. He misconstrues what they do and say in his own favor—and all this he does quite honestly and innocently."

It seems to me that there is a good idea gone wrong. It is the other extreme of making a child feel like a criminal for indulging in a little "wish thinking" or allowing an active imagination to slightly color or exaggerate an incident.

I believe it is unquestionable that a child should never be made to feel like a criminal, should never be called a liar. On the other hand, it is no less dangerous and wrong to condone such disregard of veracity as "misconstruing in his own favor the actions of others." In that case I believe a spade should be called a spade. For the child is father of the man. Our chief job with the child is building the character of the man.

If we are to encourage the "natural tendency to say what he wishes were so instead of what actually is so," it is not a very far cry to his saying that something which belongs to another boy is his. And what then about appropriating that dollar which he "wishes" were his? Also if we are to accept with approval distortion in his favor of the behavior of others, what shall we say if later he says "I borrowed that boy's bike because he told me I could"—or of some damage for which he is responsible that "the other fellow did it?"

Compared with many of the old ways, today's methods of dealing with children are a distinct improvement. But it is important always to avoid dangerous extremes, to keep within the guiding light of common sense.

NEVER STEP OVER A PERSON'S LEG WITHOUT STEPPING BACK OVER IT AS YOU WILL CAUSE THE LEG TO BECOME PETRIFIED OR TURNED TO STONE.

NEVER MARRY IN JANUARY AS YOUR MARRIAGE WONT LAST.

SOME COWPUNCHERS BELIEVE THAT A RATTLESNAKE WILL NOT CRAWL OVER A HORSEHAIR ROPE.

Just A Minute, Please!

This is the Christmas season, when you are doing everything within your ability to make happy the members of your family and your friends.

It is an old custom, old as the ages — and how much joy and happiness every Christmas season brings into the world.

With the Christmas time also comes the delivery of Christmas sermons—and these inspiring words help wonderfully to make the holiday period more happy and more promising.

This page advertisement is a sermon for each person living in and around Plymouth.

It is printed to remind you as forcibly as it is possible to do so that when you spend your Christmas dollars in Detroit, no one except those you spend them with in Detroit benefits by it.

But when you spend your Christmas dollars in Plymouth you help yourself, you help the Plymouth merchant, you help the schools that your children attend, you help your church, you help your lodge, you help the city you are proud to call your home—in fact you give DIRECT AID to everything you are interested in.

Did you ever hear of a Detroit store giving one single penny to a Plymouth charity, to anything that in any way goes to make a little brighter these glad Christmas holidays in Plymouth? Did you ever hear of a Detroit merchant giving ONE CENT that in any way helped build up the town you call HOME? NEVER!

These sort of gifts and contributions come from your home town business men, the very men who have filled their counters with just as good merchandise as you can purchase anywhere else, and as remarkably low prices.

When the Christmas season is all over and you recall the happy hours you spent shopping in the stores with the people you know well and call by their first names, you will feel much better about it all than if you do all your Christmas shopping somewhere else.

Then too, support of your home town merchants is always a display of the right kind of civic loyalty.

Do as much of your Christmas shopping as you can in Plymouth. Besides all the many benefits that come by doing so, it really is a display of the kind of friendship and good will that goes so far these days to make this old world a little better place in which to live.

ONE HURT IN ACCIDENT
When Patrick Nedille, living at 1234 Beck road near Northville, driving towards Plymouth late Wednesday night, turned the bend in the highway just north of Cass Benton park, his car collided with one driven by two boys from Northville, who had been to Plymouth to a show. The driver of this car was the son of John Hanna and in spite of all he could do to keep from getting hit, the collision took place, one car went into the Rouge river and the other down the embankment. NOODLE AND MACARONI DISHES

IN FAMILIES where meat is too expensive to buy often, the following dishes will furnish all the flavor of the meat with a small amount of it:

Chili Noodles.
The noodles may be homemade (which are probably cheaper if used in large quantity) or the package noodles. Cook as many as are needed in boiling salted water, drain and add the following: One small onion chopped, also one green pepper, one pound of round steak cut into inch pieces, brown in two tablespoonsful of suet, then add one-half cupful strained tomato, one cupful of water, one cupful of cooked kidney beans, one-half teaspoonful of salt and a few dashes of cayenne pepper. Heat thoroughly and serve with grated cheese.

Veal Paprika With Noodles
Take five ounces or more of noodles, cook in salted water until tender, then drain. Sprinkle four or five cutlets of veal with salt and pepper and dip into egg and crumbs. Fry in a little butter until well cooked. Make a sauce of two tablespoonfuls of butter and four of flour, add salt and cayenne to season and two cupfuls of milk, cook until well blended. Place the cutlets on a hot platter, add the noodles to the white sauce and pour over the meat. Garnish with parsley.

Macaroni With Vegetables.
Fry one chopped onion in two tablespoonfuls of butter until brown. Add one-half teaspoonful of salt, three cupfuls of boiling soup stock, one-half pound of uncooked macaroni, three-fourths of a cupful of string beans, one-half cupful of green peas and the same of sliced carrots. Cook all together 20 minutes, stirring frequently.

Plymouth News In Ohio Paper

Article Tells Of Meeting Of Old Friends In Detroit

"Dusty" Miller, one of the editors of The Wilmington Daily News of Wilmington, Ohio, who is a high up official of Rotary International, recently visited the Rotary club in Detroit. That isn't much news to Plymouth folks, but what "Dusty" Miller wrote in a column he conducts in his paper back home is of especial interest to the many friends of Dr. and Mrs. Carl January of this city.

