Steam Shovels Operate Night and Day Preparing Basements and Foundation Trenches For New Burroughs Plant

Vacant Field Becomes One of Busiest Places About Here

Five big steam shovels are in operation this week on the site where The Burroughs Adding Machine Company plans to erect its first big Plymouth unit during the forthcoming spring and summer. Some of the shovels are working 24 hours a day, with powerful searchlights to provide light for the workmen.

In addition to the vast amount of excavation necessary, some portions of the ground are being leveled and trenches dug for the massive foundation walls that will be necessary to carry the five-story brick structure.

Almost in the twinkling of an eye, a big vacant field has been turned into a regular bee-hive of activity.

President and General Manager Standish Backus of the Burroughs company has been careful in his statements as to when he hoped to have the plant completed and ready for the installation of machinery. He has said that he hoped it would be by late summer or early fall, but if the rush began manifested at the site is any indication of when the 600 foot long plant will be finished, one might believe that it will be finished by early summer unless there should be some unexpected delays.

The company has been most fortunate in weather conditions. There has been practically no frozen ground and with one or two exceptions, every day has been a good day for out-door labor. Generally at this time of the year the ground is frozen to a depth of four or five feet.

It has required a tremendous excavation for the sewage disposal plant the company plans to build. At places the excavation has been to a depth of 35 or 40 feet, most of it in solid clay.

Hotel Announces Its First Profitable Year

At the annual meeting of the Mayflower hotel, Fred D. Schurder was again elected president. C. H. Bennett, vice president and Carl G. Shearer, secretary and treasurer. The board of directors was changed from nine members to seven and the other four besides the officers are Harry S. Lee, Paul Wiedman, Edward Gayde and Perry W. Richwine.

For the first time since the hotel has been operating, the directors were able to announce that the hotel had made a profit. Under the able direction of its president many improvements have been made during the last year and only recently new furniture has been placed in the lobby and many rooms have been redecorated.

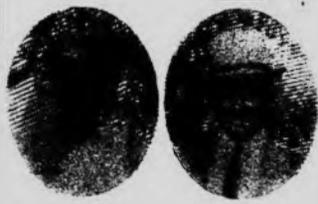

Rocks Battle For Title Tonight

The Plymouth quarter will play hosts Friday night, February 5 to the League-leading Panther team from River Rouge when they will tangle to decide the League Champions for the 36-37 schedule. The game promises to be a very scrappy one because both teams will be fighting hard for the title and also because the Rock team is rumored to get started on their League leaders who have handed them their only defeat thus far. The game mainly due to the fact that Plymouth was hampered by the overhead track in the River Rouge gymnasium. The spectators are bound to get their twenty-five cents worth from this off which will decide who the Rock team is going to place in the T. V. A. League.

The many friends of Law Price, manager of the Consumers Power company will be sorry to know that he is in Ford hospital in Detroit. He is suffering from brain pneumonia and was reported Thursday in a critical condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Carney and son, Bruce, of Yale were weekend visitors in Plymouth.

Celebrate Golden Wedding

Next Tuesday, February 9, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stevens, lifelong residents of Plymouth, who are enjoying the winter in the bright, warm sunshine of St. Petersburg, Florida, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. It was on February 9, 1871 when they were married and during the half century that time, they have always made their home in and around Plymouth.

MR. AND MRS. ALBERT STEVENS has elapsed since that time, they have always made their home in and around Plymouth.

Fifty years ago when they were married, few if any, ever went to Florida to enjoy the warm winter weather of that commonwealth. But on this important wedding anniversary they will be enjoying flowers blooming in the outdoors, they will be strolling under big palm trees that shade the sidewalks from the sun, they will be happy in the accomplishment of the things that well-spent lives have earned.

Mr. Stevens was born September 9, 1863 in Plymouth. He has lived in and around this community all of his life. Mrs. Stevens, who was the former Miss Alma Tuttle, was born February 18, 1869 in Newburg, just east of Plymouth. For years their home has been at Adams street. They have a host of good friends made during a life time of residence in the locality in which they were brought up and have spent their years, who wish them every happiness and the return of many more wedding anniversaries.

There are four sons, Warren and Howard, living in Detroit, Edgar and Calvin, who reside in Plymouth, and two daughters, Mrs. Ross Gates and Mrs. Marna Blunk, both also of Plymouth. Besides their six children, all living here or nearby, there are eight grandchildren, who do their part in adding joy to the lives of the grandparents.

Plymouth Never Fails

There is one thing about the city of Plymouth in which it is exactly like the historic place from which it is named—it remains steadfast in its purpose to accomplish that which it sets out to do. It is for this reason that Plymouth never fails in whatever it plans to do.

A few years ago, under the leadership of Charles H. Bennett, Plymouth decided to raise the biggest amount of money for the crippled children's fund of any city of its size in Michigan. It went over the top in a big way. Back in the days when the government wanted Liberty bonds sold to help America support its army in the World War, Plymouth's quota was always the first filled.

Last week when the appeal went out for aid for southern flood sufferers, the city responded in its typical way. Money, clothing and other necessities flowed into the city hall. There were truck loads of good clean clothing and bedding.

Mrs. Bennett, who is president of the Plymouth branch of The Red Cross, was elated over the response to the first appeal.

But! The flood waters of the Ohio and Mississippi are still raging. Hundreds, thousands of homes are being washed away. Hundreds of thousands of people are without shelter and without income and without means with which to support themselves.

The flood has become one of the greatest tragedies in the history of the nation. It has struck a terrific blow at our kindly southern citizens.

What Plymouth has already done is commendable — $1,000 has already been sent from here — but there is much more to do as the need for aid will continue for weeks and months.

If you can spare a few more dollars, a few more dimes, a few more pennies—if you can spare a few more blankets, if you have clothing that is clean and in good repair, see to it that the Plymouth branch of the Red Cross gets it as quickly as possible.

It is indeed a most satisfied feeling when you render aid unto those in distress. You are your brother's keeper, no matter where you might be, in the north, the east, the west or the south.

There will be hunger, there will be sickness, there will be destitution in every form for weeks and months to come down in the valley of the Ohio and the Mississippi.

Plymouth has done well so far. Let us respond again in the way that Plymouth always does. Make our contribution to the flood sufferers of the south the greatest of any city of equal size in all the land!

Aircraft Damaged In Nearby Landing

An airplane crash-up in which the occupants of the craft all escaped injury took place a few days ago east of the city, just off the Plymouth road, but facts pertaining to it have not been available. While some of the police officers of Plymouth heard about it and say that the craft was a commercial Waco, two passenger craft, they know nothing of the accident. In landing, the propeller was damaged, but apparently not badly enough to prevent immediate repairs.

Mrs. M. Chownyck of Preston, Ontario visited her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bodnar, arriving last Monday and planning to stay at least a month. Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ebert last Sunday were, Charles Ebert, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Ebert, Miss Ruby Drake, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ebert and daughter, Lesbia Jean.

