

State Cuts Thousands From Old Age Pension Rolls To Provide Cash For Roving Hordes Of Political Job Holders

Old Men and Women Now Forced To Declare Themselves Paupers To Get Even Welfare Hand-Outs

Michigan has cut thousands of needy old people from state assistance pensions and at the same time added thousands of needless political job holders to the state payroll, declared Elton R. Eaton, editor of The Plymouth Mail and a member of the state legislature in an address delivered Wednesday before the annual convention of the Michigan Poor Superintendents and township supervisors at Sault Ste. Marie.

He declared that there had been a complete breakdown in proper administration of the department, that it now has more than three times the number of employees than it had less than two years ago, and that its cost to the taxpayers is almost four times what it was 18 months ago.

The aged are now required to declare themselves paupers before they can get welfare aid, he said. The address follows in full: Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen:

When your program committee invited me to discuss with you today the old age pension problem in our state, I stated that I would do so if given permission to bring to you facts pertaining to the administration of this department of our state government. That permission was granted me.

Permit me to quote to you from the message delivered by Governor Murphy to the legislature on January 6, 1937:

"It is inconceivable that aged persons depending upon old age relief, should be left stranded or thrown on DIRECT RELIEF."

It was to be expected that after promises of "adequate old age pensions" and "increased old age pensions" made in campaign speeches at Saginaw, Hamtramck and elsewhere in 1936 the Governor would say officially to the aged people of Michigan "it is inconceivable" that they would be thrown on DIRECT RELIEF. The old people and every one else had a right to expect just such an OFFICIAL pledge.

But what are the facts? The message containing this statement had not yet been published in the bound volume of the proceedings of the legislature before the purge of the aged started.

Thousands upon thousands who have qualified for old age assistance have been driven by the present state administration to seek DIRECT RELIEF.

The following is a quotation from one of the letters, of which I have been given many, sent out by Frank Murphy's old age assistance department to those who have qualified for old age benefits:

"We regret to inform you that as yet nothing more can be done in regard to your old age assistance. As soon as new cases are authorized for payment by the Lansing office your case will receive every consideration. * * * It is recommended that YOU APPLY at your nearest WELFARE OFFICE for aid."

It is with chagrin that Michigan has learned that what Frank Murphy says is one thing, and what he does is something entirely different.

Instead of giving to the aged distressed the dignified assistance they were promised and for which the legislature provided, our very worthy old people have been herded into welfare offices, pushed and shoved around without the slightest respect or consideration shown for drooping shoulders.

There they have been forced to wait in discomfort for hours with the fits and misfits for an opportunity to place themselves in the pauper class and then plead with cold, stern political welfare job holders for welfare hand-outs.

These aged welfare applicants are some of the very people who pioneered in the building of our great state. They helped to clear the fields so that we are able to raise the bounteous crops produced in Michigan today. They aided in building our schools, our churches, our thoroughfares, our villages and our cities.

Many of the luxuries of life we enjoy today were provided by them. They helped to carry the tax burden that made possible all that we are and all that we have.

In return for all they have done, the state now not only denies them the dignified assistance it had promised by the adoption of the pension system, but the governor and his state administration demand that they declare themselves paupers before they can even have the right to plead for the bread and butter they need to keep body and soul together.

More useless cruelty has been forced upon the aged broken-spirited citizens of our state during the past year and a half than in all the other hundred years of our statehood.

At no place in the old age assistance law is there a requirement that an old person shall declare himself a pauper before he can receive state aid. Of course necessity is and should be a requirement for public assistance but the present administrators of the act are writing humiliating provisions into the law that were never intended.

There has been a persistent campaign carried on by those in charge of the assistance department to create in the minds of the people of the state the belief that old age assistance is welfare relief and that there should be no dividing line between the two forms of public aid. The supervisor of the department last December issued a long statement defending the policy that the department had adopted in which it sought to pauperize the dependent aged people of our state.

Such a policy is directly contrary to the original intent of the old age pension plan.

I am fearful that old age has become one of the greatest misfortunes of humanity. In addition to the constant dread our elders possess of becoming a burden to some one, they are now beset by a vast army of political leeches who seek for themselves a very great portion of the funds a generous public provides for the dependent aged. So greedy have the job holders become and so anxious are they to conserve as much of the old age pension fund for themselves as possible, that an old couple, the husband 83 years of age, his wife 81, who had saved $300 for a burial fund, were among the thousands cut entirely from the pension rolls during the past year.

The youthful professional political social workers these days, for some unknown reason, do not seem able to comprehend the fact that the old people of Michigan, who through misfortune are compelled to seek state aid, are the products of a generation when it was looked upon as a disgrace to accept public assistance.

They were brought up to be self-reliant, independent and to shun anything which tinged of a charitable gift.

When a person has reached the age of 65 or 70 it is not an easy matter to force him to lower the high standards of citizenship and manhood maintained during a long life time.

It is not a message of glad tidings I am bringing you today pertaining to the old age assistance program in Michigan. On the contrary, it is a record of double-dealing, excessive expense accounts paid out of old age pension funds, overloaded payrolls, political quackery and violated pledges.

I am bringing to you too, the startling admission by the supervisor of the department of old age assistance that it is now necessary for some of the old people, being aided by the state, to die or to have their names slashed from the rolls before new pensions can

This trip should prove of special interest to anyone interested in geology as the Cranbrook area is a rich field and the Institute of Science has a splendid collection of specimens.

Farmers Cut And Thresh Crops All At One Time

New Machine Solves Labor Shortage On Farms

Farmers in the vicinity of Plymouth are no longer worrying about the labor problem.

Because they have been unable during the "depression", when everybody is supposed to be out of work, to hire help during planting and harvesting time, growers are now cutting and threshing their crops in one operation.

Yes, sir, right here in Wayne county, farmers are finding it profitable to operate the All-Crop Harvester, a machine which cuts the wheat, oat and rye crop, and threshes it at the same time.

Work Is Started On Zoning Law

T. Glenn Phillips, Plymouth's new city planner, met with the members of the Planning Commission Monday night and outlined proposals for drafting a new city zoning ordinance.

Work will be started immediately on preparations for drawing up the ordinance. It is hoped that the ordinance will be completed by January 1. City Manager Clarence Elliott said this week in discussing the plans.

"Plymouth already has made a good start toward a zoning ordinance," Mr. Phillips said at the meeting. The Planning Commission will see that he gets all details in connection with the work so that the ordinance may be drafted as soon as possible.

There already is an existing map of the city, Mr. Elliott said, and a plan has been prepared. A non-conforming use map and other smaller maps for study in connection with the work will be prepared, he added.

Change In Setting Is Announced For City Picnic

More Room Provided For Huge Affair Monday, Aug. 8

Change in the setting for the Plymouth community picnic was announced this week following a meeting of the committee in charge of arrangements.

In order to allow greater space for the affair, which is expected to attract the large number of residents of Plymouth and to provide more picnic tables, the picnic grounds have been designated as the entire space from the wading pool up to and including the horse shoe pitching courts on both sides of the road in Riverside park.

This entire section will be reserved by park officials for the use of Plymouth residents in the first annual community picnic.

The Michigan horse shoe pitching championship finals will be held at the horse shoe courts on the afternoon of the picnic, which is scheduled to last from 1 to 6 p.m. Monday, August 8.

