

Plymouth Parade To Northville Fair

Cars To Leave Promptly At 1 o'clock

Stores To Close At Noon On Thursday—Fair To Be Best

All is in readiness for the big parade on Plymouth day, next Thursday afternoon to the Northville-Wayne county fair. As in past years the parade will form at 12:30 sharp on the east side of South Main street, from the city hall to the south. Chief of Police Vaughn Smith and his force have worked out a plan whereby if there are more cars than can be accommodated on Main street, that the line will be extended to East Ann Arbor Trail.

Secretary Leonard T. Murphy of the Chamber of Commerce has arranged with the officials of the Northville fair association to provide free parking for all Plymouth cars that take part in the parade. The cars will drive directly from the main gate to the center of the track, where they will be parked.

As it is essential for the Plymouth parade to be across the race track before 1:30 when the races start, it will be necessary for every one in Plymouth to be on Main street promptly at 12:30. This will enable every one to get his ticket, so the parade can leave not later than 1:00 o'clock. The Plymouth high school band will lead the parade and it is known that many business concerns are planning on entering decorated cars and trucks in the parade. The stores are planning to close at noon Thursday.

The fair will open Wednesday, with an outstanding program of demerit automobile stunts by women drivers who do their part in making spectacular scenes for the movies in Hollywood.

President Elmer Smith predicts the biggest and best fair in the history of the association.

Levandowski Signed By Cubs

Plymouth friends of Clarence Levandowski of Newburg, and baseball fans of this locality are predicting for the youthful former Plymouth baseball player, who has just been signed by the Chicago Cubs for next season, a career in professional baseball that will delight the fans for many years to come.

Levandowski, who played last year on the Perfection team in Plymouth, has been playing in the Northern League over in Wisconsin and Minnesota this season.

The following, taken from the Eau Claire, Wisconsin Leader, will be of interest to Levandowski's friends in Plymouth:

"Clarence Levandowski, outfielder, Raymond 'Soup' Campbell, left-handed pitcher and Derwin 'Whitey' Stelmiling, right-handed pitcher have been selected by the Chicago National League ball club as the three players to be taken from the Eau Claire Northern League ball club under the working agreement which the Bears have with the Cubs. The players will become the property of the Cubs at the end of the current Northern League season. Levandowski, hard-hitting outfielder, got his start as a member of the Superior club of the Northern League last year but failed to hit up to expectations and was released. Since joining the Bears at the opening of the 1937 season, however, Levandowski has been the mainstay of the Eau Claire attack and, at present, is engaged in a dog fight for the league's batting championship. Levandowski, Campbell and Stelmiling will report to the Cubs' spring training camp at Pasadena next spring unless they are farmed out to one of the numerous Cub farms before that time."

Mrs. Elmer Smith is visiting her mother, Mrs. Emma Feigley in Claypool, Indiana, having accompanied her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Starkweather, of Saginaw, on Sunday, who were enroute to Yellowknife, Ark.

Brown Family Holds Reunion

Even the weather donned its best behavior and was perfect for the occasion of the fifth annual reunion of the Brown family held in Riverside park, Plymouth, Sunday, August 15. Sixty relatives and intimate friends enjoyed the cooperative dinner at noon, and later were joined by 20 more who came to meet and visit with their friends.

The Plymouth delegation was pleased to welcome the out of town guests who came from Detroit, Williamston, Lansing, LaPeer, Royal Oak, McGregor, Pontiac, Deckerville, Greenville, Port Huron and Mansfield, Ohio. The same officers were reelected for the coming year, and the day passed too quickly to suit the gathering, but all are anticipating the meeting to be held here at the same place next year.

Playground Season Closes In One Week

Many Activities Planned For The Next Few Days

Only one week remains in which those who have taken an active part in the playground activities can wind up their summer sports program.

From last week's activities comes the following results: Central Intermediate softball team won easily from Starkweather. The inter-city tennis doubles for men and women got under way with a great amount of interest.

On Wednesday, Miss Dunham, Mr. Rowe, Mr. VanBoren, and Mr. Jacob took a truck load of children into Detroit to see the Detroit-Chicago game, but much to every one's disappointment, the game was rained out.

Friday, Leonard Murphy and Mr. Jacob took the first group of children to Portage lake, where every one enjoyed the day's activities. The girls' softball teams are competing in a tournament at Wayne this week.

The following program is under way for the last week of the summer recreation: All softball games are to be completed in the intermediate classes, women's division and the play-off games for men.

On Wednesday all children and their parents who desire to attend the picnic at Riverside are invited to do so. Local merchants have donated prizes for athletic events to be held during the day. The recreation supervisors wish to thank those who have done so much to make the picnic a success.

Will Re-assess All Property In City

City Commission Decides On Step To Equalize Values

City officials have decided to have a re-assessment made of all property within the city of Plymouth. Plymouth city officials, Assessor William Petz and the County Bureau of Taxation, working together to bring about what they believe will be a more equitable valuation of real estate within the city.

The action comes as the result of some complaints about valuation, some contending that their property is assessed too high and others saying that their neighbors are not assessed high enough.

New Tax Will Be Due In October

Employers Must Pay For Nine Months Of This Year

(By ELTON E. EATON) There has come an announcement out of Lansing during the past few days that employers of eight or more persons must pay their unemployment insurance tax on or before October 31 of this year for the nine months of 1937. After that time payments must be made monthly, the same as is done to the federal government for the old age pension fund.

When the payment was made last January on the state unemployment insurance tax, the employers who had a payroll of less than $5,000 per year were exempted, but by amendments, some of them requested by the Michigan state unemployment compensation commission, the state law was made to conform to the federal social security act, with eight or more employees being the dividing line between those who pay the tax and those who do not.

The commission is anxious to have every person in Michigan who hires one or more persons come under the terms of the law, but there seems to be little sympathy with such a proposal. In fact, there are a large number of smaller employers with one or two dozen workers who never have any lay-off periods who feel that they are being forced to help carry the burden of the big industrial concerns such as General Motors and others that have regular lay-off periods, sometimes running for months.

The average small industry has nothing of this kind and its employees are on the payroll year after year.

A digest of the amendments which have now become a part of the state unemployment insurance compensation law have been made by Chairman Frank Picard and they will be interesting to readers of The Mail.

Payment Of Taxes Far Better Than Year Ago

Total Is More Than Seven Percent Increase Say Officials

From the office of the city treasurer comes the report that 83 percent of the city taxes have been collected to date. This amount compared with collections a year ago which were 70 percent shows an increase of seven percent.

Thanks For The Flowers

For a few days only in this week there was on display in the office of The Plymouth Mail a basket of dahlias that came from the beautiful gardens of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Euston on South Main street. They attracted much attention and some visitors at The Mail office declared they were the largest and most beautiful dahlias they had ever seen.

