

Elmer L. Smith Again Heads Fair Association

Old Officers Elected—One New Board Member

At the annual meeting of the Northville-Wayne County Fair association held in the city hall at Northville last Friday evening, Elmer L. Smith of Northville was re-elected president for another year and Elton R. Eaton of Plymouth was continued as vice president of the association.

Dayton Bunn, who was elected secretary-manager last spring to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Floyd Northrop, was elected for the next full year term. Fred W. Lyke was continued as treasurer of the organization.

Nelson Schrader, of Northville, was elected to fill one vacancy on the board caused by the resignation of H. H. Hamilton of Novi. The election of the youthful Mr. Schrader is of more than passing interest. His father, the late Nelson C. Schrader, was one of the original directors of the association when it was first organized as the Northville Riding club. Then he became president of the organization and served in this capacity for nearly 15 years. It was during this time that the association fair became recognized as one of the outstanding events of its kind in the state. He remained president of the organization until the time of his death.

The following directors were re-elected for the ensuing year: Elmer L. Smith, Fred W. Lyke, C. A. Altman, A. C. Balden, Ralph Foreman, Glenn Richardson, H. Ray Richardson, Charles Schottz and M. R. Stealey.

The hold-over directors are Harry C. Robinson of Plymouth, Dayton Bunn of Northville, Carmi Benton, William Forney, A. E. Fuller, D. J. Stark, E. M. Starkweather and L. C. Stewart and Elton R. Eaton of Plymouth.

Dates for the 1939 fair were fixed for the third week in August, from the 15th to 19th.

Numerous changes are in prospect for the 1939 fair, with the horse show becoming a permanent four-day feature for the fair instead of three days as previous years.

It is proposed to enlarge some of the buildings, especially the main exhibition hall and possibly the horse barn.

A contract was let to M. Powell & Son of Plymouth for the grading and filling of the fair ground, which will considerably enlarge the exhibition space of the grounds. The additional space has been gained as the result of the purchase of about two acres of ground along the east side of Center street and just north of the western entrance to the grounds.

Officials of the association are hopeful that next year's fair will be the outstanding event in the history of the association.

Ex-Service Men Elect Brown

Plymouth's Ex-Service Men's club elected new officers for the year at a meeting Monday night, placing Harry Brown, former vice commander, in the commander's chair and leaving only two incumbents in office.

Brown will replace Commander Howard Eckles. Melvin Alguter was elected vice commander. Arno Thompson was returned to the secretaryship for his seventh consecutive term and Carl Blatch was re-elected treasurer. Harry I. Hunter was selected as officer of the day.

Other action taken by the membership, which also held its annual Christmas chicken dinner Monday night, will change the meeting place of the organization to the Masonic Temple. The Ex-Service men have met at the Jewell and Blatch hall for 12 years but decided recently to seek new quarters.

Sports Is Keynote Of Huston Display

Everything to delight the heart of the winter sportsman is on display in Huston Hardware window display, and that means indoor sportsmen as well as those who like snow down their necks. With a picturesque background of stark white tree limbs and a seasonal Christmas wreath of cellophane, sleds, toboggans, ice skates, badminton rackets, skis and a host of other winter indoor and outdoor sports equipment are on display.

In the other display window, a huge card carries the Christmas greetings of the firm to passersby. Arranged on tiers, the window are a large variety of electrical appliances of the kind that can make work a year-round sport for the lucky housewife who finds them on the Christmas tree.

The attractive window displays were arranged by Austin Whipple.

200 Little Dresses Put Campaign Over The Top

Every Needy Girl Will Get A Gift For Christmas

Dresses to delight the hearts of many little girls in the Plymouth area who otherwise might have gone without the Christmas present dearest to their hearts will be available in sufficient numbers to provide every underprivileged girl with a new dress for the holidays, it was announced this week.

The dress campaign of the Plymouth Christmas committee has gone over the top with 200 dresses assured for distribution.

In other activities of the Christmas committee, it was announced this week that filing cards for needy families which have been compiled under the direction of Mrs. George Strasen were to be completed this week, and the clothing and food committees are ready to go into action as soon as they receive the cards for filing.

In addition, the toy committee reports that a sufficient number of toys are now on hand to take care of all requirements and to provide a surplus which will be given to The Plymouth Mail for distribution to the children's unit of the Maybury Sanatorium.

Arrangements are being completed for the caroling program which will take place Christmas eve in Kellogg park.

As part of the dress campaign, the latest addition to the list of contributors is the Daisy family, composed of employees of the Daisy Manufacturing company, which has pledged 15 dresses by Miss Mary Murray. The Daisy Independent Employees association also arranged at its annual Christmas party this week to take collections of underwear and canned goods which will be turned over to the Christmas committee for distribution to the needy.

To Broadcast Christmas Carols

Schraders Announce Event

Plymouth residents will be pleased to learn that the Schrader Funeral Home will again broadcast Christmas carols.

At 8:15 on Christmas eve, Saturday, December 24, Christmas carols will be broadcast over the Schrader amplifier. A quartette composed of Mrs. J. T. Chapman, Edwin Campbell and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cline, accompanied on the organ by Mrs. M. J. O'Conner will sing for a period of about 30 minutes.

A program similar to this was presented last Christmas eve and those who heard remarked that the music and singing were very pleasant to hear. It is hoped that in keeping with the Christmas spirit the presentation of the carols may become an annual feature.

CITY EMPLOYEES TO HOLD CHRISTMAS PARTY TONIGHT

The city hall will be dressed in Christmas finery tonight (Friday) for the annual Christmas party of city employees. Christmas trees will be mounted downstairs and on the balcony outside. Dale Rovabacher is in charge of the arrangements of the party.

Did You Know That

You can dress up your windows with Mobas Shades, new repairs, also Drapery Rods, Venetian Blinds, and Linoleum. Call Plymouth 530 for estimates. National Window Shade company.

Methodist Church To Present Vesper Carols

Program To Start At 5:30 P. M. This Sunday

In keeping with traditions in many parts of the world, where the observance of Christmas takes place in the open air, the Sunday school of the Methodist church will present an Outdoor Christmas Vesper service in front of the church at 5:30 p.m. Sunday, December 18.

Following a 15-minute period of amplified Christmas music, the Vespers proper will start promptly at 5:30 with the playing of Christmas carols. There will follow the processional of carolers carrying lighted lanterns. Many beloved carols will be sung by individuals and groups. In the middle of the service there will be a musical dramatization of the Christmas Story. The children of the church will be fronting and costuming will bring the performance color and beauty.

The service will last about 45 minutes. If the weather is extremely bad the service will be held in the church. The street in front of the church will be roped off to provide space for the audience. The people of the community are cordially invited to attend this unusual service.

Two other things will be of general interest to the community. There will be a Christmas Eve midnight communion service and the outdoor Creche will be in front of the church beginning Tuesday, December 20.

Council To Study Federal Ruling On State Taxes

Fear Action Would Menace City Securities

Plymouth city commissioners at the next regular meeting will debate action on impending Federal taxation of municipal and state securities and levying of an income tax on salaries of municipal and state employees retroactive for 12 years.

"The Federal government believes that it has the power to place a tax on the states but not that the states can tax Federal bonds and incomes," City Manager Clarence Elliott said. "We are not fighting a tax on incomes of civil employes, but according to the Federal ruling the tax on incomes is retroactive 12 years, and the cities will not stand for that."

We also are opposed to taxes on municipal bonds and securities as such a levy would raise the interest rates to a prohibitive figure. A Federal tax on the income of our perpetual cemetery fund, for example, would be crippling, whereas the fund now is self-supporting.

A Conference or State Defense has been organized by the states to unite to fight the Federal action, Mr. Elliott said.

The conference is composed of the attorney generals of 40 states, including Attorney General Raymond W. Starr of Michigan, and is a voluntary, non-partisan organization, according to Mortimer E. Edelman, assistant secretary of New York City, who discussed the conference's objectives in a speech before the fortieth annual convention of the Michigan Municipal League in Detroit last month.

Mr. Edelman sees as the principal dangers of the Federal ruling a breaking of a tradition of 157 years standing in which municipal and state employees have been immune from Federal taxation, a prohibitive burden on public pension funds, municipal and state securities and the menace of overcentralization of authority in Washington.

He says that income taxes will be paid on salaries in the future "and that is that." But the conference will fight the back taxes, and any attempt to impose the burden of taxation on funds and securities started or issued with the understanding that they were tax-free.

Dr. Robison Builds Addition To Office

An addition has been constructed to the dental offices of Dr. J. M. Robison, which will provide considerably more space for his patients. Space in the addition will be used for two new operating rooms, rest rooms, a laboratory and a business office with front reception room.

Dr. Robison expects that the work will be completed by the first of the year. The remodeling will provide first class facilities for the dental office. There will be a new dental chair, and other new equipment will be installed in addition to that already in use, such as X-ray machine, present dental operating chair and other equipment.

"Uncle John" Lyon Believed Painter Of Harrison Banner

A painter himself, Louis Hollaway took a professional interest in the old campaign banner which was placed in the office window of The Plymouth Mail recently and which urged Plymouth Whigs to support Harrison's campaign 98 years ago.

After a close inspection of the remarkably well-preserved old banner, Mr. Hollaway declared that he believed that the sign was painted by "Old Uncle John" Lyon, one-time all-around Plymouth painter of Pennington avenue. He said that the lettering on the banner was very similar to the work done by Mr. Lyon. Mr. Lyon moved to South Lyon years ago.

Christmas Sales Reported Brisk In Plymouth

Bargains Conceded Better Than In Detroit Shops

Christmas shoppers packed Plymouth stores this week, keeping the cash registers tinkling a prosperity tune and proving the contention that the best bargains are to be found in the home shopping centers.

Merchants reported substantial buying throughout the last 10 days and heavier purchasing was anticipated in the next week as holiday shoppers enter the home stretch before loading up Christmas trees with presents.

