

State Takes Steps To Solve Welfare Problem; Its Treasury Is Empty And Creditors Angry

Financial Plight Of Michigan So Serious It Is Becoming Alarming To Officials

(By ELTON R. EATON)

Michigan's most important and serious problem today is its welfare situation—the care of those who cannot find sufficient employment or are physically unable to provide the food and clothing they need. State officials and legislative members last week took steps to bring into existence a state welfare department that has for its purpose the proper care of those in actual distress and the complete elimination of all politics from its administration.

Knowing full well that the winter would bring about one of the largest welfare loads in years, those administering welfare last summer and fall loaded the payrolls of the department down with a lot of useless and needless clerks. Of course this was done for political reasons, but the result of it has been that there is now very little money left for welfare purposes.

It is the intent of those who are drafting the welfare bill to see to it that there can be and will be not the slightest opportunity to mix welfare and politics in the future. If this can be accomplished and if Washington officialdom will remove its stranglehold from the necks of business men and the farmers, there is not the slightest question but what the welfare problem can be quickly and permanently solved.

There was a lot of talk during the last campaign about the financial condition of the state government. Charges were frequent and denials were emphatic. The argument ended on election day with the people convinced that there was something wrong somewhere with state finances—convinced that probably there had been too much spent for needless jobs and useless services.

Now that the books are being opened and a little daylight permitted to enter into the inner financial chambers, the new state officials are finding that there was not only plenty of reason for the charges that were made last fall, but that the great state of Michigan is in the worst financial plight since statehood.

The departments and institutions are living from hand to mouth. It is, indeed, fortunate that the new director of the state sales tax department, Orville Atwood, has been able to secure a godly amount of sales tax money or there wouldn't be enough money to feed the prisoners and insane and pay off the state help.

When Frank Murphy packed his traveling bag and started for Washington he left behind him probably the worst financial mess any state ever faced. Not only did he state that he would not be able to get his budget department hasn't yet been able to figure out how deeply in debt the state has been plunged.

Maybe the state owes something like $15,000,000. It is more likely that the amount will far exceed that figure.

The budget director doesn't know. He has a whole staff of job holders with such titles as "budget examiners" and "assistants to the budget examiners" and a lot of other similar foolish sounding titles. These job holders are taking out of your pockets salaries from $4,000 a year and upwards to over $7,000 for the budget director.

What do the taxpayers get in return for all the money they pay these fellows?

Possibly it would be better to tell it in Governor Fitzgerald's own words—"My little boy, who is still in the grades in school, could probably prepare a mess of figures which would mean as much as this budget that they have given me."

In spite of the fact that Michigan has been plunged so deeply (Continued on Page 7)

Engineer Tells Of Zoning Project's Board Of Appeals

Council Set Up For Fitting Plans To City's Needs

T. Glenn Phillips, city planner, who explained some aspects of the new zoning project in last week's Plymouth Mail, discusses the Board of Appeals this week. He stated that, "The Board of Appeals is an essential part of zoning machinery, a part that allows adjustment of a rigid legal form to the varying conditions found in a living city."

Elaborating on the subject, he said:

"It affords the only opportunity for judging the unusual situation on its merits and tempering the application of the ordinance where its strict interpretation would mean unintended hardship. The requirements of the ordinance are precise and definite; they are based on prevailing conditions with exceptions for less prevalent situations. But no ordinance can adequately prescribe for every case that exists or is likely to exist in a city. The enforcing officials technically cannot discriminate between cases, and although the council has the power to amend the ordinance, this power is intended for only infrequent use. It remains for the Board of Appeals to interpret and apply the provisions of the ordinance where conditions are abnormal."

"The board has two grants of power, a general one in the State Zoning Enabling Act (Act 207 of 1921) and specific grants contained in this section of the zoning ordinance under authority of the Enabling Act. In either case, questions come to it on appeal from the decision of the building inspector, who has authority only to enforce the ordinance according to its strict letter. If the case at point is one of those specifically mentioned in this section, the Board's authority is limited by the provisions of the particular paragraphs covering it. If it is not mentioned here, the Board's authority is less clear-cut, but is limited, nevertheless, by bounds of reasonableness. The board has no power to change the ordinance or maps; that can be done only by amendment."

"The board can only modify application of the ordinance in cases where it is evident that strict application of the ordinance would result in a hardship not suffered generally or intended to be suffered. For example, the fact that the size of apartments is limited by the area of ground they occupy can (Continued on Page 7)

M. E. Ladies Aid Gives Party Tonight

Friends of the M. E. church of Plymouth are urged to join with members in meeting in the church dining rooms this (Friday) evening at 8:00 o'clock for an informal get-together party.

The Ladies' Aid society is sponsoring the party so that everyone may become better acquainted. This includes the people who are new in the church and many who have been here longer. Music, games and refreshments will be furnished to complete the enjoyment of the evening.

City Arranges New Trust Fund

A new agreement between the city of Plymouth and the Detroit Trust company was accepted at the commission meeting on Monday evening in regard to receipts of dividends to be returned to the city fund for perpetual care of the cemetery.

About five months ago the Detroit Trust notified the city that under the terms of a contract negotiated in 1920, an individual accounting of the dividends made on investments was required from the Trust company. A separate accounting of expenditures made on the cemetery by the Plymouth cemetery board was also required by the old contract. In other words, the Trust was to take funds, invest them and send earnings from the investment of each individual to the city to be spent in the care of the particular lot owned by that individual.

This arrangement was unsatisfactory and was becoming impossible to fulfill, so a new contract was drawn up by the Trust company. Under the new contract the city will lump dividends and use them giving all lots the same care.

Berridge Weds Albion Girl

Miss Irene Faulk of Ann Arbor, and Ernest Berridge, local teacher, drove to Angola, Indiana on Saturday and were quietly married at the Methodist church of that city.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Faulk, of Albion and a graduate of Albion high school. Mr. Berridge has been the fifth grade teacher in the Plymouth Central school for three years and is a graduate of Michigan State Normal college in Ypsilanti.

Mr. and Mrs. Berridge expect to make their permanent home in Plymouth in the near future.

Dies On Eve Of Anniversary

Mrs. Edward B. Ayers Died Monday At Grace Hospital

Funeral services will be held this afternoon (Friday) for Mrs. Edward B. Ayers, nee Frances Swan, of East Ann Arbor Trail, who died Monday night at Grace hospital in Detroit. Had she lived another day, she and her husband would have celebrated their eighth wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Ayers was a prominent club-woman of Plymouth; she was a member of the Woman's club, the secretary of the American Legion auxiliary and a member of the Detroit branch of the National Farm and Garden association.

She was born in Detroit on October 3, 1906 and was a graduate of Central high school in that city. Eight years ago she married Mr. Ayers and came to make her home just east of town on the Ayers farm on Ann Arbor Trail. She was known and loved for her sunny disposition and leaves many friends, as well as her husband and father to mourn her passing. Her father, Ed E. Swan, lives at 5169 Lincoln avenue, Detroit.

The funeral will be held Friday afternoon at the Hamilton Funeral home in Detroit at 2:00 p.m. She will be buried in her family lot in Evergreen cemetery.

Council Calls Telephone Zoning Unfair To City

Asks Utilities Commission For Rate Reduction

Upon recommendation of the city manager, the city attorney, Arlo Emery, was asked to file a formal protest this week on inequitable telephone rates for this city fixed by the Michigan Public Utilities commission.

At the commission meeting Monday evening, members of the city commission and City Manager Elliott discussed the advantages and disadvantages of the proposed rates as they concern Plymouth telephone subscribers. The telephone company argues that Plymouth would have 27 per cent of its calls reduced five cents; would have four per cent of its calls reduced four per cent, but would have seven per cent of its calls increased five per cent. Elliott, who has been studying the drafts of the utilities commission, stated that he could see no reason why there should be any advance in prices for any toll-rate calls. It is estimated that the zoning plan of the telephone company would save Plymouth residents $1200 a year. According to Elliott this saving is negligible in comparison to the amount which would be saved by adopting a simplified substitute plan.

"Rather than introduce a plan of zoning the Detroit exchange as related to its suburban exchanges, a flat five-cent reduction per call in the existing toll rate schedule would be more easily understood and would benefit more people than the proposed plan," Elliott said. He admitted that there would be a slight saving by using the new plan, to people who use the Dearborn exchange and others nearby, but that it would cost the city 10 cents to call the LIVING exchange which is toll-free at the present time for Plymouth residents.

It was agreed by the city commission that the Plymouth should object to the new ruling by sending a formal protest to the utilities commission suggesting that Plymouth be placed on a parity with Farmington and Wayne. The zone, arbitrarily set by the company, would reduce all Detroit calls from these places to 15 cents. A letter was sent to Northville, urging its residents to make a formal protest also.

Walter Hastings showed the club six reels of the wildlife pictures which he has taken as, official photographer for the conservation department. Club members especially enjoyed his natural-color movies of Michigan animals.

School Free Of Serious Epidemics

"Plymouth has shown a remarkable absence of epidemics so far this year," said Mrs. George Strasen, school nurse, last Monday. Last year's sieges of chickenpox, measles and whooping cough were typical of most winters and the danger of any widespread epidemics has been reduced this year because of mild weather, it is thought.

Although 14 cases of chickenpox were treated this last month, none were severe and all were confined to pupils in the Central school kindergarten room. The cause of this misfortune lay in its mildness, for one little girl had such a light case that it was not recognized as chicken pox until she had peppered the room with it.

The quarantine has been removed in most cases by this time.

Regentik Boys To Live With Aunts

Fear of separation has been uppermost in the minds of the three Regentik brothers since the fatal accident which left them orphans on January 28. They rejoiced early this week to learn that their aunts, Mrs. Mary Ried and Mrs. Eugenia Metcalf, who live on neighboring farms near Whitmore lake were going to give them homes.