Police Chief Issues Warning

Police Chief Vaughn Smith has issued a warning to residents of Plymouth to securely lock their houses at night time, as there have been reported several attempts at house breaking during the past few days. Similar night time robberies have taken place in Northville. Because of the warm weather, people have just been locking their screen doors, states the Chief, and in the cases reported here the burglars have tried to make entrance through the screen doors. So be sure to lock your house securely at night time.

Mr. and Mrs. James Meek and their two children, came from Hilledale Sunday to visit at the home of Mrs. Sheldon Galt. The two grandchildren, are a daughter four years old, and the son, who is only six months old. It was his first visit to the home of his grandmother.

Mrs. McGraw Presents Church With Organ

Announcement has just been made by Charles H. Bennett, chairman of the building committee of the beautiful new Presbyterian church, that Mrs. Harriett L. McGraw, former resident of Plymouth and life-long member of the church, has just donated a pipe organ for the new edifice. The organ is given in memory of her husband, the late William Thomas McGraw, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Fuller, pioneer residents of Plymouth. Mrs. McGraw, at present a resident of the Wardell apartments in Detroit, made it known sometime ago that it was her desire to make a presentation of some kind to the new church, of which her parents were early members. It will be recalled that the artistically colored window in the west end of the church that burned nearly two years ago, was a gift of Mr. and Mrs. McGraw. When it became known that she desired to present the church with its new organ, Mr. Bennett selected as a committee to make the choice, Miss Hannah Strassen and Chauncey Rauch. These two, in company with Mr. and Mrs. Bennett, visited numerous places to hear various makes of organs. They finally selected a product of the Wicks Pipe Organ company of Highland, Illinois, and it is to be installed on or before October 25.

The gift of the organ just naturally causes one to turn back the pages of Plymouth history into the days of the long ago. The Fuller family were pioneer settlers of this community. For years the Fuller homestead, which stood where the Mayflower hotel is now located, was one of the show places of the village. It was located a ways back from the corner, with numerous large trees between the house and the streets. It was one of the places in the old village where there was always some activity to while away the few idle moments the old pioneers now and then had.

Mr. and Mrs. Fuller were intensely interested in the Presbyterian church of the early days. It was but natural that their daughter has always maintained the same interest as her parents. It was soon after the death of her husband a few months ago when she made it known that it was her desire to make a substantial gift to the church. The aid came in the presentation of the organ.

Re-Elect Lyle Alexander As Legion Finance Officer

Lyle Alexander, cashier of the Plymouth United Savings bank, and active American Legion worker, who has served in every position in the 17th Congressional district Legion organization, was Monday re-elected as finance officer of the American Legion organization of Michigan at the annual convention being held in Detroit this week.

He was unopposed for this important place and high state Legion officials, when the nomination was made, paid special tribute to the good work that he has done during the time he has been an officer of the state organization.

Large crowds went down from Plymouth Monday night to the parade. They declared it one of the best ever staged in Detroit.

Police Arrest Check Raiser

Tuesday afternoon Judge Dayton's office was the scene of the hearing of Walter Williams, 24, of Artie, West Virginia, on a charge of check-raising.

Williams had been employed by O. F. Robey of the O'Reilly Stoker company, of Detroit, on the Burroughs new factory on Plymouth road. A check for $8.51, dated August 12, was made out in favor of Williams by Robey for two days labor. In court, Williams claimed he had three days pay coming.

Entering the United Savings bank here, Williams asked where the teller's cage was, and was informed by Kenneth Mosher, that he was at the teller's cage.

When the day's transactions were being totaled, it was discovered that the check had been changed from the original amount to $38.51. Mr. Robey was notified of the discrepancy and a warrant was issued for the arrest of Williams. He was arrested upon the request of Officer Thumme, testimony showed.

He first told officers he could neither read nor write and signed a statement with an X. The money had been used to buy a car, officers said.

Assistant Prosecutor John Mawatt of Detroit conducted the hearing. At the conclusion he asked that the defendant be bound over to circuit court for trial, and Judge Dayton set bond at $1500 and two sureties.

Evidence showed that Williams had served two years in the Moundsville penitentiary in West Virginia for larceny. He also served time in Columbus, from which place he escaped 11 times, being arrested in Plymouth on his first escape, in 1927. He pleaded guilty to the charge of changing the check. Officers drew from the defendant the fact that he is an expert penman, being able to write with either hand, his mouth and with a pencil held between his toes.

City Faces A Wet And Dry Election

Thumme Wins Identification Recognition

Awarded Membership In World Finger Print Organization

Charles J. Thumme, captain of the Plymouth police department, has just been notified of his appointment as a member of the International Association for Identification, an organization composed of finger print experts throughout the world. When it is realized that Captain Thumme makes only the 20th police officer in Michigan who has qualified for membership in the organization, it can be fully realized how outstanding is the honor that has come to him.

He has won this distinction by just plain, ordinary hard work. At every opportunity that has presented itself to him, he has gained all the knowledge possible on the subject of fingerprinting. All of it has been picked up at spare times and in a brief vacation which he spent at a school of fingerprint instruction conducted by the state police at Lansing.

He first began working on fingerprint problems in cooperation with the able fingerprint officers of Detroit and Wayne county and from there on, he has carried on his own studies.

The organization is composed of some of the leading fingerprint experts of the world. Rightly, Captain Thumme and his many friends in Plymouth are exceedingly proud of the distinction that has come to him in this specialized field of police work.

Has President Named Ku Klux Klan Supporter To Supreme Court?

Washington News Writer Digs Into Senator's Past

Has President Franklin Roosevelt made an active member of the Ku Klux Klan from Alabama a judge of the supreme court of the United States?

There has not been much in Michigan newspapers about the question. In fact, there has been but one slight indirect reference to it as far as the writer has observed.

However, in the last issue of The United States News, there is much about it.

The following, pertaining to Senator Black and the Klan, is taken from a portion of an article written by Franklin Waldman, a member of the staff of The Washington Post, and reprinted in the United States News:

"There is one aspect of the situation which certainly should be cleaned up before Senator Black is confirmed, and that is his reputed connection with the Ku Klux Klan. That is a general topic of conversation among senators in their offices and cloakrooms. None yet has had the hardihood to discuss the matter in public. This, however, is not a time to be squeamish."

"As a member of the Supreme Court Senator Black would pass on the religious and civic rights of 20,000,000 Americans."

"I do not know whether Senator Black is a member of the Ku Klux Klan, but it is his right to elect the senators from that state. None in another state may say nay to them. But placing a representative of the Klan on the Supreme Court is an entirely different matter."

