Governor Back, Starts Cutting Off Heads

Faithful Must Have Jobs, So He Is Preparing The Way

(By Elton R. Eaton)

LANSING—Some of the newspapers around the state said that when Governor Murphy returned to Lansing last week for a day or so that it was to prod the legislature to action. Possibly that was just a surmise as to what he really should do. But what Michigan's ruling Governor did who has spent less time on the job so far than any other Michigan governor ever had was only to cut off some heads so that a number of the boys who had gone to bat last fall to help put Murphy across as governor might have some good state jobs.

This is not surprising. It's just what happened. The chief of the liquor board was the first to go. That opens up a regular army of jobs for the faithful. Next the axe fell over in the public utilities commission, and there's another big bunch of jobs for the boys. So goes the story for most of the governor's waking hours in Lansing last week. However, he is doing nothing different than did Governor Fitzgerald, who gave his friends jobs right after his election.

True, he did call in a few of the legislative leaders to discuss some of the measures before the legislature. It is said one was the civil service bill that some of the majority party members thoroughly detest. One declared the other day that it was merely a snare and a delusion. How any such ideal measure could be regarded as anything like that is difficult to understand. But there are a sufficient number of Republican and Democratic votes in the house to pass it.

There is an interesting side-light on the appointments being made by Governor Murphy that most Democrats talk about in low breath. It seems that his majority appointments are Murphy appointments and not Democratic party appointments. That is, most all important jobs have so far gone to personal friends and supporters of the governor, whether they have been long in the ranks of Democracy doesn't seem to make much difference. A lot of the old faithful followers believe that to those who carried the brunt of the fight back in the days when there wasn't much to fight for, should now be given first place consideration. But that doesn't seem to be the rule exactly.

Seven weeks ago, going on eight, the legislative wheel at Lansing has been going round and round and it has yet to click one accomplishment for the general benefit of all the people of Michigan. Old times recall but one similar condition in the history of the state and that was the year Fred Green became governor. Mr. Green, upon taking office, removed immediately all department heads who knew anything about state affairs and put in leadership in the legislature those who had never had previous legislative experience.

However, the Green administration finally did get down to business much sooner than has the present Murphy administration. Even when Governor Murphy returned to Lansing last week after spending several days in New York and Washington where he had gone to attend banquets there was no more activity than has characterized previous sessions. Chairman Clyde Stout of the ways and means committee is making an effort to get some action started. Representative Stout hails from Ionia county. He is one of the outstanding Democrats in the legislature and ranks high as one of the leaders of the party in the state.

Some newer Democratic members of the house have, ever since the session started, been trying to figure out some way to get more money for themselves. They have voted each member a $6 a day expense account. It was held up because of a ruling from the attorney general who said the constitution prohibited it. During the past few days two Democratic members from the upper peninsula have introduced a resolution asking that the state pay members who are required to visit state institutions 10 cents per mile for their traveling expenses. If a member visited some upper peninsula institution the state would pay him anywhere from $50 to $100 for the trip.

Finds Stolen Car In Chicago

The Plymouth police department has received a letter from the Chicago police advising local officers that they had found the sedan belonging to Arthur E. Baker, that was stolen from this city on February 14, in Chicago. The car had been stripped of everything that could be taken off. Mr. Baker left for Chicago Tuesday to fix his car up so that it could be driven home.

Boy Scout Court Of Honor Held For District

Awards Are Made For Distinctive Service In Scout Work

On the evening of February 18, the Wayne County Training school was host to the Scouts of the Plymouth district. The occasion was the mid-year Court of Honor. There were present about 200 Cubs, Scouts and leaders and as many more friends and relatives. Among the guests was the newly organized Troop P-4 of Girl Scouts from Rosedale Gardens. These girls must have brought good luck with them for the Rosedale Boy Scouts because RG-1 ran off with the attendance banner given for having present the largest number of supporting friends. Six boys were honored for faithful service, three from P-4 and two from P-3 receiving the 100 percent duty pin for one year—and one from P-3 for three years. Two Scout leaders also were admitted to the Veteran association—Donald Moore, A. S. M. of P-3, and Harold White of N-1, for five years of Scout membership. Two others—the Hodsons, father and son, from Rosedale Gardens were advanced from five year to ten year membership in the association. A great amount of credit and honor is due these men for their continued interest in this boy program.

The high points of interest at the Court, of course, were the awards given the Scouts themselves for their work in the advancement program. From Cubs to Scoutmasters, 153 certificates or badges were presented. This is a larger number than has been given at a Court for some time. The Training school troops evidently had been busiest, for Troop N-2 won the Charles Murphy cup for the most advancement points.

The district, as on many occasions before, is much indebted to Lewis Evans and the Plymouth high school band for the concert played at the beginning of the Court. And the printed programs were still correct in listing "Assembly" as being sounded by a Scout bugler, for in the absence of the regular bugler, sick at home, Mr. Evans, a committee-

Nearby Clubs Will Be Guests

The highlights of Washington and Lincoln were given for Patriotic day at the Plymouth Woman's club, Friday, February 19 by Harry C. Heffner of Detroit. Mr. Heffner is with the Redpath chautauqua and connected with the town hall series in Detroit. He spoke in a very pleasing manner of these two colossal figures in American history, giving the humorous side of each character, as well as the serious side. Mr. Heffner closed his speech with these remarks: "No one could say which is greater, Washington or Lincoln." They were both great, each in his own way.

The high school brass ensemble gave an arrangement of four numbers under the direction of Lewis Evans.

March 5 is "Anniversary Day" and the club will have as its special guests, Northville Woman's club, Wayne Arche club, Wayne Ladies' Literary club, Redford Child Study club, and Redford Woman's club. Mrs. George A. Smith is chairman and there will be a birthday tea. Dr. A. Lee Vincent of Merrill Palmer school will be the speaker.

The Wayne Arche club has sent an invitation to the Woman's club of Plymouth to be its guest, Friday, February 26 at 2:00 p.m. in the Methodist church parlors in Wayne. All members wishing to go should telephone Mrs. Seth Virgo, chairman of the transportation committee.

Fire Destroys The D & C Store

Schrader Block Ruined Early Thursday

Bartlett & Kaiser And First National Suffer From Smoke

Flames which were discovered shortly after 10:00 o'clock Thursday forenoon in the basement of the D & C store on Penniman avenue, occupying the two story brick block belonging to Fred D. Schrader, completely ruined the store and damaged the building to the extent that it will probably have to be almost entirely rebuilt, except a portion of some of the walls. Smoke drove employees of the First National bank from the building and for fear the fire would spread to the bank building, records were carried across the street and placed in nearby stores for safe keeping.

The Bartlett & Kaiser grocery and meat market adjoining the Schrader block to the east, was damaged to a considerable extent by smoke. Its cash register and records were carried out of the building.

Smoke coming from the basement of the D & C store was detected by some of the clerks. Upon investigation they found the west side of the basement full of smoke.

Flames almost immediately burst out and in the brief few minutes that elapsed before the arrival of the fire department, the entire store seemingly burst into flames.

Great clouds of smoke rolled out of the front doors. In fact, the smoke was so dense for a time that it was practically impossible for traffic to move along Main street, the wind carrying the smoke down Penniman avenue to the corner in one solid cloud.

Commissioner Ruth Huston Whipple called the Northville and Detroit House of Correction fire departments to assist in fighting the flames, City Manager Elliott being in Detroit when the flames broke out. The Northville department arrived in less than 15 minutes from the time it was called and the fire fighters from the nearby community, who have battled shoulder to shoulder with the Plymouth department in more than one blaze in this locality, fought with the local department to prevent spread of the flames.