In the Ohio paper and under the heading "The Daily Grist—Ground Out by 'Dusty' Miller," appeared the following, recently: "They'll be going into the ballroom about 6:30, so you can come down along about then, and I'll meet you outside the door," my host at the Michigan osteopaths' convention dinner told me, as he tucked me into the twinest of the twin beds for an afternoon nap after my jump to Detroit from Endicott, N. Y.

"OK, Doc." I accepted the bedtime story, and took a streamline 1937-model Detroit car direct to Dreamland.

"It's 5 o'clock, Mr. Miller," a sweet-voiced lady was calling me five minutes later. I hate to call a lady a liar-ess, but I was sure she was nothing else but, after the wink and a half of a "Yep I had."

Other-tied and clean-shirted I sauntered down to the ballroom.

Just as I expected, 6:30 and nobody there. Behind the Evening News, I heard a lady suggesting to her escort: "We could sit here for a while." I continued the Evening News and they chatted. How and why I do not know, but we exchanged a greeting, and before many words had passed one of them exclaimed: "Are you Dusty Miller?"

"Guilty," I confessed. They laughed, and the lovely lady explained that her husband had come to the dinner especially to see me.

They laughed, and the lovely lady explained that her husband had come to the dinner especially to see me.

So I met them a bit more formally: Dr. Carl January and his very charming wife. Whisper: She's got tantalizing dimples!

"I take the Leesburg Citizen," the doctor told me, going on to say: "That's my old home—Leesburg."

Dr. January is located in Plymouth, Mich., a suburb 20 miles from Detroit, and as pretty a town as I know. Henry Ford has some of those unique small factories that look more like public libraries than they do factories, in and around Plymouth, and for miles and miles. Wayne county has landscaped the banks of the River Rouge, making it nothing short of wonderful.

Once in a while something happens to break the everlasting monotony of waiting till the dinner crowd assembles, but not often is the something as pleasing as was meeting Dr. and Mrs. Carl January, from the home zone."

Judge Dayton On Committee

Attorney John S. Dayton has been appointed by the Michigan Bar Association as a member of the standing committee of the Association having to do with local bar groups, according to articles recently published in a number of legal papers. Judge Dayton has for many years been a member of the state organization. He is one of the organizers and an active member of the Suburban Bar Association, as well as being municipal judge of Plymouth.

Five more times during the present century will there be dates with odd, unduplicated figures: 1937, 1953, 1957, 1973 and 1976. Then there will be a period of 1182 years before it again occurs.

League of Women Voters To Discuss Proposed Legislation

The Plymouth League of Women Voters will meet Friday, December 11, at the home of Mrs. Edward Eckert on Blunk avenue. Mrs. James Sessions will lead the discussion on Michigan's proposed Welfare Act. Elton Eaton, new state representative from the fifth district, will give a short talk on "Proposed Bills in the Next Legislature." There will also be a report from the state board meeting of the Michigan League of Women Voters which was held December 8 at Lansing. Members and prospective members are cordially invited to attend. Trying to be an informed citizen is a year round responsibility which the League of Women Voters helps its members to meet.

Hay Is Cause of Barn Fires

Haymaking with all its modern machinery methods and experimentation still lacks scientific knowledge. Proof of this is apparent in the number of barn fires in 1936 in Michigan, although the season for making hay was practically ideal, says H. H. Musselman, head of the agricultural engineering department at Michigan State college.

Even the experts sometimes fail in trying to use judgment and common sense in curing hay to avoid all possibility of spontaneous combustion and also get a high quality product. Musselman said recently in addressing the American Society of Agricultural Engineers in their annual meeting in Chicago.

He described laboratory tests conducted by the farm crops department at the college. Hay samples were tested accurately for moisture content after experienced and practical haymakers had rendered judgment on their moisture content and fitness of curing. Estimates of moisture were consistently lower than the results obtained in the drying machines.

Little is known about the process of curing hay. Accurate methods of control are not applied to moisture which is an important factor in proper curing. If we had an accurate and quick field method of determining moisture content of hay samples, the process would be valuable. In commenting on the cause of barn fires during a year when field curing of hay apparently was comparatively simple, Musselman suggests a logical theory. The extremely hot and dry earth surface and atmosphere led to rapid drying of leaves and outside surfaces of alfalfa stems so that the farm operator was misled as to the actual conditions of the cut foliage. Chopped hay seems to retain generated heat more than loose hay. Low moisture content, ventilation to remove generated heat or complete exclusion of air to keep out oxygen necessary for combustion are suggested as possible remedies to forestall barn fires started in hay.

Mawhorters Back From Baldwin Camp

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Mawhorter have returned to their home near Plymouth after spending the summer and fall at the Mawhorter lodge near Baldwin. Mr. Mawhorter, one of the most enthusiastic out-door sportsmen about here, had fairly good luck, he states, during the trout season, but while he helped others set deer, he did not bring one home for himself.

"Saw lots of them, but I just didn't connect," he declared when telling of his numerous trips into the woods after a deer. He added that he had enjoyed some especially good bass fishing late in the season.

Texas officials expect nearly half a million hunters and trappers to take the field with the opening of the deer and turkey season.

Josef Hofmann's Program For His Dec. 14th Ann Arbor Concert

JOSEF HOFMANN, who will give a piano recital in the Choral Union Concert Series, Monday evening, December 14, in Hill auditorium, Ann Arbor.

Josef Hofmann will be heard for the fourth time in Hill auditorium, Ann Arbor, Monday evening, December 14. Mr. Hofmann who electrified Europe at the age of nine, and America at the age of ten, has been regarded during all the intervening years as one of the greatest interpreters and virtuosos of all times. He has been heard in the Choral Union and May Festival series on three previous occasions: February 10, 1920; November 23, 1927; and May 25, 1929.