According to plans formulated by the Civic Committee, the proceedings at the picnic grounds will be kept as informal as possible so that the picnickers may enjoy themselves with family luncheon baskets and create their own fun.

Games are scheduled for both children and adults by Milton Jacoby, Plymouth recreation supervisor.

Prizes for children will be purchased in Plymouth and awarded by professional men of the city. Any business or professional man who has not yet contributed to this fund can do so by sending their offering to the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce in the Mayflower hotel.

A complete program of races, contests, baseball games and other diversions is expected to be completed next week.

Mayor Henry Hondorp and the city commission have extended a cordial welcome to all Plymouth residents to attend this community afternoon frolic. A large number of Plymouth business places will be closed for the duration of the picnic. Those places which will be closed had signs announcing the fact posted in their windows this week.

The committee in charge of the arrangements is composed of Stanley Corbett, chairman; David Beck, Ontario, with an estimated 24,000 gallons of tarvia is nearly half completed.

Tarvia Laying Delayed By Rain

In answer to queries as to whether the city tarvia work had been discontinued, the city manager said this week that the work had not been completed but that it had been delayed considerably by inclement weather.

He explained that it was impossible to lay the tarvia when the roads were wet and that even dampness impeded the work. However, the task of laying 24,000 gallons of tarvia is nearly half completed.

Early this week it was estimated that 11,000 gallons had been spread. The work will go on as rapidly as the weather permits, he added.

TO DEMONSTRATE TWO-WAY RADIO HERE MONDAY

W. R. Watson, of the Wayne County Sheriff's office, will demonstrate to local police officials, the city commission and any other interested parties the new two way radio communication set he has recently developed.

Officials from Northville and the Detroit House of Correction have also been invited to witness the demonstration that will take place Monday night at 8:30 at the city hall here.

The new system is inexpensive and affords two way communication to police cars and the police department from an area of 10 miles from the station from which it is being operated. Watson hopes to have an inter-county communicating radio system at work in Wayne county within the next few months. In his discussion with local officials he pointed out the advantages of the radio to them in their work with Northville and other adjoining towns.

Council Extends Twelve-Inch Pipe On Mill Street

Project Is Part Of Ten-Year Plan For Higher Pressure

In a special session Tuesday the city commission approved installation of twelve-inch water pipe on Mill street between Rose mouth pipe already is being installed on Mill street between Plymouth road and Rose street.

The replacement project, which will eliminate the six-inch pipe now serving the street, will continue as the other section is completed.

Taps will be made for all houses now on the street, City Manager Clarence Elliott said. The taps will be lead or copper. They will replace about 35 or 40 connections put in with iron pipe years ago.

Taps will not be made for vacant lots, Mr. Elliott said, because it is impossible at the present time to predict the types of outlets which may be required when buildings are erected.

A garage usually requires a pipe one to two inches wide while small factories take two to four-inch pipe and house pipes generally run three-quarters width. Until the buildings are constructed it is impossible to determine which size outlet will be needed.

The new part of the project will require 2,500 feet of pipe, Mr. Elliott said. There will be no assessments on property owners as the replacement work is financed by the city.

Mr. Elliott said that the decision to install additional twelve-inch pipe on Mill street is another step in a ten-year program to ring the city with twelve-inch pipe.

So far, in addition to Mill street, twelve inch pipe has been installed on Evergreen street from Farmer to Garfield on South Main street from Sutherland to Golden road and on Sutherland to Golden road.

When the long-term plan is completed, Mr. Elliott said, twelve-inch water mains will circle the city, assuring strong water pressure throughout the community.

The purpose of the projected wide use of twelve-inch pipe, he said, is two-fold.

First, to provide high water pressure, especially for dry seasons.

Second, to assure better fire protection by providing adequate and uniform water pressure.

At present, he said, the entire center of the city is serviced by the old six-inch pipe, which the city considers to be inadequate.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Grow and son David, were guests at the home of Mrs. George Palmer on Tuesday last week.

If You Hanker For A $150 Hankie You Can Get It Now In Plymouth

Any Plymouth resident who wants to play drop the handkerchief in very exclusive fashion can do so by walking into Blunk Brothers department store and laying $50 on the counter.

That is the price for only one of a large display of exclusive imported handkerchiefs trimmed and embroidered in lace.

The large collection of handkerchiefs was scheduled to go on exhibition Thursday in the large window of the store where it will remain for one week, according to John Blyton, who is in charge of the exhibit.

The handkerchiefs were imported from Europe by J. W. Hoefgen, of New Jersey, one of America's most exclusive importers of unusual handkerchiefs.

Every handkerchief in the exhibit is handmade. One of the high-price group which will sell for $150 is of rose point lace with a linen center woven so finely that the persons believe it is silk at first glance.

Petals on the roses of the lace overlap in exquisite, minute style. This handkerchief is 14 inches square and was made in Belgium. It is one of the few of its kind ever to be brought to this country for sale. Such a handkerchief takes 18 months to finish, Blyton said.

The Plymouth exhibit will be the only one of its kind anywhere in the United States, according to the promoter, John Blyton, of Hoefgen. The unusual handkerchiefs will not be available to larger stores in New York, Chicago or Detroit until later in the year.

It is believed that this exhibit will mark the first time that a handkerchief of such quality has been placed on exhibit and sale in a small city anywhere in this country, Blyton added.

Two other specimens of rose point lace only slightly inferior in quality or price also will be displayed. In addition, there will

Wolf's Market To Open Remodeled Store Thursday

Stock Is Enlarged After Blaze Damages Store

Wolf's Cash Market on Penniman avenue, which was damaged by fire July 17, will have its grand re-opening next Thursday, August 4. The store will be completely remodeled inside and new equipment is being installed to assist shoppers, the management announced this week.

A much larger stock than was carried formerly and a more complete line of goods, including a wider variety of selections, will be available to Plymouth shoppers.

The management announced its belief that the store was unable to open sooner to care for the needs of its customers. However, the management expressed the hope that the larger stocks and remodeling of the interior will make the store more pleasing and serviceable to patrons.

Damage from the fire was confined largely to the effects of smoke and water, but considerable damage was done to perishable goods and furnishings of the store. The management took the opportunity to remodel the store and install a more complete line of articles for sale.

Firm Hopes To See Better Transportation Revive Business

Improved bus service from Plymouth to Detroit and intermediate points went into operation Monday.

Foremost in the improvements was installation of a new bus on the route. The streamlined bus seats 25 persons.

Other features of the revised service are speedier and more frequent round trips. Service under the new schedule, as outlined recently to the Chamber of Commerce by Victor Rouse, president of the Dearborn Coach company, which operates the line, provides for 16 round trips daily.

The first bus leaves Plymouth at 6:15 a.m. and the last one now arrives here at 12:40 a.m., with trips at frequent intervals during the day and evening. The new schedule calls for a much faster trip to Grand Haven than formerly. The round trip fare of 50 cents is unchanged.

Mr. Rouse said that the new schedule would be given a three-month trial. If business does not show an increase at the end of the period, he added, the Plymouth route will be discontinued. The line has not been paying, he said.

As long as the line even pays expenses, the company will be satisfied to continue the service he pointed out, adding that he hoped the new schedule and buses would provide a stimulus to business that take the line operations out of the red.

The schedule of operations resulted from the co-operation of the Chamber of Commerce and Mr. Rouse to provide faster and better service for Plymouth residents.