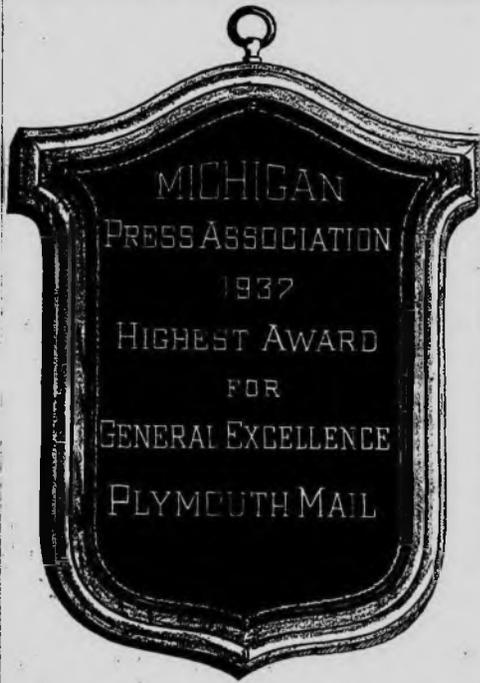

W. C. T. U. Holds First Meeting of Year

The first meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union for the year of '37 was held at the home of Mrs. Clara Patterson Todd on the afternoon of January 28, and was well attended.

A beautiful devotional service was conducted by Mrs. Mary Hillmer and some interesting readings were given. Modern methods of introducing temperance instruction to the youth of our land was discussed and showed what rapid advancement has been made along that line, in the last few years.

The Symbol of Accomplishment

Will Vote On Sale Of City Property

Voters Asked To Give City Right To Sell Land

The city commission has authorized Manager Clarence Elliott to draw a charter amendment to submit to the voters at the coming election to enable the commission to sell certain land owned by the city, if the voters approve.

Because of the development now taking place on the Burroughs Adding Machine property the Wayne county road commission intends to continue Hagerly highway south of the Plymouth road. By so doing they will join Whitebeck road south of the city cemetery and isolate 16 acres into a triangle that will be worthless as cemetery property.

It has been recommended to the commission that the 16 acres be sold and the proceeds applied on the cemetery indebtedness which, it is believed, will be enough to pay it up. A study of the situation has been made and while there is no immediate action contemplated, the commission feels that it should be empowered to act if a proper time arises.

Another question that will come before the voters at the next election is the request of the city commission for permission to make the exchange of land on Main street with the Presbyterian church, which was recently explained in The Mail.

Anyone wishing to petition the city for curb and gutters in front of their property may now do so as the WPA has again taken up that project in Plymouth. Curb-inlets laid on Farmer and Union streets cost the property holders 25 and 26 cents respectively, per lineal foot.

Negotiations are under way with the city by the Burroughs Adding Machine company to enable that concern to connect their sewers with the Plymouth disposal plant. City Manager Elliott was instructed by the commission to furnish the Burroughs company with any and all details necessary for the completion of the job.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wiseman were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Orley Wood, in Detroit.

These helped to build The Plymouth Mail into Michigan's best weekly newspaper.

Seven File For Seats On Commission

Dayton and Richwine To Run For Office of Municipal Judge

All three incumbents for the city commission filed for reelection along with four others who are seeking seats on the commission at the next election. Candidates who filed for the three offices are, George H. Robinson, Edward L. Wilson and Arthur Blunk, incumbents, and Ford Brooks, Carleton L. Lewis, Albert Lustig and Warren J. Worth.

With seven candidates it will be necessary to hold a primary election on March 8, unless one of the candidates should withdraw from the race and in that event the election would be held on April 5.

Two candidates have filed for the office of municipal judge, one the present judge, John Dayton and the other, Attorney Perry W. Richwine. George Springer is the only candidate for constable.

Start Construction

Construction of the new addition at the Hillside Barbecue is well under way. The footings for the foundation have been poured and if the weather permits within a few days the program will be well under way.

Mr. Stremch hopes to have the entire construction done early in the summer. The addition consists of a large dining room, a grill, and greatly enlarged kitchen facilities.

The many friends in Plymouth of J. G. Alexander of Northville will be grieved to learn of his death. He was the father of Miss Alexander of this city.

Presented Trophy At Annual Meeting Of The Michigan Press Association

Reward Comes To Paper After More Than Five Years of Persistent And Never-Ending Effort to Make It One of Best Published

The Plymouth Mail has just won the priceless distinction of being known as Michigan's best weekly newspaper.

This outstanding award to Plymouth's newspaper was made last week at the sixty-sixth annual meeting of The Michigan Press Association, an organization composed of the 300 or more weekly and small city daily newspapers published within the state, held at East Lansing.

There now hangs in the office of The Mail the trophy that carries with it the stamp of approval of newspaper editors and publishers throughout Michigan who concurred in the judgment of the committee they selected to pass upon the efforts of editors of weekly newspapers to build their papers into outstanding publications.

Needless to say that it was with both surprise and intense gratification to the publisher of The Mail when Prof. A. A. Applegate, head of the department of journalism of Michigan State college, who was chairman of the judging committee, announced to the several hundred gathered at the annual banquet that Plymouth's newspaper had been selected by those competent to judge newspapers, as Michigan's best.

The Midland Republican, long regarded as one of the best and largest weekly newspapers in America, was awarded second place in the contest.

The Lapeer County Press, another high type newspaper was awarded the distinction of being the third best newspaper in Michigan.

For more than five long years those associated with The Plymouth Mail have been working constantly to reach this outstanding rating among the hundreds of good newspapers within the state. It was a climb from the bottom.

First, there was a change in the reading type of the paper made nearly four years ago. Unless a paper is easy to read it cannot be said to rate highly as a newspaper, no matter what its contents might be.

The body type selected is known in newspaper circles as Ionic No. 5, seven and a half point on an eight point slug.

Many readers commented at the time about the change and wanted to know what had been done to make The Plymouth Mail an easier paper to read.

A little later came a change in the type used in the head letter by the paper. The old fashioned Gothic used for nearly 20 years was discarded and there was selected a 30 point Ionic, upper and lower case letter. Those who are regarded as authorities upon newspaper make-up have frequently stated recently that the tendency of the times is to the use of upper and lower case letters in the headings. That means the use of capitals and smaller letters. Long study revealed that it was easier for a person to read a heading of this kind.

The great Detroit News and Free Press have been two outstanding papers that have recently changed from all-cap headlines to upper and lower letters. Their change has been made since the adoption of the new style by The Mail.

The Plymouth Mail tried the new headings for a few weeks and while the change was so gradual that our readers barely noticed it, the new style was adopted something like three years ago and has been continued since.

Then came the change in the editorial column from one column, seven and a half point type to ten point, two column measure, much larger type than formerly used.

A little later followed one of the most radical changes made. All standing heads, some of them set in type and some cast from mats, were changed to what is known as Bulletin Typewriter type. This is a comparatively new type face developed by the American Type Founders.

The manager of the Detroit office of the company, who is somewhat of an authority on the use of type faces, thought The Plymouth Mail was going a bit too far with its changes. In fact, he said he thought the use of Bulletin Typewriter type for standing heads in the paper would be about the last thing in the world a newspaper should do.

At the request of The Plymouth Mail he sent copies of the newspaper with the headings to Mr. Gilbert P. Farrar, Typographic Counsellor of The American Type Founders in New York.

It was with considerable satisfaction back in September 1935 when there came to the office of The Plymouth Mail a letter from Mr. Farrar, in which he stated "I like the Bulletin Typewriter for these standing department heads, very much * * * I assure you that I am very happy to see someone get out of the beaten path on these department heads in newspapers, and I trust that you will continue with it."

Then came the next change and improvement, the use of new type in the advertisements. For the more extensive use in the advertisements, a type known to the business as Stylic bold face, with Italic of the same series was selected.

Probably the most drastic change was one of the last ones made a year or so ago in the style of head-writing.