Jerry Jr., 16, and Otto, 14, will make their home with their mother's sister, Mrs. Mary Ried, and Vlady, five years old, will live nearby at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Eugenia Metcalf. Otto will attend school in South Lyon with his cousin and Jerry will help on the farm.

After finishing work on the Macumber farm and selling some of their personal property at auction within the next two weeks, the boys will leave for their new homes. In the meantime, the aunts are taking turns keeping house for the boys on the farm just west of Plymouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Scott, of Detroit, were dinner guests, Sunday, of their brother-in-law, and sister, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Wood.

Champe Chosen To Head Sales Drive

Dr. B. E. Champe was elected chairman of the Wildlife stamp sale at the regular meeting of the Western Wayne Game Conservators' association Monday evening in the Mayflower hotel.

Wildlife stamps, which were sold last year for the first time, were designed by Ding Darling, former newspaper cartoonist and national president of the Wildlife federation. Authentic pictures of American animals and birds are printed on the stamps which sell at $1.00 a block during a campaign in March to raise funds for the organization.

A bait-casting tournament was suggested for entertainment at the next meeting of the group which will be held, tentatively, in Northville. Most of the meeting was devoted to the reviewing of several of the more important resolutions passed at the annual meeting of the Michigan United Conservation clubs at Grand Rapids in December of last year. It is not the task of this group to legislate; they merely meet to suggest and advise changes for the state wildlife associations.

New Manager Of State Fair

Dr. Linwood W. Snow, of Northville, Appointed

Dr. Linwood W. Snow, of Northville, as well known in Plymouth as his home community, has been appointed by Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald as manager of the Michigan State Fair in Detroit and will assume his new duties at once. He takes the place of Frank Isby, who, during his brief term, turned the state fair into a sort of street carnival.

The appointment of Dr. Snow to this post came as somewhat of a surprise as he had been prominently mentioned as state boxing commissioner.

Dr. Snow was one of the original Fitzgerald men in this locality. He has served as president of the Northville Young Men's club and was appointed last winter as one of the district committeemen for this part of Wayne county. His many friends are delighted over the appointment and are confident that he will make the state fair a credit to the state of Michigan. It has been anything but that.

Dr. Snow happens to be chairman of the reception committee of the annual Lincoln day charity dinner that will take place in Plymouth Saturday evening.

Formal Inspection Of Prison Brings Words Of Praise

Members of the Detroit Red Wings hockey team, Scotty McEwen of the Detroit Traffic Court and other guests escorted Colonel John W. Warden of Sandwich, Ontario to Plymouth, Friday, to make an official call on Blake Gillies, superintendent of the Detroit House of Correction.

Colonel Warden is governor of the Essex County Jail in Sandwich, Ontario, and came to Plymouth primarily to see just how so efficient a prison as the House of Correction is operated. The colonel holds the highest military awards of the British army and has served his country in many different wars. He had his first experience as a prison warden during the Boer war in Africa and after a long period of army service was given the Essex county prison to govern.

The colonel stated that he was amazed at the excellent discipline at the House of Correction and he marveled at the modern buildings and equipment with which the officers had to work. He was particularly interested in the honor system that was in effect on the farm and praised Superintendent Gillies for the excellent way in which the whole institution was operated.

As the colonel prepared to leave, Blake Gillies, presented him with one of his famous giant police sticks which are well known throughout the United States and highly treasured by the dignitaries who receive them. J. Edgar Hoover, chief G-man in Washington, was the last to adorn his office walls with one of these famous clubs.

In an effort to clear up titles on abstracts so that they can be placed on the tax rolls by May, the city commission is recording property on assessor's plats.

On Monday afternoon a plat number 14 which includes all populated property between the Per Marquette railroad and Mill street on North Main was reviewed because property owners on North Main contend that the street should be marked 50 feet wide to clear the title on their front yard property. Mr. Starkweather, who originally owned the land, leased a strip 66 feet wide to the Plank Road company to use for a right-of-way. The company only used 50 feet for the road and ever since the street has been the same width with owners on both sides of the street claiming the additional 16-foot frontage for their yards. The present owners of the land have employed an attorney to contest the plat, which shows the street to be 66 feet wide.

On the city attorney's recommendation, the matter of approving the plat was put on the table until the next commission meeting.

Daane Lad Wins Bible Story Contest

Roderick Daane carried off first prize of three dollars in the Bible story contest which closed February 2. Second prize of two dollars went to Arnold Phillips and the five prizes of one dollar each were awarded to Dorothy Donaldson, John Erdelyi, Beverly Files, Leif Richard and Margaret Nichol.

Roderick's prize-winning essay on Joseph was judged best of the 30 submitted by students of Plymouth schools 12 years old or younger. The winner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Daane, of Grandfield avenue, is almost eight years old and is a student in Central school. Judges were Mrs. Ada Murray, Wayne county librarian, George Smith, superintendent of schools, and Rev. S. S. Clisson of the Methodist church. Of the three choices of subject matter both the first and second prize essays were written on "The Bible Story Which Helps Me Most." Capacity Crowd Expected At Lincoln Day Charity Dinner Saturday Night At Mayflower Hotel

Guests To Be Served With Good, Old Fashioned Michigan Menu, Consisting Entirely Of Michigan Products

Everything is in readiness for Plymouth's annual all-Michigan Lincoln day charity dinner to be given Saturday evening at the Mayflower hotel. Present indications are that another capacity crowd will be in attendance.

Dr. Eugene Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction, will talk on Michigan's educational problems and John C. Ketcham, former master of the Michigan State Grange and member of congress, will tell of "Michigan Republicanism." County Auditor Jack Cowan will briefly discuss Wayne county finances.

Attorney Perry Richwine, the toastmaster, will be presented to the audience by General Chairman Fred D. Schrader. Rev. Walter Nichol will deliver the invocation. Miss Linnea Vickstrom will sing two or three vocal selections. She will be accompanied by Miss Carol Campbell. Orlo Owen of Northville will lead the group singing.

The menu this year, like that of last year, will consist entirely of Michigan products.

There will be good old Michigan fried salt pork, and plenty of it, with milk gravy, big baked potatoes from the Schrader buffalo ranch just west of the city, corn meal bread, made from freshly ground corn produced on the farm of John Haggerty out in Canton township, hot biscuits, and maple syrup from Eaton county. The best part of it all will be the fact that there will be plenty of everything for everybody.

The occasion, in addition to honoring one of America's greatest citizens, will serve another purpose—the surplus funds raised will go to purchase milk during the remainder of the winter for Plymouth boys and girls who come to school hungry in the morning.

Yes, actually hungry! Don't say that this isn't possible. It is. Maybe that little boy or girl going by your home every day to school had only half the food for breakfast that a child should have.

Of course this condition is not general, but school teachers say that there should be at least $200 raised to provide all the milk that will be needed between now and the summer vacation for needy school children.

So when you buy your ticket, add what you think you can to the amount so that there will not be a hungry boy or girl in Plymouth from now until school closes.

At the last meeting of the executive committee composed of Fred D. Schrader, George A. Smith, Charles Rathburn, Jesse Ziegler and E. R. Eaton, it was decided to use the main floor dining rooms of the Mayflower hotel rather than try and fix up the big basement again. There will be loud speakers installed so that all may hear.

There will be many prominent guests present, among these being State Senator Clyde V. Fenner.

The reception committee consists of Dr. and Mrs. Lynwood Snow of Northville, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Ziegler, John S. Haggerty, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Jewell, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Milo Johnson, of Northville; Mr. and Mrs. Arno Thompson, Mayor and Mrs. Henry Hondorp, President and Mrs. Arthur Nichols of Northville, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Laible, Mr. and Mrs. William Wood, Mrs. Clara Todd, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Buzzard, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hamill, Mr. and Mrs. Burton A. Giles, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fischer of Belleville, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Brown of Remulus, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Smith of Northville, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Tinkham of Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cochrane of Northville, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Leacock, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Hurd McClumpha, Mr. and Mrs. George Burr, Mr. and Mrs. William Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Jean Cole of Northville, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Ammerman of Northville and Mrs. Arthur Carlson of Northville.

Miss Edith B. Crumb, of the Detroit News, will be the guest speaker at the luncheon and quilt exhibit at the Presbyterian church at 1:00 on Wednesday, February 15. Her column and club for quilt-makers in the News has been of interest to Plymouth ladies.

Fire Damages Landau Home

Damage amounting to $1,000 has been estimated as the loss suffered by Mr. and Mrs. Julius Landau when their home at the corner of Harvey and Wing streets burned early Saturday morning.

Landau said that he thought the fire started from sifted ashes which he had left near his furnace early in the evening. Firemen agreed that hot ashes near a partitioned wall in the basement were the cause. Though smoke was noticed about midnight, it didn't occur to the occupants that the house was afire, so the fire department was not called until 2:15 a.m. when the fire was well under way. Fighting stubborn flames for over two hours, firemen finally extinguished the blaze before great damage was done.

Parking Protest Made By Chamber Of Commerce

Want Enforcement Of No Parking Rule On Main Street

J. Rusling Cutler, Earl Fluelling, Miss Mildred Stoddard and Mrs. Albert Curry, representing the Chamber of Commerce appeared at the commission meeting on Monday night with a protest against parking on the east side of the street between the railroad and Amelia street. The Chamber of Commerce objects to parking on that side of the street on the grounds that cars left there are blocking the fire route. When the question of a lack of parking space came up last year, business men in that block had the street widened on the west side since it was impossible to widen on the east side of Main street. The protest was tabled until the next regular meeting so that commission members can have an opportunity to study the situation. City Manager Clarence Elliott extended an invitation to the business men of that locality to attend the next meeting of the commission.

