

U. S. Bureau Of Insular Affairs Admits That Governor Murphy Was On Federal Payroll During '36 Primary Campaign

Name Dropped From Payroll Just Before Nomination, Back On Again Right After Election As Governor

(By E. R. EATON)
"No person dare challenge my honor or honesty," declared Frank Murphy in a speech August 31, 1936 during his campaign for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

During the early spring of 1936, Emil Hurja, the vice chairman of the Democratic national committee, induced President Roosevelt and James Farley to permit Frank Murphy, who was serving as high commissioner to the Philippine Islands, to become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor of Michigan. Hurja erroneously thought Murphy would add strength to the Democratic ticket in this state.

On May 13, 1936, Murphy sailed from Manila, going to Japan for a tour of that country before returning to America. He landed in San Francisco on June 4, 1936.

He went immediately to Washington and on July 9, 1936, the United Press news service sent a dispatch to Michigan newspapers which said: "Frank Murphy, United States high commissioner to the Philippine commonwealth announced today he has RESIGNED his insular post to enter the Michigan governor race."

On July 29, 1936, The Detroit News published the following dispatch from Lansing:

"Addressing a meeting of Democratic county chairman . . . Frank Murphy discussed the reasons which he said induced him to RELINQUISH A LUCRATIVE position as high commissioner to the Philippines to enter the gubernatorial race in Michigan."

In a speech at Ironwood on August 25, 1936, Frank Murphy said: "Why did I GIVE UP a great international post . . . the best PAID diplomatic post under the flag . . . to seek an office where the salary is less than a sixth as much . . ."

(The salary of the governor is $5,000 per year plus $5,000 for his own use for which he is not required to make an accounting.)

Two days later, August 27, in another speech at Menominee, according to newspaper dispatches, Murphy repeated that he "didn't consider he had made any sacrifice in GIVING UP A SALARY of about $35,000 a year as high commissioner to the Philippines to seek the governorship."

When Candidate Murphy said he had "resigned" his Philippine post, had "relinquished" the best paying position in the insular service, had "given up" this "lucrative" position everybody was led to believe that he was off the federal payroll. He repeatedly made statements in the primary which created such a belief.

But what were the facts?
As the result of inquiry during the past few weeks, the Bureau of Insular Affairs in Washington provided information which showed that Frank Murphy from January 1, 1936 to September 4, 1936, during the primary campaign when he was telling the people of Michigan that he had "GIVEN UP" his most "lucrative position" was paid regularly his monthly salary as high commissioner to the Philippines.

During this period, he drew from the federal government a total of $14,500 in salary. How many thousands of dollars he was paid in expenses no one knows except himself, as the bureau so far has not revealed this information.

Apparently, just before September 4, 1936, some of his party leaders in Washington discovered that Murphy was still getting his pay check for services in the Philippines and were fearful of what might happen if this fact became known to the voters in Michigan.

On September 4, 1936, his name was taken off the federal payroll. This was a few days before the primary election.

These facts did not become known until recently when a rumor pertaining to the matter was investigated and found to be true.

But his name was not to be off the Philippine payroll for long. At the November election, Frank Murphy was carried to victory in his governorship campaign because of the popularity of President Roosevelt.

There was no danger after the election of any votes being changed because of a salary being paid for services not performed, so, on November 5, 1936 Frank Murphy's name went back on the federal payroll.

Between November 5, 1936 and December 31, 1936 he was paid an additional $2,580 as high commissioner of the Philippines. Practically all of that time was spent by Frank Murphy vacationing in Coral Gables, and Miami, Florida and Havana, Cuba.

It is interesting to note that on February 10, 1938 the war department asked an appropriation from Congress for $161,000 for the salary and expenses of High Commissioner Frank Murphy for the year 1938.

The government paid $600 per month to the Manila hotel for Frank Murphy's suite of rooms. Out of the appropriation there was an additional $10,000 as an "annual discretionary fund" for his use as well as permission to purchase and operate three automobiles. When Frank Murphy went to the Philippines he took with him some of his relatives and they lived at Manila at the expense of the taxpayers. His total income from all public pay checks, which he has received, exceeds $208,000, exclusive of his expenses paid by the public. He has never had to provide for a dependent during his lifetime. He has never paid taxes to support any city government, county, state or the public schools. On his nominating petitions he gives as his address 415 Burns Drive, Detroit. That's the address of a hotel.

"No person dare challenge my honor or honesty," declared Frank Murphy while campaigning for governor in Michigan two years ago. Have the people of Michigan a right to ask him at this time, in the face of these facts, to repeat that challenge as to "honesty" in politics he talks so much about?

