

State's Financial Mess Left by Previous State Officials Grows More Amazing as Time Goes on

Nine Dollar Waste Paper Baskets for State Fair Offices Just a Mere Trifle, It Seems

(By ELTON W. EATON)

Chairman John Espie of the ways and means committee of the house of representatives came to the desk of the writer Friday just before the adjournment of the house and said that prospects are that the state's deficit will crowd the $26,000,000 figure by the end of the present fiscal year.

Bills are still coming in from people who sold something to the state or rendered some "services" of some kind during the last two years. The deficit is made up of expenses contracted and items purchased that have not been paid for.

How did the state spend its money during the last couple of years?

That is an interesting question.

Down at the state fair grounds there are numerous waste paper baskets throughout the offices that are connected with the cattle, sheep and swine show building.

The state bought some waste paper baskets for some of these offices during the "business" administration of the last two years. A waste paper basket costing $9.75 is a pretty nice waste paper basket.

In fact, it is so nice that the richest of the rich people of the land would hesitate to buy a waste basket costing that much money.

But that is just what the taxpayers of Michigan paid for paper baskets to be used around the fairground buildings down in Detroit.

That's a lot of hard earned tax dollars to spend for waste paper baskets that might get out in the swine pens, the poultry coops and the horse stables around the fairgrounds.

Here is the interesting part about it. The paper baskets that the taxpayers paid $9.75 apiece for are quoted on the regular market for only $4.25, according to Lynwood Snow, the new director of the state fair appointed to take the place of the famous Frank Isbey of the Murphy administration.

Dr. Snow says the baskets are so nice that he is tempted to have them placed in glass cases and put them on display for the next state fair.

City Approves Huron-Clinton Park Bill

Commissioners Would Reduce Proposed Tax

The city commission of Plymouth officially approved Senate Bill 115 at its meeting on Tuesday night. This act, known as the Huron-Clinton Parkway bill, is now before the house of representatives in Lansing. City commissioners are in favor of the bill which is an enabling resolution providing Wayne, Washtenaw, Livingston and adjoining counties an opportunity to join in a metropolitan district for developing the recreational facilities along the Huron and Clinton river valleys.

The bill would give authority to counties in southern Michigan for the planning, promoting, owning, developing and maintaining of more parks. The commissioners viewed the passage of the bill as necessary to Plymouth if residents ever wish to use the Rouge Drive. Crowded conditions in the Wayne county park area near the community are due to the influx of great numbers of people from the metropolitan area of Detroit. Most Plymouth residents resent the fact that recreational spots near this city should always be crowded for local people to enjoy.

Senate Bill 115 were passed, provisions for many other parks would be made to take care of much of the metropolitan traffic, and members of this community would again find privacy in Riverside and Phoenix.

The commissioners approved the body of the bill, but requested that the clause providing for the financial set-up be reduced from a half to a tenth of a mill. Letters to this effect will be sent by the commission. Representatives Elton W. Eaton, William G. Buckley, Clyde Fenner and Dr. Henry S. Curtis of the Parkway committee.

Commissioners Discuss New Budget

The budget committee composed of Mayor Henry Hondorp and City Manager Clarence H. Elliott presented a tentative budget for the next year to city commissioners Tuesday night.

The proposed financial plan will not call for an increase in taxes. In fact, the committee expects that with the $75,000 expected increase in the assessed valuation, the taxes may even be decreased.

Public hearing on the budget will be held Monday, May 1, in the city hall.

MRS. FRED T. MURPHY IS WOMAN'S CLUB GUEST

On Friday April 14, the Woman's Club of Plymouth will meet in the Crystal room of the Hotel Mayflower at 2:15 p.m. The speaker for the afternoon will be Mrs. Merle Bennett of this city, whose subject will be "Civic and Home Improvement." Mrs. Fred T. Murphy, of Detroit, will also be present to speak briefly on the highlights of the New York World's fair, of which she is the chairman of the women's advisory committee for Michigan. It is hoped that all members who can possibly do so will be present.

D. A. R. Members Attend Meeting

Mrs. Sidney D. Strong, Mrs. Dwight Randall, Mrs. Robert Leary and Mrs. Merle Bennett were delegates from the Sarah Ana, Cochrane chapter to the state conference of the D. A. R. held in Saginaw's Hotel Bancroft last Thursday and Friday.

The conference was attended by 300 delegates, 125 Good Citizen Pilgrims and other special guests. Among those honored at the meetings were Mrs. Pouch, the national president of the Children of the American Revolution, Mrs. Henry B. Joy, honorary vice president general Miss Alice McDuffy, honorary state regent, and Mrs. George D. Schermerhorn, national recording secretary.

During the last year D. A. R. members in all Michigan chapters have been concentrating their study on six subjects. Chairmen of local committees made reports on "Work Among Southern Mountain Schools," "Americanization Work Among the Foreign Born," "The Advancement of American Music," "The Appreciation of American History," and "Work in the Children of the American Revolution Chapters."

On Thursday evening the assembly members heard a talk by Grove Patterson, editor of the Toledo Blade on the subject "American Education for What?" A world traveler, Mr. Patterson compared our government with those abroad and found our democracy a failure in many ways. He stressed the point that in no other country do people have as much chance for free-thinking and free-speaking as in America. He urged the teaching of appreciation for the American heritage in the schools as well as better social consciousness.

Girls chosen from all over Michigan as best citizens in their high schools met on Friday for a luncheon with D. A. R. members. Local representatives Dorothy Roe of Plymouth and Lucille Lapham of Northville were present.

Dodge Named to State Board

STEWART DODGE

Announcement has been made of the appointment of Stewart Dodge of Plymouth as a member of the state board of pharmacy by Governor Luren Dickinson. The appointment has already been confirmed by the senate and Mr. Dodge advised of the action.

He was endorsed for the place by the Michigan State Druggists association of which he has been an active member for a great many years.

His appointment is one of a number of former graduates of Ferris Institute who have been selected for this board. The first meeting of the newly appointed board will take place in Lansing Thursday.

Mayor Approves Cancer Fight

Swinging into action in 45 states, the Women's Field Army of the American Society for the Control of Cancer opens an intensive campaign this month to tell the public that "Early Cancer is Curable." The chief aim of the women's army is education so that the general public will become cancer-conscious as it became tuberculosis-conscious only a few years ago.

In the Detroit area a good deal of organization work is being done this year in the suburban districts proper.

In Plymouth the campaign is approved by Mayor Hondorp and the city physicians, and the local unit of the Women's Field Army has enlisted the support of clubs and organizations. Superintendent George Smith is leading splendid cooperation through an educational program in the schools under the direction of Mrs. Mary Strasen, school nurse.

Mrs. Cass Hough, local chairman, is being assisted by the following committee: Mrs. H. J. Brisbois, Mrs. Russell M. Daane, Mrs. John Olaver, Mrs. Marjorie Finnigan, Mrs. J. Chaffee, Mrs. Elton Eaton, Mrs. George Chute, Mrs. Harold Anderson, Mrs. Seth Virgo, Mrs. Arthur White, Mrs. Austin Whipple, Mrs. Carvel Bentley, Mrs. Mary Strasen, Mrs. Glen Jewell, Mrs. Thomas Moss, Mrs. Frank Pierce, Mrs. Ward Henderson, Mrs. Robert Wesley, Mrs. Walter Hammond, Mrs. Paul Wiedman, Mrs. Robert Willoughby, Mrs. Sidney Strong, Mrs. Lyle Alexander, Mrs. Orson Polley, Mrs. George Wilcox, Mrs. William Morgan, Mrs. Bruce Woodbury, Mrs. William Otwell, Mrs. C. Poppenger, Mrs. John Dalton, Mrs. Paul Christensen, Mrs. Beva Hale, Mrs. Henry Root, Mrs. Walter Wilkie, Mrs. Allen Campbell and Mrs. Perry Hix.

Carroll Adams to be Guest Soloist

Carroll P. Adams, president of the Detroit Orpheus club and soloist of the First Congregational church of that city, will be the guest soloist at the Easter morning services in the local Methodist church.

Mr. Adams, a former Plymouth boy, is the son of the late Dr. F. B. Adams and Mrs. Adams.

Dr. Adams practiced medicine in Plymouth many years and Mrs. Adams was a prominent soprano soloist here.

From Plymouth they moved to Northampton, Massachusetts, where Dr. Adams died and where Mrs. Adams still lives.

Mrs. F. B. Adams is a neighbor and close friend of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge.

Thieves Steal Cigarettes from Truck on Highway

Plymouth Smokers Suffer from Near Famine

Cigarette smokers in Plymouth underwent a smoker's famine for a brief time last Friday afternoon and Saturday with the big truck carrying the weekly supply of "smokes" to this city was robbed somewhere between Ann Arbor and Plymouth.

When the driver arrived in Plymouth he discovered that all the cigarette cases on his truck had disappeared.

Investigation showed that some one had climbed in the back end of his truck in Ann Arbor and when the truck was part way between the two cities, he threw off the cases. An automobile following with three young men in the car, apparently picked up the packages as they were hurled from the truck, according to information gained by officers.

At some place along the highway when the truck was forced to slow down, the thief jumped out of the back end of the truck and was immediately picked up by his associates. They had plenty of time to make their getaway before the discovery of the theft was made when the truck arrived in Plymouth.

Seal Campaign for Crippled Children is on

Committee has 6-Year Record to Uphold

The annual campaign for the Easter sale of Crippled Children seals is now under way and is being sponsored locally by the Rotary club with Russell Daane acting as chairman.

Mr. Daane is also the treasurer for the Wayne county sale committee and it is with him that all the campaigns for this area are recorded.

According to his report Plymouth has led all other communities in Wayne county, with the exception of Detroit, in the annual sale during the last six years.

The seals sell for $1.00 per sheet of 100; of the proceeds 50 per cent is used locally for crippled children, 40 per cent goes to the Michigan society for use in other sections of the state and 10 per cent is sent to the national organization. Plymouth was allotted 500 sheets to be sold by service organizations and through the schools.

The very worthwhile work being done by the local, state and national societies for disabled children can only be continued through the successful sale of seals. The campaigns raise money for educational and recreational facilities for the crippled and endeavor to prevent crippling through extensive research.

The national society emphasizes the social implications and the need for coordinated programs of work done for the disabled children. It recognizes the fact that such programs must include all fields of the work, finding, hospitalization, and after-care. Such coordination can best be accomplished through the existing societies for the lame, which every citizen can aid through the purchase and use of Easter seals.