For years and years it had been the practice of all news papers throughout the country to try and select words for headings that had exactly the same letter count for each line. In an effort to comply with this age-old rule that still prevails on practically every newspaper in the country with the exception of a few indeed, headings frequently are meaningless and convey no information as to what is in the article to follow.

The new style of head-writing does entirely away with the so-called word count to each line. Some lines may be longer, and the others shorter than permitted under the old style, but it enables one to write a heading that contains just exactly the information as to what the article it is over contains. The same easy style is permitted in the sub-decks. The new style headings are easier to write. They are easier to set and most important of all, they are easier to read.

Before this change was made completely effective, a few headings set in the new style were tried out on inside pages. They looked pretty good and the experiment was carried to the first page. There they looked better. Then a little later every heading in The Plymouth Mail appeared in the new style and for some time past The Mail has been using exclusively the new style headings. Recently one or two other newspapers in Michigan have followed suit.

LINCOLN'S OWN STORY

I was born February 12, 1809, in Hardin County, Kentucky. My parents were both born in Virginia, of distinguished families—second families, perhaps I should say. My mother, who died in my tenth year, was of a family of the name of Hanks, some of whom now reside in Adams, and others in Macon County, Illinois. My paternal grandfather, Abraham Lincoln, emigrated from Rockingham County, Virginia, to Kentucky about 1781 or 1782, where a year or two later he was killed by the Indians, not in battle, but by stealth, when he was laboring to open a farm in the forest. His ancestors, who were Quakers, went to Virginia from Berks County, Pennsylvania. An effort to identify them with the New England family of the same name ended in nothing more definite than a similarity of Christian names in both families, such as Enoch, Levi, Mordecai, Solomon, Abraham, and the like.

My father, at the death of his father, was but six years of age, and he grew up literally without education. He removed from Kentucky to what is now Spencer County, Indiana, in my eighth year. We reached our new home about the time the state came into the Union. It was a wild region, with many bears and other wild animals still in the woods. There I grew up. There were some schools, so called, but no qualification was ever required of a teacher beyond "readin', writin', and cipherin'" to the rule of three. If a straggler supposed to understand Latin happened to sojourn in the neighborhood, he was looked upon as a wizard. There was absolutely nothing to excite ambition for education. Of course, when I came of age I did not know much. Still, somehow, I could read, write, and cipher to the rule of three, but that was all. I have not been to school since. The little advance I now have upon this store of education I have picked up from time to time under the pressure of necessity.

I was raised to farm work, which I continued till I was twenty-two. At twenty-one I came to Illinois, Macon County. Then I got to New Salem, at that time in Sangamon, now in Menard County, where I remained a year as a sort of a clerk in a store.

Then came the Black Hawk War, and I was elected a captain of volunteers, a success which gave me more pleasure than any I have had since. I went into the campaign, was elected, ran for the legislature the same year (1832), and was beaten—the only time I ever have been beaten by the people. The next and three succeeding biennial elections I was elected to the legislature. I was not a candidate afterward. During this legislative period I had studied law, and removed to Springfield to practice it. In 1846 I was once elected to the lower house of Congress. Was not a candidate for re-election. From 1849 to 1854, both inclusive, practiced law more assiduously than ever before. Always a Whig in politics; and generally on the Whig in electoral tickets, making active canvasses. I was losing interest in politics when the repeal of the Missouri Compromise aroused me again. What I have done since then is pretty well known.

If any personal description of me is thought desirable it may be said that I am in height, six feet four inches, nearly; lean in flesh, weighing on an average one hundred and eighty pounds; dark complexion, with coarse black hair and gray eyes. No other marks or brands recollected. Springfield, December 20, 1859.—Abraham Lincoln.

A Smile in Every Mile

By O. Lawrence Hawthorne

Life is such a pleasant journey, after all. There are joyful moments all along the way. When the melody of friendship's happy call bids us contemplate the beauties of the day.

It may be that storms will gather, but we know That the sun has never failed to shine again; And I like to feel that everywhere we go We can make life brighter for our fellow men.

There's a smile in every mile for everyone! There's a cheerful dawn behind the darkest night; If we find a friendly way to share our fun, Each new day will bring its measures of delight.

RAMBLING with Editors AROUND of Michigan

"GETTING EVEN" IS A SMALL BUSINESS

"I'll get even with that man if it takes me the rest of my life. How many times have you heard that? Not too often we hope. It is the label of a small person. It is an indication of a pigmy mind and a contemptible disposition. No one suffers so much as the person who harbors resentment and vindictiveness.

It is interesting to apply this yardstick to some of the finest people you know. You will find few if any of them who have time or disposition to harbor hate. Frequently they may be the objectives of remarks or acts which are particularly aggravating. Generally such people tolerantly and patiently overlook them.

It was Disraeli who, when chided about his meekness under attack replied: "I never trouble to be avenged. When a man injures me, I put his name on a slip of paper and lock it in a drawer. It is marvelous to see how the men I have thus labeled have the knack of disappearing."—Schuyler Marshall in The Clinton County Republican-News.

WANT TEN DOLLARS A DAY.

The legislators at Lansing have decided that they would like an increase of wages amounting to $10.00 a day for five months. They haven't even found out the law yet, as they thought they could simply vote themselves that much more. It reveals the tender sympathy they feel for the taxpayer!—Frank Bryce in The Grand Ledger Independent.

ELEPHANTS AND DONKEYS.

Now that "the grand tent" has been raised over the political activities at Lansing, and the Donkey has replaced the elephant, the customers are ready for the big trapeze act known as "honesty and efficiency in government". We know that there's lots of "hay" for the Donkey, and it will grow stronger; but what about the Elephant? ... when will its owners decide to take away its weakening diet of "peanut politicians" and let it graze upon the health-building verdure of "government of the people, by the people, and for the people?"—George Averitt in The Birmingham Eclectic.

WHAT IS THE BUNK?

This is all the bunk about a $150,000 mansion for the Governor and double pay for the legislators. As you look back through history in our country true statesmanship has varied inversely to the salary received. When a congressman received $2000 per year the job sought the man—a man of ability; when the salary was $10,000 many men sought the job—and how to keep it.—Scarth Inglis in The Galesburg Argus.

ONE WHO REMEMBERS.

Recollection of a rather brief experience in trying to observe the later junked NRA proved it was a burden and a hindrance to small communities and small industries and businesses, and members of congress will serve their small-town constituents best by preventing return of the doubtful experiment. If it is reenacted again to satisfy big centers, let congressmen fight to restrict it to big centers.—A. D. Gallery in The Tuscola County Advertiser.

THERE IS A DIFFERENCE.
Just read in the Paw Paw Courier-Northerner that "Usually the fellow who wants the most help from the Government is the fellow who has never done anything to help the government." This set us to thinking about government help and the change that has taken place in the nation's thinking in just one generation. We used to think that the people should support the government, but now a large portion of the people have come to think that the government should support the people and we are content to see this done on a wholesale scale. The responsibilities and offices of government have changed remarkably since the day when President Cleveland said that the plight of the people in drouth stricken Texas was a problem for that state and not for the country as a whole. It was on this occasion that he made the statement that it was not the government's business to support the people, but that it was the people's obligation to support the government, a statement for which he was applauded at that time. Now we are in reverse. We do not think that today anyone will quarrel with the idea of public support for the unfortunate aged, but we are already going much farther than that.—William Berkey in The Cassopolis Vigilant.

APPLAUSE . . .