Plymouth Girl Has Rare Violin

Much about rare old violins have appeared in the newspapers during the past few weeks and it is interesting to note that a price of many thousands of dollars was paid for one that had been made back in the 18th century.

But all the rare old violins craved in the centuries ago by the master musicians of the world are not owned elsewhere, as Miss Betty Jean Curtis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Curtis, of Plymouth, possesses a violin that has been handed down to her through the generations of the Burns family. Mrs. Curtis, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Burns of Pontiac, and a fourth cousin of the famous "Bobby" Burns, states that her parents gave the daughter the violin several years ago, but not until recently have members of the family discovered its great value.

From such information as they have been able to secure from persons well acquainted with rare old violins, the instrument owned by the Plymouth girl was probably made in 1826 by the Guarnerius family, famous violin makers of Cremona. The first Andreas worked with Antonio Stradivari in the workshop of Nicolo Amati.

The period during when most of these famous violins were produced was between 1628 and 1698. The name of the dealer in Germany is burned on the back of the violin and from this, those who have made a study of violin history, are able to help establish the date when the instruments were made. Certain forms of construction also provide leads which help establish the dates. Mr. Curtis is a well known Plymouth real estate dealer.

Over 1,000 Blankets Stocked By Blunk's

Over 1,000 blankets will go on sale at savings to buyers obtained by buying direct from nationally known mills, Blunk Brothers' department store announced this week.

The blankets are part of the regular stock and are not under special sale, it was emphasized, but buyers can obtain big prices because dealers' discounts were avoided by direct lot purchases.

The blankets, all cotton, part wool and all wool in single and double sizes, are from the mills of manufacturers of such widely known brands as Chein, Manges and Chatham as well as blankets imported from Holland. It is the largest stock of blankets ever brought into this district, the Blunk management claims.

Blanket prices generally are higher this year than last by about 15 per cent, the management said, but the blankets which go on sale as part of the regular stock this week at Blunk's will be less expensive than those sold last year.

Thieves Obtain $150 In Three Robberies Here

Thieves looted two Plymouth filling stations and a restaurant of about $150 or more in cash late Friday night or early Saturday morning, Police Captain Charles Thumme reported this week.

The burglars apparently were interested in nothing but cash and merchandise and other loose articles were untouched. Clear fingerprints were obtained and are being checked with the records of known criminals, Capt. Thumme said.

About $90 was taken from the Austin Oil company at Mill and Main streets. The thieves entered the place through a back window.

The Flo-Dell restaurant was robbed of between $12 and $14, the proprietors said. A side window had been forced open by the robbers.

Between $45 and $50 was taken from the Hi-Speed filling station at the intersection of South Main street and US-72. The sheriff's department is investigating this burglary with the assistance of the Plymouth police department.

The robberies apparently were committed by persons familiar with the city. Capt. Thumme said. Good fingerprints were obtained at both the Austin service station and the restaurant, he added.

Whether the burglaries were committed by the same thieves who robbed several Plymouth professional offices early this year could not be determined until the fingerprints had been checked closely, Capt. Thumme said.

On July 7 three professional offices here were robbed of several hundred dollars worth of equipment and cash. At the same time approximately, there were three break-ins and enterings in Northville.

Officers in both towns at that time suggested that all the robberies were committed by "persons familiar with the people and places in Plymouth and Northville."

Some of the property stolen from Northville was recovered in Detroit pawn shops but there have been no convictions in the robberies.

Find No Trace Of Valuable Tablecloth Stolen At Fair

A search of several weeks by officers and officials of the Wayne County Fair association has failed to reveal a clue to the theft of a hand crocheted lace tablecloth owned by Mrs. Ernest Wickstrom, 127 Amelia street, who prized the article very highly.

It was taken some time during the last night of the fair and was immediately reported, but not the slightest trace has been secured as to who stole it or how it was stolen.

Mrs. Wickstrom had spent over 300 hours in making the tablecloth and those who had seen it declared that it was a beautiful piece of work. Officers are still hopeful that some trace of it can be found so it can be returned to its rightful owner.

Third Annual Evening School Courses To Start In High School Oct. 3; Two New Classes To Be Offered

Plymouth's third annual evening school sessions will start Monday, October 3, in the high school, it was announced this week by Claud Dykhouse, principal.

At least two new courses will be offered for the ten-week term, he said. These are courses in home furnishings and machine work, the latter to be conducted in the newly equipped high school machine shop.

