City Commission Approves Expenses Totaling $89,000 for 1938 Budget; Costs Raised $3,000 Over Last Year

Garbage Collection, Police And Highway Allowments Soar

The Plymouth City Commission approved a budget for the fiscal year of 1938-39 Monday night which will cost the city $83,631.63 more than for the last fiscal year. The new budget will total $89,974.35 as compared with $86,942.72 for last year of the total cost, 78 per cent will be borne by city taxes.

Principal increases in appropriations were noted for the garbage and rubbish collection, police and highway funds. Largest single department increase was for the police fund, an added expense of $1,970. Next in line of major expenditure increases is the garbage and rubbish collection fund, which is budgeted for $4,025 for next year as compared with $2,150 for last year.

The garbage and rubbish collection service, which was not a public expense to tax payers about a year ago, has an increase of $1,875 in allotment. However, the service cost nearly the same amount last year, but the deficiency was made up then by using the general fund.

The third major expense increase is in the highway fund. The commission approved an increase in expenditures of $1,825, or a total of $10,760. Nearly half of this sum is allotted for capital outlay while the rest, laying expenses have been pared $3,500.

Of the funds which were cut, not one item balanced these major monetary boosts, which averaged close to the $2,000 mark. Only one decrease even approached this figure.

The proposal to supply free text books to Plymouth school children from kindergarten to eighth grade inclusive received 75 affirmative votes and 56 negative. The free books will be provided beginning with the opening of the schools next fall.

The second proposition, to levy and collect one mill for the purpose of buying additional school sites was passed 79 to 50. This will make it possible to relieve the crowded condition of the school system by the acquisition of additional space for classrooms and other activities.

The annual school board meeting held the evening of the election of the school board, the number of persons, indicating that there were no problems in connection with the handling of the school system by the board of education with which the community is dissatisfied.

Lower Valuation Placed On Real Property For 1938

Amount Decreased By $79,185 After Citizens Act

A net decrease of $79,185 in total real and personal property valuations in Plymouth was recorded this week as the city closed the books on assessments for the year of 1938.

Included in this attainment was a decrease from $13,500 to $13,300 per thousand of assessed valuation. These figures emerged from the deliberations of the city assessor's office, the board of review and a new organization founded to co-operate with city officials for the purpose of reducing the tax burden in Plymouth.

The organization, which jumped from a voluntary membership of 100 to 400 within a week is named the Plymouth Taxpayers' association. It will make a careful study of local, county and state tax problems, with a view to seeing that taxes are lowered to the bottom rate in keeping with an efficient government.

A special committee of the organization met with the board of review for this purpose and expressed themselves satisfied after certain changes were made.

The 1938 total valuation amounts to $5,298,110. This figure comprises $753,270 in personal property valuations and $4,544,840 in real property valuations.

The 1937 total valuation of $5,170,425 was composed of $696,400 in personal property valuations and $4,474,025 in real property valuations.

This amounts to a net increase of $127,685 in total valuations for 1938 as compared to 1937, or an increase of $56,870 in personal property and $70,815 in real property.

However, it was pointed out by City Manager Clarence Elliott when he released these figures that they do not include $150,000 invested in new buildings in Plymouth.

With this important factor taken into consideration and added to the total real property, the figure then jumps from $4,474,025 to $4,624,025. In other words, this total real property value including the new buildings comes to a higher amount than that for 1937, which means that Plymouth's total assessed valuation is a decrease of $79,185.

On the basis of the lower valuation the reduction of 20 cents in tax rates for the total spread followed.

The officers of the new organization which met with the board of review to effect a lower valuation are E. R. Eaton, president; Charles Bennett, vice president; William Wood, secretary, and John Blickenstaff, treasurer.

One hundred and one members of Plymouth high school's class of 1938 prepared this week for the final act in their four years of academic training. In one more week they will be able to add the designation "high school graduates" to their names.

THE FIRST THING TO DO.

J. Lee Barrett and Detroit newspapers are putting forth quite an effort to "sell" the voters of the county on the idea of building a civic center for Detroit and Wayne county. The plan that has been worked out is an elaborate one and if carried through, would place in one unit along the Detroit river front all of the civic institutions of the city and county.

Western Detroit and Wayne county are not objecting to the plan, but we would like to recommend to Mr. Barrett and the other advocates of the civic center that they FIRST make it possible for people living on the west side of Detroit and the county to reach the river front without detouring all over the city.