Kiwanis Meeting Attended By 100

Plymouth Kiwanis club attracted the largest attendance of the year at a meeting Tuesday night in the form of an attendance contest.

Captains in charge of the teams were Edwin "Bud" Schrader and Warren Worth. Schrader's team won out by a final attendance of 27 guests, which represented the Michigan Legion, a staggery baseball team, league leader of the Inter-County Baseball league. A total of over 100 persons were present at the meeting.

The program was presented by H. A. Williamson, representative of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission. He displayed a movie, entitled "The Beneficent Reprobate," which had as its purpose a demonstration of the unwholesome effects of the use of liquor on the human nervous system.

The movie and a series of charts were prepared by Northwestern University. The charts illustrated the mental deficiency resulting from consumption of one drink in terms of tests performed by the University staff.

The purpose of the presentation, Mr. Williamson explained, was to show that alcohol in any beverage form should be treated as a dangerous weapon which can inflict serious and often fatal damages on the human body and nervous system.

State Cuts Old Age Pension Rolls

be granted, no matter how great may be the need of the aged living. With more than 21,000 applications pending at the end of March, there was an increase of only 141 additional pensions between the end of January and the first of July this year.

On page 5 of the Old Age Assistance Monthly Bulletin issued by the State Welfare Department for the month of February, 1938, appears the following statement:

"On March 31, 1938, only $10,501,163 of the state appropriation for old age assistance for the biennium ending June 30, 1939 remained unexpended. This allows an average monthly expenditure from state funds of only $700,080 for the 15-month period remaining after April 1, 1938."

Whether the alarming financial condition the statement revealed, I went to the budget director's office a few days ago to check up on the alleged facts set forth in the foregoing statement.

The budget director being absent, I was referred to Fred Levi, "budget examiner" for the "budget director".

After some figuring, he announced that it was a "four million dollar mistake".

Whether the statement of the old age assistance bureau or that of the budget examiner is a mistake, there is no way of knowing. There is apparently not only a four million dollar mistake in connection with the report but Michigan has made a deplorable mistake in connection with its entire welfare program.

As one turns back the pages of history, intensely interesting information is revealed as to the ways the tribes of people of the ages gone by solved the care of their old people.

Some placed the aged in exalted places. They became the counselors and advisors of their people. In fact, the outstanding races of the centuries looked upon their old men and women as possessors of matured wisdom and judgment, and they were treated accordingly. Sons made it their duty to devote their lives to the support of their elders. If the father of one died, he adopted some old man, alone in the world, to support until death.

But this veneration of the aged was not true of all the tribes that roamed the earth. Some writers say that the ceremonial killing of the old in years gone by was primarily a religious rite and an expression of veneration adopted as a method of disposing of one of the economic problems of the times.

I sometimes wonder if the seemingly heartless things some of these nomadic tribes did to their old people were any worse than what is being done in Michigan.

In the last gubernatorial campaign, the old people were taken to the mountain top and asked to look towards the setting sun. Then they were told that the state would see to it that the remainder of their journey, down the mountain side and into the valley, would be over a pathway strewn with all the necessities of life. They were told that their days of worry were over.

These good old people took the state at its word, because they had a perfect right to believe that Michigan's administrative officials would carry out their promises.

But soon came the day of reckoning.

"We've got to balance the budget" was the first excuse given as the Governor wiped out $2,000,000 of the appropriation the legislature had voted for old age assistance.

A few months later came the second excuse for broken promises.

"We've got to restore a semblance of economy in state spending" was, in brief, the explanation for slashing another $2,000,000 of the appropriation made for the current fiscal year ending June 30, 1939.

The other day another $800,000 chunk was cut out of the remaining old age pension fund for the current year by the Governor, leaving but $7,200,000 of the original appropriation voted for the present fiscal year by the legislature.

Not only are there no new old age pensions being granted, but thousands have been cut entirely from the pension list, thousands have had their pensions drastically reduced and on top of all this, there has been issued a recent order cutting $1 from every pension issued by the department, no matter how excessive had been some of the previous reductions.

That's how Governor Murphy carried out the promises of Candidate Murphy.

The old people of Michigan are the only ones who have suffered as a result of the appropriation reductions made by the Governor.

There is now roving about the state the greatest horde of useless political job holders Michigan taxpayers have ever been forced to support. The number has increased from 13,000 to over 17,000 in a year and a half.

The double-salaries for the Governor's political advisors are still flowing into their pockets.

Changes of padded expense accounts by state employes do not create even a ripple of surprised comment around Lansing.

In January, 1937, at the beginning of the present state administration, the total number of employes in the old age assistance department for the entire state was only 149.

In June of the present year the total number of jobholders in the old age assistance bureau had jumped to the amazing total of 470, over three times as many as were employed in the department just a little over a year ago.

The month before the present administration took control of the state government only 24 workers and one district supervisor investigated and cared for the entire routine of the district which comprised Wayne, Oakland, Monroe, Jackson, Washtenaw, Lenawee, Ingham and Hillsdale counties.

A recent old age pension payroll showed that in Wayne county alone there are employed 84 jobholders. In Oakland county in January, 1937, only two workers and one supervisor took care of all the old age pension cases. There are now two supervisors and eight workers to do this work in this one county. So it runs all through the state.

Officials of the department will explain to you that the change made by the last legislature in the old age pension law reducing the age limit from 70 to 65 years is the cause of the increased work in the department. Their own reports belie this statement.

In June, 1938, there were 35,883 people receiving old age pensions.

In June, 1938, there were 70,628 on the old age assistance list. The incomplete and jumbled records of the department show that of this latest total over 5100 are aliens. The correct total is probably larger than that.

During the past six months there has been but a slight variation in the total number of aged receiving assistance.

While the number of pensions has barely doubled as a result of this age reduction, the number of political job holders, who have found easy access to the old age pension appropriation, has more than tripled.

The cost of maintaining these job holders in the department has reached a total almost four times as large as it was less than a year and a half ago.

In January, 1937, the total payroll for the department was only $14,771.86.

In June, 1938, the total payroll for that month had reached the staggering figure of $54,685.64.

I know figures are not interesting, but while I was checking over the records in Lansing, I came across another interesting fact. Out of the old age pension fund during the month of May we paid these same job holders a total of $8,761.25 for automobile mileage. The average mileage payment to each employe per month ran from $30 to $50. Mind you, during these months practically no new cases were being added to the pension rolls.

This total does not include any of the automobile or other personal expense accounts of the 72 employes of the Lansing office. These workers file individual expense accounts, including their automobile travel allowance which I have not checked. I did notice, however, that money appropriated for old age pensions had been spent to pay traveling expenses of the supervisor of the department for a visit to New York City and another down to Washington.

The money spent by Supervisor Pekersky for his stay at the Astor hotel would have kept some old person from being hungry for many a week.

So large has the office staff grown in Lansing that it now requires four floors of the City National Bank building to house them all whereas only one floor was used two years ago for the department.

There is not the slightest question in my mind that a few intelligent letters could bring forth most of the information that now costs the taxpayers something like $8,000 or $9,000 a month to secure by automobile service.

But in order to keep the wheels of the workers going, the department bulletin recently said that the administrators intended to make an investigation of each old age pensioner at least once every three months.

No one is foolish enough to deny that continued necessity is the essential requirement for old age assistance.

But why force broken-spirited men and women whose only offense seems to be their old age, to go through the humiliating routine of a searching inquiry once every three months?