Refrigerators indicated not only that the bulk of shopping was being done in Plymouth stores rather than in Detroit business places but that shoppers who sought the best buys for their money were finding that prices on comparable articles were lower in Plymouth than in Detroit.

The pump of Christmas shopping was primed two weeks ago when the two banks in town released $25,000 in Christmas club savings, a heavy percentage of which was or will be spent to buy Christmas presents for Plymouth families. It was anticipated that the remainder of the Christmas club funds in the past generally have been distributed either in new purchases or payments of one nature or another so that the general effect has been to stimulate buying in some degree.

The Christmas club fund of $25,000 was larger than the amount released to year-round savers last year, it was reported. Also helping to make the 1938 Christmas season a happy one.

Farmers Call Milk Meeting

National Speaker At Cherry Hill Wednesday, Dec. 21

Wednesday evening, December 21, at Cherry Hill there will be a meeting of the milk producers of Washington and western Wayne county to consider ways to remedy a situation whereby the farmers who produce the milk supply of the state can at least make a fair profit above the actual cost of producing the milk.

E. E. Kennedy, of Washington, executive secretary of the Farmers Union and regarded as one of the outstanding authorities in the country on farm problems, will be the chief speaker. Louis Ward, a Detroit resident greatly interested in the milk problem, will also be present to address the farmers.

Robert Waldecker of Cherry Hill states that any farmer who is interested in this problem is welcome to attend the meeting. State Representative E. R. Eaton of Plymouth had been invited, but he will be absent from the state at the time of the meeting, which will not be present. He has declared that he will be actively interested in any legislation which will bring to the dairy farmers of the state a fair return for their efforts.

Kennedy who has helped frame considerable national legislation is especially interested in the Michigan milk problem because of the seriousness of the situation in this state.

The meeting will begin at 8:00 o'clock. Farmers are requested to invite their neighbors who might not happen to read this notice in The Plymouth Mail.

D. A. R. To Meet Monday, December 19

The regular meeting of Sarah Ann Cochrane chapter, D. A. R., will be held on Monday, December 19 at 2:00 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Glenn Jewell, Northville road. There will be a Christmas story, a reading on Mrs. National Defense by Mrs. John Root. A good attendance is desired, in spite of the many activities which keep people occupied at this time of year.

Wooden Mains Of 75 Years Ago Are Unearthed

Carried Water For Pennington Farm Here

Water-soaked and slightly decayed, old sections of a wooden water main which is believed to have been used on the original Pennington farm at least 75 years ago were unearthed this week by workers laying sanitary sewer pipes at the intersection of Irving and Blanche streets.

About 12 feet of the old mains were found and were in a remarkably good condition considering their age. City Manager Clarence Elliott, who said that the sections would be on display at the city hall for anyone interested in seeing them, believed that the mains were made of pine.

The mains were of a very rough type, unlike those found in Detroit some time ago. The Detroit wooden mains were hewn on the outside so that they were rounded and smooth, but the old Pennington main, apparently never only rough cut on the outside, was knotty and only roughly trimmed of branches. The diameter of the hole which carried the water is about two inches.

Stanley Corbett said he believed that the logs had been bored with a hot iron. The sections of the main ran three feet or more in length. There used to be an old well at about the location where the logs were discovered, Mr. Elliott said.

Kansas Youth Is Arrested On Check Charge

Told To Leave City After Night In Jail

Ernest Miller, 19 years old, of Parsons, Kansas, who was a brief visitor in Plymouth over the week-end was requested by the police to leave town and not to return after a Parsons bank refused to honor a check which the youth offered as security for hotel charges here.

Miller tried to cash the check several places in Plymouth, but no one would take it. The hotel manager, suspicious of the guest, wired the Kansas bank to learn if the check was good. The bank wired in reply that the signature was faulty and that several similar checks had been returned.

The check, for $22.50, was signed by his foster father, Clyde E. Miller, the youth said. Miller, who was visiting friends in Plymouth, could find none to endorse the check for him. He was arrested on the hotel manager's information Monday by Police Capt. Charles Thumme and held in the city jail until Tuesday afternoon.

Home Town Newspaper Never Loses Its Appeal Even To The Aged

One never gets too old to be interested in the "home town newspaper" and news about the friends of the long ago.

This fact was strongly emphasized when the postoffice department delivered to The Plymouth Mail office this week a letter from Mrs. Katharine Harmon, now 89 years of age and a resident of Springfield, Illinois, in which she renewed her subscription to The Mail for another year.

"There are not many names in the paper I remember, but once in a while I find some that I know about someone in the long ago. So many of the people of my day have moved away or have died that the names in The Mail are not so familiar as they used to be. I shall not be wanting the paper any more years as I know it."

Older Plymouth residents remember Mrs. Harmon as one of the kindest and outstandingest women of the community of the years ago.

Commissioners Hear Auditor's Report

City commissioners in a special meeting Monday night considered a report on auditing of the city's finances. Routine changes were advised, but no action will be taken until a legal opinion on the matter can be obtained. The report showed that the city was in excellent financial condition, and that all accounts were in order.

The perpetual inventory, which was started in July, 1937, is expected to be changed in some details as it has not worked altogether satisfactorily because of the complications in the audit due to the WPA projects, it was said.

Christmas Cantata On Sunday Eve At Presbyterian Church

Under the direction of Miss Hanna Strasen, the young people of the First Presbyterian church are presenting a Christmas cantata Sunday, December 18, at 7:30 at the church. It is the story of Christmas told in words and the familiar carols of today. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Gowned carolers, carrying lighted candles and singing a Christmas hymn will enter the church from either side and proceed to their appointed places in the chancel. The beautiful service of song and reading will then be continued by the group.

At 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, December 22, the Presbyterian Young People's society, Miss Roberta Chappell's class and Dr. Merton Rice's class will unite in a Christmas party to be held at the church.

Goodfellows' Sale To Start 9 a. m. Saturday

Parade With Band Will Precede Charity Drive

Old newshaws, members of the newly organized Plymouth Goodfellows association, will hawk special editions of The Plymouth Mail and Detroit newspapers on the city streets Saturday. From retirement centers all they will revert to boyhood crying of the news to raise funds to provide the city's needy with food and clothing for Christmas.

The former newshawks will parade from Liberty and Mill streets to Kellogg park behind the high school band of 45 pieces. The sale of papers will continue from 9:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m.

The line of march will be from Liberty and Mill streets, where the goodfellows will meet at 8:45 a.m., to Starkweather to North Main and on to Kellogg park. The parade will circle the park and disband at Main and Pennington avenues on the Plymouth United bank corner.

During the day the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Plymouth Ex-Servicemen's club will serve hot coffee and doughnuts to the old newshaws in a large tent to be erected in Kellogg park through the special permission of the city commission.

Refreshments also will be sold by the auxiliary to the general public.

INASMUCH

As ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me.

The greatest of sermons by the greatest of the followers of the gentle Christ in the history of mankind have not been comparable, nor had the power to sway the multitude as have had these words of the Master spoken over 1900 years ago.

"Even the least of these" Not what we have done to gain power, to attain fame, to strut awhile on the world's stage, to listen to praise for taking temporary precedence over our fellow man, but what we have done for "Even the least of these" is what the Master counts as in His service.

Who are "the least of these" of whom the Master spoke? The humblest and most obscure of human beings, the abject and highly learned of deviance and the most strident of world diplomats, in their hearts, can find but one answer.

Thy neighbor in need And thy neighbor in need is here, there or wherever you may be. His need may not always be a material need, it may be a spiritual need, need that only a kind word or a neighborly act need be said or done to replace in his heart, forth in humanity.

These then are everyday obligations of all those who are truly in His Master's Service.

But how much more are we obligated toward even the least of the least of these at this time of the Nativity.

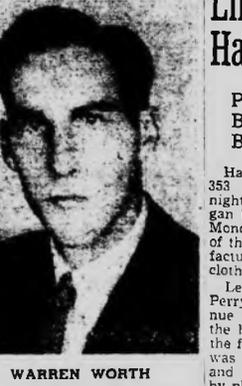

The children of our needy neighbors who in their innocence and as yet unswayed faith depend upon our symbol of childhood dreams, Old Santa, to visit them at Christmas tide, depend upon you in turn, though they know it not, to make their dreams come true.

No neighbor, they know it not, but—

Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me.

Don't forget to buy your copy of the Goodfellow edition of The Plymouth Mail tomorrow (Saturday).

Goodfellows To Sell Papers On Saturday

Livonia township residents organized a Goodfellow club and Old Newshaws association recently, in step with the action taken in Plymouth to form a similar group.

The Livonia Goodfellows will sell newspapers throughout the township Saturday, December 17, and all proceeds from the sale will be used to provide a happy Christmas for underprivileged children in the area.

Officers of the new organization announce that boxes will be placed in each store in the township and in the township hall for the purpose of holding contributions.

Residents who are not approached by Old Newshaws are requested to drop their contributions into any of these boxes, and the donations will be collected at night.

Pansy Time In City Gives Lie To Winter

November showers brought December flowers to Plymouth this week. William Holmes was mildly surprised when he strolled through his garden to discover that pansies which had gone to seed this fall as all good pansies should had grown up in the early winter. Gayly colored flowers were sprouting up in his garden at his home at 154 Union street.

He brought some of the pansies to The Plymouth Mail for profit, and the potted flowers were placed in the office windows to show passersby what Mother Nature can do in an off year.

STUDENT SALE OF SEALS NETS TOTAL OF $166

The annual one-day sale of tuberculosis seals by Plymouth school students netted over $166. It was announced this week. The figure was slightly under that for last year, when nearly $180 was realized.

Residents who wish to obtain more of the seals for decorating holiday season letters and Christmas packages or for the simple reason that they want to help out in the fight to end the white plague in Michigan may purchase the seals at the Mayflower hotel or by calling Mrs. Bruce Woodbury, chairman of the tuberculosis seal drive in the Plymouth area, at 504-W, 1402 Sherman street.