A few minutes after the arrival of the Northville department came the Detroit House of Correction fire fighters and they too, joined in the fight to stop the flames. Seemingly, these three departments have for years fought disastrous fires together.

Clair Maben of the Mayflower hotel brought big buckets of hot coffee to the fire fighters and served it to them as they battled the flames.

Lester DeWitt, manager of the store, is confined to a hospital following an operation. It is stated that customers who were in the place nearly an hour before the fire was discovered said they smelled smoke.

Just how great the loss will be, no one can tell. The stock of goods in the store is completely ruined. Not until after the refuse has been cleared away will it be known how extensive is the damage to the Schrader block, but it will run into the thousands of dollars, as the entire interior of the building appears to be almost gutted.

Bartlett & Kaiser will be the next heaviest losers as the result of the terrific smoke.

The good work of the fire department was somewhat handicapped by low water pressure.

Frederick W. Samsen Former Editor Of The Plymouth Mail, Dies

Had Spent Entire Lifetime in Printing And Newspaper Work — Funeral Held Sunday From The Residence

Frederick W. Samsen, for considerably more than a quarter of a century, editor and publisher of The Plymouth Mail, and one of the real builders of a little country town that has developed into one of the most progressive smaller cities in Michigan, died at his home, 1062 Church street, Plymouth, last Friday morning after an illness that had confined him to his bed for three weeks. He had been in ill health for more than three years, having suffered a stroke of apoplexy that made it difficult for him to get about. He always loved to walk and as soon as he was able to get about after his first serious illness, he walked just as much as his strength would permit. It was this habit that doctors say kept him in fairly good physical condition almost to the end of a life that lacked but a few days of covering a span of 82 years.

Mr. Samsen was born in Toledo, Ohio, on the 31st day of March, 1855. His father and his grandfather had come to America from Germany in 1825. They bought a tract of land on the east side of the Maumee river, 12 miles from the court house in Toledo. The grandfather and father of Mr. Samsen cleared the wooded land and became among the early pioneer farmers of Ohio. A few years after the farm had been cleared Mr. Samsen's father moved into Toledo where the former publisher of The Plymouth

Mail was born. The father became one of the early well known building contractors of Toledo. In 1881 he transferred his building activities to Denver which was just at that time experiencing a tremendous growth due to mining development.

After having attended the grade schools in Toledo, F. W. Samsen, the son, entered the office of The Toledo Commercial where he started to learn the printing business. A little later he went to the office of the Toledo Blade and in 1878 he moved to Adrian where he had charge of the old Adrian Journal.

The next year he went to Blissfield with C. T. Hamblin and started the Blissfield Advance, today, one of the best weekly newspapers in Leenawee county. It was six years later when Mr. Samsen bought out the interests of his partner and conducted the paper alone for a number of years. After he sold The Blissfield Advance, he owned The Tecumseh News, later selling that to purchase a job printing office in Saginaw. For a time he edited and published a wholesale grocery paper known as The Store Keeper.

After selling his plant in Saginaw he came to Plymouth in 1899 and purchased The Plymouth Mail from Myles F. Gray and for over 30 years published and edited The Mail. During the later years of his ownership, his

Delay Starvation Edict

No, the time has not yet arrived to begin starving the elderly men and women on state pensions who refuse to deed their property over to the state, it now appears.

With a burst of speed, seldom if ever before witnessed, the old age pensions long overdue, were delivered in this locality last week. Not one thing was said to the old people about the checks being cut off again if they did not sign over their property. The old folks were smiling when The Plymouth Mail reporter called to see them a few days ago. It was the first time smiles had gleamed across their faces in months and months. They reported that the welfare boys smiled too when they brought the checks out this time. Never before had they ever seen them smile. It was such a change from the cold, Lordling spirit displayed in the past.

There came too, more ripe California grapefruit, more California prunes and more California English walnuts. So different than the green grapefruit and the filthy prunes they were given at Christmas time for their holiday goodies.

Truly, there has been a shower of blessings on the old folks during the past few days.

Why, not even a word was said about them giving up their homes.

But look out!

There is not the slightest semblance of sympathy for the unfortunate and aged under the new extravagant, wasteful and probably MOST INEFFICIENT department of the state government that ever functioned.

Despair must be clutching at the heart strings in a terrifying way when an old man, nigh unto 80 years of age, is unable to prevent tears from streaming down his face as he talks to a comparative stranger about the constant threat hanging over his head, that if he does not deed his home over to the state he will receive no more welfare aid. Very old people seldom give way to tears, especially old men. A long life of hardships, of disappointments and sorrows seemingly steals them against it.

So when you see the cheeks of one, bent low with age, wet with tears and you hear his voice choked with sobs as he pleads for aid from somewhere, he knows not where, to help him save for himself and his mate of more than half a century, the roof that shelters them from the elements, you cannot help but turn away with a feeling of bitterness against those responsible for bringing such terrifying grief into the lives of very, very old people.

It was into another home of an elderly and respected couple of Plymouth that the writer was called a few days ago. They too, had been told that they would be cut off from aid if they did not sign over their home to the state. They were cut off for a time and it was during these dark and dreary days when they were deprived of food and fuel by the new fangled system of welfare that the future looked so terrifying to them. They said they had been warned that it would come—that starvation was to be their lot if they didn't give up the home that they had labored over half a century to pay for.

It was the old gentleman, well known to nearly all of the older residents of Plymouth, who told the brutal story of welfare treatment. There was no bitterness in his heart, but there was desperation in his voice as he sobbed out his plight against those who sought to take his home away from him.

"We have always worked hard. We have paid taxes and every penny we could save, we put into this home. Now they want it. Who will they give it to and what will they do with it when we give it to them? Why don't they just keep it!" sobbed the old man.

A kind neighbor just then brought over to the elderly people a loaf of bread she had baked.

Years and years ago he worked on a farm over near Northville. Then he came to Plymouth and worked in the greenhouses. Old age crept on. Two or three years ago he suffered a stroke of apoplexy. Then another—and he couldn't work any more. His aged wife found it almost impossible to do her own housework. Then they found it necessary to appeal for public aid—and what a story of misery it has been for them since that fatal day.

These new day welfare workers have seemingly delighted in "Lording" it over the old people. Humiliation, threats and ill-treatment has been their lot, say these old people. It is the same story you hear from every aged person who has been forced to go to any of these new fangled outfits for assistance.

And this is one of the reasons why The Plymouth Mail believes that the new welfare system is one of the most obnoxious systems of government service ever conceived. It should be abolished as quickly as possible and some system, old or new, developed whereby there can be a little sympathetic consideration as well as common sense used in its administration.

Sends Her Father Pictures of Flood

William Laskey of Penniman avenue has just received some kodak pictures taken by his daughter, Mrs. Marcella Wolf, of the flood around Memphis, Tennessee, where she resides. The pictures showed the Wolf home surrounded by water, although it did not reach up to the first floor of the home. Other views around Memphis showed clearly how bad the flood was along the Mississippi a few weeks ago.

Home Destroyed By Flames

The home of Donald Bovee, who lives on Stark street in Robinson subdivision, was completely destroyed by fire Monday morning. Mr. Bovee smelled smoke and upon investigation found a basket of paper blazing in the basement. The flames had reached to the ceiling of the basement and the floor had caught fire. He tried to extinguish the fire and then called the Plymouth fire department but by the time the department arrived at the place, flames had made so much headway that the house could not be saved. It was a total loss and there is only $1000 insurance on the house and no insurance on the furniture, only a very few pieces being saved.

