Ford Petitions Freely Signed In Plymouth

City Resents Political Campaign Against Ford

Petitions appealing to President Roosevelt to stop the unwarranted, unrestrained and hateful attacks on Henry Ford because of the fact that Ford has not seen fit to become a political henchman of the present administration, are being circulated in Plymouth according to those who have sought signatures of local residents, there has not been a single refusal to sign.

The petitions came from the Dearborn Pioneers club, a non-day luncheon organization of Dearborn, the members of which have grown up with and have known Henry Ford during their lifetime.

They believe that by calling directly to the attention of the president the fact that working men are unjustly suffering as a result of this political campaign against Ford that it is about time for some action to be taken to stop it.

Every one, seemingly, irrespective of what they do to make a living, employed and unemployed, are signing the petitions.

They believe that maybe if the Washington politicians will stop fighting those who try to give employment that there might be an improvement in business so that men can go back to work.

Recall History Of Local Church

Members of the Presbyterian church and friends are planning an interesting and appropriate service Sunday morning in commemoration of the 105th anniversary of the founding of that church. In addition to the sermon, special musical numbers have been planned for Wednesday evening, February 3, an anniversary dinner will be served at the church at 6:30 p.m. Following the dinner a program with varied instrumental numbers, solos, and addresses will be given with the Rev. Leslie A. Betzhtel, D.D., of Detroit Calvary Presbyterian church delivering the main talk of the evening.

One hundred five years ago, the early pioneers were coming with their high hopes and meagre possessions into the limitless forests of this country to settle here, clearing small spaces for fields and small homes. Desiring homes, schools, and roads, they worked diligently for them, but with all their industry they did not fail to remember God and the church.

It came about on February 23, 1833, a little group of people came out of their homes in this new land to meet at the home of Ira Bronson for the purpose of organizing a congregation of worshippers. The Bronson home was only partially finished at that time, and the little group of people were forced to crowd into one little room to conduct their business. Rev. Ira M. Mead of Ypsilanti acted as moderator and Rev. Eric Prince of Farmington as clerk, both under the direction of the Detroit Presbytery.

The name first adopted was The Second Presbyterian Church of Plymouth, the name Plymouth then being applied to the territory now covered by Northville and Plymouth townships. In 1839 the First Presbyterian church of Plymouth had been organized in Northville. James Purdy and Ira Bronson were elected to be elders.

Court of Honor For Scouts Is The Largest

This District Makes Awards For Good Work

The Boy Scout Court of Honor for the Plymouth district was held at the Northville high school last Thursday evening with scouts from Plymouth, Wayne County Training school, Rosedale Gardens, and Northville receiving awards; also Cub Packs from Plymouth and Northville.

After a fine band concert by the Northville high school band, under the direction of Mr. Lee, from 7:00 to 7:30, the court was in order and impressively conducted before one of the largest gatherings that has ever assembled in Plymouth district for a court of honor.

Charles Warner, field scout executive from the Wayne county headquarters, was present and during the awards made some very pleasing and pertinent remarks about scouting. One outstanding innovation was the use of scout songs instead of the scout cheering which had been so prominent in other courts of honor.

Those assisting Scout Commissioner Sidney Strong and Deputy Commissioners George Chute of Plymouth and Orlov Owens of Northville were Ex-Scout Commissioner William Hodson and the following: A. C. Carlson, Rev. Lord, Rev. Closson, Paul Harsh, Carlton Lewis, Charles Schultz.

Catches 23 Pound Carp In Walled Lake

San Francisco can have its whales; but Walled Lake has its carp. Friday afternoon, Louis Schroder of 535 Starkweather, returned from a fishing trip at Walled Lake that netted him a 23 and one-quarter pound carp, measuring 32 inches long and 22 inches around. Probably one of the biggest ever caught about here. Mr. Schroder said the fish put up a stiff battle and it was some little time before he finally landed it. Two pike, weighing four and seven pounds, completed the day's catch.

Lieut. Governor Visits Kiwanis

Paul (Jerry) Neihaus, lieutenant governor of district No. 6, paid an official visit to the Kiwanis club here Tuesday evening. The festivities of the evening were begun with a number of selections by the newly organized Kiwanis orchestra, and were followed by the presentation of a new member by James Gallimore.

President George Burr introduced Mr. Neihaus, who gave the talk of the evening, giving a comparative analysis of the objects of the Kiwanis International. He briefly, but with emphasis, showed the wonderful opportunities for service to be rendered to a community.

A diploma recently presented to George Haas by the club, honoring him as being one of the original members of the Plymouth club, was displayed by Mr. Haas, who is proud to have been member No. 2 on the roll of the first Kiwanis club in existence.

Urge Purchase Of License Plates

Up to the present time the license bureau here has issued approximately 1200 sets of all types of license plates, leaving about P-1, Dean Vanlandingham, P-3; 3500 more to be purchased between now and the deadline on March 1.

Those in charge of the bureau are urgent in their request that all persons who are able to do so should apply for their licenses at once in order to prevent a last-minute rush and long hours of waiting. The office is being held open until 8:00 o'clock each evening as a convenience to customers.

Mrs. Henry Randall entertained the Revue club Tuesday evening for dinner at her home on Agn. street.

Robbers Get Cash From School And Stores

Three Places Are Broken Into Saturday Night

Two Plymouth business houses and the school suffered money losses as the result of robberies over the week-end.

Some time during the storm Saturday night, thieves broke into the school house and took approximately $99.00 in cash from the school safe, from which the combination lock had been forced. Entrance to the building had been gained through a window in the lunch room on the first floor. Nothing else of value had been disturbed, even though there had been stamps and valuable papers with the money. A few fingerprints were the only positive clues found by the police.

On Sunday night, Wolf's Cash Market on Penniman avenue was entered, but nothing was molested. Money was evidently the objective of the thieves, since nothing was touched except the cash register, which contained no money. Entrance to the market had been gained through a door in the basement.

The third place visited, was the Cloverdale Dairy on West Ann Arbor Trail where $13 was taken from the cash drawer.

Police have been unable to positively determine whether the thefts were committed by the same persons, although it is thought that such is the case, judging from the similarity in the acts committed.

A warning comes from the local police department against leaving money in business houses where it is easily available to intruders.

To Plant Lilacs Throughout City

An especially interesting meeting of the Plymouth branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden association, with the president, Mrs. Paul Wiedman, in charge, was held Monday afternoon with Mrs. Ward Henderson when she graciously opened her lovely home for its monthly meeting and valentine tea. There were 20 ladies present to listen to the general discussion on what to plan for the early gardens. Suggestions were given that the front yard be given a little more thought now rather than the back yard as heretofore with the idea that everyone passing might have the privilege to enjoy it also that it would be an inspiration to others.

Mrs. Charles H. Bennett, a member of the sub-committee of the city planning committee, was present and presented the idea of planting lilacs throughout the city, and asking the ladies their opinion. It was voted by the association to accept that plan. The petunia was voted the flower of the association, seeds of which will be distributed later among the members for their own use. The following motto was chosen for the association: "Coming together is a beginning, keeping together is progress, thinking together is unity, working together is success."