ANOTHER FORD 'VILLAGE INDUSTRY'

THE TWELFTH UNIT in the Ford Motor company's network of small plants in rural Michigan is this $50,000 carburetor factory recently put into production on the banks of a stream in the village of Milford. Here 230 local workmen are producing more than 1,700 carburetors a day. They use the most advanced equipment and receive, like all Ford workmen, at least $6 for the 8-hour day. At left is shown the testing device which measures the efficiency of the pump mechanism in the finished carburetor. The Ford "village industries" are designed to bring about a closer union between agriculture and industry.

On Sunday, February 6, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Place celebrated their 58th wedding anniversary in the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Schrader on Canton Center road. An arrangement of spring flowers was used in the dinner table decorations. Those attending from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. Grover Place and family of Ann Arbor, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson of Palmer Woods, Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. George Maynard, of Williamston. Many lovely gifts and cards of congratulation were received by the honored couple.

New Editor For Northville Record

Announcement has been made of the sale of the Northville Record by Publisher Richard T. Baldwin to William Cansfield of Howell. Mr. Cansfield has been associated for a number of years with the Livingston County Press as editor and it is stated that he will take immediate possession of the Record. Mr. Baldwin, who has not been in the best of health since a serious operation three years ago, plans to take a long needed vacation and later move his family to Albion, where he had previously served as editor of the Albion Evening Recorder.

While his many friends in this part of Michigan regret to see him leave this locality, all wish for Mr. Baldwin a complete recovery.

Engineer Tells Of Zoning Projects

(Continued from Page 1) not be cited as evidence of special or unintended hardship, because the provision is enacted intentionally as a general measure to protect the public health and welfare, and applies to all lots alike. If, however, an apartment is built in conformity with the requirements and the public condemns part of its yard area for street purposes, it would certainly be unfair to ask that the use of four or five suites be discontinued to bring the number of families housed within the requirements of the reduced lot area. In such a case, the owner would be entitled to a certificate of Occupancy legalizing the continued use of his building and the only body with authority to order that such a certificate be granted him would be the Board of Appeals. The board's decisions must be so made that, to use the words of the Enabling Act, "the spirit of the ordinance shall be observed, public safety secured and substantial justice done."

The Board of Appeals is the "safety valve" of the zoning ordinance. The building inspector has no discretion in enforcing the law, but where his decisions appear unjust to the applicant for a building permit, he may appeal to the board and the board, if it finds aspects of the particular case warranting some relief, may reverse or modify the decision of the enforcing officer. It may make its consent to a given building conditional on certain details of use or esthetic considerations not covered in the ordinance, so that a slight letting down of the bars in the interest of fairness will not result in injury to a neighbor.

Through its discretionary powers its knowledge of local conditions and local people, and its ability to hold informal discussion, the Board of Appeals can iron out most of the difficulties likely to arise in the enforcement of a zoning ordinance. Court action cannot properly be taken until after the board has reviewed the facts, and by this means litigation arising under the ordinance is minimized.

"In addition to its general power to alleviate unnecessary hardships, the board has certain specific powers under the ordinance. "The composition of the Board of Appeals and its general powers are covered in the Zoning Enabling Act (Act 207 of 1921) which says: "There shall be a Board of Appeals on zoning established in accordance with Act 207 of the Public Acts of Michigan for 1921, which in addition to the general duties and powers conferred upon it by law, may in specific cases vary or modify the regulations herein established, in harmony with their general purpose and intent."

Frank Rambo To Run Branch Office

Upon the recommendation of the directors of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, Frank Rambo has been selected by Secretary of State Harry Kelly to have charge of the branch office in Plymouth for the sale of automobile license plates. Mr. Rambo will take the place of Harold Finlan as secretary of the local business organization.

He will assume his new duties just as soon as the state auditors have checked the records of the local office.

Mr. Rambo, during the time he is not engaged in handling the work of the secretary of state's office, will devote his energies to the work of the local business organization.

By the selection of Mr. Rambo, the secretary of state reversed the policies of the last two years, giving to the Chamber of Commerce the right to make the recommendation for the office.

Your Checking Account IS A "BARGAIN"

The average amount which a bank can earn today from a $100 checking balance is about 21c a month.

All you could buy for 21c—without a checking account—would be a single $80 post office money-order.

Yet, as a checking depositor, you get safety, convenience, prestige, and the use of valuable facilities which only a bank can provide. Even if you were required to pay a small service charge for not maintaining a required balance, you must admit that you would still be getting a "bargain."

City Sponsors Valentine Dance

Square dancing seems to appeal to all young people if it can be judged by the enthusiasm shown last Friday night at the city hall. John Mastick was the caller while Mrs. John Jacobs played and the young people had their first taste of square dancing. They really got into the swing of the thing and are asking for more. There will not be a dance at the city hall this Friday night but next Friday, February 17, Mr. Mastick will again lead the young people through the old dances so plan on coming to the city hall at that time. Any one may come to watch.

As there is no dance this Friday night, the dance Saturday night will be from 7:30 until 10:00 o'clock and is for the age group from 11 to 15 years old. As usual there will be a dancing lesson for boys between the ages of 11 and 15 years old before the dance. There will not be a charge. All boys who are interested please come to the city hall at 6:30 for a one-hour lesson. Next week the lesson will be for all girls between the ages of 11 and 15 years old. And now for the biggest news of the season! Saturday, February 18, the young people who attend the Valentine dance will have the opportunity of dancing to the rhythm of Mike and his orchestra, a new orchestra never before heard by anyone in Plymouth. However, they will be heard of later as they will play return engagements at the city hall. Come and hear your own orchestra.

Everyone knows that roller skating is the big attraction at the Methodist church every Tuesday. All boys and girls between the ages of nine and 12 years old may skate from 3:30 until 5:30 in the afternoon; and in the evening all young people over 12 years old may skate from 7:00 until 9:30. Skates are furnished, the charge is small and the "gang" will be there so why not join them?

The story hours are growing all the time but there is still room for many more. This Saturday the children will make Valentines and all are looking forward to it. Next Saturday, February 18, there will be a Valentine party for the children. The party will be from 1:00 until 3:00 o'clock and is for all the story hour children from five to ten years old. Each child will bring a Valentine for another child and special games and stories will comprise the program. Send your child to the story hour this Saturday at the city hall. Nine o'clock is the hour for children from eight to ten years old; 10:00 o'clock for children from five to seven years old. And don't forget about the Valentine party, Saturday, February 18, from 1:00 until 3:00 o'clock.

A six million dollar donation of a philanthropic graduate of the University of Michigan, who never returned to see the buildings which his generous contribution made possible, enables Michigan law students to "live and work" in the legal atmosphere of the now famous Law Quadrangle.

Gift of William W. Cook, a graduate of the University of Michigan Law school in 1882, the Quadrangle houses, in one closely connected unit, all the physical equipment for carrying on advanced professional study. Within two blocks, covering a ten-acre tract, are located administrative offices, libraries, dormitories, and class rooms for 260 men.

CENTRAL P. T. A. WILL BRING EDISON GLEE CLUB

Members of the Edison Glee club will appear in Plymouth on Tuesday evening, February 21 in a free concert, Mrs. Edwin Campbell, president of the Central P. T. A. announced Monday.

The concert, sponsored by the Parent-Teachers' association of Plymouth will be held at 8:00 o'clock in the evening in the high school auditorium. Nearly 100 employees of the Detroit Edison company make up the mixed chorus which last appeared in Plymouth four years ago. They were well received at that time and it is urged that Plymouth residents again respond to the talent of the group which appears in the concert open to the public a week from Tuesday.

The public utilities in 1938 consumed 40 million tons of coal in the generation of electric energy. The same group in 1937 burned 44 million tons of coal.

The United Mine workers, during the month of January were subject to an extra assessment of one dollar per member, levied by their International Executive Board at the behest of John L. Lewis. Regular monthly union dues are $1.50.

MICHIGAN—for All Sorts of Winter Sports!

MICHIGAN'S natural facilities for winter sports, perhaps unexcelled anywhere in the country, are worthy of promotion. Thousands of visitors should be attracted here from outside the State, and Michigan residents can be shown that they need not leave their own State to enjoy the finest of winter sports.

All Michigan will profit from such promotion in which the Michigan Bell Telephone Company wishes to do its part. This is the first of a series of three advertisements, appearing in 250 Michigan newspapers, to promote Michigan as an outstanding winter playground.

Noon Classes Relieve Cafeteria Crowds

To relieve some of the crowds during the lunch hour, a new plan of noon-hour classes is being tried this semester by Principal C. J. Dykhouse of the high school.

For a cafeteria such as that in the high school which was not meant to seat more than 100 at a time, to have to take care of 400 people each noon has meant over-crowded conditions for several years. By means of the new plan about 100 students now eat from 11:00 until 11:30 and attend a class from 11:35 until 12:25. Subjects offered at noon are American history, English, bookkeeping and typing, all of which are taken for credit. A non-credit class in handicraft for seventh and eighth grade boys is offered also. Average enrollment in the noon-hour subjects is 20 students. Teachers affected by the new plan eat during either third hour or after noon. If the change works as well as it seems to now, it will probably be continued next year.

England forced 70 percent of her soap manufacturers out of business between 1821 and 1831 with heavy taxes on soap. In the United States today, consumers of soap get even more of a financial cleaning, according to the National Consumers Tax Commission. They pay parts of 104 different taxes on every cake they buy.

Lincoln Day Concert And Talk On China Planned

Union Services At M. E. Church Sunday Evening

An accident turned a sight-seeing trip of China into a two-year visit for Miss Barbara Tinker of Ann Arbor when she went to the Orient two years ago. She will recall some of her unique experiences on this solitary vagabond voyage at the union services in the Methodist church Sunday evening at 7:30 p.m. and her subject will be "The Fringe of Flame."

Miss Tinker knows her topic well, having traveled and lived in war-torn China for such a length of time. When she decided to leave on her trip she didn't realize that the eastern hemisphere was on the verge of war. On arrival in China, she was told by the American counsel and other officials that she must go home; they insisted that she return to the United States. But just as insistently she replied that she had come to see the country and she intended to do just that. Officials could not restrain her impetuously and she proceeded inland alone almost immediately. Though enmeshed in the strife, she was constantly obliged to "push on." Upon her return three months ago, she began compiling her notes on the East and is writing a book on them at present.