Live Buffalo To Be Party Prize

Shriners and their wives were hosts to friends at a dinner dance at the Mayflower hotel last Thursday evening. Installation of officers was scheduled for the evening but because of a conflict in dates with those of Moslem officers in Detroit, it will not be held until early in April.

There was a particularly good attendance of local Shriners and their friends and the party was one of the most enjoyable of the season. President Fred D. Schrader announced that at the party to be held the early part of April many gifts are to be given away, among them a buffalo from his ranch. It is reported by the Shrine entertainment committee that demands have been great already and that several are already making plans on how they will keep the buffalo if they should bring it home.

Legion To Meet Monday Eve

Harold Anderson, commander of the American Legion post, has announced that the next regular meeting of the organization will be held Monday evening, March 1. He states that there are several matters coming up of especial interest to the post and he urges a good attendance. Among the events being planned for the remainder of the winter and spring are the weekly dances as well as a big St. Patrick's party on March 17.

North Siders Elect Officers

Election of officers of the Northside Business Men's association was held February 22, and the following officers were elected for the year of 1937:

President, William Rose; vice-president, William Choffin; secretary and treasurer, Leonard Millross.

The members have named the organization Plymouth Civic association instead of the temporary adopted name which was the Northside Business Men's association.

Meetings will be held on the second and fourth Mondays of each month at 8:30 p.m. All are welcome.

Local Store Manager Undergoes Operation

Lester DeWitt, manager of the local D. & C. store is convalescing from a major operation performed at a Detroit hospital on Monday of last week.

Several of the store employees accompanied Mrs. DeWitt to Detroit Sunday and spent the afternoon visiting Mr. DeWitt, who is expected to return home Tuesday.

Sit-Downers Still Holding Daisy Plant

Plymouth Mail Presents Signed Statements by Representatives Of All Parties In Conflict Pertaining To Developments

It had been hoped by The Plymouth Mail to be able to tell its readers this week that the sit-down strike, called at the plant of the Daisy Manufacturing company by a number of its employees, had been settled. But that is not the case. Therefore, so the readers of The Mail may have an exact knowledge of the situation, statements have been secured from the committee representing the strikers and an official of the Daisy company. The same course was pursued last week and Chairman Odene Hitt, as well as the Daisy company, placed full approval upon the article that was presented to the readers of this paper.

Differences at the plant of the Plymouth Felt Products company were compromised at a meeting of the employees with the officials of the company Sunday and there has been no loss of production at this plant.

STATEMENT BY STRIKERS

"We believe the people of Plymouth by this time realize our stand and the fairness of our demands.

"All statements brought to your attention in written form by us up to this time have been true facts at the time they were printed.

"We have decided our course and will stick to it.

"Daisy Employees

"Chairman, Odene Hitt

"We wish to thank those who have contributed to our welfare in any way."

STATEMENT BY CITY OFFICIALS

"At the suggestion of many interested citizens, the city administration attempted to reconcile the employes and employers of the Daisy Manufacturing company. The mayor and city manager invited both parties to a meeting in the city hall at 8:00 p.m., last Saturday. A proposed agreement was drawn by both parties but on Sunday, at another meeting, this was rejected. A counter plan was sought but refused by one of the parties.

"There has been no intention on the part of the city to interfere in any way or to favor either side in the controversy. It was for the general welfare of our community that your officials were prompted to act.

"Our chief function has been to insist that peace and order were maintained. There has been absolutely no violence during this labor dispute and we are confident that there will be none.

"Our services are offered to both parties to reach a temporary settlement. However, we have no desire to enter any conference to negotiate the terms of settlement.

Did You Know That

Betty Jean Curtis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Curtis, who was badly injured in an automobile accident some months ago, has had the cast removed from one leg that was fractured in three places. Physicians state that the leg is perfect in every way and that she will not limp when able to use it.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Shaw and baby, Clarence, Thomas Warner and two children, of Detroit were dinner guests Sunday, of Mr. and Mrs. James Riley, at their home on Karmada avenue.

The P. T. A. of Central school will be held Tuesday evening, March 2. A very interesting program has been planned and it is hoped a large number will be present. Mrs. William McAllister and Mrs. Maxwell Moon will sing two numbers accompanied by Mrs. Goodwin Crumble; Miss Neva Lovewell will give a book review of "Gone With the Wind"; and Dorothy Erleben of Wyandotte, a former teacher of the Plymouth schools, will tell about her recent trip to Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. William Franks of Detroit, were dinner guests, Sunday, of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Vealy, at their home on West Ann Arbor trail.

The dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rathburn and Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Partridge, Monday evening, at the home of the former on East Ann Arbor trail, for the members of their bridge club, was very lovely. The table decorations were in keeping with George Washington's birthday, red, white and blue, making it very attractive. Tallies and the wrappings on prizes also carried out the same idea. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Reck, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Draper, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur White, Mr. and Mrs. William Kaiser, Mr. and Mrs. Wyman Bartlett and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Steyer.

STATEMENT BY DAISY PRESIDENT

"There is not much that can now be said by The Daisy management. We offered, from the first, to place all the strikers back to work pending an arbitration of the demands that were made after the strike had been called.

"We agreed further, at a conference held last Saturday at the city hall, that the pay raise that should be decided upon after the return of Mr. Hough and Mr. Conner would be made retroactive. That is, the workers would get their regular pay during the discussion of the settlement, and then they would be paid an additional amount covering the raise agreed upon from the date they returned to work, which we had fixed as last Tuesday, February 23.

"I signed this agreement at the city hall and I further pledged that the conference to settle upon the amount of the wage raise, would be held not later than March 15, as I am sure that both Mr. Hough and Mr. Conner will be back before that time.

"But this offer was rejected by the Detroit bosses, brought out here to speak for our Plymouth workers. In view of the rejection of the plan to meet with our own employes and settle the matter of the amount of the wage raise, I cannot see where there is anything more that The Daisy company can do. We urged our men to keep working from the first, but apparently some of them wanted to strike. Now all of the men are out of work and that is where the matter stands.

Barber Prices Go Up Monday

Plymouth barber shops today announced a raise of prices, effective Monday, March 1. There are now nine barber shops in the city and all have agreed to the raise. Barber prices in Plymouth have been exceedingly low and the local barbers feel that in view of general conditions, they must raise their prices at this time in order to keep their shops open.

Townsend Club To Meet Monday Eve

There will be a meeting of the Townsend club Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the Grange hall. It is urged that every member be present.

1855 - Frederick W. Samsen - 1937

The career of Frederick W. Samsen, for more than thirty years editor and publisher of The Plymouth Mail, has come to a close. As one turns over the last page of such a useful and splendid life as he lived, it is indeed with a feeling of pride in having known such a good citizen and a newspaper editor of the old school whose ideals were of the highest. He had lived more than his three score and ten but not a minute of that long beneficial and helpful life was wasted.

He loved Plymouth and he loved the printing art. As advancing years approached and he realized that possibly the time had come for him to give up such an active career as demanded of one operating a newspaper, he could not refrain from coming almost daily to The Mail office and doing some of the little things that gave him so much happiness.

Then illness overtook him, but when he was able to again walk from his residence, he came to the new plant of The Plymouth Mail and he would sit for an hour or so in the press room watching the automatic presses as they produced printed material at high speeds.

It was barely three weeks before he died that he came to The Mail office early one forenoon. Feebly he walked through the office to the composing room. He watched the linotypes operate. He sat for a few minutes near where the leaded lines of type were being produced. Then he arose and walked back among the presses, waving his hand in greeting to the men employed in the plant. It was with a look of pride as he glanced over the busy room.

