

What About Governor Dickinson and his Forthcoming Administration of Michigan Affairs?

Ending of Legislative Session Will Throw Tremendous Burden Upon Eaton County Farmer

(By ELTON R. EATON)

Within another few brief days the Michigan state legislature will have adjourned its regular session and upon the shoulders of an elderly man will fall the full responsibilities of the state government. It is not the intention to imply that the legislature has any part in the administration of the state government while it is in session, but it does have a very important bearing upon all that takes place while it is meeting.

What can Michigan expect after the legislature adjourns and goes home?

The writer has but one prediction to make—and that is that Michigan under the administration of Governor Luren Dickinson for the next year and a half will have one of the most honest administrations the state has known, if it is humanly possible for the Governor to do this his way.

Do not for one minute think that because of his advanced years he is a weakling. He is strong—strong in character, strong in his determination to do that which is exactly right at all times and under all circumstances. And he is much stronger in body than most men 15 or 20 years younger than he is.

He will be pestered by plunderbund operators, slick schemers, hordes of job hunters and smooth political manipulators, there is no question about that.

But fortunately for Michigan, Governor Dickinson is just as wise, if not much wiser than some of these slickers who will try to gain something for themselves or those they are working for at the expense of the state and its taxpayers.

He is keen minded, and as alert as a young man of 30 years. He knows all the tricks of the wily politicians and their kind, and he knows just how to handle the rabble of this sort.

The other day the telephone in the Governor's office rang. "I want to see the Governor," said the person calling, "and I'd like to see him as soon as possible," said the telephone caller.

The courteous executive secretary asked the caller to wait a minute and he would find out when an appointment could be made.

The Governor is busy for the rest of the afternoon. You can see him for a few minutes after 10:00 tomorrow," he was advised.

The call was made just a brief while after the state senate had enacted the new civil service law which took out from under civil service thousands of state jobs.

The next morning the interview was granted. It was a lily white (continued on page 2)

High State Position Was Offered—Not Sought!

LANSING—I have just been advised that a Lansing political paper in which is contained an article pertaining to my legislative activities has been generally circulated in my district. Knowing that few of the people in my part of the state have any knowledge of the publication or of its purposes, it is probably advisable that something be said pertaining to some of its assertions.

The statement is made that I sought from the late Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald appointment as budget director of the state.

Early last summer I was called by telephone to meet the late Governor in Detroit. I did meet him a week or so later. He said he would like to have me accept a position which would give me complete charge of all state purchasing if he was elected Governor.

At that time I told him that I had about made up my mind to become a candidate for re-election to the state legislature and that I was not interested in accepting any political appointment.

He argued that there would be several good men in the house of representatives and he urged me to think the matter over, as he needed me for this position.

Some weeks later Editor George Averill of The Birmingham Eccentric, Editor Muri De Foe of The Charlotte Republican-Tribune and myself were invited to have dinner with the late Governor at the Staller hotel in Detroit.

Again, and in the presence of Mr. Averill and Mr. De Foe, he brought up the matter of this appointment and said he had hoped I would take it.

At both times I declared that I preferred to be a member of the state legislature.

Not until I read the article in question this week did I have the slightest knowledge that Frank D. McKay of Grand Rapids knew of any discussion between the late Governor and myself pertaining to an appointive position.

While I am sure Governor Fitzgerald was not a party to it, I can now plainly see whereby the offer of an appointive position was a part of a plan to keep me off the floor of the legislature.

As the people of Plymouth and vicinity well know, I have consistently advocated decency and honesty in both politics and government. I have endeavored by legislative steps to correct some of these evils. I have long believed that a merit system in government would help to eliminate conditions which cause so much complaint about public business.

I was one of the legislative sponsors of the committee of inquiry into the Blue Water bridge scheme in which McKay secured over $100,000 and which the people who use the bridge must pay.

I have tried diligently to end the "boss rule" system in political party conventions, a system which deprives lawfully elected delegates of all of their citizenship rights, and makes possible inefficient government and high taxes. An inefficient government, as you know, is always an expensive government.

It is but natural that some toes will be stepped on in trying to accomplish such worthwhile purposes as these.

See no reason why I should stop—and my purpose is to keep on going in the same direction that I have.

Don't you think, Mr. and Mrs. Michigan Citizen, that I should? ELTON R. EATON

Cooking School Draws Big Crowd

Nearly 1,000 local women attended the cooking school held in the Masonic temple here last week, sponsored by The Detroit Edison company. Miss Marian Ryan, the demonstrator, explained the advantages of the use of electricity in the kitchen and gave the women many hints on ways to save steps while preparing meals.

Gifts were given to many of the ladies in attendance and Mrs. Oscar Freheit of 455 North Mill street was presented with an electric range. An electric roaster was given Mrs. C. Parmelee of Sheridan avenue, a coffee maker to Mrs. Carl Shear, of South Main street, a toast and jam set to Mrs. George Bower of Farmer street, a roaster to Mrs. Frank Adams of Adams street, a coffee maker to Mrs. Bruce Peabody and a toast and jam set to Mrs. Anna Gustin.

The Plymouth school was one of the most successful ever put on by the Edison company in this district.

The Plymouth bridge club was entertained Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Nettie Dibble.

Local Youth Brings New Honors to School

James Zuckerman Wins District Honors in Contest

For the first time in the history of the Plymouth high school, first place honors in district declamation were taken by James Zuckerman, local high school sophomore, in the district contest held May 5 at Melvindale. The delivery of his declamation, "The Weighted Scales," warranted a unanimous first place in the decision of the three judges, Harold A. Dressler, River Rouge high school; M. P. Kinsella, University of Detroit; and Sherman A. Willson, Wayne University. Plymouth was presented with a beautiful yellow and blue banner, now on display at Blunk and Thatcher's in the University of Michigan. Second place went to Marilyn Cavell of Northville, who scored a 97 percent, according to the judges.

The schools represented in the three contests, declamation, oratory, and extempore, were Melvindale, Grosse Pointe, Northville, Romeo, Sturgis, Marshall, Monroe, Plymouth, Royal Oak, Van Dyke, and Ypsilanti. First place in oratory was taken by James Apollito of Melvindale, and first place in extempore was taken by Joe Schroeder of Marshall. Virginia Rock represented Plymouth in extemporaneous speaking. Fifteen students had earned the right to participate in the district contest, by defeating schools of their own leagues. Plymouth representatives had previously been victorious over Wayne, Ypsilanti, River Rouge, Ecorse and Dearborn in the T.V.A.A. sub-district contest, and thereby were entitled to enter the district contest. James Zuckerman's triumph represents a victory over 28 schools in the southeastern portion of Michigan. Each participant in the district contest received a Webster's Collegiate dictionary, presented by The Detroit News.

To Hold Charter Presentation

Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will meet at the Hotel Mayflower Monday evening, May 22, to receive their charter from State President Bruce Palmer of Detroit. The 40 members of the junior group, headed by Robert O. Wesley, will be inducted into the state organization at a special charter presentation.

President Wesley urges all men under 35 years of age in Plymouth to attend the meeting and become charter members of the new association. An interesting program has been planned for the event and a speaker of prominence will address the group.

The Junior Chamber is organized for the purpose of training younger men in the various branches of community service and works closely with the Chamber of Commerce in an effort to promote undertakings for the good of the communities in which they operate. Only men under the age of 35 are eligible to membership.

CHAPTER TO CELEBRATE 45TH ANNIVERSARY

The 45th anniversary of Plymouth chapter 115, O. E. S. will be celebrated Tuesday evening, May 16 at the Masonic temple.

A 6:30 dinner will be served to Stars, Masons and their friends and at 8:00 p.m. the degrees will be exemplified by the Past Masters and Past Patrons of the chapter.

The Past Patrons of the last 30 years will be present as well as the life members and charter members and a large gathering is expected.

Boys' State Delegates to be Chosen May 19

Eight Juniors Will Compete in Contest

Eight boys from the junior class of Plymouth high school will compete in a declamation contest at the Michigan Legion hall Friday, May 19 at 8:00 for the chance to be a local representative to the Wolverine Boys' State in East Lansing from Thursday, June 15 to Friday, June 23.

Two will be chosen for their ability to speak well on state, national and international problems. Those who will take part in the elimination contest are Joseph Scarpulla, Richard Strong, James Stevens, George Blyton, Tom Mitchell, Eugene Bakewell, Dick Dunlap and Ivan Packard. Their speeches will be limited to five minutes each and the judges will decide the winner by applause.

This year's delegates will be sponsored by the Plymouth Rotary club and the Myron H. Beals Post of the American Legion. The delegates from last year were immediately put into high government offices in the Boys' State: Bob Brown was elected chief justice of the supreme court and Marvin Hawk was named to the house of representatives.

The Wolverine Boys' State was incorporated and first put into practice last year. A ten-day training course was given to more than 800 boys in handling the duties of all government officials from the highest official in the state to the lowest municipal position. The boys learned by actually setting up a miniature state government, under the supervision of adults, choosing their officials, organizing their county and city governments and enacting and enforcing their own laws.

This summer 800 boys are expected to attend from all parts of Michigan. When they reach the campus of Michigan State college they will be assigned to cities, and will live in these cities for the period of Boys' State; 55 boys will comprise a city; two cities will make up a county and eight counties will make up the 49th state.

In governing this way the boys can better understand how and why their government works as it does and this practical training supplements the knowledge they gain from civics and political science books.

Commander W. Bea Waldrip of the Michigan department of the American Legion recently announced the following adult organization for this summer: Everett De Ryke of Milan will be president and camp director; Dwight H. Rich, of Lansing, vice-president; Carl C. Matheny, of Detroit, secretary and dean; and counselors: Robert R. Wright, of Ironwood, controller; and James M. Gorsline, of Standish, committee member.

Contest Will Close on Monday

The birdhouse building contest closes Monday, May 15 at 6:00. All boys and girls that are building birdhouses and feeding shelves for the contest must finish and submit them on Monday next.

All during this week entries have been coming in until they have begun to fill the space set aside for them in the basement. The worthwhile prizes offered by Dr. John Ross and The Plymouth Mail as well as the Taylor-Blyton company have been prominently displayed in the store's front window this week and will be left there this week-end so that all young people who have not yet set them will have a chance to do so.

There is still time to make a simple birdhouse this week-end to enter in the contest. The judges, Mrs. Paul Wiedman, Thomas Moss and William Campbell will choose the eight prize-winners during the first part of the week and announcement of the winners' names will be made in next week's Plymouth Mail.

A report will be made by Mrs. Bruce Woodbury, president of the State Board Meeting which she, Mrs. W. Hammond and Anne Donnelly attended in Lansing on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Ray Gilder were hosts Saturday evening to the members of their contract bridge club, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Olin, Mr. and Mrs. John Blossom and Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Streng.

Poppy Day, Saturday, May 20

In these times of war peril and uncertainty of what may develop in the danger zone of Europe and Asia, we here in America, may well give thanks that our democratic form of government is still safe and secure.