As I sit in a movie and see and hear the film unwind I wonder whether the "silence" of the audience means that applause is on the way out. Does the lack of applause mean that people will get out of the habit and give personal appearances less and less applause? The personal appearances, especially the development of new talent, seems to be on the increase and vaudeville is coming back strong. Will the movies have any effect on its reception? For a time after movies started going strong the vaudeville acts appeared on the wane, but now they seem to be attracting more attention than for some ten years.—Phil. Rich in The Midland Republican.

Finlan Named Manager of License Office

State Will Use Chamber of Commerce Counters and Facilities

Following its hard-boiled rub that there shall be no Republican holding a state job of any kind unless the law requires the appointment of representatives from both parties. Secretary of State Leon Case has announced the selection of Harold Finlan of the Finlan Insurance agency as manager of the Plymouth branch office of the secretary of state. Mr. Finlan, as well as his father, have been prominent Democrats for many years.

While Mr. Finlan will have direct charge of the license business, he will not look after the details of the work and an arrangement that doubtless will prove satisfactory has been worked out, with a girl in direct charge of the work.

Leonard T. Murphy, who was induced to become secretary of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce some two years ago when Berg Moore died suddenly, will remain as secretary of the organization, but will cooperate with the state in aiding in the license business.

The Chamber of Commerce last week made arrangements with Mr. Finlan to rent to him the counters, desk space and a part of its present office so that the present excellent facilities of the Chamber of Commerce, as well as the location, may be used for the license plate business.

Mr. Murphy, who has been most efficient in the conduct of the work of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, as well as the license plate business, will remain secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, with office space in the same location.

It will be interesting to the public to know during the time Mr. Murphy has been in charge of the license plate business there has never been a mistake of the slightest kind made in connection with the work and the state funds upon every audit have been found to check to a penny.

The officials of The Plymouth Chamber of Commerce believe that it might be to the best interests of the city during the next few years to make some sort of an arrangement as outlined so that there would be no question about the retention of the branch office of the secretary of state in Plymouth agreed to the arrangement as soon as a satisfactory one had been worked out.

The Chamber of Commerce was fortunate in having the assistance and fine cooperation of Parrell McKenna, who is in charge of the state highway department's office in this city, in working out some sort of an arrangement whereby the license office could be maintained in its present location.

The state will engage a clerk to assist in the work in the office. Mr. Murphy will devote his entire time to chamber of commerce activities from now on.

Mr. Finlan has agreed with the other automobile insurance men of the city that because of the fact that he has been made manager of the office, all the other insurance men will have the same opportunity to write any new automobile insurance business that might develop through the office as his own agency.

It is believed that the new arrangement will prove satisfactory to every one, although it takes from the Chamber of Commerce its receipts from the sale of license plates.

Three Hurt In Auto Collision

Clayton Jordan, one time resident of Plymouth, now residing in Northville where he lived previously to coming to this city, lies in Eloise Hospital in a critical condition, his scalp being partly torn off and his forehead crushed as the result of an automobile accident on Plymouth road near Berwick avenue in Rosedale Gardens last Saturday forenoon.

Riding with Jordan was Roy McCormick, who lives near Northville on R. F. D. No. 1, who also is in a serious condition in Eloise hospital. His injuries were of internal nature. He was also badly cut and bruised.

Apparently the two were driving towards Detroit when their car slowed down and another machine driven by F. J. Donovan, who is employed by the Daisy company, apparently saw the car slow down, put his brakes on, then hit some ice in the road and skidded into the rear end of the other car, causing it to throw its occupants out on the paving.

A passing machine picked up Donovan and brought him to a doctor's office in Plymouth and the two injured men were brought to Plymouth hospital in Schrader's ambulance but later taken to Eloise hospital where they are still confined. Donovan was badly cut and bruised in the crash.

Those called to investigate the accident state that the fog which was heavy at the time, apparently obscured the vision of the second car and when the other car slowed down for some reason, he did not have time to swing around it in order to prevent the accident in which the occupants of the two cars were injured.

Conner Off To The Southlands

William Conner, driving his new Lincoln-Zephyr car, accompanied by John Wilcox, left bright and early Monday morning for their annual visit to St. Petersburg, Florida, where they will remain until early in March. With them in another car was Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pettis of Detroit. Mr. Pettis is a hardware supply salesman and the two cars will travel together on the southern trip. They went via Cincinnati, having been informed that southbound traffic was now permitted to cross the Ohio at that point.

The St. Petersburg News service has advised The Mail that Mrs. Mary J. Shearer of West Ann Arbor Trail is in the Sunshine city for a few weeks, along with Mrs. Arlo Emery and numerous other residents from this vicinity. Pageantry and carnival will be the keynotes of St. Petersburg's next Festival of States, scheduled for late March, with many innovations and departures from previous celebrations on the program.

Starting Easter Sunday with a mammoth sunrise service on Recreation Pier, the Festival goes into two days of music and pageantry before the big carnival features begin. New, also, is the Pageant of Music, similar to the great Eisteddfods of Wales. Combined with the Florida Music Festival, this feature will see the famous tenor, Nino Martini, in the leading singing role, the State Symphony orchestra, massed white and colored choirs, and a number of voice and instrumental soloists of distinction.

In the beautiful north yacht basin will take place another novel attraction, a night water pageant with more than hundred brightly colored boats, in a spectacular presentation of the Landing of DeSoto.

Carnival night will see street dancing, torch and costume parades, and widespread revelry with prizes for the most comic and fantastic dress.

The 26 acres of glass roofing in the Crystal Palace, London's famous amusement spot, contain more than 100,000 panes.

Cologne Cathedral, the largest Gothic cathedral in northern Europe, was begun in the thirteenth century and completed in the nineteenth.

English Walnuts For The Welfare!

"Did you tell The Plymouth Mail about the green grape fruit and the dirty prunes you got for Christmas?"

"If you didn't tell, who did tell?" "You don't know? Well, they want me to find out." was the Tuesday forenoon greeting that welfare "clients" in this part of Wayne county received when the "commodity truck" drove up to their doors for the first time since Christmas of green grape fruit and prunes filled with straw and covered with dirt.

This time there were about a dozen fairly good grape fruit, more prunes and a sack of English walnuts for the welfare families. The grape fruit and the prunes were said to be of better quality than ever received before.

Think of it! English walnuts this time too! No, there wasn't anything that looked like good Michigan potatoes, Michigan apples, Michigan white beans, Michigan pork—nothing substantial like that. Of course not!

But there were English walnuts direct from California. "Boy! Walnuts would make 'em talk! Walnuts would case some one to 'squeal' as to who is informing The Plymouth Mail about the miserable treatment that unfortunate aged people and others unable to provide enough for their own support, are receiving."

Well, if they find out, there is this about it—it's going to be a pretty tough row for the poor folks—that's a prediction.

J. B. Pennybacker, a highway expert of national repute, says many of the 15,000 lives lost every year in highway accidents might be saved by roadside sidewalks. That would be tremendously expensive—but gravel paths would do, and along dangerous road stretches, cyclists could use them.

Supervisors Upset Welfare Empire Plan

See No Reason For Army of Job Holders To Handle Public Aid

(By ELTON E. EATON)
When the Michigan County Supervisors association at their annual convention in Lansing last week adopted, with only two dissenting votes, resolutions containing most of the suggestions of the minority report of the Welfare and Relief Study Commission, the supervisors did more to unsettle the trend towards centralized, expensive and without question, more inefficient handling of the state welfare problem than any of them realized. In fact, there has been nothing that has caused so much discussion and comment about legislative naivety as the adverse action of the supervisors on this question.