Preceding Miss Tinker's talk, members of the Methodist church will present a brief concert of Negro spirituals in honor of the memory of Abraham Lincoln. The program follows:

Solo, "Deep River," arranged by Sidney Fine, Mrs. James Sessions; solo, "The Crucifixion," arranged by W. A. Fisher, Miss Ethel Kilham; violin solo, "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen," Dr. H. C. Rufus; male quartette, "Who Did?" arranged by Grant; choir numbers, "Goin' Home," from New World Symphony by Dvorak; "O, Lord, Send the Fire," arranged by Nobel Cain; and "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," arranged by Nobel Cain.

This is the monthly union service of the Presbyterian, First Baptist and Methodist congregations and the public is invited.

Monthly Clinic To Meet Wed.

When baby is not gaining weight properly, or little "gobby" makes a fuss about eating vegetables, Plymouth mothers have the opinion and advice of a baby specialist at their service by simply attending the baby clinic. This fine advisory council meets on the third Wednesday of each month in the high school. Next clinic will be held Wednesday, February 15, from 10:00 to 12:00 in the morning in the office of the school nurse.

Sponsored by the Red Cross society, the service is free, depending for its maintenance on memberships and donations to the Red Cross fund. Plymouth has no specialized baby doctor and Dr. Milo Brady, pediatrician from Detroit, is the doctor in charge. He has made an outstanding record, having been associated with the Plymouth clinic since its inception in 1921.

Mrs. George Strasen, school nurse, who acts as Dr. Brady's assistant during the examinations, stressed the fact the clinic is a prophylactic measure and its only purpose is to keep well babies well. No sick babies are treated here, they are sent to a local physician because of the length of time which elapses between meetings, a child might be too far advanced in any disease before Dr. Brady made another check-up. Ranging in age from new-born babies to pre-school children, some 15 or 20 children are treated every month. So many mothers bring their children that they have been asked to rotate their visits so that they come only every other month unless urgent. The job of the clinician is to give each child a thorough examination and check on its diet, for improper feeding is the chief cause of disease, according to Mrs. Strasen. Every child is allowed about 15 minutes to go through the clinic and most of the patients are from Plymouth with an occasional one from Northville or Cherry Hill.

Smitty Invents Slot Machine

Glenn Smith, well known restaurateur, whose place of business is close to the main business intersection of this city, stated this morning that he had solved the dice slot machine removal order in a more than satisfactory way to himself and customers.

Admitting to his many close friends that there was no doubt but what the machine removal would greatly reduce his income where they were located, he felt that he had something to offer his patrons which they would enjoy equally as much and probably profit likewise.

Smitty says the slot where the money goes is the main place and to compensate for their removal when the machines were taken out he intends to cut one in the counter in his lunch room. This he says will be within the law and to make the slot interesting he intends to place a tin can directly under it and place a few marbles in the can. The can will have attached to it strings running to different parts of the store and although it will be out of sight to the customers, employees behind the counter will be able to rattle the can and give the customers a little noise for their money and this, says Smitty, is at least more than they ever got before.

Outcasters Honor Their President

Members of the Plymouth Outcast club have at last come into their own. At their last meeting at the Mayflower hotel held in the new President's room, there was hung on the wall between the two famous presidents of the United States, President Washington and President Lincoln, a picture of the first, only and continuous president of the Outcasters, Stanley T. Corbett. The dignified ceremonies were conducted under the directions of Lisle Alexander and William Rambo, aides to the president.

Michigan has 34 state parks and park sites on the shores of the Great Lakes.

The term "mangeurs de lard" or "pork eaters" was applied to new arrivals during Michigan's early fur trading days because it took them some time to accustom themselves to the rough diet of the country and were provided with such delicacies as pork.

At the season of the year when children need all their energy, good spirits and intelligence, to employ in school and the business of acquiring an education, there is a constant menace to their health.

Moving continually from warm rooms at home and at school into the uncertain temperature of winter days, they are more open to hazards of health than at any other time.

A doctor's examination should be a matter of course. Perhaps your children can stand the ravages of winter days and constant change in temperatures. If so, it will relieve your mind to know that fact. If they cannot, you should know that too.

Check frequently with the doctor. Follow his advice in the matter of habits and health. Take all prescriptions to a good druggist.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Leviticus 26:2, 11, 12): "Ye shall keep my sabbaths, and reverence my sanctuary: I am the Lord. And I will set my tabernacle among you: and my soul shall not abhor you. And I will walk among you, and will be your God, and ye shall be my people." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 335): "Soul and Spirit being one, God and Spirit are one, and this one never included in a limited mind or a limited body."

The church without the aggressive spirit of youth is indeed a dead church. God offers Salvation for the sinner and sanctification for the believer. "Do you know that God has called you to holiness and that in disobedience to that call you can never enter heaven? This is the will of God, even your sanctification. This is Jesus' own baptism for His own, to destroy, or take away the sin of the world. The marvelous work of entire sanctification is, primarily, the final settlement of the sin question. The one who destroys carnality fills the soul with His own presence."

Your Michigan-And Mine!

HITCH HIKING HEN
Dearborn, (MPA)—When Ed Jones got out of his car as he went to work at the Ford plant one morning, his buddies called his attention to an extra passenger he didn't know he had. Half frozen, but still hanging onto the back bumper was a pet hen, belonging to some neighbor children, that had ridden through the heavy morning traffic on that bumper, and still seemed none the worse for it.

A PAIR OF OLD SOCKS
Turner, (MPA)—Just a pair of old socks, but their owner, Mrs. Mannie Smith, isn't complaining about them. In fact she finds they offset the present high cost of hosiery. The stockings have been worn in her family for 141 years. First worn at a wedding in 1797, they have been handed down in the Smith family to be worn by brides on their wedding day.

COP FINED THEN DIES
St. Louis, (MPA)—With a record of 34 years as a law enforcement officer, serving as city policeman and then deputy sheriff, L. W. Van Ostran of Bath was arrested here recently on a traffic violation charge. He paid a fine in justice court on a Friday, and on Saturday afternoon he died at his sister's home in Bancroft. He was 76 years old.

NEW BIRD VISITS STATE
Olivet, (MPA)—A red-bellied woodpecker, said to be a bird rare in Michigan, is a daily visitor in Olivet. He comes to a suet box which Miss Mabel Legniam has at her bird feeding station. The woodpecker has a brilliant red head and is barred across the back and wings.

POLICE—NOT COSSACKS
Iron River, (MPA)—A stranger in Iron River this winter might think some Russian Cossacks had become stranded here. However, the men in the black seal-skin caps are not Cossacks, but officers of the law. Winter is officially recognized here when the chief of police and his officers don the warm, furry head-gear.

SHERIFF PICKS WRONG CAR
Howell, (MPA)—When Frank Anderson noticed that his car was missing, he called the sheriff's department. A stolen car message was broadcast. When the car was found, however, Anderson learned it had been in good hands. Undersheriff Bas-set had taken the wrong car when he went on a hunting trip with a friend.

NAG VS. CAR: NAG WINS

St. Louis, (MPA)—A car belonging to Kenneth Mills was taken to a garage here recently for repairs to the two front fenders, hood, radiator grill, and windshield, as the result of a slight argument with a horse. When Mrs. Mills was driving on a country road one night, a horse walked out of a ditch and into the car. Leaving the car rather badly dented, the horse walked on.

An additional 98,000 acres of land in northern Michigan counties have been purchased for public hunting purposes during the last two years.

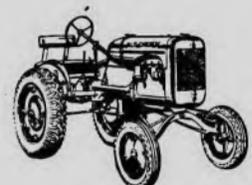

By far the greatest number of ducks bagged in Michigan have their breeding grounds in Canada.

The hair of the whitetail deer is hollow: in the winter when the coat is heavy it will float the animal in water, dead or alive.

Where'll You Be When the Spring Fun Starts?

RIGHT now we'd like to point out that with the first feel of spring in the air, there's going to be another scramble to get these beautiful new Buicks.

There's going to be a rush to get behind this great car's lively Dynaflex straight-eight power plant, to take in the budding countryside from behind its new wide-paned windows.

There'll be a sudden hurry to trade in cars that have begun to pass their prime, and step out in the cushioned smoothness of BuicOil Springing's full-float ride.

On the other hand, you can get rid of a lot of grief by trading an old car now. Get rid of weak batteries, slick tires, slow-starting engines, brakes that may be needing a relining job soon.

You'll get a car that'll take the rest of the winter right in stride, and just be warmed up when spring comes.

You'll get it without waiting—and get it at prices lower than a year ago, lower than you'd expect, lower even than on some sixes. You'll get a better allowance on the car you're now driving—and like as not avoid some heavy servicing bills.

So why wait until sometime "in the spring"? Shop early for your Buick, the most satisfying car you ever drove—shop wisely and avoid the rush!

"Better buy Buick—NOW!"

State Takes Steps To Solve Welfare Problem - Treasury Empty

in debt that it cannot pay its back bills without setting up a special debt-funding department, the budget that was given the new administration is over $100,000,000 out of balance!

What does that mean? Simply this—that the oily-tongued spellbinders who were kicked out of office last fall, recommend that the state spend $100,000,000 more than it will take in during the next two-year period.

Civil service was supposed to have eliminated all politics from the various state departments and institutions. Many who favored it, including the writer, thought it would do not only that, but it would also give to the state better government, a more economical government and prevent so much "turn over" among state employes. It has not accomplished one of these purposes—so far.