Then feebly he walked back to the office where he sat down for a few minutes. He insisted on walking to his home.

It was his last visit to the newspaper office in which he had spent so many useful years to the community and to its residents.

Maybe the reluctance he displayed as he left the office was his own knowledge that the visit to the newspaper he had conducted so successfully was going to be his last, for that afternoon he went to bed never to leave his home again.

He was a splendid type of citizen. Quiet in his way, not at all talkative to those he did not know well, he gave his entire time and attention to just one thing, that was his newspaper. Everyone admired and respected him.

It is a worthy career that has ended and Plymouth will forever be proud of the fact that he was one of the outstanding citizens of the community. We often wonder if the oncoming generation will produce many leaders of his type and of his ideals.

"DO AS THE ROMANS DO."

William Klamsner, able editor of The Dearborn Press, believes that the editor of The Plymouth Mail, who happens to be a member of the state legislature from this district, should while serving in Lansing, "do as the Romans do."

While it might give a temporary shock to those who believe that this rule should be followed, let it be made clear NOW that the representative from this district, while in Lansing, will "do as the Romans do" only on matters that are for the best interests of ALL the people—and that word "ALL" includes the man who foots the tax bill.

But we will NOT "do as the Romans do" when it comes to gouging the public out of every cent the traffic will bear. For over ten years the people of Michigan have been literally tied to a post and their pockets picked by tax collectors on every pretext under the sun.

Many public officials, who at no time in their lives ever paid a cent towards the support of the government that supports them, believe that a public job is their one golden opportunity to fill their own pockets with tax-paid dollars, no matter HOW much the taxpayer must sacrifice in order to pay his tax ransom.

Does any one, for one minute think that the people of this state can support a hundred-million-dollar per year administration without experiencing actual suffering in their effort to do so?

One hundred million dollars! Try and comprehend the vast amount involved in that tax bill they want you to pay this year and next year!

The editor of The Plymouth Mail knows something about the problems of the fellow who works for a living—the kind of a worker who has felt that it is a sort of a patriotism to pay taxes—the kind of a worker who has believed and still believes that the opportunity to pay taxes to a government of free and loyal people is a real privilege. A good share of the life-time of the writer has been spent in the employment of others, so just naturally, we cannot help but reflect the viewpoint of the CLASS from which we came and to which we still belong.

You say we should have a substitute to offer?

Don't you think, Editor Klamsner, that if the tax grabber took his hands out of the pockets of the taxpayer and would leave for the men and women of this state a little with which to support themselves, that that would be a long step in the right direction?

Don't you think that if we eliminated about one-half of the public payroll leeches we are now supporting in a luxury they never knew before, that that would help too?

Don't you think that if the state of Michigan would terminate AT ONCE the support through welfare of something like 200,000 ALIENS who have no business in this commonwealth, it would be a whole lot easier to properly provide for our own who are in distress?

The time has come to turn the tide towards economy in government, towards law and order, towards a respect for the rights of property owners and give government support to those who desire to provide employment to those who want to work.

Yes, Editor Klamsner, we will "do as the Romans do" when it comes to these things, but we will NOT "do as the Romans do" when it comes to turning the tax-paying class of Michiganders into the pauper class for the benefit of office-holding politicians!

AN EDITORIAL BY GEORGE WASHINGTON.

My first wish is to see war, this plague to mankind, banished from off the earth.

Of all the animosities which have existed among mankind, those which are caused by difference of sentiments in religion appear to me the most inveterate and distressing and ought to be deprecated. I was in hopes that the enlightened and liberal policy which has marked the present age would at least have reconciled Christians of every denomination so far that we should never again see their religious disputes carried to such a pitch as to endanger the peace of society.

It has always been a source of serious reflection and sincere regret to me that the youth of the United States should be sent to foreign countries for the purpose of education. I have greatly wished to see a plan adopted by which the arts, sciences and belles lettres could be taught to their fullest extent here, with the means of acquiring the liberal knowledge necessary to qualify our citizens for the exigencies of public as well as private life.

The more I am acquainted with agricultural affairs, the better pleased I am with them. I am led to reflect how much more delightful to an undebauched mind is the task of making improvements on the earth, than in the vain glory which can be acquired from ravaging it by a career of conquests.

This government, the offspring of our own choice, uninfluenced and unawed, adopted upon full investigation and mature deliberation, completely free in its principles, in the distribution of its powers, uniting security with energy, and containing within itself a provision for its own amendment, has a just claim to your confidence and your support.

Towards the preservation of your government and the permanency of your present happy state, it is requisite, not only that you discountenance oppositions to its acknowledged authority, but also that you resist with care the spirit of innovation upon its principles, however specious the pretences.

It is our true policy to steer clear of permanent alliances with any portion of the foreign world; so far, I mean, as we are at liberty to do it; for let me not be understood as capable of patronizing infidelity to existing engagements. I hold the maxim no less applicable to public than to private affairs, that honesty is always the best policy.

Harmony and a liberal intercourse with all nations are recommended by policy, humanity and interest. But even our commercial policy should hold an impartial hand, neither seeking nor granting exclusive favors or preferences, consulting the natural course of things, diffusing and diversifying, by gentle means, the streams of commerce, but forcing nothing.

Of all the dispositions and habits which lead to political prosperity, religion and morality are indispensable supports. . . . It is substantially true that virtue or morality is a necessary spring of popular government. The rule, indeed, extends with more or less force to every species of free government.

Promote then as an object of primary importance institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge. In proportion as the structure of a government gives force to public opinion, it is essential that public opinion should be enlightened.

As a very important source of strength and security, cherish public credit. One method of preserving it is to use it as sparingly as possible, avoiding occasions of expense by cultivating peace, but remembering also that timely disbursements to prepare for danger frequently prevent much greater disbursements to repel it.

Observe good faith and justice towards all nations; cultivate peace and harmony with all; religion and morality enjoin this conduct; and can it be that good policy does not equally enjoin it? It will be worthy of a free, enlightened and, at no distant period, a great nation, to give to mankind the magnanimous and too novel example of a people always guided by an exalted justice and benevolence.

RAMBLING with Editors AROUND of Michigan

THE NRA FOR MICHIGAN

A revival of many of the things contained in the federal National Recovery Act is proposed in a bill introduced in the legislature. From what we can gather from the act it merely sets up another bureau of government snoopers, more expense to be loaded on the public and is just as unworkable as the national act was when taken as a whole.

No matter how laudable the objectives, we have serious doubts as to whether such an act can do any good in the long run. It is the old problem of changing human nature by regulation. No one knows as yet whether the act will get anywhere or have administration backing. It may be just another wild flash in the pan. But its introduction and the threat it holds for business needs attention. It should have a careful study on the part of every business man.

Small business suffered great impairment under the old NRA in spite of its unconstitutionality. The good it did was more than offset by its bad features. If this act goes on the books as it is drawn it will be fairly easy to predict the death knell for small enterprises. It is a good time now to organize opposition BEFORE the act gets serious consideration.—Phil T. Rich in The Midland Republican.

LABORING AND LOAFING.

How many hours a day should people work in shops, factories and stores? President Roosevelt recently indicated that excessive hours of labor should be eliminated. His message to congress suggests that he will probably advocate some statute taking the place of the NRA.

The older people can recall when the ordinary workshop drilled its men and women for 10 hours a day. They will say people were well and happy in those times. Yet it was too long a day, and it tended to wear the worker out before his time. Some cautious people thought all industry would be upset when the eight hour day became the usual rule.