Though they may be old and helpless, friendless and in many cases homeless, it is nothing less than an outrage to subject them to periodic investigations. The old people feel as though these inquiries are as cold and unsympathetic as that given hardened criminals by persistent police officers.

So great do they dread the coming of some of these old age investigators that some have been known to try and hide until the investigators, or case workers as they call them, have gone. In fact, some of these old people have reached a point where they would rather go hungry than be subjected to the regimentation of the department and live under the constant surveillance of a great horde of political job holders.

How did this great army of political welfare workers in the old age assistance department, get their jobs?

That is an easy question to answer.

Applicants must first pass a "political" service examination. If the "political" examination cannot be passed with almost 100 percent marks, there isn't much use in taking the other civil service examination up in Lansing.

In my own county that "political" service examination is conducted by one Harry Mead, who is the political manager for the present governor in Wayne county.

A job seeker in the old age pension department in Wayne county must first consult with Mr. Mead if he hopes to have his application considered.

If the first verbal examination can be passed successfully, then will come the "political" service examination.

The applicant must prove that he is a good party worker, has voted right in past elections, and can influence votes in the precincts, wards or townships in which he resides. Most important of all, the applicant must prove that he has "inside" contacts with the right "powers that be" in the dominant political party. In this connection letters from those high up in party control are most valuable in helping the applicant along the road to success in winning a place on the payroll in the old age assistance department.

If the applicant can successfully weather the searching examination into his political pedigree, then the application blanks are forwarded on to Lansing where all of these facts are set forth.

From there on the distance to the old age assistance department payroll is not far off.

The following in Wayne county since January 1, 1937 successfully passed Examiner Mead's "political" service tests, as records and letters in Lansing reveal; if they are still on file, and are now partaking of the appropriation funds that the legislature voted for old age pensions:

- Marie M. Nester, housing supervisor;
- Celia Garber, typist;
- Elizabeth Whitman, intake clerk;
- Helen Sanderson, stenographer;
- Helen M. Hammers, typist;
- Katherine George, receptionist;
- Mary Kays, dictaphone operator;
- Earl McKinnon, restitution worker;
- Olga Protsoff, dictaphone operator;
- Mildred Petz, dictaphone operator;

- Mariam Shapiro, senior case worker;
- Lottie Evans, senior case worker;
- Kernadette Kelley, senior case worker;
- Odessa Rabe, senior case worker;
- Mary L. Dawson, senior case worker;
- Cora Brown, senior case worker;
- Marie Swartz, senior case worker;
- Gertrude A. Love, senior case worker;
- Edith M. Davis, senior case worker;
- Claire Stendel, senior case worker;
- Frances Kosmowski, senior case worker;

- Audrey Priestly, senior case worker;
- Marie Cooper, senior case worker;
- Virginia Chester, senior case worker;
- Arthur Randall, senior case worker;
- Dorothy Simmons, senior case worker;
- Charles Skoglund, senior case worker;
- Floyd Mabry, senior case worker;
- Dorothy Goldsmith, senior case worker;
- Thelma Solt, junior case worker;
- Rosemary Price, junior case worker;
- Mary O'Gorman, junior case worker;
- Callie L. Hayse, junior case worker;
- Margaret Sattler, junior case worker;
- Beryl Jacobs, junior case worker.

After an applicant has successfully passed the "political" service examination in the county from which the application is received and if successful in the Lansing examination, there is also a school that old age pension job holders can attend at the expense of the old age pension appropriation, if they desire to do so.

This is known as the Michigan Institute, operated under the direction of one William Haber of the University of Michigan.

It is located at 144 East Ferry avenue in Detroit and during the school year old age assistance payroll "boys and girls" who have minor college degrees can attend this school and be paid $100 per month out of the old age assistance appropriation for their "work" in attending school.

In this school they study for their master's degree in order to be able after graduation to go out and tell some aged grandmother, who is receiving an old age pension, how to cook oatmeal and prepare soft boiled eggs.

There are from six to a dozen employes of the old age assistance bureau in constant attendance at this institute during the regular school year receiving a higher education in welfare work at the expense of the hungry old people of our state.

Other young men and women of Michigan have to work and pay their own way through school, but if one happens to be within the social worker's political ring, the money for advanced education is easily diverted from its rightful uses to a purpose that smacks of nothing less than graft "within the law".

What business has the director of this department to use one cent of money for such a purpose as this? If the social welfare political worker hasn't sufficient education for a job within the department, he has not the slightest right to take one cent of the taxpayers' money for the purpose.

Neither has he a right to use the time from his regular job to attend school.

It all seems fantastic to think that such things can exist under our state government without the taxpayers of the state knowing of these details. But, nevertheless, every statement I am making to you is a fact that state officials cannot deny.

In addition to getting as much of the old age assistance money as possible for themselves, they, the palvering, selfish, talkative politicians have even gone so far as to try and lay claim to the creation and enactment of the legislation for the benefit of the needy aged people.

Neither the professional pettifoggers nor the social workers had anything to do with it.

I regret to say that I am not a member of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, but to this group of far-sighted American citizens, I desire at this time to pay my highest respects, because through their efforts and their efforts alone, the congress of the United States and the various state legislatures enacted old age pension laws.

Michigan's first law even preceded that of congress. It was passed under the administration of Governor William Comstock. Under the following administration of Governor Fitzgerald, Michigan became the first state in the Union to have its old age assistance plan approved under the federal Social Security act.

What are we going to do about the shameful record of administration of the old age assistance bureau?

That is a question for the good people of Michigan to answer. For decency's sake, if for no other reason, the state should immediately eliminate the present entire political set-up, as well as the system which controls the administration of the old age funds.

It should at once place men and women in charge of the department who possess more mature judgment and have some understanding of the feelings of the aged and who will treat them with the respect and esteem which belongs to old age. Those within the department who possess this humane viewpoint should of course be retained and assured a steady income commensurate with their ability and service. There should, however, be another provision in this connection. The state employe should believe that it is absolutely essential that diligent and honest service be given for the pay received. He should not only believe it, but perform it.

We should not be too hasty in eliminating the elders from public service. Social reformers do much talking about "business" making it difficult for men and women past 40 to get jobs. As a matter of fact, the state itself is the worst offender in this respect. The state should be frank and honest.

If a promise is made that promise should be kept. But no pledge should be made that cannot be fulfilled.

Above all other things, we should demand that the needs of our dependent aged be placed above those of the greedy, time-killing and useless political job-holders.

To Make Your Eye-Sight Last Your Lifetime!

You need not worry particularly about total blindness—not any more than you would about total loss of hearing. They do happen, but they are not the common lot. But partial loss of capability in almost all our senses is so common as to be "commonplace"—and therefore neglected. The frantic efforts of people to overcome dulled hearing are known to you. That is because the partially deaf person knows how much of life is being missed. The person with dulled seeing capacity doesn't know it! Do you ever realize that the person next to you sees or does not see something? Rarely. But ask an artist—he will tell you of form, color and incident that has completely escaped your attention. For your most complete success and happiness in life, you must be visually adapted to the conditions in which you live. What will serve another will not necessarily "do" for you. That makes indiscriminate buying of "eye-glasses" limiting, if not actually dangerous to your welfare. To make your eye-sight last your lifetime is the work of the professional optometrist. He thinks beyond the symptoms (the headaches, the "band around the head", the tired feeling, the blur, the scratchy eyelids) to the causes of these evidences of discomfort. He plans a continuous campaign of care. How silly it would be to think of cleaning the teeth only in the dentist's office! Visual conditions are locked up with bodily conditions. That which happens to your entire bodily system also happens to your visual system—either direct or by reflexive action. Perpetual care and constant readaptations are the way to make eye-sight last a lifetime.