Those who do not think so, underestimate the intelligence and soundness of the American people as a whole in their desire for peace and tranquility.

Throughout the length and breadth of our land the individual citizen, the humble worker, the business man and the mechanic, forms the foundation, cemented with the strong bond of true democracy and faith in the principles of the founding fathers, which finds exercise in the free press, the free air waves and the free exercise of voting power of his representatives in the Congress of the Republic.

In a closer perspective and one which the individual citizen of America and of the hundreds of local communities such as Plymouth can visualize is the safeguard to democracy afforded by the organized legions of veterans of our wars.

For what group of citizens can better appreciate the freedom and the democracy of our common country than those who fought to preserve it?

And what group in America today can have greater cause to hate war and have the greater incentive to maintain peace than those who experienced the shattering impact of world hate 20 years ago?

And within this group is a smaller group, the special care and consideration of their comrades who, 20 years after, are paying in pain and isolation from family and society the cost of war.

For these, the veterans in our hospitals, the poppy has a special significance. During the year it keeps his mind and his hands busy shaping this emblem of remembrance, and provides him the small luxuries, candy cigarettes and books which gives him a measure of contentment.

Fellow citizens of Plymouth, as you read this, pause a moment and in silence breathe a prayer for the comfort and easement of pain of those in our government hospitals and resolve that when the scarlet poppies bloom on the streets of Plymouth, one shall find its place in your lapel as a flowering symbol of your loving remembrance that this republic and its guarantee of freedom and democracy lives through the painful sacrifice of its loyal sons.

Poppy Day in Plymouth is Saturday, May 20. American Legion poppies will be sold by Myron H. Beals Post of the American Legion and Disabled American Veterans poppies by the Ex-Service Men's club of Plymouth.

The poppies are made by disabled veterans in government hospitals and the proceeds go to them and to local veterans and child welfare programs.

Chairmen for the Poppy Day sales are Howard Eckles of the Ex-Service Men's club and Donald Ryder of the American Legion.

Beautiful Flag Flies Over Ball Diamond

Baseball Season Formally Opened Saturday

Flying over the baseball diamond at Plymouth-Riverside park from a 60-foot metallic pole is a beautiful American flag, raised with proper ceremonies last Saturday afternoon when the Plymouth Schrader-Haggerty baseball team opened its 1939 season.

The pole and flag, a donation of the Wayne county park board, was secured through the efforts of Fred D. Schrader, one of the sponsors of the baseball team that for a number of years has brought considerable advertising to Plymouth as well as good, clean sport for baseball fans.

The Plymouth high school band played a number of patriotic selections during the flag raising ceremonies.

Fred D. Schrader acted as chairman of the brief program that followed the raising of the flag by a number of Scouts.

George A. Smith, superintendent of the public schools and E. R. Eason, state representative, made brief remarks commending the park improvement and wishing for the baseball team a season of victories. Mayor Ed Wilson hurled the first ball across the plate for the formal opening of the game.

Among the spectators was Harry German, of Carleton, veteran baseball pitcher who probably has more records than any other ball player in America. He has pitched more contests, won more games and played baseball over a longer period of years than any other man ever associated with baseball.

The ball diamond is in ideal condition. The opening game Saturday was witnessed by a large crowd.

District Editors Hold Meeting at the Mayflower

Hear Discussion of Methods of Helping Business

Plymouth was host last Friday evening to the newspaper publishers of the 16th and 17th congressional districts, the meeting being held at the Mayflower hotel, with Sterling Eaton, district vice president presiding.

The editors of southeastern Michigan had the pleasure of having as their guest speaker Romaine McCall of Ithaca, president of the Michigan Press association, Prof. A. A. Applegate, head of the department of journalism of the Michigan State college, Paul Averill, manager of the printing department of the Birmingham Eccentric, and Publisher E. A. Stankuff of the Holly Herald.

Mr. Stankuff talked briefly of the methods used in the production of the centennial edition of the Herald that won him the Michigan Press association award for 1938 of producing the best special edition number. The edition comprised one of the most complete histories of Holly township ever compiled.

That there is a decided tendency towards an increase in national advertising, there is no question, stated President McCall. "Probably the increase will not be as great this year as in a year or two, but inquiries being received indicate a tendency on the part of large manufacturers and distributors to try and overcome the losses of the past five or six years," he stated.

Paul Averill of Birmingham displayed a follow-up system that is being used in the Eccentric office to increase its printing business.

Not only does the plan include a considerable amount of advertising for the Eccentric business, but in its sales promotion for advertising, the city of Birmingham and Oakland county are placed before national advertisers in a most favorable light.

This is the first district meeting of editors in this part of the state that has been held in Plymouth during the last two years.

Sunday Marks End of Union Services

The final union service of the Methodist, Presbyterian and Baptist churches will be held in the Methodist church on Sunday evening at 7:30.

Dr. Edward W. Blakeman, who is the counselor in religion at the University of Michigan, will preach at this closing service. His subject will be "When Religion Goes Highbrow, What Issues are Foremost?" Dr. Blakeman, who is a Methodist minister, spent several years at the Wesley Foundation in California and is a pioneer in the field of Christian counselor work among college students.

PROCLAMATION

"May 12, 1939 has been designated as National Hospital Day. As mayor of the city of Plymouth, I proclaim the observance of this day by all the people of Plymouth and urge that all citizens on that day visit and inspect the hospitals of their community in order that they may have a more sympathetic understanding of the work of the institution in alleviating human suffering."

L. E. WILSON, Mayor

Will Function Only for Benefit of Local Business

Eliminates all Controversial Activities

Elmer Zuckerman, president of the Plymouth division of the Allen Industries, was elected president of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce at the first meeting of the new board of directors held last Tuesday evening at the Mayflower hotel. William Rose was elected vice president; Howard Stark, temporary secretary; and Sterling Eaton was re-elected treasurer.

Plans were laid at the meeting for a complete revision of the Chamber's activities and a definite program for the year is being formulated. The greater part of the meeting was taken up by a discussion of budget and the securing of a full-time trained secretary to take over complete responsibility of running the organization.

President Zuckerman stated for the benefit of the directors and the membership at large, the objective of the Chamber of Commerce when it was formulated here a number of years ago that, "The Plymouth Chamber of Commerce is organized for the purpose of advancing the commercial, industrial, civic and general interests of the city of Plymouth. It shall be limited in its methods in that it shall be non-partisan, non-sectarian and non-sectarian." He stated that while he was president of the Chamber he would follow the original objectives of the organization and that all selfish interests of members or groups would find no solution within the Chamber of Commerce.

The board went on record as being opposed to taking a stand on civic matters of a controversial nature and stated that they would receive complaints from members only when they were written and signed. All correspondence pertaining to the same will be placed in the Chamber's files for future use in case the same question should arise again.

The board and its officers went on record as being primarily interested in the promoting of good will among local business men and the sponsoring of plans and programs that would benefit its members. President Zuckerman said, "If we are to have members who pay their dues we must give them something back in return so that they will not feel they are merely being civic minded by supporting the Chamber. I am confident that we can produce good feeling and promote things that will be of definite benefit to our members, and while I am president of the Chamber of Commerce I will make it our business to do so."

The board instructed the secretary to send out bills for the annual dues and made an appeal to its members to pay as promptly as possible so that financial difficulties would not interfere with its progressive program that is now under way.

To Celebrate Hospital Day

Local residents are invited to visit Plymouth hospital today in commemoration of National Hospital Day which honors the memory of Florence Nightingale, founder of the modern nursing educational movement.

It was the tireless efforts of Nurse Nightingale to improve standards of hospital care that marked the beginning of the modern hospital. In helping to carry on the early efforts and work of Miss Nightingale, May 12 has been set aside as a day for hospitals in which the people of this country are urged to visit and inspect these institutions and become more familiar with the work they are doing.

A hospital is actually a world of its own. The building which houses it, from basement to roof has been planned for effective care of the sick. Here, modern medical and surgical equipment are available at all hours, skilled pharmacists, dieticians and laboratory workers are ready to contribute their skilled services all in one grand effort to help some ailing individual.

The Plymouth hospital is anxious that residents of Plymouth become familiar with the work that is being done here. They are proud of the equipment that they can place at the disposal of doctors and patients and they would like the opportunity of showing some of the things that make possible many of the miracle of modern healing.

Mrs. Nellie Naylor has returned from a visit with friends in Flint.

The girls' octette will again sing; this time it will be "Nightfall," by Franz Liszt and Maxine Willard will present a dance. For a finale the entire assembly will join in "God Bless America" by Irving Berlin and Linnea Vickstrom and Keith Jolliffe will sing a duet.

Famous Gardens Lecture Topic

J. Merle Bennett, Wayne county park superintendent, took members of the Kiwanis club on an armchair tour of beautiful garden spots of the South on Tuesday evening. Mr. Bennett, who returned from a trip to the southern states in the latter part of March, showed the club a group of pictures taken on his trip which he had transferred to colored slides in order that he might better show them to large groups.

Because of his interest in landscaping and park layouts, his pictures of the gardens were especially well-taken and interesting. He showed slides of the beautiful Magnolia Gardens in Charleston, South Carolina and the romantic Middleton, Runnymede and Cypress Gardens in the same vicinity. Pictures of the McKee Jungle Gardens at Vero Beach, Florida, which are famous for their authenticity, ended the half-hour trip for Kiwanians.

What About Governor Dickinson And His Administration

picture presented to the Governor—and then out came the purpose of the visit.

It seems the caller claimed he had been promised a lot of things by the former Governor and he wanted to know if Governor Dickinson was going to carry out some alleged promises he had never heard about.

"You know I control a lot of votes, Governor," said the visitor. He neglected to tell Governor Dickinson that he had opposed three candidates on the Republican county ticket in Wayne county last fall and that the three candidates he had opposed ran high on the party ticket.

Such an admission might knock the props out from the boasted claim of controlling "a lot of votes."

Governor Dickinson, his eyes twinkling, told some newspaper men later that "come to think of it, I guess maybe he's right."

But the Governor didn't say that his remarks might be meant to hint that the votes the visitor claimed to control are controlled by remote control from Frank D. McKay, via Mel McPherson—and that the votes are those of two state senators who had said they would vote for the Wayne county delegate bill and when the vote was taken failed to vote, thereby defeating the measure.

There's a lot of hokey about somebody "controlling" the votes of the electorate. The people have a way of voting as they see fit—and the only votes that might be subject to control" are of the alleged type mentioned above—hot of the people.

Does any one have any idea that Luren Dickinson could year after year be elected on the Republican state ticket if the votes of the people of this state could be "controlled"?

Governor Dickinson, representing as he does, the decent, law-abiding, high type citizenship of Michigan, has been and is poison to the type of those who are now bemoaning the fact that he is governor of the state.

Have no fears—he is going to do a good job for Michigan. The only danger confronting our commonwealth lies in the possibility through some unintentional slip somewhere along the line he might not be able to get all the facts upon which to base his action.

He is a digger, he knows the state government, and he has but one desire—and that desire is to give the people of Michigan an honest, upright and creditable administration.