While some men don't know how to use leisure to their own advantage or that of the public, on the whole the shorter hours promote the general welfare. Now the 40 hour week has become common, though in many occupations people work considerably more. Many think a 30 hour week would solve the unemployment problem. In former days people said the way to work out of a depression was for everybody to work harder. Today they say, the way to make good times, is to work less. Somehow the idea doesn't seem to fit.

It is claimed machinery has so speeded up production that the country can turn out all the products it needs in 30 hours per week. One fears the cost of production would be so increased if people worked only 30 hours, that prices would rise, and the people's ability to buy would be curtailed. There is still much work to be done, if all the vast range of modern wants is to be supplied. Man was made primarily to labor, rather than loaf.—R. J. Jefferies in The Lowell Ledger.

SMOKED OUT AT LAST—BY HIMSELF.

This newspaper cannot be charged with political bias, for it is not, of itself, interested in politics for what it can get out of it. It never has been and never will be. Let that be clearly understood.

Fire At Salem Destroys Block

(Omitted from last issue.)

An early morning fire at Salem completely destroyed the Adams business block occupied by the Blades restaurant and the Makin grocery. Fire broke out in the basement at 4 a.m. on Tuesday morning and both tenants, who also had living quarters in the building, were aroused by the barking of a dog and were barely able to escape the building because of the rapid spread of the flames. The dog perished after saving the lives of those in the building.

Plymouth, Northville, South Lyons and the Salem fire departments answered the call and only because of quick work on their parts were they able to save the adjoining Herrick building.

Wednesday noon, the business men of Salem, under the leadership of Oliver Goldsmith, held a benefit dinner for the two families who were stricken by the fire. Proceeds were given to them to help tide them over for the next few days.

Unable to obtain their regular printing stock, southern newspapers were published on wallpaper for a time during the Civil War.

to support the candidacy of Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1932; this support was accorded even prior to his nomination that year at Chicago.

But when his series of centralization and federalization laws were proposed, and enacted in 1933, our ardor cooled. It became frigid with the enactment of the NRA, AAA, Tennessee Valley, gold-devaluation, hog and cattle killing, and other unsound economic measures. We do not think that natural laws can be violated with impunity by an individual, or nation. Nature always makes us pay up.

We have seen nothing in our lifetime (some years of it having been spent in reporting activities of legislative bodies all the way from Lincoln, Nebraska, to Westminster Hall, London) that would indicate the basic usefulness of the dual system of government—state and federal—was ineffective for the benefit of all the inhabitants. We have seen nothing but greater expense, greater stupidity, and greater graft grow from greater centralization of power in any land. . . .

America truly is at the cross-roads. And the pity of it is that a complacent congress sits in judgment, as to the direction to take!

President Roosevelt was careful not to expose his hand prior to election. It would have defeated him. But today he stands all powerful; he has the votes in congress to do with about as he chooses.

And this proposition lies before the sons of men who gave their lives and property that men might be free—free even from a president, from a congress or from a supreme court! This issue faces sons of men who said they would form a government that would be, in all branches, the SERVANT of man, and NOT HIS MASTER.—Floyd McGriff in The Redford Record.

D. A. R. Members Hear Book Review

(Omitted from last issue.) Mrs. Henry Baker was hostess to the Sarah Ann Cochrane chapter, Monday afternoon. The meeting was presided over by the Regent, Mrs. Sidney D. Strong. The chaplain, Mrs. Donald P. Yerkes, of Northville, read Lincoln's farewell words to his friends and neighbors as he left Springfield for the last time. Prayer and salute to the flag followed, after which in the business meeting, delegates and alternates were elected to the state conference which will be held at Flint the last of March. The delegates are Mrs. Sidney D. Strong, Mrs. Frederick A. Lendrum, of Hudson, Michigan, Mrs. J. M. Bennett, Mrs. Charles W. Horr, Jr., of Detroit. The alternates were Mrs. C. H. Bryan, Mrs. C. M. Chase of Northville, Mrs. Irwin Pierce, Miss Mabel Spicar, Mrs. Walter Nichol, Mrs. Charles Root, Mrs. John F. Root, Mrs. Earl Mastick, Mrs. Glenn Jewell, and Miss Ruth Gillis.

To the national conference.

Mrs. Sidney D. Strong and Mrs. Dwight T. Randall of Detroit are delegates, while Mrs. Charles W. Horr, Mrs. E. J. Cutler, Mrs. Earl Mastick, Mrs. Walter Nichol, Mrs. Irving Blunk, Mrs. D. N. McKennon, Mrs. M. J. Bennett, Mrs. Irwin Pierce, Mrs. Glenn Jewell and C. M. Chase were elected as alternates.

Plans were perfected for a bridge-luncheon to be held in Detroit, March 1. The Detroit Dairy and Food council furnish the luncheon for the benefit of Sarah Ann Cochrane chapter.

In the absence of the program chairman, Mrs. Strong introduced the numbers. Mrs. C. M. Chase read excerpts from the Uster County Gazette, published at Kingston, Saturday, January 4, 1800, regarding the death of Washington. The paper belongs to Mrs. Levi F. Eaton of Northville.

Then Mrs. Irwin Pierce brought forth from the pages of that popular book "Gone With the Wind", Scarlett and Rhett and made them live most entertainingly for her listeners. The horrors of the war, the courage, and heroism of the southern people are woven into a fascinating narrative by Miss Mitchell, whose life, Mrs. Pierce reviewed at the beginning of her review. Margaret Mitchell's forbears have participated in all the wars of our country beginning with the Colonial and ending with the younger members in the World War. Thus, she has a background which is most interesting to daughters of the American Revolution. Mrs. Charles W. Horr, Jr., who has organized a chapter in Plymouth of the "Children of the American Revolution", known as C. A. R., gave a painstaking and comprehensive review of the work.

Mrs. Charles Root presented a brief talk on flag etiquette, giving especial emphasis to the position of hand and arm in the flag salute.

The Ypsilanti chapter has invited the local chapter to hear, Friday evening at the Ypsilanti high school auditorium, at 8:00 o'clock, a lecture given by Inspector W. H. Drane Lester of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, who will speak on the "Modern Trend in Criminology". All who heard Mr. Drane Lester at the state conference last spring were most enthusiastic, and it is felt that one will miss much, who cannot avail himself of this opportunity to hear a man who presents so well this subject of such vital interest to our country.

The Sarah Ann Cochrane chapter will meet next month with Mrs. Brandt Warner.

Handbill Nuisance Is Condemned

During the past few years there have at times various efforts been made to end the handbill peddling nuisance in Plymouth but nothing ever came of these efforts except talk.

The Plymouth Mail has received the following excellent communication on this subject which reflects the feeling of most residents of the city:

"Dear Plymouth Mail:

"I am writing this letter to you in the hope that you will comment on the handbill situation either editorially or by an article upon the front page of your paper.

"The handbill situation has become one of sad neglect. Every day when a person approaches his home he sees several bills scattered about the lawn with several hanging on the door-knob. It is getting so that every Tom, Dick, or Harry who has something to swindle the people with, hangs a handbill on your door or lays several in your yard so that they will improve the appearance of your home. I do not object to merchants using handbills to advertise with, but I do object to having them hanging on the door-knob or laying in the yard.

It is time something was done to improve this condition. I suggest that you publish an editorial or, better still, publish a bold-faced type article on the front page of The Plymouth Mail. Please do not use my name.

"Yours
"A Harvey Street Resident"

Scouts Attend Church In Body

(Omitted from last issue.)