STUDENTS WILL START TEN-DAY VACATION, DEC. 23

Plymouth high school and grade students will begin their annual Christmas vacation after classes end Friday, December 23. The school board decided this week. The vacation will last 10 days. Classes will resume Tuesday, January 3.

Burns Take Life Of Harry Pelkey

Perry Krumm Also Burned In Boiler Flare Back

Harry Pelkey, 52 years old, of 353 1/2 Roe street, died Tuesday night in the University of Michigan hospital from burns received Monday when a flare back in one of the boilers at the Daisy Manufacturing company ignited his clothing.

Less seriously injured was Perry Krumm of 285 Maple avenue who had started the fire in the boiler and was burned about the face, arms and hands. Krumm was taken to Plymouth hospital and his condition was reported by physicians this morning as being very satisfactory.

The accident, which happened at 12:15 p.m. Monday, was the first of a serious nature at the Daisy plant in more than 50 years, officials said. Ordinarily accidents are unlikely because of the vigilance of a safety committee which inspects all conditions which might possibly lead to injury of workers and makes recommendations for changes where needed.

Mr. Pelkey, a lifelong resident of the community, had worked at the Daisy plant about 17 years. He is survived by his wife, Dora; two sons, Raymond and Harry Jr.; two daughters, Mrs. George Lloyd, of Detroit, and Marie, at home; two brothers, Clarence of Detroit and Fred, of New Albany, Indiana; and three sisters, Mrs. Arthur Burden, of 148 Hamilton street, Plymouth; Mrs. Louis Seiting, of Inkster; and Mrs. Grant Barrett, of Eight Mile road. Funeral services will be held this (Friday) afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at the Schrader Funeral home.

Debaters Win T.V.A.A. Trophy

For the fifth consecutive year, Plymouth high school debaters captured the forensic championship of the Twin Valley Athletic association in a tournament which culminated December 10 at Wayne University.

Final standings gave Plymouth eight victories and two defeats. The nearest competitor was River Rouge, with seven victories and three losses.

The team, coached by James Latture, entered the tournament eliminations, as will the River Rouge team. The Plymouth team won a trophy for the championship and will receive a wall plaque and individual medals from the Detroit Free Press for winning its way to the state tournament.

In addition, medals will be awarded to the debaters by the school.

In the last five years the Plymouth debaters have gone to the quarter-finals of the state tournament twice and two years ago went to the finals, in which they were defeated for the state championship by a Kalamazoo Central high school team.

In the tournament last Saturday, each school had five debates, judged by Wayne University professors of speech.

A Plymouth negative team composed of Helen Lisul, Robert Daniel and James Zuckerman was defeated by Dearborn team. Phyllis Hawkins, Martin Hauk and Doris Buzzard, affirmative, defeated a Wayne team. Leo Schmitz, Robert Daniel and James Zuckerman, negative, won against an Ypsilanti team; Virginia Rock, negative; and Doris Buzzard, affirmative, defeated River Rouge; Virginia Rock, Gloriette Galloway and Doris Buzzard, affirmative, lost to an Ecorse team.

The two losses broke a long winning streak for the Plymouth team.

The 22-piece junior band of the Salvation Army corps No. 1 at Michigan and Second avenues, Detroit, will present two concerts and a parade in Plymouth Sunday, Capt. Elwin Alder announced.

The band which is under the direction of Harold Bell, who is secretary of the senior organization will present concerts at 8:00 p.m. and 7 p.m. at the Salvation Army hall just before the last concert on the program the band will parade down Main street.

Miss Helen Farrand entertains the teachers of Starkweather school at a shower in her home on Ann Arbor Trail last Wednesday evening honoring Mrs. Harry Bell, formerly Jewell Sparring, who was married during the Thanksgiving vacation period. Mrs. Bell is principal of the Starkweather school.

Mr. and Mrs. John Paul Morrow (Marian Bennett) of Port Huron, announce the arrival of a son on Monday, December 12, in Harper hospital.

8A HISTORY CLASS VISITS GREENFIELD VILLAGE

The 8A history class, taught by Mr. Balden, visited Mr. Ford's Greenfield Village Tuesday, December 6. There is the museum, the school system with 250 students and the village.

All information given in this article was obtained from students' written accounts of the trip.

The museum was a copy of Independence Hall and Edison's footprint and Burbank's shovel were left in the cornerstone. The floor in the museum is made of inlaid oak wood from India. Among the interesting curiosities the students saw were old implements used on a farm, pewter ware and pressed glass, Longfellow's desk, a copy of McGuffey's and his partner's desk, a clock made in 1630, Lincoln's law office and the chair in which he was shot, the oldest windmill in America, erected in 1633 and moved from Cape Cod to Greenfield Village, a general store, started in 1854, which served the community faithfully until 1927 when it was moved to its present site and a power station which will, when it is completed, be run by compressed air. At this same place were the largest and smallest maza lamps ever made and sections of trans-atlantic cable. The museum also portrayed all the means of transportation that man has used. Among these were carts, one was a Sicilian hand-carved and painted for the purpose of hauling dirt and stones, a hand pumping fire engine and a later one with leather buckets and hoses, and early stage coaches; airplanes, among them the first auto-gyro plane, and the plane used by Byrd and Floyd Bennett at the North Pole; railroads—one of the outstanding things in this section was the copy of the DeWitt Clinton; automobiles, and in this section Ford had placed his first and twenty-millionth car; boats, among these were a birch bark canoe, and a Swanee river boat; and bicycles, one had ten seats and was capable of going 50 miles per hour. Here the students saw the Wrights' cycle shop where they built their first airplane in 1903.

Perhaps one of the most interesting things many students saw was Menlo Park, brought from New Jersey, in commemoration of Edison. One building is rectangular in shape, two and one-half stories high, and the ground floor is divided into two sections. The first is filled with machinery and the second contains a series of photographs illustrating the life of Edison. The students visited his chemistry laboratory where he invented the phonograph, the system of incandescent lighting, microphone, and where he did much to further movies at a later date. In the chemistry laboratory they met an elderly gentleman, Frances Lehl, who is the only living man who had worked with Edison. He gave the students an interesting talk on the life and accomplishments of Edison.

The students wish to thank Mr. Smith, Mr. Dykhouse and Mr. Balden for the valuable historical knowledge gained by the trip.

SCHOOL BEGINS JANUARY 3

If pupils of Plymouth high school are seen strolling around the city at the end of next week, don't jump at the conclusion that they are skipping school. School will resume Tuesday, January 3. Parents and pupil can plan trips accordingly. Vacation begins December 27 when school is out at the usual time.

STAFF MEMBERS ATTEND PRESS CONFERENCE

Four members of the Pilgrim Prints staff attended the annual press conference at Wayne University, Thursday, December 3.

An interesting program was arranged for the delegates by the members of the University paper, the "Detroit Collegian."

At the opening session a motion picture entitled, "From Trees to Tribune," was shown. It dealt with the make-up of a newspaper from the first minute details to the finished edition.

One thousand miles from Chicago on the St. Lawrence Gulf hige trees are carefully selected with a view to future reforestation. The trees are then cut into lengths and piled along the river banks. In the spring they are stamped and floated down the river where they are sorted and made ready to be changed into paper. The logs are put in a large tank and kept in steady motion, thus removing the bark by friction. They are then sorted and sent to a "chipper." The resulting chips of uniform size are treated with chemicals and pressed between heavy rollers until all the moisture is gone. The wood is then formed into huge rolls of paper which are stored in warehouses until they are needed.

In the home office of the paper news is gathered from everywhere by reporters. Linotype operators set up type and iron molds made from this type are set up for each page of the paper. These molds are put in place ready for the printing. One huge machine prints the papers, assembles and folds them, and then divides them into neat piles ready for distribution. The outgoing papers are wrapped and fastened into bundles. The other papers are sent to news boys and newsstands all over the city.

The motion picture was edited by the Chicago Tribune. During the afternoon clinics and round table discussions were held, followed by a matinee dance in McColister hall. A dinner was served to the delegates in the University building and a play entitled "Tonight at 9:30" was given as the final round of entertainment.

SNOOPER SCOOPS

Greetings and salutations, my fine feathered friends. Christmas came but once a year and so does Christmas vacation—damn it. Confessionally Douglas seems to have Prough-offered his services whole-heartedly to Charlotte. Beware of any seemingly lucrative offers circulating around school, for recently two brilliant senior girls concocted the idea of engraving Christmas cards with lead (pencil) and selling them for ten cents a dozen. A well known member of the faculty recently suggested that someone write a play for Don Mielbeck and title it "Mush."

We think congratulations are in order for Venita Hawk who sold 60 tickets for the Junior play.

We seem to have a wrong way Corrigan in our midst for rumor has it that Rockwell Smith shot at the wrong basket at the basketball game. Rockie wasn't the only one that got mixed up at the Redford Union game. Keith Lawson and Bob Kenyon seemed to have had a little difficulty too.

The Pats seem to have taken the junior boys by storm. Haven't they Jim and Roger? Elmer (radio camera) Kreeger seems to have found an excellent subject for his candid shots in the person of Helen Jones.

Mary Jane Olavser seems to have grown strongly fond of her "boots" recently. Incidentally, we are beginning to wonder when that certain talkative blond will learn to let well enough alone.

We offer a solution to the date problem to you in the form of a "date bureau" being organized in school. We wish someone would hurry up and make use of the bureau or else curiosity as the success of the venture will be getting the best of us.

ROCK RESERVES SKIN PANTHERS IN DEBUT

A smashing victory over Redford Union's Panthers presaged a successful season for the local high school reserves when that aggregation, led by diminutive Jack Wilkie, piled up a 39-8 margin at Redford on Wednesday, December 7. The superiority of the Rocks is aptly illustrated by the score at the half: 18-0. Jack Baker and Jim Birchall looked liked giants among their adversaries, and the score reflected it.