Knowing these facts, and knowing, too, that he is thoroughly acquainted with the types of political plunderbunds who have brought discredit to Michigan, we have no the slightest fear as to what Governor Dickinson will do between now and January 1, 1941.

His conduct of the executive office will forever stand out as one of honor and glory to Michigan and the party he represents. That's our prediction about the forthcoming administration of Governor Luren D. Dickinson.

Business-Professional Women Will Attend State Convention

The regular business meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club was held Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. John Henderson on Virginia avenue. A splendid report was given by Elizabeth Sutherland, Hilbur Carlson and Mildred Barnes on the district meeting held Sunday in Mt. Clemens and their visit to Selfridge Field. Miss Carlson, who is district reporting secretary also chairman of the conservation committee, gave a report of her work at the district meeting.

Plans were made at the Tuesday meeting for attending the state convention at Jackson which is to be held May 19, 20, 21. At least six members of the local organization will attend, perhaps more. Hazel Lickfelt, leader of Girl Scout Troop 2, gave a splendid report of their progress. She said she is now preparing for their program on May 26 when the merit badges will be distributed. Other subjects of interest were talked over at this time after which Mrs. Henderson served delicious refreshments.

Plymouth Host to State Tennis Regionals

The state regionals tennis tournament will be held in Plymouth at both Riverside and Cass Benton park courts on Saturday, May 20. There will be nine schools from this part of the state entered in two different classes. Birmingham, Rochester, Trenton, Wayne, Ypsilanti Central and Plymouth are entered in the Class B tournament. Detroit St. Rita, Grosse Ile and Ypsilanti Roosevelt are entered in Class C. Each school is allowed to enter three singles players and three doubles teams. This will make approximately 80 boys playing in the tournament. Play will continue all day Saturday, starting at 8:30 and playing until the tournament is completed.

The winners and runners-up in both singles and doubles in each class will be eligible to enter the state tournament in Ann Arbor on June 2-3. These boys will each receive a medal emblematic of their reaching the finals. The winning team in each class will receive a trophy emblematic of the regional championship. All medals and trophies are donated by the Michigan High School Athletic association.

This is the first time that a tournament of this kind has ever been assigned to Plymouth. Mr. Bentley, tennis coach at the high school, is the manager of this tournament.

National Garden Club Guest of Mrs. Mettetal

The Plymouth branch of the Women's National Garden and Garden association held a splendid meeting and tea, Monday afternoon, in the home of Mrs. Raphael Mattetal on the Lilley road. About fifteen members of the Rosedale branch joined them and after the meeting a guessing contest was held in the greenhouse, numbers having been placed on plants, the name of which each one was to write on a slip for checking later. Mrs. Stanley James of Rosedale and Mrs. Harvey Whipple of Plymouth received the potted petunias given as prizes by the hostess. About thirty of the Plymouth branch were present.

Eight new members were taken into the Plymouth unit. Mrs. Paul Wiedman, president, and Mrs. O. F. Beyer, vice president, were chosen as delegates to the national convention to be held June 6, 7 and 8 in Detroit.

Following the contest, tea, cakes and cookies were served from a lace-covered table centered with flowers.

All Plymouthites interested in flowers are asked to plant now for the Flower Show to be held by the local group on September 8 and 9 in the high school auditorium. They hope that many more will take part in this year's show than last year, as there will be plenty of room for all. The more flowers, the better the show.

Local Minister Tells of Plans for New Church

Rev. S. S. Closson of the Methodist church voiced his approval of the union of the three Methodist organizations in the nation and spoke of the uniting conference which convened in Kansas City, Missouri on April 26.

The conference is the first official gathering since the reunion of the Methodist Episcopal, the Methodist Episcopal South and the Methodist Episcopal Protestant churches under the name "the Methodist Church." Its duty will be to combine and arrange the agencies which handle the missionary, educational, temperance and other organized work of the church.

The Michigan Advocate, Methodist news-magazine, traces the history of the split in the church thus:

"The groups which formed the Methodist Protestant church separated officially from the Methodist Episcopal church in 1828 in protest against the alleged autocratic power of the bishops and against the failure to give laymembers representation in the general conference. The Methodist Episcopal church South, was formed in 1845 after a split in the general conference of 1844 over the issue of slavery and a sharp division of conviction concerning the power of the general conference over a bishop. Many former attempts have been made to unite the three churches. The last important one failed by a close vote in 1924. For over 70 years unification has been discussed and urged. The present plan was adopted by great majorities, the last vote being taken in May, 1938, by the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South."

The new church of nearly 8,000,000 members will be divided into six jurisdictional conferences, five of them based on geographical regions and the sixth including all Negro conferences and overlapping the sixth geographically. The present effective bishops will be assigned to these jurisdictions. The bishops at work in foreign lands will be continued in their present work until the general conference meets. The powers of election and present officers for the administrative agencies that are set up will be continued until the first general conference of the new church, which will meet at a date to be fixed for 1940, 1941 or 1942.

CYCLIST INJURED IN AUTO COLLISION

Mr. Buttermore was coming from Northville on his motorcycle when he accidentally turned left into a fast moving car opposite Cass Benton Park; his leg was broken in the crash.

LIVONIA LADIES HOLD SUCCESSFUL DANCE

The ladies of the Livonia Auxiliary of the Goodfellow's club reported that their party last Saturday night was a success financially as well as socially. More than 200 young and old people from Livonia Township enjoyed the modern and old-time dancing in the Newburg American Legion Hall. The money raised from the sale of tickets and refreshments was put immediately into the Christmas fund. The next party planned will be a benefit bridge in June with Mrs. Walter Dann as chairman.

New Homes Under Construction Here

Alden Village is a development of small modern homes being placed on the market by the Knight-Menard company on property located in Plymouth and Stark roads in Wayne county. The development is located four miles east of Plymouth. Alden Village is being planned as an "Early American Village" with modern improvements. A home in the country with city advantages in close proximity and in short driving time to numerous industries, available at low cost, are the advantages offered in this new project. Over one hundred thousand men are employed in industries located within 13 miles of the property.

Federal Housing administration approval has been given to the project making available 90 percent financing. This is said to be the first project of its kind so approved in this section of the nation. Fifty homes will be built and sold under the direction of the Knight-Menard company as the first step in the development. These homes will be attractive in style and design although inexpensive, and will contain modern improvements such as oil heating, either electric, gas or electric cooking, Detroit city water, sanitary sewage disposal, and garage roads built according to specifications of the Wayne County Road commission. All houses will be fully insulated.

The soil of this section of Wayne county is especially adapted to gardening. This will enable home owners to raise much of their own produce with possibly a surplus for sale. Arrangements have been made to furnish purchasers with instructions on planting and care of the soil when desired.

The size of the lots is one-half acre. Homes built for sale by the Knight-Menard company will be supplied with fruit trees, berry bushes and shrubbery. Shopping centers are already available within walking distance with additional facilities at Plymouth, only four miles. A public grade school is within one-half mile and the Plymouth high school is open to residents without tuition charge.

For recreation, there is the newly developed River Rouge parkway one mile from the property which is supplied with sports fields and extends for many miles around the western end of the county. Golf courses are numerous; swimming, boating, tennis, baseball, and in the winter, skating, tobogganing and skiing are enjoyed close at hand. Stoves for preparing picnic dinners are numerous in the parkway. Over two thousand acres are available for expansion. The location at Plymouth and Stark roads taps modern highways in all directions to industries and shopping centers. Bus service is also available into Plymouth and Grand River avenue, Detroit. Churches of several denominations are conveniently near.

T. Glenn Phillips, landscape architect, has been engaged to lay out the landscaping of the village and also of those lots on which Knight-Menard homes are built. The Knight-Menard company has selected as its builder for the first group of homes, John Roth who has had a long, honorable and successful career as a builder in Michigan. One of the largest home projects in the state, a group of homes built in Flint and Pontiac for the General Motors corporation, was handled by Mr. Roth with great satisfaction to the owners. A large number of individualistic designs are available, or any buyer may have his own plans prepared subject to the village restrictions which are carefully planned to keep the character of the development high. Forty- and 50-foot set backs are required, garages must be in harmony with the home, no temporary buildings or outside toilets are permitted, animals and fowl must be properly controlled. Ted Wilkins, small home specialist, has designed this first group of houses.

These houses, fully equipped, including all planting on one-half acre of land, will sell for an average of $4,000.00 with monthly payments averaging $25.00 per month.

This project is designed to meet the great need for low-cost housing. As a practical means toward reducing the cost of living, one-half acre is furnished with each house, planted with fruit trees and berry bushes and leaving plenty of room for gardening. By placing a part of his food supply, the owner may reduce his cost of living which will reflect itself in a lower housing overhead. This project will make it possible for an owner to use his spare time in productive labor, at least during the growing season, and thus to some extent, offset the unemployment periods which have been peculiar to industry in Detroit for some years back. Alden Village will furnish all that is necessary for comfortable home life with the release from "city pressure" which many families desire. Industrial workers may stay close to their jobs and still have the opportunity for gardening and fruit raising on good productive soil. Children will have full school opportunities and exceptional recreational facilities.

Mother-Daughter Banquet Draws Many

"Books" was the theme of the 15th annual mother and daughter banquet, sponsored by the Girl Reserves and held in the high school auditorium on Wednesday evening. Ten large tables were set up to accommodate the largest group of mothers and daughters ever to attend such a banquet in this city.

Every table was centered with a cardboard figure which represented a character in a book and the theme was carried into the menu and program. The first book of the evening was non-fiction entitled "Advantages in Eating" this delicious meal was served by the Maccabee women. Next on the Girl Reserve book list were talks by Ruth Ash and Dorothy Roe. A three-scene skit called "A Lantern in Her Hand," was presented by 14 girls with Virginia Rock as narrator. Arlene Soth read an original poem about mothers and a group of girls sang, preceding Mrs. Harry Brown's talk on "Little Women." A clever dance by Irene Niedospal as Raggedy Ann and Velda Rorabacher as Raggedy Andy portrayed the next book.

Mrs. H. S. Mallory, guest speaker of the evening, chose "My Mother and I" as her book topic. She said, in summing up her address on the loves of a little girl through motherhood, that "loves are like corks on the surface of a smooth stream, one bobs up and another sinks, all through life."