In Ann Arbor, as elsewhere, he has repeated his enormous successes on every succeeding occasion. He has been before the public as a virtuoso for more than half a century, and major critics of three continents still hail him now, at the top of his bent, as a greater pianist than ever before.

W. J. Henderson, dean of New York music critics, commented after his New York recital that "it seemed incredible that Hofmann could play better than he ever did before, but that is just what he did."

For his Ann Arbor concert he has chosen the following program: Theme and Variations in F minor; Fugue Over the Lost Penny; Faschinschwank; Schumann Allegro, Romance; Scherzo, Intermezzo; Finale; Barcarolle; Chopin Nocturne in F sharp minor; Chopin Grande Valse Brillante; Chopin Scherzo in C sharp minor; Chopin Tango; Albeniz-Godowsky Prelude in A minor; Rechmaninoff Berceuse; Hofmann; Liszt; Campanella.

Deer News From White Cloud

(Special Correspondence) White Cloud, Mich.—There has been a report received in this place during the past few days pertaining to a Plymouth deer hunting party that came up here during the early part of the season that White Cloud citizens feel should be cleared up for the benefit of at least one deer hunter involved in the report.

Your correspondent knows well the farmer who raises tame deer for southern Michigan hunters to shoot at. He also knows well the details of the barrage laid down by one Jake Stremlich of Plymouth, in an effort to hit a deer.

The report received back in White Cloud as to just why Mr. Jake Stremlich did not take home a deer with him does not check with the facts as we know them here. So that others down below might know the full story, I am sending you the facts, which are as follows:

Early one forenoon, one of these tame deer was turned out in the pasture for the deer "slavers" to shoot at. It seems that the deer was afraid to get very far into the woods and was roaming along an old roadway when Jake saw the deer.

These are facts as we get them direct from the woods. Jake looked at the deer and the deer looked at Jake. Neither one moved. Then Jake shot. The deer, which had started browsing along the side of the road, looked up at Jake again and after one glance resumed its browsing.

There were seven shots fired at the deer by Mr. Jake Stremlich from a distance of less than 150 feet. Each time the deer blinked, looked up and resumed its browsing.

Finally the deer saw the hunter throw his rifle to the ground and start looking for a rock. Apparently fearing that it might get hit by a thrown stone, the deer slowly ambled off into some brush near the roadway.

This report complies with several requests received from Plymouth as to just why a deer that stood still so it might be shot at, was not taken back to Plymouth's spare-rib emporium. P. S. There may be other reports later.

The report also sheds some light upon Jake's recent desire to open up a target range where deer hunters can do a little shooting during off season.

W. C. T. U. Members Hear Reports Of Two Conventions

The December meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held at the home of Mrs. Bertha Kahl, Thursday, December 3.

A potluck dinner with all sorts of goodies was served in advance of the regular meeting, and a social time was enjoyed by all. Mrs. Mary Hillmer gave a very interesting report of the convention of the 17th district held in November in Ferndale.

A report of the state convention, held in Muskegon in October, was given by the state's recording secretary, Mrs. Clara Todd. Both reports contained much of interest and were listened to with great attention. The time and place of the next meeting will be given later.

How To Help The Postoffice

If you want to feel sure that your first class mail is handled promptly and if you have a desire to help the postal employees to handle that mail during the rush postal periods at holiday times when the business of the postoffice department is swamped Postmaster Frank Learned has just been advised by the officials in Washington that the use of so-called "No. 10" envelopes, will help materially. These envelopes are longer than the average kind used and are easily sorted out in the mail. Postmaster Learned states that the department urges the use of longer envelopes, especially during the last few days before Christmas.

A SINGLE START CAN CAUSE MORE ENGINE WEAR THAN

Starting causes 3/4 of your Engine Wear

Automotive engineers state that approximately 3/4 of engine wear occurs in the starting period. To cut down starting wear, you need a FAST-FLOWING oil... an oil that will "start" with your starter. But when your engine is warmed up, you need a different quality in your oil... you need a TOUGH oil that holds its body and resists breaking down into sludge and carbon. The problem has been to combine both qualities in one oil. Shell engineers have now produced such a lubricant. The new Golden Shell Motor Oil is both FAST-FLOWING and TOUGH. The recommended grade of Golden Shell can keep an engine "young" a year longer... can save 50% on your annual repair bills. Start protecting your engine with it today!

AGAIN CONGRATULATIONS.

There was published in The Plymouth Mail last week a news article giving briefly the details of a proposed exchange of property between the Presbyterian church organization and the city, the exchange enabling the city to remedy a rather serious traffic situation. It not only will enable the city to provide better street facilities for traffic, but it will help to take away from the schools a good portion of the traffic now passing altogether too close to the school buildings.

The Presbyterian church board, which suggested the plan, seemingly is the greatest giver in the exchange. As a matter of fact, it is giving practically everything to the city in order to remedy a traffic problem, provide a more beautiful site for the new church and improve the general appearances of that portion of the city where are located churches, schools and public buildings. The city in return is doing something, of course, and Mayor Hondorp and the commission members are to be commended for the fine spirit of cooperation they are showing in connection with this proposed improvement. When the Presbyterian manse is moved, the new church completed, the double driveway along the south side of the park finished, much of the traffic diverted off the east end of Church street and the surroundings beautifully landscaped, as they will be, few cities in Michigan will be able to boast a more beautiful civic center than possessed by Plymouth.

WHAT MAKES THE DIFFERENCE?