Commission Tables Issue

Backers Of Liquor By Glass Must Take Initiative

If Plymouth is to have liquor by the glass, it must first be approved by the voters of the city. This has been made necessary through the fact that the city commission Monday night voted unanimously to lay on the table the question of whether the commission should grant this privilege. Two applications had been received for permits within the city. One was from the Mayflower hotel and the other request was from the Anderson hotel.

The action of the commission will make it essential that the city conduct an election to decide the issue. Some have expressed the idea that as long as liquor by the glass is and can be sold at the very edge of the city limits, they see no reason why it should not be sold within the city, where the city officials can have police control over the situation as well as derive for the city such revenue as is right produce.

But in order to find out public sentiment on the matter and what the wishes of the majority in Plymouth might be, it will be necessary for an election.

This can be secured by filing with the city commission petitions bearing 20 percent of the vote cast for the secretary of state in the last election.

The total vote for the secretary of state in Plymouth, for the Republican and Democratic candidates, was 1746. The Plymouth Mail did not publish the scattering totals for candidates on other minor tickets, but these would not increase the total by more than 40 or 50.

So, in order to have the question submitted in Plymouth, it will require only about 350 signatures to petitions. This is, of course, assuming that there were about 50 additional votes for the secretary of state on the Farmer-Labor, Communist and other tickets that were voted upon last fall.

The question cannot be acted upon by the commission until towards the middle of September, but from what can be learned it is pretty certain that petitions will be circulated calling for the submission of the question.

Inquiry has been made at The Mail office as to how Plymouth voted at the time of the repeal of prohibition in 1933. The records show that there were 866 wet votes in Plymouth and 469 dry votes. These totals are taken from The Plymouth Mail files.

If the question is defeated by the electors at the special election that may be called, the issue cannot be submitted again within four years.

FOOLING THE PUBLIC.

"The (county) board shall comply and be governed by the rules and regulations of the state department of public assistance"; and these shall be "the fixing of reasonable minimum standards of relief, personnel, accounting, records, investigation, and public relations".

That, in boiled down form, is a part of Section 8 of Senate bill No. 112 which was passed by the state legislature and which has been signed by the governor providing for the creation of county welfare boards under the CONTROL and DIRECTION of the state assistance board, generally known as the welfare commission.

The highly paid lobbyist of "The Citizen's Committee on Public Welfare" in a communication to the Hartford Day Springs, takes issue with a recent editorial declaration in The Plymouth Mail that the county boards under the new welfare laws will be nothing more than mere Pollyannas.

We simply base our statements upon what the NEW LAW SAYS THE COUNTY BOARDS SHALL BE.

The law says "the (county) board SHALL comply and be GOVERNED by the RULES and REGULATIONS of the state department of public assistance".

That means just one thing—that the county boards, must do JUST as they are told to do by any RULE or REGULATION the state board may make. Any school boy or girl knows what obeying "RULES and REGULATIONS" means.

The law even goes further to specify how complete the control of the state commission shall be over the county commissions.

It says that the state department shall fix "reasonable standards of relief" for county boards.

What does that mean? Just one thing—that the county boards must provide relief in JUST the way that the state board shall determine to be what in the minds of its members shall be "reasonable standards of relief". The county boards, therefore will have nothing to say about fixing "standards of relief".

The new law says that the STATE department shall fix "reasonable minimum standards" for the "personnel" of the county boards.

What does that mean? Simply this—the county boards must hire ONLY those who can comply with certain requirements of the state welfare commission. The county boards will have nothing to say about what these "requirements" might be under the "rules and regulations" of the state department of welfare.

The law further says that the state welfare commission shall make all rules and regulations under which the county welfare organizations must conduct "accounting", "records", "investigation", and "public relations".

As a matter of fact, a careful analysis of the welfare bills shows clearly that the county boards can do ABSOLUTELY nothing without the consent or approval of the state commission.

The welfare law has given to the state board the right to govern every detail of county welfare by "rule and regulation" irrespective of what any paid welfare lobbyist might say about it.

It is noted in his communication that emphasis is placed upon the fact that Michigan is "going to receive approximately $13,000,000 in each of the next two years to finance part of the cost of this type of relief, it must conform to the federal requirements in this respect".

That is more pure bunk. This lobbyist and everyone else knows that Michigan is NOT going to receive one penny from the federal government for WELFARE work. We didn't get any federal money this year and we received only something like $800,000 or $900,000 in 1936. He knows and everyone else knows that the federal government isn't dishing out any more of the money we pay into the federal treasury for welfare squandering.

It is true that maybe the federal government will pay something towards mothers' pensions, afflicted children and the like, but there is not the slightest assurance that we will even get any of our money back from the federal government for these purposes. There are too many public payroll leeches and their likes to be supported first.

No, the federal government isn't playing welfare Santa Claus any longer with the tax money you pay into the Washington government.

The welfare millions squandered in this state came direct from the pockets of the taxpayers of Michigan in two different ways. The future millions to be squandered will come from the very same place.

If you own a little home or a farm or a store, your supervisor, your village assessing officer or your city assessor, assessed against your real estate a tax to help pay for this squandering.

Did you say you voted to abolish a real estate tax in Michigan?

Yes, but you didn't prevent your township, your school district or your municipality from levying a tax. The welfare squanderers worked out a way for "local contributions" from local tax funds to the state welfare fund.

And last year out of the taxes you paid on your real estate, the welfare department took nearly $9,000,000 in hard earned tax dollars to squander as they saw fit.

But that is not all of it. When you buy a few groceries, clothing, medicine or some other necessity to keep body and soul together, you pay a sales tax on what you buy. That tax goes into the "general fund" of the state. The state welfare department last year stuck its hands into the general fund and took out over $20,000,000, in addition to the money received from the real estate tax to keep it in squandering money during the fiscal year of 1936 and 1937.

Yes, EVERY PENNY of these nearly thirty millions of dollars spent last year came directly out of YOUR pockets!

There is just one thing to be said about this whole welfare set-up. Some day the people of Michigan will discover that the state administration has legislated into permanent jobs the greatest horde of useless tax eating loafers this state has ever known, whose only job will be to squander millions of dollars that comes from the pockets of sweating and over-burdened taxpayers.

WAS IT A SLAP?

For the first time in the history of Michigan, the present Governor failed to review the Michigan National Guard, which comprises a part of the famous 32nd Red Arrow division, during its annual encampment recently at Camp Grayling. The Governor, at the time of the encampment, was NOT so busy but what he could easily have taken a day off to go to Camp

At The Telephone

She stands for twenty minutes at the telephone, and then she sits for thirty, forty minutes more!
Oh yes, she does! And very soon the ringing starts again—Another call just like the one before!