The following committees were named: Program, Mrs. Louise Tritten, chairman; Mrs. Sam Spicer, Mrs. Mark J. Chaffee, Mrs. Ward Henderson, Mrs. J. Merle Bennett, Mrs. O. F. Beyer, Mrs. C. L. Cowell, Mrs. Austin Whipple; publicity, Mrs. Frank Dunn; membership, Mrs. Thomas W. Moss, chairman; Mrs. George Cramer, Mrs. Arthur White, Mrs. Max Swegle, Mrs. Harvey Whipple, Mrs. Carl Shear, Mrs. John T. Neale, Mrs. C. W. Ferguson; marketing, Mrs. J. W. Blickenstaff, chairman; Mrs. J. L. Olsson, Mrs. Ralph Lorenz, Mrs. George A. Smith; transportation, Mrs. J. Haber, chairman; Mrs. J. W. Blickenstaff, Mrs. Paul Wiedman, Mrs. Ward Henderson.

Tea with dainty cakes and cookies in valentine day decorations were served from a table attractively centered with red and white carnations. Two new members were added at this meeting. The March meeting will be a luncheon meeting, Monday, March 14. Tickets for the annual flower show, to be held in Convention hall, Detroit, from March 18-27 inclusive, may be purchased of Mrs. Paul Wiedman.

Over $124 Raised For School Milk Fund-$62 To Northville

School Official Sends Thanks

February 14, 1938.

"Dear Mr. Eaton: I want to congratulate you, your committee, the Mayflower hotel, and the community on the fine Lincoln Day dinner, and upon the fact that the needy children will receive $124 or more as a result of the gracious contributions from those present.

"We have today begun the dispensing of milk at Starkweather school, and those who are in need and unable to buy their milk will be supplied.

"The money will be dispensed through the two P.T.A. organizations and the community nurse.

"It is a blessing to the needy boys and girls that those attending the fine Lincoln Day dinner were unselfish in their enjoyment and remembered those who are in need.

"Thanking you again for your splendid idea and for the fine cooperation which you received, I remain

"Sincerely,
"GEORGE A. SMITH."

Women Oppose Four Year Terms

The Plymouth League of Women Voters held its February meeting at the home of Mrs. Clara Patterson Todd last Friday. Mrs. Ray Johns, the league president, gave a report of the state board meeting in Lansing, Wednesday, February 9, at which the Michigan league voted "no" on a proposal to try to keep incumbent county officers in office four years instead of two, the present term. Petitions increasing the term of office to four years had been circulated by politicians in several counties, but the plan was frowned upon by such prominent students of government as Dr. Lent D. Upson and Mr. Lovett of Detroit.

Mrs. Johns also gave a report of the seminar conducted in Detroit last week by Mr. Lindemann. Mrs. Seth Virgo read the report on "Government in Operation" which was prepared by the local chairman of the department, Mrs. Thams. Mrs. John Dalton gave her report on "Government and Child Welfare"; Mrs. Ruth Huston Whipple gave one on "Municipal Affairs"; and Mrs. Bruce Woodbury gave a very informative talk on "Milk". The program was under the direction of Mrs. C. E. Elliott.

Postmaster Is Legion Guest

Postmaster Frank Learned was in Detroit Monday night to a meeting of the Charles A. Learned Post No. 1 when 115 members of that organization were present with a four-star card signifying that they had been active members 20 consecutive years of that post.

This post, the oldest in Michigan, was named in honor of the brother of Postmaster Learned, who was killed during the World War. It is not only the oldest, but one of the largest.

When this interesting event was planned, Commander Sid A. Cox and Adjutant Ted D. Kautz immediately invited the Plymouth postmaster to be present. He states that he thoroughly enjoyed the occasion.

Among those to receive the cards were Recorder's Judge W. McCay Skillman, Common Pleas Judge Joseph Gillis, Col. James M. (Pat) O'Dea, and Harold H. Emmons, former police commissioner.

Detroit To Speak To Townsendites

The regular meeting of the Townsend club of Plymouth will be held Monday evening, February 21, in the Grange hall. The speaker will be Alda Madison Wade, of Detroit, and it is hoped that all members, new and old, and anyone interested in the Townsend plan will be present if possible. The club has decided to celebrate Washington's birthday at this meeting and all who wish and are able to pay a dollar to Dr. Townsend at national headquarters to further the enactment of the plan into law are asked to do so. The Townsend plan is on the air in this locality over WJEC, Detroit, every Sunday at 3:15 p.m. and every Tuesday at 8:45 p.m. over WCFB, Chicago, 979 Kilocycles.

Looks For Better Business Soon

Alford S. Lyndon, general manager of the Perfection Sprinkler company, has returned to Plymouth from a business trip that took him to many southern states including Florida, and he has returned home with encouraging reports for business for his company during the present year.

"While I was advised that business is running something like 20 percent below normal at present along the east coast in Florida, it is exceedingly quiet on the interior of that state. The west coast seemed to be doing a little better than they were along the Atlantic side," he said.

"Prices of fruit in Florida are exceedingly low and not much demand. However, most people I talked with were hopeful that conditions would be better later in the year."

Mr. Lyndon stated that the Perfection is about the only sprinkler now being sold in Florida. There is an especially good demand for the crop irrigation sprinkling outfit produced in Plymouth, he stated.

Many From Here In Sunshine City

Among recent arrivals in St. Petersburg, Florida, according to the registration department of the sunshine city are the following from Plymouth:

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Joy, Plymouth road; Mr. and Mrs. George Schmidt and Marvin Schmidt, Plymouth road; Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Snyder, R. F. D.; Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Sorenson, Penniman avenue; and Chase Willett, Holbrook avenue.

Final arrangements for St. Petersburg's Golden Jubilee festival of states were completed this week by the permanent festival committee, which set the dates of March 29-April 1 for the big event, which attracts many thousands of northerners wintering in all parts of Florida and neighboring states. Plymouth visitors will witness this celebration.

In celebration of the city's 50th anniversary historical landmarks in St. Petersburg's growth from a small fishing village will be themes for parades and pageants during festival week. OX-drawn carts will be utilized in a re-enactment of the founding of the city by General John Constantine Williams, son of Detroit's first mayor, and Michigan's first millionaire, a half century ago. Ancient equipment provided by the railroads entering the city are to be employed in a pageant portraying the entry of the first train into St. Petersburg in 1888, and the journey of the passengers to the first hotel, The Detroit, in carts drawn by oxen.

Celebrates Three Years In Business

It was just three years ago today when Albert Burrows started his Liberty meat market on Liberty street. While he has gone through the ups and downs of every other business man, Mr. Burrows is enjoying a better business than ever before. In celebration of the successful ending of his third year in business for himself, he is this week-end conducting a special sale.

Four good friends of Plymouth, Northville and other western Wayne county communities, aided the funds of the two communities by contributions. They not only contributed to the charity funds, but they came to see what a good, every day meat market the store, Orville Albertson, state, Louis Weber.

Lincoln Day Committees Are Delighted Over Success

Needy School Children Already Benefited

"Milk, good rich milk—delicious, life-sustaining food—is being enjoyed these days by dozens and dozens of unfortunate school children of Plymouth as the result of the contributions made by the several hundreds of good citizens in this part of Wayne county who attended last Wednesday night's Lincoln day charity dinner at the Mayflower hotel."

Monday forenoon when the final check of funds was made and after the hotel had been paid, there was left $124.25 for the Plymouth public school milk fund and $62.50 for the King's Daughters of Northville.

There has been set up an account for the Plymouth school milk fund that will be expended under the direction of Mrs. Paul Wiedman, president of the Central Parent-Teachers' association, Mrs. John Arigan, president of the Starkweather Parent-Teachers' association and Mrs. George Strasen, public school nurse.