Other courses will include typewriting, shorthand, landscape gardening and world or American history.

"Plymouth high school is trying to extend its work in evening schools," Mr. Dykhouse said. "For that reason the school stands willing to establish any course of instruction which may prove beneficial to Plymouth residents if 15 or more students demand it and if a qualified teacher can be found for the work."

He pointed out that the evening school work for adults and youth of school age who are not continuing their studies still is young in Plymouth and that every effort is being made to improve the service to the community.

Evening school classes have been conducted here only two years, but already over 300 persons have benefited from the training, Mr. Dykhouse asserted. He wished to make it clear that the term which starts October 3 will be concluded about two weeks before Christmas, so that the work will not interfere with holiday plans on the part of either parents or children. The second term will be started after the holiday.

The course in machine shop training already has attracted considerable interest and a number of those interested have signed up for the class.

Several industrial workers intend to take the course to brush up on some points of their trade and to supplement their experience with new work. Some of these are employed and some are not working.

In addition, several young men of high school age are planning to take the course to obtain an advantage in seeking employment.

The course will be under the supervision of William Campbell, who conducts the regular high school work in the shop.

The machine shop class will meet from 7 to 9 p.m. on Monday evenings.

Credits for high school work is offered in only one of the evening courses, the class in world or American history. The class, which will be taught by James Latture, is designed for students of high school age who are not now in school but who wish to continue their education. However, anyone interested is invited to join the class, which will meet from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays.

The new course in home furnishings, high school directed, graduate of Illinois State Normal University and the University of Illinois, who has had extensive experience in high school and adult teaching.

The course she has outlined will be found of considerable practical and esthetic value. Various studies will include color harmonies as related to exposures, floor furnishings and coverings, curtains and household linens, style and care of furniture and accessories.

The home furnishings course will meet from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. on Mondays in Room 21 of the high school.

Landscape gardening instruction will be offered by Riley Lything, high school agriculture instructor, from 7 to 9 p.m. Mondays in the agriculture room.

Buick Factory In Full Swing

With the introduction of new Buick models scheduled in the near future, C. G. Shear left for Flint today to visit the Buick factories and take an advance look at the forthcoming line of cars.

The occasion, he said, is the annual pre-announcement sales convention of the nationwide Buick dealer organization being held in Flint September 22, at which the new cars are shown to the dealers for the first time and the 1939 sales program discussed.

He said that word from the factory indicates that an enlarged program will be undertaken for 1939 in view of the encouraging business outlook and the increased demand for automobiles which already is being felt.

"We have had a very satisfactory year with the 1938 models," Mr. Shear said. "Buick ended the model year in fourth place on a national basis and obtained a much bigger share of the total automobile business than last year."

"I believe that business now is definitely on the rise and that we are going into a year of further improvement. Indications are that all lines of trade will show gains during the last quarter of this year and that 1939 will see good measure of recovery. Production and employment should be at a substantially higher level with beneficial results in every phase of retail and wholesale trade."

The outlook for Buick business in this area is excellent. I am informed that the new line of cars represents an even greater value than the 1938 car and that important improvements have been effected in design and engineering."

Mr. Shear said that production of the 1939 Buicks is in full swing at the factories and that he expects to receive his first stocks of the new cars by the end of September.

ONE OF THE REASONS.

There has been at times considerable just and unjust criticism of the courts of the country. Since the decision of Judge Pecora of New York in which he declared a mis-trial of the case against an alleged New York racketeer politician because of a prosecutor's question the judge declared was improperly framed, there has again been a storm of protest against the courts. The excuse the judge gave for dismissing the case, seems to most people, to be a pretty slim reason for terminating such an important criminal trial. If his decision was justified, and the rank and file of the public does not think so, then the time has arrived to see to it that the laws are so amended that the people, instead of the racketeers and criminals, get the benefit of the doubts.

SECURITY.

There is much talk these days about the "security" of the individual. The word "security" is meant to imply that one should be made to feel safe on his job. He should feel that if he stays on his position and gives proper services for what he is paid, that he is as sure of getting his pay check next year as he was last year. Not only does he want to feel that he will have steady work, with pay, next year, but in all the years to come.

That is the way the worker feels. The man or woman running a small business, the school teacher, the lawyer and the doctor, officials of big companies, all like to feel that they, too, can plan ahead for the years to come, and know that the routine of their lives and their activities will be of such a nature that their plans for the future will not go astray because they have been fired from their jobs or because business is so bad they cannot fulfill their hopes and ambitions.