Last Sunday morning, at the invitation of Reverend P. Ray Norton, the Boy Scouts of the Plymouth district attended the First Methodist church in a body for their annual anniversary week church service. About 125 boys and 25 troop leaders and committee men were present besides the regular church congregation. The field Scout executive for this area, W. F. Church also came out to join with the Plymouth district boys and men. Mr. Norton's sermon was on the text "Guard Well Your Inner Life", which he interpreted in terms which the boys could understand and enjoy. As a part of the service the Scouts recited their pledge of allegiance and their oath and law and at the end of the service the congregation was dismissed with the Scout benediction led by one of the Scouts.

Boys and men were present representing every one of the ten units of the Plymouth district including the three troops of the Training school, the one from Northville, the one from Rosedale Gardens and the four troops and the Cub Pack from Plymouth.

This annual church service is traditional with the Boy Scouts of America as one of the features of anniversary week and has been held in this district since its formation in 1931, sometimes in Plymouth, sometimes in Rosedale Gardens and sometimes in Northville. Even before the days of the Plymouth district the local troops were in the habit of seeking a church each year where they might show their conformity with the 12th point of the Scout law which tells that "A Scout is Reverent".

This service was very impressive and the Scout district is much indebted to Mr. Norton and the Methodist church for their hospitality.

Why Should Banks Be Conservative?

A BANK is a semi-public institution. It receives money from depositors and lends that money to borrowers, or invests in government or corporate bonds. In order to safeguard the funds of depositors a bank MUST be conservative in loaning money.

Banks are anxious to make good loans—for our livelihood is derived chiefly from this source. Yet SAFETY—not profit—must be the first consideration. Consequently, it is not the function of a bank to make speculative loans, however promising they may seem.

Conservative banking policies do not, however, stand in the way of genuine community progress. They actually go hand in hand. The permanent, carefully-built progress of any community—not the false, temporary progress of sporadic booms—is dependent usually upon the foresight and conservative, experienced judgment of its business men and its bankers.

We believe in these conservative policies to make a strong safe bank for your continuous use.

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE WANTED BUY BUICK THEM

DELLIS CRANE, working on the assembly line, has been on the Buick payroll for 20 years

Speaking for myself and 16,000 other Buick workmen—we're mighty glad to be back on the job! It's been tough to stand by, knowing how eager thousands of people were to get one of these great cars. And it's a grand feeling now to see the wheels turning and the line rolling, and to watch those big, handsome babies pouring out regular as clockwork! There's power in them, and style, and comfort—and when you see them made, like I do, you know they're packed with good, honest workmanship as well as top-notch engineering. We're proud of those Buicks, and the way you've taken to them, and we're going to get yours to you as quick as we can.

F. W. Samsen Dies

son Lawrence, former owner of The South Lyon Herald, sold The Herald to come to Plymouth and assist his father in the conduct of The Mail.

It was because of declining years and a desire to relieve himself of the many troublesome responsibilities that go with the publishing of a newspaper that Mr. Samsen in November, 1930 decided to sell the publication to the present owner.

Maybe this would be the opportunity to reveal to the public Mr. Samsen's intense love for the paper that he published so successfully for so many years.

When negotiations were about to be closed, Mr. Samsen stated that he had had many many offers for The Mail but that he wanted to be sure and dispose of it to some one who had about the same ideas pertaining to newspaper work and community affairs as he did, to some one who would make him feel perfectly at home any time he desired to visit the office.

"I am never going to move away from Plymouth, I am going to be here until I die and I want to see The Mail go on just about as I would like to have it run," said Mr. Samsen.

It was soon after he came to Plymouth that he built the residence on Church street where he died. A little later he built the old Mail office next to The Penman Ave.

Pioneers Nose Out Rocks 31 - 33

The Dearborn Pioneers handed the Rock quintet the second defeat in their T. V. A. schedule, which drops the home town group into second place behind the leading Rouge five, as they downed Plymouth with a 31-33 score.

The Rock team, playing good ball but unable to cope with the roughness of their hosts, led at half time with a score of 20-10; this quickly dwindled as the Dearborn five applied the pressure and shot into the lead at the end of the third quarter by two points. The Rocks will next meet the Wayne group on the home floor to close their portion of the T. V. A. schedule.

The Dearborn team got the jump on the Blue and White representatives as they rang up two double deakers but not for long as Martin swished through two very good long shots along with two from both Moe, and Egluff who were next to Egge's high of seven points with a grand total of 86. In the second quarter the Rocks remained idle in scoring except for a field goal by both Egluff and Klenschmidt which ran the score up to 20-10 at half time.

In the second half the Rock team met its Waterloo as the Pioneers finally located the hoop and began to use the sense of direction. The main scores from Dearborn in this quarter were Albertson and Aldrich with two baskets each to their credit while in the Plymouth field all the points were vested in four charity tosses made by Egge, Klenschmidt, and Ross. The Blue and White offered more fight in the final quarter and at the end of the seven minutes had tied the score to 31 all, but this tie was broken by Marks as he hopped in the winning basket. Trinka and Egge scored the two lone field goals in the fourth quarter the remaining points, as before, coming from free throws. Thus, the Rock team remained the victims of a 33-31 score.

GAB ABOUT GARB

At the Plymouth-Northville basketball game it seemed as if every one had on something clever and new.

Dorothy Hearn's outfit was one of the cleverest. A blue swing skirt and sleeveless jacket to match, worn with a pink taffeta blouse was the smartest thing we've seen in ages. Ethel Tuck's black coat with the fur around the bottom looked very sophisticated swinging down the sidelines.

The bright red over-seas hat on Barbara Osaver made a bright spot of color in the bleachers. Doris Buzard's jacket with "Buzz" on the back of it is very original. Orlan Egluff's socks are certainly different, one is red and the other is green. We wonder if he's got another pair just like 'em at home. Lib Hegge, Pat McKinnon, and Astri Hegge all lined up in their school sweaters. The Northville gals had some cute outfits on too. Betty Van Hove had on a gray bright green coat with a great big white fur collar.

Louise Alexander was wearing an interesting brown and yellow twin sweater set. The other morning Pat Burton had on another of her clever pins only this time it was a dog, not a horse pin. Jane Taylor's gray tie is just the thing for school, and we've heard rumors that it's pretty good for listening to the violin in too. Mary Lou Wright has a good looking purse, brown with her initials on it. Rose Niedospal has a green wool dress that is the "tops" in smartness. Her stockings are always good looking too. Sophisticated is the word for Belva Barnes' hair-do. Even Northville agrees with us on that point. Lib Hegge and Lois Schaufele have new print dresses with swing skirts and "v" necklines. We heard that the sudden popularity of "v" necklines is due to the fact that Mrs. Simpson wears them continually.

A June bug is known also as a May beetle.

YUGOSLAVIAN TROUP TO ENTERTAIN ASSEMBLY

The Elias Tamburizza Serenaders will present "A Night in Yugoslavia" in assembly next Monday, third hour. The entertainers will wear the costumes of their native country; this should prove extremely interesting to students of the various types of clothing worn on the European continent. The singers, who will sing native Croatian songs, will be accompanied by a string quartet. Another interesting feature of this program will be the Croatian dancers.

Next Monday, March 1, present yourselves at your home rooms, with your nickel, and prepare to enjoy an interesting, colorful assembly period.

ROUND THE ROCK WITH P. H. S.'ERS

Betty Flaherty spent Saturday night and Sunday with Helen Weage.

Marian Rambo of Marlette spent Thursday with Barbara Nutting. In the afternoon she visited school.