We must admit afterwards though there is a sense of peace and restfulness when we know the house is cleaned, even that old dark closet that no one but you knows about. We don't like church cleaning or our lives cleaned, but Jesus said ye "must" be born again. Oh, the peace and joy when you know you are clean. MRS. JOSEPH COOK Mrs. Joseph Cook died Sunday evening at Sessions Hospital, after a brief illness. She was born Jennie Townhill, second daughter in a family of eight of Fred and Sarah Townhill, on April 5, 1873 in Metheringham, Lincolnshire, England. She was baptized in the Wesleyan Methodist church in England and was brought up in that faith. On February 28, 1895 she was united in marriage with Joseph Cook and left for America the following month, locating in the vicinity of Howell, Michigan. To this union were born eight children, seven living and one having died in 1912 at the age of 10 years. In 1924, she accompanied Mr. Cook to Ionia where he had accepted a position as herdsman at the Ionia State hospital. Mrs. Cook held a similar position at the Wayne County Training School. Mrs. Cook was widely known and loved in this community. Her garden was indeed a show place. From it and in the creation of it came the particular beauty which was the embodiment of her rare soul. She gave of the fullness of her nature of that which she had, asking nothing in return. Her nature remained always overflowing for others. She was a matchless preacher of the essential beauties of life. Her magnetic personality wrought subtle changes in all she met, yet all she did was seemingly without effort. No detail was too small for her sincere interest and consideration. She was ageless, loving young and old alike. Her sparkling sense of humor never failed to light the load of all she knew. The world has truly been bettered by her life. Her influence cannot die. Of her in a very special way was it true, "Give and it shall be given to you again." Besides her husband, Joseph Cook, she is mourned by seven children, Mrs. William Quincy of Owosso, Harry T. of Howell, Bert C. of South Lyons, Mrs. M. J. Gorton of Haslet, Mrs. Leon Hill, Mrs. Arthur Schauer and Clifford C. of Howell, and by 13 grandchilddren and two nieces, Mrs. John George W. Clay of Wyandotte, Bailey of Redford and Mrs. Michigan.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau announced today that the total sales of Savings Bonds through March 31, 1939, aggregated in maturity value more than $2,437,108,850, and that purchases have been made by approximately 1,564,608 investors. The total represents average purchases of $1,957,525 for each business day since March 1, 1935, when these bonds were first placed on sale. Deducting bonds redeemed, the maturity value of Savings Bonds outstanding on March 31, 1939 was approximately $2,206,009,900.

The total maturity value of purchases for the calendar year 1938 was $707,291,650, an average purchase for each business day of last year of $2,334,300. The attached tabulations show for the year 1938 the cash purchases in the forty cities, towns and villages which led the nation in purchases for last year in their respective post office classifications.

There is also shown for the year the first, second, third and fourth class offices in each state which led in the total cash amount of bonds purchased.

Direct-by-mail and post office purchases from Chicago, Illinois, give that city the lead for the first class post offices. Chicago's cash purchases for the period were $33,813,900.

Calumet, Michigan, leads the second class post offices, with a cash purchase of $219,918.75. Horse Cave, Kentucky, leads all third class post offices, having a cash purchase of $65,868.75.

The fourth class post offices are led once again by Plemons, Texas. This town led its class in 1937 with a cash purchase of $58,500, and this year it tops its class with the extraordinary amount of $99,637.50.

Approximately 22,000 post offices throughout the country sell United States Savings Bonds. Regional reports as to annual purchases at each of these offices and mail order purchases originating in their respective territories are being forwarded to the postmasters concerned.

Former Plymouth Pastor Named as Superintendent of Home for Aged

Dr. Roland to Direct Indiana Institution

Plymouth residents who remember Dr. Hugh N. Ronald, who was pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city from 1906 to 1910 will be interested in knowing that he has just been appointed superintendent of the Estelle Peabody Home for the aged at North Manchester, Indiana. With Mrs. Ronald, they will soon move from their present home at Portland, Indiana to the institution of which they will have complete charge.

The following article taken from the Portland, Indiana, Daily Sun, will be of interest to the many old friends of Rev. and Mrs. Ronald:

"Appointment of Dr. Hugh N. Ronald, for 17 years pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Portland, to the superintendency of the Estelle Peabody Home for the aged at North Manchester was announced by the trustees of that institution late Tuesday. His resignation as pastor here was tendered to the board of elders of the church at its regular May meeting at the manse last night. It is to take effect June 1 when he will assume his new duties.

"Expressions of regret at the impending departure of Dr. Ronald, who since 1921 has been a moving spirit for all that is good in the life of Portland and who with his family has occupied a high place in the city's affairs, were mingled with those of pleasure over the splendid advancement that has come to him.

"The North Manchester appointment includes Mrs. Ronald, for she has been named as his assistant in the management of the Peabody home.

In his 23 years in the ministry Dr. Ronald has held but three pastorates. After receiving his preliminary education at Marquette, Michigan, his birthplace, he studied at Alma college at Alma, Michigan, and Princeton Theological Seminary and in 1906 took his first assignment at Plymouth, Michigan. From there he was called in 1910 to Thorntown, Indiana, remaining 11 years until 1921 when he became pastor of the church here, succeeding Rev. Frank K. Baker, who has since occupied the pulpit at the First church at Anderson.

Dr. and Mrs. Ronald, who was the former Miss Kate Bair of Grand Ledge, Michigan, met while both attended Alma college and they were married in the city in 1906, the year he entered the ministry. They are the parents of eight children: James Ronald, an attorney at Washington, D. C.; Hugh N. Ronald, Jr., an executive of the Jay Garment company in Portland; twin daughters, Janet, wife of Rev. James R. Hine, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Hanover college, and Jean, who is to be married in June to Lee Graham, an attorney of Gore Bay, Ontario; Robert Ronald, a freshman at Hanover college; Katherine and Mary Ellen, students in the Portland high school, and Stuart, a pupil in the Junior high school.

"The Peabody home, owned and operated by the Presbyterian Synod of Indiana, was founded ten years ago by an endowment from the late James Peabody, wealthy North Manchester manufacturer of opera chairs, for a memorial to his wife, Estella, whose name it bears. After the death of Mr. Peabody his son, Thomas, doubled the endowment and another wing has been constructed as a memorial to the original donor.

"The home is more like a fashionable hotel than a semi-public institution. It is non-sectarian and of its 148 residents about half are Presbyterians. To gain admittance a person must be past 65 years of age and make a cash deposit of $1,500 for which a permanent home and every care and attention is provided for the remainder of the life. The home has a staff of 22 employees."

Stop Payments on Bang's Disease

Payment of indemnities for cattle reacting to Bang's Disease tests were discontinued in Michigan May 1, according to Elmer A. Beamer, commissioner of department of agriculture. The United States bureau of animal industry, which has conducted campaign against the disease during the last five years, discontinued payments under the provision which prohibits the federal agency from payment of amount in excess of that paid by the cooperating state.

With legislation pending providing for an appropriation for the continuance of the program, federal authorities are continuing the testing of cattle, but are not branding reactors to the disease. In event appropriation measure becomes a law, making state funds available, the reactors will be branded and slaughtered with payments being made as in the past.

Federal expenditures in this program have amounted to $1,200,000 in indemnities.

Dondero Tells of W. P. A. Sins

(By Cong. George Dondero)

When the bill providing for additional funds for W. P. A. operations until the end of this fiscal year, June 30, 1939, was under consideration in the U. S. House of Representatives there was a great deal of debate on the subject and the Senate and the House voted to cut $50,000,000 from the President's request.

The attitude of organized labor toward the W. P. A. was of particular interest. I participated in the debate on the bill and during the course of my remarks I took occasion to present to Congress extracts from two letters received from Detroit labor unions.

The first, from the Bricklayers and Masons' Union, dated February 1, 1939, expressed this opposition to the W. P. A.:

"It is our contention that the W. P. A. has become a distinct menace to the construction industry, not only to the mechanics but to the constructors who have for many years past employed our people due to many abuses which have crept into the W. P. A."

The second, from the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Detroit, voices similar opposition:

"It is our understanding that

W. P. A. was created for the purpose of producing productive work for unskilled labor only. If that is true, we vigorously protest any W. P. A. money for projects that invade the field of the skilled trades.

"We trust that you will give our complaint serious consideration and use every effort to curb this vicious practice, and that you will use your good efforts to see that no more W. P. A. money is used for any building operations. As it now is W. P. A. money is of no value or assistance to the skilled, semiskilled and unskilled labor of the building trades."

The paragraphs above quoted were incorporated in my remarks on the floor of the House and appear on page 5056 of the Congressional Record for March 31, 1939.

Recently a brick mason, driving a taxicab in Washington, notified his employers that he had obtained work for practically the balance of the year 1939 but when he took the job he discovered they were unable to obtain hod carriers at $20 a week because they were on W. P. A. getting $12 a week. For this reason the work had to be abandoned and he returned to the job of taxi driving and the hod carriers are still on W. P. A. work instead of being in private employment at higher wages.

I am not against providing for the needy and those in want and there is not a Member of the House, regardless of his politics, who does not take this position, but I am opposed to continuing a governmental function that is driving the Nation toward ruin and destroying the spirit and initiative of the American people. I voted for the $725,000,000 appropriation in January to uphold the judgment of the committee reporting the bill.

One thing that is now uppermost in the minds of the American people is: How long can we continue to spend and spend and borrow and borrow before we reach the brink of national bankruptcy and ruin? Secretary Morgenthau, before a subcommittee of the Committee on Appropriations, stated recently that he would not care to make any forecast of what might happen if the public debt went beyond fifty billion dollars.

Italian Troops in Franco's 'Victory' Parade

Italian troops like these, which have been pouring into Spain since the civil war ended, will participate significantly in the "victory" parade which Generalissimo Francisco Franco (left) will hold in Madrid Monday. Italian soldiers are being retained in Spain contrary to the Anglo-Italian friendship agreement, substantiating fears that the new Spain will remain under Fascist domination.

Getting Rid of Weeds in Your Lawn.

I know lots of folks have given up hope of ever having a weedless lawn. And if I try to tell them that they really can have one they're likely not to believe me. But the treatment I'm going to prescribe has cured lots of lawns that their owners had given up for lost, and I certainly want to urge you to give it a fair trial.

In trying to get rid of weeds, the first thing to consider is this: A weed and a grass plant just naturally can't grow on the same identical spot. If you have enough grass plants, if your turf is thick enough the weeds can't get started. But when your grass is thin, when it doesn't completely cover the ground, every little spot of bare soil practically invites weed seeds to light and grow. And you know you can't keep weed seeds off your place; every breeze brings in a crowd of them. So you see why it is that if your grass gets thin you're sure to have a healthy crop of dandelions and plantains and other pests.

The real answer to this thin grass problem—and consequently to the weed problem—is proper feeding. Because a thin, weedy lawn is a half-starved lawn, almost every time. Here's why.

All through the growing season your grass roots are constantly drawing eleven different food elements from the soil, and every single one of these elements is necessary for healthy growth. If you let even one of them become exhausted from the soil, you're headed for trouble. Just like a child on an incomplete diet, your grass will become thin and sickly, will begin to die out. And right then the weeds get going! So the first and by far the most important step in controlling weeds is to make sure that your grass has all eleven of these needed food elements.

"Very good," you say, "it sounds like a great idea. But how about the weed roots that are already in my soil, just waiting to spring up and spoil my lawn?" Well, the answer is exactly the same! You see, grass roots start growing earlier in the spring than weed roots do. If you give your lawn a good square meal early enough—just as soon as frost is out of the ground—it will give your grass a great big head start over the weeds. And later, when weeds do crop up, your grass should be growing so strongly that lots of weeds will find no room to grow; they'll be choked out.

