Lincoln Day Charity Dinner Planned Again

Second Annual Affair Mapped By Committee

Success of Michigan's first Lincoln Day Charity Dinner last year has led to laying of plans for another such affair this year. The dinner, according to tentative plans outlined by the committee which directed it last year will be held on February 9 in the Mayflower hotel.

As was the case last year, the dinner will be very simple and composed entirely of Michigan products. In decided contrast to plans for political dinners elsewhere in the state where the cost per plate will run $35, with the proceeds devoted to campaigning, the dinner here will be devoted entirely to charity. Proceeds from tickets sold in Northville will be given to the King's Daughters and all other funds will be used in Plymouth to provide daily milk for undernourished children.

Last year the charity dinner provided about $250 with which to buy milk for Plymouth school children, and it is expected that the proceeds will be larger at the coming dinner, members of the committee in charge estimated.

The dinner is sponsored by Michigan citizens who believe in and desire honest and efficient government. The plan for the simple, charitable dinners was born in Plymouth and copied by persons with similar interests.

Speakers for the 1939 dinner have not yet been selected but they will be on par with the principal speakers last year, who were Governor-elect Frank D. Fitzgerald, O. L. Smith, widely known Detroit lawyer, and Melville B. McPherson, member of the State Tax commission.

The all-Michigan dinner will be composed of similar foods to those served last year, boiled potatoes, cured fried salt pork, milk gravy, white beans, corn bread, corn meal mush, maple syrup and coffee.

Members of the committee who were in charge of the dinner which last year attracted statewide attention and who are in charge of the 1939 affair also, are Fred D. Schrader, George A. Smith, Charles Rathburn and E. R. Eaton.

Announcement has just been made by the Mayflower hotel management that plans are being formulated for a New Year's eve celebration at the hotel. While all of the arrangements have not been worked out, an orchestra has been engaged for the dancing. There will be in addition to the dining room attractions that will continue from early evening until the wee small hours of the morning "after."

Wildlife Club To Feed Birds

Members of the Western Wayne County Wildlife association in a meeting Monday laid tentative plans to assure feeding of birds this winter in case there should be heavy snows or ice coverings on the ground.

Lisle Alexander urged farmers, sportsmen or any other who notice particular situations where birds appear to be starving in bad weather conditions to notify him or Dr. E. Champe or any other member of the board of the association and the club will provide winter food for the birds.

Mr. Alexander wrote to the Department of Conservation Wednesday requesting food supplies for birds so that they will be on hand in case conditions arise where food is needed for wildlife, he said.

The association also passed a resolution to have a reindeer dinner at the next regular meeting, January 9, at the Hotel Mayflower. Tickets will sell for $1.25. Mr. Alexander said. He urged those who intend to take part in the feast to be sure and make reservations so that they will be assured a place—and reindeer.

The reindeer will be brought from Canada, he added.

Community Sing Set For Christmas Eve

Community singing of the cherished, traditional songs of Christmas time will echo through Kellogg park on Christmas eve. The general public is invited to be present and take part in the singing, which will be led by the combined choirs of the Plymouth churches.

Musical accompaniment will be provided and the singing will be amplified throughout the downtown area by means of an electrical speaker system. The program will start at 7:30 p.m., December 24.

Mixed Choir Will Present "The Messiah"

Performance Set For Dec. 19 In Presbyterian Church

Handle's incomparable oratorio, "The Messiah," will be sung in Plymouth as a civic enterprise by local singers at 8:00 p.m., Monday, December 19.

The board of trustees of the Presbyterian church has offered the use of the church building and organ for the event.

The general public is invited to be present. The chorus will consist of the newly formed mixed choir of Plymouth and Northville residents. The choir is reported as performing well in rehearsals. There will be enough additional voices to bring the number up to about eighty voices for the yule program. Solo parts will be taken by members of the University of Michigan school of music. No admission will be charged but a small collection will be taken to pay the expenses of the soloists.

WPA To Start Work Soon On Tonquish

Contract Job Delayed Until Early Spring

George A. Dingman, county drain commissioner, told city officials this week that sections of the Tonquish Creek project which will be constructed with WPA labor will be under construction probably within two weeks.

This work will consist of straightening and cleaning that part of the drain which lies west of Harvey street.

Work on the private contract section of the drain, which consists largely of the part to be covered, will be delayed until early spring. The work will be started as early as possible in the spring. Powell and Son, which was awarded the contract, has promised.

It was decided to delay starting on this part of the work to avoid chances of frost and other weather conditions which would cause periodic holdups and impairment during the winter.

Once work is started on the project about three months will be required before it is completed.

City Preparing Annual Report

City hall employees were working this week on the tenth annual municipal report which will be submitted to the city commission for inspection within the next few days.

Innovations are being made in the report this year. City Manager Clarence H. Elliott said. The report for the first time will include a number of matters which were not formerly reported upon.

He received his law degree from the University of Michigan and is also a graduate of Earlham college of Richmond, Indiana.

The offices have been newly decorated and will be opened for business next Monday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Davis will make their residence in this city after the first of the year.

Mrs. Berde Herbert has returned home from her visit to Florida and New York.

Plymouth Couple Married By Rev. Bready

Among the vast numbers of people who were grieved over the tragic death that came to Rev. Russell Bready at his home near Cleveland early this week were Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Ball of this city. They knew Rev. Bready well. While they were residents of Hastings it was Rev. Bready who performed their wedding ceremony. During all of these years they have kept in contact with him and were amazed at the crime committed by the son.

Political Terrors Of Trip To Korea Told To Kiwanians

Winfield Lines Are Speakers At Program

Winfield Line, former Plymouth resident and his wife, a native of Korea, told members of the Plymouth Kiwanis club at a meeting Tuesday night in the Hotel Mayflower the reason for the trip they made to Korea this summer which has been the topic of many talks they have made to Michigan clubs.

Mrs. Grace Song Line was introduced by Claude Dykhouse, Plymouth high school principal, who is a close friend of the family, and she in turn introduced her husband.

Mr. Line said that his wife's sister, former student of music at the University of Michigan and at Chicago, became ill while making preparations for a concert tour of Korea. Mrs. Line, who has a Ph.D. degree in public health from the University of Michigan, decided that she had better nurse her sister as medical facilities in Korea are poor.

When the Lines arrived in Korea, however, they discovered that the sister was not ill so much as she was suffering from nervous strain because the Japanese government was hounding her by questioning her and keeping detectives on her trail everywhere she went.

The government, Mr. Line said, believed that the sister was a spy for the United States. However, he said, the government had the same belief about every Korean or other native who returned after studying in America.

He said that Mrs. Line herself (Continued on Page Six)

Big News For Boys And Girls!

Santa Is Coming To Town Saturday

Here's good news to the boys and girls of Plymouth and vicinity!

Old Santa is going to be in Plymouth each Saturday between now and Christmas.

Yes sir—right up and down the streets of Plymouth he will be going every Saturday, talking to the boys and girls about Christmas.

Butter than that, boys and girls—On Saturday, December 24, the last Saturday before Christmas, old Santa is going to give to every boy and girl who talks with him while he is ambling about the streets of Plymouth, a nice, big red and white candy cane!

Think of it! A big candy cane for the boys and girls! You will not even have to ask him for it! All that will be necessary will be for you to just talk with Santa.

Remember, that will be on Saturday, December 24. But don't forget he will be glad to talk with you before the end of the year.

Here's something more! Down at the Chamber of Commerce meeting last Monday evening, Fred D. Schrader told the business men that if there was any snow on the streets the next two Saturdays between now and Christmas, he would hitch up his buffalo out at his ranch, and he would drive them up and down the streets of Plymouth next Saturday afternoon and again on Saturday, December 24. That will be something more for you to watch for.

State Schools Seek Assured Financial Aid

City Educators Attend Meeting To Map Program

Legislative and constitutional measures to provide definite financial assistance for Michigan schools in coming years and to end conditions which have made school finance the football of state officials were discussed by school board members and superintendents of Wayne and Monroe counties in a meeting held December 1 in Flat Rock. Those in attendance were asked to support a six-point program.

Plymouth was represented at the conference by George Burr and Russell Kirkpatrick, members of the board of education, and George A. Smith, superintendent of schools.

The program was outlined by the Michigan Education association, which called the meeting. The Flat Rock meeting was one of 15 called throughout the state to acquaint educators with the financial problems confronting the school system as a whole and to unite them for action to prepare for future changes.

The six-point program is as follows: 1.—To favor $47,000,000 total state school aid, including the primary school interest fund, with the primary school interest set at $1,000,000 and at least $32,000,000 in state aid for school operation. The $47,000,000 figure is the one under which schools operated in 1931 and is considered a norm, sufficiently large enough for schools to operate comfortably.

2.—To favor requesting legislation which will make it possible for school districts facing (Continued on Page Six)

Dining Rooms At Mayflower Named

Another step forward has been taken by the management of the Mayflower hotel and one that will provide general satisfaction to the people of Plymouth vicinity—especially clubs, associations and groups that hold frequent luncheons and banquets.

The remodeling of some of the dining rooms has been completed and given distinctive names.

One of the largest dining rooms will hereafter be called the Mayflower dining room. Another smaller one will be called the Pilgrim room and the small dining room on the second floor will hereafter be known as the President's room.

The first group to meet in the Pilgrim room Wednesday noon consisted of the mayors and a number of prominent township supervisors of Wayne county who met to discuss some forthcoming legislative problems.