Most of the traffic flowing into Detroit from the west is over Grand River, Second Boulevard or Fort street. When one reaches the heart of the city on any of these streets it is essential to make three or four confusing turns IN TRAFFIC in order to get down to the river front. Then, too, the traffic regulations along Jefferson avenue for those approaching that street from the west are not of the best.

The project is not entirely for people living along the river east of Woodward avenue—Mr. Barrett and the other sponsors of the plan should keep that fact in mind.

Considerably more enthusiasm could be created in the proposal if Mr. Barrett would first devote his time and efforts to providing DIRECT access to the river front from this part of Wayne county.

After this has been accomplished, nearly every one out this way will, without a doubt, display much more interest in the civic center project than can be found at present. In fact, the solution of the traffic problem first would probably go a long way to overcome some of the active hostile opposition one finds today to this proposed expenditure.

FOR POLITICS, TOO.

Some time ago, The Plymouth Mail presented to its readers information which revealed the fact that a state appropriation made by the legislature for the purpose of advertising the attractions of Michigan to the tourists of the nation had been turned into a sort of grab-bag for some of Governor Murphy's office holders. It is from this fund that the Governor's executive secretary is taking an extra pay check every two weeks.

Recently there has appeared some advertising in national magazines that will be paid for out of the balance of this fund left by job holders.

The advertising didn't have much to say about the beauties of our northlands, the hundreds of fine hotels and resorts, the good fishing, bathing, and the recreational facilities which we possess in such great abundance.

About the only thing you can see in the advertisements is a picture of Michigan's "medicine doctor" governor.

Yes, good reader, our tax dollars are being spent by the thousands to pay magazines of nation-wide circulation to print pictures of OUR governor, instead of advertising our advantages that tourists of the nation should know about.

But why concern ourselves about bringing tourist dollars into the state, if we get magazines to print pictures of OUR governor, even though they have to be paid to do it? Boosting our tourist attractions is business. Printing pictures of the Governor is politics. It seems that even though our business is bad and we need tourist dollars, it's more important to advertise OUR Governor than it is to help OUR state.

GOOD WORK.

Recently there was organized in our city what is known as the Plymouth Taxpayers' association. Its immediate purpose was to consider with the board of review the recent assessments that had been made. Following numerous conferences between the board, city officials and the committee selected to represent the taxpayers, there was brought about first, a re-assessment of the city along the lines that had been proposed by City Assessor William Petz; second, there was a general revision of these assessments that seems to be satisfactory to nearly every one. Some of the larger properties were increased and assessments on some of the smaller homes were decreased.

The important thing about these proceedings lies in the fact that this good work was all accomplished in most harmonious discussions between the board of review members, the city commission and the representatives of the taxpayers' association.

What has been done along this line fully demonstrates the fact that there is a real need in Plymouth for such an organization as has been perfected. Out of the closer contacts between those who pay for the support of the local government and those who spend the taxpayers' money only good for the entire city can come.

RAMBLING with Editors AROUND of Michigan

WHAT THE REPUBLICANS MUST DO.

The Republican elephant arousing itself from its 18-month lethargy this week is beginning to show signs of its returning interest in the body politic. Tuesday evening more than 200 men, representing every election precinct in Iron county held a reorganization meeting at the Iron Inn and named committees to organize workers for the coming campaign. The enthusiasm and bold predictions were plenty, but among the more conservative men there was still the grim memory of the 1938 slaughter in Iron as well as most of the counties of northern Michigan. The WPA program came in for its share of attacks by the Republicans, but as usual nothing was offered to take its place. The Republicans will have to change their tactics if they wish to get anywhere in the upper peninsula this year. The ballots of the WPA worker and his family count equally as much at the polls as his more fortunate fellowman. He is not going to sit by and listen to his only sure possibility for livelihood criticised and denied taken from him and nothing offered in return. Bread, butter and work have more appeal to him than such intangible issues as tax relief, public spending or state extravagance. If the Republicans expect to go places this year or any year in the future they will have to accept many of the tenets of the New Deal, which means work relief, labor reforms and other industrial and social amendments.—Harry Trezise, editor, The Wakefield News.

COMPARISONS.

It was noted last week that some of the schools of Michigan will not be able to keep their classes going for the full year of school because the funds depended upon and which had been promised them from the state aid revenues will not be forthcoming.

It is noted also that, notwithstanding 15 months have passed since the legislature made available certain appropriations for expanding the facilities of the overcrowded mental hospitals, little has been done in the way of awarding contracts. Two excuses are given for this delay. One has been the money was required for current administrative expense of the state and the other has been the difficulty of satisfying certain architects and building contractors who have demanded party preference.