A FRIENDLY TRIBUTE to MR. FORD

Whenever I look at a picture of you, I'm filled with a something interestingly new. For I see the man, God meant you to be. And your character unfolds in the heart of me. Perhaps it's your smile that somehow sinks in. Or perhaps it's the way that you hold up your chin. Your philanthropist nature, your wisdom, and pride. These are the things which your face can not hide. And I am so glad to be able to share a few penciled words. Though they seem rather bare I couldn't do justice. Nor could writers like me. For you are the man God meant you to be. And this little tribute of kindness will show you are a man. The world loves to know Jane Rogers.

You will be pleasantly surprised at the newest cost figures just compiled by actual meter test, over a period of a year's time. In the survey, 5 well-known makes of electric ranges and 9 different models were included. The ranges were used in kitchens in actual homes, under everyday working conditions, by women cooking meals daily. The average cooking cost for families of three is only $1.55 A MONTH. Electric cooking on today's modern ranges is not expensive. Why not install an electric range in your kitchen now — so that you can enjoy its comfort through the warm summer months?

Henry Ford Looks Forward To Busy Years Of Making New Dreams Realities As 75th Birthday Nears

Birth Of An Industry Recalled By Friend, Malcolm W. Bingay

Saturday, Henry Ford will celebrate his 75th birthday. His close associates say that he does not look upon the occasion as the end of another year, but the beginning of a new year, with all of the opportunities and hopes that the beginning of another day brings forth.

Plymouth and vicinity are especially interested in Mr. Ford, all that he says and all that he does. Many about here have known him during most of their life time. Thousands of residents in this locality have watched his successes with more than ordinary interest because to them it has meant their living.

Naturally, all of Plymouth offers Mr. Ford congratulations upon his birthday. Every one hopes for him many more of them.

Malcolm W. Bingay, editorial director of The Detroit Free Press, who knew Mr. Ford long before the first Ford car was produced, recently wrote probably the best article that has ever appeared in print pertaining to the birth of the world's greatest industry.

Of such general interest is it just at this time, The Plymouth Mail is publishing it in full, as follows:

"That First Car"
The years rolled off the shoulders of Henry Ford. He was back in the little brick shack on Bagley avenue, a young mechanic dreaming dreams that were to come true. Beside him at his work bench stood a lovely young woman. She it was who had faith in him that sustained him in his dream. A little while ago these two celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

"On that night now in the long ago she was with him, the first worker on the first Ford assembly line. She held in her hand a small can of gasoline with a dropper attached. As he would give her the sign she would let fall drops of this fluid into a little funnel, about the size of a thimble. From there they ran into a little round box that was to develop into a carburetor. Timing these drops the young mechanic would spin as fast as he could, with the aid of an iron bar, a wheel at the end of this nascent engine.

"And finally," said Mr. Ford, "there came the night when we got the explosion that we had been waiting for. The kick came and I knew that we had our engine."

"Yes, the years had rolled away. We were out at the Greenfield Village where the brick shack now stands rebuilt just as it was on that memorable night when the first Ford car was born. It was as though he had gone home to rest from his labors and had returned the next day to tackle his problem again.

"Of course he has changed some, but not much. He carries his 75 years lightly. But the hair is now gray and thin instead of black, and the mustache is gone. But as he talked to us that afternoon he was living again through the joys of his first triumph.

"Why don't you have the first car here?" I asked.

"No, no," he said, "that is our most precious possession. That is kept in our residence. It is only taken out on state occasions."

"When the first engine had been finished with Mrs. Ford as his only assistant, there was the problem of building the car with its bicycle wheels. Money was none too plentiful and almost everything he had had gone into experimentation.

"Take these first cylinders, for example. They were made from a piece of boiler tubing. The Edison company, where he was night engineer, had installed a new boiler and when the task was finished the boiler man had a piece of tubing about four feet long left over. He said it was of no value to him and asked Mr. Ford if he could find any use for it. The Edison engineer took it over to his brick shed, to saw it into sections. That tubing is still on that first Ford car, which since has spawned over 25,000,000 of them.

"As he re-lived those days Mr. Ford chuckled.

"What a time that was," he said, "when for the first time we saw those drops of liquid transformed into a gas and we knew we were on the right track. From then on it was just a case of creating the engine itself and fitting it into the wagon.

"And when the whole job was completed and we were ready for our first trial spin I discovered to my dismay that I had been so busy building my car that I had completely forgotten there was no exit. That little door there was the only way out. I was like a chap who had built a boat in a basement and then had to remove the house!

"I was so eager to see if it would really go that I could not wait. I took an ax and broke down the back wall. Then I pushed the bricks aside, got her turned to that hole and out we went—down the alley and around the block and back home. It ran. That was all I could think about.

"But, in the night, I began thinking about that wall. So, early the next day I went over to the Edison plant and got a couple of my friends who were bricklayers and bargained with them to come over and repair the damage.

"Well, they had hardly arrived with their new bricks to do their job when I walked Mr. Wreford, the landlord. He dropped over to collect his rent. My! But was he angry about what I had done to his place! I tried to pacify him. I pointed to the brick masons and the new bricks and explained that the building would be just as sound as ever when they finished.

"But he kept saying, 'what did you do it for?'

"I explained to him my predicament. I had to get my automobile out to see if it would run.

"You ran it?" he asked.

"Yes, sir."

"Let me see it," he said.

"I took him in and showed it to him. He got so interested he forgot all about the damage to his wall for awhile. The bricklayers kept on working.

"Say," he said finally, 'if those fellows put that wall back up, how are you going to get your car out again?'

"I had not thought of that. I was so interested in the machine itself and repairing the damage to his property. We talked it over.

"I've got an idea," Mr. Wreford said, 'tell those bricklayers to leave that opening there and then you can put on two swinging doors. That will let you in and out.'

Mr. Ford leaned over and pointed.

"There they are," he said, 'the first set of garage doors ever made.'

"He chuckled again.

"We learn by experience," he said, "I learned a lesson that day. It is always well to know before you get into a thing just how you are going to get out of it."

The grub of the caddis-fly builds a curious case in which to live. Shells, sand sticks, and stones are used in construction.

Tests at the Missouri College of Agriculture showed a bushel of ground wheat is approximately 20 percent more valuable as a hog feed than a bushel of corn.

Count von Zeppelin, German dirigible builder, served as an aerial observer with the Union army during the American Civil War.

At the present time American automobile factories require only seven men to make one car a week whereas in the early days of the industry, 55 men were needed.

Schrader Team Knocks Off Cass Benton

Bolsters League Leadership By 14 to 7 Victory

The league-leading Schrader Haggerty team strengthened their championship claims last Sunday by defeating the strong Cass Benton team 14 to 7 in Riverside Park.

Debozy, on the mound for Plymouth, issued 14 scattered hits, but was credited with eight strikeouts. He went the whole distance with H. Williams behind the plate.

Cass Benton started the game with all the vim and vigor of a team that was going places but after Schrader-Haggerty broke loose with a three-run spree in the fourth inning the game was on ice. Cass Benton failed to threaten again.