Coal Bins Form Sales Display

Utility combined with attractiveness and salesmanship are the ingredients of new truck loading coal bins recently constructed at the E. J. Eckels and Sons Supply company in Plymouth.

The bins, used to eliminate overweight and underweight supplies of coal while trucks are being loaded, were constructed of a wide variety of bricks. The bins, in all colors and shapes, form an attractive construction job.

At the same time they are silent salesmen because when customers want to decide on the type of brick they want all they have to do is take a look at the bins, where all types are on display.

YULE LIGHTS INSTALLED

City workmen placed Christmas tree lights in operation this week and the lights were expected to be lighted over the week-end.

Plymouth's Postoffice Records Hit New All-Time High

Parcel Post Receipts And Shipments For November Break Records

Plymouth's postoffice hit a new high for the month of November, according to records just tabulated by Postmaster Frank Learned.

Its incoming and outgoing parcel post mailings reached the surprising total of 13,597 packages, an average of 344 packages that were sent in and out of Plymouth each day during the month of November.

Of this total 6,285 packages were sent out from Plymouth and 7,312 packages were received here.

Police To Check On Dog Tags In City Canvass

System Working Well, Police Chief Reports

Canvassing of all homes in Plymouth to check on unlicensed dogs will be started this month, Police Chief Vaughan Smith said.

He reported at the same time that the system of canvassing homes had proven beneficial in recent years and that residents were growing more co-operative in buying the licenses required for their pets without constant pressure.

Police will issue warnings to owners of dogs who have not yet purchased licenses. A letter advising purchase of the tags will follow, and, if the licenses are not purchased, the department will issue warrants for the arrest of delinquent owners.

City Treasurer Charles Garrett reported that 327 dog licenses had been issued so far this year, including 139 licenses for dogs vaccinated against rabies and 218 for unvaccinated dogs.

This compares favorably, Chief Smith said, with the total of licenses issued last year, which came to 433, of which 140 were vaccinated dogs and 293 for unvaccinated animals.

However, he pointed out, the figures indicate that there are more than 100 dogs in Plymouth which still are unlicensed. License fees now cost $1 and there is a penalty of 50 cents for not buying the tags before June 30, the deadline.

City Mausoleum Is Enlarged

Exterior construction of the enlarged section of the mausoleum in Riverside cemetery neared completion this week. The addition more than doubles the size of the mausoleum and provides room for nearly double the number of crypts as well as space for a small chapel.

Construction now is under way to build a furnace in the mausoleum and marble fronting on the crypt tiers will be installed later.

The stairs and proscenium of the entrance have been changed for purposes of beauty. Stained glass windows have been placed in double panels at each side of the building and three stained glass window sections are ready for installation at the rear, to provide soft lighting for the chapel space.

About 270 new crypts will be provided by the construction of the added mausoleum space.

Wrench Home On West Ann Arbor Trail Sold

Thomas P. Bateman of Detroit, associated with a fuel corporation of that city, has just purchased the Harry Wrench residence on West Ann Arbor Trail. The transaction having been completed through the Giles Real Estate office, Mr. Bateman expects to move his family to Plymouth early in the new year after needed improvements and repairs have been made on the house, which has stood vacant for nearly two years.

Mail Now To Be Sure Of Yule Delivery

And Don't Forget To Put An Address On The Letters

The Plymouth postoffice warned residents this week that if they wanted to be certain that their friends received Christmas greeting cards or gifts before the holiday they should have all such mail in the postoffice on or before December 16.

After December 16, Postmaster Frank Learned said, the postal department cannot guarantee delivery of letters before Christmas.

"This is not an arbitrary deadline set for the convenience of the postal employees," he said, "but one which is announced so that letter mailers may not be disappointed in late delivery of holiday mail."

"If letters are mailed on or before December 16 the mailer can be assured that it will be delivered on time anywhere in the United States and the closer sections of Canada and Mexico. All mail for other countries should already have been mailed, if it is to arrive before Christmas."

"However, if your domestic letters are going any great distance, such as to cities on the West Coast, it is advisable to get them in the mail at the earliest (Continued on Page Six)

City Plays Host To 540 Tramps In Course Of Year

Steady Boarder Is A Wanderer 94 Years Old

The city of Plymouth is host to unwelcome visitors almost every night in the year.

In the last fiscal year a total of 540 tramps, unemployed on the road and petty crooks received lodging and breakfast at the city jail in the basement of the city hall, Police Chief Vaughan Smith said.

Most of these men requested a night's lodging, while some others were hauled in overnight merely as a matter of protection to the city, he said.

Only cost of providing these men with a home for the night and a breakfast is a small amount for rolls in the morning, Chief Smith said. But the cost is negligible when it is considered as insurance, he pointed out.

If the tramps were loose in town they might cause trouble ranging from burglary to causing a disturbance. In the jail they are in a safe place for both themselves and the city.

Police follow a practice of fingerprinting those who look suspicious, but no major criminal has been captured by this means in Plymouth to date.

In November alone there were 30 lodgers. The number mounts during the fall and early spring days when it is uncomfortable sleeping in the open. In the summer, the number drops sharply as the wanderers spend the nights in the fields, barns and deserted houses.

Plymouth's star boarder, Chief Smith said, is a man who is 94 years old. He has spent the night in the Plymouth jail at least 15 times a year for the last five years, as he travels a set route between Ann Arbor and Mt. Clemens. He does most of his traveling on foot, he tells Chief Smith.

Youngest of the free boarders have been boys 14 or 15 years old, Chief Smith says. These youngsters, when they request a night's lodging, are placed in separate quarters from the older tramps for a number of reasons, he said.

Nearly always, Plymouth police try to check on the parents of the young travelers and in some cases have been successful in seeing that the boys got started on the way home to the joy of parents who had no word of them.

Christmas Seals Sold By Students

Annual sale of Christmas tuberculosis seals from scheduled to be held yesterday (Thursday) by grade and high school students of Plymouth.

The theory is, George A. Smith, superintendent of schools, said, that it is better for girls and boys to have a part, at least, of their Christmas seals in the form of the tuberculosis seals, the receipts from which are used to make sick boys and girls well.

Several Plymouth boys and girls, he said, have been afflicted with tuberculosis and as a result of hospitalization directly paid for by the sale of these seals they have been returned to health and usefulness in the economic world.

The seals were to be sold by the pupils in a house-to-house canvass of the town on the one day only.

WIND BLOWS DOWN CHRISTMAS TREE

High winds sent a newly erected Christmas tree toppling to the ground at Starkweather and Liberty streets Saturday. The 25-foot tree caused no damage to property or persons when it fell. Although the tree was cracked off near the top city workmen repaired it so that it could be erected again.

Warren Worth spent last week in Washington, D. C. on business.

"God the Preserver of Man" will be the subject of the lesson, sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, December 11. The Golden Text (Psalm 40: 11) is: "Withhold not thou thy tender mercies from me, O Lord, let not mine iniquities and thy truth continually persecute me." Among the Bible citations in this passage (Luke 12: 29-30): "And seek not ye what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink, neither be ye of doubtful mind. For all these things do the nations of the world seek after: and your Father knoweth that ye have need of these things." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science text book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 254): "When we wait patiently on God, and seek Truth righteously, He directs our path."

BEREA CHAPEL, Pent. Assemblies of God, Rev. John Walaskay, pastor. Meetings held Sundays in I.O.O.F. hall on Main street. Sunday school, 10:00 a.m.; morning worship, 11:00; young people C. A. You will enjoy the spiritual atmosphere. The Sunday evening message will be the first in a series on the seven parables found in the 13th chapter of Matthew. There is much dispensational truth found in this chapter. The first parable speaks of a great seed sowing time which no doubt refers to the first great period of the church's history, when the gospel was preached to the ends of the earth and Christianity became almost world wide. Come and visit this service and you will hear something worthwhile. (Holbrook and Pearl streets.)

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH, Holbrook and Harding, Lynn B. Stout, pastor, 615 North Mill street. In this day of many voices crying "this is the way, some are honestly saying 'what is man to believe?' Listen, friend, dig out that old Bible and turn to the gospel according to St. John, and ask God to enable you to believe it, just as it is written in Jno. 20: 30 we read: "These are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through His name." The ordination service and message will be at 7:30 p.m. Bulls Eye No. 15: "God never put 'dark glasses' on the church with lead pencils in one hand and a tin cup in the other."

Don't forget the bake sale and party this Friday evening at the school house. Any donation of baked goods or canned goods will be appreciated by the committee. These donations will be offered as prizes. Coffee will be served free and a small charge made for doughnuts. Donations may be brought to the school Friday or to any one of the following: Mrs. Dennis, Mrs. Penney, Mrs. Korte, Mrs. Bartz and Mrs. Willard. This party is to raise money for Christmas candy for the children. The paper products which the P. T. A. is selling will be there and the school children will have a candy booth.

The upper grade room is giving two plays for the P. T. A. this Christmas. One is "Santa's Christmas Party." The characters are as follows: Santa, Gordon Vetal; Henry Boggs, Clare Donaldson; Martha Boggs, Myrtle Schrader; Myra Boggs, Conal Wilkie; Hiram Boggs, Junior Korte; Dot, Lois Vetal; Billy, Roger Smith; Betty, Norine Everett; Teddy, Donald Vetal; Mary, June Bassett and the announcer, Marjorie Wilkie. The nine cousins are played by Marjorie Smith, Marjorie Wilson, Billy Wilson, Donald Korte, Lila Bartz, Ralph Wilkie, Robert Stuart, Betty Klingbell and Bonnie Barger.