Old age pensioners are being cut off the lists daily and the meager stipends of others reduced to a point where body and soul can scarcely be kept together. At the same time many who qualify and who are in distress cannot receive their promised assistance merely because the funds available have been exhausted.

Other instances might be cited where state funds are greatly needed but the foregoing are sufficient to point out the fallaciousness of administrative practices which result in an eight million dollar increase in payroll expenditures alone in a two-year period—this in the face of an unbalanced budget.

The Detroit News has recently published the results of a survey which has been made of state payrolls. The public should thank the News for this service. It shows that department payrolls at Lansing not including state institution payrolls, during the first 15 months of the Murphy administration have amounted to $21,469,662.33 as compared with $14,688,069.77 for the same departments during the same 15 months of the Fitzgerald regime in 1935-1936.

A few of the huge increases are illuminating. Our new public health set-up is costly, a $200,000 increase being reflected here. Old age pension administration is costing more than four times what it did back in 1935-36. Payrolls of the secretary of state have increased more than 50 percent, while the sales tax administration is eating up its collections to the tune of $1,033,416 as compared with $626,410 in 1935-36. It is costing more than $1000 a month more to operate the office of the governor now than it did under either Fitzgerald or Comstock. One new agency, the unemployment insurance outfit, alone is costing workers and employers more than $50,000 a month for payroll drones in the hives of industry.

A 50 percent increase in payroll costs in the midst of a most serious depression and in the face of insistent demands for keeping worthy institutions going and helpless men and women alive, will not be easy for politicians to laugh off, come next fall.—V. J. Brown in The Ingham County News.

MICHIGAN SCENERY

We notice an advertisement in national magazines by the State Tourist Bureau which is a very creditable piece of work and well worth the tax money expended on it. What takes the eye particularly is the handsome picture of Governor Murphy, this being both larger and handsomer than the Michigan scenery depicted elsewhere in the lay-out.

The Governor is by all odds one of the State's tourist attractions. (2) But beauty is as beauty does, and it does seem to us that as a matter of common fairness to the tourists attracted by its ad the bureau ought to give them a chance to look at him. Some arrangement along the lines followed at Callander, Ontario, with the quintuplets would suffice. There is only one of the Governor, of course, but he is handsome and there is no Dionne who is at the same time a governor, a friend of the Little Brown Brother and a potential candidate for President of the United States. The picture in the advertisement is a mite idealized but no tourist need feel he has been bilked if given to understand he is looking upon our next President, in all probability. Indeed, he may already have gotten the idea from reading the ad.

Arranging this exhibit will be no job at all for the Michigan Tourist Bureau, since its (salaried) director by happy chance is Norman H. Hill, who is also the Governor's secretary and political adviser.—The Detroit News.

land. They sensed the fact that the iron and copper mines couldn't last forever.

They knew that something had to be done and that that something could not wait for long.

So they organized the Upper Peninsula Development bureau. The members went to work—and work they did.

Did they get paid for it?

Not one cent. They dug deep into their incomes. They started out to re-establish the forests of the upper peninsula, to bring vacationists to the northlands, to turn the tote roads and mining camp trails into good, passable, highways and to more closely connect the upper peninsula with the lower peninsula.

That has all been accomplished.

With such a record of success as this accomplished, are they quitting?

Not for one minute.

"We must provide for these good people who come to enjoy our hospitality, desirable places to stay, so we are going to put on a campaign to induce the erection of several hundred or more tourist camps, the first class kind with all the conveniences," he said.

"Then we are going to keep at it until we have a bridge across the straits. We are going to have all our trunk line roads hard surfaced and just as fast as we can we are going to make available to our guests the biggest and most beautiful falls in the middle West, the Tahquamenon. We are going to provide our visitors with souvenir typical of the upper peninsula. There's so much more for us to go. I just can't see how we can get it all done," said the spokesman of these upper peninsula workers.

For many years The Michigan Press association, an organization made up almost entirely of weekly and small daily newspapers of the state, have cooperated with the Upper Peninsula Development bureau 100 percent in its efforts to help build that part of the state into a great vacation empire, as well as one of the substantial parts of the state. As a result of this interest, the officials of the Press association are always invited to attend the annual meetings of the upper peninsula boosters. That is how it happens that the writer of this article attended the Ironwood meeting this year. And it has been some six or seven years since he was present at one of these upper peninsula affairs. This year, the association through its president, Chester M. Howell, offered to print, without charge, newspaper articles designed to help this wonderful part of the state. Secretary Bishop declared that the association will probably never be able to fully compensate the weekly newspapers of the state for what they have done to assist in the re-building of the northland.