The other day there appeared before the civil service committee of inquiry an elderly colored man who had been employed by the state for over 32 years. His name is William Tecumseh Lewis, who was a janitor in the Y.M.C.A. at Kalamazoo when the writer was a cub reporter on a newspaper in that city. Mr. Lewis had been employed continuously by the state in Lansing all of these years under both Republican and Democratic administrations. He testified that until two years ago under the Murphy civil service administration he had never been requested to give one cent to any political party or candidate. During the last two years, he testified $47.00 had been taken out of his pay for political assessments. Even after his department head had been advised that Mr. Lewis had failed his civil service examination but before they had told him of it, there was another $2 taken out of his pay for politics. The taxpayers of Michigan will never have the slightest conception of all the rottenness that prevailed in their state government during the last two years.

State employes, protected by civil service, have frankly testified that they were supposed to use their cars for political purposes during the last campaign and charge the expense up to the state government.

Do you wonder that the state is broke? Can you see why it is that there isn't enough money to pay up welfare bills and other state obligations nearly two years past due?

Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Moon were hosts to the dinner-bridge club on Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wilson had as their guests over the week-end Mr. and Mrs. Harry Seitz and son, Harry John, of Monroe. On Thursday of last week they entertained Mr. and Mrs. George Fiedler of Monroe.

Following the successful lead of the men's social nights at the Presbyterian church, the women of Circle 4 sponsored an all-games party on Tuesday evening.

A good-sized Presbyterian ladies and their friends attended the party held in the church at 8:00, for which Mrs. Karl Schlenderer was chairman.

The guests included John Jordan of New Ulm, Minnesota; Miss Ora Groff, of York, Pennsylvania; and Joe Savilla of Gallagher, West Virginia.

Miss Elaine Hamilton left Wednesday for Merrill Palmer school, Detroit. She was one of three students from the University of Michigan chosen to receive her elementary school training at the Merrill Palmer school. She will return to Ann Arbor in June to receive her degree in Bachelor of Arts in education.

In their home on Starkweather avenue on Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chappal entertained at dinner and cards. Their guests included Mr. and Mrs. Sam Dixon of Ypsilanti; Mr. and Mrs. Willard Green; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Root; Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Smith; Miss Chloe Powell, Albert Rowell and Walter De-Pew.

Boy Scout Week Is Celebrated Here Feb. 8-12

Troops To Attend Northville Church Services Sunday

Wednesday, the Boy Scouts of America were 29 years old as an incorporated body, and the week beginning with the 8th is being celebrated all over the country as Anniversary Week. The Plymouth district is active in observing this birthday period. Next week's paper will describe the Court of Honor held last night at the Plymouth high school. Sunday, February 12 is Scout Sunday, when Scouts especially observe the 12th point of the law—"A Scout is Reverent." The Scouts and leaders of this district will be the guests of the Northville Presbyterian church at its 11:00 a.m. service. The minister, the Rev. Thomas W. Smith, will take as the subject of his address, "Lincoln as a Boy Scout." A number of the older Scouts will lead parts of the service. This will be the eighth annual district church service of the Plymouth district and it is expected that for the eighth time there will be a large attendance of the members of the local troops and packs.

Aviators report it is exceptional to see any birds more than 5,000 feet above the earth and that few are seen above 3,000 feet.

Bunns Hit High On Shuffle Boards

Copies of The St. Petersburg Times received in Plymouth reveal the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Bunn, of Northville, who are spending the winter in Florida, are now rated among the top-notchers among the shuffle board players.

Following, in part, is the comment by the "Shufflin' Along" writer of the Times about the stellar shuffle board playing of the Bunn:

"Those Bunns were hot yesterday! To be sure, they cooled off a little in the second set, playing with Mr. and Mrs. Powers in the Husband and Wife tournament, but they sure did steam up and throw off the heat in the first set with Mr. and Mrs. Poole. The way they piled up the score was scandalous! They got good and warm again in the third set, playing the Hudsons, but they didn't burn quite like they did in the first.

Their score now in sets won and lost is 7-2, being tied for first place with the Hinkelmanns, and the Leverings. And, by the way, where have the Leverings been keeping themselves all this time, and no one knowing of their shuffleboard prowess? They are good, and new at tournament playing. They won three straight yesterday, being the only team to do so. Those Hinkelmanns look dangerous! It was a great time they had with the Buells yesterday in the first set, so close it ended in a tie, which had to be played off, and was won by the Hinkelmanns."

DON'T FORGET THE BIRDS

When snow and ice cover natural food, the birds may need human help to survive the winter. Above is a simple and practical type of feeding station. A wire basket is formed out of hardware cloth and fastened to the side of a tree on the ground. It may be filled with scratch feed, wheat, barley or shelled corn. One advantage of this kind of feeding station is that such animals as the squirrel cannot carry off any amount of the grain because it is almost completely enclosed; while the birds can feed through the wire mesh.

Better Get That Auto License!

With the deadline approaching when the 1938 license plates will no longer be legal, Harry F. Kelly, secretary of state, points out that over 5,000 automobile titles, lost by their owners in the past, are being held by the department until their owners realize their loss and inquire for them.

If the correct addresses were known, these titles would of course be sent to their owners, but the file of "lost titles" contains only those which postal authorities have returned after not being able to deliver because of faulty addresses given by applicants for titles.

Kelly points out that annually thousands of people are frustrated for a time at least by a frantic search for their car titles which they must present when they apply for plates.

With well over 1,200,000 motor vehicles still without their 1938 license plates and the deadline set by law at midnight, February 28, Kelly points to an inevitable jam at every department of state branch office in the state at the end of this month. He stresses the fact that the 1937 legislature designated the last day of February as the final date for plate or permit purchase each year and neither the secretary of state or any other official of the state or municipal officer has any discretionary power to extend the date permitting the use of 1938 plates. He suggests that those deferring their purchase of plates through necessity make certain at this time that they have their titles available.

Motorists are urged to purchase their plates as early as possible to avoid the discomfort of standing in line. Half-year plates are now on sale at all branch offices of the department of state.

Michigan's annual crop of "queens" is perhaps the largest of any state. At present the Winter Sport Queen is in vogue. Here is Miss Margaret Krebs, Queen of the Alpena Winter Sports Carnival, now running.

Euchre Players On Second Lap

The Canton Center-Cherry Hill euchre teams have started on the second half of their tournament with some poor results for three of the leading four teams. H. Wagenshultz-R. Waldecker began with a victory of eight to five over C. Finnegan-Elliott. The Gotts-Blackmore team took Zeigler-Johnson into camp seven games to six. F. Waldecker-Teisen dropped from fourth place to sixth by taking an 11-2 beating from P. Hix-I. Cash. Freddie-Buckner won over the West boys seven games to six.

The T. V. A. reports its sales of hydro-electric power in the last six months of 1938 amounted to 806,800,000 kilowatt hours. The generation of this much electricity at steam plants would have utilized 572,000 tons of bituminous coal.

Snoud Inn

Here we sit on old Ridge Road in our snow smothered abode. Icicles hang from the eaves. Everybody has the heaves—That's an ailment, don't you know. Caused by having too much snow.

Shovels here and shovels there, Men and shovels everywhere. It gives one a privilege tho If you haven't any dough. For now men of every rank Put their shovels in the bank.

Roadscrapers all have the "flew" That, excepting just a few. Watch an epidemic spread. When the doctors go to bed. They will need a massive crew Of side-kicks to pull them thru.

With the snow up to your waist None will catch you making haste. But you could proceed with ease If you had a pair of skis. One feels like a planted trout On the inside looking out.

Naught must keep the farmer down. He must get his milk to town. For how can the man get rich If he pours it in the ditch. Oh—before I get the gout Come, Oh Spring and March us out. —A. Heaver.

Now Is The Time To Feed Birds

When the snow is heavy on the ground, or the trees and the shrubs and the fields are sheathed in ice, it's time to get thoughtful about the predicament of Michigan's ground feeding game birds.

Such weather conditions are likely to cut off their food supplies and may result in heavy mortality. Yet comparatively little effort is required to provide relief in many places.

Construction of feeding stations for the birds is not a complicated or expensive matter. One of the most practical feeding stations is simply made. It is hardware cloth formed into the shape of a basket and fastened to the side of a tree close to the ground. This can then be filled with scratch feed, wheat, barley or shelled corn. The birds can feed through the wire meshes.

Another good feeding station is established by sticking ears of corn on spikes driven through a fallen sapling or stout brush. Still another that serves well is made merely by tying ears of corn to a wire fence close enough to the ground for the birds to reach.

State game investigators point out that in establishing a feeding station consideration should be given to a location in the vicinity of good winter cover such as is found at the edge of a woodlot, swale, marsh or brushy fence-row, or near patches of wheat, sweet clover or rye. The site should not be located where it will be affected by drifting snows or prevailing winds, or where the birds will be forced into the open to feed.

A few corn shocks placed near winter cover is probably the simplest of all relief devices.

However, anyone who wants to help the birds in time of adverse weather conditions but is not certain of the way to go about it can obtain instruction from his local conservation officer. One of the activities of state conservation officers during such time is setting up and helping others set up feeding stations in acutely affected areas.

English peasants shivered under Charles the Second because he levied an over-burdening tax on hearthstones and stoves. The modern version, says the National Consumers Tax Commission, is America's 37 hidden taxes, state, local and national, which increase the price of coal 13.7 percent.

Plymouth Rocks Whip Dearborn With a Closing Spurt

The local high school quintet scored its first league victory in five starts last Friday, February 3, when it overcame a three-point deficit in the last minute of play and went on to subdue its hosts, the highly-touted Dearborn Panthers, by a score of 27-25. The defeat virtually eliminated Dearborn's chances of overhauling River Rouge, T. V. A. leader, which it now trails by three games. Though the Panthers had beaten Plymouth 27-12 in their first encounter, they were severely crippled by the loss of two star players through mid-year graduation, which Dearborn fans said ruined the team.