The other play is "Christmas Gifts." The players are Ruth Blackmore, Betty Young, Allen Barber, Frank McCloskey, June Van Meter, Joyce Penney and Russell Wilson. Leona Bakhaus is also in this play.

Ivan Campbell and Earle Bassett are stage managers for both plays.

Billy Blackmore had the misfortune of being struck by a car last Thursday as he was crossing the road near his home. He is in Ann Arbor hospital with his leg broken.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Campbell were pleasantly surprised last Friday evening by a group of neighbors who came to help them celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Everett, former neighbors who now live near Tecumseh. Games were played and a delicious lunch was served. Just before lunch time Mrs. Frank Busha presented Mr. and Mrs. Campbell with a beautiful sandwich tray and bonbon dish, the gift of the neighbors.

On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Aden Campbell and family of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Eaton and son of Ypsilanti, and Mr. and Mrs. Allan Campbell of Plymouth gathered with the Campbells for dinner and supper to help them celebrate. Illness prevented several families from coming Sunday.

On Saturday afternoon Mrs. Allan Campbell entertained at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Mrs. Neil Travis. Guests included Mrs. Henry Hoffman, Miss Amy Blackmore and Mrs. Ella Hood of Detroit; Mrs. Oley Drayton, Mrs. George Travis, Mrs. V. Dennis, Mrs. Jack Travis, Mrs. Arthur White, Mrs. Henry Travis and Mrs. Ed Hauk of Plymouth and Mrs. Arthur Winkle of Dearborn.

Heavy rains have broken the prolonged drought in Nicaragua.

Plymouth Gardens News

Well, folks, the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Stark Parish-Teachers' association have really proven their ability as a group of go-getters. The bazaar and entertainment, so ably planned and carried out last Saturday, December 3, was a great success. All goods were sold and the quilt raffled off, increasing our financial status far beyond our expectations. If you failed to attend, you certainly missed a wonderful evening. Considerable local talent was discovered among the Plymouth Gardens residents. The evening's entertainment disclosed the fact that we have excellent guitar players, singers and many others locally that are REAL performers. The Housewives' Band was one of the main features of the evening and was one of the best and most original events of the season. With Mrs. Olson at the piano and ably led by Mrs. Fred Byrd, the band entered in drill formation and took their places. Toy trumpets and cymbals (pan covers) with an occasional dish pan, were the main instruments. Many other kitchen utensils were used, however, and the result was certainly great. The same group later entertained at a chorus and was heartily received by the audience. We are planning many other happy evenings like this and judging from the excellent attendance, we are very sure that they will all be successful. Your response to our efforts has been extremely encouraging.

December 17, 1938. Mark this date and reserve it for the evening of evenings! Another feather party is being given at Stark school and those of you who attended the Thanksgiving feather party, most certainly will not miss this one. We expect a big crowd so come early and be sure of a seat. The time is 8:00 o'clock—the place, Stark school, corner of Stark road and Pine Tree road, Plymouth Gardens. The date is December 17.

Our heartfelt sympathy goes out to Miss Vivian Wise, our teacher of the second grade at Stark school. Miss Wise's uncle passed on last Sunday, December 4, necessitating her departure from the community. Miss Wise feels her loss deeply and we, of this district, share her sorrow. Your reporter is very discouraged as to the repeated request for NEWS ITEMS which has received little or no response! You reporter has begged, pleaded and threatened. However, the lack of interest in this business of keeping the community informed is amazing! If you, as a part of Plymouth Gardens, would like to discontinue our column in The Plymouth Mail, please let us know. If you know of some one that would like to contribute to THE NEWS, please let us know THAT also. The news item box is still on the cigar counter at McKinney and Schaffer's store. (It is quite empty all the time.) Put your votes for a new reporter (along with some news items) in the box today.

The Plymouth Gardens Improvement association will meet Friday evening, 8:00 p.m. at the school.

My Brothers

(By Carolyn Leurek, 7th grade)
My oldest brother's name is Paul. When very small was round as a ball. Now his waist has gone down. And he's not quite so round.

I have another brother, and his hair is red. Every night I help put him to bed. Now this little man's name is Jim. Oh, baby, do the girls go for him.

My sweet little brother's name is Frank. My little darling, but oh, what a crank. If he doesn't look out, he's in for a spank.

Now I bet you thought I had another. But by Gosh, if we do, it won't be a brother.

Universal Bible Sunday To Be Observed Here

Plymouth Lutherans Plan Interesting Services

Members of St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church in Plymouth will join with thousands of other churches throughout the world Sunday morning in the observance of Universal Bible Sunday, announced Rev. Edgar Hoencke this week.

The celebration will mark the translation of the Bible into its thousandth language.

There will also be a display of many old and valuable Bibles at the Sunday morning services, states Rev. Hoencke. He says that those possessing Bibles printed in other languages or Bibles that are outstanding because of any unusual features, are invited to have them in the display.

He will read in five different languages, the original Hebrew, Greek of the Septuagint, Latin of the Vulgate, German of Luther and the English King James Version of the 23rd Psalm: "The Lord is my Shepherd, I shall not want." The congregation will be invited to read the Psalm with the pastor in the English.

The thousandth recorded language into which a part of the Scriptures has been translated and which will be observed Sunday in Plymouth, is the language of the Sakata.

The language is spoken by a tribe of some 70,000 people, of whom some 4,500 are not literate, located in Belgian Congo, between the Kasai and Lukeni rivers in Africa. The translator was Rev. Walle Sundberg of the Swedish Baptist mission, who was assisted by Ippio Zakens, Petero Katerushie and O. Anderson. The Bible in this new translation has been printed by a publishing house in London, advises Rev. Hoencke.

Seek Assured Financial Aid

immediate housing problems to meet these problems.

3—To attempt to get the legislature to promise not to delegate to any person or body the power of cutting appropriations for state aid for public schools.

4—To request a deficiency appropriation when the legislature meets in January, 1939, for the purpose of compensating the public schools of Michigan for the reductions in tuition and transportation and other operating costs for the fiscal year 1938-39.

5—To indorse a constitutional amendment to the 15-mill limitation extending the present bonding period from five to 25 years, and also that any proposal to increase the 15-mill limitation be made by a majority vote instead of the present two-thirds vote.

6—To favor the passage of laws which will liberalize the power of school boards to borrow moneys from banks for operation purposes up to a certain limit.

The problem of finance is so acute in many districts that unless relief is granted by the next legislature many schools will have to close in late winter or early spring, Mr. Smith said.

The passage of the amendments earmarking all gas and weight tax funds for construction of roads also has produced a great deal of uneasiness among these schools which are under particular financial distress, he added.

"The feeling seems to be," Mr. Smith said, "that children are as important as roads and if it is wise to allocate funds for roads by constitutional amendment then such a method should be used for allocation of school funds."

When the meetings in the 15 areas are completed there will be a statewide meeting in Lansing, Mich., and a final program will be formulated through which educators will attempt to present fairly and clearly the school needs and the problems which have arisen as a result of executive cutting of appropriations passed by the last legislature.

Trip To Korea Told To Kiwanians

had been the victim of torture and persecution by the Japanese government before she came to this country five or six years ago. He said that Mrs. Line had been held a prisoner in jail and tortured to the point where a government doctor warned officials that unless she was released she would die.

Line himself underwent the trials of being suspected as a spy when he visited Korea. He said he charged the government with placing two men on continual duty to follow the movements of himself and his wife while they were in the Japanese territory.

At the time during the visit Mrs. Line touched her mother. She explained that to do so would lower both women in the estimation of Korean friends and neighbors. Koreans would consider such a display of affection as a discourtesy to the mother.

Mr. Line said that at a meeting he attended at which the American consul was present, there were several Koreans who had just been released from jail where they had been held as suspected spies.

He added that following the meeting ominous action was taken by the Japanese government in throwing several of those present into jail without charge and recourse to justice.

In other parts of the Kiwanis program the high school girls' octet, accompanied by Linnea Vickstrom, sang two numbers and group singing was led by Chaucer Rausch. About 70 Kiwanians and their wives were present at the meeting, of which Mr. Dykhouse was chairman.

BOYS' CHORUS STARTED IN 7TH AND 8TH GRADES

The girls' double quartet sang for the Mothers' club at Stark-weather, Thursday, December 1. The selections rendered were "A Brown Bird Singing" and "Pale Moon." They also sang for the Kiwanis club, Wednesday, December 7, giving "A Brown Bird Singing," "Pale Moon," "Christ, mas Bells" and "Silent Night."

A boys' chorus made up of 18 chosen from the seventh and eighth grades is being started by Miss Gallimore to sing Christmas songs. Their first engagement will be at the Presbyterian Auxiliary.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Asman of Ann Arbor dined at the home of their daughter, the Miller Bosse, Sunday.

The P. H. S. band is planning to give the first annual concert to start their uniform fund.

Be Sure Of Yule Delivery

possible date and not wait for December 16.

"We will do the very best we can to deliver before Christmas all letters which are received after December 16, but we cannot assure the senders of their delivery as we can where letters are mailed before December 16."

He said that the Plymouth postoffice was merely following the lead of postal offices throughout the country in warning residents of the deadline, which is the same as the one set in Detroit, other Wayne county cities and other general offices adopted throughout the nation.