The "security" we talk about these days means that we desire steady work, we want steady business and professional people are anxious for some assurance that their income from the services they give, will be sufficient to enable them to do the things and have the things that the average good citizen is entitled to claim.

The people of the nation today rightly are demanding that we all be provided that security. The worker who is rearing a family, building a home and doing his part towards the building of a community, has a right to know that without justification his services are not going to be terminated because of some "business" connivance. Every good citizen is entitled to have some assurance that his efforts towards the establishment of "security" for himself and family are not going to be in vain.

We, the people, are entitled to that security. The movement is going forward there is no question about that.

Unfortunately, just at present a bunch of faking, porch-climbing public office-holders are preventing honest Americans from keeping steadily employed and hamstringing farmers and business men in such ways that they cannot make progress.

But this will not be for long and soon America will again be on the highway to PEACE and SECURITY.

RIGHT AGAIN!

Why worry about the European war prospects or the poor Chinese at the hands of the Japanese butchers while scores are being killed every day by fool auto drivers right here in our boasted civilized U. S. A.?—J. E. McMullen in The Linden Leader.

THE GIFT OF GAB.

In recent years the radio announcing business has made room for the fellow or the woman with the "gift of gab." It used to be that politics was the main outlet for such people—politics and preaching. If one can keep from getting disgusted, one can get a great kick out of listening to some of these announcers with a swivel-tongue and a rattle-brain. There are two or three in Chicago who regularly announce sports programs. Ye gods and little fishes, what a diarrhoea of words those boys hand out!—Schuyler Marshall in The Clinton County Republican-News.

SUCCESS.

Some people—too many people, alas!—assume that success depends upon the amount of money one makes. The happiest men and women are not the ones who have the most money, as one can observe within easy vision. He who makes money his goal trades his ideals, his hopes, his happiness, for stuff that has no guarantee of permanence; money is "hard," and he who loves money too well becomes like the stuff he loves.—George Avрил in The Birmingham Eccentric.

SINGLE TAX PERSISTENCE.

It is almost 60 years since Henry George wrote "Progress and Poverty" and 52 years since he ran for mayor of New York—not the greater city as we know it now—and would have won but for coalition of Republicans and Democrats. He was not the inventor of the single tax principle, but did more than any living man to disseminate both here and abroad that idea that land alone should be taxed and society should collect the "economic rent created by the community." Never regarded as sound by "orthodox" economists, that idea has, nevertheless, persisted and is even now enjoying an increased popularity. The Henry George School of Social Science, for example, has purchased a $50,000 property in New York, which it will occupy for school purposes in the Fall. Classes under its auspices meet in many sections of the country, and they are composed for the most part of persons of maturity, experienced in business and professional life. Regardless of the merits, or lack of them, in the theories propounded, the methods employed, if correctly described have forth-right merit.

"We just follow the old Socratic way of teaching. We don't ask anybody to accept anything they don't wish to; we don't make them swallow anything they don't like, and we don't mind arguments. No holds are ever barred in our class rooms."

Thus spoke Dr. F. Chodorov, director of the school. It is easily conceivable that education would be hobbled, instead of peripatetic in the Socratic sense, were every academic exercise turned into free debate. Some metes and bounds have to be set to such ebullience. Too much of the teaching in our higher institutions, however, is pretty good because of its take-it-or-leave-it basis. It is wrong to assume real contributions cannot come from active student minds, for who, after all, are instructors but former students in a different role?—Floyd Miller in The Royal Oak Daily Tribune.

Has your child a GOOD STUDY LIGHT?

SCHOOL days are here again, and children will spend an increasing number of hours indoors—studying, reading and writing under artificial illumination. Has YOUR child a good study light?

The lighting of a child's study desk should receive careful consideration, because this is a place where young eyes are being used constantly on tasks requiring close visual application. Children tend to be careless of such things as proper light... and abuse of the eyes through poor illumination often results in eyestrain and impaired vision. This is doubly regrettable when GOOD lighting is so cheap and easy to provide.

An I. E. S. reflector-type table lamp, equipped with a 100- or 150-watt bulb, makes an ideal study light. There are also many excellent Pin-It-Up lamps on the market—using the principle of the reflector-bowl under the shade—that furnish good lighting. (These lamps may be pinned on the wall directly over the child's desk.) Perhaps you have a floor or table lamp of your own, one that is perfectly good but which was purchased some years ago and lacks the advantages of a reflector-bowl under the shade. In this case you may buy for very little money a clever new unit called an "I. E. S. adaptor," which transforms the old lamp into one utilizing the principle of a modern Better Light - Better Sight lamp. A diffusing bowl under the shade eliminates glare and assures soft, pleasant illumination.