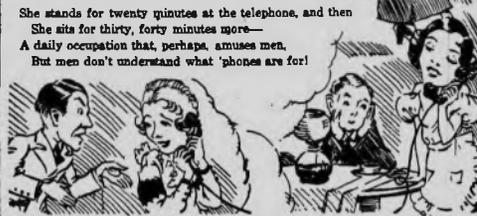

The first one comes at seven in the morning, or at eight—It seems that something urgent must be told; And seldom do they end—of course, I should say, hesitate—Until her luncheon coffee has grown cold.

"I really ought to 'phone Marie," she says at one o'clock. No reason to, as far as I can see; But one can never tell what news a friend may have in stock. And so she really ought to 'phone Marie!

Then Kathryn calls, and Lillian, and Blanche, and Alma Wells. Then Dorothy, and Mrs. Harrington; And each, in her intensely interesting manner, tells Of all the things that she and hers have done.

I would not say that only their own personal affairs Receive attention; that would be absurd. An endless-chain of confidential messages is theirs—Each promising she "won't repeat a word".

She stands for twenty minutes at the telephone, and then she sits for thirty, forty minutes more— A daily occupation that, perhaps, amuses men. But men don't understand what 'phones are for!

Grayling. As a matter of fact, he was VACATIONING at Mackinac Island at the time. He has just announced that he is leaving on his sixth vacation in the little over six months he has been governor of Michigan. His first vacation was in Florida, then West Virginia, New York and Washington, Connecticut, a month or so at Mackinac Island, now newspaper dispatches say he is vacationing in California. Rightly, members of Michigan's National Guard look upon the Governor's slight as a slap in the face, especially in view of the fact that he was so near by on a vacation trip at the time of the encampment. Yes, the Governor has added another outstanding "accomplishment" to his long list of highly publicized doings since becoming governor, but his failure to perform one of the functions required of the executive of the state.

RAMBLING with Editors AROUND of Michigan

WHY THE PROMISES?

Other governors have had to go through the same experience. They campaigned and promised to do this or that, and then, once in office, they learned that their wishes (and promises) were subject to the approval of the law makers, with all the political angles needing to be taken into consideration.

Governor Wilber Brucker, with limited political experience, went about the state talking about kitchen economy. And while he was doing that the members of the legislature left on his door step the largest biennial budget in Michigan's history. Under the constitution, the governor could not make any changes in the appropriations for any one item; it had to be approved or disapproved in exactly the form enacted. Thus did kitchen economy go glimmering at a period when the public mind was really set on economy.—Joseph Sturgeon in The Delta County Reporter.

LABOR RELATIONS.

Over at Albion recently there have been some labor troubles. A young man employed at the Malleable Iron Works previous to the strike, approached an Albion merchant with a request that he be loaned two dollars. Asked for what purpose the desired loan was to be put, the young man explained that with two dollars he could pay his initiatory fee and join the union whereupon he could then secure a job at picketing and receive five dollars in the picket line.

Another young man recently confided to this writer that he had joined the union in the industrial plant where he is employed. Asked as to his views on the general subject of industrial unions, this young man confessed that he does not believe in them but that he wanted to continue his work and therefore was willing to pay his union dues for the privilege of keeping his job. Hundreds of similar cases are known and hundreds of similar cases are known also to have enlisted in the so-called "vigilante" movement to act the next time labor troubles are started.

Another man, a skilled mechanic employed in a Michigan motor industrial plant, complained that he is forced to take a two weeks lay-off because the union he had been forced to join has so decreed.

He also complained bitterly that beginning soon he will be forced to work three weeks at night alternating with three weeks of day-time duty—another union dictum. This man has a wife and four fine children. He is ambitious, is buying a home, has always worked hard and is a typical American worker. He stated that while he detested the new regime forced upon him, he cannot afford to fight it, for if he did he would be out of a job. Meanwhile he is keeping quiet, nursing his wrath, and biding his time.

It was just that sort of thing which led to the adoption of the British system of controlling labor disputes. There it is required that union membership lists be public records, that union elections be as carefully supervised as elections to governmental offices, that dues collected be accounted for and that both sides to labor agreements be made to live up to their contracts.

Progress in this respect was undertaken in the labor relations act passed by the regular session of the legislature and vetoed by the governor. It was this phase of the bill, slight indeed in its application, to which labor leaders so violently objected. It was because of these objections that the governor attached his veto.

Until the independent worker has some protection against the labor racketeer, industry, business and government will suffer.—Ver-non J. Brown in The Ingham County News.

ABOUT HENRY FORD.

Not only does labor owe a debt of gratitude to Henry Ford for setting high wage standards, but it owes him another debt of gratitude because he has been the greatest creator of industrial jobs of any individual since America became a nation. Men want jobs, and Ford has created jobs by the tens of thousands. Having long been a worker before he became a manufacturer, he knows labor's side as well as his own. He has the best philosophy relative to the relations of employer and employe that we have ever heard enunciated, and, left to themselves, we do not believe Mr. Ford's men would ever quarrel with him, but the oily tongues of the highly paid labor agitators can persuade men against their own better judgment and they fall a victim of exploiters.—William Berkeley in The Cassopolis Vigilant.

FEARFUL OF THE FUTURE.

Not since the war has the political situation been so chaotic and so full of dynamite, as it is today. Almost anything can happen. The domination of John L. Lewis in the matter of strikes, and the great unfairness of the Wagner Labor bill are beginning to backfire in all parts of the country. People, both employers and employes, are beginning to recover from the whirlwind action of Lewis and Martin, and look upon it as a racket for the benefit of Lewis and his followers, at the expense of the employer and worker. There is a very general feeling that this movement met with the approval of the Administration for political reasons. It is no longer merely the people of the North who look upon this as a high-handed racket detrimental to all business, but the people of the South are also resenting it. There has been some business improvement, but there is no reason why the entire economic plan should be upset for the benefit of a few who want to feather their nests at the expense of the general public.—H. S. Babcock in The Alma Record.

ANOTHER TAX.

Hotel keepers are to be taxed under the New York unemployment insurance law for the tips their waiters get. When mine hosts starts paying taxes on something he presumably knows nothing or very little about, that may perhaps be the beginning of the end of the tipping evil.—Emerson Gildart in The Utica Sentinel.

Michigan Farms Get Power

Construction during July of 250 miles of rural electric distribution lines was announced today by the Consumers Power company.

The new construction, according to Dan E. Karn, vice president and general manager, took electric service to 1,546 additional farm customers. In the first seven months of this year, Karn said, Consumers built a total of 1,937 miles of rural lines and connected 10,500 customers, bettering the rural construction record for the whole year 1936. The company's rural distribution system now includes 8,992 miles of lines, 35,149 farm customers and approximately the same number of non-farm customers—stores, churches, town halls and so on—in rural areas.

"Michigan farmers seem well pleased with our $500-a-mile maximum plan," Karn said.