Ed Holdsworth received the honor of being the first Rock to score when he dumped in a dog shirt after two minutes of play. Jack Wilkie followed this by converting two intercepted passes into a brace of goals. Robinson sandwiched a short shot between these, and the Rock total grew steadily.

At the end of the first period the starting line-up of Holdsworth, Aluia, Wilkie, Robinson, and Hoffman was completely replaced by Johnson, Westfall, Baker, Birchall, and Dunham. This quintet raised the score to 18-0 by the end of the half. Redford Union played hard and furiously, but the Rocks played harder and more furiously than did Redford to build up their lop-sided margin.

Play during the last half, during which Fisher, Bloomhuff, Wilson, Butz, Blackford, and Erdelyi were introduced into the fray, was lax and slipshod. However, Plymouth's lead grew as Erdelyi, Fisher, and Aluia hooped spectacular shots. The game ended with Plymouth scoring easily and pulling further out of reach.

Jack Wilkie, as noted, was the star of the game. He sank seven field goals for fourteen points. Baker and Fisher came next with five apiece. Other scoring was as follows: Westfall, 4; Aluia, 3; and Holdsworth, Robinson, Johnson and Erdelyi, each two. Redford Union scoring was restricted to Kaplan, with four points; Denstadt, with three; and Schabak with one.

The subs showed great room for improvement. They were especially weak in foul shots, as they sank only a third of those they tried. The rough spots will be ironed out, however, as the season progresses.

One hundred thousand barrels of cement are being shipped from the United States to relieve the shortage in the Philippines.

Ashbury, England, is mourning the loss of its thousand-year-old Saxon market cross, which was smashed to pieces by a truck.

What's the Answer?

YAWNING is an action caused by the nerves which connect with our lungs. When the air in our lungs is empty of the proper amount of oxygen required to maintain a healthy blood supply, the lungs immediately communicate that fact to these little nerves which in turn take the message to the brain. The brain transmits the emergency call to certain muscles which go to work and force one to open his mouth and take in a large supply of air with its clean, pure oxygen.

Mr. Farmer! Right this way!

Why not give the farm and yourself a practical gift this year—

There are so many things you could use as a Christmas present—perhaps a first payment on an International Farm-all tractor — or some new implement could make this your finest holiday season. It's a thought—Come in and talk to us.

store and Mill street; Melvin Alguire, Starkweather street between Liberty street and Reed's restaurant; Howard Eckles, the Detroit House of Correction; Louis Westfall, the Wayne County Training School.

In addition, Police Capt. Charles Thumme will act as a roving salesman with no set station. In other words, if the regularly stationed old newsboys don't get you, Mr. Thumme will.

Be a goodfellow and buy a newspaper, the Old Newsboys ask. They are donating their services for the day to push the sale of newspapers at any price the buyer wants to pay, from a nickel to a dollar—or more. The proceeds will be used to finance the in providing Christmas baskets work of the Christmas committee for the needy in the city.

Christmas Sales Reported Brisk

Christmas season a more prosperous one for all residents in the city is the fact that employment is at a higher peak than for the same period last year, guaranteeing buying power among the workers of the city.
In addition, business prospects for the coming year are generally reported as looking up so that people are buying with more confidence and releasing money that has been held idle because of fear for what the future might bring.
A colder turn in the weather in the early part of the week also helped to stimulate buying of winter clothing, furs and other low-temperature necessities.
In this respect, it was generally reported that Christmas buying has been following a more practical path this year, with residents purchasing substantial presents for the home and individual members of the family.
Despite the nippy weather, shoppers crowded the streets week days and Saturday nights recently. Holiday atmosphere was provided by holly wreaths and Christmas greens which decorated the streets, in addition to unusually attractive window displays of merchants and festive window decorations of offices throughout the city.
Not unmindful of the fact that some are in want in the midst of plenty for others, the city prepared also to assure the unfortunate of a cheery Christmas by contributing to campaigns to provide dresses for underprivileged girls in the Plymouth area, food and clothing for families and toys for the youngsters.

Merchants advised shoppers that stocks of goods were plentiful this year but urged that Christmas shopping be done as early as possible to assure buyers of large selections and comfortable service before last-minute shoppers pack the stores.
Last-minute shopping, on the other hand, is expected to boost local sales considerably. Plymouth merchants assure buyers that every consideration will be given to shoppers who do make a last-minute dash to the stores to buy those presents they meant to get out of the way a long time ago and forgot until Christmas day suddenly loomed full ahead on the calendar.
Shop in Plymouth for satisfaction and savings, is the advice of merchants to the city's residents.

Women Discuss Many Problems

The Plymouth League of Women Voters held its December meeting at the home of its president, Mrs. Bruce Woodbury, on Sheridan avenue. A very timely report on government and international affairs was given by the chairman of that committee, Mrs. Maurice Woodworth.

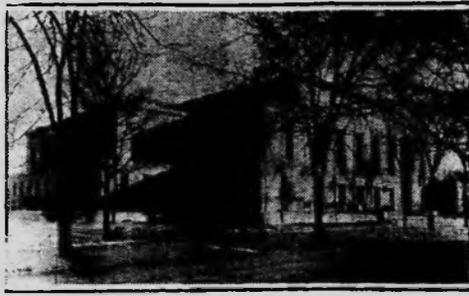

The program topic was "Know Your Town," based on a book published by the National League of Women Voters at Washington, D. C. The chairman of Municipal Affairs, Mrs. Ruth Huston Whipple, introduced eight members of the league who presented most interesting questions and answers about our community. The subject of "History and Population" was covered in four sections by Mrs. C. E. Elliott, Mrs. John Dalton, Mrs. James Sessions, and Mrs. Maurice Woodworth. Mrs. Maude Bennett, who is a member of the Plymouth City Planning commission, gave a short talk on the history and objective of that body. Mrs. Ada Murray gave a most enlightening talk on the Plymouth branch of the Wayne County Library tracing its geographical meanderings as well as its growth in volumes and circulation.

Twenty questions on the subject of education in Plymouth were presented by Mrs. S. E. Closson and Mrs. Edward Eckert. Although the eight talks represented only a tenth of the material in the National League booklet, the members of the league felt that they had learned much valuable information about Plymouth, its past and future. The next regular league meeting will be Friday, January 13.

THE HORACE H. RACKHAM SCHOOL OF GRADUATE STUDIES

This new building and an endowment of $4,000,000 for the support of the Graduate School of the University of Michigan came in 1935 as the result of a gift from the Horace H. Rackham and Mary A. Rackham Fund. The building, which was dedicated this summer, contains lecture halls, reading, study, discussion and conference rooms, and facilities for research and other graduate organizations. The income from the endowment, which is one of the largest ever made to any university for unspecified purposes, will be used to improve and expand research and educational facilities for the graduate functions of the University.

A structure that will serve useful educational purposes, the building is a memorial to the donor and will bear his name, The Horace H. Rackham School of Graduate Studies. In the words of Dr. Clarence S. Yoakum, Dean of the School, it will be a vital force in the research and graduate activities of the University, "planned and constructed so that it will suggest and utilize those activities and forces which increase the well-being and happiness of mankind."

Debating Success Wins Recognition

Miss Jewel Starkweather, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl H. Starkweather, 711 Starkweather avenue, has recently been initiated into Pi Kappa Delta, honorary forensic fraternity at Kalamazoo College. Entrance into the organization is determined by a student's participation in some speech contest of the Michigan Inter-collegiate Speech League. Miss Starkweather took part in extempore speaking last year, and has been on the women's debate squad for two years. She is a sophomore at the college.

Miss Starkweather is a graduate of the Plymouth high school. She won in every instance the winning debate team and participated in all of the various contests that brought to Plymouth the many debate victories that the school won during her high school days. Like other members of the debating team of that time who have entered various colleges and universities, she continues to lead in this school activity.

Woman's Club Will Meet Today Friday

The Woman's Club of Plymouth will meet this (Friday) afternoon at 2:15 in the Hotel Mayflower. Following the business meeting those present will have the pleasure of listening to Gertrude James, of Detroit, in a dramatic recital. Tea will be served with Mrs. R. L. Hills as chairman. She will be assisted by the following committee: Marian Beyer, Mrs. Elton Eaton, Mrs. C. H. Elliott, Mrs. R. J. Lorenz, Mrs. Perry W. Richwine, Mrs. Vaughan Smith and Mrs. Russell A. Roe. Mrs. Henry E. Baker is the program chairman. Members are requested to bring canned fruit, vegetables, jelly or jam at this meeting; also those who have not furnished a dress for the Civic committee are asked to bring a toy.

Garden Club Meets With Mrs. Beyer

A delightful meeting of the Plymouth branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden association was held Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. O. F. Beyer. Names "Tight-Wad" For Assistant

New Auditor General Means Business

The well known team of Brown and Hartman will step into double harness again on January 2 when Gus T. Hartman assumes the job of deputy auditor general of Michigan alongside Vernon J. Brown, auditor general-elect, who Wednesday announced the selection of his former house colleague as chief aid and assistant. The combination of Brown and Hartman is not unknown in state affairs. Both are veteran members of the house of representatives. Their names were associated much during the 1933 session of the legislature when they jointly introduced on the opening day of the session more than a hundred bills, all aimed at reducing state expense, and the cost of administering government, both state and local.

Mr. Hartman who hails from Houghton served as deputy auditor general under John J. O'Hara during 1935 and 1936. Previously he had served in the 1925, 1927, 1929, 1931 and 1933 legislatures. He is a Cleary college graduate and previous to his legislative experience, was engaged in the railroad business, resigning as assistant superintendent in 1913 to enter the real estate business. He has served as supervisor and mayor of his home city.