Irene Granger entertained Dawn Jacobs at dinner Sunday. Dawn spent the night with Irene. Alice Gottschalk and Marjorie Kerner saw "Camille" at the Madison theater in Detroit, Sunday afternoon.

Marian Shoebright spent Friday night and Saturday visiting her sister, Mrs. Louis Tiffin in Northville.

Irene Ciesielski attended the hockey game at the Olympia in Detroit, Sunday night.

Marian Tuck visited her brother, Bill at Angola college, Sunday afternoon.

Pat Bronson of Ypsilanti spent Saturday with Kye Moon.

Florence Norton and Ireta McLeod dined at the Kenwood in Detroit, Sunday.

Shirley Sorensen entertained Arline Soth, Jacquelyn Schoof, Doris Buzard, Donald Smrcina, Jack Ross, Donald Mielback, and Jack Birchall at a dinner party Thursday evening, at her sister's home in Wayne. Games furnished the evening's entertainment.

The Misses Allen, Cary, Tyler, Lovell, Lickly, Fiegel, Smith, Gray, Lundin, Frantz, Hearn, Mrs. Rowland, and Mrs. Ray Johns dined at the Michigan Union in Ann Arbor before attending the lecture course at which Captain Craig was the speaker.

GIRL SCOUTS HOLD TEA

This is the week of the Girl Scout Tea which they have been planning for a month. It is hoped that this year it will be a bigger success than ever. About 75 guests are planned for, and a very entertaining program has been arranged by Doris Buzard. The investing of Margaret Jean Nichol, Betty Smith, Dorothy Jean Woodbury, Fern Bower, and Mary Ellen Dahmer is one of the main factors of the program. The Tea will be held on Thursday, February 25. Those wishing to attend may obtain tickets at 25 cents from any of the Scouts in Troop I.

The materials for Handicraft arrived and the Scouts worked on their book-ends Wednesday evening. Two pieces of tin, two blocks of wood, and a pattern were given each Scout. The tin was cut the size of the pattern and nailed on the blocks of wood. A blunt nail was used to pound dents in the tin following the outline of the pattern. Not many of the Scouts succeeded in finishing their handicraft work, but those that did had very attractive book-ends.

DECLARATION CONTESTS BEGAN MONDAY
If you meet up with some poor individual who is spouting four and five syllabled words, please do not revolve your finger about your ear and point at that person. He or she is most likely having trouble learning a tough declamation. Learning one of these things is a noble effort and one not to be ridiculed.

There are about 32 of these declamation learners, all of them sophomores. The contest has been changed from the ninth to the tenth graders this year, the freshmen being given interpretive reading. These students were to be ready to do their stuff on Washington's birthday, on which date class elimination began. Three contestants each from Miss Killham's and Miss Waldorf's classes, six in all, will compete in the semi-finals March 3, and the school champion will finally be chosen in assembly March 17. Competition will be keen, and it is expected that the judges will have a very hard time.

PIONEER RESERVES TROUNCE ROCKS 15-41
The Rock Reserves, after winning the last two encounters, dropped their tiff with the Dearborn team with a score of 15-41. The Plymouth team, as well as their hosts, had a hard time getting started which accounted for the one sided score at the end. The Reserves were far outsize by the Orange and Black; that also helped to keep the Rocks from gaining a victory. Starting line-up: Dearborn—Lyman, f; Spencer, f; Tennant, c; Davis, g; Schmaltz, g. Plymouth—Scarpulla, f; McAllister, f; Prough, c; Norman, g; Curtis, g.

GIRL RESERVES MEET WITH HI-Y

Should a girl attend a public dance unescorted? Should a boy precede a girl down a theatre aisle? Is it proper for a girl to make up in public? Should a boy leave his partner in the middle of the dance floor at the conclusion of their dance together? Questions such as these called forth many comments at the joint meeting of the Senior Girl Reserves and the Hi-Y boys last Thursday. Patricia Cassidy led this discussion of questions of social usage, which gave many pointers on the correct things to do at dinner parties, dances, and theatres.

The Junior Girl Reserves enjoyed a period of recreation during their last meeting by playing games. Miss Hearn's intermediate girls are continuing work on their point system and are planning ways in which they will be able to earn their honors.

STARKWEATHER NOTES

The kindergartners are enjoying new books which tell of the story of "The Five Little Bears". The A's are memorizing short poems from the book, "Sun Under a Silver Umbrella". The A's are painting original designs and are doing very nice work. The bulbs which were planted a few weeks ago are almost ready to blossom.

Miss Stader's pupils have been learning some patriotic songs in which they changed "Soldier" to "Boy Scouts" and in this way learned a lesson on peace. Besides employing yellow, orange, and white in their color scheme, the Juniors are also employing three contrasting hues of blue.

"NOSIN' AROUND"
Your reporter has just returned from a long trip and has seen and heard much luscious go-sip. Hears little, sees a lot, and tells everything. Here are some of the choice "bits!"
Jane Taylor has always wanted the desire was left with the children for loving Jesus.

Miss Parmalee's pupils have started an "Our Helpers" project. They are studying the work of the postman, iceman, policeman, grocer, teacher, and nurse.

Mr. Smith visited Miss Sparling's room last Wednesday. The art class made color wheels. The Cardinal volleyball team is in first place. Several students had their eyes tested by Mrs. Strasen.

Miss Maunula's students have completed their Eskimo project; they made igloos from construction paper and dressed dolls in fur. The boys have completed most of the book shelves and the girls have completed the chair covers for their library project.

The art class is illustrating its favorite books. In honor of the birthdays of Lincoln and Washington, old fashioned silhouettes of these great Americans were made. The captains of the spelling teams are Shirley Schockow and Vincent Simonetti. The music class composed an Eskimo song.

The boys of Miss Rathburn's room are making wooden covered wagons and the girls are making rugs to illustrate the Colonial period in American history. Edwood Dethloff made an excellent log cabin. Someone will make a three-sided log cabin and the class will furnish it with clay dishes and wooden furniture. The 4B's made citizenship books in which they put the history of the American flag and an essay concerning how to be a good citizen.

WAYNE PLAY DAY DISCUSSED BY CLUB
The girls in Leaders' club have been discussing what they should do with the money in the treasury. Last week alps of papers were passed to each girl who wrote what she thought would be an appropriate way of spending the money. Some suggested an archery set, baseball and basketball equipment. Miss Kees stated that arrangements have been made for a Play Day with Wayne, but no definite date has been set because of the conflicting dates on the calendars. Wayne will be the guest of Plymouth for a basketball tournament and then Wayne will have Plymouth as their guests in the spring.

Traditional Rivals Face Victorious Plymouth

JUNIORS WHIP SENIORS BY SCORE OF 8-10

Waging a terrific battle, the Junior and Senior girls fought for the coveted first place in the basketball tournament, with the Junior girls rallying in the last quarter and winning the game by one basket. The teams were evenly matched all through the game, the score being tied at the end of the second and third quarters. The Senior boys did their bit by yelling for their class team, but in spite of this the Juniors were ahead when the bell rang ending the game, with one happy, jubilant team and one downhearted defeated team—but it was all in fun!

CENTRAL GRADE NOTES

Mr. Smith distributed Bunny Pins to the kindergarten B last week. The kiddies made free hand drawings of tulips and did free hand cutting of them also. To celebrate Washington's birthday they cut silhouettes of our first president and made hatchet and cherry pictures.

Miss DeWaele's pupils made booklets illustrating the story, "Fun in the Rain". They are getting ready to start a large poster depicting home life and the community helpers that come to the home.