Many, many hundreds of quarts of milk can be purchased with this $124.25, but unfortunately the demand is great and the committee in charge of the expenditure of the milk fund is not certain that it will last until the next year. However, it is their plan to make the fund go just as far as possible and to see to it that the school children in the greatest need are well provided for while there is money with which to buy milk.

Committee members were delighted when it was discovered that there would be considerable over $100 for the use of the school milk fund. Every one associated with the promotion of the rather unique, low priced dinner for their efforts had been more than rewarded.

In Northville, the officials of the King's Daughters who have been carrying an unusually heavy demand during the present winter, were also pleased. The $62.50 of the ticket committee in that place turned over to the charity organization, will not only be used to buy food for many who are in distress, but in some cases it will buy clothing and medical supplies.

The Lincoln day dinner brought to Plymouth and the Mayflower hotel much favorable comment throughout the state. Without much question the event was probably as successful as any held in Michigan. The only unfortunate part of the affair was the fact that hundreds who had sought tickets the last day were necessarily turned away because of a complete sell-out.

In fact, so urgent was the demand for tickets that it was reported about the Mayflower lobby, extra sums were being offered to those who were willing to dispose of their tickets.

The big crowd was just the kind that the committee had hoped it would be. There were large numbers of working men, many who could not afford to pay more than 50 cents for their tickets. Others paid 25 and 50 cents extra. A few donated a dollar or two extra to the school milk fund.

Four good friends of Plymouth, Northville and other western Wayne county communities, aided the funds of the two communities by contributions. They not only contributed to the charity funds, but they came to see what a good, every day meat market the store, Orville Albertson, state, Louis Weber.

PRAYER FOR A VERY NEW ANGEL.

God, God, be very lenient her first night there
The crib she slept in was so near my bed:
Her blue and white wool blanket was so soft
Her pillow hollowed so to fit her head.

Teach me that she'll not want small rooms or me
When she has You and Heaven's immensity.

I hoped to make her fearless in the dark
And yet—she was so small—one little light,
Not in the room, it scarcely mattered. Hark!

No; No; She seldom cried. God, not too far
For her to see, this first night, please light a Star.

And, in the morning, when she woke up
I always kissed her on the left cheek where
The dimple was. And oh, I wet the brush
It made it easier to curl her hair.

Just—just tomorrow, God, I pray
When she wakes up, do things for her my way.
—By Violet Allyn Storey.

FALSE PROPAGANDA.

So vast is the amount of propaganda that comes to newspaper offices these days that newspaper editors no longer have time to read but a small portion of it. It seems that in recent years every public official, all departments of state and government and various political groups have their propaganda agents that flood newspaper offices with material they desire printed.

Not only does the material come direct from these various officials and governmental units, but they go so far as to get their insidious propaganda sent to newspapers through legitimate and trade organizations.

Recently there came through the mails to the newspapers a statement that the terrific increase in public expenditures was due to "the demand of the people back home". This was not the first time such an assertion has been made by the tax spenders and in behalf of the tax spenders.

There is nothing quite so untrue as this statement. The effort to make it appear that the constant and alarming growth of public expenditures is due to the demands of the people of Plymouth, North Adams, Coldwater, Gaylord, or of the big cities or strictly rural sections is just a part of the scheming of those in control of public affairs to make it appear that they are not responsible for the unjustified and unreasonable increased cost of government.

Not one single request came to the writer during the last session of the state legislature from a taxpayer or voter of this district which asked for or suggested an increased appropriation for anything or for a public expenditure of any kind.

Frequently, letters came in which it was suggested that every possible effort be made to cut down public expenditures—but not one single person in the district asked for or urged the support of any measure that meant an increased tax burden upon the state.

Therefore, the propaganda that the "people back home asked for it" is not in the slightest degree true.

But where does the demand for new state commissions, new state boards, new governmental activities and new political jobs come from?

Just one source—those who want the jobs. Over here in some corner of the state we find one group asking for and demanding a new state commission for this or that. They send a "lobby" over to Lansing or Washington and demand that a bill be passed creating that commission or board, because "the people" want it. They tell the legislators that if they don't vote for it, they will beat them at the next election. Sometimes other means are used. The bill is passed and ignorant, palavering governors sign it. Thereby is hatched another mess of political jobs for the taxpayers to support.

The objectionable welfare bills that the people should snow under this fall by a tremendous vote were created in just the same way as most of these other tax eating bills become laws. No, the people do not ask for these things. They do not

Uncle Aesop

By James Hays

As Uncle Aesop tells it
John Ginger never knew
A bit of laziness until
The Sunday roosters crew.
He bounded up on week days
In the gray and chilly dawn,
But when the Lord was calling
His Sunday snooze was on.

John died. Came Angel Gabriel
Upon the Judgment Day
"You-got-to-get-up,
you-got-to-get-up,"
He made his trumpet say.

It happened on a Sunday
And John awoke too late.
He shouted to the angels
Up at the Pearly Gate.

"I've missed the train for Heaven
And the quota's full in Hell!"
Gabriel said, "Go back to sleep,
You sleep so dog-goned well!"

want them, but the groups that profit by their enactment spend thousands and thousands of dollars in propaganda to make the people believe that it is something they want and that they need.

Everybody is represented in Lansing and Washington except the public, it seems.

And until there is a sufficient number elected to the state legislature and to congress with backbone and sense enough to realize that these special groups represent only small factions possessed only with the one desire to get their hands into the pockets of Mr. Taxpayer, it is difficult to see where there can be any improvement over present conditions.

IT IS A FAILURE, WHY TRY IT?

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics declared that foreign countries had experienced indifferent success with restrictive farm-production measures.

Such attempts "often were inoperative and unenforceable," the bureau added in an analysis of foreign agricultural policies, according to a Washington newspaper correspondent.

The analysis was made public while new crop-control legislation for this country was nearing completion. Meanwhile Louis H. Bean, AAA economist, predicted that the administration's ever-normal granary program would not raise farm prices materially within the next few years. He predicted that "the purchasing power of the farm prices and therefore of farmers is likely to be lower over the next few years than it was in 1935-37."

A GOOD WAY TO PROMOTE THE TOWNSEND PLAN.

We notice that the District of Columbia court of appeals has upheld the conviction of Dr. Townsend, he of the $200-a-month fame, for contempt by the House of representatives. The old doctor and his fantastical scheme, you will remember, got such a following about three years ago that Congressmen saw fit to investigate him. Displeased at the questioning, the old Doc walked out on 'em.

That was contempt. As we once before mentioned in this column, it's a good thing that most of us cannot be arrested for what we think of Congress. If we could there wouldn't be enough courts to handle the contempt cases. But we suppose the Congress of the United States, in order to protect its supposed prestige, will force the issue and make the old man serve the 30 days in jail and pay the $100 fine.

That will be a most excellent way to revive the fading interest in the Townsend Plan. When a man becomes a martyr he gains sympathy. Sympathy may not embrace good judgment, but it works. Many a candidate has gained public office on these premises. Sometimes it's a withered hand, sometimes a crippled mother. In one case not so far away, becoming the father of quadruplets did the trick. Believing in the impossible $200-a-month plan can be harmless entertainment for many people—just like some of the Alice in Wonderland stories of the "pot of gold at the end of the rainbow," and other bedtime varieties of fiction. Making a martyr out of the over-zealous old gentleman who originated it might, conceivably, prove mighty embarrassing to some of those dignified gentlemen whose principal aim in life is maintaining their dignity and perpetuating their jobs.—Schuyler Marshall in The Clinton County Republican-News.