LOCAL BRANCH CHECKS AUTOMOBILE SALES TAX

The Plymouth branch of the secretary of state's office on Tuesday took over the duty of collecting all sales tax on new and used cars sold through dealers in this vicinity. Statements of the three percent tax on the delivered price of automobiles formerly were sent directly to the state board of taxation in Lansing.

IT WAS WRONG BEFORE

The Purity Market found itself embarrassed many times when last week-end customers inquired as to the price of boneless lean roast of pork and Armour's Star bacon. It seems that through error in the ad in The Mail these two items were announced at 27 cents per pound when in reality they should have been 21 cents. Mr. Galin, proprietor of the market, stated that in view of the error and considering the fact that the special price of 21 cents was a particularly good one he is offering it again this week to the thrifty buyers of this locality. So, according to the Purity advertisement elsewhere in this issue of The Mail you will find Armour's Star bacon and lean roast of pork offered to you for 21 cents per pound.

Lutheran Church Observes Easter

From earliest Christian times, and surely since before the second century, the Easter Festival of the Resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, has been commemorated as the Great Festival of the church. It has no connection with the season or with the heathen spring festivals from which it borrows its name. Its entire significance rests on the fact of the victory, begun on Good Friday with the voluntary and vicarious death on the cross, and sealed on Easter morning with the resurrection, as the triumph over evil, death and the devil.

Thus the Lutheran church celebrates these three days, Maundy Thursday, Good Friday and Easter as inseparably essential parts of the whole work of Atonement. On Maundy Thursday evening at 7:30 the congregation assembles to partake of the true Body and Blood of Christ in Holy Communion; on Good Friday afternoon at 3:00 the death of Christ for the life of the world is celebrated in a memorial service; finally, in two services on Easter morning, one at 6 o'clock and another at 10:30, the reality and meaning of the Resurrection of Christ is proclaimed.

Nineteen centuries of well-organized and deadly antagonism of attack have not dimmed the faith nor daunted the joyful proclamation of this fact and fundamental of Christian doctrine. Just as the disciples, who had hidden behind locked doors physically for fear of persecution and had also spiritually refused to believe in the resurrection, were overcome in their hearts by the manifold proofs of the joyful fact and went forth, fearlessly preaching the resurrection, although they knew it would cost no less than their lives and earthly security, thus the Easter sermon has been repeated and believed, wherever the gospel has gone.

Here, then, lies the rejuvenating power for a sin-sick and insecure world: In the resurrection of Christ, apprehended by faith, is the strength for the individual to forsake sin and hatred, and to live for love and peace. Here is the earnest of a better life after death, that will make the individual look upon mere earthly gain with contempt, while he strives for the eternal good. And since individuals compose nations, here lies the remedy for the health of the whole world today.

Edgar Hoeneke, pastor, St. Peter's Ev. Lutheran church.

Drama Climaxes Lenten Mission

The play, "The Centurion's Servant" was produced in the Methodist church Sunday night before a large congregation. This sacred drama written by Dorothy C. Wilson was given by the dramatic club of the Brightmoor Methodist church and was directed by Mrs. B. J. Holcomb.

A cast of nine players presented the Easter story of the Roman centurion's servant who was "sick unto death" and was cured by faith in Christ. Costuming and lighting faithfully reproduced Rome in the year 33. This production was the third one in two years given in the local Methodist church by the Brightmoor players, and it climaxed the week's preaching mission here.

Is Plymouth Growing? Here's Proof of It, If You Doubt It

Frank Burrows has voted in Plymouth for 33 years. He has always voted in the same precinct, since Plymouth has been big enough to have such things.

When he walked in to vote Monday morning, there wasn't a single person on the election board that he had ever known.

"I doubt if any of them knew me," he said. "It all goes to show how rapidly Plymouth is growing. Pretty soon we will not be knowing our neighbors."

Fire Damages Titan Refinery

An exploding oil pump at the Titan Refinery on Stark road started a fire early Monday night that caused damage to the plant somewhere in the neighborhood of two or three thousands dollars according to plant officials.

Although the fire was soon put out by the steam fire fighting apparatus available there for that purpose, instruments on the fractionating tower were completely destroyed. The plant is closed for the present but officials hope that it will be in operation within the next few days when replacement parts arrive.

Robert G. Downing, an employee, who was working with the oil pump at the time of the explosion was badly burned about the face and hands. He was taken to Plymouth hospital where doctors say he will be confined for at least a week.

Date for Annual Clean-up Week to be Fixed Soon

City and Chamber of Commerce to Work in Unison

Plymouth's annual clean-up week, which will probably take place during the first week of May, will be a regular "house-cleaning" according to plans now being considered.

City officials have written the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce asking that that body cooperate in making the annual clean-up and paint-up week one that will produce real benefits to the city.

At the last meeting of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, President Stanley Corbett requested Secretary Frank Rambo to work with the city government in creating general interest in the annual clean-up.

Rubbish and other refuse that has accumulated during the winter months will be removed and an effort will be made to have as much outside painting done as possible.

The date for clean-up week has not yet been fixed, but it is expected that City Manager Clarence Elliott will announce it within the next week or so.

Members of the association reelected Dr. B. E. Champe as president; W. E. Forney, vice president; L. H. Alexander, secretary; and Jack Taylor, treasurer. Those present felt that these men were responsible for the club's success during the last year and chose them to fill the same posts.

The committee of four chosen to make plans for a bait-casting contest within a few weeks, consists of Mark Chaffee, Hugh Horton, Eddie Wood and William Rambo.

Mrs. Ted Foster, Sutherland avenue, is spending the week with her mother in Lansing.

City Approves Sewage Change

A resolution was passed by the city commissioners Tuesday night stating that in their opinion Plymouth should join its sewers to the Wayne county interceptor sewer now being constructed along the Rouge river.

A recent report on the condition of the sewage disposal plant for the city led to an intensive survey by the commissioners. Several weeks ago the city manager presented them with the plan for joining the county sewer. Commissioners were given time to make inspections and formulate their opinions. Since the expense of re-locating the present plant and hiring a full-time engineer would be only the first cost if the city were to try to take care of its own sewage problem, the commissioners decided against this idea. In joining the county sewer the city will be relieved of many former responsibilities with no actual increase in cost.

City Manager Clarence Elliott was instructed to immediately enter into negotiations with the county road commission; the agreement will be drafted and presented to the commission in the near future for formal approval.

Cubs Hold Honor Court and Hobby Show

After the honors had been presented, a baseball picture was shown, through the courtesy of the Mobiloil company by R. J. McDowell of Rosedale Gardens. Refreshments were served following the entertainment.

In the display of hobbies, Bob Thams' den won the banner given by their cubmaster for the best exhibit. Scout Commissioner Sidney Strong concluded the program with a short address to the parents on their part in the furthering of cub scout work.

Among the high-flying birds are storks and cranes, which sometimes reach 20,000-foot altitudes in the Himalayas, and vultures, which go higher.

George Smith P. T. A. Speaker

At the last meeting of the Starkweather Parent-Teachers' association, George Smith gave a very worthwhile talk entitled "Do You Believe in Democracy?" In brief, Mr. Smith said:

"If you believe in democracy then you must allow others the right to express themselves both in speech and by the press. 'Even if your belief is different others should be allowed the right to worship as they wish. 'If you believe in democracy you will be willing for tax money to be spent for industrial or other small classes. Every boy or girl should have an opportunity to develop his or her ability regardless of whether it is for profession or industry.

"The appropriate course now being offered for high school credit in preparing boys and girls for work.

"The one great danger to democracy from without is the threat of war.

"One of the dangers to democracy from within is unemployment. The unemployment must be corrected. The government at the present time is keeping too many. Those who loan money to the government are receiving their living from the government, as well as those working on F.W.A. and other United States projects. This leaves the layer between too small.

"The bank of today is a safety vault, not a loaning institution. We must be willing to take a chance on new enterprises. If the government helps to develop new minor industries and even 50 per cent fail, the remaining 50 per cent would give employment to thousands thereby reducing the present unemployment.

"Another danger is crime. The boys and girls must be reached through the home, church and school. These must work together. Criminals, when asked if they are connected with a church usually name one, but when checked, have never been connected with any. The largest percent of criminals has never attended church or Sunday school.

"The third danger from within is the failure of those who are most competent to take part in the elections. It is the duty of everyone to make a careful study of the candidates to put into office the best man for the place."

At this meeting the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Frank Pierce; vice president, Miss Dorothy Slatcher; secretary, Mrs. Herbert Swanson; treasurer, Mrs. Lawrence Burgett.

State's Financial Mess Left by Previous State Officials

other day turned over a few other "bills paid" by the taxpayers for items down around the state fairgrounds.

During the fair it is necessary now and then to sweep up the paved thoroughfares between buildings as well as sweep the concrete floors within the structures.

Push brooms are used for this purpose. The top price quoted on the market for these brooms is $23.50 per dozen, according to Director Snow.

Under the past administration the state paid $90.00 per dozen for these brooms. Mind you, there is not the slightest difference in the quality of these brooms that the state could have purchased for $23.50 per dozen and those the state paid $90.00 per dozen for.

It will be interesting also to take a glance into the new cafeteria that the state installed just previous to the last state fair.

Visitors to the fair will recall that the woman's building was turned into an eating place by Mr. Isbey.

The taxpayers of Michigan spent $24,000.00 to put in one of the finest equipped cafeterias in all the land.

How much did the taxpayers get back last year out of that investment?

Just $61.00.

Figure out how many years it will take for the taxpayers to get back $24,000.00 spent on this cafeteria if the return on the investment is going to be only around $61.00 per year. The interest on $24,000 at six per cent runs hundreds of dollars more than the total return the state received last year from this "improvement" at the state fair. In fact, the interest charge is $1440.00. That's what you might call "high-brow" financing, would you not? Or would you call it something else?

It would be easy to go on and on showing up items of these kinds. Some of them are so dumbfounding that they are almost beyond belief—to think that tax money could have been spent in such extravagant and useless ways.

Members of the legislature who are trying to untangle the state's financial mess sometimes hold up their hands in amazement at all that happened during the last two years.

One hundred thousand dollar expenditures looked like so many pennies to some of the non-taxpaying officials who ran the state government up until January first.

The deplorable part of it is that Michigan is now confronted with the worst budget-balancing situation it has ever had.

Flooded with hundreds of new bills that were introduced the first of this week, the hopes of members of the legislature to have the present session ended early in May do not at present seem so bright. Of course, a vast number of the bills will doubtless be killed in committee, but that takes time, and plenty of it.

Some of the committees have been meeting nights for a number of weeks past in order to sift out the good from the bad. With these additional legislative proposals, it looks as though the hopes of an especially early adjournment have gone glimmering. The last of May is about the best guess any one now makes. But even that will make the session some two months shorter than was the one during the previous administration.