When Representative Brown began his crusade against waste and extravagance in state affairs back in 1932, Gus T. Hartman was chairman of the house committee on ways and means, he also having won a reputation as an advocate of economy in public matters. Brown's crusade culminated in the creation of a special commission of inquiry into state governmental expense. One senator and two house members were appointed by Governor Wilber M. Brucker; three senators and three house members were selected by the lieutenant governor and the speaker respectively. This commission of nine worked through the summer of 1932 but before its work had been completed the political landslide of that year had swept out of office all of the nine except Brown and Hartman. Then it was that more than 100 economy measures drafted as the result of the work of the commission were presented to the 1933 legislature, then overwhelmingly democratic. They bore the names of Hartman and Brown as joint introducers. How this team can work in harness is best demonstrated when it is recalled that more than 85 of the bills actually became law, enabling the legislature to clip nearly $10,000,000 from the general items of the state budget.

In commenting upon his choice of deputy, the incoming auditor general said, "I have promised drastic reductions in the cost of operating my own department and close auditing of every item which goes through that department for payment. In addition to this I expect to institute a greatly improved system of accounting and expect to give much attention to my duties as a member of the state administrative board and the board of sales tax administration. Obviously I must have a deputy on whom I can depend and one familiar with the details of the department. In my opinion no man in Michigan, available for appointment, fills these requirements so closely as Gus T. Hartman. We have worked together before. We know each other well and hold each other mutually in high regard. The people of Michigan may expect a smooth running department, tuned to efficient operation and prompt service to the public."

ARE YOU DIZZY?

(By O. F. Bayer, of Bayer Drugs)

Symptoms of vertigo often alarm those affected when as a matter of fact there is nothing more serious the matter than a lack of the sense of balance caused by overindulgence in alcohol, tobacco, or some disturbance of the organs which can be corrected.

Quiet, rest, denial of injurious indulgence may correct the unpleasant sensation. The most effective way, however, and the most economical in the long run is to go to your doctor and have a thorough check up.

Light-headedness has caused fatal accidents and it is important to remedy the condition as soon as it appears. The symptom may also indicate a threat of a deep-seated disease. Medical advice is important.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH. But when he saw the wind boisterous, he was afraid, and beginning to sink, he cried, saying, Lord, save me. Matt. 14:30. A simple record, but what a lesson for the storm-tossed believer in this age of boisterous winds, winds of temptation misunderstanding, broken bodies, blasted hopes, bleeding hearts, harsh criticism, etc. With your eyes on Him (not yourself, not the waves, not even the crew of the disciples back in the boat) but upon Him, you can become more than a conqueror. Subject for Sunday at 10:00 a.m., "Warning and Encouragement For An Independent Church." Bible school, 11:15 a.m.; B.Y.P.U., 6:30 p.m.; evangelistic message at 7:30 p.m. Bulls eye No. 18. ST. PETER'S EV. LUTHERAN church. Edgar Hoenecke, pastor. Sunday school 9:30 Morning service 10:30

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.—Rev. G. H. Enss, Th.D., pastor. Dr. Enss will preach the second sermon of a series which deals with fundamental issues in the light of present European developments. This Sunday morning at 10:00 o'clock Dr. Enss will discuss the Aryan question as it affects the Christian church. The cry of Aryanism was raised in Germany to awaken the national consciousness of the people who had lost all faith in themselves. The effect was magnanimous but the spark of enthusiasm leaped over into forbidden fields where it is causing distress and destruction. Christianity has become the target of the Aryan attack. What will be the result of all this? Come and hear Dr. Enss speak on the question, "Is the Gospel of Greek or Hebrew Origin?" In the evening service at 7:00 o'clock he will speak on equally important theme, "Communism and Christianity." This Friday night is "family night" in the First Baptist church with a potluck supper and an impromptu program. All our church families and their friends are invited. Our Sunday school is still growing. Come, young and old, let us build a firm foundation for future generations. It meets at 11:15 a.m.; B. Y. P. U. at 6:00 p.m.

Mine hand also hath laid the foundation of the earth, and my right hand hath spanned the heavens." Among the Bible citations in this passage (Rev. 4: 11): "Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honour and power: for thou hast created all things, and for thy pleasure they are and were created." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 285): "God creates and governs the universe, including man. Plymouth Cagers Trim Redford Union 33 - 23

Plymouth basketball quintet invaded the hardwood camp of Redford Union last Wednesday, December 7, and after tying basket for basket for three quarters emerged high men in a 33-23 score. In attaining this victory the "Rockers" successfully hurdled the initial step toward becoming state champions.

Using the rotation formation and excellent passing Plymouth many times whisked the ball up the floor to shooting range only to have the attack bog down when the short shot were based on when the Redford guards clamped down on the defensive. The game uncovered a very high scorer in the person of Bob Hitt who connected for six field goals and two free throws to amass a total of fourteen points.

The rival quintets battled vainly for the lead for three quarters, then came the whirlwind final period. Hitt, Ross, Prough, and Krumm connected in rapid succession for a total of thirteen points. The Plymouth passes clicked, their shots were good, they displayed midseason form. The Unionites' efforts to offset this onslaught netted only two baskets.

Knapp, Redford center, was the only enemy scorer to connect frequently. He accounted for seven of the Redford points, all made in the third quarter.

Marked by a notable absence of scoring in the first quarter, the fracas took on the note of a first class cyclone in the latter periods as each team launched a barrage of midcourt and angle shots. Redford Union's best stand was made in the third period in which she moved within one point of Plymouth's lead. Morgan, Panther, forward, and Knapp, center, collaborated for nine points several of which they started at their own basket. When the quarter ended, Plymouth led 20-19.

Excellent sportsmanship displayed by both teams and the Redford spectators made the game thoroughly enjoyable. Referee last Wednesday was Al Smith of Detroit.

THESE NEW RULES TO GOVERN BASKETBALL PLAYERS

Below are a few new rules which Plymouth basketball fans will see in force at the first home game, December 23, to be played with Dearborn.

A player may stand in the outer half of foul circle when on offense for an unlimited time when not in possession of ball. But when he is in possession of the ball, a three-second limit is in effect.

After four minutes of play at the beginning of the game or at the beginning of the half, if neither team has taken a time out, the referee will automatically call a two-minute rest period.

A team which has just previously scored a basket may not take time out.

All held balls must be jumped at least six feet from any sideline.

The ball has also been changed to a laceless, seamless, channel ball. This ball is more lively than those of the past.

Both feet of the player in possession of the ball must be over the ten-second line within ten seconds in order for his team to keep possession of the ball.

"OUR CHILDREN" NETS LARGE AMOUNT FOR JUNIOR CLASS

The junior play proved a huge success last Thursday and Friday, December 8 and 9, when $70.00 was netted from its production. Thursday night's amount of $85.00 taken from tickets topped that of Friday which was $40.00.

A contest for selling tickets was conducted, the prize being a free ticket for every 15 sold. Veneta Hauk sold 64 tickets and Ruth Ash was runner-up with 27. Jean Schoof and June Gardner also received free tickets.

The junior class wishes to thank Miss Ford for her expert guidance in the preparation and presentation of the play and Misses Hearn, Tyler and Mrs. Miller for their generous assistance. Thanks are also due to the cast for their marvelous cooperation and splendid performance, especially to Martin Honvath who donated much of his time and dramatic ability.

HIGH SCHOOL WRITERS NEAR ANGLO SPEAK AT UNIVERSITY PRESS CONFERENCE

High school scribes attending the recent Wayne University Press conference were accorded the opportunity of seeing and talking to a real metropolitan newspaper reporter in the person of Frank Angelo, who is high school sports editor of the Detroit News. Mr. Angelo, a former editor of the Wayne University student publication "The Collegian," spoke in general on athletics and how to report them properly for the student publication. He stressed knowing the game before writing it and then making the report brief and to the point. He accused high school sport writers of "mushing up" a story with too many colorful words, phrases and sports slang.

Mr. Angelo's talk covered three quarters of an hour. He spoke at random, touching on various points which he deemed worthy of comment; the barrage of questions following his talk kept him very busy for over 15 minutes.

Plymouth First; River Rouge Second In T. V. A. A. League Debates

THOSE BRAND NEW NICKELS—EDITORIAL

A half-dozen years ago, when the country was in the throes of a world-wide depression, the famous comedian Ed Wynn said: "What this country needs is a good five-cent nickel!" Apparently the treasury department has finally taken his word for it, because the populace is now getting its first glimpse of a newly-minted half-dime.

The design for it, ironically enough, was produced by a German, a man with whose fatherland America even now has definitely strained relations (which means that anything one says about the other will not hold water). Nevertheless, it is a superb piece of work. It brings Thomas Jefferson into the limelight, which the man deserves; his services to America are immeasurable. Furthermore, his stern-eyed visage has never peered from the more commonly seen articles of exchange. He has been content with the lesser riches of publicity.

The reverse side features Monticello, Jefferson's home and architectural masterpiece. This gets away from the renowned "heads or tails" idea of the Indian and buffalo era, but it cannot be helped. The public will have to either take it or leave it. Beyond the publicity for Jefferson are other reasons for a new nickel. It signifies that the government is keeping up with the times by the modernistic style of the piece; also money wears out (even though it is often pinched tightly); and there is a demand for new things in every field. The government must be commended on its latest production.

PLAN STORY HOUR FOR SATURDAY

The story hour Christmas party will be held in the city hall this Saturday from 2:00 until 4:00 o'clock. All children from five to 10 years old are welcome. The story hours will be continued all winter in the city hall on Saturday mornings at 9:00 o'clock and at 10:00 o'clock. Send the children to the party Saturday and every Saturday after that. They are sure to enjoy the stories and play.

SENIOR PROM TONIGHT

The Senior Prom will be held tonight, December 15, in the high school auditorium. The decorations for the dance appropriately revolve around the Christmas theme. La Vone Lorraine, presented by Del Delbridge and Ray Gorrell, will furnish the music with her all-male orchestra.