NO RELIEF WANTED

With so many demands for relief funds to tide over the unemployed factory workers, we were cheered by the efforts of one man to support himself and family. Recently when the automobile factory where he is employed cut his working hours so that his income was much too low to meet his living conditions, he didn't sit around on his off days and bemoan his fate or seek government aid. He did something about his bad break.

He went out and solicited some hot noon-day lunch business. His wife is a good cook, and together they prepare and distribute the most appetizing lunches for 25 cents. Together they make enough for food for the family with sometimes a few extra dollars. His small wages cover their other expenses and they are happy that their planning and efforts can tide them over this period.—George Neal in The Orion Review.

BETTER DAYS AHEAD

Majority of the merchants are liberal and persistent advertisers. Newspapers published in such towns will not accept the advertising of the mail order houses, nor would it be profitable for the mail order concerns to use much space in such papers, for the trading public would prefer to "trade at home" when they saw the home merchants were up to date and advertising their wares.

POLITICIANS ARE POOR BUSINESSMEN
Among the first things he did when he succeeded Alex J. Groesbeck as governor on January 1, 1927, Fred W. Green re-wrote the contract between the state and the Grand Trunk railroad regarding the re-location of the latter's right-of-way. Those who know say that Groesbeck's contract was "air-tight" in the interests of the taxpayers of Michigan. That Green's contract resulted in plenty of loss for Michigan is seen in the figures published several weeks ago when, including interest charges that were not included—but should have been—the state showed a loss of several millions of dollars. On the average, politicians prove themselves very poor businessmen.—George Averill in The Birmingham Eclectic.

Gun Club Expects National Charter

The Plymouth Gun club, organized the middle of last November, is expecting its charter from the National Rifle Association some time this month, which will make the members eligible to shoot in competition with Ann Arbor, Saline, and other nearby rifle clubs.

The club, with a membership of 20, meets Tuesday nights and Sunday mornings in the building adjacent to the rear of the Plymouth Lumber and Coal company, which has been generously furnished by the Daisy Manufacturing company. Lumber for backstubs was donated by Plymouth Tube company, Inc., and the Plymouth Lumber and Coal company has allowed them the privilege of tapping their wires for lighting purposes, all of which is greatly appreciated by members who have made a real attempt to make the club a success.

Each member must furnish his own gun—a 22 rifle. Any boy above the age of 18 years is eligible to join, and he must be a citizen of the United States. Dues include $2.00 a year, plus a nominal initiation fee, with an additional range fee, if the person so wishes, for the use of the target range at other than the designated times.

Development of better and more accurate marksmanship, and an attempt to show members the proper use and care of firearms are the chief aims of the organization.

Richard Hower heads the club as president with Charles Hower as vice president and Alvin Collins as secretary-treasurer. Ira Hauk and George Peterson are acting as range officers. The names of all charter members will be listed with the war department in Washington when the official charter is issued.

At the unanimous request of the club, Capt. Charles Thumme fingerprinted all members Sunday morning, the results being recorded in Lansing and Washington, D. C.

Windstorm Co. Makes Big Gains

The annual meeting of the Michigan Mutual Windstorm Insurance company of Hastings was held at the home office January 19, all the directors being present. Reports showed that the company had a very successful year.

The board of directors of this sound old company is composed of members chosen from various parts of the state as follows: Orr C. Stanley, Indian River; Clare O. Thorp, Kalamazoo; Harrison Dadds of West Branch; Robert Bessmer, Owosso; E. A. Parker, Hastings; Jerome Harmon, Ludington; W. P. Green, Hillsdale; M. DeYoung, Muskegon; L. W. Sunday, Guy E. Crook, Hastings; M. E. Cota, Big Rapids; William A. Bartlett, Merrill; Charles H. Hughes, Delton; Fred R. Likens, Memphis; W. H. Burd, Ann Arbor.

The company is in splendid, healthy condition. During the past year the 700 guests have written $43,000,000 worth of new business, with a net gain of over $13,000,000. The membership of the company has also increased, over 4,000 added during the year.

The directors selected the following officers: L. W. Sunday, president; Guy E. Crook, vice-president; E. A. Parker, secretary-treasurer; all of Hastings.

This company which ranks second in size in the world in this form of insurance, has rendered a most valuable service to the property owners of the state. Whenever a policyholder suffers a loss by windstorm, one of the many adjusters of the company will be on the ground as soon as possible and make adjustments and see that the loss is promptly taken care of.—The Lowell Ledger.

Stolen Cars On The Increase

During the past several months, a rather large number of automobiles were reported stolen, according to Police Chief V. R. Smith, and were obviously used for joy riding. Although all of the cars have been recovered within 12 hours without apparent harm, Chief Smith wishes to remind the culprits that they are liable to a sentence of 3 to 5 years in the state prison for "unlawfully driving a motor vehicle". A serious effort is being made to determine the identity of the offenders, he said.

In all cases where the cars were stolen, owners had left the keys in the cars. Chief Smith asks that car owners; as a protection to themselves, be more careful when leaving their cars, seeing that windows are rolled and keys removed.

Valuable Aluminum Pyramid Caps Washington Monument

Few visitors to the Washington monument have seen the 100-ounce pyramid of pure aluminum which caps this famous 555-foot structure in the nation's capital. This rare picture was taken in 1934 when the monument was cleaned and overhauled.

Costing $1,300,000, the monument was started in 1848, was left unfinished when the nation entered the Civil war, and was finally dedicated on February 21, 1885. The capstone, the peak of which is shown below the aluminum pyramid, weighs 3,300 pounds. Its placement was an unusual engineering accomplishment.

Photograph at the right shows the monument from a distance at night, its peak bathed in a bright light that makes it visible for miles.

Plymouth Fishermen Featured In Detroit Sunday Free Press

Jack Van Coevering Finds Out How They Catch Blue Gills

Jack Van Coevering, out-door editor of The Detroit Free Press, has discovered that Plymouth has some of the smartest fishing fans in Michigan, and as a result of his discovery there appeared on the out-door page of a Sunday Free Press nearly a half page of pictures and write-up of Dr. B. E. Champe, Dr. Paul Butz and Russell Powell.

The pictures, one especially of Dr. Butz, were exceptionally good. It showed the three fishing fans doing a few fancy tricks in catching bluegills through the ice over on Orchard lake.

The Van Coevering story is so interesting that it is printed in full, as follows:

"The secret is out. Bluegills in Oakland county lakes and other lakes near Detroit can be caught through the ice. During the past couple of weeks little dots of fishermen who experimented with various methods reported success in luring the finicky sunfish. When the news spread, the few small groups became large groups. Other anglers tried other lakes, with the result that winter fishing for bluegills has become a new pastime in this area.

"Anglers who are successful in catching bluegills through the ice say they really are finicky customers. They won't pay much attention to the summer fare of garden worms fastened on the end of just any old line. In winter-time, their appetites go for tidbits not found on the summer menu such as goldenrod grubs, wigglers, and wood grubs.

"On a nearby lake we found Guy Donnell, of Pontiac, baiting his hook with goldenrod grubs. He had the galls laying out on the ice, cut in halves, with the little white grub in clear sight. When the hook was bare he bluegills in winter is in the tackle. A light gut leader is essential. About three to six feet of leader is enough, but be sure to have a 4X tippet. Use about a number 10 hook. Some anglers prefer to use a long shank hook because it is easier to remove this from the fish's mouth. Others maintain that the short shank or spider hook is more effective, since almost all the bait is covered by the hook. We have seen both types of hooks catch bluegills.