Every one who has any knowledge of public problems realizes that the average township supervisor knows more about welfare work than any one else. It is a next-door problem to him. He knows intimately the people who need welfare. He knows why they need public aid. He knows what they require. He knows too, whether they are "spooning" off the public, knowing as he does, the needs of his next-door neighbors, he is sympathetic with them, if the distress is real.

More than all of that, he knows the problems of the fellow who pays for welfare aid through his tax bill.

So it is not at all surprising that many members of the legislature are paying much more attention to the resolutions passed by the supervisors than to the report printed and circulated by "The Welfare and Relief Study Commission". Of course no one knows what the legislature will do pertaining to relief and welfare legislation, but it is pretty safe to predict that the action taken by several hundreds of supervisors will have a most effective influence on any measure that might be enacted during the forthcoming weeks and that the spending of welfare money will be more under the control of local authorities in the future than it has been in the past.

Reports and "studies" made during the past year or so by commissions created by the state to investigate and compile data on various subjects have been prepared and submitted to state officials and members of the legislature. There is one interesting observation about these printed reports that in some cases attain the size of fairly good sized books—no one seems to be greatly interested in their contents.

A glance through their pages indicates to a very great extent the expression of personal views and ideas. Much space in some reports is given over to addresses. One speaker devotes a portion of his address to the chiding of another individual for the near-plagiarism of an expression used to indicate a certain class. Some contain valuable data, but just how extensively they are read, no one knows. It is quite apparent that there is little thoughtful consideration made of many of them. Probably this lack of interest in these "studies" is due to the fact that few of them contain information not already known.

Norman Hill, former resident of Sault Ste. Marie and for years one of the best known editors in the state, is the executive secretary to Governor Frank Murphy. Because of the fact that Governor Murphy, almost from the day he assumed office, has been forced to give all of his time and attention to the labor troubles within the state in which he has become involved, due to his efforts to bring about some sort of a settlement, the duties of the governor's office have fallen entirely in "Norm" Hill's lap. His hours are long and strenuous. On the job before eight in the morning, he is seldom able to get out of his office before midnight. But Secretary Hill likes to work and therefore his tremendous responsibilities and additional work does not irk him. Mr. Hill is not only efficient, but he is most agreeable and has never displayed the slightest irritation when besegged by the army of job seekers that constantly swarm about his office. It is interesting to note that Mr. Hill was not so many years ago a Republican newspaper editor. He was employed by former Republican Governor Chase S. Osborn for many years on the Sault Ste. Marie Evening News. Then he was a Detroit newspaper writer and there is where he became a great friend and admirer of Governor Murphy, who was at that time mayor of Detroit. He served as secretary to the mayor for a number of years and when Governor Murphy went to the Philippines, he took Mr. Hill along with him in a similar capacity. Mrs. Hill and children are still in Manila and will remain there until the end of the present school year when they will come to Lansing to reside.

Unless something happens to get consideration of bills under way and the legislative machinery in operation, it will be early summer before the present session will end. Every day there is a flood of bills so far there has been practically no consideration of any of the measures in committee. The legislature has been in session for nearly a month.

Newburg School News

Upper Room

The upper room of Newburg school is working hard on music appreciation. We have hung up pictures of the instruments in the orchestra. In the back of the room we have a chart "Music by Radio". When anybody hears a music appreciation selection he or she puts his name on the paper, and at the end of the year we can see how many selections they have heard.

The Pupils of the Newburg School are giving money to the flood relief fund. At assembly, the upper room owned the program by a story of "The Boy Who Fooled the Troll", also a poem of "The Spoiled Violin" read by Gladys Bodnar. The lower grades had drawn pictures and told stories about them. The middle grades took their part in the assembly. Roy Bennett played a piano selection. They gave a thrift play.

Middle Grades

Our room is giving money to the Red Cross to help the people in the flood district. We painted some orange crates last week for our room to be used for book shelves. We painted them green. The fifth grade is learning to multiply fractions.

Lower Grade Room

The second graders started their new readers Monday. The first graders will finish their readers this week. We have our room decorated with valentines. We are making some valentines too.

Dancers Fill Both Ball Rooms To Raise $125.00

Chairman Thompson Extends Thanks To All Who Attended

Plymouth responded enthusiastically to efforts of Arno Thompson and his committees to make the President's Birthday Ball in this city a real one. Both the Masonic temple and the Hotel Mayflower were filled to capacity by dancers who enjoyed the affair to the utmost.

Chairman Thompson asked The Mail to extend his most sincere thanks to all those who worked on his committees, the American Legion and Ex-Service

Men's club and wished everyone who attended one of the parties to know that he was grateful for their support. Although all tickets were not as yet accounted for it was estimated that the profits would run over $125.00. Of this amount 70 percent will be retained in the local fund and 30 percent will be forwarded to the national committee in New York for use at the Warm Springs Foundation.

Dancers who attended the parties were entertained by Miss Virginia Teller and Miss June Bailey, who in turn were presented with beautiful flowers given to the local committee for the presentation by the Rosebud Flower shop.

Calvary's Pastor Resigns Because of Ill Health

(By Mrs. J. F. Root)
Next Sunday, February 7, the Rev. Richard Neale, pastor of Calvary Baptist church since its organization, will preach his farewell sermons to the members of his church and congregation.

Never in rugged health, he has for the last five years struggled to overcome illness originating from hypothyroid and pituitary gland metabolism. Climax to this was his Henry Ford hospital physician's ultimatum: "Absolute rest and outdoor life until treatment achieves perfect health."

Regret among the membership is expressed on every hand. Mr. Neale may spend the remainder of the season in Florida with his sister, Mrs. Alice Neale Foster, of Coconut Grove. Mr. and Mrs. Neale plan to continue their residence near Plymouth.

Among several recent innovations are the posting of Pace cartoons which appear in the door of the church each week. These cartoons illustrate the gospel most graphically and carry a telling message to hundreds of passersby.

Last Sunday's sermon, "Gates of Grace and Glory" from Nehemiah III was taken stenographically, and will be printed in leaflet form.

The centenary celebration of D. L. Moody's birth is climaxed next Sunday. His life and work will be the background of the pastor's farewell addresses both morning and evening.

Moody song favorites will be featured by the young people. Returning to participate in his pastor's farewell services is Leroy Tillotson, a senior in the ministerial course at the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.

A most cordial invitation is extended to all friends of the church to be present at the services at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. next Sunday.

You and I are going to get real tired one of these days of feeding those who refuse to work.

"Too cold for hiking! We should say no! Twelve members of P-1, all clad in warm clothes, including gloves and rubbers, set out for parts unknown, on that cold, windy, but sunny afternoon, last Sunday. After going for several miles the boys found an ideal spot beside a brooklet to test their ability at fire-building and cooking. Around the fires (and in the smoke) a hearty supper consisting of well-smoked (!) hot dogs or steak, and rolls and partially frozen water or milk were enjoyed as much as if it was a sumptuous banquet. The only casualties sustained were two "burned" ankles (O'Leary and Armbruster) one badly bent banana and one smashed pie. A fast march in single file back to town just at dark completed a swell time.

Northside Ass'n. Asks For More Street Lights

Robert Warner acted as spokesman last Monday night at the regular meeting of the city commission for the Northside Business Men's association in asking that more lights be provided in that section of town. It is hoped by the business men on Liberty street that some way can be found to arrange for overhead lights on the street to help the poorly lighted condition that prevails here now.