Cass Benton's starting pitcher, Carson, was relieved in the seventh by Findley. Epstein caught.

Schrader-Haggerty had 14 runs, 11 hits and 14 errors. Cass Benton had 7 runs, 14 hits and 5 errors.

In the eighth inning Schrader-Haggerty's manager, seeing that the game was in the bag, gave some of the players who have played infrequently a chance to get in the game.

All Schrader-Haggerty games, with the exception of one contest with Cass Benton later in the summer, will be played on the home diamond at Riverside Park for the rest of the season. Games start at 3 p.m. on Sundays.

The Plymouth Kiwanis Club was host Tuesday night at a banquet at the Mayflower Hotel to Mr. Schrader and the members of both his softball and hardball teams.

Garden City Nine Whips Wyandotte

Garden City defeated the Wyandotte Merchants by the score of 8 to 5 in Garden City last Sunday. The victory enabled Garden City to gain second place in the Michigan Inter-County league. Waldo Scott pitched the game for Garden City and allowed eight hits. Scott was never in trouble except in the fourth inning when Wyandotte collected four runs to tie the score.

Garden City started off with a bang by scoring two runs in the first and two more in the second. Doubles by Anderson and R. Wolfgram along with singles by Anderson, O'Brien and Scott paved the way for the runs.

In the fourth inning Bill Sonnenberg doubled and came home a moment later when the Wyandotte pitcher tried to pick Bill off of second base.

With a man out in the sixth inning Scott singled, Anderson walked, Scott was forced at third by Sonnenberg, O'Brien hit to shortstop and all hands were safe when the second baseman dropped the ball. Charlie Wolfgram and Roy Wolfgram each singled to drive across three runs to complete the scoring for the day.

Next Sunday at 3 p.m. Garden City will play the Ace of Clubs team in Garden City.

Summer Trip To Florida Cool One

Mr. and Mrs. George Springer and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Springer have found that a vacation trip to Florida in the summertime is just as enjoyable as one in the wintertime. They have just returned from a two weeks' tour of that state. Helen Jane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Springer was with them on the trip.

They went down the west coast and came back up along the Atlantic side of the state. In crossing over the Tamiami trail, the former police chief declared he never saw so many snakes in his life.

There were big diamond back rattlers crawling across the paving. Some lay coiled beside the road, besides there seemed to be many other varieties, he said.

From Miami they drove down to Key West, over the new bridge that has just been built to replace the one destroyed a few years ago by a hurricane.

"The weather was amazingly cool during all the time we were in Florida," stated Mr. Springer.

Two Youths Visit West Coast On Month Tour

See Former Plymouth Residents In California

Both coasts were visited by youths living in the Plymouth area this summer. Last week Lewis Gilbert and Charles Padlock, of Newburg, returned from a tour of the East coast. This week Oscar Luttermoser, 22 years old, of Stark, and Harold Stevens, also 22, of Newburg, told how they traveled 7,000 miles to the West coast and return.

Luttermoser, who graduated this June from the University of Michigan literary college, and Stevens, who is an employee of the Waterford Ford plant, were gone a month on the trip.

They did their own cooking and ate pretty well, everything considered, they said. They adjusted the front seat of their car so that it folded back to make a bed for them to sleep on at night.

They considered themselves lucky that while Plymouth sweltered in muggy weather, they had unusually cool weather for the entire month they were away.

They even filled their portable ice box with snow several times while they were touring Yellowstone Park, they said.

Their route was through Denver to San Francisco and Los Angeles. The beauties of Yellowstone Park, the Grand Canyon and the Painted Desert were the highlights of the journey, they reported.

On the West coast they visited former Plymouth residents who have relatives in the city. They spent three days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lynford Fritz in San Francisco. Mr. Fritz is a graduate of Plymouth high school who now is a California interior decorator.

In Los Angeles they visited

Ethel Wendt, another former Plymouthite. In the course of the 7,000-mile journey one flat tire was the only trouble they experienced. The trip cost them a total of about $125, they said.

"FREE Golden Shell Oil

(UP TO THE FULL MARK)

_if I forget to check it"

YOU can have a lot of trouble if you run out of oil. Burned out bearings for instance, or scuffed pistons, or maybe even a cylinder rebore job.

That's why we Shell dealers are making you this proposition:

Drive into any one of the stations listed below. If we don't check your oil—and you catch us up on it—we'll bring your oil level up to the full mark free.

What's more, we'll put in Golden Shell Oil—the oil that has been made especially for stop-and-go driving.

Maybe you never knew that stop and go calls for a certain kind of oil. Well, it does—and here's why:

You average ten cold starts a day. If your motor oil is sluggish and slow-flowing, one start can cause as much wear as 50 miles of steady running.

Golden Shell changes this. It's fast-flowing. The second you step on the starter it coats each engine part with a tough oil film that doesn't break down... even under the heat of steady running. In fact—

There's no finer oil at any price than Golden Shell.

Hoover at 64

Former President Herbert Hoover smiles for the cameraman as he rounds out his sixty-fourth year. The veteran Republican leader, who will celebrate his birthday anniversary Wednesday, August 10, was born in 1874 at West Branch, Iowa.

Farmers Cut And Thresh Crops

(Continued From Page One) operates somewhat along the lines of a small combine such as used in the great western wheat fields, has already sold three of these machines in this locality and declares that before the end of another season, he will have dozens of them operating in this district.

Not only has the All-Harvester proven a blessing to farmers unable to get help, but Charles Rathburn, who has not been in the best of health during the past few weeks, found out that he can gather and thresh his crops while sitting in his backyard and watching the machine whizz around his grain fields.

Melvin Snyder, a farmer living over on East Ann Arbor Trail near the Ford Nankin Mills plant where he is employed during the winter months, purchased one of these All-Harvesters to use on his farm.

When Charles Rathburn heard about the machine, he sent word over to Melvin and wanted to know, if he could hire him to cut his wheat and oats.

"Sure," said Mr. Snyder.

The other day Melvin brought his machine over to the Rathburn farm, cut and threshed the wheat and then had the oat crop in the granary before the sun went down.

"Guess I'll take a little longer time in getting well now that my grain is all in the bin," said the supervisor of the township as he marveled at the little time taken in cutting and threshing his grain crops.

At the Gibson farm, corner of Six Mile and Sheldon road, there was standing one of the heaviest wheat crops in this locality. Not only was the straw big, but the heads were well filled.

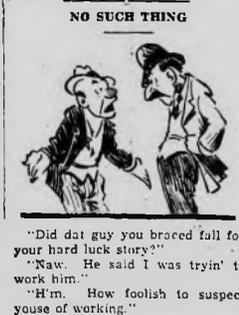

Ralph Gibson, last Saturday, finished up the harvesting of the 22-acre field of wheat with one of these machines, the crop averaging well over 40 bushels to the acre.

As he drove the All-Harvester up to a waiting truck to unload the wheat that had been cut and threshed on one circle of the field, he declared that it certainly was a great outfit and that it had solved their harvesting problems.

"Some farmers around can exchange work, but we haven't any farming neighbors around here and the WFA has all the help, so this machine comes in pretty good," he commented.

While the All-Harvester is new in this locality, there are large numbers of them in operation in the southern and western part of the state. Mr. Horton stated Saturday that the interest of the farmers in this new machine was nothing less than amazing. It is an exceedingly light outfit and operates with the greatest of simplicity and ease.