Now, of course, I wouldn't want to promise that early feeding will make the grass choke out all the weeds in one season. But if you do it right, and do it early enough, it will cut the number down so greatly that you'll feel like going after the rest by hand.

But remember—to be effective, it must be done just as soon as frost is out of the ground. And remember, too, that just any old plant food won't do. Manures, for instance, actually contain weed seeds, and putting them on your lawn just makes the problem that much worse. I'd recommend that you buy a complete plant food, one that supplies all eleven of the food elements your grass needs from the soil. Apply it to your entire lawn, four pounds per 100 square feet.

Caring For an Established Lawn

You remember that I told you in our last chat that weeds are the result of thin, sickly grass—and that the best way to improve the grass and get rid of weeds is to feed the grass. I recommended that you use a complete plant food, one that supplies all eleven of the food elements your growing things need from the soil. And you remember I stressed the point that lawn feeding should be done good and early, so as to give the grass a good start over the weeds.

By early feeding, I mean just as soon as the frost is out of the ground the first two or three inches. After you've given the grass a square meal, you can wait a bit, till the soil is completely thawed out and dry enough to work. Then go after the places where the grass was killed last summer. Try to analyze each spot and see what caused the trouble. If the soil had too much clay in it, so that it baked hard and dry, spade in some sand or finely-sifted ashes to loosen it up. If on the other hand, it was too sandy, so that it couldn't hold water enough for the grass, you can fix it by mixing in heavy black loam, or peat moss, or well-decayed mulch such as last year's dead leaves and grass clippings. Then mix in some complete plant food. If you're working on small patches of ground, use about one heaping tablespoonful of food to every square foot. On larger areas you can figure two quarts to every 100 square feet. Mix it well into the soil, working it down three or four inches into the ground. Then apply your grass seed, using the very best seed you can and plenty of it. Rake the seed lightly into the soil and water gently but thoroughly—and don't let the soil ever get really dry until the new grass is growing strongly.

Now I'd like to say a word about rolling a lawn—a subject very few people really understand. A lawn should be rolled just once a year, and there's only one correct time to do it. That's early in the spring, when the ground is just dry enough to be firm after frost has left. Rolling at that time removes the air pockets caused by the frost, and pushes the grass roots back into the soil where they can get nourishment.

Now, about cutting your grass—let it get three inches high in the spring before you cut it the first time. If it's newly planted grass, set your mower to cut no closer than two inches. If it's pretty well established, you can cut it down to an inch and a half. And it's wise to use a grass-catcher on your mower; clippings left on the lawn tend to form a sort of mat that hurts the grass.

And now just a word about watering. It's a good idea to water your lawn less frequently and do a more thorough job of it. You see, frequent waterings draw the grass roots up near the surface. Then when the sun gets good and hot these shallow roots dry up and die. But if you give the soil a real drenching, get it wet down at least three to four inches, your grass will grow deep, strong roots and will resist hot weather much better.

Finds Secret to Seeing in Dark

Nutrition Chemist Attributes Faculty to Drinking Cod Liver Oil.

TUCSON, ARIZ.—A new use has been found here for cod liver oil—drink it and you can see at night like a cat.

At least that is the result of experiments of Dr. Margaret Cammak Smith, nutrition chemist of the University of Arizona, in attempting to cure "night blindness," a peculiar condition that develops in the eye from a lack of regeneration of "pigment purple," a vitamin A substance.

The blindness can be corrected in children by use of cod liver oil, Doctor Smith said.

Conducting a test of 127 under-nourished children here for 10 weeks and many others during the last year, Doctor Smith said she had successfully corrected night blindness by daily doses of the oil.

Children Like Natural Oil.

The test also had its reverberations in the laboratories which furnished the cod liver oil. Doctor Smith reported. The children liked the natural kind better than the highly refined, odorless type which has been developed at the laboratory.

Doctor Smith started out to prove whether a lack of vitamin A in Mexican families of the low wage bracket was reflected in the children's vision, growth, susceptibility to disease, especially of the respiratory tract, and breaks in health, such as tuberculosis.

The answer to all these questions was "yes," Doctor Smith said.

Simple Test to Perform.

Despite its importance, the experiment was very simple to perform. Doctor Smith, with a biophotometer at hand, placed each child in a dark room until all the "visual purple" should have regenerated in the eye. Then a bright light was flashed in the child's eyes for three minutes. Then the child was placed in a dark room for the regeneration of the "visual purple" and its rate of regeneration tested.

Doctor Smith found that when she took over the 127 children 30 per cent had a normal eye, 13 per cent were borderline cases and 57 per cent were subnormal. Weight apparently had nothing to do with it, as only 11 per cent were under-weight.

After the 10 weeks of the cod liver oil, another test was made. Two-thirds of them reached normal night vision and the other third had improved.

In a group not receiving the cod liver oil, Doctor Smith said no improvement was noted.

Ed Hough Speaks to Rotarians

Edward C. Hough, who, with Mrs. Hough, recently spent an enjoyable and somewhat extended visit to the Hawaiian Islands, told fellow Rotarians of his trip on Friday.

He showed technicolor pictures he had taken of water sports, surf-riding and of the native dances. With the presentation of the pictures, notably the Hula dance, he explained that the Hawaiian dances have a significant and sacred meaning to those who engage in them which is somewhat in contrast to the American version. In his summary of the early history of the islands, including their annexation to the United States at the request of the Hawaiians, he mentioned that there is a happy co-mingling of different races, with cordial relations between Japanese and the Chinese, even though the mother countries are at war. Mr. Hough was vividly impressed with the fact that Hawaiian people, whether they are natives or descendants of Chinese and Japanese, are all proud of the fact that they are Americans and are not backward about showing their appreciation to visitors. He spoke of the outstanding crops of pineapple and sugar cane and of the absolutely temperate climate which varies little from 70 to 80 degrees during the different seasons of the year.

Mr. Hough left in each Rotarian the desire to someday follow his example and take such a vacation.

Campfire Girls' Hike (By Shirley Luttermoser)

Sunday morning, about 10:30 the seven Campfire Girls started out with their leader, Mrs. Swarbrick. We had quite a time getting our knapsacks together and fastened on, and when we finally did, along came a snake. (This was in the school yard). Of course all the girls started to scream.

We arrived at the park about 11:55. We played ball and all got sunburned. The dinner was mostly fried potatoes (cold, too) and meat.

The girls who went were Carolyn Leurck, Audrey Morris, Stella Phillips, Emma Schrom, Jackie Lawson, Shirley Luttermoser, Donna Jean Swarbrick, Wilma Burdick, Shirley Waack and Shirley Bernard, who are also Campfire Girls could not attend.

We arrived home about 9:00. After we had been on the road from 6:30 we had many offers for rides and wouldn't admit that our feet were tired but after arriving home we finally admitted it. It was our first experience on a Campfire Girls' hike. We all had a good time.

Girl's Softball Report (By Carolyn Theresa Leurck) The girls have won four out of four games. Pierson school won the first we won, 17-10, Livonia Center, second, 37-19; Rosedale school, third, 4-3; Newburg school, fourth, 20-2, although we only played three innings. All the girls did well. We have won all games away from home, so we should expect to win all the home games. Anyway, we are hoping for a perfect season. The girls are lucky to have such a coach as Mr. Grove. They have been practicing their positions all season.

Delegates Attend Press Conference

A delegation of eight members of the staff of Pilgrim Prints attended the Michigan Inter-scholastic Press Association convention held in Ann Arbor, Friday, May 5.

The convention is sponsored by the Department of Journalism of the University of Michigan with the cooperation of advisers of high school publications throughout the state. The meeting was held in the Michigan Union and the convention lasted for three days. In 1938 there were 80 delegates attending out of 714 schools in the state. This year there were approximately seven hundred and fifty students from the various schools.

Many persons of note spoke at the convention, among them Herbert O. "Fritz" Crisler, head football coach at the University; H. C. L. Jackson, editor of "Listening in on Detroit," the Detroit News; Professor R. C. Fuller, Department of Sociology at the University; and Professor Bennett Weaver, Department of English, University of Michigan.

Glady's Hammond, Ellis Brandt, Richard Dunlop, Paul Harsha, Ruth Kirkpatrick, Doris Buzzard, Orlyn Lewis and Kye Moon from the Pilgrim Prints group of the local school were delegates.

Fritz Crisler contradicted those authorities who maintain that subjects not directly connected with a student's life work are useless when he stated that every subject, no matter how obscure from the student's field of endeavor it may appear, is used sometime in later life. He said that football does a man as much good in later life as mathematics or Latin. However, he declared that football does not develop courage or character—the player already is supposed to have those characteristics upon entering the sport. Mr. Crisler is firmly against alibis and will not tolerate a man who resorts to this on his squad. He cited several examples on his team this year where the duty shirkers laid the blame on alibis.

POSTPONED FRESHMAN DANCE, MAY 19

Plymouth Rocks Lose To Wayne By Close Score As Prough Makes Record Vault

Dough Prough propelled his life form 11 feet and three inches into the air last Monday, May 8, to establish a school record in the pole vault as one of the bright points in a 59-44 track meet which Plymouth lost to Wayne. The leap came as a delayed climax to the pole vault as Prough had beaten all contenders with a lower height. He picked up the pole a little after this and soared over at 11 feet and three inches in view of all the officials. Prough also contributed a second place in the high jump, but it is his ambition to attain 12 feet in the T.V.A.A. regionals to be held today.

The Wayne meet was the closest nip and tuck battle which Plymouth has entered this year. The meet's outcome was undecided until the two concluding events, the broad jump and the relay, both of which Wayne won.

Besides Prough's first, Keith Jolliffe broke the tape on the 100 and 220 yard dashes and Bob Marshall sprinted 30 yards to take first in a hotly contested half mile to win his second 880 of the relay. Jolliffe also placed second in the broad jump and ran a leg of the relay, which Plymouth lost, to collect 15 points. Plymouth's highest individual score.

Joe Scarpulla placed second in the high and low hurdles and Don Mielbeck followed Keith Jolliffe's heels all the way in the 100 and 220 dashes for a brace of seconds.

Capturing the relay, Wayne also slammed Plymouth in the mile. The score near the meet's end was so close that the winners of the relay and the broad jump would determine the meet. Jolliffe was unable to best a Wayne mark receiving second and Plymouth lost the relay by 10 yards enabling Wayne to claim the victory.

Jack Baker and Scarpulla placed second and third in the shot put when Jack Sullivan of Wayne, a state winner, heaved the lead 47 and a quarter inches for a near record.

This morning Plymouth will compete in the Twin Valley Athletic association meet at Ypsilanti with River Rouge, Ecorse, Ypsilanti, Wayne and Dearborn.

EARLY LEAD LOST AS PANTHERS WHIP ROCKS

Blowing a three-run lead they held for three innings, the nine fighting Jacobi men left the diamond a beaten team after a tough tussle with the Dearborn Panthers here last Friday, May 5. It was the local nine's second loss in four tilts.