Members of the commission instructed the manager to confer with the Detroit Edison company to see what methods can be undertaken to correct the condition. At present, light poles for that area are in the back of the stores and it would be hard to arrange for overhead lighting. A study will be made of the situation and the commission will report its findings back to the northside association.

E. J. Allison Next President Of Shrine Club

Ernest J. Allison will be installed as president of the Suburban Shrine club at the dinner dance and bridge to be held by that organization in the Hotel Mayflower on Thursday, February 18. With Mr. Allison as new vice president, Harry Marburger and secretary and treasurer, Arlo Emery will also take over their official duties for the new year.

The party, the last that will be conducted under the direction of the present officers, closes a fine year for the organization under the leadership of its president, Fred D. Schrader. Many undertakings have helped the club financially and President Schrader stated yesterday that $200.00 would be turned over to the crippled children's fund that the Shrine sponsors.

The party will be open to the public and tickets will be on sale today by all members of the Shrine club.

Parole Problem Can Be Solved

sible to the supreme court. This agency then could investigate and recommend to the governor cases for parole and pardons and, as the result of such accurate, impartial, non-political information, a conscientious governor would be able to apply leniency and pardons intelligently and prevent many crimes which are now committed by paroled prisoners.

"It would be more sensible to prevent crimes than to clamor for the execution of those who commit them, and leave the same causes which produced criminals in existence to produce more criminals to give the public more shocks and produce more crimes for investigation.

"The outstanding trouble with our present penal system is that life sentences do not mean confinement for life. If prisoners, when they were sentenced to life, knew that they would remain in prison for the remainder of their days, they would work with the psychiatrist and the sociologist in prisons in order to correct the weaknesses in our social environment so that others would not follow in their criminal footsteps.

"Now is not the time to clamor for revenge, but it is the time for calm, sane, and logical reasoning in regard to our social failures in Michigan. It is the time to remove the parole department from partisan politics and have a sane continuous policy through the judicial appointment of our parole commissioner and a scientific set-up of our whole parole and pardon system."

Plymouth Mail Is Best

Michigan have been experimenting with headings of similar style, but it was where The Plymouth Mail had pioneered again in the weekly field, although two or three of the great metropolitan papers in other parts of the country have been using the style for many months previous to its adoption by The Mail.

There has been an extensive use of illustrations in The Mail. An effort is made to print a picture of every person who is active in some worthwhile community project. The paper has been first in its use of illustrations of new projects as well. It has been found that big companies are pleased to cooperate with the newspaper if there is a display on the part of the paper of unusual interest in what is going on within its own little world. The Plymouth Mail has been the first to publish pictures of the various new institutions, factories, churches and factory additions planned for this city and vicinity. High officials of The Burroughs Adding Machine company saw to it that it was The Plymouth Mail that had the privilege of first presenting to the public a picture of what will be one of the largest and most attractive factory buildings in Michigan upon its completion.

Then there has been maintained for the progressive advertisers of The Mail a mat service, not one of the best, but in the judgment of The Plymouth Mail, the best offered to newspapers. It is the same service offered many of the big city newspapers in Michigan. Five years ago The Plymouth Mail had no mat service of any kind.

In the use of illustrated features, an effort has been made to select the best offered by the Western Newspaper Union. Readers have often commented with high favor upon the practice of running these illustrated series. One that probably created more interest than any other was a series of Bible illustrations drawn centuries ago that ran for nearly a year in The Mail. Exceptional care has at all times been maintained in an endeavor to select the material that fits well into the make-up of a community newspaper. It is just one of the little things the reading public never thinks about, but it has been the strict attention to these small details that enabled The Plymouth Mail to win the distinction of being Michigan's best weekly newspaper among the larger publications in the state and where the competition is indeed keen.

Changes have all been brought about so gradually that probably not a person in Plymouth has noticed the difference. The style and quality of news writing, the make-up of all of the pages of the newspaper, the use of pictures, editorial discussions, the printing, and the quality of paper used, the arrangement of news on the pages, all of these points and many more were considered in making the award.

It has taken over five years of persistent effort, five years of splendid cooperation on the part of the entire community, five years of loyal service by the employees of The Plymouth Mail to attain such a priceless distinction as has been awarded Plymouth's newspaper. Just naturally, the publisher and every one associated with The Plymouth Mail is elated over such an outstanding honor as has come to this newspaper and the community it represents.

Rocks Continue Winning Streak

By winning over Ypsilanti Friday, the home team added one more victory to their consecutive wins leaving the count at five (for the time being). Referee Kazlusky gave a fine exhibition of how a basketball game should be refereed, and although the boys on both sides played hard, he kept the game from becoming too rough by calling all the plays very close.

The starting whistle had hardly blown when the first foul was called on Egge, and Miller, the tall center for Ypsilanti, put his team in the lead by sinking the free throw. From this point on Plymouth was never behind. The rest of the first quarter continued, in much the same way as it had opened, with fouls being called fast and furiously on both teams but with Plymouth coming out on top of the heap. The most exciting play of this quarter started when Moe intercepted an Ypsilanti pass and went down the floor for a field goal. The second quarter was much rougher than the first with Plymouth still increasing its lead. Duffey of Ypsilanti was put out of the game, having four fouls. At the end of the half Plymouth had nine fouls on them and Ypsilanti had 14 called on them.

When the second half opened Captain Ray Martin had two fouls called on him which made a total of four and he was put out of the game. The crowd really got a laugh out of one goal made. Egloff had the ball and fell down. He had no one to throw to, so he shot it at the basket while he was still on the floor and to the surprise of everyone, including Egloff, the ball went right through the basket. In this half Wilkie played his best basketball and was cheered lustily by the crowd for it was his last game. Stawas, Miller and Ashby were taken out with four fouls apiece and when the game ended Ypsilanti had only four men on the floor. Plymouth won 30-41.

EVENING SCHOOL IN AGRICULTURE AT PLYMOUTH HIGH SCHOOL

All farmers and any others who are interested in agricultural instruction in evening school, please see Mr. Lynch, agricultural instructor, or the superintendent of schools some time before February 10.

If enough people are interested to make a project of this kind worth while, we will plan to have about two meetings each month. The meetings will be held on the second and fourth Wednesday in each month.

Some of the phases of agriculture that will be studied are: testing soil for deficiencies in the various elements and for acidity, testing farm seeds for germination, farm seed identification, testing milk and cream for butterfat content, plant propagation and many other things of value to farmers.

This is your opportunity to study together these things. Mr. Farmer, without cost for tuition, equipment or supplies.

What do you say, Mr. Farmer?

PLYMOUTH BOWS TO RESERVES FROM YPSI

The local lads met the Ypsilanti Reserves in their annual basketball contest, Friday, January 29, in the P. H. S. auditorium. The game was a rough and tumble affair, without an unusual amount of scoring. Because of the football tactics employed, Referee Kazlusky called several fouls on both teams. Smith, left forward of the Rocks, was removed from the game because of four personal fouls.

Although the Plymouth boys were much smaller, the scoring was close and the lead saw-sawed from one team to the other, with neither possessing more than a few points at any time. However, toward the end of the game the visitors' advantage began to tell, and they surged ahead, the game ending in a victory for the visitors, with the final score of 22-14.