The T. V. A. A. debate tournament held last Saturday, December 10, at Wayne University resulted in Plymouth first in the final standings, having won eight and lost two and River Rouge second, winning seven and losing three. The tournament was divided into three rounds, each school having five debates. The judges were professors of speech at Wayne University. Those who participated were our negative vs. Dearborn; Helen Lisull, Robert Daniel, and James Zuckerman; affirmative vs. Wayne; Phyllis Hawkins, Marvin Hauk and Doris Buzzard; negative vs. Ypsilanti; Leo Schmitz, Robert Daniel and James Zuckerman; affirmative vs. River Rouge; Virginia Rock, Marvin Hauk and Doris Buzzard; and our affirmative vs. Ecorse; Virginia Rock, Gloriette Galloway and Doris Buzzard. Those debates in which Plymouth emerged victorious were Wayne, River Rouge and Ypsilanti. Although the two losses of Plymouth break the consecutive winning streak, Plymouth and River Rouge will enter the state elimination debates.

PLYMOUTH GIRLS RECEIVE RINGS AT CEREMONIAL

Three girls of the Senior Girl Reserve group of this school, Dorothy Rue, Gloria Hartling and Arlene Sot, went to the central Y. W. C. A. in Detroit Sunday afternoon, December 11 to attend a ceremonial at which they received their Girl Reserve rings. These are not earned, as are awards in a great many clubs, but rather the girls "learn to become wearers of this ring." They must attend one ring meeting for each three consecutive classesters. The rings are received at a very impressive ceremonial. The meeting of December 11 was planned with the Christmas theme. The girls and parents faced a blazing fire in the fireplace, two beautiful Christmas trees and many gleaming white candles. The hymns and anthem were well known Christmas carols. The story of the first Christmas was read from the Bible. Mrs. Henry Crane of Central Methodist church spoke on "Birthdays" and Miss Florence Vickery, Metropolitan Girl Reserve executive, presented the rings. Following the benediction, the girls joined in singing the "Efficient Girl Reserve song." Follow the Gleam" as a recessional. Eighty-eight girls received their rings at this time. Tea was served to the parents following the ceremonial.

Use of rubber in highway construction is to be urged in the Netherlands Indies.

MODEL MAKING A FASCINATING HOBBY

No, friends, this is not an article on beautiful women, but an altogether different subject. Probably all of you have either seen model airplanes and trains or participated in the pleasant pastime of constructing them. At the present time a model-maker can spend anywhere from ten cents to fifty dollars on a single kit with materials to build a miniature train or airplane.

When our parent thought of model-making they most likely pictured themselves working in clay or sculpturing. They didn't have models of airplanes and trains because such models were not introduced until later along with other kinds of industrial arts.

There has been perfected miniature gasoline motors that will develop one-fourth of a horsepower. These are used in airplanes with a wingspread from three to 12 feet, constructed of balsa, pine and spruce. The cheaper model trains are constructed of hardwoods but the higher priced kits contain steel and other metals used in the construction of more authentic models. Such kits usually contain electric motors or some other apparatus by which to run the model.

"MR. X" EXPLAINS AWAY HIS "SHINER"

Well, well, who should we see walking up the hall Tuesday afternoon but our one and only "Mr. X" with as pretty a shiner as ever stopped a door.

"How did you come to get that?" we inquired, very much concerned.

"Well, it's this way," replied Mr. X very nonchalantly. "I was walking down town at noon when who did I see but a very good friend of mine parked along the curb. I stopped to say 'hello' when a bang of a million stars flooded my brain. It seems that I hit my eye on the door while opening it."

"Isn't it funny the way doors always hit people in the eye?" was the question put before him.

"What! you don't believe me?" "Oh, it's not that I don't believe you but somehow your story doesn't seem to ring true."

"All right, all right," said Mr. X. "I'll give it to you straight. It was an accident. Yes, her honor was at stake and I was in a position to defend it. So the biggest of the six fellows (there were at least six of them) came toward me. I set my jaw and struck. Somehow one was at my feet and so were the next two who came at me. But alas, the fourth one, a big brute with a 1940 class ring, scored a hit for their side. Yes, I suppose I will have 1940 printed all over my eye for quite some time."

DONALD THRALL HONORED AT COLLEGE

Donald Thrall, class of '36, has been pledged to the "Blue Key," an honorary fraternity at Michigan State college. Twenty-nine members of this year's junior class were chosen as pledges.

The "Blue Key" was established 10 years ago at Michigan State college as a service organization. It has charge of all college elections, and it specializes in making the freshmen familiar with the campus during the first week of school. To be chosen to this fraternity a student must be outstanding in both extra-curricular activities and in scholarship.

Donald was also initiated into Beta Alpha Sigma, an honorary national fraternity last week. In addition to his fraternity work he is in the art department of the college's monthly magazine "The Spartan."

ROCK QUINTET MEETS NORTHVILLE TONIGHT

Plymouth's basketball team will meet its arch rival on Friday, December 16, at Northville. Coach Jacobi states that Plymouth will have an even chance of defeating Northville even though they will have an entire veteran team while Plymouth will have a green team with only three veterans. He says that they played as good ball as could be expected at Redford Union and no doubt will do better against Northville. The boys who will probably see service in the coming game will be Dranel, Hitt, McAllister, and R. Norman at forwards, R. Smith and Krumm at centers, and Ross, Prough, Hull, Scarpulla, Rutherford and Leach at guards.

ROLLER SKATING PARTY TO BE HELD TONIGHT

There will be a roller skating party this Friday night at the Methodist church and a dance Saturday at the city hall for young people from 11 to 16 years old. The roller skating party on Friday night will be from 7:30 until 9:30 and as only a limited number will be able to skate, all who wish to attend must be at the church very early. The dance Saturday night at the city hall will be from 7:30 until 9:45. The age for this group will be 11 to 14 years old. Four young people will have charge of the program and it promises to be very interesting. This will be the first Christmas dance for the young people; the second dance will be on Friday, December 23 and any young person from 13 years up will be able to attend. The hours for dancing the 23rd will be 8:00 to 11:00 o'clock. There will be no dance December 24, Christmas eve.

VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE GIVEN SENIORS

The seniors of high schools in Detroit or vicinity who are interested in taking up engineering were given vocational guidance by the Engineering Society of Detroit at the Durfee Intermediate school at 7:30 p.m. Friday, December 9. Before the speech of the evening the boys were entertained by the singing of the Central high school ensemble. The speech of the evening was given by O. W. Eshbach, personnel director American Telephone and Telegraph company of New York City, on "Why Boys Should Study Engineering." After the boys divided into groups according to what branch of engineering they were interested in. These groups were led by well-known engineers in Detroit who would answer any questions asked.

KENNETH BARTLETT, CLASS OF '23 WRITES FOR ASSOCIATION OF BROADCASTERS

In the "News Letter," a publication of the department of education of Ohio University there is the following notice of a manual written by Kenneth Bartlett of Syracuse University. Kenneth was graduated from the local high school with the class of '23 and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wymen Bartlett.

The National Association of Broadcasters has just issued a manual of helps to broadcasters, titled "How to Use Radio." The bulletin is prepared by Kenneth Bartlett of Syracuse University. Teachers can obtain copies through their local radio stations. The manual should be particularly helpful to those who are responsible for the production of broadcasts by school children.

INFORMATION ABOUT CLASSROOM WORK

Mr. Sutherland's general science classes have made their unit of communication more interesting and educational by conducting several experiments in this line and by making a field trip to the telephone company in Plymouth. Beginning at the switchboard they followed the maze of wires in the telephone company to the main cable. They saw the reserve storage batteries which can supply a seven and one-half hour current if the main generators should fail. The class also learned how the switchboard is operated.

Miss Allen's 12-B English class is now reading the comedies of Sheridan and Goldsmith, eighteenth century writers. The plays are comedies of England's upper circle and concern the dignified manners of the King's favorites.

Home Economics I clothing classes are completing the unit on the study and construction of a cotton dress. Each girl made a working plan before she began her dress. She scheduled a certain amount of work to be done by a certain time. The girls are now choosing patterns, finding materials and studying the construction processes for their next project. Later they will make Christmas gifts which involve certain problems.

Home Economics I Food classes are working on luncheons. The selection and buying of foods for a balanced luncheon is being emphasized.

First year home economics classes visited local groceries where the managers explained the proper ways of buying canned goods and bulk and package foods. The first hour class visited Wolfe's market and fourth hour visited Pottingill's grocery.

Home Economics II is working on home management. They begin with costly morning routines and continue throughout the day. Some of the points stressed are:

1. Menu planning
2. Table service
3. Meal preparation
4. Special dishes
5. Laundry
6. Time and task study
7. Buying and selecting
8. Cleaning and arrangement
9. Family relations

Home Economics III is doing needlework for Christmas articles.

STUDENTS WILL RECEIVE REPORT CARDS WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 21.

Report cards will be given out Wednesday, December 21 and all students are asked once more to take home and return cards immediately. It is extremely important to the teachers and yourself because if the cards are not returned it will mean a fine for you to obtain a new card and it will mean that a teacher must give up his time to go over the class records and once more record marks on your card. Please make a special effort to return your card promptly. Again parents are asked to visit school if there is any question as to the marking of cards or the manner in which pupils are taught.

MANY EVENTS HAVE BEEN SCHEDULED

The bake sale, given by the Cardinal and Jay clubs combined, Saturday was a great success. The Cardinal club is having a Christmas party Wednesday, December 21 at Audrey Neale's home. The Jay club will have its Christmas party Thursday, December 22 at the city hall. The new girls' club, the Junior Citizens of America, formed under the sponsorship of the Plymouth D.A.R. will have a Christmas party Thursday, December 15 at the city hall. All the girls will assist in decorating the city hall recreation room Thursday for the holiday dances and parties. The three girls' clubs have a combined membership of nearly 100 girls, and although quite new, they have accomplished a great deal thus far. The girls have made many slips, parties, dolls and stuffed animals, and have dressed and repaired many dolls and toys, all of which they will contribute to the clothing and toy community campaign.