Along about three years ago newspapers and people opposing former Governor William Comstock made much ado because Isaiah Leebove, a friend of the former Governor's, sought to arrange an interview between an attorney and a gunman confined in Marquette prison. Leebove, at the time, was making some investigation into prison matters for Governor Comstock and during that inquiry he was advised of the prisoner's desire to consult with a lawyer. When the request became known to Governor Comstock, it was denied, but what a storm of protest went up from newspapers, politicians, aspiring office holders and others, simply because the prisoner had asked to see a lawyer through a representative of the Governor.

Well, what has happened in the brief two or three years since this terrible yipping on the part of those who were "outers" at the time?

Along comes a governor of the opposite political party and grants to this gangster an outright pardon, with no strings tied to it except that he must go back to his native country. In only one newspaper in all of Michigan have we noticed the slightest criticism of this outrageous and uncalled for pardon, and that editorial was barely a slap on the wrist.

There is such a thing as being fair and decent in editorial discussion of matters of this kind—and it is to be regretted that we must admit that there has been anything but fair consideration in this case. One Governor was condemned for something he did not do. The other Governor does it and gets away with it without criticism.

GOOD WORK.

That was a good piece of work the Plymouth police department did last week Sunday in catching up with a couple of automobile truck thieves from Detroit. While they denied that they had stolen the trucks to use them in looting farms around Plymouth, there is no other explanation of why they stole two trucks from Detroit to drive out to this locality early Sunday morning. Thanks to the alertness of Plymouth police, there is no question but what some farmers in this section were saved a loss from thefts.

ONE MINUTE BIOGRAPHIES of MICHIGAN GOVERNORS and their ACCOMPLISHMENTS

By Elton R. Eaton

ALEXANDER J. GROESBECK No. 28

Born, reared and educated in Michigan, Alexander J. Groesbeck, the second governor ever elected for three consecutive terms, proved to be one of the hardest working executives the state ever had. Under his administration the entire state government system was changed, scores of boards and commissions were abolished, state institutions were rebuilt and enlarged, concrete highways constructed to connect the important centers of the state, a conservation department created, and a state operated ferry system connecting the two peninsulas was placed in operation.

One of the outstanding accomplishments of his administration, as governor, was the creation of the administrative board, composed of all elective state officials. He had a law passed delegating to that body general supervisory powers over all state affairs. The new system did away with delays and other inconveniences in the state government, which had developed as the result of numerous legislative acts dealing with different problems that had been passed over a period of many years.

He was born in Warren township, Macomb county, November 7, 1873. His father was of Dutch-French ancestry and his mother of French ancestry. He attended school in Mt. Clemens and graduated from the law department of the University of Michigan in July, 1893. His father was for a time sheriff of Macomb county and it was while his parent was servicing in this capacity that the son decided to study law.

He paid his way through school by saving money earned while employed in a saw-mill. Soon after being admitted to practice, he established a law office in Detroit and in 1916 was elected attorney general of Michigan. His service of four years at the head of the state's legal department was of such a nature that he was an easy victor in the election for governor in 1920.

To Spend The Winter In St. Petersburg

According to letters received by Plymouth friends, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Naylor, who left recently to spend the winter in Florida, are now nicely located at 1205 Fifth avenue, North, in St. Petersburg. They write that they had a fine trip all the way down and that the weather was especially pleasant from the time they left Plymouth until they reached the city of St. Petersburg. Last winter they spent most of the winter in Orlando, Florida.

Attend Funeral Of Governor Green

Fred D. Schrader, John S. Haggerty and former Governor William Comstock drove over to Ionia last week to attend the funeral of former Governor Fred W. Green. The funeral was attended by thousands from all parts of Michigan. Mr. Schrader and John Haggerty drove to Ann Arbor where they picked up the former Governor and went on to Ionia from that city.

In 1928 the average air line fare was 12 cents a mile.

To Make Men Think

by O. Lawrence Hawthorne

I'd rather make men think than rule a nation!
I'd rather touch their hearts with sentiment
Than govern all the peoples in creation
And try by force to quell their discontent.

To make men think and, thinking, reach decisions
That lift them from the dust toward better things—
Here surely is a program whose provisions
Outweigh the might of presidents and kings!

If I can stimulate a man's emotions
And so appeal to natural desire,
Then can I sway his thoughts and his devotions
Or thrill his very soul with ardent fire.

If I can make men think—if I may guide them
Along the only way to happiness—
If, as their friend, I walk and talk beside them,
My life will be a genuine success.

© 1925 O. Lawrence Hawthorne.

LOVE

I love you, Oh my darling,
Without you I can see,
The joys of living in this world
Would be as naught to me.

Your eyes are full of sunshine,
They shine the whole day through,
I hope I never cause a cloud
To hide them from my view.

The more I think of you my dear,
As time goes flying by,
We're being bound more closely,
With a love that will never die.

And so it is, in this big world,
When you've found the one you love,
There is nothing will cause you to part,
Until you're called above.

—Charles E. Allen.

RAMBLING with Editors AROUND of Michigan

A TOWN'S REPUTATION.

What makes a town? Is it the water system, the disposal plant, paved streets or the school system? Perhaps. But more than these is the calibre of business men. Stores operated by wide-awake merchants, by fair-dealers, draw the trade and make possible the disposal plants, the paved streets, the good schools and the water system.

Proof was available Saturday night. A farmer who lives 10 miles from Mason came into the office of The Ingham County News to renew his subscription. We knew that he lived several miles nearer to another town than he does to Mason. We asked him why he did his trading here.

The farmer said, "I buy in Mason because I have always had fair dealing here. Two years ago I needed 20 rods of fencing. I drove to my nearest town. I couldn't find just the kind of fence I wanted. However, I took what they had. The merchant didn't have the fence in 20-rod rolls but he agreed to cut 20 rods out of a bigger roll. I took the fencing home and started to put it up. I needed exactly 20 rods. What I bought proved to be 16 rods. I went back to town and got four more rods. But that was about the last time I have ever been in that town. I don't say that the merchant was crooked. Perhaps he was just careless. No matter what the reason was for the shortage, that fence deal cured me. From now on, Mason is my town and will be as long as I get my money's worth here."