Lyle F. Watts, regional forester of the United States Forest Service from Milwaukee was one of the speakers. He told of the benefits of "Our National Forests" and declared that the idea of national forests was born in the western states years and years ago. Well, that's where Mr. Watts is wrong. The idea was born right in the minds of some of the members of the Upper Peninsula Development bureau who traveled to Lansing and Washington many times before being able to win public approval of the project. But in order to create the wonderful Ottawa National Forest that covers a vast portion of the western part of the upper peninsula, it was essential for congress to enact legislation that covered the entire nation. As a result vast portions of public lands in the West were made into national forest areas. However, in Michigan, it was necessary for townships and counties to sacrifice the tax revenues from these thousands of acres that went into the national forests. Because upper peninsula township and county officials, as well as officials and other taxpayers in the lower peninsula were willing to make that sacrifice as well as take on the additional tax load made necessary as a result of the creation of national forests, Michigan is already reaping the benefits of what these pioneer boosters of the northland did. Mr. Watts should consult with John Bush, John Norton and some of the other old timers who CREATED the national forest idea so that in his next talk he may give credit where credit is due.

"We thought when this thing was started that we would have to wait 40 or 50 years to secure its benefits. But today—right now—we are beginning to reap the reward of what we did. Our hills and valleys are once more the beauty and grandeur of former years," said Mr. Norton.

There are three national forests in the upper peninsula and two in the lower peninsula, The Ottawa National Forest in the very western end of the upper peninsula being the largest and the oldest. The other two in the upper peninsula are the Hiawatha National Forest and the Marquette National Forest. There is also in the upper peninsula an experimental national forest located near the city of Marquette. The two national forests in the lower peninsula are the Huron, lying east of Grayling and extending to Lake Huron, and the Manistee national forest on the western side of the state, covering portions of Muskegon, Newaygo, Mason, Lake, Wexford, Oceana and Manistee counties.

Michigan has a large number of state forests in both the upper and lower peninsulas.

There are two projects pertaining to the northlands that The Plymouth Mail has been vitally interested in over a period of several years. One is the development of the beautiful country around the Tahquamenon falls lying to the east of Newberry. The other is the proposed construction of a bridge connecting the two peninsulas. Interest in the falls developed after a visit to the falls some 10 or 12 years ago. The state has recently acquired the land around the falls and the Conservation department is right now beginning the construction of trails to the river and falls from points along the proposed highway that will be constructed to provide access to a vicinity near the falls. The department is also taking over control of the boat service from Newberry to the falls. State officials have not announced when construction of the roadway along the tumbling Tahquamenon river will be started, but it is hoped that it will be soon. The Mail has persistently recommended that the state permit no commercial developments of any kind or the erection of structures of any nature on the road that will be built to the falls and river. It has been urged that the road simply be a hard surfaced thoroughfare constructed with the least possible removal of trees, with no wide shoulders and as little change in the general wild conditions prevailing as possible to do so and still permit automobile access to a point near the falls and river. This Mail has been advised during the past three or four years, is the intent of both the state highway department and the conservation department. The Mail is free to predict that when the millions of residents in this part of the United States learn that they can reach the falls without great inconvenience, there will be the greatest flow of automobile traffic to the upper peninsula the state has ever known. The Tahquamenon falls are one of America's greatest national wonders, viewed, up to the present, by only a mere handful of the people of the state and country because of the difficult access to them.

It was a pleasure to find another southern Michigan resident as enthusiastic over the construction of the Straits bridge as the writer. He is Professor James H. Cissel of the University of Michigan, who Prince Edward Island has 771 fox and mink fur farms.

Sterling silver is not solid silver, but it must be at least 925 parts silver to 25 parts copper.

Of the United Kingdom (England and Ireland) 620,000 acres are submerged with water at each period of high tide.

Philadelphia recently introduced "Cabulance" service. This service includes combined taxi-cab and ambulance, or invalids or persons stricken while at work. The cabs has an adjustable hospital cot.

presented to the association members a detailed proposal as to how the bridge could be built and data which shows that the improvement is going to be absolutely necessary within the next eight or ten years. "The steady and rapid increase in automobile travel to this part of the state will require the construction of this bridge," he said. "I have waited as long as seven hours in order to get a ferry across the straits. We must expect that this traffic will increase in the future as fast as it has in the past, possibly faster," he said. "It is possible that the building of a causeway out to the end of the shoals from St. Ignace for a distance of some four miles would make possible faster service. That might be the first step towards the building of the bridge," he said. "This is the idea that has been advanced in the past by The Mail and the writer feels that there should be no time lost in getting busy on the project, because ALL of Michigan is going to be more and more dependent as the years roll by upon the tourist business. No other state in the Union has the recreational advantages of our state. Last year the tourist business was our biggest business, why not make it our BIGGEST business for all the years to come?"