Marva McGarry is back in Miss Weatherhead's room after a long illness. In art class the children made jointed figures of Washington.

Miss Benz and Mrs. Bird's pupils are making an Eskimo village. Last week they wrote Valentine stories and made Lincoln booklets. This week they made Washington booklets.

In health class Miss Sly's pupils are learning to correspond with the eight health rules. In geography they are studying the globe and coloring maps of all four hemispheres.

Miss Widmayer's pupils are visiting Egypt now. Shirley Hitt and Doris Gerhardt have been absent because of long illnesses. The children are making booklets containing stories about Washington.

In Miss Carr's room Madeline Allen's and John McClain's teams are tied with 21 stars each in spelling. In 5B spelling Charles Burden's team is leading that of James Rotarius by four stars to one. In sewing the girls made pot holders with appliqued red hearts for Valentines. They have also made Lincoln booklets.

Mr. Berridge's pupils are drawing pictures to illustrate the important phases in the life of George Washington. The 6B arithmetic students have begun new work in the addition and subtraction of denominate numbers. The 6A pupils are working out geography reports on Greece and Italy.

Mrs. Holliday's pupils are working on a project of Switzerland. They have already made Swiss houses, a movie, and are dressing dolls in Swiss clothing.

Plymouth high school's debating team, winner over East Detroit high school in the first elimination debate, will meet the neighboring negative team, Northville, in the next contest. Notice of the "grudge" match came Saturday from Dr. Halstead, Michigan high school forensics league manager. Six years ago Plymouth lost to Northville in the elimination series. Since then the two squads have not met. The oncoming battle promises to be very interesting and the competition keen because of the long time rivalry. The tilt will also determine which school will advance to the third elimination ground. At present 32 debating teams remain in the fight for the state championship. The ranking of the Northville team comes as a result of its victory over Brown City. Plymouth represented by Jewel Starkweather, Edith Mettetal, and Tom Brock, defeated East Detroit's affirmative team in the debate at Plymouth. Although the local team was in poor form, it won a 3-0 decision from the judges—Dr. Scott, Professors Skinner and Kopp of Wayne University. The team will change sides for the next debate which will be at Northville. The Northville team includes either Alfred Couzens or Margaret Van Hallemond, Scott Cole and Nan McLaughlan. The judges will be members of the Wayne University speech department.

"A COOK THERE WAS"
Jean is a very pleasant and sweet girl, so when she invited Betty Housley and Marion Shoebright down to her house for dinner one night, she decided to cook the meal herself, with steak for Marion and chocolate cake for Betty, otherwise known as "Pat". Mind you now, Jean meant well when she declared she'd cook the evening meal, but just the same mama and papa Dunham were rather skeptical about it. But the innocent unsuspecting guests were having visions of steak and chocolate cake and were too far gone to consider the cook. Well, after much frosting of cake and garnishing of steak, dinner was served. Oh, my! Marion and Pat could hardly wait to indulge in such choice looking food. Remember now, I said choice looking food. They hadn't tasted it yet. . . . Now Marion declares she'll never be the same and Pat says the chocolate cake turned out to be a "devil cake". But Jean is still a nice sweet girl who will make her husband a wonderful cook someday if she learns.

2 MINUTES 15 SECONDS FIRE DRILL TIME
All students in junior and senior high schools were out of the building in two minutes and 15 seconds at the monthly fire drill held Friday, February 19. The principal purpose of these fire drills is not only to see how quickly the students can vacate the building, but to see how orderly they can leave being careful not to injure any one.

PLYMOUTH CAGERS TO PLAY WAYNE TONIGHT

"Boy! Oh, boy what a game! And am I hoarse! I couldn't yell any more even if I were paid for it." These are some remarks heard at the last Wayne and Plymouth game. Although Plymouth won it by ten points, the game was one of the hardest and fastest this writer has ever seen.

Some students feel that the friendly rivalry between Wayne and Plymouth has topped the old Northville-Plymouth rivalry. If it has not, it certainly has grown and probably will equal it in time to come. It will be interesting to see how the home team performs after feeling the championship Dearbourn when they play Wayne tonight on the home court. At the present time Plymouth holds second place alone but should they lose, Wayne and Plymouth would hold second place together. Also if Rouge should lose to Ypsilanti and Plymouth win from Wayne, the Rocks would be back on top with Rouge. Your presence at the game tonight will show the team you are still with them.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH—455 South Main St. "How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation?" (Hebrews 2: 3). "Heaven lies above us in our infancy," says the poet. And it surely does. It seems as though we could pluck down its near-by stars with our childish hands; toy with its silvery moon; play hide-and-peek in its fleecy clouds. But that is not true today for you who have neglected. Now it has receded like a faraway land till you no longer hear its music, dream its dreams, or see its angel faces in your childish visions. Now He seems as distant as the unseen shore of a vast ocean so far and so steadily have you drifted from Him and with the swift flight of passing years. Do you seem to yourself to have drifted out into a weary waste of distance, darkness, and death? Remember the one thing that can save you. That one thing is decision to no longer neglect this so great salvation. A hearty welcome awaits you all at all our services. We have received the rules for the annual News Spelling Bee. We had a Valentine party last Friday. We had games, a Valentine box, and refreshments.

The fifth graders are working on a cotton project. They have sent to three companies, and are making cotton booklets.

The second graders are working on a city-farm project. Some of the children are making things for their farm, while some are working on the city.

The school chose editors at our citizenship meeting. We elected Doris Williams as editor-in-chief, Elizabeth Shoner as social editor, and Robert Bramblett as sports editor.

Alene Hersh visited her grandmother over the week-end. Doris Williams visited her aunt in Plymouth over the week-end. Elizabeth Shoner visited her sister in Detroit, Sunday.

Sliding down the hill in an enclosed field has proved a very popular sport at our school.

Monday we had a snowball fight with The Three Musketeers vs. the school. This proved very exciting although the Musketeers Jack Schaufele, Earl Squires and Robert Bramblett were greatly outnumbered.

The fifth graders have received a cotton exhibit, containing 15 different samples of cotton from the J. L. Hudson Co., and are expecting samples from other companies. They are making cotton booklets.

The school is working on the Music Memory contest, as the final contest is this week.

We expect to enter the News Spelling Bee.

Governor Starts Cutting

providing the resolution should pass.

Interest in the proposal to build a mansion for the governor has begun to peter out. During the early days of the session it seemed that nearly every one was worrying about a place for the governor to live. Some newspapers that wanted to win the goodwill of the Governor were loud in their praise of the plan to spend some $150,000 or thereabouts for a home for the governor during the few days he spends in Lansing. The bill has rested in committee for weeks. It was finally reported out last week with the amount cut from $150,000 to $80,000. But it immediately went to another committee where it will probably remain as house leaders have sensed a growing opposition to the expenditure of so much money for a purpose that no one regards as necessary or essential.

Most of the talk you hear about the corridors of the capitol, just as in past years, pertains to jobs for this one or that one. "Say, I heard that So and So is all lined up for one of the best jobs over in the big building," said one young chap to another. "Did you hear that So and So has already gone to work for the state? And he gets a car with his job too." But job changes have not been as rapid as a lot of the faithful had anticipated. However, it will not be long before there will be a lot of state pay checks going to new faces.

There is a bill on the way through the legislature which, if passed, will do away with the right to hunt in Livingston county on Sundays. These bills generally find little opposition in either the house or senate and so when the next hunting season opens, local hunters who like to go up around Brighton or Howell will have to find other Sunday hunting grounds.