Our Home Lighting Advisors will be glad to help you with any lighting problem you may have. Call your Detroit Edison office. The Detroit Edison Company does not sell lighting fixtures or light adaptors. See them on display at department stores, lighting fixture stores or electrical dealers.

Duck Hunters Must Have Stamps

Even a shortage of duck stamps at your favorite post office will not be accepted as a good excuse for not having one this duck hunting season, according to information received from the U.S. biological survey by H. R. Sayre, chief of the field administration division of the department of conservation.

The duck stamps have been on sale since July 1 and any duck hunter found without one will be prosecuted. The federal authorities believe that hunters have been given ample opportunity to procure the stamps and should know the requirements since the duck stamp act will, with this season, have been in effect five years. In the past, shortages in the supply of stamps led to the issuance of receipts as accommodation to hunters, but this was done without authority and will not be repeated. Nor is it likely that postoffices will remain open as a favor to persons who wait until the last minute to get their stamps.

Heavy Rains Help The Ducks

More than average rainfall this summer may have spoiled many a Sunday picnic but it set the stage for a good show for the duck hunters this fall.

The abundance of water in the northwest, extending from Michigan through Canada and Alaska, where the majority of ducks shot in this state breed and nest, has been especially favorable to the rearing of a large number of broods.

Because the rains were widespread, the ducks will not find it necessary to concentrate on the larger marshes and are likely to be found scattered over a much wider area than in a dry period. Game investigators of the department of conservation point out that this scattering of the waterfowl will tend to improve local hunting opportunities, and to make good early shooting when the season opens October 1 to continue through November 14.

Expectations are that more ducks will be bagged this fall than last, not only due to their abundant abundance and because they will be present in more areas, but also because the season will be 15 days longer than it was in 1937.

Mallards and black drakes have been congregating since about the latter part of July and the blue winged teal are now gathering in flocks. The migrating diving ducks such as the blue-gills, redheads and canvas backs do not usually arrive in Michigan until the latter part of October. Normally the first good flights of diving ducks may be expected about the middle of October.

Early severe weather will, of course, hasten the migration from the northwest although waterfowl move restlessly from place to place regardless of weather conditions.

Northville Woman Is Author Of Novel

Publication within the next few months of a first novel by a Northville author was announced this week. The novel, "Ghost Light," is a romance written by Miss Irene Fennell, proprietor of Sessions hospital, Northville.

Miss Fennell, a resident of Northville for 10 to 12 years, said that the setting of the story is Northwestern Canada, near Winnipeg, where the author formerly lived.

The book is expected to be published before Christmas by the Pegasus Publishing company, New York, she added. The first 430 copies will be signed by the author.

Settlement Ends City Injunction

An injunction obtained by the Volunteers of America to restrain the city of Plymouth from interfering with the activities of the organization in collecting funds and clothing for the needy was dismissed last week after a settlement between the city and organization was reached out of court, the city commission was told Monday night.

Under the terms of the settlement the organization was given permission to solicit clothing and funds in the city, although city officials had declared in earlier refusals to grant such permission that the Salvation Army was handling all collections satisfactorily and that there was no need for the activities in Plymouth of a similar organization.

It is said that over in England they have developed a seed wheat that will increase the yield per acre 10 percent. We presume that Secretary Wallace will see that none of it is smuggled into the United States.

If Blunk Bros. have their way about it, that's exactly what will come to pass for they are making available to everyone a Rainbow collection of fancy assorted tulip bulbs as a special gift offering. By paying the bare cost of handling and transportation you get the box of bulbs gratis. Under such circumstances we can look forward to a riot of color next Spring for everybody will probably want to avail themselves of Blunk Bros. generosity.

The reason for this unusual offering is that the makers of the Spring-Air Mattress are celebrating their tenth anniversary, and as a memento of the event they have arranged to make this gift offer of Dutch tulip bulbs. It is a fitting gesture, inasmuch as the home of the Spring-Air Mattress general office is the city that the tulip has made world famous — Holland, Michigan. Every year in May hundreds of thousands of visitors descend upon this clean, thrifty city to admire the millions of tulips that bloom in order to plant and artistic mass plantings. The city fathers annually perpetuate the event by planting

REDFORD UNION OPENS ROCK GRID SEASON HERE TODAY

There will be no predictions as to the outcome of the Rocks on the gridiron. The reserve power of the team will be relied upon more this year than ever before. With the graduation of the seniors Plymouth lost most of its regular players. However, from the green material Mr. Jacobi has to work with, there has evolved a somewhat promising team. The Redford Union team is said to be bigger and better than last year as far as anyone is able to find out.