Your Michigan—And Mine

HEROIC HOG

Mason—Any hog that struggles for 77 days to unbury himself from a straw stack must be truly heroic. And that's just what a hog owned by George Disenroth did. When it was standing beneath the blower of a separator on threshing day, the straw came down and buried the hog, who, when discovered to be missing, was given up for lost. Seventy-seven days later, Disenroth saw something struggling at the straw stack, and out came the hog, 150 pounds lighter, but still alive.

WINDSHIELD WRECKERS

Bay Port—Every hunting season, several birds fly through several windshields. That's what happened to Warren Miller of Gagetown when he was driving to work one day and a pheasant crashed through the windshield of his car. He had the glass replaced, and the following day was traveling over the same route, when, at almost the same place in the road, another pheasant repeated the performance.

CORRIGAN GEESSE

Crystal Falls—Has Corrigan's flight set a precedent for geese, too? Large flocks were observed here late in the fall, but they were heading north instead of south. A local experienced woodsman said, "They're headed north because there's a mild winter ahead."

WHITE PHEASANT

Ovid—Another oddity of the hunting season was the shooting of a white pheasant by Welfo Stinson of Carland in Shiawassee county. It had white wings, neck and head. It was apparently a cross between a white leghorn rooster and a hen pheasant, or vice versa.

WHO'S AFRAID OF WOLF?

Scottville—A horse owned by Julian Smedley proved that a minor thing like a wolf doesn't bother him a bit. Smedley was riding his western bronco when they suddenly encountered a timber wolf. Unafraid, the horse snorted and gave chase. The wolf turned at once and ran, disappearing in a nearby swamp.

HUNTERS FOOLED

Lawton—Forty-seven laughs was what hunting season brought a farmer living near Hastings, and that is the expense of hunters, too. He placed a stuffed pheasant, which he shot a year ago, in a prominent position near a building on his farm. During the next few days, 47 cars stopped, and hunters jumped out and blazed away at the bird.

STAIRS CUT EAR

Ovid—Broken bones usually result when a man falls down the cellar stairs, but such was not the case with Elmer Thorpe when he suffered just such an accident here recently. His right ear was almost torn off, being saved only by the quick action of a physician.

NOVEMBER STRAWBERRIES

Ontonagon—Still more indications of freakish weather and plant behavior! William Schober of this city picked several luscious ripe strawberries in November. One measured two inches by one and a quarter inches.

UNRULY TURNIPS

Evart—Bert Owen harvested some turnips this fall that refused to grow in the shape that all polite turnips should. One was a 10-pound cow horn turnip, and the other was a specimen of the same variety that had become separated near the top and then had grown back together again.

Books For Children At The Library

The following books for children can be secured at the Plymouth library: "Highway Past Her Door," by Mary Thompson. The story will attract and hold any girl who lives in the country.

"Ann of Bar To Ranch," by Elizabeth Stevens. A good story of early Wyoming life.

"Shuttered Windows," by Florence Means. Dealing with the special problems, both large and small, of young Negroes.

"Benjie's Hat," by Mable Leigh Hunt. Benjie's hat has pictures by George Faulk that are delightfully funny and lovable as the story itself.

"The Great Road," by Frederic Kummer. A very exciting book designed for the young but with an appeal to any who like to see history come alive. Stories of the Near East.

"Popo's Miracle," by C. M. Simon. A Mexican story of unusual charm with illustrations which add to the atmosphere of the story.

"The Boys' Book of Great Detective Stories," by Howard Haycraft. Excellent entertainment for leisure hours in these 13 stories.

"Miniature's Secret," by Hildegarde Hawthorne. The story of girls in Cambridge who lived when the Aesthetes, Emersons and Thoreaus were part of the social life of the community.

"Manga," by Richard Gill. The hero of this story lives among the jungle Indians in the headwaters of the Amazon.

Millions Of Bluegills Planted This Year By State. Nearly 20,000,000 bluegills were planted in Michigan waters this year, the largest number of any species to be stocked during any one season in the history of fish propagation in this state.

The record production was obtained in spite of the fact that this was a poor spawning and growing year, due to periods of unseasonably low temperatures. Improvement in rearing facilities and the construction of additional ponds during the last few years are credited by F. A. Westerman, chief of the fish division of the conservation department, with the increase in the hatchery bluegill crop.

The previous largest number of bluegills planted numbered about 15,000,000 which were stocked in 1937. Counting all species and ages, the 1938 plantings in the inland waters totaled approximately 150,000,000 fish. Incomplete tabulations made the first of this month, with reports from hatchery superintendents still coming in, showed plantings of about four million brook trout, approximately two million brown trout and about one million rainbows.

In the same figures, small and large mouth bass plantings exceeded a million, yellow perch figured well over three million and pike-perch upwards of 110,000,000. Lake trout plantings totaled nearly 300,000. Final reports from the field are expected to increase the totals for all species.

Although a number of adult and fingerling fish are planted during the summer months, the majority of bass, bluegills and yellow perch are put into the lakes in the fall. The majority of the brook, brown and rainbow trout is also planted in the fall while the pikeperch are stocked in the spring and the lake trout through the year.

When tabulations have been completed it is expected that the total for adult fish planted this year will be slightly larger than last year's figure of 129,000 for pike-perch, brook, brown and rainbow trout, black bass and bluegills.

State Park Needs In This Area Are Great

More Recreational Places Badly Needed

(By Henry S. Curtis)
There are 14 state parks in the Detroit area. Of these ten were given to the state by the Dodge corporation and four by Howard Bloomer, at that time president of the company. The total area of these 14 parks is 955 acres, but there are four of them having an area of 314 acres that have never been opened, and there is an area of some 230 acres planted to pine from which the public is excluded, leaving an effective area of 411 acres.

The standard area per population is 1.5 acres. The standard area per population in the Detroit area is .14 acres. Even your dog will have a happier Christmas if he knows his food will be from our store—

tion that has been adopted by the National Park association, the National Recreation association and a number of other groups is that there should be one acre of park for each hundred people, but the National Park Service maintains that there should be an acre to each 50 people in rural areas.

The counties of this area, Livingston, Wayne, Washtenaw, Macomb and Oakland have a combined area of 3250 square miles. Their population in 1920 was 1,373,880. In 1930 this had risen to 2,262,147, an increase of 65 percent. If the same rate of increase holds, the population in 1940 will be 3,734,542. The rate of increase is decreasing, and will continue to decrease, but it ought to be a safe estimate to put the population of the area in 1930 at 4,000,000. It would be unsafe to make plans for an earlier period than that. If the effective acreage remains as it is, this would provide one acre for 9732 people.

These parks average in effective acreage 41 acres to a park, too small for hiking or nature trails, bridge trails or many other distinctive features. They are more of the type of county parks than state parks. The Waterloo Reservation with 13,000 acres lies on the edge of the area, but otherwise there is nothing corresponding to the Blue Hills or Middlesex Falls about Boston, the Palisades at New York or the Rocky River at Cleveland.

These parks are being very meagerly maintained. To an original appropriation of about $17,000 for 1938 a supplementary appropriation of $5,000 was later added, making $22,000. This sum is entirely inadequate, and as a result there have been no new features, some of the parks are growing up to brush and the paths are poorly maintained.

The expense of the state parks of Michigan is only two cents per unit of attendance, which is the lowest rate in the United States, but the expenditure on the parks of this area is the lowest in Michigan. $22,000 for an attendance of 1,320,000—1.6 cents per attendance.

This area has far the greatest recreation problem in the state as we have here in Detroit one of the greatest concentrations of industry in the United States. Nearly all of these hundreds of thousands of work men are on a five day week and an eight hour day. They have three hours of daylight every day after their work is done in summer and two free days each week.

This area pays about half the taxes of the entire state. It has provided abundant facilities for upper peninsula and the rest of the state. It paid into Lansing in game licenses alone in 1937 $304,558. 13 times as much as it got back for its state parks. It would look as though it were about time that Santa Claus came our way.

The rural schools of this area have almost no playgrounds, and not even a ball and bat are provided. There is about one baseball diamond to four townships in our rural areas. The state parks ought to provide athletic grounds for softball, baseball and tennis. Outside Island Lake park there is no such provision.

In the ten parks that are only one with a beach, but swimming is the activity that always brings the large summer attendance.

There are more than a hundred golf courses in the area, most of which have attractive club buildings. These buildings provide for civic meetings, for dances, for cards, meals, and often shuffle board and ping pong. They enable the area to be used at night as well as by day. Most of these activities can be made self supporting. If the one percent that is represented by these clubs can furnish so much, surely something can be done for the 100 percent that the parks provide for. I would go farther and provide a few rooms as they do in the National parks and the state parks of Indiana so that anyone who wished to come out to the parks for a few days stay might have an opportunity to do so.

In some of the resorts of the White Mountains and the Adirondacks the winter attendance at week-ends now exceeds the summer attendance. There is at present no public provision for winter sports in the parks. But a winter sports club is starting tobogganing and skiing on a hill adjoining Bloomer Park No. Two, and it may provide skating this winter.

In contrast to the 411 acres in this area, the Metropolitan system of Cleveland has 12,000 acres lying about the city. As contrasted with an attendance here of 1,320,000, their attendance last year was a little over four millions. Although the population of their area is little more than half of our population, we should have 40,000 acres of parks in this area, about 100 times as much as the state parks provide. It would seem logical that the Conservation department should be spending at least ten times as much here as it is at present.

NO CHANCE FOR ARGUMENT

AN 8-YEAR OLD LAD SAID that he could prove that the earth was round, and was asked how he could prove it. He replied: "Because my father said it wasn't on the square, and my uncle says it isn't on the level." Our argument is that any Lumber Yard will sink or swim by the quality of merchandise it handles and the service it gives. We don't believe you have heard of us drowning.

THINK ABOUT SAFETY BEFORE - NOT AFTER YOU BUY A LOW PRICED CAR

WE BLEW A FRONT TIRE AND TUBE AT 60!