The tilt started out as a rough-and-tumble affair, and even though the referees "called 'em close," it continued thus through out the game. At the end of the initial period, Dearborn led 8-7, mainly through the efforts of Schmeltz, who made a free throw, caged a long one, and then dribbled through the entire Plymouth team to dump in a dog shot. Ross tied the score with a gift shot, but Coffin and Schmaltz quickly dropped in two baskets to give the Panthers a four-point margin. McAllister decreased this with a corner shot, however, but intermission came with Dearborn still leading, 13-11.

Plymouth went to work at once after its rest, and took the lead shortly. Rocky Smith and Joe Scarpulla made foul shots, and Joe followed his with a nifty mid-floor goal. Baker notched a short shot, and thence forward it was anybody's ball game. The score became 18 apiece; a tally made it 19-19, field goals by Krumm and Schmaltz made it 21 up. Dearborn pulled ahead at this point, and when the score became 25-22, she resorted to "freezing" the ball. This failed, however, when Smith sank a dog shot on a nice pass from Krumm. Unable to crack the Panther defense, Scarpulla tried a long shot. Bobby Hitt whipped in the rebound, scoring the winning point. Scarpulla finished the scoring. Receiving a free shot, he kissed the ball and it sailed straight and true, flicking only a few inches as it went through Woodward's Dearborn sub, became his team's goal when he received two gift throws in the last two seconds, and missed both.

Schmaltz, ace Dearborn forward, was easily the star of the game. He scored more points than all his teammates put together. Time and again he dribbled the Rock defense to shreds as he worked the ball in toward the basket. While he hung up thirteen points, the best Plymouth could do was seven, collected by both Ross and Scarpulla.

The Rock now stands at five wins, four losses. The victory over Dearborn will hearten them for the onslaught with Wayne scheduled for February 10. In their first tussle with that school they came out the loser by one point.

The line-ups were as follows:

Plymouth		Dearborn
Hitt	1 0 2	Coffin	2 2 6
Smith	2 1 5	O'Brien	0 1 1
Birchall	0 0 0	Ditrich	0 1 1

JUNIOR JOTTINGS

When Jack Butz changed Latin classes at the beginning of the new semester, Miss Deane remarked that the very source and root of all disturbances in the class was thereby eradicated. The troubled minds of her students will now do a little less roamin' and become a bit more Roman.

Some time ago Miss Wells was speaking to her geometry class. "Though the foundations of geometry were laid by Euclid, one of the ancient Greeks," she said, "almost anyone can pass it." A student in the back row spoke up, "Euclid," he declared, "but I couldn't."

While we're giving out these putrid puns, we may as well pass on the newest question that is going the rounds at Plymouth high school: Does the purpose have poor poise? There is practically no argument about it, it does.

It occurs to us that musicians are queer folk. They have fists that can't live in, scales that can't weigh things, notes they can't cash, and bars where there isn't even a smell of a drink. Beethoven, who they have been beating for a long time, though they don't know how to beat him, they always have time for a little extra when they have to play a piece. Further, they can't read. Beethoven, the man who wrote the Ninth Symphony, couldn't read. The man who wrote the Ninth Symphony, couldn't read.

THE GREATEST MIRROR WHEELMAN THIS SIDE OF GRAND RAPIDS!

Warren Todd, the furniture apprentice at Blunk's, has acquired a reputation for breaking mirrors in wholesale fashion. His first venture was quite a successful one inasmuch as he succeeded in rolling a 44-inch mirror down a flight of stairs, into a dining room where it almost knocked the housewife down and scared her half to death. But of all mirrors, it didn't break! In this instance, Warren seemed to have Lady Luck on his side.

However, the next trial seemed a turn-about. Before Christmas, he chanced to break a mirror of 36 inches—a considerable let-down from the other. This one, as luck would have it, crashed into a thousand pieces. This time Warren almost passed out.

But it seems that still he did not have enough chalk up to make a reputation for himself. To cap it all, he put his left foot through a china cabinet. He is now called "CRASH" by his associates at Blunk's.

However, the purpose of his apprenticeship is to teach and even if he should fumble sometimes—what of it? EXPERIENCE is a hard old teacher.

RESERVES CRUSHED 20-15 IN FOURTH QUARTER ON LAUGHT

Exhibiting an excellent brand of basketball and leading an all-around taller Dearborn team for three quarters, the Plymouth Reserves fell down dismally in the final period to a 20-15 Dearborn victory. The Wildcats tallied seven points in this final frame, while holding Plymouth to a goose egg to emerge high men in a well-played basketball game.

The Plymouth five piled up an early lead which lasted for the first two quarters of the contest, though they did not greatly outplay Dearborn in the earlier sections. Wilkie and Aluia combined for seven points in the first quarter against five for Dearborn, but both teams coasted in the second quarter. Dunham, Aluia and Robinson kept the score close, but the only Plymouth scores of the period, Dearborn connected for only four points to give the Rocks a 10-9 lead at half-time.

Both teams displayed an exceptional passing attack, Dearborn supplementing this with an alertness in the closing minutes. The team's main handicap was the lanky stature of the Wildcats which enabled them to come out of a front basket squabble with the ball a good percentage of the time. The Plymouth men intercepted enough Dearborn passes to make this handicap worth their while, however, for Dearborn relied mainly on the bounce pass which is more effective against taller opponents.

Bill Aluia, Plymouth guard, connected for three foul shots in as many attempts and two field goals to lead both teams' scoring columns. His nearest competitor was Cameron of Dearborn with six. Every boy who played, however, deserves credit for the excellent brand of basketball exhibited in the first three periods.

SCHOOL SPIRIT—EDITORIAL

There's been a lot said about school spirit but as yet no one has done anything about it. Of course there is a general interest among the students in athletics. If the weather is suitable, the football game are fairly well attended and the same is for basketball. But how about debate? At the very mention of the word people usually visualize a practically empty auditorium, the requisite number of speakers, judges, time-keepers, and the two couples, a series of dull speeches, and in general, a wasted evening. But don't get the idea that the students are the only "stayers-away" the faculty themselves manage to be conspicuous by their absences also. Economic standards being what they are, it seems strange that for once the "barge-hunters" at America refuse to take something free. Not only do they debate free to everyone but there's a great deal of worthwhile information to be gained. The team has won recognition this year in the Twin Valley Activities association league by winning more debates than any of the other five schools, and because of this will soon enter into the state eliminations. Whether or not they go far, will, of course, depend on the team so ably coached by Mr. Latture, however, a demonstration of genuine interest on the part of the students and faculty members would encourage the debaters to put forth a greater effort to win. The only thing that people are being asked to spend is their time. The team needs everyone's support and they guarantee a store of excitement and information in return. It's about time we made something out of that phrase "School Spirit"—Why not Plymouth?

SOME WILLING WORKERS FOR THE J-HOP

If it were not for so many of the so-called "willing helpers," just to whom would we attribute the success of the annual J-Hop? In every class there are many who feel they must offer their great talents toward the success of the formal dances (you may also find them in plays—ask Miss Ford, our great advisor, what to do for a cold).

The following is a portrait of any one of the willing helpers now working on the J-Hop. The committee for the coming J-Hop. Every Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and alternating Fridays at 3:31 and one quarter p. m., she tears out of her sixth hour class, pushes her books in the locker, and plows her way back through the hall to Miss Tyler's room. It is now 3:47 (she is so anxious to begin work). In one corner of the room two or three of the other "willing helpers" have begun a choice bit of gossip and she immediately joins them, but being interrupted by Miss Tyler's entrance, the group proceeds to haul the rolls of paper into the hall. After a little sketching, Miss Tyler asks our heroine to go down to the art room to get some paint. She seems to forget what floor the art room is on and soon finds herself on the first floor. Well, she might as well be on the basketball team is coming along with its practice (the one-man basketball team). Waives up to the art room and backs to do a little painting. After spending about twenty minutes painting she discovers she is rather thirsty. Goes down to the first floor to get a drink, (have you ever noticed how much colder the water is on the first floor than second?) but hearing the strains of "Sweet Sue" coming from the music room, she can't resist the temptation to discover who the great pianist is, just three guests on who it is. You're right, it is Bill "Larry Clinton" Thomas (in about two years, ask to hear his arrangement of "Sweet Sue"; it ought to be just about done then).

One half hour later we find our helpful little miss earnestly at work trying to see if she can blow the sparkle off the silver paint (some fun—try it some time). She hears the basketball team downstairs and runs down to talk with the boy friend. He says he'll be dressed in ten minutes so she goes upstairs to help her coat and books, figuring she has spent enough of her time on the decorations. It isn't her fault there aren't more people like her in the class that are willing to help.

And that my dear children, is the story of a J-Hop helper. A little bit of help, a little bit of love, a little bit of faith in the contest.

MR. CLAVE A NEW TEACHER

We welcome to our school, Mr. Ray Clave, who is a graduate of the Michigan State Normal College at Ypsilanti and comes from St. Clair Shores, his home town. He has his Bachelor of Science degree and intends to work on a Master's degree. While at college he majored in industrial arts, which he now teaches.

Mr. Clave likes all kinds of sports, including golf and baseball.

He says that he has enjoyed the first week at Plymouth High School and that he is his first position as a teacher.

PRIZE STORIES FROM BIBLE CONTEST RELEASED

The first prize essay in the Bible story contest was written by Roderick Daane. Second place went to Arnold Phillips. Both boys wrote about the Bible story which helps them most and these stories in their entirety follow:

JOSEPH (By Roderick Daane)
 I like the story of Joseph best because it is about a big family. There are a lot of brothers and one of the youngest became the greatest. The older brothers were not so good. I think it's very exciting because he had so many narrow escapes. In the pit, a prisoner and sold as a slave, he found the old father found his son, Joseph because he felt so bad. I think Joseph was very smart to explain the dreams and tell the king Pharaoh to get ready for a famine, but of course God helps Joseph to explain the dreams.