William Matthews Kiwanis Speaker

William E. Matthews, of Detroit, spoke to Kiwanians at their meeting last Tuesday evening. His subject was "A Canadian's View of the Ten Greatest Americans."

Born and raised in Canada, Mr. Matthews came to the United States several years ago and has since been employed by the Detroit Edison company as public relations man. Norman Denny, local agent for that company, was chairman for the evening.

Kiwanians found Mr. Matthews' choice of the greatest Americans interesting and in most cases similar to their own. He ranked Washington and Lincoln first and rated the others equally: Daniel Webster, Alexander Hamilton, Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Jefferson, General Robert E. Lee, John Marshall, Ralph Waldo Emerson and Teddy Roosevelt.

President T. R. Roosevelt was the last one chosen because Mr. Matthews did not attempt to pick out the greatest men of the past two decades.

OPEN NEW IMPLEMENT STORE IN TECUMSEH

J. H. Stevens and M. G. Partridge have formed a partnership and been granted a franchise by the Allis-Chalmers company to sell and service all their products. The new firm is located at 105 South Pearl street, in Tecumseh.

Their territory includes several townships around Tecumseh in Lenawee county. Mr. Stevens has been selling farm implements and machinery for over 20 years, so is well versed in that line. Mr. Partridge has spent nearly all of his life on the old homestead just west of Plymouth and for the last year and a half has been connected with the agricultural conservation administration. Both men report that a large number of farmers have called on them so far and expressed their pleasure in having a sales service and repair shop in Tecumseh as heretofore they were obliged to go to Toledo, Ohio. Mr. Stevens and Mr. Partridge have many friends in and around Plymouth who extend best wishes for their success in their new venture.

VALUABLE OYSTERS

Lincoln Park (MPA).—When G. M. Geoffroy bit down on one of the morsels in an oyster stew he was eating in a local restaurant, he bit something hard. While he reprimanded the proprietor for almost causing him to break a tooth, his wife discovered that the hard morsel was a pearl. There were two of them in the oyster. The proprietor offered $50 each for the jewels, but Geoffroy refused, preferring to have their value checked.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST Scientist-Sunday morning service, 10:30. Sunday school at 9:30. Pupils received up to the age of 20 years. Wednesday evening testimony service, 8:00. "Are Sin, Disease and Death Real?" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, April 9. The Golden Text (Exodus 15: 26) is: "I am the Lord that healeth thee." Among the Bible citations in this passage (Acts 17: 24, 25): "God that made the world and all things therein, seeing that he is Lord of heaven and earth, dwelleth not in temples made with hands; neither is worshipped with men's hands, as though he needed any thing, seeing he giveth to all life, and breath, and all things." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 472): "All reality is in God and His creation, harmonious and eternal. That which He creates is good, and He makes all that is made."

New Governor Free to Serve as He Thinks Best

No Strings Tied to Chief Executive

Michigan's "man of the hour" is Luren D. Dickinson.

The new governor of the state took the oath of office at 8:20 a. m. Friday, March 17, under circumstances that were strangely similar to those under which Calvin Coolidge, tight-lipped, economy-loving Vermonter, assumed officially the obligations as President of the United States sixteen years ago.

The scene of both ceremonies was a farmhouse. Simplicity prevailed to an old-fashioned spartan degree.

"I am humbled by this new responsibility," the new executive said. And being governor was not going to make any difference in his creed of living; he said he would continue to teach his Sunday school class, health permitting; he would continue to decline invitations to social affairs on Sunday, which he and his wife always observed as the Sabbath, not a holiday.

The remarks were typical of a man's wholesomeness which is supported by a life-time of clean living.

Sternness in Morality

In matters of public morality, Governor Dickinson will be stern and unyielding.

As vice-president of the National Anti-Saloon league and a prominent layman of the Methodist Episcopal church, he will countenance no compromise with gambling. In his inaugural address before the State Senate, Dickinson warned that America may invite the fate that befell ancient Greece and Rome if it tolerates corruption and immorality.

"The vehement outcry from every locality of our own state," he said, "are uttering vociferous demands that we purge our state of these gambling leeches, habits of our fairs, races, resorts and roadshows."

Much as he favors home-rule responsibility, the governor will not tolerate gambling. In fact, it is almost inconceivable that the question would ever have arisen in 1939 if he had possessed supreme executive powers.

Economy to be Emphasized

A man who has always lived simply, Governor Dickinson exemplifies the watchword of economy which Fitzgerald carried to the capitol city.

It was noticeable that in the

'No Formula'

Dr. Ernest R. Groves, noted authority on family problems and a professor of sociology at the University of North Carolina will be among opening speakers at the fifth annual conference on conservation of marriage and the family, opening Tuesday, at Chapel Hill, N. C. Dr. Groves will tell the conference that there is no "cut and dried formula for a successful marriage," but that three essentials are involved, intelligent selection, good preparation for marriage and the spirit of co-operation.

first legislative session, after the tragic loss of the party's leader, the House of Representatives voted almost unanimously to curtail the spending of the four to a list of associations, reducing their appropriation from $25,000 to $20,000 a year. At the same hour the Senate sliced more than a million dollars from appropriations there, easily outdoing their colleagues in a staunch stand for economy.

Again Michigan's "Coolidge" may be well expected to hew closely to the economy line.

Home pressure groups, no matter what their interests may be, will be treated alike by the governor. His whole life has been predicated on economy which will hold in all his official action.

Liquor Control

Although the new governor hates the liquor business, legalized as it is, yet he will probably take a realistic viewpoint on the course of wisdom for 1939.

The state treasury now receives on an average of eight million dollars revenue for the state's part in controlling the sale of liquor. In a year when administration is struggling to overcome a big deficit and to balance the budget, thus putting its financial house in order, the loss of eight millions would be a major blow.

The new governor is known to look with disfavor on the state's participation in the liquor business, even if nominally for the purpose of control. While he would not trade morality for money, it is believed that the pressing demand for economy will be given temporary preference at this time.

The governor took great delight, as one of his first acts, in signing a bill requiring temperance education in the public schools. Education of the evils of alcohol, together with strict enforcement of the present law, will likely form his 1939 policy on this question.

No Political Debts

In the field of political action, the new governor is singularly free of political debts.

It is being said freely at Lansing that he owes no obligations to vote manipulators such as Edward Barnard, wealthy attorney in Wayne county, and Frank McKay, influential industrialist in Kent county, who pooled their delegate strength at the Grand Rapids and Flint conventions.

To that extent, it now appears that these gentlemen are out at the end of the proverbial limb.

The legal possibility that a succession of responsibility might impose the mantle of official duties on Harry Kelly, secretary of state, has not been received joyously by the Wayne county Republican boss. Kelly owes his job solely to the insistence of Fitzgerald that he (Kelly) be given a place somewhere in the state-making. Reliable information is that Kelly is independent. A front-line fighter in France during the World War, the Detroit secretary of state likes to scrap. It all fits nicely into the rapidly changing picture at Lansing.

Canny Observer

Legislative leaders who know the new governor intimately agree that he possesses remarkable mental prowess for a man of nearly four score years.

His ability to handle detail work has always been apparent. He has a memory for names and faces that is distinctly above the ordinary. More than one veteran legislator 20 to 25 years his junior has declared: "Dickinson's mind is a lot keener than mine."

From his long experience in public affairs, having been lieutenant governor so many years that he has become an "institution" to people in small towns rural areas—in general, Michigan's middle class, Dickinson has acquired a canny sense of reacting to public opinion.

He may be expected to proceed cautiously. He has already indicated that it might be wise to concentrate legislative attention to four major problems: Civil service, labor relations, welfare and budget-balancing.

Just as the legislative trend two years ago was sharply to the left, leaving a $16,000,000 red-ink mark for Frank Murphy to work in about, so the 1939 legislature appears to have swung the other way. The net result, among the four issues, may well be a conservative labor law (taking advantage of the Lewis-Martin C. I. O. feud) and a sharp slash in state spending. The economy trend, if continued, would justify in the eyes of administrative leaders a lessening of civil service control, putting fewer state employees under its rules, and a tightening up of the purse strings for welfare expenditures.

Dependence on Advisors

Because of the physical limitations imposed by his age, together with the general desire of party leaders to protect him against strains of the office, Governor Dickinson will depend to a greater extent than recent executives on administrative assistants and advisors.

The brunt of work is being divided among such men as Emerson R. Boyles, legal adviser; Leslie B. Butler, secretary to the governor; Gilbert Shilson, "secretary without pay" pending outcome of the utility commission case in court; and the ranking chairman of important committees in both the Senate and House.

Senator Felix H. Flynn, president pro tem of the Senate, is one of the governor's intimate friends.

The moving finger writes, and Michigan's octogenarian governor, Coolidge-like in his credo of life, is the new man of the hour. Interesting history is still in the making.

LOOKED LIKE A FIGHT

White Cloud (MPA) — Lloyd Towns left home one evening with the intentions of fighting. When he returned, it looked as if his objective had been accomplished, but there was another reason. Lloyd was "clean up on the guy" responsible for publishing an item about himself and his girl-friend in the school news of a local paper. When he arrived in town to look for his "enemy," he slipped and fell on the ice-spread sidewalk and bruised his face. There was no fight that evening.

Early cancer is curable.

Jeff Maps Program

"King" Jeff Davis, emperor of 1,500,000 "subjects" organized in the League of Hoboes of the World, has plenty of smokes for a change as he prepares to open the thirty-first annual convention of the Hoboes of America, Inc., at Cleveland Saturday. Besides a general "new deal" program, Jeff's program for 1939 includes shower baths in railroad boxcars and a one-cent fare for hoboes. Jeff defines a hobo as one who will work. But a tramp, he says, won't work, while a bum can't.

We never did think much of those billboards on express trucks, but we think even less of them since learning that Joseph Weiner, London advertising man who suggested the scheme, had to sue the Railway Express Agency in order to collect $80,000.

Scientists Will Hear G. W. Allan

Gavin W. Allan, C.S.B., of Toronto Ontario, Canada, will be the Christian Science lecturer who will speak at the high school auditorium on Tuesday evening, April 11. The subject of his address will be "Christian Science: The Science of Government." The public is invited to hear Mr. Allan.