Bobby Hitt continued his sensational hurling—he fanned 12 but the touted Panther sluggers finally got to him in the sixth frame for four hits, three runs, and the ball game. As usual, errors by the Rock defense kicked in the winning margin.

A walk, steal, and single gave the foe a run in the second, and an error by Folsom and another hit made it 2-0 by the first ball of the third.

Plymouth scored all its runs in the last part of the third. Porteous and Hovey walked, Robinson fanned, Hitt and Hoffman singled in succession, Mel Krumm whiffed, and Folsom singled, driving in two more runs.

Pio, Dearborn moundsman, hit Newman with the ball, and Butch Krumm also binged, tallying Folsom with the final run of the rally. The Rocks—back of the threat came in the seventh, when Hitt and Hoffman singled successively for the second time. The ball stayed in the infield, however, and they remained encamped on the bases.

Dearborn scored in the fifth on bobbles by Hoffman and Folsom, and unleashed the winning putch in the sixth. Here, Hitt by Woods, Stockman and Schmalz, were combined with a double by Marshall to produce three counters and a 6-5 edge for the opposition. To cinch the game the Cats held a two-run convention in the seventh. Singles by Germain and Dietrich, tied to an error by Hovey, were responsible.

Wes Hoffman had a field day, garnering three singles in four times at bat to take batting honors. Flash Folsom and Hurler Hitt connected for two solid blows apiece as runners-up. G. Krumm was the only other Rock to get a hit.

For Dearborn Dietrich and Woods gathered two safeties each while half a dozen others had one to their credit.

When Hitt registered 12 strikeouts he merely duplicated a feat which he performed against Cooley in the season opener. Curiously enough, each time he lost. Two games, 24 fanned, two contests in the losing column: It cannot last forever.

SOCIAL NEWS

Doris Buzzard, Kye Moon, Gladys Hammond, Ruth Kirkpatrick, Ellis Brandt, Dick Dunlop, Orlyn Lewis, and Paul Harsha attended the inter-scholastic high school press association conference of Michigan at Ann Arbor Friday.

Sunday evening a group of people had a roast at Riverside park. Those attending were Pat Braidel, Margaret Erdelyi, Betty Barlow, Marie Slitt, Marjory Knowles, Helen Jane Springer, Bill Aluia, Dick Dunlop, Eugene Bakewell, Joe Scarpulla, Wesley Hoffman and Jack Hovey.

Doris Buzzard and Bob Overbeck saw the Philadelphia-Detroit baseball game at Briggs stadium Sunday afternoon.

Alan Bennett visited relatives at Base Lake Sunday.

The many friends of Dr. Joseph De Kroub will be glad to know that he has returned from a two weeks' stay at San Antonio, Texas, where he attended the chiropractors' convention to resume his practice in Detroit.

Dick Innis of the class of 1938 was a visitor at school Thursday.

BRIGHT, BRILLIANT AND BEAUTIFUL FADS

"Has anyone seen Blank?" "Oh, yes—I guess I did see a streak of bright colors flash by!" That is the conversation heard in the halls—at last the boys are really getting some color and when they once start, they do it up big. Jack Ross has been zipping around in a bright shirt which is composed of a blue background and red palm trees and such. Orlyn Lewis and Wesley and Warren Hoffman have been flashing bright multi-colored stripes and Warren has a tricky little number with be-e-utiful, fluff and gaudy squares.

His cap, a Hawaiian one with even the natives, but does anyone really like blue? If so take a peek at George Bennett or Tom Campion some time and see what blue satin will do for the complexion. To go with their shirts the boys are also wearing some really "hot" socks—or hasn't anyone noticed?

Not to be outdone by the boys I have seen some "brights" among girls. Mary Ellen Dahmer, Carol Nichol, Gladys Hammond, Frances Dunn, Shirley Sorensen (in chiffon) and Pat Braidel have some stripes on the order of the Hoffmans but after all Pat should try to keep the same mood—or shouldn't she? But, oh, the lady who is portrayed by Dorothy Barnes is wonderful. It really is a pretty coat, Dot.

If any one ever wants a pair of "saddles," P.H.S. is the place to buy. Nine out of every ten girls know comfortable shoes when they see them and nine out of every ten girls are wearing the most comfortable shoes.

It seems that nearly everyone is in the red or at least in red clothes. Blouses, jackets, shirts, sweaters and even hair ribbons are made of brilliant red. Speaking of hair ribbons, the dry goods stores must have a good supply to keep the girls so well stocked on all colors.

So much for clothes and I am until another fad breaks out—In The Red.

Ed Holmwood (P) was defeated for the first time this season by Seavitt (E) (4-6) (6-1) (6-4).

O. E. S. PLANS PARTY FOR YOUTH FEDERATION

There will be no more Youth Federation dances at the city hall as it is much too nice to stay indoors but the young people who have been attending the dances will be given a grand dancing party some time in June to wind up the season. The ladies of the Eastern Star are planning the party and from all reports it will be really something. Watch for further notices in the paper.

Roller skating continues to attract at the Methodist church each Tuesday night and will continue until fall, it is planned. Come on and skate it good for you. The hours are 7:00 until 9:30 and you are all welcome.

GIRL RESERVES EXPRESS THANKS TO WOMEN OF CITY; TICKETS A SELL-OUT

The tickets for the mother and helping out the banquet were nearly all sold within a few days after printing. One girl who sold 75 tickets last year had requests for as many this year because of such a large number of requests she was given only 20 and the others had to be turned down. Because of lack of school silver and china and lack of space, the number of persons attending had to be limited to 300.

The Senior Girl Reserves wish to thank all of the women of Plymouth for cooperating and helping out the banquet over. The club also wishes to extend thanks to Mrs. H. S. Mallory for speaking at the banquet.

The Girl Reserves hope that in the future the women will be as responsive as they have been in the past.

JUNIOR'S JOTTINGS

Police men are ordinarily supposed by the average intellectual to be strict, pleasure hating, and gloomy eyed enforcers of the law. Two high school hitch-hikers, however, have a radically changed view on the staunch upholders of order.

They were engaged in the lazy pastime of making their thumbs work for them when a black Ford shot past, slowed questioning, and then stopped, giving a well-coming toot of the horn. When the youths arrived at the car they found to their momentary chagrin, a complete state police patrol car, complete with two policemen, guns, two-way radio, and a wailing siren. But the troopers were in earnest about the ride, and they proved even more cordial than the average run of drivers. They were lamenting the fact that they were going but a part of the way to Plymouth when a milk truck bumped past with two other high school boys riding in state at the rear.

One of the troopers was suddenly seized by a brilliant idea. He stepped up the squad-car until a mite ahead of the milk truck and gave the siren a deft tock. That was enough. The driver of the milk truck yelped the trooper, "how about giving these boys a ride into Detroit?"

Records of athletes all remind us we, too, can be shining lamps. And departing leave behind them sizes too large football pants.

ESCORSE BREAKS ROCK RACQUETEERS WINNING STREAK

For the first time since the latter part of 1937 the Plymouth Racquetteers were defeated by Escorse 3-2 Thursday, May 4. This broke Plymouth's consecutive winning streak which would have totaled 31 had they beaten Escorse.

The players and their respective scores are as follows: Bill McAllister (P) was defeated for the fourth time this season when H. Jones (E) won in a three-set match (3-6) (6-4) (6-4).

Bob Norman (P) added another victory when he defeated R. Jones (E) (6-1) (6-2).

Ed Holmwood (P) was defeated for the first time this season by Seavitt (E) (4-6) (6-1) (6-4).

Jack Butz and Jack Gettleton (P) defeated Lucas and Duprey (E) (6-2) (6-0).

Dunham and Hansen (P) defeated Callow and Piro (E) (1-6) (6-4) (6-4).

Individual winning percentages:

Norman W L Pct.
 Gettleton 5 0 1.000
 Holmwood 4 1 800
 Butz 3 2 600
 Dunham 3 2 600
 Hansen 2 3 400
 McAllister 1 4 200

The Plymouth tennis team has won four and lost one for a percentage of 800.

PLYMOUTH PARTICIPATES IN T.V.A.A. MUSIC FESTIVAL

The members of the choral section of the Twin Valley association presented their fourth annual festival in the Ypsilanti Central high school auditorium Thursday evening, May 4. Edward L. Hulbert was guest conductor and Grace Hulbert was guest accompanist. The music directors of the twin valley towns were Plymouth, Dora Gallimore Hondorp, Wayne, Charlotte Whitman; River Rouge, Blanche and Carolyn Wise; Ypsilanti, Roland Schaefer; Dearborn, Albert Rider; Ecorse, Clara Schartz; and Calvin Knox. There were 350 students on the program; 45 of these were from Plymouth.

Between the large chorus numbers smaller groups from each high school entertained. The girls' octette, Jean Hamill, Linea Vickstrom, Veronica, Mae, Dorothy Roe, Ingrid Ericson, Isabel Nairn, Dorothy McCullough, Vera Enns and Carol Campbell, accompanist, represented Plymouth. They sang "I Love to Hear You Singing" by Wood, and "Italian Street Song" by Herbert.

The program closed with the selections "Morris Dance" by Federlein and "Pilgrim's Chorus" by Wagner rendered by the whole Twin Valley mixed chorus.

RACQUETEERS VICTORIOUS OVER DEARBORN 3-2

By beating Dearborn, 3-2 May 8, the Plymouth Racquetteers challenged the leaders of the T. V. A. A.

This match proved to be the longest and toughest played this year; the singles men all going the full length of three sets.

The players and their respective scores are as follows: Singles—No. 1, Holdsworth (P) defeated Harris (D) (4-6) (6-4) (6-2). No. 2, Norman (P) defeated Hurta (D) (6-1) (3-6) (6-1). No. 3, Timmans (D) defeated McAllister (P) (6-3) (3-6) (6-3).

Doubles—No. 1, Hynett and Norberg (D) defeated Butz and Hansen (P) (6-2) (7-5). No. 2, Gettleton and Dunham (P) defeated Youmens and Rheinhart (D) (6-4) (6-2).

The Plymouth track team made another unsuccessful bid for their first victory last Thursday, May 4, in a dual meet with Dearborn on the Plymouth track.

Taking nine firsts and a majority of the seconds and thirds Dearborn ran up 72 points to win decisively over the Plymouth 32.

Although she won by a large margin, Dearborn slammed Plymouth in only the half mile. Several of the Plymouth new men placed with colors flying even if the regulars added no great encouragement.

Bob Sussians led the 100 to get his first five points, and Ed Maxey finished second in the 440. Jack Baker also placed third in the shot put.

The broad jump was the event, however, in which the competition waxed hot and fast. Joe Scarpulla hit his stride and leaped almost 21 feet but only placed when a Dearborn man shot over 21 to place first.

The Plymouth relay team again lost.