While Auditor General Gundry, in his talk, was trying to make some explanation to those present of the way that the Governor's office is handling the advertising appropriation fund set up for the purpose of advertising the state to the tourists of the nation, two different groups asked the writer if he had read an editorial in The Detroit News on this subject which appeared in that paper early last week. Another showed the clipping. There is a strong resentment for which it was appropriated by the legislature, not only in the lower peninsula but the upper peninsula as well.

"The tourist business is our only future," declared Mr. Norton in one of his brief talks. The statement is true to a very great extent as it pertains to not only the beautiful upper peninsula, but to a very great portion of the upper part of the lower peninsula. What is for the benefit of these two parts of Michigan also is directly beneficial to all of Michigan. That's why every person in southern Michigan should be vitally interested in helping to make ALL OF MICHIGAN the nation's most popular vacationland. Leaving out all adjectives, it means dollars and cents in the pockets of the residents of our state.

Seeing Isn't Believing

You've seen enough "optical illusions" to know perfectly well that you can't believe all you see. You know that lots of what you see is corrected by your mind before it is used. Look in the sky as an aeroplane flies by. It banks to make a turn, for the moment, your eyes cannot tell if the plane is coming or going; if it's on its back or right side up. Look in a mirror—you do not see yourself, but a right and left reversal of your image. You lift your right hand, but the image lifts its left hand. It is your mind that makes the proper allowances and interprets this reversal so you can make use of the mirrored image. Your mind may become so habituated to interpreting distorted images that it is troubled and upset when it confronts a true image and has to be re-adapted. We sometimes find this happening when we correct visual distortions of long standing.

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science text-book "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 502): "The creative Principle—Life, Truth, and Love—is God. Tour Visitors See Henderson Lawn Landscape members enrolled in Home Economics extension work in Wayne county participated in a tour Thursday that included a visit to Plymouth. O. L. Gregg, landscape gardening specialist from Michigan State college, East Lansing, gave a short talk at each of the stops. The tour started from the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hoehl, 562 Randolph, Northville, at 10:00 a.m. The group continued to Parkway Drive where one stop was made in Cass Benton park to observe the plantings on a stone wall. From there the tour went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Henderson, 1302 West Maple street, Plymouth.

The Henderson home offered an opportunity to see a city lawn which was landscaped one year ago. Mrs. Henderson offered a fine side-interest to the women on the tour. They were permitted to see the well-organized kitchen in her back yard home. Riverside park in Plymouth was the location for the picnic lunch. Immediately following the picnic luncheon members visited the rock garden in Riverside park and proceeded to Michigan avenue to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Frank.

Wayne. This home showed the landscaping done by Mr. Gregg five years ago. The climax of the tour was at the formal rose garden of Mrs. Henry Ford in Dearborn.

The tour was reserved for the extension members only. The group was comprised of approximately 150 people. As a compensation to leaders in home economics extension projects, the Wayne county executive committee and Miss Emma DuBois, county demonstration agent, extended an invitation to them for the tour.

This change, he said, made at the suggestion of Miller Bailey, city auditor, in order that closer estimates might be made of needs and specific detailed expenses.

The budget as adopted by the city commission represents an increase of $514.13 over the original estimate for the year prepared by the budget committee and submitted for Commission consideration.

Principal interests of taxpayers, however, aside from the expenditure allowed for in the city budget, is how these expenses are going to be met.

There are two points in this respect. First, only two city bureaus are completely self-supporting. Second, only one department receives the majority of its revenues from sources other than city taxes.

The cemetery and the water fund, with respective budgets of $7,194.80 and $32,575 which are not included in the general city budget, pay their own way. The highway fund receives only $2,356 in city taxes for its $10,367 budget. The rest of the revenue is composed of state gas and weight taxes returned to the city.

The second most expensive fund in the budget, the bond and interest fund, of course, is paid entirely from city taxes.

The largest single outlay in the budget, $26,100 is listed for the general fund. Of this amount, slightly more than two-thirds, or $17,740, is paid by means of city taxes.

The remainder, $8,360, is financed by miscellaneous revenues, nearly half of which is covered by a refund from the cemetery and water funds.

Other general fund revenues include license fees, a percentage of county and school taxes and building and electrical permit fees.