A brief synopsis of the address follows:

"Doubtless we have all felt at times that we did not know enough to govern ourselves rightly, and yet right government is always possible. Did not our Master prove during his ministry that He whom the Bible calls God, and Love, and our Father is available to man at all times to the solution of his every problem? In her definition of God in the Christian Science textbook, 'Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures,' (p. 587), Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science uses these terms: 'The great I am; the all-knowing, all-seeing, all-acting, all-wise, all-loving, and eternal Principle: Mind: Soul: Spirit: Life: Truth: Love: all substance, intelligence.' If we could be governed by that 'all-knowing, all-seeing, all-acting, all-wise' Mind we should surely be governed rightly.

'Humanity's discords can largely and quite properly be attributed to ignorance—ignorance of God, ignorance of what is really true about ourselves as God's representatives. The more we understand of God and His good government of His creation, the more harmonious will we be in every department of our lives. Principle: Mind: Soul: Spirit: Life: Truth: Love: all substance, intelligence.' If we could be governed by that 'all-knowing, all-seeing, all-acting, all-wise' Mind we should surely be governed rightly.

'But how can we acquire our selves with God and our true relationship to Him? During our Master's life on earth he revealed God to men as no one else has ever done. If we but read carefully the record of his life as given in the Gospels, we cannot fail to grasp some of the spiritual facts of being: God's love for us, His presence with us, His care for us, and our sonship with Him. Then if we turn to the Christian Science textbook we shall find this relationship explained and illustrated in many ways, and as we put this growing knowledge into practice we shall find that we are developing an understanding of God and man which cannot be shaken, because it is founded upon Principle.

Family 'But to return to the subject of something in which each of us should be so vitally interested that he would do his utmost to elect as his representatives those who have the highest concept of government. The art of government should be peculiarly the field of action of the Christian Scientist, for is he not learning that God alone governs, and that the Science which deals with God's government of man and the universe is the only science of government? When the inhabitants of a country are completely subject to God's government, their politics will be scientific.

'An enlightened citizenship is the need of the hour. Individual liberties are under constant and subtle attack, and alertness is required to safeguard popular government, and civil and religious freedom. Autocracies may be superficially efficient. But efficiency is not the primary purpose of democracy. If the primary social purpose were efficiency, that is to get things done and done quickly, one of the best methods would be to hire a good tyrant and set him to work. One difficulty might be, of course, to find a good tyrant. But democracy is enlightenment, education. It is to so educate each individual that he may be fitted to assume intelligently his share of the responsibility for good government.

'The state was made by men for men. Men were not made for the state. Each individual within the state has a right to choose his calling, and to change it; the right to constructively criticize the government, and to change it if necessary. Democracy is based upon an equality of rights: the right of individual communion with God; the right to reflect div-

Government. Many of us have in our immediate environment others who are very close to us—our families. Our social unit is not the individual, but the family; and the harmonious government of a family may frequently involve the facing of problems which might come but seldom to the solitary individual; problems of instruction, obedience, and continuous self-immolation. There is probably no other art that requires so much education, so much wisdom and so much practice as the art of living justly and charitably with others. The larger the household, the greater the number of mentalities through which self may endeavor to assert itself, and self has quite a family. Here are some of them: fear, jealousy, hatred, self-importance, self-righteousness, self-justification, self-will—trouble makers every one.

If these qualities were always recognized as impersonal errors they would deceive no one, and would have little opportunity to cause trouble, but if, on the other hand, we allow ourselves to personalize these evil tendencies, to admit that one member of the family is governed by this one, and another by that, and then because of this permit ourselves to deal unfairly with, or dislike the person, we shall allow evil to gain a foothold which may not be quickly dislodged.

'Frequently we may find it helpful to consider what it was that enabled Jesus to help others so effectually. Whether the belief to be overcome was sickness, sin, or death, our Master proved that it could be done immediately. What equipped him to do this? Was it not that he entertained a "correct view" of what man really is? Our textbook answers this question in a sentence. This is it: "Jesus beheld in Science the perfect man, who appeared to him where sinning mortal man appears to mortals. In this perfect man the Saviour saw God's own likeness, and this correct view of man healed the sick" (Science and Health, p. 476). If this correct view of man enabled Jesus to help others, how important that we should endeavor through Christian Science to acquire "this correct view."

Nation The interest of the individual should extend to an even wider circle—the nation. There government is all too frequently influenced by politicians in their partisan activities.

'Politics as defined by the dictionary is, "The science and art of government." It is therefore ine intelligence and activity; and not the right only, but also the inherent ability and capability of man to reflect God's good government."

Make Plans for Hobby Show to be Held Soon

Display of Rocks Expected to be of Unusual Interest

What's your hobby? Making ugly ducklings, wild-stage coaches, polishing beautiful stones and rocks, collecting old Bibles, horse-shoes or freakish designed bottles?

Whatever your hobby might be, it will not be long before you will have the opportunity to again display masterpieces of your handiwork or samples of your hobby collections at the second annual hobby show to be held within the next few weeks, according to an announcement just made by sponsors of the event.

It will take place in the high school auditorium and from information that has been given out, it will far exceed any previous effort in interest and numbers on display.

Plymouth has any number of "hobby fans." Among them are

Cemetery Memorials
J. L. Arnet & Son
Ann Arbor
BEN GILBERT
959 Penniman Ave.,
Local Representative

Erant Warner, of Harvey street, who has Plymouth's most elaborate set of tools for cutting and polishing gems. For years in his spare time, Mr. Warner has collected rocks and stones and by cutting and grinding them, he has revealed some beautiful gems. The walls and floor of a basement room in his home which he calls the "Chamber of Horrors" are covered with evidences of his hobby; drawers of rocks, classified as to kind and location from where they were secured, grinding and polishing wheels, jars of half-finished gems on daub sticks, a Bunsen burner for melting metal, and tools occupy all available space.

In this interesting room Mr. Warner refines gold, grinds common-looking rocks into colorful gems and beats out silver and copper into pieces of jewelry. In a case prepared for last year's show, he has arranged nearly 100 of the jewels that he has cut. Amethysts, jasper, tiger eye stones, moss agates, rose quartz, black opals, petrified wood and nephrites, or greenstones, and thomsonites native to Michigan, are included.

Mr. Warner, who is a member of the Michigan Mineralogical society has acquired much of his knowledge of stones at the meetings of this group. Well-known for his hobby, he has encouraged many of the Plymouth mineralogists in improving their collections.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Woodworth are also members of the Mineralogical society and have a fine accumulation of stones which they plan to exhibit at the hobby show. Their collection includes many fluorites which they hope to display in a fluorescent case that will be equipped with a "black light" to make the stones glow in the dark. Mr. Woodworth, who attended the College of Mines at Houghton, has spent much time in the copper mining region, gathering stones and minerals. He has made numerous trips to the limestone quarries at Clay Center, Ohio for some of his best specimens. He finds every gravel pit near Plymouth a potential field for quartz, jasper, calcite and geodes and fossils.

Among other Plymouth residents who collect precious and semi-precious stones, is Miss Verna Rowley, of Wing street. For many years she had added to her store of unusual rocks until she has quite a complete collection. On her trips she gathers strange bits of stone and minerals and has most of them classified. From the southwestern part of the country, she recently secured an egg-shaped turquoise, large pieces of fossilized wood from the petrified forest, native garnets and green stones from northern Michigan. The most interesting thing about her collection is the story connected with each rock, which she delights to tell.

Glenn Jewell is one of the latest neophytes in the fraternity of Plymouth mineralogists. His special field is the collection, cutting, grinding and polishing of zircons, although he does have many greenstones and thomsonites brought from Isle Royale. He recently joined the Michigan Mineralogical society and has been attending the meetings held every other week at Cranbrook.

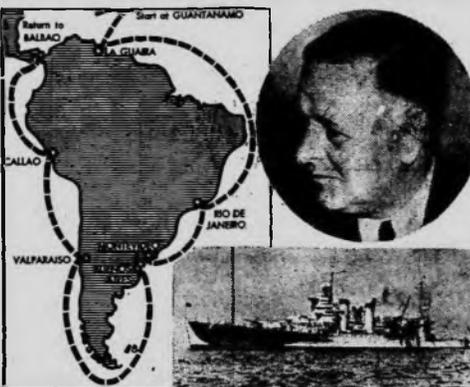

Probably there are many other Plymouth people interested in the collecting of stones. They are urged to bring their collection to the show this spring. The mineral display will undoubtedly be one of the largest exhibits and promises to be even more complete than before. The committee wishes everyone with an unusual hobby to notify some member of the group so that arrangements may be made for a display at the show.

Members of the committee are Glenn Jewell, Mrs. Leo Crane, Mrs. Robyn Merriam, Mrs. Russell Daane, Lisle Alexander, Marvin Partridge and Margaret Buzzard.

RIVER IN REVERSE

Trenton (MPA) — James Holden was watching the ice, snow and water in the Detroit river, driven by a northeast gale, racing down the river. Suddenly, the ice seemed to stop. Then the river actually went into reverse, picking up speed against the north-east blow. Engineers explained that such a thing happens once in 30 or 40 years, when the water in Lake Erie becomes higher than the water in Lake St. Clair.

Cruisers on Good Will Tour

Headed by the flagship San Francisco (inset) under Rear Admiral H. E. Kimmel, three United States heavy cruisers will leave Guantanamo, Cuba, Saturday on a good will tour to leading South American ports. Accompanying the San Francisco will be the Cruisers Quincy and Tuscaloosa. The boats will return to Bilbao, Canal Zone, on June 4.

To Hurry Refund Payments

Harry F. Kelly, secretary of state, has made arrangements whereby the payment of refund claims against the state on gasoline used by individuals or corporations for industrial, agricultural or other refundable usages, if properly made out and sent to the secretary of state within the time limit, will be allowed and paid within 15 days.

Individuals or corporations using gasoline for other purposes than to operate motor vehicles on the public roads, streets and highways in this state are entitled to a refund of the state tax on gasoline of three cents per gallon so used. Purchasers, to take advantage of this refund privilege, must file a sworn claim with the secretary of state within 90 days from the date of purchase. Claim blanks are furnished by the secretary of state on request and must be accompanied by the original invoice or invoices from a registered gasoline dealer received by the purchaser, showing the date and amount of gasoline purchased and when approved by the secretary of state, will be paid out of the state highway fund upon the state warrant of the auditor general. These claims are not assignable without the written consent of the secretary of state.

Kelly states that if the claim for refund is received, properly filled out and notarized and in proper order, the claim will be allowed and paid within the 15-day period.

LOCAL YOUTH NAMED TO ALBION FRATERNITY

Atwood Seeks Tax Money

Orville E. Atwood, managing director of the state board of tax administration, today moved to step up the efficiency of this important revenue collecting agency by insisting that collections be in before the 15th of each month. Under the law all payments are due the first of each month, but the period of grace extends to the 15th for filing of reports and payment of the tax.