"People ask why we don't just put a number of extra workers at the job of handling the Christmas mails," he said, "but that is easier said than done. Mail has to be handled by persons trained in the work of sorting, protecting and delivering, and it is impossible to have enough trained substitutes on hand to be of any benefit when the volume of mail increases enormously as it does in the holiday season."

Last year in the seven days before Christmas, he said, the Plymouth postoffice handled over 80,000 pieces of mail, not even counting packages. This is more than 15 times the normal amount of mail handled by the local postoffice, he explained.

In cases where last minute mailing is unavoidable, residents are advised to use special delivery stamps to make sure that letters or parcels are delivered on Christmas.

Any letters or packages which have special delivery stamps and perishable parcel post will be delivered on Sunday, Christmas day, or on Monday, the legal holiday, he explained, even if they are mailed as late as Christmas eve. No mail will be handled on December 25 or 26.

And don't forget to put a name and an address on your letters. Maybe that sounds silly, but only a week ago a letter with an airmail stamp and special delivery stamp was dropped in the letter chute without a mark on the envelope. The Plymouth office shortly thereafter was forced to rush the letter to the Dead Letter office in Detroit, where it was opened in an effort to identify the sender.

"Another problem which arises every Christmas season," the postmaster said, "is that of the use of the one-and-a-half-cent stamp. We do not discourage the use of this class of postage, but persons using it should understand just what they are getting. This service dropped up during the depression to assist firms in mailing printed advertising literature. It is not intended to cover the Christmas greeting cards also could be mailed for the lower price.

"But most people have not taken the trouble to learn that when they send a Christmas greeting card with a one-and-a-half-cent stamp the card must be entirely printed, there can be no signature in writing or even typewriting; the letter must not be sealed; if the person to whom it is addressed has moved the letter cannot be forwarded, even if the person has moved only a short distance, and in no case can the letter be returned to the person who mailed it.

"In other words, by paying a half-cent more a letter the sender can be assured that the letter will be forwarded to the person to whom it is addressed in Plymouth postal area if it has moved or that it will be returned to the sender. For three cents the letter will be forwarded anywhere in the nation, or returned to the sender."

"All letters with cent-and-a-half postage are destroyed if the person has moved."

Your University

President of the University of Michigan since 1929, Dr. Alexander Grant Ruthven has been instrumental in revising and reorganizing a number of aspects of the University's administrative organization in a more efficient and sometimes non-traditional way. In educational administration and development, he has fostered the creation of "Divisions" and "Institutes" within the University whole, such as the Division of Social Sciences and the Institute of Fine Arts. These units bring together, for the discussion of common problems of teaching and research, members of the faculties of independent, but fundamentally related departments, schools and colleges within the institution. He is also known for his interest in foreign students and non-sectarian religious study and counseling.

Dr. Ruthven was born in Hull, Iowa, April 1, 1882. After receiving the degree of Bachelor of Science from Morningside College in 1903, he attended the University of Michigan, from which he obtained the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in 1906.

He has been a member of the University Faculty since that time, holding the positions of Instructor of Zoology and Curator of the Museum of Zoology, 1906-10; Professor of Zoology and Director of the Museum of Zoology, 1911-29; Director of University Museums, 1922-29; Chairman of the Department of Zoology and Director of Zoological Laboratories, 1927-29; and Dean of Administration, 1928-29. He has also been Chief Naturalist of the Michigan Biological Survey and director of several scientific expeditions in North, South and Central America. Dr. Ruthven's special field of zoological interest has been heloptology. He is a member of 14 national and foreign scientific organizations and fraternities.

What's the Answer?

THIS custom dates back to the time when men bartered for their brides and took with them their best friends to aid and advise them in the negotiations. It was assumed that the prospective bridegroom was under great strain and that he needed assistance both mentally and physically for the days immediately preceding the ceremony, so his friend, the "best man" of the two, acted as his personal guardian until the knot was tied!

Book Tells Of Good Fellows' Work

Harry C. Robinson has just received from Judge Ernest P. LaJoie of Detroit, a copy of the book Mr. LaJoie has just written, entitled "The Story of The Good Fellows."

The book is an accurate history of the organization and remarkable charity work that has been carried on by the old newsmen of Detroit.

Judge LaJoie has compiled in a most interestingly style a story of the charitable activities that have been carried on over a long period of years by the men who once sold papers on the streets of Detroit for a living, but now sell papers once every year so that "no kiddie shall be without a Christmas."

Mr. Robinson has been a member of the organization ever since it started, and he highly prizes the publication that has just been released by Judge LaJoie.

Beauty Comes Wrapped In Cotton Bating

Beauty, always born in pain, came swathed in cotton bating and barrels of elbow grease at the Plymouth Hardware store this week-end.

That beautiful scene in the store wasn't built in a day any more than Rome was, Joe Sweet will tell you. As a matter of fact, he spent three days on it.

First he cut down a thornapple tree, then got eight pounds of cotton bating and proceeded to wrap every inch of the tree in a snug cocoon.

And if you don't think that was a job, just stop and consider the fact that he used for wrappings 300,000 inches of two-inch wide cotton bating. That's just a few yards short of a half-mile of cotton to be wound around a gnarled tree.

Anyhow, it was worth the work. Sweet figures, because the window is very attractive. Back of the whitened tree is a background of blue. The tree is decked with blue lights and on a cotton base in front of the tree is a Christmas scene, a little cabin and other settings.

Only a Name, But

Possibly it does not matter whether one terms the members of our profession "Funeral Directors" or "Undertakers." Both titles exist in everyday usage. But there is a distinction, and an important one, that has made Funeral Director the approved name, while the other is fast disappearing.

The Funeral Director is a skilled professional man, with many duties that the "Undertaker" of years ago did not have. He must be skilled at the technique of his craft; he must follow a truly professional code of ethics, consider his relationship with clients as a sacred duty that demands the utmost of trust, sympathy and loyalty; he must maintain a staff and equipment that will assure a rightly-priced funeral up to the most exacting American standards.

Plymouthites Visit Harrison Burial Place

Old Political Banner Of Great Historical Value

Discovery of the old political banner carried in a parade in Plymouth by members of the historical Whig party in the fall campaign of 1840 has brought vividly to memory a trip made some 15 years ago by Dan Murray and Judge John Dayton to the burial place of President William Henry Harrison at North Bend, Ohio.

This little community is about 10 miles west of Cincinnati on the banks of the Ohio river.

"We had visited some interesting old Indian places about there," said Mr. Murray after he had read the article in The Mail, "and some one told us that the tomb of President William Henry Harrison was near by. So we drove over to North Bend and easily found the place.

"The tomb shows how quickly an important person in American history is forgotten. It is in the side of a hill, the vault looking much like a rough cement wall in place, in a sloping place in the ground. A cheap lock, one that looked as though it might have come out of a ten-cent store, held the old wooden door to the vault closed."

Mr. Murray stated that the vault stands but a short way from where the old Harrison home at one time stood. The location of the house is marked by a granite slab, he said.

President Harrison did not have an opportunity to serve only a few short days after he was sworn into office.

If he had lived, there might have been a remarkable change in the early history of this country.

There is some doubt as to whether the political banner found in the old "wild cat" bank building just torn down at the corner of Main street and Ann Arbor Trail is 98 years old or 102 years old, as Harrison was the successful Whig candidate for the presidential nomination in the campaign of 1836. He failed of election in his first effort.

But in 1840 he was again nominated and this time elected as president.

It is more likely that it was in this campaign that the Whigs of Plymouth made and carried the old banner in street parades held in the village then located deep in the woods of western Wayne county.

Historians say that the contest known as the "Hard Cider and Log Cabin" campaign, marked the beginning in American political affairs of vast political mass meetings, processions, picturesque emblems and banners.

This would indicate that the banner now safely preserved in the office of The Plymouth Mail, was made and carried in the "Hard Cider and Log Cabin" fought in the fall of 1840.

"Old timers" about here say that Plymouth in the early days was a hot-bed of politics. The settlers were very decided in their political views and gave no quarters when it came to fighting political battles.

Charles H. Bennett, Ernest Roe, E. C. Hough and some of the others who have spent their entire lives in and about Plymouth, distinctly recall that during their younger days, a presidential campaign was the big event of the years.

"I remember one night we had a torch light parade that didn't end until 6 o'clock in the morning," said Mr. Roe.

"It wound up right on the porch of the leader of the opposition. But in those days, no matter to what party we belonged, everybody was a good, loyal American citizen."

The old banner, which was displayed in the front window of The Mail office for a number of days, has brought scores of visitors to the office who desired to see it.

D. A. R. Members Told About Immigration

Christmas Meeting Proves Most Interesting

The Christmas party of Sarah Ann Cochrane chapter, D.A.R., on Monday night, was an outstanding success. Mrs. Sherwin A. Hill gave a most hospitable welcome, not only to members of the chapter, but to members of the Sons of the American Revolution and other guests, at their charming colonial home at Greenwood, Northville.

The music, furnished by Leslie Lee, teacher of music in the Northville school, and his choir of 27 young voices, was greatly enjoyed. It consisted of a concert program of choruses and recitations occupying about 20 minutes and telling, in a very beautiful and impressive way, the story of Christmas, past and present, concluding with a very beautiful lullaby.

The regent, Mrs. Sydney Strong, then gave a brief talk mentioning some of the activities and aims of the Daughters of the American Revolution, welcoming the Sons of the American Revolution and other guests, and introducing the speaker of the evening, Andrew Jordan, head of the naturalization department of the Bureau of Immigration, in Detroit.