But, in a public test, the new Hudson 112 stayed straight on its course—safely (without using special tires, tubes or equipment)!

Why? Thanks to AUTO-POISE CONTROL—a revolutionary mechanical safety invention that keeps wheels on their true course automatically on rough roads, in heavy side winds, even when a tire blows. NO OTHER CAR HAS ANYTHING LIKE IT. Auto-Poise is standard, at no extra cost, on the new Hudson 112—one of America's lowest priced cars.

WE DISCONNECTED HYDRAULICS AT 40!

In the same public test, hydraulic brakes were suddenly disconnected, but the driver just pedaled the same foot pedal and the new Hudson 112 STOPPED—safely!

Why? Thanks to Hudson's exclusive DOUBLE-SAFE BRAKES—two braking systems (Inner-SAFE Hydraulic and a mechanical reserve Bendix Hydraulic) and a mechanical reserve Bendix working automatically from the same foot pedal. Many letters in our files tell of lives saved by Double-Safe Brakes—in all 1939 Hudsons.

CHRISTMAS

The best Christmas editorial ever written is in the Bible. It tells, in beautiful simplicity, a changeless story. There is the star moving across the heavens and fixing itself finally as a diadem above a Bethlehem stable. There are the wise men of the East, first of hundreds of millions to bend before the power and beauty of the Christian ideal. There are the shepherds in the fields, for whom the veil of eternity lifts so that the mortal sees the immortal choirs pouring "good tidings" upon him. There is, in fact, for the Christian, the most beautiful, the most significant and the most necessary story of all history.

In its crowning moment the narrative pronounces this superb, matchless benediction:

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace . . ."

The sentence epitomizes the Christian faith and sums up Christ-like living. Glory to God is exemplified in an upright life, peace on earth is the expression of a sublime and sensitive humanity. The world struggles bravely toward the goal, and each passing age sees the spreading consciousness of generous conduct. "Man's inhumanity to man" yields to the mellowing grace of civilized society.

Civilized society is most intense in the family group, focused today around a common remembrance, however far scattered its members may be. It is of the genius of the Christmas season that men far away from the hearthstone can sniff the odors of the past, and snatch from the vanished years a wisp of experience, a flavor of recollection, that holds the heart steady and the mind clear to those affections which irrevocably bind us together.

The home at Christmas is the symbol of that peace and open-hearted living for which the world so wistfully seeks. The gifts, the gay cries of happiness, the sweet union of kindness together form the cradle of mankind's better destiny.

It is a wonderful story, whose words sing down the corridors of time reclaiming and inspiring countless generations. No other narrative has unlocked so swiftly the door to the human heart; none other is able to lift our imaginations so tenderly into universal communion.

COMMON SENSE

The other day Edsel Ford testified before a senate committee in Washington. During the few hours he was on the witness stand, he presented more common-sense ideas than have emanated in Washington in many a year. Some few years ago The Mail suggested that if the Washington politicians would turn the task of restoring prosperity over to Henry Ford, he could probably accomplish the job in some five or six months. If the Senior Mr. Ford is too busy accomplishing worthwhile things for the world, the younger Mr. Ford has indicated that he can probably do the job that The Mail picked out for his father to do. It is a strange thing that those directing the affairs of state do not select men

Success

A man there was, and he made his prayer
To his miserly pile of gold!
And he lost his smile—but he didn't care,
And his heart grew stern and cold.
He worked, and he fought, from sun to sun,
With nothing in mind but this:
He had no time for laughter and fun—
Not even a baby's kiss.

He chuckled with glee, at his bank account—
And he said to himself: "I'm smart!"
As day by day it continued to mount,
While greediness grew in his heart.
The years moved on, and after a while
He finally came to the end.
And he left behind him a wealthy pile
Of gold—but never a friend!

"GRAND-STANDING"

Frank Murphy is busying himself these days about appropriations that the forthcoming legislature will be called upon to make for various educational institutions, appropriations that he will have nothing to do with. If Murphy had displayed the same interest in these appropriations at the time they were up for consideration under his administration and had at least consulted with some of the members of the legislature who knew something about these matters, possibly his administration would not be winding its affairs up in the worst mess that any administration of the state ever had. While the legislature was battling with these problems at the last regular session, Murphy was basking in the sunshine down in Florida. His present "interest" in these matters to those who know what took place two years ago is nothing more than a "big laugh," to use a pet phrase of one of the "professors" of the University of Michigan who spoke recently before one of the luncheon clubs of this city. Governor Fitzgerald should, politely but firmly, tell Murphy to continue his play-boy activities and get off his present job as quickly as possible for the good of the state.

WHY NOT?

The other day a Detroit newspaper published a Washington dispatch hinting that the name of Governor-elect Frank D. Fitzgerald might play an important part in the forthcoming national convention. It did not say whether he might be put forth as a candidate for president or vice president.

If the newly elected Governor can straighten out the mess created by Frank Murphy and if he can carry out the wishes of the people of Michigan and restore industrial peace in this state and if he can end the hatreds and bitterness brought about by the most asinine administration this or any other state ever had, if he can be a REAL Governor OF and FOR ALL THE PEOPLE, WHY should not Frank Fitzgerald be considered for one of these places on the Republican national ticket?

By accomplishing these objectives, he will have done more to help place the nation back on the road to permanent peace and prosperity than all the chattering Frank Murphys that have lived since the dawn of civilization. And if he can accomplish them, why shouldn't he be considered for higher and outstanding honors?

The Democrats talk much about Frank Murphy for president—probably the poorest stick of an administrator that ever filled the executive office in Lansing. The mere mention of his name in connection with the place belittles it.

If Governor Fitzgerald can accomplish what most people in Michigan believe he can do, then he certainly is entitled to consideration for one of the places on the national ticket two years from now. Time will tell—and let us hope that the forthcoming state administration will be so outstanding that the national Republican convention will be FORCED to give consideration to a successful Michigan Governor.

IT IS THE TRUTH—BUT.

Most of our exchanges, particularly those inclined to republican leanings, have expressed an opinion since election, that it was not so much the quality of the republican candidates that swung the election republicanward as it was disgust over the Murphy and New Deal regime that has given our state such a bad case of the jitters. There may be a lot of truth in that statement, but there is nothing in it that lends support or encouragement to those leaders that stepped out in front as willing sacrifices, if need be in a situation that was not made less dangerous by such half hearted expressions we complain of. Newspaper men destroy their influence by assuming a know-it-all, holier-than-thou attitude, a position several of them had taken during the past campaign, and in the end there was but two sides to the political question. Throwing rocks in the path of those you elect to get you out of the hole is not a commendable kind of journalism.—Al Weber in The Cheboygan Observer.

FORD SEES NEED

The only way in which the country can tear down the big cities, as we have known them, and draw the people back to more scattered territory is by making the country more attractive than the city to live in. Our neighbor Henry Ford has realized this for a long while. Mr. Ford is not noted for long discussions of economic topics, but he has an uncanny ability occasionally to hit on a great truth.

You remember how he startled the world with his five-dollar-a-day pay scale. This was revolutionary at the time, but is well accepted now.

The same thing will be true, in time, of Mr. Ford's insistence on the decentralization of industry. One reason the good sense of this has not yet been fully apparent is that while the Ford Company is breaking up part of its business into small units, it is directing other parts into bigger and bigger concentrations. But Mr. Ford realizes that the mixing of men and machinery in a few centers presents such gigantic problems that the benefits of mass production are almost destroyed.

Perhaps they are entirely lost, if men and women involved are falling into a way of life that makes impossible the America we wish to continue.

There are many obvious advantages of breaking up industry into smaller units and settling more people in smaller communities. Among the most obvious are better home conditions and the opportunities for gardens that produce both food and exercise.

In comparing the American family of today with that of colonial times, Chas. A. Board, the historian, says that colonial families were more sure of eating, having sufficient clothing and a home. That same fact has drawn many back to the country in the last nine years.

Many today are wondering whether we haven't gone too far in trying to do everything in big gobs. What we have gained in manufacturing efficiency we have often lost in individual character.

We have all tended to become specialists, believing in that way each could produce more. That meant more comforts and luxuries for each of us. That's a great theory and up to a certain point it worked. But aren't we now finding one difficulty that threatens to wreck the whole thing?—Floyd Miller in The Royal Oak Tribune.

TALKING ABOUT TALKATIVE MURPHY?

It's rather amusing to read of the reasons why candidates were defeated in the recent election. In no case was the candidate responsible, according to their story. It was something they had no control over. Evidently these men haven't stopped to think that after all they are servants of the people, there only on the people's sufferance, not masters of them as many politicians believe. People generally are long suffering. When it gets too bad they make a change. If these politicians would read backward they might be surprised with what they found out if they desired to be honest.—Paul McDonald in The (Gaylord) Otsego County Herald-Times.

REGIMENTING THE ADVERTISER

Two of the government's Brain-Busters have come up with a new scheme which has unusual and far reaching implications. It would regiment the amount of advertising a manufacturer could use, and dictate the type of the advertisement.

In effect, the trust busters want to revise things so that one manufacturer could not spend more for advertising than a competitor, and forbid the advertiser to make any claims about the supremacy of his product. To use the words of one of the proponents of the scheme, this is a step "toward restricting advertising to its proper field—which is the promotion of sales." He goes on to say that expenditure of large sums for advertising to build up trade names is "wasteful" and calculated to hurt the business of the competitor.

All of this seems rather amazing. Has it become reprehensible to establish a good reputation and boast about it through advertising?

Incidentally, the Brain Busters have denied any intention of shackling the free press. What do they think would be the effect of this plan to force reduction of advertising budgets? Wouldn't it greatly reduce the revenue of the free press of this country?

The American press can remain free only so long as it continues self-supporting, free of subsidies from special interests or from the government. Regimentation of the advertisers, therefore, would be a menace to the self-sufficiency and to the independence of the American press.—George O. St. Charles in The Dearborn Independent.