Just Thinkin'

by Charles S. Kinnison

Hard Work

Give me the job that makes you hustle,
The kind of job that makes you scratch—
The job with which you have to tussle,
Before you prove that you're its match!
I want no task that does not try me,
That does not put my wits to test—
For only when such things defy me,
Have I the chance to do my best!

I shall not think that life is dreary,
If I must fight to make my way—
Nor shall I whine if I am weary
When I shall reach the end of day.
Hard work, I should not be afraid of,
From trying tasks I should not flee.
They let me show the stuff I'm made of,
And help to make a man of me!

Laundry Team Wins Game

Adam Panosona pitched a five-hit game and struck out twelve Wyandotte St. Stan's batters to gain his third victory as well as Perfection Laundry's third victory.

Tom Levandowski's home run in the big seventh inning tied the score and Frank Day scored the winning run on Towshak's hit, which lifted Perfection Laundry out of last place in the Michigan Inter-County league.

John Towshak was the big gun of the day when he gathered three hits out of four attempts at the plate. Ed Sinta took second honors in hitting, collecting a double and a single in three attempts at the plate.

Next Sunday, Perfection Laundry will travel to Sibley Park where they will take on Trent, league leaders of the Blue Division.

Obituary

DR. WILLIAM A. JENNINGS
Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Monday at Schrader's Funeral Home for Dr. William A. Jennings, 64 years old, Plymouth veterinarian for 18 years who died July 21 in Ann Arbor after a year's illness.

Dr. Jennings, who was born in Philadelphia, was a former resident of Detroit before coming to Plymouth. He was buried in Woodlawn cemetery, Detroit. The services were held under auspices of Detroit Lodge No. 2, F. & A. M., of which Dr. Jennings was a member.

The services were in charge of the Rev. W. R. Blackford, pastor of Plymouth's St. John's Episcopal church.

Dr. Jennings was a member of the church, which he served as senior warden. He was a member also of the Michigan Sovereign Consistory, Damascus Commandery No. 42 and was a Shriner.

Dr. Jennings lived on West Ann Arbor Trail just west of the Plymouth cutoff.

He is survived by his wife, Amy, and a sister, Mrs. Gertrude B. Perkins, of Buffalo, N. Y.

What's the Answer?

WHY DO WOMEN BUTTON FROM RIGHT TO LEFT?

BEFORE the days of carefully studied and rigidly followed schedules for infant welfare which are prevalent today, the mothers of the old school believed that the right and proper way to keep a baby bappy was to carry him about with them practically all day long everywhere they went. This kept their right hand occupied so constantly that they changed the buttoning of their garments from the natural right side to the left in order that they could still hold their baby and button their clothes in the same motion.

Friends of Mrs. Harry Miller (Lela Brown) will be sorry to learn that her sons, Henry and Russell, have recently been in a very serious automobile accident. Their aunt, Miss Olive Brown, is caring for them.

Mrs. Anna Arigan and daughter, Katherine, left last Thursday for their home in Great Falls, Montana after a three weeks' visit with her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Arigan, while here.

Mr. and Mrs. Arigan took their guests to Traverse City where they spent a week during the Cherry Festival.

Friends of Alex Trufin will be glad to know that he is making an excellent recovery from the illness that has confined him to the William H. Maybury Sanatorium for nearly a year. He was able to be in Plymouth the first of the week calling on old friends, but it will probably be sometime before he will be discharged from the hospital.

Carol Campbell came home, Thursday, from Kalamazoo college where she has been attending the ten-day yearly Michigan Baptist Young People's assembly. She played each morning, as last year, over the college broadcasting station at the weekly 7:00 o'clock morning devotions. Some 350 young people from all over the state were in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Lisle Alexander left Wednesday for Calumet to attend a convention of Legionnaires. From Calumet they will go to Copper Harbor where they will meet Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Jewell, who will leave Plymouth about the first of August. The two couples will then leave for Isle Royale where they will spend a number of days fishing.

Murray G. O'Neil entertained at a stag party in his home on Hamilton street last Friday night. His guests were: Edward Treend and Robert Gleason of Detroit, Professor Warren Good, Otto Spring, Fred Bailey of Ann Arbor, Henry Baker and Dr. W. Hammond of this city. Chess was played during the evening with Mr. Treend winning the high score. Mr. O'Neil served his guests with refreshments after the game.

City Manager Clarence Elliott will attend a meeting to which all city managers in Michigan have been invited at Royal Oak Monday. The meeting, called by the International City Managers' association, will be addressed by Clarence Ridley, president of the international association, he said.

The boys softball team is showing steady improvement. Although defeated 6 to 5 by the Plymouth group in a well played contest, a much better showing was made. Last week, the Stark-weather team of Plymouth recreation, beat the local boys 15 to 3 but wait until the next time.

The men's softball team won their game on July 14, bringing the team average up to .500 for the season. 5 won and 5 lost. Last week, however, they ran their string of victories to six, winning an extra inning game by the score of 3 to 2. Each game played shows marked improvement, they are fast becoming a good scrappy ball team.

Arrangements have been made to obtain tickets for some of the boys and girls to see a Detroit Tiger ball game at Briggs Stadium some time in August. The lucky ones will be selected for the most consistent attendance at playground activities, courtesy, sportsmanship and willingness to participate during the playground season.

Beginning this Wednesday, the playground group will take a trip to Riverside Park in the afternoon, leaving between 1 and 1:30 p.m. A ball game has been scheduled for the older boys with the Plymouth recreation teams, playing a different team each week. The smaller children will bathe in the wading pool.

Former Mayor Of Northville Becomes College Professor

Dr. Burkhardt Joins Faculty Of Atlanta College

Over 60 business and professional men of Northville, including a number from Plymouth, last Thursday evening attended a banquet at the Northville Riding club in honor of Dr. Howard Burkhardt of that place, who is leaving to accept a professorship in the Atlanta Southern Dental college at Atlanta, Georgia.

Dr. Burkhardt, who has been practicing dentistry in Northville for more than a dozen years, has during a portion of that time conducted a class at the Wayne University in Detroit. He thoroughly enjoys educational work and when recently offered the opportunity of a full time place on the staff of the southern college, he decided to accept. His practice in Northville has been taken over by Dr. Richard Kerr, a graduate of the Northville high school and of the University of Michigan.

Orlow Owen, chairman of the committee on arrangements for the banquet, presented M. J. Murphy, of Northville, as the toastmaster. The speakers were old associates and friends of Dr. Burkhardt. Mayor Arthur Nichols of Northville spoke in behalf of the city and expressed its regrets at the decision of Dr. Burkhardt to leave that community. Others on the program were Dr. McBride, of Detroit, Dr. H. H. Holcomb, of Northville, and E. R. Eaton, of Plymouth. Mr. Owen presented a set of golf clubs to Dr. Burkhardt, the gift of the guests present.

Dr. Burkhardt has always taken an active part in affairs of the community, and has served as president of the village. He was also a former president of the Rotary club of that place.

The Townsend Recovery Plan

(By Clarence Pankow)
The "Townsend Plan" is more than an old-age pension proposal. It is a national recovery program. The Townsend Plan is a business program. It is a social security plan. It will give us all prosperity by putting money into circulation and men to work. It will put the wheels of industry into motion by putting buying power into the hands of the masses.