The 68 lads on the squad have been placed under the direction of three coaches. Mr. Jacobi, of course, has charge of the varsity. This group consists of Jolliffe, Darnell, and Prough, ends; Hull and Jordan, tackles; Olsen, Ruth-erford, Lorenz, and Matts, guards; Curtis, center; Ross, quarter-back; Gettleston and Leach, half-backs; and Krumm, fullback. The reserves, coached by Mr. Ingram, consists of Birchell, end; Passage, Klog, tackles; Dunham, Petroz-ewsky, centers; R. Norman, Hoff- man, and Herter, quarterbacks; Hitt, Thams, Scarpulla, Keller, and Wilson, halfbacks; Baker, Hewitt, and Eddie, fullbacks. Mr. Sutherland, new at Plymouth high himself, has consented to take care of freshman talent on the squad.

The contest with Redford Union is sure to be a bang-up tilt through all of its 60 minutes. Why not start off the season right by attending the game at Riverside park this Friday, September 23, at 3:30?

PLYMOUTH'S APPRENTICE COURSE A PREPARATION FOR LIFE

The apprentice course is starting its second year at Plymouth high school, and at present it looks as though the course was rapidly growing from the infant stage into manhood.

Due to slack times in industry and business during the past summer, several of the apprentices were laid off. All but one are back to work at present and two new ones have been placed. Mr. Bentley, who is the coordinator of the apprentice program, says that he has statements from several of the business and industrial men in the community who say they will take an apprentice as soon as they have re-hired their regular employees. Most of the boys who have completed their first year as an apprentice have received an increase of from three to eight cents an hour in their wages.

As the apprentice course is relatively new, it may be proper to state here some of the facts concerning it.

The course is designed for boys and girls who expect to enter industry or trades immediately after graduating from high school and does not prepare students to enter college. This does not mean they cannot enter, because by taking a few extra subjects they are eligible.

The plan of training is a cooperative arrangement between the school and business and industrial concerns of the community. Students enrolled in the course are considered apprentices and will pursue a training program which will provide instruction in school as well as practical experience in a chosen occupation. While the apprentices are employed they will be under the supervision of the school, as well as that of the employers.

The half-day of school will be devoted to the study of related and technical subjects pertinent to the job in which the student is engaged during the remainder of the day. Co-ordinator Bentley will visit the student on his job and also confer with him at school.

Graduation from high school will be possible under this plan and all pupils desiring to enroll in this type of study must have completed two years of regular high school work or the equivalent and must be at least 16 years of age. The parents and apprentices must understand that the major objective is the affording of an opportunity to obtain training for life careers rather than a job in which they expect immediate financial returns. Applicants must first obtain the full consent of their parents and the minimum length of time necessary to complete the course is two years.

The course is also open to young people who have left the regular school and wish to return for this type of training. Each must obtain a work permit issued by the superintendent of schools.

Here is a list of trades the boys are learning at the present time: Department store sales and management. Meat cutting. Grocery store sales and management. Printing. Electrician. Dry cleaning. Baking. Dairy products manufacturing. Auto mechanic. Shoe repairing. Radio electrician. Florist. Shoe store sales and management.

SEVEN GIRLS AND TWO SUPERVISORS COMPOSE CAFETERIA STAFF

This year the cafeteria staff of our high school consists of seven girls under the direction of Mrs. Partridge and Miss Lundin. Mrs. Partridge does the cooking and supervises the other girls while Miss Lundin does all of the buying and arranging of menus. The seven girls are given certain jobs which they will undertake for the whole year. Mrs. Partridge and one girl serve the main dishes, one serves ice cream, one is the cashier, two collect and stack the dishes, and two wash and dry them. All of the girls receive their lunch in return for their services and the cashier also receives a small amount of pay as she has such a responsible job. About 65 persons are served lunches daily and there are also many odd sales. Each day the menu contains in various forms such foods as soup, potatoes, meat or a main dish in place of meat, a vegetable, sandwich, waffles, a salad, desserts and milk. Candy, ice cream, and potato chips make up many odd sales.