"A light rod is helpful in this game, although not essential. The light rod will be found more sensitive. Since bluegills do not bite hard in winter as a rule, such rods will raise the percentage of catch quite a bit. Most winter fishermen like to use a cork or bobber, and for bluegill fishing helps give a warning of when there is action down below.

As to the depth of water to fish: This varies with the different lakes, and may even vary with the time of day. We discovered one afternoon, that in about 20 feet of water, six or seven feet was the right depth. For a time you may find the bluegills biting only occasionally, but sometime during the day, a school of the fish will surround your bait and you will be able to pull them up almost as fast as you can let down your hook.

"On one such occasion Russell Powell, of Plymouth, fishing with two hooks on his line, made a double catch twice in succession. Each one of the four fish were keepers. Bluegill fishing is legal until March 15. The size must be at least six inches. The daily catch limit is 25 fish, including perch, crappies and other panfish."

Plan Commission Has Legal Status

At a meeting of the city commission Monday evening, Mayor Henry Hondorp appointed members of the planning commission in accordance with the legal requirements for the organization of such a body.

The new commission will contain no public officials, the city manager and city engineer acting only as ex-officio members. They may, however, serve on sub-committees to which they are appointed. This change will only slightly effect the present personnel of the planning commission, and there will be no interference with plans already inaugurated, all changes having been made to make the status of the organization legal.

J. M. Bennett, F. R. Hohelsel, and Mrs. M. Bennett were named to serve on the commission for a period of three years; Miss Alice M. Safford, Lisle Alexander, and George Burr will serve two years; and Mrs. Ray Johns, E. R. Eaton and J. L. Blickenstaff for one year. Hereafter new members will be selected for a three-year term.

In addition to commission business, Mayor Hondorp and Clarence H. Elliott, city clerk, were authorized to execute the right-of-way agreement with the Wayne county drain commissioner in order that the commission will be able to cover Tonquish Creek across the public right-of-way from Wing street, across Forrest, over to Ann Arbor street. It is expected that this contract will be let within 30 to 45 days.

Police Chief V. R. Smith and Mayor Hondorp will attend a meeting of milk dealers and inspectors in Grand Rapids February 23 and 24 when a discussion of the public sale of milk and the best methods to be used in keeping it.

Ordinance 105, abolishing ordinance 94 as amended by 96 was given its third reading before the commission and was passed, going into effect February 28. This ordinance makes it necessary for transient merchants to have licenses for selling goods in this locality.

Do You Know Your Driving Rules?

In an effort to reduce the number of automobile accidents on Michigan highways, the state has issued a pamphlet, available to every driver, in which the rules of driving are named and explained. It is the hope of authorities that this information will be read and tested by each person applying for driver's license.

The booklet, in part, discusses the following:

Motor vehicle should be operated at careful, prudent speeds, not greater than reasonable under the conditions then existing. Signs stating speed limits on bridges, viaducts, etc., should be carefully observed. This limit is established so that a greater strain is not caused than the structure can withstand.

Vehicles may be overtaken and passed only when, without doubt, it is safe to do so. The driver of the overtaking car not in a business or residential district must sound his horn before passing.

One-half hour after sunset to one-half hour before sunrise lights should be used. Lights should also be used during the day when it rains, when there's mist, fog, snow, etc.

Persons operating vehicles must have their drivers' licenses in their immediate possession, and should there be changes of address other than on the license it must be reported to the police headquarters where the change will be noted.

Pedestrians should exercise the same degree of care when walking upon the highways as is required of motorists when driving. Generally, persons walking should do so on the left side of the road, so that they face traffic. Observance of this practice, constant alertness by pedestrians and cooperation with motorists will reduce the accidents which now claim 40 percent of the lives lost in traffic collisions.

Stop and go lights should always be observed. A yellow light or amber light in connection with a green light combination means stop. Those who are caught in the intersection with the yellow light should cross out of into the safety area.

Drivers must come to a complete stop before entering through streets or highways. Failure to stop at these designated highways are the cause of many serious accidents.

It is unlawful to park a vehicle on the beaten track or paved surface of any highway outside the limits of any city or town. The only exception to this rule is made in case of emergency or when loading or unloading a vehicle.

Good brakes are an absolute essential. There must be two separate means of applying the brakes—a foot brake and a hand emergency brake capable of holding the car on any grade. When a car or truck is left unattended, brakes must be set and the motor stopped. When parked on a hill the front wheels must be turned to the curb or side of the highway.

Every motor vehicle should be equipped with a horn capable of making a sound that can be heard under normal conditions from a distance of not less than 200 feet. It is unlawful to use a horn otherwise than as a reasonable warning. The horn does not take the place of brakes.

Each motor car must be equipped with two headlamps which will produce a driving light sufficient to render clearly discernible a person 200 feet ahead. Lights should be dimmed when approaching an oncoming car provided they be sufficient to render discernible a person 75 feet ahead.

Every car must have a rear red lamp visible 500 feet and so constructed that it throws a sufficient light upon the license plate to make it visible for 50 feet. Reflectors should never be substituted for lights.

One-half hour after sunset to one-half hour before sunrise lights should be used. Lights should also be used during the day when it rains, when there's mist, fog, snow, etc.

Persons operating vehicles must have their drivers' licenses in their immediate possession, and should there be changes of address other than on the license it must be reported to the police headquarters where the change will be noted.

Pedestrians should exercise the same degree of care when walking upon the highways as is required of motorists when driving. Generally, persons walking should do so on the left side of the road, so that they face traffic. Observance of this practice, constant alertness by pedestrians and cooperation with motorists will reduce the accidents which now claim 40 percent of the lives lost in traffic collisions.

WEIGH the new cars dispassionately in the light of what they offer and the facts stand boldly forth as these:

Buick is the ONLY car on the market today offering the efficiency of valve-in-head straight-eight design—modernized with the phenomenally efficient new DYNAFLASH principle of combustion.

to no other car even approaching it in size and comfort.

Such are the facts, and on them you can well decide, "Better buy Buick!" But they do not end the tale. There are two points dealing with figures still needed to complete the full picture of Buick value:

— Buick is not only the lowest-priced straight-eight of its size on the market — But Buick actually lists at lower figures than do some sizes!

Check the facts, check the figures. We know where you'll find yourself in the end.

Recall History Of Local Church

and deacons. After this meeting the group conducted meetings in the school house.

The first meeting to be made of a ladies' aid society in the records was January 9, 1882, when they were granted the privilege of putting up screens to "the most exposed windows", and since that time have served a very real service to the organization.

At that first meeting ten people, members of Presbyterian churches elsewhere, constituted the initial church group, but soon after four new members were received. From this small beginning developed a church that has met the needs of many people as is evidenced by the fact that through these intervening years the church has continued to grow.

In 1835 the present location for the church was secured and a frame building erected, later to be replaced by a brick structure which served until 1936 when it was destroyed by fire. The beautiful new building now stands as a tribute to those early pioneers who struggled to keep the organization on its feet.

The Rev. Walter Nichol is the 31st pastor to serve the Presbyterian church, and last Sunday was the first sermon preached in his 13th year in Plymouth.

Heated towel racks are standard accessories of London bath-rooms.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wnuk announce the birth of a son, Jack Gary, in Plymouth hospital, Friday, January 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Woodworth of Plymouth and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Baker of Ann Arbor left Plymouth last Friday for Florida where they will vacation for two or three weeks.

Friends of Mrs. Hugh Daly will be sorry to learn that she had the misfortune to fall in her home the fore part of the week, breaking her hip. She is now in the University hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Higley and daughter, Joyce came from Philadelphia, Pennsylvania to attend the funeral of Mrs. Cleo Norrgrove and stayed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Pierce, Jr.