Under this plan service is extended without any construction charge where there is an average of five customers per mile. If the average is less than five per mile the line is priced at $500 per mile, against which an allowance of $100 is made for each customer connected. The minimum monthly service bill is $12.50 per mile—an average of $2.50 per customer when there are five to the mile.

H. J. Gallagher, farm service supervisor for Consumers, reported that the company's farm customers used an average of 90 kilowatt hours of electricity during July. This is one of the highest monthly averages ever established in the territory.

"Average cost per kilowatt hour was three and a quarter cents," Gallagher said, "one of the lowest rates in the United States. As the rate of energy increases, the cost per kilowatt hour decreases, and many farmers now are using quantities of electricity on the cent and a half or one cent step."

"Cooking, refrigeration, water heating, running water and laundry equipment are popular among farm women. Power milkers, feed grinders, mechanical refrigeration and motors in the farm shop and on farm equipment are being generally accepted by the men."

A royal Belgium decree forbids the posting of billboards which will mislead motorists, or placing signs where they will detract from the visibility of efficiency of traffic signals.

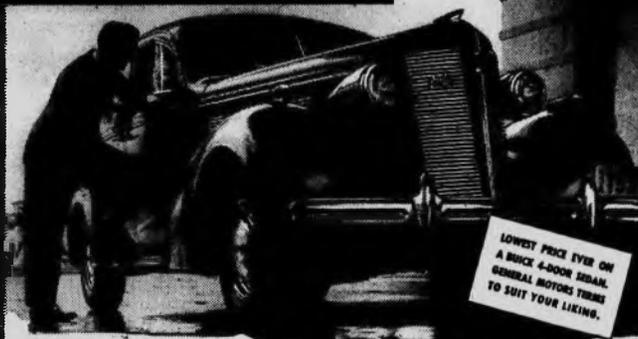

To Make People Happier

to give them the full use of the priceless faculty of vision—is a worthy work. To perform a service that relieves the discomfort and inconvenience of visual handicaps is worthwhile. To be able to help folks get more out of life socially, and help them to greater financial gains is a real contribution to human welfare. Our work gives us joy and satisfaction because we are performing such service every day. Any member of your family, any friend, or any employe will receive the utmost courtesy and scrupulous professional attention, if recommended to our care.

GOOD BUY FOR RIGHT NOW!

When you've got this fleet-heeled, smooth-powered, man-size Buick straight-eight to put a lift into the rest of the summer, why try to squeeze out the last long mile on a car that's already ripe for retirement?

Its trade-in value, you know, isn't getting any greater. And new car prices, as you can well understand, certainly can't be expected to go down!

Meantime here's this valve-in-head straight-eight Buick. Selling at the lowest prices in all its history. Actually delivering, in some models, for less than certain sixes.

And so jam-packed with stirring action and solid worth that others can't hope to match it for value—no matter what they do next!

Go see for yourself! Turn yourself loose in a Buick of today—let it show its wares in its own entrancing way—and ask yourself if you can ever again expect to get so very much for so mighty little money!

You bet it's a buy! It has been for months. It's a good buy for right now—if only as a hedge against the future! Call us any time for a test-ride and we'll prove our words with some lively Buick action!

"It's Buick again!"

Garden City In Easy Victory

Garden City defeated the league-leading Cass Benton by the score of 8 to 3. Cass Benton, the present leaders of the Michigan Inter-county league, had a tough time solving the offerings of Ray Pyle, who allowed them seven hits, three of which came in the first inning. Meanwhile, Garden City hopped onto the two Cass Benton pitchers to drive out 12 solid hits, including a home run by Waldo Scott with one man aboard.

Pyle struck out five men and walked but two. The Higgins-O'Brien combination came through with a double play in a vital spot to get Pyle out of a bad hole in fourth inning. Pyle was so effective that only one fly ball was caught in the outfield. R. Wolfram had 12 chances at third base. O'Brien had seven chances at short stop, while Higgins took care of four chances at second base.

Joe Higgins drove in three of the first four runs that Garden City tallied and scored the other one himself. Lovell Hill hit one into the woods in left-center field for three bases in the eighth inning and scored a moment later when a perfect squeeze play was manipulated with Smith bunting the ball as Hill broke for home with the pitch.

The victory gives Garden City an even chance of getting into the play-offs, being tied for fifth place with Belleville and Wyandotte. In order for Garden City to get into the play-offs, Wyandotte must defeat Glenn Gray of Highland Park next Sunday while Garden City wins from Plymouth Perfection at Garden City.

Next Saturday Garden City will play Crotonville at Garden City. Young Bill Henschel, promising youth rookie who pitched the Garden City Junior high school to the league championship will be in the box.

Grouse Not To Be Plentiful

Reports of conservation officers as to ruffed grouse supplies this summer indicate that if this game bird is coming back in northern Michigan its recovery is "spotty".

In the western end of the upper peninsula, the consensus of opinion is that partridge broods have been both large and numerous in that region. Reports from the eastern end of the upper peninsula are not as optimistic.

Reports from the northern lower peninsula counties have been conflicting. In some localities ruffed grouse have appeared more numerous than last year and in other localities less numerous. If any generalizations were to be made on the basis of such reports, game men would be inclined to the notion that the eastern side of the lower peninsula is not showing as much progress as the western side in the partridge recovery trend.

In the Pigeon river and the Houghton lake grouse cover areas, broods observed by game workers this year were not as large or as numerous as last year.

Perfection Adds Another Game

Adam Panosian won his first start of the season by handing Farmington a 9 to 1 defeat for their 14th consecutive defeat in the Inter-county league in the hotly contested game Sunday.

Adam Panosian struck out 14 Farmington batters, just five short of the league record held by Waldo Scott against Farmington.

Tom Levandowski led the local boys at the plate by collecting two out of three.

Next Sunday Perfection Laundry closes the season at Garden City.

Garden City, Belleville, and Wyandotte can gain a tie for fourth place which would qualify them for the Inter-county league play-offs. All they have to do is win next Sunday's games, while Glen Gray loses.

A victory for Schrader's, while Cass Benton loses, would give Schrader's first place in the league. While a loss to both Cass Benton and Schrader's and a win for Perfection Laundry would find Cass Benton and Perfection Laundry tied for first place.

Milton Jacobi, new athletic director of the high school, has announced that football practice will begin Monday, August 30, at 9:30. All candidates are asked to meet at the school, at which time, Coach Jacobi will meet with them and outline the work to be done. It is hoped that a large number will be present at the opening practice. Jacobi expressed the desire to personally meet all the boys and to become better acquainted with them.

A pedestrian who dashes across the street in the middle of a block is as foolish as a man who bets 17 million dollars against one dollar that he can throw a booklet into the air and catch it when it falls. It was held in a recent safety article. Each would have a good chance of being successful, but the gain is insignificant as compared to the risk.