The sewer fund is supported by $650 in sanitary and storm sewer tap fees and $2,720 in taxes.

The police fund receives $1,575 in fines and driver's license rebates from the state and $8,575 in taxes.

The fire fund obtains $250 for answering fires outside the city and $3,045 in taxes.

The street lighting fund has an income of $36 for maintaining a light outside the city and $6,664 in taxes.

The welfare fund receives $300 in returned fees in hospital, Probate Court, Juvenile Court and other such cases. Taxes cover $3,700 of the expenses.

The garbage and rubbish collection fund obtains $750 for sale of garbage and special services and $3,275 in taxes.

The equipment fund receives $350 in transferred monies from the cemetery and water funds to care for the motorized equipment of those departments in addition to $2,650 in taxes.

The contingent fund is paid $236 in township settlement taxes and $3,018 in taxes.

Expenses of the various departments are broken down into itemized accounts of detailed expenditures planned for the year. The more important of these, and some details concerning the cause of increased expenses, are explained in the budget committee's original recommendation to the commission and in the report of the commission on the budget as approved.

1. The General Fund. City commission expenses will be $1,085, an increase of $185 to take

NINE ENDS SEASON WITH .762 PERCENTAGE

The Plymouth high school baseball nine finished a successful season with a record of 16 won and only five lost last week, and Coach Jacobi since has released the official batting averages and pitching records. These reveal that Bob Hitt, little giant who set a new strikeout record this season, was the most outstanding player on the nine. Besides bearing the brunt of the pitching duties, winning 10 and losing four, he ranked second at the plate with a percentage of .371 and allowed only 53 hits, an average between three and four for a seven-inning game.

The pitching records show that Waterman won two and lost one while Hovey, Martin, Engleson, and Newman each gained one victory. Westphal, Pratt, and Kelley neither won nor lost. The batting averages follow:

At an honor assembly for senior high school students, awards for outstanding work in forensics and athletics were presented.

Mr. Latture presented the awards for forensics. Doris Buzzard, Marvin Hauk, and Marilyn Holton received medals for work in debate. Medals for extemporaneous speaking and oratory went to Marilyn Holton and Leo Schmidt.

The girls' general manager, Marion Shoebright, presented the girls' letters. Four senior girl letters and 27 1000-point letters were presented.

Mr. Jacobi presented awards for work in football, baseball, basketball, Mr. Lynch, golf; and Mr. Bentley, tennis.

RECOGNITION AND INSTALLATION HELD JUNE 9

A very impressive ceremonial was held at 7:00 in the high school auditorium, Thursday, June 9, by the Senior Girl Reserves.

Thirteen new junior and sophomore girls Ruth Ash, Gladys Salow, Ruth Priest, Shirley Burnham, Margaret Zimmerman, Linnea Vickstrom, Celia Lewis, Mary Jane Parmelee, Betty Korb, Dorothy McCollough, Mary Hood, Gladys Hammond and June Gardner were recognized by the original Girl Reserves.

The recognition was followed by the installation of new chairmen of committees for the Senior Girl Reserves next year. This latter part of the ceremonial was conducted by Dorothy Roe, the newly elected president.

Refreshments were served to conclude the evening's entertainment.

The Senior Farewell was held last Tuesday, June 14 at Miss Fiegel's home in Ann Arbor.

As of January 1, 1938, there were 3,000,000 automobile radio sets in use.

Ammonia gas once was known as hartshorn, because it was made from the horns of the hart deer.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL HONORED

Recognition was tendered high ranking students in all forms of activities open to seventh, eighth, and ninth graders last Friday, June 8, in the Junior honor assembly held in the school gym.

The Plymouth Rotary club, which sponsors the annual De-cathion, presented two gold, 20 silver, and seven bronze medals to junior high school boys receiving the largest number of points gained from the event. The medals were presented by Walter Harms who admonished the seventh and eighth grades to strive for the gold medals next year. After the medals were presented, Mr. Latture, head of the school forensics department, verbally did honor to Sally Haas, who won third place in story telling at River Rouge. Phyllis Hawkins also received a third place in interpretive poem reading at River Rouge. James Zuckerman, the second or third Daniel Webster, assumed second place for school declaiming.

In demand for her humorous reading is Betty Brown who really has championship material. Helen Lissul received recognition for her debating work and Ronald Cook was presented a medal for his splendid work in earning second place in league declamation.

Although junior high girls cannot win a school letter they may by dint of hard work, win a star, a chevron, or a triangle in that order. Nancy Dunham, Dorothy Ebersole, and Mary Jane Olavser captured a triangle, a chevron, and a star for the ninth graders while Nancy McLaren, Pat Nichols, and Grace Squires were presented with a triangle and Virginia Garrison won both a chevron and triangle to capture high honors.