PILGRIM PRINTS CELEBRATES 10TH YEAR

Pilgrim Prints has gotten under way for its tenth consecutive year. For those who are interested in the derivation of the name of our school sheet here is the story. In 1928 the body equivalent to our student council at the present time decided that the school page needed a name other than the "school notes" that it was then called. A contest was held for the entire school and a prize offered for the best name submitted. The only stipulation was that it must have some connection with the name Plymouth and all that it suggested. The name of the prize winner has been forgotten but his selection still tops the head of our school sheet as you in all probability will notice many times this winter.

The staff this year is larger than it has been for quite some time, a fact which will probably please Miss Allen, staff adviser for the past 10 years.

The new members of the group are Virginia Rock, Gladys Hammond, Shirley Sorensen, Arlene Soth, Ruth Kirkpatrick, and Lewis Gilbert. Last year's "future editors" returning this semester are Ellis Brandt, Richard Dunlop, Paul Harsha, Orlyn Lewis, Doris Buzzard, and Mary Kathryn Moon.

Each year Pilgrim Prints strives for a bigger and better year. This year because the fourth hour on Monday and Tuesday of each week has been set aside and textbooks on journalism have been supplied by the school, high hopes are held for the success of the group. At the end of the semester credit will be given in proportion to the amount and quality of work completed by the individual student. Although the various editors have not been chosen as yet their names will appear on the Pilgrim Prints sheet in the near future.

The Pilgrim Prints staff tries to give as clear and correct a picture of school life as possible; however, any suggestions, remarks, criticisms, or questions the student body has to offer will be gladly accepted by members of the student staff.

SCHOOL DANCES AT CITY HALL POPULAR

The youth recreation dances which are sponsored by the Plymouth Women's club are having a very successful season. Every Friday and Saturday night the recreation room in the city hall is crowded with young people who dance to the best bands in the county by means of an electric phonograph.

An age division has been made to encourage younger dancers although it is not compulsory. Friday night is especially for young people from 12 to 16 years; Saturday night for older young people from 15 years and up. Come and bring your friends, you will all have a grand time and the charge is so very small you'll never miss it. The time is 8:00 o'clock and it lasts until 11:00. There will be some very good entertainment during intermission.

PLYMOUTH NEARING CLASS A STATUS

Plymouth high school is rapidly becoming a class A school. It now rates third in enrollment in the Twin Valley Athletic association, according to figures released by Principal Dykhouse. Plymouth is now so near the top of Class B that going into the bottom of Class will show a great change in the status of their athletic competition. At this writing the enrollment for the upper four grades of Plymouth high school amounts to 637 pupils. As only 699 are needed in the upper four grades to become a Class A school, Plymouth needs only 62 more pupils to attain this goal. At the beginning of next semester 40 additional pupils are expected to enroll from the eighth grade. This leaves Plymouth only the small number of 22 pupils to enroll before the school becomes a Class A school. If Plymouth goes into Class A, its competition will mainly come from River Rouge and Dearborn, who are the only Class A schools in this region. Other than those two, Plymouth might probably have to look toward Detroit and schools for additional competition, which would be fatal to her championship.

HOME ECONOMICS SUMMER HOME PROJECTS

The summer home project work is a regular part of Vocational Home Economics, for the girl's home is the best laboratory for any phase of home-making. Students may take a summer home project and receive one quarter of a credit if work is satisfactory, or they may take a project which involves less time, work, and managerial ability, and receive no credit. Each Home Economics girl should work out a summer home project in order to complete credit for class work during the year. During this summer there were 81 girls representing 79 different homes, working on summer projects. The girls worked on some of the following:

- Food Preservation
- Family Meal Planning
- New Dishes
- Garment Construction
- Wardrobe Study
- Child Study
- Marketing
- Redecorating My Room
- Cleaning and Care of Home
- Home Management

They exhibited some of their project work at the Wayne county fair.

During summer home project supervision the group had some Home Economics students from Wayne University and Michigan State college observe the home projects work of some of the group.

The girls held a meeting at the school on August 31 and brought their home project reports, for discussion.

Those who went to Home Economics camp in June told about their activities there, after which they went to the park for games and eats.

PLYMOUTH HARRIERS PRACTICING

The present outlook toward a good season for the Plymouth Cross Country team is very encouraging. This year a much larger number of hopeful boys, compared to last year, turned out for practice. The team, paced by Kenneth McMullen, one of the best runners in this section of the state and the only letter man back from last year, will be coached by Mr. Wallace. Even though quite a number of boys have turned out, more talent could readily be used.

Cross Country is a two-mile run over hill and dale. Plymouth's course extends from the football field to the lake and back through the football field. This sport is very good for exercise. Most of the runs will be held between halves of the football games.