Mr. Jordan gave an exceedingly interesting and informative talk on the naturalization laws of the United States, relating their history, explaining the reasons for the changes that have been made in them. He also gave a number of illustrations, citing individual cases, where the changes in the laws caused complications, some of them unfortunate.

A few highlights from his talk are as follows:

The first law, passed in March 1790, stated that one must be in this country two years and in the state where application for citizenship was made, one year, and must be of good character, to become a citizen. The second law, called for five years in the country, one in the state, and a previous "Declaration of Intention," and the requirements were increased as immigration increased.

Between 1821 and 1850 Ireland sent two-fifths of the immigrants, and more than one-third in the next three years.

Up to the Civil War period, most of the immigrants came from Western Europe and they were very largely farmers.

The second great wave of immigration brought hordes of people from eastern and southern Europe and these settled largely in the industrial centers. Many were very ignorant, and a large percentage of them settled in groups where they could use their own language and customs, so that there was little incentive to become Americanized. The consequence was that unscrupulous politicians could easily give them "fake" citizenship papers and buy their votes by the hundreds.

The present law was enacted in 1906 and gives federal supervision to all naturalization. The Bureau of Naturalization in Washington receives a copy of the Declaration of Intention, and of the naturalization paper of each new citizen, and no one may be naturalized within 30 days prior to an election. Also, each new citizen must be able to sign his papers in his own handwriting and speak English.

The changes in the naturalization laws regarding women and children have caused a great deal of embarrassment and inconvenience, and even much unhappiness. Any families who have the slightest doubt as to their status would do well to look into the matter of the date of the husband's acquiring citizenship, whether the wife, at that time automatically became a citizen, whether children's names were recorded, or whether children's names were recorded on entrance into the country.

Delicious refreshments were served on a table decorated with a huge bouquet of yellow baby chrysanthemums raised in the greenhouses of the Hill estate and the tea was poured from beautiful old silver pots by the regent, Mrs. Strong and the past regent, Mrs. Randall.

Between 50 and 60 persons from Plymouth and Northville attended.

Garden Assn. To Hold Meeting

The December meeting of the Plymouth branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden association will be held Monday, December 12, at 2:00 p.m. in the home of Mrs. O. F. Beyer, on Liberty street. There will be table settings on exhibition appropriate to the yuletide season and Christmas carols will be sung. The members of the board are asked to meet at 1:45. Members are reminded that the Green's sale put on each year by the Detroit association will be held on December 14, 15, 16 across from the Book-Cadillac.

Wanted—Sewing Machines! Quick

The members of the Welfare committee of the Ex-Service Men's club have secured in their recent drive for used clothing, a number of various garments, some of which have already been issued to needy families of this school district. The committee is working in close touch with the Civic Christmas committee and some of this clothing will be released to them.

However, a certain portion of this clothing is in need of repairs and alterations, and in addition a quantity of yard goods, suitable to make bedding and shirts for boys, has been donated through the courtesy of the Plymouth branch of the American Red Cross. A number of women has been secured on a full time basis to remake and repair this clothing. The committee is in need of two pedal-operated sewing machines for this work, and would appreciate the donation or loan from any citizen for these machines. If any one cares to help in this way, please call Chairman Harry Mumby, telephone No. 320.

Eloise Kicks Out Alien Job Holders

All staff members and employees of the Eloise hospital who are not citizens of the United States will be dismissed in accordance with the general policy of Wayne county regarding the hiring of aliens for county work, Dr. T. K. Gruber, superintendent of the hospital, stated recently.

"This is no purge in any sense of the word," he said, "but merely in line with a policy of the county and my own intentions to adhere to that policy."

Dr. Gruber estimated that the number which would be discharged because of their alien status would be almost insignificant in terms of the total number employed at the institution, but he hazarded the guess that it would be fewer than a dozen.

"A sincere effort is constantly made to keep aliens' names from ever being added to the payrolls," he said, "but oversights do happen. The people who will be dismissed as a result of pursuance of this policy in most instances honestly believe themselves to be citizens of this country, but due to peculiar circumstances created when the immigration laws were passed in 1923, a few find themselves without the citizenship which is a prime requisite for employment by Wayne county," he pointed out.

Dr. Gruber's statements spiked the rumor that wholesale dismissals would follow the prosecution of the alien rule. He explained that such a thing is impossible for two reasons, few non-citizens ever get on the payroll, and the fact that this is no new rule prohibits the payroll from being loaded with names of aliens. The superintendent did state, however, that all names are closely checked with the immigration authorities to establish definitely that the employees are American citizens.

Game Count Shows Interesting Results

Ruffed grouse appear to be on the increase in the Houghton lake forest area, if a count taken by state game investigators is an indication of the future.

Censuses of ruffed grouse have been taken in the area each fall for the last three years—in November, 1936, in September and November, 1937, and in October and November of this year. The count reported by the investigators, taken each year after the hunting season, was 11 birds per square mile in 1936; 36 birds per square mile in 1937; 44 birds per square mile in 1938. The census area covers four square miles of typical grouse country.

Snowshoe rabbits still appear to be scarce in the area.

Fox squirrels also were found to be uncommon in the area, but deer appeared to be rather plentiful although the number counted this fall was fewer than a year ago. This decline may be due to a wider dispersal of the animals.

A few bear signs have been noted each year, the number appearing to remain about the same.

Limestone quarries near Alpena and Rogers City are full of fossil coral.

Ten species of turtle are found in Michigan, nine of which are edible.

THE LATEST FAD

"Too many cooks spoil the broth!" The actual significance of this proverb was displayed last week when on the average of 25 hitch hikers were counted each day exercising their thumbs from the school all the way to the outskirts of Plymouth. This marked increase of itinerants can be attributed to several reasons. The depression may have struck this section once again, or the boys advocate the get-something-for-nothing plan.

On Wednesday, November 30, 28 youthful thumb-riders were counted. This number was gradually deleted until, as the hour of 5:00 rolled round, only 15 or so remained. A model A Ford rattled by. Two boys held out their thumbs in desperation and the driver of the car condescended to stop. Immediately a stream of boys flowed from every direction, clambered in without hesitation, and crammed the vehicle to its gunwales. The driver accepted this amazing demonstration without blinking an eyelash; he turned on the ignition and away they rolled.

With the approach of the cold season, however, a decline of thumbs and a fuller bus should result.

HISTORY OF CLASS OF '38

A survey of the present whereabouts of the class of '38 revealed the following results:

One hundred and three students graduated; of this number 20 are attending college at Michigan State, University of Michigan, Wayne University, Michigan State Normal college at Ypsilanti, Albion and Grand Rapids Junior college.

Six are attending technical schools such as radio, business, millinery and beauty school. Three girls have taken up nursing, one at St. Joseph's hospital, and two at Henry Ford hospital.

One boy is attending Ford's apprentice school and another has taken up apprentice work with a florist. One student is working as a guide at Greenfield Village.

Three girls have been employed as waitresses at Reed's restaurant, The Green Shutters, and the Mayflower hotel. The Mayflower hotel has one employed as a cashier. Eight graduates are employed in grocery stores, dime stores, and gas stations about town. One boy is working at Triangle airport.

Two girls are working at The Plymouth Mail, two boys are employed at Dunn Steel Products, two have entered the CCC and one joined the army. One graduate is driving a delivery truck, another is working for a manufacturer of fire trucks in Detroit, and another is working for the city.

One boy has taken up farming, a girl graduate is working in the office of an optometrist while five girls are doing housework and four are married.

There are 26 graduates who are remaining at home and six who are not accounted for.

Twenty-eight per cent of last year's class are attending either colleges or technical schools. This is a very good percentage for any graduating class to have.

PLYMOUTH DEBATERS DEFEAT YPSILANTI

The fourth debate of the 1938-39 season was held Thursday, December 1, at Ypsilanti. Plymouth upheld the affirmative for the first time and Ypsilanti defended the negative for the third time. Dr. Scott, professor of speech at Wayne University, gave the decision to the affirmative on many points: delivery, case analysis, and refutation being among those mentioned. The affirmative team of Plymouth was composed of Virginia Rock, Marvin Hauk and Doris Buzzard. This decision continues the successive wins maintained by the Plymouth teams.

INFORMATION ABOUT CLASS ROOM WORK

Miss Saffel's 7A geography class, who began the study of Michigan civics last week, is now studying city government. Her other class is studying South American countries and is discussing the Lima conference in connection with regular study. A display of leaves gathered by Dudley Martin was rated so exceptional by Mr. Lynch, biology teacher, as to be exhibited to the students; accordingly the collection was placed on display last week in the trophy case on the first floor. The display was composed entirely of trees native to Michigan. Each of the biology students carried on a project of some kind, and this was the result of Dudley's.

STUDENTS SEE PICTURES FROM NEW MOVIE PROJECTOR

Students were entertained by five reels of movies on Monday, December 5. First was an Aesop fable cartoon entitled "Radio Racket," then a reel of pictures taken by the National Geographic Expedition in Alaska; next a music appreciation reel starring Walter Damrosch, who told how sound looked on the screen and last a two-reel film called "Highway Mania." Lowell Thomas told about good and bad drivers and results of their driving. It also showed what the state of New Jersey had done to remedy the traffic situation.

The pictures were obtained from the Ideal Pictures Corporation in Chicago, Illinois. Students were charged five cents admission.