Although many pupils did not receive recognition this year, it is hoped they are incited to win a place in their activity in future years.

HITT FANS 101 IN SEASON. A NEW MARK

Sophomore Bob Hitt eclipsed all former strike-out records for Plymouth high school in the recently ended baseball season by fanning 101 men in 13 contests, surpassing by 24 the former mark of 77 set by Warren Bassett in 1934. Bob struck out an approximate average of 1.1 men per inning, a record of which two other Bobs, Grove and Feller, could well be proud. Hitt was one of the prime factors in leading Plymouth to the .762 average which it gained by winning 16 out of 21 contests, as he won ten and lost four.

Bob's record fanning total follows:

April 25, Centerline	10
April 27, Farmington	7
May 3, River Rouge	7
May 6, Ecorse	6
May 10, Dearborn	6
May 13, Wayne	11
May 17, Ypsilanti	13
May 19, River Rouge	4
May 24, Ecorse	6
May 27, Dearborn	6
May 31, Wayne	7
June 1, Northville (2 innings)	5
June 3, Ypsilanti	5
June 6, Ferndale	9

Hitt reached his peak against Ypsilanti on Tuesday, May 17 when 13 batters whiffed, and his low against River Rouge two days later, striking out only four. Bob had three shut-outs to his credit, most outstanding of which was his one-hit twirling against River Rouge on May 3, Ypsilanti on June 3, and Ecorse on May 24 were also included in his white-washing efforts.

Mr. Hitt pitches mainly from the wrist instead of from the shoulder, as most hurlers do. It is a joy to reflect that he has still two years of high school baseball left.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tilotson and Mrs. William Bakewell were called to Edys Mills, Ontario, Canada, Monday, June 6, by the sudden death of their brother, William F. Carpenter. The following people from Plymouth attended the funeral Wednesday: William Bakewell, Mrs. Howard Cochran, and Mrs. Nelson Bakewell.

ROCKS MAKE SHOWING IN WAYNE RELAYS

Five members of the track team went to Belle Isle, Saturday, June 11 to take part in the Wayne relays, put on every year under the direction of Wayne university.

The entire team made a good showing against the other schools, but those who did best were Jolliffe, Ross, Meilbeck, and H. Newman, who composed the 880 yard relay team and took second place. Keith Jolliffe took third place in the running broad jump.

The following boys represented Plymouth: Jolliffe, McMullen, Meilbeck, H. Newman, Packard, Ross, Searpulla. With the boys were P. Williams, manager, and Coaches Jacob and Ingram.

GOLF TEAM CLOSSES SEASON: JASS ROSS MOST SUCCESSFUL PLAYER

Jack Ross earned the title of best golfer on the local golf team during the 1938 season. He took second place in the class B regionals and third place for all classes. Jack received a medal, similar to those received in basketball, for taking second place. No doubt, Jack, being a Junior, will be the first man on the team next season to come through with greater honors.

The rest of the team also played good golf, earning eight out of a possible 10 points for the T.V.A.A. The two points lost were to Ypsilanti. The team took third place in the T.V.A.A. and fifth place in the regionals.

Jack Ross, Joe Archer, Bob West, Bob Brdwn, James Heller, and Dick Dunlop were the boys to receive letters this year. The small letters of previous years will be replaced by the full size ones this season.

Following are the scores of all the games in which Plymouth participated:

Plymouth, 374; Dearborn 394.
Plymouth 367; Ecorse 462.
Plymouth, 222; Ypsilanti 177.
Plymouth 245; Wayne 388.
Plymouth 400; Univ. high 365.
Plymouth 357; Redford U. 319.
Plymouth defeated R. Rouge.
Plymouth 342; Redford U. 310.
Plymouth 380; E. Lansing 342.
Plymouth 380; U. high, 327.

Northville defeated Plymouth. Regionals, fifth place.

E. Lansing defeated Plymouth. The various golf courses played on during the season are Plymouth Country club, Hawthorne Valley, Washtenaw Country club, University course, Redford Union, Meadow Brook, Huron Hills, and Walnut Hill.

Garden City Gives Rouge A Trimming

Garden City nanded River Rouge their first defeat of the season by the score of 6-5 before several thousand fans at Burke field in River Rouge.

Tommy Higgins' home run with two men aboard proved to be the deciding blow of the game. The ball traveled well over 400 feet. Ace Hill started on the mound for Garden City and shut out River Rouge for six complete innings without a hit. In the seventh inning a single, a fielder's choice, a fluke triple, a walk and a home run enabled River Rouge to tie the score at five runs.