"We find by our records that these reports have been drifting into the office all during the month and checking upon delinquents has become complicated and difficult," Atwood pointed out. "By insisting upon the deadline date, as the law provides, we shall be able to establish a system by which we shall know every delinquent within a few days after the due date. We shall also be able to make complete investigation in cases of all who have failed to file their monthly report."

The new procedure will be of assistance both to the state and the taxpayer instead of being permitted to get months behind in his reports, we shall be able to help the taxpayer keep with in a month of being up-to-date."

The sales tax director in this connection announced a new departure in his collection procedure. "We are setting up a new follow-up system in the delinquent collection department," he explained. This will benefit the state by making it possible for us to make, follow-up contacts with delinquent and complete collections of past due accounts, many of which are being lost under the present set-up. "It will also be playing fair with our merchants, who are meeting their tax obligations promptly."

Under present rules of the state board of tax administration all returns and remittances are now being made directly to the Lansing office from all lower peninsula counties with the exception of Wayne, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw, and Monroe. Remittances from these last named counties go to the Detroit office. Upper Peninsula taxpayers remit to the Marquette office.

D. OF A. MEET TONIGHT TO PLAN SPRING INITIATION

The Old Glory chapter of the Daughters of America will meet tonight at the Grange hall.

Members will discuss plans for initiating a group of 20 candidates into the local organization in the near future. Final arrangements will be made for the ceremony which will take place at the D. of A. convention in Detroit this spring.

Texas U. Acquires New

World's Oldest Volume

AUSTIN—A copy of "Doctrina Breve," oldest book printed in America, now rests in the University of Texas library.

The volume, which Librarian Donald Cone says is one of three in the United States, is a catechism printed in Mexico in 1543 and 1544 by Bishop Juan de Zumarraga, whose printing press was the first brought to the New World. Zumarraga had printed books in America three years earlier, but none of those are known to exist now.

The Spanish volume bound in heavy Spanish leather decorated with gold tooling, is in an excellent condition according to Dr. Carlos E. Castaneda, Latin-American librarian at the university.

"Doctrina Breve" is included in a collection of 160 volumes and 50,000 pages of manuscripts obtained by purchase from heirs of Joaquin Garcia Icazabalca, noted Mexican historian and collector.

Among the manuscripts is a letter from Bernardo Cortez to Emperor Charles V of Spain, written on October 15, 1545.

History of Inn Found

Within Walls of 1760

WEST BROOKFIELD, MASS.—While tearing away the interior of Ye Olde Tavern, swept by fire, workmen found a history of the inn written nearly a half-century ago by the late George E. Messenger, former landlord. The history dated back to the founding of the inn in 1780 by its first landlord, David Hitchcock.

Cutworms Win Crop Pest Title

Greatest consistent crop pest in Michigan, is the "Farmers' Enemy No. 1," title given to the cutworms which operate each year throughout the state. So entomologists at Michigan State College are continuing research begun two years ago to classify cutworms by species and areas in which they prove prevalent. More than 500 species are present in the state, about 30 of them commercially important. Two years ago Professor E. I. McDaniel obtained more than 2,000 specimens from many sections of the state. Farmers, students and 4-H boys and girls contributed. After sorting the shipments and classifying them, the laboratory staff made attempts to propagate them to study complete cycles from cutworms or larvae through the adult or moth stage.

The entomologists learned then that cutworms easily succumb to changes in temperatures and humidity.

"We can use more specimens this spring, now that we know how to propagate them," says Professor McDaniel.

One precaution is suggested to those who would contribute. That is to send them in limited numbers of 20 or 25, shipping in an airtight container mixed in with grass so that their cannibal instincts are not aroused. Information as to location, type of soil and crop also is useful to the entomology staff at East Lansing.

Sand and muck are favorite soils for the cutworms. Black, white and green are some of the common colors of the pests. Their natural enemies, in addition to temperature and humidity, consist of two protozoan, two or three bacterial diseases and parasitic wasps.

Fear Crisis in Fishing Dispute

Defying orders from Moscow, Japanese fishing boats are expected to leave their home ports Monday for Russian fishing waters which the Soviet has ordered closed to Nipponese fishermen. Japanese floating salmon canneries, which have exploited Russian waters since the treaty of Portsmouth in 1905, are being protected by warships against threatened Russian action.

Plymouth Eats Argentina Fruit

Maybe it's spring in Plymouth, but it's fall in South America—and as a result Plymouth merchants are offering South American fall fruits for sale.

Grapes and pears, just as nice and as fresh as if picked from the trees and vines in Michigan, are now on sale in Plymouth stores.

This is not the first time South American fruits have been imported to Plymouth, but never before have such large quantities been placed on sale as this year. Wrappings show that the fruit is produced in Argentina.

It is interesting, too, to know that the strawberries now on the Plymouth market are no longer coming from Florida. The berries are being picked in southern Alabama and Georgia and shipped to the northern markets. The strawberries that were sold in Plymouth during January and February and early March all came from Florida, but few of the berries are now being received from that state. Not so long ago some of the merchants had South American melons for sale.

LIBRARY GETS MAGAZINE FOR CAMERA FANS

The staff of the Wayne county library in Plymouth announces that, because of popular demand, a magazine on photography has been added to the periodicals. The current issue of "American Photography" and back copies of the magazine for the year are now available.

Amateurs and professionals will enjoy the news of other camera fans, the newest photographic developments and the latest equipment as found in the pages of this magazine. Prize-winning portraits and candid shots are also included with pictures of the equipment used to develop and print them.

Two other periodicals have been recently secured to augment those now on the racks; they are the Townsend Weekly and the Grange Monthly.

Folk Dances to be Featured

Mrs. Kingsley Miller, physical education teacher, announced today that instead of the annual demonstration, high school classes will give a demonstration of Early American dances in May.

A change is being made this year because folk dancing has been included in the curriculum during the last two semesters. Benjamin Lovett has trained eight young men from the Greenfield Village to teach these dances in schools in this area. Henry Ford, who sends the teachers, does not require schools to pay for this service and he invites the pupils to be his guests at the Lovett ballroom once during the semester to apply the principles they have learned.

T. C. Markiewicz, the instructor for Plymouth, Milford, Ypsilanti Central, Dearborn and some Detroit schools, replaced James Johnston, who taught in Plymouth during the first term of the year. His accompanist is Robert Beliveau. Every Thursday morning the high school gym is crowded with students learning such dances as the valeta waltz, the rye waltz, the ingleside, the military schottische, the varsoviene, the heel and toe polka, life on an ocean wave and the five step.

Benjamin Lovett, head of the institute, recently returned from the Ford plantation in Georgia and will visit the class in Plymouth in the near future. Mr. Markiewicz said.

Cinch Victory in Euchre Game

Players in the Canton Center-Cherry Hill Euchre club conceded the year's championship to H. Wagonshultz and R. Waldecker last Wednesday night.

This team cinched the title by defeating P. Hix-J. Cash 11-7; their next goal is beating the club record of 162 wins in 260 games. For the final session they will play the West boys and a winning streak of eight games from them would tie the record. F. Waldecker-W. Theisen, who were tied with Gotts-Blackmore last week, were beaten by them 9-4. Second place still belongs to the Finnigan-J. Grumble team; they held it because they won from the West boys with a score 9-4. Ziegler-Johnson also took Freedle and Buckner 7-6.

Tonight the champions of Livonia and Redford township will play Wagonshultz-R. Waldecker for the title at Cherry Hill.

Seniors Offered Trophy for Essay

Dr. John A. Ross, well known Plymouth optometrist, will present a silver loving cup to the member of the senior graduating class of the Plymouth high school writing the best essay on "Should the United States Keep Out of Foreign Entanglements?"

Members of the graduating class are urged to submit their essays not later than Monday, May 1, on which date the contest will close.

The following rules apply: Essays must be very legibly written or typewritten on plain paper 8 1/2 x 11 inches. The first page is to contain a number which will be given you in the principal's office when you signify your intentions of entering the contest. This is to avoid any partiality being shown by the judges. The principal's office will keep your name and number on file and the judges will name the winner only by number. Remember your number must be on file with the principal's office but your name must not appear on the essay. Neatness will count. Briefly no limit is placed on the number of words that you may write, but remember that sometimes as much can be said in 150 words as can be said in 5,000 words.

The judges will be chosen from among the leading civic leaders and professional men of Plymouth and environs.

Remember the contest opens today and closes Monday, May 1, 1939. Register your number at the principal's office at the high school and tell us what your views are on this question that is on the lips of every serious thinking American today.

The winning essay will be published in The Plymouth Mail and the trophy will be on exhibit in the school throughout the month of April.

NINE PREPARES FOR A RUGGED SCHEDULE

A goodly squad turned out to try for positions on the baseball squad when Coach Jacobi gave the signal last Tuesday, March 22. A delay in the arrival of necessary equipment stayed the opening date until this time.

A preliminary survey indicates that the nine will be mainly a veteran combination, with four or five regular berths open for a scramble. It will take all of the three weeks remaining before the season opens to whip the material on hand into an efficient fighting unit, which it will have to be if it expects to lick Cooley, on the Rock catalogue for the first time. The schedule follows:

April 19—Cooley, here
April 21—Ferndale, here
April 22—Northville, here

PREVENTION OR CURE—WHICH SHALL IT BE?—EDITORIAL

A movement is afoot to make a course in automobile driving compulsory for all high school students except those with serious mental or physical defects. In view of the flood of pro and con sentiment it has aroused, a glance at the cold facts is in order.

At the present time youngsters are taught to drive by parents or friends. Not one in a hundred of these pseudo-mentors knows all he should about driving yet each considers himself a fit instructor in the use of a weapon more deadly than war—the automobile. When such an innocent machine as a car can cause so many more deaths than the bloodiest of battles, as statistics show, something is wrong. It shows among other things, a woeful lack of knowledge of the part of the Man Behind the Wheel, which points to but one thing—a need for training.

During 1937, persons between the ages of 18 and 24 were at the wheel in 30.5 per cent of all fatal accidents. This shows that high school is the logical place for a driving course. College would be much too late and would not reach enough people in this day when everyone drives. Grammar school, on the other hand, would find the student before he had attained his greatest retentive powers, and he would not yet be ready to assume the responsibility of driving.

Since there is such a crying need for instruction, and since high school is the most logical place for this, it follows that action should be taken. The "ounce of prevention" must be applied in place of the pitifully inadequate "cure of the present"—revoking the driver's license after the mishap. The high school student of today is the daily driver of tomorrow. Will he learn to drive at the hands of one who has made it his occupation, or will he receive deficient training and get the rest by experience, perhaps at the price of another of those grim and ghastly "accidents"?