STUDENTS HELP WRITE TEXTBOOK

Mrs. Helen Rand Miller, who teaches at Northwestern University, has been assisted by several Plymouth students in writing a new English textbook. This book is a revised edition of "English at Work" which she wrote some time ago and which is now being used in Miss Lovewell's ninth grade classes.

Last year several students won prizes for their contributions. Five students won prizes of one dollar each. This year Dorothy Boh, a junior, won a cash prize for a letter of application, which will be published. The names of the students who have contributed will be published in the book. The awarding of prizes has been under Miss Lovewell's supervision.

Mrs. Miller, who is writing in California, will have her book published before Christmas. She then plans to return to Northwestern University.

PLYMOUTH BOYS INVITED TO ALL-STATE-HIGH FOOTBALL BANQUET AT M.S.C.—OLSON, KRUMM, ROSS

The Central Michigan Alumni club of Michigan State college will entertain Richard Remington, all state high school football team and about 150 outstanding high school players of Michigan on December 10, at Michigan State college. The program will start at 1:00 p.m. and finish with the banquet at 6:00 p.m. The address of the evening will be given by C. W. Duncan, columnist on Philadelphia Evening Ledger. The boys invited from Plymouth are H. Olson, G. Krumm, and J. Ross.

NO CORSAGES AT SCHOOL PARTIES

With the date of the Senior Prom only a week away the question of wearing corsages has again been raised. This question was thoroughly discussed last Spring. At that time it was decided to have the character-building clubs of the school, and also other students decided against the wearing of corsages at formal school parties. This was not merely a quick decision. The question was well discussed, both sides were taken into consideration, and the verdict was "No Corsages." No conditions have arisen to vary this verdict. The decision was reached last year with the thought of its being permanent. "Why shouldn't we have corsages if the boy wants to bring them to us?" persists a girl. When it comes to the extreme of girls asking the fellows to bring them corsages, something should be done about it. It is known that last year a girl asked her escort to bring her an orchid. It is nice for a fellow to bring his girl some flowers to wear. What girl doesn't like to receive them? But they should be inexpensive for the average high school boy, they should be accepted as a gift, and by all means not thought of as necessary to the girl's attire. When these considerations have been disregarded, then corsages should be banned. A very well known senior girl said that she did not feel fully dressed at a formal unless she had a corsage. One or two others said that their escorts felt the same way, yet there is a number of boys who are unable to buy corsages for their girls. When the majority do have them, think of the embarrassment to both girl and escort who are without these. School pupils should not be made to feel this way but the feeling does exist. Our formal dances should be kept simple. The seniors and perhaps even juniors feel grown up at these dances and want to be as old as possible but it must be remembered that there will be sophomores and freshmen there as well, and for them the dances should be kept simple. When large colleges ban corsages, that alone should be proof that there is some fault with them. Someone said that high school boys were better able to afford corsages than college men. Corsages are a luxury to such an extent that only those who have plenty of money should buy them whether they are of college or high school age.

The Senior Girl Reserves and Hi-Y have voted to lead the campaign against wearing corsages at our formal dances. Think this matter over carefully and decide to help these clubs with their worthwhile cause. Their goal is that no high school girl appear at the Prom with a corsage. They need the co-operation of the whole school.

PLAN TWO DANCES FOR YOUTH FEDERATION

There will be two Youth Federation dances this week-end at the city hall. A change has been made in the age group, and young people from 13 years old and up may come to the dance on Friday nights from 8:00 until 10:30 while the Saturday night dances are for young people under 14 years old and over 11 years of age and the hours are from 7:30 until 9:30. Friday, December 16, there will be a roller skating party in the Methodist church auditorium for all young people over 12 years old. The time is from 8:00 to 10:00 o'clock and a limited number may skate. However, if this party is successful, more will be held in the future.

PLYMOUTH TO PARTICIPATE IN T. V. A. TOURNAMENT AT WAYNE UNIVERSITY

The students of Plymouth who have worked on debate this year will attend Wayne University Saturday, December 10 to participate in a T. V. A. tournament. This tournament will mark the completion of the debates for this season. Each school will meet another on the opposite side of the question, and each will have five debates. This necessitates the taking of at least two teams for each school concerned. The schools participating are Plymouth, River Rouge, Ecorse, Ypsilanti, Wayne and Dearborn. Each debate will be judged and the standing accordingly. Those who will take part in the debates are Marvin Hauk, Doris Buzzard, James Leo Schmitz, James Zuckerman, Gloriette Galloway, Robert Daniel, Phyllis Hawkins, Virginia Rock and Helen Lisul.

GIRL RESERVE HI-Y SOCIAL MEETING NEXT MONDAY NIGHT

All Girl Reserves and Hi-Y members are asked to attend the social meeting next Monday, December 12 from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. at Miss Wells' home on Fairground avenue. It is to be an important meeting concerning some etiquette which is essential at the present time because of the Prom to be held that week. It will be counted as an unexcused absence for any Girl Reserve who does not hand in a written excuse to Miss Wells or Gloria Hartling before Monday night.

Death Ends Career Of Editor Who Preached Faith In The Future

Active In Life Until Long Past Age Of 82 Years

Last Friday afternoon hundreds of friends, newspaper editors and associates gathered in the Methodist church at Linden to pay their last tribute to Editor J. E. McMullen of The Linden Leader who died last Wednesday after an illness of several months.

Although he was 82 years old, it was not until stricken early in the fall that he was forced to give up his editorial duties and seek treatment in a hospital in Flint.

Why is Plymouth interested in the passing of a newspaper editor way over in Genesee county?

Because frequently over a long period of years there has been published in The Plymouth Mail hundreds and hundreds of his brief, but always inspiring and instructive editorial paragraphs. Following is one of the last editorials he wrote that was republished in The Mail:

"Despite all the mistakes, political and otherwise, of our would-be leader, let us remember our God-given United States is not only the greatest but best country the stars shine upon. Look where you will, and can you find a country where mankind is more favored, where we have greater personal privileges than right here. It is up to us to keep it all that free men may wish for."

Not often did he depart in his writing from this always optimistic spirit that featured the "snappy" editorial column that he carried on the first page of his hand-set newspaper.

Of a strongly religious nature, his prayers, long though they were, always brought inspiration and a new faith to the hundreds of Michigan editors who attended the annual conventions and banquets of their organization. To him always was delegated the honor and distinction of opening all of their gatherings with words of blessing.

Some two or three years ago when The Plymouth Mail was publishing a series of articles encouraging the raising of funds for a local charitable purpose, The Mail was surprised one day to receive a donation from the aged Linden editor.

A long, useful life has ended. Editor McMullen lived more than his "three score and ten," but every year, every day he lived beyond his allotted time, was a day of benefit to mankind.

It is with the deepest regret that The Plymouth Mail is forced to announce that it can never again print the snappy, sometimes critical, but always inspirational editorial paragraphs that came from The Linden Leader. The WRITER has been called to his Heavenly reward.

Wayne Has Board Of Commerce

The much needed Wayne board of commerce became a reality Tuesday night when a representative group of Wayne businessmen met at dinner in the Mayflower hotel in Plymouth and elected a seven-man board of directors.

Chosen to head the board as president was Mantous Uht. Mathew Tinkham was picked by the board as vice president. For secretary the board chose Clyde Maben and for treasurer, Harold Hilliard.

After dinner Harold Hilliard called the meeting to order and Mathew Tinkham was chosen as temporary chairman. A group of ten men were nominated in the meeting for the board of directors. Seven of this number were chosen by ballot to serve on the board. They are: George Gerbstadt, Harley Smith, Clyde Maben, Mantous Uht, Rollow Reiser, Mathew Tinkham, and Harold Hilliard.

The meeting was then temporarily adjourned and the board met to choose the above officers. After the officers were chosen the meeting was thrown open for discussion of general policies, among which were discussed roads and a location for offices for the newly formed group.

The formation of a board of commerce answers a need which Wayne has felt for such an organization for several years.

That there has been a lack of coordinated efforts to guide business affairs and promote the welfare of the community in commercial unity has been apparent to all. The new board is organized for the purpose of filling that need and serving the community in general. The need was pointed out recently by the negotiations which were carried on in order to bring to this city the Aerocar company and its factory. No organization was available which was qualified or able to assume the burden and work of negotiating with the factory's management. Had it not been for the unselfish efforts of a small group of Wayne business men the trailer company might not have chosen Wayne for its home.

Kaye Directs Youth Training

Cassidy Lake Is "Work" Center

Additional construction work which will expand the National Youth Administration working center at Chelsea, into one of 14 major regional camps in the nation was launched yesterday. The center is located on Cassidy Lake in the Jackson-Washtenaw county area.

The Chelsea work center will eventually accommodate 500 young men engaged in receiving practical experiences, particularly in aviation and automotive mechanics and in other metal trades, according to Orin W. Kaye, state director of the NYA. Already one of the finest projects of its kind in the country, the Chelsea camp has been operating steadily for over two years and now includes dormitories, a mess hall, a recreational center, an infirmary and workshops. At present 125 youths are enrolled and hundreds more will join as soon as the projected housing and shop facilities are added to the present group of buildings.

This means, Kaye pointed out yesterday, that hundreds of young men, 18-24 years of age, drawn from Michigan and surrounding states, who have special aptitude for trade training, will have a splendid chance for self-preparation. "They will have," he continued, "an exploratory opportunity to discover individual abilities and to fit themselves, under expert tutelage, for a permanent occupation."