Every Mason merchant, every clerk in a Mason store, has the reputation of Mason in his hands. He can help make or he can help break the town. And if a buyer believes he is cheated on a stretch of fence, a suit of clothes or a sack of flour the town has a knocker instead of a booster. All the pavement in the world, the finest school system, a disposal plant that turns sewage into nectar, won't bring back that customer. A town's good will is the good will a customer receives along with the goods he buys.—Vernon J. Brown in The Ingham County News.

FROM BASEMENT TO FLAGPOLE.

The elections throughout the nation are over. Candidates for office on every level have promised to work for tax reduction.

It is becoming pretty generally recognized today that taxes are such a burden on industry that they restrict its normal development—such as means they restrict prospective jobs.

The most pressing relief needs of the depression period have passed. But in their wake will be a hang-over of persons on the public payroll that will drain the treasuries of government and industry unless a drastic program is inaugurated to cut off useless expense and live up to campaign promises to hold down and reduce taxes.

The mopping-up process will have to begin in the basement of the smallest city hall and go right through to the gold ball atop the flagpole on the capitol at Washington.

Nothing would do more to encourage industry to develop and employ more and more labor than a feeling that an honest and determined effort was being made throughout the nation to balance budgets and reduce taxation.

The answer rests with the people. There is the power to demand efficiency and economy in government, or there is the power to break their own public treasuries and the taxpayers (workers and industries). The first course leads to steady jobs and good wages. The second course leads to unemployment, mortgage foreclosures on homes and businesses, and the eventual break-down of sound government.

We can't pass the buck—the answer rests with us—the taxpayers, the workers and our public servants.—Floyd McGriff in The Redford Record.

You will hear about this time, "Auld Lang Syne", "The Gang's All Here", and a few times of this type that will make any crowd loosen up and have a real good time. You can't tell, maybe it will be "When a Lady Meets a Gentleman Down South".

After all, there's to be a New Year's Eve and the management of Idyl Wyld, Don Patterson's orchestra welcomes all its friends to what it thinks will be a night of nights. Let us forget—turkey dinner, too. "Dream Awhile."

A Bear Scare In Four Verses

(Contributed)
"Bud" Shaffer is known around Plymouth and Rosedale Gardens as a pretty good hunter and a great sportsman as far as hunting is concerned. Bud spent a couple of weeks up north this year hunting deer and bear. He is one of the few hunters that use a duffel bag. When Shaffer got into his duffel bag he looked so cozy that Fred Schmidt, while sitting at a runway, wrote a song about Shaffer and his duffel bag. The song was sung that evening by the hunters in camp to the tune of Polly Wolly Doodle, and accompanied by Al Horn, playing the accordion.

THE DUFFEL BAG
The duffel bag, the duffel bag,
The one that Shaffer owns,
He pulled the strings so gol darn tight,
He hardly could get home.

The duffel bag, the duffel bag,
The one that Shaffer owns,
He saw a bear and did he tear,
And left the bag alone.
He came in late at half past eight,
So late he could not see,
He said I saw a great big buck,
He waved his tail at me.

He said now boys don't kid me so,
You know that I was scared,
Next time I'll bring my wife along
She'll bring me in with care.

Recovers From Crash Injuries

Charles F. LeFever, superintendent of the Daisy Manufacturing company, who was frightfully injured in an automobile crash a few weeks ago, was able to visit the Daisy plant Monday morning for the first time since the accident. He will probably be back on the job within the next few days, practically recovered from the serious injuries he received when another car collided head-on with the one he was driving.

His daughter, Mildred, is getting along nicely at Eloise hospital and her badly fractured leg has now been placed in a cast. Betty Curtis, the 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Curtis of 297 North Main street, hurt in the same accident, will probably be confined to her bed for two or three months, although it is hoped that both girls can be removed to their homes in Plymouth before the end of this week. Betty's leg was fractured in two places and physicians have had some difficulty in getting the bones back in their right positions before setting the cast, which has just been done.

The driver of the other car recovered sufficiently to be able to return to his home in Romulus.

We have never heard finer and better reports of a state convention than those given last Sunday evening by the delegates who were in attendance at Kalamazoo, 7:00—Our service of praise and worship. We begin sounding with all clearness the note of evangelism. At a recent meeting of our aid society the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Paul Houchins; Vice President, Mrs. Fred Van Landingham; secretary, Mrs. Mabel Robinson; treasurer, Mrs. Alicia Estep. We make the pre-announcement of the coming of Dr. and Mrs. Boyson missionaries from Africa, on the morning of the 20th Dr. Boyson will be in the field in Africa. Make your plans to hear them. NAZARENE CHURCH.—Robert A. North, pastor. Bible school, 10:00; morning worship, 11:15; young people, 6:30; evening service, 7:30. Prayer meeting, Wednesday, 7:30 p.m. "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart; and ye shall find rest unto your souls. For my yoke is easy and my burden is light." (Matt. 11: 28-30). Jesus gives rest to the one who comes to him with a burden of sin. He gives an altogether different rest to the Christian who takes the yoke of Christ upon him. This is that "Rest that remaineth unto the people of God" (Heb. 4: 9). This is rest from the inward struggle that Paul had in Romans, 7th chapter. The Civil War is ended and perfect peace reigns within (Jno. 14: 27). Come and worship with us and we will do thee good. 280 North Main.

TO OPEN HISTORIC BOX DECEMBER 27.