TO HOLD DANCE DURING SCHOOL'S SPRING VACATION

There will be no dances this week at the city hall but there will be two during vacation; one Friday, April 14 and one Saturday, April 15.

Jack and His Melody Lads will play on Friday for the older group from 8:00 to 10:30. Mike and his Rhythm Kings will play Saturday from 7:30 to 9:30. Everyone is invited to come and wind up their vacation in a bang-up way. The music will be good and the gang will be there—Times A-Washin'.

Roller skating resumed this week with a large group of very young people in the afternoon and an even larger group of the older young people in the evening. Everything is going smoothly and the older ones are helping out on the floor which assists greatly in keeping order.

PILGRIM PRINTS MEMBERS ADMITTED TO JOURNALISTIC SOCIETY

In recognition of their proficiency in journalism and as a tribute to their industry in behalf of the Pilgrim Prints, the Quill and Scroll, international honorary society for high school journalists, presented certificates of membership to Ellis Brandt and Mary Catherine Moon—symbolic of their acceptance into Quill and Scroll society.

In admitting the Plymouth high school writers into its membership the society sent the following laudatory letter: "As editor-in-chief and feature editor, respectively, these people appear to have been doing outstanding work in every sense of the word. We have only to consider their high production record, their good lengths of service and their adviser's enthusiastic words of appraisal to appreciate how they have made their presence felt on the staff by their industry and earnest application and how well they deserve these honors. We warmly welcome them into our ranks, confident that they will do all in their power to uphold the high traditions and standards of the society."

THE CASE OF THE NOISY WASTE-BASKET

It was Monday morning, and quiet reigned in the study hall. It was a splendid example of a lovely spring day, and students crowded over their books while the teacher in charge, Mr. Crumie, glanced occasionally at the beautiful outdoors and turned reluctantly back to her work. Suddenly the silence was rent by a series of muffled thumpings. Teacher and students looked up. The noise appeared to come from the waste basket reposing in the corner, but what could it be? Mrs. Crumie crept cautiously toward the receptacle muttering courageously, "Ah ha! We have a captive!" She quailed, however, a scant yard from it, and glanced toward the nearest boy.

"You look in," she quavered, and every lad in the room rose to his feet (the girls had already done so). Don Holman advanced manfully. Without hesitation he inserted his arm, scattering a covering of waste paper, and lo and behold! there was a dirty, disrespectful, unspeakable rat! Mrs. Crumie gasped and retreated to the haven of her desk. "Will you take it down to the janitor?" she asked. Don took basket and all, returning five minutes later minus the rat. The teacher smiled. "Have you disposed of it?" she inquired. Don nodded. This evoked a sigh of relief from his questioner, and she bent again over her labors. Several girls giggled, and silence reigned once more in the study hall.

AN APRIL SHOWER

A constant din upon the roof. Then running down the pipe. Out in the street it hurries on. To form a silvery stripe.

It rains so hard we cannot see Beyond its wall about us. The sky a quilt of midnight blue. Sets out the lightning glorious.

Yet while we sit here watching. The rain begins to cease. The darkness fades, the clouds roll by—God's beauty to increase.

The sky is shaded beautifully. Navy, azure, on to rose. A memory only of the storm—God's day dawns to a close.

BEAN SALE PROFIT TO HELP PAY G. R. EXPENSES

Selling over 109 quarts of baked beans gave the Senior Girl Reserves a profit of over $20 for their work during the last two weeks. Celia Lewis received top honors for selling the most and received a pen as reward. The beans were cooked by Mrs. Harry Brown and Mrs. Max Robertson and were delivered by the girls on Saturday, April 1. The money will be put into the Girl Reserve treasury to help pay the many expenses of the organization. Some of the activities planned are the mother and daughter banquet, May breakfast, senior farewell, the recognition installation services, and the summer conference to be held at Camp Cawell at which two delegates are sent with the club paying half the expenses.

35 TICKETS ISSUED FIRST WEEK OF STUDENT GOVT

During the first week of enforcement of the traffic regulations for the school halls, the fifteen trusty troopers issued 35 tickets, the receivers of which appeared in traffic court Tuesday, March 28 after school. The offenders were sworn in by Chief of Police Thams and permitted to speak in their own defense. The trooper who issued the ticket spoke in defense of the school. The majority of the defendants pleaded "guilty," however a few chose to plead "not guilty of the various misdemeanors charged to them. Among the offenses were such charges as snapping an officer's suspenders, insulting a n officer, walking three abreast in the hallway, running in the halls, wearing hats while in the building, fighting, and yelling. To weigh the evidence and decide the fates of the defendants, the judges, Robert Kenyon, Bettie Knowles, Shirley Mason, Keith Jolliffe, Ruth Roediger, Charlotte Jolliffe and the foreman of the judges, Lewis Gilbert after hearing the cases, retired to another room and later returned to pass sentence upon the offenders. In view of evidence presented, some of the persons were acquitted with a warning to be more careful in the future and others were assigned work in teachers' rooms to be done after school hours. Jagquelyn Schoof acted as court stenographer and Betty Korb as court clerk. The police were troopers, Bennett and Brooks. Since this student government is primarily a senior project, it was encouraging to members of that class that only two seniors received tickets—the majority of ticket receivers being from the seventh, eighth and ninth grades. There were only three girls receiving tickets.

A WHIFF OF SPRING MAKES STUDENTS SING

Spring once more permeates the high school atmosphere. Baseball, track, tennis, and golf have called forth innumerable boys for the practice sessions. Windows throughout the building are left open to admit the fresh, tingy air. Even the bespectacled student, loaded down with a dictionary under one arm and a math book under the other, walks through the halls with a smile on his face. The one sure sign of spring, the one unerring and undoubted prognosticator, is in every conspicuous evidence: in every class there are yawnings and stretchings and lessons undone which remain to be done. Scarcely a day passes without the miniature shutter being clicked on some unsuspecting teacher or student who may be in a pose that is not the height of decorum. The fad has developed to such an extent that enthusiasts even carry their cameras in classrooms; but some teachers are able to cope with the situation, have ruled that a camera is liable to seizure if brought in a classroom.

JUNIOR'S JOTTINGS

With television and all sorts of heretofore undreamed-of contrivances now coming into general use, it seems but a step further to visualize the Plymouth High School of the future (ten years or so). Junior therefore recommends that you take a peep into the recently invented "spectrotoposcope" and see what may be about the high school in a decade.

To start from the ground up, the grass in front of the building, unless an artificial and more enduring type has been invented, will be struggling for life in sparse clumps—the victim of careless students' feet. In this connection there will probably still be the thomp-thumping of running feet and other irritating noises in the halls with an occasional futile effort to curb the sounds sponsored by various school societies.

In several rooms pupils will complain to the teachers that the screws holding their seats to the floor have fallen out—the tortured screws being victims of an excess of overweigh caused by an excess of thoroughly masticated and hardened gum under the seat proper. (The last time the gum was removed was back in 1939 when the senior traffic system was installed and several deservet "law breakers" were meted out the punishment of an hour's hard labor at gum eradicating.)

On the bulletin board we will see a notice to the effect that any pupil who has been in the senior class for a period of ten years or longer is to be expelled; also on the board is the notice that new and up-to-date school buses can be expected during the next month, the regular conveyances having met their Waterloo in a recent windstorm.

From chance conversations we can gather that in a decade an extra course, athletics, is to be offered. Any boy who wishes to change his last hour class in their favor is automatically switched to the course. It was designed by enterprising teachers who found that when spring rolled around they had none of the masculine sex listed in their last classes.

We also gather that a modified sulphur and molasses extract has been put in tablet form for the exclusive use of spring fever sufferers. The medicine, however, has been called a quack by some doctors.

Don't forget: "Tempus fugit" (so do some people's minds).
Editors note: The above is the idle forecasting of a dreamy Pilgrim Prints member. It is not necessarily the opinion of this sheet, the principal of the high school, the Plymouth Mail, nor the author's assistant. For that matter, it may not even be the writer's opinion. It is, therefore, recommended that the reader take what he has read with a large grain of salt!

Lawns Should be Fertilized now

Now is the time to get the lawn in condition for a season of enjoyment and use, according to County Agricultural Agent, E. I. Besemer.

A spring application of commercial fertilizer should be applied now so as to give the grass an early start. Use a 10-6-4 fertilizer at the rate of 10 pounds per 1000 square feet and spread it EVENLY over the lawn. The fertilizer may be put on with one of the small fertilizer distributors or it may be mixed with dry soil and spread by hand. Mixing with dry soil provides a means of getting the fertilizer on evenly if no distributor is available.

If put on at once the fertilizer need not be washed into the soil as it does not burn the grass, however, later in the season when the grass is actively growing the commercial fertilizer must be applied when the grass is dry and it must be thoroughly watered immediately.

A second application after the middle of May of a complete fertilizer will be enough for the Kentucky Blue Grass lawns until around September 1 when another application should be made.

Crab grass is an annual and the seeds do not germinate until around June 1 to 15, and by proper fertilization in the spring a thick turf should be developed which will tend to smother out the young crab grass seedlings. In order to obtain best results from fertilizer on lawns set the cutter bar on the lawn mower to cut at a height of not less than two inches.

Chewing's New Zealbud Fescue should be used for shady places. It should be remembered that under trees more care is required to keep grass growing. The trees and the grass are both using plant food and water, thus additional applications of fertilizer and the liberal use of water is necessary.

MICHIGAN LEADS ENTIRE COUNTRY AS A CHERRY PRODUCING STATE

For a number of years Michigan has been the leading cherry-producing state and accounted for nearly one-fourth of the cherries produced in the entire United States. Severe freezes in early April last year sharply reduced the prospects in southwestern and west-central counties, and later freezes destroyed a large percentage of the remainder in the southwest district and took a heavy toll in the Grand Traverse area. Final reports indicated 30 percent of a full crop was harvested last year. The southwest district reported 17 percent; the west-central district, 50 percent; and the north-west district, 27 percent of a full crop. Production in New York suffered to a lesser extent while each of the three Pacific coast states had a bumper crop of cherries. As a result, United States production was only about four percent under that of 1937 and 20 percent above the average of the preceding 10 years. Michigan's rank in production was thereby lowered from first to fifth place. About seven percent of the state's crop usually consists of sweet varieties, but, being less susceptible to injury from freezing, their proportion of the total was 15 percent in 1938.

But It's True

Mr. Hardy was forty-four years old when he died of pneumonia. It was not until two years before his death that he discovered he was not normal.