While they are, in Kaye's phrase, "increasing their employability," the camp members do much practical and worthwhile work, benefiting such organizations as the schools in Jackson and Washtenaw counties, the state parks and the state highway commission. They remain at the Chelsea camp as long as their NYA supervisors, headed by Mr. Donald Miller, feel that they are making any progress, earning about $10 a month over their expenses.

NAME ON BALLOT WOULD'NT RUN

Blanchard—Here's a story of another gentleman who "did not choose to run." When Clyde V. As he was a candidate for register of deeds for Isabella county, it cost him a telegram to every county clerk in Michigan to correct his name on the ballot.

Reed City—Readers of the Oscoda County Herald found a unique news story in their paper recently. At the top of a front page column, in large type, were the words, "This Space Reserved." Below that were three and a half inches of blank white space.

WINTER STREETS ARE DANGEROUS

(By O. F. Beyer, of Beyer Drugs)

These are winter months when sidewalks, streets, steps and crossings are rife with danger. Ice, snow and sleet coat surfaces with a film treacherous to young and old.

There will be spills, bruises, cuts, shock, even broken limbs. You never know when an icy street may drop you with a more or less serious injury.

Be careful! Next to that, call your doctor if injury does occur. If he finds nothing much wrong as the result of the fall, well and good. If the matter does prove serious, he can help you to comfort and recovery.

The comfort and recovery depend, to a great extent, upon the supplies secured from the drug store catering to physician's needs, whether they are in the form of drugs, serums, gauze or bandages.

Coon Season To End December 15

The raccoon will again become a protected animal in all parts of Michigan, after December 15. Although the hunting and trapping seasons on this fur-bearing species open on different dates in different sections of the state, all seasons on it come to a close on December 15.

Another season which will close this month in the lower peninsula is that on rabbits, on December 31. In the upper peninsula the rabbit season extends through January 31.

Wise Planning For The Future Is Being Done By Windstorm Co.

Will Have Reserve Fund To Meet Exceptional Losses Without Borrowing Or Increasing Rate

One of the large business organizations of the state is the Michigan Mutual Windstorm Insurance Company of this city. It has over $420,000,000 of insurance in force. Under the mutual plan, all its insurance becomes assessable capital to meet the windstorm losses of its policyholders. It has never been necessary in the history of the company to impose a heavy assessment to pay such losses. The ordinary, yearly assessment is only 15 cents on each $100 of insurance. For several years that rate has not varied. Not only is the Windstorm Insurance company a very large institution, but it is well-organized and conservatively-managed.

It is natural to expect that history will repeat itself and that there will be now and then a year of exceptionally heavy losses. The Windstorm company of this city has had three such years in its more than 50 years history. Then, the company paid its losses by increasing its assessments. It had to borrow money at the banks, but that was difficult then as it would be now. The borrowed cash was repaid the following year.

Michigan Crops Beat Record Perfect Fall Weather Big Aid

The 1938 crop season ended more favorably than usual. The composite index of production of Michigan's 11 leading field crops as of November 1, 1938, is 87.4, practically the same as for the two previous months, and the highest for any November during the 10 years for which records are available. The November index of a year ago was 82.7 and the nine-year average (1929-37) is 74.0. Abnormally warm and dry weather throughout October was unusually favorable for harvesting fall crops with a minimum of weather losses. Fall plowing was hindered by the extremely dry condition of the soil over much of the main crop area. The condition of pastures was reported at 66 percent of normal, a decline of 17 points during the month of October. However, milk production continued at a high level. The production per cow in herds kept by crop reporters averaged 15.6 pounds, which is about 5 per cent above the 10-year average for November 1. Crop correspondents indicated that egg production on their farms on November 1 was about 10 percent above a year ago.

For the United States as a whole, crops are turning out about as had been expected for the last several months. The total acreage of crops harvested is about the same as the 10-year average. Yields per acre have been heavy, the general level being nearly 9 per cent above the 1922 to 1932, or "pre-drought" average.

The supply of feed grain per unit of livestock is about the same as at this season in 1937, 1932 and 1925 and larger than in other years since 1921. Hay production was unusually large and supplies appear to be rather evenly distributed. Supplies of nearly all food crops are large. The production of wheat, rye, rice and buckwheat combined was 25 per cent above the 1927-36 average and nearly 14 per cent above the 10-year average just prior to recent droughts. Equally heavy production of beans, peanuts and sugar beets is not indicated and sugar cane production was exceptionally heavy. Total fresh fruit supplies for consumption this winter will be above average but about 16 per cent below a year ago.

Michigan's production of corn for grain, silage, and stock is estimated at 57,240,000 bushels or about 3 per cent greater than in 1937 and 40 percent above the 10-year (1927-36) average of 40,852,000 bushels. The crop yielded better than average in all sections of the state, was well matured, and should rate good in feeding value. The average percentage of the total acreage husked and utilized for grain during the past ten years is 63 per cent, but the percentage for the current season is not yet available. The United States corn crop is now placed at 2,480,958,000 bushels or about 8 per cent smaller than the 1937 crop of 2,644,995,000 bushels and 8 per cent larger than the 10-year (1927-36) average of 2,306,157,000 bushels. The November 1 estimate shows a gain of about 1 per cent over the production indicated a month ago.

Michigan's buckwheat crop filled well and matured before frosts arrived. The indicated yield of 14.5 bushels per acre is the bushel above a year ago and three bushels above average. Total production is estimated at 203,000 bushels, nearly the same as a year ago, but nearly one-third below the 10-year average.

Ireland declares it will have no more "spoon-fed" industries. Sales of new passenger cars in the Philippines are almost up to last year.

Miss Edith Barker Weds Robert Bredin—To Reside In Plymouth

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac T. Leonard of 310 Liberty street, Belleville, Saturday evening, December 3, at 8 o'clock when Edith Elizabeth Barker, daughter of Mrs. Ina M. Barker, was united in holy wedlock with Robert F. Bredin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bredin of this city. Rev. Walter Nichol, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Plymouth, performed the ceremony.

The bride was beautiful in her white lace net gown with bolero jacket and tulle veil which partially covered her face. She carried a bouquet of tallsmen roses and ferns tied with a satin bow. Her matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Ruth Gladys Dickerson of Northville, who wore a rose pink satin gown and carried a bouquet similar to that of the bride. The groom was attended by Leland Rorabacher of this city as best man. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Merle Barker, who escorted her to an improvised altar of palms and ferns. Glenn Richard Barker, nephew of the bride, acted as ring bearer carrying the wedding ring on a cushion of white satin. Lohengrin's Wedding March

THE NEW REPUBLICANISM.

Early in October, Jay G. Hayden of The Detroit News staff and one of the country's outstanding political writers, spent considerable time in eastern states securing data for an article he wrote for The News which told of the changing political situation in that part of the country. The News in its headlines over the article said: "Old Guard of GOP Passes Out in East." Mr. Hayden in his article observed that "In all the states of this section, with the single exception of Pennsylvania, the old Republican leadership has faded out and in its place there is being offered not only new names and new faces but a new liberalism."

The election results bore out the prediction that Mr. Hayden made at the time, that this new, go-forward liberal Republican leadership would probably win in the battle of ballots on November 8.

Another outstanding political observer and writer, Guy H. Jenkins, about the same time wrote an article for the Booth newspapers of Michigan in which he commented about the Republican state convention held in Grand Rapids a few days previous.

"The (Michigan) Republican convention," wrote Mr. Jenkins, "was no different than any of the past. The convention was under the domination of the bosses. It always has been that way, and probably will continue so long as the convention system obtains."

Michigan, as its voters well know, nominates a part of its political candidates by direct primary and a part by the convention system. This condition was brought about at the time of the adoption of the primary law as a sort of compromise between the old "non-public" political leadership that believed in "fixing" things up at conventions and the demand upon the part of the public for a right to nominate the candidates for public offices.

"We'll give the voters half a loaf—and that will satisfy them," was, in substance, the decision of those who wrote the law which gave the electors a right to nominate candidates for congressional places, for governor, lieutenant governor and county offices.

"But we will retain the right to nominate candidates for all the other state offices for the purpose of keeping up 'party organization,'" said those who framed the law at the time this unusual piece of legislation was enacted.

The public decided to take what it could get—and for more than a quarter of a century Michigan has operated under this dual system of nominating candidates for its state offices, with the people nominating a part of the ticket and the "bosses" as Mr. Jenkins says, the other part.

One should not gain the idea from the statement made by Mr. Jenkins that there is not a very strong urge among Republicans of Michigan to shake off the Old Guard stigma that has bogged the party down in recent years, rid itself of "boss" rule and then move forward under a new liberal, progressive and CLEAN leadership of public selection. Mr. Jenkins was simply writing of facts as he found them. He did not write about the evident but suppressed pent-up desire of the hundreds and hundreds of delegates in the Republican state convention who feel that the time has arrived to re-dedicate the party to the purposes for which it was originally organized. Fortunate, indeed, is the fact that we are now headed forward, hopeful of accomplishing our high ideal.

What was the purpose for which the party was organized?

Probably the best answer is found in the following paragraph taken from the resolution that by its adoption gave the Republican party its name:

"In view of the necessity of battling for the first principles of republican government, and against the schemes of aristocracy, the most revolting and oppressive with which the earth was ever cursed, or man debased, we will CO-OPERATE and be known as Republicans until the contest be terminated."