Another Car Stolen—Police Give Warning

Police recovered another car Tuesday evening which was reported stolen a few hours before, making the sixth reported theft of this type since the beginning of the new year, they said.

As in previous times, the car had been used for joy rides, and the police department wishes to again warn persons who are in the habit of leaving their cars parked with the keys in, in an effort to prevent future thefts as well as possible damage to property.

Rocks Win Last Home Game of Season

Playing her last home basketball game of this season before a noisy and capacious crowd, Plymouth triumphed over the tricky Dearborn five by the narrow margin of one point, the final score being 31-30 in Plymouth's favor. The Plymouth games seem to get more thrilling as the season progresses. High scorer for the locals was Gordon Moe with 14 points.

Dearborn piled up a 7-3 lead in the first quarter against the second team but when the first team came in at the end of the quarter it ran circles around the Dearbornites for two or three minutes. At the end of the half the score was 21-11 for Plymouth. By the end of the third quarter the score was 27-22 for Plymouth.

Dearborn began to creep up gradually in the fourth period until with one minute to play the score was 27-28 in Dearborn's favor. Gordon Moe, playing for all he was worth, took the ball up the floor and dropped it in the basket to make the score 28-28 for the home team. Dearborn, remaining calm, shot a field goal from almost mid-field, putting Dearborn ahead one point. With but a few seconds to go the frenzied Plymouth team ran helter skelter. Jack Ross being the only one who retained his presence of mind. Calmly sizing up the players, Ross shot a perfect goal from the middle of the field. Dearborn had no sooner taken the ball out, in this play, when the final whistle blew ending the game with a Rock victory.

There was some controversy on the part of the Dearborn coach as to whether the closing whistle was blown six or seven seconds too late but as no conclusive evidence could be displayed the score remained the same.

The line-up was as follows: Plymouth: R.F. Hitt, Egloff, L.F. Gilles, Moe; C. Krumm; Basket: R.G. Houghton, Prough; L.G. Martin, Ross.

Dearborn: R.F. Cassini; L.F. Christie; C. Tennant; R.G. Albertson; L.G. Schmaltz.

RESERVES WIN RESERVE GAME 34-23

The Plymouth Reserve team played a hard game with Dearborn, Friday, February 11 on the local floor. Both teams, fighting hard through the complete contest, made it none too easy for the locals to score the final victory of 34-23.

The first quarter led off with best performance on the part of both teams. Good passing assisted Plymouth in scoring their 11 points while Dearborn was held to only 5. The second quarter started with Dearborn struggling even harder to get the lead. They had very effective play worked out and scored two points to their credit. The second quarter wound up with Plymouth still in the lead with a score of 20-11. Both

No Corsages

A friendly boy,
A youthful girl
Were going to the Hop,
Had music and
They understood
The dance would be a flop.
Her dress was new and lovely too,
She looked just like a queen,
but dancing hours
With costly flowers—
They simply not be seen.
The cost was high,
Her jobs were few;
In trash it was too much,
So paid the way,
She saved the day
With "No corsage—or such!"

NINETEEN ACHIEVE PENMANSHIP FINALS

Nineteen persons, all in Junior high school, received final certificates for excellent work from the A. N. Falmer company leading penmanship authority. At the close of the last semester, Ten received improvement citations. Pupils receiving final certificates must write out after practice during a semester over 50 exercises in a manual sold by the Falmer company. These are then sent to the Falmer company, which inspects and grades them. Eighteen lads in the seventh and eighth grades have begun the course this semester, and Miss Cary, who has charge of this, says that most of them will reach their goal, judging by the way they are going at it.

GOINGS ON AROUND P.H.S.

He brought the room three nice pictures—two of George Washington and one of Lincoln. Anna May Tarvin and her brother Emil are absent from school on account of illness.

Miss Robinson's fourth graders are ready to take a trip across the United States in their study of geography. They have been writing stories about George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. They made Valentines and had a box and party Monday. The room has acquired several new library books. The students have been studying about wild animals and have several fine pictures of various kinds of animals. The class has chosen new spelling teams.

Miss Widmeyer has all four A's this term. In geography they teams came back in the half eager to win. Both teams held hard, and while Dearborn made seven, Plymouth made 10. This led to a score of 20-11 in favor of Plymouth. In the last quarter Dearborn worked even harder for victory. They probably thought there still was a chance and they still showed the fight as a good team should. Plymouth finally took the contest with a score of 34-23.

Plymouth has added two new members, Jack Baker and John Wilkie, both freshmen. Jack played part of the time.

It is interesting to note that Dearborn had only two men on the bench. This might be used as an excuse for the loss of the game. It is a fact that Plymouth was fouling much more than Dearborn. The locals fouled 18 times while the visitors fouled only 10 times.

The Reserves have two more games to play, both are away from home, the first on February 18 at Wayne; other at Ypsilanti on February 25.

CLASS NOTES

The beginning bookkeeping class under the direction of Miss Cary has been struggling with the theory of debits and credits and are succeeding very nicely. The 10A class in bookkeeping is ready to go to work for W. R. Compton, a hardware dealer according to the textbook, as bookkeepers. Miss Cary says, "They should be clerks because they talk so much." The 10A class also had a spellword of bookkeeping terms, won by Lynton Ball. The 11B's are realizing the value of work. (Other classes take note).

QUEER DOIN'S

(Omitted from Last Week)

Our first question today is "Does Charlotte Joffie like Ray Martin?"—Our answer is "Why, no, Charlotte doesn't have her mind on boys". Our other question is "I would like to know who Ellen Nystrom goes with these days?" We'll give you a hint—Ellen is partial to red-headed junior boys. One of the prize boners was not on exams—a member of the "Three Musketeers" remarked in chemistry the other day that a substance which gathers water is delicatessen. Gordie Moe thinks that there is a "Crosby" radio station. We'll bet that the call number would be BBBO. Gordie—Mr. Evans had better watch out or he will be getting threat notes in the mail if he doesn't stop calling people "sleepy". Lois Schaufele seems to have a "budding" romance on her hands. Johnny Cripe seems to have taken quite a notice to a certain dark-haired junior gal—and he isn't the only one who likes the dark-haired lasses—eh, Jack? Romeo Newman seems to be sticking to Flo Strub quite steadfastly—or are we wrong? First hour history class seems to have a verra verra strong attraction for certain gals of our fair school—why? We were wondering too—and it seems to be just since the new semester started—want an introduction.

In fourth hour library we wonder what the attraction was sitting there all alone—or was it? In Mr. Smith's economics class Jennie Schwartz had better learn not to argue with the teacher—she never wins anyway. While we think of it, we would like to ask a question of our own "Who is taking Buzz to the J-Hop?"—even if we do have our suspicions—it seems that there are not a few romances developing after school these nights—in play practice. And also those working on scenery—right, eh, "Swede"? And by the way, don't forget the J-Hop coming soon—In case any you are wondering what the SS on the signs means—why don't you come to the dance and find out? And while we're thinking of coming events don't neglect to see the Senior play, "Growing Pains" on March 10. Arlene Soth was very much embarrassed in the library after school one night last week—it seems that she took a lot for granted—she'll be only too glad to explain if you ask her—Please send roses to our funeral—Harold Groth has threatened that we shall need 'em.

Dead and Deader.