SAMSON (By Arnold Phillips)
 I like Samson because he was so strong and he showed that he loved his people enough to die for them. Another reason that I like Samson is because the story is exciting. It shows that there is a God who believes in the Lord and is strong. Another reason is that he was so witty and could think fast to save his life. It also shows that anybody who loses his faith or betrays the Lord that all his privileges are taken away. Another reason is that he had a big fight with the Philistines.

AL WEEKS SIGNED FOR J-HOP

If you are planning on having the time of your life at the J-Hop don't forget that now is the time to start saving your pennies. Al Weeks and his Commodores of Detroit, will provide the music and incidentally we've heard that he is a little bit better than good.

Invitations may be obtained by handing your name and address to Jean School, Dorothy Mack, Margaret Brandt or Kenyon McMillan. Those who are not in high school must present invitations. Call the high school if you do not receive yours by February 12. Don't forget to reserve Friday, February 14 on the calendar. Al Weeks and his Commodores will be at the J-Hop on Friday, February 14.

INFLUX OF NEW STUDENTS MAKES PLYMOUTH CLASS "A" SCHOOL

When a total of fifty-six students entered high school this semester, Plymouth became a class A school. Of this number, forty-one are seventh graders and the other fifteen are distributed among the other grades. At present, there are nine hundred twenty students in high school and of these, the fifteen hundred belong to the upper four grades. In order to be a class A school, there must be at least seven hundred students in the ninth grade through the twelfth; our classification of a grade A school will gradually affect our competition in the athletic field, making it necessary to play larger schools although at the present time both River Rouge and Dearborn are class A schools and Ypsilanti and Ecorse are very near the seven hundred mark.

The entrance of the new students has also made it necessary to put into effect the noon hour system wherein several classes are taught during the noon hour, allowing the students to leave school at 2:30. It had become necessary to do something about the noon hour congestion of the halls inasmuch as there were four hundred pupils eating in school, and so this system has been put into effect in which students have their lunch in the gym, some noon, and some four hour. This has helped relieve crowded halls at noon.

MR. X RIDES AGAIN

Mr. X is slowly but surely rising in fame and fortune. He has extended the means of reaching his public by making his radio debut over station WWJ in front of the Fox theatre, Friday, January 27. Mr. X was interviewed by the "man on the street." The following is an account of his interview: It was during a history exam that Mr. X got a bright idea of going down town that afternoon to see "Jesse James" at the Fox. His total pickings for the day, or should I say borrowings, were a dollar fifty-seven. After taking a bus from Plymouth to Grand River he boarded a street car. Now came his first mistake. Leaving the car at Woodward avenue he forgot that he was east of the theatre and started walking down Woodward. Was Mr. X surprised when he reached the Detroit river? Back tracking his steps for about two miles he found himself in front of the theatre. But wait, what was the big crowd in front? Was it an accident? Was somebody hurt? Mr. X being a Boy Scout and a man from Stark, bravely pushed his way through the crowd to see if he could be of any assistance. In the midst of the crowd was a luncheon with a microphone interviewing people. He had just asked a question and was waiting for volunteers to answer. Mr. X rushing in looked as if he was volunteering. The question, "What is wrong with women's hats?" was repeated. The answerer friend was interrupted in a small riot between Mr. X and all the women thereabouts. If a group of policemen had not seen the riot our Mr. X would probably be just another little spot on the pavement in front of the Fox.

DRAMA CLASS TRIES WRITING PLAYS

Having completed an intensive study of the techniques of acting, principles and the necessary requisites of the various types of plays, the drama class, under the supervision of Miss Winifred Ford, has turned to a new field—that of writing its own plays.

During the last few weeks all the members have submitted their plots for the three main types of drama—the comedy, melodrama and tragedy. The three plots selected by popular vote were a comedy by Ardith Rowland and Mary Lou Wright, a melodrama by Donald Hewitt and a tragedy by Doris Buzzard. These people then wrote their plays from the skeleton plots and after reading them before the class, student directors and assistant directors were selected. Ardith Rowland appointed Jacquelyn Schoof as director and she herself will direct. Yet not the director, Mary Kathryn Moon and Charlotte Joffile, who wrote Donald Hewitt's melodrama plot into play form will direct it, Jean Hamill and Doris Buzzard will direct the tragedy written by the latter.

All production and supervision will be by class members and the finished products will be interesting from the standpoint. When the casts have been selected their names will be published.

HIGH SCHOOL UNIFORMS

Whenever the subject of uniform apparel for public schools is brought up, a great deal of controversy is set on foot. The "classic outfit" of every school girl practically uniform? The sweater and skirt are paramount. Popular colors for skirts are blue and brown with gored and pleated skirts taking the lead in styles. Sweaters may be of any color or knit but if they are angora and any shade of yellow, they are the best. They are to be doubly correct, thin shirts worn under sweaters with only the collar showing are very flattering and are gradually usurping the popularity of the contrasting kerchiefs worn for the last two or three years; however, kerchiefs have found a new station in life. They are now worn in peasant style tied around the head. Incidentally, they are extremely practical for there are few hats that succeed in keeping one's ears so warm as do the flambouyant kerchiefs.

Variation of last year's skating hoods are now seen commonly on the street and much "dressier" ones are worn for formal occasions.

Jumping from one end to the other we would like to mention a few footwear styles. The standard oxford has lost favor and is being replaced by flats, or "saddles," or scuffies or whatever it is you wish to call the heeless crepe-soled shoes so common at the present time. These are worn with anklets and stockings. Popular are the plain-colored wool anklets that match the sweater or skirt of the costume. So, girls, there is your uniform.

You have all the freedom of choosing color combinations, styles and fit.

Of course, if you must be eccentrically individual, wear what you may, but for simplicity, freedom and style we recommend to you the high school uniform.

STUDENTS TAKE "TIME" TEST; SECURE NATIONAL AVERAGE SCORE

English 12 and History 12 students measured approximately the same as students the country over in the January "Time" test conducted at school last week. This test consists of 108 questions printed each January and May in Time Magazine appearance. The questions cover the following topics:

National affairs, business finance, science, map (location of points of interest), foreign news, the arts, pictures (prominent people to identify).

One hundred and twenty-one students took the test and the median score was 35, corresponding to the national score last May of 38. There is little change in the median every year.

The 14 highest scores, or the upper 10 per cent of the class, were:

Veronica Marti 79; Ellis Brandt 71; Charles George 71; Robert Amstutz 69; Robert Brown 57; Fatsy Arnold 61; Shirley Mason 59; Lewis Gilbert 58; Genaifer Greer 56; Barbara Olaver 57; Paul Thiel 57; Dorothy Roe 57; Belva Barnes 57; Betty Maslick 57. The scores of all the classes will be sent to the education department of Time magazine. There they are used in compiling the national averages. The school is able to secure the tests in advance of their publication in the magazine. These were secured January 24, and will appear soon, perhaps this week. Townsman are urged to compare their scores with those of the students. The medians are from nearly 18,000 pupils in grades 10, 11 and 12.

FIRST ELIMINATION DEBATE TO BE WITH HOWELL

The Plymouth debaters, having placed first in the Twin Valley Activities association league by eight victories out of ten debates, will enter into the state eliminations in the near future. The debate is to be with Howell on before February 17. This battle of wits will be a high point of interest in the season to the members of both teams, not only because it is a state elimination debate but also because these same schools met last year for the first elimination debate—at which time Plymouth was defeated. As yet the judges have not been selected. The debate will be held at Howell, Plymouth upholding the affirmative, Howell the negative side of the question. These sides are the opposite of last year's. The members of the Plymouth team speaking in the affirmative will be Ed Lorenz, Marvin Hauk, Leo Schmidt and Doris Buzzard.

The exact date will be published when it has been set by mutual agreement of the teams.

Red Olaver has a very good start on his own basketball team. Jack B. and Warren H. have volunteered their services. They are both on the second team—Bob Hitt is now traveling to "Virginia," and we don't mean the state, either—"Whose ring is Jack wearing now? Hmm! Look on his finger. He's wearing, too. Bob Brown has thrown down aviation for floriculture. He has a nice specimen of "Lila" locks. Tom Campion has broken down finally and condescended to dance. Yes, he actually attended the President's Ball in Fernside with a certain Jean of Detroit. What influence these out-of-town girls have on him! No Plymouth girl could ever succeed in accomplishing this, but we all weaken.—Bob Lorenz's dislikes center around pink angora sweaters we wonder why—Jean's sister loves to make you feel at home, doesn't she, Don?—Careful, boys, the school has a new Romeo in the person of Elmer Kreeger.—Ned May has a new box of stationery and does he love to "Wright."—We have heard that three certain couples had a swell time at the Greenfield Village dance given by Mr. Red. Somebody didn't like it, did they? Keith Florence Straub associates with all the boys, now that "Ham" is gone.—Doug and Chy love to dance in certain places of the hall, especially the corners.—Ed Holdsworth is said to be taking a liking to Barnie, who Bob Kenyon makes a good headway. Be? By the way, Bob, why did you change seats with Elmer in economics class?—Imagine Bud Jordan and Neil Curtis writing notes to teachers. Tut, tut, boys!

IS "BRUTAL" THE RIGHT WORD?

We like to think that this is a pretty good old world and that most of the people in it are pretty good. But every once in a while something happens to shake the faith we have in humanity. Rena Mooney, wife of Tom Mooney, recently pardoned by Governor Culbert Olson, now declares that her husband wants a divorce.

"But I won't let him have one," she declared. "Tom has talked to me about a divorce, but I can't understand why after what we've been through. Maybe it's because he wants all the applause—the crowds, the cheers, the bands."

"What is there left for me? This..." She was seated at her desk in the San Francisco federal music project. She was wearing a neat pink smock. It was faded like her tired eyes.

She was a 38-year-old wife when Tom Mooney was condemned to death for the 1916 Preparedness Day parade bombing and then was spared by a commutation of his sentence to life imprisonment in San Quentin.