DEBATE SOCIETIES CONTINUE HIGH LIFE

The debate team continued its social whirl Monday, February 1, when its coach, Mr. Latture, rewarded the debaters with a chop suey supper. Several weeks ago the coach promised to display his culinary prowess for the ten speakers provided they ended the preliminary series of debates with a perfect record. The win over Ann Arbor high school achieved at Monday's feast, the squad of Jewel Starkweather, Edith Mettetal, Marilyn Holton, Dorothy Hearn, Florence Norton, William Aluia, and Tom Brock invited Miss Fiegel, Miss Licky, and Miss Wells to enjoy Mr. Latture's masterpiece. The supper was made up of the main dish, chop suey and rice, crisp noodles, Vienna bread, cocoa, cookies, and ice cream. This menu was prepared entirely by Mr. Latture, except cook and bottle washer, who constantly starfled the squad with his delicious concoctions. After the mighty feast was over and only the bones were left, the debaters reached the climax of the evening by washing dishes. The entire debate squad wishes to again thank Mr. Latture for the excellent treat.

BAKE SALE GIVEN BY GIRL SCOUTS

Another bake sale is to be given by the Girl Scouts of Troop 1 at Bartlett and Kaiser's store on Saturday, February 6, at 10:00 o'clock. Jean Hamill is general chairman, Lois Schaufele, collector; Belva Barnes, publicity director; Jean Hamill and Phyllis Campbell are sellers of the baked goods. Because of examinations there was no Wednesday night meeting.

Through an error Nancy McLaren's name was omitted from the list of committees for the Girl Scout Tea given in last week's Girl Scout news. She is on the dishes committee of which Mary Jane Olaver is the chairman.

This country will recover, no matter who wins the argument about the gold standard.

ARE STUDENTS GERM CONSCIOUS?—EDITORIAL

How many hands besides yours run lightly up or down the stair banisters, grasp the door knobs, or write with that piece of chalk? Whose fingers formerly held that pencil you found on your study hall desk? Whose "bankie" was that you picked up in the hall this morning? What about that book you borrowed from the library last hour—was it necessary to wet your fingers every time you turned a page?

Strange as it may seem, colds, flu, and other diseases are spread by such thoughtless happenings as these. Naturally no one thinks of illness of any type when he carelessly forgets to observe some health rule he learned in grade school.

When writing an English theme, a formal invitation, outside reading for history class, or any other paper that is unacceptable in pencil, is it necessary for the better operation of the pen to chew the end of it? Certainly this doesn't help the flow of words and why expose yourself to any one of many diseases.

If you are in doubt as to the presence of microbes around you, just read Paul De Kruif's "Microbe Hunters" or "Men Against Death". They certainly will make you germ conscious.

Are you a confirmed believer that if you wear long sleeves it is not necessary to wash your arms? Did you not realize that often something happens and your friends see a high water mark?

Perhaps you are fond of ice cream cones and candy bars. Even if "Dad" has cut down your allowance or you had spent your money for supplies, it does not offer a reasonable excuse for you to relieve Tom of part of his! Perhaps Tom has a cold or something even more serious and yet you deliberately and needlessly expose yourself to an unknown danger!

Several students have been observed carrying unwrapped candy in pockets or purses. Surely students in senior high school know that sanitation excludes actions of this type.

A careful investigation shows that most students who stay at school during the lunch hour do not wash their hands. When one realizes that there are only ten sinks available for use and considers that the first few arriving at the cafeteria get the choice food and the select places, the answer to this failure to observe this health rule is easily explained.

Students, why not think before you act? Let us cooperate and see if we can lessen the absent record of Plymouth high by doing our bit to check the spread of disease.

Character clubs, social organizations, dances, drama, and speech activities in all forms of athletics and special entertainment exist for your enjoyment and your benefit. Use them. Those of you who are athletically minded but forget your studies, wake up and realize that your future depends not wholly upon sports but also upon scholarship. Don't fool yourselves. You know in your secret heart that you want good marks, that you can get them if you will realize the need. Take an inventory of your life and turn on the heat in your studies. Those who dwell on extra-curricular activities but neglect studies and sport are not well developed. Again, go over yourself. Decide wherein you are lacking. Use the facilities and opportunities at your disposal.

The secret is self-analysis. No criticism is as severe as self-criticism, and with it we can uncover common failings and regain our rightful well balanced personalities. All opportunities exist here in Plymouth high. Teachers who are willing to help, social functions, friendly fellow students, extra-curricular activities, all sports, all forms of recreation—all are here for your use. Utilize them and gain a well-rounded personality.

Lions live chiefly in sandy plains and rocky places. They are entirely jungle inhabitants.

Plymouth Again Wins Select Position

EXAMINATION BONERS

Mr. Balden, Junior high school history teacher, found boners aplenty in correcting his examination papers. One boy thought that the first president of the United States was Abraham Lincoln. But funnier still was the answer on a girl's paper. She said that in the Ordinance of 1787, one section of each township was selected for their battles.

Lloyd Trinka and Ferdinand Bodner are quite sure that Washington, D. C. is on the west coast, and Clyde Ernst believes it is in New England. At least that's what their American history examination papers revealed.

The Seniors did not do so well with the Current Events questions either. Some think that Mr. Comstock, or Mr. Brucker is Governor of Michigan, the vice-president of the United States is the speaker of the House, Mussolini and Hitler are premiers of France; England is a Fascist country; and the Appalachian Mountains were facetiously termed the "Application" mountains.

ORLAN SITS AND SHOOT

We don't know what Orlan was trying to do last Friday when he abruptly sat down on the floor and made a basket from THAT position! Perhaps he got confused and thought he was a sit down striker, or maybe he was mixing in a little tumbling and gym work with his basketball. Whatever his motive was, he caused quite a sensation, made the Ypsi boys green with envy, caused Mr. Matheson to smile, and moved the Plymouth score up two more points. Padded basketball floors will probably become the rage now, thanks to Orlan.

GIRLS' TEAMS CREATE INTEREST AT NOON

The girls' basketball tournament is about half finished, which gives us a chance to see which teams are ahead. In the National league Dorothy Barnes and Joyce Shoemaker's teams have not lost a game yet. Looks like keen rivalry between these two.

In the American league Jennie Bassett, Betty Jane Housley and Althea Shoemaker are the captains of the teams that have not lost a game. These noon time games seem to be giving the spectators much enjoyment and causing a lot of bets and wagers as to which team will win.

"I'm Glad I Did It!"

Surely, I might have kept my old fashioned range. I might have put up with all the bother of its many inconveniences. I might even have kept my eyes closed to its out-of-date unattractiveness. But... I didn't. I had read about these new modern gas ranges.

I took advantage of the free trial plan and, without any cost to me, either for rental or installation, I gave it every conceivable test in my own kitchen. I was so impressed with its many advantages, with its positive economy, with its outstanding beauty, that I couldn't resist buying it, especially after I compared notes with some of my friends who have other so-called modern cooking methods.

It actually costs less than 10c a day, and I am paying for it along with my regular gas bill. That's why I repeat... "I'm glad I did it." And, I'd suggest that you, too, call at or phone the Consumers Power Co. There's no reason in the world why your cooking duties can't be made as pleasant and worry-free as mine are.

LUNCHEON DISHES

FOR a most tasty luncheon dish try the following when it is convenient:

Casserole of Noodles and Tuna Fish.

Take two cupfuls of uncooked noodles, one pound can of tuna fish, one-fourth cupful of chopped pimiento, two cupfuls of drained, canned peas, two cupfuls of thin white sauce and buttered crumbs. Cook the noodles until tender in three quarts of boiling water to which one tablespoonful of salt has been added. Drain and place a layer of noodles in the bottom of a buttered baking dish, then a layer of fish, pimiento and peas. Season well and repeat until all the ingredients are used. Pour over the white sauce and top with a thick layer of buttered crumbs. Bake until brown.