What You Have To Pay If You Park Overtime

At the last commission meeting fines for overtime parking were discussed and acted upon. It was decided to set the fine for the first offense at $1, at $2 for the second and $3 for the third. These fines were adopted by a resolution of the city commission.

Save Fire Siren From a Fall

Had it not been for the ever watchful eye of the city fathers, Plymouth might have lost its fire siren. This "tragedy" was averted in the nick of time, it has just been learned.

As most people know, the water tower, in which is stored a great many gallons of water for use by the city, leaks a large number of gallons each year. When standing under the tower on certain days, a fine mist can be felt coming from underneath the bottom of the tank.

The wooden frame on which the siren was placed a number of years ago, is directly under the tower, and only a few feet from the center pipe. The constant leaking of the water had rotted the platform almost entirely away, and the whistle was starting to dangle when the condition was discovered.

A new steel frame is now under the process of construction, and when finished, the alarm which has roused this city's firemen for many years will once again occupy its own place near the heart of the water tower.

Many Picnics In Park Sunday

With summer nearly over and vacation-time a thought for next year, the park system again proved itself one of the most popular week-end retreats. Park attendants said that the crowds were as big if not bigger this week-end than at any other time during the summer, but they said an estimate was almost impossible to make.

As before, reunions were a dominant factor in swelling the park attendance, with family picnics a close second. A list of the reunions and picnics follows: Bartel, 150; Wayne County club, 150; Olive Branch lodge, 150; 150; Brown, 100; D. J. C., 400; Grand Dale I.O.O.F., 150; Morton, 125; Auto Canteen club, 125; Proctor, 100; Salvation Army Temple corporation, 200; Ypsilanti Salvation Army, 75; Hess, 80; Haynes, 100; Clan Daunmand, 150; American Legion, 250; McKinney, 150; Myers, 75; and Burger reunion 75.

Every available table and stove was taken all day Saturday and Sunday, while the children made the river look as if it were infested with a swarm of bees. People merely driving through the parks described the traffic as being more congested than that of a large city, with crowds actually milling over the roads.

Rabbit Kill Is Record One

If all the rabbits shot legally in Michigan each year were laid end to end they would reach one thousand miles, or from Lansing to the Gulf of Mexico, with Plymouth and nearby hunters providing their share of the total.

Such is the estimate of game men of the department of conservation after checking a sample portion of the 1936 license stubs on which 390,000 hunters reported their kill for the previous season of 1935.

The total estimated count of rabbits went to 3,500,000 bagged by licensed hunters and killed during the open hunting season. It was also estimated from the compilation that 40 percent of the rabbit hunters bagged 11 or more rabbits during the 1935 season and that the average kill for all hunters was about 11 rabbits per man.

The same sample of license stubs was checked for the ring-necked pheasant kill. The estimate in this case was about three-quarters of a million pheasants legally shot by an estimated 270,000 pheasant hunters. This compilation sustains previous estimates of game authorities, based on bird hunters' tally cards. The number of pheasants killed legally during an average hunting season would be about 750,000.

Under a law enacted by the 1937 legislature, it will no longer be necessary to wait until license stubs are returned to the department of conservation by license agents to compile statistics on game kills. The new law makes a report by each individual hunter compulsory. The report must state the total number of each license during the open season and must be sent to Lansing by February 15 immediately following the close of the respective open seasons.

ator Black was ever a member of the Klan. Nor do I know of my own knowledge that he won his senate seat in 1926 as a result of Klan support. Close friends of Senator Black have told me he privately has denied to them he was ever a member of the Klan. Others have told me that without question or doubt he was elected in 1926 as the Klan candidate.

"Be that as it may, I do know that former Senator Oscar W. Underwood, whom Senator Black succeeded, refused to stoop to the Klan and voluntarily retired from public life. I do know that it is difficult to find a sketch of Senator Black which does not contain some reference to the Ku Klux Klan. He has been heralded from coast to coast as a beneficiary of Klan support—and even as a seeker of that support.

"Before me are several articles regarding Senator Black. I pick up the Washington Daily News, a Scripps-Howard newspaper, which has been sympathetic to the New Deal, and I find in a story by the "Scripps-Howard Alliance," which means their staff writers, these words:

"Ku Klux Klan support is credited with sending Black to the Senate his first term. He was a member of the Klan, according to former Klansmen who are his friends. With Imperial Wizard James Esdale escorting him about the state, he was introduced to Klan organizations and was pledged their political support. The Klan had disbanded when he made his next race in 1932.

"I picked up a copy of the Review of Reviews for April, 1934, and find a friendly article about Senator Black by Raymond Clapper, one of his admirers, in which it stated he was "elected to the Senate under suspicion of Ku Klux Klan backing in 1926" and further on a reference to the fact that Underwood "felt he could not stoop to the kind of campaign that conditions in Alabama might require, so he stepped down and out" and that Senator Black had "the endorsement of the American Federation of Labor and it was said that the Klan supported him."

"I pick up a copy of Time magazine for August 26, 1935, and in a sketch of Senator Black in connection with his investigation of the public utilities lobby appears this statement:

"In 1926 the late Oscar W. Underwood, disgusted with Alabama politics, announced his retirement from the senate. Unknown Hugo Black was the dark horse in a five-man primary for the Underwood seat. Without any prominent support, he put on a wrinkled suit, climbed into a Model-T Ford, stumped the state, sleeping with any farmer who would put him up, speaking at every crossroads store, saying the right words to win Ku Klux Klan support. That year, a law in Alabama politics, Ku Kluxers helped put Hugo Black in the United States Senate. Elevation to the Senate did not make Hugo Black politically potent, but it enabled him to become politically respectable.

New Tax Will

and employe should be familiar with these new provisions of our act."

Principal changes in the state act were listed by Mr. Picard as:

1—Elimination of the $6,000 deduction on total annual payrolls and change of coverage from employers of one or more to employers of eight or more workers.

2—Advancing the date on which benefit payments to unemployed workers may begin from January 1, 1939 to July 1, 1938—six months earlier.

3—Three new types of employment exempted under the act: service performed by insurance salesmen on commission; part-time service where the worker's occupation during the school year is attending school (this applies mainly to newsboys) and employes whose work is performed mainly in a foreign country (this applies principally to employes of railroads entering Michigan from Canada).

4—Insertion of "teeth" in the act for the collection of delinquent contributions. This amendment gives the commission about the same powers as the state sales tax division now has, Mr. Picard said.

5—Appointment of an appeal board to hear disputed benefit claims by the Governor instead of the commission. The three-man board now will be appointed in April, 1938 instead of November, 1937, and will not be under the control of the commission.