Man is in want amidst plenty! There is food enough and more to feed every hungry and undernourished man. There is enough wool, cotton and fibre to clothe every man, woman and child in the United States and more; there are building materials in mine and forest, mill and factory warehouse to house every family in America in a modern home; there are raw products, factories and modern machines—now unused and idle—sufficient to manufacture modern appliances and equipment that are needed for all these modern homes; there are idle railroad engines and freight cars and great railroad systems—now threatened with or in bankruptcy—waiting to transport these needs of man to every nook and corner of the United States. And there are ten billions of dollars in gold in government vaults out of circulation owned by your government—owned by you collectively; and the banks of this country have the greatest reserve—money on hand—that they ever had in history. Amidst all this wealth in money, modern machines, God's abundance of nature's products, and idle man power, we are afflicted with want, hunger and misery! The financiers, the business experts, the so-called "economists" and the politicians offer no workable solution to this malady which is afflicting the country. Hide away the gold, destroy food production, and plow under cotton seem to be their only remedy!

Trotters Compete at Goshen

Goshen, N. Y., historic racing village, will again be host to the trotters at Grand Circuit races opening in famous Good Time park Monday, August 8. The famous Hamletonian, lineal grandfather of the trotting horse strain, ran over the same track around 1850.

Times Do Change! Even "Smitty"

It's happened! After compelling his hungry customers to stand up while they ate their pork and beans and hot dogs and sandwiches made from Michigan produced ham, Glenn Smith has finally "cracked up" as a result of the kidding jabs and jabs as well as some actually ugly slams that have been hurled at him for almost a quarter of a century, and under cover of darkness last Sunday night, installed in his place of business a dozen counter stools.

When the sun came up Monday morning there was no Glenn Smith around town. His customers say they knew he couldn't stand what would be in store for him from those who have perched themselves on top of the stools for hours at a time since they were installed sometime Sunday night.

"He knew he couldn't take what he had coming," said one customer as he tried to find some mustard to put on his hot dog. Russ Powell breezed in. He climbed on top of the stool farthest away from the door and said he wasn't so sure it was an improvement after all.

"We've had to stand up around here for more than 20 years and now this sudden softening of the heart doesn't seem right," said the junior end of the Powell & Son.

Judge John Dayton, who has delivered many an oration on the constitution and "the days that was up in Minnesota from the back end of Smitty's, hasn't yet delivered one of his morning theses from the top of a new stool.

Banker Floyd Kehrl figured out that the added over-head Smitty would have to carry as a result of the big investment, made necessary by the purchase of the stools, wasn't going to be pleasant for the customers to know about.

"He's got to pay for them" said Cashier Jack Taylor, who came over from Wall street, "and I guess it will be up to us fellows to do the paying," was the way Jack had it figured out.

Another town crab came in, looked around, then walked out without comment. When he reached the edge of the sidewalk, he wanted to know from Bill Conner if he knew what was the matter with Glenn Smith. Bill said he didn't know as there was anything the matter with him; that he had paid his rent on time and then left town. "But maybe it's the political heat," said Bill.

Max Todd has it figured out that "Smitty" has made some "easy" money up around Baldwin and has decided to invest some of his surplus earnings so that his tired-out customers will have things a bit easier. "Tip"—the son—who has had to stay home and take the brunt of the cutting slams, says he may try and get a WPA shovel to lean on next week in order to get away from the wise-cracking coffee drinkers.

Rural Mail Box Clean-Up Week

Got a rural mail box? Well then, if you have, next week, from August 1st to August 6, is "rural mail box clean-up week."

That's what Uncle Sam says—so you had better get scrub brush, broom, and the paint can out for the big event.

Says the postoffice department in a bulletin just received by Postmaster Frank Learned: "Unservicable rural mail boxes both retard the delivery of mail and detract from the natural scenic beauty of the highway. Particularly to be deplored are the non-regulation, old type, top-opening boxes, as well as makeshift receptacles which expose mail to the elements and are unsightly."

"It is the desire of the Department not only to correct the above-mentioned unsatisfactory situation but to encourage all rural mail patrons generally to possess pride in their boxes, both in the manner of erection, neat stenciling, and tidy appearance. To help accomplish these desirable objectives the Department is designating the week of August 1 as "Clean Up Rural Box Week."

Explorer Patrol Sees Hill Climbers

The Explorer Patrol of Plymouth's Boy Scout Troop P-3 took a second trip as a senior group when they witnessed the second annual motorcycle hill climbing contest held seven miles west of Ann Arbor on the Huron River Drive last week-end. The contest was sponsored by the Ann Arbor Motorcycle club.

The seven members of the patrol considered that the many feats they saw were topped by the performance of Joe Pettiball, national champion hill climber in the 45 cubic piston displacement class.

They said that the amateur performances were not as exciting but that the many spills were thrilling.

Until fairly recently, news events could not be sent by television experimenters because they could not be "picked up" by the transmitter as they could by an ordinary camera. Invention of the iconoscope, a new type of tube, corrected this.

A nautical mile is 6,080 feet as compared with 5,280 feet in the land mile. The nautical mile is the length of the minute of arc at the equator, and therefore, fits in much easier than the land mile for navigator's chart work and computations. The "knot" is a measurement of speed in nautical miles per hour.

RAMBLING with Editors AROUND of Michigan

POLITICAL DEPRAVITY
Political depravity, in our judgment, reached a low point this week at Jackson prison, when Speaker Schroeder of the Michigan House of Representatives went to that prison and engaged in a five-hour political conference with Senator Wilkowski, who is serving time as a result of the vote stealing conspiracy in Detroit following the 1934 election. Press reports indicate that Speaker Schroeder, who is trying to secure the Democratic nomination for Lieut. Governor, went to the prison to see if Senator Wilkowski (who is still drawing pay as Senator) would run again for Senator (although in prison) and incidentally aid Mr. Schroeder in securing the Polish vote which is friendly to Senator Wilkowski. The conference was held in the home of Mrs. Rountree, wife of the manager of the prison farm. Warden Moore has suspended two of the prison staff for permitting the conference, which was held without his knowledge. What we need in Michigan is to take the government out of the hands of a group of men who stoop to alliance with convicts for political advantage.—William Berkey in The Cassopolis Vigilant.

ALMOST A DIRTY CRACK.
"NO, SONNY, this Crop Insurance you speak of is not sold by Jimmy Roosevelt—NOT YET!"—Harry Meyers in The Lapeer County Press.

INDUSTRY AND THE FARMER.
How labor disturbances which interrupt industry and promote unrest, add to unemployment and reduce purchasing power, may directly affect the farmer is disclosed in a recent statement released by one of the larger automobile concerns. Under normal conditions the labor of 195,512 people is required to produce and fabricate the cotton used in upholstery on their cars alone. The same manufacturer uses vast quantities of corn in adhesives, sizings, sand binding oils, plastics and lacquers as well as in the manufacture of industrial alcohol. Sugar cane is consumed in insulating and alcohol; cornstalks in fibre-board; nogs for industrial soaps, special greases and upholstery; flax and its linseed oil for paints, scaps and foundry core oil.

Farmers cannot prosper unless industry prospers. Industry cannot hope for recovery until farm purchasing power is restored. All are caught in the meshes of a gigantic machine which appears stalled. Labor troubles hit the farmer as directly as they do at industry itself.—Vernon J. Brown in The Ingham County News.