MANNERS OF THE MOMENT

By JEAN O'NEILL
A new shipment of books including the monthly assortment from the Guild has been received at the school library. One of the most interesting books in the collection is the biography of Madame Marie Curie written by her daughter, Eve. Others include "I Hear America Singing" by Barnes, "Jean and Company, Unlimited" by Curtis, "Eastward Sweeps the Current" by Malkus, "Introducing the Constellations" by Baker, "Portrait of an Iron Horse" by Kuhler, and several books concerning home economics.

"Oh, Go On. Guess Again."

telephone. So how are they going to recognize yours? And if they start guessing, how can they be thankful about it? Like as not they'll guess you are your worst enemy, and think how sore that would make you.

It's even worse when a man asks a girl to guess who he is. That puts her on the spot. The best thing for her to do in that case is to say "Father" or "Uncle Henry."

No; you'd better give up the guessing business if you want to keep your friends. Just say straight out, "This is Susie Bell." Every one will be much happier.

COURTEOUS SAFE FLUNDERER

During the week-end the safe in Superintendent Smith's office was broken into. Investigation disclosed that the loot had been carried away in an old discarded brief case of Miss Allen's. She had used it to carry some books including a second edition of Burn's poems, to her English classes. "Mr. X", the visitor, was kind enough to leave these books behind.

Construction Co. Gives Mortgages

As a result of the efforts of the Plymouth Construction company, it is now possible for people in this community to effect mortgages on new constructions up to 90 percent of the valuation of the property for a period of 25 years.

Numerous applications for loans and new houses have had to be turned away in the past because of the fact that prospective owners were not able to meet the necessary qualifications. Under the new housing bill passed by Congress, the owner, in most cases, would not need but a small down payment in capital and in some cases the lot makes the entire down payment.

The Plymouth Construction company has been able to arrange a 90 percent mortgage on homes up to $6000, but, Clifford Richmond, superintendent of the company, pointed out that the main principle of the Housing Act was to help the man who is desirous of building a home in the $4000 class.

The requirements of the F.H.A. and their inspectors are very rigid where construction is concerned. Therefore, it is necessary that an applicant, in filing for a loan, should go to the company which has had experience in completing such mortgages. Superintendent Richmond stated that F.H.A. applications have been successfully negotiated here in Plymouth and that further applications are now on file for approval.

Due to present low price levels it is pointed out that in some cases ten percent can be saved on construction costs. Notification of price rises effective in 30 days have been received by the Plymouth Construction company, and further notices are expected. It is thought that in view of the Housing Act of 90 percent insurance of mortgages and the spring building movement, costs are liable to reach a new high.

Low Curb Rates Offered By City

Reduced rates in curb and gutter construction, made possible by W.P.A. appropriations, are being offered again to property owners in Plymouth.

Petitions for such construction should be filed with the city clerk at the city hall within the next two or three weeks, city officials announced this week, so that materials and other costs may be estimated and ready for use with the oncoming of the summer months. These petitions should include 60 percent of the property owners included in that area, and should be filed for at least a distance of one block, since construction for less than distance is not considered practical or economical.

In the past curb and gutter projects, under the W.P.A., have been constructed at a very low cost, and the work this summer is estimated to be only 32 cents per lineal foot, which is exceedingly low, considering that a contract job would mean a cost of between 90 cents and $1.00 for the same length. City Clerk Clarence H. Elliott stated that he did not know how much longer such an offer would be open to property owners and urges them to take advantage of it this coming summer while W.P.A. funds are still available.

The city commission has granted a period of three years in which to pay the amount of this special assessment.

Petition blanks for this project may be secured at the city hall.

Charles Draper Writes Interestingly Of Deep Sea Fishing Trip in South

Has Real Experience On Gulf Of Mexico

When Mr. and Mrs. Charles Draper left Plymouth a short time ago for a vacation trip down in Florida, it was their firm intention to enjoy all the delights and pleasures of the sunshine state. That is just what they are doing, for there comes to The Plymouth Mail a letter from Mr. Draper in which he tells vividly of a deep-sea fishing trip, with all the thrills that go with such an experience.

Not only did he go deep-sea fishing and catch fish, but they ran into some rather rough weather, the engine on the boat stopped and it bobbed around on the ocean like a piece of cork—that he is, Mr. Draper writes that he thoroughly enjoyed the experience. His letter from Sarasota, Florida, is so interesting that The Mail is publishing it in full as follows:

A deep-sea fishing trip—From one Land Lubber to another:

The weather is slightly cloudy and the temperature at 5:00 a.m. is about 55 degrees.

Having had an invitation from Beryl Chadwick, keeper of Chadwick Beach, to go deep sea fishing on the Gulf of Mexico, Oren Merrell and I were glad to accept. We had heard that several days before on account of east winds blowing out from the land, he had refused to take out other passengers. This made me a little dubious but we made our preparations, or rather he did.

Well, the boat was about 20 feet long and about six feet wide with a converted Ford V-8 engine near the center tightly covered by a box about two feet by four feet. A covered gasoline tank stood at the front. Between the engine well and front was one seat about 10 inches wide, and about a foot down from the top edge of the boat. There was a 6-inch plank rim around the inside of the boat with a three-fourths by two and one-half inch band with holes in to tie your lines. In front of the seat was a cubbie which had four or five life preservers. We also had a three-foot anchor with a good heavy rope. The deck was equipped with an oiled cover which was fastened on five or six half-inch circular iron frames stuck on a slide on each side of the boat. The floor back of the engine was about 16 inches below the top of the rim. The skipper was a young man about 30 and he was all ready for us.

He came down to the dock with a long bank of fish line that was heavier than any I have ever seen, and a package of hooks larger than any we see at home—two and three inches long. He threw in two large fish boxes and a pan of sinkers. They were larger than your finger and three or four inches long. He stowed them under the seat and filled the gas tank, started the engine, and, when I hadn't had a hold of one of the stays, they surely would have left me behind. The boat acted just the same as a Ford—just naturally jumped high out of the water most of the time.

We had gone about a mile down the inside of the channel when we came to a fish station. A man was there buying fish and selling bait, and there were a few using nets, but they said the fish weren't running, which wasn't very encouraging to us. And the bait—well, I would have been satisfied with the bait as a good day's catch. There were 12 or 15 mullet about 12 to 18 inches long.

The size of the line and hooks, sinkers, and then the bait just naturally opened by eyes, and aroused my curiosity, and I thought, "Gee, this is a rather small boat for this kind of fishing." Lemon Bay is about 12 or 15 miles long. In the channel are several islands that are covered with undergrowth. There are a good many cottages on these islands and several bridges connecting them. There is a channel running from the Gulf into this bay. Good sized launches come in here. Net fishing is good.

The morning we arrived they brought in three live baby sharks, which weighed between 300 and 500 pounds each. They were caught on set lines that had a dog chain connection to the hooks.

We passed through the channel and saw hundreds of gulls and black geese. One large gull followed us out on our trip. When we were about ten miles out, we had the surprise of our lives—large reddish spotted fish began to jump out of the water on each side of the boat. Some of them were nearly half as long as the boat. The skipper said they were porpoise. They could swim faster than we were going, and were they having a good time racing with us? They jumped out of the water on each side of the boat, close enough for us to almost reach out and touch them.

I tried to get a picture of them but when I snapped the camera they were not there. I asked the skipper if there was any danger of their wanting to get in and ride with us, for I thought they would probably rock the boat some in making the change. After another mile we ran into another school of them; they were much larger and did not come so close.