Rev. Walter Nichol of the First Presbyterian church and officials of that organization have decided that the copper box found firmly cemented in the wall of the old church a few days ago when workmen were removing the stone, brick and concrete, will be opened at the morning services of the church on Sunday, December 27. There is much speculation as to what it may contain. No one knows whether the box was placed in the wall when the original church was built 100 years ago or whether it was placed in the wall when the church was remodeled over half a century ago. The opening of the box will prove an event of not only wide interest to members of the Presbyterian church, but to the entire city, as it is bound to have some historical data that will prove of interest to the community.

SKATING GOOD.

Plymouth youngsters will be pleased to know that the skating is good on "Plymouth" lake on the north side of town. But they must skate where park officials have marked off for that purpose. It is safe there, but park workmen do not recommend that children be permitted to venture on the ice elsewhere. There is also a good section for skating on Newburg lake, but that section is confined to the place cleared away by park attendants.

Rocks Swamp Howell 39 - 14

The Rock team swept the Howell Cagers off their feet with the one sided score of 39-14 when they invaded Howell territory for their first game of the 36-37 season on Friday, December 4. The Plymouth team started the ball rolling in the first few minutes of play by sinking numerous field goals and two free throws. The Rock team composed mainly of newcomers displayed the type of play that is to be expected from top ranks against Howell and by their team work were able to snow the rivals under. The Rocks will next meet Ypsi on the latter's floor for the first League game on the Rock's schedule.

The first quarter opened rapidly with Eloff fouling Egloff, who succeeded in scoring the first point of the game. This was closely followed by field goals from both Exke and Moe. Innis tripped Metz who sunk his free toss. The Howell team represented by Smith made a single field goal which was soon outpointed by two field goals from Egloff and one from Ross on very good passing attacks.

Kleinschmidt started the second quarter moving by scoring a field goal which was tied with another in a few minutes. Martin followed by also scoring two field goals. Martin and Parker exchanged fouls, both managing to sink their charity tosses. Trinka came through for the Rocks with two field goals and Wilkie fouled Grastic who sunk his throw.

The Rock team led the Howell band by the score of 24-6 at the beginning of the third quarter brought the score up a little for Howell with two field goals. Moe sank a single field goal for the Rocks and Schmidt fouled Egge, who converted. Schmidt also made a free toss after being fouled by Kleinschmidt. Innis at this point came through with another field goal for Plymouth.

Trinka was the first to score a field goal in the fourth quarter, and Schmidt went out, on fouls as he fouled Wilkie who made the point. Breslin was also successful in his charity toss after being fouled by Wilkie. The closing field goals for the Rock team were made by Krumm and Egloff, who was high point man with a grand total of 9 points. Thus the game ended with the Rocks leading the right end of a 39-14 score.

ROCK RESERVES NOSE OUT HOWELL 20-17

The Rock Reserves beat their Howell rivals Friday, December 4, in a game that was nip and tuck all the way. The Rocks led their hosts most of the time but neither team had a score that was very far above its rivals. The Plymouth lads played a smoother game than their rivals as the latter were rather loose with the ball.

ROCKS ENTERTAIN THUMB SCHOOL

Plymouth was honored in a debate Friday, December 7 with the presence of a school that journeyed over two hundred miles to debate the local team. Bad Axe, the visiting school, said that the reason for their unusual desire to travel so far for a practice debate was that there are no schools near them that are even close to their size. Although situated far up in the thumb district of Michigan, Bad Axe upheld the negative on the question. "Resolved, that all electric utilities should be governmentally owned and operated" against the Rocks. Plymouth's debaters were Jewel Starkweather, Edith Mettel, and Tom Brock.

VISITATION DEBATES HERE TONIGHT

Plymouth will entertain Visitation high school of Detroit in the second League debate of the preliminary series here tonight. In the first round of contests Plymouth, affirmative, the same side the local team will have against Visitation defeated Flint Central, two to one. The outcome of the opposing schools first contest is as yet unknown to the Rock debaters. Jewel Starkweather, Edith Mettel, and Tom Brock will be the speakers for Plymouth in the last debate at the home auditorium in the preliminary series. The debate with the Detroit Catholic school will be in the high school auditorium at 7:30 o'clock.

STARKWEATHER NOTES

The fourth, fifth, and sixth grades of this school enjoyed a Thanksgiving assembly at which Rev. Hoenecke spoke. Students also took part in the program. Everyone is delighted to have the new work bench in the work-room.

Thursday afternoon Miss Sparling's sixth graders visited the Plymouth Mail printing office and the police station. For language they are composing a newspaper which they have named "The Broadcaster".

Miss Farrand's pupils are fixing a basket to give to some poor family for Christmas. Dorothy, Helen, and Barbara Lisenberger are decorating this basket. Dorothy Fisher is ahead in the arithmetic class. Donald Rome won the last spelling. The 5's are studying North Central states in geography, and the 5A's are studying Africa.

Miss Rathburn's geography class is studying Italy. They have finished their courtesy notebooks. To test how much they have learned from these notebooks they are keeping a box which contains the names of those who forget to be polite. Those whose names are in the box will be fined and the proceeds used for a party.

Miss Brock's art class is following their geography lesson, now they are working on a Dutch mural. The geography class is making a movie machine for which they will draw and color pictures illustrating various phases in the life of the United States.

They are working on Christmas gifts for their parents. They are planning to make a box which contains the names of those who forget to appear on the "Pilgrim Prints" page. They chose this one by Rosemary Herter to appear this week.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

Sink a song of Santa Claus With a beard so snowy white Who never fails to visit us On one special night.

Sing a song of Christmas When everyone's asleep. When down through the chimney Santa Claus will creep.