Farmers Spend Billions for Seeds

Mother Nature has been a bountiful provider of crops in Michigan for a century or so, but once again she is about to exact that spring tribute—the seed supplies that must go into the ground.

Within the borders of this state the seed bill in 1939 runs into millions of dollars.

Little estimate can be made of what it takes to plant the backyard, vacant lot or farm gardens. With specific farm crops where the acreages are known, however, it can be accurately estimated that for but six of the major crops it will take more than five million dollars in seed, even if these are taken out of ordinary market supplies.

Largest of these seed bills is that for potatoes.

Two of every three of Michigan's 198,000 farms produce enough potatoes to be considered in the commercial production which has raised the state to second in the nation. So the 250,000 acres which the crop occupies will require 3,750,000 bushels whether from ordinary bins or from higher priced certified seed supplies. So that's an item of $3,311,000, as near as specialists at Michigan State College can estimate.

Wheat and oats are the next two important items for seed. Michigan is not an important wheat growing state in national rating. But nearly a million acres will require about 1,300, 000 bushels of seed wheat, worth even at ordinary farm prices, about $780,000.

Oats occupy about 1,225,000 acres, each seeded at a rate of about two bushels to the acre, another matter of $812,000.

Alfalfa acreage in Michigan leads the nation. Even if but one-sixth is reseeded or replaced this year, it will take about 30,000 bushels, worth a half million dollars, to cover 175,000 acres.

Another crop is beans. If recent plantings are repeated, there will be about 460,000 acres of beans in Michigan in 1939, requiring 300,000 bushels of seed. At $1.05 a bushel this is another $315,000. Barley seed for 166,000 acres will total 250,000 bushels worth $165,000. Sugar beet plantings to cover 140,000 acres can cost $252,000.

R. E. Decker, known throughout the state for his work as Michigan State College farm crops extension specialist, and now beginning work as assistant state agricultural county agent leader, points out these immense seed supplies as an instance where dollar saving can mean poor quality, poor crops and poor prices.

Although it is economy, he says, to gather seed crops out of bins on the farms, the quality should be above average. He has worked for years with certified seed growers whose relationship with the college is to increase new seed variations, to maintain purity and quality in recognized stand-by varieties.

Potato seed stock, he finds, could be renewed each year to advantage, and certified seed should be used each three years or so in planting such crops as oats, barley, wheat and beans.

"Many farmers overplant in seeding barley, oats, clover, alfalfa and perhaps wheat," warns Decker. "One crop which proves underplanting is common is potatoes. About 15 bushels to the acre is the common planting rate but those who get high yields usually drop in 20 to 25 bushels of seed to the acre."

So there is a brief picture of what faces Michigan's farmers in the next few weeks. One might add an estimated four million dollars and more for commercial fertilizers, also purchase of new seeding and land working equipment, but Dame Nature waits to turn on spring breezes, so it's time for city folks to scan seed catalogs and for farmers to size up bins of suitable seed stocks.

Potatoes are partly blamed for the World War, on the grounds that introduction of the potato into northern Europe made a great increase in population possible.

Red Cross Offers Braille Work

A group of Plymouth women completed the fourth in a series of ten lessons in Braille on Wednesday of this week. These classes, sponsored by the local Red Cross, are given in the home of Mrs. C. H. Bennett, president of the organization.

The 12 women who are learning this system of printing for the blind have several purposes; first, to learn for their own information and secondly, so that they will be able to transcribe written work for blind people. The cost of books and magazines in Braille is almost prohibitive and it is hoped that small community groups, such as this, will become so popular that many people will be able to transcribe literature for the sightless. The high cost is only one of its drawbacks however, because the selection of works in Braille is limited. One of the local group said that it is a general notion that only serious, philosophical subjects or "deep" poetry should be transcribed. Blind people enjoy stories of love and adventure just as much as people with normal vision, but these are almost unobtainable in Braille. This organization of a local group is one step in the movement to popularize Braille.

To learn the alphabet of the blind is almost like learning another language. Equipment includes an awl-shaped stylus and a metal guide; this guide, which is clamped over the paper, has spaces for two lines of writing.

Letters are made by pricking tangible points in the paper in any one of 63 possible combinations of the elementary six dots. After the alphabet has been formed from these dots, the other combinations, are used to denote diphthongs, punctuation and common conjunctions, adverbs and prepositions. Working from the right to the left of the page, the holes are punched so that, on reversing the paper, the words may be read as people with normal eyesight read.

Members of the class meet only one hour a week and this time is devoted to correction of homework and preparation for next week's lesson. All practice is done outside of class. Membership in the class is free and open to all interested Plymouth women.

Miss Ella MacLennan of Detroit, blind since infancy because of an accident, is the teacher of the class. She recently told her pupils the story of the invention of Braille by a French teacher of the blind in 1834. Braille's father was a shoemaker and his son Louis found that by punching holes in shoe leather, he could make points which could be read as letters and he perfected this system into the one used by most blind students today. Since he was French and there is no letter "w" in that alphabet, the "v" has been added to the English version and so it is the last letter in the alphabet for the blind.

Members of the class who attend from Rosedale Gardens are Mrs. James B. Kinahan, Mrs. A. S. James, Mrs. Stafford Francis, Mrs. Warren Mason and Mrs. Steve Bracy. Miss May Paquette comes from Detroit for the class. Stella Buckberry from Romulus and the other seven ladies are residents of Plymouth. They are Mrs. J. R. Witwer, Mrs. Irene Graham, Miss Elizabeth Sutherland, Mrs. Jessie F. Tritten, Mrs. Walter J. Patterson, Mrs. William Wood and Mrs. Myron Hughes.

League Begins Fourth Year

The fourth annual meeting of the Inter-County Baseball League was held at the Plymouth city hall last Sunday.

The same officers who have served since the beginning of the league were re-elected for the fourth consecutive time. They were Earl G. Gray of Plymouth, president; Charles Bradley of Inkster, vice president and Ray Levandowski of Plymouth, secretary-treasurer. An eighteen-game schedule was adopted, to be played on Sundays and holidays, starting Sunday, May 7. The new pitching rule was voted on and accepted.

Fourteen teams were present on Sunday; they were: Schrader-Haggerty and Perfection of Plymouth; Northville Merchants; Belleville Merchants; Cass Benton Park; Detroit Ace of Clubs; Inkster Merchants; Trenton Merchants; River Rouge Merchants; Whitehead and Kales of River Rouge; Garden City, Wayne Merchants, Huron Bengals and Wyandotte Orioles. Others are invited to join.

If we hope to amount to anything, we must break away from the herd.

Old Bookkeeper to Go Back to School At 72 He Wants to Finish His Education.

CLEVELAND—William E. Street, 72-year-old bookkeeper who hates to leave things unfinished, wants to go back to school to finish his education. "I don't know what good it would do me," he said. "But I want to do it anyway."

Street, who had to quit his studies while in his third year at Western Reserve university in 1888, went to work then and never seemed able to get back to his textbooks, but he's been through plenty of ledger books in 50 years.

He retired January 1, after 50 years' work for what now is the National Screw & Manufacturing company. He has wished all that time that he could have finished school.

Street and his wife, Josephine, moved recently to a place nearer his office because they had lived for the last 10 years in a little white cottage in suburban Rocky river.

The 30-mile streetcar ride to work proved too tiring. During summer days, in those years, Mrs. Street used to cross Rocky river in a row-boat every afternoon to greet him.

Street and his wife like to recall old times they have enjoyed together. They usually spend their evenings at home, reading to each other or singing. Mrs. Street, the daughter of Cleveland's first piano tuner, plays the piano for these vocal sessions.

Street's mother died when he was 10, and he lived for several years thereafter with his grandparents. He wanted an education, but when he was 15 his grandfather, a self-made wealthy man, decided it was time he went to work and faced the world.

Mineral Food on Ranges For Cattle Being Tested LAS CRUCES, N. M.—The animal husbandry department at State college is carrying the laboratory to cows on the range in a relatively new kind of experiment which will last for three years.

The work is intended mainly to find out if range cattle get enough calcium and phosphorus from normal range feeds, by determining the amounts of calcium and phosphorus in the blood. Work of this nature has been done on dairy cattle, but results are not applicable to range work because it is impossible to get normal range data from feed lot tests.

Two separate groups of cattle are being used. One is quartered on a natural range pasture, the other with a mineral supplement. Results of this experiment should be valuable in determining the value of supplemental mineral feeding for range cattle, college instructors said.

Range work of a similar nature is being done in Arizona and South Africa, school officials said. "Our experiment is somewhat different because they bring the blood samples into a laboratory before caring for them," a spokesman said.

Mobile Phone Exchange Starts Work in London LONDON—The postmaster general has inaugurated a new mobile automatic telephone exchange. Two years ago the postoffice introduced the first mobile postoffice to afford postal facilities at shows and other outdoor events.

The new exchange on wheels is the first in the world. It can be used for restoring telephone service in the ordinary exchange is out of action by fire or other calamity. It can also be used where unavoidable delay has occurred in completing a new exchange.

The unit is self-contained, with a petrol engine which automatically recharges the batteries as required. Rain water on the roof is collected and used for cooling the engine. The capacity of the unit is 100 circuits.

Britons' Teeth 'Better' LONDON—The British are a people of bad teeth, according to their health minister, Walter R. Elliot. "The teeth of this country are bad," he said. "You might almost say they are rotten."

Florida Fishing not so Good, Reports Ben Gilbert Fishing wasn't so good down in Florida during the last winter, according to Ben Gilbert, who recently returned with Mrs. Gilbert from Daytona Beach where they have been spending the last two months.

"I went several times, but had the usual fisherman's luck," he declared. "There have been times when I have had remarkably good fortune in fishing around Daytona, but not this winter," he said.

The weather down South has not been as warm this winter as usual, he stated, although it was pleasant much of the time. Other reports say that the winter has been much cooler in all parts of Florida than winter visitors have experienced other years.

SEVEN YEARS . . . AND MORE (By O. F. BEYER, of Beyer Drugs) Seven years of preparation and hard study are required to secure a doctor's degree. This is just the beginning.

Graduated, no matter with what honor, from medical school, the young M. D. sets out to serve his apprenticeship. He has merely begun a training that will last his life long.

As an interne he walks the corridors and wards of some great hospital. Then hangs out his modest sign and begins with general practice, or proceeds with still more study in order to specialize.

The doctor's education is never completed. His mind is ever open to new methods, new discoveries, new remedies. He must be alert and open minded, yet slow to adopt a fresh idea until it has been tested in the laboratory.

His skill and knowledge are supported by the trained and skilled and careful pharmacist. This is the 25th of a series of Editorial Advertisements appearing in this paper each week. Copyright

CONGRATULATIONS.