What are the principles of a republican government? The answer is simple, indeed. It is a government of representatives selected by the public and responsible to the public. It will be seen, therefore, that it was the intent and purpose of the organizers of the Republican party to make it an all-inclusive party of everyone who believed in the representative or republican form of government.

The founders further declared that Republicanism was opposed to the "schemes of aristocracy."

Dictionaries describe an "aristocrat" as one who "believes in government by the higher classes and an advocate of rule by the PRIVILEGED."

From the very minute that the Republican organization was founded until this day there has been a constant conflict between those who have possessed the spirit of the organizers of the party and those branded by the founders as believers in government rule by the privileged.

Real Republicans have constantly fought to keep the control of the party and state in the hands of the public and to lead in progressive, honest government. That is why in the early days the party advocated the election of high public officials by the people instead of the appointment of these officials by the "higher ups."

That is why, more than a quarter of a century ago, the rank and file of the party forced the restoration of the right to the public to nominate most of the candidates for public office.

Now the public is simply asking for the right to do the entire job, and nominate ALL candidates by direct primary. It is a public responsibility, not the responsibility of a mere handful of those that Mr. Jenkins sees fit to call "party bosses."

There is no denial of the fact that within this party of THE PUBLIC there has been a constant conflict during its long years of existence between those of the "privileged or boss class," the "Old Guard" so called, and those who have the real vision of why the Republican party was organized and what the responsibilities of Republicanism are to the public.

Yes, the Republican party, has been and is again GOING TO BE A PARTY OF THE PUBLIC, and for the public good. The Old Guard has made its last stand and Michigan Republicanism is again moving forward, dedicated to the purposes for which it was organized—the preservation of the republican form of government!

Just Political BUNK.

There is one thing that Frank Murphy likes to do. He likes to talk. He probably has done more talking than any other half dozen governors Michigan ever had.

The other day he told the newspapers that he had asked his "non-partisan" appointees to prepare recommendations to the incoming administration, as he "was fearful" that they were going to be fired by the incoming governor.

Well, if Governor Fitzgerald didn't fire every one of the mess the people of Michigan would be very much inclined to do with him just as they did with Talkative Frankie Murphy.

The whole caboodle, with probably one or two exceptions, is a part and parcel of the mess that the people voted just as much against as Frank Murphy himself.

Who is Dr. Barrett? Just another "outsider" who was a friend of some friend of Frank Murphy from down East. He was out of a job and Murphy gave him one in Michigan. Probably there are several hundred doctors in Michigan just as competent or more so than Dr. Barrett for the job created for him. He has spent practically all of his time since coming to the state running around preaching about Frank Murphy's alleged "humanitarian ideals." Kick him out, Mr. Fitzgerald, and do it quickly. Michigan taxpayers need the $7,500 he is getting more than he does.

Then there is Frank Isbey—Yea, Frank Isbey! Murphy calls him a "non-partisan" appointee. That comes pretty near slandering the word "non-partisan."

This is the fellow that ran the state fair and turned it into a sort of street carnival and vaudeville show combined to advertise Frank Murphy. He set up such costly barriers that the thousands and thousands of 4-H club members couldn't afford to have the people of Michigan witness their outstanding accomplishments. The whole state fair was a Murphy political set-up.

Yes, and this is the same Isbey that tried to wreck all the county fairs in Michigan by a little legislative trick, so that he could have more cash for the state fair.

Kick him out too—and all the rest of the crowd, Mr. Fitzgerald. Michigan doesn't need one of them. They are not non-partisans. They played politics with state affairs and state business every minute of the day. Fire the whole mess, and do it January 21 that will be the best Christmas present you can give Michigan.

THE SPIRIT OF CHRISTMAS

Embodied in the Spirit of Christmas are all the composite radiance, beauty, idealism and character that mankind has ever known:

- The splendor of the star whose shining rays illuminate the higher road;
- The simplicity and faith of little children;
- The glowing warmth of true friendship;
- The joyousness of giving;
- The spiritual thrill of living for others;
- The secret peace through understanding and goodwill;
- The wonder working magic of kind words and acts;
- The contagious quality of happiness and good cheer;
- The challenge of the Cross;
- The transforming power of love;

Projecting the Spirit of Christmas through all time and space would rebuild the world in harmony with the plans of the Divine Architect.

THE WARNING OF AN EDITOR CALLED TO HIS FINAL HOME

"The average American can hardly realize how we are drifting to the yawning precipice of democratic destruction, where our boast of free speech, free press and like privileges will become things of the past. Then every newspaper will have to be censored and every speaker forbidden to speak his views on government problems, regardless of how rotten conditions may be. Hence, let no man of any political faith, have too much power and become another world dictator."—J. E. McMullen in The Linden Leader, one year ago.

TWO KINDS.

Jesse James and his gang are going to ride again in the movies. Tax-collectors will continue to impersonate them in real life.—George Neal in The Orion Review.

MAYBE.

It is possible we may have been fooled on amendment No. 3 at the recent election. No sooner was it announced that this amendment to prevent diversion of highway funds had passed than the Municipal League and big city interests began a campaign to give the cities and villages a greater share of the road money for their streets. City people want good roads in the country because they want to drive in the country, but they are selfish about the matter. Time was when some city people thought a farmer should bear a heavy share of the cost of concrete pavement if it passed his farm, little realizing that it would confiscate a man's farm and still leave a deficit. The city driver knows better now, but he still feels he isn't getting his share of the weight and gas tax. We hope the next legislature will approach any change in the distribution with the utmost care.—William Berkey in The Cassopolis Vigilant.

QUITE RIGHT.

Restoring Americanism. That's what Michigan voters did on election day.—Al Weber in The Cheboygan Observer.

MISERY, POVERTY AND INSECURITY HAVE BEEN OVERSOLD.

We hope that the time is here—or nearly here—when those whose words are made news every day will stop selling gloom. We believe America has been over-sold in this respect. Ever since the reaction to the "roaring 20's" which came in 1932-33-34, the nation has been fed a steady diet of defeatism. Unhappily for the country, it has become a major political issue. Many of the men who aspired to public office spent a great deal of their time emphasizing the plight of the poverty-stricken and failed utterly to recognize the still great majority who are making a living and helping to pay for the plight of those not so fortunate.

Look about you. Most of the people you know are getting along pretty well. They are clothed decently, if not elegantly. They eat three squares a day—it may not be caviar, more likely wholesome meat and potatoes. Most of the people you know can, by strict economy, save something. Also—and this is not a popular statement... most of them do not save because they value little luxuries more than they do security.

Let's take care of the needy as we can, and as we should. Let's not be cruel or stingy. But let's quit emphasizing it and get our minds on going ahead. We could get some very valuable help from high places in this respect... both in example and by the spoken word.—Schuyler Marshall in The Clinton County Republican-News.

About 70 business men of Northville and Plymouth enjoyed a fine banquet at the Grange hall Tuesday evening. The menu which consisted of duck and chicken and all the other fixings that go with them was prepared by G. A. Taylor, and it is needless to say the eats were thoroughly enjoyed by all. At the close of the feed the gentlemen were regaled with cigars, after which P. B. Whitbeck was introduced as the toastmaster of the evening. Mr.

Whitbeck introduced each speaker of the evening in his usual happy and witty manner. The following were among those who responded with short talks: Nelson Schrader, president of the village of Northville; Capt. Emory Noble, Dr. T. B. Henry, Cass R. Benton and W. A. Ely of Northville; President Louis Hillmer, H. C. Robinson and W. T. Conner of this village. Arthur O'Conner of Detroit and Stephen Jewell of this place sang several solos that were finely rendered. During the banquet the Quackenbush Brass orchestra furnished excellent music that was greatly appreciated. It was a most pleasant occasion for all who attended.

The village council met in regular session Monday night. Aside from the regular routine of business the ordinance committee was instructed to draft a new ordinance governing the fire department. Under the provisions of the new ordinance each hose company and the hook and ladder company will be limited to eight men and the chemical company to four. Firemen will be paid $1.00 for attending fires, 75 cents for false alarms and 50 cents for the regular fire meetings. The committee was also instructed to draft an ordinance prohibiting any person or persons from tapping any drain in the village without first getting a permit from the clerk and the connection then to be made under the supervision of the street committee. H. E. Newhouse was awarded the contract for the installing of two lavatories in the village hall.

The two telephone offices in Plymouth have now consolidated, the change being made last Sunday. It required about 40 experienced telephone men to make the cut over and the work was done with little or no inconvenience to the subscribers. A new switchboard with a capacity of five operators has been installed, and when the outside reconstruction work is completed, Plymouth will have as finely equipped and up-to-date telephone exchange as will be found in the state.

"In Louisiana," to be produced at the opera house Monday evening, December 8, by home talent under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias lodge promises to be an attraction of unusual merit. Rehearsals have been in progress for the last week and Plymouth theatre goers may look forward to something extra good. Howard Brown; "Nuthin," Jess Hake; Rastus Emanus Boone, Archie Collins; Tom Perkins, Stephen Jewell; Judge Anthony Wilkins, W. J. The leap year party given by the young ladies F. U. N. society, at the hotel hall, Thanksgiving evening, was a delightful affair and shows conclusively that the ladies know how to make a party a success. This makes the third given by them this year, every one of which has been a complete success. The ladies of the Presbyterian church served an elegant supper for them at the residence of Mrs. Fannie Coleman, at which about 105 people partook. The young ladies footed the bills like "little men." The attendance was about as large as could be comfortably accommodated.