Miss Stader's second graders have decorated the walls of their room with paper cuttings of Christmas scenes. One panel tells the story of the birth of Christ and the Three Wise Men; another shows a little boy and girl hanging up their stockings on Christmas Eve. The blackboard borders of holly and Christmas candles all were made by the children. They also made Christmas trees which they decorated with free hand cuttings. They are learning a Christmas song.

Prosperity seems to be here to stay—if one were to judge by the number of Juniors who formed a long line in the hall last Friday in order to buy their class rings. Seventy six students out of the class of one hundred four members purchased rings—that is approximately seventy three per cent. A comparison of the sales for this year with those of previous depression years gives a fair indication that times are improving.

SENIOR PROM

After nine weeks of preparation the class of 1937 of Plymouth high school is ready for their Senior Prom, to be held in the auditorium next Friday evening, December 18, from 9 to 1. Moe and Carter's well known ten-piece college orchestra, together with a charming vocalist, Jane Wortley, will furnish the music for the evening. Tom Brock, vice president, and his guest will lead the grand march, while next in line will be Jewel Starkweather, vice president, and her escort, David Gates.

This year the decorations are based on scenes from Switzerland, and the entire auditorium will be transformed into views of snowy Alps, colorful skies, and cottages in the valleys, while the reception room will be the interior of a Swiss cottage. Silver stars and soft lights will be suspended from the ceiling to add to the effect.

The chaperons for this dance are Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Dykhouse, Mr. and Mrs. D. Sutherland, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Burr, Mr. and Mrs. H. Buzzard, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Hamill, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Kirkpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. A. Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Dickerson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. A. Hauk, Mr. and Mrs. W. Weller, Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Starkweather, and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Mulry.

GAB ABOUT GABE

Green is definitely in this year, and Jessica Gobel's green fur collar coat in swing style is tons. Patricia Cassidy has a good-looking dress in green, too. Designers of the day are getting their ideas from styles of past centuries and very becoming some of them are. A dress that follows the new trend is the wine velvet of Velma Stitt's. We like that brown skirt, threaded with gold, worn by Jewel Starkweather. And don't you think Miss Waldorf appears decidedly girlish in her low heels, sport coat, and with her hair blown about a little? The Juniors are very enthusiastic about their rings—with good reason, too. Credit is due Patricia Burton for her lovely stockings. We would like to comment on Barbara Olsaver's clothes but it's quite an impossible task because one outfit is just as outstanding as the next. The long sleeved wine wool dress of Jane Taylor's has fur tabs on the tie as a finishing touch. Betty Howell can hardly wait to wear her new formal to the Prom—and we can hardly wait to see her.

GIRL SCOUTS HOLD SCAVENGER HUNT

A scavenger hunt was held by the Girl Scouts of Troop 1 on Wednesday, December 2. The objects to be found were a green leaf, a Girl Scout pin, the policeman's signature, the theatre cashier's signature, a brick from the Presbyterian church, a sunflower pin, a raw oyster, a live animal, a person with eleven fingers, Mrs. Bentley's signature, a Red Cross sticker, a two-cent stamp, a 1936 penny, a snowball, and a turkey feather. The Troop was divided into groups of four, with the winners being the first ones in with everything. Marion Coward's group consisting of Phyllis Campbell, Margaret Jean Nickol, and Ruth Drews won.

There are two kinds of soil erosion—that caused by wind, and that caused by water.

PLAY CUTS GIVEN IN ASSEMBLIES

The Junior class gave a preview of the Junior play, "The Patsy", in two assemblies last Wednesday and Thursday. The play was well received by both the junior and senior high. Jeanette Schwartz announced the play, describing it as a modern Cinderella drama.

The reason for cuts was to show the nature of the play but not to reveal the plot.

HOME ECONOMICS I PREPARE LUNCHEONS

Miss Lundin's home economics I food class is working on a luncheon unit in relation to balanced menus of the other two meals a day.

They have studied cream soups and main dishes used in luncheons as to food values, comparative costs, methods of preparation, care of foods, and place in the menu. Some of the following tests may be applied to a menu:

1. Is the menu well balanced?
2. Have I made use of leftovers?
3. Have I taken advantage of seasonable foods?
4. How will the plate look?
5. Is this menu too expensive in relation to the other two meals?
6. Will the preparation of this meal take too much time on this particular day?

The thirty-two girls in the class are each working on home projects.

HIGH SCHOOL'S CHRISTMAS PLANS

Christmas is just around the corner and Plymouth high school is planning a welcome for this holiday. The senior high school (tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grades) will enjoy a Christmas play given in assembly. A song festival is being planned for the junior high groups. If the home rooms wish to do anything special they are to plan their own programs.

MEET MR. MEDLEY

"I have never taken an art lesson in my life," confided Mr. Robert Medley, artist, who is finishing the library mural in an unmistakable southern drawl. This quite surprised your reporter, for the work he has accomplished is very well done for one who has never taken a lesson. He learned to handle paint and brush from an old German sea artist who cared for him after his father's death. Mr. Medley's birthplace is in Nashville, Tennessee, and after making his home with the sea artist, they traveled with the Hazel Burgess and Clare Joel stock companies painting scenery. The Clare Joel Stock Company is where Robert Armstrong, of movie fame, got his start. After traveling for a number of years, Mr. Medley resided in Detroit and has been here for twelve years. From Detroit he came to Plymouth to finish the mural in the library.

HOME EC. CLUB

At present the girls are working on gifts and offering suggestions for Christmas. They are sewing Italian hem stitching on towels, black printing on luncheon sets, embroidering on pillow tops, knitting scarfs, and stitching novelties. The club also donated a curtain for Miss Lundin, to be used to make the foods laboratories more attractive. Three new members have been admitted to our club: Jean Ames, Betty Knowles, and Shirley Mason.