Plymouth residents last Saturday welcomed the opening of its new dry goods store under the ownership and management of William Taylor and John Blyton, successors to the Blunk Bros. store which has served this community over a period of many years.

Not hundreds, but thousands, came to inspect the largely increased line of goods and to wish good fortune and success to Mr. Blyton and his associates.

The store would be a credit to a city five times as large as Plymouth. Conveniently arranged and artistically displayed, the new line of dry goods is of latest styles and patterns.

There is no question as to the future success of the store. It will become a welcome and a permanent mercantile institution for Plymouth and vicinity, under the management of two fine gentlemen.

I BELIEVE THE RESURRECTION

(By Daniel A. Poling, Editor-in-Chief, in the Christian Herald)

"How do you believe in immortality?" The question was asked by a typical university man, a graduate of last June.

"As I believe in love," was my reply.

"Yes?" With a rising inflection.

"Yes! Because I have experienced it," I answered.

"But," my friend continued, "I want not sentiment, not emotion, however real to you; but reason, hard reason, reason to answer a hard question. I am not a child, my world is a world of realism."

"And mine," I replied. "I believe in immortality as I believe in love, because I have experienced it. Because it is real. Because to otherwise conclude would be to me unreasonable."

I cannot prove love as a man proves a problem in mathematics. I cannot put its equation on a blackboard. I never yet have found it in the bottom of a crucible, nor shaken it gently in a test tube. But it is real, more real to me than houses and streets, more real than words and laughter. And it is powerful, more powerful than death, for I love beyond the grave. I believe in love because I have experienced it; because it has held me in its arms and because, when its arms have fallen lifeless, it has yet remained. Love is the essence of immortality.

I believe in immortality because neither can my reason avoid its conclusion nor my heart escape its emotion. I have never seen it with my physical eyes and yet I have seen it, have seen it as truly as I have seen love.

It was a never-to-be-forgotten morning in February 1918. With an orderly I waited in the rain at the top of a communicating trench "somewhere in France." A platoon of men from a machine-gun company were coming out. They were a sorry sight, bedraggled, hungry, and utterly weary. The first lieutenant who brought up the rear stopped to en-

Famous Quotations of the Presidents

George Washington—"Tis our true policy to steer clear of permanent alliances with any portion of the foreign world."

George Washington—"To be prepared for war is one of the most effectual means of preserving peace."

Thomas Jefferson—"We hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

John Quincy Adams—"This is the last of earth! I am content."

Andrew Jackson—"Our Federal Union! It must be preserved."

Martin Van Buren—"I tread in the footsteps of illustrious men."

Abraham Lincoln—"With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right."

Ulysses S. Grant—"I purpose to fight it out on this line, if it takes all summer."

Rutherford B. Hayes—"He serves his party best who serves his country best."

Grover Cleveland—"It is a condition which confronts us—not a theory."

Theodore Roosevelt—"A man who is good enough to shed his blood for his country is good enough to be given a square deal afterward."

Woodrow Wilson—"It is a fearful thing to lead this great peaceful people into war. But the right is more precious than peace, and we shall fight for the things which we have always carried nearest our hearts—for democracy, for the rights and liberties of small nations, for a universal dominion of right by such a concert of free peoples as shall bring peace and safety to all nations and make the world itself at last free."

Calvin Coolidge—"There is no right to strike against the public safety by anybody, anywhere, at any time."

quire the way to the nearest canteen. He was sick, a fever was fairly burning him up. "Tonsillitis," he said as he leaned on a stick he had torn from the support of a "duck-board." "And trench-foot," he added. Pulling himself together he stumbled after his men. I watched him go. It was when he had taken a few more than eighty-three steps—I covered the distance in just that many a little later—that a three-inch high explosive shell "let go" in the midst of that platoon. Hearing it coming we had flung ourselves flat in the mud. And then at the screams of agony we had hurried over to the wounded and dead. We looked after those who still needed the little we could do for them and then we gathered together the fragments.

It was there on a red highway of France that I experienced immortality. I knew that the lad with the aching throat, the lad whose sick eyes had just looked into mine, the lad with whom I had just talked, was not in what I was picking up. I had not talked to that! And I knew that he was somewhere!

I knew that there had been authority enough to begin his life, to carry his life from his mother's womb to that shell-scarred road. Short of immortality I had just two alternatives: either Creative Authority willed to leave that personality there in the blood and muck, willed to end it or to see it end in such a sorry fashion; or that Authority which could create was unable to continue, was helpless before the event, was without resources beyond that road in front of Toul. Either conclusion was to me unreasonable. That young lieutenant either stopped where I picked up his scattered body or he went on. I know that he went on.

And I know that those whose forms I touch when only their forms remain, when to my touch they can never come again a responding pressure; those "dear dead" whom I have lost, I have but "lost awhile."

In nature nothing is ever annihilated. Forms change, patterns are altered, and I do not profess to know the form and pattern of life beyond that which we call death. I do not even attempt to anticipate the details. But to conclude that a law which operates everywhere else in life ceases to operate only in life's highest, noblest form—human personality—is unreasonable. Shall only thought and recognition and the you of you be destroyed? As winter comes, I watch the mother of my children put her flowers "to sleep" on the old New Hampshire farm. Buried deep under the leaf mould and then beneath the snow, they wait until their springtime. But always there is a springtime and always the flowers come again. Am I so less than these?

Life does go on. That which we know as life is by our own experience incomplete. Nothing gets done. Those who live the longest frequently leave the most that is unfinished. There isn't time enough to write the books, to paint the pictures. There isn't time enough to see our visions through. I tell you that either these earth-bound years are but the beginning, are but the childhood of our immortality, or there is a creation itself a colossal immortality.

Dr. A. Ray Petty, former pastor of the First Baptist church of Kansas City, only a short year ago passed into the fullness of this glorious experience of which I write. Meeting me one morning in New York City shortly after he had recovered from a major operation, he threw up his head in characteristic fashion and said, "I believe the Resurrection!" He had experienced it!

And so across the ages soul meets soul and reason walks with the heart as the Easter dawn breaks over the world and the Voice calls from the open tomb! "I am the Resurrection and the Life."

THE FIRST YEAR.

The newly organized Western Wayne County Wildlife association has just passed its first year of existence. During the twelve brief months it has done more to create a real interest in conservation matters in and about Plymouth than in the past dozen years. It has been successful in creating and developing a protected hunting area under the Williamson plan. It has induced the planting of more fish in the lakes about here. It has created a greater interest in bird feeding during winter months and through its many meetings and display of motion pictures of conservation subjects, it has brought about a much wider education and understanding of these problems than the founders of the association ever hoped to accomplish in such a brief time. May its future be as successful and as beneficial as has been the past one year of existence.

IN OUR HANDS.

Today my daughter, who is seven years old, started to school as usual. She wore a dark blue dress with a white collar. She had on black shoes and wore blue gloves. Her cocker spaniel, whose name is Coot, sat on the front porch and whined his canine belief in the folly of education as she waved good-bye and started off to the hall of learning.

Tonight we talked about school. She told me about the girl who sits in front of her—and the girl with yellow curls—and the boy across the aisle makes funny faces. She told me about her teacher, who has eyes in the back of her head—and about the tree in the school yard—and about the big girl who doesn't believe in Santa Claus. We talked about a lot of things, and then we studied spelling, reading, arithmetic—and then to bed.

She's back there now—back in the narrow school aisle, with Princess Elizabeth (that's a doll) cuddled in her right arm.

You fellows wouldn't hurt her, would you? You see I'm her daddy. When her doll is broken or her finger is cut, or her head gets bumped, I can fix it—but when she starts to school, when she walks across the street, then she's in your hands.

She's a nice kid. She can run like a deer and darts about like a chipmunk. She likes to ride horses and swim and hike with me Sunday afternoons. But I can't be with her all the time. I have to work to pay for her clothes and her education. So please help me look out for her. Please drive slowly past schools and intersections—and please remember that children run from behind parked cars.—Author Unknown.

NEED FOR ACTION

Senator Robert R. Reynolds of North Carolina minces no words when he tells of the need for immediate action to hold America against an inundation of immigrants.

In a personal letter to the Ingham County News, Senator Reynolds declared, "All the nations of impoverished Europe wish to dump their political, economic and undesired minorities upon us. There are extensive and well financed groups or organizations in the United States spreading propaganda by word of mouth, through newspapers, magazines and leaflets, to arouse sufficient political pressure on members of the house of representatives and senate to breach the immigration laws and undo the work of 20 years.

"There must be an answer to this propaganda. I need the help of every man and woman in the United States who believes that charity begins at home, and everyone who believes that instead of weakening the barriers which exclude aliens from our country, they should be strengthened.

"Write your senators and congressmen to aid me to put legislation on the statute books which will shut off immigration entirely during this period of unemployment and hardship and distress for young and old among our people; and furthermore, to expel from this country the alien propagandist, the habitual criminal and the alien diseased and insane.

There is no doubt about the need for immediate action. Europeans are flocking to this country by every boat. They are entering legally and illegally. They are taking jobs that belong to Americans. Did you look at the pictures in the rotogravure section of the Detroit Free Press last Sunday? Did you notice the account of how newly-landed foreigners have taken over the manufacturing of certain religious food in the East? We can't afford to admit foreigners to the United States when there are not jobs enough to go around for those of us here now.—Nelson Brown in The Ingham County News.

THE NEED FOR PASTEURIZED MILK IS NOW APPARENT

Several years ago there was a proposal before the City Commission for a milk ordinance which would safeguard the health of the people of St. Johns. As we recall it, it contained requirements which had been found, by experience, wise in other cities. Because there was a certain amount of sentiment against this proposed ordinance from well-meaning people, it was dropped like a "hot potato."

We recall one citizen saying: "I ain't goin' to have the city officers tellin' me what kind of milk I can drink." That's the spirit—good old American independence where every man has a right to catch any disease he wants.

We presume that the recent outbreak of undulant fever at Michigan State College which took the life of at least one student, made fifty or more very sick and where even today one St. Johns girl lies suffering after ten weeks of the ravages of this pernicious disease, has made people in this country undulant fever-conscious. The fact that several people in the county and towns are suffering from the same disease has brought the danger home to all of us.

Bangs disease which has destroyed several herds of cows in the county, is the source of the type of disease which is being found locally. Pasteurized milk is safe milk. Local milk dealers know this and have equipped to give people safe milk. They cannot, however, force it on people who insist upon taking chances.

The wisdom of the ordinance proposed several years ago is now very apparent.—Schuyler Marshall in The Clinton County Republican-News.