Fair to Depict State Progress

Ninety years of progress in Michigan agriculture and industry will join with ultra-modern entertainment features at the Michigan state fair, September 1-10, "the nation's greatest state fair," rapidly shaping under the direction of Dr. Linwood W. Snow, general manager.

With early organization details forming, Dr. Snow promises the 90th annual state fair will take its place in history as an exposition of unparalleled accomplishment. This year's state fair will mark a crossroads where agriculture and industry meet on common ground to review accomplishments, and exhibit their products on a larger scale than ever before. It will be a parade of Michigan products arrayed in spectacular display for the farmer, business man, stockman, industrialist, manufacturer, and every citizen of Michigan. Everything a state fair should be, is the pledge of Dr. Snow.

Entertainment to match the educational displays of progress is promised on a grand scale. Free acts to suit the fancy and amusement of old and young in addition to a rodeo are among the attractions scheduled to date with many additions to be made later.

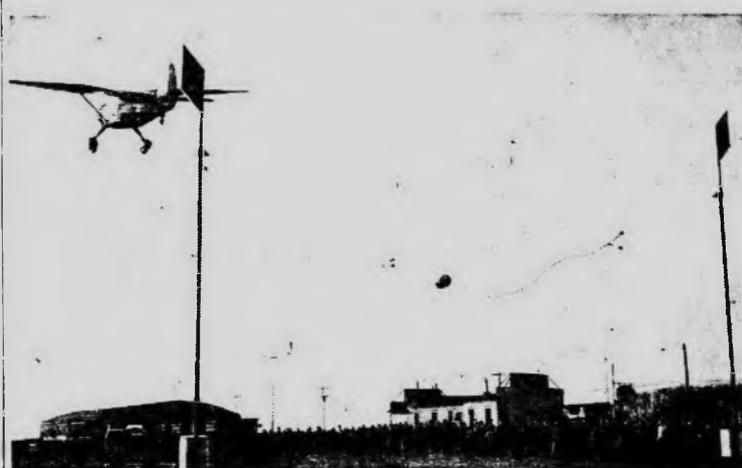

Ninety years of Michigan progress will be the keynote of this year's state fair, continuing a policy of steady advancement in the exhibition and entertainment fields, which has firmly established the Michigan state fair as an institution dating back to 1849—one year after the famous gold discovery in California when the west was wild and woolly.

Young Soldier Visits Parents in Plymouth

Richard Innis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Innis who enlisted in the regular army last fall and was sent to Fort Brady at Sault Ste. Marie, has been home for a few days' visit with his parents and many friends in the city.

The young man has made request for transfer to Selfridge Field and expects to be located there in the near future. He is anxious to become associated with the radio division of the army and, if his request is granted, it will be necessary for him to go to Selfridge as that is the only training point the army has in this state for radio and flying service.

Non-Stop Air Mail Service Inaugurated

Non-stop delivery and pickup airmail service will be inaugurated Friday for 55 towns between Wilmington, Del., Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, and through Ohio and West Virginia. Above photo, taken at Coatesville, Pa., shows how mail is picked up with a grapple as it hangs in a bag suspended from a free rope between two 40-foot poles.

Congress Affairs by Dondero

(By Cong. G. A. Dondero) The Federal Reserve board's request that a committee be appointed by Congress to make a study of our fiscal policy is a constructive and timely proposal, and the board is to be commended for its recommendation that the inquiry be made in relation to our entire national economy. It is apparent that much confusion has resulted from conflicting laws and that our problem does not rest in an inadequate supply of money but rather in an inadequate use of the existing supply. Such a committee, when appointed, should make a thorough and impartial analysis of the reasons for this financial condition and if it does this it will perform a real service. If upon such an investigation it is found that the chief causes of our trouble are the fiscal policies of the present administration, the extraordinary monetary powers of the president, the profligate spending, and the ever-growing national debt, it is to be hoped that a forceful and fearless indictment will be returned and specific recommendations made for a return to a sounder fiscal program.

The Agricultural Adjustment Administration (AAA) states that 132,311 Michigan farmers have agreed to participate in the 1939 agricultural conservation program. In Oakland and Wayne counties 1,958 and 1,615, respectively, have signed farm plans. The report shows 62.7 per cent of Michigan farmers participating, with the county percentages ranging from none in five counties to 90.7 per cent in Bay county. In Oakland and Wayne counties slightly more than half the farmers have signed farm plans, the percentages being 56.8 per cent and 57.7 per cent, respectively.

Administration opposition to substantial modification of the National Labor Relations act came with the recent announcement of Senator Thomas to the effect that any attempt to "cripple" the act would be resisted. Those who recommend changes in the act do not seek to "cripple" it, but rather to make the law fair to all parties involved and modify provisions which have a tendency to retard business recovery. The American Federation of Labor has recommended certain amendments to secure a fair administration of the law and a recent survey shows that the majority of the American people favor revision of the act. It now appears that the administration will attempt to preserve the present provisions of the Wagner act although it is generally held that modification is essential to business recovery.

Republicans in Congress have come forward with a 12-point recovery program, including these declarations: (1) Keep the United States out of war; (2) Curb unnecessary, wasteful and reckless spending; (3) Repeal the undistributed-profits tax; (4) Revise the remainder of our tax structure to eliminate all deterrent levies; (5) Repeal the monetary powers granted to the President during the depression; (6) Amend the National Labor Relations Act; (7) Define the area of government competition with private business; (8) Restore American farm and industrial markets and develop new ones; (9) Adopt immediate legislation to rehabilitate the railroads; (10) Create a special Congressional committee to study the effects of the reciprocal trade program on industry and agriculture; (11) Clarify Federal rules and regulations so industry may know what to expect; (12) Reject all experimental legislation which is not clearly helpful in promoting recovery, or which would subject agriculture, labor, or industry to compulsory decrees of a Federal bureau.

Amendments to the Wage-Hour law have been offered at the request of Administrator Andrews but much opposition to the proposed changes has already been expressed. The leaders of five national farm organizations contend that the amendments "do not carry out the intention of Congress in exempting agricultural establishments from wage and hour provisions," but would "bring all agricultural trades under the act except the ginners of cotton." "These amendments," their statement continues, "would hurt the farmer and would destroy in great measure protection already afforded by the act." The solution of our farm problem cannot come through wages and hours regulation.

TWO AT ONCE
Gladwin (MPA)—Sheriff Ray Cowell intended to arrest only one man, but he got two. He had stopped one man on the road and was arresting him for drunk driving when another car zig-zagged down the road, brushed the parked car and almost knocked the sheriff down. The officer gave chase and made the arrest. Both men were sentenced.

New Auto Plates to be Uniform

The automobile license plate system of the State of Michigan is in the process of revision by Secretary of State, Harry F. Kelly. A scientific basis has been arrived at for the preparation of license plates in the future. For the first time in the history of motor vehicle licensing, the chief law enforcement officers of the state were invited to attend a conference with the Secretary of State, to determine the type of license plate and code of numbering the same, which, in cases of accident, and hit-and-run drivers, would make it easy for witnesses and law enforcement officers to trace the violators of the motor vehicle laws. The meeting was held Thursday, April 20, in the office of the Secretary of State, and was attended by General Heinrich A. Pickert, Commission of Police for the City of Detroit; Oscar G. Olander, Commissioner of Public Safety; Louis Berg, Deputy Superintendent of Police, City of Detroit; Inspector Jurgens, Detroit Police Department; Jerome S. Borden, Secretary of the Sheriffs' Association of the State of Michigan; James F. Murphy, Director of Prison Industries; J. Fred Munnell, Assistant Director of Prison Industries; and Richard Harfst, General Manager of the Automobile Club of Michigan.

All those in attendance at this conference were of the opinion that Michigan, for the first time in history, will have a uniform license plate under a new plan of lettering and numbering established in sequence, which will end the confusion caused by the so-called "trick number" plates. The 1940 plates will be combinations of two letters and four numbers: first two letters, dash, then two numbers, dash, then two numbers. Plates designating the different types of motor vehicles will be coded in such a manner as to make them easily distinguishable.

Goodfellow Charter Hung in City Hall

A handsome new document has taken its place on the walls of the city hall. It is the charter of the Old Newsboys and Goodfellows association of Plymouth. The inscription reads: "We, the members of this association, respectfully pray our Heavenly Father for the power and strength to carry on the work of charity among the needy through the ages to come and, if granted this power, we shall endeavor to prove ourselves worthy of such a just cause. We shall also pledge ourselves to the by-laws of this association. It is signed by the charter members, Harry C. Robinson, the president, and George Howell, vice president and secretary."

One is amazed at the readiness with which most of us accept false information which violates common sense.

Start Paving on Mill Street

Paving of Mill street from East Ann Arbor Trail to Plymouth road was started last week and will probably be finished within the next month. The thoroughfare was made ready for paving last fall by the county, all underground piping having been laid before the winter freeze-up.

It will be a 20-foot paving. Residents along the street will be pleased with the improvement, as Mill street has become one of the busy streets of the city.

Early American Dances Exhibited at School

Sixty-four high school students entertained their parents and friends with an exhibition of Early American dancing Wednesday evening, May 3, in the high school auditorium. The program was divided into two parts: the round dances and the quadrilles. The round dances included the waltz, the five step, varsovienne waltz, and the barn dance. The quadrilles included standard figures 1, 2, 3, jigs and reels, runnings, little log cabin, straight line call Captain "Jenks." During intermission the audience was entertained by high school musical talent. An accordion solo was played by Kenneth Hannah, and vocal solos were sung by Linnea Vickstrom and Keith Jolliffe accompanied by Carol Campbell.

Henry Ford, in an attempt to revive Early American dancing, sends instructors from Edison Institute to high schools near Dearborn to teach these popular old dances. T. N. Markiewicz teaches local classes second and third periods every Thursday to which the students who have free periods are invited.

Mrs. Miller, on behalf of the physical education department, wishes to thank the participants of the exhibition for their cooperation in giving it.

DOING SOMETHING FOR MICHIGAN.

The other night out at the Michigan State college at East Lansing there was served a dinner made up of strictly Michigan grown and produced foods. There was everything one's heart might desire, good things galore!

The dinner was arranged by Mrs. Dora Stockman, chairman of the horticulture committee of the house of representatives. She wanted the members of the legislature and scores of others present to know that this great state of ours is and can be sufficient unto itself; that it produces everything we need and that our chief duty in order to help the growers and producers is to buy Michigan produced goods.

The event was a tremendous success. Many present did not know that there is manufactured in Michigan a macaroni made from Michigan grown wheat that is equal to any brand of macaroni made anywhere in the country.

The salt, the sugar, the meat, potatoes, dessert, everything served was a Michigan product.

It is the belief of Mrs. Stockman that if Michigan people will insist upon using Michigan grown products and Michigan manufactured foods, that the farmers and workers of the state will be immensely benefited. She is urging that the state advertise its goods within the state and create an enthusiastic support of Michigan growers and producers and her first step in this direction was a tremendous success. And Mrs. Stockman happens to be one hundred per cent right!

MOTHER AND HOME.

There's a home that way
Shaped as a heart;
It's the grandest place,
Where we all got our start.