Chicken Pie Supreme.

Cut up a cooked chicken and arrange in a large casserole in layers with uncooked rice, add small onions, broken mushrooms and a few peas. Dot each layer with butter, using two layers of chicken. Pour over well-seasoned chicken broth, season well, cover and cook until the rice is done. Uncover and place very small baking powder biscuits over the top or well-browned croutons.

Orange Tapioca.

Take four tablespoonfuls of quick cooking tapioca, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, one and one-third cupfuls of boiling water and cook in a double boiler for 15 minutes, or until the tapioca is transparent, stirring frequently. Add one-half cupful of sugar, and when well mixed a cupful of orange juice and the grated rind of half an orange. Stir until cool. When cool fold in one-half cupful of whipped cream. Pile in sherbet glasses and serve.

Spanish Sandwich.

Chop enough green pepper and onion to make two tablespoonfuls each. Cook until a light brown, in one tablespoonful of butter. Add a cupful of thick tomato pulp and simmer five minutes. Stir in one cupful of soft grated cheese, one-half teaspoonful of salt, a few dashes of paprika and one well-beaten egg. Cook just a moment and serve spread on finely buttered toast—cover with another slice.

THE HINDU RICE MYSTERY

HERE is a trick in which the magician duplicates one of the celebrated mysteries of the Hindu fakirs. A small bowl, a bag of rice and a table knife are the items used. The magician fills the bowl with rice. He takes the knife, thrusts its blade deep into the rice grains; then raises the knife by the handle. In uncanny fashion, the bowl of rice comes up with the knife blade and remains suspended until the magician grips the bowl with his left hand and removes the knife with his right. The whole secret lies in the shape of the bowl. It must be of a type which bulges at the sides with a narrow mouth. In this type of bowl, the knife forces rice to the sides and the tight grains cause sufficient pressure to raise bowl and all when the knife is lifted.

Ray Norton, will conclude the program. One-half of the proceeds of

WE HAVE THE CREAM OF USED CAR VALUES

But we're selling them at SKIMMED-MILK PRICES

The 1937 "swing to Ford" has brought the cream of the used car values to our used car displays—but even cream will "freeze" in cold weather. We don't want "frozen" used car assets on our hands until spring. We don't want to pay the cost of carrying them through the winter.

No, Sir!
We'd rather sell them now at lower prices and get liquid "cream" into our bank accounts.

SO—
We've brought used car prices down to the year's lowest levels! We're willing to pay you to buy now. We're offering our finest used cars, all makes and models, all better buys, renewed and guaranteed—at prices which represent a real winter bonus to smart used car buyers.

Prices reduced as much as $50.

Why put up with trouble, inconvenience and expense on your present car all winter? Why drive an increasingly inefficient car until it's lost its trade-in value?

WHY THROW AWAY THE USED CAR OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME?

Come in today. See the cars we're offering—see the price tags. Then drive away in a real bargain! Don't forget—Ford Dealers, and Ford Dealers only, offer R & G guarantee:—Your money back if you're not absolutely satisfied.

MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

ONLY FORD DEALERS OFFER R & G VALUES

The only place you can buy a genuine R & G used car is at a Ford Dealer's. R & G means "renewed and guaranteed." Every R & G car is in splendid condition, and with the written Money-Back Guarantee over the dealer's signature, you can get back every penny you paid for it if you decide, within a reasonable period, that it isn't absolutely satisfactory. This is an extra value which costs you nothing. When you buy your used car, why not play safe? Go to a Ford Dealer's and invest your money in guaranteed value.

SHOP IN COMFORT AT YOUR FORD DEALER'S

Most Ford Dealers offer their truly outstanding used car bargains in undercover display space. Battery, water, gasoline, and everything else needed are in the car to enable you to try it out the minute you see it.

A Rocker
In the California gold rush some miners obtained the precious metal by digging the earth, placing it in a tin pan, pouring on water and then shaking the pan so as to throw out the muddy water and leave the gold particles. Another method was to use a box mounted on rockers, called a "rocker".
Evidence of the character of our service can be gained from the approbation voiced by our clients.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST Scientist—Sunday morning service, 10:30. Sunday school at 10:30. Pupils received up to the age of twenty years. Wednesday evening testimony service, 8:00.

"Spirit" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, February 7. Among the Bible citations is the following: (Phil. 3: 13, 14): "Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended; but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following: 254: "Imperfect mortals grasp the ultimate of spiritual perfection slowly; but to begin aright and to continue the strife of demonstrating the great problem of being, is doing much."

ST. PETER'S EV. LUTHERAN church, Edgar Hoenecke, pastor. The season of Lent begins with Ash Wednesday, February 10. The congregation will gather on that evening at 7:30 to celebrate the Lord's Supper. The announcements for the same are to be made Friday afternoon, February 5, at the parsonage. Mid-week Lenten Vespers will be held every Wednesday during Lent at 7:30 p.m. A special feature of the Easter celebration will be the concert of the Northwestern Male Chorus of 42 voices, at 6:00 a.m. A special offering will be raised to defray the traveling expenses of the chorus. Breakfast will be served for the chorus immediately after the concert. The staid offering for food relief will be continued next Sunday. To date, the congregation raised and remitted $165.56 to the Red Cross chapter. The Sunday school raised over $11.00 of this amount.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH—Richard W. Nease, pastor. (Greetings) You are always welcome! Calvary, a friendly Bible church, where Christ is preached. This Sunday is being observed as "Moody Day"; climax to one year's centenary celebrations looking back to the birth and life of D. L. Moody. America's foremost spiritual leader of the last century. Most representative of Mr. Moody's many institutions is the great school, named after his death in his honor, The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. A sermon on their pastor's course, Leroy Johnson will return for these week-end services. Meetings on Sunday are at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Sunday school convenes at 11:30 a.m. Sermon subjects are: D. V. "Why God Used D. Moody" and "Moody's Favorite Text". Much valuable material for the former topic has been gleaned by your pastor from Dr. Moore's gem of that same title. Many of the young people will assist in Sunday's gatherings, including Leroy Johnson and Arvid Fucden. Moody's life story will be told by Alice Postiff during the evening service. Tonight there is a Friendship Prayer meeting for your pastor which the young people ask me to announce. Knowing the power and authority of His people's prayers your pastor offers sincere thanksgiving to God for such intercession. Mrs. Ella Kainz is the leader. Grateful for memories of happy fellowship; confident of His blessing for the future, we commit each friend to the Lord of God's grace which is able to build you up. Your prayer meetings will continue in greater earnestness as together we seek the mind of God in the selection of a new pastor. Pray especially for the official board as they exercise the power and authority of His people. Great times of blessing lie ahead. Let's insure them on our knees. The Young People's Fellowship will continue its Friday meetings. All are welcome. This week's speaker, Arvid Fucden, has chosen to answer the question, "Can I Fail Alone?" Arvid is one of several planning to enter school for Christian training. He expects to enroll at Moody next fall. What five words carry greater import for the Christian than God's promise to His child, "I will be FILLED WITH THE SPIRIT"? If you are defeated or discouraged remember that Christ is able "to save to the uttermost". Anxiety is the end of faith; true faith is the end of anxiety. There is victory for you! God has no failures. Meet His conditions of faith and obedience to His Word, His Son, and His Spirit. Our farewell text and passport of faith is second Corinthians 9: 8. Yours in His grace, R. W. N.