Since then she has been waiting for him, hoping year after year for the pardon that eventually came immediately after Olson was inaugurated California's governor. Now that he finally is free, she says, he wants to quit her.

"Tom is the hero," she went on. "He takes trips on planes, travels, makes personal appearances, wears nice suits. I earn only $45 a month here. They won't let me see the books on Tom's income."

"We've been through too much to think of divorce. We've been married 27 years. I'm 61 now. We're old. I want to spend the remaining years with Tom Mooney—the old Tom Mooney."

"I fought to save him from the gallows. I fought for his freedom. I never had much money—only what I could eke out from my little music studio. What money I earned went for Tom."

"I'd like to go with Tom and be present at his personal appearances, but they won't let me. Well, I won't let them part us. Not even San Quentin prison could do that."

Possibly, after all, the "law" was right in the first place. It takes a brutal, cold-hearted person without the slightest sentiment in the world to cast aside a wife who has been as faithful to her husband as was Mrs. Mooney during all the years of his troubles.

No longer has Tom Mooney or any of his henchmen a right to ask the public to believe that he has the slightest, sincere interest in the "welfare" of the working man. A person honestly interested in the betterment of humanity must show that he has the same interest in his own kin—and Tom Mooney has demonstrated in a brutal, cold-hearted way that he has no such interest. Apparently, here is a pardon that should never have been granted.

upon to elect three members of the city commission. Two of the present members are seeking re-election. For the three places to be filled seven good candidates have announced themselves as willing to serve the city.

Plymouth is interested in one thing, a clean and economical government. That we have had. In fact, our city government has been outstanding, because of its splendid services to the community. It is true that there have been times when all of us have not entirely agreed upon all the things that have been done. But that is only human nature. It is simply out of the question, for all of us to think alike on everything.

That, however, does not prevent The Plymouth Mail from giving credit where credit is due. Mayor Hondorp and his entire official family have consistently endeavored to do for Plymouth what they thought was for the best. Because of this excellent condition, there is only one job for the voters of Plymouth to do, and that is, select out of the seven acceptable candidates the three they believe will continue the good work of the city government—and that selection is not going to be an easy job, because of the desirability of all of the contestants.

WE SHOULD NOT FORGET.

Sometime ago there was a bit of comment in this column pertaining to the excellent job the city has been doing since last fall in the removal of dead trees about the city. Several hundred have been taken from along side the streets and more are to be removed. This work does away with a danger that has become apparent to every one.

But we should not forget that the great line of trees along each side of the streets in this city is one of the outstanding beauties of Plymouth. Visitors comment about the big maples and elms of Plymouth in most laudatory terms.

The Plymouth Mail recommended last fall that for every tree taken out we should plant at least five young trees this spring. Of course all of the new plantings will not live, but if only half of them survive, it will not be too many trees to take the place of those that have been removed. The time is not far away for planting. This is simply a reminder that we should not forget this important job during April and May.

LINCOLN'S OWN STORY.

I was born February 12, 1809, in Hardin County, Kentucky. My parents were both born in Virginia, of distinguished families—second families, perhaps I should say. My mother, who died in my tenth year, was of a family of the name of Hanks, some of whom now reside in Adams, and others in Macon county, Illinois. My paternal grandfather, Abraham Lincoln, emigrated from Rockingham county, Virginia, to Kentucky about 1781 or 1782, where a year or two later he was killed by the Indians, not in a battle, but by stealth, when he was laboring to open a farm in the forest. His ancestors, who were Quakers, went to Virginia from Berks County, Pennsylvania. An effort to identify them with the New England family of the same name ended in nothing more definite than a similarity of Christian names in both families, such as Enoch, Levi, Mordecai, Solomon, Abraham, and the like.

My father, at the death of his father, was but six years of age, and he grew up literally without education. He removed from Kentucky to what is now Spencer County, Indiana, in my eighth year. We reached our new home about the time the state came into the Union. It was a wild region, with many bears and other wild animals still in the woods. There I grew up. There were some schools, so called, but no qualification was ever required of a teacher beyond "reading, writin', and cipherin'," to the rule of three. If a straggler supposed to understand Latin happened to sojourn in the neighborhood, he was looked upon as a wizard. There was absolutely nothing to excite ambition for education. Of course, when I came of age I did not know much. Still, somehow, I could read, write, and cipher to the rule of three, but that was all. I have not been to school since. The little advance I now have upon this store of education I have picked up from time to time under the pressure of necessity.

I was raised to farm work, which I continued until I was twenty-two. At twenty-one I came to Illinois, Macon county. Then I got to New Salem, at that time in Sangamon, now in Menard county, where I remained a year as a sort of a clerk in a store.

Then came the Black Hawk War; and I was elected a captain of volunteers, a success which gave me more pleasure than any I have had since. I went into the campaign, was elected, ran for the legislature the same year (1832), and was beaten—the only time I ever have been beaten by the people. The next and three succeeding biennial elections I was elected to the legislature. I was not a candidate afterward. During this legislative period I had studied law, and removed to Springfield to practice it. In 1846 I was once elected to the lower house of Congress. Was not a candidate for re-election. From 1849 to 1854, both inclusive, practiced law more assiduously than ever before. Always a Whig in politics; and generally on the Whig electoral tickets, making active canvasses. I was losing interest in politics when the repeal of the Missouri compromise aroused me again. What I have done since then is pretty well known.

If any personal description of me is thought desirable it may be said that I am in height, six feet four inches, nearly; lean in flesh, weighing on an average of one hundred and eighty pounds; dark complexion, with coarse black hair and gray eyes. No other marks or brands recollected. Springfield, December 20, 1859.—Taken from the "Illinois" on the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln.

WHAT SUDDEN WEALTH DOES

The arrest and conviction of radio and screen idols for participating in general big time evasion of our smuggling laws is not surprising, because what else can one expect of a class that piles up wealth far beyond their ability to take care of, that violate all the laws of decency and the established practices of human relationships.—Al Weber in The Cheboygen Observer.

LOCAL RESPONSIBILITY

The enforcement of the gambling laws and the investigation of the operation of the civil service law, are demanding more attention than any other Lansing activities.

Since the Governor announced that the enforcement of the gambling laws was a matter for local authorities, gambling has flourished in certain parts of the state, especially in the Detroit area where large gambling establishments have been operating without investigation. Public concern has been aroused and the Governor has been subjected to great pressure to which, it appears, he must soon yield or sacrifice the respect of a large segment of people who believe that organized gambling is against the best interests of society.

It is the general feeling that if the local authorities fail in their duties, that state must step in to see that society is protected against racketeers and big time gamblers. And this argument is sound.

It is probable that some mistakes have been made but the surprising thing is that the mistakes have not been more numerous.—Don Van der Werp in The Fremont Times-Indicator.

UPHOLDING THE LAW

Although the legislature has a perfect right to amend the merit system in any way it may choose, Michigan's civil service commission evidently is determined to administer the law as it now stands. By unanimous decision, this bipartisan body has ruled that state employees desiring the "temporary" position by department heads must be returned to the eligibility lists, and has also instructed the personnel director to refrain from approving the pay checks of persons appointed to jobs which were placed in the unclassified service without the commission's approval.

The decisions thus made are in no sense barriers to economy. State officials having the power of appointment can reduce the size of their staffs at any time without running afoul of the civil service law. They can do so by the simple process of laying off employees whose services are not required. What disturbs the commission right now is the fact that many of the employees recently dismissed should have been laid off instead. The law makes an important practical distinction between dismissals and lay-offs. A dismissal carries an implication of discredit to the employee, while an employee who is merely laid off becomes automatically ranked at the top of the eligible register—in a preferred position for re-employment.

The inevitable suspicion, of course, is that certain department heads at Lansing are anxious to get rid of employees who obtained their present ratings through qualifying examinations. It may as well be realized that this qualifying examination arrangement wasn't an ideal thing at all. If the legislature which enacted the civil service law had required that all jobs be filled from the very start through straight competitive examinations, those officials who are now trying to upset things wouldn't have even a pretense of justification for their attitude. But all that is past and gone. The important thing right now is to safeguard the basic principles of our merit system and await the day when, as a result of resignations and justified dismissals, our whole classified state personnel will be composed of employees who have obtained their jobs through competitive tests.

The civil service commission is doing its plain duty when it insists upon rigid observance of the merit law's provisions and demands that economy be achieved in the manner prescribed by the law—not used as an attractive camouflage for spoilsmanship.—Jack Walsh in The Kalamazoo Gazette.

GET THE FINGER PRINTS

If a stranger steps in and asks you to cash a check, just ask him to finger print the back of it along with his signature. If he is willing to stamp the check is O. K. If he is indignant at the request perhaps you are that much to the good if you refuse to cash it.—H. J. Richardson in The Augusta Beacon.

EFFICIENT SEEING

Devoted to Eye Welfare for Everyone

Walking On Railroad Ties

At some time, I am sure, you have walked on the ties along a railroad track. It took no more power or muscle to move yourself along than ordinary walking. But the necessity of supervising your steps set up a decided feeling of effort in your legs. That effort was not in your muscles but in the brain that directed them. Uncomfortable, inefficient seeing causes the same sense of effort. The optometrist's job is to eliminate such effort in seeing, to ease the burden of the brain's supervision and make it possible for the eyes to function swiftly, eagerly, automatically—while the mind is free to "enjoy the scenery."

The Backyard FLOODLIGHT

What is that noise in the back of the house, late at night? Flip on your backyard floodlight and find out! An inexpensive outdoor light of this sort is really a necessity: It adds immeasurably to your peace of mind, it contributes to safety, and it helps light the garage. A 100-watt lamp bulb in a simple reflector will do the job nicely... and costs next to nothing for the short time it is used. Coming on the low step in your rate, this incidental lighting will probably add as little as 10c a month to your bill. Any electrical contractor will gladly install an outdoor floodlight.