Rocks Tramp On Redford Five

The Rock team again swept over their rival, when the Redford Union five invaded blue and white territory by the score of 28-17 on Tuesday, December 8. The Rocks again displayed very good team work that overwhelmed the tall boys from Redford who played good ball but could not withstand the strong offensive of the Rock team. This game will be the last before the Rock team starts its 36-37 Twin Valley Association schedule which begins Friday, December 11, at Ypsilanti.

The Plymouth boys came out onto the floor in their usual orderly manner and from the first tip-off there was a thrill in every play.

Moe, with two spectacular tries succeeded in making a basket during Plymouth's first blood. Redford Union retaliated with a basket on a thrilling play to tie the score 2-2. Innis of Plymouth fouled a Redford man who sank the foul shot to put Redford in the lead.

Ross of Plymouth emerged from a jumble with the ball but failed to make the shot. The ball was outside for Plymouth and by brilliant passing Ekloff on the red line put a long, high arching shot through for a basket. Redford Union then called time out. When play was resumed Moe broke through the opposing line and put in a dog shot. Moe seemed to be going like a house on fire and made another basket.

The quarter ended with Plymouth leading by a score of 8-3. When play was resumed by fast passing Plymouth again scored. The tip-off went to Martin who passed to Krumm back to Martin who put it through for another score. Plymouth then called time out for they were getting tired after all this fast play. Ekke of Plymouth was doing very well when he placed an over head shot in out of a big jumble to add another score. The ball was up and down the floor for a few minutes but before a score was added to either side, time was called for the half.

Redford seemed to have gotten their spirit back and made a basket. From the next tip-off excellent passing resulted in another score for Plymouth. The quarter ended Plymouth 26, Redford 8.

When the ball was again brought into play it continued to pass from one side to the other. Plymouth called time out to rest their wits and Kleinschmidt scored for Plymouth. Redford again retaliated but to a greater extent than Plymouth as she added three baskets to her score before the same ended with a score of 28-17 for a local victory.

This Party Brings Back Deer and Fish

There is one hunting party from Plymouth that went up north and not only brought back five big bucks but some 42 nice white fish as well.

This party was made up of Harold Behler, Fred Reiman, Dewey Smith, George Keiser, Charles Keiser, Walter Keiser, and Russell Rhetman. They hunted near Wolverine and did most of their spearing over in Indian river.

The Rocks have received word of the death of their cousin's wife, in Grandin, North Dakota. Mrs. Alfred Duntley, Mr. Duntley, who is well known to the older residents in Plymouth, left here in 1880, and he, with his wife became pioneers in Grandin. For many, many years he has been the city's postmaster and still continues as such.

The business of making explosives, dyes and acids is safer than those of making soap, fertilizers, salt, paint and varnish, a speaker told the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

Postage Stamps

Present, Past and Future As Told by Plymouth Collector

(By J. D. Merritt)

The Grand Rapids Stamp club is going to stage its Eighth Annual Stampfest at the Morton hotel, December 11-13. All collectors are invited to attend. The ambitious program includes stamp show movies on Friday, a bourse on all days, and a banquet on Saturday night. The famous collector, Eugene Klein is sending a fine Hungary collection from Philadelphia. James Starr will show his world famous collection of China and Paul MacGuffin will have his classic New York Postmasters there. Better drive over—it will certainly be a place for philatelic fun.

I received a very nice price-list for Chilean stamps from a dealer in Valparaiso, Chile last week. Instead of merely picturing the stamps, he sent a nice sample copy of each stamp he wished to sell. Wish more dealers did that. Oh what? Another gentleman—Neh Mohammed by name—sends a price list and franks the cover with a fine pictorial plate number attached!

Robert E. Fellers of the Philatelic Agency of Washington stated that the 1 cent Army and Navy Stamps will be issued before the end of the year and other values will follow rapidly when speaking before a group celebrating national Philatelic Week in Chicago. He came pretty close to it as official word says December 15 will be the date of the first stamp. The issue of this set has been prophesied for six months—it's about time it came. Don't you think the Navy deserves one more stamp than the Army for finally winning themselves a football game over Army?

A new sensation is the "Jipek" sheets of South Africa. They were issued for the International Philatelic Exhibition held in Johannesburg. Your correspondent ordered fifty sheets in advance for himself but eager collectors have stripped the shelves (of his stockbook) bare. It is said to be a limited issue so you better grab on to some.

Recently a director of one of Australia's largest Art Galleries whipped himself into a frantic filatelic froth over one of Australia's newest commemoratives—the Centenary of South Australia. He gnashingly meshed his churning biceps thusly: "The design of the new Centenary of South Australia is frightfully like a lam label. The whole design is utterly dreadful and it is one of the worst stamps ever issued by Australia. The people overseas will think us an uncultured race if we continue sending such unartful stamps abroad." His principal kick was that the design of fruit, a camp, a postoffice and an old gum tree was completely mixed up. However, the writer of the article about this stamp concluded by saying that 1 shilling value is scarce and well worth having.

Wife Of Old Resident Here Dies In Grandin

Newspaper clippings have been received by William Conner which tell of the death of Grandin, N. Dakota, of Mrs. A. S. Duntley in that city recently. While Mrs. Duntley never resided in Plymouth, her husband lived here for many years previous to his removal to the northwest about 1880. The Duntley family lived on Adams street, just off from Church street. They left here about the time that the lands in the northwest were opened for settlement. Older residents will recall that this migration to the west took from Plymouth a number of families, many of whom never returned. Mr. Duntley is postmaster in the city of Grandin.