We were now getting in the long ocean swells. The skipper got out that coil of line and began measuring off 60 fathoms of line for each of us. He said the Gulf was only that deep. He then put three of those big sinkers on each and a hook. We wondered how he knew where to fish. Well, he had a plumb bob or piece of lead about six inches long by two inches in diameter, fastened to a clothes line rope. The end of this weight had one-fourth inch grooves cut from edge to center about one-half inch deep. He took this bob, after shutting down the speed, and threw it ahead as far as possible and let it out until it hit the bottom, then pulled it up, only to drop it again, then haul it up to see if there was any coral formation caught in the grooves. He did this 25 or 30 times before we found the coral reef. Then out went the anchor. We tied the end of our lines in the holes in the rim around the inside of the boat, one line apiece. The bait was a piece of sealed mullet about the size of three fingers. We all threw out and sure enough we had about six feet to much line, just enough to take up the swell of the waves.

I held my bait about a foot above bottom. It felt as though there was a dozen little ones getting my bait, so I gave a jerk and pulled up to see what was doing. Well, I had one, about six inches long, silver slipper or something. One-half my bait gone. I threw out the balance and had a right good bite. This time I landed a small grouper. The skipper jumped and took him off, another five-pounder, red mouth, reddish fish covered with white spots and rings, looked something like a big bass, but there were a lot of horns on his back which made them dangerous to handle. We had 15 of these and one grunt about same size. We had fished about one-half hour when the skipper said to pull in our lines, we must start back. We had a good mess. He said he was sorry we hadn't hooked any of the large ones, and began to fly around, pulling anchor, starting engine, pulling up canvas cover over center seat and engine.

He cut his new steering gear lines which went around the edge of the boat and tied the ends together near the center of the boat, clearing the deck of all pans and tackle. We had gone about 15 minutes and then the boat just seemed to jump and bump and jump.

We took in about a barrel of water. We were all soaked by this time. I held the pump, a loose affair but long stroke. We kept pumping, changing places for about one-half hour. Then the engine stopped. We would go up on one side and slide down sideways, then rise up, come down flat bottom bang, and raise me in the covers and catch me in the rebound which nearly broke the seat and my neck. In the meantime, the skipper stood on his head in the engine well disconnecting and blowing out the gasoline. Then all at once we started again. The gas line stopped up three times before we came in sight of land. Oren and the skipper stood just outside the cover and would duck when a large spray would hit them, but occasionally they would miss their guess and raise their heads just in time to get their eyes and mouth full of very salty water.

The funny thing about it was I was not scared, but it was just having a real kid's time. When we were within about two miles of shore I saw the skipper wave his arms and on looking down the shore line I could see what looked like some one waving and sure enough, it was the skipper's wife.

When we arrived she said we hadn't been out over an hour before they had a very bad wind off shore but we happened not to be in line with it. I would like to take the trip again but would want the wind in the west or some other direction. A 1200- or 1500-mile trip in a boat this size might make me sick. Oh, yes, I nearly forgot. The bed on which I slept, and the table on which I ate the next day seemed to be going up and down. I don't know what to lay it to, unless it was drinking too much orange juice. Am having the biggest time ever. Wish you were here with us.

"Mind" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, February 20. The Golden Text, from Psalm 92: 5, is: "O Lord, how great are thy works! and thy thoughts are very deep." Among the Bible citations is this passage (Romans 11: 33, 34): "O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out! For who hath known the mind of the Lord? or who hath been his counsellor?" Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 275): "Divine metaphysics, as revealed to spiritual understanding, shows clearly that all is Mind, and that Mind is God, omnipotence, omnipresence, omniscience,—that is, all power, all presence, all Science."

PETER RABBIT FINDS BUMBLE BEE

If you look for Bumble Bee Never, never heedless be Or, like Peter Rabbit, you May have cause your search to rue.

IT SEEMED to Peter Rabbit that he never had he known Bumble Bee to keep out of sight so long when there were plenty of bright-faced flowers. In fact it seemed to Peter as he thought it over that Bumble always had been one of those people who are forever poking in where replied Peter, "and although he has visited many of them he hasn't stayed long enough for me to catch up with him."

The Merry Little Breezes laughed. "Oh, Peter Rabbit!" they cried, haven't you been neighbor to Bumble Bee long enough to know that you should look for him among the sweetest flowers? He loves to visit the brightest flowers, but it is the sweetest flowers he loves most, and with whom he stays the longest. If you would catch up with him go hunt for the sweetest flowers, Peter."

So once more Peter started on to hunt for Bumble Bee, and this time instead of going by his eyes as before he went by his nose, for you know he was looking for the sweetest instead of the brightest flowers, but just as before he had to keep his eyes wide open for danger and make sure that Reddy Fox and Old Man Coyote were nowhere about and that Redtail the Hawk was not in sight. It was very exciting, but after a little it grew tiresome and Peter was almost tempted to give up hunting for Bumble Bee. But he didn't.

At last as he drew near a little group of flowers he heard something that made him sit up and listen. It was a humming sound. Peter kicked up his heels for joy, for he knew that only one could hum like that and that one was Bumble Bee. Pell-mell he scampered right in among the flowers. Bumble wasn't to be seen. Peter knew that he was deep in the heart of one of the flowers and eagerly he began to look into them and I am afraid he was a little rough with them. Now, of course, what Peter should have done was to sit up and wait for Bumble to come out. That would have been the polite thing to do, and it always pays to be polite. But Peter was in too much of a hurry, and so he rushed from flower to flower and at last—well, at last Peter found Bumble. Yes, sir, he found him, and then he wished he hadn't.

You see Bumble is very quick tempered, and when Peter suddenly thrust his wobbly little nose into the flower where Bumble was hard at work extracting honey, Bumble felt that no one else had any business there and promptly thrust a little lance into Peter's nose. My, how Peter squealed and danced.

"Buz-z! Serves you right for poking your nose in where it doesn't belong," grumbled Bumble as he prepared to fly away.

they are not wanted. Now when he was wanted he couldn't be found. Peter had run his legs almost off among the brightest flowers on the Green Meadows without once seeing Bumble or even hearing his everlasting hum, though two or three times Bumble had but just left a group of flowers when Peter arrived.

Quite discouraged he sat down to rest and get his breath. By and by along came the Merry Little Breezes of Old Mother West Wind. They were dancing and skipping in the happy way which is always theirs and when they saw Peter they rushed over to him and ruffled his hair and pulled his whiskers.

"What's the matter with our happy-go-lucky Peter?" they cried.

"Nothing very much, only I want to find Bumble Bee and can't," replied Peter, smiling in spite of himself.

"Can't find Bumble!" cried the Merry Little Breezes. "Where have you looked for him, Peter?"

"I've looked among all the brightest flowers on the Green Meadows,"

TELEPHONE ENEMY NO. 1

Rain, wind, a freezing temperature. Together, they produce the telephone's arch-enemy—a sleet storm.

At the first warning of this enemy's approach, your telephone company starts preparing for defense. Every department is notified. All stand ready. And soon crews of men in repair trucks are rushing to the point of attack.

Such emergencies as this dramatize the value of our association in the Bell System. For we can call upon all the System's resources . . . in manpower and equipment and experience . . . to restore and protect the service.

Emergencies, however, represent only one phase of the many-sided program that safeguards your telephone. Rigid inspection, indoors and out, goes on day after day. Thorough tests and check-ups are made constantly. Millions of dollars are spent every year for new and better, sturdier equipment.

To keep your telephone always ready for use . . . at any hour of the night or day . . . neither pains nor expense can be spared in combating the enemies of the service.