There's a fire on the hearth,
And a room very neat,
With a person of comfort
She's a mother, sweet.

The little old place
That's so spick and span;
And the scene from the kitchen,
All of mother's hand.

There's always a thing
We really own.
It's a Mother and
A place called Home.

READY-MADE ISSUES.

The view-point of other newspapers on some of the issues before the state are always interesting. A few days ago

The Jackson Citizen-Patriot published an editorial on some of the issues before the state at the present time.

The timely comment follows:

"There is little question but that the majority of the voters in Michigan prefer civil service for state employees. They are for it because it means lower cost of government, lower taxes and more efficiency. There is small danger of getting the square peg in the round hole under civil service, as is frequently the case when hiring is done on a spoils basis.

"But, in spite of this public sentiment, as indicated by authentic polls taken about the state, the majority group in the legislature has about signed the death warrant for the merit system as it now functions.

"Representative Eaton has stated the case simply and plainly, in discussing both the civil service bill and the twin proposal to divide the overgrown Wayne county convention into five sections with the hope of making it impossible for political bosses to manipulate the dominant county delegation in state conventions. 'If the cleanup cannot be done by legislative steps,' said Eaton, 'it will be done by the voters of the state. There is no question about that. The thousands of plain, ordinary, every-day voters who have made possible the victories of the Republican party are sick and tired of having some one person or group of persons vote the delegates in the various state conventions like a lot of wooden dummies. The rank and file of Republicans detest boss politics.'

"They not only detest boss politics, as Representative Eaton says, but they have demonstrated that when they are dissatisfied with one party, they can quickly elect another party to office that gives promises of better things.

"In the last 10 years, Michigan voters have made five changes in the governorship, in spite of the ancient tradition that one good term as governor deserves another. That record ought to mean something to members of the present legislature in treatment of important legislation.

"Representative Eaton is confident that the 'Michigan Republicans are going to clean house regardless.' He might have added that, if the Republicans in office don't clean house, the voters have already demonstrated they can call in another party to do the job. It has been done frequently in Michigan in recent years.

"Emasculation of civil service and defeat of the effort to clean up the Wayne county political situation can be a campaign issue for the next election. If the Democrats want to make something of it, and they doubtless will, the Republicans in Lansing are giving them ready-made issues."

A TRUE PREDICTION.

In 1922 the late Senator Cornelius Cole was 100 years old, and Los Angeles gave him a banquet, at which, his mind as alert as ever, he spoke.

He said, according to the Saturday Evening Post, that he had only one message for those present, and that it had been impressed on him through long experience: namely, that human liberties were won in this country at heavy sacrifice of blood and fortune; that liberty is easily lost; that we must be ready to fight again if necessary to keep it; that we must never suffer any man to arrogate to himself the powers of a king, emperor or dictator.

At that banquet was Paul G. Hoffman, now head of the Studebaker company. Speaking in New York recently, Mr. Hoffman recalled Senator Cole's statement, and said:

"We listened tolerantly because he was an old man, but privately most of us thought he was living in a world of ideas belonging wholly to the past. . . . What did an old man's warning have to do with us? We had just finished making the world safe for democracy.

"I have thought of that address a thousand times. The old senator was not in his dotage. It was we who were blind. Do I need to ask you to think of the countries where in recent years civil and religious liberty has vanished? Do I need to ask you to think of how seriously at this moment those liberties are in jeopardy in democratic countries?

"Why are they in jeopardy? Because of pressures operating against free enterprise. Those pressures come from two sources: First, those who are wrongly called economic planners, but who have something in mind quite different from planning—namely, government control of processes of production and distribution; secondly, from minority groups.

"Special privilege is an invitation to government control, and no business can long survive bureaucratic domination."

CAN DO MUCH.

The appeal of city officials for assistance on the part of local residents in helping to keep the streets clean should be generally heeded. While the thoroughfares of the city are uniformly in much better condition than in most other cities of equal size, that should not be sufficient. We should make every effort to have them the best and cleanest streets of any municipality in Michigan. That can be accomplished by everyone cooperating with the officials in doing the little things that help to keep the streets in a clean and neat condition. The city can do much, but it also requires community cooperation to do the job thoroughly.

COMMUNISM—A MISCONCEPTION OF.

Many people have been misled into believing that communism's chief target is religion. The facts are that communism's chief target is "property rights." Any student of the Communist Manifesto, written by Karl Marx, the German promulgator of present day communism and to whose doctrines as set forth in the Manifesto, communists and socialists are all sworn to promote, will verify this to be a fact.

The destruction of the Christian religion is, of course, an aim of the Marxians of both shades, but it is an indirect target. Marxians realize that when they have succeeded in destroying "property rights" they have destroyed the hope of the people. They have, when destroying property rights, destroyed every vestige of the promise for a brighter future. They have destroyed his home, his church, his business, his farm, his ability to lift himself above a low level, the very life and opportunity of his off-spring to raise themselves to better than mere cattle.

Those ministers, professors and other types of intellectuals, then, who proclaim that much of communism's atheist beliefs, which elements under the shield of religion are advocating the destruction of our form of government guaranteeing property rights, so as to set up in its place what they term "christian socialism" or a system "for use and not for profit" are either consciously or unconsciously furthering the communist game just as effectively, if not more so, as are the outright atheistic Marxians.

The church which promotes religion is possible only through the protection of property rights. Destroy property rights and you destroy the rights of a religion to own property, you lower the standard of the people who attend that church to that of cattle, they lose hope, not only in the opportunity for an improved material life but the church and religion and also in those who prevail upon them to accept the words of God, but who have led them astray politically.—National Republic.

NUTTY IDEAS.

Reports out of Lansing indicate that Mel McPherson, another Kent county politician is laying plans to climb into the governor's chair in 1940. Mr. McPherson is just another of the boys that the rank and file of Michigan voters will never stand for regardless of how successful he has been in making the state supervisors believe that in him is wrapped up all that's good in politics.—Al Weber in The Cheboygan Observer.

A CHALLENGE TO THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

While Governor Dickinson probably took the only course open to him in accepting Atty General Read's report on the McKay bond deal case as official and final, it is not and should not be a closed incident so far as the Republican party of Michigan is concerned.

There are but few who anticipated any criminal action against McKay. In fact, there were but few who believed there was anything illegal in his acceptance of a $92,000 fee for services rendered the firm which purchased the blue water bridge bonds. There are many, however, both inside and outside of the party ranks who resent the fact that a man who has been honored by state office, can sell his political influence, a gift of the citizens of Michigan, in support of any public project, for so fabulous a sum.

McKay is a smart operator, both in private enterprise and in political circles. He is reported to have become independently wealthy during the last 10 years. How much of this wealth has been acquired through ethical business channels and how much of it through questionable, even though legal, political manipulation will probably never be known.

The fact remains, however, that without the support of many political leaders not only in his home county, but throughout the state, McKay would have nothing to sell in the way of political influence.

We have attended state conventions and seen joy and pride reflected in the countenance of out-state peanut politicians who, summoned to the McKay suite for conference, felt that they were being honored by the mysterious power behind the throne. These were not all men who would condone the element in politics represented by the Barnard-McKay faction. In fact many of them privately would condemn this powerful influence in party circles. But, when they believe that they are being made a part of the "inner circle" their ego overcomes their scruples and they flutter about convention halls with a feeling of importance, little realizing that they have made themselves a party to bringing further disrepute upon their party and upon their government.

So far as the official investigation of the particular case under discussion is concerned it may be closed. So far as the battle against such influence in our body politic is concerned it should be the beginning of a fight to the end. Here is the challenge. Will the Republican party purge itself?

One answer to this question will be their action at Lansing on the anti-political boss bills now in committee.—Romaine McCall in The Gratiot County Herald.

MORE INFORMATION NEEDED.

In spite of the "clean bill of health" given Frank McKay and Stuart Blazier in connection with fees of dazzling magnitude "earned" in connection with the Bluewater Bridge deal, a thorough senate investigation would be both welcome and wholesome.

Attorney General Road's report was as expected. In justice to him it must be added that even an attorney general who was not a hand picked candidate, would probably have also found that, from the technical legal standpoint, there had been no errors made. In fact, it appears that Mr. McKay even went so far as to pay income tax in full on fees that were later divided with Blazier, who also paid the required tax on his cut.

The public, or at least a portion of it, isn't interested in technical questions, however. The real point is, if the Bluewater Bridge was such a good proposition, why was it necessary or justifiable to pay commissions in excess of one hundred thousand dollars to an individual whose connection with the proposition was so indirect that many persons who took active or official parts in the venture were surprised to learn of the connection? What is there about our government which makes an indirect service (and one which has not yet been clearly defined) more valuable than the combined yearly salary of almost any twenty elective or appointive state officials one could name?

Something seems out of balance somewhere along the line. The detailed report submitted by Mr. Read offers no adequate explanation of such questions as these even though it does clear the affair of legal technicalities.—Dick Cook in The Hastings Banner.

AT LAST—A SOLUTION

At least we know what to do. We have found a theory of economic life and reform with which we may most heartily agree. We recommend it to you. Study it carefully and let us put our community solid behind it. This is a statement by one of the great economists of our land.

"If we are getting restless under the taxonomy of a monocolony wage doctrine and a cryogenic theory of interest, with vivolute, tomentous, and moniliform variants, what is the cytoplasm, centrosome, or karyokinetic process to which we may turn, and in which we may find succor, from the metaphysics of normality and controlling principles?" Of course, you are for it.—George Neal in The Orion Review.

NEW DEAL FIGURING.

Here's something to scratch your head about: Between 1929 and 1938 the per capita income of the American people dropped 23 per cent; during that time the per capita of United States debt increased 144 per cent. It is as though a man who earned $100 per week last year, and has his income cut to $77 per week this year, is now spending $144 per week this year. According to New Deal arithmetic, this man is supposed to be able to balance his budget and keep out of the poorhouse. Can two plus two ever equal five?—George Awerill in The Birmingham Eclectic.

EFFICIENT SEEING

Devoted to Eye Welfare for Everyone

Minding Other People's Business

Life has become so complex and specialized today that no one can, as we used to say, "mind his own business!" The chances are that you mind some one's business as your way of fulfilling your life's duties.

If you are a wife and mother, you mind the household business for your family. If you are an accountant, you mind the financial records for some one. If you run a grocery, you mind the food supply for the folks in your neighborhood. So we are all minding some one else's business these days.

That part of your business the optometrist minds is your seeing. It is a work you cannot possibly do for yourself. It goes far deeper than eyes or even eye-sight; it is a matter of your comprehension of what you see. If seeing is a "burden" for you, your comprehension is reduced. Slow seeing, seeing that tires easily, that makes mistakes—all of these are of vital concern in your business of living. Is it any wonder we take our optometric responsibility seriously?

The business of seeing begins when a child is born and goes on (with more or less efficiency and success) to the day of our passing. Any handicap on your seeing capacity is a burden on your earning ability and on your enjoyment.