SCARPULLA AGAIN HEADS CLASS OF '40

Joe Scarpulla was elected president of the class for the fourth consecutive time in the junior class election last Friday. Eugene Bakewell is vice president; Mary Hood, secretary; and Margaret Erdelyi, treasurer. This is the second time Margaret has been treasurer as she served this same position last year.

An unusual happening occurred during the election of the two student council representatives. Votes were cast for the four boys nominated in the four 11th grade classes of Miss Allen, and a different boy predominated in each class. Being such a close election it was very interesting to watch for the results. Ivan Packard and Wesley Hoffman won over Bill Aulia and Richard Strong.

Over in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, where the young gypsies go to the annual fair to purchase wives, it is said that the price of young brides has gone down to $8.40 for selected grades. If there is an over-supply why don't they consult Henry Wallace?

AMBITIOUS PUPILS DESERVE PRAISE

Plymouth takes pride in its 18 students who find it necessary to gain an education through their own labor. These youths are required to be 16 years of age or older to achieve admittance to the National Youth association. This work includes working in the offices, library, Olonch room, and during noon hours to earn from three to six dollars a month. Girls, as well as boys, are employed in the N.Y.A. Other than the 18 mentioned there are at least a dozen working for their room and board at higher wages.

CALLING ALL BIRD ENTHUSIASTS

The golden silence of the library was broken last Tuesday by the intrusion of a very unobtrusive bird which fluttered among the various artistic adornments of the room dipping and bending gracefully past the many chandeliers, window shades, and water pipes. Little is known of the origin of the bird in the library, the one plausible excuse being it flew through an open window.

The consensus of opinion as to what type of feathered flyer it was that it was a common barn swallow.

Uttering mournful cheeps, the swallow, perceiving a patch of light between the window shades, entered and was promptly held prisoner against the shade and window proper. The hero of the first hour, Swedish Olonch, who had held that bird or fall in the attempt. This worthy mounted the radiator, secured the bird in both large paws, and gave it freedom at the nearest open window.

Mr. Olson merits congratulations upon his bravery, self-sacrifice, and above all for the spirit in which he accomplished the achievement.

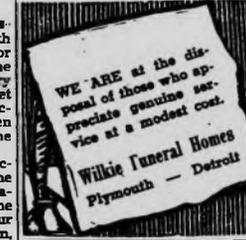

GIRLS CHANGE APPEARANCE OF SCHOOL ROOM

The girls of Home Economics III are exchanging the old for the new. They have had enough of an uninteresting school-room and want a more colorful room in which to hold their classes. Each added her own ideas as to how the room could be changed. The new color voted to be used was aqua. Each girl is working on the part in which she is most interested. They have lengthened curtains and made new ones. They are working on machine covers with an original block print in aqua and are painting a bookcase ivory with aqua trim. They are block printing panels of aqua to be placed in the front windows to separate the fitting room and the main room. Two of the girls repainted and re-covered an old rocking chair to match the color of a straight-back chair already in use. These will be used in the fitting-sitting room. Others are braiding a rag rug for this room. The girls hope that these changes with others will render their rooms more friendly and enjoyable.

The annual freshman reception held on Friday, September 16, was well attended by members of both classes. As they entered the auditorium the guests were handed long slips of paper on which they were to get the autographs, color of hair and eyes of every one they could. Many persons got acquainted in this manner. The classes were mixed and divided into families bearing comic strip names. In these families games were played. Then each senior took a freshman and marched around the room getting a chocolate pop enroute and then dancing for the remainder of the afternoon. The music consisted of records played on the recording machine presented to the school by last year's class.

Good Umpiring Marks Contest With Detroit Stars

Plymouth Wins 2-0 In Tight Game Of Only Seven Hits

In a baseball game notable for clean umpiring despite the necessity for close decisions in several instances, Plymouth's Schrader Haggerty team defeated the Detroit Federation All-Stars 2-0, at Riverside park Sunday. There were no disputes over any of the decisions.

The game was largely a tactical contest, as a total of only seven hits was allowed. Plymouth made four of the strokes. George Molnar pitched an excellent game for Plymouth, with Harold Williams behind the catcher's mask, while the visiting all-star aggregation put in three pitchers.

The sidelines were well crowded and among the audience were said to be scouts for the Cleveland Indians, principally interested in sizing up the abilities of the Detroit players but who also found themselves interested in the Plymouth diamond material.

The scouts were said to be particularly pleased by the showings of Jerome, right field; Gromek, first base; Robataille, shortstop; Kritch, left field and Pitchers Cologue and Frigley, of the Detroit team.