6—Where formerly benefits could be denied workers who "financed strikes," amendments now provide that payment of "regular union dues" will not disqualify an unemployed worker from receiving benefits provided he is not on strike. The act makes strikers ineligible for benefits for as much as nine weeks of unemployment plus the three-week waiting period at the discretion of the commission.

7—Any service and any employer subject to the federal act now is subject to the Michigan unemployment compensation act if the service is performed in Michigan.

8—No benefits to be paid for a month of partial unemployment before January, 1939.

"The change in the definition of an employer was not the change we asked the legislature for, nor was it the change Governor Murphy wanted," Mr. Picard said. "The Governor and our commission feel that the benefits of unemployment compensation should be given every worker in covered employment. By this amendment, which eliminates the $6,000 exemption and covers only employers of eight or more, we estimate about 326,000 workers are eliminated who would have been covered had the one or more provision been adopted."

The advancement of the date for the start of benefit payments, however, was praised by Mr. Picard as a "forward step."

THE TONQUISH CREEK BREEZE
Vol. No. 1 Tonquish Creek, Michigan U. S. A.
There's not much news in the Creek this week. It's been so hot everybody has been cooling off by putting their feet in the freshening waters of the Tonquish.
Creeker Clair Maben was one of them. He stepped on some rotten oranges some one had dumped in the creek. It made him madder than a wet hen. "It wouldn't be so bad if it had been some rotten apples or some potatoes or something that comes from the soil of Michigan, but think of some one with so much nerve they threw some California oranges in the creek. That's what made me so mad. I'd been perfectly willing to step on some rotten apples in the creek, but when it comes to oranges, that is going a little too far," said Creeker Maben in an address to the Tonquish tribe members after the wading party.
Walt Harms, who moved into the Creek bottom some years ago from the Missouri river and flats, says the people of Tonquish have lost a great opportunity. He thinks the creek could have been saved to posterity if there had been enough ambition around town to level off some of the banks so folks could lie on the dry mud and roast themselves like they do down along the Missouri.
Jim Lyons, foreign editor of The Breeze, has been taken by the nape of the neck and moved up to some two-by-four place called Howell, up beyond the headwaters of the Creek. He wants to resign his job with The Breeze. There is no such thing as resigning from The Breeze. Once a member of The Breeze staff, always a member. It seems that Jim has been moved up into the front line trenches in order to fight some sort of a pest that has invaded this state from down along the Potomac. They call themselves REARERS. Some think maybe that's a few form of carpetbagging that's come to Michigan. Jim will soon find out he told the Breeze editor the other day.

corner on the crickets. Some of the boys wanted to go fishing the other day—and they had to settle with Rut before they could get any crickets.
There's some woods up the creek some seven or eight miles where a couple of buffalo roam. It's a funny thing. One of the Creek's famous creekers, Fred D. Schrader, has been spending most of his time up among the buffalo lately. Some of the creekers are becoming suspicious. They think he is either disgusted or he may be working on some new project for the Creek. The worst of it is, he won't talk to anybody about what he is doing.
The editor of our competition hasn't been seen around the creek much lately. He got into a mess up over his neck a while back and he didn't like the horse-laughing the boys gave him. Editors need a taking down now and then—and he got his. Maybe he'll wake up.

Western Rodeo Is Real Event

"The daddy of 'em all" is the way John McLaren describes the Cheyenne, Wyoming, annual rodeo. To prove the truth of this statement, one need only see a day's activities as put on by the "wooly West." Mr. McLaren and his family recently visited Wyoming and Colorado on a vacation trip.

The attendance on Frontier Day was not known, although a census taken of the cars showed at least one from every state in the union as well as from every territory and dependency of the United States. Michigan was represented by 25 cars, he states.

The day's performance began with a parade of all those taking part in the program, and participants ranged from Indians to government soldiers.

On the program were included professional bronc busting, bulldogging, calf roping, steer roping, amateur bucking, wild horse race, trick riding, Indian dances and many other features.

Of particular interest to many was the parade depicting the history of transportation in covered wagon, hack, army rig, stage coach, victoria, ranch wagon, surrey, hansom, cab, landau, shopping coupe, shay, phaeton, tea wagon, tally-ho, sleigh and other vehicles of a by-gone day rode ladies dressed in elaborate velvet and broadcloth costumes of their pioneer ancestors.

Much time and effort is spent in locating and obtaining the best possible livestock for the Cheyenne Frontier Day's celebration. Over 500 head of bucking horses, wild horses, brahma steers, longhorn steers, cows, and calves were brought in.

The roping and bulldogging steers, 125 in number, were produced in Old Mexico, 150 miles from the border. They were cut from five separate and distinct herds totaling over 4,000, and were trailed to Nogales, Arizona. From there they were shipped to Cheyenne.

At the opening of the show, each steer weighs approximately 800 pounds, and all are in perfect condition. None of the steers has ever been roped or "bulldogged." The string of bucking horses has been built up over a period of years from the best broncs obtainable. The horses are not trained buckers, but are outlaws that take particular delight in making the cowboy "bite the dust."

The world's best cowboys are attracted to this show, and those not equal to the test, are more or less left by the wayside. What is missed by tourists on a hasty trip through the West can easily be gained when and if they attend this great spectacle. Nothing is more exciting than the meeting of a tough cowboy and a wild horse, for they have no respect whatsoever for each other.

Store Tax Craze Dying Out

That protests from consumer and farm groups are putting the brakes on legislation which forces chain stores to raise their prices to consumers, is shown in a survey of bills proposed and laws enacted by state legislatures in their recent sessions. Altogether 88 anti-chain store tax bills, intended to cripple chain stores, were introduced in the legislatures of 32 states during their 1937 sessions. But only five of these once popular measures became laws, the other 83 being killed or falling to pass.

Wisconsin and Maine led in the trend away from special burdensome taxes on chains. Maine repealed its anti-chain store tax, enacted three years ago, and turned a cold shoulder on three bills to increase the levy. Recall of the tax was brought about almost entirely by farmers and farm associations, who objected to the tax on the grounds that the chain stores are their best markets and that any laws which injure markets injure the farmer's income.

Likewise in Wisconsin. Due largely to farm opinion Wisconsin allowed its tax of $250 on each store over 25 in a chain to expire, and failed to pass three proposals to continue this type of taxation.

Further indication of the growing unpopularity of anti-chain store legislation is seen in the failure of the United States Senate to enact a bill taxing the larger chains $550 a store in the District of Columbia. Although the proposal to soak the chains was advanced by strong opponents of chain stores in the House as an example to the rest of the country, it received little consideration in the senate committee where it was quickly killed.