Garden City scored the winning run in the ninth inning when Charlie Wolfram got on base on an error. Sonnenberg beat out a bunt for a hit and each of the runners advanced a base when the pitcher threw wildly to first base. R. Wolfram was hit by a pitched ball and Patrick popped, but Scott grounded out. C. Wolfram spring from third base with the winning run.

Leo Fowler relieved Hill in the eighth inning and did a fine job of relief pitching, striking out three of the six men who faced him in the two innings he worked. Only one hit was made off of his offering. Combined with the three hits made off of Hill, River Rouge made a total of four hits. Meanwhile Garden City got off to a good lead when singles by Scott and Hill set the stage for Tommy Higgins' home run. A double by Joe Higgins, an infield out and long fly ball accounted for a run in the fourth. A double by Tom Higgins in the seventh followed by single by R. Wolfram accounted for Garden City's fifth run.

What's the Answer?

By EDWARD FINCH

How did the custom of tipping the hat originate?

OLDEN days it was required of the common people when in the presence of their ruler to strip themselves of their clothing as a symbol of laying down all they possessed for their superior. From this was evolved the act of a gentleman tipping his hat to a lady which is now known as tipping.

Wood, brother of the bride, and Maud Northrop of Plymouth, were married at the Wood home in Northville last Tuesday morning. Owing to the illness of Mrs. Wood, mother of the contracting party, the wedding was a very quiet affair. After a few weeks sojourn at White Lake the happy couples will return to Plymouth where they will reside. They have the best wishes of many friends for happy wedded lives.

The following Children's day program will be given at the Presbyterian church, next Sunday morning, June 15, at 10:00 o'clock: "A Welcome", Margaret Bennett; "Welcome, Dear Children's Day", Thelma Williams; recitation, selected, Miss Helen Gardner; "Love" by four girls; "Winifred Draper, Helen Samsen, Edith Miller and Margaret Bennett; song by Mrs. Haffee; "Heralds of the Kingdom"; recitation, "Rain or Shine", Paul Hummel; "Fan Drill", Mrs. Shattuck's class; solo, selected, Miss Hazel Connor; "A Bit of Advice", Donald Patterson; "Daisy Chain", Mrs. M. C. Lass; recitation, "Dreams", Gladys Schreier; solo, selected, Mrs. C. H. Rauch; "The Swain's Dinner Bell", the pastor; "Goodbye", Janette Whipple.

Last Friday afternoon the annual meeting and club picnic of the Woman's Literary club was held at Mrs. Paul Bennett's pleasant farm home on Golden street. The day was an ideal picnic one.

The short business session of the ladies was held at their chairs out on the lawn where refreshments were served. There were about 40 ladies present.

The club picnic has become one of the festive days of the year, and the members are pleased to have this annual affair. The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. S. E. Campbell; first vice president, Mrs. J. J. Travis; second vice president, Mrs. R. E. Cooper; recording secretary, Mrs. E. B. Dagggett; corresponding secretary, Mrs. William T. Pettigill; treasurer, Mrs. Harry Shattuck; custodian, Miss Ella Shattuck. The last meeting of the year which is President's day, will be held this afternoon at Mrs. S. E. IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of our dear mother, Ella A. Flagg, who entered into life eternal on June 16, 1937. Rather than see us weep, she would come back to us, although it meant leaving the beautiful and good. In the bright country where she went, not for her sake should sad tears fall—she who has reached the ultimate of happiness, would we recall her to uncertain earthly fate! Sleep sweetly, little mother, 'til that morning hour when glorious the sun will break upon the hill! Then rise, and lift the latch for us! Mrs. Homer Burton Mrs. Arthur L. Mills

Take Bushels Of Fish From Lake

Over 100 bushels of suckers, carp, pike and black bass were taken from Newburg lake last week when the county drained the lake for the purpose of laying the trunk line sewer across the bottom of the lake. The sewer will serve all of the various county institutions in this part of Wayne county as well as the city of Plymouth and Northville. When the water had receded to such an extent that the fish were floundering in shallow spots, dozens of men and boys waded into the mud and gathered up hundreds of good sized fish. Bushel baskets, market baskets and sacks were used. It is estimated that more than a hundred bushels of fish were carried away, in addition to all of those taken away in sacks. Some bass in the lake weighed three and four pounds. Many of the fish were carried down stream when the drainage gates were opened. It will probably be a month before the lake is refilled.