The turning of the tide against taxes intended to penalize the chain stores started in California. There a huge tax on chain stores was passed by the legislature and submitted to the people to vote upon during the last national election. To the surprise of the politicians favoring the tax, it was voted down by their constituents in 57 out of 58 counties. Since then law-makers have stopped to wonder if special taxes on the stores which sell at low prices and make it possible for the masses of people to buy at low prices might not be boomerangs after all. For the public is coming to realize that special taxes on food chains mean higher prices, and farmers are already on record that they mean smaller markets and fewer sales.

All deaf cats are not blue-eyed although all blue-eyed cats are deaf.

Directory For Police Chiefs

The fifth edition of the Michigan Police Telephone Directory, published as an aid to law enforcement officers in their war on crime, is being distributed to local, county, state and federal authorities throughout Michigan by the Michigan Bell Telephone company. R. E. Crowe, manager for the company in this area, has delivered copies locally to Vaughn Smith, chief of police.

The new issue of the directory is eight pages thicker and somewhat more comprehensive than previous editions have been, containing additional information and listings, as well as designations to indicate the 22 police offices that are connected with the Wayne County Police Telephone system, a network by means of which those departments obtain a continuous exchange of information having to do with their work.

Listed in the directory are the names and telephone numbers of the heads of all Michigan municipal police departments; sheriffs of the state's 83 counties; commanding officers of all of the 34 state police posts, and the several federal law enforcement bureaus or branches in Michigan, such as the bureau of narcotics, bureau of investigation, the immigration and naturalization bureau, post office inspectors, etc.

Inserted in the book, also, is a map, lithographed in colors, which shows the layout of the Wayne county police teletype law enforcement network, and the location of the teletypewriters connected with it, together with the call numbers of the 22 machines. That system ties together the Detroit and Rockwood state police posts, the Wayne sheriff's offices, Detroit police radio station on Belle Isle, and the police departments of Detroit, Dearborn, Wyandotte, Ecorse, Flat Rock, Plymouth, Highland Park, Hamtramck, Grosse Pointe Park, Grosse Pointe Farms, Grosse Pointe City, Grosse Pointe Shores, Lincoln Park, Melvindale, Northville, River Rouge, Trenton and Wayne.

Forces Honesty In Auto Deals

House Act No. 215, passed by the recent Michigan legislature and now in effect, gives Secretary of State Leon D. Case, a valuable weapon in his war on unscrupulous auto dealers who in the past have cheated buyers through excessive finance charges, which in some cases have been inflated as high as 22 percent of the actual cost of the car.

Under the new law, the seller must deliver the buyer a statement covering charges of all description and a duplicate of this statement must be filed with the application for title or transfer of title. The act provides a penalty of $100 or 90 days in jail for violation and in addition the secretary has the authority to revoke a dealer's license if he is found guilty.

Provisions of the act are briefly as follows: "The seller shall deliver to the buyer a written statement describing clearly the motor vehicle, the cash price, cash credited for any trade-in and a description of the same, the amount of the finance charge, the amount of any other charge specifying the purpose, the balance due, the terms of payment and a summary of any insurance coverage."

The law affects all auto sales, both old and new and no title will be issued unless the certified statement of purchase agreement is attached with the title application.

At the present time, the secretary of state's office is receiving approximately 1,000 title applications and purchase agreements a day.

Approximately $800,000,000 is paid in state and federal gasoline taxes in a year.

Former Trolley Workers Picnic

Traveling many of the same roads over which they once drove the old trolleys, over 200 motor-men and conductors of the old Detroit, Jackson & Chicago electric railway last Sunday drove in automobiles to Plymouth Riverside for their annual picnic.

The former crews of the D. J. & C. gathered here to live again in memories those days prior to 1929 when they were the spirit of transportation. The line was operated out of Detroit and it branched out into Dearborn, Wayne, Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Lima Center, Chelsea, Grass Lake and Jackson. From these points spurs reached out into Plymouth, Saline and Northville.

When the trolley cars came into importance these then small towns assumed the proportions of small metropolitan centers, and their size increased as each year passed. Soon after, however, the advent of the automobile made the operation of trolleys a liability, and it was difficult to meet operating costs. So in 1929 the D. J. & C. gave up the struggle. But the picnic of Sunday proved that those who once worked this line had not given up the struggle, and that they were still clinging to the good old days.

President of the association was A. H. Cady, of Ann Arbor. He began his career as a conductor in 1906, from which post he was advanced until in 1927 he was made general superintendent. Charles J. Thumme, of Plymouth has been secretary of the picnic organization for a number of years, but this year refused to accept the position for the coming year.

There was much talk about the grand old days, about the bad crash at Burrell's Curve when a local and a limited crashed, and of the other hectic night at Cady's Corners, near Wayne.

Some told about the first electric car in Detroit, slowly wheeling its way out Jefferson avenue. Others told about the last horse car, which one night in November, 1892, was hauled by manpower up Woodward avenue. The parade, for that's what it really was, stopped at Grand Circus park where the old car was dismantled, and its parts carried away by the ever-present souvenir collectors.

During the winter the floors of the bob-tailed cars were lined with straw which was supposed to keep the passengers' feet warm. These cars were manned by a one-man crew and drawn by only one horse.

At the conclusion of the stories by the oldtimers and after many pleasant memories of a day long since gone by, officers for next year were elected. They are: Ralph Southard, president; Roy Wise, vice-president; and Joseph Price, secretary-treasurer. The next meeting will be held on the farm of Mr. Price, near Ypsilanti, along the Huron River Drive, on the third Sunday in August, 1938.

Because of its mild flavor veal requires more seasoning than other meats. Slower cooking is also necessary.

It is necessary to have males in a poultry flock for a week or more before saving eggs for hatching, says D. C. Warren, poultry husbandry expert at Kansas State college.

A Rocker
In the California gold rush some miners obtained the precious metal by digging the earth, placing it in a tin pan, pouring on water and then shaking the pan so as to throw out the muddy water and leave the gold particles. Another method was to use a box mounted on rockers, called a "rocker".

Evidence of the character of our service can be gained from the approbation voiced by our clients.

Shed Fire Causes Slight Damage

Firemen were called to the home of David Perkins, 218 Hamilton, early last Monday evening to extinguish a fire in a small building, directly behind the Perkins residence. Both trucks went to the scene of the fire but it was necessary to use only the new pump. The building was blazing when firemen arrived but the flames were soon extinguished. The building had been used as a garage and woodhouse. The amount of damage was not large.

The convention delegates will be guests of the Paris expedition where they will spend about two weeks. Use Cannon In Legion Parade

Plymouth's World War relic, the three-inch field piece that has decorated Kellogg park—since 1920 when the gun was given to the city of Plymouth by the war department, was on display in the Legion parade in Detroit Monday night.

The big gun, loaded on a state highway truck, caused much interest as it was wheeled through the streets of Detroit. It was returned to its location the next day, the parade trip having been the first time it was moved from its location in the park since the day it was set there by members of the Legion back in 1920.
